And Qian Renxue herself was very troubled by this point. After all, what Tang San said was true; not being interested in women at her age would definitely lead to criticism and was a flaw in this identity.

But what could she do?

Disguising as the Crown Prince was already exhausting enough; did she also need to find a woman to put on a show? How much more energy would that cost her? Besides, which woman could cooperate well with her?

Uh...

Actually, Qian Renxue did think of someone: Lingyuan, the new head of the Heaven Dou Spirit Hall Branch, a Spirit Douluo-level powerhouse. She was already on good terms with her, and declaring love at first sight wouldn't be impossible.

Furthermore, to Emperor Xue Ye and others, she could explain it with reasons such as [obtaining intelligence from Spirit Hall], [poaching Spirit Hall's talents], [acquiring advanced spirit tool research data], etc.

The most important point was that Lingyuan, as a Spirit Douluo from Bibi Dong's faction favored by Bibi Dong, knew her true identity, which would certainly save her a lot of trouble.

"Impressive." Tang San praised, "To hold oneself to the same standards as others, and to worry about others' worries, is truly admirable. If you were the Heaven Dou Emperor, you would surely bring peace to the four seas of the Heaven Dou Empire."

"Then I thank Brother Tang for your auspicious words." A hint of shame involuntarily arose in Xue Qinghe's heart, as she clearly knew that she was not a legitimate Crown Prince, but merely wanted to seize the throne of the Heaven Dou Empire.

"By the way, Crown Prince, what cooperation are you here for?" Tang San asked.

"It's mainly about the future replacement and maintenance of spirit tool steam locomotives. I want to represent the Heaven Dou Empire to discuss this further with your company. Transportation is very important for an Empire. I even want to establish spirit tool steam locomotive tracks throughout the Heaven Dou Empire to facilitate the transmission of messages, transportation of goods, and so on."

Xue Qinghe described the future scenario she wished to see, hoping to further expand her influence throughout Heaven Dou, so that when she eventually resumed her female identity, all the common people within Heaven Dou would recognize her.

For a strong woman who dared to perform the 'cat for a Crown Prince' scheme, not to mention that this strong woman's Spirit was Seraphim, she naturally wanted to openly display her true identity to the World.

As for why she directly abandoned her plan after losing to the protagonist in the original work, it was most likely due to her excessive arrogance. As Qian Renxue, whose Spirit was Seraphim and who was the inheritor of the Angel God, she would not allow herself to be suppressed by anyone, even if it meant abandoning everything she had built before.

Speaking of which, this is a common problem among the major powers on the Douluo Continent; the disciples of the families, more or less, develop a proud personality.

But confidence and pride are not the same thing, especially for the Clear Sky Sect, where pride has turned into arrogance...

"I see." In an instant, Tang San thought a lot, finally returning to the present and saying to Xue Qinghe, "This is a good thing; Lingxi will definitely cooperate fully."

"Please rest assured, Crown Prince." Lingxi echoed from the side, "In the future, if steam locomotive tracks are built throughout the Heaven Dou Empire, our Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company will certainly provide the corresponding technical support."

"Then thank you." Xue Qinghe smiled, chatted with Tang San for a while longer, and then prepared to leave. As the Crown Prince, he had many affairs to handle.

After seeing the Crown Prince off from Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company and walking a certain distance, Tang San, Lingxi, and Guang Ling returned the same way.

"Earl, the Crown Prince's idea is good, but building related steam locomotive tracks throughout Heaven Dou is not very realistic. At most, they can be built within some large cities, and establishing a connection between two cities might take decades." Lingxi also had some understanding of the situation within the Heaven Dou Empire. Even excluding small villages, the wealth gap between towns was particularly large, not to mention that the roads between cities were not smooth.

Tang San also knew that establishing convenient transportation on the Douluo Continent was not an easy task. In addition to the reasons Lingxi mentioned, there were also factors like Spirit Beasts and Spirit Masters to consider.

Spirit Beasts: Even if Spirit Hall and the local city lord sent people to clear Spirit Beasts near the roads, there would still be omissions.

But compared to Spirit Masters, Spirit Beasts were still better. Most Spirit Beasts lacked human intelligence, their habits were no different from wild beasts, and they would certainly run far away upon hearing loud noises.

Spirit Masters, however, were different.

Especially Spirit Masters with influence and background; some families and Sects were unwilling to see the establishment of tracks, as this would cause population movement, and for the "landlords," this was not a long-term strategy for gaining profit.

Moreover, for Spirit Masters, destroying tracks was easy—a common problem in a World with extraordinary powers. Without a stable social environment, without a single power suppressing everything, development is very difficult. And from the perspective of the entire collective, without external enemies, there will be internal strife.

Those with foresight know that only through common cooperation and development can they move towards a more distant future, but human selfishness cannot be stopped; everyone wants to climb over others' heads and lord over them...

However, regarding the matter of [Xue Qinghe proposing to build railways connecting major cities], she at least saw a part of the future prospects from the spirit tool steam locomotive, a city transportation tool, and even perceived the importance of "trains," a yet-to-appear spirit tool transportation method, for the transportation of goods within an Empire.

From this perspective, Qian Renxue's political thinking had not been completely brainwashed by the Tiandou Royal education. As for her political thinking before her disguise... Spirit Hall had no political thinking whatsoever, apart from the rules and governance experience passed down from their ancestors, it was just letting the various Spirit Hall Branches manage themselves.

"If she really wants to do it, you just cooperate. Anyway, we only provide technical support; as for the rest, the money that needs to be paid still has to be paid." After speaking, Tang San asked about the development of Ling Tang Company, "Tell me, in these two years, what new spirit tools has Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company researched, and what new businesses has it opened up?"

"Understood, Earl."

Lingxi's expression became slightly more serious, "Regarding spirit tools, we basically rely on replicating the finished products sent by Miss Guang Ling and slightly improving their appearance. We can also provide individual customization for some nobles."

"Our research capability here is relatively poor, mainly because experimenting with spirit tool patterns requires spirit power. Although we can purchase spirit tool batteries as energy, the progress slows down. And once a mistake occurs, like an explosion, an ordinary person's body cannot withstand it."

"As for Spirit Masters, we do want to recruit some young Spirit Masters, but they are only interested in spirit tools, not in spirit tool research."

"Some Spirit Masters who haven't broken through to Spirit Elder before the age of thirty do want to try, but Earl, you should also know that although people over thirty are in their prime, their memory is not as good as young people under thirty, and their thinking is rigid. If they haven't been engaged in related work before, they are not very suitable for research-related tasks afterward."

"A year ago, we recruited a batch of Spirit Masters and Spirit Grandmasters over thirty, but their research capabilities were not even as good as ordinary people. They could only act as human spirit power batteries, and their tempers were worse than the last, constantly bossing around non-Spirit Master personnel—ordinary people didn't dare to refute anything, after all, the other party was a Spirit Master, and their personalities were quite impulsive. If words were too harsh and angered them, leading to injury or death, even if compensation was given afterward, it would be useless and would also affect our own research progress."

Tang San also knew about this; the Spirit Masters' mindset hadn't changed yet. They felt their Spirit Master identity was very noble and disliked being bossed around.

After a moment of contemplation, Tang San said, "Then, there's no need to actively seek out Spirit Masters anymore, unless a Spirit Master interested in spirit tool research actively applies."

As for the slow research progress of Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company, Tang San didn't think it was a big problem. Just like the track construction proposed by Xue Qinghe, it couldn't be achieved overnight.

Moreover, the current main business of Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company is still only assembling, manufacturing, and selling daily-use spirit tools. As for research, that can wait until the Continent is completely stable. But he did offer a suggestion: to hold recruitment fairs at various academies in Heaven Dou City, especially civilian academies, and use promotional methods like speeches and videos to generate interest in spirit tools among underage Spirit Masters.

"Will this work?" Lingxi was a little unsure, "Will those academies be willing?"

"I have the influence, and we can pay those academies some fees then." Tang San said, "Besides, academies cultivate students not just to teach them cultivation, but also to teach them how to earn money, right? We are helping these academy children find employment! Otherwise, how will they survive after graduation?"

"Join a certain power? Or become a free Spirit Master?"

"We are just providing them with an additional option."

"We can even cooperate with these academies... Oh, by the way, exclude Shrek Academy. Although current advanced academies encourage competition, their teaching method is too extreme: [causing trouble] and [bullying the weak and fearing the strong]. These two points are not good."

Lingxi nodded: "I will handle it."

"If we still can't recruit too many young Spirit Masters then, there's no need to rush; just take it slow, after all, mindsets don't change overnight... Oh, by the way, what level has your spirit power reached?" Tang San asked about Lingxi's cultivation progress.

326: Douluo Continent's first cup of Sprite!

“Fifty-fifth rank.” Lingxi smiled sweetly and reported her rank, “Thanks to the cultivation method given to me by Earl, my spirit power cultivates very quickly, and it can be comprehensively improved.”

“As expected, you’ve reached Spirit King.” Tang San’s eyes lit up, and he marveled at the cat girl’s powerful talent. “When we return to Silverblue Manor later, call Ling Meng, Fan Niu, and Fan Ma over. I want to check on your progress.”

“No problem.” Lingxi happily agreed, then remembered something and said, “Earl, something has happened in Heaven Dou City recently.”

Half a month ago, the Star Luo Empire submitted an arrest warrant to Shrek: [In three months, people will be sent to arrest the Star Luo Crown Prince and bring him back to the country. We hope the Heaven Dou Empire can cooperate...].

This news was leaked, and almost the entire Heaven Dou City knew about it.

And now, Xue Qinghe, the representative of the Heaven Dou Empire, has publicly stated: He hopes the Star Luo Crown Prince can return to his country on his own and resolve the misunderstanding with the Star Luo Imperial Family. Otherwise, the entire Heaven Dou Empire will assist the Star Luo Empire in their investigation. This is to avoid the Star Luo Empire believing that the Heaven Dou Empire is harboring the Star Luo Crown Prince, which could lead to conflict between the Two Great Empires and thus the outbreak of war.

“What does Shrek Academy think?”

Tang San also had some understanding of Shrek’s current situation. Of the few who participated in the Continental Elite Tournament, Tai Long returned to the Strength Clan and began handling family affairs under the leadership of his father, Tai Nuo, and grandfather, Tai Tan.

Jing Ling, Huang Yuan, and Jiang Zhu worked as independent Spirit Masters for a period after graduation, then went to Spirit City, essentially joining Spirit Hall—

Xiao Wu said that Jiang Zhu works in the main city’s medical research lab in Medicine Dan City.

Mu Tian... became The Fallen, handed over to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, either to be imprisoned for life, never seeing the light of day, or already killed, erasing this stain.

Ma Hongjun, Tang San had met him once in Phoenix City. He should currently be traveling the Continent, looking for a way to control his evil fire.

Oscar remained at the Academy, listening to the earnest teachings of his teacher, Yu Xiaogang, going further and further astray on the path of a food system Spirit Master...

And finally, Dai Mubai also remained at Shrek Academy, clearly not planning to return to the Star Luo Empire. Furthermore, without the pressure of competition, his cultivation had become much more relaxed. He spent his days idle, pursuing junior female students and playing with noblewomen. However, due to his birth into the Star Luo Imperial Family, his White Tiger Spirit could not be allowed to remain outside the Empire.

Lingxi said to Tang San, who was secretly marveling at the Douluo Continent’s decent contraception: “Shrek hasn’t made any public statements. Plus, Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company doesn’t pay much attention to the Academy’s situation, so we’re not very clear. However, I heard that Dai Mubai has been increasingly dissolute recently, often frequenting brothels and similar places. And whenever he goes, he reserves the entire place, not giving others a chance.”

“I estimate he wants to live it up before being captured and brought back; he’s given up on himself.”

“However, after Crown Prince Xue Qinghe made his public statement, not many people in Heaven Dou City dared to contend with him. After all, he is the Star Luo Crown Prince. If something goes wrong, according to your words, Earl, it would cause a diplomatic incident. If it’s serious, war could break out.”

“Furthermore, for this kind of thing, even if you win, there’s no good reputation to be gained. In the past, without Spirit-guided cameras or Spirit-guided photography orbs, information didn’t spread quickly, so only people nearby knew. But now, photos can be published in newspapers, and images can be projected onto screens. If any scandal happens, the entire Heaven Dou City, and even other places, can know.”

The major nobles of Heaven Dou actually tried to prohibit this, but people couldn’t resist chasing these news stories. And those small private newspapers, for safety reasons, mostly cooperated with Spirit Hall—that is, they were registered with Spirit Hall, had to pay Spirit Hall a portion of their profits monthly, and then Spirit Hall would help resolve the problems and conflicts caused by nobles seeking revenge on these private newspapers:

In most cases, these nobles sent people to cause trouble, and Spirit Hall was responsible for dealing with those troublemakers, then going to the corresponding nobles to demand an explanation.

Typically, Spirit Hall could demand a considerable amount of compensation from those nobles of all sizes, splitting it fifty-fifty with the corresponding newspaper.

For this reason, some families and Sects would also seek cooperation with small newspapers... No other reason, the money in the nobles’ hands was too enticing, and evidence was easy to find. Even if it was blackmail, those nobles had nothing to say! At least in this era of increasingly rapid information dissemination, these nobles who made mistakes had nowhere to reason.

This not only helped Sects and families earn a considerable amount of money but also fulfilled the sense of accomplishment their disciples felt after punishing evil and promoting good. It was killing two birds with one stone, so why not?

However, Tang San knew that this kind of thing wouldn't last long and would need to be managed in the future...

Nevertheless, the current uproar over Dai Mubai's situation owes much to these small newspapers.

"Tell everyone in Silverblue Manor to stay away from Dai Mubai if they encounter him outside in the future. Don't provoke him to avoid unnecessary trouble."

Tang San instructed, "However, if he actively causes trouble, just record his behavior and actions, and then counter him."

"If he is relentless, then beat him up in my name. The Star Luo Empire will not interfere in the conflict between the Star Luo Crown Prince and Silverblue Manor."

Tang San's current status is undeniable. The Star Luo Empire could not possibly trouble him for a Dai Mubai who had almost given up on himself. Even without mentioning his identities as Martial Soul Theory Master and Spirit Hall Saint Child, just his near-absolute strength when fully unleashed would make the Star Luo Empire dare not offend him.

"I will warn everyone in the Manor, especially the sisters Mu Yanluo and Mu Qiluo." Lingxi nodded seriously.

As for why she mentioned these sisters?

Naturally, it was because this pair of twin sisters were once Dai Mubai's women. Dai Mubai might actively seek them out for a "rekindling of old flames" at the last moment.

It sounds a bit absurd, but imperial nobles inherently have many ethical issues, and coupled with Dai Mubai being a peerless "silver" baby, it would not be surprising for him to do anything.

"Tang San?"

As they passed by the Ice Snow Honey City shop, Mi Xue suddenly called out, waving to him, "It really is you! I thought I'd met another cosplay patient."

"This shop is still open?"

Compared to two years ago, this storefront was quite a bit larger, occupying over two hundred square meters. It also offered fast food similar to hamburgers and fried chicken, and there were staff members wearing maid outfits with the Snow King logo on their chests, serving food and drinks to customers with warm smiles and excellent service.

And judging by the situation, these staff members were all Spirit Masters—

Could they be female students from Tianshui Academy?

"What are you talking about!" Mi Xue leaned her arms on the counter, giggling, and said, "Do you want a Sprite? In the past two years, I've managed to create the first Sprite on the Douluo Continent by researching the leaves of plant Spirit Beasts like the Thousand-Leaf Pine and Azure Bamboo, combined with white sugar, and improving it multiple times!"

Tang San: "..."

327: Reminiscing about old times

“Then I’ll take four cups.” Tang San nodded, ordering four cups, and then asked, “By the way, your shop is so big, and you still make it yourself?”

“I can’t help it. Not many Spirit Masters are interested in making this, and opening branches... emmm~ my strength isn’t enough to hold them. Although I could rely on Tianshui Academy’s influence, I don’t want to rely on others for everything, and I might even be restricted by them in the future. We’re from the same hometown; you should understand my thoughts, right?”

Mi Xue vigorously shook the cup in her hand, making a rattling sound.

“I understand.”

As transmigrators, they all had a certain arrogance. Moreover, if one were to cooperate more deeply with an academy without absolute strength, once the business grew, it could easily be “taken over” by the academy.

But—

“Shaking Sprite like that, won’t all the fizz escape?” Tang San was seeing this method of making Sprite for the first time, his eyes twitching slightly. “Are you selling sugar water here?”

Mi Xue smiled mysteriously: “Just wait. You’ll be surprised then.”

After shaking, Mi Xue opened the lid, took a filtering net from the side, and used it to hold the Thousand Leaf Pine. The clear, jade-liquid-like sugar water then filled the four cups. Then Mi Xue released her Spirit, and a small snowman appeared, holding a straw, inserting it into each cup, and then began to blow air.

Tang San: "...It's a good thing this thing is a Spirit, otherwise, besides those who covet your beauty, no one with any sense of shame would come to buy this Sprite."

"No choice, who told me I discovered my Spirit could inject carbon dioxide into Sprite?" Mi Xue shrugged, unconcerned. "That'll be four silver coins."

"No wonder there are so few people here." Tang San reached out and stroked his white jade belt, lining up four silver coins and placing them on the glass counter.

"Would you like a bowl of warm wine?" Mi Xue suddenly asked.

"If you have fennel beans, that would be best." Tang San handed two of the cups to Lingxi and Gu Yuena, drank one himself, and held the remaining one, summoning Wu Lin to keep it warm.

"Haha, I don't have fennel beans, but I did find something similar to cocoa beans, and there's quite a lot of it. I estimate I can research chocolate." Mi Xue spoke of her discovery, then said, "But the changes in the past two years have been truly immense. This place now has a look similar to the 1940s and 50s, quite like the background of the Hong Kong films I used to watch... Speaking of which, Spirit City has established six outer cities, one of which is Min Shi Liang Du, dedicated to agriculture and gourmet food. Perhaps I can develop there."

"Indeed, that place is more suitable for you. As for chocolate, someone has already researched something similar." Tang San took a sip of Sprite, feeling a refreshing coolness. "Your Sprite is well made. It makes one's heart soar."

"Thank you for the compliment, but I dare not flatter that advertising slogan; it's too ahead of its time on Douluo Continent." Mi Xue was very happy when others praised her craftsmanship.

"As if Ice Snow Honey City isn't ahead of its time." Tang San retorted, "I've never heard of an Ice Snow Honey City selling hamburgers and fried chicken. Did you partner with KFC or McDonald's?"

“Hmph, the right of interpretation is mine.” Mi Xue said impolitely, then recommended, “Want a roasted chicken? These chickens are all Blue Feather Chickens, ten-year Spirit Beasts, you know. They’re plump and juicy, sure to make you unable to stop!”

“I’ll take one.”

“I want twenty!” Gu Yuena spoke, looking at Tang San with disdain. “How can one be enough to eat?”

“Listen to her, make it twenty.” Tang San knew Gu Yuena’s appetite, so he changed his order, and led Lingxi and Gu Yuena into the shop, finding an empty seat.

“What were you and her discussing just now?” Gu Yuena glanced at Mi Xue, who was greeting other customers buying drinks at the counter window. “Although I can understand every word and every sentence, I always feel like you and she are talking about some hidden content, and you seem to get along very well.”

“How should I put it? Perhaps we’re from the same hometown.”

If parallel universes were included, then there couldn’t be only one Earth, but since both were nourished by five thousand years of culture, there was no need to distinguish so clearly.

“Hometown? Saint Spirit Village?” Gu Yuena only knew one thing: Tang San came out of that small village, Saint Spirit Village.

“No... However, speaking of Saint Spirit Village, it’s been a while since I personally went back to see it. I did communicate with Old Jack through the Sub-Mother Soul Guidance Photography Ball and learned that the area of Saint Spirit Village has expanded.” Tang San suddenly felt that he should go back for a visit and see his old acquaintances. After all, it had been over two years since they met face-to-face, and he truly missed them.

Gu Yuena understood that Tang San was changing the subject, but sensing that his nostalgia for Saint Spirit Village was not feigned, she said no more, only thinking to herself: Hmph, just you wait, I will definitely find your secret!

“Chicken’s here!”

Before long, the Tianshui Academy students working there brought over twenty fried chickens. Some bold students even approached Tang San, took out their soul guidance cameras, hoping for a photo and an autograph from Tang San.

“You’re really popular!” Gu Yuena was a little jealous and directly sat on Tang San’s lap, occupying the main position. She made a face at those who still wanted autographs, scaring them away.

Tang San tore off a chicken leg and put it into Gu Yuena’s mouth, saying, “Eat your chicken leg; don’t scare others. That’s impolite.”

“Crunch!” Gu Yuena bit into the chicken leg, snapping the bone along with it. The crunching sound made the scalps of nearby guests eating roasted chicken tingle, and they kept exclaiming that Spirit Masters were indeed extraordinary, with much better teeth than ordinary people.

“Boss, one Sprite!”

A frivolous tone rang out from outside the Mi Xue Ice City window, mixed with a hint of spirit power. Customers inside, eating hamburgers and fried chicken, and drinking beverages, saw the person and quickly left, fearing trouble.

This was because that person was none other than the Star Luo Crown Prince: Dai Mubai!

In this Heaven Dou City, Dai Mubai could be said to be widely known. Some newspapers even dug up Dai Mubai’s scandals from Soto City and publicized them extensively.

Now, this guy was the trouble for the entire Heaven Dou.

“Here, your Sprite.” Mi Xue had no good feelings for this Crown Prince. In her previous life, she never watched those brainless palace dramas.

Did he really think marrying a Crown Prince would allow her to rise quickly?

That was demeaning herself.

Moreover, in this extraordinary World with Spirit and spirit power, a Crown Prince’s concubine was even more worthless. No matter what, she had to be an Empress, right?

Unfortunately, she didn't have that ability, so she could only open an Ice Snow Honey City to get by.

“Mi Xue, would you like to accompany this Crown Prince on an outing outside the city?”

After Dai Mubai’s identity was completely exposed, he completely gave up, only wanting to enjoy life for a while longer. After all, in his opinion, he would definitely be imprisoned and lose his freedom if he went back, so it was better to let loose while he still had this little bit of time.

At this moment, he had a strange mentality. If one were to describe it in one sentence, it would be:

【As long as I accept my weakness, then I am invincible!】

328: Michelle's rainy day plans

"No time."

Mi Xue politely refused Dai Mubai's invitation, her tone stiff.

"Don't refuse so quickly. I am, after all, a Crown Prince. You should think about it. If I truly fell in love with you, perhaps you could become the Star Luo Crown Prince's consort."

"That's much better than selling milk tea here."

Mi Xue sneered at Dai Mubai's outrageous statement, saying, "Do I have to be happy about climbing into your bed? I'm not that kind of brainless girl. If you want to deceive an ignorant woman, you might succeed, but I won't associate with someone like you. Not even for a fling."

Dai Mubai didn't get angry. He walked into the shop and, seeing Tang San and others, was surprised, "Someone actually knows me, and they're not leaving? Uh... excuse me, I'll take my leave."

After clearly seeing Tang San's appearance and Lingxi's face, the smile on Dai Mubai's face froze, and he immediately turned and walked out without looking back.

If it were just Tang San, Dai Mubai wouldn't have left immediately. After all, there were many imitators in Heaven Dou City dressed similarly to Tang San. But with Lingxi, the strong woman from Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company, also present, it could be confirmed that this was the real deal.

At this time, daring to cause trouble would mean the other party wouldn't give him, the Star Luo Crown Prince, any face. If he ended up with broken bones, there would be nowhere to complain, and the Star Luo Empire wouldn't help him regain face.

Shrek Academy was loyal, but even if all their members went together, they couldn't defeat Tang San. Moreover, the Heaven Dou Empire might even disband Shrek to curry favor with Tang San.

Shrek's reputation wasn't good to begin with. If they provoked this important figure now, he would have to apologize with his death.

Therefore—

The way he swaggered in earlier was how pathetic his back looked as he walked out now.

"Not going to teach him a lesson?" Gu Yuena asked, turning her head.

"No grudges, no grievances, why teach him a lesson? He's not causing trouble here now, is he?" Tang San said, exasperated. "It's not like I have to teach him a lesson just because the other customers here ran away when they saw him, right?"

"That's true," Gu Yuena nodded, continuing to eat fried chicken, her mouth glistening with oil.

"Thanks," Mi Xue walked over at this point, bringing three gigantic burgers, each the size of a head. "This is a reward, free of charge."

Gu Yuena smelled the meat inside, her nose twitched, and she immediately took one, biting into it heartily: "Mmm~ delicious, what kind of meat is this?"

"One-hundred-year-level Flame Ox meat, limited supply: only fifty per half-year. After all, Spirit Beast meat isn't easy to sell." Mi Xue wanted to reach out and pat Gu Yuena's head, but she dodged it—stranger, no touching.

"Oh, this little girl has quite a temper," Mi Xue chuckled.

"I'm a Spirit Ancestor, is there a problem with having a big temper?" After finishing the first burger, Gu Yuena picked up the second, giving Mi Xue a side-eye and retorting.

"Spirit Ancestor!"

Mi Xue was startled. She looked at Tang San, and seeing him nod, she couldn't help but exclaim, "How old is this guy? And he's already a Spirit Ancestor? I'm only level forty-eight right now."

"Don't look at how young she looks..." Tang San felt his thigh being pinched and immediately corrected himself, "...in fact, she looks very young. She's currently eight years old."

"One of those with a cheat code?" Mi Xue became serious.

"No, a local," Tang San shook his head. "She's just exceptionally talented. I estimate she can become a Titled Douluo before she's twenty."

"That's right, I'm that amazing."

Gu Yuena had already eaten more than half of the second burger at this point, nodding vigorously.

In reality, if she wasn't afraid of shocking the world, she could display nine spirit rings right now and become a genuine Titled Douluo.

Other hundred-thousand-year transformed Spirit Beasts need to re-cultivate, but she's using a sub-account; her cultivation can be shared from her sleeping main body!

Ordinary Spirit Masters and re-cultivating Spirit Beasts have no comparability with her in terms of cultivation speed.

"What an enviable cultivation speed. If I could cultivate this fast, Ice Snow Honey City would probably have spread throughout the Heaven Dou Empire and I'd be a milk tea magnate." Mi Xue showed an envious expression, then asked about Tang San's spirit power level, "What level has a genius among geniuses like you reached?"

"Spirit Emperor, almost breaking through to level sixty-eight." After a trip to the Golden Ancient Tree, passively absorbing massive amounts of pure world energy, his spirit power naturally increased again.

"You're the truly outrageous one!" Mi Xue no longer had any desire to catch up. "Considering your current age, you're only sixteen, or seventeen if you count by traditional Chinese age, and you're almost at the Spirit Saint level. How are other Spirit Masters supposed to live?"

"There's no need to compare yourself to me. Everyone has their own way of living. For example, you, didn't you open a milk tea shop?" Tang San smiled.

"That's true, but speaking of which, I've also noticed that the Spirit Master's world's classification of Spirit Master types seems to be solely for combat. The 'analysis of the self-positioning of soul masters' you published only made it a bit more detailed... But Spirit Masters aren't professional combat troops; they're small groups. Yet, there are no adventure organizations similar to guilds on the continent."

Mi Xue's tone became slightly serious. She dismissed the others, hung a 'closed' sign on the glass window, and then spoke about the continent's situation. "This is also why most civilian Spirit Masters are free agents, because there are no dedicated people, forces, or systems to regulate what they should or shouldn't do."

"Spirit Hall is indeed trying to regulate now, but it will take a lot of time. And the high-levels of the Two Great Empires don't really want to see this happen, so they'll definitely find people to cause trouble secretly, right?"

"So—"

"Can you tell me if a war is about to break out on the continent?"

Lingxi smiled: "Miss Mi Xue, it's not that serious. War won't break out. At least, the major families and Sects, although they compete fiercely among themselves, none of them want war to break out."

The reason major families and Sects don't want war to break out is simple—

It's not easy to cultivate direct disciples within a Sect. Once war breaks out, there will definitely be huge casualties, and it's not something that can be recovered by simply having children.

The cultivation of spirit power and the acquisition of spirit rings all require the consumption of financial and material resources.

"I know that point, but the top figures of the continent's three major forces all want to unify the continent, right?" Mi Xue felt she needed to prepare for a rainy day. At least, if war really broke out in the future, she couldn't stay out of it. She would have to side with Tianshui Academy, and since Tianshui Academy is located within Heaven Dou City, it naturally supports the Heaven Dou Empire, so she could only support Heaven Dou.

Unless Tianshui betrayed them.

"That's true, but as for when war will break out, I'm not really sure," Tang San said, indicating he didn't know. "Don't look at me as the Saint Son; I don't have much real power. I don't know how Spirit Hall's high-levels discuss things, or rather, I don't participate. I only need to research, cultivate, etc., and occasionally offer some constructive suggestions for urban development."

"As for whether this war will affect me, I can only say that I'm strong enough. Whichever of the three major forces wins, they'll have to give me face."

Mi Xue: "....."

329: Return to Silver Blue Manor

“Lord Earl, will war really break out on the Douluo Continent?”

After leaving Ice Snow Honey City, Lingxi recalled what Tang San had said to Mi Xue. It seemed as if war was truly about to break out soon, and she couldn't help but worry.

“The outbreak of war is inevitable. Just as Mi Xue said, the three major powers—Heaven Dou, Star Luo, and Spirit Hall—all want to unify the Douluo Continent.”

Tang San said calmly, “Speaking of which, the Douluo Continent uses a unified script and speaks a unified official language. Perhaps at some point, the Douluo Continent was already unified.”

Regarding this, there are actually related descriptions in the historical records of the Golden Civilization: after its return, the Dragon God fought a battle with the Golden Civilization, which shattered a large part of the entire Douluo Continent, reducing its original area by nearly half.

It can be said that the Sun Moon Continent and the Douluo Continent were originally one entity, and the humans there, along with the humans of the Douluo Continent, are all descendants of the Golden Civilization.

“And the war that will break out in the future?”

“I stand with Spirit Hall. Compared to the Two Great Empires, Spirit Hall is more enlightened. At least since Bibi Dong became the Supreme Pontiff, the selection of future Supreme Pontiffs no longer relies on bloodline inheritance but on the relationship between master and disciple. Furthermore, under my influence, it can even move towards a 'selection of the virtuous and capable' style of 'abdication'—it's still those six words: the capable rise, the incompetent fall.”

“However, unlike Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company, it not only requires institutional norms but also additional supervision, otherwise, if an incompetent person takes that position, it would be a great misfortune for the world.”

Lingxi's eyes showed admiration: “If Lord Earl were to serve as the Supreme Pontiff, he would surely become the most outstanding Supreme Pontiff.”

“No, if I were to sit in that position, I would only make everything a mess.” Tang San had self-awareness; he was decent in Spirit cultivation research and could be called a powerful Spirit Master himself, but as a ruler, he clearly knew he wasn't cut out for it.

Moreover, Tang San clearly knew what he wanted: to research the mysteries of Spirit, the essence of spirit power, to elevate his own Life level, and to engage in activities beneficial to both body and mind with his girlfriends.

“Lord Earl is being humble.” But Lingxi didn't know this, only thinking that Tang San wasn't interested in power, which was why he acted this way.

“That's the truth.” Seeing Lingxi being “stubborn” and her thoughts gradually diverging, Tang San didn't dwell on this topic, merely saying, “If war truly breaks out, you can take people to hide in Silverblue Manor, or Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company. The Heaven Dou side will not infringe upon either of these.”

The reason was simple: Xue Qinghe was half an insider.

Why half? Although Qian Renxue was born in Spirit Hall, she was a staunch member of the worship lineage. After Tang San joined, Spirit Hall gained Bibi Dong's trust, and with the implementation of corresponding suggestions, its ideology and core changed.

When Qian Renxue returns in the future, she will inevitably have intense conflicts with Bibi Dong, even vying for power—if a solution is needed, it's actually possible. After all, Qian Renxue lacks affection. As long as Bibi Dong stops being cold and verbally abusive towards her and says some kind words, Qian Renxue's personality would naturally lead her to let go of her prejudices.

After all, being proud and arrogant can, to some extent, also be described as tsundere.

Unfortunately, that's a tiny bit difficult.

Passing by Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company, Lingxi used the guard's Spirit-guided communicator to give a few instructions to the relevant administrative staff in the office, then accompanied Tang San and Gu Yuena to Silverblue Manor.

It wasn't easy for Lord Earl to return, so as his housekeeper, she naturally had to cook personally!

As for company affairs, Lingxi actually didn't have much to do. Her main tasks involved discussing and communicating with the families and small Sects of Heaven Dou regarding cooperation. Secondly, it was to continuously adjust the internal management and relevant production lines to improve the work efficiency of various departments and earn more wealth.

Everyone in Heaven Dou City knew who was behind Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company, so in terms of cooperation, the patriarchs of various large and small families in Heaven Dou City would give face, and related collaborations never went wrong.

Even the relevant personnel of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School treated Lingxi with utmost courtesy.

Silverblue Manor.

Fan Niu and Fan Ma rubbed their eyes, then hurried forward, exclaiming in unison, “Lord Earl! It's really you!”

“It's me.”

Perceiving the spirit power fluctuations emanating from their excitement, as well as the blood energy fluctuations around their bodies, Tang San nodded in satisfaction and said, “Not bad, you've actually reached the Spirit Grandmaster realm, with your spirit power at level twenty-eight, you have hope of breaking through to Spirit Elder.”

“Thanks to Lord's Tiger Bear Body Tempering Technique, we have our current abilities.” Fan Niu showed sincere reverence.

Fan Ma also spoke from the bottom of his heart: “If not for you, my brother and I might have been doing manual labor and died from exhaustion.”

Over the past two years, the two brothers had also seen other male slaves, who were basically used as beasts of burden. Their bodies were often covered in scars; if they were beaten to death or died suddenly from overwork, they would be wrapped in a tattered mat and sent out of the city, unheeded...

If they hadn't met Lord Earl, their future would have been like that too.

Tang San offered a few words of comfort, then moved past the topic, asking about their cultivation of the Tiger Bear Body Tempering Technique, saying, “I will stay here for a few days, and then I'll check your progress.”

Fan Niu smiled and said, “Lord Earl, rest assured, we have been diligently cultivating and will certainly not disappoint you.”

Fan Ma chimed in: “My back is as hard as rock, and I already possess the great strength of a giant bear!”

“Good, then I'll test you tomorrow.” Tang San smiled, then instructed them to “stay away from Dai Mubai” and “stay away from Shrek” before walking into Silverblue Manor with Lingxi and Gu Yuena.

“Two years, and this place hasn't changed a bit.” Tang San sighed, looking at the familiar grounds and flower beds.

“That's naturally to ensure Lord Earl doesn't feel unfamiliar when he returns.” Lingxi smiled, “The servants in the manor work diligently every day, and this is their only job.”

Passing by the training ground, Tang San saw a group of people, some shirtless, some wearing vests, practicing horse stance. Although they were sweating profusely, they gritted their teeth and persevered, with faint fluctuations of blood energy emanating from their bodies.

A woman with cat ears was shouting slogans, directing their movements.

“Who are these people?” Tang San didn't remember such a group in the manor before he left. They looked like newly recruited... guards? And was that exercise method a simplified version of the Tiger Bear Body Tempering Technique?

“These are all owners of Physical Martial Soul.” Lingxi explained, “I bought them from the slave market and had Fan Niu and Fan Ma help train them. There are twelve in total, and their Spirits are either hands, feet, or noses, etc. They aren't cultivating the complete Tiger Bear Body Tempering Technique, but rather some simple movements that the Fan brothers compiled to help them exercise their bodies.”

After speaking, Lingxi clapped her hands and said to the woman in the tight-fitting outfit, “Ling Meng, stop for a moment. Let them rest for a bit. See who's back?”

330: The four awakenings of the original martial soul

“Silverblue Earl!”

Ling Meng, the cat girl, saw Tang San and immediately trotted over, her steps light, like a Spirit in the wind. “Is it really you? We haven’t seen each other for over two years. Am I dreaming?”

Just as Ling Meng was about to lean in, a fair, tender hand reached out, blocking her blossoming chest, and said, “Hey, hey, it’s only been two years! No need to get so excited!”

In the Spirit Beast’s perception of time, two years was just like two days, not worth mentioning.

Of course, Gu Yuena’s reason for doing this was naturally that she didn’t want Tang San to interact with too many women, lest his harem catch fire and she, as the “master,” would have to help resolve it.

“Alas, I’m truly responsible, but who told Tang San to be half of my subject?”

Ling Meng also calmed down at this time, but her gaze towards Gu Yuena was a little resentful: This little girl, clearly younger than herself, actually knew how to “protect her master,” and could even stay by Silverblue Earl’s side all year round. I’m so envious.

However, the proper etiquette still had to be observed: “Welcome home, dear Silverblue Earl.”

“Cough, cough, no need to add a prefix. It sounds a bit too formal, I’m not used to it.” Tang San smiled, took out the unopened can of Sprite and handed it over, then looked at the twelve people with Physical Martial Souls.

Physical Martial Souls were rare. It was likely that Lingxi, Ling Meng, and the others had put a lot of thought into finding these twelve, and even the large and small families of Heaven Dou City had secretly helped after learning about it.

“What are their names?” Tang San asked.

“Silverblue Earl, they were all bought from the slave market. Because the Spirit they awakened was not from either of their parents, and most of them had zero innate spirit power, their biological parents suspected they weren’t their own, or they were considered inauspicious by the people of their local village. Most were abandoned when they were young, so they have no names.” Ling Meng sighed while sipping her Sprite, “After buying them, I gave them codenames: A-one, A-two, and so on, up to A-twelve.”

“Greetings, Silverblue Earl!” X12

The twelve walked over, both male and female, their steps uniform, clearly having undergone strict training.

“Good momentum.” Tang San noticed that these people all had more or less a bloody aura about them, having killed before. Before being bought by Lingxi and Ling Meng, they must have all had their own stories.

However, the spirit power of these twelve people was not high. The strongest one only had nine levels of spirit power, and the weakest only had two levels.

But the advantage of Physical Martial Soul was that as long as the body was well-maintained, the cultivation speed could be increased. After all, according to his theory, there was an affinity between the Spirit and the person. The Physical Martial Soul was a part of oneself; even if one’s subjective consciousness rejected the Physical Martial Soul, one would not want to discard a part of one's own body.

Compared to other Beast Spirits and Tool Spirits, although Physical Martial Soul lacked inherent attack, defense, and auxiliary abilities, it was uniquely gifted in cultivation—as long as the right method was found.

Unfortunately, in this era, most children who awakened Physical Martial Soul either died young or felt it was useless and gave up cultivation, following the old path of their parents at home.

But one point cannot be denied: Physical Martial Soul cultivators consume a lot, especially in terms of vital energy and blood, which must be continuously strengthened. The resources required are far more than those of ordinary Spirit Masters.

“I'll give each of you a codename.” Tang San thought for a while and named these twelve people after the Twelve Yuanchen, respectively: Zi Shu, Chou Niu, Yin Hu, Mao Tu, Chen Long, Si She, Wu Ma, Wei Yang, Shen Hou, You Ji, Xu Gou, and Hai Zhu.

“Thank you, Silverblue Earl!”

The twelve were excited, as this meant they were recognized by Silverblue Earl.

Although it still sounded like some kind of codename, it was better than A-one, A-two, and so on.

Subsequently, Tang San confirmed the Spirit of these twelve people one by one and found that most of their Physical Martial Souls were not very strong, or rather, most were indeed not suitable for combat—

Leaving aside the enhancement of spirit rings on Spirits, for most Spirit Masters, Spirit Abilities are still very important. And the Spirit Abilities obtained by attaching spirit rings to a Spirit, excluding special circumstances (Ten-thousand year soul beast sacrifice, special Spirit Beast), can be said to be derivatives of the abilities that the Spirit can achieve.

The flaw of Physical Martial Soul lies in its mediocrity, or rather, its uniqueness, so much so that Spirit Masters do not know what kind of spirit ring to attach to achieve the greatest improvement.

In Tang San's eyes, the Physical Martial Soul's specialty is singular. When adding spirit rings, in addition to enhancing that singular advantage, it also needs to find a matching self-created Spirit Ability to unleash its true power.

Otherwise, under the same level: in terms of smell, the nose Spirit is not as good as canine Beast Spirit; in terms of vision, the eye Spirit is not as good as avian Beast Spirit; in terms of attack power, arm, hand, and leg type Spirits are not as good as ordinary farm tools.

Although the Physical Martial Soul can undergo a second awakening, other Spirits can also evolve through attaching spirit rings... The Golden Civilization's data also includes research on the Physical Martial Soul:

Compared to other types of Spirits, the Physical Martial Soul has similar properties to Spirits that have evolved to their extreme attributes, but the difference is that most Physical Martial Souls have a low lower limit, yet the Physical Martial Soul has the same characteristic as an extreme attribute Spirit (because it has reached the extreme, it cannot advance further when there is no existence above hundred levels interfering). Adding spirit rings cannot cause the Physical Martial Soul to evolve, and even the improvement obtained by the Spirit itself comes from the strengthening of one's own physical quality, rather than the Spirit receiving the enhancement of the spirit ring and strengthening.

Therefore, in most cases, after a Physical Martial Soul owner obtains a spirit ring, they can only obtain Spirit Abilities, and the energy in the spirit ring is retained by the Physical Martial Soul, hoping to cause a second awakening (evolution) in the future.

Based on the results of experiments conducted so far, the Physical Martial Soul can awaken four times. Generally speaking, the first time is during the seven-ring period, when the Spirit Master possesses the Martial Soul True Body, and the Physical Martial Soul also displays its true form at this stage, completing its second awakening;

The second time is upon reaching Titled Douluo. Spirit Masters who reach this realm undergo changes in their physical bodies due to the nourishment of spirit power, and their Physical Martial Souls naturally strengthen accordingly;

The third time is at the ninety-fifth level, a turning point. Breaking through this turning point, the Spirit Master will enter a brand new realm, and the Physical Martial Soul will naturally evolve along with it;

The last time is when breaking through the hundred levels—

Unfortunately, only this much related information has been preserved. The rest has been destroyed by the Dragon God. To obtain it, one must defeat a large mecha outside the Golden Ancient Tree...

Among these twelve, the strongest was Shen Hou, a female with nine levels of spirit power and a Heart Spirit. She was the youngest, only sixteen years old, but her vital energy and blood were the strongest among them all.

From a Spirit Master's perspective, they were not suitable for cultivation and would not achieve much, but for Tang San, these Physical Martial Souls were excellent research materials... Oh no, they should be very excellent talents. As long as he created corresponding cultivation methods for each of them, they would surely make rapid progress.

Shen Hou, whose Spirit was Heart, Hai Zhu, whose Spirit was Bones, and You Ji, whose Spirit was Skin, all had relatively complete body organs as their Physical Martial Souls.

Especially Shen Hou, after activating her Spirit, it directly covered the original Heart's position, and the pounding sounds were extremely loud. Moreover, the blood vessels around her body also lit up, displaying red and blue vascular networks on her skin, looking extremely mysterious and imposing.

Shen Hou's Spirit included not only the Heart but also the arteries and veins connected to the Heart.

It can be foreseen that if Shen Hou had sufficient nutritional supplements before awakening her Spirit, her innate spirit power would certainly not be low. It's just a pity that most children who awaken Physical Martial Soul are commoners, and many are born in relatively remote villages, lacking good conditions, and naturally unable to display their true potential.

"How do you plan to train this group of people, Silverblue Earl?"

During dinner, Lingxi and Ling Meng served the dishes they had personally cooked onto the dining table. Ling Meng asked.

"I won't be staying here for many days, and it would be troublesome to take them all to Spirit City, as my schedule is usually quite full." Tang San thought for a while and said, "We'll divide them into four batches. The first batch will come with me to Spirit City, where I'll teach them for three months, and then they'll return. We'll follow this pattern."

"That's a good idea, but what if some of them run away?" Ling Meng worried.

"If they run away, it means we weren't destined, and for us, it's not really a loss... By the way, you should have returned their indentured servitude contracts, right?" Tang San suddenly asked.

"Not yet." Lingxi shook her head, went to the second floor, and brought down the indentured servitude contracts of the twelve people, saying, "I thought Silverblue Earl should give them personally."

"That was thoughtful of you." Tang San knew Lingxi was considering his prestige and accepted her good intentions, but then he said, "However, it's not necessary. In the future, when you buy slaves, just return their indentured servitude contracts directly. As for employment, there's no need to do this. I'm afraid I'll get used to it one day and change my original intention, especially since—”

His upper dantian still contained the “Greed, Hatred, and Ignorance” in its three-headed, six-armed state, making it even more necessary to be vigilant about all his actions, lest he be unknowingly influenced.

That thing, even Iliex couldn't see through it!

“I understand.” Lingxi nodded, indicating that she would definitely give them back in advance next time, but in her Heart, she was thinking that she must say, “This is Silverblue Earl's command!” when the time came.

Only then would those people feel grateful!

Alas~

Silverblue Earl is just too kind...

331: Preparations before condensing the soul core, and the Haotian Sect

After dinner, Gu Yuena proactively went to the kitchen with Ling Meng to help wash the dishes, as she still remembered that she owed Tang San a lot of money and had to work hard to pay it back.

Self-reliance is a virtue!

Tang San also didn't have the bad habit of sleeping immediately after eating; instead, he went to the study to prepare to read the information he had obtained from the Golden Ancient Tree.

Although there were no specific details about cultivation and spirit tools, it did retain many useful summaries, similar to a book's introduction, which could greatly reduce unnecessary attempts for him.

For example: self-condensing spirit rings.

The Golden Civilization once forced a large number of Ten-thousand year soul beasts to forcefully take human form to observe their methods of self-condensing spirit rings, thereby solving the problem of the increasingly scarce Spirit Beasts.

Although no research data was left, relevant snippets of information stated: [Self-condensing spirit rings: Taking the soul as the core, drawing the power of the stars, gathering the energy of heaven and earth, and transforming it into a spirit ring!]

From this, Tang San could infer that self-condensing spirit rings required a soul, then the activation of a certain power of the stars, gathering the energy of heaven and earth, and refining it into a spirit ring.

Soul...

spirit rings are produced from Spirit Beasts and contain the Spirit Beast's soul, though tens of thousands of years ago, Spirit Beasts' souls were relatively fragile, unlike humans'.

This should be the core of a spirit ring.

Tang San already knew this when he helped Lingxi and Ling Meng condense their Three Flowers Gathering on Top spirit rings, but the energy used for their spirit ring condensation came entirely from within themselves, specifically the three treasures of essence, qi, and spirit.

During this process, Ilyas also participated, so it could not be compared to the Golden Civilization's method.

Moreover, Lingxi and Ling Meng were already special, being "beast-humans" whose Beast Spirit had materialized into a physical body, turning the possession state into a permanent one.

They could even be called humanoid "innate divine beasts," except that before they condensed their spirit rings, they suffered from severe malnutrition.

As for the power of the stars...

Tang San was less clear about this, unsure if it referred to starlight, a certain elemental energy, or the blessing of planetary will in the ethereal realm—after all, this World is also a star.

Finally, the energy of heaven and earth...

This is easier to understand; it is the external energy required to condense a spirit ring and give it a fixed form.

Based on Xiao Wu's method for self-condensing spirit rings, and having condensed two unique Three Flowers Gathering on Top spirit rings for Lingxi and Ling Meng, Tang San gained greater confidence in the matter of [condensing three "spirit rings" with spirit, qi, and essence as their core in the upper, middle, and lower Dantian respectively, to increase the efficiency of conversion between the three treasures of essence, qi, and spirit].

However, before that, he needed to first complete the condensation of the Immortal Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset.

"Aren't you going to wait for Bibi Dong to experiment with condensing three special spirit rings first?" Ilyas asked.

"Please, with Bibi Dong's assertive personality, how could she truly be willing to be my test subject? The reason she was willing to cooperate with me then, to adjust the main storage location of her spirit power, was because I first demonstrated a bit..." Tang San's gaze was firm, "Moreover, as a researcher, one must always lead by example.

Even if something goes wrong, as long as I don't explode and die instantly, I can recover with my First Soul Skill."

"I have to say, your First Soul Skill is practically made for courting death," Ilyas grumbled, though he was actually envious.

If his "former self" had such a skill, why would he have been cursed? With this skill, let's see whether your curse is more powerful, or the Life force converted from the entire plane's Earth power!

"After all, this is the First Soul Skill I chose," Tang San said with a triumphant smile, then added, "However, Bibi Dong's Soul Power Twin Cultivation Method and the conversion between blood qi, spirit power, and mental force have indeed given me some inspiration.

I can borrow and improve upon it—"

"As for mental force and blood qi, I don't need to worry for now; I need to first condense the Soul Power Core."

Cultivating the Creation and Destruction True Scripture, Tang San's two attributes of spirit power converged in his chest, forming a spiral like a Tai Chi sphere: Life and Creation, death and Destruction.

Under balance, four different attributes and laws intertwined, giving birth to Creation within Life, and evolving death within Destruction, as well as other elements such as fire, light, wind, water, and poison.

However, under the transformation of the Creation and Destruction True Scripture, all these attributes were covered by death, thus achieving balance with the Blue Silver Emperor's Life attribute.

Tang San had already reached the basic standard for condensing the Soul Power Core of Creation and Destruction, Life and death.

The rest was to wait for himself to break through to the level of a quasi-Spirit Saint at seventy, allowing the power of Creation to truly balance with the power of Destruction.

"I still need some time before breaking through to level seventy, but I can plan for the ring condensation of essence, qi, and spirit," Tang San pondered, "Just right, I can observe Lingxi and Ling Meng more in the next few days..."

Knock knock knock!

A gentle knocking sound interrupted Tang San's thoughts.

The door opened.

Lingxi, carrying a tray with hot tea, stepped through the doorway and walked to Tang San's desk, placing the tray aside, and gently said, "Earl, this is the hot tea and pastry I prepared for you.

Please try it and tell me how it tastes?"

"Not bad," Tang San picked up the teacup and took a sip, feeling that too much sugar had been added, making it overly sweet, but he still nodded slightly.

He didn't really care much about food; as long as it wasn't excessively unpalatable, he could accept it.

After all, his childhood experiences left a vivid memory—eating one meal and not knowing where the next would come from, often having to scrounge for food at Grandpa Jack's place.

"As long as the Earl likes it, I will prepare it for you every day during these days before your departure," Lingxi smiled slightly, seemingly very happy.

"Uh... actually, you could put a little less sugar," Tang San suddenly thought, realizing he would have to drink such sweet hot tea every night, and decided it was better to be honest.

Lingxi's smile stiffened, then she looked apologetic and said in a flustered tone, "I'm sorry, Earl, I put too much.

I heard that sugar can boost and enhance energy..."

Tang San's eye twitched slightly, feeling that Lingxi was a bit "up to no good," so he changed the subject and asked about another matter: "Speaking of which, when I returned this time, I heard that the Moon Pavilion seemed to have closed.

Where did Tang Yuehua go?"

His aunt by blood, last time they met, she said she would stay here, but now he hadn't even seen a trace of her.

Didn't she say she would help look after the house?

Her unreliability was almost on par with Tang Hao's.

"Tang Xuanzhu left a year ago.

She said that the Clear Sky Sect was recalling all direct bloodline disciples... Oh, right, she also left a letter and asked me to give it to you, Earl.

I'll go get it right away," Lingxi patted her head, remembering this matter, and immediately ran out of the study.

Soon after, she returned with an unopened envelope, muttering, "Earl, I was so happy you came back that I almost forgot, if you hadn't mentioned Tang Xuanzhu."

Taking the envelope, Tang San tore open the top, took out the paper inside, and began to read, only then understanding what had happened within the Clear Sky Sect...

332: Use it as a mattress for me!

After Tang Chen of the Clear Sky Sect returned to the Sect, he focused on healing his injuries while simultaneously constructing an Asura Illusion to train the Hao Tian Disciples. Using a trace of Asura Aura, he could nurture it within Killing Intent to transform it into the Slaughter God Domain.

"So, Tang Chen is able to bestow the Slaughter Domain to others in batches?" Tang San frowned, but as he continued reading, he realized that was not the case—

Whether one could withstand the Asura Aura depended on the strength of their Spirit and the Spirit Master's own willpower.

Direct descendants of the Clear Sky Sect all possessed the Clear Sky Hammer, so the basic requirements were met, but individual willpower was a different story. In fact, after Tang Chen projected the Asura Illusion, not a single Disciple managed to pass.

The reason was simple: no matter how Tang Xiao and the Five Elders cultivated the pride of the Hao Tian Disciples, most of them had never ventured outside. Unaware of how vast the World was, they were immersed in their own little World.

That pride—or rather, arrogance—was nothing more than a self-deceiving castle in the sky.

It was only because their Spirits were the Clear Sky Hammer, a top-tier Tool Spirit that naturally crushed a vast number of ordinary Tool Spirits; otherwise, they wouldn't have played any role in the original story at all.

The reason Tang Yuehua was asked to return was that her Spirit came with its own Domain, which could calm people's hearts and help the Hao Tian Disciples improve their mental force.

In short, it was to reduce the "irritability" of the Hao Tian Disciples.

Setting the letter aside, Tang San tapped on the table, weighing the pros and cons—

First, the fact that Tang Yuehua had reached Rank 10 was definitely exposed. To find a reasonable excuse, she would inevitably have to mention him; after all, Tang Chen wasn't some inexperienced super Douluo.

Secondly, even with Tang Yuehua helping the Hao Tian Disciples calm their minds, there shouldn't be many people who could pass the Asura Illusion and be bestowed with the Asura Aura by Tang Chen.

Tang Chen might care for the Sect, but as a supreme powerhouse, he had his own pride. He wouldn't give things away for no reason, even if they were his own direct Bloodline.

Furthermore, having participated in the Asura God trial, Tang Chen should understand what the Slaughter God Domain signified—it was one of the marks of becoming a candidate for the Asura God.

Back then, his search for the Asura God Legacy hadn't been smooth sailing. Whether out of a deep-seated respect for the 'God' or out of an elite selection process for the Sect's Disciples that favored quality over quantity, Tang Chen would not casually pass the Asura Aura to others.

Additionally, even if the Asura Aura was passed on, transforming it into the Slaughter God Domain required nurturing it with Killing Intent. In short, the Domain needed to truly take shape and even evolve through slaughter.

However, the Clear Sky Sect was currently in seclusion. Without going out, if the Hao Tian Disciples wanted to truly obtain the Slaughter God Domain, the continent would at least have to descend into chaos—only through chaos would war break out, providing them with the opportunity to act!

But did Tang Chen possess that kind of madness?

Tang San pondered Tang Chen's character, but found that based on the limited information from the original story, he could only conclude that the man was domineering, exceptionally gifted, and devoted in love. Beyond that, he knew nothing.

However, the fact that Tang Chen hadn't gone to find Bo Saixi yet proved he felt he still had a chance to accept the Asura God Legacy. But considering he had been Parasited by the Blood-colored Nine-headed Bat King for many years, even if he lacked self-awareness during that time, he was essentially influenced by the Rakshasa Divine Thought. It wasn't impossible for his thinking to have undergone subtle changes after waking up.

He needed to be on guard— "Lord Count, you look troubled. Has something happened to Tang Yuehua?" Lingxi asked worriedly. After all, she knew Tang Yuehua was Tang San's biological aunt. If she was in trouble, his concern was inevitable.

"She's fine, but the Old Ancestor of the Clear Sky Sect has pulled a reckless move." Tang San didn't elaborate, brushing it off. "They might stir up trouble in the future. Keep a close eye. If you ever hear news of them coming out of seclusion, take everyone willing to follow and go to Spirit City. Just abandon this place."

Who knew what the Clear Sky Sect would do if they truly went mad?

They might even destroy Silverblue Manor. After all, in the eyes of the Hao Tian Disciples, he was the greatest "Hao Tian Traitor."

It was better to be safe. If such a thing really happened, it would be best to abandon everything accumulated in Heaven Dou and transfer to Spirit City.

At that time, Spirit Hall would also have a legitimate reason to crusade against the Clear Sky Sect!

"Understood." Lingxi's expression was solemn. Anything involving the Upper Three Sects was a major event, not something she could currently interfere with. She then brought up another matter: "Lord Count, it is late. You should rest."

"It is indeed time to rest." Tang San packed the letters and envelopes into his storage wristguard, preparing to go to his bedroom to Cultivate the Creation and Destruction True Scripture, only to find Lingxi following him.

"What are you doing?"

"I was worried the Lord Count wouldn't be able to sleep alone, so I can warm the bed for you." A blush appeared on Lingxi's cheeks, and her breathing quickened.

Right now, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and the other mistresses weren't here. This was the perfect opportunity!

"That makes a lot of sense."

To Lingxi's surprise, Tang San didn't refuse—could it be that the Lord Count also had feelings for her? Hehe, that's wonderful! Dear daughter, sorry, but let Mama test the waters for you first!

"But—"

"I feel that our relationship shouldn't be purely a romantic one. If it's just to repay a debt, or to let me vent my desires, there's really no need for this."

After having experienced matters between men and women, Tang San felt that if Lingxi or Spirit Dream came to ambush him in the middle of the night, he might just go along with it and choose passive acceptance.

But 'Greed, Anger, and Obsession' were also a mountain weighing on his heart. He could absorb the Greed, Anger, and Obsession of others, but these three poisons could also affect his own mind.

After all, he was human, not an Incarnation of these three roots of evil.

If he didn't have things figured out, he wouldn't allow himself to 'fall' into such matters.

"Lord Count is truly kind." Lingxi's respect and admiration grew even deeper; she felt that Tang San didn't want to use his kindness to coerce her and instead valued true feelings.

After Lingxi left the room and softly closed the door, Gu Yuena climbed in through the window, her eyes filled with disappointment: "I thought you were going to take another mate."

Tang San speechlessly grabbed Gu Yuena by the back of her collar and said crossly, "I say, can't you be a bit more pure? You're only eight years old!"

"Hey!" Gu Yuena's mouth dropped open, her face full of indignation. "Why are you shouting so loud? Can't you have a better attitude? This Young Miss is older than you! Also, as half a subject of mine, is this how you treat your King? Put me down quickly, or I'll get angry!"

"Then should I call you Big Sister?"

Tang San raised an eyebrow and let go of the collar. Gu Yuena didn't react in time and fell to the floor with a 'thud,' baring her teeth in pain: "My butt! Who told you to let go like that?"

"You did, my King," Tang San teased as he sat on the bed.

"Hmph, this Young Miss is magnanimous, but while the death penalty is waived, the living punishment is inescapable. You must pay the price tonight!" Gu Yuena glared fiercely at Tang San, then kicked her legs directly onto his chest, saying, "Be this Young Miss's mattress!"

333: Wind Spirit Jue Thunder Spirit Jue

The next day, Tang San shook Gu Yuena, who was holding his arm, and said, "Wake up, really, you slept without even taking off your clothes, they're all wrinkled."

"Bastard, I'm only eight years old, you beast!" Gu Yuena, as if possessed by an actress, hugged her shoulders, "You actually want me to take off my clothes!"

"Aren't you older than me?" Tang San rolled his eyes, and truly, Gu Yuena was the real 'beast'. "If something really happened, I'd be the one at a disadvantage."

"It's only right for my subjects to sleep with me, what's wrong with that?" Gu Yuena jumped off the bed, and only then did Tang San realize that she hadn't even taken off her shoes last night.

"Don't you listen to what you're saying?" Tang San was completely speechless and didn't bother to argue with her further. After changing his clothes and washing up, he said, "Once you've changed, go down and eat. I'm very busy today."

In typical noble families, dressing and washing up were assisted by servants, but Tang San had some self-respect. These essential Life skills needed to be done by himself.

The 'busy' Tang San referred to was naturally because he wouldn't be staying here for many days. He had to complete the status checks of Ling Meng, Lingxi, Fan Niu, Fan Ma, and the twelve owners of Physical Martial Soul, absorb their relevant experiences, thereby strengthening the details of Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure not yet covered, increasing the chance of condensing a Soul Power Core, and further comprehending the circulation method between the three treasures of essence, qi, and Spirit.

After breakfast, Tang San summoned Lingxi and Ling Meng to check their self-condensed spirit rings. Compared to the initially condensed spirit rings, one chain was missing, which was due to breaking through the restraints.

Among the spirit rings, the three flowers representing essence, qi, and Spirit respectively, Lingxi's each flower had five petals, while Ling Meng's had four, representing their own strength realm.

When both reached the Titled Douluo level, each of the three flowers' petals should display nine.

After a more detailed examination, Tang San found that both girls' physical bodies and mental force were much stronger than Spirit Kings and Spirit Ancestors of the same level, especially their physical bodies, which were even comparable to cat-type Spirit Beasts of the same cultivation.

This Three Flowers Gathering on Top spirit ring could simultaneously enhance both their essence, qi, and Spirit. When one aspect strengthened, the other would also strengthen, saving them a lot of effort.

Similarly, the spirit power required for each level was much more than that of ordinary Spirit Masters, as a portion of the spirit power also needed to be converted into mental force and blood qi.

But the advantage was that under the balance of the three — essence, qi, and Spirit — even if they didn't break through level 100, their appearance would not age, and they would remain youthful. Moreover, each time they broke through a major level, there would be an infusion of heaven and earth energy, accelerating their cultivation speed.

They possessed both the long lifespan of Spirit Beasts and the cultivation speed of humans. For now, this mother-daughter cat girl duo was truly unique in this World.

"Indeed, during the condensation of the spirit ring, your blood qi, spirit power, and mental force can actively improve with any one of them. Even the spirit power circulation method I initially taught you has changed according to your respective situations."

Lingxi's Spirit was lightning-attributed, and all three energies had strong aggressiveness. Using blood qi could stimulate cells throughout the body, almost comprehensively enhancing all her attributes; spirit power came with a numbing effect, which meant stimulating human nerves with lightning, affecting the nervous system; mental force was even more highly offensive, capable of dispersing others' mental force, and extremely sensitive to metals and magnetic minerals.

Ling Meng's Spirit was wind-attributed, and all three energies were relatively 'light'. When blood qi circulated, a whirlwind automatically formed on her body surface, possessing powerful defense capable of blocking Spirit King level attacks; with spirit power enhancement, she could briefly levitate and had a cutting attribute; mental force could perceive the flow of air, similar to Xiao Wu's Listening to the Wind.

Honestly, these two points were somewhat beyond Tang San's expectations. Generally, only spirit power would carry the attribute influenced by the Spirit, while blood qi and mental force were relatively pure. Most Spirit Masters would only imbue these two with the corresponding Spirit attributes when using spirit ring abilities that required converting spirit power into mental force or blood qi.

However, Lingxi and Ling Meng's spirit power and mental force naturally possessed the attributes of their Spirits, with the properties of wind and lightning, even in their normal state.

Is it because the three — essence, qi, and Spirit — can perfectly transform, so much so that the Spirit also participates... No, their Spirits are already a part of their physical bodies, no longer extraordinary organs semi-independent of the body.

However, even without considering the physical embodiment of the Beast Spirit fusion, Tang San realized that to perfectly transform his own essence, qi, and Spirit, and even achieve circulation, his blood qi and mental force must also carry corresponding attributes—Creation, Destruction, Life, and death.

"You can put away your spirit rings now."

Tang San, having clarified the key, felt enlightened. He then, based on Mysterious Heaven Skill, and according to their individual situations, created a cultivation method for each of them that combined spirit power with leg and hand techniques: "Wind Spirit Art" and "Thunder Spirit Art."

"These two cultivation methods were created by me based on your respective attributes. Cultivating together will be faster, and you can even combine them into the "Wind Thunder Art."

"Wind and thunder, these two elemental energies can inherently merge. In the future, you might be able to achieve the fusion of spirit power and Spirit Ability within a Martial Soul Fusion Skill."

As long as the attributes of the same Spirits were balanced with each other, even if the attributes were identical, they could still fuse—the important thing was the balance of attributes between them.

However, Tang San was unsure if these mother and daughter's Beast Spirits, having already materialized with their physical bodies, could still fuse.

"However, there are only chapters for cultivating spirit power. In the future, you can develop cultivation methods for blood qi circulation and mental force application based on your own situations."

This was Tang San's expectation for the two of them, hoping that besides cultivating and managing, they could also research the Spirit cultivation materials he left inside Silverblue Manor and then innovate.

Even if they couldn't create anything, it didn't matter. The Three Flowers Gathering on Top spirit ring connected their essence, qi, and Spirit, so when spirit power increased, the other two would also increase.

"We will certainly not disappoint Lord Earl!" Lingxi swore.

"There's no need to be so solemn. While I hope to see you forge your own path in this new cultivation method, I hope even more to see you live your own lives." Tang San smiled gently, "Even when facing me, don't suppress yourselves, understand?"

"Yes, Lord Earl!" X2

The mother and daughter spoke in unison, their cheeks flushing, and they couldn't help but lower their heads, afraid that Tang San would see their shy side.

Immediately after, Tang San summoned the brothers Fan Niu and Fan Ma to check their progress in cultivating the Tiger Bear Body Tempering Technique.

"How is your cultivation progressing?"

334: Cultivation arrangements for everyone

“Thanks to the Earl, our cultivation progress has been very smooth.” Fan Niu respectfully replied and released his Spirit: his chest.

In his attached state, Fan Niu's chest muscles were tough, and as his blood qi surged, they vaguely formed the shape of a fierce tiger, appearing quite abstract, but with the support of his muscles, he truly had the imposing aura of a tiger descending from the mountain.

An ordinary person seeing him would probably be scared witless instantly.

Fan Ma followed closely, displaying his broad back. As his blood qi flowed, a ghostly bear-like pattern formed on his back muscles.

It was as abstract as Fan Niu's, but even more ferocious.

Although the muscles on a person's back are not as exaggerated as those on the chest, the muscles, with the action of the shoulder blades behind the arms, can form more exaggerated tension and crisscrossing structures.

Over the past two years, these two brothers have diligently cultivated the Tiger Bear Body Tempering Technique. Their height is now approaching two meters and forty centimeters, and their physical strength is comparable to that of a Spirit Ancestor not using his spirit power.

“Not bad, let's practice.”

Tang San gave the order for them to attack.

“Then we apologize for the offense.”

Fan Niu and Fan Ma exchanged glances, knowing that facing the Earl, they must use their full strength, otherwise, even if the Earl only used a fraction of his strength, they would be completely helpless.

“Ha!”

Both of them roared, their blood qi surging around them. Their chests and backs each expanded a circle, and all their muscles seemed to pulsate.

Boom!

Like a dry thunderclap, they both took a step simultaneously, the stone bricks beneath their feet instantly shattering. Their bodies leaped towards Tang San, one to the left and one to the right, outflanking him.

Brother Fan Niu instantly lunged with his claws, like a hungry tiger pouncing on its prey, breathtaking; younger brother Fan Ma instantly threw a punch, like a ghostly bear pressing down, shattering one's courage.

The two brothers were in perfect sync, with excellent tacit understanding.

An ordinary Spirit Master facing this combined attack, unless his Spirit was powerful or he possessed some strong spirit power, would surely die.

But to Tang San, their speed was as slow as a turtle, and their strength was like that of a weak chick. He merely raised both hands and grabbed their respective fists and claws.

Perceiving that their arms were clamped down as if by iron, the two brothers panicked and pulled outwards with all their might.

This made Tang San realize that they didn't have much combat experience.

If an ordinary person were controlled like this and couldn't break free, he would surely use his other hand or feet to kick other parts of his body.

But Fan Niu and Fan Ma simply panicked, constantly trying to break free, like children who had been bullied.

Tang San exerted a little force with his arms, and the two were pulled in front of him, their foreheads colliding. They immediately felt dizzy and knelt on the ground, losing their combat ability.

“Still acceptable.” Tang San pulled them up, healed them, and slowly said, “It's just that your combat experience is a bit lacking. In the future, when you switch shifts with other guards, if you have free time, you can go to the Great Spirit Arena to practice.”

Fan Niu smiled, “We understand.”

Fan Ma sighed, “The Earl is still amazing; we are far from his equal.”

Afterward, Tang San gave them a few pointers on blood qi training, then called over the twelve Physical Martial Soul owners to conduct a more in-depth examination of their Physical Martial Souls.

By comparing them to his own organs, Tang San discovered that the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure still had many detailed parts that had not been cultivated, such as the mouth, tongue, nose, ears, blood vessels, bone marrow, nervous system, and so on.

Although these parts were also passively strengthened during the cultivation of the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure, they were still far inferior, and might leave many flaws in the future.

Fortunately, Tang San could use these Physical Martial Soul owners to identify and fill in his own deficiencies one by one, making the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method even more perfect.

In fact, after perfecting the corresponding parts, Tang San found that the conversion and circulation between blood qi, spirit power, and mental force were much faster, and the three fundamental cultivation methods also showed a further trend of integration.

“The vast universe of heaven and earth, the small universe of the human body, they correspond to each other. It seems that for my three fundamental methods to achieve perfect integration, I must first perfect all the various detailed parts. And condensing the corresponding Golden Core, Star Core, and Spirit Core is only the most basic part. The path ahead is still very long.”

Tang San did not hesitate or feel sad because the road was too long; instead, a hint of excitement emerged, as he had already found his direction, and it was full of challenges.

This was a great and endlessly enjoyable matter!

Afterward, Tang San said to these twelve people, “I plan to divide you into four groups, who will successively go to Spirit City to receive my three-month instruction. Except for the first group, whom I will personally take, the remaining three groups need to travel by official roads, commuting between Spirit City and Heaven Dou City. If anyone wants to leave during this period, they may.”

Saying this, Tang San took out twelve contracts of indenture, and before they could be surprised, he tore them up in front of them.

“You have been here for some time and know that the servants here and I are in an employment relationship, not one of servitude. If a major mistake is made, it's just a matter of settling wages and being dismissed; there's no need to risk your lives.”

“They are like this, and so are you. I will not treat you differently. In the future, if Lingxi, Ling Meng, or you bring back other servants bought from the slave market, if you use your own earnings to purchase them, I will not force you, but if the estate's funds are used, and those servants also work for the estate, then they must be given their freedom.”

The twelve people, filled with gratitude and admiration, shouted, “Earl is benevolent! We will go through fire and water!”

Freedom was what slaves craved most!

And now, the Earl had torn up their slave contracts, already giving them the greatest degree of respect, not to mention that the Earl had even given them names.

If they were to run away in the future, they would have no face to meet the Earl again!

“Next, you will form groups of three yourselves. If you can't divide yourselves well, then arrange yourselves according to the Twelve Yuanchen I have set,” Tang San said.

Ultimately, Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu chose to form a group alone, while the others arranged themselves in the order of the Twelve Yuanchen.

The reason Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu chose to form a group was because they were the strongest: Shen Hou was at level nine, You Ji at level eight, and Hai Zhu at level eight. The spirit power of the other nine people ranged from level three to five, with little difference.

Although these people were not yet Spirit Masters, the law of “strong attracting strong” was still evident among this group of Spirit Scholars.

“Since you have already formed your teams, the first group to go with me to Spirit City will be Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu. The second group will depart three months later, and so on: the third group will depart six months later, and the fourth group nine months later, completing one cycle.”

After Tang San finished speaking, he imparted a small trick for using spirit power to circulate blood qi, based on their respective Spirit situations, saying, “In the future, when cultivating the basic standing posture of the Tiger Bear Body Tempering Technique, you can use the small trick I taught you according to your respective situations; the efficiency will be slightly higher.”

As for more profound methods, these people had not yet fully gained his trust and could not be taught, but these small tricks were not a problem.

In fact, in the future, when he had planted Blue Silver Emperor throughout the continent, Tang San even wanted to spread the basic cultivation methods for blood qi, mental force, and spirit power.

At that time, no matter how many people cultivated or innovated, he could perceive it through the Blue Silver Network—

How could the wisdom of one person compare to the wisdom of all beings?

335: Little Book: Tang San's Consort 2!

Chapter 335: Little Notebook: Tang San's Spouses + 2!

After arranging everyone's cultivation progress and refining his own Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure cultivation method based on the characteristics of these Physical Martial Soul users, Tang San prepared to return to Nuoding City and Saint Spirit Village with Gu Yuena, Shen Hou, You Ji, Hai Zhu, and others, before heading to Spirit City.

However, Fan Niu and Fan Ma came to him, hoping Tang San could witness their proposal.

“A proposal?”

These two large men had actually found their true love?

Who could it be?

It should be the maids in Silverblue Manor, as they didn't seem to know any other notable figures in Heaven Dou City.

With curiosity, Tang San followed the two to the manor's back garden, where many servants were trimming branches and watering plants.

The brothers Fan Niu and Fan Ma walked up to Mu Yanluo and Mu Qiluo, knelt on one knee, and with tender affection, presented rings they pulled from their pockets, saying in unison: “Yanluo (Qiluo), will you marry me?”

It was very direct!

But everyone present was captivated.

Mu Yanluo and Mu Qiluo exchanged glances, both seeing excitement and bewilderment in each other's eyes. They clearly hadn't expected the two to propose in such a setting.

And with the Earl watching, it was truly embarrassing!

But in the end, both accepted the rings.

The two pairs of twins embraced, and the entire back garden was filled with warmth. The surrounding maids applauded, and Tang San also clapped, asking: "When will your actual wedding be? I might not be able to attend then, but besides my main house and guest rooms, the rest of this manor can be used for your celebration."

Mu Yanluo, however, shook her head and said: "My sister and I are like withered flowers; there's no need for the Earl to trouble himself so much. A simple wedding will suffice."

For the two of them, having a home was already enough; there was no need for it to be too grand.

Tang San understood their thoughts and didn't press further, merely saying: "Then I'll wish you a happy wedding in advance."

After all, he would spend most of his time in Spirit City from now on and wouldn't return here often, so he would most likely be unable to personally attend the wedding of these four...

"Earl, please be careful on your journey. My mother and I will always think of you!" At the main gate of Silverblue Manor, Ling Meng and Lingxi saw Tang San and his group off.

"Don't speak so sadly..." Hearing the "desolation" in their tone, Tang San almost wondered if he had already died...

On the way to Nuoding City, Gu Yuena asked: “Won't Dai Mubai go after Mu Qiluo and Mu Yanluo again? They used to be a couple, right?”

“You said it, 'used to be'. Now, there's naturally no relationship, and as people of Silverblue Manor, unless Dai Mubai is so stupid his brain has rotted, he won't make a move on them again,” Tang San said casually. “However, speaking of it, Dai Mubai choosing that pair of twins might also have had a Spirit factor involved, as both their Spirits are Roses.”

Gu Yuena didn't understand what tigers and roses had in common and asked in confusion: “Is there something to that?”

“A fierce tiger in the Heart, delicately sniffing a rose,” Tang San said lightly. “There's a saying like that, describing someone with great ambition who is also capable of being moved by gentleness and beauty.”

“Dai Mubai's Spirit is the White Tiger, representing the masculine side; while the Spirits of those two are Roses, representing the feminine side.”

“A balance of hard and soft, a combination of yin and yang, is beneficial for cultivation.”

“However—”

Given Dai Mubai's personality, Tang San estimated he wouldn't have thought of so much; it was just a coincidence that he met a pair of twins whose Spirits were Roses.

It was a real-life interpretation of “a fierce tiger in the Heart, delicately sniffing a rose.”

“There's such a saying?” Gu Yuena had never heard of this kind of cultivation before and couldn't help but feel skeptical. After all, a tiger and a rose, one animal, one plant, were completely unrelated!

“It's mainly about the body and mind, not spirit power,” Tang San added.

“Oh~” Gu Yuena immediately understood, giving Tang San a disdainful look. “Essentially, it's still a manifestation of desire.”

“You can't say that; it can be seen as a balance of work and rest.” Tang San shrugged, then turned to call Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu, who were following behind, to his side, and began to analyze their general cultivation directions—

“Hai Zhu, your Spirit is bones, or rather, a skeleton, your entire body's skeleton.”

“This advantage is obvious: your frame is broader and harder than ordinary people's. Your future cultivation will inevitably specialize in physical combat.”

In fact, if this skeleton Spirit could manifest outside the body, Tang San would have thought of “Susanoo” from Naruto. Unfortunately, it's an attached state, meaning it combines with one's original skeleton and cannot be exposed.

In the future, perhaps a specific Spirit Ability could allow the skeleton to appear in an energy-like form, but that's for later and currently holds no reference value.

Moreover, the skeleton Spirit is a natural lever. If used well in the future, it can achieve maximum effect with minimum force. Specializing in this path is sufficient; there's no need to specifically acquire a Spirit outward-release ability for a skill similar to Susanoo, as it would be more trouble than it's worth.

“I see, I understand.” Hai Zhu was a young man about two meters tall, relatively shy. He looked tall and thin, but his skeleton was broad. If seen at night by someone with poor vision, he would look like a giant skeleton draped in human skin.

Evidently, due to his Spirit, the nutrients from his food were concentrated in the bones of his physical body, to be used when his Spirit was attached, leading to muscle atrophy.

His internal organs were probably also under constant high load!

According to Lingxi, before entering Silverblue Manor, this guy really was just a skeleton draped in human skin, barely recognizable as human.

Iliex suggested: “This guy is very suitable as material for undead skeletons, a naturally good candidate.”

“Please don't say such terrifying things. Unless they are extremely evil, they cannot be used as consumable materials,” Tang San retorted. “Moreover, as an Undead Saint Archmage, what's so great about playing with skeletons? Playing with souls is true power. When we return to Spirit City, the Starry Sky World must have accumulated many souls of The Fallen. You can observe, analyze, and study them slowly.”

“That makes sense.” Iliex compromised, but he was still very fond of Hai Zhu, this guy with a unique talent for becoming an undead skeleton—if this guy were used to refine skeleton-type undead, he would certainly have the potential to become a divine-level skeleton puppet... A pity his death calamity had “reformed.”

“Next, it's you, You Ji.” Tang San's gaze fell on You Ji. This was a seventeen-year-old girl with dwarfism, one year older than Shen Hou.

But her skin was very rough, with many wrinkles, making her look like a relatively fair-skinned old woman.

A youthful age, “aged” wrinkles.

Tang San could imagine that after she awakened her Spirit, she must have faced a lot of criticism, which made her personality very introverted among the twelve.

Living to seventeen also proved her immense courage, but her Heart must have endured great torment.

“You really dislike your skin, don't you?”

“Yes, Earl.” You Ji nodded, her eyes seemingly forming a fan chart, revealing three parts complexity about the past, three parts longing for the future, three parts gratitude, and one part reverence for Tang San.

“My skin has been wrinkled since childhood. I still remember when my mother abandoned me, she said my skin was very wrinkled, I was too ugly, and didn't deserve to be her daughter... At eight years old, I hardly knew what to do. When I grew a bit older, I started wandering with others, and to fight for food, I even killed others. Finally, I was caught and, after several transfers, was sent to the slave market—at first, I thought being a slave was good, at least I didn't have to worry about my stomach, but later I found out no noble was willing to buy this wrinkled old woman until I met Sister Ling Meng.”

“You don't seem introverted at all,” Tang San smiled, then got to the point. “For you, future cultivation is about strengthening your perception and control over your skin.”

Compared to others, You Ji's skin was extremely sensitive, even capable of slight movement, proving her body's nervous system was very keen.

“Skin can harden, taking a defensive path, but I don't recommend it. Instead, I hope you take the path of perception, control, and transformation.”

“Perception, as the name suggests, is perceiving vibrations in the air. Skin is actually the most sensitive organ of the human body; not using it for perception would definitely be a waste of talent.”

“Control means strengthening mental force training, reaching a point where you can manipulate your own skin like you manipulate your limbs, treating it as another hand.”

“Transformation is how the skin Spirit is used: human skin itself is highly malleable. When skin becomes a Spirit, its ability to change shape will undoubtedly be even more prominent. In the future, you might be able to use your Spirit to imitate anyone, even the appearance and aura of Spirit Beasts, for disguise.”

“If you acquire a good Spirit Ability, you might even gain a portion of that person's abilities during imitation.”

Like the Mirror Image Beast.

In the original work, Oscar absorbed this Spirit Beast's spirit ring and gained the ability to replicate others' Spirits, though it required the other person's blood as a medium.

If You Ji could absorb this type of Spirit Beast's spirit ring in the future, she might be able to directly imitate, as her Spirit is skin, giving her an advantage in imitation over Sausage.

However, there's a prerequisite: the first few spirit rings need to be well-planned to prepare for the final imitation and replication.

“Is my Spirit really that powerful?” You Ji was incredulous, but the Earl before her was also a Martial Soul Theory Master, so he naturally wouldn't deceive her.

If he were to deceive, what would be the purpose?

She didn't seem to have anything worth the Earl deceiving her for. If it was about her body, she would gladly wash herself and lie on the bed if the Earl wanted it.

Unfortunately, the Earl would definitely not fancy a wrinkled woman like her.

Finally, Tang San looked at Shen Hou and said: “Your Spirit is the Heart, including the blood vessels connected to the Heart. Therefore, your vital energy is the strongest among the twelve, but before entering Silverblue Manor, you must have never eaten your fill, right?”

Shen Hou's face turned red, and she uttered one word: “Right!”

She suspected the Earl might think she ate too much, but she was already trying her best to control her portion size. However, due to her Spirit, the nutrients she needed were far more than ordinary people.

“Lingxi said that when you eat, you can control your portion size?”

Indeed!

A bead of cold sweat appeared on Shen Hou's forehead. She wondered if the Earl no longer wanted her, as being free, in a sense, also meant the master no longer needed to consider her food expenses.

“From now on, you don't need to control it. Eat as much as you can. Although Silverblue Manor doesn't have wealth comparable to the Two Great Empires, it can still afford a bit of food,” Tang San said, seeing her embarrassment, comforting her. “Just don't waste it.”

“Earl~” Shen Hou's eyes were filled with tears. She was a truly emotional young girl; her joy, anger, sorrow, and happiness were all displayed on her face, unable to hide her inner thoughts.

“Regarding your cultivation direction, without a doubt, it's to strengthen the Heart's power and enhance vital energy,” Tang San brought the topic back to cultivation. “As for controlling the Heart's beating frequency, even if you reach the Titled Douluo level, you won't be able to do it. Even I cannot directly control my Heart's beating frequency; I can only indirectly control the speed of the Heartbeat through vital energy, spirit power, or mental force stimulation.”

“Therefore, you can only advance in the direction of strengthening Heart power and increasing vital energy.”

“For now, there is only one type of Spirit Beast you should choose in the future: the Great Heart Rat.”

“This Spirit Beast has no special attributes, but proportionally, it has the largest Heart among all Spirit Beasts, almost occupying a quarter of its entire body.”

“Spirit Masters who obtain its spirit ring all gain Spirit Abilities that enhance overall strength by accelerating Heartbeat and stimulating vital energy, similar to berserk, but unlike berserk abilities, the side effect of using the Great Heart Rat's spirit ring ability is fainting from hunger; as long as you eat and drink your fill, you can recover.”

“Whereas the side effect of berserk abilities is a period of weakness.”

Shen Hou scratched the back of her head, not quite understanding: “It sounds like there's no difference? Fainting from hunger is also weakness, isn't it?”

“Indeed, but the difference lies in recovery,” Tang San clarified the difference between the two. “The Great Heart Rat's ability can be said to have no side effects. Once you're full and your vital energy recovers, you can continue to use it. Berserk, however, severely damages the human body's physical form, and the ability has a long cooldown time; even if the body recovers, you might not be able to continue using that Spirit Ability.”

Of course, if one were to force its use, it wasn't impossible, but Tang San understood that it would cause irreversible and severe consequences.

Therefore, compared to berserk, the Great Heart Rat's ability was more suitable for Shen Hou.

“So that's how it is.” Shen Hou suddenly realized, but Tang San could tell that this guy didn't really understand, only grasping one point: in the future, when hunting Spirit Beasts, always choose Great Heart Rats.

Meanwhile, Gu Yuena was secretly recording in her little notebook:

Tang San's spouses + 2!

A sudden idea about Physical Martial Souls—

Tokusatsu team...

If many Physical Martial Souls performed Martial Soul Fusion, could they fuse into a [Human]?

Titan Giant?

Ancient Demon God?

Heaven and Earth Dharma Idol?

Dharma Heaven and Earth?

Forget it, I won't do it for now.

336: Changes in Notting City and Holy Soul Village

Nuoding City.

The city walls were as ancient as ever, but the city itself was much more bustling than usual, with various new types of living spirit tools gradually appearing in this small city.

However, compared to large cities like Spirit City and Heaven Dou City, the living spirit tools appearing here were all outdated models, but for the residents of this small city, they were very advanced.

Moreover, a spirit tool assembly plant had been established near Nuoding City, where various parts were transported from other cities and assembled here, providing employment opportunities for many commoners.

It could be said that many young and strong individuals from villages near Nuoding City came to work in Nuoding City. Nuoding City's area was also constantly expanding in this process, and perhaps one day, it would engulf most of the small villages and hamlets nearby.

Tang San arrived at Spirit Hall. Compared to before, this iconic church-like building hadn't changed much, only its area had expanded considerably.

The guard at the entrance rubbed his eyes, as if recognizing him, and said in disbelief, "You are... Saint Son?!"

"Shh~ Uncle Li, it's your shift today," Tang San smiled. "Don't be too loud. I don't want to cause a stir. I just came to see Tao Ge."

"It's really you!" The guard became excited, his hand gripping the long spear trembling uncontrollably, both thrilled and at a loss. After a while, he calmed down and whispered, "Hall Master Su is not inside. Miss Sisi is in charge."

"Not here? Where did he go?" Tang San asked, puzzled.

"Half a year ago, a large spirit tool assembly factory was built outside Nuoding City. Many young and strong people from the city and nearby villages came to work, especially those from the villages. Although they earned more money, their farmland was abandoned... I heard that there's a place called Min Shi Liang Du in Spirit City that's researching high-yield grain seeds?" The guard suddenly asked, halfway through his sentence.

"Indeed," Tang San nodded. "After all, grain is fundamental, but as you know, Uncle Li, cultivating high-yield grain seeds takes time, and it also requires testing through experimental fields there."

"So that's how it is." The guard outside also knew that growing grain was not an easy task, let alone cultivating high-yield grain seeds. He suddenly understood, then said, "The young and strong have all come to work, and they earn more money, but the grain we produce here ourselves has decreased, so we need to import grain from other places... For this reason, Hall Master Su felt that Nuoding City could also be self-sufficient in terms of grain. After all, apart from Nuoding Forest, the other forests and grasslands in the Nuoding City area have no Spirit Beasts and can be developed into farmland."

"And those small villages can become outposts between the farmlands, responsible for watching over, managing, and guarding the farmlands..."

"He is currently in Saint Spirit Village, and this plan started half a year ago. He also applied for funding from above, and I heard that the Hall Master in Heaven Dou City has already agreed and allocated funds, preparing to use Nuoding City and the surrounding villages as a new model experimental site. After the farmlands are established, they will observe it for three to five years, and if it works, they will implement it in other small towns similar to Nuoding City's situation."

"It seems Tao Ge is quite ambitious," Tang San sighed. After chatting with the guard, Uncle Li, for a few moments, he entered the hall and went straight to Ma Xiunuo and Su Yuntao's usual office.

"Mommy, I want candied haw berries!"

Before knocking, Tang San heard a tender child's voice from inside, with a hint of pleading.

"Be good, wait until Mommy finishes her work, then I'll go out and buy them for you," Sisi responded perfunctorily, then used a ribbon to tie the chubby child to a nearby chair. "Now, play the 'One, Two, Three, Don't Move' wooden doll game."

"One, two, three..."

"Thump, thump, thump!"

A knock sounded.

"Come in."

The door opened.

Tang San walked in, and under Sisi's slightly stunned gaze, he walked over to the two-year-old child tied to the chair and smiled, "Sister Sisi, is this how you teach your child?"

"Haha~ It's just that he's too naughty," Sisi, who had reacted, immediately stood up and made tea for Tang San and Gu Yuena. As for Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu—Tang San was visiting a friend, so there was no need to bring irrelevant people in. As for Gu Yuena, this little girl had followed him in on her own.

"Sister Sisi is still as young and beautiful as ever," Tang San praised.

"Haha, not at all," Sisi smiled, clearly pleased with Tang San's compliment. Then she looked at Gu Yuena: "This is... your daughter?"

"Cough!" Tang San almost spat out his tea, speechless. "Please, I'm only sixteen, no matter how you look at her, she's at least eight, right? There's no way I could have had a child at eight, could I? I was still at Notting Academy then."

"Her name is Gu Yuena, and she's very talented in Spirit Master cultivation."

Gu Yuena said, "Hello, my name is Gu Yuena. I'm eight years old this year, and my talent is only slightly better than Tang San's, having reached Spirit Ancestor."

An eight-year-old Spirit Ancestor!

Sisi was truly enlightened; she was only level thirty-five herself.

"Uncle Li at the door said Tao Ge went to Saint Spirit Village?" Tang San asked.

"Yes, he's been diligently studying the knowledge required by Spirit Hall all these years, hoping to achieve great things." Sisi felt that it was good enough for a family to be safe and sound, but since her husband had aspirations, she could only support him.

"As expected of Tao Ge, he's truly ambitious." Tang San smiled and took out a wooden box, saying, "These are Foundation Establishment Pills made by Xiao Wu. They are good for the bodies of children who haven't awakened their Spirit. Take one a month, there are twelve in total."

"Oh, my, you've come all this way and brought a gift," Sisi said with a smile, taking the wooden box and holding it in her arms, her face full of joy. She said to the child, "Quick, call him big brother."

The child, who was tied up, was a bit reluctant, but due to Sisi's stern gaze, he still softly called out "big brother."

"So well-behaved." Tang San didn't pay too much attention, after all, children aged three to five are the most mischievous and naughty, and Sisi had tied the child up, so it would be strange if the child was happy.

Afterwards, the two chatted for a few moments, then Tang San took Gu Yuena and left the office, called out to Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu, who were waiting outside, and headed towards Saint Spirit Village.

Tang San noticed that the road between Saint Spirit Village and Nuoding City had clearly widened a lot. Previously, it could only accommodate two ox-carts side by side, but now its width exceeded fifteen meters.

The closer they got to the village, the more farmland there was nearby. The lush green rice stalks swayed in the wind, exceptionally fresh.

Upon arriving at the entrance of Saint Spirit Village, Tang San found that the houses in the village had all been renovated, and their number had also increased significantly, with the scale now approaching that of some small towns.

"This is your hometown? It looks pretty good," Gu Yuena looked around, noticing that the houses here were shorter than those in Nuoding City, but the large expanse of rice stalks outside the village made her feel a beauty different from that of Star Dou Great Forest.

If the plants in Star Dou Great Forest were the wild growth of nature, then the farmlands outside Saint Spirit Village were ingeniously well-ordered, yet they didn't make one feel suppressed; instead, they were refreshing.

[Humans, a creative and multifaceted race!]

337: Old Jack recognizes his granddaughter again

"Grandpa, I'm back!"

Arriving at the village chief's house in Saint Spirit Village, Tang San shouted, then led Gu Yuena inside. Shen Hou, You Ji, Hai Zhu, and the others also followed them into the courtyard.

Compared to before, Old Jack's house hadn't changed much, but it had been renovated and looked brand new. Anyone who saw it would think it was a quaint farmhouse and cottage suitable for retirement.

"Little San is back!" Old Jack ran out from inside the house, so happy that his hunched back straightened a little.

"Grandpa is as energetic as ever."

Tang San went up and supported Old Jack's arm—

Ten years ago, in Tang San's eyes, Old Jack, though hunched, seemed tall. This was not only because six-year-old him was small but also because Old Jack dared to scold Tang Hao.

Now, ten years later, he was taller than Old Jack and had inherited his quality of daring to confront Tang Hao.

"Haha, where, I'm old, useless now." Old Jack was very cheerful. He looked behind Tang San but didn't see Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, or others. Instead, he saw four unfamiliar faces, showing a strange expression. "Where are your child brides... ah no, your sisters?"

Tang San: ".....They are in Spirit City, working at Spirit Hall. They are quite busy. The reason I had time to come back this time was because I took on a mission to hunt The Fallen. After completing it, I had time to come back and visit."

"That's right, the people in Saint Spirit Village are also very busy. Since you went to a bigger city, you must be even busier. Besides, you've become the Holy Son of Spirit Hall, so you must have a lot of things to deal with, right? Then you should go back quickly. You can't delay important matters!" Old Jack said with a serious face. "It wouldn't be good if the Supreme Pontiff blamed you."

"Grandpa, don't worry, I still have this much free time." Tang San was torn between laughter and tears. As for the Supreme Pontiff blaming him... emmm~ that would be even worse...

"That's good." Old Jack was relieved, and a smile returned to his face.

At this moment, Su Yuntao walked out of the house and bowed, saying, "Greetings, Holy Son."

"Please don't." Tang San immediately pulled Su Yuntao up and teased, "Tao Ge, you know what kind of person I am, don't you? I can't accept such a grand gesture from you."

"Your 'Tao Ge' really flatters me." Compared to Old Jack, who only knew that the Holy Son was a big shot in Spirit Hall, Su Yuntao, as the Branch Master of Noding Spirit Hall Branch, understood the meaning of the Holy Son even better—one of the candidates for the Spirit Hall Pope!

Even if he didn't become the Pope in the end, with Tang San's strength and ability, becoming a highly esteemed Elder of Spirit Hall would still put him in a position second only to one person, above tens of thousands!

Moreover, he also knew what contributions Tang San had made to Spirit City after going there...

To be honest, if it were two years ago, Su Yuntao would have felt he could calmly treat Tang San as a brother, but two years later, when Tang San truly maintained his original attitude and communicated with him, it felt unreal.

Tang San was still the same as before!

"What flattery? It's just that you, Tao Ge, are too nervous." Tang San smiled and went into the house with Old Jack and Su Yuntao. Gu Yuena followed them, and Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu also went in at Tang San's signal, as Old Jack was quite friendly to strangers.

During their casual chat, Su Yuntao didn't mention Gu Yuena and the others, and Old Jack didn't ask either. After all, Tang San had said earlier that this trip was for a mission, so both assumed that Gu Yuena, Shen Hou, You Ji, Hai Zhu, and the others were companions accompanying Tang San on the mission.

However, Gu Yuena's little actions of touching here and looking there still made Old Jack notice something amiss—she was just like Xiao Wu when she first came to his house.

So, he used the excuse of going to boil tea and found Gu Yuena, who had run out to play in the front yard, asking, "Little girl, are you a Spirit Master too?"

Knowing that this was Tang San's grandfather, Gu Yuena was very respectful and said with a sweet smile, "That's right, I'm already a Spirit Ancestor."

"Spirit Ancestor!" Old Jack was startled. In recent years, he had often communicated with people from Spirit Hall and knew how difficult cultivation truly was. One must know that Master Su was only a Level 39 Spirit Elder this year.

This little girl in front of him was already a Spirit Ancestor!

By the way, what level was Little San this year?

When the Spirit Master Grand Competition started, he seemed to have already become a Spirit King.

"Eight years old!" Old Jack's eyes widened even further. He had just thought that this person might just look small, suffering from dwarfism or something, but he hadn't expected her to actually be that young...

By the way, could it be the same situation as Xiao Wu?

Is this a bit too small?

Eight years old... Little San is sixteen this year, so there's only an eight-year difference, which isn't big. Old Wang in the village even married a widow ten years younger than him last year.

"So, are you also on a mission with Tang San this time?" Old Jack wanted to ask for more clarity.

"That's right." Gu Yuena felt she shouldn't just be out playing, so she nodded.

"You're so young, even if you're a Spirit Master, your family wouldn't agree, would they?"

"Oh, you're worried about that? Then don't worry, my family is Tang San."

Old Jack: "(◉_◉) What?"

Gu Yuena then roughly explained how she was bought by Tang San, which made Old Jack extremely sympathetic. He said, "An orphan even more pitiful than Xiao Wu. Then, would you be willing to be my granddaughter? From now on, Tang San will be your brother! In the future, you two will be as close as siblings."

As close as siblings?

Gu Yuena thought for a moment, then sweetly called out, "Grandpa."

Tang San often used her owing a large sum of money to leave her speechless. If she became Old Jack's granddaughter, then she wouldn't have to pay back the money, right?

Hehehe!

"Oh, my good granddaughter." Old Jack, on the other hand, was happy to have another granddaughter, which fulfilled his dream of "having many children and grandchildren."

Meanwhile, inside the house, Tang San and Su Yuntao were discussing the construction of Nuoding City and the surrounding villages.

"My idea is this: Centered around Saint Spirit Village, build wider roads between all the villages, connecting them to each other. Re-divide the existing farmland and newly opened farmland for unified planting and management, encircling the entire Nuoding City. And the people in each village, in addition to managing their own assigned farmland, should also manage the other farmlands. We will pay salaries then." Su Yuntao explained his idea. "What do you think?"

"Encircling the city with farmland?"

Tang San recalled the modern history he had learned in his previous life and thought Su Yuntao's idea was quite good. "It can make the city self-sufficient in terms of food, without needing to import from other places. If high-yield grain varieties are cultivated in the future, it might even be possible to sell grain to other regions."

The Nuoding City area has many basins and plains, with fewer mountains. If all the uninhabited areas around it were opened up, it could indeed become a city that produces grain in the future.

338: Something happened in Holy Soul Village, Gu Yuena confessed

“You think so too?” Su Yuntao’s eyes gleamed with brilliance, his confidence soaring.

“Haha, don’t trust me too much. If we’re talking about cultivation, I can speak eloquently, but when it comes to planting, urban planning, and development, I can only talk theoretically,” Tang San knew his own limits, chuckled twice, and then said, “But Tao Ge, you can be bold and go for it. If it fails in the end, at most it’s just Spirit Hall’s experiment failing, and Nuoding City will just have to import grain from other places in the future.”

“In the future, transportation will be convenient, and shipping will be fast.”

Su Yuntao laughed heartily and said, “That’s true, there’s no reason for it to succeed on the first try. I estimate the transformation of Nuoding City and the surrounding Creation area will take four or five years.”

In reality, Su Yuntao knew that even if problems arose in the end, he would at most be demoted from Branch Master. After all, everyone in the upper echelons knew he had a connection with the Spirit Hall Saint Child.

It’s just that he genuinely wanted to make other contributions besides Spirit Master cultivation, thereby leaving a significant mark in history.

Before the age of six, Su Yuntao’s thought was to awaken a good Spirit.

After the age of six, Su Yuntao entered the junior academy, thinking of becoming a Spirit Master so he could receive Spirit Hall’s gold coin and live a better life.

At twelve, he obtained a white spirit ring, graduated successfully, joined Spirit Hall, and slowly began tasks like awakening Spirits for others and patrolling, understanding the meaning of “justice.”

At eighteen, he met Sisi, and all he could think about was how to pick up... oh no, how to be with Sisi.

At twenty-one, he met Tang San in Saint Spirit Village... and from that day on, his destiny completely changed. Not only did he gradually gain Ma Xiunuo’s appreciation, but he also won Sisi’s favor.

Now, he even became the Branch Master of Nuoding City’s Spirit Hall and had a child with Sisi...

Looking back at his past, Su Yuntao realized that his thoughts had constantly been changing, and now, he even began to dream of leaving a legacy for all time... he himself found it incredible.

However, Su Yuntao felt that this idea, which had now emerged, could make him strive for the rest of his life, no longer a mere desire, but a dream.

At this moment, Old Jack and Gu Yuena entered from outside, chatting and laughing, and Old Jack introduced to Tang San: “Little San, Na’er has already been adopted as my granddaughter. From now on, you can take good care of your younger sister.”

Tang San: “.....”

Su Yuntao gave Old Jack a thumbs-up, then, with a playful tone, whispered to Tang San: “Amazing! She’ll definitely be a great beauty when she grows up!”

“By the way, shouldn’t the Saint Child remain a virgin?”

“You must be really pent up!”

Tang San’s expression grew even more speechless, and he quietly replied, “Actually, I’m not a virgin.”

“Understood~” Su Yuntao said with a solemn face, “Most people get married and have children by fifteen or sixteen. It wouldn’t sound good if you said you haven’t even touched a woman. I’ll definitely keep your secret.”

That’s it!

It’s impossible to explain this clearly!

After staying in Saint Spirit Village for three days, Tang San went to his former blacksmith shop and met the young man he had taught blacksmithing skills to. By now, the young man was married, and his child was already three years old.

When he saw Tang San, he brought his family of three to pay respects, saying that Tang San was the teacher who taught him the craft...

Three days later, Tang San bid farewell to Old Jack, Su Yuntao, and others, and left Saint Spirit Village.

He came quietly.

He left quietly.

Except for a few old acquaintances, the other villagers didn’t know Tang San had returned and continued living their ordinary yet fulfilling peaceful lives.

Everyone has their own life.

Tang San was no exception.

“Tell me, why did you agree to Grandpa Jack’s suggestion to adopt you as his granddaughter?” On the way back to Spirit City, Tang San and Gu Yuena rode in the same carriage and asked about this matter.

“If that Soft Bones Rabbit can, why can’t I?” Gu Yuena brought up Xiao Wu’s example.

“Hmm~ She doesn’t owe me money for selling herself,” Tang San gave a reason that Gu Yuena couldn’t refute, making her face flush with anger. Finally, she resorted to being unreasonable, saying, “Anyway, I’m your younger sister now, so the money I owe doesn’t need to be repaid.”

“Close siblings, clear accounts,” Tang San said indifferently, “Also, I’ve never forced you to repay the money, have I? Or are you saying—”

At this point, Tang San’s lips curved slightly upward: “You just wanted to get closer to me?”

Gu Yuena’s cheeks instantly flushed crimson, and she roared, “How could that be? Don’t be so narcissistic! I just saw Old Jack’s dream of having a granddaughter and merely helped him achieve it!”

“Is that so?” Tang San remained noncommittal and didn’t dwell on that question. Instead, he asked another: “So, can you tell me now what your true identity is? After all, I’m your older brother now.”

“Bullshit! I’m still your master!”

Gu Yuena pouted, suddenly feeling that by acknowledging a grandfather, she had lowered her own seniority. Would she even have to call Xiao Wu and Guang Ling “sisters” in the future?

At the time, she was only focused on getting closer to Tang San and didn’t think about this aspect.

“When we get back, don’t tell Xiao Wu and Guang Ling.”

“Alright,” Tang San agreed. In any case, he wouldn’t be the one embarrassed later.

Gu Yuena closed her eyes, then suddenly opened them, her purple pupils turning silver, devoid of any emotion. Her tone was icy cold: “I am the Silver Dragon King, the co-ruler of the Star Dou Great Forest...”

Listening to Gu Yuena recount the Dragon God’s experiences and her own slumber, Tang San showed no strong reaction.

“Do you think what I’m saying is false?” Gu Yuena asked.

“No, I was just wondering, when you talk about such things, why do your pupils turn silver-white?” Tang San asked a question that even made Gu Yuena pause.

“I’ve said something so important, and you only care about that?” Gu Yuena’s silver pupils showed a hint of displeasure. The slight energy that leaked out caused the surrounding world energy to become chaotic. “Or are you saying you think everything I just said was a lie? I’ve never lied to you!”

“Hmm, I know, it’s just that Divinities and such are still too far away for me right now. I’m still more concerned about your pupil color. Is it really not some kind of malignant disease?”

Compared to the Silver Dragon King’s story, which he had somewhat anticipated, Tang San was more curious about how Gu Yuena managed to change her pupil color. It didn’t seem like an optical color shift, but rather a convergence of elemental energy?

At the very least, Gu Yuena in her silver-eyed state had an aura more than ten times stronger than in her purple-eyed state.

Gu Yuena’s chest heaved violently, her silver pupils returning to purple. She snorted, “Let’s just say you’re concerned about me... Let’s talk about serious matters. What do you think about the God Realm?”

Tang San rubbed his chin, thought for a moment, and slowly said, “From what you say, the gods in the God Realm don’t seem to be good people at all, which isn’t very objective. But from a human perspective, it’s still acceptable, after all, they don’t pay attention to the mortals in the lower realm. It’s just that when humanity develops to a certain stage, perhaps the God Realm will become an obstacle...”

These two chapters mainly mention the changes in Saint Spirit Village, its future development, and Su Yuntao’s transformation after becoming the Branch Master.

339: Discussion on the future of spirit beasts

“That’s right, the God Realm will be an obstacle to human development!” Gu Yuena’s eyes lit up as she emphasized.

To be honest, compared to leading the Spirit Beasts to rise, Gu Yuena, who had spent some time in human society, felt that Spirit Beasts truly couldn't compare to humans, whether in terms of wisdom, creativity, or courage.

Unless, Spirit Beasts truly transformed into humans, but then that would be integrating into the collective of humanity...

However, she could consider these things after she returned to her main body, and she herself was currently more inclined to seek revenge, to thoroughly beat up the Five Great God-Kings, especially the Asura God, to let him also taste the feeling of being split in two!

“Let’s not talk about that for now, after all, we can’t even reach the God Realm. Let’s take it slow.” Tang San shook his head. “Since you are the co-leader of the Spirit Beasts, you must favor Spirit Beasts, right? But humans currently need Spirit Beasts’ spirit rings to break through the spirit power limit. While I can create self-condensed spirit rings, it’s not yet universal.”

“Perhaps in the distant future, human Spirit Masters can condense their own spirit rings to break through realms, but before that goal is achieved, countless Spirit Beasts will be hunted by human Spirit Masters.”

This was a problem the Silver Dragon King had to face.

But Gu Yuena said, “To be honest, after spending some time with you, I feel that those Spirit Beasts are quite foolish, and I’ve also realized my own thoughts. I don’t truly care about the lives of those Spirit Beasts; it’s just a sense of responsibility, wanting to find a place where they can forever live and reproduce in peace—”

“Can you let me finish?” Gu Yuena got angry.

“No.” Tang San yawned. “To be honest, listening to you talk about the reproduction of Spirit Beasts and such is quite boring, especially with a co-leader like you.”

“I’m really getting angry!”

“Don’t get excited. I just want to say, if you want Spirit Beasts to have a permanent place to live, then you can try dreaming. It’s very beautiful there.”

Tang San “comforted,” ignoring Gu Yuena, whose whole face was practically burning with anger, and continued, “After all, you understand the concept of the universe better than I do. In that infinitely vast space, there are countless intelligent races. They will also develop and explore. What if one day they come to Douluo Star... Imagine, an intelligent civilization from outside Douluo Star can travel light-years to Douluo Star; how powerful must their methods be.”

Gu Yuena rolled her eyes, “Listening to you tell stories about aliens feels even more distant than the God Realm.”

This was a jab at Tang San’s earlier remark about the God Realm being “too distant.”

“Isn’t the God Realm an alien planet?” Tang San retorted.

“...It really is.” Gu Yuena thought for a moment and suddenly felt extremely speechless. After all, according to Tang San’s “alien theory,” the God Realm was a federation composed of local gods and gods from various planets, but its system was very backward, advocating “the law of the jungle” and “the theory that the weak are guilty.”

Moreover, the Five Great God-Kings of the God Realm each had their own problems.

“Don’t change the subject.” Gu Yuena came back to her senses and narrowed her eyes. “I’m asking, if one day, Spirit Beasts and humans were to go to war, whose side would you be on?”

“Humans.” Tang San answered without hesitation.

“Why?”

Gu Yuena didn’t understand. Tang San clearly had half Spirit Beast blood... Uh, it seemed that in Tang San’s view, transformed Spirit Beasts, even if they hadn’t reached maturity, were still human.

Although she didn’t want to admit it, Gu Yuena had to concede: transformed Spirit Beasts, fundamentally speaking, were already human, merely possessing the Ten-thousand year cultivation accumulated during their Spirit Beast phase, which could be used to condense their first seven spirit rings.

“It seems you know the reason.” Tang San saw Gu Yuena fall silent after asking, and he sighed softly. “I think, you really don’t need to treat all Spirit Beasts as your entire populace.”

Gu Yuena: “All?”

Tang San: “After all, you can’t change the food chain among Spirit Beasts. Only Ten-thousand year level Spirit Beasts will see some change; they are the ones who can truly be considered your subjects.”

Gu Yuena was suspicious: “Then how many subjects do I even have? Those bastards in the ocean won’t give a damn about me.”

“Without intelligence close to humans, how can they be considered subjects?”

Tang San looked deeply at Gu Yuena, “Deep down, you haven’t truly considered Spirit Beasts below fifty thousand years as your subjects, but rather as consumables that can be driven and expended, right? Just as you said before, you’ve seen your true feelings. For Spirit Beasts, you only feel responsibility, and it’s more like they worship you, and then you feel you can’t let down their worship. It’s probably like that.”

Undoubtedly, whether it was the Gu Yuena from the Douluo Series he had read in his previous life, or the true Silver Dragon King before him, in Tang San’s eyes, neither was a qualified ruler.

Or rather, in an environment like the Star Dou Great Forest, no effective rule could ever be formed, let alone with Gu Yuena spending most of her time in slumber.

In the original work, during the period when the God Realm was swept away by the spatial turbulence, Gu Yuena directly led the Spirit Beasts to wage war against all humans on Douluo Star, which was still better than her method of “learning the barbarians’ skills to subdue them.”

What if they learned human technology?

Among Spirit Beasts, there were only a few fierce beasts that could transform into human form. In terms of research, they definitely couldn't compare to the vast numbers of humans.

Gu Yuena was disheartened, then asked, “Is there really no way for humans and Spirit Beasts to coexist peacefully?”

“Coexistence is possible, as long as there’s a way in the future to erase the rule that spirit rings are born after a Spirit Beast dies. But peaceful coexistence...” Tang San could only express:

A weak nation has no diplomacy.

This is an eternal truth.

Not to mention, apart from the Silver Dragon King and those few fierce beasts, there was nothing among Spirit Beasts that humans would deem worthy of respect.

Moreover, most humans currently had no idea that fierce beasts existed within the Star Dou Great Forest.

For humans, Spirit Beasts were a resource, not a power.

At least, on Douluo Star, if Gu Yuena wanted to secure a permanent and stable home for Spirit Beasts, there was only one way: to slaughter all humans on Douluo Star, and then, over the long years, constantly be vigilant against any species evolving towards humanity, and nip them in the bud.

Even then, two issues still needed to be considered.

Firstly, whether Ten-thousand year soul beasts that couldn't pass the heavenly tribulation should transform into humans.

Secondly, the factor of the God Realm.

For the first point, if Gu Yuena were cruel enough, she could slaughter all transformed Ten-thousand year soul beasts; as for the second point, it was a hurdle she could not escape no matter what.

“If we’re talking about coexistence, humans and Spirit Beasts already coexist on the same continent.” Gu Yuena sighed, “But if humanity continues to develop like this, Spirit Beasts will eventually go extinct.”

“You’re just worrying needlessly.” Tang San shook his head and said, “As long as the Heaven and Earth energy of this World doesn’t disappear, ordinary animals and plants will always become Spirit Beasts. It’s just that high-cultivation Spirit Beasts will be relatively rare.”

Gu Yuena: “.....”

Regarding equality between Spirit Beasts and humans.

I personally think it's impossible!

Either be dependent, or integrate into humanity and become human.

From a high-level perspective, humans themselves are constantly in conflict, let alone introducing a brand new race?

Unless it's a Worldview like Pokémon.

Or, all intelligent beings not of the divine lineage are categorized within the scope of humanity, elevating the concept of humanity.

340: Return to Wuhun City

Heaven and Earth energy.

This is the extraordinary energy that Spirit Beasts and Spirit Masters cannot bypass in their cultivation.

Whether it's humans or Spirit Beasts, the cultivation increase obtained by absorbing Heaven and Earth energy remains constant within the total Heaven and Earth energy of Douluo Star.

No, it should be increasing.

The Heaven and Earth energy of Douluo Star is transformed from various energies absorbed by the planet from the universe, though the efficiency is quite low, it is indeed increasing.

If time is measured in 'hundreds of millions of years', even if humans didn't develop spirit tools, the number of powerhouses would still increase over time.

What's more, Gu Yuena perceived that Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor, after rooting itself in the earth, could accelerate the planet's transformation of various energies from the universe.

If one day Tang San truly filled Douluo Star with Blue Silver Emperor, to what extent would the Heaven and Earth energy of the entire planet become dense... Gu Yuena could no longer imagine.

But she could deduce that it could at least bring Douluo Star to the same level as the God Realm, just without the special Immortal Spiritual Energy of the God Realm, though quantity could compensate for quality.

And Tang San, who assisted Douluo Star in its advancement, would undoubtedly be the Son of Heaven and Earth for the entire Douluo Star, even on the same level as Douluo Star's plane will. From then on, no matter how many Children of Fortune appeared, they would have to bow down to him and submit.

No other reason.

No matter how powerful a Child of Fortune is, he is merely a lucky person of an era; for the entire Douluo Star, he is dispensable. If he cannot bear the fortune, it can simply be transferred to someone else, it's not crucial.

However, Tang San is capable of bringing about the ascension of the entire Douluo Star, not just limited to humans or Spirit Beasts. Of course, he is a "biological son"; all good things are sent his way.

Of course, Gu Yuena didn't believe that the plane will of a mere Douluo Continent could affect herself, whose origin was at the God King level. Her encounter with Tang San was merely a coincidence.

"I'm your younger sister now, Old Jack acknowledged it, so can't you say something that makes me feel comfortable?" Gu Yuena gave up discussing the future of Spirit Beasts and Heaven and Earth energy with Tang San, and played the emotional card, "Other people's younger sisters are pampered, but you, on the other hand, are at odds with your younger sister."

"So, other people's younger sisters grow up to be very spoiled and willful," Tang San said a reason that Gu Yuena couldn't refute, making her furious but helpless. She could only pounce on Tang San, bite his thumb, and suck his blood with a slurping sound.

"Let go! Are you a vampire?" Tang San pulled at Gu Yuena's mouth, but didn't use much force, worried about truly angering her.

"I'm not a bat, but your blood is really good."

Three minutes later, Gu Yuena licked her lips and suggested with a smile, "For both Spirit Masters and Spirit Beasts, it's an unparalleled delicacy, and it can even help them improve their cultivation... You should also have a cultivation method for qi and blood, right? Teach me, after all, I'm your younger sister now!"

Indeed, this way, Tang San couldn't refuse.

However, he could postpone it—

"What you said makes a lot of sense, but I'm not completely familiar with you yet, and I'll be condensing my Soul Nucleus soon, so I don't have time to specifically teach you."

Was it that Gu Yuena hadn't gained his complete trust yet?

Not quite.

It was the Silver Dragon King who hadn't.

Tang San hadn't forgotten that the Gu Yuena before him was merely a clone condensed from a portion of the vast Silver Dragon King's original essence, not the complete Silver Dragon King individual.

He felt that the current Gu Yuena was somewhat different from Gu Yue and Na'er in Douluo Dalu 3; she didn't seem like a case of split personality, but rather more akin to a soul replication. She possessed all of Gu Yuena's memories and personality, yet was a separate individual, a type of soul clone without an immortal true spirit.

This was just Tang San's guess; the specifics were unknown. After all, he hadn't yet directly observed the immortal true spirit. The existence of the Blue Silver Network could only assist him in observing the immortal true spirit and soul embers left behind after a creature's soul naturally perished.

Without being able to determine the exact situation of the current Gu Yuena, he still needed to maintain a certain level of vigilance, as she was not the same as Xiao Wu.

"Hmph, who cares." Gu Yuena looked displeased, but was then appeased by Tang San with a candied hawthorn... In a sense, Gu Yuena was as innocent as Xiao Wu once was...

...

A week later, Tang San and Gu Yuena returned to Spirit City.

Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu, visiting Spirit City for the first time, were astonished by the prosperity of Spirit City's outer city.

"Even Heaven Dou City can't compare to this!" Shen Hou's mouth hung open. He stood with Tang San outside the city, stunned for a long while before he came to his senses, revealing a look of embarrassment: "I'm sorry, Lord Earl, I've embarrassed you."

"What's embarrassing or not embarrassing? Everyone who comes here for the first time will be like this." Tang San motioned for the three not to feel embarrassed, as everyone has such moments. Then he led them in through the entrance of Min Shi Liang Du.

Among these six outer cities, Min Shi Liang Du was considered the most unadorned. On its outskirts, there was a large expanse of farmland, but unlike the single crop of rice in Saint Spirit Village, this area was filled with various high-yield crops that had been researched, making it look somewhat messy and not very harmonious.

This was unavoidable, as Spirit Hall Inner City was mostly composed of Spirit Masters, who initially were not very willing to listen to the farmers' advice, being arrogant and impractical. It was only after Bibi Dong issued a strict order that things began to improve.

Everything had to take time, no rushing.

However, inside Min Shi Liang Du, it was a different scene altogether. The streets and alleys were filled with the aroma of various foods. Looking around, besides food billboards, the streets were lined with all sorts of novel delicacies. The raw materials were mostly grains, with less meat, and even fewer delicacies made from Spirit Beast meat.

After all, Spirit Beasts were considered precious resources. Generally speaking, Spirit Hall would not allow other Spirit Masters to indiscriminately kill them for the sake of their appetite, unless the Spirit Beast's meat was truly delicious and had a beneficial effect on cultivation.

Or, if the Spirit Beast's reproductive capacity was relatively strong.

Of course, that was the regulation on the surface, but the actual implementation was not very optimistic. After all, most of the cities on the continent currently relied on corresponding Spirit Beast forests for their construction, and many commoner Spirit Masters earned money by hunting Spirit Beasts.

The main reason was that the Two Great Empires didn't care, and the various Spirit Hall Branches were basically independent, having corresponding vested interests with the families, city lords, and even small Sects in their respective cities. Things had only improved somewhat in the last two years.

After all, the various Spirit Hall Branches received orders from the Spirit City Main Hall to begin establishing various factories and businesses, providing employment opportunities, and starting to resolve the living problems of commoner Spirit Masters and ordinary people.

Although many problems also arose, at least the common people across the continent could see that Spirit Hall was continuously improving and doing practical things, striving to help them live better lives.

That was enough.

Shen Hou twitched his nose, swallowing his saliva, and couldn't help but say, "(ノ▽ノ) So fragrant~~"

You Ji and Hai Zhu were also the same.

"Alright then, let's go eat at a nearby place first. The food in the inns here is all very good." Tang San found a restaurant called "Yingchun Tower," ordered a large number of dishes from the waiter, and requested a private room...

...

"Supreme Pontiff, the Holy Son has returned. He is currently dining at the Yingchun Tower in Min Shi Liang Du, and he brought three servants named Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu."

Gu Yuena, who received the news immediately, reported it to Bibi Dong.

"He's been out for nearly a month, and he's finally willing to come back." Bibi Dong put down the documents in her hand, a slight smile involuntarily gracing her lips. In fact, when Tang San stepped into the Spirit City's range, her mental force had already sensed him.

At this time, she was already able to construct a mental network, like a spider web, using her mental force, which could normally cover the entire Spirit City, both inside and out, for reconnaissance.

Although Bibi Dong couldn't maintain this state at all times, as she was still a mortal, her brain couldn't handle such a large amount of information without the aid of a semi-divine tool like the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne.

But Tang San carried her aura, so as long as he approached, she would naturally sense him.

As for why Tang San had her aura...

That was a secret no one else could know.

341: Confidential conversations between teachers and students (Bibi Dong and Hu Lie

Hu Liena somehow felt that ever since her teacher and Tang San sparred in the Supreme Pontiff Palace last time, something had changed; her mood was much brighter than before, no longer giving off a gloomy impression.

Whenever Tang San was mentioned, her teacher's lips would curve into a faint smile.

For a moment, Hu Liena felt a touch of jealousy.

But she also knew that thanks to Tang San's suggestions, Spirit Hall had not only grown stronger but its foundation for establishing a nation was also gradually being solidified, and he had even created a Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne for Spirit Hall.

"Teacher, the identities of the three people Tang San brought back have also been clarified. Two females and one male, all with Physical Martial Soul, from Silverblue Manor in Heaven Dou City. Their Spirits are Heart, Skin, and Bone, respectively," Hu Liena reported on Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu's intelligence. "I'm not sure what their use is."

"Physical Martial Soul?"

Bibi Dong knew that Tang San was close to becoming a Spirit Saint and understood that he wanted to condense the three core essences of Spirit, qi, and vitality. Now, looking for Physical Martial Soul users, he was likely trying to conduct research based on corresponding human Martial Soul parts to verify and complement his own body tempering methods, filling in any defects throughout his body.

This would also be helpful for her own future in condensing a Qi and Blood Golden Core—

"Issue an order to all Spirit Hall Branches across the continent to begin collecting owners of Physical Martial Soul. Anyone who has awakened a Physical Martial Soul, regardless of their innate spirit power, must be sent to Spirit City by the Spirit Hall Branches, within the bounds of the rules."

Hu Liena was startled and said, "Won't this cause a stir? And other Sects will surely imitate us."

She didn't understand why her teacher suddenly wanted to do this.

Could it be to gather materials for Tang San's research on Physical Martial Soul?

"It's fine, as long as our Spirit Hall doesn't force them," Bibi Dong said indifferently. "At that time, we will conduct a public announcement, offering generous living conditions and Spirit coin guarantees to those who volunteer to be experimental subjects. I believe many people will willingly embrace our Spirit Hall."

Bibi Dong was becoming increasingly skilled at video promotion.

Hu Liena had nothing to say and could only make a note, preparing to discuss this matter with Tang San later. After all, he would definitely be involved in the research of Physical Martial Soul and hold a dominant position—they couldn't leave all the public-facing work to them. Tang San, as the Holy Son, must also contribute his "charm."

"How is Star Luo Empire recently?"

Compared to Heaven Dou Empire, which was already in her grasp, Bibi Dong was more concerned about the situation in Star Luo.

Hearing Bibi Dong's question, Hu Liena immediately took out the latest intelligence submitted by the Star Luo City Spirit Hall Branch and said, "Star Luo Emperor Dai Legao has begun to emulate Emperor Xue Ye of Heaven Dou Empire, allowing Dai Weisi to start handling affairs. As soon as Dai Weisi took over some power, he began to vigorously establish spirit tool research institutions, focusing on the research of weapon-type spirit tools."

"Such as spirit tool bombs, spirit tool crossbows, and so on."

"However, due to the opposition from most Spirit Master families within the Empire, the construction of the spirit tool research academy has been greatly hindered."

Bibi Dong scoffed twice, offering no further comment.

But Hu Liena understood that Star Luo Empire had made a terrible move from the start.

While weapon-type spirit tools were powerful, where did that leave the Spirit Masters with strong offensive capabilities? After diligently cultivating for twenty or thirty years to reach Spirit Elder or Spirit Ancestor, they were told that a single spirit tool bomb could render all their efforts useless.

Who could accept that?

support system Spirit Masters and ordinary people, however, didn't mind using powerful offensive spirit tools; in fact, they were quite pleased, as weapon-type spirit tools provided them with strong offensive capabilities.

Spirit Masters like Bibi Dong and Hu Liena weren't particularly concerned about the offensive capabilities of spirit tools, as strong individuals never complained about their environment.

But in the current broader context, most Spirit Masters would not allow offensive spirit tools to usurp their status.

Therefore, even when Spirit Hall researched offensive spirit tools, they did so secretly, not openly, precisely to prevent anyone from using it as a reason to incite all Spirit Masters on the continent against Spirit Hall's research.

Although Bibi Dong now felt that even without becoming a Divinity, she had the ability to suppress the continent's powerhouses, ruling and managing were far more difficult than conquering the entire continent.

She couldn't let the current situation she had created turn to naught.

At least, as she was now, she quite enjoyed watching Spirit Hall gradually become the image she had imagined in her youth—revered by all, growing stronger, and improving steadily.

The sense of accomplishment in her Heart far surpassed anything in the past!

Of course, for Bibi Dong now, there was one more thing that could satisfy her: conquering Tang San!

"Star Luo Empire made a terrible move," Bibi Dong finally commented, though it was unclear if she meant they were too arrogant from the start, or if she was referring to letting Dai Weisi handle this matter.

"Perhaps they wanted to cut the Gordian knot quickly and seize all power in Star Luo Empire for the Dai Family and Zhu Family," Hu Liena offered her opinion—

After all, Star Luo Empire was established by various families and Sects. When the Clear Sky Sect, which supported Star Luo Empire, retreated, and the Dai Family completely solidified their imperial throne in Star Luo Empire, they naturally wanted to go a step further, ensuring the throne would forever belong to the Dai Family, leaving no opportunity for other families.

Putting herself in their shoes, Hu Liena felt that if she were on the Star Luo throne, she would also try every means to keep that position for her own family, not others...

Clap!

Hu Liena immediately slapped her own head to clear her mind, thinking, "I can't have such thoughts. My teacher can abandon bloodline ties and take me as a disciple, even planning to pass the position to me in the future. I must also broaden my thinking and not be limited by bloodline inheritance."

"What's wrong?" Seeing Hu Liena suddenly slap her own forehead, Bibi Dong was a little curious.

"Nothing, it's just..." Hu Liena dared not hide it and described her recent thoughts, which greatly surprised Bibi Dong.

To be honest, Bibi Dong had never thought that way. If Qian Renxue weren't that guy's daughter, perhaps Hu Liena wouldn't have had a chance now.

In a sense, Hu Liena was also a substitute for her daughter... However, Bibi Dong was certain that she absolutely treated Hu Liena as her own daughter.

As for her original biological daughter, upon reflection now, Bibi Dong only felt guilt. After all, she had come to understand that the newborn child was innocent and knew nothing, but there had never been any mother-daughter interaction between her and Qian Renxue.

Blood is thicker than water, that's true.

But time lost cannot be reversed, and the lack of deep affection between her and Qian Renxue was also an undeniable fact.

Moreover, the future of Spirit Hall would absolutely not be returned to the Angel lineage!

If there was a reason, it was only one—

This was what the Qian Family owed her!

Of course, publicly, to the masses, such an absurd reason couldn't be used. A reason that would convince the world was needed, for example: Since the Angel God shows compassion, sympathy, and love for the world with sincere emotion, then anyone can be the Supreme Pontiff! As long as they have the talent!

Presumably, with the Angel's generosity and benevolence, they would agree with such a concept, right?

At least, the Qian Family, who claimed to be descendants of the Angel God, could not refute this point!

"That's right, you should think that way. Spirit Hall is everyone's Spirit Hall, not one person's, or one family's. It cannot be based on bloodline," Bibi Dong retracted her thoughts, nodded slightly, and continued, "This is the purpose of our Spirit Hall. Of course, it's not perfect yet and needs time to be refined."

Hu Liena nodded, seeing Bibi Dong's natural expression, and hesitated to speak.

"Ask whatever you want. Between you and me, there's no need to be so secretive," Bibi Dong said with a smile.

"Teacher, you don't seem so anxious anymore?" Hu Liena finally asked the doubt in her Heart. "After your last spar with Tang San, you seemed to change, becoming more at ease in handling affairs and not rushing to cultivate... Is God Position inheritance no longer important?"

How could it not be important?

It's just that for Bibi Dong now, she simultaneously possessed the Rakshasa and death God Positions, and the previous Rakshasa God's divine consciousness had completely disappeared.

To become a Divinity, she only needed to accumulate energy; there was no need to be so urgent.

She had already tried Tang San's cultivation theory: condensing the cores of the three dantian, forming a cycle, forging a small human universe, and then communicating with the external greater universe, achieving the goal of leveraging the power of heaven and earth with human strength.

Although it wasn't like controlling a Divinity's laws or anything, upon closer introspection, it felt grander than becoming a Divinity.

If she delved deeper, she might even surpass all past and present!

Even if she ultimately failed, at worst she would still be a Rakshasa God, or a God of death.

Furthermore, after pondering the situation in God Realm, Bibi Dong even wanted to postpone the time of becoming a Divinity. After all, once she became a Divinity, she couldn't interfere too much with mortal affairs. If she crossed the line, it might even provoke the Divinities of God Realm to intervene.

However, there was also an unstable factor on Douluo Continent:

Tang Chen.

Before Tang San revealed this matter, Bibi Dong had no idea that the Slaughter King of Slaughter City was Tang Chen, and that he had also received the Asura God inheritance.

It's just that the Asura God is an enforcer of God Realm and should know and abide by the law. If he were to slaughter indiscriminately after becoming a Divinity, would God Realm send down divine punishment?

Most likely not.

Enforcers, unless there is a stronger sword hanging over their heads, are highly likely to knowingly break the law, as even God Kings have emotions, joys, sorrows, and desires.

"The inheritance of a Divinity is naturally important, but I think it can be delayed for a while. Let's first complete the foundation for establishing Spirit Hall as a nation," Bibi Dong thought for a moment and said.

"Teacher is righteous!" Hu Liena flattered.

Bibi Dong was noncommittal, then asked, "In recent days, the disciples of Clear Sky Sect seem quite active, even probing around Spirit City."

"Should we arrest them all?" Hu Liena's eyes turned cold, offering a suggestion.

"No need. After all, we don't have sufficient reason, and sealing the mountain doesn't mean trapping all of them inside the Sect; it just doesn't allow them to act on a large scale outside," Bibi Dong shook her head. "It's not urgent for now, as our trump cards against Clear Sky Sect are openly displayed: me, Qian Daoliu, and Tang San—"

"Just one peerless Tang Chen, if he hasn't become a Divinity, he's not qualified to cause trouble for Spirit Hall."

Given the difficulty of the Asura God inheritance, it would not be an overnight task for Tang Chen to succeed.

If Tang Chen truly succeeded—

It didn't matter.

She would act!

After the energy of the three dantian formed a cycle, Bibi Dong felt that although she hadn't become a Divinity, she could unleash a divine-level attack at any time. At worst, she could perform a Martial Soul Fusion Skill with Tang San.

By then, Tang San would probably also have reached Titled Douluo, or even the peerless level.

Their fusion skill would undoubtedly be even more powerful!

A Tang Chen who had just inherited the Asura God Position would definitely not possess the full power of a God King from God Realm. Her teaming up with Tang San had a very high chance of defeating him.

342: Sooner or later I'll be exhausted!

Upon returning to Soul Martial Manor, Tang San immediately embraced Xiao Wu, who had pounced on him, and gently said, “Still as lively as ever.”

“Hmph hmph, Xiao Wu Jie is expressing her longing for you.” Xiao Wu chuckled twice, then realized that Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, Huo Wu, and others had also arrived at the main entrance. She immediately released her long legs that were wrapped around Tang San’s waist. “Cough, I was indeed excited just now. Just pretend you didn’t see anything... By the way, who are these three people?”

Seeing Xiao Wu change the subject, Tang San went along with it and introduced them: “They are Physical Martial Soul users from Silverblue Manor. After completing a mission with Tian Heng and Yan Yan this time, I returned to Heaven Dou City for a trip. Lingxi and Ling Meng found many Physical Martial Soul users, which gave me a slight idea to train them.”

Ning Rongrong observed the three and asked, “What are your names? And what are your Spirits respectively?”

“Greetings, Young Miss Rongrong. My name is Shen Hou, you can also call me Jia Jiu. My Spirit is the Heart, including all the blood vessels connected to the Heart.” Shen Hou was more lively and spoke first, but he was still a bit reserved in front of the Young Miss of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

“No need to be so nervous.” Ning Rongrong covered her mouth, finding Shen Hou quite interesting. Then she looked at the ‘old woman’ with a face full of wrinkles. “Third Brother, isn’t this person a bit too old?”

“Young Miss, my Spirit is skin, so there are more wrinkles.” You Ji’s voice was very soft, but the women present could all tell that she was very young. “My name is You Ji.”

“Her age is only seventeen. The way she looks is not something she can change at the moment,” Tang San explained.

“I’m sorry.” Ning Rongrong’s eyes held a hint of sympathy.

“Hello, Young Miss. My name is Hai Zhu, and my Spirit is the skeleton.” Hai Zhu spoke last, his voice quite loud, but his physique was truly a bit hard to accept.

Xiao Wu immediately saw that this guy had eaten little in his childhood and suffered from severe malnutrition. It would take a lot of time to lay a good foundation. She looked at Tang San and said, “Do I need to provide tonics in the future?”

“Of course.” Tang San smiled. “For them to cultivate better, their foundation must first be supplemented. Although they don’t lack food and drink at Silverblue Manor, ordinary meals would take a lot of time to strengthen their foundation. By then, they might miss the best age for cultivation, which wouldn’t be good.”

“Their Physical Martial Souls are very complete. If their foundation is strengthened, their cultivation speed will not be lower than innate full spirit power.”

“This is also the advantage of Physical Martial Souls compared to other Spirits: their innate spirit power is more directly proportional to their physical strength. If the body is strong, the innate spirit power is also high. If the body is weak, the innate spirit power is also low, or even zero.”

“This type of Spirit has a high upper limit and a low lower limit, entirely depending on an individual’s physical condition and future development.”

Only then did Xiao Wu and the others realize the power of Physical Martial Souls. They all nodded, understanding why Tang San wanted to recruit Physical Martial Soul users.

As long as they were well-trained, these people might all become Titled Douluo.

Even if Physical Martial Souls were not prominent in Spirit Abilities, once they reached Titled Douluo, with their powerful bodies and vast spirit power, they could still overpower a large number of Spirit Masters.

Even if they were worse, they could still use quantity to overwhelm quality.

Moreover, in the perception of Xiao Wu and the others, since Tang San was so dedicated, these Physical Martial Soul users would certainly reach an extremely high level.

After arranging for the three to reside in the living area of Soul Martial Manor, Xiao Wu asked, “Third Brother, you shouldn’t just be cultivating a few Titled Douluo, right?”

“Hmm, the main purpose is to understand what I still lack before breaking through and to complete all the details of the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure.” Tang San stated his fundamental goal. “Physical Martial Souls are the best reference. Moreover, I think that Physical Martial Souls, which do not have elemental attributes, should be able to undergo Martial Soul Fusion, and even multiple people can perform Martial Soul Fusion together.”

Martial Soul Fusion Skill, in Tang San’s classification, has three types: spirit power fusion, Spirit Ability fusion, and Martial Soul Fusion.

The girls all realized that what Tang San meant by Martial Soul Fusion was the fusion of multiple Physical Martial Soul users into a complete—person.

“What a brilliant idea.” Xiao Wu imagined it. Multiple people fusing into one “person” would surely result in a massive body, and its power would definitely be formidable.

Ning Rongrong said, “This must require quite a few Physical Martial Soul users, right?”

Martial Soul Fusion requires tacit understanding; two people already need a lot of time to coordinate. For multiple people, it would certainly take a very long time, and to fuse into a complete “person,” all body parts must be completed: bones, muscles, brain, and various human organs. The number of people would need to exceed a thousand at least.

Most importantly, after Martial Soul Fusion, a single consciousness is needed to lead. With so many people fusing together, who would take the lead?

“How to unify control is indeed a difficult point.”

Tang San affirmed Ning Rongrong’s doubt. “But in reality, it doesn’t require that many people. After all, Physical Martial Souls can undergo secondary awakening, or even tertiary and quaternary awakening.”

“Take Shen Hou as an example. Her Spirit is Heart + blood vessels, which is already a relatively complete Physical Martial Soul. After secondary or tertiary awakening, it might even include blood, or even the bone marrow that produces blood.”

“Unlike other Spirits that evolve through spirit rings, Physical Martial Souls can grow on their own, as long as there is sufficient energy and other conditions for awakening or evolution.”

Currently, with the twelve Physical Martial Souls, including Fan Niu and Fan Ma, if their Physical Martial Souls are all awakened once in the future, they should be able to assemble a complete set of human body “parts.”

Tang San had a premonition that once the Physical Martial Soul users fused into a complete “human body,” it would surely bring him unexpected inspiration.

The Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method might truly be perfected.

Or perhaps he could research some powerful physical combat techniques.

“Third Brother, let’s not talk about these for now. We’ll take you to understand the true human body.” Xiao Wu suddenly licked her lips, gazing greedily at Tang San.

Huo Wu even leaned close to his ear and whispered, “My control over gravity has also improved a bit. I can use it in forging. I want to try if I can grind an iron rod into a needle.”

Ning Rongrong blushed: “Knowing you were coming back today, I specifically took leave from Heaven and Earth Commerce.”

Compared to the other three girls, Guang Ling was still a bit shy, but she also softly said, “My cultivation of vital energy and blood is slow. I mainly want to discuss with you, Teacher, how to catch up on what I’ve fallen behind on.”

Tang San laughed heartily, embracing the girls, and headed towards the bedroom, leaving Gu Yuena alone outside the door in disarray. Finally, she raised her middle finger: “What a pervert!”

“Hmm?”

“It seems someone is still peeking?”

Gu Yuena detected a hidden mental force, originating from the Supreme Pontiff Palace—

Bibi Dong gnashed her silver teeth at this moment, cursing, “Damn Tang San! He’s back and doesn’t report to me, the Supreme Pontiff, but instead does this first!”

“He’ll die on a woman’s belly sooner or later!”

“凸(艹皿艹)!”

343: I express my strong condemnation to you!

The next day, Bibi Dong once again summoned Tang San alone to the Supreme Pontiff Palace and inquired about his recent outing, asking, “How did it go when you went with Yu Tianheng and Dugu Yan to apprehend The Fallen?”

“I am fortunate not to have failed in my mission; The Fallen have been brought to justice,” Tang San respectfully replied, meticulously describing the events that transpired, including the discovery of the Golden Ancient Tree.

Additionally, he mentioned that Yu Tianheng and Dugu Yan would be staying in Heaven Dou City for some time before reporting to Spirit City, as they hadn't returned home in over two years and wished to spend more time with their families.

Bibi Dong didn't pay much attention to this; instead, she grew curious about the Golden Ancient Tree: “According to Spirit Hall records, three hundred years ago, a large-scale exploration was organized, but it ended in failure. It's truly enviable that you managed to gain such significant benefits.”

Was Bibi Dong in a bad mood?

Tang San was a bit puzzled but still said, “Perhaps I was just lucky. Oh, by the way, Supreme Pontiff, I found quite a few spirit tools this time, including two Haohai Sky Arks. They can be used by Spirit Hall for ocean exploration, and I'm willing to sell them to you at a reasonable price.”

Bibi Dong's breath hitched, and she retorted irritably, "As the Spirit Hall Saint Child, you want to sell them instead of directly contributing them? That's really something."

"Ahem, my family was poor before, and there were many places where money was needed... Please don't mind me, Supreme Pontiff." Tang San awkwardly coughed, changing the subject and asking, "I wonder if your Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset have achieved balance, Supreme Pontiff?"

"They have balanced," Bibi Dong said faintly, not minding that Tang San didn't offer the Haohai Sky Arks as a contribution. "My Soul Power Twin Cultivation Method has also been revised again. A relatively perfect cycle has been achieved between the three, and in conjunction with my two Spirits, all the meridians and blood vessels throughout my body are now utilized."

"After completing this step, I hardly need to cultivate intentionally; every breath I take can drive the operation of the three within my body."

"Is this what you meant by converging with the external world?"

After condensing the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, Bibi Dong's cultivation almost became instinctual, which was one of the reasons she began to prioritize handling various matters.

For her, cultivation didn't require much time; in fact, as long as she was alive, she could continuously absorb the energy of heaven and earth, progressing almost every day.

However, after reaching level ninety-nine, the rate of spirit power increase became very slow, but according to Bibi Dong's own estimation, she could accumulate level-hundred spirit power energy in just fifty years.

Compared to directly receiving the Rakshasa God's inheritance, it was only thirty years more.

“Exactly. This is using the small world of the human body to resonate with the great world outside. With more experimentation, it’s possible, Supreme Pontiff, that you could use your own small world to connect with the great world outside, borrowing the energy of the entire world as a mortal,” Tang San offered relevant advice. “Of course, the most important thing is to find a way to improve the efficiency of the essence, qi, and Spirit transformation within the human body’s small world.”

Using human power to leverage the energy of the entire world...

Bibi Dong had actually witnessed this before; Zhu Zhuqing, during the Continental Elite Tournament, was capable of briefly controlling the energy of the entire world.

That should have been an innate ability of her Spirit, only developed further with Tang San’s suggestions.

However, compared to this method, Bibi Dong preferred to improve the efficiency of the transformation and circulation between essence, qi, and Spirit—for her, her cultivation had already reached the pinnacle of the human world, and she cared more about her own improvement than borrowing energy from the external world.

“How can I improve the transformation efficiency?” Bibi Dong asked.

“spirit rings.”

Tang San described his idea: “Beyond the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, one could condense something similar to a spirit ring and engrave within it energy circuits for the mutual transformation of qi and blood, spirit power, and mental force.”

“When most Spirit Masters use a Spirit Ability, their spirit power must flow through the energy circuits within the spirit ring to be utilized; otherwise, they simply cannot unleash the skill.”

“After all, the meridians and blood vessels of the human body are limited and complex, and a single mistake could lead to chaos. Therefore, the spirit power circulation routes within the spirit ring are needed as assistance.”

“However, a small portion of Spirits are the cream of the crop, possessing innate Spirit Abilities, such as Nine Hearted Sea 棠 and Seven Treasure Glazed Tile. The operational routes for their Spirit Abilities should be engraved within the Spirit itself, and the spirit ring merely acts as a corresponding skill switch, similar to adding a switch and connecting it to the circuit of a spirit tool lamp.”

When Bibi Dong received the first theoretical report about Tang San from Ma Xiunuo, she had already heard this explanation, and understanding it now was as simple as eating and drinking.

“So, you’re saying that the human body’s blood vessels and meridians have reached their limit, and to improve the efficiency of transformation and circulation, one must condense three special spirit rings corresponding to qi and blood, spirit power, and mental force, and engrave the corresponding energy circuits within them, right?”

“You are wise, Supreme Pontiff.”

Tang San offered a small compliment, then continued, “However, our research on the transformation of qi and blood, spirit power, and mental force is not extensive. The corresponding energy transformation methods require a large amount of research, and this will necessitate the participation of Spirit Masters who primarily cultivate qi and blood or mental force in the experiments.”

“Just recording the Spirit Ability circulation routes within the spirit rings of corresponding Spirit Masters will be a colossal undertaking.”

“This will take quite some time.”

“Therefore, when condensing the spirit rings corresponding to essence, qi, and Spirit, I will experiment first myself. Only after ensuring everything is foolproof will I report to you, Supreme Pontiff.”

Bibi Dong was moved: “Isn’t that too risky?”

“My First Soul Skill ensures that I won’t die so easily,” Tang San stated, revealing his confidence.

“You are truly insane!” Although Bibi Dong knew the power of Tang San’s First Soul Skill, she felt an inexplicable surge of annoyance at his disregard for his own body.

“You exaggerate, Supreme Pontiff. I actually value my Life quite a bit; I wouldn’t joke with my Life without at least an eighty percent certainty,” Tang San smiled faintly, then took out various documents obtained from the Golden Ancient Tree, saying, “These are books found in the Golden Ancient Tree. I organized them last night. The parts related to agriculture, education, military, and management can be used for reference and can greatly enhance the fundamental strength of Spirit Hall.”

“Last night?” Bibi Dong suddenly chuckled, causing Tang San to feel a slight chill down his spine, making him instinctively retreat a few steps—what happened last night?

Could it be that Bibi Dong had her period last night?

She was already a peerless existence and had condensed the “three cores”; she shouldn’t have the physiological characteristics of an ordinary woman anymore, right?

Xiao Wu and the others wouldn't have them either.

“Weren’t you with your girlfriends last night?” Bibi Dong’s gaze was profound, her tone cold. “Speaking of which, your First Soul Skill is truly impressive; I couldn’t even tell that they were no longer virgins.”

Tang San was silent for a moment, then suddenly said, “Supreme Pontiff, I believe that peeking into other people’s private lives is an inappropriate behavior, and I must express my strong condemnation to you...”

344: Publicity matters

When Tang San walked out of the Supreme Pontiff Palace, Hu Liena happened to come visit her teacher.

Seeing a black eye on Tang San's right eye, she couldn't help but feel a hint of curiosity and a touch of schadenfreude: "What kind of trouble did you get into? To actually be beaten by Teacher? Tell me about it."

"Nothing, I just fell," Tang San said, raising his hand to wipe his right eye.

The black eye disappeared, restoring his eye to its original state.

"See? It was just dust."

Hu Liena: "..."

If she didn't know his recovery ability was strong, she would have actually believed him.

Although curious about what exactly happened between Tang San and her teacher, Hu Liena had matters to hand over to Bibi Dong at that moment and didn't have time to delay too long, so she just said: "Don't leave yet, wait here for a while, I'll have something for you later."

"What is it? I'm busy," Tang San said, indicating that he needed to research, forge, and allocate a trace of his mental force within the Blue Silver Network to research with other Spirit Hall personnel, and also guide others.

He didn't have much time for other things.

Unless he was interested.

"I'll tell you later, I'm just going in to submit a report to Teacher, and I'll be right out," Hu Liena said, then ran into the Supreme Pontiff Palace.

Her "right out" turned out to be an hour.

"Alright, what is it?" Tang San asked when Hu Liena came out.

"Teacher wants to recruit a large number of Physical Martial Soul users for research," Hu Liena said.

"You come with me to film a video and be an advertisement model."

Tang San pondered for a moment and then agreed.

Evidently, Bibi Dong must also know about Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu, and she must have guessed that he wanted to research a stronger body tempering method through Physical Martial Soul, so she specifically took care of him.

How to put it?

Quite touched... What the heck!

He didn't like being in the limelight.

His participation in the Continental Elite Tournament was only to expand his influence, a last resort.

Being famous was not a good thing.

But since Hu Liena came to him, he could only go, make an appearance, and record a video.

When there were more Physical Martial Soul users in Spirit City, it would also be more convenient for his research, allowing him to complete his Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method more quickly—

"Here, Holy Son, these are your lines," When they arrived at the filming location, the director specifically responsible for filming promotional videos for Spirit Hall handed a script to Tang San and respectfully said, "Take a look, is there anything you want to change?"

"For the future of Spirit Hall, for the glory of Spirit Hall, for the brilliance of Spirit Hall, for the... Why are there so many words of praise? It's a bit too long," Tang San found it hard to read on.

People who didn't know would think they were just padding the word count.

"I think it should be directly changed to this: For the future of the entire continent, Spirit Hall will sincerely recruit people with Physical Martial Soul from all over to volunteer, starting today.

We will provide generous treatment and compensation."

"Something like that should be fine, keep it concise and easy to understand."

"Physical Martial Soul users are rare on the continent, and most of them are quite poor.

There's no need to talk about abstract things with them; just directly state the specific treatment and salary."

The director gave a thumbs up and praised, "Holy Son is brilliant!"

"Let's start now," Tang San didn't want to delay for too long, and the director didn't procrastinate.

He immediately had the other Spirit Masters prepare the corresponding filming background and props.

Some male Spirit Masters even took off their shirts, exposing their muscles, to cooperate with Tang San's "research" performance—

While Tang San was filming, Hu Liena took out another Spirit-guided camera and began recording behind-the-scenes footage, chuckling: "This is black history, it must be recorded, it definitely has collection value!"

Ten minutes later, the filming was complete.

Tang San saw Hu Liena chuckling while looking at the small screen behind the Spirit-guided camera.

He took it from her, glanced at it, and found that it not only contained the content he had just filmed but also the embarrassing incidents of Xie Yue, Yan, and even Bibi Dong.

With a strange look in his eyes, he said, "I really didn't expect that a dignified Holy Maiden would actually record other people's black history, including her own teacher.

This is truly 'rebellious'."

"Give it back to me!" Hu Liena hastily snatched the Spirit-guided camera back, her face flushed, and she said fiercely, "I warn you, don't tell anyone, or I won't have the face to see Teacher!"

"Secrets are meant to be discovered," Tang San said meaningfully, even thinking that Bibi Dong must know about Hu Liena's little secret, but she just treated her like a daughter and didn't care.

"Hmph!" Hu Liena put the Spirit-guided camera into her Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne waist belt, snorted coldly, and then said, "Oh, by the way, are you free recently? I'd like to invite you to dinner... Don't get the wrong idea, I just want to express my gratitude, after all, I obtained the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne."

Perhaps this semi-divine artifact was not Tang San's best work, but it was the first divine-level item, and it certainly held great commemorative significance.

However, such a work was for her to use.

It inevitably made Hu Liena feel a bit proactive—besides, didn't Teacher also want to set her and Tang San up? Now, she must be willing.

"Aren't you busy recently?" Tang San retorted, "Spirit City is in a booming development phase, and the Spirit Hall Branches across the continent are also being standardized.

This is a huge project, and you actually have time to invite me to dinner?"

Hu Liena pursed her lips and said, "No matter how busy I am, there's always time to eat, and with the assistance of the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne, my mental force has greatly increased, making it even more convenient to handle things."

"Give me a straight answer, are you coming or not?"

Tang San thought for a moment and said, "Can I invite others?"

"Hmph!"

Hu Liena rolled her eyes at Tang San and turned to leave—to go to dinner with this Holy Maiden, and he even wanted to invite others, what a dream!

"Amazing!" The director nearby gave Tang San a thumbs up.

"I don't know how many people wanted to invite the Holy Maiden to dinner and failed, but Holy Son actually refused the Holy Maiden.

Truly a model for our generation!"

"This isn't a refusal, just an inquiry," Tang San spread his hands and asked, "By the way, is your department only responsible for filming promotional advertisements like this?"

The director nodded: "More or less, but we also collaborate with artists from Fantasy Film City during normal times, learning from their experience and filming movies and such."

"Spirit Masters have always been arrogant, but those of us who are older and whose cultivation cannot advance further are more willing to accept new things, mainly to find some fun."

"To be honest, we find things like movies and cartoons quite interesting."

Listening to the old man's narration, Tang San nodded frequently and also understood the classification of Spirit Masters in Spirit City—the new generation of Spirit Masters were more willing to accept new things, and the older generation of Spirit Masters, those who were old and whose spirit power could no longer improve, were also willing to try.

Only the majority of Spirit Masters in between were less willing, but in Spirit City, they could only passively accept and adapt until they finally got used to it.

Development, after all, cannot be achieved overnight, and there will always be people who are dissatisfied...

345: Tang Yuehua's discovery and transformation (extra)

After the advertisement Tang San had filmed recruiting Physical Martial Soul Soul Masters and ordinary people was released, the major branch halls responded one after another, beginning to recommend Physical Martial Soul owners to Spirit Hall City.

The major powers also had similar ideas and began searching for owners of Physical Martial Souls, wanting to understand what secrets this type of Martial Soul held, so much so that it was worth the Martial Soul Theory Master's research and even alarmed the entire Spirit Hall.

The Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School and the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family also took action, launching investigations and collections.

After the Haotian Sect received the relevant news, Tang Hao was once again angered, cursing loudly, "This unfilial son is doing research for Spirit Hall again!"

"Heh heh, just look at whose son he is, born with a rebellious bone," the Seventh Elder sneered.

"Hmph!"

The Haotian Sect had sealed the mountain because of his actions, and Tang Hao knew he was in the wrong, so he didn't retort.

"Seventh Elder, say less," the Second Elder reprimanded, then said to Tang Hao, "However, the Seventh Elder isn't wrong. Because of you, a remarkably talented Hao Tian Disciple was left outside and even joined Spirit Hall, which is indeed unfavorable to our Haotian Sect. In the future, we must find a way to reclaim the Martial Soul inherited from the Haotian Sect."

How to reclaim the Martial Soul?

Kill!

Martial Souls are inherited through bloodline. Directly shattering the Martial Soul can be restored, but it requires a considerable amount of time.

Moreover, even if the shattered Martial Soul cannot be restored, as long as he has children, he can still produce a large number of descendants with the Haotian Hammer.

death is the safest!

Based on the intelligence gathered during this period, Tang San is determined to sail on the same ship as Spirit Hall and possesses immense ambition. In the future, he might even lead Spirit Hall to conquer the entire Douluo Continent.

Including Sects like them, everyone must submit!

How could the Haotian Sect be subservient to others?

It's just that, among the current Haotian Sect members, unless Tang Chen personally takes action, even if the Five Great Elders and the Haotian Twins go together, it will be difficult to kill Tang San.

Not to mention, Tang Hao definitely won't use his full strength, and Tang Xiao, as his Elder brother, will certainly hold back.

Tang Hao was silent, clenching his fists tightly, wishing he could go back in time and slap his past self hard, cursing, "Why were you so weak?"

Then also give that brat a slap: "No matter what, I'm still your father, blood-related father and son, how could you hide things from your own father?"

Tang Xiao changed the subject, saying, "What does Spirit Hall want Physical Martial Souls for? Those Martial Souls are all useless Martial Souls, what good are they?"

Tang Hao shook his head, "I don't know."

Regarding research, he was completely clueless. In his opinion, none of them were as powerful as the Haotian Hammer, it was just a matter of one hammer strike.

Most Hao Tian Disciples basically had this mindset.

The opinions expressed by the Five Great Elders were also similar, feeling that Physical Martial Souls were not important; what was important was the research outcome Tang San would achieve from Physical Martial Souls in the future.

As for them researching it themselves?

It was better to focus their minds on practicing the Rampaging Wind Technique.

"I think there's absolutely no need to worry. Since Grandpa has returned, once he becomes a God in the future, he will definitely be able to crush Spirit Hall," the Seventh Elder expressed his opinion again, "No matter how prosperous Spirit Hall becomes, what does it matter? What if that old scoundrel Qian Daoliu is still alive? As long as Grandpa becomes a God, the Haotian Sect will surely be renowned throughout the world!"

The Sixth Elder said in a deep voice, "We can't be too optimistic. That Bibi Dong has already revealed to the world that she is also a God's inheritor, and Grandpa has said that the Angel lineage of Spirit Hall also has a God's inheritance. At that time, it's possible an Angel God will also appear."

The Seventh Elder snorted, "So what? Grandpa is the strongest!"

This indeed spoke the thoughts of everyone present.

The Haotian Sect, the Haotian Hammer, were definitely the strongest in the world!

The Second Elder said, "Since that's the case, let the meeting end. Everything will proceed as usual: search for precious medicines to help Grandpa recover until he breaks through level 100, and then cultivate the Sect disciples, allowing them to pass through the Asura Illusion created by Grandpa as much as possible to obtain Asura Aura, thereby having a chance to condense the God of Slaughter Domain."

After learning that the God of Slaughter Domain was related to being a candidate for the Asura God, the Five Elders and Tang Xiao present had all passed through the Asura Illusion, obtained Asura Aura, and condensed the God of Slaughter Domain based on their accumulated killing intent.

It was just that the other disciples in the Sect were too poor; some disciples were even scared to death directly in the illusion, which was simply a disgrace to the Hao Tian Disciples!

For this, the few of them called Tang Yuehua back.

"Sect Master, Tang Hao, you two talk to Tang Yuehua more, ask her to persist a bit longer each day, extending the duration of her Noble Domain release. The disciples in the Sect have significantly improved their mental state under that Domain," the Third Elder said indifferently, "I didn't realize before that her Domain was actually so useful."

Tang Xiao nodded, "I will."

After the Five Great Elders dispersed, Tang Xiao handled the Sect affairs. Looking at the Sect's wealth decreasing day by day, he couldn't help but frown, thinking, "Without the funding source from the Moon Pavilion, the Sect's expenses have suddenly become prominent, but currently, we are in seclusion, and the Hao Tian Disciples cannot be dispatched on a large scale... We need to find a way to increase income. I wonder if Yuehua has any good ideas."

"Haotian, you go and tell Yuehua about the Elders' request, and then also ask her how to make money for the Sect," Tang Xiao said to the somewhat bored Tang Hao beside him.

"Okay."

Tang Hao couldn't wait to leave the meeting room. After all, staying there meant helping with Sect affairs, and just looking at those words made his head ache.

"ε = (o ` *))) Alas!" Watching Tang Hao disappear instantly, Tang Xiao sighed helplessly, "Haotian is still the same as before... Perhaps this is why Grandpa liked him. Such straightforwardness allows for rapid progress in cultivation without being disturbed by other matters, but he is indeed not suitable to be a good husband or father."

And after Tang Hao found Tang Yuehua, who was resting, he conveyed the Third Elder's words and asked, "Elder Brother said that the Sect's funds are almost insufficient. Are there any ways to increase the Sect's income?"

"There's no way."

Since returning to the Haotian Sect, Tang Yuehua had discovered that she was being treated like livestock by the Five Great Elders and the Hao Tian Disciples—aside from necessary eating, drinking, and resting, the remaining time was either spent applying her Domain to the Hao Tian Disciples, assisting those entering the Asura Illusion to improve their mental state/helping those who came out of the Asura Illusion recover mentally, or recovering her Soul Power. She was almost never idle.

Those Five Great Elders even complained about her low efficiency, making sarcastic remarks when they passed by.

Those Hao Tian Disciples were also a case of "the upper beam is not straight, the lower beam is crooked"; besides a few who would greet her, the others didn't even say "thank you."

Facing her inner self once again, Tang Yuehua already understood that the reason she had left the Haotian Sect and opened the Moon Pavilion in Heaven Dou City was also because she didn't want to listen to these people's cold sarcasm.

This was truly tormenting!

But having been enlightened by Tang San, she had more or less seen through the essence of the Haotian Sect at this point, so when facing Tang Hao, her Second Brother, she also answered expressionlessly.

Her admiration for her Second Brother had diminished.

"Yuehua, I know you are very tired, but please bear with it a little longer. This is all for the future of the Haotian Sect."

Tang Hao naturally saw Tang Yuehua's relatively pale face, but sacrificing for the Sect was a glorious thing, "Oh, right, what level of Soul Power have you reached now?"

After returning to the Sect, Tang Yuehua's breakthrough to level 10 was only discovered three months later. Then, with Tang Hao's help, she obtained a thousand-year Soul Ring.

After all, Tang Yuehua was already an adult, and she had also consumed Whale Jelly, so she could naturally withstand a thousand-year level Soul Ring.

A thousand-year first ring!

This was truly unprecedented!

Unfortunately, her Martial Soul, Ruyi Ring, did not gain a Soul Skill; only the range of her Domain roughly doubled compared to before.

Thus, she once again became the object of ridicule among the Hao Tian Disciples in private: a waste who couldn't even be saved by a thousand-year Soul Ring!

"Level nineteen," Tang Yuehua said casually, "I might be stuck for a while again. I need to understand my inner self..."

Tang Hao was surprised, then smiled, "Level nineteen, you're cultivating quite fast! When you reach level twenty, Second Brother will take you to hunt a Soul Beast. At that time, your Domain will definitely expand again, right?"

"Is it just for this?" Tang Yuehua suddenly understood that this kind Second Brother didn't actually care much about her; it had always been her "unrequited" feelings.

Crack!

Having thought it through and having the idea of letting go, her Soul Power fluctuations increased slightly and continued to grow, finally helping her break through the level nineteen bottleneck and reach level twenty.

The slight Soul Power fluctuation was sensed by Tang Hao, who was astonished, "You truly live up to being my sister, cultivating so fast! You've already reached level twenty."

Sister?

Such a strange yet familiar word... Since awakening her Martial Soul, her Second Brother and Elder Brother had rarely called her sister, instead calling her Yuehua. Now that they saw her value in cultivation, were they calling her sister again?

Tang Yuehua said calmly, "Perhaps after getting the second Soul Ring, there still won't be a Soul Skill."

"That's nothing. As long as you can continue cultivating and your Domain can continue to expand, you can help more people in the Sect," Tang Hao completely ignored Tang Yuehua's increasingly cold gaze, continuously saying, "The people in the Sect will also be very happy."

"Yes, they will be happy, but not because I can help them stabilize their mental state or soothe their souls, but because they can better and more safely challenge the Asura Illusion," Tang Yuehua stated a fact expressionlessly, "And you, Second Brother, is this all you care about?"

"Um, I still need to train. I'll take you to hunt a Soul Beast later," Tang Hao felt that Tang Yuehua might have been too tired recently and needed more rest. He made an excuse and quickly left.

Tang Hao wasn't a smooth talker and didn't know how to comfort people. In most cases, others needed to understand him—

In this Sect where the strong were respected, it was indeed only possible for others to understand him, not for him to understand others. But at this moment, Tang Yuehua didn't want to continue "understanding."

Now, she just wanted to live her own life!

"I can't stay in the Haotian Sect any longer. I must not pick up this pathetic self-esteem again. The Haotian Sect won't be any different just because Grandpa is back, and Grandpa himself seems to have changed, not quite like the one I remember from when I was one or two years old... Perhaps he was affected in the Slaughter City." Looking at Tang Hao's hurried escape, Tang Yuehua secretly made up her mind, preparing to challenge the Asura Illusion—

After Tang Chen set up the Asura Illusion, he gave an order: only those who had experienced the Asura Illusion could descend the mountain and move around in the outside world; otherwise, they were not allowed to leave the mountain.

Firstly, it was to select the elites among the Hao Tian Disciples.

Secondly, the Hao Tian Disciples who had passed through the Asura Illusion were all endowed with Asura Aura, but cultivating the God of Slaughter Domain required nurturing with killing intent.

The Haotian Sect could not allow its disciples to kill each other, so naturally, they could only let this group of elites go out for training: on one hand, eliminating evil and bringing peace, increasing the Haotian Sect's reputation, and preparing for their future emergence; on the other hand, accumulating killing intent during this process to truly transform the Asura Aura into the God of Slaughter Domain.

When Tang Yuehua arrived at the back mountain where Tang Chen was meditating, the disciples guarding her stopped her, saying, "Miss Yuehua, please go back. This is where Great Ancestor cultivates, and a hundred meters ahead is the area of the Asura Illusion. You will get hurt."

"I want to challenge the Asura Illusion. Move aside," Tang Yuehua said and walked straight forward, but the two still didn't budge.

"Miss Tang, please don't make things difficult for us," another disciple said coldly, not as polite as the one just now.

"You can be impolite," Tang Yuehua said coldly, "No matter what, Tang Xiao and Tang Hao are my Elder Brother and Second Brother."

"You!"

Faced with Tang Yuehua's unreasonableness, this disciple also lost his temper, but he was pulled back by the other person, who said, "Miss Yuehua, please."

Tang Yuehua stepped forward.

"What are you doing? If something happens to her, our cultivation resources will be reduced by more than half!" the disciple said angrily.

"Great Grandpa is her grandpa, he will definitely sense it and nothing will happen," the disciple persuaded, "If we stop her and it really escalates, we will be at a disadvantage, after all, the Sect Master is her Dai."

"That makes some sense..."

As the voices behind her faded, Tang Yuehua's mood calmed down, and she slowly stepped into the area of the Asura Illusion—

The Asura Illusion was an area similar to a Domain radiating from Tang Chen's meditation ground.

Its range encompassed a mountain peak nearly a thousand meters high.

Tang Chen spent most of his time meditating at the top of the mountain.

And the so-called passing the Asura Illusion was to climb upwards, walk the nearly thousand-meter-high steps, meet Tang Chen, and be granted the Asura Aura by him.

The moment she stepped into the Asura Illusion, Tang Yuehua felt her heart become agitated, recalling the experiences of being ridiculed by the Sect disciples. She couldn't help but frown tightly, but immediately released her Martial Soul and applied the Spiritual Domain to herself (this was the true name of the Noble Ring Domain).

At this moment, Tang Yuehua felt all the unnecessary thoughts in her mind calm down, and she slowly walked upwards.

With the enhancement of the Ruyi Ring, Tang Yuehua no longer felt any changes in her mood as she walked upwards. She kept climbing, and in just over ten minutes, she reached the summit.

This speed was equivalent to a Grand Soul Master climbing a high mountain with stairs.

After using her Practical Martial Soul and her innate talent Domain, Tang Yuehua no longer encountered any obstacles, but she also found that her first Soul Ring had gained blood-colored patterns.

These patterns were almost identical to the patterns of the God of Slaughter Domain, and Tang Yuehua noticed that her first Soul Ring now had a skill, which was the God of Slaughter Domain.

"Could it be that every Soul Ring I obtain in the future will have a blank skill, requiring an environment similar to this to form a specific skill, and they will all be Domain-type?"

Thinking of this possibility, Tang Yuehua couldn't help but get excited.

At this time, Tang Chen had already walked up to her without her noticing, observing her first Soul Ring with a thoughtful expression: "God of Slaughter Domain? How did you get it?"

"Grandpa!" Tang Yuehua was startled, but after coming back to her senses, she immediately calmed down and said, "I don't know either. I just released my Martial Soul and walked all the way, and I gained this ability. It might be related to my Martial Soul. My first Soul Ring didn't give me any skills. After experiencing this Asura Illusion, it seems to have been influenced by Soul Power and actively condensed this Domain."

Tang Chen carefully examined the patterns on the first Soul Ring, finally shook his head, and said, "It's not the God of Slaughter Domain, there is no Asura Aura. It can only be considered a imitation, but if you can imprint nine different Domains in the future, you might become a strong person."

In his opinion, Tang Yuehua's ability was just an imitation and not very powerful. But since she had come this far, should he grant her the Asura Aura?

The Asura Illusion tested the Soul Master's temperament.

But Tang Yuehua had not undergone any test during this process. Relying on the advantage of her Martial Soul, she swaggered up, like a picnic.

In the end, Tang Chen still gave her a trace of Asura Aura. After all, it was an undeniable fact that Tang Yuehua had come up, and the purpose of testing temperament was to improve their Spiritual Power. With the advantage of her Martial Soul, Tang Yuehua saved a lot of effort.

However, after the trace of Asura Aura was transmitted and merged into the Soul Ring, a pattern of a small blood-colored sword was outlined in the empty space in the middle of the Soul Ring.

Just by looking at it, it was almost identical to Tang Chen's Asura Sword.

More importantly, Tang Chen could no longer sense the existence of the Asura Aura, as if Tang Yuehua's first Soul Ring's God of Slaughter Domain and Asura Sword pattern had become independent of the original Asura God.

[Independent Asura God Position?!]

Tang Chen was greatly shocked, finding it hard to understand why this great-granddaughter's Martial Soul and first Soul Ring were so bizarre.

It was one thing to imprint the God of Slaughter Domain, but now she had directly condensed an Asura Sword pattern similar to an Asura God Position... Could it be that in the future she could also condense eight other patterns similar to God Positions?

"It should just be an imitation, it wouldn't be that outrageous."

Tang Chen calmed down, waved his hand, allowing Tang Yuehua to descend, and continued to meditate cross-legged on the mountaintop.

And only Tang Yuehua knew how bizarre her first Soul Ring was after obtaining that trace of Asura Aura and condensing the Asura Sword pattern.

In the darkness, she seemed to be able to borrow insignificant energy emitted by the true Asura God for attack, defense, amplification, etc. If her Soul Power was sufficient, she could even condense the corresponding Asura God Sword!

But that would require at least the Title Douluo level!

More importantly, the Soul Ring became the carrier of the Asura Domain and the Asura Sword pattern, and could continuously evolve, ten thousand years, hundred thousand years, a million years, or even ten million years.

As long as there was enough killing intent and energy, it could be enhanced almost infinitely.

This was a power that surpassed that of a Soul Master!

When Tang Yuehua descended the mountain, Tang Xiao, Tang Hao, and the Five Great Elders had just arrived outside the Asura Illusion.

"Yuehua, are you alright?" Tang Xiao sized up Tang Yuehua, finding that she hadn't been affected at all. He breathed a sigh of relief, guessing that perhaps Grandpa hadn't tested her.

"Hmph! Tang Yuehua, don't think you can disturb Great Uncle just because you are his great-granddaughter!" the Seventh Elder shouted.

Tang Yuehua released the Ruyi Ring, placing it on her right hand. A purple Soul Ring with blood-colored patterns appeared, and the God of Slaughter Domain covered the entire area, leaving everyone dumbfounded!

Tang Hao even laughed loudly: "As expected of my sister! Hahaha!"

Tang Xiao was also excited!

Everyone present knew that Grandpa (Great Grandpa/Great Uncle) wouldn't give Tang Yuehua special treatment and directly grant her the God of Slaughter Domain just because she was his great-granddaughter. She must have truly passed the Asura Illusion!

In an instant, the Hao Tian Disciples looked at Tang Yuehua with a hint of fervor.

However, Tang Yuehua's heart did not feel a trace of happiness, but rather a sense of sorrow.

This was the Haotian Sect—

She had originally thought she would enjoy their worshipful and approving gazes, but now she only felt disgusted!

Under the intense emotional fluctuations, Tang Yuehua's eyes were tinged with a hint of blood-red, and her killing intent increased by nearly twofold. This also made Tang Hao realize something was wrong: "Not good, Yuehua might have just obtained the God of Slaughter Domain and is having trouble controlling it."

"What are you afraid of?" the Seventh Elder sneered, "Leaving aside the fact that we all have the God of Slaughter Domain, even if we didn't, she is just a level twenty quasi-Grand Soul Master. Her Physical Martial Soul has no attack power, and any Grand Soul Master here can take her down, not to mention that several of us are Title Douluo..."

Crack!

In an instant that no one reacted, a sword light that was incredibly fast flashed, and the Seventh Elder's right arm quietly fell to the ground.

"Seventh Elder!" the Second Elder was heartbroken and glared at Tang Yuehua, but suddenly froze, because she was holding a phantom of the Asura Sword in her hand—this was Great Uncle's Asura Sword!

Why?

The Seventh Elder was just a little talkative...

After using this move, Tang Yuehua seemed to have been drained of her essence and Spirit, and she fell straight down.

While everyone was at a loss, Tang Chen arrived at the foot of the mountain from the summit in an instant, picked up Tang Yuehua, and said, "Reattach the Seventh Elder's right arm."

After speaking, without explaining anything, he took Tang Yuehua away for treatment.

At that moment just now, Tang Chen keenly sensed that a wisp of his Asura Sword's aura had been borrowed...

... ..

God Realm.

The Asura God King was drinking tea with the Sea God when he suddenly frowned, closed his eyes, and sensed the inheritor on Douluo Star.

"What happened?" When the Asura God King opened his eyes, the Sea God asked curiously, "Have you found a new inheritor? When you leave the God Realm, you have to wait for this brother of yours. Then we can explore the wider universe together. This God Realm is unbearable, utterly boring."

"Hehe, you can't stand it after only being in the God Realm for over a thousand days?" The Asura God chuckled twice, then spoke about his own matters: "I haven't found a new inheritor, but the old inheritor, due to an accident, has returned to the right path. His talent is excellent, but his body is somewhat damaged, and it will take time to repair."

"Furthermore, his thoughts are not pure, and whether he can pass the final Ninth Trial is still an unknown."

"However, the recent investigation was not because of him, but because one of his descendants, relying on a mutated Martial Soul, borrowed my power."

The Sea God's eyes widened, and it took him a while to recover and ask, "That outrageous? Can mortals borrow the power of a God?"

"Why not?" The Asura God, however, had a matter-of-fact expression, "Can't your most devout followers also borrow your power?"

"That's just a wisp of divine sense from the trident I left in the mortal realm... and the application of the power of faith." The Sea God was speechless. He didn't have such strong power to directly transfer his divine power to the mortal star. "Is this the power of a God King?"

The Asura God King was noncommittal and said, "That descendant can be considered one of my backups, but after the Asura Aura was absorbed by her Martial Soul, it completely became hers. I cannot determine her specific coordinates through it..."

The God Position was still under his control and would not be shared just because Tang Yuehua had imprinted the Asura Sword pattern, but she could borrow the power of the Asura God.

Similar to the God of Slaughter and Divine Officials under the Asura God King who could borrow his power.

But the Asura God could not control Tang Yuehua's life and death, nor could he supervise Tang Yuehua. He could only sense that his power was being shared when it was being borrowed.

Of course, the initiative was with the Asura God. As long as he deliberately controlled it, he could choose not to lend it out.

But why wouldn't he lend it?

After all, his goal was to cultivate an inheritor, take over his work, and then he could retire honorably and explore and adventure in the wider universe.

That was what was challenging and exciting.

As for the loss of the God Position and the decline in strength, he could just condense it again after reaching an area beyond the jurisdiction of the God Realm.

In other words, in the Asura God's thinking, as long as Tang Yuehua grew up in the future and her power surpassed his, she might be able to directly seize the position of the Asura God.

"Doesn't that sound even more outrageous?"

After understanding the key point, the Sea God was quite speechless, but he also knew that mortals borrowing the power of a God would inevitably pay a price, not to mention a God Realm full of killing intent and malice like the Asura God. His power was more aggressive and destructive than ordinary evil God Realm administrators, and even his subordinate God of Slaughter and Divine Officials would not often borrow it...

... ..

And what price did Tang Yuehua pay for borrowing the power of the Asura God?

Physical weakness...

Tang Chen frowned tightly, puzzled: "You couldn't be the reincarnation of the Asura God's daughter, could you? After borrowing the power of a God Realm, you are only overly exhausted?"

And the awakened Tang Yuehua had already realized how powerful her Martial Soul, named Ruyi Ring, was. It was simply the Six-Winged Angel in terms of support!

As long as her Soul Power was sufficient, all negative effects could be offset.

If her Soul Power was insufficient, it would extract her physical energy and spiritual energy. Once these two energies were also insufficient, it would drain her entire body until death.

But at present, it was limited to herself and could not be used on others.

However, she didn't mention anything, only saying that she wanted to leave the Sect and intended to go to Spirit Hall City to open a new Moon Pavilion to earn money for the Sect and collect information along the way...

346: Lou Gao's new work: Soul Armor

In the blink of an eye, three months had passed.

In Spirit City, Tang San, in addition to resuming his usual “plain as water” life, also took on the task of guiding Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu in their cultivation.

Within three months, the trio had already made up their foundations, especially Hai Zhu, who no longer appeared to have protruding bones but looked like a tall warrior, with a good deal of muscle filling out his body, making him the strongest among the three in terms of strength.

You Ji, on the other hand, showed no difference from before; she still resembled an old woman, with more meticulous control over her skin and a keen sense of perception; if anyone approached within ten meters, she could sense it even with her eyes closed.

Shen Hou's changes were also not significant; she simply gained a lot of muscle, and her skin developed a healthy wheat color.

In terms of defense, she was not as good as You Ji; in terms of strength, she couldn't compare to Hai Zhu.

However, in terms of endurance, she was the strongest, and her explosive strength in a burst state even surpassed Hai Zhu's; moreover, her learning ability was the strongest among the three, and she mastered how to swing her arms when punching and how to control her ankles when kicking with extreme precision—

It wasn't a movement that went through the brain, but rather something closer to instinct.

For this reason, when training Shen Hou, Tang San would wait until Xiao Wu returned and ask her to help with the training, as her sixth spirit ring provided unparalleled reinforcement to her nervous system, and one of her Spirit Abilities was called Nerve Net, which held the promise of leading Xiao Wu towards the path of “Ultra Instinct” in the future.

Shen Hou’s movements were “brainless,” like instinct, while Xiao Wu’s every movement required the control of her brain; the two could mutually refine each other.

The only problem was that Shen Hou’s strength was too low.

But in Tang San's view, this was also a form of training for Xiao Wu to control her own strength, considered a way to “review the old and learn the new.”

As for Tang San, within these three months, he also gained a deeper understanding of the skin, skeleton, and Heart, and together with Iliex, he conducted more than three rounds of improvements to the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method, transforming it into the “Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Hidden Art 2.0.”

Compared to before, the 2.0 version of the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Hidden Art had higher cultivation efficiency, and the conversion efficiency between Qi and Blood Golden Core and spirit power also increased.

This proved that the integration of “Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Hidden Art 2.0” with the “Creation and Destruction True Scripture” had increased.

The human body is a small universe, and the outside is a large universe.

The human body is inherently a microcosm of the entire universe; the cultivation of Qi and Blood Golden Core, spirit power, and mental force, in a sense, is the human cultivator constantly refining these three in imitation of the outer great universe, to achieve a purpose similar or even identical to the universe.

In this process, no matter what kind of divine martial arts secret manual, it is actually just a method to help the human body itself to refine; different cultivation methods, in addition to different focuses, the main difference lies in two words: efficiency.

And Tang San and Iliex were trying to continuously improve the efficiency of the three cultivation methods Tang San practiced, so that they could be perfectly applied to every blood-flowing vessel, every spirit power-circulating meridian, and every signal-transmitting nerve in the body.

“Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Hidden Art 2.0” appeared more perfect than before, but Tang San and Iliex both knew that in reality, many tiny blood vessels in the human body were still not utilized, only passively receiving reinforcement.

Secondly, there was the “Cosmic Meditation,” a cultivation method focused on cultivating mental force and even the soul; almost every day when Tang San was researching the way of Qi and Blood Golden Core with Xiao Wu and others, he would look up at the starry sky with Iliex, mainly with Iliex observing the stars and performing corresponding simulations in his upper dantian, and then discussing together for a while, but it was still some distance from a 2.0 version.

Although condensing the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset did not require the fusion of these three cultivation methods, Tang San knew that the fusion of the three cultivation methods was fundamental, and he was already preparing in advance.....

And currently, further perfecting “Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Hidden Art 2.0” through the study of Physical Martial Soul is an indispensable step.

“Young Master San, we have already reached level ten, can we go hunt Spirit Beasts and obtain spirit rings now?”

On this day, Shen Hou found Tang San in the forging room and asked about the Spirit hunting.

Becoming a Spirit Master was her expectation.

As for calling Tang San “Young Master San”?

Naturally, it was because they had become familiar with each other, and Tang San also didn't want them to call him “Lord Count,” after all, this was Spirit City, and he was the Spirit Hall Saint Child.

But calling him “Lord Saint Child”...

Those Spirit Hall personnel were fine, but Shen Hou, You Ji, Hai Zhu, and others met him frequently, and Xiao Wu and the others also got along quite well with Shen Hou and You Ji.

But the three of them dared not call him by name, or “Brother San,” as that was too intimate, so they came up with titles like “Young Master San” or “Young Master.”

“Yes, after the Spirit hunting is completed, you can also return to Silverblue Manor,” Tang San said to Shen Hou after forging a seven-pattern level patterned forged copper and putting down his forging hammer, “The next batch of people should have also set off.”

Shen Hou nodded: “I have already received news from Zi Shu and the others; they are on their way here.”

“Hmm, I asked Chrysanthemum Douluo for a favor to take you to the Star Dou Great Forest to hunt Spirit Beasts; the Spirit Beasts you need are all there.”

Compared to Tang San and the others, the Spirit Beasts needed by Shen Hou and the others were not that difficult to find; they could be found in the Star Dou Great Forest and did not need to be overly special.

“Asking Chrysanthemum Douluo for help?” Shen Hou’s breathing hitched; in these three months, she had never seen a Titled Douluo, and now she could actually have a Titled Douluo lead the team.

It was simply unimaginable!

“After all, my identity as the Saint Child is here; I need to make use of it.” Tang San asked Shen Hou to call You Ji and Hai Zhu, and together they went to visit the manor where Chrysanthemum Douluo was meditating.

Compared to the manors of other families, Chrysanthemum Douluo’s manor was much colder, but servants were still present, and it was filled with all kinds of flowers.

There were common wildflowers, as well as precious varieties like peonies and crabapples, but the most numerous flowers were chrysanthemums.

Upon learning that Tang San had come to visit, Chrysanthemum Douluo quickly came out to greet him, smiling, “It is my honor for Lord Saint Child to visit my humble abode; please come in quickly!”

Towards Tang San, Chrysanthemum Douluo felt both admiration and longing, even carrying a hint of reverence.

For no other reason than Tang San dared to challenge the Supreme Pontiff and even gained his approval!

Strength!

It was the only standard for gaining his respect!

“Your Excellency Chrysanthemum Douluo, I have come today with a request, so I won’t beat around the bush.” Tang San knew that Chrysanthemum Douluo didn’t particularly like being overly mysterious, and most Titled Douluo preferred straightforwardness, so he got straight to the point and stated his purpose, “I just want to trouble you to take Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu to hunt Spirit Beasts; I have already arranged the types of Spirit Beasts, and I hope Your Excellency Chrysanthemum Douluo will put more effort into it.”

After speaking, Tang San touched the gem in the middle of his storage soul tool and took out a seed similar to a melon seed, with golden patterns on it, subtly attracting the energy of heaven and earth.

Chrysanthemum Douluo felt the stir of his Spirit, and his whole body became excited, asking with a trembling voice, “This is—”

“A Strange Velvet Sky Chrysanthemum seed.”

Tang San revealed the origin of the seed—this was naturally a gift from the Strange Velvet Sky Chrysanthemum to Tang San; for it, having already become a Spirit Beast, condensing a seed was merely a trifle.

This also made Tang San understand that plant-type Spirit Beasts could not only leave behind seeds for rebirth after sacrifice but could also naturally produce other seeds.

Reproduction, the instinct of living beings.

Chrysanthemum Douluo trembled with excitement, wanting to touch it, but also worried about damaging the seed; it took him a while to calm down, and he didn't ask Tang San how he got the seed, only asking, “Lord Saint Child, are you truly willing to give this to me? It’s just for hunting Spirit Beasts; this is too precious.”

“As the saying goes: a good sword is given to a hero,” Tang San smiled, “For you, a Titled Douluo who loves flowers and plants, this seed will only show its beautiful side in your hands; I believe you can take very good care of it.”

“Hahaha!” Chrysanthemum Douluo took the seed, carefully holding it in his palm, unable to put it down; after a while, he put it into his storage soul tool and said, “Since that’s the case, I’ll accept it. In the future, if Lord Saint Child has any instructions, just tell me, and I will definitely help these three find their Spirit Beasts.”

“Then I’ll trouble Your Excellency Chrysanthemum Douluo,” Tang San smiled, and then told Chrysanthemum Douluo about the Spirit Beasts the three needed...

...

After Chrysanthemum Douluo left with the three, Tang San also returned to Soul Martial Manor and continued forging patterned forged metal; he planned to forge a second Soul Imprint Throne within the next two years.

“Big Brother!”

However, shortly after he picked up the Clear Sky Hammer, Lou Gao came over, bringing his latest work: Soul Armor!

Lou Gao had learned about the Soul Imprint Throne, but precisely because he knew its power, he understood that he could not forge such a divine artifact at present, so he could only settle for the next best thing, only imitating the corresponding armor form.

For this, he had learned a lot about the structure of spirit tools from Tang San and Guang Ling these days, and applied it to the connections between the armor pieces, facilitating the flow and operation of spirit power, and allowing it to shrink and retract when not in use.

The Soul Armor forged by Lou Gao was entirely bright silver, without any exaggerated decorations, but it adopted a design similar to fish scales; its weight was very light, only three kilograms, which was not considered a burden for a Spirit Master.

However, its defensive power was astonishing; each defensive scale could effectively absorb shock, thereby greatly improving the defensive effect, and because spirit power could flow through it, a Spirit Master wearing it would at least double their strength!

Before coming, Lou Gao had already had it tested; a Spirit Master wearing such a Soul Armor could contend with a Spirit Elder, and even face an attack system Spirit Ancestor, being able to withstand twenty to thirty moves.

“An excellent work,” Tang San inspected it, surprised by Lou Gao’s forging ability, and praised without hesitation, “And the materials used are not overly precious metals, so it should be possible to mass-produce them, right?”

347: High level of relief

If Senior Lou Gao's Soul Armor could be mass-produced, then the strength of Spirit Hall's grassroots Spirit Masters would surely increase by two or three levels.

If weapon-type spirit tools were also mass-produced, Spirit Masters would inevitably be able to enhance their strength even more.

It's a pity that weapon-type Spirit Guidance Weapons cannot yet be researched openly, as this would be an act of hostility against all Spirit Masters on the continent. Even within Spirit Hall, most Spirit Masters, except for support-type Spirit Masters whose Spirits have no offensive capabilities, do not particularly like them.

One only needs to look at the Star Luo Empire's example to understand. When they openly researched Spirit Guidance Weapons, all the major families strongly opposed it, because it would gradually diminish the families' importance to the Empire.

Although Spirit Hall's family concept is not as severe as that of the Two Great Empires, it still exists, and it requires a gradual change in the internal personnel's mindset, allowing them to accept new things step by step.

Therefore, if war were to break out now, it would likely still be primarily cold weapon combat. For Spirit Guidance Weapons to dominate, it would probably take at least another ten years.

Alternatively, only when Spirit Hall internally researches an offensive spirit tool capable of destroying a city with a single blow will all Spirit Masters on the continent truly understand what it means for the times to have changed.

“Big Brother, my Soul Armor cannot be mass-produced at the moment, after all, this is a technical skill.” Lou Gao shook his head, “Although it can’t compare to the Soul Imprint Throne, it’s a new product combining armor and a spirit tool. It’s not easy for others to imitate it; at least it needs to reach the Thousand Refinements level, and currently, only my apprentice can do it.”

“Can a Hundred Refinements one also work?” Tang San caressed the Soul Armor, sensing the Spirit Guidance patterns within it, knowing that was the key to this set of armor.

Theoretically, Hundred Refinements metal could also be used to make Soul Armor, it just wouldn’t be as durable as Thousand Refinements metal.

“Yes, it can, but I won’t acknowledge that kind of trash.” Lou Gao completely disdained Hundred Refinements materials, looking contemptuous, feeling it was an insult to Soul Armor.

“For grassroots personnel, it’s sufficient, and since it’s all metal, if it breaks or is damaged, it can just be melted down and recast. The material can be recycled, and the Spirit Guidance patterns can be re-engraved,” Tang San chuckled, “It’s also good for ordinary craftsmen to practice, it can improve their experience.”

“That’s indeed a good suggestion.” Lou Gao thought carefully and felt it was feasible, so he agreed, but then asked, “Can you teach me how to do Pattern Forging?”

Compared to Spirit Forging, Fusion Forging, and the like, he yearned more for the miraculous Pattern Forging.

That is truly giving Life to metal! It can allow the forged metal to absorb natural energy and evolve on its own!

“Yes, but to learn that skill, you must at least reach Fusion Forging, and your strength must at least reach the Spirit Douluo level.”

Although Tang San wanted to teach him, Lou Gao could currently only do Spirit Forging, and there was still a significant distance to Fusion Forging.

More importantly, Lou Gao's own strength was too weak.

Moreover, Tang San knew Lou Gao's personality and didn't dare to tell him the method in advance, otherwise, if he tried it himself, he would probably end up sacrificing himself like in the original story.

In forging, Lou Gao possessed extraordinary talent and passion.

Lou Gao sighed, realizing once again that the relationship between forging and cultivation was directly proportional, and said, "It seems I need to find a way to improve my strength first, otherwise I might not even be able to compare to your girlfriend."

The Tang San's girlfriend Lou Gao referred to was naturally Huo Wu.

Using gravity and flames to refine metal, her efficiency was even higher than a blacksmith's hammering—while others painstakingly compressed iron blocks and refined out impurities, she simply melted the metal and then used gravity to separate the single metal from other impurities. She could mass-produce Thousand Refinements metal, an efficiency far beyond what other blacksmiths could achieve.

Furthermore, Huo Wu was currently considering using gravity to draw in natural energy and infuse it into the metal during its condensation, with the goal of mass-producing Spirit Forged metal.

Honestly, when Lou Gao first learned of this method of metal refining, his eyes widened even more than Chou Niu's, but in the end, he could only sigh, "The times are changing too fast."

However, compared to other older generations, Lou Gao's thinking was more open. He didn't consider it cheating or trickery. For a blacksmith, refining metal was just the basic step; the real skill lay in shaping the refined metal into a finished product afterward.

“Senior Lou Gao, please don’t be modest. Huo Wu can’t forge...”

Tang San smiled, indicating that even if Huo Wu could refine finished products in the future, she would be far from matching a craftsman like Lou Gao, who dedicated everything to forging.

At least, in terms of the pursuit of forging, Lou Gao had given up everything, while Huo Wu’s main purpose in refining artifacts was to train her control over fire, light, and gravity elements, with forging being secondary.

“No need to comfort an old man like me. Now is your young people’s world...”

Lou Gao suddenly became wistful, his short stature hunching, but then he immediately straightened up again, laughing heartily, “But I, this old fellow, won’t admit defeat! This new era still has a ship that can carry me! If not, then I’ll build one myself! Watch me catch up to you all!”

“Haha, Senior Lou Gao is still sharp!” Tang San praised him, then began discussing the crafting and production of Soul Armor, offering some small suggestions along the way.

And as soon as forging was mentioned, Lou Gao’s eyes lit up, like someone who hadn’t drunk water for three days and three nights seeing water. He absorbed Tang San’s experience, constantly offering his own insights and suggestions...

...In a blink of an eye, three days passed. Lou Gao left with an exhausted body, and Chrysanthemum Douluo returned with Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu.

The three’s spirit rings were all close to the millennium level. It could be said that their starting stage as Spirit Masters was even higher than Tang San’s group, but considering they were all over sixteen, their Spirits were part of their bodies, and all could enhance physical fitness, it was not an unacceptable thing for their First spirit ring to be able to withstand a near-millennium level.

Shen Hou's spirit ring, without a doubt, came from a Great Heart Rat, granting her a Spirit Ability that could enhance her physical fitness in almost all aspects by accelerating her Heart's beat and stimulating her vital energy.

After Tang San's examination, he discovered that this spirit ring also gave her a certain degree of control over her own blood.

This confirmed Tang San's previous speculation that once Shen Hou underwent a second awakening, her Spirit would not only include the Heart, which contains blood vessels, but also the blood itself.

And this Spirit Ability was named Qi-Blood Long River by Tang San.

From the current situation, Shen Hou will definitely take the path of Qi and Blood cultivation in the future, and her future spirit rings will inevitably all be from Great Heart Rats. Perhaps, after she fully develops, when her aura erupts, her Qi and Blood will surge like a long river, or even gather into a sea.

You Ji's First spirit ring came from a Thousand-Pattern Tortoise.

The backs of these tortoise Spirit Beasts are covered in dense wrinkles and are extremely sensitive, capable of sensing every slightest movement.

The skill it granted You Ji was called: Tortoise-Pattern Skin Armor.

When used, it allows the skin, after Spirit Possession, to form an armor-like shell similar to a tortoise shell, which can cover the entire body without a single seam.

More importantly, this made You Ji more sensitive to skin control, allowing her to move excess wrinkles to areas that could be covered by clothing, such as the neck and waist.

This also allowed her to reveal her true appearance.

At first glance, she wasn't particularly beautiful, but she was delicate and pleasant to look at, and among ordinary people, she could be considered quite striking.

This was also what You Ji was most happy about.

At least, the “skin disease” that had plagued her for the first half of her Life was resolved after she obtained her First spirit ring. Although it wasn’t a complete cure, for her, the type of Spirit Beast Tang San chose for her was nothing short of a rebirth.

Finally, there was Hai Zhu.

His First spirit ring came from a land dragon-type Spirit Beast called a Steel Armor Dragon, which greatly strengthened his bones—regardless of muscle or skin, the hardness of his skeleton was already comparable to ordinary unrefined ironstone.

And his First Soul Skill was called: Bone Armor.

That is, using his Spirit skeleton as a foundation, extra bones grow, forming an armor-like appearance on the body surface, almost enhancing all attributes.

Combined with the power of Qi and Blood, when he used his Spirit Ability, he was simply like a demon god from hell.

After research, Tang San discovered that this form of Bone Armor was very worth learning from. If other Spirit Masters could use their respective Spirits as carriers, and with the help of this Bone Armor’s condensation form, achieve a similar state, they might be able to unleash even greater power.

For this reason, Tang San kept the three for a longer period for more detailed examinations, until Zi Shu, Chou Niu, and Yin Hu came looking for him, only then did Tang San instruct Shen Hou, You Ji, and Hai Zhu to return.

And for the three newcomers, Tang San began a new round of analysis—

Zi Shu was a lean man, but his muscles were tight. He had a very large nose with wide nostrils, and his nose hair was exceptionally thick, intertwined with his beard, making it difficult to distinguish.

His Spirit was his nose.

Aside from basic hand and foot combat training, Tang San's advice to him was to smell various scents more often, record them, and form conditioned reflexes, so that in the future, he could imagine the complete appearance of an object just by its scent.

The world is limitless, and one can track for thousands of miles!

That was the idea.

Chou Niu was a tall figure, as tall as Hai Zhu, over two meters, but less adorned. His Spirit was his left arm. If he could undergo a second awakening in the future, it might include his left hand and left shoulder, or possibly even his right arm.

His arrangements, besides basic training, involved standing in a horse stance to stabilize his center of gravity, temper his physique, and train the strength and attack movements of both arms.

In the future, the Spirit Beasts he would acquire would mostly be those with great strength in their arms or those with more flexible movements.

Tang San's expectations for him were only two words:

Prop up the sky.

To forge a pair of divine demon arms, to prop up the vast sky!

Finally, Yin Hu was a well-built woman whose Spirit was her right hand. Her development was similar to Chou Niu's, but compared to the arm, the hand itself's strongest point was not strength, but the nimble fingers.

For this, Tang San handed her over to Xiao Wu, asking her to learn medicine together so that she could thoroughly understand all the human body's meridians, blood vessels, and acupoints, followed by basic skill training.

348: Twelve Yuanchen is on the right track

In the blink of an eye, three more months passed. Zi Shu, Chou Niu, and Yin Hu also obtained their first spirit ring, becoming true Spirit Masters. Moreover, based on the characteristics and development direction of their respective Spirits, they all received the Spirit Abilities most suitable for them.

Zi Shu: Thousand Mile Tracking.

Although the range of the Spirit Ability was not as exaggerated, only able to smell within a range of about one hundred meters, with the future improvement of his cultivation, he would certainly be able to expand the range to a thousand miles.

Chou Niu: Heaven-Supporting.

His left arm's strength was extremely powerful, already capable of competing with a strength-type Spirit Grandmaster.

Yin Hu: Control.

Her first spirit ring came from a sea Spirit Beast, a Blue-Ringed Octopus of nearly five hundred years.

In terms of finger dexterity, no Spirit Beast on the continent could compare to humans' finger claws. Therefore, she could only seek them in the ocean, looking for octopus-like Spirit Beasts with tentacles.

However, most areas of the ocean were still forbidden zones for human Spirit Masters, and even Chrysanthemum Douluo dared not go too deep.

In order not to waste time, Yin Hu did not insist on choosing a spirit ring of nearly a thousand years.

After obtaining this spirit ring, her right hand became more flexible than usual, and she controlled it more adeptly. The Blue-Ringed Octopus's spirit ring also, to a certain extent, enhanced her mental force.

After all, for creatures like octopuses, besides their tentacles, only their brains were worth mentioning.

And the Spirit Ability brought to her by this first spirit ring was named Control by her. It allowed her to precisely control her five fingers to bend to any degree, and even after learning the small trick of spirit power externalization, she could condense five spirit power-like threads. Coupled with her three months of studying human anatomy with Xiao Wu, as long as they were inserted into a person's back of the head, she could even control them with this ability.

It was just that with Yin Hu's current spirit power of eleventh rank, she could only control for about one second.

Besides the insufficient spirit power, her brain was also not yet capable of processing the information transmitted back by the spirit power threads... A mere five-hundred-year spirit ring was not enough to assist her in controlling a human body with so many complex organs, tissues, and systems.

But Tang San felt that Yin Hu was a true control system in every sense of the word!

Other control systems only controlled the enemy, but with Yin Hu's future development, she could completely become a puppeteer, treating enemies as her own puppets.

Of course, Tang San's greatest gain was completing the sections regarding the nose, arm, and hand in the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Hidden Art 2.0.

After sending off the three, the remaining Mao Tu, Chen Long, Si She, Wu Ma, Wei Yang, and Xu Gou arrived in two batches—

Mao Tu was a petite and cute female, whose Spirit was her ears. For her future Spirit Beast hunting suggestions, the natural choice was the Listening Wind Rabbit, to obtain the Listening to the Wind Spirit Ability and continuously strengthen her hearing and brainpower.

Chen Long was a tall and burly young man, whose Spirit was his right foot.

Feet, unlike hands, are less flexible and primarily serve to support a person's upright posture, walking, and running, but the most crucial point is maintaining balance.

Therefore, when planning his spirit rings, the most fundamental consideration was the ability to maintain balance, followed by enhancing speed, strength, defense, and reaction.

And after obtaining his first spirit ring, his Spirit Ability was named: Stomp by Tang San.

Si She, over 1.7 meters tall, with robust muscles, yet she was a female. After awakening her Spirit, 'Tongue,' even with innate rank one spirit power, it was deemed a useless Spirit.

After all, in this era where 'combat ability' was the criterion for judging the value of a Spirit Master's Spirit, even if a Tongue Spirit had innate full spirit power, it would be judged as a useless Spirit by people in some small cities.

But Si She refused to accept her fate and, believing her Spirit was inadequate, began to continuously train her physique, to the point of developing such exaggerated muscles for a woman.

At least, she could fight ordinary Spirit Masters.

But for a Spirit like the tongue, which is related to taste and can stir food... In short, it's related to eating. Using it for attack... it's indeed a bit unsatisfactory.

After all, not everyone is Tao Bai Bai.

And to utilize the tongue's function, one naturally needs to taste various foods, and even—

Herbs.

Therefore, Si She was recommended by Tang San to Xiao Wu, to study herbs together, which would best utilize her talent.

Wu Ma, this was an older sister-type female, whose Spirit was her waist. After Tang San's examination, he found that unlike Chen Long, Yin Hu, and Chou Niu's individual right foot, right hand, and left arm, it also included her internal stomach and intestines.

This also led to Wu Ma having extremely strong digestive capabilities. She even said herself that even dirt and rocks, if she ate them, she could digest them, it just took a relatively long time, and if she didn't eat other normal food during that period, she would still starve to death.

This one was also recommended by Tang San to Xiao Wu. Her waist Spirit allowed her to learn soft skills, and her strong digestive ability could assist in researching the effects of medicines—medicines, once consumed, could show their effects more quickly.

Wei Yang, her figure was not much different from Wu Ma's. Her Spirit was her hair, but unlike Tang San's imagination, every single strand of her hair could be controlled.

That is, she could control her hair to sway.

Especially when her Spirit was possessed, she could control her hair strands more flexibly, as if her hair had turned into her thousands of arms.

Xiao Wu needed to use strength techniques to swing her scorpion tail braid, but Wei Yang directly controlled her hair as if it were her arms.

For this, Tang San pulled off one of her hairs and found that its root was not white but blood-colored, and even within the hair, there were tiny, short, and thin white and blood-colored rootlets, invisible to the naked eye. Only an existence with excellent pupil power like Tang San could observe them growing into the hair.

Those were nerve tissues!

For this, Tang San used his mental force to conduct a comprehensive examination of Wei Yang's brain, finding that the folds on her brain were far more numerous than those of ordinary people, and the outer periphery of her skull was also covered with a layer of nerve tissue, which penetrated through the skin and drilled into the hair strands.

Is her Spirit hair?

No!

There was also that layer of nerve tissue covering the outside of her skull. And if she continued to develop in the future, undergoing a second awakening and a third awakening, she might even awaken her true form: the brain!

And the facts also proved that Wei Yang's brain was indeed very developed, and her learning ability was very strong. Things that others needed to memorize ten or more times, she could remember in one go, and then after trying a few times, she could master them.

But her current Spirit was hair, and it needed to be strengthened in toughness, and at the same time, made thinner and denser, so that it could carry more nerve threads.

Frankly speaking, for Wei Yang, hair was no longer an optional thing but another organ extended from her brain's nerve tissue.

As for the last one, Xu Gou, his Spirit was his mouth, including his cheeks, and the internal throat and vocal cords. It was very suitable for practicing sound wave techniques. For this, in terms of spirit rings, Tang San suggested sound wave bats, roaring lions, and dolphins, whales, and other Spirit Beasts that could emit sound waves for attack, detection, etc.—

...

At this point, Tang San's initial plan for the Twelve Yuanchen was completed.

In this year, Spirit Hall also recruited nearly a hundred Physical Martial Soul wielders from all over the world. Tang San also conducted a comprehensive examination of their Physical Martial Souls, and some even had their 'little kun-kun' or 'little sister' as their Spirit.

It must be said that Physical Martial Souls are very miraculous; as long as it's a part of the human body, it can appear...

349: Body skill: Wuhun Bone Armor True Body!

Through the Twelve Yuanchen, Tang San completed the details of the nose, ears, mouth, tongue, hair (nervous tissue), hands, arms, feet, waist (including the six viscera), Heart, skeleton, and skin in the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Hidden Art 2.0.

Adding Fan Niu and Fan Ma's chests and backs.

In addition, the hundred Physical Martial Soul owners collected by Spirit Hall also helped Tang San perfect the details of more parts of the body, so much so that the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Hidden Art 2.0 was once again upgraded, evolving into 3.0.

Upon reaching version 3.0, the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure already encompassed the structure of all human organs and tissues, unable to advance further, having reached the limit that the human body can cultivate.

To further improve efficiency, one can only cause a stronger evolution of the human body; otherwise, after condensing the Qi and Blood Golden Core, one can only condense another spirit ring corresponding to it, on which to engrave more efficient energy circulation circuits that will be discovered or researched in the future.

Moreover, in addition to the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure 3.0, Tang San also summarized another cultivation method for the body: the Body Forging Art.

This is not a body tempering technique that can only be cultivated by Physical Martial Soul users; all Spirit Masters, and even ordinary people, as long as they possess Qi and blood, can cultivate it to comprehensively strengthen their physical qualities.

It just cannot condense Jade Bone, shape Divine Treasure, or forge Golden Muscle.

However, within this Body Forging Art, Tang San actually researched a theoretical skill similar to the Martial Soul True Body Armor displayed after Tang San's spirit ring fusion: Spirit Bone Armor True Body.

Referencing Hai Zhu's First Soul Skill of the skeleton, and combining it with the characteristics of other Physical Martial Soul parts, after cultivating a powerful physical body, the Spirit is thoroughly integrated into the entire skeleton, then slowly permeates the internal organs, brain, and spinal cord, finally covering the muscles and emerging through the skin, solidifying into a Spirit Bone Armor True Body similar to the True Body Armor!

Tang San's Martial Soul True Body Armor, born after spirit ring fusion, had too high requirements for spirit ring and Spirit Ability configuration, lacking universality, whereas this Spirit Bone Armor True Body is simpler.

But it is only a little simpler; one must at least reach the Spirit Saint level and possess a Martial Soul True Body to be able to cultivate it.

After Bibi Dong obtained this Body Forging Art researched by Tang San, she cultivated it immediately and found that it did not provide a significant boost to her; it merely helped her circulate Qi and blood to some places where it normally could not circulate, making her body more perfect, and only improving the conversion efficiency between Qi and blood and spirit power.

But the theory of the Spirit Bone Armor True Body amazed Bibi Dong, so after completing one cycle of the Body Forging Art, she began to attempt it.

"At least it has raised my strength to a level close to that of a god." Bibi Dong, centered on the Death Spider Emperor, now performed the Spirit Bone Armor True Body. Her entire being seemed to don a purple-black battle armor, with golden spiderwebs flowing across her chest, covering her whole body, and a white spider pattern imprinted on it.

Tang San wasn't entirely clear about the specific level of power it granted, but at least with the Spirit Bone Armor True Body's attachment method, Bibi Dong's lower body would no longer transform into that large-bellied spider-like form, appearing quite heroic and valiant.

But—

Tang San still felt that the original Spirit possession state was more exotic.

"If both Spirits are used together, I should be able to temporarily reach the god level." Bibi Dong dispersed the Death Spider Emperor's Spirit Bone Armor True Body, sensing the attribute energies of her two great Spirits within her body, and explained the situation of using both Spirits simultaneously, "At that time, the God Realm will probably sense it. Unless absolutely necessary, it's better not to use it."

"Which means, my theory of the Spirit Bone Armor True Body has no problems, right?" Tang San put on a confident smile.

"Indeed, there are no problems, but the requirements for the cultivator are a bit high," Bibi Dong said. "The cultivation of the Body Forging Art is simple; even ordinary people, knowing the relevant tricks, can use it to strengthen their bodies. But this Spirit Bone Armor True Body is quite difficult. Although a Spirit Saint can begin cultivating it, that is merely the foundation for cultivation. It has extremely high demands on mental force, spirit power, and Qi and blood. Ordinary Spirit Masters, I'm afraid, would need to reach the Titled Douluo level to successfully cultivate it."

"However, the benefits of successful cultivation are also obvious. It can enhance combat power. Even a level ninety-one Titled Douluo might be able to contend with a level ninety-seven or ninety-eight Titled Douluo."

"Furthermore, perfectly integrating the Spirit with the physical body can also deepen a Spirit Master's understanding of their Spirit, thereby accelerating the cultivation of Titled Douluo."

"Overall, this cultivation method can greatly enhance Spirit Hall's combat power."

"What kind of reward do you desire?"

Tang San shook his head: "No reward is needed. After all, being able to research such a cultivation method is largely thanks to Supreme Pontiff adult's initiative in ordering the collection of a large number of Physical Martial Soul owners. Otherwise, I would not have been able to organize all those Physical Martial Souls within this short year."

And after those Physical Martial Soul owners replenished their foundations, their speed of spirit power cultivation increased, which also made the people of Spirit Hall realize that the talent of Physical Martial Souls—as long as the body is strong and healthy, and the age does not exceed thirty, being in the cultivation stage, their cultivation talent is actually not bad.

This point, perhaps other Sects and families will also discover, as during Spirit Hall's collection of Physical Martial Soul owners, those families and Sects were also searching.

Perhaps they won't discover the true superiority of Physical Martial Souls, but just the fact that cultivation is fast is enough for them to pursue it.

After all, there is currently a fact before them: as long as Physical Martial Soul owners do not have major physical problems and are not malnourished, their cultivation speed is at least comparable to that of Spirit owners with innate level four spirit power.

"You are too humble. If it were anyone else, they probably wouldn't be able to organize such a divine secret manual, which directly leads to the Titled level in terms of physical body, in their entire lifetime." Bibi Dong, during her communication with Tang San, also learned many new words, smiled slightly, and then summoned Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo.

Currently, there are four Titled Douluo in Spirit City who obey Bibi Dong: Yue Guan, Gui Mei, Mo Xiong, and Gui Bao. Among them, Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo are most highly regarded by Bibi Dong due to their Martial Soul Fusion Skill and have followed her for many years, making them the most trustworthy.

"Greetings, Supreme Pontiff adult!" X2

After Chrysanthemum and Ghost Douluo entered the Supreme Pontiff Palace, they placed one hand across their chests, bowed slightly, and spoke in unison.

"Yue Guan, Gui Mei, you two have followed this Seat for many years; your merits and hard work have not gone unnoticed," Bibi Dong's tone deepened.

"This is what we ought to do." Chrysanthemum Douluo was a little excited, because he knew that when Supreme Pontiff adult spoke this way, she must be intending to reward them.

What could it be?

Wealth?

Power?

He and Old Ghost joined Spirit Hall precisely for these two things, and now they had already obtained them. If there was anything else they desired, it would be Spirit Bone, a treasure that could enhance cultivation, or perhaps the semi-divine artifact they had seen last time: the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne.

Now that Saint Son adult is also here, could it be another Soul Imprint Throne?

Impossible...

But what if!

Involuntarily, Chrysanthemum Douluo's Heart was filled with anticipation. Ghost Douluo, who was not good with words, also showed a look of excitement.

350: The Chrysanthemum Ghost Douluo

“Considering your contributions, I shall bestow upon you both a copy of the Body Forging Art.” Bibi Dong unceremoniously presented the cultivation method Tang San had contributed as a reward.

Body Forging Art?

Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo exchanged glances, unsure what this was, but they guessed it was related to the Physical Martial Soul Tang San had been researching for the past year.

Tang San was also here now, so it was likely he had developed it.

Could it be a cultivation method for the Physical Martial Soul?

But neither of them possessed a Physical Martial Soul... wait, Ghost's Spirit was actually a soul, so did that count as a special Physical Martial Soul?

“This is a body-tempering cultivation method Tang San created based on the Physical Martial Soul. It is greatly beneficial even to Titled Douluo, and it contains a unique skill similar to the Martial Soul True Body Armor, which can help you break through your current realm and contend with Super Douluo at level 98 and above.” Bibi Dong clearly explained the origin of the Body Forging Art and its most important strengthening capabilities for the two Titled Douluo.

Chrysanthemum Douluo was startled, unable to imagine that Tang San had actually researched another self-created Spirit Ability similar to the Martial Soul True Body Armor: Spirit Bone Armor True Body.

And the Supreme Pontiff was willing to bestow it upon them, did that mean

The cultivation requirements for this Body Forging Art were not as strict as Tang San's version of spirit ring fusion?

“Thank you, Supreme Pontiff!” X2

Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo both became excited. Finally, Chrysanthemum Douluo respectfully raised his hands and accepted the Body Forging Art manual that Bibi Dong had levitated over with her mental force.

“For the relevant cultivation methods, ask Tang San; he will guide you.” Afterward, Bibi Dong added, her tone slightly solemn, “I have only one request: if you break through level 95 in the future, you must not lean towards the Hall of Offerings faction. Even if they invite you, refuse them directly. Can you do this?”

Chrysanthemum Douluo quickly said, “Supreme Pontiff, rest assured, the Hall of Offerings is the Spirit Hall's decaying old root. It will definitely be eradicated in the future. Ghost and I will certainly not associate with it.”

They naturally knew about the factions within Spirit Hall.

Bibi Dong's Supreme Pontiff faction and the Hall of Offerings faction led by Qian Daoliu.

In terms of the number and strength of Titled Douluo, Qian Daoliu's faction was naturally more powerful, but when it came to control over Spirit Hall, that belonged to the Supreme Pontiff faction led by Bibi Dong.

Currently, Bibi Dong's faction still had fewer Titled Douluo than the Hall of Offerings, but their quality was slowly improving, especially Tang San. He was already capable of contending with a super Douluo, not to mention his girlfriends—Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, Huo Wu, and others—who were all capable of rivaling Titled Douluo in certain aspects.

Yu Tianheng and Dugu Yan were also gradually leaning towards Spirit Hall. Their talent and intellect were not bad, and their strength could rival ordinary Spirit Saint, or even Spirit Douluo.

There was also Spirit Hall's Golden Generation, especially Hu Liena. After acquiring the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne, ordinary Titled Douluo were simply powerless to resist.

Not to mention, six outer cities had now been built outside Spirit City, and with the promotion, Bibi Dong was becoming widely known, while the Hall of Offerings appeared to be obscure.

According to Chrysanthemum Douluo's estimation, it would not take ten years for Tang San and the others to become Titled Douluo, crushing the Hall of Offerings.

No!

If he and Ghost cultivated the Spirit Bone Armor True Body, in terms of peak combat power, the Supreme Pontiff faction's Titled Douluo would be enough to crush all other Titled Douluo except the High Priest.

Following the Supreme Pontiff faction was the path to a bright future!

Ghost Douluo also said, "We will definitely go through fire and water for the Supreme Pontiff and the Holy Son!"

Unlike Chrysanthemum Douluo, Ghost Douluo couldn't articulate too many reasons, but he knew that even if he broke through the threshold of level 95 and entered level 96, he would not be able to enter the Hall of Offerings.

The reason was simple—

His Spirit, Gui Mei, was destined not to get along with the sacred angels.

Just approaching the Hall of Offerings, the angelic light emanating from it would scorch his Spirit and suppress most of his spirit power.

Therefore, even if Bibi Dong believed Chrysanthemum Douluo might suddenly defect to the Hall of Offerings, she would not believe Ghost Douluo would do so.

“Supreme Pontiff, it’s one thing for you to use my researched cultivation method as a reward, but you also want me to help explain it?” Tang San smiled helplessly. “I’m usually very busy with my cultivation and research, and I also have to manage the Blue Silver Network. I don’t have much time.”

“No matter. Then just spare some time at night. Anyway, Yue Guan and Gui Mei are Titled Douluo; they’ll be fine without rest for a month or two...”

Yue Guan, Gui Mei: “.....”

“You’re also about to reach Spirit Saint, aren’t you? With that immense Life force, you don’t need sleep either...”

In Bibi Dong’s nonchalant tone, there was a hint of unchallengeable authority: “To those who are capable, more is expected.”

Tang San now seriously suspected that Bibi Dong seemed to find certain aspects of him displeasing, yet it wasn’t dislike; she just wanted to prank him, similar to a mischievous act.

Did Bibi Dong have such a playful personality?

Or was it that after secretly receiving help from Iliex, the depression in her heart had dissipated, and she had regained the liveliness of a young girl?

“Since the Supreme Pontiff has spoken, if I refuse again, I would be showing disrespect.” Tang San finally agreed.

But Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo broke out in a cold sweat—

To dare speak to the Supreme Pontiff in such a manner, like two familiar friends... this was simply unbelievable!

When did the Supreme Pontiff become so amiable?

Even when dealing with the Holy Maiden, in the presence of others, she would maintain the Supreme Pontiff's dignity, but there seemed to be no such requirement for Tang San.

Moreover, the first person to speak with a playful tone was the Supreme Pontiff!

Presumably, it was because of Tang San's talent...

...

After Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo left, Tang San asked, "Aren't you going to call Ghost Leopard Douluo and Devil Bear Douluo over too? They can also cultivate the Body Forging Art."

"My trust in them cannot compare to Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo." Bibi Dong shook her head, her eyes slightly cold. "They only listened to my commands in the past because their spirit power hadn't reached level 96. Otherwise, they would definitely have run to the Hall of Offerings... As for now, I need to observe them for a while longer."

Tang San offered no opinion on this—he did not interfere with internal politics or management-related matters.

"Speaking of which, what level has your spirit power reached in the past year?" Bibi Dong inquired about Tang San's spirit power status. "I must say, your control over spirit power is truly impressive; even I can't detect any spirit power fluctuations from you."

"Level sixty-nine." Tang San did not conceal it, reporting his spirit power level, then said, "I am already about to condense the corresponding Soul Power Core, Qi and Blood Golden Core, and Spiritual Mindset."

“When will you begin?” Bibi Dong asked with concern. “Before obtaining the seventh spirit ring, or after the seventh spirit ring?”

“During the process of obtaining the seventh spirit ring,” Tang San said calmly.

“Isn’t that too risky?”

To condense the cores of essence, qi, and Spirit during the process of absorbing a spirit ring—was he trying to practice Heart Separation Control?

Bibi Dong was a little worried...

351: Agreement with Bibi Dong

Tang San was quite touched by Bibi Dong's concern. He then explained, "Please, Supreme Pontiff, don't worry. I just want to try condensing three corresponding special spirit rings at the same time as I condense the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset."

For his seventh spirit ring, Tang San would inevitably go to the Blue Silver Forest to ask the Blue Silver King for help in condensing an ever-evolving spirit ring for himself—Lan Yinzi would definitely know its location.

During the process of condensing the spirit ring, Tang San could also reconfirm the process with Iliex, making it easier to condense the "spirit rings" of essence, qi, and Spirit afterward.

"I wasn't worried about you..." Bibi Dong's words of concern slipped out, but then she abruptly stopped, huffing, "...Last time you went out, did you find another plant Spirit Beast with over 100,000 years of cultivation willing to sacrifice itself for you?"

"Supreme Pontiff, you worry too much. I don't have that good of luck." Tang San shook his head, but in his heart, he was pondering whether Bibi Dong truly had feelings for him.

However, Tang San quickly cut off his wandering thoughts. After all, he didn't believe that Bibi Dong, whose mind had become clearer, would fall for him just because of what happened between them last time.

"When you reach level seventy, do you want me to personally accompany you on your Spirit hunt?" Bibi Dong suddenly asked, her gaze somewhat fervent, as if anticipating Tang San's agreement.

Ever since the last incident, Bibi Dong felt that she might need to find an opportunity to talk to Tang San alone, so as to avoid awkwardness when they met privately.

As for why she didn't choose a time and place in Spirit City but opted for a Spirit hunt, it was naturally because with the development and expansion of Spirit Hall, she herself was becoming increasingly busy.

And Tang San was also very busy...

Hmm—

This point is debatable. After all, every night he would thoroughly "comfort" his four girlfriends, with such elaborate moves that she felt a little hot.

"Isn't that inappropriate?" Tang San didn't know what Bibi Dong was up to. It couldn't possibly be to create an opportunity to be alone with him, could it?

This wasn't that kind of fanfiction!

Besides, he couldn't tell Bibi Dong about the Blue Silver King being able to self-condense his seventh spirit ring right now, otherwise, this woman might treat him as a "backup spirit ring."

Seeing that Tang San didn't want her to come along, Bibi Dong suddenly became a little angry and realized that Tang San might have some secret that she didn't currently understand.

Although everyone has secrets, how could a subordinate conceal something from the Supreme Pontiff?

If it were anyone else, she wouldn't press the matter, but in her eyes, Tang San was half her own person. How could he conceal things from her?

She herself had also concealed things...

"Since that's the case, then I'll find another opportunity next time to tell you about the previous situation."

Bibi Dong, having finished her brainstorming, calmed down. She felt she had been a bit impulsive just now, but still hoped to find time later to explain the situation to Tang San.

At that time, Tang San would surely perceive her physical condition.

"Uh..." At this moment, Tang San also realized what Bibi Dong was trying to do. He said awkwardly, "Actually, there's no need to explain it too clearly."

"Some secrets, when kept in one's heart, are very uncomfortable..." Bibi Dong said faintly.

At this moment, Tang San realized that Bibi Dong might be treating him as someone she could trust, even closer than Hu Liena... Didn't she intensely dislike men?

Speaking of which, after their unexpected encounter last time, she didn't kill him directly... Could his charm really be that great?

Or did Iliex secretly do something?

"I didn't do that!" Iliex immediately retorted, proving his innocence, "Though I am not a good person, I would not toy with a woman's emotions!"

Since Iliex said so, Tang San chose to believe him, as Iliex indeed wouldn't lie. Therefore, Bibi Dong's behavior could only have one explanation:

The after-effects of the Martial Soul Fusion Skill.

Life and death, mutually generative, opposing, and restrictive, but as long as a balance is achieved, they can coexist completely.

Between the Death Spider Emperor and the Blue Silver Emperor, the only similarity might be that they are both Spirits. However, two completely different attributes can undergo fusion.

spirit power Fusion.

In Tang San's conception, spirit power fusion was even more difficult than Martial Soul Fusion. After all, Spirit Masters have different Spirits, and thus different spirit power. If a corresponding balance point cannot be found, the spirit power of two individuals can at most only merge after being released.

However, the death attribute of the Death Spider Emperor and the Life attribute of the Blue Silver Emperor can instinctively fuse, and no matter which side is stronger, they can "complement each other's strengths and weaknesses" to achieve balance, without requiring the Spirit Master to actively control it.

This also confirmed the special nature of the Life and death attributes.

However, with Bibi Dong's level ninety-nine strength, would she still be affected by her own Spirit attributes?

At least, Tang San's current feelings for Bibi Dong were more of admiration.

Feelings like love...

They hadn't spent much time together; he couldn't just say that.

In reality, Bibi Dong's feelings for Tang San at this time were also just admiration and had not soured due to that one accident. However, the Rakshasa God's final words before dissipating had continuously influenced her self-judgment. Moreover, after she condensed the three cores, she would secretly watch Tang San's "research" into the path of qi and blood with his girlfriends every night, to the extent that she herself wasn't entirely sure if it was admiration, or if love had blossomed... or perhaps it was merely a pure attraction brought about by the fusion of their Spirit attributes.

"Supreme Pontiff, you don't need to tell me your secret, do you?" Tang San whispered, "Why not confide in your disciple, Hu Liena? She should be more trustworthy to you than I am, right?"

"Indeed, I have always treated her as my daughter, but it seems we have been honest with each other." There was no ripple in Bibi Dong's eyes, as if she was describing a very ordinary matter. She was determined to find an opportunity to say something to Tang San, otherwise, keeping the secret to herself would be—uncomfortable.

"I already can't look at the phrase 'honest with each other' directly." Tang San complained inwardly, then said, "Since the Supreme Pontiff says so, then in the future, if you have anything to tell me, I will definitely remember it and not tell unrelated people."

"Mhm." Bibi Dong nodded with satisfaction, feeling that she had successfully "tamed" Tang San. She then continued, "Next, I will describe in detail my feelings about condensing the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, and also tell you about my cultivation experiences during this period."

"Thank you, Supreme Pontiff!" Tang San was delighted. Compared to his agreement with Bibi Dong, he was more interested in this set of human microcosm cultivation theories concerning the transformation and circulation of essence, qi, and Spirit.

But just as Bibi Dong finished speaking, Hu Liena walked in and reported something: "Teacher, news has come from Heaven Dou City—"

352: Xue Qinghe is about to take over the throne

In the past year, Heaven Dou City's development has been relatively fast, but the major noble forces have begun to obstruct the production and sales of advanced life Soul Guidance Devices.

When life-type Soul Guidance Devices became widespread, and even ordinary people in the city could use them, the nobles' sense of superiority diminished...

But what the nobles found most intolerable was that Xue Qinghe somehow came up with the idea of the "Imperial Examination," which is to select Empire officials through testing.

This is simply preposterous!

As long as one passes the corresponding test, they can become an Empire official, become a noble?

This is simply trampling on the achievements of their noble ancestors!

The reason these nobles can inherit their status is because their ancestors laid down this vast territory for Heaven Dou, and even when selecting Empire officials, their recommendation is required.

At the very least, students from various academies should first participate in the Continental Elite Tournament held every five years, to be observed and selected.

But Xue Qinghe, on the other hand, directly established the Imperial Examination, with the only requirement for participants being: clean background, no criminal offenses.

If one more condition were added: the examinee must be a Soul Master.

These nobles might tolerate it, but Xue Qinghe said that all citizens of the Empire are eligible to participate in the examination...

Doesn't this mean that among future civil officials, there will be commoners?

How could they tolerate this?

And with the rapid spread of news and the convenience of transportation, the matter of Xue Qinghe establishing the Imperial Examination was known throughout the entire Heaven Dou Empire's cities in a very short time, and even the Star Luo Empire received the news.

At this point, these hereditary nobles realized the drawbacks of the rapid development of life-type Soul Guidance Devices...

Now that the news has spread, if these people were to try and stop it again, they would likely be scorned by all the people of Heaven Dou.

Xue Qinghe gave the common people a path upward, and if they were to obstruct it, this news would likely also be spread.

"Uncle, what do you think Xue Qinghe is doing this for?"

In Prince Xue Xing's mansion, Xue Beng looked at the news published in the newspaper, slammed it on the table, and said angrily, "Is he going to make enemies with those hereditary nobles?"

Those are all imperial relatives and national kin, whose ancestors made significant contributions to the founding of Heaven Dou!"

"He is cutting off Heaven Dou's roots!"

"The Heaven Dou Empire will inevitably be destroyed because of his reckless actions!"

Prince Xue Xing picked up the Heaven Dou News》 and read for a while, then after a moment of silence, he slowly said, "Perhaps, he is trying to establish his authority. You know about those noble children in Heaven Dou Royal Academy, right?"

"You are disguised, but they are truly degenerate."

"Furthermore, these hereditary nobles are indeed receiving the Empire's stipend for nothing, doing no actual work, they are like parasites."

"Perhaps there is also my brother's instruction in this—"

Unlike the relatively naive Xue Beng, Prince Xue Xing was an experienced person, understanding Emperor Xue Ye's great vision and talent, that imperial aura, even a Soul Master would be moved if they faced it directly.

In the past, Emperor Xue Ye also wanted to rectify these hereditary nobles, but they were deeply entrenched, not something one Emperor could solve.

Now, Xue Qinghe is merely trying to accomplish what Emperor Xue Ye had previously been unable to.

But is this really possible?

Prince Xue Xing did not know what would happen in the future...

Moreover, Emperor Xue Ye was already old, and having ultimately chosen to compromise with those hereditary nobles, would he allow Xue Qinghe to do this?

"Imperial Father?"

Xue Beng was incredulous, not believing it in the slightest, after all, on the surface, Emperor Xue Ye was very polite to those hereditary nobles, without putting on much of an act.

"You are still young, you don't understand."

Prince Xue Xing shook his head, growing more disappointed with Xue Beng, and slowly said, "In the future, just be a stable Prince, like your uncle."

Xue Beng was speechless, but after a moment of silence, he asked again, "Speaking of which, are we also included in this?"

A trace of confidence appeared on Prince Xue Xing's face, saying, "Of course not, no matter what, we and Xue Qinghe have that blood relationship..."

At the same time, Emperor Xue Ye also took the initiative to find Xue Qinghe, scolding, "You are too impatient, wanting to eradicate the hereditary nobles within the Empire is not something that can be done overnight!"

When he was young, he also had similar ideas, but reality gave him a slap in the face—

Although there were many degenerates among the hereditary nobles, within those large families, there were always three or five talented individuals.

Accumulated over time, their foundation was also not bad, and they even had some connections with the Upper Three Sects, Lower Four Sects, and even the Spirit Hall.

It was simply impossible to remove them all at once.

"Imperial Father, I also wanted to be like you, boiling the frog in warm water, but time does not wait for us."

Xue Qinghe, however, had a different idea, but the most important thing was that she did not want to "have children," and even less did she want to adopt a child for this plan, "With the development of Spirit Hall City, the research on life-type Soul Guidance Devices has also become increasingly diversified and innovative.

The spread of news is already rapid.

If it develops further, I fear that the entire Continent will hear about the wicked deeds of those hereditary noble children, and the Heaven Dou Royal family will become the laughingstock of the Continent."

"Furthermore, this action of your child is also for the sake of the talented individuals in the Heaven Dou Empire."

"In all these years, I have only discovered one thing, and that is there is no shortage of talent in this world, it's just that those parasites occupy the positions, preventing those with relevant abilities below from rising."

"Although the Continental Elite Tournament is also a way to select talented individuals, it is limited to the elites among Soul Masters."

Many commoners and commoner Soul Masters also possess management abilities, but due to insufficient strength, they don't even have the qualifications to participate."

"Your child is willing to provide a path for these people."

Emperor Xue Ye's expression was uncertain, and finally, after coughing three times, he slowly said, "Very well, the Empire's foundation is not bad, it can withstand your endeavors."

"Please rest assured, Imperial Father, even if your child is labeled a foolish Emperor, I will inevitably eliminate those parasites in this generation."

This is for the future of Heaven Dou!"

Xue Qinghe spoke forcefully, her determined gaze moved Emperor Xue Ye, as if he saw his past self—

At that time, he seemed to lack such courage, not daring to speak like this in front of his deceased Imperial Father.

"Good!"

Emperor Xue Ye laughed heartily, "Cough, cough!"

Your father supports you!

After this month passes, I will officially convene all officials and pass the position of Emperor to you!"

"Your child will definitely not fail Imperial Father's expectations!"

Xue Qinghe was incredibly excited in her heart.

After years of forbearance, her goal was finally about to be realized, and Emperor Xue Ye was even going to personally pass the throne to her.

At this moment, Qian Renxue had already begun to fantasize about Bibi Dong's surprised, annoyed, regretful, and proud expression after she ascended the throne—

From beginning to end, Qian Renxue's purpose in coming to Heaven Dou and impersonating Xue Qinghe was only one:

A desire to gain her mother's recognition, to obtain maternal love, nothing more...

...

...Xue Qinghe is going to officially inherit the throne of the Heaven Dou Empire next month.

Hu Liena walked into the Pope's Hall and delivered this piece of information.

353: Bibi Dong's thoughts

"Is that so?"

Bibi Dong glanced at Tang San below, considering whether to reveal this matter, then asked, "Tang San, what do you think about this?"

"I'm not interested in politics." Tang San didn't get involved in such matters, but he was surprised that Qian Renxue was about to "get her wish." However, the imperial examination system seemed a bit too rushed.

Those hereditary nobles would not compromise on such matters, as it touched upon their actual interests and the bottom line of their status.

Pioneers, for the most part, do not have a good end.

However, if things really went awry, Qian Renxue would also have a way to escape. Could this be a setup to finally "escape" from the throne and restore Qian Renxue's identity?

Hmm~

Probably not.

Having communicated with Xue Qinghe, she doesn't have such a mindset and can't plan that far ahead. In fact, from a certain perspective, she's somewhat naive and pure—

Who told her that the fundamental purpose of impersonating Xue Qinghe was not to seize the Heaven Dou Empire's throne, but to prove herself to the mother in front of her?

It's just a pity that Qian Renxue chose the wrong direction. Bibi Dong's dislike for her wasn't because of her ability, but because of her scumbag father!

"I mean, what do you think of Xue Qinghe, this Crown Prince of Heaven Dou?" Bibi Dong described the question more clearly.

"Generous, easygoing, possessing charisma, but with an inherent arrogance." Tang San said good things, praising Xue Qinghe's virtues.

"Hmm." Bibi Dong nodded slightly, feeling a bit subtle—hearing Tang San praise Qian Renxue so much, she surprisingly didn't feel angry. Then she asked, "Anything else? You and he should have been in contact for a while, right? With your insight, didn't you find anything else amiss?"

Tang San understood what Bibi Dong wanted to tell him, but he really didn't want to know. If he did, he would definitely have to find a way to help her escape and restore Qian Renxue's identity.

It's very troublesome!

As for saying he didn't know...

It's a bit difficult to pretend in front of a super Douluo, and Bibi Dong has already condensed her Spiritual Mindset, and her mental force is slightly stronger than his.

"Indeed there is. Xue Qinghe seems to not be male." Tang San decided to tell the truth, "I even suspect that the original Xue Qinghe has been replaced."

Bibi Dong became interested, knowing the answer but still asking, "I'd like to hear the details."

"Based on the information I know, Xue Qinghe seemed to have disappeared for a period of time when he went hunting, and after being found again, he rarely released his Spirit."

Although Qian Renxue had the ability to disguise herself with Spirit Bone, it wasn't foolproof. To avoid being seen through, she naturally wouldn't release her Spirit as often as other Spirit Masters.

The reasons given were also plausible: he had matured, a Crown Prince didn't need to fight, and so on.

But considering that Xue Qinghe was still a youth at that time, naturally lively... it would be a bit sudden for him to mature suddenly due to an accident... However, if no one scrutinized it, no flaws would be found. After all, those who accompanied Xue Qinghe on the hunt at that time seemed to have either left Heaven Dou City or died in accidents for various reasons.

"Secondly, males generally have an Adam's apple, but Xue Qinghe's clothes always have high collars, or he uses scarves or similar items to cover his neck."

"Furthermore, my Blue Silver Emperor has a sensing connection with her Spirit, similar to a plant's preference for light, and that light is quite pure."

Tang San paused here for a moment, then continued, "I don't deny that the swan Spirit of the Heaven Dou imperial family might mutate into a swan Spirit with light elements, but that light element can be said to be an extreme attribute. Under normal circumstances, mutations cannot be achieved so quickly."

"Even among the finest swans, the Jade Swan, the light element is merely an incidental attribute."

"But the most important point is that my mental force is stronger than ordinary people's. I've investigated, and she is indeed not male."

Bibi Dong: "....." Suddenly a little angry, Qian Renxue was actually seen through by this brat?

Hu Liena was more direct: "Couldn't you have just said the last point?"

"That wouldn't show my professionalism." Tang San glanced at Hu Liena, smiling disdainfully (￣_￣), leaders love subordinates who can provide various analyses.

However, Bibi Dong ignored Tang San's "self-satisfaction" and continued to ask, "Regarding Xue Qinghe being a female, do you think we can find an opportunity to expose it?"

Bibi Dong knew very well why Qian Renxue went to the Heaven Dou Empire, but the core of Spirit Hall had already changed. When she returned, she would definitely not be on the same path as herself.

At least, in Bibi Dong's perception, Qian Renxue had been educated by Qian Daoliu since childhood, and had an extremely strong sense of honor for the Angel lineage. If she returned, it would instead create greater conflict with her.

Even in her current thoughts, if Qian Renxue could be the Tian Dou Emperor for life, it also seemed good... In short, she didn't want to face Qian Renxue, and she didn't know how to handle this mother-daughter relationship.

"I think, there's no need."

Tang San didn't know what Bibi Dong's psychology was at this moment, and he didn't want to get involved in the conflict between mother and daughter.

The best way to resolve conflicts is for both to become gods and have a fight. For Spirit Masters, strength is the best way to recognize each other. There's nothing that can't be solved by fighting.

If there is, then fight twice.

However, if Tang San really had to take sides at that time, he would choose Bibi Dong. Besides the unexpected relationship he had with her, more importantly, Bibi Dong's personality is now much more "cheerful," no longer as imposing as before, which allowed no room for strange thoughts.

At least, Tang San felt that Bibi Dong's attitude was relatively easygoing when talking to him.

"It's better for Spirit Hall not to get involved in the disputes within the Heaven Dou imperial family. Consolidating the foundation and developing steadily is the kingly path for Spirit Hall."

Bibi Dong nodded and also skipped the topic of Xue Qinghe. After all, she hadn't thought about how to express the matter of [Xue Qinghe is Qian Renxue, and Qian Renxue is her daughter].

"Supreme Pontiff, if there's nothing else, I'll take my leave?" Tang San asked, not daring to stay here, otherwise, Heaven knew what questions Bibi Dong would ask.

Please forgive him, he is just a researcher and is not suitable for participating in such complex conflicts, after all, he has not yet reached the realm where he can "control" this strange mother and daughter.

"Teacher, I suspect that Tang San might know that Xue Qinghe was sent by Spirit Hall." After Tang San left, Hu Liena expressed her opinion.

Bibi Dong said, "With his wisdom, he would naturally deduce it, but he's just not interested. For him, a stable research and cultivation environment is much more interesting than this kind of power struggle. Our methods are rather unpresentable, and if exposed, they might invite ridicule."

Now, Bibi Dong also had to consider a problem:

How should Qian Renxue restore her original identity?

Although she didn't want to face this daughter, she still carried a trace of maternal love for her and couldn't bear for her to live anonymously for a lifetime.

It used to be fine, but in this day and age, all kinds of news are flying around. Take Tang San as an example, there are constant rumors, and even a private newspaper dared to say that she, the Supreme Pontiff, also had a relationship with Tang San.

Although it was true, that private newspaper also went out of business.....

In short, a Crown Prince like Xue Qinghe, every move is bound to be watched by multiple parties. It's no small problem to escape and restore her true self.

If her true identity were exposed, she would inevitably be scorned by the world. Even if she could attribute it to the remnants of Spirit Hall's old forces—the Angel lineage—Spirit Hall's reputation would undoubtedly be greatly affected.

Hu Liena also frowned deeply: "This is indeed a big problem....."

354: The new emperor of Tiandou: Emperor Qinghe!

After concluding his conversation with Bibi Dong and leaving the Supreme Pontiff Palace, Tang San, on his way back to Soul Martial Manor, stopped contemplating the issues between Bibi Dong and Qian Renxue and began to consider the methods for condensing the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, Spiritual Mindset, and their corresponding three special spirit rings.

He decided to discuss it again with Iliex to further refine the theory.

How could Bibi Dong and Qian Renxue's mother-daughter affairs be more important than his own improvement?

Iliex said, "We have already understood the step of condensing the spirit ring through Ling Meng and Lingxi. The difficulty lies in how to separate the essence, qi, and spirit and recombine them, because the main bodies they revolve around—the Qi and Blood Golden Core, the Soul Power Core, and the Spiritual Mindset—are different, and the energy ratios of the essence, qi, and spirit also cannot be the same."

Originally, in their initial concept, after condensing the respective cores, they would simply condense "spirit rings" around them, based on qi and blood, spirit power, and mental force, respectively.

The internal patterns could be slowly inscribed later.

However, with the deepening research into the Physical Martial Soul and a more profound understanding of the human body structure over the past year, both realized that these three "spirit rings" could not be condensed solely with their corresponding qi and blood, spirit power, and mental force.

Instead, they had to be primarily based on one of these three, with the other two also integrated.

Taking the qi and blood of the lower Dantian as an example, after condensing the Qi and Blood Golden Core, to condense a Qi and Blood Ring, the primary energy source needs to be qi and blood, but it also requires the addition of spirit power and spiritual qi.

After all, the mutual conversion and circulation of qi and blood, spirit power, and mental force cannot be singular; the energy of the next step must be used.

Qi and blood rise from the lower Dantian to the middle Dantian, transforming into spirit power; spirit power rises from the middle Dantian to the upper Dantian, transforming into mental force; and mental force can then spread from the upper Dantian throughout the body's blood vessels, passively stimulating the physical body and transforming into qi and blood.

This is the circulatory theory of the human body's microcosm!

However, the ratio of essence, qi, and spirit within each "spirit ring" needs to be carefully considered.

If there is a mistake, adjusting it later would likely lead to major problems.

"That's the trouble," Tang San sighed. "I really didn't expect it to be so complex. To perfectly replicate it will probably take a lot of time."

"Actually, there's no need to be so pessimistic. Aren't we planning to inscribe the corresponding energy flow routes ourselves after condensing the three essence, qi, and spirit rings?" Iliex thought of another aspect. "If these three spirit rings are condensed from your own essence, qi, and spirit, then any incorrect parts should be adjustable at any time."

"That's true, but this is a massive project. With my current mental force, I can't control it yet; I need to at least reach the God-level realm." At this point, Tang San laughed, "You're right, I don't need to be too ambitious. I'll take it slow. I have plenty of time, and with the Blue Silver Network, once there are more 'users' in the future, I can naturally use the mental force they dissipate while active in the Starry Sky World to help me control it."

Iliex nodded, smiling, "Exactly, that's the kind of good mindset you need. Anyway, with your Life force, even if you don't become a god, you can live for a very long time. After condensing the three great cores, you won't have to worry about lifespan at all."

"Besides that, I also need to cultivate more stillness of mind to prevent myself from being influenced by the three-headed, six-armed greed, anger, and ignorance. This thing really makes me a bit anxious." Tang San agreed with Iliex's statement, but "greed, anger, and ignorance" were his true trials. If he wasn't careful, he would one day sink into them, unable to extricate himself...

Three days later, the date arrived at the first of next month.

The Heaven Dou Empire's imperial succession ceremony officially began!

To demonstrate the Empire's prestige and the royal family's confidence, Emperor Xue Ye decided to hold the succession ceremony in the spacious square outside the Imperial Palace's grand hall in Heaven Dou City.

All residents within Heaven Dou City could attend and observe!

Even the Tian Dou News, Wuhun News Agency, and other private news agencies could take photos and videos to record this moment and spread it, announcing to the World: The Heaven Dou Empire has a new Emperor!

Xue Qinghe, at this moment, smoothed his neat hair and slowly walked onto the high platform.

Under the gaze of all, he knelt on one knee before Emperor Xue Ye, his head bowed low.

At this moment, everyone fell silent.

"Xue Qinghe, are you willing to dedicate all your passion and energy to Heaven Dou?" The gray-haired Emperor Xue Ye, with a benevolent and serious expression, took a crown inlaid with an egg-sized gem from a tray held by an attendant and asked Xue Qinghe.

"I will dedicate everything to Heaven Dou, including my Life!" Xue Qinghe raised his face, looking at Emperor Xue Ye... and the crown in his hand.

This moment!

She had waited for a very long time!

But even in such a situation, she had to be even calmer. Yet she also knew that she could not look into Emperor Xue Ye's eyes; she was merely a disguised person, not the true Xue Qinghe, not his son.

Emperor Xue Ye naturally noticed Xue Qinghe's gaze, which was not directed at him, but at the crown in his hand.

How to put it?

A little disappointed.

However, Emperor Xue Ye still slowly placed the crown on Xue Qinghe's head and inwardly excused her behavior: he himself, back then, had also kept his gaze fixed on the crown, filled with boundless pride... He thought Qinghe must be the same.

"From today onwards, you are the new Emperor of the Heaven Dou Empire!"

As soon as his voice fell, cheers erupted from below.

The residents witnessing this scene spontaneously shouted—

"Emperor Qinghe!"

"Emperor Qinghe!!"

"Emperor Qinghe!!!"

The loud and fervent voices uplifted everyone's spirits.

The waving white hands were like a vast ocean, creating ripples, a grand spectacle that no one present had ever witnessed, extremely magnificent.

Xue Qinghe looked at that scene, and a sense of pride also rose within her. She thought, "Woman far away in the Spirit Hall, do you see? I succeeded!"

Bibi Dong indeed witnessed this scene through a Sub-Mother Soul Guidance Photography Ball, and a barely perceptible but heartfelt smile appeared at the corner of her mouth, though she said aloud, "It's just child's play."

And on site, after Xue Qinghe came back to her senses, she looked at the cheering crowd below her, and another thought arose in her mind: "If I were to reveal my identity now, would they still cheer for me?"

No one could answer this question in her heart, but she herself had an answer.

No.

She had no Xue family bloodline; she was just an outsider. In terms of righteousness, no one would understand her, unless she became a god, subdued all who defied her in the World, and then waited for time to pass, for the World to forget her past...

Meanwhile, on the other side, Xue Beng looked at Xue Qinghe's spirited appearance, his eyes filled with jealousy. He gritted his teeth and said, "That should be my honor!"

Xue Xing sighed, saying, "Everything has settled. You should think about how you're going to live from now on. With Emperor Qinghe's current attitude, he's not very friendly towards hereditary nobles."

"Uncle, didn't you say before that we at least share the same bloodline with him?" Xue Beng was a bit confused.

"Yes, precisely because we share the same blood, we must set an example," Xue Xing said faintly. "Your father and I are of the same generation; he won't do anything to me. But you, as a prince, are different. To uproot those hereditary nobles, he must make you change your image as a profligate..."

"Do I no longer need to pretend?" Xue Beng considered this option, thinking it was acceptable. After all, Xue Qinghe had already ascended, and he shouldn't be wary of him revealing his talent anymore. Just as his uncle said, everything had already settled.

"No, what I mean is, he might not give you a privileged Life. If you want to enjoy Life like me, Uncle, you'll probably have to work hard and handle affairs like those officials," Xue Xing said blandly. "That's what I meant by 'setting an example.' Who told you you're his biological brother?"

Xue Beng: "...". Suddenly, he wished he really was a profligate, and a profligate of the same generation as his uncle... If Xue Qinghe wanted to set an example, what did that have to do with him?

"I think we can still contend with Xue Qinghe," Xue Beng suddenly said. "Didn't Poison Douluo say that Imperial Father was poisoned?"

"Don't even think about it. There's no chance. After all, that poison is colorless and odorless; only Poison Douluo can detect it. No one else can," Xue Xing said, not wanting to make things worse.

When the poisoner cannot be found for a long time, the person who first discovers the poisoning is often the most suspicious.

Not to mention, Dugu Bo's title is "Poison"...

355: The Alliance of Travelers Appears

“I didn't expect Xue Qinghe to become the Great Emperor of Heaven Dou. This plot has completely gone awry.”

Among the crowd watching Xue Qinghe's enthronement, a handsome young man quietly walked away, shaking his head and sighing, “Moreover, the housing prices in Heaven Dou City are actually so high. This is truly an eye-opener.”

This person was named Feng Ming, a Transcendents' Alliance. When he was in White Cloud City, his elder brother Feng Lie had some conflicts with Tang San and Huo Wu, but Tang San didn't take it to heart afterwards.

But others did take it to heart.

The City Lord of White Cloud City and the Branch Master of Spirit Hall, after learning that Feng Lie of the Feng family had offended the Spirit Hall Saint Child, united and made things difficult for the Feng family everywhere.

Firstly, the Feng family was already quite arrogant and domineering in the local area, especially Feng Lie, the eldest young master of the Feng family, who had a very bad reputation.

Secondly, among the Feng family's industries, one involved pirating the life spirit tools that Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company and Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School had registered patents for with Spirit Hall, so they were in the wrong first.

Originally, Spirit Hall in White Cloud City had turned a blind eye, as everyone had profits to gain.

But who told Feng Lie to offend the Spirit Hall Saint Child?

Although Tang San might not even remember such an incident, the local Spirit Hall Branch Master and the White Cloud City Lord dared not take any chances and became stricter in their management of the Feng family.

For a time, the Feng family's industries suffered a considerable impact, to the point that they had been operating at a loss for half a year.

Out of necessity, the Feng family's patriarch could only lead all family members to relocate, preparing to develop in Heaven Dou City—small cities couldn't make big money. Only by seeking development in big cities could they hope to rise quickly.

And the Blue Feather Chicken Spirit possessed by the direct descendants of the Feng family had an advantage in discerning the quality of grains, and by cooperating with grain and fruit merchants in Heaven Dou City, they managed to gain a foothold.

It was just a pity that the money they earned this year wasn't even enough to buy a small manor in Heaven Dou City.

And the housing prices in Heaven Dou City were rising every year.

“There’s no difference between transmigrating and not transmigrating, and I even lost my phone and computer.” Feng Ming, coming back to his senses, looked back at Xue Qinghe, who was swearing to the World that he would dedicate his life to Heaven Dou, then continued to squeeze out of the crowd, arriving at an outdoor public seating area, pulling out a chair, and plunking down.

“Is it over there?” The person opposite put down the Sprite in his hand, his expression calm.

“No, I left early. I don’t like that lively atmosphere.” Feng Ming, hands in his pockets, stared at the Sprite on the table and asked, “Mi Xue isn’t planning to join our Transcendents’ Alliance?”

“She has Tianshui Academy backing her, so naturally she looks down on our humble organization.” The young man shook his head, “She hasn’t read the Douluo Series, and even thinks that we fellow countrymen are inferior to the natives of this World.”

“Indeed, when fellow countrymen meet, they scheme against you without discussion. If it weren’t for my strength being similar to yours, and my family background being decent enough—one could say well-off in Heaven Dou City, giving me confidence—otherwise, I wouldn’t be with you.” Feng Ming sneered, “What is our goal?”

“Naturally, to defeat Tang San!” the young man said without hesitation.

“Are you having a chuunibyou episode? This isn’t the World of those extremely satisfying fanfiction novels where we transmigrate. We don’t have an invincible system to help us, and we don’t have a direct conflict with him either.”

Feng Ming looked directly at the other party, “I’ve already passed the stage of being a young hothead. And to be honest, why don’t we just disband the Transcendents’ Alliance? Without my Feng family’s funding and my help, you’re just a common Spirit Master with slightly better cultivation talent. To quickly improve your cultivation, you can only choose to join a certain force on the continent.”

Feng Ming’s Spirit was also a Blue Feather Chicken, but it was an external Beast Spirit, the kind that lays eggs.

Therefore, his cultivation of his Spirit and acquisition of spirit rings were all to give the eggs laid by the Blue Feather Chicken powerful auxiliary abilities: increasing cultivation speed, amplifying attributes, and so on.

And the young man in front of him, named Hawke, was the organizer and leader of the Transcendents’ Alliance, but currently, the alliance only had two people, and Feng Ming didn't really respect the other party.

In terms of raw strength, Feng Ming was indeed not his opponent, but he also had means of self-defense. He had Hidden Weapons hidden all over his body: lime, salt, homemade gunpowder that couldn't explode but would produce a large amount of smoke when ignited (he tried explosive types a few times and almost blew himself up, so he didn't dare to continue experimenting), and so on.

When traversing the martial World, the most important thing is not to adhere to martial ethics.

“Don’t!” Hawke had experienced the effects of Feng Ming’s eggs, so he naturally wouldn’t let him withdraw.

“Then tell me, what’s the point of this Transcendents’ Alliance? You and I both know that people like us are mostly arrogant and don’t submit to anyone. If you want to continue being the leader, you have to show your confidence.” Feng Ming finished speaking, then reminded, “If you want to stir up trouble, you at least need to have combat power similar to Tang San. That guy is also a Transcendents’ Alliance, and I even suspect he has some kind of cheat like a system, otherwise, it wouldn't be so exaggerated.”

In short, without confidence or strength, everything is futile. Feng Ming wanted to honestly make money and develop the Feng family; he didn’t have time to indulge in the other party’s fantasies.

This society had already given him one beating after another, and his adventurous Spirit had gradually faded.

“Alright, then I’ll tell you my confidence.” Hawke hesitated for a moment and said, “My Spirit is a trident, mutated from a fish fork, possessing innate full spirit power and extreme water elemental attributes... Hearing this, what can you think of?”

“The inheritance of Sea God?” Feng Ming seemed to understand something, but he frowned and asked, “Although your Spirit is very similar to the Sea God Trident, you don’t have the Sea God’s Heart, which is the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud. If you go to Sea God Island, will Sea God choose you?”

“Heh heh, I can tell at a glance that you only have a superficial understanding of Sea God’s inheritance.” Hawke became smug, “Do you think the Divinities in the God Realm need us to find the tokens they left in the mortal realm when choosing their successors?”

“As long as one has enough talent and is noticed, they can be chosen by a Divinity!”

“The talent of my Spirit completely overlaps with the position of Sea God, and Sea God Island is the place of inheritance left by Sea God. As long as I go there, I will definitely be noticed by the Sea God himself in the God Realm.”

“In the original work’s Seagod Nine Trials, the Eighth Trial required Tang San to cultivate both his Spirits to the nine-ring level, gather all Spirit Bones, resurrect the accompanying examiner, and kill the Deep Sea Demon Whale King... But in reality, this Eighth Trial very likely also included one more: retrieving the Sea God’s Heart. It’s just that Tang San had already obtained the Sea God’s Heart before accepting the Divinity Trial, so it wasn’t counted within the Eighth Trial.”

“It’s just that the Sea God’s Heart was shattered later and needed to be reforged before truly undergoing the Ninth Trial.”

Feng Ming understood the other party’s plan and asked, “So, you are confident in obtaining the Seagod Nine Trials and becoming Sea God?”

“That’s right.” Hawke said proudly, “There’s no rush to obtain the Sea God’s Heart. Currently, I need to improve my strength. After all, going to Sea God Island isn’t as simple as just finding any ship. The sea area around Sea God Island also has the Devil Spirit Great White Shark tribe. The original Tang San was safe because he had the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud to hide his figure. We don’t have that option; we at least need to reach the Spirit Saint level of strength before we can depart.”

“At that time, I can take you and your family to Sea God Island!”

“As long as you complete Sea God’s assessment, you can receive rewards. Sea God is much more generous than Angel God, Rakshasa God, and the like, and can greatly increase your cultivation.”

“Moreover, as long as I allow it, you can also leave Sea God Island... And you don’t have to worry that I will restrict you with Divinity Trials after becoming a God, because I also hope you can become a God. The God Kings in the God Realm are not easy to deal with.”

Feng Ming looked deeply at Hawke and said, “So that’s your plan. You want to gather a group of Transcendents’ Alliance to help you gain a firm foothold in the God Realm.”

Hawke was noncommittal: “At least, compared to these local natives, our Transcendents’ Alliance have similar values, don’t we?”

“That’s true.” Feng Ming agreed wholeheartedly, “Then the cooperation continues, and we need to recruit more like-minded Transcendents’ Alliance. What do you think of Wang Chen?”

“Qian Renxue’s sycophant...”

Hawke had always disdained such individuals who were infatuated with beauty after transmigrating. “...The way he fawns over Qian Renxue, I even feel like he’s been tamed. He might sell us out, so it’s better not to contact him.”

“What about Xu Xing?” Feng Ming proposed another person.

“During this period, I went to Star Luo Empire and received news that due to his Spirit, the entire Star Crown Sect was ostracized by the imperial family. He has now gone to the coastal area, probably to develop resources from the sea.” Hawke didn’t know that Xu Xing had already gone to sea, but he was quite wary of Xu Xing himself.

That guy's strength was not bad, especially his Star Crown Domain and the seemingly boastful "Zhou Tian Xing Dou Great Array." They were indeed very powerful, even bizarre, and he wasn't confident he could completely subdue him.

If Xu Xing joined, he would probably "usurp the host" and take the leading position.

Feng Ming nodded, sharing Hawke's view, and also didn't really want someone like Xu Xing, who was a bit too powerful, to join: "What about Mu Tian?"

"He's from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, but there's been no news of him for the past two or three years, as if he vanished into thin air." Hawke was also very puzzled by this, suspecting that the other party might have gone somewhere to cultivate in seclusion, but he dared not casually investigate the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's ancestral land, lest he be mistaken for a spy.

"What about Tang San?" Feng Ming asked again.

"Do I dare?" Hawke glared at the other party. His Transcendents' Alliance was established under the banner of "anti-San." Going to find Tang San wouldn't be like a lamb entering a tiger's den?

"Then our Transcendents' Alliance is truly shabby; there are only two of us." Feng Ming complained, "Speaking of which, there are a bit too many Transcendents' Alliance in this World. What do you think is the reason?"

"God knows." Hawke said carelessly, "Anyway, it's not something we can consider right now. Even if we become Gods in the future, we won't be able to reach it. Let's focus on the present and set a small goal for ourselves: becoming Gods."

"I think we should talk about something more practical, such as: how to make money and how to recruit people." Feng Ming felt that the goal of becoming a God was too distant and that they needed to focus on current accumulation first. "I think the recruitment criteria can be relaxed a bit; some natives can also be included, such as Oscar, Dai Mubai, and Ma Hongjun. Although these three all have a weakness for lust, their talents are quite good.”

“Shrek Academy is indeed a good place to find hidden talents.” Compared to the three people Feng Ming proposed, Hawke considered the talents within the entire Shrek Academy.

Speaking of which, their Transcendents’ Alliance was indeed quite humble.

“By the way, I’m almost at level fifty in cultivation. Don’t you have a Fire Ganoderma at home? How about selling it to me?” Hawke rubbed his hands, his face beaming with smiles.

“Isn’t your Spirit of the extreme water attribute?” Feng Ming narrowed his eyes.

“It’s not for direct consumption. I got a medicinal bath formula that can convert the fire attribute in spiritual herbs into the water attribute.” Hawke explained with a chuckle.

“Then...”

“Fire Ganoderma? How many years old?”

Feng Ming’s words were cut off by a loud voice.

The two turned their heads and saw a young man with a dignified appearance walk up to them in two steps and introduce himself: “My name is Tang Luoya, born in Clear Sky Sect. I hope you will sell the Fire Ganoderma to me.”

Feng Ming: “.....”

Hawke: “.....”

356: The Po clan took refuge in Xueqinghe

After Emperor Xue Ye officially abdicated, Xue Qinghe did not immediately begin drastic reforms as other nobles had imagined. This also made the original nobles breathe a sigh of relief, feeling that Xue Qinghe understood what was right and wrong and realized that they were the foundation of the Empire.

However, contrary to their thoughts, Xue Qinghe had not given up on the idea of clearing them out. She was simply contemplating another issue: how to safely withdraw from the throne.

Only she herself knew that she could not remain as Emperor indefinitely. She had to return to Spirit City to accept the inheritance of the Angel God and spread the glory of the Angel God across the Continent once more.

But this position could not be easily abandoned. Ruling the Heaven Dou Empire was equivalent to ruling nearly half of the Douluo Continent. The remaining areas, apart from the Star Luo Empire, were unexplored by humans.

"If there was a way for me to regain my female form and continue to lead the Heaven Dou Empire, that would be perfect," Qian Renxue pondered this possibility, and finally discovered that there truly was one—

After Bibi Dong becomes a God, she will inevitably transcend mortality. At that time, she can help "enlighten" her, allowing her to "transform back" to her original appearance, and "evolve" the swan into a Seraphim.

Swans and Seraphim also share similarities.

At that time, if Tang San were to promote it, it would surely convince the people of the entire Continent. After all, Tang San, the Martial Soul Theory Master, is an authority!

It's just,

Will Bibi Dong cooperate?

Will Tang San be willing to stand up and speak for her?

Snake Lance Douluo, Porcupinefish Douluo, and Wang Chen had varying reactions upon learning of Qian Renxue's idea.

Snake Lance Douluo thought it was quite good, as it would allow Qian Renxue to legitimately serve as the Emperor of the Heaven Dou Empire while restoring her original appearance in a relatively reasonable manner.

Porcupinefish Douluo believed that getting Bibi Dong to cooperate would be a difficult point.

Wang Chen's suggestion was that Qian Renxue should abandon the throne of the Heaven Dou Empire and return to Spirit Hall to inherit the Angel God Position.

But Qian Renxue flatly refused. After all, before becoming a God, she had to further prove herself to Bibi Dong, and Tang San, that guy was also her target.

Logically, she admired knowledgeable and powerful talents. She wanted to conquer Tang San's heart and make him serve her.

Emotionally, Bibi Dong, as a mother, showed no maternal affection. She didn't know how she had offended her. Now that Tang San was working under her, she had to snatch him away! This would be her revenge on Bibi Dong!

Do these things after becoming a God?

That would be to use powerful force to subdue Bibi Dong and Tang San, failing to truly win them over.

She, Qian Renxue, was a perfectionist.

Wang Chen was helpless and said nothing more. Anyway, given the current situation, Tang San would not defect to the Clear Sky Sect, and Qian Renxue would not be in mortal danger. It was better for him to simply obey.

"Tell me, what other ideas do you have?" Qian Renxue asked, "How can I restore my original appearance without abandoning the Heaven Dou throne?"

Snake Lance Douluo and Porcupinefish Douluo exchanged glances, remaining silent.

If it were about fighting, it would be easy to say, but when it came to coming up with ideas, they had nothing. After all, in the past, when they encountered problems, they solved them with their fists. Now, suddenly, they were asked to use their brains... It wasn't that their brains weren't quick, but they had never encountered such things before, and for a moment, they didn't know which direction to think in.

"Is there no other way?" Qian Renxue frowned tightly, looking at Wang Chen: "What about you? You're usually quite clever, do you have any bad ideas?"

..... Wang Chen was speechless. You've already called it a bad idea, should he say it or not?

Also, he really didn't know what to do—

If spirit tool cameras, spirit tool camcorders, and the new types of spirit tools that transmit information quickly, which have appeared in recent years, had not been invented, there would have been many ways. After all, the right to speak was in the hands of people like them. No matter what others said, it would be useless. Anyway, their very existence represented "truth."

But now?

Even the slightest disturbance would cause countless people to want to investigate the truth and create big news.

Especially since most private newspapers were backed by powerful families and Sects. As long as a major power intentionally pushed it, even a trivial piece of news could spread like wildfire.

This was indeed difficult to handle……

"No way either?" Qian Renxue had nothing to be disappointed about, after all, in her eyes, Wang Chen's petty cleverness couldn't compare to Tang San's great wisdom. His methods were all relatively short-sighted, not long-term, and even highly likely to backfire.

Wang Chen lowered his head and said, "I still think it's better for the Young Master to return to Spirit City and accept the inheritance of the Angel God."

"There's no hurry for this matter." Qian Renxue's mindset at this moment was like a rich second-generation heir pursuing dreams outside, wanting to have more fun for a while. Even if problems arose, she had a fallback: returning home to undergo the God Test and inherit the God Position—as for her family's arrangements (Qian Daoliu's wish for his granddaughter to become a God), her current mindset was also like those rich second-generation heirs, not really wanting to comply.

"Since that's the case, Young Master, why not first become a good Emperor of the Heaven Dou Empire? It can also be seen as preparation for taking over power from Bibi Dong in the future," Snake Lance Douluo offered his suggestion.

"For now, this is the only way," Qian Renxue sighed, her eyes gradually sharpening. "Then, from now on, Emperor Xue Ye no longer needs to live. I don't want an Emperor Emeritus standing over my head."

Porcupinefish Douluo's eyes flickered with a cold light as he asked, "Should we increase the dosage?"

"No, that's too suspicious," Qian Renxue shook her head, stating her thoughts, "I'll handle this myself. The Breaking Clan has already prepared to pledge allegiance to me·····"

The members of the Breaking Clan were all relatively aloof, or rather, straightforward.

Even though Tang San published "analysis of the self-positioning of soul masters," and many people approached them, their proud nature still led them to choose independence.

For this reason, other families and Sects also chose not to be close to them, and even the city lord of the town where the Breaking Clan was located began to deliberately make things difficult for them, causing their lives to become increasingly difficult.

After persisting for several years, and being too embarrassed to ask the other three clans for help, they could only finally choose to visit Xue Qinghe, who always made time to see them every year... Thus, on the surface, their Breaking Clan could also declare to the outside world that they were moved by Emperor Qinghe's sincerity.

However, the patriarch of the Breaking Clan also had a condition: he hoped that she would find an opportunity to introduce him to Tang San.

Meeting Tang San was actually very easy; just go to Spirit City.

It's just that Yang Wudi has no good feelings for Spirit Hall. Even though the previous Supreme Pontiff is dead and the current Supreme Pontiff has shown sincerity, that pain is ultimately unforgettable·····

As for why he wanted to find Tang San?

Spirit Hall had already provided evidence that his excellent disciple from the Breaking Clan, Yang Long, had died at the hands of Blood Sword Norman, and Blood Sword Norman had already been killed by the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team before the Continental Elite Tournament, with Tang San leading the team.

Therefore, he wanted to personally express his gratitude and, by the way, ask about the specific reasons—

Yang Long's death at the hands of Blood Sword Norman must have had other hidden reasons. Yang Wei, who went out to search for news of Yang Long from the clan, only brought back the news that Yang Long had been killed, but Yang Wudi clearly felt that he was hiding something.

He had injuries on his body, most likely from being taught a lesson by someone, but he said nothing at all……

To save Yang Wei's face, Yang Wudi didn't ask further, after all, this was the only Spirit King in the clan, but a bit of anger ultimately arose—

After all, when Blood Sword Norman was first discovered by Spirit Hall, his strength was merely that of a Spirit Grandmaster. Yang Long, who had been trained by him, although young, even in an environment like a forest, which was not suitable for spear-type Spirits to perform, could not have been successfully ambushed by a mere Spirit Grandmaster.

One must know, Yang Long was once the future of his Breaking Clan!

Although nearly ten years had passed, if possible, he still hoped to find the truth, after all, Yang Long was his own grandson……

357: The fate of avalanche

Chapter 357: The Fate of Xue Beng

"Grandmaster Yang Wudi."

Xue Qinghe arrived at a manor in Heaven Dou City, which was the new clan territory she had arranged for the Breaking Clan.

After Yang Wudi chose to pledge allegiance to Xue Qinghe, Tai Tan had come to find him, feeling quite frustrated that Yang Wudi wasn't living up to his potential, but ultimately, he had no choice and left dejectedly.

The Speed Clan joined the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, and Tai Tan had also gone to find them, even making arrogant remarks, only to be taught a lesson.

This time, he learned his lesson.

After all, in terms of combat power, he couldn't defeat Yang Wudi, and if he alienated him again, their relationship would truly break.

Moreover, pledging allegiance to Xue Qinghe was openly supporting the Heaven Dou Empire, and the Strength Clan also lived within the Heaven Dou Empire's borders, so there was nothing really wrong with it.

Seeing Tai Tan and Yang Wudi emerge from the manor's gate together, Xue Qinghe immediately went to greet them, without any imperial airs, and smiled, "Grandmaster Yang Wudi and Grandmaster Tai Tan's demeanor remains as impressive as ever."

"Greetings, Emperor Qinghe!" Tai Tan cupped his fists, then said he had something to attend to and quickly left, clearly not wanting too much interaction with Xue Qinghe.

"I hope Your Majesty doesn't mind; Tai Tan has a rather stubborn temper." Yang Wudi looked at Tai Tan's receding back, sighed inwardly, explained to Xue Qinghe, and then said, "Unlike my Breaking Clan, the members of the Strength Clan are all skilled in blacksmithing and live quite well within Heaven Dou City. Furthermore, he is a Spirit Douluo, so major and minor powers all show him some respect."

"Also, he's been sulking all these years. The Speed Clan joined the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, and his good friend Lou Gao from Gengxin City went to Spirit City and joined Spirit Hall..."

Xue Qinghe remarked with emotion, "Everyone has their own aspirations; it's better not to force them. Grandmaster Tai Tan is simply not as open-minded as Grandmaster Yang Wudi."

"I had no choice either." Yang Wudi gave a bitter smile. If it weren't for the local city lord constantly causing trouble, he wouldn't have accepted Xue Qinghe's kind offer. However, since he had now chosen to pledge allegiance to Xue Qinghe, he could only serve him wholeheartedly and diligently.

As a subject, one must be loyal.

"Your Majesty, what brings you here this time?" After inviting Xue Qinghe into the manor, Yang Wudi offered him the main seat, served him tea, and got straight to the point, "As you know, I'm not very good with polite pleasantries."

"Not at all, Grandmaster Yang Wudi's straightforward nature is something many envy." Xue Qinghe's words were not merely praise; they indeed carried a hint of envy.

Although the Breaking Clan hadn't been doing well before pledging allegiance to him, Yang Wudi was indeed a man who acted as he pleased, much freer than he, a pretender.

"Next, I'll get to the point." Seeing Yang Wudi casually wave his hand, covering his face, Xue Qinghe's expression became slightly serious, "I heard that Grandmaster Yang Wudi is skilled in medicine?"

"Just a common interest." Yang Wudi remained calm, not understanding why Xue Qinghe would ask this. Was someone in the imperial family seriously ill or suffering from a severe disease? Or did this young Emperor want to use medicine to achieve some unknown goal?

Yang Wudi felt it should be the latter.

Although Xue Qinghe had an excellent reputation before ascending the throne, even being known for not being close to women and having no discernible flaws, any potential negative points would disappear in a short time. However, it was precisely the lack of any flaws that made him seem strange.

One should know that even the theoretical Grandmaster of Spirit cultivation had many scandals circulating in secret, which were even still talked about today.

He heard that this Emperor wanted to implement imperial examinations, but the hereditary nobles were obstructing it and even resisting the research and development of spirit tools... Could he be planning to poison all those people?

That would certainly be a permanent solution, but wouldn't the methods be a bit too cruel?

Moreover, no matter how little Yang Wudi understood about managing an Empire, he knew that if all those people died at once, it would definitely lead to chaos.

Emperor Qinghe wouldn't be so reckless, would he?

"Grandmaster Yang Wudi, are you able to concoct a hallucinogenic drug?" Xue Qinghe asked.

"Yes." Yang Wudi nodded, a sigh of relief escaping him. He thought to himself, "It seems it's the latter. He wants to deal with those hereditary nobles, but slowly, giving him time to cultivate his own people, and allowing those nobles to make mistakes while hallucinating. It's not a bad plan."

Moreover, from this moment on, he, and the Breaking Clan, were truly on Xue Qinghe's side. In the future, even if the other four clans were to become enemies with Xue Qinghe, he would have to show no mercy.

The reason?

It had nothing to do with right or wrong.

Each served his own master.

"Then I thank Grandmaster Yang Wudi."

Xue Qinghe smiled, chatted with Yang Wudi for a few moments, then rose and left. Three days later, he appointed Yang Wudi as the Grand Knight Commander of the Royal Knight Corps, a position comparable to the Empire's Protector Marshal.

Smiles appeared on the faces of Yang Wudi and the members of the Breaking Clan...

...

"Damn it!"

Xue Beng returned to his princely manor, grabbed the teacup offered by a maid, and gulped down the tea inside, cursing, "That damned Xue Qinghe, making me learn so many things! And Father Emperor keeps coming to check on me from time to time, how annoying!"

"Little Prince, don't be angry. Your Father Emperor is blind. Don't be angry. How about this maiden dances for you?" The maid's eyes were full of affection, her slender fingers cupping Xue Beng's chin, her breath like orchids, slowly guiding his thoughts and leading him towards the backyard, where many beautiful maids were already waiting.

Seeing Xue Beng arrive, they immediately put on joyful smiles, shed their clothes, leaving only thin, sheer veils, tempting Xue Beng and pulling him along for joyful dancing.

"You're still the best." Xue Beng was in a daze, his breathing growing more and more rapid, already beyond his control. He lunged forward, but coincidentally, the abdicated Emperor Xue Ye happened to arrive at Xue Beng's residence...

...

"Father Emperor, that was an accident just now, do you believe me?" Facing Xue Ye, Xue Beng no longer had his previous vigor. He was like a shriveled candle, head bowed, speaking only in a timid, hesitant manner.

"Do you think I believe you?" Xue Ye snorted coldly, lecturing him, "Your Imperial Brother asked you to study, but what did you do? You worked for three days and rested for two, and after returning to your residence, you held an uninhibited gathering. Do you do this every day?"

"It was truly an accident." Xue Beng wanted to explain, but Xue Ye glared at him, immediately scaring him into silence. His resentment towards his Father Emperor, who favored Xue Qinghe, also deepened.

Besides, as a prince and a royal, what was wrong with playing with women, especially his own maids?

He just wanted to carry on the Xue family line!

"Hmph!" Xue Ye saw him constantly bowing his head and clenching his fists, and knew without a doubt that he was resenting him. He couldn't help but let out a cold snort and said, "From now on, I won't bother with you, but I hope you remember your status. Don't disgrace our imperial family, and don't tarnish your Imperial Brother's reputation!"

With that, Emperor Xue Ye rose and left, not wanting to stay there any longer, but he didn't notice Xue Beng's bloodshot eyes: "Everything is good about Xue Qinghe, right?"

Thereafter, the conflict between Xue Ye and Xue Beng grew day by day...

358: Hawke and Tang Laoya (Part 1): Worrying about money

Compared to the undercurrents in the Heaven Dou Empire, Spirit Hall continued to develop peacefully. Upon receiving news of “Xue Qinghe’s succession” and “Xue Qinghe conquering the Breaking Clan,” Bibi Dong merely sent him a message to “manage the Heaven Dou Empire well,” and there was no further communication, adhering to one principle: delay.

The development of Spirit City also became increasingly rapid, with more and more people migrating here, and various novel everyday spirit tools emerged endlessly.

Correspondingly, the Blue Silver Network gradually opened up, but for now, only active Spirit Hall personnel could use it. Other ordinary residents could only communicate using spirit tools developed in recent years, such as spirit tool voice communicators and spirit tool dialogue machines.

“Is this Spirit City? It really has a modern feel.” After entering from the Economic Capital’s entrance, Tang Luoya looked at the square houses and the towering buildings, especially the reflective glass, which gave him the illusion of returning to modern times.

Especially the spirit tool steam locomotives in this city, which resembled cars, and surprisingly ran on water. There was even a water refilling station along one of the roads.

Because the spirit tool steam locomotive adopted the principle of a steam engine, propelled by steam, spirit power in this type of locomotive only needed to be responsible for heating, not for driving the internal mechanisms to do work.

One full replenishment of spirit power could allow a steam locomotive to travel for about three months, and one full tank of water could allow the steam to propel the locomotive for a thousand miles.

The cost-effectiveness was extremely high!

“spirit power is the primary productive force?” Hawke, who was beside Tang Luoya, was also visiting Spirit City for the first time. Seeing the scene here, he couldn’t help but murmur, “Do you really want to find Tang San? He’s not one of us!”

These people who transmigrated only wanted to gain extraordinary power, to be kings and overlords. If their ideals were grander, it would be to develop their families, or perhaps: to become gods.

But this Tang San was different!

He was into scientific research!

Hawke now suspected that Tang San’s profession in his previous life was vastly different from theirs, and he might even have been involved in scientific research. Such a person was not someone they, who only relied on Spirit talent, could compare to.

Talent, strength, and even status and identity—they couldn’t compare in any aspect. How could they persuade him?

“We have to try. If we don’t look for him, won’t he come looking for us?” Tang Luoya’s idea was simple: since they had discovered the existence of other Transcendents, Tang San must have also noticed. Rather than him secretly making a move against them later, it was better to go directly to him and probe his situation.

Hawke was speechless: “I think you’re overthinking it. He probably doesn’t care about us at all.”

Tang Luoya, however, shook his head: “Didn’t Soul Emperor Hun Tian not care about Xiao Yan in Battle Through the Heavens? In the end, he died.

Tang San will definitely pay attention to us Transcendents.”

“This is our third-person perspective from reading novels, isn’t it? In reality, it’s like a large corporation seeing small street vendors and thinking they’ll steal their business, so they want to clear them out.” Hawke had a different opinion, believing that they should still develop cautiously. Going before Tang San now would just be playing their part—and then getting eliminated.

But Tang Luoya’s idea didn’t change; he just wanted to meet Tang San. After all, no matter what, in this life, he and Tang San shared the same Clear Sky Sect bloodline and both possessed the Clear Sky Hammer Spirit. He should at least give him some face.

Hawke just wanted to say: If you want to die, don’t drag me along!

Unfortunately, Tang Luoya had also joined the Transcendents' Alliance, and because he was the strongest, having reached a forty-ninth level Spirit Ancestor, Hawke, the nominal leader, could only lead the way.

“Speaking of which, the guards outside the city, after knowing you were from the Clear Sky Sect, just looked at you a few more times and didn’t warn you about anything,” Hawke mentioned, “It seems Spirit Hall is quite open.”

“The Clear Sky Sect merely sealed off the mountain; it’s not like its disciples can’t go out. What’s so strange about that?” Tang Luoya said with a matter-of-fact expression, “It’s just that they can’t move around the continent on a large scale or expand the Sect’s influence. Spirit Hall merely got a head start.”

Hawke stopped talking—

Although what Tang Luoya said made some sense, what was with the inexplicable pride in his tone?

Could he have been some kind of successful person in his previous life?

The two continued forward and arrived outside the walls of Spirit Hall Inner City, which was the original Spirit City.

“This is the true Spirit City!” Hawke looked at the tall walls and the Spirit patterns on them, feeling an ancient and profound aura. He then looked back at the bustling city behind him and sighed, “It’s hard to imagine that such a massive city, and six of them at that, could be built in just two or three years. The productivity of Spirit Masters is truly absurd. If all Spirit Masters on the continent developed spirit tool technology, they could probably explore the World within a century, right?”

Tang Luoya was silent for a moment, then said, “Hmph! It’s just external things!”

“Tch, you just say that. When spirit tool nuclear bombs are developed, even gods will die.” Hawke retorted, stepping forward, but was stopped by the guards at the Inner City gate.

“Spirit Hall Inner City requires a resident ID to enter,” the guard said loudly, his sharp eyes scanning the two of them.

“We wish to visit Grandmaster Tang San in the Inner City. What procedures are required?” Hawke asked politely.

“Go about five hundred meters that way,” the guard pointed in a direction, “turn right there, and you’ll see a Spirit Hall Branch. Go there to apply.”

“Okay, thank you.” Hawke thanked him and led Tang Luoya in the direction the guard indicated. They arrived at the entrance of the Spirit Hall Branch, inquired with the guard outside about which department to go to, then entered the hall, went up to the third floor, and found the corresponding office.

The staff inside, upon learning of their origins, asked them to present proof issued by Spirit Hall, then recorded the relevant information, and told them to leave.

“When can we see Grandmaster Tang San?” Hawke asked.

“Leave your address, and you’ll receive a notification within seven days.” The staff member pulled his hands, and a holographic panel appeared before him, into which he entered the two men’s information.

“Holy cow! Holographic projection!” Hawke’s eyes widened. He couldn’t imagine what level the spirit tool technology inside Spirit Hall had reached, and a chill ran down his spine—

That Tang San definitely cheated!

Tang Luoya, beside him, was also moved, feeling at a loss... This wasn’t what he had imagined. Was this a science fiction World? Forgive him, he had only read Douluo Dalu 1...

“The number of people who want to see His Highness the Saint Son every day is countless. If he met every single one, he wouldn’t have time to cultivate,” the staff member casually swiped away the Blue Silver Mental Network panel, not explaining too much to the two of them, only saying, “During the notification period, do not change your accommodation address, otherwise you won’t receive the message, and you’ll have to come back here again and wait another seven days.”

“So we can see Grandmaster Tang San in seven days?” Hawke asked.

“What are you thinking? Receiving a notification within seven days only invites you to participate in the corresponding assessment. After all, if you don’t have real substance and ask bizarre questions like ‘Can sheep fat enhance physical fitness?’, it not only wastes His Highness the Saint Son’s time, but we will also be punished by our superiors.” The staff member patiently explained, “So, please understand.”

359: Hawke and Tang Laoya (Part 2): In Wuhun City

"It's so difficult just to meet him."

After leaving the Spirit Hall Branch, Tang Luoya furrowed his brows. "With my talent of reaching Spirit Ancestor at seventeen, I actually have to wait seven days. They really look down on people."

"Your talent can't compare to Tang San's. He was a Spirit King at fourteen, and now he might even be a Spirit Emperor," Hawke rolled his eyes. "Also, just because you're from the Clear Sky Sect, they showed you a lot of respect by not directly kicking you out."

"I just feel they don't value the Clear Sky Sect," Tang Luoya snorted. "Besides, in terms of talent, I'm not inferior to Tang San. I haven't even eaten a single Immortal Herb."

"Tang San's strength isn't something that can be achieved just by eating Immortal Herbs," Hawke shook his head, feeling that Tang Luoya had stayed in the Clear Sky Sect for too long and wasn't very smart. Then he said, "Let's go. We'll go back to the hotel and wait for news. By the way, do you have enough money? The prices here are comparable to Heaven Dou City. I don't have much money, and your Clear Sky Sect is poor now. We're still relying on Feng Ming's sponsorship."

A single silver coin can stump a hero!

Tang Luoya's face darkened, and he thought of a bad idea: "Why don't we rob rich merchants? Rob the rich to help the poor."

"That makes a lot of sense, but this is Spirit City. Didn't you see that holographic image just now? Our every move might be recorded. As long as big data checks, they can find our whereabouts." Hawke didn't want to end up in such a situation. In Spirit City, it was better to follow their rules.

In a flash, seven days quietly passed.

The two received a notice to participate in an assessment and, following the map included in the letter, found a building similar to a Douluo arena. They met others who also wanted to see Tang San, and then, led by two staff members, went to a testing room. They sat down according to their assigned seat numbers, and then the invigilators distributed the test papers.

Most of those who wanted to see Tang San wished to discuss Spirit theory with him, and Tang San currently only accepted people with real talent in theoretical aspects.

As for combat power...

Tang San didn't consider it.

After all, Spirit Hall had plenty of Spirit Saints and Spirit Douluo. Their experience was far greater than that of ordinary Spirit Masters, and communicating with them would be more effective.

Of course, if one wanted to see Tang San based on strength, it was also possible: compete with a Spirit Saint-level examiner and gain their approval to enter. Otherwise, studying theory would be easier.

After the exam, Hawke was completely bewildered and had no idea how to write anything: "Why are there no fill-in-the-blank or multiple-choice questions? They're all essay questions!"

How was he supposed to do this?

Also, the first question asked: Whale jelly can improve physical fitness and increase the absorption age limit of spirit rings. Please explain, for a Beast Spirit Master (non-detached type) whose Spirit is a large feline Spirit Beast like a tiger, leopard, or lion, how many years can a 100-gram piece of thousand-year whale jelly and ten thousand year whale jelly respectively increase the age limit for absorbing the second spirit ring? Please state two ranges for each.

How was he supposed to know that?

He only remembered that thousand-year whale jelly seemed to increase the spirit ring age limit a Spirit Master could withstand by a few hundred years, and ten thousand year whale jelly had an even better effect. How could it be precise to the unit of "gram"?

Not to mention, he had to state two specific range values. Wasn't this making things difficult?

However, seeing the other people's "writing as if possessed" movements, Hawke suddenly felt like he was back in his junior and senior high school exams, where he was just as confused.

Tang Luoya wasn't much better. After seventeen years of training in the Clear Sky Sect, he could no longer be considered a modern person. The thing he thought about most was wielding a hammer. How could he pay attention to these things? He couldn't help but scratch his ears and cheeks...

After the exam, the two looked at each other, both feeling they definitely wouldn't pass. So they found an examiner and asked about other methods, and the examiner kindly pointed out a path: challenge a Spirit Saint and gain their approval.

"Do we want to challenge?" Hawke asked Tang Luoya's opinion. "I might be fine, but you're from the Clear Sky Sect. It's possible that Spirit Saint has a grudge against you and will try to kill you."

Tang Luoya glanced at Hawke, who had a playful expression, and didn't bother to respond, but his attitude was clear: he wouldn't do something as foolish as hitting a rock with an egg. This wasn't courage, but seeking death. He wouldn't expect members of a hostile force to empathize with him, and he couldn't possibly join Spirit Hall now.

At least, Tang Chen of the Clear Sky Sect had returned, and he might even inherit the position of Asura God, a being capable of defeating two at once and instantly killing angels and Rakshasa.

"Then, we'll return empty-handed this time, without even meeting Tang San," Hawke's face showed a hint of relief, at least they wouldn't truly have a direct conflict with Tang San. "Let's just consider this a business trip for tourism. We'll bring back some local specialties, and I'm sure Brother Feng Ming will understand afterward."

Tang Luoya: "....." He now seriously suspected that the leader of this Transcendents' Alliance was a clown, and that joining this alliance was a mistake.

But at this moment, there was indeed no way to enter the Inner City. Perhaps he really had to consider bringing back some souvenirs, after all, he hadn't paid Feng Ming for that thousand-year fire ganoderma yet.

It was truly a bit unwilling to come all the way to Spirit City and not even meet Tang San.

"Two young brothers, are you looking for work?"

Just as the two were considering whether to find other ways to break into the Inner City or leave, a man in white walked over and asked, "Soul Guidance Technology City is currently recruiting a large number of technical personnel. Would you like to give it a try?"

Technical personnel?

Hawke and Tang Luoya exchanged glances, both understanding each other's thoughts: they couldn't come for nothing. They would go to Soul Guidance Technology City and see if they could take away some good results.

"Does it pay?" Hawke rubbed his palms, showing curiosity. "My brother and I just arrived here and wanted to see the Inner City, but we didn't pass the assessment."

"That's common," the man seemed accustomed to it. "The Inner City is all Spirit Masters, or people who have lived there before. If we want to live in, our spirit power must at least reach the Spirit Elder level, and this standard might even increase in the future... However, the Outer City is still in the development stage and is expanding. As long as you work hard, it's enough for you to buy a house and get married."

The man was eloquent, and for a moment, the two were almost swayed. Finally, Hawke interrupted him and said, "Can you take us to see the workplace?"

"No problem." The man led the way to a spirit tool steam locomotive similar to a taxi, pulled open the door, and invited the two to get in.

More than half an hour later, the buildings outside the window grew taller and took on a cold, metallic color, with steam occasionally rising from some areas.

This was a characteristic of Soul Guidance Technology City, hence, it was also known as the City of Steam by the locals.

Finally, the spirit tool steam car stopped in front of a huge metal fortress, its roof spewing large amounts of steam. Even without entering, Hawke and Tang Luoya could feel that it was hotter here than in ordinary places.

"We're here, this is it," the driver got out and introduced the place to the two. "The Soul Guidance Technology Factory, a processing plant that produces spirit tools. The monthly salary is one thousand silver coins, working eight hours a day, with one day off. Food and accommodation are also provided. If you get sick or have any other issues, you can ask for leave."

Hawke: "....." Why does this sound so familiar?

Tang Luoya: "....." It seems like in my last life, I just worked, slept, and then transmigrated. I must have died suddenly, right?

360: Reward you with real spirit bones

The Blue Silver Network can inspect everything inside and outside Spirit City, but the immense amount of information is something Tang San cannot fully accept at the moment, so he only investigates under specific circumstances.

He was completely unaware of the arrival of the two transmigrators.

But for him at present, even if he knew, he wouldn't particularly care, after all, transmigrators without any special skills, apart from talent and strength, would still have to work to earn money here.

"Finally, I'm at Level 70."

Perceiving the breakthrough in his spirit power level, Tang San felt completely refreshed, as if something was about to break out of his Blue Silver Emperor.

That was the Blue Silver Domain!

However, Tang San suppressed it, preparing to influence it with the power of Creation when condensing his seventh spirit ring, evolving it into a more fundamental Life Domain, or even adding a hint of Creation.

"Congratulations." At this moment, Hu Liena happened to come over and, seeing Tang San break through his spirit power level in the forging room, couldn't help but feel envious. With the aid of the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne, she could accelerate the efficiency of refining heaven and earth energy. In three years, her cultivation had only reached Level 67, and it would take about another year to break through to Level 70 Spirit Saint.

Of course, this was also related to her not having much time for training normally, and mostly dealing with affairs.

Xie Yue and Yan's current spirit power levels are only 63 and 62, respectively.

At the Spirit Emperor level, each level requires more spirit power. Without additional opportunities, under normal circumstances, the Golden Generation would need about ten years to break through to Spirit Saint.

Without the help of the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne, even with Bibi Dong's special care, Hu Liena would at most reach the level of a quasi-Spirit Douluo within ten years.

And now, Hu Liena has the potential to become a Titled Douluo within ten years.

"This cultivation speed is decent, right?" Tang San smiled faintly and asked, "Are you looking for me for something? The second Soul Imprint Throne still needs some time to be completed, and this one can't be given to you either."

"It's not that." Hu Liena shook her head, then stated her purpose, "Didn't you create a Body Forging Art? Teacher said that if I want to learn it, I need to come and ask you."

Bibi Dong was quite rule-abiding, even though she had already given her the Body Forging Art.....

With a thought, Tang San agreed to Hu Liena's request to cultivate the Body Forging Art, and said, "Tell the Supreme Pontiff that the cultivation rights for the Body Forging Art can be opened to all Spirit Hall personnel, but it requires 功劳 (merit) for exchange, or direct purchase with money. You can set the specific amount yourselves."

As for what would happen if others learned it?

Tang San didn't care.

Anyway, he and the others had something better, and if others could deduce other characteristics, he could also draw inferences and continue to innovate.

One person's wisdom cannot compare to the inspiration of ten thousand people.

"You're too careless with your self-created Spirit Abilities, aren't you?" Hu Liena was a little speechless. "Forget it, I'll set the price higher and discuss it with the Supreme Pontiff. If anyone exchanges for it in the future, the corresponding merit points and gold coins will be transferred to your account, similar to the revenue-sharing model when you used to publish papers and books for sale."

"Then thank you." Tang San smiled, stretched, picked up the unfinished Soul Imprint Throne in front of him, casually placed it aside, and prepared to wash up before going to obtain his seventh spirit ring.

"You're just going to leave this Soul Imprint Throne lying around?" Hu Liena's eyelids twitched. Anyone who didn't know would think it was just an ordinary chair frame.

"Do you know how heavy the Soul Imprint Belt hanging at your waist is?" Tang San asked.

"Feels like less than two liang?" Hu Liena grabbed the belt, weighed it in her hand, and said tentatively.

"Two liang? You really dare to imagine. The true weight of this thing is thirty-six thousand jin." Tang San stated a number. "The reason you don't feel it's too heavy is because this semi-divine artifact recognizes you as its master and has formed a connection with your Spirit, just like Tool Spirits, especially those top-tier Tool Spirits. Their weight can reach over one hundred thousand jin, but because they are Spirits, their actual weight is not too heavy for the wielder, at most around a thousand jin."

As Bibi Dong's disciple, Hu Liena naturally knew about this, but she hadn't expected that the Soul Imprint Belt at her waist would also have a similar effect.

A semi-divine artifact, even with the word "semi" added, is still a divine artifact.

"Among those living today, I'm afraid no one's forging technique is higher than yours, right?" Hu Liena sighed with emotion.

"The Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne wasn't successfully forged by me alone; it also included Guang Ling. Without her understanding and combination of soul-tool patterns, I alone couldn't have completed such a large amount of work." After Tang San finished speaking, he left the forging room. Seeing Hu Liena still following behind him, he joked, "What? I'm going to shower. Are you going to shower too?"

Hu Liena's face flushed, and she quickly waved her hand, saying, "No... No, I also take this path to go out... You're really humorous. By the way, do you say that to every pretty girl?"

"No, only to pretty girls I'm more familiar with." Tang San chuckled, but in the end, he first escorted Hu Liena out of the Soul Martial Manor before heading to the bathroom to wash up and soak in the tub.

He had just finished half of his bath when Huo Wu burst in, saying she wanted to conduct research on vital energy and blood.

Helpless, Tang San could only circulate his vital energy and blood, cooperating with Huo Wu, connecting and intertwining with her vital energy and blood, achieving a perfect cycle. He then asked, "Why are you back so early?"

"I missed you."

Huo Wu, already flushed with excitement, became even redder, engaging in a vital energy and blood collision with Tang San, and speaking with "lip language," "Seeing you washing up, I just wanted to reward you... Today, while controlling gravity to manipulate light and fire elements for smelting metals and forging artifacts, my spirit power broke through. Hmm~ it reached Level 68."

"That truly is a double blessing. My spirit power has reached Level 70." Tang San accelerated the circulation frequency of his vital energy and blood, causing his entire skeleton, muscles, and internal organs to tremble, assisting Huo Wu in entering the peak state of vital energy and blood cultivation...

After the two finished washing up, they both walked out of the bathroom door feeling refreshed, only to see Xiao Wu already waiting outside, her eyes filled with resentment and a cold smile on her lips: "Heh heh, you two played all afternoon, didn't you? Huo Wu, I didn't expect you to be so dishonest, actually eating alone. You won't get any tonight."

"That won't do. Besides, doesn't Brother San always take care of you first? Don't be jealous of your little sister." Huo Wu pulled Xiao Wu, coaxing her with valid reasons for a while, before finally appeasing Xiao Wu's non-existent anger. Xiao Wu then revealed that her spirit power had also reached Level 70.

"Brother San, what level has your spirit power reached?" Xiao Wu blinked. "Could it be that you've also reached Level 70, and that's why you found Huo Wu to celebrate?"

"It was Huo Wu who came to find me... cough, I'm also Level 70. It seems our cultivation progress is the same." Tang San took out a wooden box from his storage wristguard, opened it, and revealed a blood-red ginseng as clear as crystal, but its surface was very smooth, without any wrinkles, and it resembled a carrot.

This was precisely the crystal carrot ginseng he had bought from a pharmacy in Spirit City years ago. Over these years, with Tang San continuously injecting vitality from the Blue Silver Emperor, it had already reached the ten-thousand-year level.

However, what surprised Tang San was that this crystal carrot ginseng had not developed sentience. Instead, the leaves at the top had actively bloomed and bore seeds, and according to Wu Lin and Wu Tong, plants like carrot ginseng cannot develop sentience even after reaching one hundred thousand years of age, the reason being unknown...

Tang San, however, speculated that it might be related to its ability to bestow spatial power upon rabbit Spirit Masters... But if that were the case, there would be no need to treat this crystal carrot ginseng like the plants in the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well.

"Here, before condensing your seventh spirit ring, consume it. It can enhance your spatial origin."

"Tonight, I'll reward you with a True Spirit Bone!"

Xiao Wu quickly kissed Tang San's lips, took the crystal carrot ginseng, and put it into her white jade belt. She would consume it later when condensing her spirit ring to achieve the best effect and increase the chance of awakening a spatial Domain...

361: Guang Ling's Sixth Soul Ring

Reference: Wind Roar Beast

Huo Wu wasn't jealous that Xiao Wu had received a ten-thousand-year crystal carrot ginseng from Tang San; after all, she had already obtained the best gift, which was the Spirit Beast that gave her her sixth spirit ring: the Crystal Lotus.

The immense energy contained within it was still within her body, and for her seventh, eighth, and ninth spirit rings, she wouldn't need to hunt Spirit Beasts.

"Alright, you two, stop showing off your affection." Huo Wu pushed the two out of the bathroom doorway and towards the living room, where Guang Ling and Ning Rongrong had already prepared the meal.

Although there were servants, the girls felt that they should cook the meals themselves to create a more familial atmosphere.

However, Gu Yuena was only responsible for eating.

"The big pervert is down." Ning Rongrong giggled, walked over to Huo Wu's side, and glared at Tang San, saying, "Hmph, he bullied Huo Wu for most of the day. It seems I'll have to teach him a good lesson tonight, to help Sister Huo Wu let out some steam."

"You just want to eat my share, don't you?" Huo Wu chuckled, very protective of her husband, and covered her mouth as she laughed, "Also, I'm older than you. Here, besides Xiao Wu, I'm the oldest."

"(∇ ~) Cut~~" Ning Rongrong looked disdainful, "We rank ourselves by order, and you're after me. Besides, you must be very tired today, so don't over-exercise tonight. Let me, your older sister, bear that fatigue for you."

Gu Yuena feigned an innocent look and said softly, "Sister Rongrong, what are you talking about? Why don't I understand a single word?"

"That's because you're a child, so you don't understand. When you grow up, you'll naturally understand."

Although Gu Yuena's identity was currently only known to Tang San and Xiao Wu and hadn't been told to others.

But who was Ning Rongrong?

A little devil!

She wouldn't care about Gu Yuena's age.

Furthermore, Ning Rongrong had seen Gu Yuena's "mature and steady" side, and over the past few years, she had also witnessed her haggling with people while strolling inside and outside Spirit City—she dared to say that if this silver-haired little girl were cut open, she would definitely be pitch black inside.

Anyone who truly believed this girl was innocent would surely be scammed to death!

"Oh~ So that's how it is. Then let's talk about it when I grow up."

Gu Yuena nodded vigorously, continuing to feign her innocent look, but thought to herself:

It seems Ning Rongrong is the real opponent!

She actually has the same temper as me. She's much harder to deal with than straightforward, serious, and direct people like Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and Huo Wu!

However, a mere human trying to contend with me is still a hundred thousand years too early! Just wait and see, I'll suppress and push this human girl down!

Seeing Gu Yuena's innocent appearance, Ning Rongrong felt a bit embarrassed, but she didn't dwell on the topic, as it was "not suitable for children."

When everyone was seated at the dining table and began to eat, Guang Ling said, "Third Brother, my spirit power has reached level fifty-nine. I estimate in another half a year, I can break through to level sixty and become a Spirit Emperor."

"Have you chosen which Spirit Beast you want for your sixth spirit ring?" Tang San asked.

"Of course, I've chosen it." Guang Ling already possessed five attributes: metal, light, lightning, ice, and fire. The last of the five came from his fifth spirit ring, which was a sixty-thousand-year-old Blazing Fire Turtle. It also added a fiery red flame pattern to Guang Ling's Sun Chasing Bow, allowing it to absorb fire elements and evolve.

"The fundamental purpose of the spirit rings I absorb is for my Spirit to evolve. Secondly, it's to control various elements to assist my spirit tool research. Spirit Abilities, on the other hand, have become the least important."

For Guang Ling, the cultivation of his Spirit was to control various elements and, according to spirit tool patterns, perform diverse fusions and fabrications to create arrows with different functions. Spirit Abilities had already become the least important aspect.

"For the sixth element, I plan to choose the wind element."

"Wind, from a realistic perspective, is the movement of air, but as an elemental force, it's somewhat different. Through studying Spirit-guided fans, I've discovered that the energy of the wind element has cutting properties and considerable inclusiveness. It can combine with fire, ice, lightning, and other elements to form greater power, which can help me better integrate and control my own attributes."

"And the Spirit Beast will be the Wind Howler Beast."

The Wind Howler Beast is a powerful Spirit Beast that lives in the Storm Grand Canyon. According to Spirit Hall's data, "Storm Grand Canyon Spirit Beast Record": Its appearance is like a mammoth, covered in grayish-brown armor, incredibly hard, but it moves slowly, often standing in one place. Its four limbs are like roots, deeply embedded in the earth, unmoving and unshakable. It has two nostrils: when it inhales, all beasts are startled; when it exhales, smoke and clouds dissipate.

Through this description, Tang San could confirm that this Spirit Beast definitely possessed powerful wind attributes. Even according to some Spirit Masters who had ventured into the inner reaches of the Storm Grand Canyon, the storms there were created by a hundred-thousand-year-level Wind Howler Beast, and combined with the terrain of the Storm Grand Canyon, even a Super Douluo would find it difficult to resist.

However, regarding the point "its four limbs are like roots, deeply embedded in the earth, unmoving and unshakable," Tang San felt that this type of Spirit Beast not only possessed wind attributes but possibly earth attributes as well.

The Wind Howler Beast was not a plant Spirit Beast; it absolutely could not root itself in the earth like a plant. This should only be a descriptive term. Even if the Wind Howler Beast's claws were very long, they couldn't penetrate the ground too deeply.

And it could blow strong winds through its nostrils, even creating a storm by leveraging the terrain of the Storm Grand Canyon. If it merely hooked its claws into the ground, wouldn't it be overturned by the reactive force of the winds it created?

Yet the relevant description states: deeply embedded in the earth, unmoving and unshakable.

Even if it wasn't an earth attribute, it at least controlled some gravity-related abilities; otherwise, even if the Wind Howler Beast's weight wasn't light, it couldn't remain unharmed in that storm.

The interaction of forces is also an objectively existing phenomenon in this World.

"Earth attribute?" Guang Ling mused, "If the Wind Howler Beast really has an earth attribute, that would be even better. I can choose another attribute later."

"It's not certain yet. I'm just analyzing based on that record and haven't seen a Wind Howler Beast with my own eyes. But this Spirit Beast has another nickname: 'drinking wind, eating dirt.'" Tang San rubbed his chin and slowly said, "Because no other Spirit Beast has ever seen it hunt other Spirit Beasts or eat plants."

While this couldn't completely prove that the Wind Howler Beast had an earth attribute, it did offer some circumstantial evidence.

"Then this Wind Howler Beast is truly miserable," Ning Rongrong began to tease, "Drinking the northwest wind and eating dirt—it's quite an oddity among Spirit Beasts, isn't it?"

Xiao Wu didn't express any opinion, as this creature wasn't a species from the Star Dou Great Forest, so she didn't recognize it at all.

Tang San, however, shook his head: "If it truly relies on eating dirt and drinking wind, and not on other food, then it can be considered a unique variant among Spirit Beasts."

The reason is simple: if the rumors about the Wind Howler Beast are true, it means it can directly draw energy for Life activities and cultivation from wind and earth.

At the very least, after obtaining the spirit ring of this Spirit Beast, Guang Ling's Sun Chasing Bow will definitely gain a passive ability, similar to the previous five attributes, that allows the Spirit to absorb corresponding elemental energy when using a Spirit Ability, thus enabling the Spirit to evolve.

This was crucial for Guang Ling.

362: Lan Yinzi's lively nature

“By the way, Third Brother, you and Xiao Wu Jie have reached the Spirit Saint level, right?” Guang Ling asked tentatively, sensing the fluctuations from Tang San and Xiao Wu.

“Mm.” Tang San nodded, “I’m a quasi-Spirit Saint, and I’m about to try condensing the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset along with my seventh spirit ring. I’ll also experiment with condensing the three corresponding spirit rings.”

The girls, including Gu Yuena and Lan Yinzi, naturally knew about the three major Dantians, the conversion and circulation of essence, qi, and Spirit, and the human body universe cultivation theory. However, the latter two only had a rough idea and didn't know the specifics.

“Condensing something similar to a spirit ring outside these three cores?” Ning Rongrong blinked, “The body’s meridians, blood vessels, and nerves are limited, so we need to seek externally, condensing things similar to spirit rings to carry more energy circulation circuits, to improve the conversion efficiency between essence, qi, and Spirit...”

“As expected of Third Brother, truly a genius idea.”

Huo Wu asked, “Does it have to be done when acquiring the seventh spirit ring?”

“Not necessarily, it’s just that at the moment of condensing a spirit ring, all of one’s extraordinary energy is most active.” Tang San’s eyes flashed with a hint of brilliance, “Don’t worry, I’ll be fine. My First Soul Skill is my confidence.”

No madness, no Life.

Moreover, Tang San had a trump card that ensured he wouldn't get into trouble, so he dared to try this.

“Lan Yinzi, tomorrow I’ll trouble you to lead the way to the Blue Silver Forest.” Tang San began to address this reborn mother by her name.

Lan Yinzi did the same.

After all, when the two met, they didn't address each other, or only used “you” and “I,” which was always a bit awkward. Therefore, Lan Yinzi finally found Tang San herself and had a talk—after all, it couldn't remain awkward forever. It was better to communicate as friends, like they did at Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

“No problem, I’ve also reached level sixty and need to acquire my sixth spirit ring to get the Blue Silver Overlord Spear Spirit Ability.” Lan Yinzi smiled, still obsessed with the Blue Silver Overlord Spear skill.

Transformed Ten-thousand year soul beasts, regardless of their original race, all had the heart of a warrior after transformation.

However, Lan Yinzi’s first five spirit ring skills were quite good, progressing gradually, to add a Blue Silver Overlord Spear skill to her sixth spirit ring... Tang San didn’t quite agree, but since this “new mother” had that idea, it was difficult for him to persuade her.

Therefore, Tang San didn't try to persuade her. Anyway, once his Blue Silver Emperor roots covered the entire Douluo Star, Lan Yinzi’s Blue Silver Emperor could be “grafted” onto his Blue Silver Emperor, making up for the deficiencies in other aspects, serving as an additional guardian and punisher.

It was like in the traditional myths of his previous Life, where immortals and gods had supreme magical power, but were accompanied by highly skilled and powerful protectors and strongmen. Lan Yinzi's situation was similar to this.

After dinner, ignoring Lan Yinzi's resentful gaze and sending her to look after Gu Yuena, Tang San accompanied Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, and Huo Wu into the bedroom to begin their Qi and Blood research on "Secluded Path."

"Why do you look a little envious?" Gu Yuena pulled Lan Yinzi's sleeve and asked with a giggle, "Do you want to have a worldly romance with your son?"

"...I'm not that perverted." Lan Yinzi was a little speechless. This little ancestor really dared to say anything.

But as for Tang San, whether it was maternal affection or if it had somehow changed during this time, she herself couldn't explain or understand.

After all, she kept thinking of reasons like "this body isn't my original body," and perhaps she was only the Blue Silver Emperor in terms of memory and cognition, while her soul was a fusion with that transmigrator, a completely new individual...

"Is that so? I don't think so. Most Spirit Beasts don't have any ethical concepts." Gu Yuena had seen many Spirit Beast groups, especially lion prides. After young male lions driven out of the pride returned to their original pride and defeated their lion king (father), they would include all lionesses (including the one who bore them) in their breeding range.

Although Gu Yuena was now influenced by human moral concepts, she still somewhat understood Lan Yinzi's behavior. Not to mention, this reborn Lan Yinzi, physically speaking, couldn't be considered Tang San's mother at all, but a completely new personality.

Even from her current perspective, if something really happened, this behavior would just be a bit strange.

"But I'm human now." Lan Yinzi stroked Gu Yuena's little head, suddenly realizing that this was the co-lord of Spirit Beasts, and doing so was impolite. Before Gu Yuena could react, she put down her hand, took her hand, and walked towards Gu Yuena's room, saying, "It's so late, it's time to sleep. Tomorrow, I'll be accompanying Tang San to the Blue Silver Forest, so you have to be good then."

Gu Yuena rolled her eyes: "I'm not really a little kid, am I?"

If it were her old self, if Lan Yinzi dared to do that, she would have swallowed her whole!

But now—

She couldn't feel any ill will towards Lan Yinzi's gentle attitude... Was this the maternal love she had never experienced? It just felt a bit strange coming from a "seventeen-year-old girl."

The next day.

Tang San used the Blue Silver Network to take leave from Hu Liena, then left Spirit City with Xiao Wu and Lan Yinzi, heading to the Blue Silver Forest to acquire his seventh spirit ring.

"As my son, your spirit rings could actually all be condensed with the help of the Blue Silver King, but that would consume the Life energy of other Blue Silver Grass..." Lan Yinzi revealed the truth, "Compared to a transformed Ten-thousand year soul beast, besides having human blood, you could also be said to be a transformed Spirit Beast without a Ten-thousand year cultivation origin."

"That's pretty much consistent with my previous speculation about Xiao Wu. A transformed Ten-thousand year soul beast, if it doesn't have a Ten-thousand year cultivation origin, is human." Tang San nodded, "If I can self-condense spirit rings with the Blue Silver King, then other types of Spirit could probably do the same, as long as they think of the corresponding Spirit Beast and they are willing to help... It's just a pity that the useful written materials from the Golden Ancient Tree were all destroyed."

Xiao Wu sighed: "That's really unlucky. If the method still existed, it would definitely reduce a lot of trouble."

“Or perhaps this is a good thing. After all, the specific methods left by the Golden Civilization might not be suitable for the current era. What we research ourselves is what we can use with the most peace of mind.” Tang San unconsciously put his arm around Xiao Wu’s waist, but Lan Yinzi slapped it away and said, “I’m still here. You two behave, or just perform in front of me. One son, one daughter-in-law, it’s perfect for me, as an elder, to guide your movements.”

Xiao Wu’s face turned crimson, and she spat, “You old hag, you really have no shame.”

Lan Yinzi put her hands on her hips and snorted, “You should call me Mom!”

Compared to her dignified demeanor at Soul Martial Manor, Lan Yinzi, when out and about, had let go of her nature and become much livelier. Perhaps only in front of the people she trusted most would she reveal this girlish side of herself.

Guang Ling, Huo Wu, Ning Rongrong, Gu Yuena, and others were not outsiders to Lan Yinzi, but they were never as close as Tang San and Xiao Wu.

Besides, there were still a lot of servants at Soul Martial Manor.

363: Lan Yinzi: Have I been expelled from Lanyincao?

Two days later, Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Lan Yinzi traveled over 2,000 li and arrived at the Blue Silver Forest.

This forest is located in a huge basin, deserted and uninhabited. Most of the trees within it are cyan-blue, and upon closer inspection, they are actually Blue Silver Grass!

Many Blue Silver Grass plants were intertwined, forming a shrub-like appearance, mimicking trees!

“Hiss—”

Tang San took a deep breath, feeling comfortable all over, as if he had returned to his true home. The Blue Silver Grass and Blue Silver King trees before his eyes seemed to be his true family.

“This place is still the same as before, nothing has changed. Perhaps the Blue Silver Grass has grown a bit more vigorously, maybe because I sacrificed myself back then, or perhaps because your Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul materialized, they also received a gift in the unseen world.” Lan Yinzi had also calmed down at this moment, happy to see her people again, but not overly excited, because she had already seen this place for nearly ten thousand years in her “previous life.”

“Emperor! Great Emperor! Have you returned?”

Just then, an excited voice appeared in Tang San and Lan Yinzi’s minds, like a child seeing their parents, running out cheerfully to greet them.

“It’s me.” A smile also appeared on Lan Yinzi’s face, but then the smile froze, because she found that she couldn't transmit sound through mental force.

That’s right!

Her current body was taken over, not the original Blue Silver Emperor. She didn't have the Blue Silver Emperor's bloodline factors. The fact that she could hear the Blue Silver King's mental transmission was only because her mental force was strong, plus her Spirit was the Blue Silver Emperor, nothing more.

So—

The Blue Silver King in this Blue Silver Forest no longer recognized her as the Emperor!

“What’s wrong?” Tang San looked at the Blue Silver Emperor with confusion, who had gone from surprise to astonishment, then to contemplation, then to sudden realization, and finally to calmness, a question mark appearing above his head.

Could it be that something was wrong with this Blue Silver King?

“Nothing, it’s just that I might have been expelled from the Blue Silver Grass registry.” Lan Yinzi said with a melancholic expression.

Tang San: “???”

Xiao Wu was also utterly bewildered.

“Let’s go, I’ll lead you there.” Lan Yinzi didn't explain anything, releasing her Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul and leading the way—although she no longer had the Blue Silver Emperor’s bloodline, the aura emitted by the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul still made the nearby Blue Silver Grass bow down.

Seeing this, Tang San also released his Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul, and the surrounding Blue Silver Grass swayed even more actively, as if cheering, dancing, and supplying their true Emperor!

A complex look appeared in Lan Yinzi's eyes, but more of it was relief. After all, Tang San was her son, and if he could gain the recognition of her people, then she had nothing to be sad about.

The Blue Silver Grass leaves blocking the path actively parted. When encountering uneven ground or small rivers without wooden bridges, the Blue Silver Grass actively extended their leaves, forming Blue Silver carpets and weaving Blue Silver rope bridges for the three to walk across.

"What a dreamlike scene." Xiao Wu stepped on the rope bridge formed by the Blue Silver Grass, exclaiming that this place was like a fairy tale kingdom and would surely provide excellent material for her writing. "Moreover, the Blue Silver Grass here smells very fragrant, and it must taste very good."

Lan Yinzi, who was leading the way at the very front, almost stumbled, thinking, "I almost forgot, this Xiao Wu is a Soft Bones Rabbit who transformed, and she loves to eat Blue Silver Grass. However, after transforming into a human, her taste buds are also like a human's. Dried Blue Silver Grass is not bad for brewing tea, but eating it directly, the bitterness of the grass juice should be hard to swallow, right?"

"By the way, is the juice still bitter after Blue Silver Grass advances to Blue Silver King?"

Ten minutes later, the three arrived before the Blue Silver King.

Compared to other Blue Silver Grass, this particular Blue Silver King wasn't very tall, only about ten meters. Its leaves were wider and thicker than ordinary Blue Silver Grass, and the veins on them were silvery-white, showcasing its extraordinary kingly status.

"My Emperor, you've finally returned, but it seems different now, stronger, and also changed from female to male..."

Listening to the Blue Silver King's transmitted voice, Tang San covered his mouth, while Lan Yinzi's face darkened. She cursed, "Don't be so ridiculous, you little brat!"

The Blue Silver King naturally understood human speech, but was very puzzled by Lan Yinzi's roar, so she asked Tang San, "Great Emperor, is this young girl with the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul your daughter? She looks a bit weak, didn't inherit your bloodline, only inherited your Spirit, just an ordinary human."

Lan Yinzi clenched her fists, veins popping, barely suppressing the urge to pull this thing out.

"What's wrong?" Xiao Wu, without the Blue Silver Emperor bloodline, naturally couldn't understand the Blue Silver King's mental transmission and didn't understand why Lan Yinzi was angry, while Tang San was secretly snickering.

"Ahem, nothing, it's just that the Blue Silver King misunderstood... Wait a moment, I'll connect a trace of my mental force to you, and then you'll be able to understand what the Blue Silver King is saying." Tang San separated a trace of mental force and connected it to Xiao Wu's mental force in her upper dantian. The two were already perfectly blended, so the mental force connection naturally happened smoothly, without any hindrance—

"Blue Silver King, you misunderstood, I am not the Blue Silver Emperor, but the Blue Silver Emperor's descendant..." After Tang San's explanation, the Blue Silver King's mental will had some difficulty understanding. After all, she hadn't reached the cultivation of a Ten-thousand year soul beast. Even if she had prematurely developed human-like intelligence, she couldn't immediately process such a vast amount of information.

However, she understood one thing: the original Blue Silver Emperor had become a true human, and the "Blue Silver Emperor" before her was the descendant born by her Emperor.

"So that's how it is~" A joyous emotion came from the Blue Silver King's mind. "You are the Emperor's descendant, so you are naturally also the Emperor. We Blue Silver Grass are proud of you!”

For the Blue Silver King, as long as the other party was a Blue Silver Emperor and possessed the corresponding bloodline aura, he was her Emperor, and everything about herself and the other Blue Silver Grass had to obey him!

“I came this time with a request.” Tang San stated his purpose, “Help me condense a spirit ring.”

“That’s no problem.” The Blue Silver King readily agreed. “I just don’t know what age of spirit ring you need? I can help you condense a spirit ring that is the limit your current body can withstand, and it can continuously improve with your spirit power level. Your current physical quality... Are you really not a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form? Is this the physical quality a human should have?”

After briefly checking Tang San’s physical quality with her mental force, the Blue Silver King was stunned.

This could already be compared to a Ten-thousand year soul beast of the dragon race, couldn’t it?

“Can’t you condense it?” Tang San frowned tightly.

“No, I am merely a Blue Silver King, and the extent of my influence is only this Blue Silver Forest.” The Blue Silver King sighed, “Condensing a spirit ring also requires energy. Even if all the Blue Silver Grass in this Blue Silver Forest were exhausted, at most, only a spirit ring of nearly a ten-thousand year level could be condensed.”

“Blue Silver Grass are not like other plants; their cultivation is very slow. It’s only recently that the cultivation speed of Blue Silver Grass has increased a bit...”

364: Blue Silver King: Great Emperor! I don't want to practice

What Tang San valued most was the spirit ring’s ability to self-evolve. If he could understand the principle behind it, then his other spirit rings could also evolve as his cultivation improved. By then, even without the aid of divine power, he could acquire nine hundred-thousand-year, or even million-year, spirit rings.

“Great Emperor, actually, if the range could cover the entire Douluo Continent, and all the Blue Silver Grass contributed a little energy, your spirit ring could easily reach over a hundred thousand years.” The Blue Silver King continued, “Your Spirit is the Blue Silver Emperor, and if you could mimic the fluctuations when I helped you condense the spirit ring, you would surely be able to spread the Blue Silver Emperor’s aura across the entire Douluo Continent, allowing all Blue Silver Grass to contribute energy.”

“Let’s not.” As a human, Tang San, in his subjective consciousness, did not consider the Blue Silver King or the Blue Silver Grass as his own kind, but he also felt there was no need to drain the energy of the entire continent’s Blue Silver Grass for a spirit ring of over a hundred thousand years.

Anyway, this spirit ring that was about to condense could evolve!

“Emperor, you are truly benevolent.” The Blue Silver King said with reverence, “Then, next, I will help you condense your seventh spirit ring. That will be a spirit ring exclusively yours, and it will continuously evolve with you!”

Tang San released his Blue Silver Emperor Spirit. Six spirit rings, one yellow, two purple, one black, and two red, appeared in sequence. Especially the two spirit rings over a hundred thousand years old, which moved the Blue Silver King, making her voice tremble: “Great Emperor, have you already obtained two hundred-thousand-year spirit rings? The second one seems to have surpassed one hundred thousand years, reaching two hundred thousand years, and both are plant-type spirit rings, you...”

Before she could finish, Wu Lin, Wu Tong, and Ling Yun emerged, making the Blue Silver King instantly realize the special nature of these two hundred-thousand-year spirit rings. They were attached to the Blue Silver Emperor Spirit through sacrifice, and then, through a method of Life force utilization she didn’t understand, they formed such a special existence.

The Blue Silver King was unclear about any flaws, but there was no doubt that all three retained 100% of their souls and memories, and could accompany the Emperor in his growth.

If one day the Emperor broke through the limits of human Spirit Masters, the three of them could also reach the divine level with him.

Truly—

“Great Emperor, I suddenly have another idea. After helping you condense your spirit ring, I can sacrifice myself, thereby raising the spirit ring’s lifespan to over a hundred thousand years. In the future, I can also help you actively increase this spirit ring’s lifespan. What do you think?” When the Blue Silver King learned that Tang San was looking for her to condense a spirit ring, she was actually not very happy, but now, she felt she could also give herself to the great Emperor.

After all, no matter how much she cultivated, it would be difficult for her to become a Blue Silver Emperor. Now, a path to the divine level was laid before her, and she didn’t even need to walk it; she could even hitch a ride.

How could she resist?

Great Emperor!

I don't want to cultivate anymore!

Moreover, she also wanted to go out and see the prosperous human World!

As for the future of the Blue Silver Grass...

Anyway, the Blue Silver Grass has tenacious Life force. Even if other Spirit Beasts went extinct, the Blue Silver Grass would not, unless one day the entire Douluo Continent shattered and sank.

"Is that not good?" Tang San asked, "If you sacrifice yourself, what will happen to the Blue Silver Grass here?"

"No matter, this place is remote, no one will find it, and most of the Blue Silver Grass here are not plant Spirit Beasts." The Blue Silver King had her own reasons, "Great Emperor, let's begin, I can't wait to merge with you!"

Lan Yinzi: ".....I actually entrusted this place to such a fellow before leaving. I really misjudged... the grass."

Tang San gave Lan Yinzi a meaningful glance, only wanting to express:

If the beam is not straight, the pillar will lean!

If you yourself are not responsible, busy with romance, then don't expect your subjects to be responsible.

Of course, he couldn't say this in front of her.

Xiao Wu, on the other hand, thought of something else: "Merging... why does it sound so strange? And so eager!"

"Since you wish for this, let's begin." Tang San decided to leave behind a Blue Silver Emperor Spirit afterwards, to guard this Blue Silver Forest in place of the Blue Silver King. In the future, even if humans developed this far, he could find a way for the Blue Silver Grass to coexist with humans.

At least, the Blue Silver Grass leaves in this Blue Silver Forest were very long and wide, weaving and Binding together, and with the Blue Silver Trees formed by multiple Blue Silver Grass as support, they could form structures similar to houses.

“As you command, my beloved Emperor!”

The Blue Silver King’s tone became much more spirited, and her whole body glowed with blue-silver light. The Blue Silver Grass throughout the Blue Silver Forest also swayed, emitting faint white halos that gathered towards the tip of the Blue Silver Emperor.

In a short while, a black spirit ring condensed.

Immediately after, the Blue Silver King’s entire body of blue-silver energy flowed like flames, transforming into the purest energy, and merged into that spirit ring, dyeing it a vibrant crimson.

The lifespan of this spirit ring had already reached one hundred and twenty thousand years!

“Within those white halos, there’s not just Life energy, but also a mix of faith power.” Iliex was surprised, then enlightened, “The Blue Silver Emperor’s so-called uniqueness might be due to the influence of faith within a certain range, causing a change in the bloodline, thereby transforming into an Emperor.”

“However, unlike human faith, the faith of these Blue Silver Grass is extremely pure. They live for the Emperor, die for the Emperor, and for the Emperor, they are willing to contribute everything they have, including their Life and souls.”

“Is this not some kind of mind imprint or something?”

Tang San did not answer, for in his view, ordinary Blue Silver Grass did not possess sufficient intelligence, so they were naturally simpler, even dominated by instinct.

Thoughts and feelings?

They simply didn’t exist!

The Blue Silver Grass also expressed: What is a brain? We don't have one! We only have a little spiritual instinct!

As for the power of faith...

This thing was indeed quite peculiar. Tang San himself was not keen on interacting with it, but the faith of the Blue Silver Grass was extremely pure, without any 杂念, and condensed within the spirit ring. Even if it was absorbed in the end, it would reside within the Blue Silver Emperor Spirit, without affecting his own thoughts.

Moreover, the power of faith would surely need to be researched in the future, and absorbing this spirit ring could also be said to lay a foundation for later, without much impact.

As the red spirit ring enveloped the Blue Silver Emperor in Tang San's hand, a warm power flowed throughout his body, and an invisible force burst forth from Tang San and the Blue Silver Emperor Spirit.

A silver-blue halo enveloped the entire Blue Silver Forest, and a vast Life aura instantly spread to every corner, causing the Blue Silver Grass that had contributed Life force and faith to sway joyfully.

At this very moment, the Blue Silver Grass that had just contributed faith and Life force all received great benefits. Their inherent vitality grew stronger and stronger, and even tiny silver-white starlight appeared on their leaves.

"Is this the awakening of a Domain?" Xiao Wu exclaimed, looking up at the silver-blue sky, "It actually covers the entire forest, it's too exaggerated. Will I be this powerful when I awaken my Domain?"

Lan Yinzi smiled: "As expected of my good son, he really awakened the Blue Silver Dom... Hmm?"

"Such a rich aura of Life?"

"Is he going to transform the Blue Silver Domain into a Life Domain?"

“And also—”

In an instant, Tang San’s body also revealed a power of extreme destruction and annihilation, also condensing into a Domain, contending with the previous Life Domain...

365: The will of the universe

The moment the spirit ring was placed on the Blue Silver Emperor, Tang San began to operate the Creation and Destruction True Scripture, continuously circulating his spirit power between the Blue Silver Emperor and the Clear Sky Hammer, gathering the energy of both, constantly compressing and converging it to form a Soul Power Core.

Within Life, Creation was nurtured; within destruction, death was born.

The continuous intermingling and refinement of the two formed a perfectly round core, half pure white with a hint of gold inside, and half pure black containing a touch of gray.

Gradually, the gray representing death separated from the black representing destruction, and the gold representing Creation also detached from the white representing Life.

The gray and gold exchanged positions.

death merged into Life, Creation intertwined with destruction, and the four ultimate elemental energies perfectly fused together, with all other attributes becoming sustenance for these four.

Soul Power Core! Condense!

Subsequently, the Qi and blood in Tang San's lower dantian surged, and the mental force in his upper dantian also vibrated, both resonating with the Soul Power Core.

Tang San seized the opportunity, multitasking, refining the spirit ring while maintaining the operation of the Soul Power Core, and moving Qi and blood to gather mental force.

The Qi and blood in the lower dantian converged to a single point, as if the primordial chaos was being created, giving birth to myriad Worlds, radiating infinite vitality, causing a transformation in all of Tang San's flesh and blood, making his entire body radiant and crystalline, like a humanoid diamond.

The mental force in the upper dantian condensed into a core, like a great sun, radiating the light of wisdom, illuminating the entire body, just as a dark universe is adorned with starlight.

After the Qi and Blood Golden Core and Spiritual Mindset were forged, the Soul Power Core, as the central link, resonated with them, forming the essence, Qi, and Spirit circulation of the human body's universe.

At this moment, Tang San's divine soul also underwent a transformation, becoming condensed from ethereal, identical to his original body, and even the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset were reflected within this divine soul.

No!

It was not a simple reflection!

In Iliex's perception, it was the true information reflection of the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset within Tang San's divine soul.

Even if Tang San's physical body were destroyed in the future, as long as this divine soul remained, and with sufficient energy, he could reshape a body identical to his former self, in its peak condition, without needing to cultivate anew.

"What a miracle!" Iliex exclaimed excitedly, "Tang San's body now is the prototype of the entire universe, and his divine soul is the master of this prototype universe. In the great outer universe, this is what is called the Universe Will... Uh, looking at it this way, the entire universe seems to exist within a person, or some kind of creature?"

Putting this conjecture aside for now, Iliex continued to observe Tang San's constantly transforming divine soul, deep in thought: "Speaking of which, this is already comparable to a divine soul, right? But it's not a divine soul in the pure sense. Can it be called--"

"Primal Spirit."

"In the mythical legends of Tang San's previous Life, there was the term Primal Spirit, which is the essence of all human Life, immortal, unaging, undying, eternally existing."

"This is an even more peculiar form of existence than a divine soul!"

"A divine soul controls laws and is also restricted by laws, making it difficult to advance further. But a Primal Spirit is different; its strength depends on the breadth of its own knowledge. The more it knows, the more it controls, until finally achieving omniscience..."

At this moment, Tang San's divine soul had transformed into a Primal Spirit. In a certain sense, at the divine soul level, he had already reached the level of a God.

This made Austin Griffin, who was inside Tang San's body, or rather, residing within the Clear Sky Hammer, dumbfounded. He couldn't help but jump out and exclaim, "What kind of freak is this? His divine soul advanced to the God-level first? And this physical body, is it evolving towards the direction of the universe?"

"You've finally come out, Austin Griffin." Tang San's Primal Spirit looked at Austin Griffin's seven-headed divine soul, and he and Iliex surrounded him. With a wave of his hand, the Zhou Tian Xing Dou Great Array, improved based on the stars observed from the Douluo Continent, was instantly completed, encircling Austin Griffin.

The expressions on Austin Griffin's seven heads remained unchanged. He hadn't planned on continuing to hide this time. He simply said, "You know me?"

"Don't tell me you don't know the memories of your previous host," Tang San stared at him.

"I know." Austin Griffin bared his seven sets of fangs. "It seems you and my previous host are of the same kind, but you are more special, possessing a subtlety he lacked, and he... is already death."

Mu Tian, as Austin Griffin's previous host, could still sense his state even after leaving him—body separated, worms gnawing, wild grass taking root.

Undoubtedly, he had already lost his Life.

Tang San didn't care. He just said, "You should know that I won't compromise with you, and you shouldn't even think about destroying this World."

"Heh heh, destruction is my nature, annihilation is my duty, and bringing death to all beings is my interest." Austin Griffin grinned. "Can you stop me?"

"You can't defeat me now."

A calm sentence ended the conversation, causing Austin Griffin to choke, unsure what to say.

His strength came from his host, but not entirely.

Whatever level of strength the host reached, he could possess that level of strength, or even greater. But this guy in front of him was a freak.

According to the cultivation level division of this World, he was only a Spirit Saint, and on the Saint Magic Continent, he was only a seventh-tier, yet his divine soul had already reached a God-like level, and was even more peculiar.

How could he fight?

But as the God of Heavenly Condemnation, wielding the law of destruction, how could he easily submit?

Even if his fusion with this person was too deep to control him, he would never back down! This was the pride of Heavenly Condemnation!

Iliex chuckled, "Brother Tang, this guy is nothing to fear. As long as you are always stronger than him, he will never be able to resist. Who told him to reside in your Spirit?"

Austin Griffin remained silent, just staring intently at Iliex, finding this guy very annoying for seeing through his confidence.

It's just that—

Did he really think he willingly resided in someone else's Spirit?

Humans?

Due to his inherent characteristics, he couldn't seize a body, and subjectively disdained taking human bodies.

Spirit Beast?

This World was very unfriendly to beasts. Before breaking through to the God-level, he could hardly resist. Breaking through the hundred-thousand-year level meant enduring heavenly tribulation, and if the commotion was too great, alarming the God Realm of this star system, he would only have one outcome: direct death.

He really had no masochistic tendencies!

Besides, he didn't have another chance at reincarnation...

In short, the rules of this World were very messed up, so from the beginning, Austin Griffin had no intention of resurrecting in a physical body. Instead, he planned to reside within a Spirit, slowly plan his recovery...

"I choose to follow you." In the end, Austin Griffin chose to compromise. "It's also very uncomfortable to always hide. I also hope to walk around more outside and see this beautiful World."

Tang San: "..."

Iliex said, "You can't trust this guy's words."

However, Tang San dismissed the great array and said, "Okay, I choose to believe you, and I'll give you three chances."

"What?" Austin Griffin was surprised by Tang San's boldness, but still wanted to hear what he had in mind.

"Once you've fully recovered, I'll give you three chances to challenge me. As long as you win once, I'll be your litter-scooper."

Austin Griffin naturally understood the meaning of "litter-scooper"—

A master who raises and cares for pets.

But in the eyes of the pet, they are the master, and the so-called master is just a servant.

Did Tang San mean that if he won, he would be willing to be his servant?

That's not bad.

This "servant" might be even more powerful than his damned twin in the future. The thought of being able to command such a powerful subordinate made him a little excited.

"What if I lose?" Austin Griffin narrowed his seven small eyes and asked eerily.

"The strong are respected."

The implication was, if you lose, you'd better obey me.

"Interesting, I agree." Austin Griffin said loudly, "I swear by the name of the God of Heavenly Condemnation to the will of the great universe, if I lose, I will follow this person until eternity! If I violate this, my divine soul will shatter, my will will be extinguished, and I will sink until the great universe is destroyed!"

An oath, for an existence like Austin Griffin, was extremely solemn, let alone swearing to the will of the great universe. Once violated, the will of the universe would surely punish!

However, Tang San's expression was a bit strange—

In the ethereal, his Primal Spirit seemed to truly sense the will of the great universe transmitting some ineffable information to him, but it clearly told him that if Austin Griffin violated the oath after losing three times, he would truly sink until the universe was destroyed, unable to be reborn.

But why would the will of the great universe transmit messages to him?

While Tang San was deep in thought, he glanced at his own body and suddenly understood: So my body is the prototype of a universe, and the will of the great universe regards me as a peer, or perhaps its child?

Therefore, if his "prototype universe" violated the oath, how would the will of the great universe treat him?

Would it be like other beings who violate oaths, punished according to the content of the oath, or would it just be a slight warning, like parents educating a child: spanking?

Bringing his thoughts back, Tang San abandoned the baseless conjectures. The gaze of his Primal Spirit fell upon Austin Griffin, making him shiver.

At this moment, Austin Griffin seemed to have seen the true universe... The oath he just made seemed a little too hasty. Is it still too late to modify the oath now?

Immediately after, Tang San's Primal Spirit returned to his body. Around the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, three peculiar rings began to condense.

Around the Golden Core, Qi and blood permeated, converging into a river, vast and mighty, forming a constantly flowing ring...

At the edge of the Soul Power Core, black and white rotated, gold and gray adorned, slowly spinning, Life and death danced together, Creation and destruction coexisted...

Around the Spiritual Mindset, light converged into stars, and stars combined into a ring, reflecting each other with the Primal Spirit...

Outside, Tang San's physical body, the seventh spirit ring stabilized. It continuously drew in the surrounding Heaven and Earth energy, sunlight and moonlight, and the power of the earth, causing golden patterns to continuously emerge.

Finally, five golden patterns appeared on this spirit ring.

This spirit ring had already evolved to five hundred thousand years!

With Tang San's physical quality, he could naturally withstand a higher age limit. However, at this moment, within the area where the Blue Silver Forest was located, the Heaven and Earth energy was completely absorbed, turning into a spiritual energy vacuum zone, thus only reaching five hundred thousand years.

But Tang San was not disappointed, after all, the age limit of this spirit ring could increase with his cultivation in the future, and its upper limit was far from this.

"Haha, I've become the Blue Silver Emperor!"

The happiest one was none other than the Blue Silver King. After sacrificing herself to the spirit ring condensed for Tang San, she finally completed her transformation and advanced to the Blue Silver Emperor. Furthermore, because Tang San's seventh spirit ring reached five hundred thousand years, her bloodline power far surpassed Lan Yinzi's previous Life!

At this moment, she had transformed into a human child, just like Wu Lin, Wu Tong, and Ling Yun, and was sitting on Tang San's head, laughing heartily.

"Congratulations, A Lan," Lan Yinzi said with a smile.

"Greetings, former Blue Silver Emperor." The Blue Silver Emperor named A Lan smiled mischievously, bowed to Lan Yinzi in a feigned manner, and patted her chest, declaring, "From now on, the important task of strengthening the Blue Silver Emperor lineage will be entrusted to me!"

Lan Yinzi: "... I knew it before, this guy has a rebellious bone!

Tang San, opening his eyes, slowly stood up, stretched, twisted his neck, and sensed his spirit power level, saying happily, "Not bad, my spirit power has reached seventy-three ranks."

For ordinary people, if they could absorb a five-hundred-thousand-year spirit ring at the Spirit Saint level, their spirit power would undoubtedly skyrocket. But for Tang San, it only increased by three ranks.

The reason was simple: after condensing the Soul Power Core, the quality of his spirit power increased. In addition, he also had the Spiritual Mindset and Qi and Blood Golden Core, which could resonate with the Soul Power Core, transforming essence, Qi, and Spirit, absorbing a large part of the energy from the spirit ring. The remaining small portion was used to improve his physical quality.

Therefore, it only increased by three ranks.

"Congratulations, Third Brother." Xiao Wu was happy for Tang San's improvement, then asked, "After obtaining the seventh spirit ring, your Spirit must have become stronger, right?"

"Naturally, especially the Life attribute, which has undergone a transformation. The power of Creation has also received a qualitative improvement, and can now be called: Blue Silver Emperor."

Tang San released the Blue Silver Emperor after absorbing the seventh spirit ring. It had twelve leaves, each densely covered with brilliant stars. At its very center, the bright pearl was as vast as a real universe. Staring at it for too long, even one's divine soul would be drawn in, as if it contained the true essence of the cosmic starry sky!

"And one of the skills of my seventh spirit ring is, undoubtedly, Martial Soul True Body..."

366: The True Body of the Blue Silver Emperor

The seventh spirit ring will definitely grant a Spirit Master a Spirit Ability: Martial Soul True Body. This also means that the Spirit has truly grown to its complete form, just like a child growing into an adult.

After obtaining the seventh spirit ring, Tang San's first skill was naturally Martial Soul True Body: "I call it: Blue Silver Emperor True Body. Now I'll show it to you."

As the seventh spirit ring shimmered, the Blue Silver Emperor in Tang San's hand landed on the ground, its roots began to spread, instantly covering the entire Blue Silver Forest and continuously expanding outwards.

After reaching Spirit Saint, the Blue Silver Emperor's passive rooting ability covered a diameter of a thousand li!

The enormous Blue Silver Emperor grew and spread, reaching hundreds of meters in height in the blink of an eye, and its horizontal growth almost covered the entire Blue Silver Forest.

Lan Yinzi, Xiao Wu, and Tang San's Soul Spirits, intertwined, bound, and transported by the Blue Silver Emperor's leaves, reached the top of the Blue Silver Emperor, gazing at the dense Blue Silver Forest below, all dumbfounded.

Blue Silver Twelve Wings appeared behind Tang San, carrying Xiao Wu and Lan Yinzi to fly a bit further, overlooking that Blue Silver Emperor—

It was tall and wide as a mountain, with veins resembling stars, arranged in a specific pattern, emitting an extremely rich Life aura. In terms of quality, in Xiao Wu's perception, it was no less than that Golden Ancient Tree!

And within that Life aura, there was also a hint of grandeur, as if it could support the sky... No, it wasn't as if, it was truly propping up twelve illusory Starry Sky Worlds!

The brilliant pearl at the top, attracting the light of the great sun, cast a layer of purplish-gold halo around it, like a natural Emperor's crown.

"Is this your Martial Soul True Body, Third Brother? It's so big!" Xiao Wu's mouth hung open, a bit incredulous that a Martial Soul True Body could be as huge as a mountain.

"The size displayed on the outside isn't the key. Its true root system already covers an area of about seven thousand li, and its depth is also about the same distance."

Tang San explained, "It's not an exaggeration to call it the Root of the Earth. In the state of Blue Silver Emperor True Body, the Blue Silver Emperor is connected to the entire Douluo Continent and can draw upon the power of the entire land, the light of the sun, moon, and stars, and all energy existing between heaven and earth, attaching it to me."

"Its amplification is so terrifying that it can already allow me to contend with a super Douluo."

"The sum of these powers, I call them the Power of the World."

Tang San, at the Spirit Saint level, was already no less powerful than a level ninety-five Titled Douluo. After unleashing his Blue Silver Emperor True Body, with the aid of the Power of the World, he could contend with a super Douluo.

If he were to further utilize spirit ring fusion and unleash his Martial Soul True Body Armor, he could probably directly reach the God level.

In addition, that illusory Starry Sky World, the myriad star clouds displayed on the twelve leaves of this Blue Silver Emperor True Body, also showed a tendency to materialize.

Lan Yinzi was stunned for a long while before murmuring, “Is this still a Blue Silver Emperor?”

“No, this is the Blue Silver Emperor.” Tang San made a cold joke, then dispersed his Martial Soul True Body and led the two girls back to the ground.

The former Blue Silver Forest still existed and was not flattened by the Blue Silver Emperor True Body. In fact, the Blue Silver Grass grew even more luxuriantly.

This was naturally influenced by the spirit power fluctuations emanating from the Blue Silver Emperor.

It is estimated that in a few years, the Blue Silver Grass here will all be able to transform into Spirit Beasts, instead of ordinary Blue Silver Grass.

“As expected of my Emperor, your Martial Soul True Body is so majestic! It can even draw the light of the sun and moon and absorb the power of the earth. If it could exist here for a long time, the Blue Silver Grass here might become even stronger, and even give birth to different species, such as Blue Silver Grass that can absorb the light of the sun, moon, and stars.” A Lan floated onto Tang San’s right shoulder, sitting close to Ling Yun, looking at Tang San with a face full of adoration, and fantasizing about the future of the Blue Silver Grass clan.

“It shouldn’t just be the World Power’s boost, right? It must have a very strong amplification for other Spirit Abilities too.” Xiao Wu’s tone was certain, but before Tang San could explain in detail, she continued to ask, “But, I’m still more concerned about what your second Spirit Ability is. It wouldn’t be the Blue Silver Overlord... Emperor Spear, would it?”

When asking this question, Xiao Wu nonchalantly glanced at Lan Yinzi, very quickly, but she was still noticed by the other party.

Lan Yinzi couldn't help but narrow her eyes: "How good is the Blue Silver Emperor Spear? Its penetration is very strong, and its armor-piercing ability is also first-class... But I guess it's not."

"That's right, it's not. The second skill of the seventh spirit ring can manifest that illusory Starry Sky World into the real World, creating a true space-time realm where everything is dominated by me. When used in conjunction with the Domain that awakened after I obtained my seventh spirit ring, it can unleash an ability akin to creating a World."

Tang San did not demonstrate this Spirit Ability, because it would consume a large amount of spirit power, and might even create an energy-depleted zone in an area that would be difficult to recover for a long time. Therefore, he only briefly described the second Spirit Ability of his seventh spirit ring, "This is the foundation for creating my own true World. Therefore, I call it, Vast Creation."

Creation, this was Tang San's ambition.

Now, his primordial Spirit had been forged, and the three treasures of his physical body—essence, qi, and Spirit—had also achieved a further circulation, constantly resonating with the entire heaven and earth, as well as the greater universe outside.

How strong the Divinities of the God Realm truly were, he couldn't say. After all, judging from their performance in the original work, the God Realm had Immortal Spiritual Energy, which could probably allow mortals who inherited a God Position to further improve.

But for now, if Ilyas helped, apart from God King-level powerhouses, other Divinities should all be able to contend.

"Be confident, I think even God King-level powerhouses can be fought." Ilyas chuckled, his tone revealing immense confidence, "Although Immortal Spiritual Energy is special, it's nothing more than higher-quality energy. And you are currently able to resonate with the entire greater universe. It's just that your will cannot yet compare to the will of the entire greater universe. Engaging in that kind of resonance might cause you..."

well, to become Dao-transformed, meaning becoming a part of the universe's will."

What would happen if he became a part of the universe?

He would lose his self-will.

Compared to that vast universe, Tang San's soul, or rather, his primordial Spirit, was too tiny, incomparable even to a hydrogen atom within a water molecule that makes up a drop in the ocean.

Therefore, for the future path, Ilyas also conceived two possibilities based on the imaginative concepts in most novels Tang San had read in his previous Life: The first was to merge with the Dao, which meant merging with the will of the entire greater universe, thereby achieving control over the entire universe.

The second was to embody the universe itself, creating a personal physical universe, independent of the greater universe, which is the so-called "beyond the three realms, not within the five elements."

Even though Tang San had only just condensed his primordial Spirit, he could at least slightly borrow a tiny bit of the greater universe's power, enough to overturn the entire God Realm.

After all, the so-called "Douluo Universe" was merely a galaxy. It was only within the cognitive scope of those God Realms that it was subjectively given the concept of "Universe."

"Truly contacting the will of the greater universe is not something I can do right now. I don't want to lose myself..."

367: The goddess of life comes again

In the original spot where the Blue Silver King grew, Tang San planted a Blue Silver Emperor. Its height wasn't as vast as a Martial Soul True Body, only about twenty meters tall, but it was comparable to a small building.

The moment it took root, all the Blue Silver Grass in the entire Blue Silver Forest began to cheer.

Because of the Blue Silver Emperor, they could also enjoy the nourishment of the earth's power and the illumination of the sun, moon, and stars. Furthermore, the World's energy here was becoming increasingly rich.

In addition, under the influence of the Blue Silver Emperor, these Blue Silver Grass would also mutate and evolve, becoming new varieties of Blue Silver Grass, and perhaps even a new Blue Silver King might be born among them.

"Great Emperor! You are truly great!" A Lan was filled with admiration, but he was even happier that he had followed Emperor, and in the future, he would surely be able to break through level one hundred with Emperor and achieve true Divinity.

And the true Divinity A Lan spoke of had now noticed the changes on Douluo Star—

The Goddess of Life sensed the rich Life aura from the lower realm, so she separated a wisp of her divine soul and followed the spatial passage to investigate, arriving once again at Douluo Star.

"It's here again?"

The Goddess of Life had already guessed where that immense Life aura originated. In a blink of an eye, she arrived above the Blue Silver Forest, looking down at the Blue Silver Emperor and the people standing beside it.

"This is absolutely my best successor, and he also possesses the power of destruction... I even suspect whether it was when Destruction and I were attempting to have a child, two wisps of power fell onto a mortal star and converged into a single fetus."

It wasn't surprising that she thought this way; after all, the power on Tang San's body was too coincidental.

Ordinary first-level Divinity and second-level Divinity would surely assume that this little fellow was a child secretly born to her and Destruction who had gone to the lower realm to play.

"It's just a pity that he is unwilling to accept my and Destruction's inheritance, although Destruction and I indeed only wanted to experiment whether two God Positions could coexist on the same person..."

While contemplating, Tang San suddenly looked up and noticed the Goddess of Life's divine soul. Their thoughts converged, and the surrounding time and space seemed to freeze, leaving only the two of them.

"We meet again, beautiful Goddess of Life." Tang San smiled.

"You can actually sense me proactively?" The Goddess of Life was surprised. Upon closer inspection, she realized that Tang San's soul seemed to have transformed into something similar to a divine soul, yet it was also different, extremely profound, like the embryonic form of the universe. Even she couldn't see it clearly. "Your soul has already reached the level of a Divinity, hasn't it? Although it's not as strong as my divine soul, it gives me a sense of peace, like gazing at the starry sky..."

Tang San's primordial spirit had just condensed. In terms of origin, he surpassed a Supreme God King, but in terms of "quantity," there was a significant difference. Yet, even so, it still moved the Goddess of Life considerably. "By the way, do you really not want to inherit my God Position? This could save you countless hours of future cultivation. Your spirit power quality is very high, even beginning to transform in the direction of divine force. In the future, every time you advance a level, you will need spirit power nearly equivalent to a Titled Douluo of this World, which will take a lot of time."

"That's fine." Tang San didn't mind the decrease in cultivation speed. After all, with the circulation of essence, qi, and spirit, he could already achieve complete fasting, directly consuming the World's energy.

Furthermore, even if he couldn't resonate with the entire universe at this time, he could still resonate with the entire Douluo Star, allowing Douluo Star to draw more energy from the external void and convert it into the World's energy.

In the future, as long as he didn't leave Douluo Star, the World's energy would always be in a period of vigorous growth...

Moreover, every single one of his cells could passively draw energy from the void outside the planet, providing nourishment for his own growth...

Therefore, his cultivation speed would not slow down; on the contrary, it would continuously accelerate.

"In contrast—"

Tang San changed the subject, examining this wisp of the Goddess of Life's divine soul, and asked curiously, "Do Divinities also gaze at the starry sky?"

"Naturally. Although I am a Divinity, compared to the vast starry sky, I am still minuscule." The Goddess of Life smiled slightly, with a hint of expectation. "The universe has always been vast and mysterious, attracting people and attracting Divinities. It's just that Divinities are qualified to explore it, and for a Divinity to explore the starry sky, they need to first pass on their God Position to someone else; otherwise, they cannot leave the God Realm."

"It seems Divinities are corpse guards," Tang San commented.

"Corpse guards?" The Goddess of Life was slightly stunned, but quickly understood the meaning. She said gently, "In that sense, it does seem so, but a Divinity also represents a kind of responsibility."

Tang San was noncommittal, but in his heart, he felt that this so-called responsibility was probably also a kind of restriction on the civilizations of the planets governed by the God Realm... Because Divinities truly existed, the root of all problems could be attributed to Divinities.

How did the land appear?

Divinity Created it.

How were the oceans born?

Divinity Created them.

How did the forests appear?

Divinity Created them.

Such a way of thinking could give birth to intelligent people, but the accumulation of wisdom would require tens of thousands of years... This was truly too slow!

"Is it okay for you to tell me all this?" Tang San asked.

"In the future, you will certainly become a Divinity. Even if I occupy the God Position of Life, and you cannot create a Life Divinity, you can still break through the peak of cultivation in this World: level one hundred." The Goddess of Life showed a motherly smile, "So, would you like to be my child?"

No!

Was this transition too sudden?

Tang San was slightly stunned, but the Goddess of Life continued:
"Destruction and I are husband and wife. You possess both the attributes of Life and Destruction. Last time, when Destruction and I came together, it was actually because the Evil God, one of the two Supreme God Kings of the God Realm, noticed that you and your companions had entered a space he casually created, which was once used for beast fighting..."

Listening to the Goddess of Life slowly reveal the secrets, Tang San suddenly understood, but also realized the power of good and evil—that arena of Life and death was merely a beast-fighting ground, and it was even casually created by the Evil God.

The information revealed made Tang San even more wary of the power at the Supreme God King level: he still had to lie low and not act rashly. As for the Goddess of Life's request...

He had already refused a God Position last time. If he refused again this time... even a Supreme God King like the Goddess of Life, who always maintained gentleness, would probably get angry, right?

"Okay, Mom, no problem, Mom." Tang San unceremoniously acknowledged her as his godmother, his sincerity even causing the Goddess of Life to be slightly stunned.

After all, she had just felt the topic was a bit serious and was only making a small joke, assuming Tang San would refuse without hesitation, as strong individuals always had pride...

But where had his pride gone?

Then, she saw Tang San list a large number of items: clothes, food, spirit tool research, travel, schooling, and so on.

"I'm not an adult yet, irresponsible mother. Please compensate me for all my expenses over the past seventeen years so I can truly feel maternal love."
Tang San respectfully handed over a list, condensed from his divine consciousness, that was over three thousand meters long.

The Goddess of Life felt her fists clench...

368: The divine nine-hearted begonia

His divine sense returned to the God Realm. After the Goddess of Life's true body received the memories from before, she didn't know whether to laugh or cry, but finally chuckled twice, a look of loving affection in her eyes: "An interesting child."

At this moment, she truly regarded Tang San as her own son.

For the Goddess of Life, non-God-level existences that control the power of Life (within the jurisdiction of the God Realm) are all considered her children. After all, she herself was transformed from one of the five great origins left behind by the Creator God who pioneered the God Realm. Her perspective on things is different from ordinary mortal Life.

However, among the mortal stars, there is only one person she acknowledges now: Tang San.

When the God of Destruction learned of this matter, he wasn't overly agitated. The child of Life is also his child, and he had also sensed the fluctuations of Destruction energy transmitted from Douluo Star before.

It was obvious that Tang San must have also achieved significant accomplishments in the path of Destruction.

However, Destruction did not descend to the mortal realm to meet Tang San like Life did. After all, the last time he and Life went to find Tang San, they were rejected, and he still felt a bit sulky about it.

But, he himself didn't really want to pass on the position of God King.

It wasn't that he was attached to power, but rather that he was considering the God Realm as his home, and even wanted to develop the God Realm.

"Do you think Tang San will be able to surpass the two great Supreme God Kings in the future?" the God of Destruction suddenly asked.

"Probably not."

The Goddess of Life shook her head, "Although Tang San has already refined his soul into a state similar to a divine soul, and even has some kind of profound meaning that I cannot understand within it, his power is still too weak."

"Moreover, the two great Supreme God Kings were formed from the Creator God's two thoughts of good and evil, which is equivalent to being formed from a God's divine soul, just like how the Dragon God was divided into the two independent entities, the Golden Dragon King and the Silver Dragon King."

"All emotions in the World, whether it is the seven emotions and six desires, or joy, anger, sorrow, and happiness, can ultimately be categorized into the two concepts of [Good] and [Evil]. As long as Tang San comes to the God Realm, he will inevitably be constrained by the two of them, even if he surpasses the two great God Kings in terms of power... Unless he is devoid of emotion and gender, leaving only unique rationality."

The God of Destruction sighed, and said faintly, "If these two God Kings could be more mature, we wouldn't have to worry."

Why did Destruction say this?

It is because the two great God Kings are supreme, but their personalities are also quite pure, and they cannot truly be categorized as "good and evil". In normal times, aside from managing the core of the God Realm and judging the sinful Gods of the lower realm and the Gods of the God Realm who have made mistakes together with him, Life, and Shura, most of the time they are either looking for fun or on the way to find fun.

Their nature is like that of a child.

Pure.

But also capricious.

Once they get excited, Destruction is truly afraid that these two "ancestors", who are the same age as him and Life, will simply throw down the gauntlet and quit. When their successors take office... he will be the first to object anyway.

After all, these two Supreme God Kings are extremely special. Even if their successors surpass them in power, they can never surpass them in the laws and principles of "Good" and "Evil".

How could this make him truly convinced?

If such a thing really happened, he would definitely find a way to get hold of the core of the God Realm, expand the God Realm, and turn this home into a truly powerful divine star.

"Alright, don't worry too much. Although the two great God Kings are as sincere as innocent children, they are not children after all and will not ignore the God Realm," the Goddess of Life comforted. "It's better to pay more attention to Shura. I found that this guy is quite close to Sea God from my Life lineage. It seems they are discussing finding two successors to pass on their positions, and then leaving the God Realm together to explore the vaster starry sky."

"Hmph! That guy Shura has also become lazy, actually thinking of leaving this home. Forget it, it's almost common knowledge that he is impatient with the two great God Kings," the God of Destruction snorted coldly.

In fact, some Gods in the God Realm thinking of passing on their positions and then leaving the God Realm to explore the vaster universe is indeed related to the two great Supreme God Kings not handling affairs much and only knowing how to have fun, feeling that staying in this God Realm has no future...

...

"The Goddess of Life is really generous," Tang San said, looking at the Nine Hearted Sea 棠 flower in his hand, a smile appearing on his face.

Unlike ordinary grades, this one surpasses the immortal grade and contains Immortal Spiritual Energy. It can truly bring the dead back to Life and regrow flesh and bones. As long as they are not God-level powerhouses, even if mortals die and their bodies are destroyed, as long as their souls have not completely dissipated, they can reshape their bodies and perfectly resurrect with this "God-grade" Nine Hearted Sea 棠 flower.

If the issue of the immortal true Spirit is considered, whether the resurrected person is still the same as the original one is uncertain.

However, for mortals, memory and soul are the fundamental basis for confirming who a person is, not the immortal true Spirit.

"Third Brother, what is this flower?" Xiao Wu, unable to sense divine power, looked at the flower similar to a Nine Hearted Sea 棠 that suddenly appeared in Tang San's hand and couldn't help but become curious.

"A God-grade Nine Hearted Sea 棠. The Goddess of Life came to see me just now..." Tang San briefly described how he recognized the Goddess of Life as his godmother, which made Lan Yinzi beside him feel sorry for herself: "Wuwuwu, my son has been snatched away. He doesn't recognize his birth mother, but recognizes his godmother. Is he 嫌 his birth mother is poor?"

Tang San was slightly speechless. He put the God-grade Nine Hearted Sea 棠 into his silver rope treasure pouch hanging on the white jade belt around his waist, and said, "Alright, don't be like this, it's very awkward."

Lan Yinzi immediately returned to normal and said, "Next is my sixth Soul Ring, and the plant Soul Beast that can provide me with the Lan Yin Overlord Spear Soul Skill is only the Blue Silver King. It's a pity it sacrificed itself to you, otherwise I would want A Lan to sacrifice himself to me. After all, with the Blue Silver Network, his soul should be able to manifest."

A Lan: "....." This former Blue Silver Emperor is really unreliable. Fortunately, I sacrificed myself quickly and defected to the Emperor first, otherwise I would have been tricked by her.

"As for the sixth Soul Ring, I can help you condense it," Tang San said astonishingly, pointing at the growing Blue Silver Emperor, and continued, "When A Lan condensed his Soul Ring just now, I recorded the energy circulation method within it. I can use the power of the World to condense a Soul Ring with the aura of the Blue Silver Emperor for you."

"Isn't that not good? Letting your aura enter my body..." Lan Yinzi's face turned red.

"What are you thinking?" Tang San was utterly speechless. "It's just a Soul Ring with the aura of the Blue Silver Emperor... Your concept has been deeply influenced by the memories of this body. It's probably because the previous owner was a fujoshi."

Lan Yinzi coughed to hide her embarrassment and changed the subject, saying, "So, you can already help others condense Soul Rings? Will the Soul Masters of the Spirit Hall not need to hunt Soul Beasts in the future?"

"I can only condense Soul Rings that are most suitable for the Blue Silver Grass Martial Soul. As for other plant Martial Souls, as long as they are not plants with strange attributes, they should also be able to absorb them," Tang San explained. "As for condensing Soul Rings suitable for beast Martial Souls and tool Martial Souls, I cannot do that yet. After all, my Blue Silver Emperor is a plant and does not have the aura of animal Soul Beasts."

369: Space Domain: Enhanced version of teleportation and invincibility

“So, as long as you have the corresponding Spirit Beast aura, you can condense all types of spirit rings, Third Brother?” Xiao Wu was excited; this meant that human Spirit Masters would no longer need to hunt Spirit Beasts to obtain spirit rings in the future.

“It’s not that simple.” Tang San poured a bucket of cold water on Xiao Wu, “I can condense spirit rings most suitable for the Blue Silver Grass type because the foundation of my Spirit is the Blue Silver Emperor. To condense spirit rings of other types of Spirit Beasts, I would probably need an extremely detailed understanding of them, from their appearance to their deepest bloodline factors. I would have to thoroughly analyze them, and the operation would also be very troublesome.”

“Condensing spirit rings suitable for Blue Silver Grass and Blue Silver Emperor is as instinctive as breathing for me; but condensing spirit rings of other Spirit Beasts requires constant control over every single detail. If even one place goes wrong, the entire spirit ring shaping process could fail.”

“At least, as I am now, I cannot process such a massive amount of information.”

Xiao Wu was not disappointed, however, because another meaning implied by Tang San’s words was:

The future is promising!

Lan Yinzi had already sat down on the ground and said, “Hurry and condense a spirit ring for me. I can’t wait to receive my son’s ‘love’.”

Xiao Wu, who had come back to her senses, gasped and couldn’t help but retort, “This guy has been letting herself go more and more since leaving Soul Martial Manor.”

Clap clap!

Tang San clapped his hands twice, and the leaves of that Blue Silver Emperor swayed. The entire Blue Silver Forest also swayed with it, and white light points converged, forming an 89,000-year spirit ring.

Although Lan Yinzi had also been taught cultivation methods by Tang San, without Tang San’s assistance in cultivation, her progress was slow when cultivating alone. Even with this spirit ring’s 200% compatibility with her Spirit, the Blue Silver Emperor, she could only withstand a level of nearly 90,000 years.

An hour later, Lan Yinzi finished absorbing the spirit ring, and her spirit power broke through to level 61. When testing her sixth Spirit Ability, a long spear with a conical spearhead appeared in her hand.

The spear body was over three meters long, with the spearhead accounting for nearly three-fifths of the overall length.

It was entirely silver-blue, covered with ancient golden patterns. The spearhead, in particular, seemed to be formed by the spiraling Binding of Blue Silver Emperor leaves, and its tip was extremely sharp.

Lan Yinzi held the long spear and began to wield it. Combined with the Gale Step, her charging speed was extremely fast. Moreover, by applying the punching method of the Vigorous Grass Fist, her stabbing speed was also extraordinary, reaching hundreds of thousands per second.

“Hahahaha! I am already invincible in close combat!” Lan Yinzi roared to the sky, her clear voice echoing throughout the Blue Silver Forest. Turning back, she saw Tang San and Xiao Wu’s “→ _ →” gazes, immediately coughed twice, put away the long spear, and said seriously, “Ahem, I was a bit excited just now, don’t mind me... I’ve officially named this Spirit Ability the Blue Silver Tyrant Emperor Spear. After all, my Spirit is the Blue Silver Emperor, not the Blue Silver King, so I changed the name.”

A Lan: “I feel like you’re implying something about me, former Blue Silver Emperor.”

Lan Yinzi gritted her teeth: “You’re truly annoying, A Lan. Why didn’t I notice before that your mouth was so foul?”

A Lan said proudly: “Of course, it’s because I used to be the Blue Silver King, but now it’s different. I am the Blue Silver Emperor, the monarch among plants!”

“Alright, stop fooling around.” Tang San patted A Lan’s head, making him return to the Blue Silver Emperor Spirit, and said to Lan Yinzi, “You shouldn’t get angry with a child either.”

“Hmph, I wouldn’t be that childish.” Lan Yinzi put her hands on her hips, snorted coldly, turned her head, and then looked at Xiao Wu: “Next, it’s your turn. Condense your spirit ring here; Tang San and I will guard you.”

Generally speaking, Xiao Wu would condense her spirit ring in the core area of the Star Dou Great Forest, as there was a Life Lake there that could provide some assistance when she condensed her spirit ring.

In addition, she would report the relevant situation to Di Tian and others.

At this time, Xiao Wu didn’t care about Di Tian and the others. After all, she now had almost the ability to truly fight a Titled Douluo, though perhaps not Di Tian’s opponent.

But apart from Di Tian, Xiao Wu was no longer afraid of the other fierce beasts.

So, she sat down on the ground, took out a crystal carrot ginseng from her white jade belt, and without refusing, swallowed it whole, beginning to condense her last spirit ring and preparing to use all the cultivation origin she had retained.

After a short while, a crimson spirit ring slowly condensed, bearing two golden patterns on it.

“A 200,000-year spirit ring, plus her sixth spirit ring is 100,000 years, so she has a total of over 300,000 years of cultivation.” Lan Yinzi was surprised.

“Heaven Dream Iceworm.” Tang San stated the reason.

“Oh, that worm.” Lan Yinzi, through the memories in this transmigrator’s mind, naturally knew how precious the Heaven Dream Iceworm was as an ingredient. If she had encountered such a worm back then, she would definitely have caught it to use as fertilizer.

However, Xiao Wu had actually absorbed the energy of that worm?

It seemed Di Tian and the others had already emerged.

Indeed, with Gu Yuena appearing, how could Di Tian and the others remain hidden? They must have occupied the core area of the Star Dou Great Forest, and Xiao Wu had merely gained corresponding benefits.

When Xiao Wu reopened her eyes, a powerful spirit power fluctuation was released, reaching a level close to 72.

Moreover, her Soul Power Core, Qi and Blood Golden Core, and Spiritual Mindset were also condensed, but without shaping corresponding “rings,” her efficiency was not as good as Tang San’s, but she still had the embryonic charm of a physical universe.

In Tang San’s perception, Xiao Wu was vaguely integrated with space. The spirit power fluctuations on her body dissipated in an instant; she was clearly within his line of sight, yet he seemed unable to perceive her.

This is a Domain!

“Xiao Wu, you must have awakened a Domain, right?” Tang San’s primordial Spirit keenly detected that Xiao Wu was in another space, and within a hundred-mile radius, it had already been surrounded by an invisible layer of space.

“Naturally.”

Xiao Wu gently raised her hand, and the air above her palm twisted, forming a transparent square, “Space Domain. Its size can be controlled at will, and its range will increase with the improvement of my mental force.”

“It’s just that this Space Domain doesn’t provide any amplification to myself. The only benefit is that it can exist continuously without needing me to use extra spirit power to maintain it.”

Lan Yinzi was puzzled: “Sounds useless? Just a portable storage space?”

“No, it’s not.” Xiao Wu held up a finger, “Although it doesn’t provide any strength amplification to myself, within this Domain, I can Teleport at will. As long as I imagine it, I can appear anywhere.”

“Also, I can attach a layer of flowing spatial membrane to my body, which won’t affect my limb movements. As long as the force isn’t enough to shatter space, it can’t cause me any harm!”

Lan Yinzi exclaimed: “Then with this Domain, aren’t you invincible?”

“No, using these two passive abilities that come with the Domain consumes spirit power.” Xiao Wu shook her head. She was still far from invincible, but without using spirit ring fusion or shaping her Martial Soul True Body Armor, she could still fight against 95th and 96th-level Titled Douluo.

And in Tang San’s eyes, weren’t these two passive abilities brought by the Domain just enhanced versions of Teleportation and Paragon Golden Body?

370: Xiao Wu's seventh soul ring

“What else?”

Although this Domain was already very powerful, Tang San remembered that Xiao Wu had told him that after a Soft Bones Rabbit reached 100,000 years, it could open up an independent space, and even if the Soft Bones Rabbit died, that space would continue to exist, actively drawing in spatial fragments from the void.

Could Xiao Wu, who had awakened the Spatial Domain, also open up a similar space?

With the space opened by Xiao Wu, Tang San was confident that he could use the Starry Sky World within the Blue Silver Emperor to connect those spaces with Xiao Wu's space, thereby allowing Xiao Wu to control the wealth left behind by those Soft Bones Rabbits.

“My Domain is actually equivalent to the space that a 100,000-year Soft Bones Rabbit can open,” Xiao Wu naturally understood what Tang San was asking and didn't beat around the bush. “Unexpectedly, I can sense the existence of those spaces, or rather, that space, they have all converged together.”

The small spaces opened by successive 100,000-year-level Soft Bones Rabbits had converged and were continuously attracting spatial fragments from the cosmic void, their scope already comparable to half the area of the Douluo Continent.

In Xiao Wu's perception, a desolate World had already formed there, with the existence of Life, and even a large area with an environment similar to the Star Dou Great Forest, where various Spirit Beasts lived.

It was just that those Spirit Beasts only had bestiality and were no different from ordinary animals; not a single one had developed intelligence, but precisely because they lacked intelligence, they were even more formidable in terms of combat power than Spirit Beasts in reality.

“It seems that it's a semi-plane that hasn't materialized from the void.”

After receiving relevant information from Xiao Wu, Tang San realized that it should be the World within the Spirit Ascension Platform from Douluo Dalu 3. He didn't expect it to be already nearing perfection in this era. After all, according to the setting of Douluo Dalu 4, the things within that World were created with energy close to Immortal Spiritual Energy, and their fragments originated from the God Realm that shattered during the great battle between the Dragon God and the Five Great God-Kings.

“This is your biggest gain this time!”

“Can you connect to it?”

If Xiao Wu could still enter that space, the Spirit Beasts there would be true wealth. The energy from their death could increase the age of spirit rings, and even the Spirit Bones left behind could be brought into reality.

That was simply a treasure trove!

“No.”

Xiao Wu shook her head, “I can only sense it, but I can't enter. It's as if the laws there repel real living beings from entering... but mental force can, so souls should be able to enter. I now suspect that the Spirit Beasts inside might be the soul fragments of Spirit Beasts from the real World that floated in after death, thus completing their ‘resurrection.’ However, because the soul fragments are incomplete and mixed together, they cannot produce intelligence and can only carry out Life activities based on instinct.”

This also led Xiao Wu not to regard the Spirit Beasts in that space as her own kind. After all, their habits were closer to wild animals than to Spirit Beasts. Besides, Xiao Wu could not see any weak Spirit Beasts.

That is: Soft Bones Rabbits, bamboo rats, and other Spirit Beasts at the bottom of the food chain that look relatively cute, do not exist there.

“That's fine; we can research it slowly later.”

Tang San was not in a hurry for quick success. Moreover, Xiao Wu had already established a connection with that World. Afterwards, she only needed to continuously explore, test, and then summarize the rules, understand the method of entering it thoroughly, and then proceed with the final step of control.

After all, the Way of Space was not that easy to control. Even though Xiao Wu had awakened the Spatial Domain, she could only use it instinctively at this moment. She herself could not clearly explain the specific principles behind it.

“Next, let's talk about your Spirit Abilities. In the Martial Soul True Body state, what do you transform into?”

“I won't turn into a rabbit.”

Xiao Wu knew what Tang San was thinking; he must have thought she would turn into a big rabbit, but that was not the case:

Compared to her Spirit attached state, the beast-like parts in her Martial Soul True Body state were fewer, leaving only a pair of rabbit ears on her head and a spherical rabbit tail behind her waist.

The rabbit fur on her thighs and arms also disappeared, but they were respectively entwined with electric light and fireworks. Golden patterns coiled around her body, converging at her spine.

“This is my Martial Soul True Body state. As a 100,000-year-old transformed Spirit Beast, since I chose to become human, I naturally diverge from my original Spirit Beast form.”

Xiao Wu explained some secrets that Tang San did not know, saying, “Among human Beast Spirit Masters, after cultivating to Spirit Saint, most become beast-like in pursuit of stronger power, while transformed Spirit Beasts gradually shed the beast form from their cultivation origin, transforming it into human form...”

“From your perspective, Brother San, transformed Spirit Beasts have bodies no different from humans, just not fully grown; but from our perspective as transformed Spirit Beasts, the so-called maturity period is also key to transforming the cultivation origin into human form.”

“However, if it were as you once envisioned, taking away the cultivation origin without harming a transformed Spirit Beast's Life is also a way to make a transformed Spirit Beast directly become human, but in that case, they wouldn't even have a Spirit.”

Lan Yinzi also nodded in agreement: “That's right. Although the physical body is already human after transformation, the cultivation origin is still a Spirit Beast. It needs to reach Level 70 to purify into a human, attaching to the Spirit in the form of a spirit ring. From then on, the human body and the Spirit will be two separate states, and they will no longer be recognized as transformed Spirit Beasts by Titled Douluo.”

Tang San noted it down, then asked, “What about the enhancement effect in this state?”

“That's amazing! In the Martial Soul True Body state, all my attributes are boosted by seven hundred percent! That's a seven-fold increase! And when I reach Spirit Douluo, it can increase eight-fold, and Titled Douluo, nine-fold.” Xiao Wu chuckled, making a punching motion.

Bang!

In an instant, an explosion sounded, and a white stream of air shot out of thin air, almost penetrating nearly a third of the Blue Silver Forest, leaving a huge opening.

But it quickly recovered with the growth of Blue Silver Grass.

And Xiao Wu was still in a punching motion, as if she hadn't thrown a punch at all.

“Don't experiment here casually, okay?” Lan Yinzi didn't want the Blue Silver Grass in the Blue Silver Forest to be too startled. Even though most of them didn't have brains, she was still shocked by Xiao Wu's punching power. “How fast was your punch just now? I didn't even see it clearly!”

That punch just now, no, a hundred punches!

Tang San saw clearly that in that short instant, Xiao Wu threw a hundred punches, and the last punch superimposed the punch winds from the previous ninety-nine punches, causing such an exaggerated effect.

Of course, all of this was inseparable from Xiao Wu's own physical fitness and the bonus of other spirit rings to her Spirit.

However, Tang San knew that a hundred punches was not Xiao Wu's limit, and at this time, Xiao Wu had not yet used her Spirit Abilities, especially the fifth Spirit Ability, Blazing Flame Fist. If used in the Martial Soul True Body state, it would definitely cause stronger destructive power.

“What is your second Spirit Ability?” Tang San roughly confirmed Xiao Wu's current strength, feeling somewhat relieved, and then asked about the other skill.

“Humph, my seventh spirit ring's second Spirit Ability is amazing! Once used, and combined with Martial Soul True Body and Martial Soul True Body Armor in the spirit ring fusion state, I can contend with a super Douluo!”

Xiao Wu was about to try, but Lan Yinzi stopped her, preventing her from damaging the Blue Silver Forest's environment.

Tang San could use the Blue Silver Emperor True Body because it was inherently the Blue Silver Emperor and would not harm any Blue Silver Grass here, but Xiao Wu was clearly quite destructive, so she absolutely could not use it here!

Chapter 360 is still blocked.

371: Soft bone method, goodbye Zhu Zhuqing

After leaving the Blue Silver Forest, Xiao Wu introduced the second Spirit Ability of her seventh spirit ring, saying, "I haven't named this Spirit Ability yet, but its effect is very powerful. It can condense an energy-materialized version of me, and its height can reach a thousand meters."

With that, Xiao Wu took a step, leaped a hundred meters away, and then took two more steps, already nearly a thousand meters from Tang San and Lan Yinzi. Her Carefree Wind Riding's Nine Steps to Heaven had reached a state of perfection.

Boom!

A loud explosion was heard, and the earth seemed to tremble.

As the blood-red seventh spirit ring shone, white, golden, and crimson air currents emerged from Xiao Wu's body, representing mental force, spirit power, and Qi and blood power, respectively.

The three energies connected, forming a whirlwind that reached from heaven to earth. A giant, approximately five hundred meters tall, stood on the open plain—

Her body was like glazed jade, and her face was like a crown of jade.

Her eyes were bright like stars, and her limbs were long like pillars of heaven.

From her wrists, two streams of fire emerged, entwining her arms, wrapping around her back from under her armpits, forming a fiery ribbon. Her feet and legs were clad in a pair of long boots with dragon scale patterns, densely covered with wisps of lightning, even causing wisps of blue flames to appear in the surrounding air.

Her upper body was clad in a close-fitting battle armor with a white base and gold lines, forming an enraged rabbit beast decoration at the chest. If one looked closely at the rest of the armor, they would find that it was shaped and molded using spatial force.

However, what caught Tang San's attention the most was definitely the scorpion tail braid—as Xiao Wu's energy-materialized body reached a thousand meters, the scorpion tail braid also resembled a long dragon swimming amidst the clouds. A casual flick could stir up a gust of wind; ordinary Spirit Douluo probably wouldn't be able to get within a hundred meters of her!

"This is too exaggerated!" Lan Yinzi's mouth formed an "O" shape.
"Although it's not as tall as your Blue Silver Emperor, the humanoid giant is even more shocking, and this isn't an illusion created by mental force, is it?"

"No." Tang San also hadn't expected that the second Spirit Ability of Xiao Wu's seventh spirit ring could bring forth such a powerful Spirit Ability, externalizing her essence, energy, and Spirit, and condensing an energy-materialized giant.

Susanoo?

No!

This was a Heaven and Earth Avatar!

Although Xiao Wu was not making any movements at this time, Tang San could already feel the power of that Avatar. Once it moved, it could stir up air currents and unleash strong winds.

Not to mention, with Xiao Wu's perception of space and control over herself, plus the fact that she had also condensed a Qi and Blood Golden Core, a Soul Power Core, and a Spiritual Mindset, she could certainly use the power of heaven and earth to fight.

No wonder Xiao Wu dared to say she could contend with a super Douluo.

It's just unknown how long this Avatar can last...

As soon as this thought emerged, the Avatar dissipated. Xiao Wu descended from the original Avatar's brow, her face pale, her spirit power weak, clearly indicating a significant expenditure.

Counting the time, from the appearance of this Avatar to its disappearance, it was only about one minute.

Tang San instantly arrived at where Xiao Wu landed, raised his hand to catch her, held her in his arms, and used his First Soul Skill: Endless Recovery, to restore her spirit power, Qi and blood, and mental force.

After his Spirit evolved from Blue Silver Emperor to Blue Silver Emperor, the recovery ability of his First Soul Skill also underwent a transformation, allowing him to replenish some of the energy required for Life activities for a person.

Even if someone was poisoned, this Spirit Ability could continuously inject Life energy into them, allowing the poisoned person to clear the toxins through their own immune system.

It could be said that this First Soul Skill, apart from not being able to revive the dead, could even allow a disabled person to regenerate lost limbs!

In less than three minutes, Xiao Wu had fully recovered to her peak state, her face radiant. Those who didn't know would have thought she had taken some powerful tonic.

"The power of this Spirit Ability is indeed strong, but I can currently only maintain it for about a minute. After a minute, my spirit power will be exhausted," Xiao Wu said somewhat dejectedly. "Although I can use the energy of heaven and earth to strengthen the power of the attack, this heaven and earth energy cannot maintain its physical form, because its form is composed of my essence, energy, and Spirit."

"If I can connect the inner universe with the outer universe in the future, it might be possible to maintain it for a long time. But in my estimation, it would require constructing within that energy body a complete set of transformation, circulation, and cycles similar to the three energies within my own body, and even simulating the corresponding internal organs with energy."

"This amount of work is definitely not something I can complete now."

If Xiao Wu were to truly attempt this, this Avatar would develop in the direction of the Heaven and Earth Avatar—the future development potential is very great!

After giving some affirmation, Tang San gently put Xiao Wu down from his embrace and said, "For now, don't aim too high. First, thoroughly master this move. As for your essence, energy, and Spirit not being able to sustain it for too long, that's not a big problem. As long as you are with me, your essence, energy, and Spirit can be restored at any time."

"I actually forgot about that." Xiao Wu swept away her previous dejection, quickly kissed Tang San's lips, and even inserted her tongue in that instant, saying with a giggle, "When we go back, I'll reward you handsomely."

"Cough!" Lan Yinzi had just walked over and heard what Xiao Wu said, stating speechlessly, "You shouldn't be saying such things to me, an outsider, should you?"

"Who told you to walk so close?" Xiao Wu gave Lan Yinzi a disdainful glance, then patted the dust off her body, and asked Tang San, "Third Brother, what should this Spirit Ability of mine be called? Energy Giant? Gigantification? Or perhaps, Tai Tan Xiao Wu True Body?"

"Just call it Avatar, Soft Bone Avatar." Tang San named it for her. "A human form created in imitation of heaven and earth is called an Avatar."

"Avatar? It does sound much grander than 'Giant' or 'Tai Tan.' Then it's settled, this Spirit Ability will be called Soft Bone Avatar!" After Xiao Wu finished speaking, she jumped onto Tang San's back, her legs clamping his waist. "Third Brother, carry me back? I haven't fully recovered yet."

"What hasn't fully recovered? I think you just want to annoy me, this Spirit lightbulb." How could Lan Yinzi not see that this little girl was lovesick and found her, the 'mother-in-law,' to be in the way?

Tang San didn't say much about the 'mother-in-law and daughter-in-law' bickering. His arms naturally supported Xiao Wu's back, letting her ride on his back.

After all, times were different now. Who told Xiao Wu that she was now completely one of his own?

The three of them chatted and laughed as they headed towards Spirit City. Passing by the Star Dou Great Forest, they happened to see an acquaintance walking out of it.

Elegant steps, a cold face, plus that black leather outfit.

Without a doubt, the person in front of them was Zhu Zhuqing!

Chapter 360 has been released...

372: Dark Demonic Wind and Thunder Transformation

"Long time no see, Zhuqing, I didn't expect to meet you here," Tang San said first, greeting her.

When Zhu Zhuqing saw Tang San, her eyes flickered with excitement, exhilaration, and a hint of resentment, but she ultimately remained calm, slowly walked over, and with a faint smile, said, "It has indeed been a while, my Captain."

"Haha, don't be so formal. We've all graduated from Heaven Dou Royal Academy; there's no need to call me Captain anymore." Tang San waved his hand casually and then asked Zhu Zhuqing the reason for her visit to Star Dou Great Forest, "By the way, are you here to hunt Spirit Beasts?"

"Yes, according to your instructions before I left, Captain, I've been focusing on cultivating the dark, wind, and lightning elements. Since my Fourth spirit ring came from a Dark Demon Wind Tiger, and its Spirit Ability is Dark Demon Hurricane Walk, then my Fifth spirit ring needs to come from a Dark Demon Lightning Tiger, and the Spirit Ability it grants me must be Dark Demon Frenzied Lightning Rush."

Zhu Zhuqing smiled faintly, speaking of her progress.

"These two Spirit Abilities, the former strengthened my wind element, and the latter enhanced my lightning element and so on."

"However, in recent years, most of my time has been spent trying to leverage the heaven and earth energy of the entire Douluo Continent with my own strength. The enhancement of these two attributes has indeed helped me a lot."

"And my reason for coming to Star Dou Great Forest this time is to obtain my Sixth spirit ring, which is the Wind-Lightning Winged Tiger you once told me about. This Spirit Beast, which controls both wind and lightning power, has once again strengthened my wind and lightning power and also given me an amplification-type skill: Dark Demon Wind-Lightning Transformation."

"In this state, all my attributes can increase by three times, and my speed can increase by nearly six times. In addition, this skill can also stack with Dark Demon Nether Transformation, allowing all attributes to increase by six times, and speed to increase to nine times!"

"The only pity is that the amplification of Dark Demon Wind-Lightning Transformation is fixed and cannot increase with the improvement of my spirit power."

Xiao Wu comforted her, "It's alright, it's already very powerful. After all, not all amplification-type skills can increase with the improvement of cultivation."

Other people, like Yu Tianheng, his amplification-type skills are fixed.

However, Zhu Zhuqing's Dark Demon Wind-Lightning Transformation can become stronger in the future because her Dark Demon Nether Transformation can also increase all attributes, and that increase can grow with the breakthrough of her spirit power level.

"This level of amplification is enough."

Tang San smiled, "For you, the offensive capabilities of your Spirit Abilities—First Soul Skill: Hell Rush Stab, Second Soul Skill: Hell Hundred Strikes—are already sufficient. The rest is to use the spirit ring to supplement your foundation, and then with your own strength, leverage the heaven and earth energy of the entire Douluo Continent, which will be enough for you to dominate the world."

Currently, Zhu Zhuqing's physical quality is also continuously strengthening. The Dark Demonic Evil God Tiger's spirit ring caused her Spirit to evolve, and it also brought her an external Spirit Bone: Dark Demon Bone Armor.

As a Spirit Emperor, her physical quality can already rival that of an ordinary Titled Douluo.

Coupled with her speed, Dark Demon Bone Armor, and the two amplification-type Spirit Abilities, Dark Demon Nether Transformation and Dark Demon Wind-Lightning Transformation, Zhu Zhuqing is now capable of contending with a Titled Douluo.

If she can more perfectly control the balance between the spirit power circulation circuit and the Spirit maintenance circuit, leveraging the heaven and earth energy with the least amount of effort, Zhu Zhuqing could even fight a Super Douluo above ninety-fifth rank.

"The power to dominate the world is still not comparable to you," Zhu Zhuqing blurted out, then realizing Xiao Wu and Lan Yinzi were also nearby, she felt her words were too direct. She immediately changed the topic and began discussing matters in the Star Luo Empire, "Speaking of which, I am currently trying to instill the concept of non-infighting among the children and youth of the Zhu Family and Dai Family, but with little success."

"I understand." Tang San seemed not to have heard the first half of her sentence and began discussing the latter half, slowly saying, "The most influential factor on a child's character is their own elders, followed by others. Change is not something that happens overnight, unless the child was left to their own devices by their parents from the start, without care."

Given the brutal struggle within the Star Luo Imperial Family, unless there's an overwhelming display of greater force, they won't change. After all, the prevailing atmosphere in the Star Luo Empire is quite "open" and "combative."

If Zhu Zhuqing wants to change things, there is currently only one path before her: to crush everything with overwhelming strength, seize the Dai Family's imperial throne, and then initiate major reforms.

Because you are the strongest, others cannot resist.

Otherwise, she can only take it slowly, and—

Wait.

Spirit Hall is currently growing stronger, having a unique impact on the entire Continent. Whether a war breaks out in the future or the perceptions of people across the Continent are subtly changed, these are all opportunities for Zhu Zhuqing.

What Zhu Zhuqing needs to do now is to continuously enrich herself, not just in terms of strength, but also in politics, culture, management, economics, and so on. She must know a little about everything, and that "little" must be second only to those rulers, teachers, officials, and businessmen who have been immersed in these fields for many years.

If a perfect score is one hundred, she must have at least eighty points in these areas.

To be an emperor, one must understand a little bit of everything.

Great strength can only subdue those immediately present; the further one is from the imperial city, the more "free" and absurd those minor officials become.

Hearing Tang San say this, Zhu Zhuqing's heart sank as she realized her own immaturity, but a strong desire to bravely catch up also surged within her.

It is precisely because there are difficulties that it is worth the challenge!

Moreover, she has now become a Spirit Emperor, so she doesn't need to worry too much about her strength. She just needs to master her Spirit Abilities, and the rest is mainly to research her two sets of energy circulation circuits.

Counting it this way, she actually has quite a lot of free time, so she doesn't necessarily have to spend all of it practicing traditional arts; she can participate in the management of the Star Luo Empire.

With her strength, plus her sisterly relationship with Crown Prince Consort Zhu Zhuyun, getting an official position would be incredibly easy.

Moreover, in Zhu Zhuqing's opinion, the Star Luo Empire is more suitable for the imperial examination system than the Heaven Dou Empire.

After all, there aren't as many kingdoms and duchies within the Star Luo Empire's borders. Besides the Dai Family, Zhu Family, and other families that existed since its founding, there aren't as many hereditary nobles as in the Heaven Dou Empire, making the implementation of the imperial examination system much easier than in the Heaven Dou Empire.

"I understand, Third Brother." Zhu Zhuqing nodded slightly, then asked, "Are you also out hunting Spirit Beasts?"

"Yes," Tang San nodded, "Xiao Wu and I are already Spirit Saints, and Lan Yinzi has also reached the Spirit Emperor rank. Guang Ling and Rongrong are also close to becoming Spirit Emperors, and Huo Wu is almost entering the Spirit Saint realm."

"Everyone's progress is really fast! I thought after becoming a Spirit King, the spirit power required for each of your advancements would be substantial, and I could catch up. I didn't expect you to still surpass me by a major realm," Zhu Zhuqing sighed, then narrowed her eyes, "But, Captain, why do you know so much about Rongrong and Huo Wu?"

"And Lan Yinzi, why is she also following you?"

The five-year agreement was set, and then Yu Feng, Bai Chenxiang, Shi Mo, Shi Mo, Yu Tianheng, and Dugu Yan separated quite far. As for the others, besides her returning to the Star Luo Empire, they all live in the same place, right?

"How should I put it? We all live in Spirit City, so we're quite close." Tang San shrugged, describing the specific situation in Spirit City, "You must have received the news, right? Information travels very fast now. You must have seen what Spirit City looks like now through photos and videos, haven't you?"

"Indeed, I never imagined that Spirit Hall, by having Spirit Masters and ordinary people build together, could unleash such creativity. In just two or three years, such a large city could be established."

Zhu Zhuqing was indeed distracted, beginning to ponder how to manage Spirit Masters...

373: Zhu Zhuqing is not suitable to be emperor

Spirit Masters have always been arrogant, and managing them is not easy. Even if Zhu Zhuqing is powerful enough to openly suppress them, she cannot stop them from causing trouble in secret.

Spirit Hall's success was actually quite fortunate.

After all, most Spirit Masters who joined Spirit Hall still had faith, for example: for the glory of the angel.

Although this sentence did not have concrete content, it at least provided some cohesion for Spirit Hall to manage so many people. Afterwards, Spirit Hall began to promote “Establishing Spirit for Heaven and Earth, Forging Souls for All Beings,” and continuously enriched its connotations: labor creates value (wealth), thinking summarizes experience, culture enriches wisdom, and so on.

Then, they practically began to recruit talents from all walks of life, carried out research diligently, cultivated high-yield crops, mined, built roads, established spirit tool factories, provided employment, established Spirit enlightenment academies, and so on.

Moreover, the funds obtained from the Two Great Empires were required to be publicly disclosed by all major sub-halls, and everyone could supervise and report on their usage.

Although darkness was not eliminated, only hidden deeper, for the vast majority of people on the continent, Spirit Hall's actions were much more just and fair than the Two Great Empires.

At least, Spirit Hall was continuously improving.

And what about the Two Great Empires?

Zhu Zhuqing realized that the high-level officials within the Two Great Empires had deeply entrenched networks of interests, making change not an overnight affair.

Either everything is completely overturned and rebuilt, or it's a slow boil, waiting for the older generation to die, and before the new generation has fully taken over the older generation's status, wealth, and interests, exerting influence, generation after generation, to implement reforms.

The latter was directly ruled out by Zhu Zhuqing!

Too long!

She didn't want to drag it out for so long, feeling that short-term pain was better than long-term pain, and uprooting it completely would be simpler.

“Strength can make Spirit Masters submit verbally; so how can we make them submit wholeheartedly?” Zhu Zhuqing asked.

“What do you think is the foundation of politics?” Tang San asked.

“Interest?” Zhu Zhuqing recalled the high-ranking officials and nobles of the Star Luo Empire, with whom she had many interactions. She also heard from Zhu Zhuyun that the connections of interests between various officials and families were extremely deep. It was an invisible, intangible web of power and desire, intertwined and difficult to remove.

Didn't the Star Luo Empire openly research weapon-type spirit tools, and a large number of families obstructed it both openly and secretly?

Did they know that offensive spirit tools could make the Empire stronger?

They knew.

But this would harm their immediate interests.

Long-term vision was something that people in every family could see, but human hearts are selfish. When Spirit-type spirit tools are vigorously developed, the role of these families, which were established based on Spirit, will become less significant, and their future status will inevitably not be as high. Even an ordinary Spirit Master with a talent for spirit tool research might, in the future, be able to look down on these noble great families.

How could they tolerate this?

In addition, most of these families held a 侥幸心理 (lucky mentality), believing that the Heaven Dou Empire and Spirit Hall would not launch an unjust war against Star Luo.

After all, the outbreak of war on the continent always requires a grand and justifiable reason to be embellished, no matter how absurd that reason may be. But ultimately, war cannot be initiated for no reason, otherwise, it would be no different from a madman.

This was the consensus of the continent.

But the root of war, after all, is for profit.

“No.” Tang San shook his head. “The essence of politics has only one point, and that is to make your friends many and your enemies few.”

A glint flashed in Zhu Zhuqing's eyes: “So, we should kill all the enemies and keep the friends, right?”

“That is the worst option, and the best option is to turn enemies into friends, and in this process, you must be the dominant one.” Tang San smiled faintly, “Within a family, there are always people whose thoughts differ from the family's mainstream. You can find those who share your aspirations and build your own team.”

Building a team requires confidence.

And Zhu Zhuqing just happened to have it!

That was her immense strength!

Of course, strength alone is not enough. She needs to enrich herself in other areas. That's why Tang San had told her before that she needed to understand economics, management, education, and other aspects.

It's not expected that she understands everything, but at least when encountering corresponding problems, she won't be led by the nose or fooled by others.

“I don't want to deal with those people superficially.” Zhu Zhuqing frowned slightly, clearly having no interest in putting on a show. Towards others, unless she knew them, she usually maintained a cold expression.

“So, I said, you need to find those who share your aspirations.” Tang San smiled, but sighed inwardly. After all, with Zhu Zhuqing's personality, she couldn't be an emperor.

The person in that position could be majestic, or muddled, or even tyrannical.

But they absolutely couldn't be a high-and-mighty person with an icy expression.

An emperor who is sparing with words...

Is the sorrow of an Empire.

Even for emperors who are articulate and express their meaning clearly, their subjects would ponder their every word a dozen times, to see if there were any other hidden meanings.

And an emperor who barely speaks, the subjects below would probably go “crazy.”

Zhu Zhuqing pondered, then nodded: “Indeed, if their thoughts are similar to mine and they have the courage to act, then I should be able to get along with them.”

“Don't talk about these things.” Xiao Wu had no interest in such matters. She took Zhu Zhuqing's hand and asked, “How long will you be out this time before you go back? Did your family not have any requirements? Why don't we go play in Spirit City?”

“Alright.” Thinking that she could spend more time with Tang San, Zhu Zhuqing was very tempted. Without much hesitation, she agreed—anyway, things in the Star Luo Empire were still the same. Everything else could wait until she returned and suggested to her elder sister that she participate in the Empire's affairs.

On the way to Spirit City, while staying at an inn, seeing Xiao Wu and Tang San sharing a room, a hint of melancholy appeared on Zhu Zhuqing's face. She thought to herself, “Xiao Wu got the advantage of being close.”

After Lan Yinzi noticed Zhu Zhuqing's expression, she pulled her over and said, “You also like Tang San, right? Don't deny it, I can tell.”

“You little girl, you're also a lovesick one.”

Zhu Zhuqing looked at Lan Yinzi with a strange expression: “Lan Yinzi, you're not older than me, are you? Calling me a little girl? Isn't that a bit too much?”

“Ahem, actually, I'm quite old.” Lan Yinzi pretended to be mature, but her young face had no convincing power whatsoever.

Zhu Zhuqing just felt she was joking and didn't take it to heart, asking, “When did Xiao Wu and San Ge start sharing a room? Do they also live together in Spirit City?”

If so, she felt it would be difficult to snatch Tang San from Xiao Wu. After all, Xiao Wu was still Tang San's adopted sister, childhood sweethearts, innocent and pure... She felt she had no chance. Did she have to be one of two women serving one husband? If it was Xiao Wu, it wouldn't be impossible.

At this moment, she completely forgot her attitude when she looked down on Dai Mubai...

374: Discussion about Xu Xing

“After the Continental Elite Tournament,” Lan Yinzi truthfully replied, “You know, their relationship was already ambiguous. Besides them, there was also Guang Ling, and then Ning Rongrong, and finally Huo Wu.”

“Four?” Zhu Zhuqing’s eyes widened in disbelief, but she didn’t think Tang San was a scumbag. Instead, she thought he was too attractive to girls.

Xiao Wu and Guang Ling were understandable. After all, they grew up with Tang San, and over time, it was only natural for feelings to develop uncontrollably.

But Ning Rongrong and Huo Wu joining in made it intriguing.

One was the little princess of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, and the other was a fire-type Spirit Master with extraordinary talent. Both were extremely proud, so how could they tolerate their significant other seeking other women?

It could only be that Tang San was too outstanding.

Outstanding in every aspect.

Thinking of this, Zhu Zhuqing couldn’t help but blush, but in front of Lan Yinzi, she maintained her composure, stabilized her emotions, and asked, “What about you?”

Lan Yinzi spread her hands and said, “My relationship with him is even closer, but it’s not that kind of romantic love. It’s more like a mother’s care for her son.”

Zhu Zhuqing suddenly felt that this pure and lively Lan Yinzi was the one who played the most.

Mother-son role-play?

If it were true, she would also think Tang San was the “father” and Lan Yinzi was the “daughter.” This Lan Yinzi was going to pull a trick to become the master.

“Believe it or not,” Lan Yinzi saw the strangeness and distrust in Zhu Zhuqing’s eyes and didn’t continue. She just suggested, “If you really like Tang San, my advice is to suddenly barge in and actively join. Tang San is someone who likes to be passive, and after being passive, he becomes active.”

Zhu Zhuqing nodded in agreement, then realized something was off: “How do you know so much?”

“As his mother, it’s normal to look at his little secrets, right?” Lan Yinzi said with a look of course.

Zhu Zhuqing: “.....”

I really can’t tell that this Lan Yinzi is also a peeping tom... I need to be careful of her in the future. How can such secrets be easily known to others?

Absolutely not!

However, Zhu Zhuqing ultimately didn’t have the courage to barge into Tang San and Xiao Wu’s room, and on the way to Spirit City, she didn’t mention it at all.

This kind of thing was still quite embarrassing for her to talk about.

However, to avoid a lack of conversation topics, Zhu Zhuqing brought up another matter: the Star Crown Sect’s exploration of the sea.

“Haohai Sky Ark?” Hearing Zhu Zhuqing say that she secretly saw the Star Crown Sect’s departure to sea and her description of that large ship, Tang San immediately understood the origin of that large ship—most likely, a strong individual within the Star Crown Sect explored the core of the Infinite Desert three hundred years ago, survived, and left this Haohai Sky Ark to the Sect.

It’s no wonder that when they encountered the Star Crown Sect in the Infinite Desert, the leading Star Elder had some understanding of the rules in the core area.

“So that big ship is called the Haohai Sky Ark.” After hearing Tang San’s description of the core of the Infinite Desert, Zhu Zhuqing suddenly understood, and then became even more wary of the Star Crown Sect.

Although the Dai Family and Zhu Family also had relevant information about the core area of the Infinite Desert, the records were only limited to Desert storms and the hundred-year opening, and there was no record of Spirit-guided mechs.

The Star Crown Sect concealed this matter from the Dai Family and Zhu Family!

“Then Xu Xing should have gone to sea to explore the ocean, or perhaps overseas islands. His talent is not weak, and once his cultivation reaches Spirit Saint, he will probably awaken the Domain he displayed in the Continental Elite Tournament.” Compared to the entire Star Crown Sect, the person Zhu Zhuqing was most wary of was still Xu Xing.

That guy’s talent was extremely powerful, especially his Star Domain. Once unleashed, the space-time within it would be dominated by him.

Although he needed to borrow star power from others to unleash its true power in the tournament, and Tang San’s Blue Silver Emperor had enveloped the Domain’s barrier and rooted it to the ground, preventing him from changing the orientation within the Domain, if he truly grew up and his Domain truly awakened, it was possible that he could indeed achieve a Space-Time Domain or Star Domain.

“Xu Xing is a very ambitious person,” Zhu Zhuqing continued, “Although I don’t know him well, he is unwilling to be subordinate to others.”

Tang San didn’t comment on this point, after all, he was also unwilling to be subordinate to others, unless it was in bed... Ahem, it should only be that he had the ability to make Bibi Dong concede.

And Xu Xing didn’t have the ability to make Dai Legao retreat.

“The development of the ocean is also important, but not now. We still need to develop and utilize the land first, as the current ocean cannot grow crops.” As for whether Xu Xing’s sea expedition could develop marine resources, Tang San didn’t care. In his previous life’s modern society, with advanced technology, humanity’s development of the ocean was but a drop in the ocean, let alone Xu Xing, who only had one Haohai Sky Ark. What ocean could he develop?

Unless one day he awakened a system and directly cheated.

Therefore, Xu Xing’s exploration of the sea could at most only find other islands or land. In Tang San’s imagination, he might want to be the Magellan of the Douluo World, circumnavigating the World and discovering a new continent—the Sun Moon Continent.

According to Tang San’s conjecture, in ten thousand years, the Sun Moon Continent would be able to collide with the Douluo Continent’s plate, based on two possibilities.

One, the Sun Moon Continent was not far from the Douluo Continent to begin with.

Two, there was an existence that promoted the occurrence of this event, increasing the area of the Douluo Continent.

Otherwise, in this real World, it would be impossible for continental plates to drift and collide within ten thousand years, unless the planet’s core and the plane’s consciousness jointly promoted it... Uh, this is actually possible, after all, in the Douluo Series, after Tang Hao and Ah Yin became gods, they have been living in seclusion on the Douluo Continent...

Cutting off distracting thoughts, Tang San continued, "If you are really worried, you can pay more attention to the Star Crown Sect's situation in the future, but I estimate that for three to five years, you probably won't hear about any major moves from the Star Crown Sect."

"That's true. The sea is vast and mysterious. Even if the Star Crown Sect has a Haohai Sky Ark, there's a chance they could get lost in it..." Zhu Zhuqing also knew the difficulty of exploring the sea. Even though the Two Great Empires and Spirit Hall began training armies and Spirit Master teams to explore the ocean after Tang San announced the use of whale glue, they are currently only exploring coastal areas and have not ventured into other areas of the deep sea.

In addition to the lack of talent with navigation knowledge, more importantly, there are countless sea Spirit Beasts in the deep sea, and ten-thousand-year-old ones are as numerous as cattle.

This is the biggest obstacle for the three major forces of the Douluo Continent in exploring the sea.

And Tang San's attitude towards developing the ocean was very simple: it was something to be done in the future. For now, preparations could be made in advance, but they should not act blindly.

Luck is important, but thorough preparation is even more important before the actual departure.

After all, Tang San had more Haohai Sky Arks in his hands, but he didn't directly give them to Spirit Hall because the Spirit-guided equipment inside the Haohai Sky Arks hadn't been fully understood yet...

...

At the same time, after about three years of sailing the Haohai Sky Ark, and getting lost multiple times, they finally found a new coastline...

375: Xu Xing discovers the New World

After more than three years, Xu Xing, who had endured many hardships, saw the coastline again and couldn't help but cry.

He truly regretted it!

If he had known how tiring and difficult going out to sea would be, he wouldn't have told the patriarch.

Besides storms and extreme weather, the most troublesome risk of going out to sea was the sense of bewilderment.

Initially, most people on the Haohai Sky Ark (except for the sailors) were quite excited because it was their first time seeing the sea, but after half a month, everyone developed a slight aversion to the sea.

Looking around, there was no sign of human habitation, only deep blue, ink-like water surrounding them, as if the entire World, apart from their Haohai Sky Ark, was nothing but seawater.

Three months later, some people couldn't bear it, but they were comforted by Xu Xing, whose will was slightly depressed.

Half a year later, Xu Xing himself couldn't bear it anymore and even wanted to return, but returning empty-handed, having found nothing, was truly unwilling, so he could only continue forward.

Later, they entered unfamiliar waters, and even if they wanted to return, they didn't know which direction to take. The sailors on the ship, having entered uncharted waters, were also at a loss, somewhat bewildered.

But fortunately, the Haohai Sky Ark was powerful; even when faced with collisions from 100,000-year-level Spirit Beasts from the seabed, it remained as solid as a rock, unmoving and unshaken, thus ensuring everyone's safety.

It was just that as time passed, the food on the Haohai Sky Ark became scarcer. Sea fish could be caught everywhere, but constant consumption of sea fish caused adverse reactions of physical weakness among the people on board, which even Spirit Masters could not avoid.

Fortunately, along the way, they also discovered some islands and collected many edible wild vegetables and fruits, and even laid out a large area of farmland on the deck of the Haohai Sky Ark.

Although they couldn't plant rice or wheat, it was sufficient for growing some vegetables.

In this way, everyone sailed on the sea for more than three years. During this period, some people on the ship mutinied, and some wanted to escape, but all were stopped by Xu Xing, who even resorted to killing others as a warning.

It could be said that over these three years, Xu Xing also grew a lot. His decisiveness in killing was already beyond what ordinary people could compare to; anyone who dared to defy him was killed, including fellow members of the Star Crown Sect.

On the entire Haohai Sky Ark, there was only one voice, and that was his, Xu Xing's!

But now, seeing the coastline, which resembled the belly of a fish, Xu Xing still became excited and shouted to the people on the Haohai Sky Ark, "Speed up! Let's go ashore!"

"Yes!"

The crew members were also excited. In terms of their longing for land, they surpassed Xu Xing—

The monotony of the sea voyage and the oppression from Captain Xu Xing made them powerless to resist. Now, seeing new land, for them, meant that this torment was finally about to end. The last things they needed to do were nothing more than two:

Firstly, a portion of them would return to report to the Star Crown Sect that they had discovered a new continent, to bring them over, establish a foothold here, and reign supreme.

Secondly, the remaining portion would stay on this new continent as the foundation for establishing a new kingdom, and in the future, they would surely be recorded in history, remembered and revered by future generations!

How could such a great undertaking not be exciting! How could it not be thrilling!

As the Haohai Sky Ark docked, Xu Xing was the first to disembark. Stepping on the solid ground, a surge of excitement inexplicably rose in his heart: Humans must live on the land!

“Everyone, our three-year journey was not in vain. We have found a new continent; this is a new future!” Xu Xing shouted, excitement evident in his eyes.

This new continent must be the Sun and Moon Continent!

The Sun and Moon Continent from 10,000 years ago!

In peerless tang sect, the quantity and quality of Spirit Masters on the Sun and Moon Continent could not compare to those on the Douluo Continent. Their only advantage was significant research in spirit tools.

And now, 10,000 years ago, the development of spirit tools on this continent must not be as exaggerated as described in the second part. In fact, whether the countries on this continent have unified is still an unknown.

Therefore, there is only one thing to do next: investigate the forces on this continent and identify their strongest individuals, so that in the future, they can gain a firm foothold on this continent and gradually expand their rule...

...After returning to Spirit City, Tang San went to report his Soul Hunting situation to Bibi Dong, while Zhu Zhuqing was pulled by Xiao Wu and Lan Yinzi to go shopping.

“A 500,000-year seventh spirit ring, your luck is truly good.”

Bibi Dong showed a hint of resentment. Before leaving, she had clearly said that he wouldn't encounter any Spirit Beasts willing to offer themselves as sacrifices. So how could this 500,000-year spirit ring be explained now?

And another Soul Spirit named A Lan had appeared.

The evidence is as solid as a mountain!

This was absolutely a sacrifice!

Why were Spirit Beasts willing to offer themselves as sacrifices when this kid hunted for souls? Could it be that those Spirit Beasts no longer wanted to cultivate and believed that Tang San could lead them to break through the shackles of the mortal realm?

“Supreme Pontiff, this is not something I can stop. If they are willing to do it themselves, there's nothing I can do.” Tang San shrugged: ㄗ()ㄗ.

It could be said that Tang San was constantly testing Bibi Dong's bottom line, becoming more and more “presumptuous.”

This smug look made Bibi Dong want to hit him—this kid was inexplicably asking for a beating!

“The Blue Silver Emperor you planted has mutated. There are swirling mists near the twelve main leaves. What's going on?” Bibi Dong asked about this matter.

“After obtaining the seventh spirit ring, my Spirit once again transformed, becoming the Blue Silver Emperor. Those Blue Silver Emperor Martial Souls that were previously planted were also influenced by me and began to slowly evolve. In the end, they will also transform into the Blue Silver Emperor, allowing the roots underground to grow deeper and the range of the Blue Silver Network to further expand.”

Tang San briefly described the reason, then spoke about his cultivation insights regarding essence, qi, and Spirit.

“However, the greatest gain was that while I condensed the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, I also forged a Nascent Soul. It is a form of existence similar to a divine soul, yet different.”

“If a god is bound by corresponding laws while controlling them, then a Nascent Soul can control all laws while being unrestrained.”

“If essence, qi, and Spirit complete their cycle and the human body transforms into the prototype of a universe, then this Nascent Soul is the will that governs the universe.”

“And the path to take next is to continuously control all matter and energy within the body, moving in the microscopic direction, from organs to tissues, then to cells, followed by cellular components, blood factors, genetic information, molecular structures, atoms, protons, electrons, and quantum information.”

By the end, Bibi Dong no longer understood, but she generally grasped Tang San's meaning, which was to continuously control the minute components within the human body.

At her level, she also had some understanding of her own structure, which was composed of countless tiny particles.

Those were cells.

And inside cells, there were also various tiny structures, and within those tiny structures, there were even tinier structures, repeating endlessly... If they returned to reality, perhaps their World was also one of the “tiny structural components” of some existence.

“How does one forge a Nascent Soul?” However, Bibi Dong was more concerned about this point. Compared to condensing a divine soul, she felt that the Nascent Soul was the key to a true transformation of Life essence.

She had also learned about the concept of the undying true Spirit through Tang San's Blue Silver Network.

That was the true foundation of a soul! Even an existence like her, with the ability to devour souls, could not capture it, and could only glimpse the form of the undying true Spirit that manifested for an instant after a soul naturally perished, through the illusory Starry Sky World within the Blue Silver Network!

Although from a mortal perspective (including Bibi Dong and Tang San), memory was considered very important, a testament to a person's existence, both speculated that to truly achieve eternity—to not have one's personality distorted by living too long—the undying true Spirit might be the most crucial point.

Tang San and Bibi Dong were now beginning to contemplate the troubles after breaking through to the God level...

“When the transformation and circulation between essence, qi, and Spirit reach a certain level, they will naturally nourish the soul and forge a Nascent Soul.”

Tang San pondered for a moment and said, “It's like the rotation of the sun and moon, the changing of the four seasons, and the growth and decay of all things; it's a natural process.”

“Of course, if the efficiency of transformation and circulation between the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset can be increased, this process can also be accelerated.”

376: Golden elixir ring, heart core ring, spirit grid ring

The reason Bibi Dong did not achieve a deeper transformation of her soul and cultivate a primordial Spirit when condensing the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, Tang San felt, was most likely because her understanding of the three treasures of essence, qi, and Spirit was not as profound as his, preventing the resonance between the three from reaching a certain level.

At least, for Tang San himself, his body and the Douluo's world were constantly connected through energy at all times.

But Bibi Dong seemed to lack this form of energy interaction.

Moreover, in terms of cultivation methods, Bibi Dong's main cultivation method was still the Soul Power Twin Cultivation Method, with spirit power as the foundation, and mental force and qi and blood being secondary.

Even though she had recently been deriving some specialized body-forging methods from the Body Forging Art and incorporating them into the Soul Power Twin Cultivation Method, it was ultimately still not as good as Tang San's Creation and Destruction True Scripture, Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method, and Cosmic Meditation.

The only advantage might be that Bibi Dong's Soul Power Twin Cultivation Method could cultivate essence, qi, and Spirit simultaneously, while Tang San's three divine arts would require further integration in the future to achieve perfect fusion.

For Tang San, this was also a somewhat imprecise comparative experiment: was it better to unify the three from the beginning, or to cultivate the three treasures of essence, qi, and Spirit separately and then unify them later.

However, looking at the current situation, both methods ultimately lead to the same destination.

It's just that in terms of completeness, Tang San's three cultivation methods were much better; while in terms of unity, Bibi Dong's Soul Power Twin Cultivation Method was slightly superior.

But Tang San had discovered in the past that as the completeness of his three arts increased, their interconnections also became tighter, and when they could perfectly connect one day, they would surely become a brand new cultivation method.

And what about Bibi Dong?

The efficiency of conversion between her Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset was far inferior to his, and many details were not perfected, resulting in lower efficiency in energy conversion and circulation among the three compared to his own.

Thus, the impact on her own soul was also smaller.

"It seems my Soul Power Twin Cultivation Method is not yet perfected, so I'm not as good as you in the resonance of the three aspects of essence, qi, and Spirit, and thus unable to cause my soul to transform." Bibi Dong understood why she hadn't formed a primordial Spirit and was no longer anxious. She then asked about another matter: "Have you condensed the 'rings' around the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset? What are the energy flow paths within them?"

"That's also what I'm going to talk about next."

Tang San used spirit power to shape a human model, marking the upper, middle, and lower Dantian, then mimicked the appearance of the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, and constructed corresponding spirit ring-like objects around the three. "First, I must state clearly that the three major Dantian of the human body—Guanyuan, Shanzhong, and Yintang—appear small on the surface, but they contain vastness. Demonstrating them this way is just for clarity."

Bibi Dong drooped her eyelids, slightly speechless: "No need to tell me this, I'm not a three-year-old child, understand?"

"After all, this kind of cultivation has never been summarized or systematized before, so I explained it in more detail." Tang San chuckled, controlling the human model in his hand, demonstrating to Bibi Dong the rhythm between the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, as well as the vibration of those three peculiar 'rings'.

"After condensing the corresponding rings, the energy flow circuits within them can actually be changed, meaning they can be continuously added to and improved, because these three spirit rings are condensed from my essence, qi, and Spirit, and can be said to move according to my will."

"Therefore, in the future, we need to continuously research various Spirit Ability that can convert spirit power into qi and blood, and mental force, record their flow paths, and constantly experiment, discover, analyze, classify, generalize, and summarize, and then, according to our respective Spirit, try to see which one is more suitable."

"Just the initial collection is a huge undertaking. Besides that, everyone's Spirit is different, and the main routes of spirit power operation are also different. Summarizing and generalizing the energy circuits suitable for oneself is also a very tedious process."

"Based on the current progress, at least within a hundred years, we will not be able to summarize a systematic energy conversion and circulation circuit that future generations can follow step-by-step to inscribe on these three special rings. We can only try which circuits are more suitable for ourselves based on our own situations."

Bibi Dong pondered for a moment, then asked, "Then, how much time will it take to record the energy circuits of those Spirit Ability that can convert spirit power into qi and blood, and mental force?"

"That depends on how many relevant Spirit Ability Spirit Hall can collect." Tang San pushed up the glasses on his nose and began to hypothesize, "Currently, I have spirit tool brought back from the Golden Ancient Tree. If we take out those that can assist in research, we can record the energy circuits of the Spirit Ability operating within the relevant spirit rings more quickly."

"But there's no doubt that this also requires the cooperation of a large number of Spirit Master... With Spirit Hall's current development model, it will probably take a hundred years to summarize a portion of the relevant energy flow, conversion, and circulation circuits."

"If we are lucky, perhaps we can find the basic structural composition of the Spirit Ability flow circuits. At that time, as long as we generalize those basic structures and then experiment with each other, it can be pushed forward relatively easily."

The function of spirit tool and Spirit Ability have a similar ingenious connection. Tang San felt that he could draw inferences about other cases from one instance, but the combination of the twelve basic spirit tool attributes was too complex—that is, if you take two out and combine them, as long as the proportions of their quantities are different, the effects produced after combination will be different.

Not to mention the spirit power flow paths within the spirit ring, which are even more complex.

It can be said that all human inventions and Creation, whether objects or cultivation, have the shadow of bionics.

spirit tool were also created by imitating the principles of human spirit ring Spirit Ability, capable of exerting better, stronger, and more effective power than corresponding Spirit Ability, but in terms of precision, they are definitely not as good as the original spirit power flow paths within the spirit ring.

The spirit tool technology of the Golden Civilization might be able to achieve the same precision as the spirit power flow paths within the spirit ring, but unfortunately, the research materials on the surface there have already been destroyed.

"So, at this stage, condensing rings similar to spirit rings outside those three cores is useless?" Bibi Dong frowned slightly.

"That's not true. At least, with those three rings, I feel that my control over the three aspects of essence, qi, and Spirit has become more precise. I can even influence the structure within every cell of my body through these three energies."

Tang San denied Bibi Dong's "current stage uselessness theory."

"Moreover, I also found that we can engrave our existing cultivation method routes on these three rings. This can also improve the conversion, flow, and circulation efficiency of essence, qi, and Spirit, which is equivalent to two bodies cultivating together. It can be considered a cultivation cheat, and currently, no side effects have been found."

Bibi Dong was thoughtful and planned to condense the three rings according to the method Tang San gave her.

At least, Tang San wouldn't lie to her.

"Have you given these three rings any names?"

"Not yet, but if I were to name them, it would be simple. They correspond to the three major cores, so they can be called the Golden Core Ring, Heart Core Ring, and Lingge Ring."

When it came to naming, Tang San was always straightforward and easy to understand, allowing people to know at a glance what each of the three represented.

377: The second soul seal throne!

Heavenly catastrophe!

The Golden Core Ring corresponds to the Qi and Blood Golden Core, the Heart Core Ring corresponds to the Soul Power Core, and the Lingge Ring corresponds to the Spiritual Mindset. To enhance the effects of these three, one can only continuously sample and record the operational routes of Spirit Abilities within various spirit rings, then categorize and summarize them. Otherwise, currently, they can only be used to replicate the energy circulation circuits of one's original cultivation method.

Although this can also be used to improve cultivation efficiency, if it were merely for that, the function of these three rings would be greatly diminished.

The main reason is that the era Tang San is in is too backward; everything has to start from scratch.

However, it is precisely because of this that Tang San has motivation.

After all, there is naturally more sense of accomplishment in something one researches oneself compared to simply taking something readily available.

“This is quite good,” Bibi Dong felt that being able to improve the efficiency of circulation, transformation, and cycling between her essence, qi, and Spirit was already sufficient. As for the future... she felt she would have to postpone her breakthrough to level 100 again.

As for Tang Chen of the Clear Sky Sect achieving the position of Asura God... this is indeed a hidden danger, but for now, if she and Tang San use their Martial Soul Fusion Skill, they should be able to deal with Tang Chen who has just become a God, right?

After leaving the Supreme Pontiff Palace, Tang San returned to Soul Martial Manor. Seeing that Xiao Wu, Lan Yinzi, and Zhuqing had not returned, he didn't pay much attention, but instead went to the forging room and began the final forging of the second Soul Imprint Throne.

“How many patterns is this forging?” Gu Yuena walked in, watching Tang San strike the main body of the Soul Imprint Throne with the Clear Sky Hammer, and asked curiously.

“The material is all eight-pattern forged metal,” Tang San continued to strike, responding without turning his head, “If it’s completed, it can become a divine tool, a true divine tool.”

The Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne, made of only seven-pattern forged metal, is a semi-divine tool. This one uses eight-pattern forged metal, so after its completion, it will definitely be a divine tool level.

However, its core cannot use a poor Spirit Bone; it must at least be a 100,000-year level Spirit Bone, or some unique metal, or a treasure.

Currently, Tang San has two materials that can serve as its core: Living Gold, and that 10,000-year-level whale pearl.

The whale pearl is a bit inferior; it is the inner core of a 10,000-year-old whale Spirit Beast. Although its energy has been exhausted, the outer shell remains intact, so it can still serve as a core.

“Divine tool!” Gu Yuena naturally knew the power of the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne. Her eyes lit up, and she couldn't help but ask, “Can you give this second one to me?”

“You'll have to wait. This one is for a friend of mine.”

The first Soul Imprint Throne was given to Spirit Hall for Hu Liena's use, which could be said to be his initiation as a Holy Son. This second one, however, is for Iliex.

Firstly, it is to thank him for his help and care over the years.

Secondly, it is to give Iliex strong combat capabilities, allowing him to use this divine tool, which can transform into divine armor, to manifest a body and assist him in combat.

As for why it isn't made of nine-pattern forged metal?

Tang San had perceived this World with his primordial Spirit. Once nine-pattern forged metal is crafted, heavenly tribulation will descend, and there will be nine bolts, each equivalent to a fierce beast's tribulation.

Nine-pattern forged metal is already sentient; it can be said to be a true Life.

And in this World, non-human Life forms are considered “Spirit Beasts” by the rules of heaven and earth, unless they exist in certain special places (Slaughter City); otherwise, after death, they will drop spirit rings.

More importantly, crafting nine-pattern forged metal would inevitably attract special attention from the God Realm. It's better to be discreet, lest he try to steal a chicken and lose the rice.

At least, those Divinities in the God Realm, except for the Sea God, Asura God, Life, and Destruction, should not pay too much attention to the Douluo Continent.

And for a Divinity to observe specific matters in the lower realm across the endless void, they must rely on coordinates, such as: various inheritance grounds, or Domains, divine tools, and divine tests bestowed by a God.

Otherwise, they can only personally send down a trace of divine sense, for example: the God of Life sensing Tang San's Life aura and sending a trace of divine sense down to investigate.

“Friend? Who?” Gu Yuena was puzzled, thinking it wasn't Yu Tianheng or Dugu Yan. Could it be Bibi Dong? Speaking of this woman who is already extremely close to a God, her aura is also intertwined with Tang San's... what a philandering man!

Buzz!

As his right hand left his forehead, a crystal-clear short sword emerged from Tang San's forehead.

This was precisely the Dragon-Pattern Silver Crystal Sword.

The dragon patterns within it, with Iliex's help, had been separated and became Tang San's third Spirit: the Five Clawed Golden Dragon, while the remaining outer shell became a tool for Iliex, used to store Xiao Wu's mother's soul and the wandering souls and vengeful Spirits captured from Slaughter City.

Among them, Xiao Wu's mother's soul had already been sent by Tang San into the Starry Sky World within the Blue Silver Emperor's crowning pearl for nurturing, preparing for her eventual resurrection.

The remaining vengeful Spirits, after being sorted by Iliex, were merged and sealed within, becoming Iliex's summons.

And this Silver Crystal Sword is an excellent energy core carrier.

After all, this thing was originally a Spirit. Now materialized, it already possesses some properties of a divine tool. Combined with the Soul Imprint Throne, it will certainly become even more powerful.

Tang San held the Silver Crystal Sword and embedded it into the core recess of the copied throne. The energy patterns on the surface of the Soul Imprint Throne began to circulate, transforming the Silver Crystal Sword into a spherical gem that perfectly fit into place.

Rumble!

“Heavenly Tribulation!” Tang San sensed the violent fluctuations of the World's energy and immediately realized that this second god seal throne was too powerful, to the extent that the rules of heaven and earth had sensed it.

“Put it away!” Iliex spoke, and together with Tang San, they enveloped this Soul Imprint Throne with spirit power and mental force, and then stored it within his upper Dantian.

After fusing with the Silver Crystal Sword, this Soul Imprint Throne also acquired its characteristics. Coupled with the fact that this Soul Imprint Throne was already of divine tool level, it naturally could transform from solid to virtual and enter Tang San's upper Dantian.

Thus, it also managed to evade the heavenly tribulation.

In this Douluo Continent, heavenly tribulation is not a test from the heavens. Its purpose is to stifle the breakthroughs of non-humanoid beings, so undergoing tribulation offers no substantial benefits.

As the aura of the Soul Imprint Throne disappeared, the dark clouds in the sky also dispersed, vanishing without a trace—

“Perhaps His Royal Highness the Holy Son is cultivating some self-created Spirit Ability that can influence the weather.”

“His Royal Highness the Holy Son is truly amazing!”

“Perhaps Holy Maiden Guang Ling has researched some powerful spirit tool.”

Inside and outside Spirit City, people were curious and puzzled by the sudden change in weather, but ultimately attributed it to Tang San cultivating self-created Spirit Abilities, or Guang Ling's spirit tool research...

378: Conspiracy: How to make the soul armor

“Did Tang San really cause this?”

Huo Ke frowned, asking Tang Luoya, who was blacksmithing nearby, “Can he even change the weather now?”

Tang Luoya stopped his work, remained silent for a while, then suddenly said, “A mere Spirit Emperor shouldn’t have such abilities. Neither of his Spirits can change the weather.”

“I don’t think this has much to do with his Spirit,” Huo Ke twitched his mouth. The other party could already contend with Bibi Dong at the end of the Continental Elite Tournament; he must be even stronger now. Moreover, he is a Grandmaster in Spirit research and has made significant studies in spirit tools. It doesn’t seem like a big deal for him to create a skill or spirit tool that can change the weather, does it?

However, the dark cloud just now had the oppressive might of a city-crusher, making people feel extremely suppressed, as if it carried endless destructive power. Rather than a skill created by human effort, it was more like heavenly might...

Heavenly Tribulation!

Involuntarily, Huo Ke thought of this term!

Could there be a fierce beast in Spirit City that needs to undergo tribulation?

But why did the Heavenly Tribulation dissipate again?

Hearing Huo Ke's speculation, Tang Luoya fell silent again, saying, "Do you have a way to get the manufacturing method for Soul Armor from Lou Gao? It's not advisable to contact Tang San. We'll take the benefits and leave."

Thank heavens, this big oaf finally wised up!

Huo Ke sighed in his heart, then said, "Lou Gao has a private forging room that is almost completely sealed. To sneak in, we can only rely on the ventilation ducts."

These past few days, Tang Luoya had been diligently forging and earning money, while Huo Ke was responsible for gathering information on soul guidance technology, having figured out where Lou Gao usually worked: the Soul Guidance Forging Association.

That place is also the City Lord's mansion of this Soul Guidance Technology City.

However, compared to other cities on the Continent, this Soul Guidance Forging Association is also a laboratory for Lou Gao, Guang Ling, and others to research spirit tools and forge metals.

As for the news about Soul Armor, most members of Spirit Hall's Enforcement Hall have already put it on. Although it's only Hundred Forged, it can allow a Spirit Master to exert combat power close to a Spirit Elder.

This news was not concealed, as the effect of Soul Armor is excellent, and anyone can see the difference; it's impossible to hide.

But the manufacturing method of Soul Armor is deeply hidden.

Currently, there are quite a few spies from the Two Great Empires in this Soul Guidance Technology City, hoping to obtain information on Soul Armor.

Moreover, this Soul Armor is not sold externally. Each set and each part has a record. Once something unusual is discovered, it will be immediately reported for strict investigation.

Therefore, buying is definitely not an option; they can only find a way to obtain its manufacturing method. If they use higher-grade materials to make it in the future, they might even be able to create a divine tool.

And to steal the manufacturing method, they can only go to the Soul Guidance Forging Association.

Tang Luoya frowned deeply. Getting inside the Soul Guidance Forging Association is not an easy task, but he really didn't want to give up on the Soul Armor.

Although he was certain that Spirit Hall must have developed even more powerful armor internally, he wanted to catch up with Tang San's pace and had to rely on external forces; otherwise, wouldn't it be a wasted trip to this World?

Moreover, in his opinion, Soul Armor is the prototype of Battle Armor in Douluo San and Douluo Four, which greatly enhances strength. Coupled with his Spirit being the Clear Sky Hammer, his Rampaging Wind Technique, and even obtaining Asura Aura through Tang Chen's Asura Illusion, knowing the method and finding some precious metal materials would surely allow him to forge armor that could significantly boost his strength.

“I think you can just buy it,” Huo Ke suggested a bad idea, “After all, you were born in the Clear Sky Sect; they should give you some face.”

Tang Luoya was speechless and continued to hammer the iron block, saying, “If the Clear Sky Sect hadn't sealed its mountain, it might be possible, but now, why would he care about a Hao Tian Disciple like me?”

Huo Ke was surprised, not expecting this guy to actually have some brains and get serious: “Then, we can only find a way to act as a gentleman on the beam. The only problem is we need to find a way to destroy the surveillance of the Soul Guidance Blacksmiths' Association.”

This was also what made Huo Ke grit his teeth.

He never expected that under Tang San's influence, soul guidance surveillance would appear on the Douluo Continent, and it evolved from Sub-Mother Soul Guidance Photography Balls.

“Destroying the surveillance isn't difficult,” Tang Luoya said.

“It's not difficult, but the hard part is how to destroy the surveillance inside the Soul Guidance Forging Association,” Huo Ke said helplessly, “I don't have an invisibility skill. We need to plan for the long term. The best way is to befriend Si Long and take it step by step... It might take a bit longer, but it's safer, and we can also learn more about the six outer cities of Spirit City.”

“What if Tang San sees us during this time?” Tang Luoya no longer wanted to meet Tang San at this point.

“You've seen the Economic Capital, right? It's basically no different from modern society, just smaller in scale, not comparable to a first-tier city in our previous life.” According to Huo Ke's observations, the people in these six cities are basically no different from modern people in their previous lives, at most a bit behind in their knowledge.

Therefore, as long as the two of them don't act too out of line and Tang San doesn't deliberately pay attention, it's basically impossible for him to discover them.

Huo Ke felt that he could disguise himself well, but Tang Luoya... he felt that this guy had already been assimilated by the natives of the Clear Sky Sect; he was just a native with modern memories.

“That’s good then.” Tang Luoya relaxed and began discussing with Huo Ke how to approach Si Long. After all, Si Long is Lou Gao’s disciple and also a forging Grandmaster. To approach him, Tang Luoya would certainly need to demonstrate his corresponding forging talent, and in this process, he must also hide his Spirit well...

...

“What has that kid come up with again?” Bibi Dong, who was handling affairs, noticed the Heavenly Tribulation quietly gathering and then quietly dissipating above Spirit City.

Without a doubt, Tang San had definitely caused something.

Observing with her mental force, she found that the second Soul Imprint Throne he was forging had disappeared... The Soul Imprint Throne possesses immense power and cannot be stored within a storage soul tool. Therefore—

“Did Tang San successfully forge the second Soul Imprint Throne, causing a riot of World energy, and even leading to the manifestation of the World’s rules to destroy it?”

“But the Heavenly Tribulation dissipated again, indicating that the second Soul Imprint Throne was hidden by him... Was it taken into his body?”

“Only divine tools can be taken into the body.”

“However, I didn’t sense the aura of a divine tool, so it shouldn’t be completely forged yet.”

...

At the top of Wu Hun Mountain.

Inside Douluo Hall, Qian Daoliu awoke again from his meditation. He sensed the birth and dissipation of the Heavenly Tribulation outside and also perceived the turmoil in the Angel God’s faith. He frowned deeply, thinking, “A time of trouble. What commotion has Tang San caused now?”

When he probed with his mental force, it felt as if he had touched a flame hotter than the sun's light, which then spread through his mental force towards his brain. Frightened, Qian Daoliu hastily severed that wisp of mental force.

“Such a powerful divine soul. Has Tang San already forged his divine soul ahead of time?” Qian Daoliu suddenly opened his eyes, his expression fluctuating between cloudy and clear, a hint of panic surfacing: “In terms of methods, he can already kill me!”

In terms of raw strength, Qian Daoliu felt that with the help of the Angel God's divine force, he could crush Tang San. But if the other party had truly condensed his divine soul in advance and used divine consciousness or similar methods to invade his brain, he feared he would be powerless to resist and his soul would shatter instantly. Even if his body remained alive, it would only be an empty shell.

“Golden Crocodile, you must break through to ninety-ninth rank quickly!”

379: Soul Seal Throne of Goodness and Death

“Illyasviel, how is it?”

Within the upper Dantian, Tang San's divine soul manifested, observing Iliex, who was seated on the Soul Imprint Throne. He noticed that Iliex's divine soul had become even more condensed, indistinguishable from a real person.

Wu Lin, Wu Tong, Ling Yun, Lan Yinzi, as well as Heaven Dream, Heaven Dream, and the Ice Jade Emperor Scorpion, had also arrived to observe Iliex, who resembled a god.

“Not bad.”

Iliex crossed his legs, holding his staff, and stood up from the Soul Imprint Throne. “The Silver Crystal Sword is very suitable as the core of this throne, and the evil Spirit within it, under my magical control, has perfectly merged with the throne's spirituality, becoming its Spirit.”

“In the future, it can continue to grow by devouring other vengeful Spirits.”

Undoubtedly, this silver-black Soul Imprint Throne had become a true artifact, wielded by Iliex, and it could also excellently nourish his divine soul.

Heaven Dream exclaimed, “Is this the legendary god seal throne? It's truly amazing! I can sense that it contains a certain law. The one who controls it can control that law... This is a God Position!”

“That statement is not wrong,” Iliex did not object. He turned to look at the Soul Imprint Throne, whose backrest formed a giant skull, and said indifferently, “I name this throne: the Soul Imprint Throne of goodness and death.”

Heaven Dream was speechless, “Goodness and death don't go together at all. Besides, isn't death usually a synonym for evil? It doesn't sound like a good god.”

“death is also a kind of grace.” Iliex had a deeper understanding of death. “To judge evildoers and uphold justice is goodness.”

“Since I have gained new Life, what's wrong with being a benevolent Yama King?”

“If you ask where the power comes from?”

“Naturally, it's because I have the ability!”

Heaven Dream and Heaven Dream were unable to refute, after all, who made Iliex so powerful?

However, for these two Spirit Beasts, the stronger Iliex was, the safer they were. Naturally, they began to flatter him, spewing out praises like “eternal prosperity” and “unifying the martial World.”

It was only when Tang San signaled Wu Lin and Wu Tong to rein in these two lively characters that they quieted down.

“Since the God Position of death has already been given to Bibi Dong, this Soul Imprint Throne of goodness and death must have been re-modified by you, right?” Tang San could tell that the internal space of this Soul Imprint Throne had expanded significantly, even having layers upon layers of space. Counting carefully, there were eighteen layers, each with corresponding illusory ghosts and gods present.

“You've noticed, haven't you? This was naturally created based on the concept of the eighteen layers of hell in your memory. I've also integrated the demiplane into it, using it to forge a true realm of the netherworld.” Iliex showed a hint of excitement. “When I revive, I won't be the God of death, but the Son of Heaven of the underworld!”

“Of course, for this plane to be truly complete, it needs to wait until your Starry Sky World is truly complete and the two are connected. Currently, it can only be used to collect some souls.”

“However, the souls of The Fallen killed by Spirit Hall can be placed in here. Then, you can talk to Bibi Dong and have other personnel conduct research in here. Through continuous attempts, perhaps a method to slowly wear down souls and collect soul embers can be researched.”

Tang San nodded. For The Fallen, even if only their souls remained, they could still be put to good use. Placing them in this Soul Imprint Throne of goodness and death for research was perfectly suitable...

Opening his eyes, Tang San saw Gu Yuena leaning close to him and was startled. He grabbed her by the collar and said, “Don't get so close, you almost scared my divine soul out of my body!”

Gu Yuena broke free from Tang San's large hand, jumped to the ground, adjusted her collar, and complained, “Don't grab my collar, it's very uncomfortable! By the way, did you just sink into your spiritual sea? Did you store the Soul Imprint Throne in there for nourishment? Also, why was there a heavenly tribulation?”

Especially the last point, she couldn't understand it no matter what. It was clearly an artifact made of metal, so why would it attract a heavenly tribulation? It wasn't a Spirit Beast.

“Ask one by one, don't ask so many at once.” Tang San gestured for Gu Yuena not to be so agitated. “First, yes. Second, also yes. Third, it's naturally because the patterned forged metal is very special, possessing extremely strong spirituality, and can even be said to be another kind of unique Life.”

“The rules of this World are very peculiar. All non-human extraordinary creatures can be considered Spirit Beasts. When they die, they will drop a spirit ring.”

“The patterned forged metal I forged using the patterned forging method is also like this.”

“The heavenly tribulation gathered also because this Soul Imprint Throne was about to give birth to a true Life, but fortunately, at the last moment, I absorbed it into my upper Dantian.”

Gu Yuena pondered, then suddenly asked, “Can you teach me how to do patterned forging?”

“Yes, but aren't you learning about spirit tool from Guang Ling?” Tang San agreed, then advised, “Even if you are a genius, you can't learn everything, can you? My most proficient area is still only cultivation.”

“Hmph, I'm not like you. I'm a genius among geniuses!” Gu Yuena said with a grin, hands in her pockets and chest puffed out, “What takes you more than ten years to master, I can learn in a few days.”

“Anyone can boast,” Tang San chuckled. Without waiting for Gu Yuena to retort, he continued, “Since that's the case, then follow me and learn. If you can't endure the hardship, don't blame me for not warning you.”

Subsequently, Gu Yuena began to learn forging from Tang San, but after only a short while, she found it boring and gave up forging, opting instead to directly use flames for calcination.

After all, according to Tang San, the essence of forging was to remove impurities. If patterned forging was not considered, then for someone like her, directly controlling fire elements was more efficient.

“Then I should learn from Huo Wu,” Gu Yuena realized, discovering she had found the wrong teacher.

“Indeed, with your talent, learning from Huo Wu is best, but you won't reach her height because you cannot control gravity,” Tang San said casually.

“Hmph, gravity or whatever, when I reach Spirit Saint later and control the power of space, I can also do similar things,” Gu Yuena refused to be outdone.

Inferior to Huo Wu?

What a joke!

How could the dignified Silver Dragon King be inferior to a mere human?

Although Huo Wu's Spirit was indeed “superb” and her control over fire and light was already on par with hers, even more refined in some aspects, how could she admit defeat?

“Yes, yes, you're the best,” Tang San humored her, then walked out of the forging room, preparing to wash up and then go to the Starry Sky World of the Blue Silver Network to discuss with Iliex how to utilize the power of faith...

380: Administrator: Tiandao

Regarding the management of the Blue Silver Network and the Starry Sky World, Iliex once suggested creating a program similar to the Heavenly Dao using the power of faith to assist him in governing.

And the materials would be mental force and the power of faith.

Currently, Tang San does not lack mental force.

During the process of Spirit Hall personnel using the Blue Silver Network, they would all dissipate some unimportant mental force into the Starry Sky World, and this dissipated portion could be recovered through rest. Moreover, this method could slowly enhance their own mental strength and quality.

Not to mention, the souls of criminals like The Fallen, after their death, also fell into it and were studied by Spirit Hall personnel who were given access to the Starry Sky World by Tang San.

During the process of tormenting those souls, the amount of mental force that emanated from them was extremely considerable!

Besides that, the souls who had committed no major sins during their Life, after naturally dying in the Starry Sky World, would have their immortal true spirits escape and their soul embers remain, during which a vast amount of mental energy would also be generated.

As for the power of faith, after the Continental Elite Tournament, countless people worshipped Tang San, and an immeasurable amount of faith converged into his body.

Previously, he was unable to utilize it.

Now, he had already condensed his soul into a Nascent Soul, allowing him to touch those powers of faith, but Tang San would not directly absorb them. Instead, he planned to work with Iliex to combine them with mental force and shape them into a program to manage the entire Starry Sky World.

“Shaping a program to manage a World is not easy. The best way is to imitate heaven and earth.” Iliex looked at the power of faith emerging around Tang San’s Nascent Soul, pure white, like a white ocean, and could not help but exclaim, “This much power of faith is enough for someone to achieve demigod status, but a demigod who achieves it by absorbing this power of faith will inevitably be subtly influenced in their personality, leading to the amplification of various negative emotions in their heart... Treating all living beings as ants will probably become the norm.”

“Therefore, that saying is correct: faith is poisonous.” Tang San raised his hand, and the ocean of faith power around him continuously compressed and converged, forming into points like stars, finally spiraling and gathering in his palm.

It was as if Tang San was holding a galaxy!

This was the true embodiment of “holding the sun and moon to pluck stars”!

“When it comes to showing off, among the real people I’ve seen in my ‘previous Life’ and this Life, I, Iliex, declare you the strongest!” Iliex said with an exaggerated expression.

“I regret showing you Naruto now.” Tang San pressed a hand to his forehead, seemingly helpless, while his other hand, holding the spiral galaxy formed by the power of faith, continuously drew in the mental force of this Starry Sky World.

As the mental force gathered, the galaxy-shaped aggregate of faith power also continuously grew larger and floated away from Tang San’s palm, rising towards their heads.

Iliex immediately constructed magic patterns, magic arrays composed of elements such as water, fire, earth, wind, metal, ice, poison, death, light, darkness, Life, space, and time, layer upon layer, ring upon ring, enveloping the aggregate of faith power and mental force, imitating the vast World outside.

During this process, Tang San was not idle either. He controlled the stars within, converging them into three hundred and sixty-five “stars” of fused faith and Spirit, constructing the Zhou Tian Xing Dou Great Array, causing the power of faith and mental force to flow and enabling them to actively absorb the power of faith from his body and the mental force within this Starry Sky World to grow.

“It has stabilized. Next, we will imitate the operating method of the intelligent AIs within the Soul Guiding Mechs outside the Golden Ancient Tree, to perform ‘programmatic settings’.”

Iliex did not understand the intelligent brains inside those Soul Guiding Mechs, but he had recorded their general operating methods, which could be used for reference.

Thus, a program constructed from the power of faith and mental force was completed!

The “Heavenly Dao” presented before Tang San and Iliex was like a human brain, extremely massive, like a mountain, but its surface was very smooth, without a single wrinkle.

If a normal person’s brain surface were this smooth, they would definitely be an imbecile or a fool.

If a World also had a brain, then this one would definitely be brain-damaged.

Despite saying that, Tang San was still quite pleased, for no matter how rough it was, it was still a “Heavenly Dao,” even if it was only the Heavenly Dao of an illusory World.

Moreover, Tang San discovered that after his mental force connected with it, it was as if he had gained a super-powerful brain, making his logical thinking nearly a thousand times more agile. Problems he had not understood before could now be quickly clarified, and he could even deduce multiple ways to reach answers.

The first benefit this Heavenly Dao brain brought was to improve the efficiency of thought processes!

As long as he had a sufficient knowledge base, by connecting to this Heavenly Dao brain, he could quickly perform simulations, thereby obtaining the desired results in an extremely short time!

The second benefit was that this Heavenly Dao brain could assist him in managing the entire Starry Sky World and the Blue Silver Network. Furthermore, as long as the corresponding “programs” were set, even foul language would be prohibited and thoughtfully marked with asterisks.

Besides that, Tang San perceived that this space was more solid than before... Although it was still an illusory World, it was already capable of actively drawing in space fragments and plane fragments from the cosmic void to serve as resources for the World’s growth.

“For now, it’s enough, and this Heavenly Dao can grow actively. In the future, the wrinkles on its cerebral cortex will also increase, but that will require us to first explore the vast universe.”

Iliex smiled, took out the soul imprint throne of goodness and death, and connected its aura with the Heavenly Dao brain, making the eighteen layers of space connect with this illusory Starry Sky World. “Alright, the eighteen layers of hell for this World have also been initially established. You can tell those Spirit-type Spirit Master from Spirit Hall later to come to my eighteen layers of space to conduct research. The eighteen ghost and god avatars separated from the artifact spirits can transform into various torture instruments to assist them in dissecting the souls of The Fallen.”

“No problem.” It would aid in the research of immortal true spirits and soul embers, so Tang San naturally wouldn’t refuse. As for whether it was humane... The Fallen had already abandoned their human identity and had no humanity whatsoever, so there was no need to treat them as humans.

“By the way, what should we name this brain?” Iliex stroked his beard.
“Super Optic Brain? Brain Celestial Body? Faith Spirit Brain?”

Tang San pondered for a moment, then slowly spoke: “It governs the Dao of Heaven and presides over everything, hence the name: Heavenly Dao!”

Iliex was also silent for a while before leisurely saying, “That’s so chuunibyou.”

“After all, a man is a youth until death!” Tang San smiled slightly, then said, “Also, you, the guy who dared to say ‘holding the sun and moon to pluck stars,’ are not qualified to call me chuunibyou.”

381: Origin of Wuhun: Unknown

As his primordial Spirit returned to his body, Tang San stretched lazily, only to find Gu Yuena nestled in his arms, eyes closed, sleeping peacefully in a state of quiet meditation.

“Seriously, you’ve really taken to using me as a ‘flesh cushion,’ haven’t you?”

He carefully lifted Gu Yuena, carried her to her room, gently placed her on the bed, and covered her with a light blanket.

“The conflict between Spirit Beasts and humans isn’t so easily resolved...”,

“With such an irresponsible co-ruler, the future of the Spirit Beasts is precarious. Not to mention, not all Spirit Beasts obey the Silver Dragon King. That Dragon God isn’t the ancestor of all Spirit Beasts; at most, it was the first Spirit Beast to reach the Divinity King realm. It just suppressed other Spirit Beasts so thoroughly afterward that they couldn’t resist. Even their reverence for the Dragon God is etched into their bloodline genes and passed down.”

“And that Dragon God even set the rule: [If the Dragon God does not appear, Spirit Beasts cannot become Divinities]... Isn’t it just afraid that some extremely special existences among other types of Spirit Beasts will surpass the Dragon Clan?”

“The Dragon God is responsible for over sixty percent of the reason why Spirit Beasts haven’t developed.”

“However, it is precisely this rule that has given humans the opportunity to develop... Their enemy, my ‘hero’...”,

A moment after Tang San left the room, Gu Yuena opened her eyes, looked around, and wondered, “How did I get here? I was clearly in Tang San’s arms... If someone else touched me, I would definitely sense it. Why didn’t I feel anything at all? Tang San must have made progress again. I really don’t know what his limit is.”

She got out of bed, dressed, and went straight to the study, where she found Tang San flipping through books he had brought back from the Golden Ancient Tree.

“What are you looking at? The books from the Golden Ancient Tree, the information regarding Spirit cultivation and spirit tools, wasn’t all of that destroyed by the Dragon God?” Gu Yuena asked.

“You’re awake?” Tang San pushed aside the “Spirit Encyclopedia: Golden Era 2024 Records” he was reading, and motioned for Gu Yuena to come over.

“Please, I’m not really a child.” Gu Yuena pouted, disliking being treated like a child, but her body still obediently walked over.

After all, the Silver Dragon King, whose true form had fallen into a deep slumber due to severe injuries not long after birth, was truly just a child in some aspects, not a fully mature adult.

Therefore, as long as one had the strength to keep her in check and guide her, she was just a slightly mischievous child.

“You’ve lived for so long, do you know how many types of Spirits there are in total?” Tang San asked.

“I don’t know.”

Gu Yuena’s head was full of black lines, feeling that Tang San was being intentional. After all, she had been in a deep slumber; how could she know how many types of Spirits there were?

Besides, you yourself wrote a book, “the evolution of martial souls.” Spirits will slowly change due to changes in human living environments and their pursuit of a better life, not to mention those mutated types.

But if you really want to talk about how many types of Spirits there are, then she does know something about the types of Beast Spirits. Excluding Spirit Beasts like the Dark Demonic Evil God Tiger that were touched by the power of Divinity. And then removing the Silver Dragon King and Golden Dragon King, then there should be as many types of Beast Spirits as there are types of Spirit Beasts on the continent.

Anyway, he wasn't interested in such things.

“Then do you know that Tool Spirits and Beast Spirits can transform into each other? I think some powerful Tool Spirits are transformed from Beast Spirits. Spirit Hall has a Snake Lance Douluo, and I have you in front of me.” Tang San revealed his true intention, “Snake Lance Douluo can’t be found, he’s out on a mission, and you... I’m not sure if you’re valuable for reference, but your Silver Dragon Spear has the characteristics of a Silver Dragon. So, mutual transformation can’t be fabricated out of thin air; it needs to follow certain rules.”

“Hmm, that’s correct.” Gu Yuena had also considered disguising her Spirit to be completely unrelated to her Silver Dragon true form, but ultimately found that as long as she carried her origin, it would inevitably have Silver Dragon characteristics. “How Spirits are ultimately shaped has many varied reasons, but how this thing ultimately appeared, I can only confirm that it was not bestowed by Divinities, but rather a gift from this World to humanity.”

“As for the reasons for Spirit shaping, I can tell you two: for example, a Ten-thousand year soul beast that has taken human form combining with a human, or having an intense desire for a certain thing.”

“The latter point, you also have some research on. Spirits have sentience and can respond to a person’s heart. When a Spirit has not yet taken shape, this intense wish is most effective.”

“But it’s estimated that only the first generation of humans who first possessed Spirits had such a privilege. After all, once a Spirit is shaped, it becomes relatively difficult for mortals to change it.”

Tang San nodded and asked, “If all humans on the continent now are descendants of the Golden Civilization, is it possible that the Golden Civilization researched the essence of Spirits and could freely modify them?”

The reason he asked this was because after becoming a Spirit Saint, Tang San conducted a further investigation into the Clear Sky Hammer and discovered that it could transform from a hammer state into a chimera state, and it wasn’t just because of Austin Griffin.

Within the Clear Sky Hammer, there already existed an equation for a Tool Spirit to transform into a Beast Spirit.

The Blue Silver Emperor was also like this!

For example: Lan Yinzi’s Blue Silver Tyrant Emperor Spear, after Tang San briefly studied it, he knew that it was another form of the Blue Silver Emperor—a Spirit Ability, merely displaying the skills that the Spirit originally possessed.

Although there are currently few examples, it can at least be confirmed that some powerful Tool Spirits may have evolved from more formidable Tool Spirits.

Whether it is a Ten-thousand year soul beast that has taken human form or a human, their Spirit, in response to their inner desires, begins to evolve into the strongest state imagined by the Spirit Master.

Of course, the most crucial point in this is not the strength of the Spirit; that is merely a basic condition. What truly determines whether a Spirit can evolve is the inner yearning of a person, i.e., the heart.

If he could thoroughly research this point, Tang San felt he would be able to arbitrarily bestow Spirits upon people, and even arbitrarily modify their Spirits.

“So that’s what you’re thinking.” Gu Yuena finally understood Tang San’s goal, but in the end, she still shook her head, “How greedy, to actually want to control the essence of Spirits, but—”

“Hehe, I’ll help you. After all, just thinking about being able to change the Spirits of people I don’t like in the future makes it very interesting.”

Of course, Gu Yuena wasn't just thinking about future pranks. She was considering that if a Ten-thousand year soul beast couldn't pass its heavenly tribulation and chose to take human form, she could bestow a Spirit upon it, allowing them to better disguise their identities.

After all, not every transformed Spirit Beast can instantly master methods of concealing their aura. If they didn't meet someone like Tang San, they would probably be finished.

As the co-ruler of the Spirit Beasts, she had to consider these guys.

Gu Yuena muttered to herself, “I’m so great!”

Tang San: “...”

382: Passive: Blue Silver Emperor Spear

With Gu Yuena's cooperation, Tang San conducted some research. He used his primordial Spirit power to record the process of the Silver Dragon King Spirit transforming into the Silver Dragon Spear Spirit. Then, by comparing it with the process of the Clear Sky Hammer transforming into Nine Haos and Lan Yinzi's Blue Silver Emperor transforming into the Blue Silver Tyrant Emperor Spear, he discovered that the energy flow methods had many repetitions, though there were numerous differences in the details.

This already confirmed his conjecture: a portion of powerful Tool Spirits might have evolved from Beast Spirits, and Spirits inherited from powerful, 100,000-year-old transformed Spirit Beasts with strong bloodlines should be easier to change.

Currently, only this much information could be obtained.

After all, there were too few cases.

To publish similar theories, more cases would need to be found to have greater persuasiveness.

The reason for researching the transformation between Beast Spirits and Tool Spirits was, naturally, because Tang San discovered that the Blue Silver Emperor also contained an "equation" for transforming into a Tool Spirit.

Undoubtedly, that was the Blue Silver Emperor Spear.

Although there were no corresponding spirit ring abilities, after thoroughly analyzing the formation of Lan Yinzi's Blue Silver Tyrant Emperor Spear, his Blue Silver Emperor could also actively transform.

This was an inherited ability, which became a passive ability for Tang San after he cultivated to the Spirit Saint realm.

He clearly didn't want this ability...

But since he had it, he had to make use of it.

The Blue Silver Emperor followed the path of Life and possessed the power of creation, but the power of creation could have another form of manifestation, for example: specifically condensing the power of creation into the Blue Silver Emperor Spear.

"The Blue Silver Emperor Spear?" Gu Yuena saw Tang San release his Blue Silver Emperor and condense it into a twelve-foot-long spear—

Its form was somewhat different from Lan Yinzi's Blue Silver Tyrant Emperor Spear. The spearhead was not conical but blade-shaped. The shaft was entirely polished like silver-blue crystal. At the connection between the spearhead and the shaft, there was a precious pearl, within which was a Starry Sky World. Around it, there were twelve rings of light encircling it from all 360 degrees, with every ring of light adorned with stars that seemed to be flowing, appearing extraordinarily divine.

"This is simply a work of art, even more magnificent than my Silver Dragon Spear, and I can also feel an extremely grand power within it."

"The power of creation!"

Touching the Blue Silver Emperor Spear, Tang San could sense that the power of Life within it was constantly transforming into the power of creation. If unleashed, it might truly be able to split heaven and earth... Hmm, according to Tang San's estimation, with his current strength, he could only open up a small demi-plane or similar.

However, even so, it was still extremely terrifying.

After Tang San transformed the Blue Silver Emperor Spear back into the Blue Silver Emperor and stored it within his body, Gu Yuena eagerly asked, “After transforming into the Blue Silver Emperor Spear, have your seven Spirit Abilities changed at all?”

“The Spirit Abilities haven’t changed much; it’s just that the way they’re used will be a bit different, since the Spirit’s form has changed.” Tang San didn’t care much about this. After all, in the Blue Silver Emperor Spear state, the strongest aspect was the power of creation. What he needed to practice was spear techniques and the application of the power of creation.

However, speaking of it, he had quite a lot of abilities to practice and master. Besides the power of creation and spear techniques, there was also the power of destruction, as well as the five qi of yin and yang and the six qi of the internal organs that came with cultivating the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure.

He hoped to develop these two in the direction of the Five Emperors Canopy and the Six Paths of Reincarnation. Unfortunately, researching the Creation and Destruction True Scripture, perfecting the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method, cultivating Cosmic Meditation, and integrating the three all required time.

Fortunately, the five qi of the five organs and the six qi of the six viscera could actively improve with the increase in cultivation. Even without developing complete application methods, they could still provide protection.

Therefore, the development and use of these two were not urgent for the time being.

“Indeed, the most important point of the Blue Silver Emperor Spear is the power of creation. Using this well is enough to crush all enemies.” Gu Yuena agreed heartily, then suddenly jumped onto Tang San’s lap with a smile, sat down, grabbed Tang San’s collar, and pleaded, “Speaking of which, can you give me a little bit of the power of creation?”

Regarding elemental power, the Silver Dragon King controlled nine types: water, fire, earth, wind, light, darkness, space, Life, and destruction. Gu Yuena felt that if she obtained a little power of creation, she could control its rules, make herself stronger, and even allow her true body to recover in a short time.

In that case, Shura would not be her opponent either.

Just thinking about it made her a little excited.

“Yes.” Tang San looked down at Gu Yuena for a while, nodded, and then changed the subject, asking, “What will you exchange for it?”

“We’re already so familiar, there’s no need to talk about money, right?” Gu Yuena’s face darkened. She still owed Tang San the money for her “purchase.”... Speaking of which, Tang San wouldn’t really make her pay it back, would he?

“Getting something for nothing isn’t a good habit.” Tang San lifted Gu Yuena off his lap, released his Clear Sky Hammer, then extracted a trace of poison attribute and a wisp of death power, making them float on his index finger. “You probably don’t have these two attributes, do you? I’ll exchange with you; you exchange all the elements you control with me. How about it?”

“You’ll only use two to exchange for my nine?” Gu Yuena laughed in exasperation.

“How should I put it, among the attributes you possess, I have all of them except space, while you don’t have death and poison. I only want your other attributes to study them, that’s all. So, you’re actually getting the better deal.” Tang San showed a cunning merchant’s smile, speaking reasonably.

“Hmph, this is a boon from this King to you, my subject.” Gu Yuena proudly turned her face away, but in the end, she bit Tang San’s index finger, swallowing the two powers. Afterward, she reluctantly separated nine specks of elemental power, each no bigger than a sesame seed.

“How stingy. My poison and death attributes, however, are the size of two dates combined.” Tang San stored the water, fire, earth, wind, light, darkness, and destruction within the Clear Sky Hammer, while space and Life were incorporated into the Blue Silver Emperor.

Although the elemental power Gu Yuena gave was very little, quantity was not the issue. The inherent essence was no different and could enhance his two Spirits.

And Gu Yuena also gained quite a bit. At the very least, the death and poison attributes were extracted from Nine Haos, originating from the God of Heavenly Condemnation of another World, which could make Gu Yuena’s origin even more profound.

“Third Brother, we’re back! A thundercloud suddenly appeared over Spirit City earlier; it was so scary. Do you know why?” Xiao Wu, with Zhu Zhuqing, pushed open the study door. Seeing Gu Yuena smacking her lips, she immediately narrowed her eyes: “You little fellow, you sucked Third Brother’s blood again, didn’t you?”

“Watch your words, you rabbit!” Gu Yuena retorted, but her eyes sharpened. She sensed that after Xiao Wu became a Spirit Saint, she had undergone a transformation. If she didn’t use the power of her true body, it seemed she couldn’t beat her anymore?

The dignified Silver Dragon King was actually inferior to a rabbit?

This was an act of rebellion!

383: Zhu Zhuqing's views on Wuhun City and Xingluo City

"It's a misunderstanding, Xiao Wu. Na'er and I were just exchanging elemental attributes," Tang San interjected, seeing the atmosphere turn sour. He sent a fist-sized ball of spatial power into Xiao Wu's body—though Gu Yuena had only given him a tiny bit, the Blue Silver Emperor's passive ability allowed him to amplify that minuscule spatial power hundreds, even thousands of times over.

Gu Yuena's eyes widened.

So, if she could just tie Tang San up and take him back to the Star Dou Great Forest, her main body would surely recover from its injuries in a very short time, right?

However, Gu Yuena only thought about it.

If she actually acted now, even with the power of her main body, she might not be able to take Tang San back. Besides, she hadn't fully learned everything about the human World yet.

To be honest, after staying in the human World for so long, she truly didn't want to go back. This place was much more interesting than the Star Dou Great Forest, where nothing significant happened for tens of thousands of years.

"Zhuqing, what do you think of Spirit City?" Seeing Xiao Wu benefit and stop "sulking" with Gu Yuena, Tang San asked Zhu Zhuqing, who was standing beside him.

"Ah? Oh ~ It's very prosperous, with a vibrant vitality I've never seen in Star Luo City." Zhu Zhuqing had been curious about who Gu Yuena was, guessing if she was Tang San's daughter or something. Hearing Tang San's question, she finally reacted and shared her thoughts on Spirit City. "I originally thought Star Luo City and Heaven Dou City were prosperous enough, but compared to the six outer cities of Spirit City, they are far inferior. I truly don't know how it was built."

"It's simply a miracle!"

People seeing the six outer cities for the first time with their own eyes would all exclaim in wonder, then become doubtful, unable to imagine how Spirit Hall managed to build such a prosperous city in just two or three short years.

Especially for nobles, it was an incredibly unbelievable thing that commoners without spirit power could unleash such astonishing power of Creation.

Currently, many people migrate and expand into the six outer cities every year, and the six outer cities are willing to accept all populations, including refugees and beggars who can no longer make a living.

After all, Spirit City is booming and what it lacks most is people.

Rumor has it that various kingdoms within Heaven Dou have already restricted the outflow of their populations, preventing them from moving towards Spirit City... After all, for a kingdom, population is the true foundation of a nation.

The Star Luo Empire is somewhat better, as there aren't as many kingdoms and duchies within its borders. The Empire, from top to bottom, has only one voice on the surface, and that is the imperial family.

It is said that Emperor Qianhe of Heaven Dou is currently trying to unify internally, abolishing the independent autonomy of those kingdoms and duchies, and concentrating power in the hands of the emperor...

"This isn't a miracle; it's just that both Great Empires have overlooked the power of the populace. In reality, as long as someone can unite them, give them an achievable goal, and keep their promises, the creativity they can unleash is no less than that of Spirit Masters. In fact, most Spirit Masters, aside from being stronger in terms of power, are useless otherwise," Tang San shook his head, his words revealing his unique, even disdainful, view of most Spirit Masters in the current Spirit Master's world. "Spirit Hall was also very lucky to achieve this. Otherwise, wanting to build such a city in two or three years would simply be a pipe dream."

Zhu Zhuqing didn't quite understand, but comparing the gap between Star Luo City and Spirit City, she felt as if she could understand. Ultimately, however, she also realized that she wasn't cut out for that kind of thing.

But neither was Tang San—

Although she admired Tang San, Zhu Zhuqing clearly recognized that in terms of management and governance, Tang San could only provide broad directions. What he was best at was research, forging, and combat.

Spirit City's development to this point relied on the Spirit Hall Pope being enlightened, not fearing Tang San, a powerful individual who could contend with her in strength, being willing to listen to his suggestions, and even bestowing upon him the title of Holy Son. Moreover, the grassroots personnel were also willing to carry out the Supreme Pontiff's orders.

It could be said that they were united in purpose.

And the Star Luo Empire?

Although the Empire, from top to bottom, had only one voice, there were still those among other families and officials who outwardly complied but inwardly defied.

There were also corrupt individuals within Spirit Hall. As a power grows, people will inevitably seek to gain without effort, which is unavoidable. However, the current Spirit Hall, once it discovers these parasites, will immediately uproot them, unlike the Two Great Empires, where the network of interests is intricate and complex, allowing them only to pick off the bugs on the leaves, while the bugs in the trunk and roots are truly difficult to eradicate.

Therefore, Zhu Zhuqing also greatly admired the resolve of the current Spirit Hall Pope.

Of course, most crucially, Zhu Zhuqing felt that both Great Empires were connected by interests, and in terms of faith, it was just a slogan like "For the Empire."

And Spirit Hall?

Before Bibi Dong became the Supreme Pontiff, Spirit Hall relied on propaganda related to faith to recruit people, which meant most commoner Spirit Masters weren't particularly enthusiastic.

The purpose of cultivation for most Spirit Masters was actually very simple: for material enjoyments like wealth, power, and beauty, followed by spiritual enjoyments like being revered and admired.

And Spirit Hall directly promoted faith? Without mentioning benefits?

Humans weren't that noble yet.

After Bibi Dong became the Supreme Pontiff, she began to win people over with benefits, which allowed Spirit Hall to gradually grow stronger. However, the hidden danger was that the personnel in Spirit Hall's various branch halls were of mixed quality.

After all, the various branch halls had strong autonomy, and the main Spirit City could not effectively manage them.

After Tang San joined, he provided Bibi Dong with a large amount of theoretical support. The core of the faith changed, but the benefits gained by the lower levels did not disappear; instead, because the form changed, they gained even more.

Of course, during the development phase, their work was also more extensive and tiring than usual, but compared to before, more people showed smiles.

If the Star Luo Empire were to be like Spirit City, Zhu Zhuqing felt it was simply impossible. The internal web of interests was like an old tree with intertwined roots, intricate and complex... This was actually still manageable, but most crucially, the citizens, officials, and families of the Star Luo Empire lacked the faith and cohesion of Spirit Hall.

Or rather, their cohesion was only within their own small families, and they would not consider the entire Empire.

This was truly tragic.

The case of Spirit Hall is not reproducible. It already had a foundation of faith, and by making a change, it allowed ordinary people to gain tangible benefits, a two-pronged approach.

And Star Luo?

Compared to here, it was like a pile of decaying, filthy mud. If Spirit Hall had not developed, it might have existed for a considerable period, but now that Spirit Hall is booming, even if Star Luo tries to catch up, as long as the creativity of the common people is not unleashed, it will never be able to catch up to Spirit Hall, and the gap will even widen.

"That's a bit much to think about," Zhu Zhuqing rubbed her temples, giving up on thinking. She felt it was better not to think so much and to plan later after returning. Moreover, in this World, if one is strong, one has greater say...

384: All martial arts have their own skills.

Hearing Zhuqing ask about the choice of the seventh, eighth, and ninth spirit rings, Tang San said, "The seventh spirit ring can only give you a Martial Soul True Body, which isn't that important."

Just like the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda and Nine Hearted Sea 棠 Spirits, their Spirit Abilities are fixed after obtaining spirit rings, inherent to the Spirit itself. Other Spirits actually also have an inherent ability: Martial Soul True Body.

Unless the seventh spirit ring is a hundred-thousand-year one, possessing a second Spirit Ability, otherwise, no matter what kind of Spirit Beast the spirit ring comes from, after absorption, it will only bring one Martial Soul True Body.

This is an ability that the Spirit itself awakens autonomously when it grows to a certain extent (Spirit Saint), but due to the rules of this World, it can only be used after obtaining a spirit ring.

According to Tang San's research on the Spirit Saint within the Spirit and a comparison of his and Xiao Wu's situations, he found that if the seventh spirit ring is not of the same type as the Spirit, there will be no meaningful bonus.

His Blue Silver Emperor underwent further transformation after accepting A Lan's spirit ring condensation + sacrifice, becoming the Blue Silver Emperor; Xiao Wu's Soft Bones Rabbit also underwent further transformation after condensing all her own origins, giving her a Spirit Ability called Soft Bone Avatar.

Of course, these two might be related to the relatively perfect combination and matching of their previous spirit rings.

However, Beast Spirits indeed receive a significant bonus when choosing a Spirit Beast of the same type as their own Spirit for the seventh spirit ring, while Tool Spirits only receive a bonus in the corresponding attributes of the Spirit.

In this regard, Tool Spirits are slightly weaker, but correspondingly, Tool Spirits at the Spirit Saint stage focus on attributes: strength, defense, sharpness, etc., so in these aspects, they are stronger than Beast Spirits of the same quality.

"So, should my seventh spirit ring be a Hell Civet?" Zhuqing mused, "A ten-thousand-year Hell Civet is not easy to find."

"That's not important; the age of the spirit ring is not a problem." Tang San's seventh spirit ring can actively increase in age with her cultivation, and A Lan will also actively help increase it. As long as the principle behind it is understood, nine hundred-thousand-year spirit rings in the future are not a dream!

High-aged spirit rings have more and denser spirit power circulation routes within them, making it more convenient and faster for Spirit Masters to use Spirit Abilities, and when using Spirit Abilities, high-aged spirit rings consume less spirit power than low-aged spirit rings.

However, in terms of power, it will not be enhanced by the higher age of the spirit ring; it mainly improves the efficiency of spirit power usage.

"Can even increasing the age of spirit rings be done?" Zhuqing was shocked.

"It will take a lot of time to figure out the principle, but if it's just increasing the age of spirit rings, it's not difficult; it should be achievable in a few days."

Where did Tang San's confidence come from?

Naturally, Xiao Wu.

The Domain of Space can sense the spaces left by successive Soft Bones Rabbits. These spaces have now formed a World similar to a demiplane, and there are also creatures similar to Spirit Beasts within it.

Undoubtedly, that should be the predecessor of the Spirit Ascension Platform space in Douluo Dalu 3.

Killing the Spirit Beasts there can obtain a certain energy to increase the age of spirit rings, but it also has requirements for the Spirit Master's own mental force; otherwise, they cannot withstand the energy of those Spirit Beasts.

"Are they the Spirit Beasts in that space?" Xiao Wu also realized something, stopped her 'staring contest' with Gu Yuena, and joined the conversation.

"That's right, that space is still growing continuously. According to my estimates, everything inside is energy-based, so a real physical body cannot enter; only mental force can enter it."

Tang San said, "Everything there is transformed from energy, so that kind of energy can naturally be absorbed... On the way back, wasn't I researching it with you when we were alone? That kind of energy is very similar to the synthetic energy for increasing the age of my seventh spirit ring. It's highly probable that it can also be used to increase age, and the efficiency will be much higher than that of my seventh spirit ring's increase."

"It's just that the method for others to enter mentally still needs a bit of research... Connecting with my Starry Sky World might accelerate this process."

Xiao Wu nodded repeatedly. The magic of the Blue Silver Network is that, with Tang San's authorization, one can obtain permission for mental force communication, and even enter the Starry Sky World with Tang San's acknowledgment.

That World can change freely according to one's imagination, just like dreaming, and staying in it for a long time can also passively gain the tempering of the Starry Sky World, making the quality of mental force higher.

If there were no key to enter the energy plane perceived by her Domain of Space, ordinary Spirit Masters, even a ninety-ninth-level peerless one, would not be able to detect the existence of that space.

Zhuqing didn't know what the two were discussing, it seemed like they were going to connect two spaces.

And Gu Yuena understood something, surprised and delighted that Xiao Wu had obtained an energy plane—although Xiao Wu showed no respect for her as the co-lord, and the other party was no longer a Spirit Beast, Gu Yuena still recognized this "subject" since Xiao Wu was born from the Soft Bones Rabbit lineage of Spirit Beasts, and this could never change.

"Speaking of which, who is this child? Is she your and Xiao Wu's daughter?" Zhuqing came back to her senses, saw Gu Yuena deep in thought, and asked curiously.

"That's right, this is my and Tang San's daughter, hahaha!" Xiao Wu raised her hand to touch the stunned Gu Yuena's head, looking at her face playfully, taking advantage of being the Spirit Beast co-lord.

This made Gu Yuena's entire face flush red with anger!

How could this woman in black-purple leather with such a prominent bust have such poor eyesight? How could she be Tang San's daughter? And this dead rabbit, she must be tired of living, to dare to touch her head like that!

"Cough!" Tang San coughed, saying, "What are you talking about? Xiao Wu and I were only fourteen or fifteen when we graduated, and only a little over three years have passed now. Does this girl look like a three-year-old child?"

"I'm nine years old." Gu Yuena slapped away Xiao Wu's hand on her head, glared fiercely at Xiao Wu, then looked up at that pair of peaks, "If Tang San were my father, he would have had to get Xiao Wu pregnant when he was eight."

Xiao Wu lectured, "You little child, what nonsense are you talking about?"

Gu Yuena sneered, "You're the little rabbit here, in front of me."

"Oh, ho, it seems if I don't teach you a lesson, you won't know who's in charge here!" Xiao Wu's eyes sharpened, and she attacked Gu Yuena's armpit in an instant, scratching lightly or heavily according to the techniques Tang San taught her, making Gu Yuena laugh uncontrollably, her pretty little face showing a comical expression.

Tang San did not stop them, silently raising his hand and touching the left frame of his detection glasses.

Tang San had slightly modified these detection glasses, giving them photo and video recording functions. That touch just now recorded this scene of Gu Yuena.

【Silver Dragon King's崩坏表情:) * ` ) `) * `) * 】

Worth collecting!

Zhuqing also realized at this point that she had misunderstood just now, her face flushed, but she also found that this nine-year-old girl was excessively precocious, feeling like she was the same type as Xiao Wu, and a hint of longing arose in her heart: "I really envy this kind of life. Living with Third Brother must be very happy and joyful."

The higher the age of the spirit ring, the less spirit power is consumed when using Spirit Abilities.

The setting comes from the original work, Chapter 226: Crossing, Double, Seagod's Light.

The protagonist is Ning Rongrong.

385: I thought I was in a fantasy palace fighting drama in the West, but my back

“Damn it!”

Gu Yuena’s eyes were filled with fury, gasping for breath, and she flipped Xiao Wu the middle finger:

凸 (ㄟ ㄟ ㄟ ㄟ)!

This rabbit has really gotten bold, daring to tease the co-lord of Spirit Beasts like this!

“Not behaving, little Nana.” Xiao Wu, however, proudly wagged her index finger, intending to continue her ‘lesson,’ but Tang San stopped her, saying, “Alright, let’s go eat dinner. The others should be back soon.”

Gu Yuena wasn’t truly angry yet. If things went too far later, it would be troublesome; he’d have to spend a hundred candied hawthorn skewers to coax her back.

At the dining table, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, and Huo Wu were delighted to see Zhu Zhuqing, asking about her well-being. Zhu Zhuqing also spoke much more, though a question arose in her heart: Was the five-year agreement still an agreement?

The members of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team, except for Yu Feng and Bai Chenxiang who were adventuring across the continent, and Shi Mo and Shi Mo who went to coastal cities to develop new industries.

The rest, excluding her who was far away in the Star Luo Empire, were all staying with Tang San in the Soul Martial Manor in Spirit City. Even Yu Tianheng and Dugu Yan had come to Spirit City, and when they had free time, they would often visit each other.....

Thinking of this, Zhu Zhuqing suddenly had an urge to stay, but in the end, she still decided to return to Star Luo—the women who could stay by Tang San's side, besides cultivating, all had achievements in other areas: Xiao Wu in medicine; Guang Ling in spirit tools; Huo Wu in refining; Ning Rongrong was proficient in business and had extraordinary talent in appraising treasures, and she was also a master tailor.

They were not just Tang San's subordinates; their status was equal to his. Besides cultivation, they also had careers they were interested in and willing to delve into.

Lan Yinzi and Gu Yuena, though not Tang San's women, also had their own side businesses:

One was researching formations based on spirit power and spirit tool patterns;

The other, only nine years old, had extremely strong cultivation talent and was proficient in almost everything. Although she couldn't surpass Tang San and the others in any single area, compared to other people, she was by no means inferior.

In comparison, what else could she do besides cultivate?

Playing musical instruments, chess, calligraphy, and painting?

These were elegant, but they could only be hobbies, capable of cultivating one's temperament, but limited to that..... To truly stand by Tang San's side, she also needed a career outside of cultivation.

What should she do?

Besides being a Spirit Master, what she was best at was combat, but wasn't combat one of the inherent duties of a Spirit Master?

Zhu Zhuqing grew worried, even wanting to abandon everything. She thought that once she became strong enough, she would directly use force to seize the Star Luo throne, then declare war on Spirit Hall, demanding Tang San to marry her.....

"Zhuqing, how have you been living in the Star Luo Empire?" Huo Wu interrupted Zhu Zhuqing's daydream and asked about her life in the Star Luo Empire.

"Just cultivating, teaching the new generation of the Zhu family, cultivating my temperament, and checking with the local Spirit Hall for missions to kill The Fallen or capture vicious Spirit Masters." Zhu Zhuqing briefly described her life. It could be said that in terms of combat experience, Zhu Zhuqing was far superior to everyone present, including Tang San.

However, if it came to a real fight, she couldn't beat any of them, because these people far surpassed Zhu Zhuqing, who could only rely on her talent, in physical fitness, spirit power quality, and mental force strength.

This was a dimensionality reduction strike.

Moreover, Tang San felt that when the Blue Silver Network's coverage became powerful enough in the future, it could record Spirit Master information and simulate various combat scenarios for training. As long as the realistic effect reached over ninety percent, it would be no different from fighting on a real battlefield.

Hmm—

Perhaps for abilities like the Slaughter God Domain that can absorb killing intent and blood energy to advance, there might be some hindrance.

"Then your life is quite fulfilling." Huo Wu smiled, "Similar to ours, every day is fully scheduled, only Gu Yuena is a bit more leisurely."

Gu Yuena was gnawing on a Blue Feather Chicken leg. Hearing Huo Wu say this, she complained, "I'm only nine years old, I don't need to work, and besides, I'm the one who washes all the dishes at home."

Sometimes, Gu Yuena even suspected that she had become the designated dishwasher for this big family... Her Silver Dragon King status was truly devalued.

Alas, who told her she owed Tang San money?

Tang San smiled, saying, "Alright, dinner's done. Go wash the dishes."

"You really know how to order people around." Gu Yuena rolled her eyes, but her body was honest and she tidied up the dishes. She and Lan Yinzi gathered the dishes and went to the kitchen with the servants waiting outside the door.

The servants of Soul Martial Manor were once noble children, or Spirit Masters with low spirit power, who had not committed major faults themselves, but were implicated by their former families, thus losing their freedom.

Unlike Silverblue Manor, the servants here had not been freed by Tang San. Besides their original status being different from true slaves, Tang San also needed to consider the environment of Spirit Hall Inner City. If he, as the Holy Son, were to do that directly, would other large and small families follow suit?

They could quickly accept the innovation and popularization of daily life spirit tools, but in terms of ideology, it needed to be gradual. If this ideological "root" were to be completely uprooted, it might require replacing all personnel in Spirit Hall. They could only work on cultivating the new generation, gradually diluting the idea of "slaves having no human rights."

As for Heaven Dou City...

Tang San was the Silverblue Earl, but as an Earl, he only held an official noble title within the Heaven Dou Empire. How he treated his own servants didn't need to consider others' feelings, as he himself didn't get involved in the political affairs of the Heaven Dou Empire.

But Spirit Hall, a power whose main body consisted of Spirit Masters, was different. Even insightful people could see that he, as the Holy Son, would definitely not serve as the Supreme Pontiff of Spirit Hall in the future, whether from the perspective of a leader of a force or his personal wishes.

But he was still the Holy Son. In Spirit Hall, his status was below one person and above ten thousand, and he had many admirers. No Spirit Master would ignore his every move.

Therefore, here, he couldn't be as casual as he was in Silverblue Manor.

However, when Tang San and Xiao Wu ate together, they weren't used to having people watching, so they all voluntarily waited outside.

"Xiao Qing, Xiao Bai." Gu Yuena said to the two maids dressed in green and white, "Help me hold the bowls."

"Yes, Miss Na'er." Xiao Bai took the serving plates, and Xiao Qing took the bowls and chopsticks, accompanying Gu Yuena and Lan Yinzi to the kitchen. Gu Yuena was going to wash the dishes, while Lan Yinzi, as the butler of Soul Martial Manor, also needed to arrange tomorrow's meals—although Tang San could already abstain from grains, he would still eat breakfast and dinner with the girls, and Xiao Wu and the others had not cultivated to the realm where they could "drink the northwest wind" and directly feed on natural energy.

Xiao Qing and Xiao Bai were the two highest-cultivated servants in Soul Martial Manor, both Spirit Grandmasters, discovered by Gu Yuena and taken as her little followers.

After the dishes were washed, Lan Yinzi gave instructions for the ingredients to be purchased the next day and then left.

Xiao Qing said, “Miss Na’er, are you sulking again? Did Lord Holy Son displease you?”

“It would be strange if he could make me happy.” Gu Yuena opened the spirit tool refrigerator nearby, took out a glass of iced fruit juice, and slurped it down, “Moreover, he’s a philanderer and has taken another partner.”

Xiao Bai chuckled, “Partner? They’re not animals, Miss Na’er, aren’t you a bit too precocious?”

“Precocious? When I wasn’t with Tang San, I saw people in villages getting married and having children at twelve.” Gu Yuena said indifferently, “Speaking of which, you nobles get involved in matters of men and women much earlier, don’t you?”

Xiao Qing interjected, “My sister and I are different. When I was six, something happened to our family.....”

“Oh.” Gu Yuena showed no sympathy, merely nodding up and down. She suddenly asked, “Speaking of which, do you two like Tang San too? I’ve seen you several times trying to find opportunities to take advantage of him when serving him tea and water...

Admiration for the strong is understandable. All the other women in this Soul Martial Manor are like that, but you two, aren’t you a bit too bold? Even though Tang San is easygoing, others, due to their status, wouldn’t dare to get too close.

According to Tang San, it’s due to the influence of their past living environment, which cultivated a cautious personality.

If you became servants at six, it should be even more so.

But the truth is not.”

This was another reason why Gu Yuena chose these two as her followers: she wanted to observe them for a period to confirm her suspicions.

Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing both shivered, exchanging glances, both seeing disbelief in the other's eyes.

They never expected a nine-year-old girl to possess such keen insight... If they couldn't find a suitable reason, would she persecute them?

They, as sisters, had seen many palace intrigue dramas.

Not to mention, this 异 World also had extraordinary powers, and this nine-year-old girl in front of them was a genius in Spirit Master cultivation; she could kill them with a flick of her finger.

Slaves, in this World, were not considered people at all.

It was only after they were assigned to this Soul Martial Manor that they truly began to live like humans. Lord Holy Son treated all the slaves in the manor like employees, making them feel respected.

But their ambitions were rekindled. They wanted to climb up, so they got close to the Holy Son. After all, Lord Holy Son slept in the same room with those four beautiful companions every day.....

In their previous lives, they certainly couldn't accept it, but having grown up, they understood that they couldn't bring their past life's 观念 here, or they would become outcasts.

Spirit Master, Noble...

In this World, everyone was born unequal.

Their previous life wasn't entirely equal either, but at least their ID cards stated "Citizen." In this World, if there were ID cards, there would probably be distinctions like "Noble Citizen," "Commoner," and "Dust Citizen."

Therefore, they wanted to completely escape their servant status, and the Holy Son was their stepping stone. They even thought that as long as they could catch the Holy Son's eye, they could use their experience from the “palace intrigue dramas” they watched in their previous life to ostracize those four “main wives.”

They believed that they only needed one chance!

However, the Holy Son was not as lustful as they imagined. He always kept his distance from them, and after truly getting close, when the two saw the Holy Son’s deep, starry eyes, they would involuntarily feel ashamed, embarrassed by their dark thoughts.

“So, whose people are you?”

Gu Yuena finished her juice, casually tossed the cup behind her, accurately into the trash can, and scanned the two, “Don’t say you’re Spirit Hall’s spies, I won’t believe it.”

The Supreme Pontiff of Spirit Hall had already slept with Tang San, and her mental force was so strong, did she need spies?

As for that pious believer of the Angel God... that’s even more impossible. The sharpness revealed in that spirit power clearly indicated an extremely arrogant fellow, completely disdaining to communicate with anyone below rank ninety-five.

In reality, Gu Yuena didn’t care whose spies these two were. If she could notice something amiss, Tang San surely could too.

However, she would not allow these two to take advantage of Tang San’s easygoing nature and become even more brazen. They needed to be disciplined to recognize their place, lest they harbor inappropriate fantasies.

“Miss Na’er, you’ve misunderstood. We just have a good impression of Lord Holy Son and don’t belong to any faction. Our information is in Spirit Hall, and it’s true.” Xiao Bai spoke nervously, with a slight tremor in her voice, because the pressure from Gu Yuena was growing stronger and stronger, making them instinctively feel fear.

“Is that so?”

The invisible pressure dissipated. Gu Yuena laughed heartily, then grinned, “Then, tell me who you really are. I noticed from the beginning that your mental force is stronger than that of Spirit Grandmasters of the same rank, even though your Spirit is not a mental system, and your physical fitness is even worse than that of support system Spirit Masters of the same rank.”

Xiao Qing’s eyes darted around, saying, “Miss Na’er, mental force and such, we can’t perceive it at all.....”

Slap!

Before she could finish speaking, Xiao Qing was sent flying, crashing into the kitchen’s main pillar, a red mark appearing on her face, blood overflowing from the corner of her mouth, her back aching, and her internal organs feeling a wave of discomfort.

“Third time’s the charm. This is the first.” A hint of coldness emanated from Gu Yuena’s purple eyes. She retracted the Silver Dragon tail that had sent Xiao Qing flying, looked at Xiao Bai, and showed a slight smile: “Indeed, mental force might not be applicable to you. Ordinary Spirit Masters, unless they are mental system, only Spirit Douluo level can perceive it. But I’m sure you know, so if there’s any more deception, don’t blame me for getting rough.”

Gu Yuena’s smile was captivating, but to Xiao Bai, it was as if a demon resided within this little girl’s body, her purple eyes seemingly able to see through people’s hearts.

At least, if they lied, they definitely couldn’t deceive her.

When people lie, there are obvious emotional fluctuations. Gu Yuena used to be able to perceive human emotional fluctuations but wasn’t clear about the truthfulness of what humans said. However, by often staying with Tang San and being influenced by him, she gradually found some tricks to determine if someone was lying.

And Spirit Masters were even more exposed in front of her.

After all, emotional fluctuations also affect spirit power fluctuations. For Gu Yuena, this group of people made it even clearer to judge whether they were lying.

Of course, if that person had undergone strict training and could control their emotions very well, it wouldn't be accurate.

But these two guys in front of her were definitely not the “elite agents” Tang San spoke of.

“If I tell you, you might think it's a fantasy. Actually, my sister and I are not humans from this World; we are transmigrators.....” Xiao Bai took two deep breaths, preparing to lay her cards on the table to Gu Yuena.....

386: Connect to enter to increase the life of the soul ring soul bone

“What an interesting story.”

Gu Yuena wasn't surprised by the visitors from another World. As one half of the Dragon God, she naturally knew that the God Realm governed multiple Worlds, and even beyond that, there were other God Realms and other Worlds.

The entire universe is vast and boundless.

It's not impossible for beings from one World to go to another. For example, if their own strength allows them to break free from the limitations of a planet and roam the universe.

Or, for example, by arriving in another World through some spatial turbulence or spatial channels.

These two individuals in front of her had weak strength and tiny souls, so they likely arrived in this World through spatial turbulence. And according to them, they thought they had transmigrated into a Western fantasy palace intrigue drama World, with the backdrop of an industrial revolution.

Gu Yuena didn't quite understand “Western fantasy” or “palace intrigue drama,” but this World had already developed spirit tool movies, which she had seen, and thought they must be some kind of fictional plot within a hypothetical setting.

As for “industrial revolution,” she had heard this term from Tang San. In this World, it referred to the research and development of spirit tools... Did Tang San and these two come from the same World?

Thinking of this, Gu Yuena was as happy as if she had eaten honey, because she had discovered Tang San's secret!

Moreover, Xiao Wu and the others probably didn't know about this, so—

She was the first to discover it!

Hehehe!

Seeing Gu Yuena's somewhat lewd smile, Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing exchanged glances, unsure of her situation. Could she be a “lesbian”?

“Miss Na'er, do you believe my words now?” Xiao Bai asked nervously.

“I believe you.” Gu Yuena returned to a serious expression, sizing up the two. “From now on, honestly be my followers. Don't think about those useless things, and don't have any crooked ideas.”

“If even I can see that something is off with you, do you think Tang San won't be able to see it?”

“Don't let his easygoing nature fool you; when he gets angry, he won't hold back—”

Although she hadn't actually seen it herself.

But Gu Yuena believed that Tang San couldn't be just easygoing. Even Gods couldn't fully control their emotions, let alone humans?

“Yes~”

Xiao Bai lowered her head, not daring to speak too loudly.

Xiao Qing, on the other hand, rubbed her face, her eyes filled with resentment... So, she was beaten for nothing?

The two had their own thoughts, but Gu Yuena didn't care. She walked out of the kitchen, and with a sweep of her mental force, her forehead immediately furrowed with black lines. She cursed, "That guy is such a pervert! Not sleeping late at night, but actually doing that kind of thing directly. And here I was, helping him find two 'traitors'..."

After satisfying the needs of Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, and Huo Wu, Tang San held Xiao Wu and connected his mental force with hers, bringing her into the Starry Sky World.

"What are we doing here? We're mental bodies, right? Are we going to try something new?" Xiao Wu looked at the vast stars flowing around them and couldn't help but feel excited.

Although it wasn't the real universe, it was their first time researching blood essence in such a place... Uh, they were both mental bodies now, so it should be researching the Dao of Spirit.

"What are you thinking about?" Tang San tapped Xiao Wu's head and slowly said, "Comprehend your Space Domain. Try to pull that energy-formed plane over. I will use the Heavenly Dao to assist you, allowing this place and that World to connect."

"Heavenly Dao?" Xiao Wu was puzzled. Then she saw a brain-shaped gem, but its surface was very smooth, without any wrinkles.

After Tang San's introduction, Xiao Wu had a concept. She released her Spirit and sensed the Domain: "This place is truly peculiar. Even as mental bodies, we can still release our Spirit."

"This is also the peculiarity of Spirit. It's not just genetic inheritance, but also related to the soul." Tang San, using the power of his primordial Spirit, connected with the Heavenly Dao and imbued Xiao Wu with its power.

Immediately, Xiao Wu felt her mental force become thousands of times more active, as if she could control everything. She immediately contacted that World and pulled it over.

Although the Starry Sky World was illusory, upon sensing that World, it also vibrated. The Heavenly Dao even actively controlled the opening of the illusory World's barrier, always ready to connect with it.

For this illusory Starry Sky World, that energy-formed plane was the best supplement. If it could be brought under its management, it could accelerate this place's transformation into a real World!

At this moment, Tang San's perspective ascended to a higher dimension. Within that peculiar space filled with black and colorful hues, two spheres were slowly approaching each other, and finally—

Pop!

They collided and merged together.

The connection was established!

Returning to reality, Tang San's primordial Spirit sensed that the energy of the entire Starry Sky World had become active, and nine more wrinkles appeared on the “cerebral cortex” of the Heavenly Dao, which increased its speed of logical thought, mental force intensity, and control by nearly nine thousand times.

The original increase was only a thousand times, but now with nine more wrinkles, it reached nine thousand times. This feeling was simply too exhilarating!

So much so that Tang San was a little overwhelmed...

“Third Brother, is the connection established? I feel that World isn't moving anymore, huh?” Xiao Wu opened her eyes and asked curiously.

“It's already connected.” With a thought, Tang San brought Xiao Wu to the barrier of the Starry Sky World—this was Tang San's World; with just a thought, he could travel to any corner.

At this moment, what appeared before them was a rectangular door frame, made of the purest gold. The door itself was a flowing light curtain, reflecting a vast, primitive World: forests, rivers, oceans, mountains, Deserts, grasslands, and so on. Everything was so pristine, with no traces of human activity.

Taking Xiao Wu, he stepped through the doorway.

They arrived in a primitive forest. The ground was covered with withered, damp fallen leaves, and the surrounding trees were tall, dense, and lush.

“This place is similar to the Star Dou Great Forest.” Xiao Wu looked at the familiar yet strange environment and sighed, but then she realized that this place was still a little different from the Star Dou Great Forest.

It wasn't real.

There were no insects here, nor any ordinary birds.

“Roar!”

A beast roar came from the nearby bushes, and then a Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear jumped out. It was over three meters tall, with a ferocious face and incredibly sharp claws.

“A Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear, huh.” Looking at the giant bear that was treating them as prey and running towards them, Xiao Wu thought of the “little blind bear” in the core of the Star Dou Great Forest. Her expression darkened, and she instantly kicked out.

Boom!

The Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear's nasal bridge visibly caved in and deformed, and then the entire bear was sent flying, breaking more than a dozen trees with diameters exceeding one meter before finally stopping.

Looking again, the Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear's back was already mangled, dead beyond dead.

“So weak.”

As soon as Xiao Wu finished speaking, she saw the Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear's corpse turn into a stream of energy, converging towards her, actively entering her Spirit and strengthening her spirit ring.

Originally, Xiao Wu's spirit rings were yellow, purple, purple, black, black, red, red. After absorbing the Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear's energy, her first spirit ring changed from yellow to purple.

Xiao Wu's first spirit ring was already over four hundred years old, and the energy from this three-meter-tall Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear directly elevated it to a thousand years.

“After the Spirit Beasts here die, their energy can increase the age of spirit rings, and I can control that energy to strengthen whichever spirit ring I want.” Xiao Wu spoke of her feelings, her eyes lighting up. “We can continuously increase the age of our spirit rings! I just don't know how many Spirit Beasts there are here.”

For these creatures without complete souls, Xiao Wu would not consider them former Spirit Beast kin, not to mention that the Spirit Beasts here were all relatively irritable.

“There are infinitely many Spirit Beasts, and while gaining energy, they will also release mental force.” Tang San sensed that this space and the Starry Sky World had already achieved a preliminary energy cycle.

Xiao Wu was one of his own, and since the foundation of this World was a space opened by the Soft Bones Rabbit clan, she could be said to be the manager of this World. Therefore, she herself did not need to make any sacrifices; even if she hunted too many Spirit Beasts, the corresponding mental energy would still be provided by the Starry Sky World.

However, if others wanted to obtain the energy of these Spirit Beasts, they would need to expend a significant amount of mental force. That is: they couldn't stay here indefinitely. Once they exceeded the limit of mental force dissipation, at best their Spirit would be shaken, leaving them listless for a period after leaving, and at worst their soul would shatter, their body would become paralyzed, and they would become cripples.

This World also needed a massive amount of mental energy to develop.

Opening this World in the future was inevitable!

Afterward, Tang San noticed an Dark Gold Terrorclaw bone claw left at the place where the Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear died. He raised his hand and grabbed it, taking it into his hand.

external Spirit Bone: Dark Gold Terrorclaw Left Palm Bone.

Generally speaking, the Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear's right claw was stronger. This type of Spirit Beast was similar to humans; most were right-handed, but this one was peculiar, being left-handed.

“A Spirit Bone!” Xiao Wu was surprised, not expecting that the Spirit Beasts here could drop Spirit Bones, but could this thing be taken out? Could it only be used in this place?

“Wouldn't we know if we tried?” Tang San smiled slightly, holding the Left Palm Bone, and returned to reality with Xiao Wu. Opening his eyes, he raised his hand and saw the Dark Gold Terrorclaw's external Spirit Bone in his hand.

It could be taken out!

Tang San knew this well. After all, Spirit Bones were not entirely material in nature, but rather a product of energy crystallization. In the original work, the protagonist's final trial from the Sea God was to strip Spirit Bones and forge them into divine armor.

And he himself had also stripped that hundred-thousand-year-level Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone.

These were all strong proofs that “Spirit Bones are products of energy crystallization”!

“Spirit Bone?”

The spirit power fluctuations of the Spirit Bone awakened the three girls who were sleeping with their heads on Tang San's arm and chest. They looked at him with surprise—

Where did this come from?

387: Spirit beast fantasy space

“Hmph, hmph, not just Spirit Bones, but also spirit rings.” Xiao Wu Jie pulled back the blanket, revealing her perfect body, and released seven spirit rings. Most astonishingly, her first spirit ring had changed from yellow to purple.

Thousand-year!

Guang Ling asked curiously, “Xiao Wu Jie, how did your spirit ring become a thousand-year level?”

“Naturally...” Xiao Wu Jie described the World she had perceived to Guang Ling, Rongrong, Huo Wu, and the others. “When Spirit Beasts there die, they don't produce spirit rings, but they can increase the age of our spirit rings, and there's also a chance of dropping Spirit Bones. Of course, Spirit Bones aren't of much use for improving our own strength.”

All the women cultivated the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure method. For their physical bodies, Spirit Bones were impure impurities.

Unless it was an external Spirit Bone, which could serve as an extension of existing bones in the body.

Moreover, the age of this type of Spirit Bone could continuously increase and even evolve with the improvement of one's cultivation.

“Guang Ling, this Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear's left palm bone is for you to absorb. Its attack ability isn't important; what matters is the cutting power it provides, which can greatly help you engrave spirit tool runes.” Tang San handed this external Spirit Bone to Guang Ling.

“Thank you, Third Brother.” Guang Ling took the Spirit Bone and immediately began to absorb it. In less than a minute, he had finished absorbing it, and his spirit power had also increased slightly, but he still hadn't broken through to level sixty.

The energy carried by an external Spirit Bone, at most of thousand-year level, was not enough to fill the spirit power gap between level fifty-nine and level sixty, but it did save Guang Ling half a month of spirit power cultivation.

Afterward, Tang San led the four women into that World and began hunting Spirit Beasts to increase the age of their spirit rings, and incidentally, to search for Spirit Bones... Although Spirit Bones didn't offer much help in improving their strength, they were themselves a precious material, and even very effective for researching spirit tools. Huo Wu also wanted to try if Spirit Bones could be used for artifact refining.

It could be said that this kind of item, the more the better.

“Speaking of which, if we kill so many, won't the Spirit Beasts here be hunted clean?” Guang Ling suddenly asked.

“No, this Plane can actively attract Plane Fragments from the void, and the Spirit Beasts here are born from the soul fragments of external Spirit Beasts after death, combined with the energy here. In the next tens of thousands of years, the number of Spirit Beasts here will only increase.”

Tang San stated that with just them, they couldn't possibly kill them all. “Besides that, for anyone else who wants to hunt Spirit Beasts here, every moment they exist here requires them to expend mental energy. Hunting Spirit Beasts and gaining energy to improve spirit rings is a form of equivalent exchange, with a corresponding expenditure of mental energy.”

“And mental energy can be shaped by this Plane into the souls of Spirit Beasts, which then combine with the energy here to allow Spirit Beasts to be reborn.”

“In this World, the corresponding Spirit Beast templates are already set... The only pity is that the Spirit Beasts here don't have the adaptability of real Spirit Beasts from the outside World; they won't evolve further with changes in the environment.”

“This place, in the end, is just a simulated Plane; everything just looks relatively real.”

At this, Guang Ling also relaxed.

Since this was a nearly inexhaustible Plane, and the souls of these Spirit Beasts were all illusory and could be shaped by the Plane, there was no need to worry about anything anymore.

And to differentiate them from the real Spirit Beasts of the outside World, the Spirit Beasts here were called Spirit Beasts, and the entire Plane was called the Spirit Beast Illusion Space.

For an entire night, the one man and four women searched for high-aged Spirit Beasts to hunt. When dawn broke, among the five, not a single person had a yellow or purple spirit ring; the worst was a dark black.

As for Spirit Bones, the five also collected over thirty pieces, some thousand-year and some ten-thousand-year, enough for Tang San, Guang Ling, and Huo Wu to experiment with lavishly.

Xiao Wu Jie took two pieces, wanting to try if this material could be used for making medicine.

Ning Rongrong took three pieces, all over fifty thousand years old, respectively from the Evil Eye Tyrant's head Spirit Bone, the Dark Demon Bone Dragon's left arm bone, and the Wind God Winged Dragon's right arm bone.

Evidently, they were prepared for Ning Fengzhi, Sword Douluo, and Bone Douluo.

Ning Fengzhi, located in the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, was shocked after receiving the three Spirit Bones, and cold sweat seeped from his forehead: “Rongrong is too careless! To send something as important as Spirit Bones by mail, isn't she afraid someone will open the lead box halfway? These are three Spirit Bones over fifty thousand years old! And they are complete Spirit Bones!”

Sword Douluo and Bone Douluo were also present at this time, gazing at the three Spirit Bones in the lead box, their eyes all burning with fervor.

“Tang San, that kid, actually used Spirit Bones as a betrothal gift.” Bone Douluo took a deep breath to calm himself, but his tone also carried a hint of disbelief, “He's truly generous!”

Sword Douluo also calmed down and asked, “Are they from Spirit Hall's collection?”

Ning Fengzhi opened the letter Ning Rongrong had sent back with the Spirit Bones. After reading for a while, he said, “No, Rongrong said that these three Spirit Bones were obtained when Tang San took them to hunt. They didn't come from Spirit Hall. She didn't say where exactly... Heh, this daughter, she even keeps secrets from her own father.”

Bone Douluo said, “Tang San is indeed good, he's just a bit of a playboy, with a few too many girls around him.”

“As for Rongrong's matters, us old folks don't need to worry too much, it's just—”

Sword Douluo paused here and said to Ning Fengzhi, “From the current situation, it seems Rongrong doesn't really want to inherit the family business of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School anymore... The Heaven and Earth Commerce in the Economic Capital seems to be no smaller in scale than our Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. It has established branches in various major cities within the Two Great Empires, and backed by Spirit Hall, its credibility is guaranteed; even commoners deposit money there.”

Ning Fengzhi sensed something unusual, but now the interests of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School were intertwined with Spirit Hall. The better Spirit Hall developed, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School could also ride this high-speed steam engine to greater heights.

It was just, if Rongrong didn't have time to inherit the family business, who should be chosen as the next Sect Master of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School?

He had sons, but they were all rather dull, and their talents were not as good as Rongrong's...

...

At this time, in Soul Martial Manor, Tang San was having breakfast with the women and told Lan Yinzi, Zhu Zhuqing, and Gu Yuena about the Spirit Beast Illusion.

“So this is the way to increase the age of spirit rings!” Zhu Zhuqing was shocked, not expecting such a peculiar space to exist, but then, thinking it was Tang San, she felt it was only natural.

This person was synonymous with miracles!

“This isn't a method to increase the age of spirit rings; it's just taking existing things.” Tang San shook his head. “The true method to increase the age of spirit rings should be achievable through cultivation.”

“That's not easy.” Lan Yinzi said with a smile, “Even if you truly create a cultivation method that can increase the age of spirit rings, not everyone will have the energy to cultivate it.”

As the former Blue Silver Emperor, she naturally knew that increasing the age of spirit rings was not easy, and increasing the age of spirit rings would not enhance the power of Spirit Abilities; it would only reduce the consumption of spirit power when using Spirit Abilities.

And did Tang San lack spirit power?

He absolutely did not lack it!

As long as the power of the earth and the essence of the sun and moon were not lacking, Tang San's spirit power would be endless, and he wouldn't need to consider spirit power consumption at all.

Therefore, in Lan Yinzi's eyes, Tang San had no need to waste energy doing such a thing.

388: Zhu Zhuqing's Journey into the Fantasy Land of Spiritual Beasts

Indeed, from Lan Yinzi's perspective, Tang San didn't need to spend too much effort on increasing the spirit ring's age limit, as he wasn't lacking in spirit power.

However, for Tang San, the increase in the spirit ring's age limit was not just about saving a bit of spirit power when using Spirit Abilities, but rather for researching the patterns and methods of "spirit ring age limit increase and internal spirit power circulation route expansion."

On the surface, increasing the spirit ring's age limit saves the spirit power consumed when using Spirit Abilities, but in reality, it's about increasing the internal spirit power circulation routes, which improves the utilization efficiency of spirit power.

This improvement in efficiency is the most crucial!

If the utilization rate of spirit power continues to increase, what level will it ultimately reach?

Tang San was very much looking forward to that moment.

However, with the increase in the spirit ring's age limit and the proliferation of internal spirit power circulation routes, spirit ring fusion—a skill that can greatly enhance personal strength and condense the Martial Soul True Body Armor—also needs its routes re-summarized and detailed adjustments made.

“Take me in to see!” Gu Yuena originally didn’t care much, but after hearing Tang San’s description, she began to suspect that the energy quality of the Spirit Beast Illusion might be very high, perhaps even close to Immortal Spiritual Energy.

Only Immortal Spiritual Energy could have such a peculiar effect, instinctively mimicking and creating reality’s nature.

“Don’t be so hasty, let’s finish breakfast first,” Tang San chuckled. After sending Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Huo Wu, and Ning Rongrong to their respective outer city jobs, he then took Gu Yuena, Lan Yinzi, and Zhu Zhuqing to the Starry Sky World and entered the Spirit Beast Illusion Space.

Gu Yuena squeezed her small hands, took a deep breath, and a silver glint flashed in her purple eyes. She thought to herself, “Indeed, the energy here is similar to Immortal Spiritual Energy, just slightly inferior in quality. But if it continues to develop, this World might very well become a World close to the God Realm.”

Lan Yinzi and Zhu Zhuqing did not have Gu Yuena’s thoughts; they were simply amazed that the combination of their consciousness and mental force was identical to their real bodies. Their Spirit could possess them, and their spirit rings could be released, just like a real body.

However, Zhu Zhuqing looked at Lan Yinzi, a question mark appearing on her forehead: “Are you Lan Yinzi?”

Compared to the Lan Yinzi outside, the Lan Yinzi who entered the Spirit Beast Illusion had a slightly different appearance. Rather than a pure and lovely beautiful woman, she looked more like a dignified beautiful woman, with only seven-tenths resemblance to her external body.

Tang San rubbed his forehead. He almost forgot that Lan Yinzi’s situation was different from his; she had taken over the body of a transmigrator midway, and from the looks of it, their souls had also fused.

However, Zhu Zhuqing didn't pay much attention, simply assuming that this place allowed for changing one's appearance.

Lan Yinzi saw Tang San, feeling a bit awkward, but still walked to his side, chuckling, "How is it, am I beautiful, Mama?"

"Mama?" Zhu Zhuqing was stunned, suddenly feeling that this Lan Yinzi was quite playful, actually trying to outrank Tang San.

"Not as good as Xiao Wu and the others," Tang San said grumpily, swatting away Lan Yinzi's hand, and then told Zhu Zhuqing, "Don't mind her, she's joking. I'll take you to hunt Spirit Beasts. Their strength is not much different from Spirit Beasts of the same cultivation level in the outside World, and they might even be stronger. For us, it's an excellent place to simulate soul hunting."

Zhu Zhuqing nodded and followed Tang San to a grassland similar to a green plain, where they found a group of Shadow Leopard Cats.

Upon seeing Tang San and the others, the Leopard Cats immediately surrounded them, completely disregarding the spirit power fluctuations emitted by Tang San and the others, determined to treat them as prey.

"Indeed, these Spirit Beasts... oh no, Spirit Beasts, are very foolish. They can't sense the strength difference between us," Gu Yuena yawned, completely unconcerned about this group of over twenty Leopard Cats.

If they were Leopard Cats from the real World, they would have fled long ago after sensing the spirit power fluctuations emanating from them, unlike now, where they still treated them as prey.

Zhu Zhuqing's Spirit possessed her. She didn't use any Spirit Ability, but merely relied on her speed advantage, splitting the twenty Leopard Cats into pieces with a single strike.

Subsequently, the Leopard Cats' bodies transformed into pure energy, actively merging into Zhu Zhuqing's Spirit, which she used to increase the age limit of her spirit ring.

Her second spirit ring changed from yellow to purple, reaching the thousand-year level.

And Gu Yuena completely confirmed that the energy was a degraded version of Immortal Spiritual Energy, but for Spirit Masters, it was still a rare and valuable energy.

Although Spirit Masters, due to their low Life level, cannot directly absorb this energy to improve their cultivation, injecting it into spirit rings to increase their age limit is greatly beneficial for future breakthroughs to level 100.

“How does it feel?” Tang San asked.

“It feels like absorbing a spirit ring again, but it’s only energy, and this energy is very pure. Increasing the spirit ring’s age limit shouldn’t be restricted by the type of Spirit Beast that produces the spirit ring, right?” Zhu Zhuqing described her feelings, then voiced her thoughts.

“That’s right,” Tang San affirmed. “The energy of these Spirit Beasts is very pure. I brought you to find Leopard Cats simply because this type of Spirit Beast is feline, making them easier for you to deal with. You can get familiar with it and practice first.”

“Indeed, I’m most familiar with feline Spirit Beasts,” Zhu Zhuqing nodded.

Next, under Tang San’s guidance, Lan Yinzi and Zhu Zhuqing both hunted many Spirit Beasts, increasing the age limit of their spirit rings.

Gu Yuena, on the other hand, didn’t need to increase the age limit of her spirit rings; she merely looked around the place like a tourist.

“Speaking of which, why are there no plant Spirit Beasts here?” Lan Yinzi suddenly asked. “There are only animal-type Spirit Beasts. Can plant-type Spirit Beasts not appear in this Spirit Beast Illusion Space?”

“Unlike the real World, this is an energy plane. Everything here is simulated using energy. The plants here look very real, but in reality, they are just three-dimensional textures, without the photosynthesis of real plants,” Tang San explained. “Compared to animal-type Spirit Beasts, plant-type Spirit Beasts are much harder to simulate. After all, plants can be said to be the foundation of a World. A complete natural ecological cycle can exist without Spirit Beasts or wild animals, but it absolutely cannot exist without plants.”

“If this World could simulate plant Spirit Beasts, then these ordinary plants would also necessarily have functions similar to real plants.”

“If that were the case, then this World would also have the foundation for real physical bodies to enter.”

Gu Yuena understood, saying, “So, this World is not yet real, and therefore, plants, which are extremely important to nature, cannot be simulated, and even plant Spirit Beasts are the same.”

“That’s the logic. This Spirit Beast Illusion’s imitation of reality is rather rigid, but that also makes it stable. Otherwise, we might see distorted creatures,” Tang San nodded, also feeling fortunate that this space was a rigid imitation of the real World. Otherwise, if this place pulled in so many fragments of Spirit Beast souls from the real World, mixed together, images similar to those in Cthulhu myths, causing one’s sanity to plummet, would surely appear.

After granting Zhu Zhuqing, Lan Yinzi, and Gu Yuena access to this place, Tang San’s primordial Spirit returned to his body, preparing to go to the Spirit Research Institute in the city to organize the spirit power circulation circuits within the spirit rings and Spirit Abilities.

However, just as he left his room, he was called out by two servants.....

389: Tang Yuehua's visit

"Holy Son," Xiao Bai called out to Tang San, respectfully saying,
"Someone is looking for you outside the Manor. She says she's your aunt."

"Tang Yuehua?"

Tang San was surprised. His divine sense swept out, and he found that it was indeed her. He wondered why she had come to Spirit City, but still said,
"Bring her to the living room. I'll receive her myself."

"Yes, Holy Son," Xiao Bai said with a smile, quickly retreating.

Tang San also knew about this maid; she was also a Transmigrator, and her sister, Xiao Qing, was the same. However, neither of them had watched the Douluo Series.

From the way they used to flaunt their 'modern scientific knowledge' in front of him, Tang San understood that these two must have watched too many palace intrigue dramas in their previous lives.

If they had transmigrated to a World without any supernatural powers, they would definitely not have survived three chapters doing that...

...

"Long time no see, Tang Xuanzhu." After Xiao Bai led Tang Yuehua to the living room, Tang San invited her to sit and poured her tea. "Why do you have time to visit me recently?"

Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing waited by the side.

"You still refuse to call me Aunt," Tang Yuehua picked up the teacup, took a sip, and her gaze was distant.

"Tang Xuanzhu is joking." Tang San didn't take the bait and got straight to the point. "The Clear Sky Sect is currently closed off, and you've even shut down the Moon Pavilion in Heaven Dou City. What brings you to Spirit City now?"

"You're still as direct as ever," Tang Yuehua smiled, put down her teacup, and briefly explained how she had closed the Moon Pavilion, how the Sect had lost its main source of funding, and how they were out of money. "My good eldest brother and good second brother are both counting on me to earn money... The Clear Sky Sect, a dignified Sect, actually relies on me, a mere woman, and not many of the Sect disciples truly respect me, thinking it's only right for me to earn money for the Sect."

Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing exchanged glances, looking shocked.

They had naturally heard of the Clear Sky Sect's prestige, but they never expected that after closing its doors, it would be so miserable, needing a woman to help earn money.

Isn't that a bit too shameless?

"Spirit Masters don't engage in production and don't understand business. Spirit Hall is better now, but the Clear Sky Sect, being closed off and disconnected from the outside World, inevitably doesn't understand your importance," Tang San comforted her, then asked, "So, they want you to come to Spirit City and open a Moon Pavilion?"

Spirit City is now divided into Inner and Outer sections.

The Inner City is the original Spirit City. Most of its residents are Spirit Masters, and they aren't very interested in etiquette or learning so many superficial formalities.

The Outer City has six districts, among which the Economic Capital and Fantasy Film City have quite a few people who have made a lot of money and are starting to pay attention to superficial forms.

No matter which district the new Moon Pavilion opens in, with Tang Yuehua's reputation, it can earn a lot.

"It's not their request; I wanted to come out myself. After all, if I stayed in the Sect any longer, I felt like I would go crazy."

Tang Yuehua smiled bitterly, "I used to stay in Heaven Dou, and I didn't pay much attention, but those noble disciples had to put down their noble pride and respectfully call me 'Teacher Tang' or 'Grandmaster Yuehua' when facing me."

"But in the Sect, I only received cold sarcasm and ridicule. My mood couldn't be worse... Of course, the reason I could come out is also because I passed the Asura Illusion and obtained Asura Aura."

As she spoke, Tang Yuehua released her Spirit: the Ruyi Ring. A purple thousand-year spirit ring appeared, adorned with blood-colored patterns. Within the space inside the spirit ring, there were also sword-shaped patterns outlined with blood-colored lines.

The moment he saw this peculiar spirit ring, Tang San focused his mind and detected a magnificent killing intent, almost solidifying into substance.

Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing, who were nearby, almost couldn't breathe.

"Familiar aura!" Gu Yuena ran down from the second floor, staring intently at Tang Yuehua, her own aura completely restrained, but the killing intent revealed in her eyes was undisguised.

Asura God!

Did that damned guy also choose a successor?

No, although these two auras are identical, this one is in an independent state... With such a Spirit form and spirit ring structure, is this woman going against the heavens?

"Alright, put it away. You're scaring the children." Tang San told Tang Yuehua to put away her Spirit and waved to Gu Yuena, signaling her to come over.

"A lovely little girl." The moment Tang Yuehua saw Gu Yuena, she was shocked. This little girl possessed an innate noble temperament, yet she didn't make people feel distant. Moreover, her appearance was extremely delicate; even Xiao Wu was slightly inferior... Where did this boy find such a high-quality girl?

When Tang Yuehua visited him at Silverblue Manor, Gu Yuena was arranged by Tang San to be looked after by others, so she had never seen Gu Yuena before...

"Hello, I'm Gu Yuena." Gu Yuena introduced herself proactively, sizing up Tang Yuehua with a wary expression, "What's your relationship with Tang San?"

"Aunt," Tang Yuehua smiled, feeling that this little girl had misunderstood something... However, children these days are becoming more and more precocious. Is she afraid that her aunt will steal her man?

However, the only one who misunderstood was Tang Yuehua. It was just that Gu Yuena's relieved expression after learning of Tang Yuehua's relationship with Tang San deepened Tang Yuehua's misunderstanding...

"Aunt? That's good then, one of us." Gu Yuena relaxed and sat on the sofa beside Tang San, but her pair of purple eyes still curiously scrutinized Tang Yuehua, wanting to understand this woman's background—

That Spirit truly shocked her!

Although it itself had no offensive capabilities, this ability to borrow divine force was outrageous. If she broke through to level 100 in the future, could she directly obtain the Asura God Position? If her future spirit rings could also acquire Domains from Divinities, could she control nine God Positions simultaneously?

With a human body, even upon becoming a God, it's difficult to control multiple God Positions simultaneously; the physical body cannot bear it.

But Tang Yuehua is different; her spirit ring can serve as the foundation for bearing God Positions!

The fundamental reason why multiple God Positions are difficult to coexist lies in the core of Divinity: the God Core, which represents the essence of laws and is extremely domineering, absolutely unable to integrate harmoniously with other laws.

If a person wants to inherit multiple God Positions, either their physical body is terrifyingly strong, their control over laws is extremely precise, and the two God Positions have extremely high compatibility.

Or, they find other carriers to store the God Positions, and when needed, they can simply transfer and use them.

And Tang Yuehua's Spirit possesses a natural carrier, which is her spirit ring!

spirit rings can evolve, just like Tang Yuehua's first spirit ring. Although it is a thousand-year one, after carrying the patterns of the Slaughter God Domain, it gained divine properties and can continuously evolve by absorbing killing intent and blood energy.

If she obtains the law patterns of multiple Divinities in the future, she might be able to achieve the coexistence of nine Gods!

The only problem might be that Tang Yuehua's own combat ability is not good, or she doesn't even know how to fight. Even if she becomes a God in the future, she will probably only be able to handle overwhelming victories.

390: Nine gods in one? Borrow money!

After learning about Tang Yuehua's first spirit ring and Spirit Ability, Tang San marveled at the power of the Ruyi Ring Spirit but wasn't overly envious.

Nine Gods as one?

The possibility Gu Yuena thought of, Tang San naturally also considered, and after connecting to the Heavenly Dao, he performed relevant deductions, finding the feasibility to be over ninety percent.

One can only say, as expected of a Super Spirit!

As long as one can be in sync with it and unleash the true potential of the Ruyi Ring, even the Seraphim Spirit cannot compare. At the very least, as long as Tang Yuehua can borrow Shura's power, even if the Seraphim becomes a god, it would have to give way.

"I have already obtained the second spirit ring, but like the first spirit ring, it has no Spirit Ability. Perhaps I need to go to a corresponding environment and absorb relevant energy or something before it can truly take shape," Tang Yuehua put away her Spirit and spirit ring, stating her opinion. "Perhaps, every spirit ring I obtain in the future can imprint a Domain-type skill."

"Hearing you say that, I'm envious," Tang San laughed. "So, for the second spirit ring, have you decided how to obtain a Domain-type skill? Where will you go to get it?"

Tang Yuehua crossed her legs, saying speechlessly, "How would I know? However, even without a Spirit Ability, I can continue cultivating. It's just that I don't know if I'll get stuck for a period before reaching level thirty, after all, I don't know if this counts as truly letting go of that pride."

"At least, you are much more easygoing than before," Tang San smiled, realizing Tang Yuehua had truly changed. In the past, she would never cross her legs no matter what.

Meanwhile, Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing on the side were trembling, their expressions tense.

They seemed to have heard something incredible!

As Spirit Grandmasters, they knew a little about Spirit cultivation, but they had never heard of someone obtaining a spirit ring without a skill, instead needing to gain insights in certain specific environments, and that the Spirit Abilities obtained afterward would be Domain-type.

Would they be silenced afterward?

"Speaking of which, have you chosen where to open the Moon Pavilion?" Tang San asked about this matter.

"Fantasy Film City," Tang Yuehua replied without hesitation. "That's a city of art. Besides noble etiquette, what I'm good at is playing musical instruments, painting, and playing chess. I plan to specialize in teaching music, painting, and chess, all of which can cultivate one's temperament. Moreover, they can be applied to the visuals of soul-guided movies. Perhaps I can also cooperate with those directors who make movies."

Tang San laughed, "The fact that you can think like this proves that you have already let go of some pride. It's like breaking free from the teachings of the Clear Sky Sect and gaining a new life."

Can he fully trust Tang Yuehua?

Yes.

At this moment, she had undergone a transformation at the spiritual level. She no longer took pride in the Clear Sky Sect's arrogance; instead, she felt it was a pathological self-esteem.

"Then I thank you for your auspicious words," Tang Yuehua smiled, then asked to borrow money. After all, the Clear Sky Sect didn't have much capital now; the money they earned in the past was all contributed to the Sect. Even when she went down the mountain, they only gave her one thousand gold coins as travel expenses.

One thousand gold coins, if placed in a small village, would be enough for her to live on if she didn't focus on luxury goods. But to open a Moon Pavilion in this Spirit City, one thousand gold coins couldn't even buy one cubic centimeter of land.

Those old folks in the Sect all thought she could "make a comeback" with these one thousand gold coins. Tang Xiao and Tang Hao also thought it was no problem.

Damn it!

The Moon Pavilion in Heaven Dou City had already been sold!

Tang San: "(⊙o⊙)..."

The people of the Clear Sky Sect are all reckless. Before they sealed the mountain, were the members of the four single-attribute affiliated families helping them earn money?

"If it's borrowing money, no; if it's an investment, yes, just give me a portion of the dividends every year."

Tang San took out a Spirit Gold Card and pushed it in front of Tang Yuehua. "There are three hundred million gold coins inside, enough for you to buy a manor in Fantasy Film City, renovate it, and even pay the salaries of the teachers you recruit for the first year."

"In return, I want twenty percent of the dividends every year."

Tang Yuehua immediately agreed, saying, "What's twenty percent? How about a fifty-fifty split?"

"A fifty-fifty split is too much, after all, you still have to give a portion to the Clear Sky Sect, don't you?" Tang San rejected Tang Yuehua's suggestion with a chuckle.

"Don't mock me. I have no choice but to give a share to the Clear Sky Sect. Who told me to be born there?" When mentioning the Clear Sky Sect, Tang Yuehua's face was full of sorrow. "However, I'm only responsible for giving them money now. As for the future, I don't care... By the way, what is Spirit Hall's ambition? Can you tell me?"

Tang San retorted, "Whatever ambitions the Two Great Empires on the continent have, Spirit Hall has the same ambitions. Moreover, Sects must also be governed."

Unification.

Tang Yuehua secretly thought, as expected, but making all the great Sects subject to governance, wasn't that a bit too much?

Although the Sects on the continent supported the Two Great Empires separately, they all had their own independence, especially the Upper Three Sects, even more so.

It would probably not be easy to make them completely submit to one force.

"Where there's a will, there's a way." Regarding Tang Yuehua's concerns, Tang San did not give a clear answer. He just stood up and slowly said, "Shall I take you to Fantasy Film City to take a look and choose a location?"

"That's good too."

Tang Yuehua nodded, stood up, and left the Soul Martial Manor with Tang San, heading towards the outer city of Spirit City...

...

"Forget what just happened, do you hear me?" Gu Yuena didn't follow Tang San out. Instead, she waved at Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing, signaling them to come over.

"Miss Na'er, please rest assured, we will definitely keep our mouths shut and won't say anything," Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing said in unison, swearing not to speak out.

"Hmm, I don't believe you," Gu Yuena raised her hands, pressed them on the two's foreheads, injected two streams of divine force, erased their memories of today, and then instructed, "Alright, go clean up."

"Yes, Miss Na'er," Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing's faces showed signs of fatigue and a bit of confusion, not knowing why they were in the living room, but they still started tidying up.

Divine-level power can erase people's memories. Gu Yuena naturally knew how to use this ability, but she wasn't very proficient, so she could only use relatively crude methods, which led to the erased memories not being very precise. Therefore, she could only forcibly remove all memories of what the other party experienced that day.

When Tang San returned, he naturally noticed the two's dispirited state, as if they had stayed up all night, and realized what Gu Yuena had done. He said, "Actually, there's no need for this. These two won't spread the word. Even if Tang Yuehua's ability is exposed, nothing will happen. After all, this is Spirit City, and the Heavenly Dao monitors the Blue Silver Network, so it can watch at all times. Perhaps it can even catch some big fish."

Gu Yuena was stunned, her index fingers poking at each other, and she said nervously, "Did I mess up your plans?"

"What plans? I'm never good at schemes and tricks, and if others want to target me, they need to consider my strength... Don't take it to heart, this isn't important," Tang San patted her head, then asked, "Where are Zhu Zhuqing and Lan Yinzi? Still in the Spirit Beast Illusion?"

391: Hawke Tang Laoya's meeting with Tang San

With Tang San's funding, Tang Yuehua quickly opened a new Moon Pavilion in Fantasy Film City, and coupled with her original fame in Heaven Dou City, many people came to learn painting and music.

At the same time, there were countless admirers.

However, Tang Yuehua rejected them all, and even publicly declared that her Moon Pavilion was funded by Tang San, and she was merely an employee; if they wanted to pursue her, they should first seek out the Holy Son of Spirit Hall.

Immediately, many people gave up.

"I never expected Tang Yuehua to come to Spirit City!" Taking advantage of the rest day, Tang Luoya and Hawke came from Soul Guidance Technology City to Fantasy Film City, preparing to watch an animated movie called "crazy soul beast city" at the Soul Guidance Cinema—the plan to steal the Soul Armor was underway, and both felt that they shouldn't keep their minds too tense and needed appropriate relaxation.

Unexpectedly, they saw an advertisement for Moon Pavilion recruiting teachers and students on the building's advertising screen.

"What does Tang Yuehua look like?" Hawke nudged Tang Luoya's shoulder, "Can I pursue her?"

Tang Luoya glared at Hawke and said, "She's a noblewoman, very beautiful. Whether she's a virgin, I don't know."

“According to the original description, she should be.” Hawke rubbed his hands, smiling lewdly, “Why don’t we go to Moon Pavilion to take a look? Since she’s from the same Sect as you, she should meet you, right?”

“Tang Yuehua trusts the Sect very much.” Tang Luoya’s attitude towards Tang Yuehua remained as it was, unaware that her mindset had already changed. He nodded and said, “Let’s go take a look. Perhaps we can even collaborate with her. She might have insights on how to befriend Si Long, after all, she ran Moon Pavilion in Heaven Dou City for many years and knows more about these matters than we do.”

“But—”

“When the time comes, control your gaze. If I catch you looking around, don’t blame me for beating you.”

Hawke chuckled awkwardly: “You wouldn’t be trying to pursue her, would you? You’re from the same Sect, so you should be close relatives, right? Aren’t you afraid your children will be deformed?”

Tang Luoya snorted: “Love knows no boundaries. Besides, this is the Douluo World, maybe it will make the descendants’ Spirit even stronger.”

That’s not necessarily true... Hawke secretly shook his head. In the small village where he was born, there were two close relatives who got together and had four children: two were mentally handicapped, one was a dwarf, and the last one, though somewhat normal, was frail and sickly, almost like a skeletal ghost.

Arriving at the entrance of Moon Pavilion, Hawke exclaimed, “This place is really big, almost like a football field, isn’t it?”

Tang Luoya didn’t speak, but he was also amazed by Tang Yuehua’s wealth, even suspecting that she hadn’t contributed all her earnings to the Sect, but had kept a portion as private funds.

After all, the land in Fantasy Film City was much more expensive than in the other five cities.

As the two entered the main gate, a student came to greet them and asked, “Are you two here to register?”

Tang Luoya frowned, feeling something was off.

Didn’t Moon Pavilion only receive high-class individuals? Why did this student in front of him not look like a noble, but rather an ordinary city resident?

Hawke, however, was much simpler, only feeling that this place had a bit of an after-school tutoring vibe.

“My surname is Tang.” Tang Luoya stated his surname. According to disciples who had traveled outside the Sect, if you went to Heaven Dou Moon Pavilion and said your surname was Tang, someone would lead you to Tang Yuehua.

But this was Spirit City, Fantasy Film City—

“Alright, Mr. Tang, what’s your name? Which class do you want to enroll in? We have painting, divided into ink wash painting, abstract painting, realistic painting, etc. We also have sculpture, with handmade carving classes and Soul Guidance carving classes; and music, there’s a lot of that: harp, flute, trumpet, bass drum... The receptionist student took out two forms, handed them to the two, and smiled while introducing the classes.

Tang Luoya: “...” Is something wrong here? Shouldn’t he be taken directly to Tang Yuehua?

Hawke carefully looked at the registration form, feeling that this place truly resembled an extracurricular tutoring class rather than a place for high-end noble etiquette training: “Do you have so many teachers here?”

“Because Tang Xuanzhu is very famous in Heaven Dou City, and now that she has moved to Fantasy Film City, naturally a large number of local musicians, painters, sculptors, etc., have come to visit, and even stay here as teachers, to review old knowledge, learn new things, and verify each other by teaching students.”

The receptionist student chuckled, “As Tang Xuanzhu says, art can only continuously progress through mutual exchange and the spark of inspiration. As an art Grandmaster, the one thing you must not be afraid of is your skills being learned by others, because knowledge being learned by others does not mean your own disappears; it merely becomes two copies.”

“Tang Xuanzhu has far-reaching vision!” Hawke gave a thumbs up.

“What procedure do I need to follow to see Tang Yuehua?” Tang Luoya asked.

Calling the Xuanzhu by name directly?

The receptionist student’s expression turned unpleasant, but he still asked, “Who are you?”

“My surname is Tang...”

“I know, what’s your name?” The receptionist student took out a notebook and a Soul Guidance pen, and began to record.

“Tang Luoya.”

“Where do you live?”

“Soul Guidance Technology City, outside the Soul Guidance Forging Association, Forging Market No. 5, Blacksmith Residential Area, Building A, Third Floor, Room 404,” Tang Luoya truthfully stated.

“I’m in Room 405, right next to him,” Hawke said.

“Alright.” The receptionist student finished recording and said, “Go back and wait for the notification. If we have time, we’ll call you over.”

“Are you messing with us?” Tang Luoya’s spirit power fluctuated, angered by the receptionist’s tone.

“A Spirit Master?” The receptionist was startled but did not retreat an inch. “Please mind your attitude. I am just doing my job. If you resort to violence, the nature of the situation will change. The last time, even the son of a Red Robed Bishop caused trouble, and in the end, both the Red Robed Bishop and his son had to come and apologize obediently.”

Everyone in Soul Guidance Film City knew that Tang Xuanzhu and the Holy Son were blood relatives, family. Who would dare cause trouble here?

They were either hotheads or outsiders.

Nothing to fear.

“Let them in.”

A gentle voice came from behind the two. The receptionist’s eyes immediately became incomparably respectful, and he came forward, his hands somewhat at a loss, but he still handed over a banknote: “Can you sign this for me, Holy Son?”

“Here.” Tang San glanced at the information about Tang Luoya and Hawke on it, flipped it open, signed his name on the inside cover, handed it back to him, and then said, “I’m taking these two in.”

“Please, go ahead!” The receptionist student bowed and scraped, extremely polite.

“Let’s go, what are you standing around for? Don’t you want to see Tang Yuehua?” Tang San walked past the two and headed towards the back. Seeing that they didn’t follow, he turned back and said, “If you don’t come, then neither of you needs to come again in the future, and Spirit City and the Spirit Hall Branches within the Two Great Empires will blacklist you. In fact, with just one word from me, you will be wanted by Spirit Hall, with nowhere to hide.”

The receptionist: “...”

Did His Royal Highness the Holy Son have a grudge against these two?

He had thought they were acquaintances... But offending the Holy Son certainly meant they weren’t good people!

Tang Luoya clenched his fists, secretly gritting his teeth: Have they been discovered?

Hawke, however, pushed Tang Luoya, followed Tang San, his mind rapidly working, thinking about how to get away... Although their initial goal when they came to Spirit City was Tang San, they had already given up on the idea of reminiscing with a fellow native and just wanted to get the Soul Armor manufacturing method, then develop discreetly...

392: Thoughts on the two time-travelers

“When did the two of you arrive?”

The moment he saw the two, the Heavenly Dao collected all information about them since their arrival in Spirit City and relayed it to Tang San, allowing him to confirm their identities.

It must be said, this World certainly had many transmigrators.

Could it really be caused by the spatial-temporal turbulence mentioned by Heaven Dream? Tang San felt there must be a deeper reason; otherwise, Huo Yuhao from a parallel World wouldn't have been able to transmigrate. Of course, this wasn't something he could explore or investigate at the moment; he would have to achieve Level 100 first.

“Just over a month ago, when Moon Pavilion hadn't yet been fully established here,” Hawk truthfully stated.

“I mean, the time you transmigrated,” Tang San clarified.

“We're not entirely sure about that, but it should have been from infancy... Our ages are similar to yours, at most one to four, or five years older,” seeing Tang San growing impatient, Hawk quickly changed his words and spoke frankly, “By the way, we're all from the same hometown, so why be so serious?”

“Then you say, people from ZG don't lie to people from ZG,” Tang San said indifferently.

Hawk chuckled awkwardly, saying nothing more.

Tang Luoya finally broke his silence and asked, “As someone born into the Clear Sky Sect, why did you choose to join Spirit Hall?”

Tang San was slightly surprised, but considering that this kid, a transmigrator, had grown up in the Clear Sky Sect for the first half of his life and was influenced by it, he couldn’t help but show a hint of sympathy: “Who told me I had a good birth? While the external environment has, to some extent, shaped who I am now, at least I can freely choose my own lifestyle. As for you, you no longer resemble a transmigrator at all; instead, you’re like a true ‘Clear Sky person.’”

Tang Luoya frowned, confused, as he didn’t feel that he had been changed by the Clear Sky Sect’s environment.

Hawk, however, chuckled, leaned closer to Tang San, and whispered, “Exactly, that’s right, I also think this guy has been ‘indigenized,’ and his mind is a bit stubborn.”

“I can hear you,” Tang Luoya said, his face darkening.

“My apologies, next time I’ll speak more softly,” Hawk replied carelessly, then asked Tang San, “Big shot, can we cling to you?”

“My sexual orientation is normal,” Tang San said indifferently, “Also, what abilities do you two possess?”

Tang Luoya: “Blacksmithing, combat.”

Hawk: “Strategizing, a military advisor?”

Hearing the two speak like this, Tang San could only “hehe” twice. The Heavenly Dao had already transmitted everything these two had done in Soul Guidance Technology City, and the facts indeed matched their words.

But—

Tang Luoya was alright; at least he knew the Rampaging Wind Technique, and his blacksmithing was decent, but it was limited to Hundred Refinements. He just couldn't find the knack for Thousand Refinements.

As for Hawk... he could only be a dog-headed military advisor.

In short, they were just “ordinary people” whose cultivation talent was slightly better than that of ordinary Spirit Masters. In Spirit City, they were only suitable as thugs, but given their identities, neither would choose to join Spirit Hall.

If it weren't for this “Tang Old Duck” being from the Clear Sky Sect, he wouldn't have paid him any mind.

As for mutual assistance between transmigrators...

Absolutely unnecessary!

The other people in Spirit City understood him better than these transmigrators.

Walking through the corridor, passing a fresh garden, the students and teachers sketching inside greeted Tang San. Tang San also responded gently and greeted them back.

“Don't you know that Tang Yuehua came here to open Moon Pavilion possibly to be an undercover agent?” Tang Luoya suddenly asked, “Why didn't you stop her? Is it because she's your aunt by blood?”

“The higher-ups of Spirit Hall all know, and even know that she will send a portion of the earned funds to the Clear Sky Sect,” Tang San said expressionlessly.

Tang Luoya frowned, “Then why not take action?”

Logically, there shouldn't be any students here at all; Spirit Hall would definitely cause trouble in secret! For example: threatening students, spreading rumors about Moon Pavilion's problems, and so on.

“Because we don't care.”

Tang San was calm, only wanting to express that the other party's imagined methods were too low-level.

However, this simple, understated sentence made Tang Luoya and Hawk gasp in cold air—

How confident must they be?

To what extent had Spirit Hall developed?

Could it be that they had even created nuclear weapons?

Recalling the virtual panels of relevant personnel he had seen in the Spirit Hall Branch outside Spirit City, Hawk felt it was truly possible, and his heart couldn't help but feel uneasy—when he went to Sea God Island later, accepted the Seagod Nine Trials, and became a God, would he be able to withstand the bombing of a nuclear bomb?

Regarding the power of a God, the original text's description was actually very vague, with numerous data loopholes. However, Hawk judged that the strength of mortals who became Gods on a mortal planet like the Douluo World should be incomplete. They would need to ascend to the God Realm and absorb the "Immortal Spiritual Energy" from the setting to fully complete their own strength.

As for Gods not being able to contend with black holes...

Black holes are actually not that fragile.

Arriving at Tang Yuehua's residence, Tang Yuehua, who was watering flowers, saw Tang San arrive and greeted him with a smile, then looked at Tang Luoya and Hawk, asking, "Who are these two?"

Hawk looked at Tang Luoya with a strange expression, thinking to himself: Tang Yuehua doesn't even recognize Tang Luoya? Could it be that this guy has a secret crush? What a useless fellow!

"This one, surnamed Tang, wanted to find you. When he arrived, he was blocked by the students outside, so to avoid conflict, I brought him in," Tang San said, pointing at Tang Luoya, then pointed at Hawk and added,

“You don’t need to bother with this one; he’s a scoundrel friend he made outside. I have some use for him.”

Hawk: “.....”

Tang Yuehua nodded, took out a Spirit card, and said, “In this Spirit City, it’s hard to move an inch without money. This is 100,000 gold coins. Use it sparingly, it should be enough.”

Tang Luoya’s face darkened. Was he short on money?

Indeed, he was quite short.

After accepting the Spirit card, Tang Luoya asked, “May I borrow a moment to speak?”

Seeing Tang San nod, Tang Yuehua led Tang Luoya to a separate room, leaving only Tang San and Hawk in the living room.

“Um, aren’t you afraid that Tang Old Duck will get together with your aunt?” Hawk tried to make conversation, but as soon as the words left his mouth, he slapped himself, secretly cursing his loose tongue.

Could he even ask that?

“Disney’s legal department is going to come looking for you,” Tang San smiled faintly.

“Hehe, Tang Luoya, Tang Old Duck, who told him to have that name?” Hawk chuckled awkwardly, then asked, “How are you going to deal with me and Tang Old Duck?”

“What is your Spirit?” Tang San didn’t answer, instead asking about the other’s Spirit. “I sensed an extreme water element fluctuation.”

“trident.”

Hawk released his Spirit, and a golden trident appeared, with a sky-blue gem at the sharp center point.

In addition, four spirit rings, yellow, yellow, purple, and purple, circled around it...

393: Faith in angels, very little

“A golden trident, the ultimate water element... You’re thinking of going to Sea God Island, right?” Though it was a question, Tang San’s tone was declarative.

trident, ultimate water.

Moreover, this transmigrator had read the Douluo Series, and without the help of an overwhelmingly powerful cheat, he could only go to Sea God Island, hoping the Sea God would choose him.

Furthermore, with a Spirit so similar to the Sea God Trident, it’s estimated that upon arriving at Sea God Island, even without undergoing the Seagod Nine Trials, the local residents would show him respect.

The probability of him obtaining the Seagod Nine Trials was not 100%, but close to 90% or more. Besides, that Sea God fellow always wanted to pass on his God Position and leave the God Realm to explore the broader universe.

“Uh, you’re not worried I’ll steal your God Position, are you?” Hawke became anxious.

“I have no interest in the God Positions of the God Realm, and I myself walk the path of Life and Destruction. Speaking of which, Life and the God of Destruction have already sent a wisp of their divine consciousness down to find me,” Tang San said with a shrug, indifferently. “But I didn’t agree. After all, inheriting a God Position is a huge pitfall.”

Hawke chuckled, but in his heart, he was certain that Tang San would not give up a God Position that came knocking.

Which transmigrator could refuse becoming a Divinity?

Even if he refused now, if he found himself nearing old age later, he would definitely try to contact the God Realm.

For example: Zhou Weiqing in “Heavenly Jewel Change.”

However, Tang San was an “old immortal.” The Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset assisted in the circulation of essence, qi, and Spirit, constructing a miniature human universe. His own soul had also transformed into a primordial Spirit, equivalent to the will of the human universe.

As long as he wasn’t killed, he could live on indefinitely, with virtually endless lifespan. How could he die of old age?

“Hawke, let’s go.” Tang Luoya walked out from the inner room, calling out to Hawke, preparing to return to Soul Guidance Technology City—

Inside the room, he had hoped Tang Yuehua could use her relationship with Tang San to obtain the Soul Armor manufacturing method, but Tang Yuehua refused him, even warning him not to harbor ill intentions and to be down-to-earth.

To be educated after living two lives!

It was simply preposterous!

But Tang Yuehua’s seniority was there, and Tang San was still outside, so it was not good to argue. He could only plan for the long term...

...

After the two left, Tang Yuehua revealed Tang Luoya’s purpose, sighing, “This person is a third-generation disciple of the Clear Sky Sect. His talent is good, having already reached rank 49. He came to Spirit City, witnessed the power of Soul Armor, but since Soul Armor is not for sale, he started thinking of ways to steal it. Currently, he’s working as a forging apprentice in Soul Guidance Technology City, capable of hundred-forging.”

Tang San nodded. He was aware of all this information, and it was even more detailed than what Tang Yuehua had gleaned from the other party. He said, "He's not important, no need to pay much attention to him. However, you can pay attention to that Hawke. In the future, your spirit ring abilities might require you to compete with him for something."

"That guy?" Tang Yuehua was puzzled.

"His Spirit is a trident, possessing the ultimate water element, and he has a chance to inherit the Sea God Position," Tang San said. "There is the Sea God's inheritance on Sea God Island."

"Sea God Island?"

"This name might be unfamiliar to you, but you should have heard of Devil Island, right?"

Tang Yuehua suddenly understood.

She had naturally heard of Devil Island. It was an independent island located hundreds of kilometers off the coast of Vast Sea City in the Heaven Dou Empire. It was said that anyone who went there never returned, hence the moniker "Devil."

She hadn't expected there to be the Sea God's inheritance there!

Tang Yuehua was no stranger to Divinities now, after all, her grandfather, Tang Chen, was striving to complete the Asura God's assessment.

But wasn't that Sea God not a benevolent Divinity?

Otherwise, there wouldn't be rumors of people never returning from there, causing people to turn pale at the mention of it.

"The existence of Sea God Island is similar to the Hall of Offerings of Spirit Hall. There is a rank 99 High Priest, and many followers of the Sea God: Titled Douluo. Moreover, there, those Sea God followers are much more fanatical than the Angel followers here."

Tang San continued, “The reason for the rumors that people never return once they go there is because once you set foot on Sea God Island, you must accept the trials bestowed by the Sea God. If you fail, you die. If you pass, you can receive rewards. The most basic reward should be an increase in spirit power. A better reward is an increase in spirit ring age. Even better is the bestowal of a god-bestowed spirit ring, meaning you can obtain a spirit ring without needing to hunt for one. It is said that this spirit ring will evolve into the most suitable Spirit Ability based on one’s own Spirit.”

“Never mind, this topic has strayed too far.”

“On Sea God Island, even if you pass the assessment, you cannot leave again. Otherwise, everyone on the island will consider you to have betrayed the Sea God’s faith, and you will be hunted down by the entire island. In severe cases, the High Priest of Sea God Island might even be able to use the authority granted to her by the Sea God to eliminate you across space.”

Tang Yuehua shivered, trembling as she said, “The Sea God is definitely an evil Divinity, right?”

That absolutely sounds like cultivating slaves, doesn’t it?

The people living there must be absolutely insane, just like... the Clear Sky Sect!

Suddenly, Tang Yuehua seemed to understand something, a wave of lingering fear washing over her. Then she asked another question: “So, why do those Divinities do this?”

“Faith.” Tang San wasn’t afraid of Tang Yuehua knowing, because as long as she wanted to maintain her intellectual independence, she couldn’t transmit this information to the Clear Sky Sect. Tang Chen must also know the function of the power of faith. “Faith in Divinities can directly enhance their strength, but correspondingly, it will also gradually distort their personalities, making them become the image in the eyes of their believers... Powerful Divinities don’t need faith, while some Divinities who realize that faith is problematic instead let their divine artifacts carry faith and use faith to strengthen the divine artifacts.”

“The Sea God is precisely like this.”

“He preserves faith on the mortal star, nurturing his Spirit/divine artifact: the Sea God Trident.”

“In this World, the Divinity with the most faith is the Sea God, and precisely because of this, Sea God Island can so generously bestow divine trials upon its natives or those who enter it—this requires faith as an energy source. Correspondingly, the Angel God of Spirit Hall, have you heard of Spirit Hall conducting large-scale bestowals of divine trials or gathering believers?”

“No.” Tang Yuehua shook her head. She didn’t even know of the Angel God’s existence, only considering her a legend.

After digesting this information, she didn’t ask Tang San why he knew so much—Tang San was the Holy Son, Spirit Hall had the Angel God’s inheritance, and had once attacked Sea God Island...

Knowing this.

It was very normal.

However, Tang Yuehua believed that more of the content was Tang San’s own speculation, not conclusions summarized by Spirit Hall personnel. “Is it because the Angel God has very little faith?”

“Very little, especially after Bibi Dong became Supreme Pontiff. The Angel’s faith became even scarcer. After all, what’s most famous in Spirit Hall now is Supreme Pontiff Bibi Dong, not the Angel God.”

As for why Qian Daoliu didn’t promote the Angel God... From the perspective of the original work, it’s highly probable that the previous Angel God committed some taboo, leading to intervention from the God Realm, which is why the Angel lineage didn't dare to widely spread the Angel's faith...

“Hawke, this guy has the potential to inherit the Seagod Nine Trials.” Tang San stated the direct reason for Tang Yuehua to pay attention to him. “And your Spirit, your spirit ring abilities, since they can borrow the power of a Divinity, then you still need to strive for the Sea God Position... Based on your previous description to me, your spirit rings are more like borrowing the power of a Divinity, but can a Divinity refuse?”

394: Give up the plan to capture the soul armor

The Asura God's inheritance was obtained by Tang Chen. Tang Yuehua felt that, by all accounts, as long as her grandfather could be reasonable in the future, she could naturally borrow it.

And the Sea God's position...

If Hawke obtained the Sea God's inheritance first and Tang Yuehua later condensed a similar Domain, she probably wouldn't be able to borrow the Sea God's power anymore, right? Or rather, when facing Hawke, it wouldn't have much effect.

"Do I have to obtain the Sea God's inheritance?" Tang Yuehua naturally yearned for a Domain skill related to a Divinity, but was she really going to Sea God Island?

That kind of place was not somewhere a weak woman like her could go.

"You don't need to go to Sea God Island. There's actually another way for your spirit ring to obtain a Domain-type skill born under the influence of Sea God energy," Tang San smiled slightly. "Moreover, for you, it's quite advantageous."

"What?" Tang Yuehua's breathing quickened.

"Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud," Tang San stated the name of an item.

"I've heard of that. It seems to be an ancient spirit tool collected by the Heaven Dou Imperial Family. No one can use it, but it's incredibly hard, so its symbolic meaning is greater than its practical use." Tang Yuehua had some understanding of the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud. After all, when Xue Ke was still running the Moon Pavilion in Heaven Dou City, she would often tell her about the imperial family's treasures, and even bring some unimportant gems for her to appraise.

But in the end, she personally returned them—among them, she had played with the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud. That gem was indeed very hard. According to Xue Ke, a full-power strike from a Titled Douluo offering three hundred years ago couldn't leave any mark on it, and was even counterattacked by a trace of power contained within it, dying not long after from severe injuries.

However, by Xue Ke's generation, it was only considered a legend.

Tang Yuehua originally didn't believe it, but now that Tang San brought it up, could the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud be related to the Sea God?

"That's actually the Sea God's Heart, the core of the Sea God Trident," Tang San revealed the true nature of the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud. "It is part of a divine tool. If you obtain it, perhaps you can use your Ruyi Ring to engrave its pattern on your second spirit ring, thereby giving birth to a Sea God Domain."

Tang Yuehua's beautiful eyes lit up, feeling that this was indeed feasible.

She couldn't go to Sea God Island, but she could access the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud. With her friendship with Xue Ke, she could find an opportunity to go to Heaven Dou, borrow that thing to play with for a few days, and it wouldn't be impossible.

"Thank you for the guidance, Little San." Tang Yuehua felt that ever since she followed Tang San and let go of the Clear Sky Sect's pride, her future was incredibly bright.

"I just want to see if you can truly bear the Domains of multiple Divinities." Tang San's words were brutally direct, but Tang Yuehua didn't care.

Tang San was her closest blood relative!

Now, the more she looked, the more she liked him!

"Let's talk business." Tang San took out a stack of documents from his storage wristband and began to talk about the main reason for his visit. "When you run a business in Spirit City, the profits earned need to be taxed... The Spirit Hall Holy Maiden considered your relationship with me and asked me to come and tell you personally."

Tang Yuehua: "....." She suddenly felt Tang San was a bit annoying.

"How much do I have to pay?"

"Twenty percent of the profits."

"Isn't that too much?"

"It was originally thirty percent. Because of me, it was reduced by ten percent. Other large merchants all pay thirty percent," Tang San said slowly. "Originally, I didn't agree to reduce it by ten percent, but the Holy Maiden took such good care of you, so I had no choice. Just don't publicize it everywhere."

Tang Yuehua just wanted to say that this nephew was truly clueless, not even thinking of saving money for his aunt...

...

After Tang Yuehua signed, Tang San chatted with her for a few moments, then left the Moon Pavilion and found Hu Liena, who was working in the main hall of the Spirit Hall in the Inner City, and personally handed her the documents.

"Here, the documents you wanted."

Ordinary documents didn't need to be handed to Hu Liena; they could be given to the corresponding departments below. But who made Tang Yuehua's identity sensitive?

She needed special treatment.

"If Spirit Hall and the Clear Sky Sect have a conflict in the future, which side will you stand on?" Hu Liena stamped the document and then asked this question, a strange look in her eyes. "I don't want to see you and Clear Sky Douluo stage a father-son fratricide."

Father-son fratricide...

No matter the reason, if it happened, in the minds of the continent's common people, the son would always be in the wrong.

Unless this matter happened very secretly, unknown to anyone.

"Am I not the Spirit Hall Saint Child? Which side do you think I'll stand on?" Tang San stated his position. "Besides, I imagine you all wouldn't make things difficult for me then, right?"

Hu Liena breathed a sigh of relief and smiled: "Naturally."

"If a war is truly to be waged, I hope Spirit Hall isn't the one to start it first." Tang San hoped Hu Liena could do more ideological work with Bibi Dong. "For the Two Great Empires and the common people living within the Two Great Empires, our so-called unification war is actually a war of aggression."

"Normal people don't like war, unless it's for the peace of the continent." Hu Liena's eyes held a longing for the common people of the continent to live in peace and contentment.

She had noble ideals!

"Indeed, but currently, most of the common people on the continent will not understand us, who initiated the war first. Spirit Hall's influence on the continent's common people is not yet deep, and the quality of Spirit Hall's lower-level personnel is uneven. Currently, only Spirit City is good, able to obey orders, but once war breaks out and cities are captured, it's uncertain whether they will let themselves go."

Tang San looked deeply at Hu Liena, "You've carried out many missions to apprehend The Fallen, haven't you? What low-quality Spirit Hall personnel do after capturing a city won't be much different from The Fallen, and the problems caused will even be more severe."

Hu Liena pondered, then finally nodded heavily: "I will talk to teacher. Spirit Hall will never be an aggressor!"

On the other side.

Hawke and Tang Luoya were casually strolling in Fantasy Film City, pondering their next plan.

Hawke suggested giving up and leaving Spirit City directly.

Reason?

Tang San had noticed them, and Tang Yuehua was unwilling to help. Staying here would very likely lead to them being deliberately monitored, which was not a long-term solution.

However, Tang Luoya was truly unwilling. He didn't understand why Tang Yuehua was close to Tang San. Even if he was her nephew, he had now joined Spirit Hall and was not on the same side as the Clear Sky Sect!

Tang Yuehua was very loyal to the Sect!

"Don't be so incredulous. Didn't you see that Tang San looks like a pretty boy? And his strength is powerful. Tang Yuehua definitely wants to find a way to win him over." Hawke comforted "Tang Luoya," patting his shoulder. "Tang San's attitude towards us is already very clear; he doesn't care. But others might not. That reception student saw his threat to us, so it's best to leave this place."

"What about the Soul Armor?"

"Soul Armor? That thing must have incorporated the principles of spirit tools. If we spend time learning it, do we still want to cultivate?" Hawke retorted. "After all, we don't have Mysterious Heaven Skill. Cultivating spirit power requires meditation, and we don't have that much energy to worry about other skills... If you're unwilling, why don't we go watch a movie? The spirit tool movie tickets for crazy soul beast city have already been bought, we can't waste them."

Tang Luoya: "....."

395: Resonance between spirit, spirit and spirit

“crazy soul beast city” tells the story of a Soft Bones Rabbit named Rabbit who goes from the countryside to the big city to become an enforcer. In the Worldview of this movie, there are no humans, only Spirit Beasts.

All Spirit Beasts walk upright, can speak, and possess human intelligence.

However, Spirit Beasts vary in size, which means that even if Spirit Beasts overcome the predator-prey relationship of the food chain, a series of problems will arise due to their size.

This big city is not very friendly to tiny Spirit Beasts.

“Are you sure this isn’t plagiarizing ‘Zootopia’?” After watching it once, Tang Luoya’s eyes twitched, and his almost forgotten memories from his previous life resurfaced in his mind.

Rabbit, isn't that just a transliteration of the English word for rabbit?

That’s a bit too perfunctory!

And the plot is pretty much the same.

Hock said, “It’s okay. At least this animated movie isn’t 3D; every frame is hand-drawn. Plus, the Spirit Beasts in the movie are much more splendid than ordinary animals.”

“You just said, ‘Zootopia’?” A clear, beautiful female voice came, and Xiao Qing and Xiao Bai walked to their side, observing them.

“Transcendents?”

Hock’s expression changed, but he immediately calmed down, knowing he couldn’t hide it, and tentatively asked, “Are you two also?”

“Mm.” Xiao Bai nodded. “Let’s talk outside.”

“Indeed, there are too many people here.” Hock looked around, greeted Tang Luoya, and followed Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing, two fellow Transcendents dressed in maid outfits, out of the cinema.

“I didn’t expect to meet fellow Transcendents here,” Xiao Bai said with a smile. “When you two were discussing ‘Zootopia,’ I thought it was just a new movie made in this World, but I just asked, and you actually admitted it.”

“There’s no way to hide it. My expression already gave it away. Even if I didn’t admit it, you would have suspected me.” Hock smiled openly. “Are you two maids from some wealthy family? That’s quite unfortunate.”

Alright!

Just like Tang Luoya, they’ve been assimilated!

Hock gained a basic understanding of the two women and asked, “May I ask what your master does? We brothers have some skills and hope to achieve great things.”

“There will definitely be a reward afterward!”

Since they had decided to leave Spirit City, it was a good idea to make connections with the people in Spirit City and make a friend or two before leaving, so they could keep in touch later.

Originally, the best choices were Lou Gao and Si Long, but unfortunately, Tang Luoya’s blacksmithing talent was limited, so he couldn’t gain their recognition, or even meet them.

Those kinds of people, besides forging, were not interested in anything else. Not to mention, they were both poor and couldn't even gather enough money to buy gifts...

As for inviting these two women to join the Transcendents' Alliance... Hock didn't want someone who might spill everything in bed, and these two were not strong, only at the Spirit Grandmaster level.

Their strength was a bit lacking.

"Are you Spirit Masters? What level?" Xiao Bai thought that recruiting some security personnel for Soul Martial Manor was a good option, and perhaps Saint Son would even reward them.

The prerequisite was that these two had decent strength; otherwise, they could only, out of consideration for being fellow Transcendents, introduce them to a job that would allow them to live here.

"Our strength is close to Spirit King," Hock said with a confident smile.

"Close to Spirit King?" Xiao Bai was surprised, observing them both, and said, "For your age, reaching this strength is already genius-level..."

"...Could you be spies for some force?" Xiao Qing interjected, becoming wary of them.

"Don't say that. If we were really spies, Spirit Hall would have arrested us long ago," Hock chuckled, hoping to skip the topic.

"That's true. If you were spies, you wouldn't be able to escape Spirit Hall's detection." Xiao Qing agreed with this, revealing an attitude of trust in Spirit Hall.

This made Hock even more vigilant, but he still asked, "Can we, with our strength, go to your master's place?"

“Naturally, it’s enough.” Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing exchanged glances, both seeing the joy in each other’s eyes—Saint Son also needed to cultivate his own team, and these two were Transcendents, just like them, and would surely be able to look out for each other in the future.

So, Hock and Tang Luoya followed the two women into the Inner City and witnessed the true Spirit City: just as rumored, most of the pedestrians on the streets had spirit power, and Spirit Masters were everywhere.

And the closer they got to the Spirit in the center, the more shocked they became, especially the Douluo Hall at the top. In the ethereal realm, some kind of power seemed to emanate, making their hearts feel somewhat suppressed.

There was the Angel God’s inheritance there!

Before possessing the corresponding strength, in front of the true Divinity inheritance ground, they instinctively felt a sense of unease and dared not jest as before.

As for Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing...

They were already accustomed to it, and living in Soul Martial Manor, they were more influenced by Tang San, so their perception of the invisible pressure emanating from within Douluo Hall was naturally not very keen.

Moreover, the lower one’s strength, the weaker their perception of that power.

Upon arriving at the gates of Soul Martial Manor, Hock and Tang Luoya marveled at its vastness, which was almost as large as a Heaven Dou imperial prince’s manor. It must belong to a prominent figure.

However, Tang Luoya became worried, as he was, after all, born into the Clear Sky Sect... Although for now, Spirit City didn’t seem to reject Hao Tian Disciples much, who knew if the master here disliked the Clear Sky Sect?

Spirit Hall Inner City and Spirit Hall Outer City were ultimately not entirely the same; the Inner City had more families of Spirit Hall higher-ups...

“Where did you two go?” Gu Yuena followed their scent and found them. “As my attendants, even on a rest day, you must report your outings to me.”

“We went to see ‘crazy soul beast city,’” Xiao Bai complimented. “Miss Na’er’s script is excellent.”

The script for “crazy soul beast city” was written by this silver-haired little girl in front of them?

Hock and Tang Luoya looked at each other: Could she also be a Transcendent?

In reality, Gu Yuena wrote the script for “crazy soul beast city” simply by imitating Xiao Wu, who wrote novels in her spare time. Unlike Xiao Wu, who described the habits of Spirit Beasts, Gu Yuena pondered what would happen if Spirit Beasts possessed human-like intelligence, could use tools, and build houses, but without transforming into human form.

She eventually realized that even if Spirit Beasts overcame the conflict between “prey and predator,” they couldn’t perfectly coexist. The problems caused by size differences alone were enough to cause frequent conflicts among Spirit Beasts.

The “crazy” in “crazy soul beast city” lies precisely in this—it is a fantasy, a desire to become reality, yet遥不可及 (out of reach)—

However, Gu Yuena was only responsible for writing the script; filming and other aspects were entirely handed over to others. She herself did not participate, merely enjoying the share of profits.

Having been with Tang San for quite some time, she also understood one thing: she needed to have money and couldn’t rely entirely on Tang San, her “shit-shoveler,” otherwise, even if she wasn’t a pet, she would truly become one.

“That’s a good flattery.” Gu Yuena didn’t react much to Xiao Bai’s praise, her gaze falling on Hock and Tang Luoya. “Who are these two guys? Your boyfriends? It seems you two have given up...”

“No!” Xiao Qing quickly waved her hands. “They are our fellow Transcendents and are looking for a job.”

“A job?”

Gu Yuena, imitating Tang San, rubbed her chin and circled the two a few times.

“Their spirit power fluctuations are close to Spirit King. Their cultivation talent is quite good. One has extreme water element, and the other carries a tiny bit of destruction attribute. If one isn’t careful, it’s almost undetectable.”

“Tell me, whose people are you?”

Hock dared not be careless with the delicate girl in front of him, because he couldn’t sense her spirit power fluctuations, yet she could detect their strength level.

The difference was immediately apparent!

This “girl” was definitely not as simple as she appeared on the surface.

“Hello, respected young lady, I am a free Spirit Master, and this one is from the Clear Sky Sect.” Hock unhesitatingly sold Tang Luoya out—a dead fellow Daoist is better than a dead poor Daoist.

If this person didn't have any ill will towards the Clear Sky Sect or the Hao Tian Disciples, then everything was fine, the plan would proceed as usual, befriending the owner here and leaving a bit of goodwill; but if he cared deeply, or even hated them, then he would truly have to sell Tang Luoya out as a show of loyalty, after all, fellow countrymen were meant to be duped.

“Clear Sky Sect, I know it, one of the Upper Three Sects.” Gu Yuena nodded, “I heard that the people there all have a bit of a mental problem?”

Tang Luoya frowned, but Hawke spoke first, saying, “That’s right, the people of the Clear Sky Sect are all one-track minded. He’s a bit better... May I ask, are you the owner here? Or the young lady of the household?”

Gu Yuena automatically put her hands on her hips, her lips curving: “Naturally, I am the owner here!”

Hearing her say this, Hawke was certain. This person definitely wasn’t as young as she appeared. Her true age might already be over a hundred, either through the art of preserving youth or by reaching an ultimate level, allowing her to maintain her youthful appearance.

“If you want to work here, it’s not impossible. I’ll take you to meet my people, and he will arrange things for you.” Gu Yuena was preparing to take these two to see Tang San. After all, they were two wild Spirit Ancestors, so she couldn’t be too casual, and she genuinely didn’t have the right to recruit people for the Soul Martial Manor.

The two followed the bouncing Gu Yuena, passing through the middle section of the Soul Martial Manor and entering the residential area, where they found Tang San meditating cross-legged in the courtyard, with a tall Blue Silver Emperor beside him.

“Two uninvited guests have arrived.” Tang San opened his eyes, looked at Hawke and Tang Luoya, then glanced at the innocent-looking Gu Yuena, feeling a bit speechless: “We truly are fated, you two. We just met, and I didn’t expect you to come looking for me proactively... Honestly, you really don’t need to be so polite.”

Hawke gave an awkward smile, nodding and bowing, saying, “Then you go ahead and be busy, we won’t disturb you.”

“Why the rush to leave? Come have some tea.” Tang San stood up and headed towards the living room, while the two men’s bodies moved uncontrollably, also walking towards the living room.

Tang Luoya gritted his teeth, but his body seemed not to belong to him, becoming a puppet of another, only able to move his steps stiffly.

Why was Tang San able to control their bodies?

Naturally, it was because Tang San had recently gained a deeper understanding of the three aspects of essence, qi, and Spirit—

Tang San discovered that the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset could produce a peculiar resonance when assisting in the transformation and circulation of essence, qi, and Spirit.

This resonance was like the expansion of the Big Bang, capable of continuously reorganizing every organ and tissue of the physical body, adjusting every cell, as if it had established a deeper connection with a certain rhythm of the entire universe... From this perspective, even if Tang San did not increase or modify the Golden Core Ring, Heart Core Ring, and Lingge Ring in the future, eventually, his three cultivation methods would also become fully integrated.

But as for how many years that would take, it was hard to say.

And Tang San recorded the frequency of that resonance, discovering that every living being had a similar resonance. As long as he found the correct frequency within it, he could control the opponent's essence, qi, and Spirit.

The effect manifested was the control of another person's body, making it one's own puppet.

However, this required extremely strong computational ability.

Although Tang San had already cultivated a Nascent Soul, controlling these two people was not easy. If he were to control a Titled Douluo-level existence, he would probably need the Heavenly Dao for auxiliary calculations.

However, merely disturbing a person's essence, qi, and Spirit was very simple and did not require much effort.

After entering the living room, Hawke and Tang Luoya regained their ability to move, but they didn't dare to breathe loudly, staring blankly at Tang San, with beads of sweat the size of soybeans appearing on their foreheads and cheeks.

What kind of bizarre method was this?

Spirit Ability?

Impossible!

Even if the control of spirit power reached a subtle degree, allowing the use of Spirit Ability without releasing one's Spirit or spirit ring, it wouldn't be to the extent that they couldn't feel even a trace of spirit power fluctuation.

Could it be mental force?

Did Tang San give them a suggestion just now? No, that's not right. They could clearly sense the circulation of their own spirit power and the flow of blood. They had never had such a clear feeling before.

Tang San smiled as he served them tea: “(^-^)_且~~”

The two were silent as cicadas in winter, daring not to say anything, merely holding their teacups, hoping Tang San would let them go... This was truly too strange! This person was really not to be offended!

“Why did you come here?” Tang San poured himself another cup, took a sip, pointed at Gu Yuena who was sitting beside him cracking peanuts, and asked, “You wouldn't be trying to abduct her, would you?”

Gu Yuena was displeased: “What are you saying? Am I, this young lady, that easy to abduct? By the way, do you know these two fellows?”

“I saw them once, at the Moon Pavilion.” Tang San put down his teacup, crossed his legs, and looked directly at the two.

“You misunderstand, we just want to find a better job. How does that saying go? ‘One learns martial arts and literary skills to serve the emperor’s family.” Hawke laughed awkwardly, “Who knew that following two fellow countrymen, I would actually meet you. This is truly fate.”

“Your flattery still needs more practice, it’s too stiff.” Gu Yuena picked up the teacup Tang San had used, took a sip of the remaining tea inside, and immediately stuck out her tongue: “It’s a bit bitter, a bit astringent, not very good to drink.”

“For a child like you, it’s too early to appreciate tea.” Tang San took the teacup, refilled it with hot tea, and then asked the two again, “Let’s get to the point. How many people are there in your group?”

Hawke glanced at Gu Yuena and asked, “Can we speak with her present?”

“Aren’t they just people from another World?” Gu Yuena sneered, “What’s there to hide? In the universe, occasionally there are spatial-temporal turbulences that bring some beings from one World to another. It’s a very common situation.”

Hawke was filled with respect, realizing that this was a great Divinity, and asked, “May I ask who you are?”

“Gu Yuena!”

“Amazing!” Hawke immediately gave Tang San a thumbs-up, feeling that Tang San had defied the heavens, actually wanting to take his future daughter-in-law as well... truly playful!

If he had the ability, he would want to too!

“There are three of us: me, Tang Luoya, and Feng Ming. Feng Ming didn’t come; he’s in Heaven Dou City, the second son of a small family.....”
Hawke decided to cling to Tang San’s leg.

If you can't beat them, and you can't compare to them, then join them.
What's the big deal?

Anyway, he had learned his lesson by this age!

Tang Luoya looked at Hawke in disbelief, not expecting his leader to sell out the Transcendents' Alliance's information at the first opportunity... Sure enough, this Transcendents' Alliance had no future!

He would not submit to Tang San just like that.

As a Transcendent, he was confident he was no less than this “protagonist”!

Watching their differing expressions, Tang San leisurely took a sip of hot tea, thinking to himself: Hawke is not bad, he can read people's expressions, at least he's not the extremely arrogant type; As for Tang Luoya, his mind has been completely rusted by the “pride” of the Clear Sky Sect, and it won't change in a short time.

“Alright. From now on, when you recruit others of your kind, send me a copy of the list.” After listening to Hawke's description, Tang San nodded, “I won't let you work for nothing. I can provide your operating funds, but you must first list out a detailed form of where the funds will be spent and apply to me for them.”

“No problem, boss.” Hawke, like a sycophant, smiled extremely obsequiously, even thinking of coming over to massage Tang San's legs to show his loyalty.

Tang Luoya's mouth twitched, disdaining Hawke's behavior, but at this moment, he didn't know what to do... Tang San wanted them to state their stance. If he said nothing, would it not be good?

Moreover, he had already obtained the Asura Aura. As long as he condensed killing intent through slaughter, he could obtain the Slaughter God Domain. In the future, by continuously cultivating the Slaughter God Domain, it could evolve into the Asura Domain, and then he would have hope of receiving the Asura God's inheritance.

Although the Asura God's inheritance was currently occupied by Tang Chen, he might also be able to obtain a Divinity trial. After all, the Asura God chose inheritors by casting a wide net.

He just needed to be more outstanding than Tang Chen.

As a Transcendent, he had that confidence!

Therefore, he absolutely could not lose this pride. Even if Tang San was stronger than him now, the future was uncertain. As long as he could surpass Tang Chen and defeat Tang San, it was not impossible.

“What about you?” Tang San looked at Tang Luoya.

396: Open the spirit beast fantasy space

In the end, Tang Luoya said nothing and acted like a quail.

But Tang San also did not make things difficult for him; he would not arbitrarily pin a fabricated crime on someone else.

After calling Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing in and seeing the two of them off, Gu Yuena asked, “You’re also a visitor from another World, aren’t you? Don’t deny it, I guessed it long ago.”

“Since you guessed it, why ask?”

Tang San slowly stood up, preparing to continue researching the Physical Martial Soul owners collected by Spirit Hall, but Gu Yuena stopped him and asked, “That rabbit...”

“Hm?” Tang San said in a deep voice.

“Do Xiao Wu and the others know about this?” Gu Yuena immediately changed her words, looking at Tang San with a curious gaze.

“Not yet.”

“Hehe, so, I’m the first to know, right?” Gu Yuena was a little gleeful.

“That’s right, you’re the first.” Tang San nodded and warned her not to tell anyone, or else he would spank her little bottom until it bloomed.

Gu Yuena’s face turned red, and she cried out, “Pervert! You won’t even let go of a child!”

“Heh, you’re not as perverted as me. When I was young (referring to his previous life), I really didn’t know anything, unlike some people who would peek at Xiao Wu and me.” Tang San chuckled, teasing the mix of anger and shyness in Gu Yuena, and he got more and more excited as he spoke.

Now, he finally understood what children were for.

Just one word.

Play.

Teasing children is really interesting, and teasing Gu Yuena, this “little” Silver Dragon, is even more fun.

Gu Yuena, with a flushed face, roared, “I was clearly researching the way of vital energy and blood! And I’m not allowed to watch?! Besides, I’ve seen countless Spirit Beasts reproduce!”

“Oh, you’re so amazing.” Tang San clapped his hands, deliberately provoking her, and only apologized with kind words when she became angry out of embarrassment.

And Gu Yuena fell for this, after all, she could also “extort” more candied haws from Tang San... Although she had money herself, buying them with Tang San’s money tasted better.

“Pat, pat.”

Footsteps sounded on the stairs, and Zhu Zhuqing slowly walked down, stopping the “childish interaction” between Tang San and Gu Yuena.

“Zhuqing, you gained a lot in the Spirit Beast Illusion, didn’t you?” Tang San observed her, noticing that when she walked, she truly moved like a Hell Civet, not making a sound.

The experiences within the illusion were also a form of training for the physical body in reality.

“Yes, it’s alright. All six of my spirit rings have reached the ten-thousand-year level, especially the sixth spirit ring, which is close to the hundred-thousand-year level, and—”

Zhu Zhuqing’s lips curved slightly upward, and she took out two ten-thousand-year Spirit Bones. “There were unexpected gains, but I haven’t absorbed them.”

Handing the Spirit Bones to Tang San, Zhu Zhuqing was silent for a moment, then said, “I need to go back. I’ve been out for a while, and my sister might be worried.”

“Indeed, you should go back. The Star Luo Empire hasn’t been very peaceful lately.”

This was not groundless, as the Star Luo Crown Prince, Dai Weisi, had become increasingly “excessive” in his research of weapon-type spirit tools, leading many families to oppose him, and even some family patriarchs chose to side with Dai Mubai, who had returned to the Star Luo Empire.

They did not participate in the Dai Family’s competition, but if it threatened their family’s status and inheritance, then they were not necessarily bound to follow the “ancestral laws.”

And for Zhu Zhuqing, wanting to demonstrate her value and even gain real speaking power in the imperial court, this was the best opportunity.

Zhu Zhuqing looked deeply at Tang San, then suddenly walked up to him, and before he could retreat, she hugged him and kissed him.

This scene made Gu Yuena^{愣神} for a moment, then she tightly clenched her fists and said with a flushed face, “What are you two doing?! I’m still a nine-year-old child! Don’t let me see these things!”

But Zhu Zhuqing ignored her. After a while, she parted from Tang San’s lips, her cheeks slightly red, and said, “Don’t tell Xiao Wu and the others, or they’ll say I’m stealing their man.”

Saying this, Zhu Zhuqing covered her mouth, but still laughed aloud.

Speaking of which, even if she joined, Xiao Wu and the others wouldn't mind, right? But Tang San had said that love is mutual, and women also need to have their own careers and not be appendages to men.

And her career was in the Star Luo Empire.

Therefore, she couldn't immerse herself in this gentle embrace for too long...

It seemed she hadn't even been nourished yet, so how could she say she was immersed?

"I will definitely tell Xiao Wu and the others!" Gu Yuena said grumpily, as if in a fit of pique, "I'll say you two were secretly eating."

However, no one paid her any attention.

Tang San: "Shall I see you off?"

Zhu Zhuqing: "Good."

Outside Spirit City.

Zhu Zhuqing waved goodbye to Tang San, then ran off towards the Star Luo Empire without looking back, her speed so fast that she disappeared in the blink of an eye.

"Are you just going to let the girl who gave you her first kiss run back?" Gu Yuena followed beside Tang San, looking at him with the gaze of a "scum."

"For Spirit Masters, traveling never involves carriages." Tang San said with a matter-of-fact expression, "Let's go, back to the city. I still have a lot of work to do."

"Hmph, if you're so busy, do you still have time to kiss someone?" Gu Yuena pouted, then ran three steps, leaped, and jumped onto Tang San's shoulder, riding on his neck, pointing forward, and loudly declared, “Depart, to Min Shi Liang Du! This is punishment for you offending me!”

“How did I offend you?” Tang San looked puzzled.

“You let a young girl see things she shouldn’t at her age, harming her fragile heart, isn’t that an offense?” Gu Yuena grabbed Tang San’s hair, her righteous demeanor frightening the Ten-section Emerald, which served as a hair tie, into trembling. “It’s only because this King is merciful; if it were someone else, I would have dismembered you by now!”

“Yes, yes, yes, my fault, the Silver Dragon Overlord who has seen countless Spirit Beasts engage in reproductive activities.” Tang San teased, stepping towards Min Shi Liang Du...

...

After buying a large pile of candied haws and other snacks for Gu Yuena, Tang San went to the Supreme Pontiff Palace to discuss with Bibi Dong the research methods for Physical Spirits and Spirit Abilities that convert spirit power into mental force/blood qi. Afterwards, he brought up the matter of the Spirit Beast Illusion Space.

“...Supreme Pontiff, what are your thoughts on opening the Spirit Beast Illusion Space?”

There are many benefits to opening the Spirit Beast Illusion Space.

Firstly, those who enter it, whether existing there or hunting Spirit Beasts, need to expend a certain amount of mental force. Absorbing “Spirit Energy” that can increase the age of spirit rings also requires exchanging it with mental force.

And for the entire Starry Sky World and the Spirit Beast Illusion Space, mental force is a precious and indispensable resource.

Correspondingly, Spirit Masters who enter it for “Spirit hunting” will experience an increase in their mental force after leaving the Spirit Beast Illusion and recovering their mental energy.

Besides this—

397: Opening matters of Spirit Beast Fantasy Land

In addition, when a Spirit Master obtains spiritual energy and increases their spirit ring's age limit, the Heavenly Dao can also record the entire process of the spirit ring's age limit increase, greatly reducing the time Tang San himself needs for research.

This can better identify the method for increasing the spirit power circulation route of Spirit Abilities and further improve the efficiency of spirit power, i.e., using the least amount of spirit power to achieve the strongest effect.

"Increasing the spirit ring's age limit can reduce the spirit power consumption when using Spirit Abilities and improve the efficiency of spirit power usage." Bibi Dong stared at Tang San for a few moments before slowly saying, "Ordinary people can only see the former point, but you saw the latter point. What's even more commendable is that you actually found a way to increase the spirit ring's age limit."

Increasing the spirit ring's age limit?

It's estimated that only divine-level power can achieve that, right?

However, Tang San did it. Together with Xiao Wu, he found and connected to that energy space, where the energy can be used to increase the spirit ring's age limit.

How much luck must that take?

Moreover, after finding it, he didn't think of keeping it for himself but wanted to share it... Although it was for the sake of researching more fundamental content, his breadth of mind is far beyond ordinary people.

Even she herself felt inferior.

If Tang San knew Bibi Dong's thoughts, he would surely laugh three times. The Spirit Beast Illusion has already been incorporated into the Starry Sky World, and the ultimate authority is closely linked to his Blue Silver Emperor and divine soul. Others only have the right to use it.

"Supreme Pontiff, you flatter me. I was just lucky." Tang San said calmly, "So, will the Spirit Beast Illusion Space be opened?"

"It will be opened. I will personally oversee the first batch of personnel." Bibi Dong nodded, drafting a list. Hu Liena, Xie Yue, Yan, and other members of the Golden Generation would definitely be included. Next were Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo, followed by Devil Bear Douluo and Ghost Leopard Douluo.

After careful consideration, Bibi Dong also included these two Titled Douluo, preparing to completely bring them under her control and make them part of her faction.

After all, no matter how much they yearned for the Hall of Offerings, for Titled Douluo, improving their strength was the best way. The Spirit Beast Illusion Space could increase their spirit ring's age limit, and those Spirit Beasts could also drop Spirit Bones, with a much higher chance than real Spirit Beasts.

This would surely win over those two. At that time, providing the Body Forging Art would certainly make them even more devoted, realizing who to follow for a more magnificent future.

Subsequently, Bibi Dong followed Tang San and personally visited the Spirit Beast Illusion Space through the Blue Silver Emperor. Sensing the energy within, she said, "The energy here is of very high quality. For the divine soul, it is an excellent tonic, but for the mental bodies of mortals, it is useless. Besides feeling the 'air' here is fresh, they cannot absorb any energy."

Realizing the high energy level of this place, Bibi Dong asked Tang San to grant her permission to enter here at any time.

Tang San agreed, but Bibi Dong, like everyone else, would have to pay a corresponding amount of mental energy for whatever energy she took from here—whether it was the 'spiritual energy' permeating the space or the 'spiritual energy' and Spirit Bones dropped by Spirit Beasts.

After all, Bibi Dong was different from Xiao Wu and the others; she was his direct superior. He couldn't let her freeload... In work, one couldn't talk about personal favors; it was better to be clear about the accounts to ensure longevity.

Afterward, Hu Liena and the other members of the Golden Generation, Chrysanthemum Douluo, Ghost Douluo, Devil Bear Douluo, Ghost Leopard Douluo, as well as some Spirit Douluo-level cardinals, were summoned by Bibi Dong to the Supreme Pontiff Palace. Under Tang San's introduction, they learned about the existence of the Spirit Beast Illusion Space, and all were shocked, then excited.

After trying it out, seeing their own spirit rings change color made them even more thrilled.

After all, with an increased spirit ring age limit, less spirit power was consumed when using Spirit Abilities, which could greatly enhance their endurance during combat. Furthermore, in the future, they might even be able to possess a Ten-thousand year spirit ring!

Hu Liena looked at her purple, purple, purple, black, black, black spirit ring configuration and sighed, "The optimal spirit ring configuration might not mean much anymore in the future."

Yan echoed, "Nana is right."

This was indeed true. After all, when the Spirit Beast Illusion Space opens in the future, everyone's spirit ring age limit can be increased. It would not be impossible for someone's spirit ring to reach nine rings and ten thousand years in the future.

The optimal spirit ring configuration indeed held little significance anymore.

"This illusion space can really drop Spirit Bones!" Chrysanthemum Douluo looked at the nine-thousand-year-level left arm bone in his hand with a strange expression, strongly resisting the urge to absorb it.

For the Titled Douluo present, the allure of Spirit Bones was fatal. Even a thousand-year one was rare, as none of them had a full set of Spirit Bones.

Moreover, the one in Chrysanthemum Douluo's hand was a nine-thousand-year-level, extremely close to ten thousand years.

Hu Liena looked at that Spirit Bone for a moment, then suddenly said to Bibi Dong and Tang San, "Supreme Pontiff, Saint Son, I think that when the Spirit Beast Illusion Space is opened in the future, a fee should be charged to increase Spirit Hall's income. If someone obtains a Spirit Bone, they need to purchase it at an equivalent price after coming out."

Hu Liena could already imagine that in the perhaps not-so-distant future, the number of Spirit Bones might skyrocket, no longer being as precious as they are now, causing brothers, sisters, and spouses to fight each other.

At least, such phenomena would decrease with the increase in the number of Spirit Bones.

When Spirit Bones were no longer closely guarded secret treasures, then pricing them would be imperative.

"It should be so." Bibi Dong nodded, "Even internal personnel of Spirit Hall will need to pay to enter, but they can get a discount. Taking Spirit Master cultivation as an example, Spirit Masters within Spirit Hall get a 10% discount; Spirit Grandmasters: 20% off; Spirit Elders: 30% off, and so on.

Titled Douluo get a 90% discount, and those above ninety-fifth rank can enter for free."

Everyone had no objection.

After all, when the income of personnel within a large force increases, it also needs to promote internal consumption to keep funds circulating, only then can it develop sustainably.

"Titled Douluo level can have one free entry slot for others; ninety-fifth rank, two; ninety-sixth rank, three, and so on. Above ninety-fifth rank, for every rank increase, one additional free entry slot is added." After thinking for a while, Bibi Dong added, "This is an encouragement for Spirit Hall's Spirit Masters who cultivate to the nine-ring level."

Devil Bear Douluo and Ghost Leopard Douluo were overjoyed. Unlike Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo, these two had families in Spirit City. If they could bring excellent descendants in, they might stand out among the new generation of Spirit Hall.

"Alright, that's all for now. You all return to your respective posts to work." Bibi Dong dismissed everyone, leaving Tang San, and asked about another matter: "Is that Xiao Wu a Ten-thousand year soul beast that transformed?"

"Yes."

398: Another two years passed quickly and Tiandou split

Chapter 398: Another Two Years Have Passed — The Division of Heaven Dou

Tang San was not surprised that Bibi Dong had guessed Xiao Wu's identity.

Previously, it might have been excusable for Bibi Dong not to recognize her, as Xiao Wu had a method to conceal her Spirit Beast aura before reaching the Spirit Saint realm.

However, after consolidating her Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, if Bibi Dong still couldn't tell, she would simply be saving face, a matter of social etiquette.

Now that Xiao Wu had become a Spirit Saint, she had completely transformed into a human.

Bibi Dong bringing this up now was likely to gauge his attitude... After all, she had hunted a 100,000-year-old Soft Bones Rabbit, making her Xiao Wu's enemy: "The seventh spirit ring of my Soul Eating Spider Emperor came from a 100,000-year-old Soft Bones Rabbit. Honestly, this spirit ring doesn't match the Soul Eating Spider Emperor at all. Fortunately, it was used for the seventh spirit ring, granting me a Martial Soul True Body ability and a physical combat Spirit Ability, which I named: Spider Emperor Eight-Stage Close Lock."

Eight-Stage Close Lock?

No wonder Bibi Dong never used this Spirit Ability in the original work; this physical combat style was completely incompatible with a spiritual Spirit like the Soul Eating Spider Emperor.

Even if Bibi Dong's formidable physical constitution allowed her to use it, her status would prevent her from doing so... Wait, didn't she seem to have used it on him last time?

Tang San immediately dismissed that thought and said, "Indeed, a Soft Bones Rabbit isn't suitable for you."

"That's not the point." Bibi Dong stared at Tang San, asking faintly, "If your woman conflicts with me and seeks revenge, whose side would you choose?"

"Actually, we can reconcile." Tang San bypassed this question, which was akin to [Who would you save first if your mother and I both fell into the water?], and proposed another possibility.

"Reconcile? How?" Bibi Dong was curious. Could it be that Xiao Wu had given up on revenge?

"Actually, Xiao Wu's mother's residual soul has already been recovered from you, and I possess a revival Spirit Ability myself. Currently, she is being nurtured in the Starry Sky World, awaiting revival." Tang San thought for a moment and revealed the entire situation.

"How dare you!" Bibi Dong's anger flared without needing to be provoked, and her aura pressed down on Tang San. "When did you do it?"

"When you were holding me." Facing the aura that roared like thousands of vengeful Spirits, Tang San concentrated his mind, remaining unmoving and telling a small lie without changing his expression.

The snatching of Xiao Wu's mother's fragmented soul occurred during the challenge after the Continental Elite Tournament.

But he couldn't say that, otherwise the nature of the matter would change...

And when Bibi Dong heard Tang San say that, her aura immediately dissipated. After all, that incident truly couldn't be blamed on Tang San. If he detected something and seized the Soft Bones Rabbit's soul at the opportune moment... was it an equivalent exchange? Did she lose, or did she gain?

"Is the repaired soul still the original one?" Bibi Dong recovered her senses, temporarily casting aside those distracting thoughts, and asked about the Immortal True Spirit.

"Regarding the research on the Immortal True Spirit, we currently only know that such a thing exists." Although Tang San and other Spirit Masters of the Spirit Hall specializing in spiritual abilities had been researching the Immortal True Spirit using the souls of The Fallen in the Starry Sky World and the eighteen layers of hell within the soul imprint throne of goodness and death created by Iliex, their progress was zero.

After all, once the Immortal True Spirit emerges after a soul's natural death, it immediately vanishes, and there are currently no means to capture it... Clearly, it's not something they should be researching at this stage. "For mortals with emotions, memory and the soul's outer shell are fundamental, while the Immortal True Spirit should be similar to a spirit tool battery."

Although both Tang San and Bibi Dong knew that the Immortal True Spirit could never be simply replaced by something like a "spirit tool battery," but was rather the true essence of a person's self.

However, they currently could not reach that level, and thus were helpless.

"Then, in the future, we must try our best to avoid shaping souls, otherwise people will be like mass-produced living spirit tools, only with memories and emotions." Bibi Dong didn't elaborate on this topic, which was considered an agreement to Tang San's decision.

"Naturally." Tang San nodded. After all, who would have thought that not only the physical body could be cloned, but even the soul could be replicated? This was truly a terrifying thing.

This World has too many unknowns...

...

Two years passed in a flash.

The six outer cities of Spirit City became increasingly prosperous, and their land area further expanded by 0.2 times. This was mainly because the Two Great Empires restricted population outflow, leading to a decrease in the population growth of Spirit City.

But development continued, especially in the Soul Guidance Technology City, which already had the true flavor of an industrial revolution, with various novel spirit tools emerging endlessly.

The Two Great Empires—

On Star Luo's side, things remained the same, with intense disputes over whether or not to research weapon-type spirit tools, leading to slow development. Zhu Zhuqing, on the other hand, sought to leverage her sister Zhu Zhuyun and brother-in-law Dai Weisi's connections to request an official position from Dai Legao. She began to attract insightful individuals and handle imperial affairs. Her decisive and unsmiling style, along with her serious attitude in dealing with people, earned her considerable renown.

Many young people within the country regarded her as an idol.

Even, because Zhu Zhuqing did not participate in spirit tool-related matters, some families hoped to win her over to oppose Dai Weisi and Zhu Zhuyun...

Meanwhile, in the Heaven Dou Empire, Emperor Xue Qinghe, after stabilizing his position within these two years, began to rectify the hereditary nobles and sought to emulate Star Luo by abolishing other duchies and kingdoms.

As soon as this news broke, the rulers of many small kingdoms united to form the "New Tiandou Alliance," abbreviated as the New Heaven Dou Federation, led by the Balak Kingdom. They repeatedly submitted petitions, hoping that Xue Qinghe would retract her command.

However, Xue Qinghe remained resolute, determined to carry out large-scale reforms within Heaven Dou. She even saw this as an opportunity; once she quelled the rebellion, her prestige would undoubtedly reach its peak, and by then, even if she reverted to her female identity, few would care—those who dared to care were not her own people and could be eliminated.

As for Emperor Xue Ye, he had been bedridden for nearly a year and would pass away in a few days.

However, the tragedy of an emperor lies in the fact that at the moment of impending death, even those closest to him rarely feel true sorrow. Only when he truly dies, at the moment of burial, perhaps a large number of unrelated people will come to pay their respects.

Regarding the Heaven Dou Empire's division into the original Heaven Dou and the New Tiandou, Spirit Hall stated that it would not participate in Heaven Dou's internal strife, only being responsible for resettling displaced commoners.

This made the commoners within Heaven Dou even more respectful of Spirit Hall, while having considerable grievances towards both the original Heaven Dou and the New Tiandou. Their grievances towards Emperor Xue Qinghe were slightly more pronounced than those towards the New Tiandou nobles.

After all, the commoners didn't care about the upper echelons' plans; they only knew that Xue Qinghe's command led to the Empire's division, worsening their living conditions.

In terms of propaganda and public opinion tactics, the old nobles of New Tiandou were no less skilled than Xue Qinghe.

If Xue Qinghe hadn't stirred up trouble, they would have endured it. But she not only wanted to introduce imperial examinations, promoting talent above all else, but also to strip them, the hereditary nobles, of their status.

Especially the latter, which was absolutely intolerable!

This was to cut off their very roots!

Therefore, they could only rebel—no, they hoped Emperor Xue Qinghe could understand that the Heaven Dou Empire could only exist stably and long-term with the presence of nobles like them!

399: Talk about Yufeng, Yufeng has arrived

Tang San, Xiao Wu, and the others walked along the familiar streets of Heaven Dou City, marveling at the changes, and headed towards Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

Why go to Heaven Dou Royal Academy?

They had made an agreement to gather at the Academy five years later, so they naturally came to fulfill their promise.

Besides that, the new Continental Elite Tournament was about to begin, and they wanted to see the strength of their leader Qin Ming, as well as the current batch of junior students.

The guards outside the Academy saw Tang San and the others, and after confirming their identities, their eyes immediately showed reverence, and they let them pass.

“This place is pretty much the same as before, not much has changed,” Xiao Wu observed the surroundings. It was still the same mountain forest, except for some iron poles along the roadside with spherical Spirit tool lamp covers on top.

The teaching building was much taller than before, it must have been expanded.

“There are still changes. At least, the number of profligate young masters among the students here has significantly decreased.”

Thanks to Xue Qinghe's policies, although the Empire was split, correspondingly, some commoners who were not valued before got opportunities for promotion, and talented commoner Spirit Masters could also join Heaven Dou Royal Academy to study.

As long as they could afford the tuition.

As for those original profligate young masters, a large portion of them left Heaven Dou City and went to the New Heaven Dou Federation, where they continued to display the superiority of hereditary nobles.

“Captain!”

A familiar voice came from behind. Yu Tianheng walked over with Dugu Yan and said, “Good thing we made it. Yan Yan and I rushed here after completing our mission, almost thinking we wouldn't make it.”

“Didn't you make it?” Tang San went to meet them, while Xiao Wu and the others pulled Dugu Yan, discussing how to celebrate this gathering.

Tang San asked, “What level has your spirit power reached?”

“Sixty-ninth level.”

Yu Tianheng laughed, “During a mission for Spirit Hall, I also gained some opportunities and obtained a dragon blood paste. After consuming it, the speed of my spirit power cultivation increased.”

“What about you, Captain? What level has your spirit power reached? You couldn't possibly be a Spirit Douluo already, could you?”

Tang San shook his head, “Not that fast. Only seventy-ninth level, Spirit Saint stage. The spirit power accumulation required for cultivation is much more.”

“That's not fast?” Yu Tianheng was speechless. If he could reach seventy-ninth level within five years, his ancestral grave would be smoking with good fortune, yet Tang San still thought it was slow?

Can't compare, can't compare.

“Speaking of which, you haven't neglected your control over electromagnetism, have you?” Tang San asked about his control over electromagnetism, “What level has it reached?”

“I can already control iron sand to form various objects.” Yu Tianheng took out a mass of iron sand from his storage soul tool, manipulated it with spirit power, condensed it into an iron pellet, and controlled it to spin continuously on his fingertip. “However, the easiest shape to control is still a circle. My Electromagnetic Overclocking Spirit Ability can form a certain non-connected but mutually attracting energy field with the magnetic force it emits. I even plan to make spirit power operate in this way... Captain, do you think it's possible?”

“That's a novel suggestion.” Tang San envisioned spirit power operating according to an electromagnetic field, and perhaps it truly could control real electromagnetic force.

However, to achieve this, Yu Tianheng's mental force must also be extremely strong.

Control is key!

But if Yu Tianheng was willing, Tang San wanted to give it a try. After all, to complete the control, the nervous system would also be needed, and at that time, relevant research results could be added to the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method.

And the method of converting spirit power into electricity and magnetism within it could also inspire improvements to the Cosmic Meditation and Creation and Destruction True Scripture.

“Alright then, I'll trouble Captain to help me with it in the future.” Yu Tianheng became even more excited at the thought of becoming stronger.

“Captain! Vice Captain!”

Just then, two loud shouts came from behind.

A pair of muscular twin brothers strode over.

Both were wearing loose, dark blue clothing, their skin a bronze color, but their eyes were bright and spirited, and the spirit power fluctuations emanating from them were as deep as the ocean.

“Shi Mo, Shi Mo!” Yu Tianheng laughed, “It seems you haven’t wasted your time in Vast Sea City. This spirit power fluctuation is definitely Spirit Emperor.”

“Haha, only sixty-second level, definitely can’t compare to you, Vice Captain, and Captain.” Shi Mo said with a laugh.

“Captain, has your strength also reached Spirit Emperor?” Shi Mo asked, “Your spirit power must be above sixty-fifth level, right?”

“That’s underestimating the Captain. He has already reached Spirit Saint level, seventy-ninth level, just one step away from Spirit Douluo.” Yu Tianheng revealed the truth.

Even though he already knew, speaking of it now still carried strong emotion and envy.

“Seventy-ninth level!”

“Almost a Spirit Douluo!”

The two brothers were dumbfounded. After realizing it, they both gathered around, happy for Tang San, and also envious of his cultivation speed:

“Truly worthy of being the Captain. Perhaps before thirty, no, before twenty-five, he can become a Titled Douluo? The record for the youngest Titled Douluo on the continent will be broken by you!”

Tang San shifted the topic, “I’m not the only excellent one. Xiao Wu, Huo Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, Lan Yinzi, they have all reached Spirit Saint level.”

Xiao Wu and Huo Wu's spirit power was close to Tang San's, reaching seventy-eighth level. Moreover, Huo Wu also awakened a Domain, which she called the Stellar Domain.

Guang Ling and Ning Rongrong also broke through to Spirit Saint level, with spirit power of seventy-second and seventy-first level respectively.

Guang Ling's sixth spirit ring came from a Wind Roaring Beast. As Tang San had previously speculated, this Spirit Beast not only possessed wind attribute but also earth attribute, bringing two attributes to Guang Ling; and her seventh spirit ring came from a Spirit Beast called "Dark Spirit Bird," bringing her the dark attribute.

Ning Rongrong's spirit rings, the first six Spirit Abilities were already set, all being amplification types: strength, agility, spirit power, defense, attack, and attribute. It didn't matter which Spirit Beast produced the spirit ring.

As for the seventh spirit ring, there was even less to say, it simply allowed the Nine Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda to possess Martial Soul True Body.

It's worth mentioning that Lan Yinzi's Spirit, Blue Silver Emperor, due to long-term influence from Blue Silver Emperor, also underwent some evolution. After breaking through to Spirit Saint, her Martial Soul True Body did not appear as a giant Blue Silver Emperor True Body like Tang San's, but rather formed a shape similar to Martial Soul True Body Armor, adhering to her body surface.

Lan Yinzi called it: Blue Silver Empress True Body!

"It seems we two are holding everyone back." Shi Mo and Shi Mo, the two brothers, didn't show any jealousy, only marveling at the rapid cultivation of Tang San and the others.

Yu Tianheng laughed, "Don't worry, you two definitely won't be at the bottom, there's still Yu Feng and the others."

"Who's calling me?"

Speak of Yu Feng, and Yu Feng appeared.

Above Heaven Dou Royal Academy, two figures rapidly descended, precisely Yu Feng and Bai Chenxiang.

400: The Tiandou Royal Team reunites

“Everyone, did you miss me?”

Yu Feng slowly stood up, revealing a wide smile.

“Who would miss a talkative bird like you?”

Another familiar voice came, and Oslo slowly walked over from not far away, dressed in the Heaven Dou Royal Academy teacher’s uniform, with a badge showing his teacher identity pinned to his chest.

“Oh my, you’re still as annoying as ever.” Yu Feng looked disgusted, but still walked over and hooked his arm around Oslo’s shoulder. “Also, didn’t you go back to inherit your family business? Why are you a teacher now?”

“It’s a hobby, is that a problem?” Oslo returned a look of disdain, but didn’t swat away Yu Feng’s hand, greeting Tang San, Yu Tianheng, Shi Mo, Shi Mo, and the others: “Long time no see, everyone.”

“Oslo, in the past five years, have you been teaching at Heaven Dou Royal Academy?” Tang San asked curiously.

“Not really, I only came here to make a living two years ago.” Oslo smiled bitterly. “This was also my family’s suggestion. After all, Heaven Dou split, and our family chose to side with Emperor Qinghe. To show our sincerity, I naturally had no choice but to come here to be a teacher...”

Yu Feng said, “My family has all moved to Spirit City, so we don’t have to get involved in the battle team issues within Heaven Dou territory... Speaking of which, the Hall Master of the Heaven Dou City Spirit Hall Branch, Ling Yan, is a distant relative of mine. By seniority, I even have to call her Auntie.”

The few of them chatted for a while. After Ye Lingling and Zhu Zhuqing also arrived, all the members of the previous Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team were present, and there was one more person: Gu Yuena.

This little girl insisted on coming to join the fun.

There was nothing Tang San could do but bring her along.

When Yu Feng and the others learned that Gu Yuena was only eleven years old but had already reached the Spirit Emperor level, they didn’t know how to describe it.

Compared to Tang San, this young girl was truly a prodigy!

Afterward, at Tang San’s suggestion, everyone prepared to visit Qin Ming. When they found him, he was training the new Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team.

Compared to Tang San and the others, this generation of Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team members had twelve people, and all their spirit power was above level forty, but there was only one Spirit King.

However, if not compared to Tang San and the others, the overall strength showed a growing trend, which everyone could see.

“Teacher Qin Ming, how have you been lately?”

Taking advantage of a training break, Tang San led everyone over and greeted Qin Ming.

“Teacher Qin Ming!”

“Teacher Qin Ming is still as serious as ever.”

“He looks much more energetic than before!”

“Teacher Qin Ming, by the way, have you found a girlfriend yet?”

“We’re still waiting to give you gifts!”

“...”

Facing the barrage of greetings from everyone, Qin Ming was first surprised, then delighted. He strode forward and said, “Tang San, it’s you guys!”

“I didn’t expect you to still have time to visit me, your teacher.”

“Look at you talking like that.” Ning Rongrong put one hand on her hip, chuckled, and then took out a spirit card, saying, “No matter what, you’re our teacher, so we have to make time to visit. Here, this is my gift, just ten million gold coins, a small token of my regard, not much.”

With Ning Rongrong starting, the others also took out their gifts from their storage soul tools, either spirit tools or specialties that couldn’t be bought in Heaven Dou City.

For a moment, Qin Ming was covered in gifts, which made him feel a bit helpless.

Not far away, the members of the new Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team also came over, their gazes focused on Tang San and the others, revealing expressions of admiration and reverence.

“Senior Tang San, can you sign an autograph for me?” A bold female team member walked over, blushing, and took out a signature book and pen from the storage soul tool at her waist.

“No problem.” Tang San smiled as he took the notebook and pen, signed his name, and then took a photo with her.

Seeing this, the others also gathered around, one by one asking the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team members for signatures and group photos.

It wasn't until Qin Ming had put away all the gifts that he came over with a dark face and sternly said, "What are you doing? Go back to training! If you don't get good results in this Continental Elite Tournament, you'll be embarrassing your graduating seniors."

Immediately, these members ran back to their original positions to train.

"Teacher Qin, don't be too strict. Combining work and rest is most important." Tang San could tell that Qin Ming was under pressure. After all, they had won first place in the last Continental Elite Tournament. If this generation performed too poorly, they would probably be criticized.

"Indeed, I'm a bit impatient." Qin Ming sighed, but he couldn't help it. Emperor Qinghe was too anxious, which led to the split of Heaven Dou, and many small countries becoming independent, forming the New Heaven Dou Federation to contend with Heaven Dou. If the Heaven Dou team lost to New Tiandou then, it wouldn't just be criticism of Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

"But it's good that you're back. Can you help with the training?"

Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, Zhu Zhuqing's ages were still within the competition range. If they wanted to participate, they still could, but Tang San didn't want to bully the younger ones.

Last time, it was necessary to achieve the goal of [expanding one's influence on the continent] through the competition, which was a last resort. Tang San himself was not the type of person who liked to show off.

Furthermore, he was now the Spirit Hall Saint Child. If he were to still represent Heaven Dou Royal Academy in battle, it would be out of line.

Although Heaven Dou's current master was also born in Spirit Hall...

"Teacher Qin Ming, we just got back, and you're already conscripting us?" Huo Wu moved her wrists and twisted her neck. "How about you fight us, and let our junior brothers and sisters gain some insight?"

Qin Ming's expression changed. Seeing the curious and excited gazes from this batch of Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team members, he coughed twice and said, "Cough cough, I recently caught a cold and am unwell, so I can't exert my full combat power. Let's not compete then."

The members of the previous Heaven Dou team were either Spirit Emperors or Spirit Saints, especially Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Huo Wu, whose spirit power was close to Spirit Douluo.

Not to mention, Tang San could contend with the Supreme Pontiff of Spirit Hall when he was a Spirit King... In this situation, even if the other party went easy and fought him to a draw, this new batch of little rascals wouldn't believe it.

Moreover, if these rascals believed it, that would be the biggest problem. If it spread, and someone came to challenge him, he would be the one to suffer.

However, Qin Ming was confident he could defeat Ye Lingling, Ning Rongrong, and Bai Chenxiang. But among these three women, two were support system, and one only focused on speed before graduating. Even if he won, it would be an unfair victory.

"Teacher Qin, you're not scared, are you?" Yu Feng was suspicious. A dignified Spirit Saint, catching a cold? He definitely didn't want to fight them!

"Cough cough!" Qin Ming coughed twice again and said, "I really did catch a cold."

Oslo patted Yu Feng's shoulder and said, "Teacher Qin Ming really did catch a cold. I saw him buying medicine a few days ago—" This kid Yu Feng, why is he so lacking in social graces? Or is it that adventuring on the continent, often sleeping rough, made his personality a bit too direct?

Yu Feng realized something, gave an awkward smile, and said no more.

Tang San smiled and said, “Teacher Qin Ming, don’t worry, I’ll give them some pointers, just like reviewing old knowledge.”

“Tang San is still the sensible one.” Qin Ming breathed a sigh of relief, realizing that this topic was over. A smile returned to his face, and he had the new generation of Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team members come over to receive guidance from Tang San and the others...

Afterward, Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Huo Wu, Ning Rongrong, Zhu Zhuqing, Lan Yinzi, Yu Tianheng, Dugu Yan, Yu Feng, Bai Chenxiang, Shi Mo, Shi Mo, Ye Lingling, and others discussed the changes in the continental situation with Qin Ming, planning their future cultivation and lives...

401: Invasion of the Sun and Moon Empire

After guiding the new generation of Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team members on their cultivation direction, Tang San and the others bid farewell to Qin Ming and went to visit the Three Education Committee.

These three people's strength had also improved over the past five years, especially Meng Shenji, whose spirit power had reached eighty-ninth level, just one step away from becoming a Titled Douluo.

According to his own estimation, he could probably break through and reach level ninety within seven or eight years.

Finally, after Tang San left a Blue Silver Emperor in the center of Heaven Dou Royal Academy, he and everyone else walked out of the academy gate, ready for a good gathering.

However, three days later, two sudden pieces of news broke the peace of the Continent.

Firstly: Clear Sky Sect announced its emergence in a high-profile manner!

According to the descriptions in Wuhun News and Tian Dou News, Clear Sky Sect's old ancestor, Tang Chen, had returned to the Sect!

Who is Tang Chen?

The younger generation was unclear, and the youth generation didn't know much either; only among the older generation were there some who still remembered that he was a super Douluo whose spirit power reached ninety-ninth level!

Tang San knew more, for example: Tang Chen had returned to Clear Sky Sect long ago, but because of his illness, he had not recovered, so Clear Sky Sect continued to maintain its status quo.

Now that Clear Sky Sect announced its emergence, was it because Tang Chen had recovered?

It seemed that Hao Tian Disciples had found some precious medicine that allowed Tang Chen to recover from his injuries after taking it.

And the second piece of news was not so pleasant—

Star Crown Sect discovered a new Continent!

This should have been good news, but the only problem was that the other party came for invasion, and the leader was Xu Xing, who was driving the Haohai Sky Ark!

He became a traitor to Douluo Continent!

After Xu Xing discovered the new Continent and began exploring, he was discovered and arrested by the local forces of the Sun Moon Continent.

To Xu Xing's surprise, the Sun Moon Continent had already unified at this time and was vigorously developing spirit tool technology, and the quality of high-level Spirit Masters was no weaker than that of Douluo Continent.

The Imperial family possessed one super Douluo, eleven Titled Douluo above ninety-fifth level, four of whom reached ninety-eighth level, and nearly fifty Titled Douluo below ninety-fifth level.

And the Emperor of Sun Moon Empire was even a twin spirits: Purple Flame Sky Dragon and Sun Moon Twin Wheels, and his strength was not bad, reaching the level of a Spirit Douluo.

At the first sight of this man named Xu Huang, Xu Xing knew that this guy was the same kind of person as him.

There were so many transmigrators on Douluo Continent, how could there be none on this Sun Moon Continent?

He was careless...

Then, he expressed his submission to Xu Huang and contributed the Haohai Sky Ark, as well as the sea charts recorded along the way.

This saved the Sun Moon Empire a lot of effort in exploring routes—after all, the sea has many sea Spirit Beasts, and Ten-thousand year soul beasts are in the hundreds and thousands.

Without suitable navigation routes, or without researching sea spirit tool warships that could ignore Ten-thousand year soul beasts, exploring the sea would only be a waste of lives.

After Xu Huang unified the Sun Moon Continent, he originally wanted to explore overseas Continents.

It wasn't that he, as a transmigrator, yearned for Douluo Continent so much, but because after the Empire unified, there were no external enemies, and internal noble families and princes began to consume each other.

He wanted to govern, but his orders always deviated after being issued, and corrupt officials were endless, simply impossible to eradicate.

Although he unified the Continent, he did not unify the hearts of the people.

Institutional reforms and systemic changes could not be achieved overnight; even with one super Douluo and three ninety-eighth level Titled Douluo, he had no way.

This needed time...

For this, he could only find ways to divert conflicts outwards.

Perhaps it was fate that brought Xu Xing from another Continent, and he even brought an ancient spirit tool said to be obtained from the Golden Ancient Tree: the Haohai Sky Ark.

This provided new ideas for the Empire's research on spirit tools and even made great progress.

Most of the functions in the Haohai Sky Ark were not understood by Xu Xing and others, but there were many spirit tool research experts within the Sun Moon Empire.

In just one year, seventy percent of the functions were analyzed.

For the remaining thirty percent, without more data, the time required for analysis might be measured in centuries...

This also made the Sun Moon Empire yearn for Douluo Continent.

After all, as described by Xu Xing and others, Douluo Continent was not yet unified, possessing three major forces, and even within the so-called Heaven Dou Empire, there were many kingdoms and duchies.

That was clearly a relatively backward Continent, but there were also relics of ancient civilization there... Wasn't that a big cake?

This must certainly be utilized!

As for the natives of Douluo Continent?

If they don't obey, just kill them!

Weakness is the greatest sin!

Therefore, upon reaching the coastal city bordering Heaven Dou Empire and Star Luo Empire, the commander of Sun Moon Empire directly ordered a bombardment of the port with spirit tool cannon shells, sinking hundreds of fishing boats and drowning thousands of fishermen.

This display of power naturally alarmed the local Spirit Hall Branch and City Lord, who hurriedly integrated their respective combat teams and rushed to the coast together, preparing to meet the invaders.

But what greeted them was the second round of spirit tool cannon shell bombardment.

The Hall Master of the Spirit Hall Branch and the City Lord both died in battle, and of the entire city's residents, no more than ten thousand were captured.

The rest, except for those who fled in advance and Spirit Masters who were willing to surrender, were all massacred.

The Sun Moon Empire wanted to establish a base here, and in the future, a continuous stream of Imperial soldiers and residents would come here, so they didn't need too many natives, at least not so many local native people as a burden at first...

“They are truly devils!”

Yu Tianheng and the others looked at the content published in Wuhun News, their minds shaken and filled with indignation, “To carry out such a large-scale massacre of a city! This is absolutely a provocation to the entire Douluo Continent!”

Sun Moon Continent?

Sun Moon Empire?

This grudge was settled.

Tang San's heart was extremely heavy, and he said, “It seems our gathering has to end early.

Spirit Hall, no, the entire Continent, is facing an unprecedented challenge...”

“Clearly, I didn't want to participate in any continental disputes, but when it truly happened, I couldn't really ignore it.”

The gathering ended early, and Tang San and the others rushed back to Spirit City.

That afternoon, Bibi Dong used a spirit tool communication device to conduct a video call with Star Luo Emperor, Emperor Xue Qinghe, the Sect Masters of two of the Upper Three Sects, the Sect Masters of the Lower Four Sects, and the Federal Emperor of New Tiandou.

The Emperor of the New Heaven Dou Federation was none other than Xue Beng.

This guy, surrounded by a large number of nobles as the new Emperor, directly gave up his princely status, broke with Xue Qinghe, and scurried off to the New Heaven Dou Federation.

And Xue Qinghe, out of consideration for “brotherly affection,” did not pursue him.

In reality, he was thinking that after conquering the New Heaven Dou Federation in the future, he would legitimately eliminate the last bloodline descendant of Emperor Xue Ye.

As for the plan to frame Xue Xing and Xue Beng by claiming Emperor Xue Ye was “poisoned” in connection with Poison Douluo, Xue Qinghe abandoned it after considering Tang San's relationship with Dugu Bo.

He just didn't expect that such a thing would happen now—Star Crown Sect secretly explored a new Continent and even became a “land traitor,” leading to foreign invasion and the occupation of a coastal city within his Heaven Dou territory...

402: The meeting is over, let's go to war

“Star Luo Emperor, aren't you going to make a statement?” Emperor Qinghe was the first to speak to the screen, “The Star Crown Sect is a force within your territory, directly under the jurisdiction of the imperial family.”

Such an incident made the Star Luo Emperor naturally a bit embarrassed, but he still said in a deep voice, “I have already announced to the World that the Star Crown Sect will be removed from the Empire. From now on, anyone who sees a member of the Star Crown Sect shall be executed!”

“Also, New Emperor Qinghe, the matter has already happened. Dwelling on it is meaningless. What needs to be done now is to defeat the foreign enemy and drive them back overseas.”

Emperor Xue Beng of the New Heaven Dou Federation did not offer any suggestions. After all, his New Heaven Dou Federation and the Heaven Dou Empire were already two separate entities. What did the Sun Moon Empire's invasion of the Heaven Dou Empire's cities have to do with his New Heaven Dou Federation?

Let his good elder brother worry about it himself!

It was a good opportunity to use the Sun Moon invaders to weaken the Heaven Dou Empire's power, and then he could take down the Heaven Dou Empire in one fell swoop, unite with the various nobles, gather troops, and reclaim the lost cities.

The main camp of the Sun Moon invaders was far overseas, so a large-scale invasion was certainly impossible. They only needed to guard against their Spirit-type spirit tools.

The Star Luo Emperor continued, “I think everyone should develop offensive-type spirit tools. It is because the Sun Moon invaders possess powerful spirit tools that they are able to exert such strong combat power with so few people.”

In short, times have changed. Everyone should stop researching in secret and bring their research out into the open.

With the foreign enemy invading, the voices against weapon-type spirit tools within the Star Luo Empire also quieted down—the scene of charred corpses everywhere was the Sun Moon enemy telling them:

“We want to be the new masters of this land!”

This was no longer a threat to their identity and status, but a desire for their lives!

“I agree. Now everyone must unite and make progress together.” Ning Fengzhi said with a serious expression, “According to the intelligence from the Speed Clan of our Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, among the invading Sun Moon enemies, there are quite a few Spirit Masters, and there are ten Titled Douluo. Seven of them have spirit power below ninety-fifth rank, and the remaining three have spirit power above ninety-fifth rank. Moreover, among these three, one has extremely profound spirit power fluctuations. We suspect his power has reached ninety-eighth rank.”

This was grave news.

Among the Sun Moon enemies invading the Douluo Continent this time, there were ten Titled Douluo, one of whom had reached ninety-eighth rank... This was certainly not all of the Titled Douluo from the Sun Moon Continent.

Moreover, if a ninety-eighth rank Titled Douluo could be sent out, then could it be said that in the Sun Moon Empire, there was more than one peerless-level powerhouse?

The Sun Moon Continent must be a World no smaller than the Douluo Continent.

Yu Yuanzhen said, “According to the news, the Sun Moon bandits said that they only have one Empire over there, ruled by an Emperor...”

Emperor Qinghe, Emperor Xue Beng, Star Luo Emperor, and others’ expressions darkened.

A continent with an area comparable to the Douluo Continent, ruled by a single Empire, and with extensive research into spirit tools—just how powerful was this Sun Moon Empire? They couldn’t quite imagine.

Their only advantage now was that they were far overseas, and a large-scale invasion of the Douluo Continent would not happen overnight, but they had to prepare for it...

...

After the meeting, the Three Great Empires, Spirit Hall, Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, and the Lower Four Sects all agreed to form a temporary alliance to encircle and suppress the Sun Moon enemies.

After all, among the enemies, there were ten Titled Douluo, three of whom were above ninety-fifth rank, requiring concentrated power.

Bibi Dong was confident she could wipe them out alone, but she was the Supreme Pontiff and could not easily make a move. Moreover, the occupied city belonged to the Heaven Dou Empire. From any angle, even to avenge the branch hall masters and personnel of the local Spirit Hall Branch, she had to consult Emperor Qinghe. This was basic respect for a country.

At least, the current Emperor Qinghe had no intention of surrendering the entire Empire to Spirit Hall, and the time was not yet ripe—a sudden surrender would be too abrupt.

After the meeting, Bibi Dong gathered Tang San and others, as well as the Titled Douluo, and said, “I presume you all know the news, so I won’t say much more. Enemies from the overseas continent, the Sun Moon Empire, have invaded, destroying a city in the Heaven Dou coastal area and destroying the local Spirit Hall Branch.”

“This is a provocation to our Spirit Hall, and a provocation to the entire Douluo Continent!”

“We absolutely cannot tolerate it!”

Hu Liena volunteered, “Your Holiness, I am willing to represent Spirit Hall in battle...”

But before she could finish speaking, Bibi Dong interrupted her, saying, “The enemy holds offensive spirit tools of great power, and they have ten Titled Douluo. Three of them have spirit power directly above ninety-fifth rank, and one may even have reached ninety-eighth rank.”

At these words, Chrysanthemum Douluo, Ghost Douluo, Devil Bear Douluo, and Ghost Leopard Douluo all gasped.

Hu Liena was also shocked.

Ninety-eighth rank?

That Sun Moon Continent was truly powerful. Could powerhouses of such strength be sent over? Just how many Titled Douluo did their main camp have?

“If it were merely ten Titled Douluo, even if one of them had spirit power directly at ninety-eighth rank, for me, annihilating them all would just be a matter of time.”

Tang San’s statement was even more impactful.

Chrysanthemum Douluo and the others immediately realized that this was the great talent who had developed the Martial Soul True Body Armor during the Spirit King stage and could even fight with the Supreme Pontiff!

Now that his spirit power had reached seventy-ninth rank, he could deal with ordinary Titled Douluo above ninety-fifth rank with one hand in his normal state.

Don't ask him how he knew; in recent years, Chrysanthemum Douluo, whose spirit power had made some breakthroughs, had sparred with Tang San.

As long as he made a move, what if the opponent had a ninety-eighth rank powerhouse?

They would still have to obediently offer their necks for slaughter!

“At that time, we just need to prevent them from escaping. After all, the continent they are on seems to have been unified, and they are vigorously researching spirit tools... It's not that our research is necessarily inferior to theirs, but they should have been researching longer than us, especially weapon-type spirit tools, which they have openly displayed.”

Tang San continued, “This shows that the Spirit Masters there do not reject spirit tools, and they are even popularized in all aspects of life... If it's a one-on-one arena match, they might not be a match for our Spirit Masters, but on the battlefield, there's no need to adhere to so many rules; any means can be used.”

“We need to guard against those Titled Douluo also using some strange spirit tool weapons.”

Bibi Dong nodded and said, “Then, how about you act as the vanguard and lead Spirit Hall to crusade against the overseas enemies?”

“It is my desire, I dare not refuse.”

Tang San accepted the order.

Afterward, Bibi Dong instructed Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo to select fifty Spirit Douluo and one hundred Spirit Saint, along with the two of them, plus Spirit Hall's Golden Generation, and to dispatch ten thousand Spirit legions to accompany Tang San to Heaven Dou Soul Sea City Pass to converge with the other forces...

403: The end is coming

In the past, an army of over 10,000 people would have taken at least two months to travel from Spirit City to the Soul Sea City Pass of the Heaven Dou Empire, but now, with large Spirit Guidance Motorbikes, they reached their destination in just half a month.

Marshal Ge Long of the Heaven Dou Army had long been waiting there, arranging for the Spirit Army Legion to set up camp outside the city.

Three days later, the armies of the New Heaven Dou Federation and the Star Luo Empire arrived in succession.

As the host, Marshal Ge Long invited the commanders, vice-generals, and personnel of the three armies to the Lord's Mansion at Soul Sea City Pass for a meeting to discuss how to respond.

"How many troops have you each brought? Is the food and fodder sufficient?"

As the saying goes: troops and horses move, provisions go first.

This time, the forces on the continent gathered to jointly face the external enemy, each with their own reasons.

Spirit Hall sought revenge for the local Spirit Hall Branches and related personnel.

The Star Luo Empire aimed to eradicate the Star Crown Sect, traitors who had disgraced the Empire.

The Heaven Dou Empire, on the other hand, sought to reclaim the cities occupied by the invaders.

The New Heaven Dou Federation could have remained aloof, but if they didn't act, they would gradually lose public support—if they remained indifferent while overseas enemies invaded the continent, the people within their borders would also be panicked.

Moreover, Emperor Xue Beng was born in Heaven Dou and was Emperor Qinghe's younger brother; by both reason and sentiment, he had to help, otherwise he would surely be criticized and lose public support.

And to demonstrate the New Heaven Dou Federation's determination to resist foreign enemies, Xue Beng personally served as the main commander for this expedition, arriving with the army.

"Marshal Ge Long, don't worry. My New Heaven Dou Federation has ample provisions. With Spirit Guidance Motorbikes for transport, we can sustain ourselves for three years, even in a prolonged war." Xue Beng spoke with certainty, his confident demeanor making everyone present somewhat "impressed."

But Tang San knew that the New Heaven Dou Federation's so-called ample provisions were merely obtained by increasing the grain taxes on the people within their borders, which could not last long.

After all, the New Heaven Dou Federation had only recently been established, and Xue Beng was merely nominated. It was hard to say how much real power he actually controlled.

Although the combined strength of numerous small nations was decent, enough to rival the current Heaven Dou, the rulers of these small nations each had their own agendas and could not wholeheartedly support Xue Beng.

Zhu Zhuqing, the representative from the Star Luo side, said, "Our army's provisions are also sufficient."

Tang San said, "Spirit Hall does not lack provisions. In this battle, we can also provide support to all of you."

Marshal Ge Long had some reservations about this "uneducated" Xue Beng, but to avoid disputes, he said nothing, merely nodding slightly to everyone and asking, "What about the military strength you've brought?"

Xue Beng said, "We have two armies, all seasoned veterans."

Zhu Zhuqing said, "Eight thousand, but all are Spirit Masters, and their strength is all above Spirit Grandmaster."

Tang San said calmly, "Over ten thousand. Excluding two Titled Douluo, fifty Spirit Douluo, and one hundred Spirit Saints, the remaining ten thousand are all Spirit Masters."

Upon hearing this, the entire hall fell silent.

Ge Long hadn't expected Spirit Hall to have so many Spirit Masters. There were fifty Spirit Douluo alone, and they had even dispatched two Titled Douluo.

No!

Although only two Titled Douluo were brought, there were more than two individuals with Titled Douluo-level strength. Tang San and those beside him, even if their strength wasn't as great as his, were not far off and certainly possessed Titled Douluo-level strength.

This made Ge Long breathe a sigh of relief, as the most difficult aspect of dealing with those Sun Moon enemies, besides their Spirit Guidance Weapons, was those ten Titled Douluo-level powerhouses.

"Now, I will discuss the situation at Xiao Hai City."

The city occupied by the Sun Moon Empire was named Xiao Hai City.

"According to reports from our scouts, the Sun Moon bandits have piled the corpses within Xiao Hai City into a small mountain, which they call a 'Jingguan,' to display their military achievements."

At this point, Ge Long was filled with indignation. "These barbarians, not content with merely slaughtering the city, actually piled up bones to build a Jingguan! Their methods are as cruel as The Fallen!"

The Fallen, when they killed, at most just scattered bodies, leaving a mess everywhere. But the Sun Moon Empire's actions not only trampled on Life but also on the dignity of Life!

Inhuman!

After calming down, Ge Long took a deep breath and continued, "We investigated their forces; there are nearly thirty thousand, wearing a form-fitting cloth armor that offers decent defense. Moreover, everyone carries a spirit tool similar to a crossbow, which fires extremely fast, and its bullets and arrows explode."

"In addition, there's an oval-shaped Spirit Guidance bomb the size of a goose egg, dark green or black. When thrown, it produces a violent explosion with a diameter exceeding six meters. More importantly, its shrapnel splash damage extends over twelve meters in diameter. Once it penetrates the human body, the lightly wounded collapse, while the severely wounded are directly killed."

"This is their army's primary method of attack."

Zhu Zhuqing fell silent, as the attack method of these Spirit Guidance bombs was quite similar to the Spirit Guidance bomb research of the Star Luo Empire.

"Besides that, we discovered that ships are also approaching from the sea." Ning Fengzhi, beside Ge Long, had a solemn expression. "Their numbers are still increasing, and Bai He, with his extreme speed, went to investigate overseas. A gigantic ship, over five hundred meters long, is approaching Xiao Hai City. Its hull bears palaces and pavilions, clearly indicating the arrival of a very important person."

"Moreover, Bai He also sensed a spirit power fluctuation that was almost solidified, making the air nearly congeal. If he hadn't sensed something was wrong and immediately rushed back, he might have..."

Ning Fengzhi didn't finish his sentence, but everyone's hearts sank.

spirit power fluctuations making the air nearly congeal?

That must be a super Douluo!

"We cannot contend with such a figure." Ning Fengzhi sighed, then looked at Tang San. "Can His Highness the Saint Son contend with him?"

"If it's merely a super Douluo, he wouldn't last thirty moves against me." At this moment, Tang San, relying on his powerful mental force, had already sensed the mental force of the super Douluo who was approaching Xiao Hai City. Even compared to Bibi Dong, who hadn't yet harmonized her three treasures of essence, qi, and spirit, he was still more than a match.

Moreover, there were still many internal injuries within his body, likely from using some secret technique or consuming some heavenly material and earthly treasure to force a breakthrough.

He must have broken through only in the last year or two, as he hasn't even adjusted his body yet.

Ning Fengzhi's eyes lit up: "Really?"

"Naturally."

In terms of raw strength, he could sense the opponent's specific condition from such a distance, while that super Douluo knew nothing about him. The difference in their capabilities was already clear.

"That arrival can be left to me to deal with. What we need to consider now is how to retake Xiao Hai City."

After a pause, Tang San looked at Marshal Ge Long and asked, "Marshal Ge Long, do you have any plans? I'm not good at arranging troops."

Ge Long, seeing Tang San give him face, nodded slightly and said, "The enemy has Spirit Guidance Weapons, so traditional combat methods clearly won't work, unless our army can suddenly get close to them. After all, once they are in close quarters, long-range Spirit Guidance Weapons cannot be used on a large scale, as that would harm their own people."

"But—"

There was only one problem: how could they get their own army to engage them in close combat?

404: Prisoner treatment plan

Spirit Guidance Weapons and the like were also being researched by Spirit Hall, but they were not mass-produced, so they could not be equipped to the army that was going on this expedition, and the other Three Great Empires were much the same.

Wars that had broken out on the Douluo Continent in the past were all cold weapon contests.

Regarding future wars, Heaven Dou, New Tiandou, Star Luo, and Spirit Hall were all secretly engaged in a relatively intense discussion about whether to mass-produce and use these Spirit Guidance Weapons.

After all, even if unification was desired, a large population was needed. If these Spirit Guidance Weapons were mass-produced and put into use, and if they caused a large number of deaths, even if the Continent was eventually unified by a certain Empire, the lack of population would lead to the unified Empire falling into a long period of emptiness.

In short, it was one word: an offense to heavenly principles.

But who would have thought that while the high-level officials of the various nations within the Continent had not yet reached a consensus, a continent overseas had already been unified by someone, and moreover, it had been brought over by their own 'land traitors.'

At this point, the Three Great Empires and Spirit Hall had no choice but to unite and face the outside World together.

"Report!" At this moment, a young general ran in, about to report the situation, but before the words could leave his mouth—

"Come fight!"

Sixty li from Soul Sea City Pass, a loud shout echoed, startling everyone in the conference room.

Everyone rushed to the city wall, looking at the dense Sun Moon Empire Army in the distance, their expressions varied.

Judging by the numbers, the Sun Moon Army was only about ten thousand, but the general riding a hundred-year-level unicorn was a Titled Douluo, and his spirit ring configuration of yellow, yellow, purple, purple, black, black, black, black was openly displayed before their eyes.

Moreover, there was not just one Titled Douluo, but three!

Even the army of ten thousand people also released their Spirit and spirit rings.

From one-ring Spirit Masters to five-ring Spirit Masters, they were arranged in order, extremely neat and uniform.

This was a show of force to them!

Ge Long was furious: "Bastards, how dare they be so arrogant! They simply don't put us in their eyes!"

"To all of you from Heaven Dou, Star Luo, and Spirit Hall, I advise you to surrender as soon as possible, lest your city be broken and your homes destroyed!"

The Titled Douluo laughed loudly, his voice booming, carrying sixty li away, saying, "And don't feel wronged; backwardness leads to being beaten, which is an unchangeable truth in the World! Surrender as soon as possible! When my Emperor arrives, you will not lose your noble titles!"

Ge Long was enraged, but at this moment, he also understood that their four armies had just converged, and there was no coordination between them. Even if the opponent did not have Spirit Guidance Weapons, they could not immediately launch an attack.

Hu Liena said, "Our whereabouts must have been detected by them; they must also have detection-type spirit tools."

Huo Wu sneered, "They're truly arrogant enough."

Xiao Wu also echoed, "I think they're asking for a beating!"

"That Titled Douluo's spirit power is at ninety-sixth rank." Tang San was not surprised by the arrival of the Sun Moon bandit army; instead, he revealed the general's strength, then pointed to the personnel around them and said, "The other two Titled Douluo are one at ninety-third rank and one at ninety-second rank. The remaining few are at the Spirit Douluo and Spirit Saint ranks."

"However, what needs the most attention are their Spirit guidance vehicles —"

Among the Sun Moon Army, there were square Spirit guidance chariots, with tracks around the wheels on both sides, capable of traveling on various terrains, and a steel pipe on top, which clearly could fire shells.

Isn't this a tank?

The Emperor of the Sun Moon Empire must be a transmigrator.

But Tang San's divine sense did not detect Spirit Guidance aircraft or the like... it is estimated that inventions like fighter jets are still relatively difficult for the Sun Moon Empire.

To put it simply, a tank is a device that can fire shells mounted on a vehicle. It is relatively simple to research, and there will not be too much danger during experiments.

However, flying spirit tools and the like cannot be produced by the Spirit Guidance researchers below with just a few words of description, and the danger coefficient of experimental flights is beyond imagination.

If it were a World without extraordinary power, humans would be fearless in their pursuit of flight.

But in this World with Spirit and spirit power, most of the people in the Sun Moon Empire who research spirit tools are Spirit Masters. Their research into flying spirit tools is not so desperate that they would use human lives for experiments.

Possessing extraordinary power, they are far from being noble enough to sacrifice their lives for ordinary people to soar in the blue sky.

"I have seen that chariot through Spirit Guidance video; it can fire shells condensed with spirit power, and its power is stronger; one hit can destroy a building." Ge Long said in a deep voice, his eyes full of solemnity. "If they get close and bombard us repeatedly, I'm afraid our city wall won't last long either."

Everyone present realized that after this battle, regardless of victory or defeat, all major forces would have to bring their research on Spirit Guidance Weapons into the open.

The times, they have changed!

However, for Titled Douluo above ninety-fifth rank, they can still keep up with the times, but for major forces, Spirit Guidance Weapons that can be mass-produced are more cost-effective.

"Silverblue Earl, what should we do?" As the Sun Moon Army approached, Ge Long couldn't think of any good ideas for a while, so he could only let all parties stand ready, and couldn't help but ask Tang San, "Should we take the initiative to attack?"

"My Blue Silver Emperor has already taken root underground. Let them get a little closer."

A cold glint flashed in Tang San's eyes, and he said calmly, "At that time, I will overturn their Spirit guidance chariots at the first opportunity, and the leaves of the Blue Silver Emperor will Binding and control the nearly ten thousand people. As for those three Titled Douluo..."

"Chrysanthemum Douluo senior, Ghost Douluo senior, you two use the Duality Static Domain to control them, and then, Yu Tianheng, Huo Wu, Guang Ling, you three have extremely strong long-range attack capabilities. Take advantage of the moment those three Titled Douluo are frozen and directly kill them, to avoid prolonged complications. We need to end the battle in the shortest possible time, and then retake Xiao Hai City."

"The remaining personnel will deal with those Spirit Douluo and Spirit Saints."

Offer advice?

Tang San would not; he only wanted to crush the enemy with absolute strength.

"You can control nearly ten thousand people?" Ge Long's breathing hitched, somewhat incredulous. Wasn't this a bit too heaven-defying?

"A piece of cake." Tang San didn't think much of it. "At that time, I'll trouble you to manage the army well. You don't need too much coordination, just don't let it fall into chaos."

"Oh, and if you can capture them, capture them. Don't kill the enemy's ordinary soldiers."

"Xiao Hai City has over ten thousand residents captured; we can exchange these soldiers for them."

Ge Long sighed, "Holy Son is righteous."

Hu Liena asked, "What if the Sun Moon bandits don't plan to exchange them, and those soldiers are ready for death?"

Zhu Zhuqing's face was frosty: "Then kill them, and we will build a Jingguan, an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, to let them know we are not to be trifled with."

"We can't do that. If we do, what's the difference between us and them?" Tang San shook his head. "If it's really as Hu Liena said, these captives will be transported to Spirit City for trial and waste utilization."

Spirit research, physical research, and soul research all lack a large number of experimental materials.

Zhu Zhuqing immediately nodded: "You're right."

Ge Long, however, felt a bit unreal. The battle hadn't even started yet, so why were they suddenly discussing how to deal with the captives?

405: I said, kneel down.

Yi Hongchen, what do you think of the general of Soul Sea Pass?

From the Sun Moon Army side, the leading Titled Douluo looked at Marshal Ge Long, who was standing on the wall, wearing bright silver armor and a trident helmet, and asked another female Titled Douluo beside him.

“Acceptable, but their equipment is too poor, and they still rely on cold weapons and Spirit Masters for combat. Their strength is far inferior to ours.” Yi Hongchen glanced at Ge Long, and his gaze fell on Tang San. “However, in terms of danger, all of them combined are not as dangerous as that young man with blue silver hair.”

“This is my first time seeing a man more handsome than His Majesty.”

Yi Hongchen naturally couldn't perceive Tang San's strength, but her Spirit was the Moon Toad, a variant of the toad, and she had a sixth sense for danger in the dark.

The threat Tang San posed to her was no less than that of the Empire's Emperor.

“Is that person very strong?”

“His specific strength is unclear, but he is definitely not weaker than His Majesty.” Yi Hongchen said seriously, “Ao Long, don't be careless. Facing this Soul Sea Pass, we cannot treat it like Xiao Hai City. We must first probe the opponent's strength, otherwise, even if we take this pass, we will suffer heavy losses.”

This was not Douluo Continent. The supply of materials and the replenishment of troops were not small problems for them. They could not suffer too many losses.

Otherwise, even if they took it, not many people would be able to manage it.

Ao Long nodded and said, "Then, when we get closer, can we challenge them?"

"You mean a Spirit Master duel?" The Titled Douluo on Ao Long's other side frowned. "Will they agree?"

"The people of this continent value the honor of Spirit Masters extremely highly, so they will most likely agree." Ao Long sneered, "What a barbaric civilization."

About thirty li from Soul Sea Pass, Ao Long stopped his troops, strode forward, and with his ninety-sixth-level abundant spirit power, shouted, "Are you willing to surrender?!"

Above Soul Sea Pass, Ge Long took a breath and replied, "Sun Moon bandits, petty scoundrels, do not boast with your tongues. If you wish to fight, we shall fight. We will never retreat!"

"Surrender?"

"Daydreaming!"

Ao Long only felt that the other party's reaction was within his expectations. He said to the Titled Douluo beside him, "Jun Youwei, look, these natives are just ignorant."

Jun Youwei still said, "I don't think they will agree, and they also have research on spirit tools. They might even have weapon-type ones."

"It doesn't matter. They advocate the individual martial prowess of Spirit Masters. The situation in Xiao Hai City has already proven this. Even if they have research, it's mostly for daily life, and very few are weapon-type.” Ao Long smiled confidently. “Now, as long as we figure out the number of strong individuals on the other side and their strength levels, we can forcefully take this city.”

“His Majesty and the Empire's Enforcers are rushing here. We must take this city for His Majesty to reside in.”

Why not choose Xiao Hai City?

Naturally, it was because it had been bombed and was already in ruins. Rebuilding it would be very troublesome, so it was better to directly take this ready-made city.

Yi Hongchen said, “Speaking of which, after His Majesty heard about the Douluo Continent, he seemed to be quite concerned...”

“Don't discuss it. His Majesty will not be wrong.” Ao Long interrupted Yi Hongchen's speculation, then shouted at Ge Long, “Heaven Dou, Star Luo, and Spirit Hall, to avoid large-scale casualties, do you dare to compete with us through a Spirit Master duel? If you lose, you retreat on your own, how about it?”

Ge Long was furious and cursed, “Damn enemies, they even want a Spirit Master duel? This is clearly the territory of the Heaven Dou Empire! They are treating us like mice, wanting to play with us before catching us!”

“It's not certain who's playing whom yet.” Tang San suddenly smiled, realizing that the other party wanted to test their strength, and said to Ge Long, “Agree to him, but the plan we set before remains. After all, there's no limit to deception in war.”

“Is that so?” Ge Long pondered repeatedly and chose to agree, deciding to trust Tang San. “Then I'll leave it to you. My Heaven Dou generals are at your command!”

Zhu Zhuqing echoed, “The Star Luo Spirit Master Legion also obeys your command.”

Xue Beng said somewhat reluctantly, “My New Tiandou is the same.”

Tang San nodded slightly, jumped off the city wall, and landed smoothly.

Xiao Wu, Huo Wu, Guang Ling, Zhu Zhuqing, Yu Tianheng, Dugu Yan, Shi Mo, Shi Mo, Yu Feng, Oslo, and others followed closely. Ning Rongrong, Ye Lingling, Bai Chenxiang, and Lan Yinzi remained on the city wall, while the other commanders arranged their respective personnel to exit the city and line up.

However, the armor styles of Heaven Dou, New Tiandou, Star Luo, and Spirit Hall were different, and their banners were also varied, which made them appear somewhat chaotic and unable to form a unified front.

“Tsk!” Ao Long laughed loudly and said to the generals behind him, “Look, the four forces are temporarily united. Individually, they might be considered elites, but four of them forming a team is just a rabble.”

However, Ao Long didn't laugh for long before he noticed a commotion from behind. Looking back, a continuous expanse of Blue Silver Grass grew rapidly, forming a wall about a hundred meters high, and quickly extended to both sides, finally connecting to the two sides of Soul Sea Pass, enveloping all ten thousand people of the Sun Moon Empire.

Some people attacked with spirit tool bombs and found that its thickness was also extremely astonishing, at least over ten meters, and its recovery ability was extremely fast. In just a blink of an eye, the blasted hole recovered.

“Since it's a Spirit Master duel, how can there be no arena?” Tang San lowered his arms, and his magnificent voice echoed within tens of thousands of meters, instantly startling the entire Sun Moon Empire Army. “Guests are welcome, even if they are unwelcome guests. As hosts, we must show our magnanimity and sincerity.”

“How do you all feel about this venue?”

The smile had vanished from Ao Long's face.

Was this a Spirit Ability?

Or had some spirit tool device been arranged underground in advance?

“Ao Long, that person is extremely dangerous!” Yi Hongchen's eyelids twitched. “Although I can't sense any spirit power fluctuations, the opponent's strength must have surpassed that of an ordinary ninety-fifth level!”

“I know!” Ao Long growled. At ninety-sixth level, he actually felt fear, and even at the first glance he was looked at, his mental force almost dispersed, and the spirit power in his body surged.

This was definitely a mental-type powerhouse!

But why was he so young?

Could it be that he had reached the peerless level and regained his youth?

“Holy Son is mighty!”

“Holy Son is mighty!”

“Holy Son is mighty!”

From the Spirit Hall side, Chrysanthemum Douluo shouted loudly, and the Spirit Hall soldiers behind him also raised their arms and cheered, with intense fanaticism in their eyes.

The Heaven Dou Army and Star Luo Army were influenced by this atmosphere and also cheered loudly.

At this moment, soldiers and generals from different forces spoke in unison.

The deafening roar echoed through the sky.

Ge Long on the city wall was shocked: “Silverblue Earl's charisma is truly astonishing, but it is also this strength that allows the armies of the four forces to unite as one.”

Tang San slowly raised his hand, and the entire army stopped shouting. He said, “We are the hosts, and you are the guests. The host has already set up the venue and shown sincerity, so as guests, when you challenge us, you also need to show us respect.”

Ao Long was silent for a moment, then shouted, “How do we show it?”

Tang San turned and asked Ge Long, who was standing above the city wall, “Marshal Ge Long, as Silverblue Earl, I don't know much about the interactions between Empires. I want to ask, how should a small barbarian nation show respect to a great nation?”

Ge Long was stunned, then said, “When a small nation meets a great nation, it naturally performs the kowtow ceremony, prostrating with all five limbs to show respect.”

“Good!”

Tang San nodded, turned his body straight, and said to Ao Long and the others, “Kneel.”

“Kneel!”

“Kneel!!”

“Kneel!!!”

The people of the four legions shouted loudly, each cry louder than the last, and even with the thick echoes due to the battlefield being enveloped by the walls grown by the Blue Silver Emperor.

“Not moving?” Tang San raised his hand, stopped the shouting, and said to Hu Liena, who was commanding the Spirit Hall army, “Lend me the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne for a moment.”

“No problem.” Hu Liena took off the belt with a fox head decoration on her waist and threw it to Tang San.

“Clap!”

After catching the belt, Tang San threw it into the sky. The belt immediately transformed into a tall, silver-white throne, suspended fifty meters high in mid-air. Rings of silver-white mental energy spread out from the bottom, almost covering the entire battlefield.

“Ying yo!”

Accompanied by a fox's cry, a white nine-tailed fox phantom appeared from above, landing on the throne. The fox head transformed into a relief at the core of the backrest, and the nine tails extended from the backrest, curling into nine rings, containing vast mental energy within them.

Unlike when Hu Liena first controlled this throne, its mental pressure was not released. However, everyone who saw it felt a slight tremor in their hearts.

Ge Long exclaimed, “That is?”

Ao Long was incredulous: “The style of that thing, and His Majesty's...”

Buzz—

Tang San slowly walked up the steps. With each step, a circle of mental energy was released, shocking the minds of the Sun Moon Empire Army. The weaker ones had their brains tremble and blood flow from their seven orifices.

But on the Soul Sea Pass side, except for feeling the grandeur of the throne, they did not suffer any substantial harm. In fact, everyone realized that their mental state had reached its peak.

When Tang San came before the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne and slowly sat down, an invisible mental pressure directly covered the entire Sun Moon Army.

“Thump!”

Instantly, nearly half of the Sun Moon soldiers directly collapsed to the ground, unable to even prop themselves up with their arms.

The remaining half either knelt on one knee or tried hard to lift their heads, but ultimately could not resist the vast mental ocean like a sea of stars, not daring to look directly.

Only Ao Long, Yi Hongchen, and Jun Youwei were struggling to support themselves.

“I say—”

Tang San held the armrest of the Soul Imprint Throne with his right hand, his index finger slowly lifted, then instantly dropped, “Kneel.”

Crack!

Yi Hongchen and Jun Youwei's spines and thigh bones, which they had been desperately supporting, instantly fractured, and they collapsed to the ground. In just an instant, the two Titled Douluo lost their combat ability, and if not treated in time, they would likely die.

As for why Tang San could use the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne?

Naturally, it was because he had crafted this throne. Regardless of who its final chosen master was, its inherent spirituality would grant Tang San a backdoor, and under Tang San's use, it could even unleash more than one hundred percent of its power.

“Yi Hongchen! Jun Youwei!”

Ao Long shouted, but the immense mental pressure also continuously oppressed his body, trembling all his bones and muscles, making him unable to even use his spirit power.

Thud!

Finally, Ao Long, a dignified ninety-sixth-level Titled Douluo, bowed his head.

He could sense that if he didn't kneel down, his bones would not be able to bear it any longer...

406: Cyclone Wind Chime Slash

Soul Sea Pass.

In front of the city gate.

Tang San sat high upon the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne, looking down on the entire Sun Moon Army. With a slight movement of his finger, he made their entire army kneel, and even two of the three Titled Douluo were crippled.

Ge Long had never imagined that this battle would be fought so easily.

So—

Tang San's previous plan was just for him, the marshal, to hear. How to execute it was entirely up to his personal preference, because he was invincible?

“Fortunately, besides being the Spirit Hall Saint Child, Tang San is also Heaven Dou's Silverblue Earl, and seems to be sworn brothers with Emperor Qinghe... This is Heaven Dou's great fortune!”

Ge Long wiped the cold sweat from his forehead, then burst into laughter: “The Sun Moon bandits are no match!”

Yu Feng, Oslo, Yu Tianheng, Dugu Yan, and others who were unaware of the Soul Imprint Throne's existence were extremely shocked at this moment. They didn't know what kind of treasure it was, to be so powerful. The person sitting upon it merely moved his finger and caused the enemy army to lose more than half of its combat effectiveness.

“We have received your sincerity. You may rise.”

Tang San did not descend from the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne. He tapped the armrest once, and the Soul Imprint Throne immediately projected more than ten images, landing behind Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, Dugu Yan, Hu Liena, and other generals who had accompanied him to battle, lifting them up and arraying them on both sides of him.

Among the crowd, except for Hu Liena, it was their first time sitting upon the Soul Imprint Throne. Feeling the terrifying amplification the throne provided to them, their minds were all shaken.

Especially in terms of mental force, they could observe everything on the entire battlefield with a 360-degree, dead-angle-free view!

Even if someone in the Sun Moon Army made a small move, it could be observed clearly. They could even see the enemy's next move, with a three-second premonition appearing in their minds.

“Now, the duels begin. You send your people out first, after all, you are the challengers.”

Ao Long slowly rose, his cheeks covered in sweat. Looking at Yi Hongchen and Jun Youwei beside him, who couldn't get up due to fractured spines, and the large number of soldiers behind him who couldn't even crawl, he couldn't help but roar: “Why must you humiliate us like this?!”

“I'll count to three.” Tang San extended three fingers, ignoring him, “If you don't send someone, then you won't be going back. Even if you are unwelcome guests, we will entertain you well.”

“Three.”

A bead of sweat seeped from Ao Long's forehead again. He realized that he was now the fish and the other party the cleaver. If he didn't agree, their entire army would likely be annihilated.

Escape?

No chance.

He had already secretly transmitted the information to Xiao Hai City through his spirit tool. The Three Revered Elders would definitely come to save them.

“Two.”

Ao Long said to the Spirit Saint beside him: “Feng He, you go first.”

“Yes.” The Spirit Saint named Feng He swallowed, but still let out a loud shout to embolden himself. Holding a spirit tool long spear, a pair of white wings grew from his back. He landed in the middle of the battlefield and shouted: “Feng He, Level 78 Spirit Saint, who dares to fight me?!”

“This person is quite brave.” Yu Feng chuckled, eager to try. Seeing Tang San nod, he left the Soul Imprint Throne, flapped his wings, and flew to Feng He, saying: “Yu Feng, Level 61 Spirit Emperor.”

Hearing that the opponent was only a Spirit Emperor, Feng He secretly breathed a sigh of relief. With the intention of stalling for time, he sneered: “A mere Spirit Emperor dares to fight me?”

“Seeking death!”

Yu Feng sneered, saying nothing else. He simply activated his Spirit, and six spirit rings—two yellow, two purple, and two black—appeared in sequence.

Seeing this, Feng He knew the other party was about to act. He also released his spirit rings: one white, two yellow, two purple, and two black. Among the seven spirit rings, his First Soul Skill was white.

Yu Feng spread his wings and flew into the sky.

Feng He also soared, chasing after the opponent. The two clashed in the air, testing each other's strength, speed, and defense.

Through their brief exchange, Yu Feng already sensed that the other party's physical strength was inferior to his own, and their flying style was direct, not as flexible as his.

“So, I'm already this strong?”

Yu Feng sensed the whirlwind created by the other's flight and chuckled. Spreading his wings, like a diving eagle, he charged towards Feng He.

“A mutual destruction?”

Feng He was startled. If he were hit by the opponent, even if he survived, he would surely be severely injured. And how could the opponent launch a suicidal attack against him?

Therefore, Feng He preemptively judged the position, anticipating the direction of Yu Feng's charge, and dodged at the first moment.

Swish!

A white light flashed, cutting through the close-fitting armor Yu Feng wore, and also carving a large gash on his chest.

This was Yu Feng's First Soul Skill: Wing Blade.

Using the acceleration of gravity from his descent, at the moment of approaching the opponent, he instantly used his First Soul Skill to cleave the opponent in half... Yu Feng had envisioned this, but unfortunately, the opponent dodged it.

“As a Spirit Saint, he still has some skill.” In the instant he passed the opponent, Yu Feng secretly evaluated, “But his strength is weaker than a typical bird-type Spirit Saint, especially in reaction speed, where he's more than a step behind. Is it because he's used to using spirit tools?”

In the instant he turned his head, Yu Feng discovered that Feng He, with the gash on his chest, was enduring the pain and aiming his long spear at him. The moment spirit power was injected, the spearhead suddenly lit up with a ball of light, emitting a white ray.

But Yu Feng reacted quickly, dodging instantly. He circled the opponent in an elegant manner, moving so fast that he even stirred up a hurricane, trapping Feng He within it.

And he himself seemed not to be flying in the air, but rather moving through the whirlwind, quite gracefully.

“Yu Feng is doing well.” Yu Tianheng sighed, “It seems that during his time adventuring on the continent, he didn't neglect his cultivation. Not only has he advanced to the Spirit Emperor level, but without using Spirit Abilities, he can even stir up such a strong wind by relying on his Spirit's advantage. It's almost like he's controlling the wind.”

Controlling the wind?

No!

It's controlling the airflow.

Tang San showed a look of relief, thinking: “It seems Yu Feng has engraved my advice in his heart. During training, he must constantly perceive the flow of air, and then use the wind element carried by his own Spirit to draw in the airflow of the larger environment, gathering it to achieve the goal of controlling airflow.”

Screech!

As the hurricane formed, Feng He felt as if his entire body was being scraped by countless blades, his flesh being peeled from his skeleton bit by bit. The circulation of his spirit power was obstructed, and his Spirit Abilities were unusable. He could only passively endure the hurricane's torment.

“Air Vortex Wind Chime Slash!”

Yu Feng let out a soft cry, and his white figure seemed to transform into a blade, flashing through the rapidly spinning hurricane, constantly darting past Feng He.

Ding, ding, ding!

Each time the white “blade” sliced across Feng He's body, it emitted a sound like a gentle chime. That crisp sound was so enchanting, as if it wasn't cutting an enemy, but rather playing a beautiful piece of music...

407: Application of electromagnetic power

Wind Chime Bird, this Spirit, when flying at high speed, can emit a sound similar to a light bell when rubbing against the air.

However, not all Wind Chime Birds are like this. According to the records of Spirit Hall, only Wind Chime Birds that have mastered the wind element to a certain extent can play a light bell melody while flying.

Spirit Masters with the Wind Chime Bird are also like this.

When the light bell melody stopped and the helical hurricane subsided, Feng He was already nothing but bones. Looking at the degree of pulverization, even an acquaintance would not be able to tell who he was before.

"This guy Yufeng has become a bit brutal," Ning Rongrong said on the city wall of Soul Sea Pass, looking at the pulverized flesh and dust scattered all over the ground. She nudged Bai Chenxiang beside her, "You two must have experienced a lot during your travels and adventures on the Continent, right?"

"That's right, we've encountered The Fallen more than once."

Bai Chenxiang nodded, "However, he was able to develop such a skill because we trained in the Storm Grand Canyon for nearly a year. If I also went up, I could form a combination skill with him: Dance of the Winged Lovers. We once used this move to defeat a Spirit Douluo-level Fallen."

"That guy could also poison... it was also thanks to the Captain who used a Spirit Ability to cast a golden body on Yufeng and me, otherwise, we would have definitely capsized in the gutter."

"And after that time, Yufeng and I would no longer hold back when facing enemies. As long as we probed the opponent's general situation, we would directly use a killing move, never delaying, after all, the dangers on the Continent are countless."

On the field, after Yufeng won, he laughed three times and said, "You guys are nothing special, I haven't even used my full strength yet."

Ao Long said in a deep voice, glancing at Yi Hongchen and Jun Youwei, who were receiving treatment from a Healing System Spirit Master. He calculated the time it would take for the two to recover and said to a Spirit Douluo beside him, "Second one, you go. Stall for more time."

"Yes," the Spirit Douluo stepped forward, his Spirit released as he ran, like a humanoid rhino. Thick hide armor appeared on his body, and a single horn about a meter long grew on his head, appearing light green and emitting a faint green glow.

Poison Horned Rhino.

This type of Spirit Beast is relatively rare on the Douluo Continent because its single horn contains a poison gland, like an external "poison fang."

Currently, Spirit Hall has not yet discovered anyone whose Spirit is a Poison Horned Rhino.

Unexpectedly, on the Sun Moon Empire's side, there was actually someone whose Spirit was this type of creature.

"Poison Gu Bai, please enlighten me!"

This Spirit Douluo had a robust aura, possessing two yellow, three purple, and three black spirit rings, with his spirit power reaching level eighty-three. He stared intently at Tang San.

In his opinion, without that Throne, Tang San's strength might not be that formidable. Even if the entire battlefield seemed to be enveloped by the opponent's Blue Silver Grass, such a large area, and making the Blue Silver Grass grow so long and thick, must consume a lot of spirit power, and even maintaining this Spirit Ability would certainly require a great deal of spirit power.

Therefore, he hoped to challenge Tang San.

Even if he was no match, with the advantage of his own Spirit and his linear running speed, he was confident that he was relatively fast and could survive.

This could both buy time and test how strong this guy was without that Throne, making it easier for his army to target him in the future.

After Yufeng returned to the phantom clone of the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne, he said to Yu Tianheng, "Vice Captain, why don't you go? This guy is a Beast Spirit Master, clearly a power type. His attack method is most likely that single horn; and your Spirit is the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon, which is also a power type, and your dragon claws are sharp and can break armor."

"Just in time to stretch my muscles," Yu Tianheng grinned, his eyes filled with strong fighting intent, and slowly rose from the phantom of the Soul Imprint Throne.

Tang San reminded, "He's not just thick-skinned and tough, he's also poisonous. His Spirit is the Poison Horned Rhino, and that single horn is also very sharp."

"Thanks, Captain," Yu Tianheng thanked him, then jumped in front of Poison Gu Bai, flexing his wrists. The Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Spirit instantly possessed him, and arcs of electricity flickered around his body, even emitting a peculiar force field that made the dust and sand under his feet float.

The application of electromagnetic force, while not yet divine, had become second nature over the past five years.

"Another Spirit Emperor!" Poison Gu Bai's Spirit tensed, startled by the opponent's powerful Spirit.

Between Spirits, within the same large category of Spirit types, there are situations of bloodline suppression.

For example, the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon has a suppressive effect on other weaker dragon-type Spirit Beasts; it also has a certain suppressive effect on non-dragon Spirits, but it is not very obvious.

However, Poison Gu Bai could now sense his own Spirit trembling.

Fear?

No!

He realized that some invisible aura, or something else, emanating from the opposite side was affecting his Spirit... No, not just his Spirit, but also his physical body, as if every cell was trembling, causing even his spirit power to become somewhat chaotic.

What kind of strange Spirit is this?

This invisible, intangible attack method, he didn't know how to deal with it, but as long as he defeated him, it would be fine, right?

Within the chaotic magnetic field, Poison Gu Bai's brain was also slightly affected, becoming irritable and volatile, completely forgetting his plan to stall for time.

"Poison Gu Bai?" Yu Tianheng twisted his neck, "Surname: Dugu, given name: Bai? What a lonely name. I just don't know if you have the strength to match it."

"My surname is Du," Poison Gu Bai gritted his teeth, his eyes filled with bloodshot veins. He roared, his Fifth spirit ring lit up, and he charged towards Yu Tianheng.

Fifth Spirit Ability: Flesh Bomb Charge!

At the same time, the gloves on his hands also emitted a reddish glow, like a scorching hot branding iron, distorting the air around their surface.

Facing the charge of a Spirit Douluo, even with the pride of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, Yu Tianheng would not meet it head-on. Instead, as the opponent reached him and threw a punch, he instantly leaped to the side.

Boom!

The fist, wearing a soul-guided glove, hit the ground where Yu Tianheng had been, creating a seven to eight-meter deep pit. Centered on it, within a radius of three hundred meters, the ground cracked, revealing a spiderweb-like pattern.

"As expected of a Spirit Douluo, and with that soul-guided glove, the power is surprisingly strong." Yu Tianheng had already circled behind the opponent and used his First Soul Skill: Thunder Dragon Claw.

Arcs of electricity coiled around his claws, twisting into circular rings, enhancing the power of this claw strike!

This was the application of electromagnetic force!

"But clumsy guys are always hard to guard behind."

"Let me see if your defense is as strong as your power."

408: Now that you see me, why don't you worship me?

Crackling!

Before Poison Gu Bai's punch could fully retract, Yu Tianheng circled behind him. His Thunder Dragon Claw, surrounded by arcs of electricity, suddenly struck out, its speed even surpassing the range visible to the naked eye.

And the moment it hit the opponent's back, his Second Soul Skill: Thunderous Force, instantly activated. A powerful electric current directly invaded the opponent's body, causing him to tremble uncontrollably.

It could be said that Yu Tianheng timed this small combo perfectly.

When the enemy attacked, he dodged, circled behind, and consecutively used his First Soul Skill and Second Soul Skill, achieving the maximum damage effect with the minimum stamina and spirit power.

Although the Poison Horned Rhino had thick skin and tough flesh, breaking its defense with the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon's Dragon Claw was not too difficult.

Of course, Tang San understood that all of this was only possible because Yu Tianheng used "Electromagnetic Overclocking," which allowed him to passively influence the opponent's mind and perceive all of their movements.

Otherwise, with Yu Tianheng's perception abilities, he wouldn't have been able to react in time. After all, the Poison Horned Rhino was not a weak Beast Spirit; even if it wasn't as good as a Dragon Spirit, in terms of strength, it could rival a Dragon Spirit, not to mention the opponent was a Spirit Douluo.

“It seems Yu Tianheng has been with Dugu Yan for a long time and has been subtly influenced,” Tang San mused, a smile playing on his lips. “If it were before, he wouldn't have circled behind; he would have definitely met the opponent head-on.”

This might be a common problem for most Beast Spirit Masters; in one word, they are prone to getting carried away.

But Yu Tianheng seemed to have changed somewhat over the past five years.

However, it was understandable.

Dugu Yan's fighting style was relatively "subtle." After spending a long time with her, Yu Tianheng naturally learned some of it.

Moreover, when he and Dugu Yan frequently carried out missions together, the criminals they apprehended were mostly vicious The Fallen. Those guys would use any means necessary. If they confronted them head-on every time and didn't know how to use strategy, they would probably suffer greatly.

However, what Tang San found most impressive was Yu Tianheng's move when he unleashed his Thunder Dragon Claw.

He didn't just unleash it directly; instead, before striking, he used electromagnetic force to construct circles of accelerating magnetic fields, which appeared as those rings of electric arcs.

The moment he struck, he used his right arm as a "projectile," swinging it with force while also using the electromagnetic force generated by the scales on his arm to interact with the electromagnetic field, accelerating it to the maximum extent.

Indeed!

Every Spirit Master possesses their own unique wisdom, and the effects they display can give him great inspiration.

“Super! Electromagnetic Divine Dragon Cannon!”

Without waiting for the Spirit Douluo to react, Yu Tianheng’s Fourth spirit ring instantly lit up. His Spirit Ability: Blue Lightning Divine Dragon Rush, condensed and gathered within the Dragon Claw that had pierced the opponent's back. Fist-thick lightning energy shot out through the smoke on the ground, and Poison Gu Bai was lifted above his head by Yu Tianheng’s right arm.

Sizzle!

A water-vat-thick blue Divine Dragon burst forth from between his Dragon Claws, sending Poison Gu Bai soaring nearly a hundred meters into the sky, and then—

Boom!

The power of thunder and electromagnetic force together ignited the spirit power within the opponent's body, causing him to explode into a fleeting, brilliant firework in the air.

Ao Long's pupils constricted. He looked at Yu Tianheng in disbelief: “A Spirit Emperor fighting a Spirit Douluo, and without using any spirit tools, at the moment he found an opportunity, he killed Poison Gu Bai...”

“This guy is not to be underestimated. If he becomes a Titled Douluo, his strength will definitely be even greater!”

“The Spirit Masters on this continent, their combat can even be described as 'art.' It’s just that—”

“Isn’t this a bit too much?”

Feng He and Poison Gu Bai, two generals, not only lost but also died without a complete corpse.

This was an insult to the dignity of their Sun Moon Empire!

Xiao Wu quietly asked Dugu Yan, who was sitting beside her, “Electromagnetic Divine Dragon Cannon? I remember it wasn’t called that at the Continental Elite Tournament, was it? Has the name changed after improvements?”

At this, Dugu Yan helplessly put a hand to her forehead, feeling a bit embarrassed, but still whispered in response, “It is indeed constantly being improved. He even gave it over twenty different names depending on the angle it’s fired from, and every one of them is very cool... It might be his little quirk. To be honest, I didn’t know he was so... in Brother San’s words, ‘chuunibyou.’”

Yu Feng, sitting next to Oslo, twitched his ears, immediately pulled out a small notebook, flipped to the page titled [Yu Tianheng’s Little Secrets], and began to record: According to Dugu Yan, Yu Tianheng is very chuunibyou. Noted. I can mock him mercilessly later. O(∩_∩)O haha~

Tang San ignored Ao Long’s resentment and said indifferently, “Next.”

“How dare you!”

Just then, a resonant voice rang out.

In the sky above, an Elder clad in white-gold armor stood, accompanied by a Titled Douluo in black-gold gleaming armor, radiating powerful spirit power fluctuations.

“Star Elder!”

Ao Long’s face lit up when he saw the Elder in the middle. He bowed to the other party, “Please, Star Elder, take Soul Sea City. This person has humiliated our Sun Moon Army soldiers; he deserves to be executed!”

The Sun Moon Empire army, upon seeing the three Titled Douluo, also had their morale reignited and loudly shouted to take Soul Sea Pass.

“Since you have seen me, why do you not bow?”

The so-called Star Elder looked at Tang San, his aura vibrating, even causing the clouds in the sky to subtly ripple. Vast spirit power pressed down on everyone at the Soul Sea Pass.

Boom!

Tang San’s eyes narrowed slightly. He covered the entire sky above Soul Sea Pass with his mental force, opposing the Star Elder’s Spirit pressure.

In the collision, invisible forces stirred the airflow, and the heaven and earth energy within several thousand meters in all directions became violent, with an invisible gale surging outwards.

“Hmm?”

The Star Elder increased his Spirit pressure, but that mental force actually withstood his Spirit pressure, enveloping him and the two people beside him.

That mental force was like a sea of stars, far beyond what a mortal like him could compare to.

“Star Elder!” X2

The two Titled Douluo beside him were somewhat panicked.

“Silence!”

The Star Elder roared, his spirit power surging, but he could only manage to envelop these two people and together resist that mountain-like heavy mental force.

“Damn it!”

“That throne...”

“Pfft!”

In an instant, the Star Elder's mind wavered, his pupils slightly unfocused, and blood trickled from the corner of his mouth. Along with the two Titled Douluo beside him, he plummeted downwards.

Crashing onto the ground, the pain brought the Star Elder back to his senses. He bit the tip of his tongue hard, his heart trembling: It wasn't the power of that throne! It was him! That young man, his own mental force, was so formidable! And so condensed... Could it be that before reaching the peak of a Spirit Master, he had already cultivated his soul to a level that only gods in legend could achieve?

Regarding the Star Elder's shock, Tang San's expression was indifferent, like a god seated high in the sky. He slowly raised a finger on his right hand, returning the opponent's previous question:

“Since you have seen me, why do you not bow?”

Happy New Year!

409: Okay, now it's fair.

Thump! Thump! Thump!

The two Titled Douluo, both above ninety-fifth rank, who were beside Star Elder, were pressed to their knees by the immense mental force. Even Star Elder, despite his bitter struggle, could only hold on for about thirty seconds before half-kneeling on the ground.

Against these three, Tang San had intensified his mental pressure.

"No! How can I kneel to anyone other than the Sun Moon Emperor? Get up!" Star Elder bit his tongue, his eyes bloodshot, as he forcefully resisted the increasingly heavy mental pressure.

As an Elder of the Sun Moon Empire, no one but the Emperor could make him kneel!

As a ninety-eighth rank Super Douluo, his pride would not allow him to prostrate before others!

His loyalty belonged only to the Sun Moon Emperor!

It was that陛下 who allowed him to break through to his current realm. How could he, for such a small amount of mental pressure, bow down and kneel? This was a great humiliation!

Seeing the opponent slowly struggling to stand up, Tang San was slightly surprised. Ilyas, however, saw something and said, "He has the aura of the god seal throne on him, though it's very faint. Even a god would find it hard to detect, but I am all too familiar with it... Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne. I didn't expect this Creator God's seat to truly exist on Douluo Continent, just located on the Sun Moon Continent side."

"It seems highly probable that it's in the hands of the Sun Moon Empire's Emperor," Tang San speculated, then once again increased his mental force pressure.

Crack!

Star Elder's legs broke, rendering him unable to stand again, and he prostrated himself before Tang San and the others in a full bow.

Not only Tang San, but Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and all the soldiers and generals on Tang San's side enjoyed the prostration of a ninety-eighth rank Super Douluo.

At this moment, everyone felt a touch of realization: a ninety-eighth rank Titled Douluo didn't seem so formidable after all.

"Since you've bowed, then your previous offenses are forgiven," Tang San said indifferently. "The challenge will continue, but for the next round, I will decide who you send."

Star Elder reconnected his broken legs, rapidly recovering with the ability of a Spirit Bone, and looked up at Tang San, hating, "Why must you humiliate us so?"

"When you massacred Xiao Hai City, weren't you also humiliating the people there?" Tang San retorted.

"The strong prey on the weak; that is the truth of the world!" Star Elder angrily said.

"Slap!"

Tang San's vast mental force erupted, amplified by the Soul Imprint Throne, once again pressing Star Elder to the ground.

This time, all his limbs were broken, and every single rib was shattered.

"Then, according to your logic, now, I am strong, you are weak. The strong can control the weak, and you must play this game."

"You all—"

"No choice!"

As his words fell, countless Blue Silver Emperor leaves emerged from the ground where the Sun Moon Army was located, binding everyone. Their Spirit Guidance Weapons chariots were overturned, unable to exert any effect.

The soldiers of the Sun Moon Empire began to struggle, but the Blue Silver Emperor, having evolved to its current state, made it difficult even for Titled Douluo to break free once bound, let alone Spirit Masters below the Spirit Douluo rank?

"And now—"

Tang San drew out his words, addressing the Heaven Dou Army, New Tiandou Army, Spirit Hall Army, and Star Luo Army below: "Clean up the battlefield, capture all the Sun Moon Army. If the opponent is a Spirit Master, sever their hand and foot tendons. Their hands are stained with the blood of innocent people on this continent. There is no need for sympathy; sparing their lives is already an act of benevolence."

The armies of the Three Great Empires and Spirit Hall immediately charged forward, their eyes filled with excitement.

They had never fought a battle like this before!

Crushing!

Naked crushing!

Star Elder, the two Titled Douluo above ninety-fifth rank, Ao Long, Yi Hongchen, Jun Youwei, and others dared not move, nor could they.

Because a vast mental force, like a magnificent ocean, pressed down on them, making it impossible to even lift their heads, let alone move.

Self-destruct?

They could all do it, but self-destruction when unable to move was meaningless—no matter how powerful, it couldn't hit Tang San.

At this moment, Star Elder had only one thought in his mind: when Tang San personally challenged him, he would directly use his self-destruction ability to perish together with him.

Humiliating his dignity!

Forcing him to his knees!

Shaming him!

To reclaim his honor, and for the Empire to occupy this continent, he had to eliminate this monstrous existence.

As for how many powerhouses were on this continent?

Star Elder felt that it wouldn't exceed their Sun Moon Empire. After all, he clearly saw through Ge Long's true strength, which was similar to Poison Gu Bai's without Spirit Guidance Weapons... This should be the general strength of Spirit Masters of corresponding ranks on this continent.

Then, only those men and women on the thrones were more special, capable of fighting across ranks...

After the battlefield was cleared, Tang San dispersed the mental pressure he had exerted on Star Elder and the others, slowly saying, "Alright, the challenge continues. Which of you six will go first?"

Star Elder's injuries recovered first under the Spirit Bone's healing ability, but his face was also a little pale. The faces of the other five were not much better.

Especially Yi Hongchen and Jun Youwei; their fractured spines were not so easy to recover.

Helpless, Star Elder could only come to help.

When all six had recovered sufficiently, Tang San continued to ask, "Who will go first?"

Star Elder still did not answer, pondering how to get close to Tang San...

"It seems you don't want to play."

Tang San's tone deepened, and he said to Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo, "Two seniors, they are not giving me, your Holy Son, face. Isn't that an insult to Spirit Hall?"

"Naturally, it is."

"Not giving the Holy Son face deserves death!"

Chrysanthemum and Ghost Douluo rose, stepping through the air, and walked towards Star Elder and the others.

"Let me introduce them. These two are Titled Douluo of Spirit Hall, both with spirit power at ninety-sixth rank." After receiving the Body Forging Art, the two diligently cultivated, and their spirit power had already broken through ninety-fifth rank, reaching ninety-sixth rank.

Moreover, the spirit ring configuration of the two also shocked Star Elder and the others.

Two purple, seven black.

What kind of terrifying spirit ring configuration was this?

Especially their ninth spirit ring, which carried a hint of red—that was a sign of reaching one hundred thousand years!

Not only was Star Elder's side shocked, but Heaven Dou, New Tiandou, Star Luo, and others were also stunned, unable to imagine that Spirit Hall actually had such terrifying Titled Douluo.

Such a spirit ring configuration was naturally obtained by hunting Spirit Beasts in the Spirit Beast Illusion Space, and both of them had also been taught the method of condensing Spirit Cores by Bibi Dong.

This further improved the quality of their spirit power and elevated their strength to a new level.

"However, for Titled Douluo above ninety-fifth rank, each level increase doubles the amount of spirit power of the previous level. For the sake of fairness..."

Tang San's mental force once again pressed down, crushing Star Elder and the others until their bones broke, muscles twitched wildly, and brains trembled. "Alright, it's fair now."

"You all can go all out."

Chrysanthemum Douluo chuckled and said to Ghost Douluo, "Old Ghost, I never thought we would one day be able to fight a ninety-eighth rank Super Douluo, three ninety-sixth rank Titled Douluo, and two Titled Douluo below ninety-fifth rank."

Ghost Douluo was not good with words, but at this moment, a hint of excitement also showed: "Indeed, in the past, when we encountered so many enemies, even if injured, we only had the option to flee."

"Then, let's show our true abilities," Chrysanthemum Douluo crushed his Spirit with one hand, injecting it into his body, and a strong golden light emanated from him: "Spirit Bone Armor True Body! Activate!"

410: The true form of martial soul bone armor! Martial spirit fusion! Can't tell apart

Chapter 410 Spirit Bone Armor True Body! Martial Soul Fusion! Can't Separate.....

Within the golden stream of light and storm, Chrysanthemum Douluo was completely covered in layers of bone armor, its entire body a brilliant golden, as if composed of countless chrysanthemum petals.

Golden patterns converged on his chest, forming a blooming Strange Velvet Sky Chrysanthemum.

When the whirlwind dissipated, Chrysanthemum Douluo lightly clenched his fist, and a powerful spirit power erupted, pushing back Star Elder and the others continuously.

"This is!"

A bead of sweat as large as a bean dripped from Star Elder's forehead.

Fair?

Are you kidding me!

After this guy presented himself in this armored state, his spirit power fluctuations reached level ninety-eight... Is such an increase a bit too exaggerated?

This isn't just one or two levels of spirit power for an ordinary Spirit Master, but two levels of spirit power from ninety-six to ninety-eight!

Can it get any more outrageous?

"Hmph!"

Ghost Douluo's body emitted a purple-black aura, and then his body was covered in a layer of black armor, with a giant skull-like shape on his chest, his face completely covered, and two large shield-like shoulder pads on his shoulders.

Martial Soul True Body Armor, Chrysanthemum Douluo isn't the only one who can use it!

"Old Ghost, your Spirit Bone Armor True Body is much more exaggerated than mine." Chrysanthemum Douluo observed the two large shield-like shoulder pads on Ghost Douluo's shoulders, teasing, "You're clearly an agility-attack system assassin, but you look like a physical defense-type Spirit Master."

"Perhaps, this is the true form of my Spirit." Ghost Douluo was also using this Spirit Bone Armor True Body for the first time, sensing the changes in his body and realizing something, the corner of his mouth under the mask slightly curved.

When Ghost Douluo was young and had not yet awakened, he once died. Whether he truly died or fell into a state of suspended animation, no one knows except himself. But when he "resurrected" and awakened his Spirit, it was his own soul, the so-called "Ghost."

In a sense, this is also a type of Physical Martial Soul, just a very special one, a completely spiritual Spirit.

Through the state of Spirit Bone Armor True Body, by fully integrating the Spirit into the body and establishing an energy armor based on the bones, Ghost Douluo finally understood that his original Spirit was not the soul, but the skeleton. It was only because of that "death" accident in his childhood that the unawakened Spirit origin, out of "instinct," sought to protect him, safeguarding his soul, and thus was influenced by weak mental force, leading to the Spirit he later awakened being his own soul.

And at this moment, his own skeleton was also reawakened, giving his Spirit Bone Armor True Body unparalleled defensive capabilities.

Of course, because there is only one Spirit origin, Ghost Douluo cannot possess twin spirits, but in the state of Spirit Bone Armor True Body, he can also awaken his own skeleton.

"That's truly fortunate." Chrysanthemum Douluo wasn't envious, sensing the spirit power fluctuations between the two, and said, "Do we want to perform a Martial Soul Fusion Skill? I have a feeling that this time, we won't just fuse into a Duality Stasis Domain, but a true Martial Soul Fusion."

Martial Soul Fusion Skill is now known throughout the continent, with three categories: spirit power fusion, Spirit Ability fusion, and Martial Soul Fusion.

Among them, Martial Soul Fusion includes spirit power fusion and Spirit Ability fusion, but because the first two can be used independently, they are specifically divided into three categories.

Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo were already capable of spirit power fusion and Spirit Ability fusion, and the Duality Stasis Domain was a great killing move. However, because their Spirits had no similarities, without the condition of transcending mortal power, even if their attributes could reach a certain balance, they could never fuse into a completely new Spirit state, being limited to the Spirit Ability fusion level.

But at this very moment, both of them were in their Spirit Bone Armor True Body, and after their Spirits and bodies were completely compatible, they surprisingly gained similarities. Coupled with their compatible attributes, they even showed a tendency to fuse.

The six slender slits on Ghost Douluo's helmet, which covered his face, flickered with crimson light, and then he let out a chilling laugh, saying, "Good, let's give it a try and see what level of power we can achieve together."

"Then I'm coming!" The spirit power on Chrysanthemum Douluo's body was like a blooming chrysanthemum, enveloping him and Ghost Douluo, and Ghost Douluo also released his spirit power, connecting and then fusing with Chrysanthemum Douluo's spirit power.

The two already had an incomparable understanding, and now performing Martial Soul Fusion was naturally a matter of course.

"Not good! We can't let them finish fusing!" Star Elder, seeing the unfavorable situation, immediately led the five restored individuals to charge forward. But when they were a hundred meters from the two Douluo, their entire bodies were frozen in mid-air, unable to move.

This is the Duality Stasis Domain!

As Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo performed their Martial Soul Fusion, with them at the center, there was an invisible protective shield with a diameter of over a hundred meters. Any existence that approached would be frozen and unable to move.

"I didn't expect that in the state of Spirit Bone Armor True Body, the two seniors could actually perform Martial Soul Fusion, and their former Martial Soul Fusion Skill even became a passive ability to protect them during the fusion." Tang San observed with interest the intertwining and fusion of the two energies at the center of the fusion, even their flesh and bones merging into one, achieving a truly meaningful balance, as if inseparable...

When the golden and black storms dissipated, a graceful, feminine figure appeared in the field. She was six zhang tall, clad in black armor with golden patterns, and twenty-four golden-backed, black-patterned chrysanthemum petal-shaped blades revolved around her leisurely.

She wore a domed helmet that covered the upper half of her face, with a golden gem at the center, like a budding chrysanthemum, enclosing a black skull.

The six-zhang female body formed by the Martial Soul Fusion seemed naturally occurring, possessing both the brilliance and strength of light, and the gloom and chill of darkness.

Elegant and dignified.

Insidious and cunning.

These two vastly different qualities coexisted in one body at this moment, revealing its true nature!

"Time and space, all in my hands."

The six-zhang female body spoke, not the overlapping voices of Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo as everyone imagined, but a truly feminine voice, as if the two had genuinely fused into a completely new Life form.

She merely raised her hand slightly, and Star Elder and the others were once again frozen in mid-air, unable to move. Then she shot out the twenty-four blades, piercing through their chests.

In just a moment, among the six, except for Star Elder, the level ninety-eight Super Douluo who was still holding on, the other five—three level ninety-six Titled Douluo, as well as Yi Hongchen and Jun Youwei—were all killed. The Spirit Bones that dropped were all of the ten-thousand-year level, collected by her and presented to Tang San.

"Level ninety-nine, unparalleled in the world, to think such a powerful Martial Soul Fusion Skill exists! This old man has no regrets in losing!" Star Elder's pupils began to dilate as he looked at the broken corpses of his comrades beside him, closing his eyes, awaiting death.

But the six-zhang female body spared his Life.

The level ninety-eight Star Elder, for Spirit Hall, was worth more alive than dead.

Not only could he be used to threaten the Sun Moon Empire, but more importantly, Spirit Hall could research the physical bodies of level ninety-eight powerhouses, especially for Tang San, this was absolutely extremely rare research material.

After all, Bibi Dong couldn't command the Titled Douluo of the Hall of Offerings...

After this battle, Tang San and the others returned to the ground, returned the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne to Hu Liena, and then collected the broken bodies of the five Titled Douluo.

After all, they were of the Titled Douluo level; even if they died, they could be used for research.

Since they were the bodies of enemies, there was no need to show respect; they could be recycled.

However, a problem now lay before Tang San: the six-zhang female body formed by the fusion of Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo could not be separated.

Spirit Bone Armor True Body was a way for the Spirit to fully integrate into the body, equivalent to the materialization of the Spirit. Now that the two had also performed Martial Soul Fusion, upon success, it had become a fixed, permanent state, unable to be separated.

Tang San could not immediately figure out what kind of changes had occurred in this process.

From a height of six zhang, it transformed to about 1.8 meters. The spirit power of this independent entity, formed by the fusion of Chrysanthemum and Ghost, also decreased to level ninety-eight, but its body became more condensed.

Perceiving with his divine soul power, Tang San discovered that the other party's physical body was between energy and materialization. The Strange Velvet Sky Chrysanthemum and Gui Mei Spirits, as well as their attributes, were undergoing a deeper level of fusion, while Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo's original souls existed separately at the location of their upper dantian, constantly being refined by the vital essence, qi, and Spirit of this fused entity.

If this continued, perhaps in about a thousand years, the souls of these two could break through to the divine soul level.

And this physical body was jointly controlled by the souls of Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo. As for why two grown men would emit a female voice, that remained unknown.

Perhaps it was because Chrysanthemum Douluo was already a bit effeminate, and Ghost Douluo's nature was somewhat gloomy; when the two merged, they achieved an unexpected result of “positive plus positive equals negative”—the merged body was already close to an energy entity, and if at this time both their minds leaned towards the feminine, then the external appearance would be feminized.

Hmm—

Most likely, Chrysanthemum Douluo's thoughts dominated, as Ghost Douluo usually didn't have much of his own opinion and always listened to Chrysanthemum Douluo's instructions and considered his feelings.

“I have a general understanding of your situation.

If you want to separate, we'll need to do more in-depth research once we get back...”

“Separate?”

Before he could finish speaking, Tang San was interrupted by the girl in front of him, who said, “I've always hoped to become a woman.

Now that my dream has come true, we can't separate."

Tang San: "... As long as you're happy, but when the time comes for research, we'll still research.

You can't refuse.

"Then, what should I call you?"

"A name? This body is a fusion of Old Ghost and me.

Our most famous ability in the past was the Spirit Ability Fusion: Duality Static Domain, and this body successfully merged because we achieved the Spirit Bone Armor True Body, so let's call it the Bone Armor Twin Duality Being." At this moment, the person controlling the body was Chrysanthemum Douluo, "When I occupy the body, I'm called Bone Armor Twin Chrysanthemum Immortal, and when Old Ghost occupies it—"

"I'm not as perverted as that Chrysanthemum freak." Suddenly, the female voice deepened, and the body became thinner, transforming from female to male—

Ghost Douluo online!

"Just call me Ghost Mr."

"Ghost Mr. again, you're not a scholar!" The male body changed back into a female body, and the voice became soft again; clearly, Chrysanthemum Douluo had taken back control.

And so, the two began to argue, their body continuously transforming between male and female appearances...

"Third Brother, these two Titled Douluo sure know how to have fun." Xiao Wu leaned into Tang San's ear and whispered, "It's really strange, neither male nor female."

"How should I put it, this can be considered a miracle that transcends gender." Tang San, however, had a different view, but fearing that Xiao Wu and others might misunderstand, he immediately stated that he would not attempt such a thing...

After the battle, the four major forces began to distribute the spoils of war, which were the Spirit Guidance Weapons from the Sun Moon Army.

Spirit Hall received the most, Heaven Dou second, and Star Luo third.

The New Heaven Dou Federation received the least.

As for the Sun Moon Army prisoners, any who had reached the Spirit Master level and possessed a spirit ring had their hamstrings and Achilles tendons severed, and they were temporarily confined outside the city.

“This battle was a great victory, all thanks to Silverblue Earl.” At the celebration banquet, Ge Long raised his glass to Tang San and laughed loudly, “We took down the invading enemy forces without losing a single soldier.”

Tang San raised his glass, exchanged a few polite words, and then spoke of his next plans: “Although this battle was won, Xiao Hai City is still under enemy control, so we must not be careless.”

“First, we’ll use the enemy prisoners to exchange for the people of Xiao Hai City.”

“Also, we need to extract the specific situation of the Sun Moon Empire from that Elder codenamed [Star] to prepare for future应对.”

Ge Long naturally agreed, as Tang San’s strength had already revealed just the tip of the iceberg of his power; with that unique Throne, he could crush a ten-thousand-strong army, including that ninety-eighth-level Titled Douluo.

How could such an existence be defied?

“Exchanging enemy prisoners for the captured people of Xiao Hai City is a good idea, but we need to be vigilant.” School Master Ning raised his glass and invited him to drink, “The Sun Moon invaders are also researching spirit tools, and in terms of Spirit Guidance Weapons, they have already achieved mass production.

If they were to tie Spirit Guidance bombs or similar devices to the people of Xiao Hai City and transport them to our side...”

Everyone realized that given the Sun Moon Empire’s actions of massacring cities, such a thing was not impossible for them to do.

Moreover, it was still unknown whether the Sun Moon enemy forces would return these more than ten thousand prisoners.

After all, the hamstrings and Achilles tendons of these more than ten thousand people had already been severed, and even if the Sun Moon side had a large number of healing-type Spirit Masters and advanced spirit tool healing equipment, it would be impossible to treat these people immediately.

For a long time, these prisoners would instead become a burden to the Sun Moon enemy forces, and the attitude of those prisoners was very stubborn; not a single one was willing to surrender.

The most frequent phrase they shouted was: “For the glory of the Emperor!”

This was a very terrifying thing—

That so-called Emperor had subjected them to brainwashing propaganda, to the extent that they were willing to dedicate everything for that Emperor of the Sun Moon Empire.

Their thoughts, their words, their actions, all were to carry out the Sun Moon Emperor’s commands, rather than following their own will.

These soldiers were practically like someone’s puppets, completely devoid of much self-thought.

This was different from how Spirit Masters on the continent worshipped Tang San, the Martial Soul Theory Master; most of them accepted the theories Tang San published and only then revered Tang San as a person.

But what about these soldiers of the Sun Moon Empire?

They completely revered everything about that Emperor, as if his every word and action were truth, to be followed absolutely, otherwise it would be a discredit to live in this world.

Honestly, Ning Fengzhi felt that in the past, if a non-direct disciple of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School had such an attitude, he would have been very happy, but now seeing the fanaticism of the Sun Moon Empire's soldiers, a hint of dread arose in his heart.

With such fanaticism, for the sake of the so-called Emperor's glory, there was nothing they wouldn't do; this was simply a different kind of The Fallen!

"School Master Ning is right." Tang San affirmed Ning Fengzhi's concerns, then said, "However, I also have research on spirit tools, and with my mental force, I can conduct screenings and take precautions then."

"Secondly, regarding whether the Sun Moon Empire is willing to exchange ___"

"They might give up on those ordinary soldiers, but they will definitely want that ninety-eighth-level Titled Douluo back, and that will be our bargaining chip."

Ning Fengzhi suddenly understood.

It turned out that the bargaining chip, from beginning to end, was that ninety-eighth-level Star Elder, not the ten thousand Sun Moon enemy prisoners; counting them in was just to cause trouble for the Sun Moon Empire's army...

...

After the dinner, Ge Long had someone capture a soldier from the Sun Moon Empire and ordered them to heal his injuries: “Sun Moon bandit, consider yourself lucky.

Go back to Xiao Hai City and tell the four Titled Douluo there that in three days, we will come to retrieve the people of Xiao Hai City whom you captured, in exchange for your Star Elder and ten thousand soldiers.”

“You must not chop off the Star Elder’s limbs.” The man gritted his teeth, worried that Tang San and the others would chop off the Star Elder’s limbs to obtain Spirit Bones.

“We won’t chop off his limbs.” Tang San assured the other party, “As everyone knows, I never lie, and as the Holy Son of Spirit Hall, I need to keep my word.”

The man looked deeply at Tang San, chose to believe him, and then ran off without looking back.

Although his injuries were healed, his spirit power had not yet recovered, and Ge Long had not prepared a horse for him.

The distance from Soul Sea City to Xiao Hai City would take an ordinary Spirit Master a day to travel.

Even if he didn’t eat or drink on the way, it was still unknown whether he could make it back within three days.

It just depended on how much his fanaticism for the so-called Emperor could boost his willpower.

After the man left, Tang San and Ning Fengzhi went to the dungeon together and found Chrysanthemum Immortal, who was whipping the bound Star Elder.

At this moment, Star Elder no longer had his previous high spirits; his white hair was disheveled, his body was covered in blood, and his four limbs were pierced by steel needles over three centimeters in diameter, pinning him to the wall.

Two chains were also connected to his back, and two hooks pierced through his shoulder blades, rendering him unable to exert force.

“Senior Chrysanthemum Douluo, mistreating prisoners is not good.” Tang San stopped Chrysanthemum Immortal.

“Who told this guy not to say anything? I could only resort to torture.” Chrysanthemum Immortal put away the whip, and her charming and delicate appearance made Ning Fengzhi and Bone Douluo, who was beside him, a bit unable to accept it.

After all, this guy was still a man during the day, just a bit effeminate, but now he had truly become a woman, and could even transform freely.

Their worldview was truly struggling to accept it.

“May I ask your full name, sir?” Tang San didn’t really want to interact much with Chrysanthemum Immortal either, so he asked for Star Elder’s name.

“Xu Fu.” Star Elder raised his head, his eyes directly meeting Tang San’s—this was the best time for self-detonation, but his spirit power was suppressed, and his mental force was also weakened to the extreme.

Self-detonation...

It was simply impossible.

“That name, it rings a bell.” Tang San was silent for a while before he spoke softly.

[This expression is similar to His Majesty’s when he first learned my name....]

Xu Fu was a little puzzled, but still asked: “Oh? Have you perhaps heard of my name somewhere? But I am from another continent, how could you know?”

Tang San slowly said, “There’s a person in my hometown who is also named Xu Fu, and he likes to sell fake medicine.”

Xu Fu: “...”

411: Peel off six soul bones

“You came to me not just to say these things, did you?” Xu Fu was silent for a long while before speaking faintly, “If you want to inquire about the Douluo Continent, don’t bother, I won’t say anything, and don’t even think about controlling me with your mental force. No matter what, I am still a Level 98 Titled Douluo.”

“I didn’t expect you to speak.” With Tang San’s primordial spirit power, it wasn’t difficult to read the memories within the other party’s soul. The difficulty lay in the fact that he hadn’t tried the method of reading soul memories before and might turn him into an idiot.

And this time, he naturally came to strip the other party’s Spirit Bone.

Spirit Bones feel solid to the touch, but in reality, they are a form of energy-based product, which is why they can be absorbed by the human body and can also be stripped out under special circumstances.

For example, a Level 100 divine force, surpassing mortal strength, can remove them without harming the human body.

In the original work, when the protagonist inherited the Sea God’s Ninth Trial, all the absorbed Spirit Bones were violently stripped by the Sea God’s divine force and transformed into divine armor, becoming part of the Sea God’s divine attire.

Tang San found that removing a Spirit Bone was not actually very difficult. Mortal strength could also do it, as long as one’s own vital energy and blood were strong and pure. Such an impure energy as a Spirit Bone would naturally be repelled. And as long as one understood the flow of spirit power within the Spirit Bone, one could use precise control over spirit power to sever the connection points between the Spirit Bone and the spirit power circulation meridians within the body, thereby stripping it from the human body.

“Chrysanthemum Immortal Senior, Bone Douluo Senior, please hold down his hands, feet, and head. Next, he might feel a bit of pain.” Tang San said this to Chrysanthemum Immortal and Bone Douluo, then turned to Xu Fu and said, “You just endure it a little.”

Xu Fu’s eyes became wary, but amidst his seriousness, there was also a hint of trepidation: This guy, he doesn’t have some weird hobbies, does he?

Although Chrysanthemum Immortal and Bone Douluo found it strange, they still complied.

Ning Fengzhi asked, “Is Holy Son planning to do something?”

“The Spirit Bones on him cannot remain.” After Tang San finished speaking, he placed his hand on the other party’s right leg, injecting spirit power to search for the connection point between his Right Leg Bone and the meridians on his thigh. His five fingers trembled constantly, resonating with the other party’s vital energy and blood to ascertain which part would be best to extract the Spirit Bone from.

Ning Fengzhi thought Tang San was going to chop off the other party’s limbs and couldn’t help but ask, “Didn’t we promise that enemy soldier from the Sun and Moon who went back to report?”

“Stop!” Xu Fu’s entire face twisted, intense pain spreading throughout his body, every cell seemingly trembling.

But at this moment, his spirit power was sealed, his mental force was weak, and he was being held down by Chrysanthemum Immortal and Bone

Douluo. No matter how much he struggled, it was useless.

Only when the entire Right Leg Bone was held in Tang San's hand did Xu Fu's trembling body finally stop slightly, and he gasped for air.

His Level 98 strength did not decrease due to the stripping of the Spirit Bone; only the physical strength was slightly reduced—the strengthening of the body by external Spirit Bones is divided into two types: first, after absorbing the Spirit Bone, the energy fluctuations of the Spirit Bone itself will subtly strengthen the Spirit Master's physical constitution. This is a long process, and the strengthening effect is measured in years; second, after absorbing the Spirit Bone, it can directly increase physical strength.

And when the Spirit Bone is stripped without cutting off limbs, the second type of strengthening effect will disappear directly, but the first type of strengthening effect will be retained.

After all, the first type subtly strengthened every cell of the body, while the second type was equivalent to directly adding a piece of “strengthening equipment.”

If the equipment is lost, this strengthening effect naturally disappears, leaving only the effect of “weighted training.”

“Simply incredible!” Ning Fengzhi looked at the 40,000-year-level Right Leg Bone in Tang San's hand, a flicker of greed in his eyes, but more was shock at Tang San's method.

Extracting a Spirit Bone without cutting off limbs or killing someone... this was simply beyond their imagination.

“It's nothing. As long as you have extreme control over vital energy and blood, and spirit power, coupled with a sufficient understanding of the human body, and your mental force can see through the energy flow within the Spirit Bone, you can also do it.”

Tang San placed the Spirit Bone into his Silver Rope Treasure Pouch and turned his gaze to Xu Fu's left leg.

This Xu Fu had Spirit Bones equipped in all six places: his four limbs, torso, and head. It would take a while to extract them all.

This guy being able to reach Level 98 was probably due to absorbing these Spirit Bones while refining the energy within them, plus some external stimulation, forcing his cultivation upwards.

After all, from Tang San's perception, this guy, whether in terms of aura or the quality of his spirit power, was far inferior to the Gold Crocodile Douluo he had once met.

"If Father-in-law has better Spirit Bone options in the future, you can come to me. I will safely remove the Spirit Bones from your body and replace them with the Spirit Bones you deem good."

As he spoke, Tang San had already begun to slowly extract the Spirit Bone from Xu Fu's left leg.

Ning Fengzhi heard the term "Father-in-law" and laughed heartily, saying, "Then I'll rely on you, son-in-law, from now on."

An hour later, Xu Fu was like a broken toy, completely devoid of strength to even move. His vacant eyes murmured, "You demon... My Emperor will absolutely not let you go. When... he reigns over this... Continent, you will surely... bow down and worship at his feet, becoming our servants, and your future descendants... will also... be so."

After speaking, Xu Fu fainted.

Although the pain of stripping the Spirit Bone was only instantaneous, and for him, his spirit power did not decrease, for an elderly man, that instantaneous pain was several times more painful than childbirth combined with mosquito bites.

And Tang San inflicted it six times.

That he could remain conscious before fainting was already a testament to his strong willpower.

Ning Fengzhi felt that he should avoid this kind of “surgery” in the future, lest such an undignified state be seen by his son-in-law and others, leaving him unable to face them again.

Among the six Spirit Bones, the oldest was the torso bone, reaching a 60,000-year level.

But what Tang San cared about was the head Spirit Bone.

This Spirit Bone was entirely like black crystal, emitting strong mental force fluctuations. At its center was a pattern resembling an eye, and its age should be around 50,000 years.

The reason he cared was naturally because Tang San could not identify which type of Spirit Bone this was. It should be a species from the Douluo Continent, not existing on the Douluo Continent.

“Dark attribute, single-eyed, it should be the Evil Eye Tyrant.” Tang San speculated, putting this last extracted Spirit Bone into the Silver Rope Treasure Pouch, then asked Chrysanthemum Immortal to look after Xu Fu, and left with Ning Fengzhi and Bone Douluo...

412: Distribution of soul bones

After leaving the dungeon, Tang San gathered Yu Tianheng, Hu Liena, and others, and took out the twelve Spirit Bones.

Six came from Xu Fu, and the remaining six came from the five deceased Titled Douluo; among them, Yi Hongchen, the ninety-first-level Titled Douluo, dropped two.

"These are the Spirit Bones harvested this time," Tang San said with a smile, seeing everyone's eager gazes. "These are all my spoils of war, but as you know, as the Spirit Hall Saint Child, if I just give them to you for free, the Supreme Pontiff will have something to say, so—"

"Name your price."

Zhu Zhuqing, not seeing Xiao Wu and the others, asked, "Where are Xiao Wu and the others?"

"They went to rest," Tang San said. "Don't worry about us, we don't lack Spirit Bones."

Zhu Zhuqing naturally knew why, so she didn't ask further and didn't plan to take this batch of Spirit Bones. However, as a general on the Star Luo Empire's side this time, she had to bring back some spoils of war, so she spoke first, saying, "Then I want that right arm bone, which is around two thousand years old. It seems to have come from a light-attribute tiger Spirit Beast. Can I exchange it for this?"

After speaking, Zhu Zhuqing took out a medicinal bath formula from her storage soul tool: "This is the Dai Family's White Tiger lineage's medicinal bath formula from before their Spirit awakened."

This Spirit Bone was for reporting back to Dai Weisi, and exchanging it for the Dai Family's medicinal bath formula was perfectly fine.

"Yes," Tang San took the formula, glanced at it, and then handed the twenty-one-thousand-year-old left arm bone to Zhu Zhuqing.

And with a start, the others were also tempted.

Oslo and Yu Feng each spent one hundred million gold coins to purchase two ten-thousand-year Spirit Bones.

Bai Chenxiang, on the other hand, spent only ten million gold coins to take a ten-thousand-year Spirit Bone. There was no other way; the Speed Clan had now joined her father-in-law's faction, so a discount had to be given.

Moreover, strictly speaking, Bai Chenxiang was still his blood-related cousin.

Shi Mo and Shi Mo were developing well in Vast Sea City, and they bought four pieces with four hundred million gold coins.

Of the remaining four pieces, one was given to Dugu Yan for free by Tang San. After all, Dugu Bo shared the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well with him, and he ultimately benefited from it.

Xu Fu's torso bone, which originated from a dragon species, was exchanged by Yu Tianheng for a Dragon Pearl from his family.

"This Dragon Pearl, according to the clan leader, was left behind by a hundred-thousand-year-level Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon after its death. However, through generations of inheritance, the energy within it has been exhausted, leaving only an empty shell, but it is extremely hard..." Yu Tianheng seemed a bit embarrassed when he took out the Dragon Pearl. "For the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, its symbolic meaning is greater than its practical meaning. The holder of this Dragon Pearl can unconditionally ask the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan to do one thing... Maybe I should just buy it with money."

As he spoke, Yu Tianheng himself felt ashamed, as rules are made by people, and not everyone in the clan would necessarily abide by them.

"No need, this will do," Tang San handed over the sixty-thousand-year torso bone and took the Dragon Pearl in his hand, saying, "Although for you, this might just be an ornament, for me, this is the best energy carrier, perfectly suited to be the core of a divine tool."

Yu Tianheng was puzzled: "The core of a divine tool? You mean that throne?"

The power of the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne was still vivid in everyone's minds, and their gazes involuntarily fell to Hu Liena's waist: that was absolutely an extraordinary item, giving them the feeling of even controlling some kind of authority.

They hadn't expected it to be a divine tool.

"That's just a semi-divine tool," Tang San played with the Dragon Pearl in his hand, smiling slightly. "I made it. And this Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon's Dragon Pearl might be used as the core for the next one."

"Captain, you can even forge divine tools?" Yu Feng exclaimed, then hugged Tang San's leg, his eyes sparkling with desire, "Can you forge one for me too?"

Seeing Yu Feng like this, everyone present showed disdain, but they all wanted to see how Tang San would respond.

If he really agreed, it wouldn't be impossible for them to follow suit and cling to his leg.

"Yes," Tang San took a step back, pulled his leg free, and smiled, "You prepare the materials yourself. Even for the worst iron, you'll need at least thirty thousand catties, plus my processing fee. As a friendly price, let's say one hundred trillion gold coins. Oh, and among the materials, you must prepare an object that can carry an energy core, either an extremely special metal, or a Spirit Beast inner core similar to this, or a Spirit Bone, at least fifty thousand years old."

Listening to this, Yu Feng slowly got up, chuckling, "Then forget it, that chair is too expensive, I can't afford to sit on it."

Although everyone present knew that what Tang San said was already the lowest price, just the one hundred trillion gold coins was impossible to prepare. Even Yu Tianheng, who was from the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, stated: selling the entire clan wouldn't gather that much gold coin.

But the fact that divine tools could be clearly priced already gave them hope.

Finally, of the two remaining Spirit Bones, one was suspected to be from an Evil Eye Tyrant, which Tang San needed to research, and the other was fire-attribute, bought by Yan for one hundred million gold coins.

Spirit Hall was slowly changing its internal personnel structure, and even with talent, one could not unconditionally enjoy Spirit Hall's resources.

Therefore, Yan owed Spirit Hall one hundred million gold coins.

Hu Liena kept the accounts.

"The last one is a head Spirit Bone, and it's also a mental-type. Can you sell it to me?" Hu Liena asked.

"Yes, but I need to research it first. This thing comes from a native Spirit Beast on the Sun Moon Continent; it's a new species," Tang San explained, selling this head Spirit Bone to Hu Liena for one billion gold coins, but it needed to remain in Tang San's hands for a period for research on mental energy conversion.

The energy circulation circuits within the Golden Core Ring, Heart Core Ring, and Lingge Ring could also be understood by analogy through studying the energy circulation within Spirit Bones.

After everyone dispersed, Gu Yuena came over.

"Why are you here? I don't recall asking you to come along," Tang San asked, though there was no surprise on his face. "You really don't make things easy for me."

Gu Yuena pouted, "Throwing me at home and still having the nerve to say that? You irresponsible fellow! Isn't it just war? Saying children can't be exposed to this... Let me tell you, the brutal battles this King has seen far exceed your imagination!"

"Mhm, yes, yes, yes."

Faced with Tang San's dumbfounded and perfunctory demeanor, Gu Yuena couldn't stand it. She bit him, her sharp teeth piercing the skin of Tang San's index finger, and sucked his blood.

Tang San raised his hand, and Gu Yuena, still biting his finger, was lifted off the ground by his shaking hand, dangling comically.

"You like drinking blood so much, sometimes I wonder if you're a dragon or a vampire."

"Pop."

Gu Yuena released her teeth, dropped back to the ground, licked the blood from her lips, and snorted, "A blood-sucking dragon, is that not allowed?"

"Allowed!"

Tang San gave a thumbs-up (￣▽￣) d .

"Let's talk business—"

413: The truth about the creation of the Creator God

Gu Yuena's expression turned serious as she looked towards Xiao Hai City, and even further towards the sea, slowly saying, "I can sense a magnificent oppressive feeling coming from over there, as if all things in the World are dominated by it, and it also carries an ancient aura, just like—"

"It has endured countless years."

That oppressive feeling from her heart was very heavy.

Moreover, this power was extremely restrained; only those existing in the same World could perceive it, otherwise even a Divinity would be unable to detect it.

In other words, this power, which transcended the mortal level, could act wantonly in this World without any restrictions, as long as it didn't go to those Divinity inheritance grounds.

Because the gods of the God Realm could not perceive it.

To be honest, Gu Yuena didn't understand what that power was; it seemed to transcend all Divinities, and even the Dragon God of the past could not compare to it in terms of power level.

Perhaps, only the Creator God who opened up the God Realm could be mentioned in the same breath.

That's right!

Creator God!

That must be the power left behind by the Creator God!

“Having endured countless years, from ancient times to now, it is indeed an extraordinary treasure,” Tang San also looked in the direction of Xiao Hai City.

Compared to Gu Yuena’s speculation, Tang San was already certain at this moment that the Sun Moon Empire’s emperor’s golden finger was perhaps the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne.

This was a transcendent artifact.

According to the setting, whoever holds the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne will obtain the Creator God’s imprint, and no matter what the rules of the plane the owner is in, they will ultimately not need to follow them, but will instead obtain a special God Position through the Creator God’s imprint at the moment of becoming a God Position, serving as the Creator God’s existence to oversee the World.

Moreover, whoever holds this Throne is equivalent to being granted the Creator God’s God Position, and before becoming a God Position, they will never need to worry about cultivation bottlenecks.

If it existed in the Douluo plane, perhaps the rule of [needing a spirit ring to break through bottlenecks] would not need to be followed.

Tang San could only sense that the Sun Moon Empire’s own strength was that of a Spirit Douluo; the specific level was unknown, and further probing would be blocked by some power.

Presumably, that was the power of the Eternal and Creation Throne...

...

At the same time.

On that massive ship, Xu Huang awoke from his cultivation, frowning deeply, and communicated with the thirteen eternal stars within his body, asking, “Easton King, Sacred Dragon, Eternal Angel, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne has been trembling since before, and it just trembled again, what's going on?"

Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel were all artifact Spirits within the Eternal and Creation Throne, all having reached the God Position level, and even because of their powerful bloodlines, ordinary gods would have to bow down when they met them.

In terms of strength, they were comparable to a first-rank God Position in the God Realm.

Easton King's resonant voice sounded, saying, "On the continent you are heading to, someone is probing with their mental force; I don't know their strength, but the quality of their mental force has already surpassed the level of ordinary gods, and the aura it reveals carries the essence of Creation."

Xu Huang's heart trembled, and he asked, "Did he also obtain the Creator God's legacy?"

"No," Easton King denied, "I didn't sense the existence of a God Position; his attribute should be natural, Life force, but in his future cultivation, he obtained a wisp of Creation force and constantly strengthened it... Honestly, if you hadn't found the Eternal and Creation Throne first and become its temporary owner, this Creator God's legacy would have gone directly to the other party."

To become the owner of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, Xu Huang naturally received the acknowledgment of these three artifact Spirits, but with Xu Huang's strength, he couldn't compare to any of the three, and the assessment he underwent was arranged according to his own strength.

However, at this moment, he felt a sense of urgency.

That was, like previous users of the Eternal and Creation Throne, he was borrowing this Throne, not its true owner; as long as the so-called mission was completed, this Throne would depart.

And what was the so-called mission?

Naturally, it was to stop Austin Griffin, the Creator God's twin, from destroying this continent.

However, Xu Huang wanted to truly replace the original Creator God, gain the true right to use this Throne, and become its eternal owner.

“Wanting to become the true owner of the Eternal and Creation Throne... this thought must not be had,” Easton King's warning voice sounded, “Among the people who have used this Throne throughout history, those who wanted to claim it for themselves were very few; you are not the first, nor will you be the last. Correcting your attitude is fundamental.”

“I understand,” Xu Huang replied, knowing that his current strength was insufficient; to become the eternal owner of this Throne and replace the Creator God, he must defeat the Eternal Lord, which is a wisp of the Creator God's divine soul remaining within the Throne.

The Creator God's divine soul, even if it was just a wisp, could unleash power beyond the God Position King level.

Defeating it was a long and arduous task.

And now, Xu Huang had only passed the trials set by Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel, merely gaining the right to use it; the Eternal Lord had not even shown up.

His minuscule power simply couldn't get the Eternal Lord's attention, and if Xu Huang's Spirit wasn't the Sun Moon Wheel, capable of emitting the light of the sun and moon, and his light attribute wasn't pure enough, Xu Huang wouldn't even have qualified for the assessment...

Eternal Domain.

Within the Eternal and Creation Throne's World, Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel gathered to discuss the existence of that mental force from before.

“That guy has definitely condensed a divine soul!” Easton King exclaimed, “I can sense the chaos and order within it. Do you think he is the reincarnation of a fragment of the Creator God’s soul?”

The Sacred Dragon pondered for a moment, saying, “It does seem a bit like it, but the Creator God only has this wisp of divine soul, the Eternal Lord, remaining. The other divine soul fragments either evolved into the gods of the very first plane or became the energy that opened up this Eternal Domain; it’s impossible for them to still exist, at most, it’s very similar.”

The Eternal Angel said, “Speaking of which, there is a God Realm connected to this plane, opened up by another Creator God. Although it hasn’t developed into a true eternal star yet, its potential is not weak. If we use it as nourishment, can the great Eternal Lord be resurrected?”

“The Creator God would not do that,” Easton King shook his head, then continued, “Moreover, in terms of strength, we are not a match for the Divinities there. Their Divinities are too numerous, and there are also five extremely powerful law fluctuations: Life, Destruction, Killing Intent, Goodness, and Evil. Especially the latter two, they actually adopted the two illusory concepts of [Good] and [Evil].”

“I estimate that when the Creator God of this God Realm opened the God Realm, most of their origin was used to nurture these two concept-type Divinities.”

“If these two grow up, they will be even more powerful than the Creator God, and they won’t be destroyed by the repulsion of the cosmic will.”

“After all, Creator God is just a title given by people; the great Eternal Lord initially didn’t even want to create a World.”

The Sacred Dragon sighed, “Yes, the will of the universe cannot tolerate a Creator God. No matter who cultivates to the Creation realm, they will be forcibly commanded by the cosmic will to create a World... Everything they cultivated came from the universe and eventually returns to the universe. This is an ancient and unchanging law from the beginning of the great universe.”

Did the first owner of the Eternal and Creation Throne truly want to create a World?

They had no choice.

All Creator Gods are like this, and after their deaths, most hope that the descendants born in the World they created can surpass them and break free from the constraints of the cosmic will.

Unfortunately, most Divinities, after realizing the vastness of the cosmic will, chose to “lie flat,” which means to abide by the rules of the great universe.

A small number of Creator Gods, like the Eternal Lord, after the collapse of Creation, used special artifacts to preserve a wisp of divine soul. Following the will of the universe, which is the guidance of fate, while dealing with various plane problems, they comprehended and pondered what kind of existence the cosmic will truly is, hoping to find a way to transcend the control of the cosmic will.

It is precisely because of this selfishness that the Eternal and Creation Throne will always belong only to the Eternal Lord, that Creator God. Even if his true body has died, as long as his divine soul remains, this Throne will never truly change hands. Others, even if they obtain it, will only have the right to use it, not the right to control it.

414: For the Emperor! Explode!

Three days passed quietly.

Outside Xiao Hai City, the Heaven Dou Army and New Tiandou Army had already assembled, while the Spirit Hall Army and Star Luo Army remained in Soul Sea City to prevent the Sun Moon Empire Army from flanking and launching a sneak attack.

“Sun Moon 賊 Army, three days ago, we released a captive to deliver a message: exchange the citizens of Xiao Hai City for the Sun Moon soldiers we captured!” Marshal Ge Long, riding on a white tiger, channeled his spirit power and shouted loudly.

The four Titled Douluo stood on the city wall of Xiao Hai City, looking at the ragged and disheveled Xu Fu, and all trembled.

“Star Elder!”

“Damn it!”

“Douluo barbarians, not proper people, to actually humiliate a level ninety-eight expert like this!”

“They should be exterminated to the ninth generation!”

Along with their fury, there was also fear and shock.

Fear, because the opponent possessed the strength to crush Star Elder; shock, because this was different from the intelligence they had gathered—their Spirit Masters showed no respect for powerful individuals.

But for Tang San and the others, what if Xu Fu cultivated to level ninety-eight? He was merely an enemy. To leave him alive and not cripple his spirit power was already merciful.

“Drag them out!” Ge Long ignored the curses of the four Titled Douluo, had a group of Sun Moon captives pressed to the ground, and continued to shout towards the city wall: “Exchange or not?”

“Will you exchange them?”

“Those are the citizens of Sun Moon, they cannot be humiliated by the enemy army.”

“But if we exchange them back, with their injuries, it won’t be easy to heal them, and they might even become a burden to our army.”

“Exchange! Although our soldiers are extremely loyal to His Majesty, Star Elder lost, which affected morale. If we watch our compatriots be slaughtered now, it will shake the army’s resolve.”

The four discussed for a while and decided to exchange.

Looking at the more than ten thousand barely clothed, emaciated, and scarred citizens of Xiao Hai City, Ge Long couldn't help but clench his fists, his resolve to eradicate these Sun Moon bandits growing even stronger.

Tang San, meanwhile, was checking the physical condition and personal belongings of the more than ten thousand citizens. After confirming there were no issues, he activated his First Soul Skill, Endless Recovery, to heal their injuries.

Only then did these people regain some vitality. Then, under the protection and arrangement of Ning Rongrong and Dugu Yan, they headed towards Soul Sea City.

“Star Elder, are you alright?”

The four Titled Douluo of the Sun Moon Empire personally came down to receive Star Elder. They discovered his limbs were pierced through, and his shoulder blades were even perforated. They immediately either unleashed healing Spirit Abilities or applied medicine.

When Xu Fu could move, he crawled up, his muscles still twitching constantly, and his bones trembling non-stop.

The pain of having his Spirit Bone stripped, though it had passed, the feeling of a part of his body missing, made him feel an unprecedented emptiness.

Although his spirit power had not decreased at all, Xu Fu no longer dared to look down on Tang San and the others. He even only dared to lower his head when facing Tang San's eyes, as deep as the starry sky—

That young man was too terrifying. He would be His Majesty's great enemy!

“Since the transaction is complete, please withdraw!” One of the Titled Douluo shouted at Ge Long.

“No! The ones who should withdraw are you!” Marshal Ge Long roared, his voice echoing outside Xiao Hai City, “Since ancient times, Xiao Hai City has been the inherent territory of my Heaven Dou Empire. How can you overseas bandits invade it? Hurry up and withdraw, return Xiao Hai City, and compensate for all losses caused by your aggression!”

“Otherwise, we will fight to the death!”

The Sun Moon Empire invaded from across the sea, massacring the citizens of an entire city, and Heaven Dou, New Heaven Dou Federation, Spirit Hall, and Star Luo all mobilized. How could it end just like this?

The Sun Moon Empire must pay appropriate compensation for the destruction of Xiao Hai City and the death of its residents, and also compensate them for the military expenses incurred by their four-party mobilization.

Each faction must receive at least the equivalent of ten billion gold coin in compensation.

“You even want compensation?” A Titled Douluo was furious and shouted loudly, “You’re going too far!”

“If you fall behind, you get beaten,” Tang San’s voice echoed in the air. “Now, you are behind us in combat power. If you give compensation, everything is negotiable. If not, then don’t blame us for using the attacks you used on the citizens of Xiao Hai City on yourselves.”

As his voice fell, countless Blue Silver Emperor emerged from the ground, constantly spreading throughout Xiao Hai City. The four Titled Douluo had no time to react and could only take the still recovering Xu Fu into the air.

Looking down again, they saw countless Blue Silver leaves covering the entire Xiao Hai City, their interwoven roots Binding the vast majority of Sun Moon soldiers.

Even if someone attacked with a spirit tool bomb, the broken parts would regenerate and grow back at an extremely fast rate.

In just a few blinks of an eye, the entire Xiao Hai City was covered and bound by the leaves of the Blue Silver Emperor. The shattered buildings were even covered with Blue Silver Grass swaying in the wind.

For a moment, the smoke and dust in the city dissipated into nothingness.

“That guy—”

The four Titled Douluo were all trembling in their hearts, realizing this was a Spirit Ability, but a Spirit Ability of such a large scale, even they couldn't use it... How much spirit power would that consume?

But looking at that person, it seemed like there was no consumption at all.

What kind of monster was that?

Is his spirit power endless?

At the same time, Ge Long ordered men to drive the spirit tool war chariots captured from the Sun Moon Empire to the front of the army, aiming their muzzles at Xiao Hai City.

The Sun Moon Empire's spirit tool war chariots had no encryption methods, and since Tang San and Guang Ling both had research into spirit tools, they only needed two hours of study to figure out how to use them.

Although they hadn't figured out the functions of all the internal buttons, finding the driving method and the firing button was enough.

One person driving and one person controlling the muzzle was sufficient for use.

At least, in Tang San and Guang Ling's view, these two functions were in a fool-proof operation mode and did not require a high IQ to understand.

Just like various daily life spirit tools, most people don't know the principle of their operation, but after experimenting a few times, they will know how to use them, and this spirit tool war chariot was no exception.

“Damn it, they're actually using our weapons to deal with us!”

The four Titled Douluo of the Sun Moon Empire were both shocked and angry, but at this moment, they didn't know what to do.

Originally, they came to this continent as conquerors, already viewing it as part of their own Empire, as the development of spirit tools here was far behind theirs.

Who would have thought that such a monstrous Spirit Master existed on this continent, capable of single-handedly fighting tens of thousands of troops? The power of Spirit Guidance Weapons was demonstrated only once in Xiao Hai City, and then they suffered a defeat in the second conquest war, even being seized by the natives, who then aimed the cannons at them.

Damn it!

Hateful!

“That Tang San is our great enemy, he must be eliminated!” Xu Fu transmitted his voice to the four, a trace of fear showing in his eyes as he looked at Tang San, but then it turned into determination. “After I recover for a while, you all figure out a way to approach him with me, and then—”

“Self-destruct!”

“For the Emperor!”

415: Peerless Douluo: You Hongchen

The telepathic communication between Xu Fu and those four Titled Douluo was inaudible to others, but it could not escape Tang San and Gu Yuena's ears. Even Xiao Wu, relying on the fluctuations in the air and space, heard what they were saying.

It could be said that the whispered conversation among those five people was, in the ears of these three, no different from a loud conspiracy.

“Hehe, Third Brother, that guy wants to self-detonate against you.”

Xiao Wu found those guys too whimsical and couldn't help but smile.

The self-detonation of a Titled Douluo was indeed powerful, but trying to kill Tang San, who had cultivated the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure, was nothing but a fool's dream, not even at rank ninety-eight.

Moreover, whether the opponent could even get close to Tang San was an unknown.

As long as Xiao Wu's Domain of space was deployed, setting up Teleportation fluctuations around those five people would be enough to make them tread in place, unable to move any further in terms of distance.

“Self-detonating for the Emperor... If it were for a certain dream, or an ideal, or a belief, or even: love, I might think highly of them.”

Tang San raised his right pinky finger, picked his ear, and said indifferently, “But they merely intend to use self-detonation to drag me down with them, just so the Emperor can conquer this continent and remove me, this stumbling block...”

“This is too insane!”

Huo Wu chuckled twice, saying, “Hehe, they can even commit massacres, what else can’t they do?”

Massacre?

Tang San was noncommittal.

In the original work, Dugu Bo also committed a massacre, but he still felt some guilt. After all, he couldn’t retrieve those poisons himself. It was just Tang Hao’s words of persuasion afterward that were quite insane, directly saying things like “Anyway, everyone who died was from Spirit Hall.”

Undoubtedly, this was absolutely crazy.

But compared to the Sun Moon Empire’s madness, Tang Hao’s personality was only distorted due to his hatred for Spirit Hall. Such individuals were extremely rare and not a concern.

However, the Sun Moon Empire’s actions could entirely be considered a form of extremism.

One person goes crazy, one country goes crazy.

They are completely different concepts!

Buzz—

Just as Ge Long was about to order the attack, the entire sky seemed to solidify. An invisible force oppressed everyone in Heaven Dou and the New Heaven Dou Federation.

Tang San instantly unleashed his aura, pushing against this invisible force. The fierce collision stirred up rolling airwaves in the high sky, and the vast momentum left everyone dumbfounded.

“Oh?”

A young voice came.

Tang San looked up and saw a woman, whose beauty was no less than Xiao Wu’s, stepping out of the void from the seashore near Xiao Hai City. Her bare feet created ripples in the air, and she was accompanied by fifteen Titled Douluo.

“An interesting little fellow. I didn’t expect that on this continent, there would be someone capable of matching my aura at the Spirit Saint stage, and so young at that.”

“What’s your name?”

The woman’s appearance was extremely beautiful. Standing in the void, her voice was soft and lovely, like a sixteen-year-old girl, astonishing. However, not many people present dared to look directly at her.

Such an aura! Such power!

Undoubtedly, the opponent was a super Douluo!

“As an uninvited guest, shouldn’t you introduce yourself first?” Tang San’s body was surrounded by seven spirit rings—four black and three red. His aura erupted in an instant, actually shaking the opponent back three steps.

Tang San also took this opportunity to float the seven spirit rings behind him, nesting them one after another, beginning to connect them for spirit ring fusion.

“That was my fault.” A hint of wariness appeared in the woman’s eyes, but at this moment, she didn’t know what Tang San was doing, so she introduced herself, “My name is You Hongchen. I am a revered worshipper of the Sun Moon Empire, favored by His Majesty to reach this realm. I came here because I sensed that the Empire’s adventurers were in trouble, so I led a portion of people to investigate ahead of time. I never expected that our adventure team would have a conflict with you.”

“What an ‘adventure team’!” Tang San sneered. The spirit ring fusion behind him was complete, the seven spirit rings rotating around each other, ready to be activated at any moment. He was willing to waste a few more words with her. “You should know that your people massacred the citizens of Xiao Hai City, and upon arrival, they fired spirit-guided cannons, bombing the city.”

“Is this what adventurers do?”

“Then, if we go to your Sun Moon Continent in the future to kill, burn, and plunder, can we just say ‘we are an adventure team’ and it will be overlooked?”

You Hongchen also lost her good temper and said, “I’ve lived for over three hundred years, and this is the first time I’ve seen someone dare to speak so presumptuously to me. Young man, your spirit ring configuration is indeed terrifying, but you are ultimately just a Spirit Saint. I see you have some talent; why not surrender to us? You can be promoted, gain power, wealth, and beauty, whatever you wish to enjoy. How about it?”

Ge Long swallowed, worried that Tang San would agree, as this was a super Douluo’s promise, which would never be broken.

“Sorry, I seem to have all of those already.” Tang San’s expression was calm. He suddenly smiled, with a playful look, and said, “How about you surrender to me? I can also give you power, wealth, beauty, and even a chance to advance further and break through rank one hundred. How about it?”

“Dare to mock this esteemed one?” You Hongchen ordered the Titled Douluo beside her, “Take him down.”

“Yes!” X15

Fifteen Titled Douluo, plus Xu Fu and the four Titled Douluo by his side, a total of twenty, charged towards Tang San and his companions, as well as the tens of thousands of troops behind them.

If these twenty Titled Douluo were to fall into the army, it would be like tigers entering a flock of sheep. The soldiers of Heaven Dou and the New Heaven Dou Federation would be utterly powerless to resist, only to be slaughtered.

Ge Long's expression changed, and he had thoughts of retreating.

After all, Titled Douluo were not something these people could contend with. If even one entered the army, this battle wouldn't need to be fought... Titled Douluo should deal with Titled Douluo-level powerhouses!

These Sun Moon villains are indeed barbarians, completely disregarding the rules of war!

"Silverblue Earl, Hu Liena isn't here right now, how about we retreat first?" Ge Long suggested, discussing the matter.

"Indeed, we can retreat first." Ning Fengzhi proposed, "We can let Chrysanthemum Immortal and Bone Uncle temporarily block them. Once we return to Soul Sea City, you can borrow the Soul Imprint Throne from Hu Liena."

In their opinion, without the Soul Imprint Throne, no matter how strong Tang San's displayed power was, he was still only rank ninety-nine. The opponents also had one, and they had twenty Titled Douluo.

"Twenty, huh."

Tang San suddenly smiled, took a step, and in the blink of an eye, he had entered the flying space between the twenty Titled Douluo.

"What?!"

"How did he get over here?"

"Teleportation!"

At this moment, Tang San's entire body burst forth with silver-blue light. Immense energy erupted from within him, condensing into a suit of silver-blue battle armor on his body.

Martial Soul True Body Armor!

Lan Yin Emperor True Body Armor!

Vast starlight bloomed with Tang San at its center, illuminating the sky within a ten-thousand-meter radius with a boundless, spiral-shaped energy nebula.

Nineteen of the twenty Titled Douluo were instantly impacted by the unleashed starlight energy. Their flesh and blood dissolved, their souls annihilated, and even their Spirit Bones shattered into fragments, returning to the energy cycle of Douluo Star's heaven and earth.

Dazzling!

Beautiful!

And dangerous!

The one who survived was Xu Fu, but he was in no better condition. His already incomplete recovery from injuries and spirit power erupted even further at this moment.

But at this moment, no one felt pity for the death of those nineteen Titled Douluo, nor did they pay attention to the miraculously surviving Xu Fu. All eyes were fixed on the center of that star sea.

Even You Hongchen, the rank ninety-nine super Douluo, was momentarily awestruck by the immense energy, forgetting about the nineteen Titled Douluo who had died from the energy impact generated after Tang San unleashed his Martial Soul True Body Armor.

When she reacted, her beautiful face was incomparably distorted:
“Nineteen! These were all talents of the Empire! How dare you—”

Swoosh!

Before she could finish her harsh words, the vast, spiral-shaped energy nebula converged in an instant, imprinting itself within the silver-blue gem on the chest plate of Tang San's Lan Yin Emperor True Body Armor, slowly rotating.

Tang San took a step, and in an instant, he appeared before You Hongchen, punching her in the nose.

Crack!

The sound of a broken nasal bone rang out. You Hongchen flew backward, her brain nearly shutting down. She only came to her senses when she was almost a kilometer away, controlling her body to stand in mid-air.

"You hateful brat! You actually ruined my delicate little nose!"

You Hongchen was almost driven mad. No woman could accept disfigurement. More importantly, You Hongchen detected a trace of extremely violent spirit power in the crack of her nose, continuously destroying her bones and muscles, hindering her ability to repair the injury. "I will definitely kill you!"

In a fit of rage, You Hongchen disregarded the injury on her nose and flew towards Tang San...

...

"Lady You Hongchen!"

At this moment, on the battlefield, Xu Fu was horrified to see You Hongchen actually being sent flying by Tang San.

"Oh, right, I almost forgot, you lucky fellow survived."

Xiao Wu stretched her wrist and said to Huo Wu, Guang Ling, Yu Tianheng, and the others, "Third Brother was too strong just now and took care of all the other Titled Douluo. This rank ninety-eight guy, his old injuries haven't healed, and now he's severely wounded. His strength is probably only equivalent to a rank ninety-one or ninety-two Titled Douluo."

"Perfect, we can use him for some practice. What do you think?"

With Xiao Wu's strength, in full power mode, dealing with Titled Douluo above rank ninety-five was no big problem. But for Yu Tianheng, Shi Mo, Shi Mo, Oslo, Yu Feng, and the others, such an opponent was just right.

Yu Tianheng rubbed his dragon claws and said, "We can't compare to a monster like the captain, but we might actually be able to deal with this heavily wounded guy."

Yu Feng chuckled, rubbing his hands, and said, "I've never fought a Titled Douluo before."

Oslo also smiled and said, "Since you're preparing to make a move, then I, your old friend, naturally can't stand idly by. Otherwise, I'd truly become just a flag-waving fellow."

These words, in fact, included a large number of soldiers behind them.

It could be said that they had never fought such an absurd battle, nor such an easy one. It seemed as if simply being a "cheerleader" to wave flags and shout was enough...

416: The sun and moon shine in the same sky: Starry Giant

Tang San, clad in silver-blue armor, watched You Hongchen rapidly flying towards him, also stepping through the air, but he seemed to be riding the wind, like an ethereal immortal.

“Kid, you’re dead!”

You Hongchen, whose nose was caved in, gritted his teeth and threw a punch, causing waves of air to surge, creating a white vacuum channel. “Men who don’t cherish and pity women deserve to die!”

Looking at the surging airflow, Tang San stepped on it, landing on it, and with his powerful spirit power control, he stepped on it three times, executing the Nine Steps to Heaven, instantly arriving in front of You Hongchen. A large hammer appeared in his hand, and he swung it down forcefully towards You Hongchen’s head.

Buzz—

The moment the Clear Sky Hammer fell, its hammerhead suddenly expanded, exceeding seven hundred meters in diameter.

In an instant, winds rose and clouds surged.

You Hongchen felt the destructive aura and had no time to escape. He could only activate his Spirit, open his mouth wide, take a deep breath, and raise his arms to block.

In his Spirit possessed state, You Hongchen’s skin was covered with small bumps, no longer smooth as jade. His face, in particular, turned green and yellow, his lips thinned and disappeared, and the corners of his mouth extended outwards until they reached behind his ears.

Boom!

The moment his arms touched the Clear Sky Hammer, You Hongchen felt an extremely destructive force erupt from the hammerhead. His arm bones cracked instantly, and the pain spread throughout his body in a flash.

What kind of Spirit is this?

It's actually so powerful!

“Hmph!”

Tang San let out a light shout and exerted more force. The Clear Sky Hammer's hammerhead expanded again, reaching eight hundred meters in diameter.

This extra bit of force was like the last straw that broke the camel's back, causing You Hongchen's seven orifices to spurt red. He could no longer bear it and was violently smashed onto a small, uninhabited mountain about five hundred meters away from Xiao Hai City.

In an instant, that small mountain, over a hundred meters high, shattered, flattened by Tang San's single hammer strike.

Thick smoke and shattered rocks shot into the sky, forming a mushroom cloud about two hundred meters high. The violent tremor reached the vicinity of Xiao Hai City, causing the soldiers of Heaven Dou and New Heaven Dou Federation to sway, but they all struggled to stand firm. Then, a gust of wind carrying yellow sand swept over, causing most people to lose their balance and fall to the ground.

“Is this the Silverblue Earl's true strength?”

“Just one strike, and he flattened a small mountain!”

“Too powerful!”

“...”

As the soldiers were in shock, Ge Long shouted, “All troops stand up and attack! Head to Xiao Hai City and capture all the enemies restrained by Lord Silverblue Earl!”

“Yes!”

The soldiers immediately told the fallen troops to quickly get up, adjust their formations, and advance towards Xiao Hai City.

They couldn’t participate in this battle, but capturing all the Sun Moon Army in Xiao Hai City and seizing their Spirit Guidance Weapons was within their capabilities, and it was their only purpose for being here...

...

“Empire Consecrator!”

Xu Fu pushed Yu Tianheng away with a palm strike, having personally witnessed You Hongchen being smashed to the ground by Tang San’s hammer. His eyes were bloodshot, and his ninth spirit ring suddenly lit up.

“Sun Moon Shine Together, Star Radiance!”

A ball of light appeared in Xu Fu’s hands, emitting dazzling light.

That was his Spirit, Star.

This was also why the soldiers of the Sun Moon Empire called him “Star Elder.”

He held the white Star high, and powerful energy fluctuations emanated from it, pushing back Xiao Wu and the others who were attacking him by nearly two hundred meters.

“What powerful energy!” Huo Wu raised her hand, blocking the wind waves caused by the energy emanating from the opponent’s Spirit. She glanced at Tang San in the distance, knowing he couldn't make it over for a while.

“Little ones, do you need help?” Chrysanthemum Immortal stepped forward, holding a brilliant golden chrysanthemum in his right hand, and smiled charmingly at everyone.

Yu Tianheng and the others felt a chill.

If they didn't know, it would be fine, but this person in front of them was a fusion of Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo, not a real woman.

“No need.” Xiao Wu glanced at Chrysanthemum Immortal, thinking that if she could overcome her psychological barrier, this ‘Spirit Bone Armor True Body, Bipolar Human’ body would be excellent research material. But unfortunately, she found this strange gender a bit hard to accept. “This Xu Fu is indeed powerful, but for me, Xiao Wu Jie, he's still quite lacking!”

When the wind on the field subsided, Xu Fu's Spirit had already merged with his body, causing his entire being to emit dazzling light and continuously expand.

In just ten seconds, his body reached several hundred meters in height, like the legendary Tai Tan Giant. A single step caused the ground to shake.

It was just that perhaps because the energy was too dispersed, his body looked somewhat transparent and not very solid.

“So big!” Yu Feng flew with flapping wings, exclaiming as he relayed the estimated height to everyone: “About five hundred meters! It's truly unimaginable that such a Spirit Ability exists!”

“Where is his true body?” Yu Tianheng quickly retreated, shouting to Yu Feng, “Attacking other parts will definitely be useless; we must attack his true body.”

“Didn't see it!” Yu Feng flapped his wings, quickly circling the opponent with Bai Chenxiang, a bead of cold sweat seeping from his forehead—this guy seemed to be his main body!

“This is flesh and blood energy-fication.” Xiao Wu, Huo Wu, Guang Ling, and the others also retreated, using their mental force perception and understanding of the human body to describe the opponent’s situation: “His ninth Spirit Ability should be to fully integrate his Spirit with himself, transforming into an energy-form human Star. The effect should be similar to Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo’s Spirit Bone Armor True Body state, but weaker.”

Huo Wu’s eyes widened. She looked back at the nearly five-hundred-meter-tall Star Giant and gasped, “This is supposed to be weaker?”

“It is indeed weaker.” Xiao Wu responded confidently, “It’s just that his own strength has reached rank ninety-eight, so when he uses it, the power is also greater.”

Guang Ling asked, “Xiao Wu Jie, has his current state reached rank ninety-nine?”

If so, then only Chrysanthemum Immortal/Ghost Mr. could truly make a move.

Among them, only Xiao Wu Jie could contend with a peerless powerhouse, and there was also Sister Huo Wu, who could gather all her spirit power into the Sunfire Lotus skill and then hit the opponent, possibly eliminating them.

However, the latter’s ultimate move was basically area-of-effect. Besides herself, if they, as allies, didn’t dodge in time, they would also suffer relatively severe damage.

Especially since the Heaven Dou Army and New Heaven Dou Federation Army had already rushed into Xiao Hai City, and this Star Giant was so close to Xiao Hai City. Once the Sunfire Lotus erupted, the entire city would probably be affected.

“Oh no!” Beads of sweat trickled down Yu Tianheng’s forehead. “This guy is truly insane; he’s actually going to destroy his own people along with the enemy!”

“Perhaps for them, this is an honor?” Xiao Wu’s eyes narrowed. She felt that given the Sun Moon Army’s fanaticism towards that so-called Emperor, it was not surprising for them to do such a thing.

Moreover, she also noticed that after Xu Fu grew larger, his movements also slowed down considerably. She figured he knew he couldn’t eliminate them all at once, so he chose to attack Xiao Hai City instead. And if they were righteous and loyal, they would definitely stop him and actively go to him.

This was a blatant open scheme!

417: The Soft Bone Dharma Appearance Shows Its Power for the First Time

Is this guy planning something like that?” Yu Feng exclaimed, not daring to approach. He said to everyone, “How about we retreat first and avenge them later? This state of his shouldn’t last long.”

Under circumstances where one clearly knows they are outmatched, choosing to seek revenge later is a more sensible option.

It’s about preserving oneself for future endeavors.

Even if they were unwilling, for Yu Feng and the others who were powerless to stop Xu Fu, this was their only choice. Otherwise, rushing in would only lead to pointless death.

However, Xiao Wu remained unmoved. Her figure vanished in an instant, and by the time the others saw clearly, she had already leaped into the air, heading straight for the Star Giant.

All of this happened in a flash.

“Isn’t this too reckless?” Yu Tianheng turned to look at Huo Wu, only to see her face calm, as if she wasn’t at all surprised by Xiao Wu’s actions.

“Don’t worry,” Huo Wu motioned for everyone to be quiet. “She has a powerful ultimate move.”

Just as everyone was wondering, Xiao Wu’s entire body erupted with energy as vast as the ocean. Fiery vital energy soared into the sky, forming a long river that covered thousands of meters; surging spirit power permeated the air, making it seem almost solid; and vast mental force shone like starlight, intertwining with spirit power and vital energy.

This moment seemed eternal, yet also fleeting.

Vital energy constructed a massive body, spirit power spread like a net within that body, and mental force transformed into a brain, commanding everything within.

Xiao Wu's true body then merged into the forehead of the thousand-meter-tall giant, causing the massive body to seemingly gain consciousness and move.

The Star Giant was currently stepping towards Xiao Hai City, but the generals in the city, like Ge Long, were no longer panicked at this moment. Instead, they stared blankly at its back.

That towering giant was so immense and beautiful. Unlike the Star Giant's brutality, upon seeing her for the first time, people's hearts seemed to calm down instantly.

How strong was the power?

Ge Long and the others didn't know, but their flesh, spirit power, and souls seemed to tremble, resonating and harmonizing with the Soft Bone Avatar, as if that was the World's...

God.

Over the past two years, Xiao Wu had also made improvements to the Soft Bone Avatar, able to construct the body's organs with vital energy, build meridians with spirit power, and create a brain with mental force.

Although not entirely complete, the Soft Bone Avatar in this state no longer lasted only one minute as it did during its first use, but extended to three minutes.

The Soft Bone Avatar immediately made a move, pressing onto the Star Giant's head, and with a fierce pull, before it could take that step, she pulled it away from Xiao Hai City. Then, her other hand clenched into a furious fist, and a scorching fire covered it.

Bang!

A punch was thrown, creating a sonic boom cloud. The Star Giant's head slammed into the ground, sending up thousands of meters of dust and smoke that spread outwards in a radiating pattern.

Inside Xiao Hai City, Ge Long and the others felt the entire city shake, but fortunately, the Blue Silver Emperor had Bound all the broken buildings, preventing any collapse.

Outside Xiao Hai City, Huo Wu, Guang Ling, and the others immediately retreated nearly five hundred meters before they could withstand the fierce gale and resist the grayish-yellow dust.

From their perspective, the thousand-meter-tall Soft Bone Avatar facing the five-hundred-meter-tall Star Giant was like an older student bullying a younger one.

The only difference was that the younger student wouldn't howl.

Sweat dripped from Yu Feng's forehead as he swallowed, asking, "Xiao Wu... Jie's strength has reached what level? Why does she look even fiercer than the Captain?"

"This is Xiao Wu Jie's Seventh Spirit Ability: Soft Bone Avatar," Guang Ling explained. "In this state, her strength is enough to rival a level ninety-eight powerhouse. If she also uses spirit ring fusion and Martial Soul True Body, her combat power can rival a Peerless, and she can even unleash power beyond a Peerless."

Beyond Peerless?

That would be level one hundred!

Yu Tianheng was shocked. Even though he usually lived in Spirit City, most of the time he was out on missions with Dugu Yan to gain combat experience.

In his opinion, only through continuous combat could one constantly improve their strength. He never expected that Xiao Wu, who hadn't experienced many life-or-death battles, could possess such terrifying strength.

Is this what a researcher is like?

Truly terrifying!

“Vice Captain, you wouldn't happen to be able to unleash such strong power too, would you?” Yu Feng swallowed again, his scalp tingling.

“Not as powerful as her,” Huo Wu implicitly admitted, then looked at Guang Ling. “But in terms of lethality, Guang Ling Jie is the strongest among us.”

Guang Ling... Jie?

Shi Mo, Shi Mo, Yu Feng, Oslo, and the others exchanged glances.

Isn't Huo Wu older than Guang Ling?

Why call her Jie?

Yu Tianheng wasn't surprised, as he knew some things about Tang San and these four women. According to seniority, Huo Wu should be fourth, and terms like 'Jie' or 'Mei' were merely verbal and wouldn't truly cause any fuss.

Rumble!

The ground trembled again. The Star Giant was struggling to push open Xiao Wu's fist, raising its head, and getting up, roaring at Xiao Wu.

Although the Star Giant was five hundred meters shorter than Xiao Wu, its strength was indeed a solid level ninety-eight, not much different from the Soft Bone Avatar.

It was just that its body was a bit more illusory, and its spirit power quality was a bit inferior.

Facing Xiao Wu, who was nearly half a head taller than itself, the Star Giant showed no fear. Instead, it raised both arms, and a brilliant starlight gathered within them.

Seeing this, Xiao Wu didn't wait for the opponent to charge up, as whether she dodged or took the hit, the aftermath would devastate the nearby living beings.

The moment the opponent was about to launch that ball of light, the Soft Bone Avatar, as if by Teleportation, grabbed the opponent's arms and lifted them sharply upwards.

A white pillar of light shot straight into the sky, dispersing the clouds high above.

“What?!”

In that instant, the Star Giant completely failed to react, even failing to understand how the Soft Bone Avatar appeared before it.

Such a massive body, even if it controlled the power of space, should generate some airflow when moving, which it could definitely perceive. But why wasn't there any?

Naturally, it was because Xiao Wu had activated her Spatial Domain at this time.

Within this Domain, she could Teleport at will. Unless it was divine force, her trajectory could not be perceived.

“A Domain-type Spirit Ability?”

At this moment, the Star Giant also realized something and gritted its teeth, saying, “To use a Domain in this state, I absolutely don’t believe you can last long.”

He also had a Domain, but in the Star Giant state, if he were to use it, this state would directly collapse, and its consumption was simply something he, currently heavily injured, could not bear.

However, Xiao Wu’s consumption was not significant, because her Spatial Domain was connected to the Spirit Beast Illusion, which in turn was connected to the Starry Sky World.

At most, she only needed to expend spirit power to maintain the Domain.

Even if the consumption was truly immense, don’t forget that the leaves of the Blue Silver Emperor covered Xiao Hai City, and they could help her recharge at any time.

418: Energetic, need to be careful, Headless Xingtian

The Soft Bone Avatar's black hair, like a winding python, lashed out, stirring up a hundred-zhang airflow, and struck the Star Giant's neck with a “thwack,” then wrapped around its neck.

Subsequently, the Soft Bone Avatar kicked its abdomen, twisted its waist, and transferred the force to its neck, actually swinging the entire Star Giant around.

Whoosh!

When the scorpion tail braid loosened, the Star Giant had already been flung nearly five thousand meters into the air.

“Now!”

Firelight burst from Huo Wu's eyes as her second Spirit Ability, Sun Rising, and fourth Spirit Ability, Fire Sun Armor, activated simultaneously, boosting all her attributes.

Then, she raised her arms in a calyx shape, and a ring of twisted flames and light, nearly seventy meters in diameter, settled onto her hands.

Between her hands, a crimson-gold energy orb, over fifty meters in diameter, instantly condensed.

Then—

Boom!

A golden beam of light shot out, directly striking the spinning Star Giant high in the sky.

This was precisely Huo Wu's third Spirit Ability: Fire Dance Bright Sun.

Within the scorching, dazzling beam of light, the Star Giant stopped spinning, but its energy-formed “skin” seemed to be melting.

“This power...the sun?” Xu Fu felt his body about to be burned to ashes.

His gaze caught Huo Wu, clad in a crystal-red battle armor, and he gritted his teeth, “I didn’t expect that on this continent, there would also be a Spirit similar to the Sun Spirit, and it’s...so scorching, like a real sun!”

Crack!

Suddenly, a light spot cracked open on the Star Giant's forehead, and the back of its head also shattered, as an arrow shimmering with eight colors pierced through from within.

Guang Ling slowly lowered the Sun Chasing Bow, exhaling, “Fusing eight elements—gold, light, thunder, ice, fire, wind, earth, and darkness—into an arrow really consumes a lot of spirit power.”

Although Guang Ling's main profession was researching spirit tools, he had not neglected his own cultivation.

On the contrary, his research into the combination of basic spirit tool attributes and spirit tool patterns led to a broader understanding, giving him a significant concept for the fusion of his own spirit power attributes.

In some aspects, even Gu Yuena had to learn from him—it was true that Gu Yuena controlled elements, but in terms of detail, she was very rough.

The only praiseworthy thing was her meticulous control over elements; with the corresponding element combination formulas, she could learn them instantly.

This arrow, formed by the fusion of eight elements, was the most powerful one Guang Ling could currently unleash.

It used gold, earth, and ice as basic attributes to create the arrow, and then thunder, fire, wind, light, and darkness as energy to propel the arrow forward.

Its speed was so great that it even approached one-twentieth the speed of light!

Therefore, no one could clearly see this attack; even Tang San could only vaguely catch a glimpse of a shadow.

To dodge, one could only predict the direction Guang Ling would shoot the arrow in advance; otherwise, one could only wait to be pierced by this arrow of eight fused elements.

After the Star Giant's forehead was pierced, the elemental power within the arrow instantly injected into it, erupting in a flash.

In an instant, the Star Giant's entire head was covered in cracks, with firelight emerging from within, mixed with blue lightning, and even invisible wind blades appearing from it.

Bang!

In less than three seconds, the entire head shattered.

However, the Star Giant, whose head had shattered, did not die.

Its breasts transformed into eyes, and the swirling navel in its abdomen became a mouth.

This was because Xu Fu at this time was in an energy-formed state; there was no actual brain in his head, and his consciousness was dispersed throughout his entire body.

With no head, he used his breasts as eyes and his navel as a mouth.

However, with his head shattered, Xu Fu also lost a part of his memory.

At this moment, he had forgotten who he was, why he was standing in mid-air, and what he was supposed to do.

“What the hell is this?” Yu Feng’s eyes widened.

“He’s still alive without a head, and he has eyes and a mouth on his chest.

Is this still a human?”

Guang Ling observed the headless Star Giant standing in mid-air, whose body was continuously shrinking, and slowly said, “He is indeed not human now, at least from the perspective of bloodline factors.

He is an energy-formed Life... It seems he forgot some memories because I shattered his head.”

“But there’s no need to worry too much; his head is already shattered, and energy is leaking, so he can’t live much longer.”

As the Star Giant’s body grew smaller and smaller, it also rapidly fell.

Thud!

When it hit the ground, its height had already shrunk to three or four meters, taller than the original Xu Fu, but its flesh was shriveled, with two large eyeballs growing on its chest, and where its navel used to be, there was a large mouth, while its head had disappeared, making it an extremely bizarre creature.

More importantly, this thing was still alive!

Xiao Wu had already dismissed her Soft Bone Avatar at this time, and her exhaustion was rapidly recovering with the replenishment from the Blue Silver Emperor.

She rushed to the headless Xu Fu's side.

Yu Tianheng and the others also gathered around, as they sensed that this guy's spirit power fluctuations were continuously weakening, from being as vast as the ocean to being like a drop of rain, like a deflated ball, no longer a threat.

“Huh? He's not dead?” Xiao Wu observed that the opponent's neck had already healed, though it was uneven, but various circulations within his body had restarted, preserving his Life, just at a lower efficiency.

Probing with her mental force, Xiao Wu showed a look of astonishment—

This guy's brain had actually fused with his intestines!

In an energy-formed state, when the head was shattered and then returned to normal, the brain had nowhere to be placed, so it fused and reorganized with the intestines, an organ with many folds similar to the brain, forming a brand new brain.

So, what should he be called?

Brain-intestine?

Or intestine-brain?

Despite being very curious about this Life form, Xiao Wu also realized one thing: when using a move that can energize oneself, one must consider all aspects.

Otherwise, just like this Xu Fu, without a head, his brain fused with his intestines.

And Chrysanthemum Immortal/Ghost Mr., who allowed their physical bodies to also energize along with their Spirit, performing Martial Soul Fusion in the Spirit Bone Armor True Body state, causing them to be inseparable.

“What should we do with this guy?” Huo Wu looked at Xiao Wu.

“He’s a good research subject, let’s keep him for now.” Xiao Wu had Gu Yuena put him into the Golden Rope Treasure Bag.

After all, among those present, only Gu Yuena carried a storage soul tool that could store living beings.

Gu Yuena had no choice but to put this headless Xingtian into the Golden Rope Treasure Bag.

Subsequently, Xiao Wu’s gaze fell on the distant battlefield of Tang San and You Hongchen, and she said to Yu Feng and Bai Chenxiang, “That peerless individual has arrived, which means the Sun Moon Empire’s new batch of troops is not far from Xiao Hai City.

Go inform Marshal Ge Long to hurry up and retreat to Soul Sea Pass with the captives and spoils of war first.”

419: Tang San who doesn't talk about martial arts

“Cough!”

Amidst the shattered peaks, smoke filled the air.

You Hongchen coughed and slowly climbed out of the rubble, most of her clothes torn, but not revealing her fair skin.

In her Martial Soul Avatar state, her skin was covered with yellowish-green bumps, dense and unsettling.

Clearly, You Hongchen's condition was similar to that of Bibi Dong in the past.

Under normal circumstances, she would not use Martial Soul Avatar, after all—

It was too ugly.

No woman would want her state after Martial Soul Avatar to resemble a demon or a ghost.

“Such power has already surpassed the Peerless!” You Hongchen gasped twice, her heart pounding.

She looked up at Tang San, who was standing in mid-air, carrying a black hammer, a trace of cold sweat seeping from her forehead.

“That blow just now has already caused my entire body's bones to vibrate and my internal organs to shift.

If my entire body's Soul Bones were not all over fifty thousand years old, I would probably have been severely injured, or even killed.”

“But even so, I can't withstand a few more moves.

The destructive energy contained in that hammer is still rampaging through my body, destroying my flesh, Soul Power, and even affecting my Spiritual Power.”

“The opponent has two Martial Souls, one similar to Blue Silver Grass, and the other is the hammer, which should be the Clear Sky Hammer.

He mainly cultivates Blue Silver Grass, and the Clear Sky Hammer has not yet been attached with Soul Rings, four black and three red... Could it be the Soul Master who has accepted the God Realm assessment that Your Majesty mentioned?”

Now, You Hongchen suspects that Tang San was able to unleash such strong power by relying on the God Realm's assessment, and that the energy constantly eroding her body was the power of a certain god.

This would explain why she couldn't even withstand one of his moves.

Even if she reached level ninety-nine, how could she contend with the power of a god?

Only a god can fight a god!

The only person who can deal with this guy is His Majesty of the Sun Moon Empire...

Tang San stepped through the air and came to You Hongchen, slowly raising the Clear Sky Hammer, and asked indifferently: “Do you have any last words?”

In any case, You Hongchen had reached level ninety-nine, reaching the peak that a Soul Master could reach.

Breaking through again would be a level hundred god.

It was necessary to respect her by letting her say her last words.

“Hehe.”

You Hongchen sneered twice, about to mock something to delay time... After all, as a Peerless, the other party would never kill her immediately.

In the worst case, she would be captured, so...

However, Tang San did not play by the rules and smashed the hammer on her head, causing blood to flow from her seven orifices, and she fell straight backward.

The reason Tang San asked that question just now was also to relax the other party's vigilance.

How could You Hongchen, whose body was being eroded by the power of Destruction, her Qi and blood fluctuating, her Soul Power in turmoil, and her Spirit unstable, withstand Tang San's sudden blow?

“As a Soul Master, you should be given due respect, but you are no more noble than those civilians who were killed by your Sun Moon Army.” Tang San retracted the Clear Sky Hammer, looked at You Hongchen, whose head had a large dent and whose vitality was gradually dissipating, waved his hand, and put the still-warm corpse into the Silver Rope Treasure Bag, and hurried towards Xiao Hai City.

The movement over there just now seemed to be quite big...

...

“How is it? Was Xu Fu dealt with?” Tang San asked Xiao Wu after arriving outside Xiao Hai City.

“It's settled, but he had some problems...” Xiao Wu smiled triumphantly, and then explained how Xu Fu finally used his nipples as eyes and his navel as a mouth, “Third Brother, what do you think?

I think it's a drawback of the energization of the flesh.

At least, for most Soul Masters, before reaching level hundred, energizing their own flesh is not a good choice.

Whether it's a Soul Skill or a Soul Bone Skill, once an error occurs after energization, the consequences are quite serious.”

Tang San also had some guesses about this.

However, Soul Ring skills and Soul Bone skills are relatively stable.

Under normal circumstances, situations similar to Xu Fu's would not occur.

It is highly likely that Xu Fu, after using his ninth Soul Skill, planned to go all out and burned everything he had, and his soul was completely fused with the energized body.

Under the stimulation of Guang Ling's arrow that fused eight elements, the Soul Skill failed, and the energized body began to instinctively revert to a flesh and blood body.

It was just because he lost his energized head, and his memory was also partially lost, which led to a part of the brain being placed in the more wrinkled stomach after being transformed into a human form again, and fused with it.

Speaking of which, isn't this Xingtian?

Also, doesn't this count as shit entering the brain?

Thinking of this, Tang San became curious about the state of the headless Xu Fu, and planned to dissect this “Xingtian” with Xiao Wu after this incident to see how this thing made his body move.

“Energization does need to be vigilant.” Tang San replied, “But now is not the time to study this.

Where are Marshal Ge Long and the others?”

“They entered the city and launched a campaign to capture prisoners and scavenge spoils of war from the Sun Moon Empire Army.” Xiao Wu also looked at Xiao Hai City, “I have already asked Yu Feng and the others to call them.”

“My Spiritual Power can sense that a giant ship with a size of over five hundred meters is sailing towards this side from the sea.

It is estimated that it will arrive in about four days.” Tang San informed Xiao Wu and the others of the situation, “You Hongchen and those Title Douluo she brought with her probably came a few days in advance to clear obstacles for that big shot.”

“Big shot?” Xiao Wu's Spiritual Power was also good, but she could only barely sense the existence of the giant ship, and she was not clear about the personnel on it.

“It should be the so-called Sun Moon Emperor.” Tang San's eyes narrowed slightly, “In terms of Soul Power, he should only be at the Soul Douluo level, but he has some kind of treasure that even my Primordial spirit power cannot detect clearly.

Perhaps he is holding a treasure that surpasses ordinary Divine Artifacts, which can greatly enhance his own strength.”

Tang San was not sure how powerful the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, the Creator God's seat, could be, but it could definitely kill some weaker god officials, or third-level gods.

That Sun Moon Emperor is a great enemy!

“Super Divine Artifact!”

Gu Yuena also realized something at this time, thought of this term, and a strong light flashed in her eyes, “Then, is it possible to seize it?”

“There is a probability that it can be done.”

Iliex once affirmed that the owner of the Eternal and Creation Throne has only ever been one, and that is the Creator God.

Everyone else only has the right to use it, but not the right to dominate it.

Therefore, Tang San also had some ideas about this throne.

It's just that Austin Griffin is very disgusted with that aura, and even wants to destroy the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, after all, it is because of His existence that he has fallen to the point where he needs to be constantly reborn...

420: Liberate the decadent and backward Douluo natives

Marshal Ge Long led the army, capturing all nearly 30,000 Sun Moon Army soldiers. The 10,000 soldiers who had been captured before were a bit bewildered at this moment.

They had just returned, and now they were captured again?

However, besides being bewildered, they were also indignant.

They had witnessed Tang San's almost world-overturing hammer strike earlier. The Empire's Enshrinement had fallen silent after that blow, and Star Elder, who had transformed into a Star Giant, was also restrained by an enemy female general. He was first struck by a scorching golden beam of light, and then his head suddenly shattered, falling to the ground... presumably, he was also gone.

At this moment, all the Sun Moon captives hung their heads, disheartened, like roosters plucked of their feathers, waiting to be slaughtered, without a trace of their former spirit.

As for the civilian corpses that had been piled into a Jingguan within Xiao Hai City, they were collected, burned, and then buried in a large pit dug in the mountains near Xiao Hai City, considered to be at peace in the earth...

"Haha! Silverblue Earl adult's divine might!" Marshal Ge Long, seeing Tang San and the others approach, immediately went up to him and laughed, "In this battle, you are undoubtedly the greatest contributor!"

"This matter can be discussed later. Let's return to Soul Sea City first. Within four days, the Sun Moon Empire's giant ship will arrive, and there is one person on it whom I might not be able to deal with," Tang San said with a slightly solemn expression. "The opponent might be able to unleash level 100 strength. We need to plan carefully. I need to consult with Supreme Pontiff adult."

The Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, how much it can boost the user's strength, is unknown.

In this situation, inviting Bibi Dong over was the best choice.

In the past, the difference between level 99 super Douluo might not have been that great. The key to victory or defeat lay in whether the battleground could provide a certain degree of amplification to one's strength.

For example: Tang Chen, Qian Daoliu, and Bo Saixi had competed against each other, earning the titles of Unrivaled on Land, Unrivaled in the Sky, and Unrivaled in the Sea, respectively.

But now, there is also a gap between the super Douluo.

For example, Tang San, in the state of Lan Yin Emperor True Body Armor, his spirit power fluctuation was comparable to a level 99 Titled Douluo, but You Hongchen, a righteous super Douluo, couldn't withstand a single move from him.

Why?

His physical body was powerful, his spirit power was pure, his mental force was formidable, and he even controlled energies with attributes such as Life, Creation, Destruction, and death. Not to mention, with the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset constantly resonating, transforming, and circulating, Tang San himself was a nascent universe.

How could a mere fellow whose spirit power only reached level 99 be his opponent?

And Bibi Dong had also been continuously conditioning her Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset for the past two years, and the雏形 of her physical body universe had also been largely established.

In addition, her own spirit power had reached level 99, and her hard strength was not inferior to Tang San's.

Therefore, in Tang San's opinion, as long as Bibi Dong came over and joined forces with him, suppressing the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne was not impossible.

Even if they were not a match, that god seal throne would inevitably unleash even stronger power, energy that could be sensed by the gods of the God Realm...

Gods are not suitable to interfere, but if he and the others couldn't defeat that Sun Moon Emperor, and the other party insisted on invading this continent, then letting the God Realm notice what was happening below, and then having the enforcers come down to deal with it, was not impossible.

After all, the Creator God of another plane dared to come to the territory governed by their God Realm to act presumptuously, and only a wisp of divine sense and a super spirit tool remained.

Oh ho!

Isn't this like throwing meat buns to dogs, a one-way trip?

Tang San did not believe that the God Kings would be indifferent if they noticed the emergence of a super spirit tool left behind by the Creator God of another plane in the lower realm. As God Kings, no matter what their personality, the pursuit of stronger strength would never change.

As for whether the five God Kings could win?

No matter how strong the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne was, at most it only contained a wisp of the Creator God's divine sense.

And the Good, Evil, Asura, Life, and Destruction of the God Realm were all God King-level existences. If the five of them combined their strength, the power they would unleash would certainly be second only to the Creator God in his prime.

"Level 100! Oh my goodness!" The smile on Ge Long's face disappeared, replaced by panic. He couldn't imagine that there was a god on the Sun Moon Empire's side.

No wonder the Sun Moon Continent was unified.

Tang San shook his head, looked at the sea outside Xiao Hai City, and slowly said, "Not a god, just capable of unleashing god-level power."

Is there a difference?

For Ge Long, a god and god-level power were the same thing, far from what human strength could overcome.

What he didn't understand was why the times were changing so fast?

The army, in front of powerful Spirit Masters, seemed to have no effect at all... No wonder Titled Douluo rarely made a move. It turned out their destructive power was too strong!

"Marshal Ge Long, there's no need to panic. Let's return to Soul Sea Pass first," Tang San soothed Ge Long's emotions. "When soldiers come, generals block; when water comes, earth covers. Just do your part, and that's enough."

"You're right," Ge Long calmed down. Even if the sky fell, the tall ones would hold it up first. As a short Spirit Douluo, he might as well not worry.

After returning to Soul Sea Pass, the spirit power of all the Sun Moon Army captives was sealed.

However, there weren't enough prison cells in the city to hold them, so Ge Long gave an order, arranging for soldiers to have these captives dig a trench approximately twenty meters wide and ten meters deep outside Soul Sea City, and then pushed all the Sun Moon Army captives into it.

This scared the Sun Moon Army captives, making them think Ge Long intended to bury them alive.

They were not afraid of death and were willing to sacrifice everything for the Sun Moon Emperor, but definitely not in such a way!

Many Sun Moon Army soldiers surrendered.

Among these people, some were more clear-headed, already feeling that this was an unjust war, a massacre rather than enlightenment...

Ge Long was not interested in these matters. Having them dig such a deep trench was merely to set up a temporary prison, preventing the Sun Moon Army captives from escaping while also making it convenient for their own people to guard them.

But Tang San called some of them over and questioned them about matters concerning the Sun Moon Empire, and they answered everything that wasn't a secret.

Everyone also learned some intelligence about the Sun Moon Empire, and Tang San further realized a crucial point about the Sun Moon Empire launching this war: it was to divert internal conflicts.

The unification of the Sun Moon Continent had taken the Sun Moon Empire nearly a thousand years of effort, until Emperor Xu Huang of this generation emerged. Relying on a treasure shaped like a god seal throne, he subdued the powerhouses of various families, Sects, and Empires, thereby forcefully unifying the continent.

Spirit Masters speak with strength.

This was also the case on the Sun Moon Continent.

After unification, Xu Huang issued an order to vigorously develop spirit tools, and the entire Sun Moon Empire was flourishing. However, the nascent capitalism was something he could not suppress.

Even with the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, possessing unrivaled strength on that continent, he ultimately could not control the selfish desires within people's hearts.

Without external enemies, internal profit distribution and disputes became particularly conspicuous.

For this reason, they could only first find a way to divert the conflicts, which meant setting their sights on the vast ocean. However, the research efforts for spirit tools were insufficient, and the sea contained countless sea Spirit Beasts, making travel difficult.

But who knew that Xu Xing, that unlucky fellow, would pilot the Haohai Sky Ark and find the Sun Moon Continent?

Now.

A safe navigation route was available—Xu Xing's navigation records.

The research direction for spirit tool ships was also available—obtained from studying the Haohai Sky Ark.

With Xu Huang's command, the entire Empire naturally sharpened its swords towards Douluo, hoping to obtain more resources from this land, and carrying the great ideal of "liberating the corrupt and backward Douluo natives"...

421: Prisoners cannot be killed directly, they must be tried

“Corrupt and backward Douluo natives?”

Yu Tianheng chuckled coldly upon hearing this person speak, “How advanced and civilized are you? Destroying a city with Spirit Guide bombs and massacring most of its residents—is that your civilization?”

The person’s face flushed, and he shook his head, saying, “I don’t agree with it, but the orders from above were such that we couldn’t resist. As soldiers, obeying orders is our duty.”

Yu Tianheng was about to mock him further but was stopped by Tang San, who raised a hand and said, “What you said makes sense, but most of your companions might not think the same way as you.”

The person lowered his head, silent, not knowing what to say. After a while, he finally said, “If I have the chance to return to my hometown, I will persuade my compatriots that this unjust war of aggression should not happen.”

“Go back? Do you think you have a chance?” Tang San’s tone was calm, without a hint of mockery, yet the person opened his mouth but couldn’t utter a single word.

Yes!

At this point, how could he go back?

Just being alive was already a blessing.

“What is your name?” Seeing the other party silent, his eyes seemingly devoid of hope, Tang San asked indifferently.

“Liu Ziqiang.”

The other party spoke, stating his name.

“Then, Liu Ziqiang from the Sun Moon Empire, are you willing to record all the crimes your compatriots committed against the residents of Xiao Hai City?” Tang San took out a notebook and a pen, handing them over. “Since you believe your Sun Moon Army was wrong, then prove it with your actions. Write down what the Sun Moon Army did, without exaggeration or concealment, just the facts.”

Liu Ziqiang tremblingly took the notebook and pen.

If he described it, he would likely become a sinner of the Sun Moon Empire.

If he didn’t write, he would likely return to the trenches and stay with the other captives.

“I want to ask one thing: what will you do with the captives?” Liu Ziqiang took a deep breath, steeling himself, and looked directly into Tang San’s eyes.

“We will not slaughter them as you did, otherwise, we would be no different from you.” Tang San gave a firm reply, causing the heavy stone pressing on Liu Ziqiang’s heart to fall.

“But—”

Liu Ziqiang became nervous again.

“They will face judgment. How many buildings were destroyed, how much grain was plundered, how many innocent people were killed—all must be accounted for, at least roughly, and then individual responsibilities determined.”

“Even if someone did nothing, simply stepping onto this land for aggression is a crime in itself.”

Liu Ziqiang wanted to plead but was powerless to refute, only able to say, “I will try to describe it as objectively as possible.”

After he left under the watchful eyes of two soldiers, Yu Tianheng asked, “Captain, why do this? Even if we just killed all those captives to avenge the civilians who died in Xiao Hai City, wouldn’t that be fine? People on the Douluo Continent wouldn’t find it cruel; instead, they’d applaud.”

“And then?” Tang San asked.

“Uh...” Yu Tianheng was stunned, tentatively saying, “Then, everyone lives happily ever after?”

“Idiot!” Dugu Yan slapped his head. “It’s definitely to deal with that Sun Moon Emperor, Xu Huang, who can unleash level 100 power.”

“No matter how you look at it, there are thirty thousand captives here. How could the other side just abandon them? Even if he is powerful, he alone cannot occupy and manage the entire Douluo Continent.”

“Even if there are people on our continent willing to be ‘continental traitors,’ he would surely trust the people from his own continent more.”

“Priorities differ.”

“These captives are definitely bargaining chips for negotiations.”

Yu Tianheng suddenly understood: “So that’s it. As expected of the Captain, thinking so far ahead.”

Although the statements of this pair of “Sleeping Dragons and Phoenix Chicks” had some truth, these thirty thousand captives were truly not bargaining chips.

The judgment was for fairness, to publicly show the entire continent what crimes these people committed, without exaggeration, sticking to the facts.

Secondly, it was for the future.

Killing them all would certainly be satisfying, but it would truly mean an endless conflict with the entire Sun Moon Empire. If they were to fight all the way to the Sun Moon Continent in the future, it would be impossible to kill all the Sun Moon people, right?

People are precious...

The value of being alive is greater than being dead.

As for why You Hongchen was hammered to death, and why so many Titled Douluo were killed, Tang San could only say that the situation at the time did not allow it. Their strength was too great, and their beliefs were difficult to change. If they were not killed, they would cause devastating harm to the Heaven Dou Army and the New Heaven Dou Federation Army. After all, they were not guardians of Divinities or anything similar, unlike Qian Daoliu or Bo Saixi who stayed out of worldly affairs. Those who engaged in aggression under the guise of “conquest” and “enlightenment” would instead use their strength to attack ordinary armies and had to be eliminated first...

...

“Supreme Pontiff, are you there?”

Outside the Supreme Pontiff Palace, a Blue Silver Emperor trembled, and a phantom figure slowly emerged. Under the infusion of heaven and earth energy, it gradually solidified, transforming into Tang San.

Through the Blue Silver Emperor, Tang San could manifest an energy clone similar to a thought-body using his mental force, and could move freely within the range covered by the Blue Silver Emperor’s roots.

Seeing no one respond, the thought-body Tang San walked into the Supreme Pontiff Palace, searched every room, and finally found Bibi Dong bathing in an artificial hot spring behind the palace.

This was truly—

Leisurely.

“Does it look good?” Bibi Dong saw the thought-body Tang San staring at her unblinkingly, her face as cold as frost, but deep down, she wasn’t particularly repulsed, even hoping that the Tang San before her wasn’t a thought-body.

“It looks very good.” The thought-body Tang San subconsciously nodded, then reacted, explaining the battle situation, saying, “The peerless expert, the level ninety-eight expert, and all twenty-four Titled Douluo of the Sun Moon Empire have all been killed...”

Bibi Dong, relying on her powerful mental force, had already sensed the situation on the battlefield and naturally knew the battle situation at Xiao Hai City perfectly clear.

However, even she hadn't expected that the Sun Moon Empire controlled so many Titled Douluo. If not for Tang San, her strength would not have been able to improve to its current level, and facing that peerless expert from the Sun Moon Empire, she would probably have to fight a protracted battle.

As for Qian Daoliu?

He only cared whether his granddaughter could become a Divinity. Perhaps he would even use this opportunity to have Qian Renxue return to Spirit Hall, complete the Angel God's assessment, and then unify the continent with divine force.

However, one thing surprised Bibi Dong: Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo, after fusing in their Spirit Bone Armor True Body state, actually couldn’t separate...

“...In addition, the Sun Moon Emperor is personally coming, and he possesses a super-powerful divine tool whose specific situation even my primordial spirit cannot detect...”

Hearing these pieces of news, Bibi Dong frowned and said, “An emperor of an Empire, not staying in his own country, but instead traveling thousands of miles across the ocean to come here... Is he no longer managing the Empire? Or is he like Xue Beng from the New Heaven Dou Federation, a puppet emperor?”

Taking the Douluo Continent as an example, no emperor of an Empire, except for a tyrannical one, was ever idle.

Or, like Xue Beng, all real power rested with the various small nations, and he was merely a representative put forward.

But was the Sun Moon Emperor like that?

“Probably, possibly, maybe, or, should...”

“Speak.”

Bibi Dong interrupted Tang San’s thought-body, glaring at him.

“I estimate that as emperor, he lets his subordinates handle everything, including government affairs, while he only needs to be the strongest to suppress all dissent. When a person possesses the power to suppress everything in the world, they can naturally hand over all matters to others. He himself just needs to offer suggestions. As for whether these suggestions are successful, suitable, or whether the Empire’s development is as it appears on the surface, that’s another matter.”

The thought-body Tang San stated his conjecture, “The mode of governance should be similar to how Spirit Hall is currently developing, only their scale is larger, and the wealth disparity across their continent is roughly comparable to ours... As for Xu Huang, well—he’s similar to me, but he’s probably more autocratic and doesn’t like others telling him what to do, so he became emperor himself.”

Bibi Dong was silent for a moment, then slowly rose from the pool. In front of Tang San, she slowly wiped the water droplets from her body and put on her clothes. Then she suddenly asked, “So, you like people telling you what to do?”

“No one likes it, but if I don’t hear it, I won’t care. After all, I’m not some perfect person. Furthermore, I just respect women more, as well as everyone’s ideas. If I think it’s suitable, I’ll adopt it.” The thought-body Tang San replied unhurriedly, without looking away, after Bibi Dong had changed her clothes.

“I don’t see that at all.” Bibi Dong showed a hint of exasperation, then said, “I will constantly monitor Xiao Hai City and Soul Sea Pass. If that person truly unleashes divine force and can do so without attracting the God Realm’s attention, then I will go there and, with you, seize that item that surpasses ordinary divine tools.”

“If we are no match, then as you said, we will use an attack exceeding the divine level, whether it’s him or us, to collectively attract the God Realm’s attention.”

“If we can’t deal with it, let the Divinities deal with it... By the way, are you sure that divine tool wasn’t left on that Sun Moon Continent by a certain Divinity from the God Realm?”

If that divine tool was part of a Divinity’s trial left by a certain Divinity in the God Realm, then even attracting the God Realm’s attention would be useless; they wouldn’t care.

After all, Xu Huang himself had not reached level 100.

“No.” The thought-body Tang San said with certainty, “At that time, I hope Supreme Pontiff won’t be surprised. The appearance of his divine tool might be similar to the Soul Imprint Throne.”

“Is that so?”

Bibi Dong glanced at him, knowing Tang San had secrets, but she didn’t intend to probe too much, as she hadn’t told Tang San her own secrets either.

Moreover, everyone has privacy and needs mutual respect.

“Then, if that divine tool similar to the Soul Imprint Throne is seized by us, who should it be given to?”

“Whoever can use it, gets it.” Tang San’s answer was very objective. After all, divine tools are not something anyone can just use; they require the divine tool’s recognition.

What’s more, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne is a super divine tool. If the attributes don’t match, it will immediately be “rejected at the door,” not even granting the qualification to be tested.

422: Moonlight Elf: Luo Qiu

"Recently, I feel uneasy."

Xu Huang walked to the deck, looked at the distant land, and said to a beautiful woman beside him, "You Hongchen took fifteen Title Douluo to Douluo Continent in advance to reorganize the soldiers. Will there be any trouble?"

The woman was also a Title Douluo, with her soul power reaching level ninety-eight. She was also one of Xu Huang's favorite concubines, and she accompanied him on this expedition to Douluo Continent.

However, the female Title Douluo's ears looked a little pointed, not like a human being. Moreover, judging from her temperament, she had not yet had any intimate contact with Xu Huang—

"Your Majesty is overthinking. With You Hongchen's strength, he is unparalleled in this era. Even if there are level ninety-nine experts on that Douluo Continent, it will at most be a tie."

"Luo Qiu is right."

Xu Huang smiled and realized that he was overthinking. After all, You Hongchen was at level ninety-nine, and his entire body was covered with soul bones, all of which were over fifty thousand years old. How could he lose to the Peerless Douluo on Douluo Continent?

Qian Daoliu's battle record in the original work was only against Tang Chen and Posey, earning him the reputation of "Invincible in the Sky." After that, there were no more records of him taking action, so let's not mention him for now.

But what advantage did Bibi Dong's twin Martial Soul give her?

It just meant that after reaching Title Douluo, another Martial Soul could add nine more Soul Rings, thereby accumulating soul power faster and reducing cultivation time.

With the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, he could allow people to enter the Eternal Domain within, where they could use high-quality energy to cultivate quickly, thereby improving their strength faster.

Unfortunately, as the owner of the throne, he himself was forbidden from using the Eternal Domain for cultivation.

Reason?

The owner of the Creator God's throne, even if they only have the right to use it, should break through through their own efforts, rather than sit back and enjoy the benefits.

Therefore, Xu Huang's current cultivation level is only level eighty-two, but because he has the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, he already possesses the divine position of the Creator God. The quality of his soul power is far higher than that of ordinary Soul Master. Without the help of the throne, his own strength can already be compared with Title Douluo at level ninety-five to ninety-six.

Thinking of this, Xu Huang couldn't help but move closer to Luo Qiu.

"Your Majesty, don't forget your agreement with me. If you find a suitable place to live on Douluo Continent, you must let me bring my clansmen out." Luo Qiu smiled, but moved away a step without showing any signs, "Only then will I truly become husband and wife with Your Majesty."

"Of course."

Xu Huang was not embarrassed either. He was used to this kind of situation.

Luo Qiu was not human, but a Moonlight Elf.

Within the Eternal and Creation Throne, there was an Eternal Domain, which was a real plane. The Moonlight Elf were one of the races living in the Easton area within it.

Originally, there was a Moon Night Queen among the Moonlight Elf, but unfortunately, she failed in her attempt to scheme against a candidate for the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne [Dragon Hao Chen], and even her body was taken over and reborn by his Light Elemental Elf, Ya Ting... This made the life of the Moonlight Elf Clan in the Easton area even more difficult.

Luo Qiu was the Moon Night Queen after the previous one was taken over. When Xu Huang accepted the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne's assessment, she chose to help sincerely instead of causing trouble. In the end, she left the Eternal Domain space with him.

The reason was simple.

Luo Qiu had already realized that although the Eternal Domain was good, as long as the Easton King, Eternal Angel, Sacred Dragon, and that Eternal Lord did not disappear, their Moonlight Elf Clan would never truly become the masters there.

Countless years had already made the Moonlight Elf Clan want to break away from the Eternal Domain.

After all, how could the eternal light of Creation tolerate the naturally dark moon night? Their race was basically consumables used to test the temporary users of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne!

Therefore, Luo Qiu, the Moon Night Queen of this generation, reached a deal with Xu Huang, hoping that he would help the Moonlight Elf Clan find a suitable place for them to live in exchange for her and the entire Moonlight Elf Clan's loyalty.

As an Elf, the place to live needs to have a strong natural aura; but the naturally dark attribute means that they don't like to stay in places with strong light for a long time.

There were also many forests on the Sun Moon Continent, but Luo Qiu had investigated them one by one and found that most of them were not very suitable.

Among the Evil Demons, there was an area that was suitable, but it was occupied by an Evil Eye Tyrant Overlord whose cultivation had reached eight hundred thousand years. Although the way it used energy was not clever, it had a lot of it. Moreover, Luo Qiu's strength in this Douluo World was only level ninety-eight... After the death of the previous Moon Night Queen, the strength of the Moonlight Elf lineage was greatly reduced, so she could not obtain the inheritance of the previous queen, and her strength was naturally not strong.

With divine strength, she could unleash it with all her strength, but Luo Qiu also sensed the existence of the God Realm and realized that this World was just a mortal star under the jurisdiction of the God Realm.

She was not in the Eternal Domain now. The aura of the Creator God would not help her hide her divine power. If she unleashed power beyond the mortal level, causing the God Realm to send gods down, then she would be finished.

According to the records of the Moonlight Elf Clan, the Eternal and Creation Throne had wandered through various planes. When encountering planes with a God Realm, it would basically try its best to hide its existence until it completed the mission issued by the will of the universe, then it would explode its power, break through space, and leave the plane with the existence of the God Realm.

The last plane that the throne had stayed in was a more peculiar one. There was no God Realm. After mortals broke through to the divine level, they could only live for a hundred years, then they would be elementalized, energized, and integrated into the entire plane.

Therefore, even if the existence of that plane was strong, most of them would not choose to take the step of becoming a god.

But this World was different. To become a god, there was no need to return everything to the heaven and earth that nurtured him to grow. Instead, he could go to the God Realm and become one of the gods in charge of the law.

Moreover, there were also gods of darkness and destruction in that God Realm.

This was also one of the reasons why Luo Qiu chose to come out with Xu Huang.

In addition to wanting to get rid of the constraints of the Eternal and Creation Throne, it was also for a better future. As long as she could condense a divine position of darkness, she could become a god.

The power of faith was not lacking in the Moonlight clan. As long as their own race grew stronger...

As the giant ship approached, Xu Huang also saw the appearance of Xiao Hai City. However, unlike the information previously transmitted, the entire city was entangled by things like Blue Silver Grass. Not only did Title Douluo and You Hongchen not come out to greet him, but not even a member of the Sun Moon Army was there.

"What's going on?"

Xu Huang clenched his fists, "Why did it become like this? Could it be that a Peerless and more than twenty Title Douluo cannot take down a city on Douluo Continent?"

Luo Qiu looked at the leaves of the Blue Silver Emperor and sensed an extremely rich natural aura. A look of intoxication could not help but appear on her face...

423: The Origin of Star Crown Martial Spirit

At the same time.

At the Soul Sea City pass, Zhuqing was discussing with Tang San, Ge Long, and others how to deal with the Star Crown Sect and its members.

Among the Sun Moon Army prisoners, there were naturally members of the Star Crown Sect, including Xu Xing.

Initially, Tang San handed these individuals over to Zhuqing, reasoning that since they were from the Star Luo Empire, it would be best for their "homelanders" to handle them.

However, after three days of deliberation, Zhuqing concluded that the Star Crown Sect members had committed the "treason of the continent" by guiding people from another continent to occupy this land. Therefore, everyone on the continent had the right to judge them, not just the Star Luo Empire.

Xue Beng was the first to agree, as he needed an opportunity to display his authority: "The Star Luo Female Commander is right. The Star Crown Sect has sinned against the entire continent, not just one nation. They should be judged collectively."

"Now, with our Three Great Empires: Heaven Dou, New Heaven Dou Federation, and Star Luo, and one Hall: Spirit Hall, gathered together, it's the perfect time to conduct a joint trial and broadcast it live across the continent via Spirit tools, showcasing justice."

"What do you all think?"

Ge Long snorted, disdainful of Xue Beng, but still nodded. After all, Xiao Hai City was within Heaven Dou territory, and if these "continental traitors" from the Star Crown Sect were taken back to the Star Luo Empire, it would be a loss of face for the Empire.

Tang San tacitly agreed to this, as he wasn't particularly interested in such matters.

The trial was completed three hours later. Ge Long of the Heaven Dou side, Zhuqing of the Star Luo side, Xue Beng of the New Heaven Dou Federation, and Hu Liena, the representative of Spirit Hall, jointly announced the numerous crimes of the Star Crown Sect and its members. Subsequently, they ordered their subordinates to execute all the Star Crown Sect members, including Xu Xing.

Why was Hu Liena the representative of Spirit Hall?

Hu Liena was originally Bibi Dong's assistant in Spirit City and commanded great prestige. Tang San himself was unwilling to interfere in such matters, lest someone accuse him of "contending with the Holy Maiden of Spirit Hall for the next Supreme Pontiff position."

Looking at Xu Xing's pale head with wide, staring eyes, Tang San secretly shook his head: Life is not a game; if you play the game, the game also plays you.

However, after Xu Xing's death, his Spirit, Star Crown, emerged from his body, appearing both real and illusory, as if materialized but not entirely so.

Perhaps it was because Xu Xing's strength was too low. Over five years, he might have wasted too much time exploring the ocean, resulting in his spirit power level being only fifty-one.

"Is that his Spirit?" Ge Long was astonished, seeing this situation for the first time: Why did the Spirit still exist after the person died?

Tang San, however, was unfazed. He had already understood that these transmigrators came with certain "golden fingers," for example: their Spirits were all quite special, considered to be naturally semi-materialized and semi-divine beasts.

However, Xu Xing had wasted most of his time, preventing this Spirit from solidifying, so much so that its current semi-materialized state was slowly dissipating. It was estimated that this Star Crown Spirit would vanish within a short while.

With spirit power guidance, the illusory Star Crown Spirit landed in Tang San's hand, quietly suspended. After being nourished by Tang San's spirit power, it gradually emitted the light of the sun, moon, and stars.

Tang San said to everyone, "This Spirit is special. May I study it?"

Ge Long immediately nodded, flattering him with a laugh: "Who doesn't know that Silverblue Earl is a theoretical Grandmaster of Spirit cultivation? We don't know anything about this special Spirit. If Earl can research something, it would be an eye-opener for us, hahaha!"

Zhuqing said, "No objection."

Hu Liena, needless to say, was already in the same camp as Tang San; her objection would be strange.

Xue Beng, on the other hand, was somewhat reluctant, thinking that the transparent Star Crown Spirit might be some kind of treasure. But since the other three present had no objections, it would be too peculiar if he did, so he could only agree.

As Tang San continuously infused spirit power, the Star Crown Spirit became increasingly solid, and then--

Bang!

It shattered, turning into countless fragments and dissipating into nothingness.

Hu Liena: "....."

Zhuqing: "....."

Ge Long, Xue Beng: "....."

Feeling the awkward atmosphere, everyone immediately dropped the subject and asked the person filming to cut that part, so as not to damage Tang San's image.

Tang San, however, didn't care much, even saying things like "failed experiments are common," "it's normal," and "no need to cut it."

In reality, only Tang San himself knew that the Star Crown Spirit had not shattered. Its essence had already actively integrated into his Blue Silver Emperor.

From a higher perspective, looking at the space where Tang San's Spirit existed, one could see that around the Blue Silver Emperor, countless stars revolved, centered around the sun and moon, forming three hundred and sixty-five large stars and three thousand small stars, all moving in specific orbits, forming an array. This array complemented the nebula held by the twelve leaves of the Blue Silver Emperor and the Starry Sky World within the bright pearl at its apex.

Tang San could perceive that with the help of this "Zhou Tian Xing Dou Great Array," the Starry Sky World's speed of attracting energy, planar fragments, and spatial fragments from the void had increased by nearly a thousandfold.

The folds on the Heavenly Dao also reached three hundred and sixty-five, and its surface also showed three hundred and sixty-five light points and three thousand small points, as if a protective shell had been molded for it.

After the Starry Sky World and the Heavenly Dao were strengthened, Tang San's primordial Spirit also became increasingly solid. According to Ilyas, it could already rival top-tier first-rank gods.

If connected to the Heavenly Dao, Tang San's current thought processing ability had reached three million six hundred and fifty thousand times his normal state!

That's right, it's ten thousand times!

With such computing power, the research progress of Tang San and others could definitely achieve rapid breakthroughs. As long as the underlying productivity could be improved, it would not be impossible to transform Douluo into a modern society within a hundred years!

In this situation, the only thing researchers lacked was inspiration!

Liberate the entire continent!

It's a must!

Disconnecting from the Heavenly Dao, Tang San's thoughts returned to normal. He couldn't help but rub his temples, thinking to himself: "However, this increase in computational efficiency also puts a burden on the brain itself. Even I can't stay connected to the Heavenly Dao permanently; I need at least an hour of rest every day. Others, needless to say, need even more, so..."

"For others, a 'anti-addiction system' needs to be set up based on their respective mental and spiritual conditions."

"But that's something to do later. For now--"

Tang San looked towards Xiao Hai City.

The Emperor of the Sun Moon Empire had already arrived, though there weren't many Titled Douluo on the ship, only one, but his spirit power had reached ninety-eight ranks...

424: Step into Douluo's territory

"How could this be!"

Looking at the giant stele erected outside Xiao Hai City, the text on it was carved by Marshal Ge Long's orders, briefly and objectively describing the battle situation.

Xu Huang's face was distorted, his fists clenched tightly, and an aura far surpassing what a Spirit Douluo could possess erupted, like a mountain roar and sea surge, pressing down on the nearly ten thousand Sun Moon Army soldiers behind him, making them gasp for breath.

It was no wonder Xu Huang was so enraged.

Originally, he had come to this land with a conquering heart, but who would have thought that the previous batch of Sun Moon Army soldiers had all been captured, and You Hongchen and others, who had arrived three or four days earlier, had all been killed.

Those were twenty-six Titled Douluo!

Twenty-one below ninety-fifth rank; three above ninety-fifth rank; one at ninety-eighth rank; and the Empire's only ninety-ninth rank super Douluo, You Hongchen, had also died in battle!

When did Douluo Continent become so terrifying?

Even if they were defeated, shouldn't they have been offered surrender? So many Titled Douluo, killed just like that?

Through Xu Xing, Xu Huang also knew that this Douluo Continent was not as he imagined, with multiple transmigrators existing, and even the "protagonist" was no longer the original Tang San, but according to Xu Xing, Douluo Continent still had Two Great Empires and one Spirit Hall, so the general trend of the plot should not change too much.

But what was the situation now?

Don't tell him that in the five years since Xu Xing left Douluo Continent, earth-shattering changes had occurred here, and some people had even cultivated to become Divinities directly.

Or was it done by that existence whose soul had reached the God Position before?

He, possessing the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, was not afraid of God Position power, but if the other party achieved God Position by accepting the inheritance of a God Realm Divinity, then his battle with himself would surely fall into the eyes of the God Realm.

An ultra-divine tool from another plane, and one left behind by a Creator God, could that Divinity sit still?

Even a God King would descend, right?

"Your Majesty, don't be angry. It's impossible for one person to instantly kill nearly twenty Titled Douluo." Luo Qiu knew the strength of a super Douluo, but wanting to instantly kill so many Titled Douluo was wishful thinking. Could it be that those Titled Douluo stood foolishly in place and couldn't escape?

Unless that person's strength was extremely close to God Position.

"No, it should be true." Xu Huang had calmed down now. The reactions given by the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne and the Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel within it would not be false. There truly was a super strong enemy here.

Reason told him that he should go back now, and after breaking through to hundredth rank and truly controlling the Creator God Position brought to him by the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, then step onto this land and rule the World.

But to return immediately after just arriving on this land, without even understanding the specific situation, wouldn't that be a laughingstock? Although the Sun Moon Empire had been unified by him, not everyone was truly convinced by him. Secretly, there were still many who hated him to the bone, but were unable to resist.

Moreover, the Sun Moon Continent also had Evil Soul Master, and even formed a religious group, with unclear ties to the Evil Eye Tyrant Lord of the Evil Demon Forest.

"So what should we do now?" Luo Qiu reluctantly let go of the hand stroking a thick Blue Silver Emperor root. "Also, who is this enemy?"

"Blue Silver Grass, Blue Silver Emperor. Without a doubt, it's the Tang San that Xu Xing mentioned." Xu Huang's eyes flickered as he spoke a name. Only this transmigrator with twin spirits could unleash the Blue Silver Emperor to such an extent, and also control the power of Creation, being able to make the Blue Silver Emperor exist for a long time after releasing a Spirit Ability.

He was also a transmigrator, coming to this Douluo World. If he didn't even meet "Tang San," wouldn't it be a wasted trip?

At least, Tang San's situation needed to be confirmed.

If the other party had already begun a God Position trial or similar, for the sake of the big picture, he could temporarily retreat, hoping to regain face in the future.

If the other party had not accepted a God Position trial or similar, but had reached a level similar to divine soul with his own power, then it would be easy to deal with. He could use the power of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne to crush the opponent.

After all, the Creator God's throne was extraordinary, its aura extremely restrained. As long as he didn't go to those Divinity inheritance places, or unleash power capable of destroying the entire Continent, he wouldn't be noticed by the God Realm's Divinity...

...

"Third Brother, that Xu Huang has already reached Xiao Hai City, right?" Xiao Wu's mental force was not weak, and she also sensed it. Seeing Tang San looking in the direction of Xiao Hai City, she couldn't help but say, "It's just as you said, there's a very peculiar power blocking mental force detection, as vast and boundless as the starry sky."

Not just Xiao Wu, Huo Wu, Guang Ling, and Ning Rongrong all sensed it. Although Zhu Zhuqing, Yu Tianheng, and others' mental force were not as strong as Tang San's, the powerful Spirit they possessed at this moment also gave them feedback, causing a strange sense of oppression in their hearts.

Chrysanthemum Immortal's eyes were also extremely solemn.

In her perception, that inexplicable invisible pressure was not as vast as the Supreme Pontiff's, but it was even grander, like a truly noble Divinity.

At this moment, Tang San's Clear Sky Hammer voluntarily emerged from his left hand, transforming into seven chimeras, but only palm-sized, crawling onto Tang San's left shoulder.

Austin Griffin did not appear, but the individual wills of the seven heads also showed disdain for that familiar aura, either baring fangs, or glaring, or exhaling, or howling.

Seven elements: fire, light, wind, water, poison, death, and dark, combined with the "gold" inherent in the Clear Sky Hammer itself, converged at one point, emitting an invisible aura of destruction, declaring their rebirth to the throne of Creation.

Among them, the dark element was the seventh element possessed by Nine Haos after Tang San's breakthrough, and also the original attribute that Austin Griffin could possess.

Austin Griffin, reborn through the Clear Sky Hammer, could not undergo conventional bloodline changes. Without the influence of additional factors, the attributes of his heads naturally remained the powers that the original God of Heavenly Condemnation could possess.

Moreover, for Austin Griffin, the most important attribute was naturally destruction. The attributes of the other heads were merely icing on the cake, not worth mentioning.

And upon sensing the aura of destruction, the thirteen clusters of stellar halos within Xu Huang's body also trembled. Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel all realized something, and all were greatly shocked.

Easton King: "The God of Heavenly Condemnation, representing death, truly exists in this plane, and is even tightly bound to the destiny of that existence possessing the power of Creation!"

Sacred Dragon: "How is this possible?!"

Eternal Angel: "Controlling both Creation and death at the same time, what method did that human use? Can he even control Austin Griffin? Or was it that Austin Griffin was too influenced by Dragon Hao Chen last time, causing his personality to become much gentler?"

425: Remove the Blue Silver Emperor? You must first have the ability to lift the entire bucket

Xu Huang did not know about the shock of Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel, but he also noticed the tremor of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne.

This super artifact would only react when encountering the same level of power or the God of Heavenly Condemnation.

Could it be that Austin Griffin also joined the battle?

Regarding this God of Heavenly Condemnation, Xu Huang had also considered it and felt that its resurrection was nothing more than two possibilities.

First, resurrect as a Soul Beast.

Second, exist in the form of a human Martial Soul.

Judging from the Douluo Continent's unfriendly rules towards Soul Beasts, Austin Griffin would most likely choose the second method, residing within someone's Martial Soul.

Regarding this point, Xu Xing knew who Austin Griffin was residing in, but he didn't tell Xu Huang. After all, he himself didn't want to listen to Xu Huang's orders. He even hoped that Xu Huang and Tang San could fight to the death in the future, and then he would pick up the scraps in the end.

Unfortunately, he himself was the first to be taken off the stage...

"That power!" Luo Qiu also noticed the aura of destruction. That kind of power originated from the totem worshipped by the Moonlight Elf Clan: the God of Heavenly Condemnation, Austin Griffin.

The seed of the Tree of Destruction, the treasure that the previous Moon Night Queen wanted to obtain, was actually an important avatar within the God of Heavenly Condemnation's soul source.

Unexpectedly, in this plane, there is hope to meet the God they respect.

"Did you sense it?" Xu Huang asked hurriedly, "Is it the Nine-Headed Chimera?"

"Yes." Luo Qiu did not hide anything. She nodded, looked in the direction of Soul Sea City, and said quietly, "If our God could have won last time, perhaps the Moonlight Elf Clan would have been able to occupy Eternal Domain and become the true master there. The Eternal and Creation Throne would also be transformed into the Throne of an Instant and Destruction. The great God of Heavenly Condemnation would bring destruction and death to the entire universe, incorporating all the planes within the Great Universe into His rule, becoming His Domain."

Xu Huang learned for the first time that the Eternal and Creation Throne could actually be transformed into that Instant and Destruction Throne. He couldn't help but want to ask for more details.

However, Luo Qiu herself was not very clear about the reasoning behind it. She just said what she knew and said, "The previous Moon Night Queen could be occupied by other people, transforming from a dark physique into a light physique. It is not impossible for eternity to become an instant and Creation to become destruction."

"It should be known:"

"The Eternal Lord and the God of Heavenly Condemnation are twins, mutually reinforcing and restraining each other. It's just that the Creator God collapsed first, leaving only a divine thought..."

"The ultimate things of Creation and destruction are space; while eternity and instant refer to time."

"Only by controlling time and space at the same time can one become a true Creator God. Otherwise, no matter how strong the power is, its position will always be below the Creator God."

Regarding this, Xu Huang also understood.

The power of space is easy to control, but the power of time is extremely illusory. He even doubted whether the power of time existed at all. After all, Bright Moon and Austin Griffin in god seal throne have never shown any "instant"-like power of time.

Regarding Xu Huang's doubts, Luo Qiu said, "The God of Heavenly Condemnation has been reborn many times. Each time it is reborn, the origin will be weakened by a large part, and there are only nine rebirth opportunities. Once all nine rebirths are used up, then it will truly die like the Creator God, leaving at most only a divine thought to exist..."

As for how many times Austin Griffin has been reborn, Luo Qiu only remembers that the last time was the seventh time, so this time should be the eighth time.

In fact, this is the ninth time.

Because the Nine-Headed Chimera was reborn once again in the plane [once destroyed by him and later revived by Dragon Hao Chen], but it had not been found by Dragon Hao Chen for long after its rebirth, and it encountered a space-time turbulence, causing the reborn body to shatter... Later, he met Mu Tian, but even after he awakened his Martial Soul and obtained his first Soul Ring, he and Mu Tian's Earth Fire Lizard were not completely fused, which cannot be regarded as a rebirth. After all, Mu Tian's personality is too jumpy. The last rebirth must be cautious...

Xu Huang didn't care how many times the God of Heavenly Condemnation had been reborn. At this time, there was only one thought in his mind: even if he had the ability to kill Austin Griffin, or his host, he could not kill him easily.

Reason?

The Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne descended into this World with a mission, and its purpose was to find a spokesperson to prevent Austin Griffin from resurrecting, thereby causing the destruction of this World.

If Austin Griffin died, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne would no longer pay attention to him, but would follow the so-called guidance of fate and go to another plane.

How could this work?

Without the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, he himself is just a Soul Douluo, at most able to match Title Douluo around level ninety-five to ninety-six in strength.

Without the Creator God's seat, how can he suppress the other Title Douluo within the Sun Moon Empire?

Do you really think they were moved by his personal charm?

No!

It is relying on the power brought by the throne! It is this magnificent power as bright as the sea of stars!

After calming down, Xu Huang ordered his men to set up camp in this Xiao Hai City.

Since they came, they certainly couldn't return empty-handed.

But not long after, a subordinate came to report, saying, "Your Majesty, the Blue Silver Grass in Xiao Hai City is very tough. Our swords and sabers cannot cut it, and the Soul Guidance Saw cannot cut it at all."

"Then use the Soul Guidance Saw." Xu Huang was strange, not understanding why this kind of thing had to be reported.

"But the growth rate of these Blue Silver Grass is extremely fast. The openings that are broken can be restored in an instant. If it is cut off, it will regrow, and the broken Blue Silver Grass leaves will immediately take root underground and regrow." The person looked embarrassed, "It is endless, continuous, and the more you cut, the more there is."

Xu Huang frowned and asked, "What about burning it with fire?"

"Ordinary flames are ineffective against it."

"Fire immunity?"

Xu Huang realized that this Tang San must have also been to the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, and had taken Scorching Apricot and Octagonal Black Ice Grass, so he said, "Cut the weeds and eliminate the roots, pull them out by the roots."

"Can't pull it out." The person's face was red, "This kind of Blue Silver Grass seems to be connected to the entire land, and cannot be pulled up by manpower."

"This is true." Luo Qiu placed her hand on a Blue Silver Emperor leaf next to her, sensed it carefully, and exclaimed, "This kind of Blue Silver Grass takes root deep in the earth, with tangled roots, extending over several kilometers. If you want to pull it out by the roots, even a level 100 powerhouse cannot do it, unless they possess the strength to lift the weight of the entire continent."

Regarding plant-based abilities, Luo Qiu had seen quite a few, but they mostly involved leaf entanglement, or using the sharpness of leaves, or the fragrance of flowers, the edibility of fruits, and so on. This was the first time she had seen such a solid foundation developed from the roots.

Moreover, this martial soul-type plant did not reject any awakening. Its powerful Life could encompass everything, including Darkness.

If there existed a forest composed of this type of plant on this continent, then as long as the Moonlight Elves tended to it slightly, making its leaves more lush and blocking the sunlight, the gaps beneath the forest would be their natural dwelling place.

The Moonlight Elves revered the power of Destruction, but the body's Life activities also required the support of Life force.

Therefore, Life and Destruction were not contradictory.

【Is cooperation with the master of this Blue Silver Grass possible?】

At this moment, Luo Qiu glanced at Xu Huang, who was contemplating how to eradicate these Blue Silver Grasses, and a rebellious idea arose.

Betrayal?

This was a virtue of the Moonlight Elves!

Anyone who took the Moonlight Elves' words seriously was a true fool. Luo Qiu's cooperation with Xu Huang was only because he had temporarily become the user of the Eternal and Creation Throne; she was simply unable to resist him in terms of power.

"Wanting to cut down my Blue Silver Emperor is not that easy. Feel free to try. If you succeed, I'll reward you with a little red flower." A youthful voice suddenly echoed in Xu Huang's and Luo Qiu's ears. Tang San's figure quietly appeared on a leaf of the Blue Silver Emperor in front of them, gently swinging as if on a swing.

"Tang San!"

Although it was their first meeting, Xu Huang recognized him immediately. He waved his hands, and the Sun Moon Army soldiers who were trying to cut down the Blue Silver Emperor stopped their work, took out weapons that looked like bayonet rifles, and pointed the bayonets and muzzles at Tang San's head.

"How should I put it? The design of these soul-guided guns reminds me of the Imperial Japanese Army in anti-Japanese dramas... Speaking of which, your Sun Moon Empire also has the character 'Sun' in its name." Tang San said something that most people present didn't understand.

Only Xu Huang's expression twitched. He sneered, "Doesn't Da Ming also have the character 'Sun' in its name?"

"Heh, you really dare to say that." Tang San pointed at the charred buildings entangled by the Blue Silver Emperor. "What's the difference between the actions of your Sun Moon Army and those of the Imperial Japanese Army?"

Xu Huang didn't care and said, "The process of civilizational unification always requires some sacrifice."

"That tone is becoming more and more similar." Tang San clicked his tongue in amazement. "However, I came here to confirm one thing, to see if you and I are on the same path... Now I have the answer. We are not."

Then, Tang San's gaze fell on Luo Qiu. He stared at her ears for a long time, then patted the veins of the Blue Silver Emperor's leaf and asked, "Just now, were you sensing the Blue Silver Emperor through some method? You, in terms of bloodline, are not human, are you? But it seems there's no reproductive isolation with humans either. According to the rules of this World, you're not considered a soul beast, otherwise, you would drop a soul ring upon death."

This act of "flirting before her husband" naturally turned Xu Huang's face green. He shouted, "She is my consort! How can you be allowed to tease her?!"

"Consort? But why do I feel that she's still a virgin, inexperienced in the ways of the World?" Tang San looked at Xu Huang's crotch with interest and chuckled, "Could it be that you're impotent?"

"Capture him!"

Xu Huang roared. The guards immediately pulled the triggers, and bullets composed of soul power shot towards Tang San.

But Tang San didn't move at all, letting the bullets pass through his body and land on the leaves of the Blue Silver Emperor, blasting out small holes that quickly repaired themselves.

Tang San himself didn't suffer any injuries, not even a tear in his clothes.

After a round of shooting, Xu Huang raised his hand to stop the soldiers from continuing. He had already seen that the Tang San before him was just an illusion, not his real body, without substance.

"Why don't you continue? My skin is still itching." Tang San jumped from the leaf of the Blue Silver Emperor to the ground and slowly walked towards Xu Huang.

The guards beside Xu Huang hurriedly stepped forward to intercept him, but Tang San passed right through them.

They couldn't even touch the hem of Tang San's clothes.

"Just a mere illusion, nothing to worry about." When Tang San stopped in front of Xu Huang, Xu Huang sneered, "I have received your greeting. Soon, I will go to the city where you are and conquer it. I want to see if you dare to be so arrogant when I stand before your real body..."

"Slap!"

Before Xu Huang could finish his words, Tang San slapped him across the face, leaving a clear red palm print.

At that moment, everyone present, including Luo Qiu and Xu Huang himself, was stunned.

"You motherfuc..."

"Slap!"

Another slap landed on the other cheek.

"Not bad, symmetrical palm prints look better." Tang San looked left and right, making such a comment. His serious attitude enraged Xu Huang.

Soul Douluo-level soul power erupted, but the aura only overwhelmed the soldiers, unable to affect Tang San in any way.

After all, he was just a thought projection right now, his real body was at Soul Sea City Pass.

But sensing a powerful force about to erupt from within Xu Huang's body, Tang San's thought projection immediately retreated a large step.

Chant—

A nine-colored sword light instantly swept across the entire Xiao Hai City.

The Blue Silver Emperor that had entangled the entire Xiao Hai City snapped in half, along with the bound ruins of the buildings, slowly collapsing.

The Sun Moon Army soldiers within Xiao Hai City could only see a white light flash overhead, and then the entire city began to tremble and collapse, forcing them to quickly evacuate.

"Your Majesty, you were impulsive just now." Luo Qiu flew Xu Huang away from Xiao Hai City, standing in mid-air, looking down at the smoke-filled Xiao Hai City below, a hint of blame involuntarily appearing in her eyes—

In addition to the rich Life aura, the Blue Silver Emperor also contained the aura of Creation.

Xu Huang's sword probably didn't destroy the Blue Silver Emperor, but rather Tang San took it back. His purpose was probably for the power of Creation contained in Xu Huang's sword just now.

"The Emperor cannot be humiliated!"

Xu Huang put away the dazzling Eternal and Creation Sword in his hand, and the two red palm prints on his face slowly faded. "That guy was too arrogant! If I continued to remain calm, what would become of my face?"

426: Use of creative attribute energy

Retracting the Blue Silver Emperor from Xiao Hai City and the Tang San of the thought body, he stretched lazily, slowly rising from the ground, stretching, and musing, "Soul Douluo, level eighty-two. Without the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, his combat strength is about the same as a level ninety-six strong assault type. As for the martial soul, it should be inherited from the Xu family's royal family—the sun, or the moon..."

"But he also carries a trace of dragon aura, perhaps also possessing the Purple Flame Sky Dragon martial soul."

Liu Ziqiang didn't mention this.

Although he felt that the matter of Xiao Hai City was indeed the fault of their Sun Moon Empire, he also had an almost fanatical worship for the Sun Moon's Emperor, Xu Huang.

Specific information related to Xu Huang, such as martial soul situation, soul power level, soul skills, etc., are important secrets that Liu Ziqiang would not say.

Of course, perhaps he himself didn't know what Xu Huang's true strength was, or whether he had twin martial souls.

However, these were not important. Through the thought body, Tang San himself had already confirmed the general situation of Xu Huang, and also obtained the power of Creation from his sword.

The power of Creation contained in the Eternal and Creation Sword was essentially no different from the Creation attribute that Tang San himself had obtained through adding soul rings and then cultivating.

But Tang San was still in the exploratory stage of how to specifically use the "Creation" attribute. At this time, there was a ready-made application: gathering the power of the "Creation" attribute into a sword light containing the "power of Creation", bursting out energy like the opening of heaven and earth, which could provide Tang San with a lot of reference.

After all, his Blue Silver Emperor could be transformed into the Blue Silver Emperor Spear. If he could gather the energy of the "Creation" attribute into the "power of Creation" and use it in the Blue Silver Emperor Spear, the power it could unleash would definitely far exceed the ordinary level, and might even directly chase the God Realm's main god level.

Borrowing the Heavenly Dao of the Starry Sky World within the Blue Silver Emperor's crown jewel, Tang San's primordial Spirit and brain operated at the same time, analyzing the structure of the "power of Creation". Under the thinking speed that surpassed the ordinary by three million six hundred and fifty thousand times, it still took three hours to decompose the energy composition form of the "power of Creation".

In short, it was to arrange the energy of the "Creation" attribute in a form similar to a Möbius strip, and then fix it with the attribute of space.

When using it, whether it was slashing or throwing, at that moment, release the space power's fixation of the Creation attribute energy, causing it to spray out in a form similar to a supernova explosion.

It sounds simple...

But putting it into practice was extremely troublesome. After all, just arranging the energy of the Creation attribute in an infinite loop required extremely precise spiritual power control.

This was a complicated process...

The so-called Great Dao to Simple refers to turning complexity into simplicity. Every action that looks simple, convenient, and easy has hidden structures, analyses, explanations, and so on that are by no means as simple as they appear on the surface.

Just like various soul guidance devices, they are very convenient to use, just inject soul power. Even ordinary people can press the switch and turn the handle to use a large part of the life-type soul guidance devices, but the soul guidance devices can operate, relying not on these simple actions, but because the corresponding soul guidance energy flow lines are set inside.

With Tang San's current strength, if he wanted to use a similar move to Xu Huang's using the Eternal and Creation Sword, without the help of Heavenly Dao's calculation power, it would take about seven seconds to prepare.

With the help of Heavenly Dao, it could be cast instantly.

And Xu Huang could use it at will, because the corresponding divine power flow lines had already been engraved in the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, and he didn't need to think about how the Creation attribute energy contained within should be arranged, combined, or operated. As long as he swung his sword at will, he could use that power.

This was the power of a divine artifact, and it was still a super divine artifact.

"Envy... but for me, the foundation of truly controlling this power is the most crucial."

After Tang San walked out of the meditation room, Gu Yuena found him and said, "Before, in the direction of Xiao Hai City, a nine-colored sword light shot out, and even crossed above our Soul Sea Pass... I would never mistake that aura, it is the power of Creation. In terms of quality, it is not higher than yours, but in terms of quantity, it far exceeds you!"

"I know. Just now, that was caused by me sending out a thought body through the Blue Silver Emperor left in Xiao Hai City to test it. The entire Xiao Hai City was cut off by his sword," Tang San revealed the truth and explained the existence of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, "That is the Creator God's seat, a super divine artifact from another World."

"The Creator God of another World?" Gu Yuena exclaimed, then became suspicious, "Indeed, the God Realm's Creator Gods are all dead, it is impossible to leave any divine artifacts... How do you know? Did that guy tell you directly? Or is it that there is relevant content in your memory, just looking for a reason to say it?"

She asked this way, but Gu Yuena's heart leaned towards the latter.

After all, she knew that Tang San was a visitor from another World.

"That's not important." Tang San skipped this topic and released the Haotian Hammer, which transformed into Nine Haos, lying on Tang San's shoulder, its seven heads silently howling towards the direction of Xiao Hai City.

"This guy was like this before... Could it be that he is related to that Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne (this name is really exaggeratedly long)?" Gu Yuena looked at Nine Haos, feeling that he, who was only the size of a palm, was quite cute, but she didn't dare to touch him. After all, this guy possessed a destructive aura that was purer than the destruction attribute she controlled.

His existence seemed to be for the sake of destruction.

"Being twins with the owner of that throne, Creation only has meaning because of the existence of destruction. By the same logic, destruction is also valuable because of the existence of Creation," Tang San said, uttering a philosophical topic that stunned Gu Yuena and also made Nine Haos on his shoulder a little stunned. He had never thought about such a question.

If all the planes in the universe were destroyed and incorporated into his Domain, what would he do in the future?

However, although the consciousness of Nine Haos's seven heads was Austin Griffin's divided consciousness, each one was currently independent, and they didn't think too much. They just continued to roar silently towards the direction where the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne existed.

For him, it was enough to dislike that chair.

Things that were too far away, he wouldn't think too much about. He only cared about the present. That damned Creator God's seat must be destroyed, otherwise, every time he sensed that thing, he would feel disgusted, very disgusted, disgustingly bad!

And that guy chosen by the Creator God, if it was Tang San, it would be fine. He had no choice, he would endure it, coexist, and it wouldn't matter much, but he chose someone else, and he was also in an antagonistic relationship with Tang San, then that would be great. When the time came, the two of them would work together to permanently destroy that Creator God's throne, to see if it could ever recover!

427: Haotian Sect decided to join the war!

After the Haotian Sect received intelligence that the Three Great Empires and Spirit Hall on the continent were uniting to resist the Sun Moon foreign invaders, Tang Xiao summoned Tang Hao and the five great Elders to hold a meeting to discuss whether or not to participate.

After all, the Haotian Sect emerging from the mountains was a good opportunity to promote the Haotian Sect's prestige.

Seventh Elder said, "Let Spirit Hall fight them to the death first, and then we will take action and settle the matter with one blow. When the time comes, let people record this scene, which will surely enhance the reputation of the Haotian Sect."

The other Elders had similar ideas. It would be best if the Three Great Empires and Spirit Hall fought the Sun Moon Empire to a draw, and then they would appear as "saviors."

As for whether these four forces could unite to repel the Sun Moon Empire, they were not worried. After all, they had also collected information about the Sun Moon foreign invaders, who had a level 98 existence and five title douluo.

Spirit Hall did have many title douluo, but Tang Chen had already given them accurate information that those in the Hall of Offerings would not take action. Therefore, even if Spirit Hall sent Tang San, who could unleash power similar to a peerless, it would at most be a stalemate with the opponent.

In their opinion, in the battle between Tang San and Bibi Dong, Bibi Dong probably did not use her full strength, otherwise it would not have been possible to stalemate for so long.

"Report!"

A Hao Tian disciple suddenly ran in and said, "According to the report from Tang Luoya, a scout outside, fifteen more title douluo and one peerless douluo have come from the Sun Moon Empire!"

"What?!" Tang Xiao was shocked, then calmed down, and cold sweat permeated his forehead. "This is not a joke. The Sun Moon Empire actually has so many title douluo, and there is also a peerless."

"Sect Leader, Elder, I haven't finished speaking yet. That peerless douluo is dead." The Hao Tian Disciples swallowed and said tremblingly, "He was killed by Tang San, the Saint Child of Spirit Hall, with one hammer. He once again used fusing rings, condensed the Martial Soul True Body Armor, and the battle power he unleashed may have surpassed level 99, and what's even more terrifying is his soul ring configuration: four black and three red."

Four black and three red?

Has the age of the soul rings increased?

Could it be that Tang San has found the inheritance place of the god realm and accepted the god trial?

For the existence of gods, for Tang Xiao, Tang Hao, and the five Hao Tian Elders, it was no longer a secret. Their ancestor Tang Chen was the heir of the Asura God.

Some god realm inheritance sites can provide the examiner with rewards for increasing the age of soul rings.

For example: Sea God Island.

But unfortunately, participating in these God's trials requires becoming a believer of God, and in very special times, you cannot leave the inheritance place, otherwise you will be regarded as a traitor who abandons the belief of God.

The benefits of God are not so easy to obtain.

What is the situation with Tang San's soul ring improvement?

Could it be that he accepted the Angel God's trial from Spirit Hall?

Even if Tang San's talent is excellent, the Angel God would not choose an existence whose martial soul is not Angel to inherit it, right? Moreover, according to what uncle (grandpa) said, when a God chooses an inheritor to conduct the trial, under normal circumstances, the reward of increasing the age of the soul ring will not be given before completing the final trial, but rather the affinity of the god realm.

When the affinity reaches 100%, one will be qualified to inherit the final God Position.

"Hmph, that little brat is really amazing. He actually accepted the Angel God's trial. Has he become a believer of the Angel God?" Seventh Elder said strangely.

Second Elder said lightly: "At least, his power has far surpassed ours."

Tang Hao had excitement, unwillingness, and annoyance. If time could go back, even if he didn't want face, he would take Tang San back to the Sect. If these five old things didn't agree, he would beat them until they all agreed.

But now, it was all too late.

Tang Xiao sighed and asked the Hao Tian disciple, "Is there any other news?"

"The battle of Xiao Hai City was almost Tang San's personal show. He killed nineteen title douluo in seconds, killed a peerless, and his martial soul controlled all the Sun Moon Army in the entire Xiao Hai City through growth and entanglement. The coalition forces of the four major forces basically cleaned up the battlefield, guarded the prisoners, and collected the spoils."

The man said, "However, in the following days, the Sun Moon Emperor arrived and threw out a sword, cutting off the entire Xiao Hai City horizontally, and the sword light spread for a hundred miles."

"A hundred miles!" Tang Hao almost lost his voice, "Even peerless cannot do this. Is he god level?"

If so, then their Haotian Sect should not act for the best.

Facing a God, it is tantamount to hitting a stone with an egg.

If Tang Chen leaves the customs, it doesn't matter. With the power of the Shura God, he will definitely be able to defeat the opponent, but their backbone is now at the final moment of inheritance and cannot be disturbed!

"Grandpa said that after becoming a god, you should not interfere too much in human affairs. If he is a God, he would not be an emperor." Tang Xiao was relatively calm and began to analyze, "Therefore, that Sun Moon Emperor should be similar to Tang San, able to unleash attacks far beyond his own strength."

Second Elder nodded, agreeing with this view, and said: "Grandpa will not be wrong, then this should be a more appropriate guess. Unleashing such power must require a greater price."

Third Elder asked: "Speaking of which, what kind of price does Tang San need to pay for using the Martial Soul True Body Armor in fusing rings mode?"

Tang Xiao and the Elders all looked at Tang Hao.

"Actually, the first time Tang San used the Martial Soul True Body Armor was when he fought against me. At that time, he was still a Soul Elder..."

Tang Hao pondered for a moment and told the story of the past, "...As for the price, it may be that the soul power consumption is too great. Apart from that, there seems to be no other side effects."

"Because his First Soul Skill seems to be able to restore himself to his peak state."

For Tang Hao, being able to analyze these things is already very rare. Although he doesn't understand what each soul ring brings to the martial soul, he has a deep impression of the First Soul Skill Endless Recovery, after all, it healed most of the dark wounds in his body... In his opinion, if his Clear Sky Hammer had such a skill, even if he was only level 90 when facing Qian Xunji, he would be able to exhaust the opponent to death.

"From this point of view, we must also guard against the Sun Moon Emperor having any means of recovery." Tang Xiao thought thoughtfully, and finally made up his mind, saying: "Then let's participate in the war. When our Haotian Sect emerges, we must make a name for ourselves and let the world remember our Haotian prestige again, otherwise the world will soon forget the existence of our Haotian Sect."

Everyone present extremely hated Spirit Hall, but in the face of foreign enemies, it would be extremely unwise for their Haotian Sect to jump out and oppose Spirit Hall and others, which would be to make enemies of the entire continent.

Therefore, they need to stand on the same front as Spirit Hall and others first, and then settle accounts with them slowly afterwards...

428: God of Creation needs mercy

Chapter 428 Creator God, needs to be merciful...

Seven days later, Tang Xiao of the Clear Sky Sect led two Elders and three hundred Hao Tian Disciples to Soul Sea City.

Why wasn't it Tang Hao?

Naturally, Tang Xiao was worried that Tang San and Tang Hao would clash at that time, so he arranged for him and the other three Elders to stay in the Sect, while he brought the Second Elder and Sixth Elder, who had slightly better tempers.

“With the help of the Clear Sky Sect, we will win this battle.” Marshal Ge Long met with Tang Xiao and others. Although he knew that Tang San had some relationship with the Clear Sky Sect, he wouldn't hit someone with a smiling face. Besides, wasn't the other party here to help?

There was no reason to refuse.

On the Spirit Hall side, Tang San was naturally also there, but for this “uncle” by blood, he only said a few polite words as the Spirit Hall Saint Child, without any intention of being close at all.

The Second Elder and Sixth Elder looked displeased, but in this situation, it was not good to say anything, and they would only wait for future discussions.

“May I ask Marshal Ge Long, what is the current battle situation?” Tang Xiao thought of the ditch outside Soul Sea City Pass, with a shed built on top, with tens of thousands of people lying, sitting, or standing inside, densely packed. Judging from their appearance, they should not be natives of Douluo Continent. Their skin color was darker, and their lips were also thicker.

Although people living near the Infinite Desert also have darker skin, compared with these people, a more obvious difference can still be seen.

It seems they are prisoners from the Sun Moon Empire.

“Since the Battle of Xiao Hai City, the Sun Moon Empire's bandits have attacked again and occupied Xiao Hai City, but for the past seven days, they have been setting up camp and have not made any major moves.” Marshal Ge Long briefly explained the situation of the Sun Moon Army after reoccupying Xiao Hai City, and said, “Looking at the current situation, they plan to exhaust us.”

They don't have to worry about fighting a war of attrition.

The Sun Moon Empire's supply line needs to be transported from the Sun Moon Continent overseas, but they don't have to worry, they can recharge their energy and wait for work.

The only problem is their high-end combat power.

The Sun Moon Emperor was not in the Sun Moon Empire, but came here, and possessed such powerful strength, which was really puzzling.

Could it be that the Sun Moon Continent will not be in chaos without the emperor?

If an Empire can operate normally without an emperor, then what is the meaning of the emperor's existence? Doesn't he even need to handle government affairs?

What a fatuous ruler!

“I wonder what kind of plan Marshal Ge Long intends to take?” Tang Xiao frowned. He didn't know much about the war. Although his character was more stable than Tang Hao, he was only good at managing the Sect. As for war... he felt that it was better to just attack directly, test how strong the Sun

Moon Emperor was, and what kind of side effects would be caused by using such transcendent power, and so on.

This is much more useful than waiting here.

“In the past seven days, we have also drafted a bill of crimes and a letter of compensation to negotiate with them...” Marshal Ge Long said.

Tang Xiao's brows were furrowed like semi-solidified volcanic lava, and he was puzzled—what was the point of this? The battle hasn't even started yet, and you're already thinking about asking them for compensation?

The other party has someone who can unleash divine power!

Are you so sure you can win?

Could it be that Tang San is confident in dealing with the Sun Moon Emperor... Yes, only this nephew with unparalleled talent has such ability, but why did he join Spirit Hall?

Hao, you are really irresponsible!

“...Unfortunately, the other party did not agree.”

Hearing this, Tang Xiao was speechless.

“However, the other party also sent us a challenge letter, hoping to have a one-on-one soul fight outside Soul Sea City in half a month.”

“Two wins out of three games. If they win, Xiao Hai City and the surrounding territories will belong to the Sun Moon Empire; if we win, they will withdraw from Douluo Continent and compensate for all reasonable losses.”

Tang Xiao's brows relaxed slightly.

This method is most suitable for Hao Tian Disciples. One-on-one duels are what they are best at, and they can also show the prestige of the Clear Sky Clan.

They came at the right time!

“But we refused.”

Marshal Ge Long's next sentence broke Tang Xiao's fantasy, “Xiao Hai City is the territory of Heaven Dou, therefore, the New Heaven Dou Federation, Star Luo Empire, and Spirit Hall did not intervene. I reported to Your Majesty, and he did not agree, and Silverblue Earl also said that the other party is an overseas invader and is not qualified to use anything on this land as a bargaining chip.”

“This represents the dignity of an Empire. If we agree, we can use Xiao Hai City today, Soul Sea Pass tomorrow, and in a few more days, Heaven Dou City may become a bargaining chip.”

“If the other party wants to gamble, they should use the territory of Sun Moon Continent to gamble.”

“Xiao Hai City is only temporarily occupied by them, and it can be taken back later!”

Although Xu Huang's combat power is against the sky after possessing the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, Tang San also knows that his subordinates can massacre cities, but he himself cannot.

If he did that, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne would leave him.

How can a Creator God be unkind?

Of course, Tang San would not place his hope on the other party's “mercy”. After all, gods also have emotions and desires, and they also lose their minds. What's more, humans?

This kind of thing cannot be tested.

Unless you have complete certainty.

For example: when Tang San met the Star Crown Sect and his party in the Infinite Desert, Tang San dared to be so arrogant because he was sure to destroy them all.

But now there is no absolute certainty.

However, Xu Huang certainly doesn't want to lose the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, so even if he kills them later, he will not use that kind of power to deal with their four-party coalition unless it is absolutely necessary.

It can be said that the longer the time, the more beneficial it will be to Tang San.

As long as someone keeps using the Blue Silver Network and someone keeps entering the Starry Sky World, then that space will continue to grow, and Tang San's power will continue to increase, and the only benefit that the passage of time can bring to Xu Huang is to improve his own Soul Power level.

As for the control of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne...

Still that sentence, Xu Huang is just a user, and the control is always in the hands of the divine thought left by the Creator God in it: [Eternal Lord].

This point was also seen by Tang San seven days ago during the process of stimulating Xu Huang through the thought body and forcing him to use the Eternal and Creation Sword to unleash a slash.

Having power without comprehension.

To put it more bluntly, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne is like a supercomputer. Xu Huang only has the permission to use it, and the real leadership and control permissions are in the hands of the Eternal Lord. Every inch of the throne's structure and every divine power flow route is the mark of the Creator God.

In Tang San's view, if you want to truly control the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, you not only need to defeat the Eternal Lord, but also need to recast the entire Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, that is, replace the "basic program logic operation equation" inside with your own appearance.

This is the so-called—

Imprint Divine Sense!

429: Xu Huang's dilemma

In a blink of an eye, half a month had passed.

The shattered Xiao Hai City had been rebuilt by Xu Huang's orders, and with the help of Spirit Masters and various spirit tools, constructing a city's buildings was effortless.

Only the decorations were a bit lacking.

After building the temporary base, Xu Huang also ordered people to investigate nearby cities, and the scouts who escaped and returned reported that within fifty miles of Xiao Hai City, all areas were guarded by the Heaven Dou Army, New Heaven Dou Federation Army, Star Luo Army, and Spirit Hall Army, making it impossible to leave.

Whether on the ground or in the sky, Spirit Masters were patrolling.

They were trapped here!

Even in the sea area outside Xiao Hai City, there were coalition warships patrolling in the distance to prevent Sun Moon Army's rogues from finding other routes to enter the mainland.

Especially within the Star Luo Empire, the coastal city where the former Star Crown Sect was located, and its nearby waters, were even more strictly guarded by the local Star Luo Army.

Until other routes that the Sun Moon Army could use to arrive were discovered, they could only gather in this small area of Xiao Hai City and then slowly conquer outwards.

However, the four great legions of the Douluo Continent had also seized their Spirit Guidance Weapons, and the research on spirit tools in this Douluo Continent was not much worse than theirs, only lagging significantly in the aspect of weapons.

Now that they had captured their Spirit Guidance Weapons and studied them, they would certainly be able to imitate them and produce them in bulk within a relatively short period.

This was also a big problem.

Xu Huang was already a bit impatient; this Douluo Continent was different from the Sun Moon Continent, where he had smooth sailing, and even the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne assisted him; all enemies before him either fled or were utterly defeated.

But on this continent?

They had lost one peerless, one level ninety-eight, three level ninety-six, and twenty-one from level ninety-one to ninety-five.

Now, they were still besieged in Xiao Hai City; except for the sea route back to the Sun Moon Continent which remained open, all other directions were blocked, and because their own weapons were seized by the native armies of the Douluo Continent, and the enemy was more familiar with the local environment, the gap was gradually narrowing, making the situation extremely unfavorable for them.

Xu Huang even suspected that if he hadn't swung a sword at Tang San's mental illusion when he first stepped onto this land, deterring Soul Sea City, they would have directly attacked instead of adopting this 'catching a turtle in a jar' prolonged battle.

Moreover, there was still a major problem before them: the issue of provisions, as more and more Sun Moon Army soldiers landed, their consumption also increased.

Originally, in Xu Huang's plan, the first batch of troops to land on the Douluo Continent would occupy a city, and then, relying on the advantage of advanced Spirit Guidance Weapons, take down several nearby cities, initially achieving self-sufficiency.

He didn't expect the Empires of the Douluo Continent to react so quickly, and their high-end combat power was terrifyingly strong, instantly wiping out so many Titled Douluo under his command.

This was also one of the reasons why Xu Huang considered having a Spirit battle with Soul Sea Pass.

But unfortunately, Ge Long refused; after all, war was not child's play; unless he had absolute power to suppress everyone, including Tang San, playing a 'duel of generals' was simply unrealistic.

Absolute power...

Xu Huang believed he had it, but it came from the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne.

The user must possess all good qualities such as courage, perseverance, wisdom, and benevolence; even if not, they must feign them, deceiving their own heart, at least in behavior, they cannot show bullying the weak or oppressing the less powerful.

During his unification of the Sun Moon Continent, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne at most served as a cultivation cheat, saving cultivation time for trusted subordinates, and was not used in actual conquest battles.

Otherwise, this God Seal Throne would abandon him, the user, immediately and no longer recognize him.

Furthermore, after he used that sword nearly a month ago, Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel all expressed considerable objections, criticizing him for nearly half a month.

As the user of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, Xu Huang was also considered the Creator God's spokesperson; Tang San slapping him twice was equivalent to slapping the Creator God's face.

Such an offense naturally deserved punishment.

But the Creator God's spokesperson cannot lose his mind and casually wield the Eternal and Creation Sword, causing destruction to the plane... It was fortunate that that sword was swung diagonally upwards, and no one died because of it, otherwise he would have permanently lost the right to use the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne.

"Your Majesty, why don't we first pay the corresponding compensation?" Luo Qiu proposed an idea, "You have already shown your power, but they probably don't know your specific situation. If a real fight breaks out, they will definitely be hesitant, and they most likely don't want to fight either."

"After we compensate, how about we rent this Xiao Hai City?"

"They merely want benefits, that's all."

Xu Huang crossed his hands, resting his chin.

Avenge the dead residents of Xiao Hai City?

For those in power, it was merely that the Sun Moon Army had damaged their dignity, and they needed to reclaim their face and gain corresponding benefits.

No normal person likes war, unless great benefits can be gained from it.

"Well said, as long as enough benefits are paid, they will most likely rent this Xiao Hai City to us, and we can slowly expand outwards in the future." Xu Huang also didn't want to fight; after all, he himself didn't have 100% confidence to defeat Tang San. If the opponent was pushed too hard and sought God Position inheritance, then he would truly be exposed to the God Realm's view.

But—

"As the Creator God's spokesperson, how can you compromise with an insulator?" Easton King's voice echoed in Xu Huang's mind, "He insulted you, which is equivalent to insulting the Creator God; you must fight back."

Sacred Dragon followed closely, saying faintly, "You're not scared, are you?"

Eternal Angel also echoed, "They are right, as the Creator God's spokesperson, if you are insulted, you cannot let it go. You must also fiercely slap that Tang San twice."

When it came to the issue of the Creator God's dignity, Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel all stood on a united front, not allowing Xu Huang, the Creator God's spokesperson, to let it go so easily.

What about the bigger picture?

As long as the Creator God's dignity was insulted, it could not be easily forgiven!

Even if it truly attracted the attention of the God Realm, it didn't matter; the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne had the ability to traverse planes, allowing them to go to other planes under the jurisdiction of this God Realm, concealing their aura, as the gods of the God Realm wouldn't be able to find them... After some time, they could return to this plane, and Xu Huang could still regain control of his original forces.

Facing the provocations of these three, Xu Huang felt a headache.

Fight back?

He naturally wanted to, and even wanted to kill the opponent, but the problem was that the opponent's strength was not weak. If a real fight broke out and the conflict escalated, his Sun Moon Army would be the first to collapse...

430: Expressing Tang Xiao's inner fragility

Three days had passed since the disciples of Haotian Sect arrived in Soul Sea City.

Every day, Tang Xiao watched Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, and Huo Wu going in and out of the same room, and his eyelids twitched more and more violently.

Although his spiritual power couldn't sense or hear the sounds coming from inside, he knew that with one man and four women sleeping in the same bedroom every day, something must have happened.

Four, how did he do it?

Such a question popped into Tang Xiao's mind for no reason. After all, female soul masters were different from ordinary women. No matter what their personality, they all possessed a sense of pride, making it unlikely for them to share a husband with other women.

But there were always exceptions...

However, what troubled Tang Xiao the most was whether he should have a private talk with Tang San. After all, he was his uncle. He had severed his father-son relationship with Tang Hao, but not with his uncle. Perhaps there was still room for discussion, especially since Yuehua seemed to have a closer relationship with Tang San.

But what if Tang San refused?

Therefore, Tang Xiao felt that he needed to find a topic, such as: feelings—

Finally, on the evening of the fourth day, Tang Xiao found Tang San and invited him to the city wall of Soul Sea City. He began by saying, "Your father misses you very much."

Tang San glanced at Tang Xiao, ignored the topic, and instead asked, "I heard that you also pursued my mother?"

"Uh..." Tang Xiao was stunned for a moment, not knowing why Tang San asked this, but he still nodded vigorously and said, "My love for your mother was no less than Hao's, but she chose Hao, so I gave up."

"Oh, then you deserve it." Tang San turned his head, looking in the direction of Xiao Hai City, sensing the movements of the Sun Moon Army. His mind was not at all on chatting with Tang Xiao, "There's no such thing as letting go in love. Giving up easily before the last moment is just cowardice."

Tang Xiao's forehead was covered in black lines, and there was a hint of anger in his eyes, but in the end, he sighed, "Yes, I am a coward, but if I were your father, I would definitely have done even more crazy things than Hao."

"There are no ifs." Tang San's calm words immediately killed the conversation. After all, he didn't really want to chat with Tang Xiao. This guy didn't mention the Haotian Sect's own mistakes in his words, and intentionally played the emotional card, trying to shift the blame to Spirit Hall... The problem of the Sun Moon Empire hasn't been solved yet, and he's already thinking about defecting him, the Saint Child of Spirit Hall, and causing internal strife.

Tsk~

The格局 was too small.

But Tang Xiao didn't want to end it like this, and continued, "I'm just afraid... afraid that if I had persisted to the end, A Yin still wouldn't have chosen me, and I would have been even more miserable."

"That's why I said you were a coward, the current Sect Master of Haotian Sect."

Tang San emphasized his tone, staring directly at Tang Xiao, his bright eyes seeming to see through the fragility of his heart.

At this moment, Tang San clearly didn't release any killing intent, but his muscles actively tensed, and his soul power spontaneously circulated, as if facing something extremely terrifying.

That gaze that pierced people's hearts made his mind tremble.

In terms of Spirit, what level had Tang San cultivated to?

"It can be seen that you are now in pain, annoyed, and regretful that you didn't catch up with my birth mother, making you unable to face your own heart."

"If you had continued to pursue her back then, not to mention the possibility of success, even if you had failed, you would have tried your best. Even if it would have been very painful at the time, your heart would have slowly eased over time, at least more so than it is now."

"But you didn't, instead, you were intentionally trying to fulfill your brother's wishes, giving up halfway... I think, at the time, you must have felt that your behavior as an older brother, letting your younger brother have her, was very noble, right?"

"But what were the consequences?"

"Your heart has always been unable to let go, suffering for not getting what you wanted, annoyed that your younger brother couldn't protect his wife, and regretting why you didn't persist a little longer back then."

Tang Xiao's pupils shrank sharply, and he couldn't help but take three steps back, opening his mouth, shocked that Tang San had seen through his heart, and a look of panic appeared on his face: "No! I didn't..."

"There's also—"

Tang San interrupted him and continued, "Do you know what kind of behavior it is to give the woman you like to someone else, even if it's your own brother?"

Tang Xiao's breathing became rapid: "What?"

"It's a matter of course for an older brother to take care of his younger brother. Good things should be shared with the younger brother... Under the traditional educational concept, most people think so, but do the things that are given away include feelings and people?" Tang San stared at Tang Xiao's panicked eyes and said lightly, "You gave it away, does it mean that in your heart, my birth mother, A Yin, and human emotions are just things that can be clearly priced?"

"No! It's not!" Tang Xiao roared, his soul power surging, his eyes red, a ferocious face as if he wanted to devour someone, and a huge Haotian Hammer slowly emerged in his right hand.

Seeing that the atmosphere was becoming tense, Gu Yuena climbed onto the wall and walked over.

Only then did Tang Xiao regain some sanity, walking towards the bottom of the city wall without turning his head...

"What's wrong with him?" Gu Yuena's eyes were filled with a kind of indifference. She didn't have any good feelings for guys with Asura Aura.

"I tentatively pointed out his heart, but I didn't expect it to be as fragile as I thought..."

Tang San said something that Gu Yuena didn't understand, then changed the topic, "...We don't want to fight this war, and the enemy doesn't want to fight either. The longer it drags on, the more beneficial it will be for us, but I don't want to continue to waste time here. Although you can still enter the Starry Sky World through my Blue Silver Network, the progress of research has slowed down, which is not worth the loss."

"Indeed, we can't eat the special delicacies of Min Shi Liang Du here." Gu Yuena agreed, and then asked, "Then, can we steal that guy's super artifact?"

"Unlike ordinary artifacts, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne can be transformed into thirteen eternal star and exist in the human body. The Eternal and Creation Sword is transformed from the eternal star that emerged from his body. My thought body saw it clearly." Tang San rejected the idea of stealing.

"The Creator God's super artifact is really different." Gu Yuena was also helpless. After all, ordinary artifacts held by mortal inheritors cannot be absorbed into the body. Only when the mortal's Life level breaks through to the god level can they absorb the artifact into the body like a martial soul.

After all, artifacts have Spirits. When the inheritor does not meet the standards, they are only given the right to use them.

But who would have thought that this Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne would be so "shameless", clearly a super artifact, but willing to enter the body of a mortal—

"By the way, can you cut off his connection with that super artifact?"

In Gu Yuena's eyes, Tang San, who controls the attribute of Creation, will definitely achieve the position of Creator God in the future. In addition, the Heavenly Dao has been upgraded once before (already told Xiao Wu and others), as long as the connection method between the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne and that Xu Huang is found, the connection between the two should be able to be blocked.

After all, no matter how strong the super artifact is, it does not truly belong to Xu Huang, and is not as intimate as a martial soul.

431: All under Tang San's observation

Severing the connection between Xu Huang and the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne?

Tang San had also considered it, but with his limited understanding of the 'Creation' attribute, it was far from enough; he needed a thorough understanding of that ultra-divine artifact.

As of now, there's only one way to understand it:

Combat.

However, neither Tang San nor Xu Huang wished for this, as a large commotion would attract the attention of the God Realm, leading to trouble.

Tang San was worried about Gu Yuena being discovered, while Xu Huang feared the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne being 'reclaimed' by the Five Great God-Kings of the God Realm under the guise of it being an inheritance left by their Creator God.

"Third Brother, I was wondering where you were. Turns out you're here, having a secret rendezvous with your little girlfriend and whispering sweet nothings," Xiao Wu said, walking out from a nearby staircase and approaching Gu Yuena, teasing him.

From behind, the three stood at the city wall's opening, two tall and one short, their elongated shadows making them look like a family of three on a sightseeing trip.

"What do you mean 'whispering sweet nothings'? We're doing this openly and honestly!" Gu Yuena retorted unceremoniously. Facing this Soft Bones Rabbit, she never backed down.

"You haven't even fully matured, and you're talking about 'openly and honestly'?" Xiao Wu scoffed, then gave Tang San a dismissive look as he tried to explain. She patted the short Gu Yuena's head and taunted, "Call me 'Elder Sister' and let me hear it."

"Hmph!" Gu Yuena turned her head away, responding coldly, "I wonder who it is that's covered in fur. Now, I wonder if it's been shaved clean or if it's been attached to her head."

Xiao Wu felt her fists clench, but ultimately, she didn't strike. After all, she was an "adult"; was there any need to get angry with a "child"?

The two glared at each other until Tang San couldn't stand it anymore. He wrapped his arm around Xiao Wu's waist, took Gu Yuena's hand, and walked down from the city tower, saying, "Alright, you two, stop bickering. Let's go down. Tonight won't be peaceful."

"Is that Sect Master of the Clear Sky Sect causing trouble?" Xiao Wu's eyes narrowed as she looked towards the area where Marshal Ge Long had settled the Hao Tian Disciples. She had sensed the spirit power erupting from Tang Xiao earlier, which was why she came over after comforting Guang Ling, Rongrong, Huo Wu, and the others, not expecting that little girl Gu Yuena to get there first.

"Don't worry about Tang Xiao; he still has a sense of the bigger picture." Tang San glanced at the Clear Sky Sect disciples' area and slowly walked down the winding stairs. "I had a private conversation with him earlier, which caused some turmoil in his mind, but he is a level ninety-seven Titled Douluo after all. He should have calmed down by now. What we need to pay attention to—"

"—is Xiao Hai City."

Not all of the Blue Silver Emperor roots that remained there were retrieved by Tang San; a small portion of the roots still existed beneath the surface of Xiao Hai City and its surroundings.

Through those few roots, Tang San's mental force could descend and investigate the entire situation in Xiao Hai City.

That fellow Xu Huang intends to launch a night raid on Soul Sea Pass tonight to capture the city.

"Night raid?" Xiao Wu frowned. "They're not letting us get a good night's sleep, are they? Fortunately, top-tier combatants like us don't need much sleep."

The so-called lack of need for excessive sleep was limited to Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, Huo Wu, and others who cultivated the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset. Their vital essence, spirit, and mind had achieved a certain degree of circulation, almost forming their own self-contained world. In terms of physical strength and mental energy, they were far superior to ordinary Spirit Masters.

Gu Yuena, from a Life-level perspective, also didn't need to sleep in the human sense; her slumber was more for recuperation.

Besides them, Hu Liena could also rest for a shorter period than ordinary Spirit Masters, as the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne could, to some extent, assist in the slow elevation of her Life level.

As for everyone else, including Tang Xiao, they usually needed sleep to maintain their energy, though he could stay up longer than others.

"When will they arrive? How many people? Will that Xu Huang come with them?" Compared to these, Gu Yuena was more concerned about the specific details of the night raid.

"Around one or two in the morning."

"Number of people: fourteen, thirteen of whom are Spirit Douluo, led by a level ninety-eight Moonlight Elf."

"Xu Huang won't come; it would be too beneath him. Their main goal is likely to ascertain my specific strength."

It could be said that everything in Xiao Hai City was under Tang San's observation!

After confirming the intelligence Tang San provided, Gu Yuena gestured with her fingers and said, "Only that level ninety-eight guy will be a bit troublesome... What did you say a Moonlight Elf is?"

Xiao Wu was also puzzled: "What is that? Some kind of Spirit Beast?"

"A non-human humanoid creature that looks almost identical to humans; the females might be prettier... Their ears are pointed," Tang San described the appearance and origin of the elf race. "But they cannot be considered Spirit Beasts. They originate from the space within the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne: the Eternal Domain."

Gu Yuena let out an "Oh." She actually knew about elves. In the Dragon God's inherited memories, there was a similar pointed-ear race on a mortal star overseen by the God Realm, and they even had wings.

It was just that she hadn't had a concrete concept of them before Tang San described them.

After all, some rarer or uncommon Spirit Beasts on the continent were also given the title of "XX Elf."

"Eternal Domain? Is that a space built into the ultra-divine artifact?" Xiao Wu gave an example, "Something similar to the Spirit Beast Illusion Space?"

"It's more real. That is both the inherent Domain of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne and a true plane," Tang San added. "For the Spirit Beast Illusion Space to reach that level, it would probably require a lot of time to accumulate, at least until you and I both break through level hundred in spirit power."

Xiao Wu waved her fists, cheering, "Alright then, let's set a small goal: break through level hundred!"

Gu Yuena looked at Xiao Wu with the gaze one would use for an idiot and couldn't help but snort, "A mere rabbit wanting to break through level hundred, what a pipe dream."

Xiao Wu chuckled, leaned close to Tang San, and stuck out her tongue at Gu Yuena, provoking, "Who told me I have a good big brother? Unlike some precocious little brat who can't even sneak a bite."

Gu Yuena raised her middle finger, "凸(⊕⊖⊗⊙)!" and secretly vowed in her heart: Just you wait, dead rabbit. I'll definitely snatch Tang San away from you in the future, and then you'll be crying without tears!

After informing Marshal Ge Long about the Sun Moon Empire's planned night raid, Tang San and Xiao Wu returned to their sleeping quarters. Guang Ling, Rongrong, and Huo Wu had already changed into their pajamas and were waiting in bed—Tang San and Xiao Wu walked in, leaving Gu Yuena outside.

"What a horny glutton. They know the Sun Moon Empire will launch a night raid around midnight, yet instead of getting enough rest, they're still sleeping together as usual. Is that kind of thing really that enjoyable?"

Gu Yuena complained as she walked, "Those Spirit Beasts in the Star Dou Great Forest are so perfunctory when they reproduce, so why are humans so tirelessly enthusiastic about it?"

Unable to understand, Gu Yuena found Lan Yinzi, wanting to ask this "mature woman" for the specifics. At least Lan Yinzi wouldn't hide things from her just because she was a "child," and she was relatively respectful to her...

432: The responsibility of being the co-owner of soul beasts

When Lan Yinzi saw Gu Yuena arrive and tried to ask about that matter, her expression could only be described with the phrase “subway, old man, phone.”

No!

For the dignified Silver Dragon King to ask such a question, wasn't it a bit too... ridiculous?

“Well, I have memory loss; I don't remember,” Lan Yinzi said with a wry smile, using that excuse—as long as she didn't think about it, it was amnesia, and there was too much ‘yellow garbage’ in the original owner's memory that she didn't dare to recall... For a pure woman/girl like her, it was too “filthy.”

“Really?”

Gu Yuena didn't believe her, thinking Lan Yinzi was just making excuses, but plant Spirit Beasts and animal Spirit Beasts were not the same major category, and they wouldn't show bloodline-level submission to her, so she couldn't control them.

Besides, wasn't Lan Yinzi a special case?

Therefore, Gu Yuena skipped this topic and got to the point: “Didn't Tang San explain things before he went to ‘work’ with his little enchantresses? Come on, follow me to patrol near Soul Sea City. I'm very interested in that Moonlight Elf. She's not human, yet she can cultivate like a human. She really needs to be studied."

On the Douluo Continent, all non-human transcendent beings, meaning cultivable beings, whether native or from other planes or spaces, are considered Spirit Beasts, and after death, they will invariably drop a spirit ring.

Unless they appear in a place like Slaughter City, which is similar to a Divinity inheritance ground, where they can bypass the native rules of the Douluo Continent.

But for the Moonlight Elf, a non-human bloodline race, just having a human appearance allows her to bypass the rules of this World... For Gu Yuena, this was precious research material.

If she could figure out the key and replicate it within the Spirit Beast race, it might not be a way to prevent Spirit Beasts from being killed by human Spirit Masters.

Perhaps the two races would still compete for living space in the end, but at least the Spirit Beast race could exist for a longer time, and she, as their co-ruler, could find ways to cultivate more fierce beasts, thereby increasing the number of the true race.

From Tang San, she learned a lot: the foundation of the Spirit Beast race was indeed too poor; the only ones who could be called true members of the race, besides fierce beasts, were those Ten-thousand year soul beasts.

But there were too few Ten-thousand year soul beasts on land, and those guys in the ocean didn't obey her.

And while humans had many flaws, they possessed an advantage that Spirit Beasts and fierce beasts lacked: the courage to explore the World and change the environment.

Spirit Beasts and fierce beasts also possessed the power to change the environment, but they wouldn't do so; thousands and tens of thousands of years of growth only made them adapt to environmental changes, and they fundamentally wouldn't develop the subjective idea of transforming their surroundings.

The longer she stayed in the human World and the more she learned, the more worried Gu Yuena became about the future of the Spirit Beast race... although she often told herself that it was her main body's concern.

But she couldn't deny that her relationship with her main body wasn't that fractured; they were completely the same existence.

As the co-ruler, it was impossible for her to truly abandon her responsibility to the Spirit Beasts and disappoint their expectations.

Sometimes, Gu Yuena would think that if Tang San hadn't taught her so much, and had just pampered her as a cute little girl, then even if she abandoned the Spirit Beast race in the future and chose to live happily ever after with Tang San, she wouldn't feel any guilt.

Besides Ditian and Ziji, who could be considered her kin, she didn't really care much about the other Spirit Beasts in her heart.

It was just a thought of not wanting to disappoint their expectations... that was all.

After all—

Who stipulated that just because they revered her as their ruler, she absolutely had to help them?

And who stipulated that she, as one of the Dragon God's splinters, absolutely had to bear the responsibility for the rise of the Spirit Beasts?

The Dragon God even stipulated before his death: if the Dragon God does not appear, no Spirit Beast can become a Divinity.

The Silver Dragon King, who inherited half of the Dragon God, besides the idea of retaliating against the God Realm, also wanted to find a way to return to the God Realm after her recovery in the future, reclaim the other half, devour it, achieve the position of Dragon God herself, break the法则 set by the previous Dragon God, and allow Spirit Beasts to no longer suffer heavenly tribulations and cultivate to become Divinities on their own.

This was Gu Yuena's idea of reciprocating the Spirit Beasts' expectations.

And for most fierce beasts and Ten-thousand year soul beasts, excluding Ditian and Ziji, they didn't willingly revere Gu Yuena as their co-ruler; they were simply subdued by Ditian. In their eyes, whether it was the Golden Dragon King or her, the Silver Dragon King, ultimately who devoured whom didn't matter. They simply hoped for the reappearance of the Dragon God to break the curse of heavenly tribulations.

It was that simple.

Even if Ten-thousand year soul beasts and fierce beasts possessed human intelligence, the knowledge cultivated over thousands, tens of thousands, or even hundreds of thousands of years in an unchanging environment destined them not to think so much.

The instinct of the strong preying on the weak destined them to either submit or surrender to stronger existences.

But after these few years with Tang San, as she learned more, thought about more problems, broadened her understanding, and viewed things from a higher perspective, she realized that things were not that simple at all.

The meaning of Life lies in survival, reproduction, and adaptation.

Different types of Spirit Beasts can only live in corresponding environments; that is adaptation.

Humans transforming the environment and building houses is also adaptation.

It's just that one passively accepts natural adaptation, while the other has taken a different path, gradually making the natural environment adapt to them.

Who is superior and who is inferior?

Gu Yuena thought humans were more excellent, but Tang San said that it couldn't be seen in the short term, as human courage could sometimes be labeled as “courting death”... it needed to be viewed dialectically from a longer-term perspective...

Back to the main topic.

Anyway, Gu Yuena felt that if Spirit Beasts could avoid dropping a spirit ring after death, it could at least greatly weaken human Spirit Masters. Even if humans developed a new cultivation system in the future, by that time, the power of humans and Spirit Beasts should be able to approach equilibrium, and then through confrontation, both major races would develop in a spiral upward trend.

This is looking from a “God’s perspective.”

Perhaps a bit arrogant.

But as a Divinity—

Isn't arrogance a very normal thing?

Not worth mentioning!

For now, that Moonlight Elf is a very crucial research material. Even if she dies, doesn't Tang San have resurrection-type skills? She can be reused.

Tang San wouldn't casually experiment on innocent living people, but The Fallen were irrelevant, and the other party was an enemy from the Sun Moon Empire, an invader of the Douluo Continent, so they should be equivalent to The Fallen, right?

Moreover, as the co-ruler of the Spirit Beast race, isn't it a matter of course to protect the Spirit Beasts from harm by recognized otherworldly visitors?

With this thought, Gu Yuena used her divine sense to observe the direction of Xiao Hai City, and finally discovered fourteen people stealthily sneaking out from there.

And surprisingly, that level ninety-eight Moonlight Elf's utilization of dark elements was incredibly meticulous. Leading those thirteen Spirit Douluo, she was completely hidden in the darkness; even an ordinary level ninety-nine super Douluo would find it difficult to discover her.

If she weren't the Silver Dragon King, who also possessed an extremely strong perception of dark elements, she might not have been able to discover them...

433: Can actually save people from under my hammer

"The Elf race from another World really does have some skills. Although their control over dark elements isn't as strong as mine, their application efficiency is higher than mine."

Gu Yuena sighed in her heart, taking Lan Yinzi to the East Gate of Soul Sea City, preparing to wait for them to fall into her trap and catch them all in one go.

Compared to Gu Yuena, the Moonlight Elf Clan's control over darkness was indeed far inferior, but while Gu Yuena controlled multiple elements, they only controlled one, at most with death and destruction attributes. Since the energies were similar, their development and utilization of it were naturally much more refined than Gu Yuena, the poor dragon who was forced into slumber not long after her birth.

Although in recent years, Gu Yuena had also followed Tang San, Guang Ling, and others to study the operating principles of spirit tools, observing how some younger Spirit Beasts circulated spirit power through their bodies to enhance her own efficiency in utilizing elemental power, performing so-called "bionic" fine control.

It was just that there hadn't been much progress with dark elements. After all, there was less research into spirit tools that utilized darkness, and the number of low-year dark Spirit Beasts was not too many, preventing effective observation.

Now it was good. With the Moonlight Elf as "teachers," her "bionic" efforts would surely make rapid progress in increasing the utilization rate of dark elements...

Luo Qiu led thirteen Spirit Douluo-level Moonlight Elf, silently bypassing the coalition forces stationed in the forests around Xiao Hai City under the cover of night.

"What are you doing?" Seeing a team member quietly approaching a sentry watching Xiao Hai City from a watchtower, Luo Qiu immediately stepped forward and pulled her away.

Utilizing darkness, Luo Qiu and the Moonlight Elf could become invisible in the night. Even firelight and moonlight could hardly illuminate their figures, making them effectively invisible in the moonlight.

Only mental force could detect them.

And after becoming invisible, they could only rely on strong mental force to detect, making all surrounding obstacles appear in their minds, unable to see with their eyes.

Because their method of invisibility using dark elements was not to place themselves in another dimension, but a form of optical invisibility. When others couldn't see them, they also couldn't observe others with their eyes, only able to rely on mental force for detection.

"Queen, why don't we take the opportunity to kill these people?" This Moonlight Elf asked, puzzled, "They are our partners' enemies, aren't they?"

"Our goal is to raid Soul Sea City at night and ascertain the true strength of that Tang San. Don't do other meaningless things. This will alarm Soul Sea City and increase our difficulty," Luo Qiu warned. "The distance between Xiao Hai City and Soul Sea City is not far. If there's a little more commotion, and the people here launch a spirit tool egg into the sky, they will definitely notice it over there."

"Is that so? As expected of the Queen, so smart!" This Moonlight Elf said admiringly.

Luo Qiu, however, rubbed her forehead helplessly. She had never thought that members of the Moonlight Elf Clan wouldn't even think of this... Forget it, she wasn't much better when she first came out of the Eternal Domain.

However, she also understood why the previous Moon Night Queen's lie was exposed by that Dragon Hao Chen—

Given how foolish the Moonlight Elf were, anyone could probably tell they were easy to deceive, right?

Simply terrifyingly naive!

This was also one of the reasons Luo Qiu wanted to lead the Moonlight Elf Clan out of the Eternal Domain.

Because she discovered that only by leaving that unchanging environment of tens of thousands of years and interacting with the real World would the entire clan continue to progress and develop... Perhaps they would encounter many challenges, but staying in the Eternal Domain meant forever being raised as "poultry" and "livestock" for the assessment of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne.

The Creator God was not truly benevolent, or rather, this benevolence would not be given to their Moonlight Elf Clan...

Soul Sea City East Gate.

Six pairs of transparent, dark purple thin wings, like dragonflies, appeared behind Luo Qiu, while the other thirteen had three pairs. They flapped silently, using the dark elements to fly upwards.

When they reached the top of the city wall, they found Gu Yuena sitting at the top, her long legs constantly swinging, her purple eyes fixed on the fourteen people, including Luo Qiu.

Beside her sat a blue-haired woman, also youthful and charming, with no soldiers standing guard within a hundred meters.

Luo Qiu had chosen this spot precisely because there were no soldiers standing guard, deciding to climb over from here, but she hadn't expected two people to be present, and her mental force hadn't detected them earlier.

Could it be that they had already been discovered?

"Queen, let's go over." One of the Moonlight Elf didn't notice anything different and foolishly transmitted a message to Luo Qiu.

Luo Qiu: "....."

So tired.

She shouldn't have brought her clan members out to broaden their horizons; it would be the death of her!

Gu Yuena naturally saw the state of Luo Qiu and the others, like a slightly clever old teacher taking a group of novice academy students to their first Spirit Doulo competition.

"Lan Yinzi, do it."

As soon as her voice fell, Lan Yinzi slightly raised her hand. In the air between the fourteen Moonlight Elf, specks of blue starlight flickered, followed by countless Blue Silver Emperor emerging, intertwining and connecting to form a net that bound them all.

"We've been discovered!"

Rip!

Luo Qiu immediately broke free with brute force.

In panic, intelligent beings generally forget the elemental power they control and instead resort to their body's instinct—physical strength.

Among the fourteen Moonlight Elf present, almost all of them forgot to use the power of darkness to corrode the Blue Silver Emperor at this moment, only knowing to struggle with their physical bodies. Only Luo Qiu, a level ninety-eight powerhouse, broke free.

The other Moonlight Elf, although Spirit Douluo, were not known for their physical strength, so relying solely on physical power, they could not break free from the Blue Silver Emperor's net.

"Use dark elements, you idiots!" Luo Qiu cursed, grabbing a Blue Silver Emperor vine that was coiling around her, injecting dark energy, and instantly disintegrating and dissolving it.

The other Moonlight Elf suddenly realized and unleashed the power of dark elements, breaking free from the Blue Silver net, but the spirit power fluctuations of thirteen Spirit Douluo and one level ninety-eight had already attracted the attention of the city's powerhouses.

Chrysanthemum Immortal...

Oh no, it was Ghost Mr. In the dark night, the body of the Bone Armor Twin Pole Human was controlled by Ghost Douluo, and his body naturally transformed into a colder male form.

Upon his arrival, he immediately confronted Luo Qiu, and the clash of death and darkness erupted at this moment.

Subsequently, Bone Douluo, Tang Xiao, Ge Long, Zhu Zhuqing, and Yu Tianheng, among others, arrived one after another, confronting the remaining thirteen Moonlight Elf who seemed to have forgotten to escape.

A one-sided melee thus began.

"Are these guys really that foolish?" Gu Yuena suddenly felt that learning to use dark elements from them was not a good idea, but she still saved them when Tang Xiao and Bone Douluo were about to deliver the final blow to these Moonlight Elf, saying, "Spare their lives. Their value alive is greater than their value dead."

Tang Xiao's pupils contracted. He secretly thought: This young girl is unfathomable. She can even save someone from under my hammer...

434: trial

The next day, early morning.

Tang San had just opened his sleepy eyes and helplessly touched Xiao Wu's head: "You prepared so much fine wine and delicacies last night, and you're still not full?"

"This is your punishment!" Xiao Wu demonstrated the accuracy of the statement 【Rabbits are very vengeful creatures】 , still dwelling on Gu Yuena's "provocation" yesterday.

"Alright, I accept the punishment. You can decide what to do." Tang San stretched lazily, leaned against the headboard, sensed the rhythm of Xiao Wu's blood and qi, and said, "Your internal organs are almost at the Divine Treasure level of cultivation, right?"

"Mhm." Xiao Wu twisted her waist and said proudly, "Of course. Who do you think I am? I'm the naturally gifted Xiao Wu Jie. The Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method is about to reach completion, so you need to work harder."

"Doing this so early in the morning, aren't you ashamed?" Guang Ling was awakened by the sound of the collision of two Cosmic Great Daos, rubbed his eyes, and said speechlessly.

"Exactly."

"Truly shameless."

Ning Rongrong and Huo Wu also woke up and looked at this scene speechlessly, but then, unwilling to be outdone, joined in, sharing the path of blood and qi cultivation.

It wasn't until the sun was high in the sky that the four women and one man leisurely finished washing up and getting dressed.

"Yesterday, the Sun Moon Empire was going to have fourteen guys come for a night raid. We ignored it, is that okay?" Xiao Wu was a little worried about this matter. Last night, because she was wholeheartedly focused on blood and qi cultivation, she didn't release her spiritual power to investigate, and didn't know what the situation was like outside.

"It's fine, they've all been caught." Tang San stretched lazily and led everyone to the rooftops of Soul Sea City at a speed that exceeded what ordinary vision could observe, and began to cultivate Cosmic Meditation, directly drawing on the Great Sun's light to temper their spirits.

Apart from Tang San, the women, with the improvement of their cultivation and the strengthening of their bodies, can now also directly draw on the light of the Great Sun to cultivate their spiritual power. When the three treasures of essence, qi, and spirit reach a certain level in the future, they will also be able to transform their souls into primordial spirit, laying an immortal foundation.

When everyone finished their cultivation, Marshal Ge Long personally came over and invited Tang San and the others to interrogate the prisoners who had launched the night raid last night.

The cultivation of Tang San and the others naturally fell into Ge Long's eyes, but he didn't dare to ask more or investigate too much. Not to mention that all kinds of self-created soul skills were secrets, just the other party's powerful strength was enough to deter others from secretly learning them. Even if they did, they could only hide it and not use it openly, otherwise they would be enemies with the entire Spirit Hall.

When Tang San arrived at the trial hall, Luo Qiu and the thirteen Moonlight Elf's abdomens were all fitted with a silver belt, and their hands were also bound, sealing their soul power.

Those belts, called Soul Sealing Belts, were a type of soul guidance device that the Spirit Hall, after gaining a certain understanding of the human body's meridians, jointly researched and manufactured with the help of Tang San and Guang Ling, capable of blocking the flow of soul power in the meridians.

Of course, because the current quantity is still relatively small, only powerful soul masters are qualified to use this kind of belt—because the material used is deep-sea sunken silver, moon crystal stone and other precious minerals, even Peerless Douluo are difficult to break open. Therefore, the level ninety-eight Luo Qiu simply cannot break free in a short time.

The treatment of those Sun Moon Army prisoners was much rougher. They were directly punched in the abdomen, or their hand and foot tendons were severed, so that soul power could not circulate smoothly. That could also be said to be sealing soul power, but whether they could "unlock the seal" in the future would completely depend on luck.

Ge Long invited Tang San and the others to take a seat, then walked to the main seat, sat down, and said: "Now that everyone is here, let the trial begin."

"This Marshal is responsible for recording. I will trouble everyone to conduct the interrogation."

After Ge Long took out paper and pen, Xue Beng asked the first question: "What is your name? What are you in the Sun Moon Empire? What is your purpose here?"

This question was simple and clear, but Luo Qiu kept silent, not caring about Xue Beng's question at all. Her eyes scanned back and forth over the others, and when her gaze fell on Tang San, it lingered for a longer time.

Seeing that the other party ignored him, Xue Beng felt a little embarrassed. He was about to get angry when Zhu Zhuqing interrupted him and said: "It doesn't matter if you don't answer the previous question. Names can be changed, identities can be faked, and as for the purpose, it's nothing more than occupying this Soul Sea City and investigating our situation, etc...."

Luo Qiu looked in surprise at Zhu Zhuqing, whose figure and personality were completely mismatched, and smiled: "I originally thought you were just a vase, but I didn't expect you to be quite knowledgeable. However, you also revealed a piece of information, that you don't seem to be of one mind."

"We didn't intend to hide it." Zhu Zhuqing said bluntly, after all, there are four major forces here, Heaven Dou, New Tiandou, Star Luo, and Spirit Hall, who are only temporarily united. She doesn't mind getting close to the Spirit Hall represented by Tang San, but it's only limited to herself and doesn't include the soul masters she brought.

This kind of thing is obvious to everyone, and there's no point in hiding it.

"Then you really have to thank the Sun Moon Empire. If it weren't for us, you might still be fighting each other, with the countries fighting to the death." Luo Qiu said with a smile.

"This is not the same thing." Ning Fengzhi shook his head, his eyes sharp, "Let's talk about how many experts the Sun Moon Empire still has. You might be able to save your life."

"There are still two level ninety-eight, but they are in Sun Moon Continent and didn't come together. Among the experts who have landed on Douluo Continent, I am the only Title Douluo left. As for the others..."

Luo Qiu looked at Tang San, who was leisurely soaking wolfberries, as if he didn't care about the trial at all, and smiled: "...they were probably all killed by this handsome young man."

Hu Liena frowned and asked: "Don't you care about their life or death?"

"Why should I care? My relationship with the Emperor of the Sun Moon Empire is just a cooperative one." Luo Qiu said bluntly, "If any of you can seize the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne from his hands and find a suitable place to live for our Moonlight Elf Clan, we don't mind defecting."

"Profit above all else?" Tang San soaked the wolfberries, took a sip, and said in a calm tone, "Seeking advantages and avoiding disadvantages is human nature, but most of the surrendered enemy troops will not be reused. Those in high positions are always suspicious. Today, they can betray their partners, and tomorrow they might stab us in the back... Normal people will have this idea and thus be wary."

"It depends on whether those in high positions are enlightened." Luo Qiu smiled slightly, not afraid at all, but instead made Ge Long, Xue Beng and others frown.

Isn't this a subtle satire of the monarch?

"What a sharp-tongued thief!" Xue Beng sneered and said to Marshal Ge Long, "There's no need for a trial, just drag her out and behead her."

However, Ge Long ignored him and only told Xue Beng to be calm. The interrogation had only just begun. If it ended like this, what would be the point of so many people gathering together?

He could have had these guys beheaded from the start.

“What is the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne?”

It was Hu Liena who asked this question. She possessed a Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne, and the name of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne mentioned by the other party was very similar. Could it be the divine artifact that Xu Huang possessed, capable of helping him reach god-level strength?

It was just this appellation—

Did Tang San know of its existence long ago?

Was the Soul Imprint Throne a replica?

“There is more than one World and plane, and the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne is the Creator God’s seat. It is a super divine artifact capable of traversing various planes. Due to a space-time 乱流, it descended upon the Sun Moon Continent of this World, where it was found by Xu Huang of the Sun Moon Empire, who then gained the right to use it.”

Luo Qiu did not hide anything. She didn’t have much respect for the Creator God.

“It can transform into armor or a weapon, greatly enhancing the user’s combat power. Furthermore, it comes with its own Eternal Domain, which is a plane. Our Moonlight Elf Clan originates from there.”

“Moreover, this super divine artifact can also traverse various planes, which means various different Worlds.”

“One could say, whoever holds that Throne, we obey.”

“Oh, and there’s one more thing I haven’t mentioned: within the Eternal Domain, there are also three god-level powerhouses: Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel.”

This massive amount of information, after being revealed by Luo Qiu, took a long time for everyone except Tang San and a few others to digest.

The Creator God’s seat...

Other Worlds...

Three true god-level powerhouses...

All of this shocked everyone and filled them with deep unease.

Especially the three god-level powerhouses, they were surely Xu Huang’s trump cards, and his confidence in conquering the Douluo Continent.

“You’re definitely trying to scare us, right?” Xue Beng was the first to regain his composure, scoffing coldly, “If there really were gods, why would Xu Huang have needed to negotiate with us last time?”

This was also the doubt of most people present.

After all, if the other party possessed power beyond a Spirit Master, why wouldn’t they use it?

“I’m not sure about that. Perhaps it’s the Creator God’s benevolence,” Luo Qiu responded nonchalantly, as if she knew but simply wouldn’t say, teasing them.

“Silverblue Earl, do you think this is true?” Ge Long stopped writing and sought Tang San’s help.

“Although she’s holding back some information, she’s not lying,” Tang San ended the suspicion, looking directly at Luo Qiu and asking, “Now, tell us your identity.”

“The Sun Moon Empire Emperor’s collaborator, and concubine,” Luo Qiu licked her lips, “But we haven’t consummated the marriage yet, as our collaboration isn’t complete.”

“Content of the collaboration?”

“He helps our Moonlight Elf find a suitable place to live, and I become his wife. The Moonlight Elf Clan will then be under his rule,” Luo Qiu stated truthfully.

“Is that so?” Tang San nodded slightly, then said to Ge Long and the others, “I have no more questions. What else do you want to ask? Go ahead and ask. This Moonlight Elf race, I might need to study them later to see if their internal structure is consistent with humans.”

Upon hearing this, the faces of all non-Spirit Hall personnel present changed.

Ge Long, Xue Beng, Tang Xiao, and others had long heard many rumors that Tang San conducted research in Spirit City, which involved dissecting human corpses, mostly those of The Fallen.

They hadn’t expected this to be true!

Ning Fengzhi’s expression also showed some emotion, but he said nothing. After all, these fourteen individuals were originally enemies of the Sun Moon Empire, so even if they were killed, it didn’t matter.

Besides, they were Moonlight Elf, not humans.

If some benefit could be researched through this race, these fellows would have died for a good cause... Primarily, as Tang San’s father-in-law, Ning Fengzhi felt he could also gain benefits, so he naturally supported it.

Subsequently, the others questioned Luo Qiu about other matters concerning the Sun Moon Empire. She answered selectively, mixing truth and falsehood, completely different from her attitude when answering Tang San.

Left with no choice, Ge Long could only end the interrogation and confine the fourteen individuals to separate dungeons. However, apart from each having a private cell, their other treatment was no different from ordinary captives.

Afterward, Tang San and Gu Yuena found Luo Qiu in the dungeon.

“Little brother, I knew it, you’re a man of passion. The Moonlight Elf Clan’s noses are very sensitive to the intermingling of male and female scents. You’ve had relations with those four female companions, haven’t you? The kind where you all sleep together... Tsk tsk, I knew my beauty would attract you.”

Luo Qiu sat up from the plank bed in the cell, stretched, revealing her slender waist. The collar of her clothes at her shoulders also pulled down slightly, revealing a hint of snowy white skin. “But what’s with you bringing this little girl? Are you planning for us all to be together? How romantic.”

Though she said this, Luo Qiu was dedicating nearly half of her attention to Gu Yuena. After all, this young girl was the first to discover her presence, and although her power was clearly weak, there was a strange sense of oppression, like facing Easton King before... This was someone suppressing her own power—

A god.

But the scent was similar to a Sacred Dragon... It was a Dragon race!

“Don’t mess around. The value of being dead is not as great as being alive,” Tang San ignored Luo Qiu’s complaints and warned Gu Yuena before she could act, “Although I possess revival skills, whether the native Spirit Abilities can revive creatures from other Worlds is still an unknown.”

“Relax, relax, am I that impulsive?” Gu Yuena waved her hand casually, kicked open the cell door, and walked inside.

“What a domineering young girl. Could it be that you’re going first?” Luo Qiu continued to “flirt,” “Let me say this upfront, it’s my first time, so be gentle...”

Gu Yuena grabbed the other party’s neck, lifted her up, and said fiercely, “If you utter another word of nonsense, this young lady will turn you into an asexual being!”

Before Luo Qiu could speak, Gu Yuena bit directly into her neck, instantly sucking out all the blood from her body and spitting it onto the floor. Then, just before Luo Qiu was about to fall unconscious, she bit her again, injecting a drop of her own fresh blood, controlling it to enter Luo Qiu’s spine, transforming her bone marrow and creating brand new blood.

Immediately, under the rapid action of the body’s hematopoietic tissue, Luo Qiu’s shriveled body re-inflated and became rosy.

“Thump, thump, thump!”

The sound of a more powerful Heartbeat echoed throughout the cell.

In a short while, Luo Qiu recovered to her peak condition, her spirit power reaching the pinnacle of ninety-eighth rank, as if she only needed to break through a thin membrane to reach the ninety-ninth rank.

In terms of appearance, Luo Qiu did not undergo significant changes, except that her black hair turned silver, her pupils also became silver, and a Silver Dragon tattoo appeared on her forehead.

“It worked. She is no longer a pure Moonlight Elf, but a Silver Dragon Elf who obeys my commands!”

436: Silver Dragon Elf: You really don't need to tell me this Chapter 436 Silver Dragon Elf: You really don't need to tell me this...

"Although I knew the Dragon Clan was strange, I didn't expect it to be this strange."

Watching Luo Qiu's hair and eye color change, Tang San pushed the detection glasses on his nose. His Primordial Spirit detected how Gu Yuena's drop of dragon blood was working within Luo Qiu's body—

It was directly changing a person's bloodline factors!

The amount of information that needed to be processed in this process was not something a normal brain could control... Gu Yuena also didn't seem to be able to process it. Instead, the dragon blood itself had already planned the corresponding "replacement equation," which could replace a part of the bloodline factors without harming the normal Life activities of other biological cells.

"Also, with this behavior of yours, do you really think you're a vampire?"

"Actually, you didn't have to draw blood from her, right?"

Gu Yuena wiped the Moonlight Elf blood from her lips and snorted, "What do you know? This is to determine the attribute of the blood in her body. It's absolutely not to look cool."

Gu Yuena was extremely proud of the power of the Dragon Clan bloodline, because no matter what kind of creature obtained dragon blood, they would be dragonized to a certain extent... In the past, Gu Yuena felt nothing, just considering it a normal phenomenon. But now, she was a little curious about the principle of how dragon blood affects other creatures.

This was influenced by Tang San, wanting to explore what role the dragon blood played in the process of "dragonization," rather than just dismissing it as a powerful bloodline.

Through Luo Qiu's transformation, she now had some understanding of the process by which dragon blood dragonized other Life forms, but she still didn't know why this happened... This proved that she didn't fully understand her own bloodline, but was just using it instinctively.

This won't do...

...

On the other side, Luo Qiu found that her body had become much stronger, her Soul Power had also reached the peak state of level ninety-eight, and the Soul Sealing Belt on her waist seemed to have lost its effect.

Just as she was about to erupt, she saw Gu Yuena glare at her. Her whole body trembled, and the Soul Power within her body felt as heavy as a mountain, completely unable to be mobilized. Moreover, a sense of respect involuntarily arose in her heart.

This was bloodline suppression!

"What did you do to me?" Luo Qiu trembled, no longer having the previous charm, her eyes filled with fear.

Although she had become stronger, if the price was to dedicate her loyalty, then she would rather not have this powerful strength and keep her most precious freedom.

"I turned you into a Silver Dragon Elf, or you could call it a Dragon Elf." Gu Yuena waved her hand, signaling the other party to calm down, "It's not some Life-and-death contract or anything like that. I can't decide your Life or death through bloodline. It's just that from now on, when you meet me, you will instinctively submit, after all, I am the superior who bestowed your bloodline."

"Can the bloodline be taken back?" Luo Qiu tentatively asked.

"No." Gu Yuena grinned, "From today on, you are my subject. You must serve your King well, which is me."

"But I generally don't ask too much of my subjects."

"For example, him—"

Speaking of this, Gu Yuena raised her finger and pointed at Tang San, "He is also half of my subject. It's a pity this guy often defies his superiors and doesn't appreciate the honor I bring him."

"Talk about that after you pay back the money you owe me." Tang San slapped away her finger that was almost poking his nose and said to Luo Qiu, "Now, tell me the specifics about Xu Huang. His Martial Soul, strength, when he became the Emperor of the Sun Moon Continent, the shipping routes between the Sun Moon Continent and the Douluo Continent, and so on."

Luo Qiu's eyes were full of resentment, but at Gu Yuena's request, she had to slowly recount everything about the Sun Moon Empire. Finally, she personally drew a sea chart of the two Continent plates.

It must be said that Luo Qiu's drawing skills were good. Every place was clearly marked, and under Gu Yuena's command, she dared not play any tricks.

Furthermore, since things had come to this, Luo Qiu could only go all the way with Tang San and the others.

The reproduction and continuation of the ethnic group...

Her own Life safety...

Luo Qiu chose the latter without hesitation.

After all, she found that she wasn't as great as she had once imagined.

"Thanks." Tang San put away the recorded content, then put the sea chart drawn by Luo Qiu into his storage wristband, and thanked the other party, "Although you didn't make any big mistakes, you were in cahoots with the Emperor of the Sun Moon Empire, Xu Huang, for a while, so you need to make up for it."

"How? You're not going to ask me to be an undercover agent, are you?" Luo Qiu's eyes were strange.

"It seems you are very familiar with this kind of routine." Tang San smiled faintly, "Did Xu Huang ask you to do this before the Sun Moon Empire was unified?"

"You guessed it right. When the Sun Moon Empire was about to conquer the last kingdom on the Sun Moon Continent, the Kingdom of Moon, it was difficult to break through, and because the King of the Kingdom of Moon liked women whose Martial Soul had beastified to a normal state, I was sent there..." Luo Qiu described that past event, and then said, "History often has similarities."

"However, he didn't force me. It was my choice, after all, the owner of the Creator God King's throne needs noble character and cannot oppress others, so—"

"I was 'willing'!"

Luo Qiu gritted her teeth slightly at the word "willing."

"Since you are skilled at it, I don't need to say more. It's just that your hair and eye color need to be disguised, and also, this is an order, you don't need to be willing." Tang San didn't care about the other party's gnashing of teeth. Instead, he noticed her silver hair and silver eyes, as well as the dragon pattern on her forehead. He suddenly thought of something and looked at Gu Yuena for a while—

By the way, can Gu Yuena bestow God tests or similar things on others?

As soon as this question appeared, a positive answer emerged in Tang San's mind.

Bestowing, theoretically, is definitely possible.

But in practice, Gu Yuena might not know exactly how to do it, and Gu Yuena's main body was still sleeping. It was impossible for her to spend extra energy to bestow any God tests on people.

Moreover, the rewards of God tests, such as increasing Soul Power, might also require the efficacy of faith power, so it's better to use them less...

"What are you looking at? Is there something on my face?" Gu Yuena wiped her face, but there was no dust.

"It's just that seeing the dragon pattern on her forehead suddenly reminded me of other places, nothing... By the way, her hair color can be changed back, right?" Tang San gave up the idea of letting Gu Yuena bestow Silver Dragon King God tests on Xiao Wu and others to quickly increase their strength, and subtly changed the subject.

"Naturally."

Gu Yuena, with her keen insight, naturally sensed that Tang San was hiding some thoughts, but she had no intention of digging deeper. She just nodded, "She herself has a Darkness constitution and possesses extremely strong Darkness attributes. Just use Darkness power to slightly disguise it, and the dragon pattern on her forehead can also be hidden. I'll teach her a small trick."

After hiding the dragon pattern on her forehead and disguising her hair color with a layer of black, Luo Qiu asked, "Am I going to pretend to escape later? This matter cannot be known by the third... fourth person, right? I understand. Xu Huang also told me the same thing last time..."

"To be precise, it cannot be known by the eighth person." Tang San corrected, "Because I will definitely tell my four female companions, otherwise, if they make a fuss then, I will have to spend the whole night comforting them."

Luo Qiu: "..."

In terms of being flirtatious, she was far inferior to this "big boy" in front of her—

Please don't flirt in front of him, thank you.

437: Rumors in Xiaohai City

That night, Luo Qiu broke free from the Soul Sealing Belt and led the other thirteen Moonlight Elves to blast open a hole and escape out of the city.

Ghost Mr. immediately went to pursue them, but after exchanging two blows with Luo Qiu, he was quite shocked, because the other party's strength had improved, and was even about to reach the Peerless level.

“Could it be—”

Realizing something, Ghost Mr. stopped after chasing for three li, led the Spirit Hall people back, and said: “Let's go back. We were careless this time. Next time, they won't be so lucky.”

“Damn it! Those guys actually ran away!” Xue Beng secretly hated. Those Moonlight Elves were all very good-looking. Even someone as un lustful as him was quite tempted—Xue Beng's纨绔 (wan ku = playboy) was a disguise, but after disguising as a “pig” for so many years, hadn't he really learned some of the “essence” of a “pig?”

Besides, most normal men are lustful.

“The Spirit Hall's Soul Sealing Belt isn't that great either.” Xue Beng turned his spearhead towards Hu Liena. Although Tang San was the Saint Child of Spirit Hall, he was also the Silverblue Earl of Heaven Dou Empire. Because he was recommended as the Emperor of the New Heaven Dou Federation, his relationship with Xue Beng was already stiff enough, so there was no need to offend another one... In his opinion, Tang San must also be interested in the position of Pope of Spirit Hall in the future.

After all, who would refuse power?

Therefore, Tang San's current indifference to power was, in Xue Beng's eyes, just a superficial persona. In fact, he was in a competitive relationship with the Saintess of Spirit Hall.

Men always want face and want to appear generous.

However, now was not the time for infighting, so Xue Beng just ridiculed Hu Liena, the Saintess of Spirit Hall, a little, which shouldn't provoke Tang San's disgust.

But Hu Liena didn't pay attention to Xue Beng at all.

In fact, most of the people present regarded Xue Beng as a dispensable transparent person, and only Ge Long would take care of Xue Beng's mood slightly for the sake of Heaven Dou's face.

“Saint Child, do you have anything to say about the escape of the Moonlight Elves?” Ghost Mr.'s hoarse voice rang out, curiously asking, “After all, you and Miss Gu Yuena entered the dungeon and came out, and then they ran away in the evening. One can't help but suspect whether you have reached some secret deal.”

“Luo Qiu has been subdued and is now our mole.” Tang San told the truth. As for how he subdued her, he didn't say, after all, it concerned Gu Yuena's secret.

Ghost Mr. was the first to believe it, and sighed: “As expected of Saint Child, you are really amazing, even able to subdue the enemy and make them abandon darkness and turn to the light. When the time comes, give that Xu Huang a fatal blow, he will definitely not expect it.”

Hu Liena looked at Ghost Mr. speechlessly for a while, and thought to herself: Did Senior Ghost Douluo and Tang San know something by singing in harmony like this?

Gu Yuena turned her head and glanced at Tang San... In terms of speechlessness, she was the most speechless—

They had clearly agreed that no eighth person should know, but how many people are here now?

It is estimated that it won't be long before the entire Soul Sea City knows!

However, it wasn't just Soul Sea City. Only two days later, even Xiao Hai City heard the rumors.

“Have you heard? Emperor's concubine: Luo Qiu, has defected to the enemy and is now a mole!”

“That must be fake!”

“That's not necessarily true. After all, a woman's heart is like a needle at the bottom of the sea. Let me tell you, my ex-girlfriend was originally very affectionate with me, but she turned around and threw herself into the arms of a young master from a large family, and said that I couldn't give her the happiness she wanted.”

“What nonsense are you talking about? Hurry up and get to work!”

It was not until the news reached Xu Huang's ears that he ordered the internal people to stop spreading rumors.

Luo Qiu betraying him?

Impossible!

Absolutely impossible!

After all, Luo Qiu is a Moonlight Elf, and a large group of her clansmen are still in the Eternal Domain. In addition, she has followed him for so many years, and even if they don't have a physical relationship, they still have feelings, so how could she betray him?

Moreover, if Luo Qiu really became a spy, how stupid would the people in Soul Sea City have to be to spread the news all over the sky in just two days?

This must be a scheme to sow discord!

Because Luo Qiu brought back Tang San's information, the generals of Soul Sea City became angry and prepared such a strategy... Although it couldn't shake him, the soldiers below who didn't know the specific situation of Luo Qiu would be frightened.

Xu Huang was not worried about the loyalty of the Sun Moon Army, but if these Sun Moon Army spent a part of their minds being wary of Luo Qiu, it would definitely reduce their work and combat efficiency.

Sometimes, being too loyal also has its drawbacks...

“Damn Tang San, to actually use such a trick, it's really despicable!” Xu Huang gritted his teeth, wishing he could rush to Soul Sea City and slap the other party twice.

Unfortunately, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne requires the user to be “reserved”, that is: righteous, kind, tolerant, calm, etc. All his lustful behaviors, unless they originate from inner love, will cause the throne to reduce its perception of him—who told this thing to have a weapon spirit and an artifact spirit?

Otherwise, how could Luo Qiu still maintain her virginity?

It can be said that since obtaining the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, Xu Huang has also been restraining his inner desires, trying to maintain the bright and beautiful appearance of an elegant nobleman, and the darkness in his heart can only be suppressed in his heart and cannot be released.

Luo Qiu's expression was also strange.

They had clearly agreed that no eighth person should know, but now, how many people know about this?

However, as long as Xu Huang doesn't believe that she has betrayed him, that's fine... Thinking of this, Luo Qiu seemed to understand something, and cursed inwardly: Humans are really a cunning race! There are really enough twists and turns in this!

It's just that who told her to get on Gu Yuena's pirate ship?

She couldn't help herself.

But Luo Qiu couldn't directly assassinate Xu Huang either. There were three main reasons.

First, Xu Huang's strength is not bad. Although his Soul Power is only level eighty-two, his strength is comparable to that of a Title Douluo above level ninety-five without borrowing the god seal throne.

She would not act unless she could kill him instantly.

Second, those Sun Moon Army are extremely fanatical about Xu Huang. If Xu Huang suddenly died, they would use large-scale Soul Guidance Bombs and die with her, and she would also be injured.

Third, she originally came from the Eternal Domain. No matter what, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne is also the birthplace of her hometown, and she should maintain due respect for its user.

Xu Huang can also be regarded as a real powerhouse. Even if he is going to die, he should have the most decent way to die—that is, to die in a war worthy of the Emperor's status.

“Your Majesty, regarding Tang San's information, there is one more thing that I don't know whether I should tell you.” Seeing Xu Huang calm down from his anger, Luo Qiu brought up one thing: “Tang San actually let me come back on purpose...”

“I know!” Xu Huang nodded, “I won't be defeated by the rumors they spread, after all, they don't know the relationship between you and me.”

“It's not these.” Luo Qiu shook her head, and stared at Xu Huang: “He wants me to give you a challenge letter and fight on the vast sea!”

438: You can't just give Xiao Wu a small chance!

“Declaration of war!”

Xu Huang’s expression changed.

If he were a normal emperor, he could completely ignore such a challenge, as the opponent had not made it public, implying the duel would be secretive and possibly involve underhanded tactics.

But he could not.

Because he was the user of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, and while possessing this seat of the Creator God, he was equivalent to a candidate for the Creator God.

And how could a candidate for the Creator God fear a challenge?

If he hadn't heard about it, then so be it; he could pretend it never happened; but once he heard about it, no matter if the challenger was a three-year-old child or an eighty-year-old elder, he had to accept, and he also had to show a tolerant attitude after the battle.

“That’s right, Tang San wants me to declare war on you, and you cannot bring anyone but yourself.” Luo Qiu showed a hint of sorrow, “I didn’t want to say it, but one of his female companions used a subconscious mental influence skill on my mind, and if I didn’t speak, my mental force would stimulate my brain into unbearable pain.”

“That kind of pain felt as if my soul was being torn apart!”

Seeing Luo Qiu's eyes filled with bloodshot, Xu Huang was startled.

To be honest, he had doubted whether she had truly betrayed them, but at this moment, he believed her words; after all, how could Luo Qiu abandon her own people in the Eternal Domain?

Now that she was subjected to an enemy's Spirit Ability, it was understandable.

“It's fine, I don't mind. Fighting Tang San will allow me to test his true strength, it's just—”

Xu Huang's only concern at the moment was whether Tang San could unleash divine force.

He himself didn't need to worry; the special nature of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne could perfectly conceal the aura of power exceeding the Divinity level that he unleashed.

But Tang San was different; if his power was too strong and attracted the attention of the God Realm, he, the Sun Moon Emperor, might have to go offline early.

Regarding the Douluo Series, Xu Huang still remembered some settings, for example, the rules of the God Realm Committee were formulated by the five God Kings together, not some World rule; they regulated other Divinities, but the five of them had reasons to descend to the lower realm, and they wouldn't suffer too much punishment afterward.

After all, they were the rule-makers, and their power was the strongest. Moreover, the God Realm needed the five God Kings to stabilize it, so even if someone made a big mistake, the other four would just verbally criticize them. After all, if they were to truly enforce laws against God King-level existences, the God Realm couldn't afford the loss.

“Your Majesty, please rest assured, I will act.” Luo Qiu saw Xu Huang frowning and quickly promised that she would intervene.

The possessor of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne could not have any human flaws; in a duel, they could not rely on others to play dirty, but if their subordinates actively intervened on their own, it was another matter.

The pride of the Creator God was not entirely rigid; many times, it would turn a blind eye.

Xu Huang was deeply moved: “Thank you, Luo Qiu.”

Luo Qiu nodded and reminded again: “Our cooperation with Your Majesty is not yet over. Although we Moonlight Elves live in darkness, we are the most honest and trustworthy. The previous queen promised Dragon Hao Chen that she would marry him, and she was truly willing to abide by it. It’s just a pity that Dragon Hao Chen didn’t know what was good for him and allowed his elemental Spirit to take over her body.”

“Please rest assured, I am definitely not a hypocrite like Dragon Hao Chen.” Xu Huang immediately proved himself, “To find a suitable place for the Moonlight Elves to live is my promise!”

“Your Majesty~”

“Luo Qiu~”

The two slowly drew closer. As their emotions deepened, Luo Qiu suddenly raised her hand and pushed Xu Huang away, saying, “Your Majesty, it’s not time to fulfill the promise yet, is it?”

“Ah? Oh, yes, yes, yes, it’s not time yet.” Xu Huang awkwardly chuckled and changed the subject: “By the way, when is the duel? And the specific location?”

“Three days later, we will meet in the reef area near Xiao Hai City’s coast. As for where we go after that, I’m not sure...” Luo Qiu stated a time and a meeting place, then her eyes showed concern as she cared, “Your Majesty, why don’t you just not go, to avoid any tricks?”

“As the Creator God’s spokesperson in this World, I fear no challenge!” During the conversation with Luo Qiu, Easton King and others were also trying to persuade Xu Huang.

Finally, Xu Huang also figured it out.

What if it attracted the attention of the God Realm? He could just use this god seal throne to go to other planes, and when he became a Divinity, he would regain his face. Why be so timid?

Moreover, he had been slapped twice, and he absolutely had to get his dignity back!

“However, there’s one thing I still want to confirm. Who was Tang San’s female companion who used that mental Spirit Ability on you?” Xu Huang was quite curious about this. Xiao Wu did have a “Charm” skill, but it shouldn’t have such power, right?

Could it be other individuals skilled in the mental system?

Was it Hu Liena?

Or someone else?

Tang San didn’t care about this either; after all, anyone who had seen the Douluo Series and saw Gu Yuena’s appearance could roughly guess her identity.

Concealment?

It had no meaning.

“Gu Yuena? Not even sparing his daughter-in-law...” Xu Huang narrowed his eyes slightly. He hadn’t expected Gu Yuena to exist in this era... No, Gu Yuena had always existed, but most of the time, she was in a dormant state.

In the original series, she only truly appeared during the空白期 when the God Realm disappeared.

Is her appearance now due to Tang San?

Indeed!

The original “protagonist” was his true opponent, the transmigrator, for unifying the Douluo Continent. Only by defeating him could he seize the entire Douluo Continent’s luck.

“Daughter-in-law?” Luo Qiu was confused, but Xu Huang sometimes said strange things, and she was already used to it.

“Nothing.” Xu Huang casually skipped over the matter. He wasn’t worried about occasionally letting something slip, after all, he was the Emperor of the Empire and powerful, so no one dared to question him...

...

“Third Brother, are you really going to duel Xu Huang?”

Inside the room.

Xiao Wu stirred her entire body’s blood and qi, her muscles trembling, as she and Tang San galloped together.

The melodious chirping of orioles was continuous.

“Since we’ve confirmed Xu Huang’s specific situation from Luo Qiu, we must take advantage of it. He will definitely not refuse, and cannot refuse.”

Tang San held Xiao Wu’s head, diligently working. Not just their blood and qi, but even their spirit power and mental force resonated and vibrated at this moment.

Their “cultivation” was like two universes colliding and merging, with their essence, qi, and Spirit integrating into one at this moment, presenting a chaotic, harmonious state.

Then, a thunderous boom erupted, and a spear of Creation pierced through the chaos, causing it to split into two, forming yin and yang, precisely the wondrous realm of [You in Me, Me in You]!

Both of their hearts trembled, entering a state of great joy and freedom.

And at this moment, Xiao Wu finally completed her cultivation of the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method, her entire body radiating a brilliant golden light, as if she had truly transformed into a flawless crystal, and her soul was slowly evolving towards a primordial Spirit.

“Next, it’s my turn.”

Guang Ling, seeing this scene, couldn't hold back. He pushed Xiao Wu away and said to Tang San, “Third Brother, you can’t just give Xiao Wu special treatment. My cultivation progress is still far behind.”

Huo Wu and Ning Rongrong smiled on both sides, saying in unison, “Don’t even mention us, we need even more special treatment from you, Third Brother.”

439: I haven't watched anything about "The Seal of the Throne" either.

Under Tang San's personal assistance, Xiao Wu's soul power had increased to level seventy-nine, and her primordial Spirit had also been completely condensed. Her speed, strength, defense, and endurance had also greatly improved.

According to her own estimation, her strength had already directly chased after Tang San, but Tang San had a real fight with her on the spot, and in the end, he beat her so badly that she abandoned her armor and only shouted "No!"

Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, Huo Wu and others, taking advantage of the afterglow of the "cosmic collision" between Tang San and Xiao Wu, also received Tang San's care, their physical fitness enhanced, their soul power quality improved, and their spiritual power became more condensed.

Especially Ning Rongrong, who was a support system, can now be compared with strong attack system Soul Douluo-level powerhouses with her bare hands.

Of course, for her, she doesn't need to fight in close combat. She still mainly uses the Nine Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda for support...

In the blink of an eye, three days had passed.

In order for Tang San to be in the best condition to face the enemy, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, and Huo Wu gave him the best rewards these three days.

The Soft Bone Rabbit's combination of softness and strength, the Sun Chasing Bow's courage and determination, the Nine Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda's exquisite nine orifices, and the Sun Goddess's fiery surge.

It can be said that he enjoyed the blessings of a man of Qi!

If it were an ordinary person, after experiencing such three days, their energy would inevitably be greatly depleted. It would be a stroke of good luck if they could display 70% of their strength in battle.

But for Tang San, his recovery ability was astonishing. These three days of enjoyment had elevated his Spirit to the peak of his current state...

Fifty miles outside Xiao Hai City.

In the black reef area with undulating waves, Xu Huang got up early and had been waiting here, but until the sun set in the west near dusk, there was no sign of Tang San. The gloomy look on his face became more and more intense: "That Tang San, could he be playing me?"

Luo Qiu, in a state of invisibility, sat on a reef not far away where the waves could not reach, and yawned boredly, thinking to herself: "Maybe it's really a prank. After all, Tang San is not a spokesperson for the Creator God, and he doesn't need to have overly good morals."

"Could it be—"

She suddenly thought of a possibility, that Tang San was trying to anger Xu Huang. Once he lost his mind, became angry, and did something that violated the "chivalrous Spirit", the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne would naturally leave him, and Tang San wouldn't have to bother cutting off the connection between the two.

After all, Xu Huang only had the right to use it.

Using the rules inherent in the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne itself is much easier than spending time analyzing the rules.

And Luo Qiu also knew that Xu Huang was not a true knight...

But which human being is truly selfless?

Dragon Hao Chen?

Doesn't he also have selfish motives? He even allowed an elemental elf to occupy the body of the previous Moon Night Queen to be resurrected... Although the previous Moon Night Queen deceived him, she never thought of hurting him, and even really wanted to marry him.

If it was just killing the previous Moon Night Queen, that would be all, but to insult her corpse and use it for other women to use... How noble is this perverted taste?

In this life, there are many things that one cannot help. There are very few people who are sincere. That Tang San can barely be considered one. At least, he really has something to say and doesn't play tricks on her at all.

A petty person and a gentleman.

Insidious and upright.

It doesn't seem to be clear-cut...

"You've waited long enough."

Tang San strolled in the air, his toes lightly tapping on a towering reef, with a faint smile on his lips, and said: "Are you impatient, fellow countryman from Earth, or Blue Star, or should I call you, Your Majesty, the Emperor of the Sun Moon Empire?"

Regarding Tang San's teasing, Xu Huang smiled coldly and directly released his martial soul. A golden circular shield and a silver crescent-shaped blade emerged.

Although there are two items, they are the same one, or rather, the same set of martial souls, named: Sun Moon Wheel, which is a mutation of the Sun and Moon martial souls of the Sun Moon Empire.

Beside him, there were also eight soul rings, with colors of: yellow, yellow, purple, black, black, black, black, black.

"Having the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, but not even having a 100,000-year soul ring."

Tang San chuckled, a hint of doubt revealing in his eyes that Xu Huang could easily detect.

This made him clench his fists involuntarily and said: "The color of the soul ring does not represent anything. The strength depends on how one exerts oneself."

"That's right."

Tang San seemed to agree, but then became curious, "So, you cultivated this set of weapon martial soul first? In my perception, you seem to have two martial souls."

"Tch, not bad spiritual power. That's right, like you, I am a twin martial soul. The second martial soul is Purple Flame Sky Dragon."

Xu Huang didn't intend to hide it. After all, this duel was a battle of life and death.

Insulting the Creator God's spokesperson in the world...

Sowing discord between him and Luo Qiu...

No matter which one, the other party no longer has the qualifications to live!

More importantly, the other party has an aura that makes him uneasy. The Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne vibrated the moment it saw Tang San. Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel all felt the aura of destruction on the other party and confirmed that the God of Heavenly Condemnation was on Tang San.

Although he didn't want to lose the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, Austin Griffin was on Tang San, and the three weapon Spirits couldn't sit idly by.

He absolutely could not hold back...

Although he himself wanted to kill this transmigrator who could not be subdued by him.

"Speaking of which, on the Douluo Continent, if someone possesses both a weapon martial soul and a beast martial soul, they will cultivate the beast martial soul first, because the attack power of a weapon martial soul alone cannot be compared to a beast martial soul of the same quality."

Tang San talked about the theory of martial soul cultivation, "However, the quality of twin martial souls is basically the same. You should have cultivated the beast martial soul first."

"I have my own plans."

Xu Huang naturally knew that weapon martial souls had an advantage in attack power over beast martial souls, but having the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, he didn't lack attack power at all. What he needed was the most powerful physique, and the strengthening of the body by beast martial souls was visible to the naked eye.

Therefore, he hoped that all the soul rings of his second martial soul, Purple Flame Sky Dragon, would be over 100,000 years old, in order to achieve the effect of strengthening his body.

"It's you, Tang San, actually colluding with Austin Griffin. Don't tell me you don't know what kind of existence it is."

Xu Huang questioned in a cold voice.

"Sorry, I really don't know."

Tang San clenched his left hand, and the Haotian Hammer slowly emerged. His soul power fluctuations suddenly became violent, and extremely destructive energy erupted, covering Xu Huang—

"After all, I haven't read any 'god seal throne'."

440: The battle begins, God Realm pays attention

What a load of bull!

Xu Huang cursed inwardly. If he hadn't seen it, how could he say the name? At the very least, he should have heard of it, right? This guy really didn't take him seriously at all.

"Let's go. The battlefield isn't here."

Tang San rose into the air, stepping on the void, and flew away from the continent.

Xu Huang gritted his teeth and, with the power of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, also flew into the air, closely following Tang San.

Flying?

He didn't possess such ability originally.

"I didn't expect the God of Heavenly Condemnation to choose Tang San." Hidden in the dark, Luo Qiu sensed the aura of destruction the moment she saw the Haotian Hammer, and trembled all over. "It's unbelievable, but only such a powerful person can control the great Austin Griffin."

After flying more than a hundred miles away from the shore, Tang San stopped and looked around. All he could see was the rippling water. He turned to Xu Huang, who was also standing in mid-air, and said, "I thought you would try to ambush me from behind."

"Heh, I'm not as despicable as you think," Xu Huang said with disdain.

"Is that so? Is it that you don't have it in you, or that you can't do it?" Tang San carried the Haotian Hammer on his shoulder, a playful look on his face. "The owner of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne is virtuous. I'm ashamed to be compared to you."

"But, I want to remind you of something."

"You are not the Creator God after all. To demand a person to meet the standards of the Creator God and suppress the dark side of their heart is not a good thing. If it erupts in the future, it will be more dangerous than Heavenly Condemnation."

Originally, Tang San had some hope for the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, but after learning more about this super artifact from Luo Qiu, he lost interest.

He wasn't some noble and righteous person. It would probably be a little difficult to gain its approval. He could only defeat the artifact soul and artifact Spirit and forcibly seize control.

This required him to have enough understanding and comprehension of the attribute of Creation... The time spent on this would probably not be as cost-effective as creating a similar Soul Imprint Throne himself.

When his Life level reached a level similar to that of the entire Great Universe, the Soul Imprint Throne would inevitably become a super artifact, even surpassing a super artifact, due to the immersion of his aura.

After giving up on the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, Tang San's thoughts became much clearer.

"If you want to gain power, you have to pay a price. It's inevitable. It's just that some people pay with sweat, some pay with emotions, and some pay with freedom." Xu Huang's will was also extremely firm, stating a fact bluntly, "No one can gain something for nothing. Even I suffered a lot before becoming the Emperor of the Sun Moon Empire."

"Among the transmigrators I've encountered, you are the easiest to deal with." Tang San also stated a fact, "The noble Creator God can look down on all living beings like ants, but cannot turn a blind eye to them."

"Enough idle talk, let's fight!"

Xu Huang held a Sun Shield in one hand and controlled the Moon Blade in the other. He didn't plan to continue chatting with Tang San, after all, the moon had already risen from the other side of the sea.

If they continued chatting, it would probably be dawn.

"Your transmigration journey will end with me!"

Whoosh!

In an instant, the Moon Blade shot out spinning, heading towards Tang San's face. Its speed was so fast that it seemed to cut through the air.

Tilt head, sidestep.

Tang San dodged the attack with the smallest movement, and turned his head to watch the Moon Blade cut through the sea, stirring up waves tens of meters high. He sighed, "It's really sharp, a bit like the Moon Essence Wheel in 'Zu Mountain'....."

Before he could finish speaking, Xu Huang rushed in front of Tang San, his left forearm braced against the Sun Shield, and slammed it towards his face.

Boom!

Tang San flicked his left hand, and the Haotian Hammer collided with it, making a booming sound. The moment they touched, Xu Huang flew backwards for nearly a hundred meters before barely stopping.

The power of the Haotian Hammer shocked Xu Huang.

The Sun Shield was humming, and his left arm was trembling. With just one blow, he was at a disadvantage.

Under the circumstances that both sides didn't use their full strength, his eighty-second-ranked Soul Douluo was actually inferior to the opponent's seventy-ninth-ranked Soul Saint!

How did the other party cultivate?

Or was the Austin Griffin's enhancement of Tang San's Haotian Hammer really that outrageous?

Xu Huang's eyes narrowed, staring fixedly at Tang San, without continuing to attack.

"What's wrong?" The corners of Tang San's mouth rose slightly, his head tilted slightly to the side, the silver Moon Blade flew past his ear, falling back to Xu Huang's side, revolving around him, "Don't tell me you thought such a small trick could cut my head in half, right?"

The existence of the Primordial Spirit allowed Tang San to sense all the changes in energy and matter within a thousand miles, but he wouldn't activate it under normal circumstances.

After all, most of the vast amount of information was irrelevant garbage information, which was troublesome for the Primordial Spirit and brain to process.

The main function of the 【Heavenly Dao】 was not to process this garbage information.

Xu Huang didn't answer. Black-purple scales appeared on his body, and a pair of dragon horns grew on his head, releasing an aura of destruction.

Twin Martial Souls cannot be used at the same time -

This means that two Martial Souls cannot release skills at the same time, but it doesn't mean that they cannot appear at the same time. After all, Twin Martial Soul owners will have two Martial Souls appear at the same time when they awaken their Martial Souls. It's just that people with strong control can suppress the other one from appearing in front of others.

The cultivation problem of Twin Martial Soul owners only lies in the different attributes brought by the Martial Souls to Soul Power, and the inconsistent requirements of different Martial Souls on the human body's Soul Power circulation route.

Just like Bibi Dong, she could switch between using two Martial Souls at will, because she created a Soul Power Twin Cultivation Method, and the switching of Soul Power attributes and Soul Power circulation routes was free and easy.

The Xu Huang in front of him probably couldn't think of so much, and wouldn't have any too advanced cultivation methods (compared to Bibi Dong's unrefined Soul Power Twin Cultivation Method), but relied on the effect of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne to forcibly prevent the two Martial Souls in his body from conflicting.

A cheating, money-spending player!

After the Purple Flame Sky Dragon Martial Soul was activated, although Xu Huang's Soul Power level didn't increase, his strength reached a level close to that of an eighty-fifth-ranked Soul Douluo.

"Sun Moon True Body!"

Along with the seventh Soul Ring of the Sun Moon Wheel lighting up, Xu Huang's Sun Shield and Moon Blade floated to the top of his head, turning into a golden sun and a silver crescent moon.

The golden and silver light rotated, covering several miles around, reflecting the sea into two colors of gold and silver.

This is a Domain-type skill!

But Tang San didn't have a trace of shock, but instead curiously looked at this Domain, noticing that the sun and moon light within it was slowly absorbed by the Blue Silver Emperor in his body... It seemed that the other party didn't know that his Martial Soul could absorb the light of the sun and moon. This was an enhancement for him.

"How is my Domain?"

Xu Huang showed a hint of confidence.

In this Sun Moon Domain, he could obtain a 100% all-attribute increase, especially in the attack of the Moon Blade and the defense of the Sun Shield, which could be increased by 200%!

Moreover, this was still the basic increase. The real power lay in his ability to control the time here!

The rotation of the sun and moon, the passage of time.

All under his control!

"Just so-so."

Tang San shrugged, yawned, raised the Haotian Hammer, aimed it at Xu Huang, and said "Shatter."

Black lightning burst out from the Haotian Hammer, like thousands of electric snakes scurrying around, instantly impacting the entire Sun Moon Domain, causing faint cracks to appear around it, and then exploding with a bang, turning into a sky full of golden and silver starlight, scattered on the sea illuminated by the round moon.

No matter how strong the Domain was, for the Austin Griffin, who came with the power of destruction, it could be violently broken. The destruction attribute of the Purple Flame Sky Dragon was nothing more than a small trick in front of the God of Heavenly Condemnation.

Xu Huang's body in the Purple Flame Sky Dragon form began to tremble slightly instinctively. The power of the destruction attribute reaching its limit made his mind tremble.

Fortunately, with Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel comforting him by his ear, he stabilized and put away the Purple Flame Sky Dragon Martial Soul.

"As expected of Heavenly Condemnation, the enhancement that my second Martial Soul brings to me in front of you is far inferior to the suppression effect brought by your Haotian Hammer." As he spoke, thirteen brilliant eternal stars appeared around Xu Huang, turning into a set of brilliant Eternal Armor, attached to the surface of his body, and then a Eternal Sword appeared in his hand.

"It seems you plan to get serious." Feeling the god-level power erupting from the other party's body, and the invisible force pressing on his heart, Tang San smiled.

Four black and three red, seven Soul Rings were connected in an instant, completing the fusion, suspended behind him, forming a sacred blue-golden light. The Lan Yin Emperor True Body Armor was attached in an instant, and the aura of Life and Creation burst out, contending with it.

The powers of the two collided invisibly, and because both had the attribute of "Creation", they were bound to compete for superiority.

"This power has already surpassed level 100!" Xu Huang frowned. He didn't expect Tang San to have such a powerful skill that could turn the Martial Soul into armor... Is this the manga version of the Martial Soul True Body Armor?

Isn't this amplification a bit too exaggerated?

"Soul Power is not necessarily inferior to Divine Power, as long as you improve the efficiency of its use." As if seeing Xu Huang's shock, Tang San specially explained to the other party, and then the Haotian Hammer in his hand cracked, turning into pieces of armor, attached to the Lan Yin Emperor True Body Armor, dyeing it with a layer of dark purple.

Then, on his left hand, a purple-black war hammer appeared, more exaggerated than the former Haotian Hammer. There was a purple-gray gem on the front of the hammerhead, and a circle of reliefs similar to dragon heads decorated the side of the hammerhead. Counting carefully, there were seven in total, and the eighth was also looming.

Austin Griffin could transform into the form of a greatsword, but after residing in the Haotian Hammer, he also slowly fell in love with the violence of the hammer, so he changed the sword form to a form similar to the Haotian Hammer.

Hammering to the flesh is the real violent aesthetic!

After the violet-gold jiu hao battle armor was attached to the Lan Yin Emperor True Body Armor, the power of destruction and Creation reached a balance, and the attributes of Life and death rotated at the gem on the chest. His aura soared into the sky, shaking away the dark clouds of the moonlit night, and the god-level power was on full display.

At the same time, Bibi Dong and Qian Daoliu of the Spirit Hall, Xue Qinghe of the Heaven Dou Empire, Tang Chen of the Haotian Sect, and Posey of Sea God Island all felt something and looked towards the direction of Tang San and Xu Huang.

Qian Daoliu frowned tightly: "God, has appeared?"

Xue Qinghe/Qian Renxue: "Is it you? Tang San, indeed, you also want to break through the limits of mortals, but I can feel that your own strength has not reached that realm yet. It should be through the Martial Soul True Body Armor that you are bursting out power that surpasses level hundred... The Sun Moon Empire's Emperor, is he actually able to make you use such abilities?"

Tang Chen was accepting the final god trial, but he also sensed that divine power. The Asura God King, who was presiding over the final god trial, frowned and separated a wisp of divine thought to go to the location where that divine power erupted to investigate, slightly surprised: "Is that kid really not Destruction and Life's 'illegitimate son'? Merely at the Soul Saint stage, he is able to burst out such strength, isn't that a bit too much? The impact on the human World is very big... But the other party himself clearly hasn't reached the divine level, so it's not good for me to interfere too much... Forget it, this Tang Chen is still passable, at worst I'll waste a bit more divine power. Anyway, I'm not staying in the God Realm, I'll let this inheritor go serve those two 'pure-hearted' Supreme God Kings and the husband-and-wife duo of Life and Destruction!"

At this time in the God Realm, the first to notice was the Sea God. After all, why else would the battle location of Tang San and Xu Huang be so close to the place of inheritance he left behind?

"I'll go! These two guys are awesome!" Sea God Poseidon, through the Sea God Trident of Sea God Island, relying on the faith provided by the living beings of the entire ocean, clearly observed the battle situation within that battlefield.

One controls a power similar to Creation, and both the armor and the weapon are of the Divine Tool level. Combined, they are a set of Super Divine Artifacts.

The other is even more exaggerated. He doesn't have a single Divine Artifact, but relies on a special way of utilizing Soul Rings to unleash the energy contained within, causing his strength to directly exceed that of a god.

That hammer with a peculiar shape should be the artifactization of his martial soul under the circumstances where his own strength has increased to the divine level.

"They are both very good successors." Poseidon took a liking to Tang San. After all, Xu Huang was wearing divine armor and holding a divine sword, obviously already favored by other gods. How could he snatch people?

As for Tang San's compatibility with his Sea God's godhood not being high... that's not a problem. As a god, what difficulty is there in changing a person's martial soul attributes?

Moreover, the sea can nurture all things, which is Creation; the sea can also set off tsunamis and submerge land, which is destruction.

The attributes are quite compatible!

It's just that, looking at the situation, even if Tang San hasn't accepted his god trial, he will be able to break through level hundred. If he personally goes to his door and is rejected, it would be embarrassing.

Right, I heard Shura say that this guy seems to be Destruction and Life's 'illegitimate son'? And he rejected the two of their inheritance...

Then forget it, I'll look again in the future. Anyway, even if that Shura guy passes down the godhood, he won't be able to leave immediately before the successor ascends to the God Realm.

One day in the God Realm is a hundred years in the lower realm.

It seems that many talented geniuses have been born on Douluo Continent in this era. I can look again and should be able to find a successor within a hundred years.

Even if I can't find one within a hundred years, that Shura guy should wait for him. After all, exploring the universe after leaving the God Realm requires a companion, doesn't it?

Now—

It's good for him to watch the excitement.

At this time, Goodness, Evil, Destruction, and Life in the God Realm also noticed the lower realm, and each separated a wisp of divine thought, gathering on Douluo Continent to present the scene on the sea.

"It's your illegitimate son again." Evil still had a fresh memory of Tang San and teased Destruction and Life, but this time, the two of them didn't refute anything.

After all, the Goddess of Life really recognized Tang San as her godson.

Goodness's gaze fell on Xu Huang's body, and he asked: "That divine armor and divine sword, combined, are they a set of Super Divine Artifacts? Among the gods of the God Realm, besides us Five Great God-Kings, who else possesses Super Divine Artifacts?"

Destruction shook his head: "The Emotion God, who ascended not long ago, possesses seven peerless divine blades. If they are counted as a set, then there is hope of achieving a Super Divine Artifact in the future, but that is a matter for the future."

Life hesitated and said: "Then we must carefully investigate where this person's set of divine artifacts came from, and why he wants to duel with Tang San. It looks like it's a Life-and-death battle."

Evil suddenly asked: "You seem to be particularly concerned about Tang San. Could it be that he is really your son?"

Everyone present knew very well that Tang San had nothing to do with Life and Destruction, but what was Life's attitude now?

Although she looked fair, she was considering Tang San in every way.

She was too biased towards Tang San, wasn't she?

"Not a biological son." Life said indifferently.

"Oh ~" Goodness drew out the sound. They were not ignorant of the relationships between humans, but bystanders saw clearly. "So you secretly went to the lower realm and recognized Tang San as your godson?"

The God of Life nodded: "Is there any rule in the God Realm that doesn't allow this?"

Goodness said seriously: "Then should we add one now?"

The God of Life continued to nod: "Yes, anyway, what I did before doesn't count."

Goodness was helpless, turned his gaze back to Xu Huang, and said: "Let's talk about this matter later. Next, let's take a good look at where this divine armor and divine sword came from. Which god is so extravagant that they even have the aura of the Creator God..."

Creator God!

Speaking of this, Goodness and the other gods were stunned for a while before they reacted, their expressions extremely serious: "A Creator God from another World not under the jurisdiction of the God Realm?"

Evil chuckled: "Interesting, I sense the evil thoughts in this person's heart, like a mire... Is the Creator God of another World choosing a successor with such a bad taste?"

Destruction also laughed: "If this guy ascends to the God Realm, he should be able to directly reach the realm of the Creator God, right? Although the Creator God cannot exist eternally, during his tenure, we will have another 'boss' over our heads."

Although Destruction deliberately guided the two Supreme God Kings, this was indeed a problem that Goodness and Evil had to consider—

They didn't want someone standing on their heads and bossing them around!

"Let's first look at Tang San's abilities. If he is no match, we will take action and seize the divine armor and divine sword, and we will all share the Creation insights within." The God of Goodness made a decision, and then asked, "By the way, where is that Shura guy? Could it be that he ran away before the godhood was passed down?"

Evil, who hadn't seen Shura, explored for a while with his divine sense and said: "He is in the Godhood inheritance land opened up in the space channel connecting Douluo Continent and the God Realm, presiding over the Godhood inheritance ceremony. According to the time of the God Realm, it may take three or four days... That inheritor's spiritual will is a bit fragile, and the probability of inheritance failure exceeds 50%."

"That's good, let him bring back that Creation Super Divine Artifact when he comes back." Goodness made a final decision.

Evil nodded and said: "Not bad, who told him to go down?"

On the other side.

Sea God Island.

Hall of Offerings.

Among the four people who sensed the divine power, Posey was the most shocked, because the battle location of Tang San and Xu Huang was not far from Sea God Island, only about two hundred miles away.

"God, has descended!" Posey walked out of the Haishen Hall, looking into the distance at the light that shot straight into the sky, her heart shocked, "Could it be that in this era, someone can break through and become a god by relying on their own power?"

"It's really unbelievable!"

"Could it be Tang San, the Saint Child of the Spirit Hall?"

Sea God Island is far away from the continent, but it is not completely ignorant of the mainland soul masters. After all, they also have their own fleet that can purchase supplies from the mainland.

In this process, some advanced Life-type Soul Guidance Devices were naturally transported to Sea God Island.

For example: Soul Guidance Photography Devices, Soul Guidance Movies, etc.

Posey also witnessed the entire process through the pictures recorded by the Soul Guidance Photography Device of the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament.

But she didn't expect Tang San to be so outstanding—

He's not even twenty years old, is he?

There was only one thing Posey didn't understand: "Who is the person fighting him?"

Inside the Pope's Hall, Bibi Dong looked towards the direction of Xiao Hai City, her spiritual power spreading out to determine Tang San's location, ready to cross the distance of thousands of miles at any time to participate in that battle and deliver a fatal blow to that Sun Moon Emperor...

...

At this time, Tang San, the power of Creation and destruction flowed through his body. With a slight tremor of his arms, the surrounding air vibrated, and an invisible wave pressed towards Xu Huang.

The core gem of the divine armor worn by Xu Huang flickered, releasing a nine-colored light to resist the pressure released by Tang San.

The collision between the two invisible forces caused the waves on the sea to stop, like a piece of dark black crystal.

Looking from a higher and farther place, one could even see two invisible and intangible fluctuations colliding with each other, twisting the air and disturbing the airflow, setting off rolling waves outside the sea area where the two were located.

"Disperse!" Xu Huang shouted loudly, and the Eternal Sword in his hand suddenly waved, shaking away the collision between the two auras. Then, he pointed the sword at Tang San and said, "Being able to reach such strength, I recognize you, but it's a pity that you ultimately don't have a Divine Artifact!"

Although Austin Griffin can armorize, after being parasitized in Tang San's martial soul and fused with it, it no longer has a true entity, which is inferior to the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne.

"Divine Artifact?"

Tang San sneered. The power of his primordial Spirit silently observed the surroundings. Sensing six divine gazes nearby, the corners of his mouth couldn't help but smile.

At least, in the eyes of the people in the God Realm, his role as a "native" of Douluo Continent was much closer than Xu Huang, who controlled the Super Divine Artifact of the Creator God from another space-time.

Moreover, the Goddess of Life was still his godmother!

When you're out there, whether you're a commoner or a member of the nobility, you still have to talk about power and background—

"You who cannot communicate with the weapon Spirit, can you really control that Divine Artifact? Can you unleash its true power?"

441: That trash Tang Chen!

"Whether or not I can unleash the true power of the divine artifact is none of your concern." Xu Huang coldly snorted, raised the Eternal Sword, and a white sword light slashed across the sky, shooting towards Tang San.

The power of this sword seemed capable of splitting the heavens and earth, creating the universe, and it froze the space around Tang San, leaving him with no choice but to face this move head-on.

"Let me see how strong the power of the Eternal Sword is." Tang San swung his hammer, rotating it rapidly, looking like a spinning windmill or a rolling wheel.

Purple-black lightning erupted from within, stirring up a dark-black tornado storm that was hundreds of meters high, colliding with the white sword light.

Boom!

The powers of Creation and Destruction resisted each other, erupting into a blank vacuum zone, where all air and天地 energy scattered and spread in all directions.

In the first round, the two were evenly matched.

"The power on Tang San's body is also extraordinary, the aura of Destruction..."

The divine sense eyes of the God of Goodness, who was observing nearby, narrowed slightly, "Destruction, in terms of quality, is even purer than yours, but compared to the power of Creation in the other person's divine artifact, it is still a bit inferior, and it still needs to rely on Tang San's own Creation to make up for it in order to compete with it, but in terms of overall strength, Tang San is still stronger."

The divine sense of Evil echoed: "Indeed, you have found a good son."

The divine senses of Destruction and Life were quite speechless towards these two straightforward Supreme God Kings, but they didn't know what to say, so they could only respond with silence.

Asura's divine sense existed on the other side, looking at the two couples with disgust.

The divine sense of Sea God beside him asked: "Has this great battle alarmed even the Five Great God-Kings? It's really extraordinary... By the way, is this Tang San really the son of Destruction and Life?"

"I don't know." The Asura God's divine sense said unhappily, "Why are you so concerned? Don't tell me you want this Tang San to inherit your position? Don't even think about it, he has rejected the positions of even the two God Kings, let alone your Sea God?"

"I did have some thoughts, but I have already given up. After all, with his talent, he can break through the hundredth level without inheriting a God Position or relying on faith." The Sea God's divine sense responded, and transferred most of his attention to Xu Huang, saying: "Who is this guy? The set of divine artifacts on him is no ordinary thing. Even my trident, which has been nurtured with the power of faith for thousands of years, is inferior."

"More than inferior? That's a set of Super Divine Artifacts!" The Asura God's divine sense coldly snorted, "Moreover, it's a Super Divine Artifact from the Creator God of another World."

The Sea God suddenly understood.

The universe is vast, and there is more than one God Realm. It is rumored that in ancient times, the God Realm had contact with other God Realms, and even great wars broke out... Of course, a new god like him had definitely not participated in such a God Realm war.

However, it is certain that the relationship between different God Realms is not very good. The arrival of gods from other Worlds to this World will inevitably cause disputes.

What's more, this is a Creator God?

At this time, the two people on the field finally moved, without using any "special effects", just relying on the purest physical skills, hammer and sword collided, the roar continued, the speed of the attack was so fast that the two people's battlefield also went from the sea surface to nearly ten thousand meters of altitude, but the aftershocks of the shock could still be transmitted to the sea surface, making the sea area below turbulent and uneasy, and the Sea Soul Beasts fled in all directions, not daring to stay in this area at all.

"This strength!" The Sea God's true body in the God Realm, through the picture transmitted by the divine sense, couldn't help but break out in a cold sweat on his forehead, "Compared to when I first became a god, it's not much worse. Are the young people on Douluo Continent so outrageous now? A Soul Douluo and a Soul Saint can burst out with such outrageous combat power. Fortunately, I wasn't born in the same era as them, otherwise I would definitely be hit by them and lose the confidence to become a god."

On the battlefield, Xu Huang had nothing else in his heart, only Tang San in his eyes, and the only thought in his mind was: kill the opponent!

This is not only the mission of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne descending on this continent, but the man in front of him is also the biggest obstacle to his unification of the entire continent.

As for Tang San's death, Austin Griffin also died, and the Creator God's throne was about to leave. Xu Huang no longer cared. As long as he could use the Eternal Domain within it to cultivate a few trustworthy peerless experts before leaving, that would be enough.

For him, pretending to be "great, glorious, and righteous" was actually quite tiring.

After his mind was clear, Tang San discovered that although the opponent's sword moves were just those few moves: waving, splitting, slashing, stabbing, picking, and blocking with the sword, the speed of the sword became faster and faster, and the strength became heavier and heavier. Each strike could exert nearly 500,000 catties of destructive power generated after a heavy object free-fell from a thousand meters high.

【Getting stronger in battle?】

Tang San didn't expect that the other party was really a "protagonist" and had such treatment...

But.

His strength is not small either!

Facing the opponent's increasingly heavy strength, Tang San swung the hammer faster and faster, and the strength became greater and greater. Even as his body moved and twisted, his feet also stepped in the air, producing heavy sonic booms. After the war hammer in his hand touched the opponent three thousand times, it superimposed three thousand layers of destructive power.

"Now!"

Taking advantage of Tang San raising his war hammer high, revealing a "flaw", Xu Huang's eyes flashed, and the Eternal Armor on his body burst out with a brilliant light, and the Eternal Sword in his hand also emitted a nine-colored light.

Buzz!

The space instantly solidified and froze. The Eternal Armor on Xu Huang's body showed its true form, awakening into the Eternal and Creation Armor, and the Eternal Sword in his hand also awakened into the Eternal Sword.

Now, both the armor and the divine sword are Super Divine Artifact level.

The Five Great God-Kings and one Main God all showed strange expressions in their eyes, realizing that the owner of this Super Divine Artifact must have been terrifyingly powerful before he created the World, and compared to the Creator God who created their God Realm, he was probably evenly matched.

Evil: "Uninvited, he is a bad guest."

Goodness: "When a bad guest comes to the door, he should be punished."

Life: "With such a Super Divine Artifact..."

Destruction: "...The God Realm can be more stable, even if it doesn't expand, it can become a God Star within ten thousand years!"

Asura's divine sense glanced at the four excited God King divine senses a few times, and secretly pursed his lips, thinking: "I still have to leave, I don't want to be caught in the middle of these two couples anymore."

The Sea God's eyes were fiery, and he asked: "How good would it be if this Super Divine Artifact was mine? I can feel that it can travel through planes. With it, adventures in the cosmic starry sky in the future will be much easier and the safety will be greatly improved."

"Don't even think about it, the things that the four God Kings have set their eyes on are not something you can covet." Asura chuckled, then frowned and said: "Damn, my inheritor has run into trouble again... Damn it, I knew it, he can't get past the emotional hurdle. Seeing your Posey, he can't move anymore, what a waste!"

Sea God: "..."

It seems that choosing an inheritor, being too proud is not good either. If he could deceive his own heart, that would be fine, but he is just insincere. Tang Chen's talent in cultivation is indeed good, but he can't get past the emotional hurdle...

Inheriting the position of other Level Two Gods is barely enough, but sitting in Asura's position requires no sentimentality, otherwise there will be big problems in law enforcement in the future.

442: Xu Huang VS Tang San

Facing Xu Huang's sword, which was so fast that even time seemed to stand still, Tang San appeared to have no power to resist; his chest was instantly pierced.

His body, forged from Jade Bone, golden muscles, and divine treasures, seemed unable to defend against the sharpness of the Eternal and Creation Sword.

But Tang San's eyes were incredibly resolute, and he gripped his hammer with both hands. The moment the spatial stillness vanished, he furiously slammed the giant hammer, imbued with three thousand layers of power, towards Xu Huang's head.

Boom!

The force carried by this strike already exceeded ten million tons. Even without any of Austin Griffin's destructive power, an ordinary level 100 expert would be severely injured by taking this blow head-on.

What's more, this hammer strike also carried the seven attributes of Nine Haos: fire, light, wind, water, poison, death, and darkness, plus the inherent gold, and destructive spirit power. The destructive power carried by this blow was so immense that even a first-grade god, taking this strike head-on, would have their divine body shattered.

The Eternal and Creation Armor on Xu Huang's body radiated endless light, forming a nine-colored halo around his body, actively defending him against this strike.

Dodge?

Tang San's hammer strike had leveraged his own body to control the Eternal and Creation Sword.

Could Xu Huang release the Eternal and Creation Sword?

He could.

But how could the Creator God's spokesperson abandon his weapon?

Unless it was struck down by an enemy, the Creator God's pride would not allow him to voluntarily release his divine sword; that would be an impious compromise to his divine path.

The massive hammerhead collided with the nine-colored halo, and energy, like colliding stars, erupted between them. Purple-black lightning instantly shattered the nine-colored halo's defense, smashing heavily onto Xu Huang's head. The Creation Headband, adorned with nine gems, protected his head.

But this immense force sent Xu Huang plummeting like a falling meteor towards the sea. The Eternal and Creation Armor on his body was also covered in cracks, as if it could shatter at any moment.

However, the reason a super divine artifact is a super divine artifact is its self-repairing nature. From within those cracks, a nine-colored halo emanated, continuously expelling the destructive power within, causing the cracks to actively heal and simultaneously repairing Xu Huang's physical body.

In that previous strike, the Eternal and Creation Armor dispersed the force, saving Xu Huang's life, but all his bones were still shattered, and more than half of his internal organs were broken, especially his brain, which was nearly a quarter damaged.

In true divine battles, victory and defeat are often decided in an instant.

Tang San used himself as bait, forcing Xu Huang to misjudge, thinking a single sword strike could kill him, unaware that his physical body was so strong that even a divine artifact could barely kill him.

At this moment, the Eternal and Creation Sword was still impaled in Tang San's chest. It possessed extremely strong sentience and wanted to fly out and return to Xu Huang's hand, but the Creation divine force within it was continuously being ground down by Tang San using the Creation and Destruction True Scripture. Iliex, Wu Lin, Wu Tong, Ling Yun, A Lan, Heaven Dream, Heaven Dream, and Ice Jade Emperor Scorpion all helped, either suppressing or devouring, collectively preventing the Eternal and Creation Sword from leaving Tang San's body.

At the same time, the five internal organs' five qi and the six internal organs' six paths instinctively began to operate, grinding down the Eternal and Creation Sword—gold, extracting its carrier; wood, severing its vitality; water, rusting its divine charm; fire, scorching its sentience; earth, absorbing its divine force.

The five qi in his chest refined it, and in a mere moment, the entire Eternal and Creation Sword became rusty and its spiritual light completely dissipated.

Subsequently, the six paths manifested, transforming into six black holes that encircled Tang San, grinding down the Eternal and Creation Sword's final carrier.

Crack!

A crack appeared on the surface of the Eternal and Creation Sword, then spread like a spiderweb, covering the entire divine sword.

Austin Griffin also awoke at this moment, releasing his primal power and invading the Eternal and Creation Sword. This was like the final straw that broke the camel's back, completely destroying it.

Bang!

The Eternal and Creation Sword shattered, transforming into six dim eternal stars.

The six black holes around Tang San suddenly erupted with powerful suction, swallowing them and returning to his body.

“Hoo—”

Feeling the six stars being refined within the cycle of the six paths and imbued with his own aura, Tang San slowly opened his eyes and touched his chest. The massive wound was recovering at a visible speed, and his true spirit power had also increased by one level, reaching level 80.

Tang San could feel that this energy could elevate him further, but it was suppressed because he lacked a spirit ring.

“It seems that incomplete Creation divine artifacts cannot ignore the rules of the plane.”

With this thought, Tang San rapidly flew downwards, put away the giant hammer in his hand, and the Blue Silver Emperor appeared in his right hand, then transformed into a dazzling long spear.

At the connection between the spearhead and the shaft, there was a jewel like a universe, with twelve constantly rotating halos on it.

“Go!”

With a soft shout, Tang San twisted his body, rapidly rotating, and the storm he generated shook the space.

Whoosh—

The Blue Silver Emperor Spear was thrown out. Its speed was so fast that it was extremely close to the speed of light, even moving the divine senses of the Five Great God-Kings, who couldn't even clearly see the trajectory of the long spear.

In the blink of an eye, the Blue Silver Emperor Spear hit Xu Huang, who had not yet fallen into the sea, causing his descent speed to increase by more than ten percent.

The Eternal and Creation Armor desperately resisted the spear's penetrating power, but the Creation power contained within it was very similar to the sword qi of the Eternal and Creation Sword, both based on the Creation attribute. Therefore, the Eternal and Creation Armor itself was even willing to accept this strike.

However, Easton King, Sacred Dragon, Eternal Angel, and Eternal Lord all understood that it didn't matter if the Eternal and Creation Armor accepted this strike; as powers of the same Creation attribute, there would be no problem. But the force carried by this long spear could instantly pierce Xu Huang's Heart.

With the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne having lost six eternal stars, it was simply impossible to reconstruct Xu Huang's Heart!

Rumble!

Finally, Xu Huang hit the sea surface.

The impact on the body from falling into the sea from ten thousand meters high was no different from falling onto the ground.

The massive shock caused blood to burst from all over Xu Huang's body, and the Blue Silver Emperor Spear, leveraging the inertia of Xu Huang's speed decreasing the moment he contacted the sea surface, pierced through the Eternal and Creation Armor's defense. The spearhead had already pierced into his left chest, only three inches from his beating Heart.

A cold sweat broke out on Easton King's forehead: "Fortunately, it hasn't pierced his Heart yet. Should we...?"

Before he could finish his words to Sacred Dragon and Eternal Angel, Tang San's figure had already appeared above Xu Huang. The giant hammer appeared in his hand, and his waist was bent like a full moon.

Boom!

The moment he straightened, the massive hammer suddenly slammed into the back of the Blue Silver Emperor Spear's shaft, as if someone was using a hammer to drive a nail.

This blow directly caused the Blue Silver Emperor Spear to pierce into Xu Huang's Heart, and the massive spearhead penetrated through his back.

Under this blow, the sea surface was also shaken open, forming a massive crater dozens of miles wide and several miles deep. Surging waves rushed outwards, and the immense power even caused the microscopic six paths of divine senses to scatter for a moment, making it difficult for the main bodies of these divine senses to clearly see the scene...

...

443: The Lord of Eternity Appears

The originally calm sea was stirred up into giant waves of dozens of Zhang, and countless sea soul beasts scattered and fled amidst the turbulent waves.

In the Demon Whale Sea area, hundreds of miles away from the battlefield, a huge whale with a body length of more than 200 meters and a body like a sapphire opened its one eye and thought to itself: "Is the god war over? What a terrifying power, when will I be able to reach such a realm? God-level, how can I break through? The final ninth Heavenly Tribulation can only bring destruction... Damn Dragon God, what kind of rule is it that the Dragon God will not reappear, and soul beasts will never be able to become gods? Aren't you just worried that we, these other races of soul beasts, will surpass you?"

"You have to force me to wait for the dragon transformation and become your kind, right?"

But no matter how unwilling he was, in the face of that absolute strength, the Deep Sea Demon Whale King could not do anything but hide deeper and warn his wife and daughter that they could not go out recently.

Douluo Star once again has the existence of god-level. Jumping out at this time is tantamount to seeking death. Therefore, the Deep Sea Demon Whale King made up his mind that within a hundred years, even if human soul masters come to challenge him, he will ignore them.

Anyway, with the strength of his family, even if the Sea God drives the Tenthousand year soul beast of the entire ocean to besiege them, it will only be a meal for their family.

As long as he does not break through to the god-level, those guys in the God Realm will not be able to see him, and it is impossible to really come down to the mortal World, so there is nothing to be afraid of.....

"That's too much—"

On the battlefield, a grand voice that could not be distinguished as male or female resounded throughout the sea. All marine life, whether sea soul beasts or ordinary creatures, were shocked and calmed down by the owner of this voice.

All living beings in Douluo Continent and Sun Moon Continent felt something at this moment and instinctively turned their eyes towards the direction of this sea.

Some people did not know why and continued to bury their heads in their work.

Some people sensed something and immediately hid their aura, fearing that they would be discovered again.

Some people clenched their fists, ready to cross space and go to that battlefield at any time.

"It's really a Creator God-level existence!" Shura God's mind was greatly shaken, and the Asura God King himself immediately left Tang Chen's assessment and went to the scene—after all, the inheritor does not necessarily need the God Realm to be truly present to inherit the godhood, not to mention that this guy Tang Chen has already lost himself in the love tribulation, and the inheritance is already considered 50% failed.

"Which one are you?" Tang San looked at the "Xu Huang" who stood up again, his primordial Spirit trembled, and he already realized that the other party was now taken over by the Eternal Lord, the owner of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne.

"Creator God, but not the Creator God who created this plane."

Now, Tang San realized that it was not Xu Huang, who only had a trace of "weak" aura left, who was speaking, but the Eternal and Creation Armor emitting fluctuations, directly communicating with his primordial Spirit, "You are very good, but Austin Griffin is not something you can control, that is not pure power of destruction."

"Thank you for the reminder, but I have an agreement with Him and cannot break my promise." The hammer in Tang San's hand turned into a seven-headed Chimera, lying on Tang San's shoulder, while Tang San's right hand once again condensed a Blue Silver Emperor Spear, always vigilant against the Eternal Lord's sneak attack.

Tang San never had any expectations for the morals of these gods, even if the other party was a wisp of divine thought from a great, benevolent, goodness, and just Creator God realm.

"That's a bit unexpected." The Eternal Lord did not expect that Austin Griffin would be willing to turn into the size of a palm and lie on Tang San's shoulder, revealing a hint of amazement in his tone, "Is it because there is light in his heart?"

"Shut up! You idiot!" Nine Haos's seven pairs of eyes were all dyed purple at this moment, Austin Griffin went online, and cursed, "That idiot Dragon Hao Chen made my Spirit split, and even almost made my rebirth forever lose my original will, how could I have light because of him?"

"It's really changed, it's become vulgar." The Eternal Lord seemed to dislike his twin brother becoming like this very much, thought for a while, and said: "Young man, can you return my six eternal stars to me?"

"You have to prove that it's yours first." Tang San did not give in at all. There is no reason to return something that has been eaten into his stomach? Besides, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne has entered this plane under the jurisdiction of the God Realm. Even if the God Realm has some problems, at least they are the masters of the house. The family is fighting, it is a family matter, and outsiders intervene...

To put it mildly, it is trespassing on a private house; to put it bluntly, it is illegal immigration.

There is no reason to return it in terms of emotion or reason.

"The strong should have demeanor..."

"Sorry." Tang San interrupted the Eternal Lord's earnest teachings, "I am not a strong person, just a villain. It is my forte to stand on the moral high ground and accuse others."

The Eternal Lord was numb. He guaranteed that he had traveled through so many planes and had never seen anyone like Tang San, who did not have the demeanor of a strong person at all, and was simply like a hooligan.

Austin Griffin laughed heartily, his voice as unpleasant as a duck's quack, and said: "Did you see that? This kid is very appetizing to me, and I have become his martial soul and will be together forever. You, a guy with a bad heart, want to tear us apart—"

"It's still 20,000 years too early!"

As he said that, he stretched out his right paw and tried to make two sharp claws.

Eternal Lord: "..."

At the same time, the Asura God had already arrived nearby, pointing the divine sword in his hand directly at the Eternal Lord, and shouted: "Foreign god, surrender and go to the God Realm with me to accept judgment!"

The Eternal Lord turned his head and glanced at the Asura God King, compared his strength with the other party, and knew that he could not defeat him, so he said: "Okay, then I will look for you next time, and please rest assured, he and other divine thoughts did not hear our conversation."

After saying that, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne burst out with a dazzling light, imprisoning the time and space within a thousand miles. The Asura God King could not break free for a while, and could only watch the light and shadow, including Xu Huang, leave this World, open up a new space tunnel, and disappear into it.

"Stop!"

When time and space recovered, Shura sensed the weak aura, slashed open the space with a sword, and plunged into it, following the trajectory left by the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne...

...

Tang San fell to the sea, the armor on his body slowly dissipated, his aura completely dissipated, and he fell into the most fragile stage. He shouted to the side: "Stop watching, come out and take me back."

To contend with the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, this super artifact, Tang San's body has been in a high-load state. Now that he has relaxed, he is naturally "withered".

But to recover is also easy. With the help of the Blue Silver Emperor, it is very convenient to absorb the power of the earth or absorb the light of the sun, moon, and stars.

It's just that he doesn't have much soul power now.

Luo Qiu revealed her figure, lifted Tang San's body up, and smiled: "Congratulations, you actually defeated Xu Huang."

"You seem to be very happy." Tang San asked puzzled, "The Eternal Domain has gone to other planes, and your people can't get out."

444: Xu Huang's rebirth

Chapter 444 Xu Huang's Rebirth

As they approached the coast, Tang San had already recovered his strength. His formidable physique amazed Luo Qiu, who then said, "You don't need to worry too much about me. Although the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne has already left this plane, didn't you seize six eternal stars?"

The Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne can transform into thirteen eternal stars. Each one is a gateway and key to entering the Eternal Domain. As long as you possess them and find the right method, you can enter it.

From Luo Qiu's perspective, the Eternal Lord didn't dislike Tang San. He should allow him to enter and undergo the corresponding assessment.

Whether it was to suppress Austin Griffin or to retrieve the six eternal stars from Tang San's hands, the Eternal Lord wouldn't simply leave.

Tang San was somewhat surprised by this, but considering that the Moonlight Elf Clan had existed in the Eternal Domain for who knows how many years, it was understandable that Luo Qiu, the Moon Night Queen, knew more.

"The emperor of the Sun Moon Empire is missing. The Sun Moon Army at Xiao Hai City and the Sun Moon Empire's mainland will also be in internal strife, right?" Tang San brought up the main topic. "You return to Xiao Hai City and cooperate with us to launch an attack from both inside and outside. How about it?"

"How could I dare not agree?" Luo Qiu stretched lazily, rolled her eyes, and then corrected, "Xiao Hai City, you can indeed take it back, but internal strife in the Sun Moon Empire is not certain."

"Xu Huang's consorts are not just me. The two daughters born to his pair of empresses are already six years old."

Tang San raised an eyebrow: "A pair of empresses? Two?"

"Mhm." Luo Qiu nodded. "Moreover, the two of them are at level ninety-eight, two of the Sun Moon Empire's four level ninety-eight Title Douluos. They both reached level ninety-eight after being brought into the Eternal Domain by Xu Huang for cultivation."

"The two's martial souls, one is the sun, and the other is the moon."

"I heard they are also his cousins."

Cousins?

Close relatives with blood ties.

Tang San slowly said, "At least, Douluo Continent won't have to worry for a while... By the way, Xu Huang's Heart is shattered. He shouldn't be able to live, right?"

"If the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne remained intact, he might still have a glimmer of hope," Luo Qiu said definitively.

Tang San remained noncommittal but recalled the moment he delivered the final blow to Xu Huang. A wisp of Destruction power was injected into his Heart, causing it to collapse. However, afterward, that wisp of Destruction power didn't seem to dissipate but instead invaded Xu Huang's brain and hid itself...

Similarly, Austin Griffin, realizing that Tang San had become wary of him, said, "I haven't forgotten the agreement between you and me. I will naturally use any means I can. You can treat that guy as a challenge from me to you."

Tang San smiled at Austin Griffin's sincerity, which meant that the other party had at least acknowledged him and truly begun to accept him.

"Hmph! Don't be presumptuous!"

Austin Griffin twisted his will over the seven heads, snorting coldly at the undisguised playful expression on Tang San's primordial Spirit. "It's just that I have to say it more directly due to the oath to the will of the great universe. Of course, if you don't ask, I don't have to say it either. That's it!"

"Alright, but I'm more curious. How can you revive Xu Huang with that wisp of Destruction power?" Tang San was quite curious. After all, Destruction power doesn't have the ability to repair. It would be good enough if it didn't blow Xu Huang's brains into mush.

"That's my secret." Austin Griffin didn't answer, but that proud little look in his eyes conveyed one thing: Who said the God of Heavenly Condemnation wouldn't have healing skills?

With so many heads, different attributes, and mutual cooperation, he could still become a generation's healing master!

He just happened to be the most skilled and fond of destruction.

Afterward, Austin Griffin disappeared, and the seven heads reverted to their original will, happily running to Tang San's primordial Spirit and constantly nuzzling him.

Tang San played with Nine Haos for a while before returning to his body and letting Luo Qiu return to Xiao Hai City.

Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, and Huo Wu rushed over to Tang San on his way back to Soul Sea City, listening to his description of the battle with lingering fear.

They didn't expect that even the Asura God would descend at the last moment!

"The Creator God can't beat the Asura God?" Huo Wu asked, puzzled. "Is it because Xu Huang is too weak?"

"No, it's because the Creator God is already dead. Even a remnant soul, relying on a super artifact, can't compare to a God King-level powerhouse." Tang San explained the divisions of Gods to Xiao Wu and the others. "Gods are similar to Soul Masters, with different focuses in terms of abilities, but the corresponding realms can be roughly divided into God Officials, Third-Level Gods, Second-Level Gods, First-Level Gods, God Kings, and finally, Creator God."

The reason for knowing this was naturally attributed to Tang San's seizure of the six eternal stars. Moreover, through these six eternal stars, Tang San could indeed sense the plane passage between the God Realm and Douluo Star, thereby exploring some situations in the God Realm.

"For us, Title Douluo is not the end, and breaking through level one hundred is not the end either."

"Therefore, we cannot let our guard down because of our current achievements. The idea of being prepared for danger in times of peace still needs to be brought up. The universe is so vast, unknown, and mysterious. Only by constantly moving forward and exploring the unknown can we continuously improve ourselves and truly control our own destiny."

The four women all nodded vigorously.

God.

Once so distant to them, but now, it seemed to be only a matter of time. Constantly improving themselves and truly transcending the mundane would allow them to see a broader landscape.

After returning to Soul Sea City, Tang San told Ge Long that Xu Huang had been defeated by him, but he didn't say whether Xu Huang was alive or dead. After all, he didn't know what kind of face he would appear with in the distant future, but he would inevitably become Austin Griffin's spokesperson and launch a challenge against him...

...

Within the dark, secluded space, filled with resentment, hatred, and malice, a sacred light suddenly emerged at this moment.

As the light dissipated, a jet-black throne emerged, with a figure sitting on it whose Heart had been pierced.

The throne's tall backrest was simple and steady, faintly emitting an aura of grandeur. It was engraved with suns, moons, stars, flowers, birds, fish, insects, and various plants. It looked dense but somewhat chaotic. Some patterns even seemed to be missing a part, not so real.

"Who is it? How dare you trespass into my Lord of the Netherworld's Domain!" A being composed of black mist, without a physical body, came before the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, scanning it with divine sense approaching the God level. Overjoyed, he said, "It's actually a divine artifact, and this body... Perfect! It can allow me to possess a true physical body!"

The gray-black gas mass transformed into a Heart and entered Xu Huang's broken chest.

At the moment of connecting with his blood vessels, an extremely destructive force erupted, instantly shattering the Lord of the Netherworld's will and fusing it with Xu Huang's own soul, but still with Xu Huang's own will as the dominant force.

Austin Griffin's wisp of Destruction power only protected Xu Huang's soul, while the Lord of the Netherworld's will was completely devoured and absorbed by Xu Huang.

Sensing Xu Huang's changes, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne immediately severed its already faint connection with him, broke through space, and went to other planes.

After Xu Huang reopened his eyes, they had turned pitch black. The various negative emotions suppressed after obtaining the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne also erupted at this moment.

Because he was in the Nether Space, countless evil Spirits, resentments, hatred, and other turbid forces converged toward the Heart in his chest, constantly enhancing his strength until his strength reached the peak of level ninety-nine, only one step away from level one hundred.

To use a suitable analogy, he was a quasi-god.

"I didn't expect that I'm still alive, haha, hahaha!" Xu Huang sensed his own strength, looked up, and laughed. The entire Nether Space trembled. "Long Hao Chen has the Eternal Heart, and I'm not bad either, with the Nether Heart transformed from the Lord of the Netherworld... Although I don't know why his will dissipated, but—"

"I have the strength to take revenge on Tang San!"

"No..."

"I must be more cautious. The Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne has already abandoned me. Tang San can unleash God-level power. I can't be careless. I must grow first, and I can't attract the attention of the God Realm."

"This is the World of 'Heavenly Jewel Change'... I haven't read it, but Zhou Wei Qing takes the path of a useless person, and with Tang San's current ability, he will never let the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger's beads run away. Zhou Wei Qing will always be a useless person, but as the protagonist, he must have luck. I need to use him to slowly influence his mind with Nether energy and turn him into my clone—"

"To be an old grandpa and mastermind!"

445: How to obtain fairy spirit

The war is over.

After Tang San defeated Xu Huang, Marshal Ge Long reorganized the army and, together with the armies of the other three major forces, launched a general attack on Xiao Hai City.

With the number of strong individuals far exceeding that of the enemy, even if the enemy's Spirit Guidance Weapons were more advanced, it was of no avail, and Xiao Hai City was recaptured in just one day.

Tens of thousands of Sun Moon Army soldiers were all taken as prisoners and held in custody.

Luo Qiu and the thirteen Moonlight Elf followed behind Tang San and the others, after all, the great victory was also due to their sneak attacks and killing of nearly thirty generals in the rear.

Therefore, these fourteen people had already left the Sun Moon affiliation and joined Spirit Hall, and could be regarded as representatives of abandoning darkness and turning to the light.

"This battle was thanks to Silverblue Earl, who minimized our army's losses." Marshal Ge Long thanked him, but Tang San helped him up and said, "Marshal, you don't need to be so polite, it was just within my power."

Seven days later, Tang San returned to Spirit Hall City with the Spirit Hall army. A large group of people were already waiting outside the city to welcome them, mostly residents of Spirit Hall City, while the Spirit Hall personnel were basically maintaining order.

At this time, Tang San realized that when the war broke out, it had been recorded by people using Spirit guidance photography equipment, especially the scene of him [sitting on the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne and ordering the enemy army to "kneel down"], which was even played on an open-air screen, and it was even said that some people actually knelt down after seeing the picture.

Fanatical fans are not advisable.

But now, Tang San still showed a different attitude from Hu Liena and others, waving to the crowd.

"Are you enjoying this?" Hu Liena's attitude was relatively aloof, and she basically wouldn't respond too much to people she didn't know.

"Enjoying?" Tang San shook his head, continued to wave to the people who were calling his name, and explained, "It's just that they are calling so enthusiastically, I always have to respond to their expectations, anyway, it's just moving my arm, it doesn't take much effort."

"Is that so?" Hu Liena was thoughtful, feeling that she had learned this from Tang San, and also waved to the crowd, and found that her admirers were shouting even more excitedly at this moment!

"Saintess!"

"Lady Hu Liena!"

Hearing them shouting even harder, Hu Liena couldn't help but break out in a cold sweat. If it was in the Soul Master Competition, it wouldn't matter, after all, the competition venue was far away from the audience seats, but now the distance from the residents on the street was so close, she was a little unable to accept it... but at this time, she could only bite the bullet and wave, showing her approachability.

"It seems you're not very used to it." Tang San smiled, patted her on the shoulder, and advised, "As a leader, you have to be more approachable than me. In the future, you can't always sit in a stifling studio. You have to go out into the crowd more. Whether it's cultivation or office work, you have to combine work and rest."

"Thank you for your reminder." Hu Liena said unhappily, "You only need to do the research you like, but I'm miserable, I need to manage the large and small affairs of Spirit Hall City, it's not as leisurely as you, even with the assistance of the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne, I'm still busy every day."

After entering the Inner City, Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, Zhu Zhuqing and others went to the Pope's Hall together, but Gu Yuena returned to Soul Martial Manor first, after all, she was not one of the candidates to crusade against the Sun Moon invaders this time.

After Bibi Dong praised everyone one by one, she asked Tang San and Chrysanthemum Immortal to stay.

"Let's talk about it, how should Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo be separated?"

Although the current Chrysanthemum Immortal/Ghost Mr. is stronger, and has two souls, when Chrysanthemum Douluo controls it, it is Chrysanthemum Immortal, active during the day; when Ghost Douluo controls it, it is Ghost Mr., active at night.

The division of labor between the two is clear, and they can work around the clock.

But in Bibi Dong's view, one person is not as useful as two people after all.

"There's no way for the time being. Spirit Bone Armor True Body is to completely integrate the martial soul with oneself, not simply release it, or be in an attached state." Tang San shook his head, "Using Martial Soul Fusion Skill in this situation is not simply to make the martial souls of the two people compatible, but will make the bodies of the two people intertwined together."

"Moreover, his/her body is no longer a simple flesh and blood body, but presents a semi-energized state, between flesh and blood and energy, and the entanglement is very complicated."

"To put it simply, the essence, qi, and Spirit of the three are completely integrated together. To separate them perfectly, I'm afraid it requires divine power, and it also requires a precise judgment of each person's essence, qi, and Spirit."

Hearing that it was necessary to reach the level of divine power first, Bibi Dong immediately gave up the idea of separating Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo, after all, she didn't want to be noticed by the God Realm.

Besides, Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo seem to like this state very much. Keeping it and treating it as another example of cultivation for observation is also a good choice.

"Then let's leave it at that for now."

Bibi Dong waved Chrysanthemum Immortal away and said to Tang San, "Didn't you say that you needed my help? Why did you solve it yourself? Moreover, looking at your appearance, it doesn't seem particularly difficult. The strength you burst out is even better than ordinary first-level main gods."

"Just in case." Tang San smiled sheepishly, and then said seriously, "Asura God has descended, you should have felt it too, right? Compared with him, how much chance do you think you have of winning after becoming a god?"

Bibi Dong couldn't help but clench the scepter in her hand and said in a cold voice, "Less than 10%..."

The aura of Asura God was extremely powerful, and the killing intent contained in it, just touching it with spiritual power, made Bibi Dong feel a burst of fear, as if she would be beheaded at any time.

Although she also condensed Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, and her Primordial Spirit was also condensed, she was still far from being able to compare with Asura God in terms of power.

The heaven and earth energy of Douluo Star was simply not comparable to the Immortal Spiritual Energy of the God Realm, even if the energy within the Spirit Beast Illusion was similar to Immortal Spiritual Energy, it was difficult to make up for it.

Moreover, Bibi Dong understood even more that after the people of the mortal star inherited the godhood, they did not inherit all the power of the godhood at once, they needed to ascend to the God Realm to absorb Immortal Spiritual Energy to make up for the energy gap in the divine body after becoming a god before they could be considered to have truly inherited the godhood.

Gods also need energy to carry out activities.

The heaven and earth energy of the lower realm could no longer meet the requirements of gods. Only high-quality energy such as Immortal Spiritual Energy could replenish and support the activities of the Gods.

This was also one of the reasons why the God Realm stipulated that people from the lower realm needed to ascend to the God Realm after becoming gods.

In addition to preventing gods from having too much influence on the human world, it was that if they did not ascend after becoming gods, they would not be able to get more energy supply, and there would be a state of "malnutrition", and in more serious cases, they would "starve to death".

If they wanted to not "starve to death" without ascending, they had to find other methods, such as: occupying and replacing the core and consciousness of the planet.

After all, the planet itself contained huge energy, and it would also instinctively absorb energy from the universe and purify it... Perhaps in terms of quality, it was still not as good as the Immortal Spiritual Energy of the God Realm, but there was a lot of it, and it was no problem to support a few gods.

In short, the divine body after becoming a god was no longer adapted to the low-energy environment, and needed to go to an environment with more energy and higher quality to survive.

However, Bibi Dong could sense that the cyclical universe theory proposed by Tang San regarding the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, casting the flesh as the universe, and condensing the soul as the Primordial Spirit, when it was truly completed, perhaps it could actively absorb any energy in the universe, and it could also survive in any environment without being unadapted due to energy concentration.

"10%?" Tang San sighed, "Immortal Spiritual Energy, this kind of high-quality energy, is really not comparable to mortal-level energy, but now, we are not unable to obtain it."

Bibi Dong's beautiful eyes moved. It would take an unknown amount of time to truly complete the casting of the flesh and blood universe. After all, the energy conversion and circulation circuits of the Golden Core Ring, Heart Core Ring, and Lingge Ring had not yet been summarized.

If Immortal Spiritual Energy could be obtained, although it would not improve the efficiency and progress of the cultivation method, the high-quality energy could allow her to meet the "empty" body in advance when she reached level 100.

"What can be done?"

446: vain obsession

The method to obtain Immortal Spiritual Energy is naturally to use the six eternal stars transformed from the Eternal and Creation Sword.

Although these six eternal stars cannot help Tang San avoid the restrictions of the Douluo Continent's rules, they can assist Tang San in opening the passage between the God Realm and the Douluo Plane.

The kind that no one will notice.

In terms of the Dao of Space, even the Five Great God-Kings of the God Realm cannot compare to the Eternal Lord's attainments.

"That super artifact?" Bibi Dong, who had watched the battle between Tang San and Xu Huang, naturally knew that Tang San had shattered the Eternal and Creation Sword and transformed it into six dim stars.

She didn't expect that it could connect to the God Realm, allowing Immortal Spiritual Energy to be transmitted to the Douluo Continent.

"That being said, if we truly want to connect, perhaps it will take a lot of time to experiment. After all, I currently don't know how to use it, and there are also many alien spaces and space passages near the Douluo Continent, which may also connect to passages leading to other planes." Tang San began an objective analysis, "Moreover, in this process, we also need to consider the possibility of being discovered by the God Realm. It's best to set it up in the Starry Sky World and take our time."

"Then let's leave this matter for now." Bibi Dong spoke of another matter, "Due to the invasion of the Sun Moon Empire, this year's All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament has been postponed, and we also need to try the Sun Moon prisoners... The tournament is estimated to be held in July, and in order to better recruit talent, this time, as long as the age is right and they are not heinous criminals, they can freely form teams to participate..."

Such rules will cause the number of participating teams to increase exponentially.

First of all, the issue of治安 must be considered.

Secondly, the rules of the competition also need to be improved, otherwise it may take more than half a year to end this tournament.

Next, is how to give the audience a better viewing experience. After all, the money to host the competition must be recovered.

However, there are also benefits. The most direct point is that all major forces can discover some commoner soul masters who they had not noticed before. Perhaps they are not as good as academy soul masters in terms of strength, but they will also have their own strengths. It just needs a 'talent scout' to discover them.

Tang San thought for a while, then gave up thinking, and secretly said: "Anyway, I'll just go and watch. I won't participate in the modification of the rules. I'll just lend the computational power of the Heavenly Dao to the personnel who formulate the relevant rules and let them have a headache."

"...When the time comes, can you help improve the competition rules?"

Unfortunately, things don't always go as planned. When you want to avoid something, it will always fall on your head.

"Since Pope has said so, then I can't refuse." After that kind of thing happened with Bibi Dong, Tang San was actually a little guilty. Under the circumstances of not violating any principles, he agreed to her request.

Anyway, having the Heavenly Dao allows me to cheat, and it won't take up my research time...

...

"Illyasviel, how do you think these six eternal stars should be used?" After returning to the Soul Martial Manor, Tang San went to the meditation room and released the six dim eternal stars from the six viscera and six paths. The spirituality on them had completely disappeared.

"This old man has also seen a part of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne for the first time."

Iliex's illusory soul manifested. Over the years, he stroked his beard, carefully circled the six eternal stars a few times, and carefully examined them several times before continuing, "It feels like six peculiar light spheres, completely energy-based, so you can absorb them into your body... However, I didn't expect that your Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method-cultivated body would actually have two innate divine powers, the five viscera and five energies and the six viscera and six paths, completely washing the six eternal stars all over."

"No!"

"Not only that, I estimate that if you practice those two divine powers to a higher level, you can directly refine these six eternal stars to strengthen your whole body's essence, qi, and spirit."

"Tsk tsk, as expected of a genius who proposed the universe cultivation method of transforming and circulating the three treasures of essence, qi, and spirit!"

Tang San "humbly" accepted Iliex's praise, and then asked: "So, what kind of energy are these six eternal stars after all?"

"I'm not sure, but it shouldn't just be the Creator God's throne. It should be a treasure born from the space, plane, or the natural God Realm where the Creator God was first born." Iliex spread his hands, indicating that he didn't know, "In the universe, there are many planes and Worlds that are only composed of energy. Those are all potential seeds of the God Realm, and these Worlds that have not yet evolved gods usually give birth to some natural treasures."

"Those are natural divine artifacts."

"This Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne is probably the same, and that Creator God is likely to be the existence who first obtained this chair."

Undeniably, some beings are born to stand at a height that ordinary people cannot imagine.

At least, that's how it is from the perspective of humans in the World.

"A kind of innate spiritual treasure?"

"Uh, using this term from Honghuang novels is actually about the same."

"In that case, I think these things may be man-made. After all, how can an innate divine artifact actively present the appearance of a human Creation? If it's just similar, it can be said to be a coincidence, but the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne is too exquisite... Putting aside the impression that it is natural, in terms of appearance, the traces of human workmanship are too obvious." Tang San would never ignore this point. He does not deny the supernatural craftsmanship of nature and the universe, but the "supernatural craftsmanship" of nature and the universe has carved out a "ingenious" appearance that only intelligent beings can polish and manufacture.

The problem is too big!

Could it be information mapping of some energy areas in the entire universe by higher dimensions?

"Thinking about these things is just a waste of time for us now. It's better to focus on reality." Iliex reminded, "The infatuation in your upper dantian may be affecting you."

"That's right!" Tang San woke up, calmed down, and an inexplicable fear arose in his heart, "It seems that I defeated Xu Huang who used the Eternal and Creation Armor, and my heart unconsciously expanded a little, so that I couldn't manage my own emotions. The mind still needs to be vigilant at all times."

"Greed, hatred, and infatuation, those things are really evil."

A trace of unease also appeared in Iliex's eyes.

"People have greed, hatred, and infatuation, and gods also have them."

"It can be said that all the contradictions and karma in the World are mainly caused by these three thoughts."

"To some extent, it is purer than good and evil thoughts."

"You need to be more careful."

Tang San nodded, knowing that even if he had cultivated the Primordial Spirit, he was only taking the first step on the path of cultivation. In terms of the mind, he was still far behind.

"I will pay more attention in the future... Now, I still want to think about how to use these six eternal stars."

"Illyasviel, do you think it's better to refine them into a new Soul Imprint Throne, or store them in the Starry Sky World and build a place similar to a formation to connect to other planes in the future?"

"I think you should first find a way to use this to communicate with the Eternal Domain within the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne and take the test first." Iliex said lightly, "Although these six eternal stars have lost all their spirituality, they are, after all, a part of the super artifact. The connection will not be broken. Enter it, defeat the Eternal Lord, and become the true master of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne!"

447: Eternal Realm: The assessment begins!

After Iliex understood some of the energy operations of the eternal star, he instructed Tang San to inject spirit power, saying, "Connect your spirit power to the six eternal stars in sequence to form a cycle."

Tang San nodded, releasing a stream of spirit power, like controlling a thread, slowly touching the first eternal star.

The moment he touched the first eternal star, Tang San received feedback, as if he saw a vast sea of stars rotating in the deep universe, within which a simple god seal throne was brewing.

The spirit power on the first eternal star seemed fixed, but in reality, it flowed along the constantly pulsating energy flow trajectory, then emerged from the other end, contacting the second eternal star.

And so on, until the sixth one, that wisp of spirit power radiated from the end of the last one and returned to Tang San's hand.

In this way, it was as if Tang San had strung a necklace with six eternal stars using his spirit power.

"Very good, the first step is complete," Iliex said with a smile, "Eternal and Creation Armor and Eternal and Creation Sword are actually one, both part of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne. Now, you have connected the carrier of the Eternal and Creation Sword: the six eternal stars, with yourself using your spirit power, which is equivalent to making these six eternal stars a part of your body."

"However, your physical body needs to remain pure; replace it with the Blue Silver Emperor."

Tang San did as he was told, circulating the Creation and Destruction True Scripture, flowing his spirit power through the Blue Silver Emperor, making the spirit power contain the purest aura of Life and Creation.

And the six eternal stars, sensing the aura of these two, seemed to come alive again, their dim surfaces re-emitting a pearly white glow.

The eternal star revived!

Moreover, because the original imprint of the Creator God on them had completely disappeared after being refined by the Five Viscera and Five Qi, and the Six Fu and Six Paths, they were now slowly being imbued with Tang San's aura of Life and Creation, and continuously modifying their most basic compositional structure, becoming completely Tang San's property.

Furthermore, Tang San also obtained the Eternal Three Swords: Revival of All Things, Creation of Life, and eternal star, as well as the strongest move: Creation, which is the fusion of Revival of All Things, Creation of Life, and eternal star, outlining a beautiful picture in the sky.

According to that information, after use, it was as if another World was created in the sky. Under the starlight, all things grew, and living beings evolved. It was a magical, magnificent, and Creation that followed the ultimate principles of heaven and earth.

This move could be used to seal anyone, including gods.

However, Tang San knew that this move was a technique for creating planes. If used by the Creator God in his prime, it could completely create a real plane! Even the God Realm!

However, if Tang San wanted to use these Eternal Three Swords and the Creation Sword, he would need to modify them in the future. After all, if based on the Blue Silver Emperor, they would need to be changed to the Eternal Three Spears and the Creation Spear.

No matter how strong a divine skill was, if it wasn't suitable for one's Spirit, it was useless.

At this moment, the six eternal stars floated around the Blue Silver Emperor's pearl, which resembled a universe, transforming into six thumb-sized small spheres, suspended beneath it, spinning round and round. Tang San also sensed something; he felt that with a thought, he could open the passage to the Eternal Domain.

Thus, Iliex returned to Tang San's upper Dantian, preparing to explore the Eternal Domain with Tang San.

As a demigod, he naturally wanted to see the internal Domain and planes of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, to see the Creator God's遗留之物.

The six eternal stars around the Blue Silver Emperor's top pearl flickered, emitting six rays of light, constructing a swirling light gate in front of Tang San, with a diameter of over three meters, covered with sparkling halos.

Tang San stepped into it—

In the colorless and lightless passage, Tang San didn't know how long he had been there when he suddenly found everything around him becoming clear again.

Clear sounds of insects chirping and birds singing entered his ears. Tang San found himself in a forest, surrounded by tall trees, with many shrubs nearly as tall as a person blocking his view beneath the trees.

Moreover, his primordial spirit power was also difficult to probe the surroundings. Originally, he could probe for hundreds or thousands of miles, but now he could only probe for about a thousand meters at most.

"The restrictions are quite significant!"

Tang San looked around, frowning slightly, "However, the Life aura here is very strong."

All around was a rich Life aura, with no sense of threat whatsoever; everything was the most primitive of nature.

The vast and boundless Life aura gently surged within Tang San's perception.

"Indeed, my divine consciousness is also greatly hindered here, equivalent to what human vision can observe," Iliex's voice sounded in Tang San's mind, "The rules here are very stable, extremely unfriendly to divine consciousness, but they will not affect our combat power in other aspects."

"We need to explore below."

Tang San wanted to fly up, but found that he couldn't walk on air.

"The spatial power here is also extremely stable."

Muttering to himself, twelve light clusters surged behind Tang San, and the Blue Silver Twelve Wings appeared, carrying him into the air.

Flying out from the lush tree canopy, Tang San was slightly stunned, as the scenery before him was simply too beautiful—

Looking as far as the eye could see, everything was green. The towering trees, whose age was unknown, covered all the ground; not a speck of soil or rock could be seen, only endless plants extending into the distance, especially the Life aura emanating from them, which was incomparably vast and profound.

After calming down, Tang San thought for a while and then began to fly forward.

He didn't know if he was considered to have accepted the assessment of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, but the space here had no boundaries, so no matter which direction he flew, he should be able to reach his intended destination.

After flying for a distance, Tang San sensed that the Life energy in the jungle not far away was in disorder. Just as he was about to go down to investigate, a grand and inexplicable voice entered his ears: "We meet again. I didn't expect you to truly make the six eternal stars your own. This is blatant seizure!"

"However, perhaps this is also the arrangement of fate—"

"Now, I give you the first assessment: find out what happened below. The subsequent assessments... to be continued."

Tang San was speechless and retorted, "Are the gods' assessments always so casual?"

The Eternal Lord chuckled, "Since I am a god, how the assessment is conducted is naturally up to me. Doing as I please, that's how it is. If I wish, and I take a liking to someone, even without an assessment, they can obtain the right to use the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne."

After that, no matter how much Tang San asked, the Eternal Lord no longer answered, so he could only descend towards the area where the Life fluctuations were in disorder...

448: Bullshit art!

Tang San silently landed on a nearby tree trunk, watching the struggle below, and found that two Elf race members, dressed in different colored outfits, were confronting each other.

One group had over thirty people, all dressed in green, with six or five pairs of thin, dragonfly-like wings on their backs. The energy fluctuations from their bodies indicated that the leader was equivalent to a level 98 Titled Douluo, while the rest ranged from level 95 to level 97 in strength.

The other group also had over thirty people, also from the Elf race, but their clothing was silk, and they all had more or less feather decorations.

Tang San still had some related memories of “god seal throne”. The Elf race of the Eternal Domain seemed to be the race ruled by Easton King. In the original work, the arrival of the Sacred Dragon made Easton King quite unhappy, fearing that the Sacred Dragon would snatch the Elf race’s faith in him...

“Heh, faith.” Although the Heavenly Dao was also constructed using faith, that was an “equivalent exchange.” Tang San would not actively collect faith. For Divinities who grew strong by relying on faith, his eyes naturally filled with disdain—too primitive, too inefficient.

As for the current situation, although Tang San hadn't personally gone down to inquire, he generally understood that it was probably because an Eternal Angel had descended upon this forest under Easton King’s jurisdiction, causing some elves to abandon their original faith in Easton King and switch to the Eternal Angel.

Because other Divinities had descended here and witnessed miracles, their faith could be changed. How “pious” was that?

Perhaps this was the way of life for the sentient beings of the Eternal Domain; their purpose in living was to continuously provide faith to Easton King, the Sacred Dragon, and the Eternal Angel.

But—

How pathetic!

Just like the two groups of elves below, fighting over different faiths, little did they know that Easton King and the Eternal Angel didn't care about their lives or deaths at all.

“Meng Meng, are you still going to make mistakes again and again?” The elf in green clothing shouted at the elf in feathered attire, “Give up your faith in the Eternal Angel!”

“Nian Nian, you are wrong. The Eternal Angel is the existence we should believe in. Haven't you noticed that we and she both have wings?” The elf named Meng Meng's eyes showed adoration, “She is as beautiful as us. She must have created us. On the contrary, Easton King, although he controls the power of nature, is so ugly in appearance. How could he be the god who created us?”

“You're crazy! You are absolutely crazy!” Nian Nian shouted.

“No! I am sober! It is you who are still in madness!” Meng Meng shouted to those behind her who were willing to follow her, “Sisters, let's go. Let these stubborn guys also sober up and then join us!”

“Sisters, charge with me!”

Over sixty elves collided and started wrestling.

They didn't use any magic or weapons, opting for the most primitive form of hand-to-hand combat.

But Tang San could see that they were truly fighting in earnest. Nian Nian was pulling Meng Meng's ear, making her shriek in pain, while Meng Meng found an opportunity and bit Nian Nian's nose, making her wail.

The two were truly tit-for-tat, neither giving an inch.

The other elves were much the same.

You tear my feathered robe, I tear your green dress. In a moment, both sides were revealing a bit too much.

The reason they didn't use magic or similar attacks was primarily that both sides wanted to incorporate the other into their own team and didn't truly want to fight to the death over faith, or even suffer heavy casualties.

After all, currently, it was merely a difference in ideology. If one were accidentally killed, it would truly become an unending conflict. At that point, an internal war of the Elf race would break out, leading to large numbers of elves dying, which would be beneficial to neither of the leaders of the two ideologies.

They both should know this... right?

【The First Trial begins: Prevent the conflict between the elves.】

The gender-neutral voice of the Eternal Lord once again sounded in Tang San's ear, but Tang San remained unmoved, continuing to watch the elves' "battle" with great interest.

【I said, the trial has begun.】

"I know, but let me finish watching first," Tang San said perfunctorily, his eyes fixed on the sixty-plus pairs of "you ride me, I ride you" female elves fighting below.

【.....】

In this battle, both sides fought to their heart's content, each bearing injuries. Meng Meng had a black eye, and the clothing on her upper body was completely torn; Nian Nian's cheeks were swollen, and the green dress on her lower body had disappeared.

The battles between elves were truly wild!

Meng Meng covered her right eye, gritting her teeth, "Nian Nian, I didn't expect you, this tender, stinky egg, to be so stubborn."

Nian Nian rubbed her cheeks, chuckling coldly, "Same to you, you pink grape."

Just then, Tang San jumped down from the tree trunk.

The sudden change made both sides freeze, not even realizing that Tang San was a man.

Tang San was not embarrassed. He activated his First Soul Skill, Endless Recovery, to restore the injuries of both sides—although in this Eternal Domain, spirit rings could not be released, the Blue Silver Emperor had evolved to the point where the corresponding spirit ring skills were ingrained in his instincts. Even without spirit rings, he could still use them.

The power would just be about one percent weaker.

"Thank you, human." Meng Meng reacted, openly letting go of her arms that covered her chest, and smiled, "May I...?"

"Fight again." However, Meng Meng's words were interrupted by Tang San, who said it very seriously.

Nian Nian was also stunned, "What did you say?"

"I said, fight again." Tang San turned to look at Nian Nian, and even took out a spirit tool camera device, "I haven't had enough fun watching just now. Let's do it again. This time, I want to record it. When I go out, it will definitely sell well."

At this moment, the two elves' eyes were filled with shock, and then their gazes turned cold. The eyes of the other elves also changed.

Although they didn't know the word "scum," the look in their eyes at this moment was perfectly described by those two words.

"Are you joking?"

"No, I'm serious," Tang San said gravely, "I am an artist, and also a master of human body art. Such beautiful female elves, combined with pure physical violent aesthetics, are truly astonishing. I must photograph it to show to the humans outside, so that everyone knows that elves are a philosophical race full of freedom and wildness!"

Philosophy...

Meng Meng and Nian Nian didn't understand, but the description of the person in front of them was undoubtedly slandering their entire Elf race!

Although they lived in this World, they didn't know how the humans of the outside World viewed them, but they could absolutely imagine that once these events were exposed, the reputation of the elves would probably be similar to that of succubi recorded in ancient texts.

Absolutely not!

And so, the two decided to put aside their previous grudges. The other elves, at this moment, completely forgot that Tang San had just healed them, and magic energy spontaneously gathered in their hands.

"Huh?" Tang San tilted his head, "Don't you want to sacrifice for art?"

Nian Nian: "Eternal Angel's ass art!"

Meng Meng: "Easton King's ass art!"

449: God doesn't care

In the calm and peaceful Easton Forest, a series of explosions erupted, and gray and black mushroom clouds rose from the ground, almost shaking the entire forest.

Tang San weaved through the mushroom clouds, laughing heartily as he shouted to the sky, “Hey, does this count as me preventing a dispute between the two sides?”

“.....First trial, passed.”

A voice, audible only to Tang San, sounded, carrying a hint of helplessness and entanglement in its tone.

But Tang San had indeed stopped the struggle between the two faiths, because after Meng Meng and Nian Nian returned, they abandoned their religious dispute and began to unite, vigorously searching for Tang San, unanimously deciding to capture this guy, punish him severely, and then continue their struggle.

The Elf race is a very devoted species, not only in their emotions but also in their actions.

Once they truly make up their minds, they will never commit to other matters until it is completed, even if the two elves have a deep-seated hatred.

But could they catch Tang San?

Obviously not.

The Eternal Lord realized that Tang San was a person who didn't play by the rules, and indeed, he was a complete “scumbag” who specialized in breaking girls’ hearts.

If it were an ordinary person, the Eternal Lord would have arranged a direct battle, but Tang San’s combat power was heaven-defying; even if Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel went together, they probably wouldn't last a few rounds.

Therefore, He decided to make Tang San use his brain...

But He didn't expect such a result.

“Second trial: unify the faith of all living beings in the entire Eternal Domain.”

The Eternal Lord stated the content of the second trial.

This trial was to test Tang San’s abilities; if he wanted to completely control the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, then he had to gain the recognition of all living beings in this Eternal Domain.

It didn't matter if these beings offered their faith to Easton King, dedicated it to Sacred Dragon, or contributed it to Eternal Angel; they could gain benefits, but ultimately, it would all return to the great God of Creation—that was the key.

“The Eternal Domain is too big; it will waste a lot of time.” Tang San was preparing to negotiate the terms.

“The flow of time here is different from the outside world; one instant outside is ten thousand years here.....”

“Then won’t I die of old age?” Tang San retorted.

The Eternal Lord felt that His wisp of divine sense was about to explode; He had never encountered such a “capable” examinee. Who was the examiner, and who was He?

If it weren't for the six eternal stars in Tang San's hands, He wouldn't have bothered with this infuriating guy at all!

“I’m just asking you, are you taking the test or not?”

“Of course, why wouldn’t I? One must give face to the Eternal Lord, after all.” Tang San chuckled, coaxing Him like he was coaxing a girlfriend, then stopped flying and landed on the ground, spreading his arms.

Seeing Tang San in a posture of surrender, Meng Meng and Nian Nian also landed on the ground, warily watching Tang San.

“What do you mean by this?” Meng Meng condensed a wooden thorn in her hand. “Are you trying to launch a sneak attack while we’re relaxed?”

Nian Nian, with six sharp leaf blades spinning in her palm, also cautiously said, “Some magic beasts do that.”

“No, my goal has been achieved.” Tang San smiled.

The two girls and the elves behind them became even more wary: “What goal?”

“Naturally, it’s to make you cooperate.” Tang San spoke nonsense, deceiving both sides, “You two look so alike, you must be sisters, right? But why are you fighting so fiercely?”

“Is it merely because of different beliefs?”

“You are clearly of the same race: peace-loving elves; freedom and liveliness are your synonyms. Why must you be so rude?”

“I know that everyone is an intelligent being and possesses multiple facets, but you shouldn't be so barbaric. Sometimes, some things can be resolved better by sitting down and talking them over.”

Tang San lowered his outstretched arms, and under the elves’ gaze, he casually sat cross-legged on the ground, sighing, “But I know that when you were fighting before, you wouldn’t listen to any of my advice. So, I was a little presumptuous. After healing your injuries, I spoke nonsense, drawing your attention to myself, thereby making you set aside your disputes and target me instead.”

“I have witnessed different religious conflicts, from initial verbal abuse to mutual fighting, and finally, the eruption of war, killing each other...”

Both Meng Meng and Nian Nian trembled inwardly.

Because Tang San was right!

At first, they started with verbal sparring due to different beliefs, then it escalated to forming different religious factions and beginning to fight.

Only the final “kill-each-other war” had not yet happened, but if it continued to develop, it might indeed be as the handsome man in front of them said.

“...Therefore, I hoped that you would abandon unnecessary disputes and turn your target to me, venting your anger on me.” A sacred light seemed to radiate from Tang San as he continued, “Now it seems my method was correct. You have vented your anger, your mood has improved significantly, and you can now calm down and listen to me properly.”

Feeling the warm aura of Life emanating from Tang San and seeing his sincere smile, Meng Meng, Nian Nian, and the other elves, with their simple minds, all felt ashamed of their previous actions.

The person before them was so noble; to make them calm down, he didn't hesitate to do something that would affect his own reputation.

In comparison, they, the elves crowned with “kindness,” seemed a bit barbaric.

“Why are you lowering your heads?”

Tang San saw that the elves seemed to have nothing to say to him and asked, “Everyone makes mistakes; it’s unavoidable. It’s fine as long as you correct them.”

“Everyone can have their own beliefs; there’s no need to fight to the death just because of different beliefs. It actually has no meaning.”

Nian Nian hesitated for a moment but still said, “How can it have no meaning?”

“What’s the meaning of fighting, or even killing each other, for the sake of faith?” Tang San took a deep breath, his eyes filled with pity, and he softly retorted, “Does God wish to see you fight to the death?”

A single sentence awakened those lost in a dream!

Meng Meng and Nian Nian looked at each other, both seeing the shock in the other’s eyes: They had never thought of this question! Did God really care about their religious struggles?

If He cared, why would He turn a blind eye?

This forest was clearly an area under Easton’s jurisdiction, but when the faith of Meng Meng and the Eternal Angel appeared, he himself never came to manage it.

All of this was wishful thinking on the part of their Elf race!

They were pitifully insignificant!

And what Tang San wanted was this effect, telling them a simple truth:

God.

Doesn't care.

450: I've never looked forward to it so much

Chapter 450 I've Never Looked Forward To Something So Much Before...

This Eternal Domain was perhaps created by God. The Eternal Angel represents the sky, the Sacred Dragon represents the ocean and all magical beasts on the continent, and the Easton King represents nature and Life.

The earliest Elf race were perhaps the most devout believers, but their descendants definitely are not. Otherwise, the situation of 'changing faith because another god came to another god's territory' wouldn't have happened.

The current Elf race's faith in God is not devout to begin with!

The purpose of this second trial is simply that the Eternal Lord hopes to see the faith of the beings within the Eternal Domain become devout again, nothing more.

But Tang San doesn't want that to happen.

Unified faith?

What does 'unified' even mean? Believing in a certain existence?

Tang San doesn't think so.

"Do you know what a God is?" Tang San asked Meng Meng and Nian Nian.

"I don't know."

Meng Meng, Nian Nian, and the other sixty-plus elves all sat down cross-legged, shaking their heads like rattles. It looked quite spectacular, but also adorably naive.

Elves are, after all, a simple race.

In this Eternal Domain, besides the conflict of faith, there probably aren't any other dangers. Therefore, the beings here are relatively simple, including those three Gods.

Of course, this so-called simplicity is relative. Tang San wouldn't really let his guard down.

"God created all things, but why did God create all things?" Tang San said slowly, "For the faith of all things? If He can create all things, then why would He need faith?"

Meng Meng, Nian Nian, and the others didn't understand, but their eyes became brighter, as if Tang San was explaining truths they had never known before.

For example, God doesn't need faith.

The Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel, who were secretly observing, said:

"That's bullshit!"

But Tang San was just deceiving them like this, ah no, he was just explaining his own set of 'truths'.

"May I ask, Miss Meng Meng, where do you usually live, what do you eat, and what kind of things do you do?"

"Me?" Meng Meng was stunned for a moment, then said, "I live inside the Elf Tree, I eat the fruits born from the trees, and what I usually do is cultivate, and then decorate the house, plant trees, flowers, pick fruits, and so on."

Tang San nodded and asked Nian Nian, "Then what about you?"

"Me? I'm similar to Meng Meng." Nian Nian also described her usual Life, without any defenses against Tang San at all. Her innocent appearance even made Tang San's conscience ache slightly.

"Then, when building treehouses, planting trees, and making food, did God help you?" Tang San asked all the elves present one by one, listening to their similar answers, and continued to ask.

"This... no."

Meng Meng and Nian Nian both shook their heads. "Since the elves were born in this forest, these are all skills that our ancestors have explored, and it wasn't God who helped us..."

As they spoke, their voices became softer.

After all, according to the direction of thinking given by Tang San, God seemed to be of no use at all?

"So—"

Tang San opened his arms, raising them upwards, as if embracing the World, "God created the World and doesn't care about faith at all. You live here, just live according to your own ideas. No matter what you believe in, as long as you don't hurt others, that's enough."

"God gave you the freedom to live, and doesn't need your faith. Then why do you have to fight each other because of faith? You're even sisters!"

"As the Elf race who love Life the most, you should respect each other's choices more."

"The right to faith belongs to all beings!"

Nian Nian was stunned, repeating: "The right to faith belongs to all beings!"

Meng Meng also murmured: "The right to faith belongs to all beings!"

Light shone in the eyes of the other elves, as if they had witnessed the greatest truth!

"You and she used to be friends, often picking fruits together. Why do you have to fight each other just because your beliefs are different?"

"She and you are sisters, so why do you have to live apart because of such a small matter?"

"And you two, why do you hate each other? You clearly said that you were good friends who talked about everything when you were young."

"..."

Tang San asked the elves sitting around him one by one, and without waiting for them to feel ashamed, he continued, "Great faith originates from the heart. There's no need to rely on fighting to convince the other party. The resources of this forest are very abundant. Compared to the number of trees, the number of elves isn't even a drop in the bucket. You don't have to worry about survival at all."

"Even if one of you convinces the other, what can you gain?"

"False satisfaction?"

"That will only make the relationship between you stiff. Therefore, I think you can believe in the Easton King, or the Sacred Angel, or even believe in nothing. It's enough to live your own lives well."

"I think you who love Life are an open-minded race, right?"

Meng Meng and Nian Nian nodded vigorously, in unison: "That's right, elves are an open-minded race and won't have narrow-minded thoughts!"

At the same time, the master of the Eternal Domain, the Eternal Lord, was a little unable to keep up with the situation after seeing all of this.

He didn't understand what Tang San was doing.

Although the elf tribes led by Meng Meng and Nian Nian did indeed achieve unity in their ideas, was this a unity of faith?

It always felt a little wrong.

And Tang San had already slowly stood up and said to the two of them, "Now, let me introduce my identity to you."

"That's right, we still don't know who you are? Why do you possess such a strong Life Force? For all elves, even the Moonlight Elf with a natural dark constitution, it is a fatal attraction." Meng Meng also came back to her senses at this time, curiously looking at Tang San, even swallowing her saliva, "I feel like I'm going to fall in love with you."

Nian Nian also nodded: "Me too."

"Huh?" X2

The two suddenly turned their heads, glaring at each other, neither willing to yield.

In love, they are bold and unrestrained. As long as they like someone, they will say it boldly, without any concealment. Only the Moonlight Elf will lie on this point.

"Don't fall in love with me, and besides, your love is too simple. We've only known each other for a few minutes." Tang San shook his head and smiled, then introduced himself, "My name is Tang San, I come from Douluo Continent. I came to the Eternal Domain because I accepted the Creator God's test to become the true master of the Eternal Domain."

"Not that kind of temporary substitute, but to replace—"

"The Eternal Lord!"

Meng Meng exclaimed: "So you are the next Creator God!"

Tang San smiled and said: "Don't say that. God is just a powerful person, and the content of my assessment is to make the beings of the Eternal Domain love their lives."

"Live for yourself, not for faith."

"Faith can exist, but you can't force others to believe in it with you."

"This is the Creator God's expectation!"

Eternal Lord: 【I've Never Looked Forward To Something So Much Before...】

451: A simple dream Nian Nian

Under Tang San's persuasion, the innocent Meng Meng and Nian Nian believed him. Besides Tang San's own words convincing them, who were unfamiliar with worldly affairs, the more important reason was his handsome appearance and the inherent aura of Life and nature he exuded.

Especially after Tang San released his Blue Silver Emperor, they, who already had an understanding of plants and Life, worshipped Tang San as a true God.

"Great Lord Tang San, please, you must visit our Elf Kingdom and spread your wisdom!" Meng Meng and Nian Nian pleaded.

"To be honest, I haven't been to the Elf Kingdom yet," Tang San naturally agreed, but then continued, "However, when you address me, there's no need for a prefix. All beings are born equal. Every Life has its own value, just like fruit. You might think they are naturally meant to be eaten, but in reality, after you eat their flesh, whether you collect the seeds or simply discard the pits, the seeds travel to a more distant place."

"If plants could speak, they certainly wouldn't resent you for eating their fruit, because you also help them spread their seeds, allowing their next generation to grow in more distant places and see landscapes their ancestors never saw, generation after generation."

"The fruit tree provides fruit flesh to attract you, and you eat the fruit flesh, helping the fruit tree spread its seeds."

"This is a process of mutual interaction. In this relationship, you gain food, and the fruit tree, with your help, spreads its next generation."

"Therefore, there is no high or low, noble or common distinction in personality among various races. Each should fulfill their role; otherwise, it is an abuse of power for personal gain."

As Tang San instilled this 'chicken soup for the soul' using the analogy of 'the interaction and survival between fruit trees and Elves,' the Elves grew even more respectful of him. Many bold Elf ladies even proactively approached Tang San to show friendliness.

But Tang San refused.

After all, he hadn't 'scummed' to the point of sleeping with a girl less than a day after meeting her. Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, Huo Wu, and others, they all had an emotional foundation, didn't they?

How could these bold and uninhibited Elves compare?

After walking for nearly an hour, Meng Meng and Nian Nian led Tang San to the Kingdom of Nature Elves.

At this time, Tang San and the others stood on a hundred-meter-high cliff. About two hundred meters away, a waterfall nearly fifty meters wide cascaded down, and below the cliff was where the Elf Kingdom was located.

Compared to other regions, this Kingdom had a diameter of over a hundred kilometers, with houses mostly built on trees or directly hollowed out from the inside of tree trunks.

Between the various trees, there were suspension bridges connecting them, forming a vast network. Looking down from the cliff, it was scattered yet orderly, as if woven by a spider not skilled in weaving webs.

However, what was most moving was the towering tree in the center, nearly a thousand meters high. The Life aura emanating from it was second only to the Golden Ancient Tree Tang San had seen, and above it hung emerald green fruits, though some fruits were dark purple, all looking very appealing.

"That is the Tree of Nature, also the Tree of Elves," Meng Meng said when she saw Tang San looking at the fruits on the tree. "Those fruits are the seeds that nurture us, or rather, our future sisters."

"The green ones can give birth to Nature Elves, which are our kind, possessing the power of nature and light elements; while the purple ones will give birth to Moonlight Elves, who are naturally dark-attributed."

"But we ourselves do not reject Moonlight Elves; it's just that they often like to play pranks and dislike sunlight, so we don't play together. In fact, most Moonlight Elves have gone to their own Kingdom established by the first Moonlight Elf."

"Therefore, you won't see any Moonlight Elves here."

Tang San nodded, saying nothing more, but then asked, "Are all you Elves born from the seeds of that Elf Tree? Are there no Elves born through the union of a couple?"

Under Tang San's divine sense scan, the body structures and internal organs of Meng Meng, Nian Nian, and other Elves were no different from normal humans. At least, they all had reproductive organs.

Perhaps there was reproductive isolation with humans, but between Elves, there shouldn't be, right?

"There are," Nian Nian said. "Elves have both males and females, but they feel nothing for each other. There were once outsiders who stayed in the Elf Kingdom and mated with Elves, but the fertility rate was extremely low... Now that I've heard your identity, I guess that person was also a Creator God's inheritor, just one who didn't pass the assessment..."

"And the offspring born from the union of humans and Elves are called 'Human Elites'."

What the hell kind of 'Human Elites'!

Tang San had a complaint to voice but held it back, chuckling, "Human Elites? I thought it would be Half-Elves."

"Uh... I heard someone say that about two hundred thousand years ago, the fifth human to come here called them that, because there was a race similar to Elves in the plane he was from," Meng Meng began to explain. "But that Human Elite in the Kingdom felt this was an insult, so he proactively challenged him, defending his honor as a Human Elite at the cost of his Life, and the fifth human to come here also lost an arm and a leg, and then disappeared without a trace."

Needless to say, he definitely didn't pass the assessment and was expelled.

However—

Tang San still couldn't quite accept the term 'Human Elite,' but he could only move past the topic, asking, "Are there still Human Elites in the current Nature Elf Kingdom?"

"There's still one, already six hundred thousand years old. His strength has reached the God level, second only to the Lord of Nature: Easton King," Meng Meng replied. "But he only has his soul left and is in a deep slumber. I heard it's because he looked at the unchanging scenery every day for six hundred thousand years, and his mind collapsed... Anyway, I can't understand it."

Tang San was silent for a moment, then asked, "Didn't he think of leaving?"

"Leaving? Do you mean leaving the Eternal Domain?" Nian Nian shook her head. "As far as we know, there's only one way to leave the World of the Eternal Domain, and that is to defeat Easton King and gain his recognition."

Actually, there was another way, and that was to ask for help from the user of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne.

Luo Qiu and the thirteen Moonlight Elves were able to leave with Xu Huang's permission.

However, Nian Nian, Meng Meng, and other Elves didn't know about this; only the Moonlight Elves, who were often used as assessment targets for the examinees, understood some of the truth.

As for the Nature Elves, Tang San estimated that their Queen might know some truth, while others probably only knew of the Creator God's existence.

Otherwise, when Tang San confessed to them that he was an examinee of the Creator God, Meng Meng, Nian Nian, and other Elves wouldn't have been so shocked; at most, they would have been a little surprised.

Moreover, regarding other examinees, they only knew that in past years, humans would come to their territory and start aimlessly wandering around...

452: Suicide The Reborn Elf Queen

Upon entering the Elf Kingdom, Tang San discovered that elves were not exclusively female; there were also males. However, their delicate features were no less exquisite than those of female elves, making them almost indistinguishable to the naked eye.

Evidently, the Elf race was a matriarchal society.

Meng Meng and Nian Nian seemed to have some status within the Elf Kingdom; the elves who saw them would greet them warmly, but the rules were not as distinct as the superior-subordinate relationships in human society. It looked more like communication between ordinary friends.

This was very good.

It meant that the elves would not truly oppress their kin with lower strength or status—perhaps it was also related to the almost inexhaustible resources of this place.

Tang San also learned from Meng Meng that the elf population exceeded one hundred million, and the true Elf Kingdom was actually the entire forest. The city he had entered was merely the central city of the Elf Kingdom.

Meng Meng and Nian Nian were priests in the Elf Kingdom, their status second only to the Elf Queen. Their previous fight in the forest was to avoid alarming the Elf Queen.

“Can I meet the Queen directly?” Tang San couldn’t help but ask as Meng Meng and Nian Nian led him towards the thousand-meter-tall Elf Tree.

Meng Meng nodded, “Naturally.”

Nian Nian was puzzled, “Why do you ask that?”

“In human society, if an outsider wishes to meet a king or similar, it requires many procedures...” Tang San explained in detail.

“Oh~ the Human World is truly complicated,” Nian Nian paused for a moment, then said, “But our Elf Kingdom doesn’t have so many rules. Although there are corresponding different statuses, every elf can meet the Elf Queen...”

Tang San nodded slightly, indicating he understood: “This is a kind Elf Queen!”

But deep down, Tang San thought: the elves’ nature is pure... like that of an innocent child. Except for the Moonlight Elf, who might have a touch of mischievousness and playfulness, the others are highly unlikely to harbor thoughts of betrayal, unless it involves matters of faith, just like Meng Meng and Nian Nian.

However, this was also due to the excellent environment and abundant resources here. If it were a poor and remote place, where the power of nature could not be applied or transformed in a short time, even the purest elves would become petty.

Humans and nature are a process of mutual influence.

At this moment, Tang San seemed to have gained some enlightenment; his primordial spirit strengthened slightly, and his mental force became three points more condensed.

“My mental force can even be called divine consciousness,” Tang San sighed inwardly, continuing to follow the two towards the Elf Tree.

Along the way, Tang San saw some peculiar objects, similar to artworks.

Meng Meng and Nian Nian were not impressed.

After all, such paintings had not changed for one hundred thousand years; they were commonplace...

When they arrived before the Elf Tree, Tang San truly felt the immense size of this towering tree. Its trunk alone exceeded two hundred meters in diameter, with gnarled roots surrounding it. A staircase made of gold and stone led to a large door about twenty meters high, with more than ten elves standing on each side, males on the left and females on the right. All held short spears resembling sealed stingers, with longbows slung over their shoulders and quivers with green leaves strapped to their backs.

Upon seeing Meng Meng and Nian Nian, they all placed a hand across their chest—male elves used their right hand, female elves used their left—and bowed slightly in unison, saying in one voice: “Greetings, Priest Meng, Priest Nian.”

“Locke, Ariel, Yoda...”

“Frank, Aura, Groloda...”

Meng Meng and Nian Nian called out the names of these guards individually, greeting each other and chatting for a good while... This truly showed Tang San that the elves indeed had little sense of hierarchy.

This Elf Kingdom was indeed a dreamlike kingdom, not just in its scenery, but also in its culture.

However, in an environment of abundant resources, the spirits of these elves were also lacking. Apart from the necessary manufacturing of living tools and weapons, their focus was on the pursuit of faith.

Art?

It did exist, but along this journey, Tang San found that the artistic Creations here were either in the style of one hundred thousand years ago, or two hundred thousand, or three hundred thousand years ago.

Development was extremely slow.

The primary meaning of civilization is survival, but in this plane, once the elves' survival needs are met, they do not think about progress, and development falls into stagnation.

If they could live here forever, undisturbed by the outside World, it would be good. But the universe is vast, and there will always be races exploring the stars...

Perhaps he was worrying needlessly, but if this Eternal Domain had not changed for hundreds of millions of years from a more distant spatio-temporal perspective, then it was truly just stagnant water.

No matter how beautiful it once was, in the eyes of higher-dimensional existences, it would be a putrid, decaying place.

The elves here were relatively empty in spirit; their faith in gods was perhaps one of the few ways they could satisfy their spiritual yearning.

Tang San felt he had corroborating evidence for this: after Meng Meng and Nian Nian had their fierce fight earlier, besides their mutual disappointment, there was also a hint of satisfaction.

“Has the Elf Kingdom received a guest?”

After an elf guard entered the treehouse to report, a small girl skipped out. Compared to other elves, her attire was also predominantly green, but with many golden stripes outlining it. On her head, she wore a lotus-like crown, only palm-sized, and it was not worn in the center but tilted to the right.

“Greetings, Your Majesty, Queen Alice!” Meng Meng and Nian Nian knelt on one knee in respect. Tang San also mimicked them, bowing to this little Elf Queen, who was only 1.3 meters tall.

“Hehe, are you the human?” Alice skipped over to Tang San, who had straightened up again, scrutinizing him up and down, then circling him two and a half times, laughing, “Your Life aura is even richer than ours, the Elf race.”

“I wouldn’t dare say that; compared to Your Majesty, I am still a bit lacking,” Tang San said humbly.

“Haha, that’s right, I am the Elf Queen!” Alice put one hand on her hip, pointed a finger to the sky, tilted her head back, and puffed out her flat chest, laughing heartily.

Her personality was a bit too lively and overconfident.

Meng Meng coughed and quietly explained to Tang San: “Our Elf Queen has always been only one, Alice. However, every million years, she needs to be reborn, shedding all memories from her soul except for [the use of her own abilities, the recognition of her identity as the Elf Queen, and her duties as Queen].”

Nian Nian added: “We all suspect that the Queen’s situation might be similar to that of the Human-Elf, but to prevent mental collapse, she needs to shed all memories except for the relevant inheritance at the very last moment.”

“Each newly born Queen Alice knows this through the accounts of others, but she herself does not have those memories, so she will not commit suicide.”

“You heard right; in our elves’ view, the Queen’s actions are considered suicide...”

453: Hundreds of years passed by in a hurry

“Have you ever experienced a situation like Alice’s?” Tang San asked.

“Uh... no, after all, Meng Meng and I are still young, only a thousand years old.” Nian Nian shook her head, “The Elf race has a very long average lifespan, around ten thousand years. And upon reaching the God-level, due to their inherent understanding of nature and Life, they can achieve eternal Life in this environment filled with the force of Life.”

“Among the elves, besides those exceptional individuals, the only God-level existence is Queen Alice.”

“It is said that tens of millions of years ago, there were many God-level elves, but they all lived too long, and their minds collapsed. They chose to integrate themselves into the Eternal Domain, dedicating themselves to the great Creator God... Now, some elves, after reaching the Demigod-level, have been suppressing their breakthroughs because they fear that if they achieve eternal Life, they will also die from mental collapse. That kind of pain, the elves can perceive through the faint residual aura left behind. Elves who have experienced that aura can break through their realms relatively quickly, but none of them want to break through to the God-level. That feeling of losing oneself is truly terrifying.”

Tang San’s heart sank. He suddenly realized that this Eternal Domain was truly nurturing all beings, providing them with a place to live, and they provided the three tool spirits and one tool soul with the power of faith. In the end, even if they became gods, their divine souls would gradually collapse over the long passage of time, eventually leading to their demise.

But how do Easton King, Sacred Dragon, Eternal Angel, and Eternal Lord endure the corresponding trials of time?

Is it because of the time ratio of ‘one day to one year,’ or do they mostly sleep, unaware of the outside world, or is it because of faith?

Faith can also be said to be the manifestation of a certain spiritual will.

The flesh will decay, and energy will diminish, but only faith can be passed down from generation to generation with the proliferation of Life. As long as the lineage of Life is not cut off, faith will not perish. There will always be devout believers following one after another, willingly contributing the power of faith they themselves have not noticed to the gods they worship and respect.

No wonder gods need faith!

Tang San gradually perceived the truth...

And each of Alice’s rebirths involves cleansing her memories. Is this a form of reincarnation?

Perhaps in the eyes of the elves, Queen Alice is still that queen, only her memories have changed.

The composition of the soul: soul shell + immortal true spirit.

The Alice before him, her immortal true spirit might still be the original one, but the soul shell, composed of memories, has definitely changed with each different rebirth.

She is the same person, and yet not the same person.

It must be said that this might also be a different kind of eternal Life.

Faith can make gods eternal.

But at this moment, Tang San discovered another method from Queen Alice: experiencing hundreds, thousands, tens of thousands, hundreds of millions, or even inconceivable cycles of reincarnation, allowing each of her lives to be independent, and then, at the final moment, returning to her true self.

“Your idea is a bit dangerous.” Iliex’s scalp tingled when he heard Tang San say this, even though he was a soul body. “If you truly experience so many reincarnations, when you awaken, you’ll need to process an almost infinite amount of memory information. Will you really not go insane?”

“It’s just a guess, but I think this is the key to imprinting all our information on the immortal true spirit.” In the depths of his being, Tang San had a premonition—

“What’s your name?” Alice pulled Tang San out of his thoughts. He saw her sitting casually on the steps, her eyes as warm and moist as jade, gazing at Tang San. Her hands cupped her slightly chubby cheeks, without a trace of a queen’s demeanor, just like a friendly, lively little girl.

“Respected Queen, my name is Tang San.” Tang San introduced himself with a smile.

“Don’t call me Queen. It doesn’t sound good; my ears are almost calloused.” Alice was a little annoyed. Although the memories on her soul had been cleansed, her body’s instincts remained. “Just call me Alice. By the way, why are you here?”

“To complete the Creator God’s mission, to let the beings of the Eternal Domain live for themselves.” Tang San’s gaze deepened, as if he were the Creator God sitting high on the throne, spreading his wisdom to the world.

“That sounds amazing, but what exactly is it?” Alice took a deep breath and asked curiously.

“In short, it’s about loving Life, finding things you enjoy, instead of dedicating everything to the faith of a god. Just do what you care about.” Tang San smiled and extended his hand to Alice, “Are you willing to see that different future?”

Alice unhesitatingly placed her fair, delicate hand in Tang San's palm and said, "That sounds interesting. Then I'll go with you to see the different future you speak of. I hope it will be more interesting."

"As you wish, respected Alice." Tang San felt his ability to deceive people had improved again, but the reason for such easy success was directly related to the "simplicity" of the Elf race.

Thus, in the following days, the central city of the entire Elf Kingdom learned that a human had arrived in the Eternal Domain to spread the Creator God's wisdom.

What Tang San did was also very simple: whenever he arrived in a new area, he would casually find a spot, release his Blue Silver Emperor, and attract a large group of elves with its rich Life force, then begin to spread his "great道理."

Though he called it "great道理," Tang San didn't actually preach abstract concepts. Instead, based on the elves' inherent natural abilities, he taught them how to utilize their skills in various creative ways, fostering a mutually beneficial relationship with the forest environment.

According to Tang San's understanding over the past few days, the relationship between the Elf race and the forest generally followed this rule: trees provide shelter, food, and Life aura for the elves, while the elves are responsible for spreading plant seeds and using natural forces to better promote plant growth.

This was a method of slowly expanding the forest's reach.

The more frequently elves used natural force, the more lush the plants grew. In this process, it didn't matter whether the elves were actively stimulating plant growth with natural force or not.

Clearly, as long as the elves used natural force, regardless of their purpose—planting, weaving, or even combat—it would cause plants to grow more luxuriantly.

The energy cycle within the greater environment had always existed.

The content Tang San taught was also to encourage the elves, who had already met their material needs, to love what they enjoyed, whether it was excelling in carpentry, loving painting, or being passionate about combat.

He offered suggestions based on their already formed habits and expanded their research and learning ideas and directions.

After all, one must eat one bite at a time, rather than directly applying an external template. Adapting to local conditions and changing as needed—that was truly grasping the essence.

And Tang San became known as the great wise man, passed down by word of mouth among the elves.

In the blink of an eye, a hundred years passed in the Eternal Domain. The Elf race, including the Moonlight Elves, Tang San, and his followers, visited each area, held lectures, and spread their ideas.

Over these hundred years, Tang San's appearance remained unchanged, and his understanding of time deepened. His spirit power showed little change, still at eighty ranks.

Would he also be subject to Douluo's rules within the Eternal Domain?

Evidently so.

This was the Eternal Lord's special "care" for Tang San, but Tang San knew that over these hundred years, his spirit power had also been steadily improving. As long as he obtained his eighth spirit ring, his spirit power could reach ninety ranks directly!

If he were to obtain a ninth spirit ring, his spirit power could reach above ninety-five ranks!

For another person, it might even reach one hundred ranks directly!

However, Tang San's spirit power quality was exceptionally high, and he cultivated the Creation and Destruction True Scripture. After re-organizing it over the past hundred years, it was already equivalent to a first-level god's divine force.

However, Tang San was certain that even with only eighty ranks of spirit power and without using spirit ring fusion, he could still contend with a first-level god.

454: Worries of the Eternal Lord

In the past hundred years, the art of the Elf race has emerged in endlessly, with various paintings, sculptures, and musical instruments that surpassed previous forms of art being invented and created.

Even, the elves held various competitions for this purpose.

Although it is still very primitive, at least the spiritual comfort they can usually get is no longer to believe in Easton King, or Sacred Dragon, Eternal Angel.

That's just a part of Life.

For hundreds of years, the idea spread by Tang San has only been one: don't just live to believe in Gods, but to love Life, enjoy Life, and live for yourself.

That kind of Life will not be boring.

As for things like "As heaven maintains vigor through movement, a gentleman should constantly strive for self-improvement," Tang San did not directly spread them, after all, the elves were not even aware that they were being raised by Gods in a way like boiling frogs in warm water, so naturally they would not understand.

But to generate love for one's own Life, to do what one wants to do, and then to regulate corresponding moral constraints, and not to actively harm others, is enough for the elves.

This is what Tang San wants to see.

Unified belief?

Let the elves learn to love their respective lives and do what they like. Isn't that also a kind of belief?

How can this be said to be a non-unified belief?

The Eternal Lord, who was secretly observing everything, could not refute anything, but always felt that if Tang San continued to do this, the Life of the Eternal Domain's faith in God would disappear completely.

Although the example of the Elf race has already shown that the weakening of faith does not lead to the degradation of the forest. The efficiency of the interaction cycle between the power of nature and the power of Life has accelerated, which has made the forest more luxuriant.

But Easton King needs faith to maintain the health and longevity of his mind!

Moreover, the Eternal Domain also needs guardians, otherwise, if some strange creatures from other planes invade it, can the elves stop them?

Although the forest is more lush, the strong of the Elf race will also increase, and the power of the Elf Queen will also be strengthened.

But Easton King is closer to Him after all...

【Your second test is complete, can't you go to Dragon God Island and Sky City?】 The voice of the Eternal Lord sounded in Tang San's ears. He was afraid that if Tang San continued, the believers of Sacred Dragon and Eternal Angel would also "live for themselves."

The Elf race is fine, as long as Tang San leaves, after tens of thousands of years, Easton King will come out to interfere, and it will return to its original state, but if Tang San goes to Dragon God Island and Sky City, those awakened believers may unite to resist the faith of the Gods.

"Sorry, my mission is not yet complete." Tang San refused.

【I said, you have completed it.】 The Eternal Lord's tone was a little heavy.

"Then you can say it, what does it have to do with me? Anyway, I have eternal star, even if you kick me out, I can come in at any time." Tang San said quite rascally, "Also, since you are the Creator God, and you are already dead, leaving only a wisp of divine thought, be more generous, don't be so petty."

【If you were standing in my position, would you be generous?】

"That's not reasonable." Tang San quibbled, "After all, I am not a God now, I am a person, even if I am narrow-minded, it is normal."

【Damn!】

"A dignified Creator God actually swears!" Tang San was surprised, and then smiled, "It seems that I really have great skills."

【I won't argue with you, I'll just ask one question, even if you obtain the real dominance of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne and obtain Eternal Life, but without faith, how can you maintain the eternity of your mind?】 The Eternal Lord questioned, his tone full of disappointment.

"The boat will naturally straighten when it reaches the bridge. Sometimes, I also think a lot, but more often, I need to take that step first." Tang San said without giving an inch, and then asked, "So, you raise the elves and other races here in order to let them provide faith, right? They are definitely not Life that was actively born in this World, right?"

【I provide them with a place to live in peace, and they provide faith for me, the spirit of this artifact, and the spirits of those three artifacts. What's wrong with that? This is an equal exchange!】

The Eternal Lord has his own set of rhetoric.

"Is that so?" Tang San chuckled, a look of disdain on his face, "This is the first time I know that an equal exchange is such an exchange method."

"At least—"

"You have to give them the right to know, right? Those creatures without wisdom are fine, but intelligent creatures have the right to know what they have given in order to live here, right?"

"Otherwise, it would be a forced sale."

In Tang San's eyes, even if the Elf race is not told, then the so-called equal exchange should also be: the Eternal Domain provides the Elf race with a stable, peaceful, and tranquil place to live, which is material, and the Elf race should also return with material rewards, such as: relying on their talent in the power of nature to make the vitality of the forest area of the Eternal Domain more intense.

The current elves are doing very well.

【You don't understand at all!】

The Eternal Lord was a little excited, 【When civilization grows, intelligent creatures will instinctively want to explore the unknown, but there are countless treacherous and changeable spaces in the universe, and even I in my heyday may not be able to retreat completely. If they explore those spaces and provoke existences that cannot be provoked, the entire race will be destroyed.】

"So you're worried about this kind of thing?" Tang San felt that he had overestimated the Creator God. The greatness of intelligent creatures lies in the courage to explore the unknown, and a mature civilization and race will inevitably consider it again and again before exploring in order to minimize the danger.

Although the possibility that the Eternal Lord said is not impossible, a civilization that is timid even in exploration will inevitably have no future and can only become someone else's—food.

What's more, Tang San is just teaching the Elf race to find things they love in their lives.

Ending the conversation with the Creator God, after that, no matter how He persuaded, Tang San remained indifferent, preparing to bid farewell to Alice and go to Dragon God Island.

To completely unify the faith of the Life in the Eternal Domain, it is not enough to just let the Elf race love Life. Other races also need to love Life.

And this road will inevitably last for hundreds of years.

But it doesn't matter, the time here is almost static relative to the outside World, so Tang San has time to spread his ideas to the pure Life here.

"Are you leaving?"

Alice was a little reluctant to see Tang San come to say goodbye to her. For elves with a long lifespan, a hundred years is just childhood. For the Eternal Elf Queen, it is just a fleeting moment.

In her feeling, Tang San clearly just came yesterday, and he is leaving today

"Why are you in such a hurry?"

"Can't you stay for a few thousand more years and accompany us?"

455: The Eternal Lord's Plan

“No choice, this is the Creator God’s mission.” Tang San revealed a helpless expression, while the Eternal Lord, who had been secretly observing all of this, had never felt so speechless.

He had clearly said the mission was complete, that it was enough, yet he insisted on continuing...

How could anyone be so “immersed”?

Simply outrageous!

He now understood that Tang San indeed wanted to obtain the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, but also wanted to replace all traces of Him, the predecessor, and seize all authority.

What a scoundrel!

Even more detestable than Austin Griffin by ten thousand times... Oh, right, Austin Griffin is residing in his other Spirit, and they have completely fused. Roughly speaking, that means he’s colluding with Austin Griffin!

“Perhaps, this is the arrangement of the great World’s destiny...”

The Eternal Lord comforted Himself, summoning Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel to the core of the Eternal Domain, and began to arrange Tang San’s final assessment—

To become the true master of Eternal and Creation, he must defeat Him, the artifact Spirit, either by grinding Him down, or by subduing Him. But how could the Eternal Lord easily submit to others?

Therefore, these three artifact Spirits were needed to assist him and lend him a hand.

“We are naturally willing to dedicate everything!” X3

Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel were originally followers of the Eternal Lord; their faith in Him was more devout than any other living being.

“I trouble you all.” The Eternal Lord manifested in human form, a female appearance, her entire body seemingly cast from glazed glass, covered in nebulae, flawless and pure. Three thousand strands of hair behind her head danced without wind, like rising flames, like shining stars.

Standing there, she seemed to be the center of the entire World!

Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel all revealed gazes of adoration. Even if it was just a wisp of divine soul, she was still so beautiful, noble, elegant, dignified, as well as sacred and grand.

It was as if all beautiful qualities could be attributed to Her.

Eternal Angel was the first to regain her senses, lowering her gaze and asking, “Eternal Lord, if you lose, what will happen?”

“Naturally, I will dissipate into nothingness.” The Eternal Lord said indifferently, “After all, I am already dead; this is merely a wisp of divine thought... Speaking of which, Austin Griffin, this is also his last rebirth. He has chosen a good master; he should be able to suppress Him. I suppose I will live on in a different form.”

Those who know some secrets might think Austin Griffin and the Eternal Lord are twins, and Austin Griffin himself admits this. However, in reality, the two were originally one. It was just that when reaching the realm of Creation, the Eternal Lord was unable to effectively balance the Creation and destruction attributes, so He stripped away the destruction part, transforming it into the God of Heavenly Condemnation.

Creation, destruction.

He once controlled both simultaneously, but simply couldn't achieve the balance that Tang San does.

Austin Griffin is not only the name of the God of Heavenly Condemnation and the Nine-Headed Chimera, but also the name of the Eternal Lord.

However, this fact is known to no one else besides Easton King, Sacred Dragon, Eternal Angel, and the Eternal Lord Himself.

And the reason Austin Griffin's personality leans towards destruction is very simple: he believes that the Eternal Lord, that scoundrel, thought the destruction attribute was weak and didn't want Him, so he retaliated madly, wanting to destroy everything the Eternal Lord created and bring it into his Domain, to prove to this wisp of the Eternal Lord's divine thought: how wrong it was to abandon Him!

And to declare: even if the Eternal Lord Himself is already dead, He, Austin Griffin, still intends to destroy the planes He created... commonly known as: dancing on His grave.

“Eternal Lord, you...”

“Don't say it.” The Eternal Lord interrupted Eternal Angel, saying leisurely, “I have lived for so many years, and existed in the form of a divine soul for so many years. I have long seen all the scenery of the universe. As for escaping the ‘curse’ of the Creator God by the great World, which forces one to create, I myself see no hope.”

“As for whether Tang San can create a miracle in the future, I also cannot see through it, as his own cultivation method seems to be to refine himself into a universe, and his soul transforms into the will of the universe...”

“What a fantastic idea, but implementing it is not just about knowing the principle; without understanding the specific energy transformations, it's difficult to even get started.”

“I don’t know how he did it.”

Sacred Dragon made a thoughtless remark: “How about we capture him and interrogate him?”

Eternal Angel glanced at the not-so-bright Sacred Dragon and said, “If we could beat him, for the first and second assessments, I would have sent you, instead of assessments like ‘Preventing Elven Strife’ or ‘Unifying the Faith of Living Beings’.”

“Moreover, now that he has experienced a hundred years in the Eternal Domain, his divine soul is even stronger, and his strength is already equivalent to a First-Rank Main God in this God Realm.”

Sacred Dragon lowered his head, no longer speaking.

Who would have thought that a mere human could be so powerful, not only capable of fighting above his rank, but even to the point of contending with gods, with ordinary gods not even being his match.

“Master, if you had grown up with him back then, would you not have died from Creation?” Easton King suddenly asked.

“Perhaps.” The Eternal Lord gave an ambiguous answer.

“Since your other side can reside in one of his Spirits, can this wisp of your divine soul reside in his Blue Silver Grass that possesses Life and Creation?”

Easton King appeared to be the most honest of the three artifact Spirits, but in reality, his mind was the most flexible.

“Each rebirth of the God of Heavenly Condemnation results in a loss of some essence. It can be said that his ninth rebirth is not in much better condition than this wisp of your divine soul. Even if he has recovered most of it now, Tang San clearly cultivates that peculiar Blue Silver Grass first. You could completely reside within it, gaining a ready-made form, to achieve the goal of resurrection.”

“Moreover, in this way, if the God of Heavenly Condemnation rebels in the future, you can also help suppress him... And looking on the bright side, you can also see if Tang San can truly escape the ‘curse of Creation’ in the future, can’t you?”

In his words, Easton King revealed one thought: that the Eternal Lord must not be completely annihilated. This is the only proof that the Creator God ever existed in the World; they cannot lose Him.

Otherwise, what meaning would their lives have?

They might as well perish permanently along with the Eternal Lord in the long expanse of time.

“Sigh~”

The Eternal Lord did not answer directly, but Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel had already let go of the heavy stone in their hearts—

Their master, after all, wanted to experience that higher realm...

456: God's thoughts are nothing more than this

After leaving the Elf Kingdom, Tang San, led by Nian Nian and Meng Meng, arrived at the end of the forest.

Sunlight, beaches, and ocean waves.

Looking at the endless sea, Tang San stretched and smiled, "This Eternal Domain's sea is no different from the outside World, except that the Water attribute aura is very strong. People with corresponding attributes who come here to cultivate will gain as much in one day as they would in ten days elsewhere."

The Eternal Domain is a treasure land for cultivation for ordinary people.

Compared to the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, the Eternal Domain is far superior. If one searches carefully, one can find countless xian cao (immortal herbs) and rare treasures.

However, Tang San hasn't harvested too much in the past hundred years. After all, a person's energy is limited. Moreover, in the Eternal Domain, the Starry Sky World is in a single-player state compared to Spirit Hall City, unable to contact people from the outside World.

Fortunately, Tang San has also planted a lot of Blue Silver Emperor in the forest, establishing a Blue Silver Network here and teaching the Elves how to use it.

The Elves can upload their discoveries, sorted information, and summarized knowledge. They can express any of their ideas to the entire Elf race through the Blue Silver Network, including how to use the power of nature and the power of Life.

For the Elf race, inheritance is not something to be hidden and cherished. They are willing to share it with all their clansmen, only fearing that the clansmen's strength and realm are not enough to learn it and the inheritance will be cut off.

Now, with the Blue Silver Network provided by the Blue Silver Emperor, all knowledge can be stored within it. Most Elves even treat it as a memo, recording everything they see and hear.

This can also bring Tang San countless information feedback...

Thanks to the Heavenly Dao, otherwise, Tang San's brain and primordial spirit would explode from the sheer amount of information... This also led Tang San to start envisioning another type of spiritual attack: directly connecting the Blue Silver Network to another person's spiritual power. The massive amount of information poured in at that moment could probably burst even a God King-level soul in an instant...

"Tang San, are you really going to Dragon God Island?" Meng Meng asked, "That is the legendary home of the Sacred Dragon. No Elf has ever been there, and beastmen live there."

The Sacred Dragon represents the power of Life in this Eternal Domain, controlling the sea and all magical beasts.

The so-called beastmen are races whose bodies have approached human form after magical beasts have reached a certain level of cultivation, but they retain most of their beast-like characteristics. They are intelligent races under the jurisdiction of the Sacred Dragon and basically live on Dragon God Island, with only a small number scattered outside.

"That's right." Tang San nodded, "Teaching them not to use everything in Life for faith, but to live for themselves, is my mission."

A look of reverence appeared in Nian Nian's eyes.

Even though she had followed Tang San for a hundred years, every time she heard Tang San say this, she felt honored to be by his side, spreading the message to her people.

Meng Meng felt the same way.

It was precisely because of this that the two were willing to follow Tang San, not just out of affection, but also to learn more wisdom from Tang San and even develop a strong curiosity about the outside World.

Even the Elf Queen Alice actually wanted to come along, but as queen, she couldn't leave the clan at will. Even though the Elf race didn't need her to perform any duties, the queen's presence or absence had no direct connection to the ordinary lives of most Elves. However, if the queen of a race suddenly left, it would still make the Elves, who had existed in the forests of the Eternal Domain for countless years, feel somewhat at a loss.

This was not something that could be changed in just a hundred years.

Meng Meng and Nian Nian followed Tang San also with the purpose of setting an example for their clansmen, encouraging Elf compatriots to explore the World of the Eternal Domain in the future and convey the lofty wisdom of the great wise man to other intelligent races!

"The direction of Dragon God Island is over there." Nian Nian pointed in a direction, "Let's fly over."

"This is also the first time for the two of us to leave the paradise of the Elves." Meng Meng looked back at the lush forest, her eyes gradually firming, "But this is also the first step for us to grow, right, Tang San?"

"You shouldn't ask me this. It's enough as long as you don't regret it when you encounter desperation in the future."

After speaking, Tang San's Blue Silver Twelve Wings appeared behind him, flying in the direction Nian Nian pointed. Nian Nian and Meng Meng smiled at each other, and six pairs of thin wings appeared behind each of them. With slight vibrations, they quietly followed Tang San, heading towards Dragon God Island...

...

"Are you sure the direction the queen pointed out wasn't wrong?"

After flying for nearly a day, still seeing only the undulating sea, Meng Meng looked at Nian Nian with some suspicion, "Or did you misremember the direction and point the wrong way?"

Nian Nian was covered in black lines: "The queen can't be wrong, and my memory is very good. It must be too far away. Let's fly for another day or two and see."

For the three of them, not to mention not sleeping for a day or two, even not resting for a month or two would leave them full of energy.

"Relax, hand your bodies over to me to control. I'm going to start accelerating."

Tang San released two Blue Silver Emperor, entwining Meng Meng and Nian Nian's waists, attaching soul power to their bodies. Then, the Blue Silver Twelve Wings behind him burst out with a silver-blue light, and the speed of flight continuously increased!

One times!

Two times!

Three times!

In the end, Meng Meng and Nian Nian could no longer see the surrounding scenery clearly, only feeling the scene constantly flashing before their eyes.

"Too..."

"Too fast!"

It should be known that both of them have strengths around level ninety-eight, but under Tang San's extreme flying speed, their eyes were also blinded.

This was naturally because Tang San's Blue Silver Twelve Wings were extraordinary, evolved from the Phoenix God Pattern, and could even fly in the void.

When the two women regained their senses, Tang San's speed also slowed down, and ahead, an island slowly appeared in the eyes of the three.

Although it was called an island, in Tang San's view, its diameter exceeded eight hundred miles, and it could already be regarded as a small landmass.

Compared to the forest where the Elf Kingdom was located, the vegetation on the island had dozens of times weaker Life aura, but it had a relatively strong Heaven and Earth energy, and these energies were relatively violent.

Based on this alone, Tang San could probably judge that the beastmen living on this Dragon God Island should all have extremely strong physiques and should be good at physical combat methods, rather than elemental attacks.

"Do you have any more information about the beastmen?" Tang San asked Meng Meng and Nian Nian.

"Apart from knowing that they are humanoid intelligent creatures with magical beast characteristics, we know nothing else." Meng Meng shook her head, "After all, we have basically no communication with the beastmen of Dragon God Island and the Winged People of Sky City. We also don't have a communication method like the Blue Silver Network you brought us."

"Is that so?" Tang San sighed, thinking: The isolation of the three races can maintain the singleness of faith, but only mutual exchange can allow the three races of the Eternal Domain to continuously develop and grow.

The Eternal Lord, Easton King, the Sacred Dragon, and the Eternal Angel's visions are all too short-sighted.

God?

Their thoughts—

Are nothing more than this!

457: Speculations on the Sacred Dragon

After entering Dragon God Island, Tang San, Nian Nian, and Meng Meng flew for a while, seeing many undulating mountain ranges, with numerous small paths connecting stone-built huts.

Therefore, Tang San decided to go down and inquire about the situation.

Upon arriving at a small town, Tang San discovered that the inhabitants were all wolf people. They all looked at Tang San, Nian Nian, and Meng Meng with curiosity.

After all, in the wolf people's minds, "beastmen" with so little fur only included snake people, lizard people, turtle people, fish people, etc. They had never seen people in Tang San's state before.

"Are you mermaids?" A Xiao Lang Ren, only about half the height of an adult wolf person, walked over and asked familiarly, "I heard that among the fish race living in the sea, there's a branch called mermaids. When they come ashore, their fish tails turn into legs. You look very much like the portraits I've seen on parchment."

"No, I am human." Tang San resisted the urge to reach out and touch this bold wolf child, then introduced the two people beside him, "They are from the Elf race of Easton Forest."

"Elves!" The wolf child exclaimed, "I thought they were just legends! I didn't expect them to actually exist. But humans... I haven't heard of them."

"Oh, I haven't introduced myself yet. I'm the clever Xiao Lang Ren, named Peter Jack Trask Griffin."

Meng Meng blinked: "Are beastmen's names all that long?"

"Of course not. The reason my name is so long is naturally because I inherited the noble bloodline of my ancestors, the bloodline of the Howling Moon Clan." Peter Jack Trask Griffin opened his mouth wide and proudly stated his origin, but the ragged shorts he wore did not seem very convincing.

"Haha!"

The surrounding wolf people laughed.

"Peter, you're boasting again."

"Don't fool others anymore."

"Poor Xiao Lang Ren, a good-for-nothing who can't even cultivate battle qi."

"....."

Listening to the mockery, Xiao Lang Ren's eyes showed indignation, but he seemed accustomed to it and did not retort. He just said to Tang San, "Guests, do you need a guide? I am quite familiar with this small town, as well as the nearby villages and towns. For just ten small copper coins, I can be your guide and show you around."

Tang San took out a gold coin, handed it over, and said, "Is this currency acceptable?"

Xiao Lang Ren took it, sniffed it, and nodded: "It's gold!"

Then, he quickly looked left and right, and seeing no one was paying attention, immediately stuffed it into his pocket. He then pulled out a pile of things from his person: red copper coins with faded patterns; a black bone, half a meter long.

"The pattern on your gold coin is very exquisite. It must be the currency of the Elf kingdom, right?"

Actually, the Elf kingdom has no currency, because Easton Forest can satisfy all their needs, so usually, it's a form of bartering.

Even when the Blue Silver Network was established, the Elves' trading method remained the same, with exchanges between them only depending on whether both parties liked each other.

Elves, a simple and honest race.

At least the Elves in Easton Forest are like that.

And on this Dragon God Island, towns and villages have been established, and they even have currency, but it doesn't seem much more civilized than the Elves in Easton Forest.

"Great Sacred Dragon above!"

"I swear, I've never seen such beautiful gold coin patterns!"

"But I can't find change, so I can only offer these. Do you think this is acceptable?"

Seeing Xiao Lang Ren scratching his ears and cheeks, Tang San smiled and said, "That's not worth mentioning to me. You don't need to give change. Just guide us around and introduce the local customs and traditions here, how about that?"

"No problem."

Xiao Lang Ren was beaming with joy, sticking out his tongue and panting, quickly picking up the copper coins on the ground and putting them into his pants pocket, then tucking the bone into his lower back.

That black bone was actually a dragon bone, incredibly hard. When spirit power was injected into it, it could draw in dark-attributed energy. In terms of value, it far exceeded a gold coin.

But Tang San didn't want to take advantage of this Xiao Lang Ren, and it seemed there were quite a lot of these bones...

At least, in this small town, Tang San saw a large pile of these black dragon bones placed in the corner of a blacksmith's shop.

"Guests, please follow Peter Jack Trask Griffin to explore this town!" Xiao Lang Ren took out the black bone from behind his waist, pointed it forward, as if he were a great general commanding thousands of troops, looking quite spirited, his tail wagging constantly behind him, seemingly very excited.

Perhaps, for him, earning a gold coin was a very happy thing.

"What kind of magical beast is that black bone in your hand from?" Meng Meng sensed the dark element within it and couldn't help but ask.

"This?" Xiao Lang Ren laughed, "This is a bone from a magical beast called Dark Dragon. Legend has it that they are descendants of the Sacred Dragon. Their leader challenged the Sacred Dragon, wanting to replace it, but failed and was killed by the Sacred Dragon. All its descendants were also reduced to the lowest level of magical beasts."

"Unlike other magical beasts, these Dark Dragon, no matter how powerful they become, cannot gain intelligence. It is said that the Sacred Dragon stripped them of their right to gain intelligence."

"But correspondingly, these Dark Dragon also gained powerful reproductive capabilities, being the fastest breeding type among all dragon magical beasts."

"Even, every thousand years, the beastmen of the entire Dragon God Island must unite to go to the Dragon God Mountain Range to clear out the Dark Dragon. It is said that the one who hunts the most can also receive a reward from the Sacred Dragon."

"Anyway, I haven't been there, after all, I'm only one hundred and thirty-two years old."

If what Xiao Lang Ren said was true, then the main message revealed was this:

The Sacred Dragon is petty!

The Dark Dragon is a descendant of the Sacred Dragon, who tried to "kill its father." After failing, it most likely died, and then the entire Dark Dragon race was stripped of its intelligence.

But having lost their intelligence, the Dark Dragon race evolved a reproductive ability that other dragon races do not possess.

This likely exceeded the Sacred Dragon's expectations.

Secondly, beastmen hunting Dark Dragon can receive praise from the Sacred Dragon, indicating that the Sacred Dragon wishes to exterminate this race entirely, but due to his identity as the Creator God's mount, he needs to be benevolent. If he acted personally, he might be criticized, so he can only adopt this kind of [assessment-reward] method.

Thus, the Sacred Dragon can both manifest before the beastmen every thousand years, making their faith in him more devout, and also carry out a cleansing of the Dark Dragon.

It can be said to be killing two birds with one stone.

However, overall, the Sacred Dragon should be a bit more "diligent" than Easton King, after all, most of the Elves in Easton Forest have only seen Easton King's pets, and Easton King... spends most of his time sleeping in his cave.

458: God's test

Chapter 458 God's Trial

"This is the City Lord's Mansion."

Xiao Lang Ren led Tang San, Meng Meng, and Nian Nian to the center of the city, pointing to the thirty-meter-high stone building and saying, "This is the tallest house here!"

Afterward, Xiao Lang Ren took them to the market, the wealthy area, the square, and other places, introducing them one by one:

"This is the market, the most lively place every morning."

"This is the wealthy area, where those who have cultivated to the third level of battle qi live!"

"This is the square, also a martial arts arena. Powerful beastmen can fight here, and a Dragon God Martial Arts Tournament is held every year."

Peter Jack Trask Griffin's introduction was straightforward, without flowery rhetoric, simply and plainly describing what this place was, what it was called, and what its main function was.

But Tang San already had a general understanding of this place.

That is, this small city is still very primitive. Placed in Douluo Continent, it can only be said to be a slightly larger town, not a city at all.

According to what Xiao Lang Ren said, there are more than three hundred such cities on Dragon God Island, all under the jurisdiction of the central city: Beast King City.

This is the entirety of the Beastmen Kingdom.

The beastmen value martial arts, and the energy they cultivate is called battle qi, and the realm is divided into nine ranks, each with ten small stages, calculated by stars.

The average cultivation of the beastmen living in this small city is between First Rank One Star and First Rank Five Stars, and the reason why Xiao Lang Ren is ridiculed is because his cultivation is less than First Rank, only Zero Rank Three Stars.

This is a joke on the entire Dragon God Island!

After all, a newborn beastman has at least Zero Rank Five Stars of cultivation, but Xiao Lang Ren only has Zero Rank Three Stars... On this Dragon God Island, where strength is respected, he is naturally ridiculed.

However, Xiao Lang Ren didn't lie. He does have the bloodline of the Shouting Moon Wolf King, and he himself comes from Beast King City. He was originally a genius. Three years ago, he still had the strength of Third Rank Three Stars, but for some reason, his cultivation regressed. The people in his family couldn't find the reason. Gradually, without strength, he was bullied by his clan, and even his fiancée broke off the engagement.

Then, he was furious and divorced his fiancée on the spot, making a three-hundred-year agreement with her, and then ran away from the family, ostensibly saying that he was going out to train in order to break through.

In fact, in order to avoid the "the dead are the greatest" situation, Peter Jack Trask Griffin ran to this small town, preparing to hide for the rest of his life.

"This is my story, but it's not to make you sympathize, but because I think I should provide the corresponding service for that gold coin." Xiao Lang Ren told his story, not worried that Tang San and others would tell it, after all, who would really believe that he is Peter Jack Trask Griffin?

You know, before coming to this small city, he had experienced many cities, during which he spread his story widely, and even found many beggars to pretend to be himself to promote it.

It can be said that his story has spread in at least a hundred towns, and almost every town has one, two, or even three Peter Jack Trask Griffins, all begging for food with the story he spread.

Anyway, he doesn't care about face anymore.

Moreover, Xiao Lang Ren felt that his experiences in the past three years were richer and more bizarre than his experiences in the family for more than a hundred years.

As for being sorry to the family?

To be honest, Xiao Lang Ren has no feelings for his family. After all, a family that started to sneer at him because his cultivation suddenly declined is really not worth any emotion.

Now that he is so free, Xiao Lang Ren thinks it's actually not bad.

After hearing Xiao Lang Ren's story, Tang San carefully looked at the other party several times, revealing a hint of meaningful strangeness: "If your surname was Xiao, your fate might have changed."

Xiao Lang Ren was stunned for a moment, not understanding why, and then reacted and asked: "You don't really think I am that Peter Jack Trask Griffin who is handsome, powerful, intelligent, and lewd... ah no, dashing, all in one, do you?"

"Just this bunch of prefixes proves that you are definitely not an imposter." Tang San laughed, "After all, imposters wouldn't call themselves that... It seems that our great Griffin is a bit narcissistic."

Peter grinned, sticking out his tongue: "That, actually I was just getting into character, hehehe."

"So, do you want to regain your dignity?" Tang San's eyes gradually became serious. In the martial environment of Dragon God Island, he didn't believe that this guy was really resigned to lying flat.

"Yes!"

Peter didn't pretend anymore. His keen sixth sense told him that the solution to his cultivation regression problem was right in front of him. If he didn't seize it, he would regret it for the rest of his life.

He, Peter Jack Trask Griffin, is going to fight back upright!

"But—"

"What is your purpose? Could it be that you have a feud with my fiancée's family? Do you hope that after I grow up, I will destroy her family? Although their family is very snobbish, isn't that not very good?"

Tang San laughed: "You're thinking too much. I just hope you understand what you are living for."

The beastmen of this Dragon God Island value martial arts, but their belief in the Sacred Dragon is also deeply rooted in all aspects.

For example, many beastmen's catchphrases are:

"Great Sacred Dragon is above!"

"My Sacred Dragon!"

However, it doesn't matter. Compared to the elves of Easton Forest, the beastmen here value martial power more. Therefore, Tang San also hopes to cultivate a truly powerful beastman and let him defeat the Sacred Dragon, thereby reversing the entire Beastmen race's mindless worship and belief in the "Sacred Dragon."

Just as the vegetation growth in Easton Forest is the merit of the elves, with the Easton King sleeping most of the time; the beastmen civilization of Dragon God Island was also established by the beastmen in their struggle against magical beasts, not because the Sacred Dragon pitied the beastmen and gave them the knowledge to build houses and make tools.

"You want me to defeat the Sacred Dragon!" Xiao Lang Ren's scalp tingled, only feeling that this hairless ape-man had a problem with his brain, but he still tentatively asked: "Do you have a grudge against the Sacred Dragon?"

"No."

Tang San shook his head, his eyes gradually deepened, like a swindler who was coaxing a naive teenager, and said quietly: "This is actually the task the Creator God gave me."

"God."

"Does not require faith."

"And the greatest respect for God is to have the courage to challenge him."

"Stand in front of him and tell him that we have grown up and are no longer children who need to hide in swaddling clothes and cry, and have the ability to independently face everything in the future, even if it is unknown, even if it is dangerous, we must explore them one by one and firmly take that first step!"

"This is the test God gives to all living beings—"

"Defeat him, and then lead our compatriots to a new era, to explore that vast and boundless sea of stars!"

459: The Secret of the Dark Dragon

In the core of the Eternal Domain, the Eternal Domain, Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel watched Tang San coax Xiao Lang Ren, each with different reactions.

Among them, the Sacred Dragon was the most agitated and angry: "Damn fellow, to actually coax my people like this, simply not putting me, the controller of the power of life, in his eyes!"

Easton King walked over and patted him on the shoulder, revealing a "I understand" expression, but was ruthlessly pushed away by the Sacred Dragon, as if greatly disliking the other's palm.

The Eternal Angel was thoughtful, pondering the reasoning in Tang San's words.

But the Eternal Lord was much more straightforward, saying: "A test? Actually, it's not wrong. If there truly is a sentient being in the Eternal Domain who can defeat you, or even me, then whatever he/she/it/they want to do, we can't stop it."

Truth only exists within the range that force can cover.

And Tang San's force just so happens to be able to contend with the four of them...

...

Xiao Lang Ren, dazed and confused, asked, bewitched: "Is what you said true?"

"Just tell me, are you willing to follow me to cultivate?" Tang San felt that this kid was quite clever, which was why he was willing to coax him like this; otherwise, wouldn't it be better to just find a few little beggars?

"Alright, I'll follow you. Anyway, things can't get any worse." Peter nodded in agreement, then added, "However, can I bring my sister along?"

"You have a sister?" Tang San's expression was strange. "You didn't happen to bring your sister out with you when you ran away, did you?"

"Um... I didn't bring her out; she came looking for me on her own." Xiao Lang Ren was a little guilty. "She's a distant cousin staying at my house. Something happened when she was little, so she's a little infatuated with me..."

Tang San could only think that if this Xiao Lang Ren hadn't run away from the family, the plot would definitely have developed in the direction he was familiar with.

Peter Jack Trask Griffin led Tang San, Meng Meng, and Nian Nian back to his home, which was a dilapidated little stone house. The kitchen, living room, toilet, and bedroom were basically all in one space, no more than fifteen square meters in size. With five people in the space, it felt quite crowded.

"Brother, you're back? And you brought guests..." A female werewolf who was cooking turned her head, revealing a face that resembled a human's.

Among the Beastmen race, male Beastmen look more wild, their heads basically retaining the heads of beasts, while female Beastmen are more similar to humans, like this Xiao Lang Ren's sister. Apart from having wolf ears on her head, a wolf tail behind her waist, and silver-white fur on her limbs and back, she was no different from an ordinary beautiful girl.

But upon closer inspection, it could be seen that her body surface, in addition to the longer fur in those areas, was also covered with a layer of short, dense fluff... In other words, the entire body of female Beastmen was actually covered with fur like male Beastmen, only the fur in most areas was thin and dense.

Well—

Not completely the same as the image Tang San had imagined of only retaining beast ears and a beast tail, but very close, and this kind of fluff must feel very smooth to the touch.

"Xun'er, this is Tang San. He is my teacher, and he has a way for me to cultivate again!" Xiao Lang Ren Peter said.

"Is that so?" The female werewolf named Xun'er narrowed her eyes, suspecting that the other party wanted to take advantage of Peter. She had already set her sights on Peter, and if anyone dared to bully him, she wouldn't let it go.

"Xun'er, what are we eating today?" Peter waved his hand. "Bring out all the delicious food. I want to treat my teacher well!"

"The same as before, Dark Dragon's meat." Xun'er brought out a large plate of dragon meat, emitting black smoke. It was clearly from the "hands of a master."

Tang San said without changing his expression: "Your craftsmanship is good, but my cultivation has reached perfection, and I don't need to eat. You can eat it yourself."

Meng Meng took out some fruit and said: "Um, I'm an elf, and I don't eat meat."

Nian Nian echoed: "I'm an elf too."

Peter didn't mind, grabbed the dragon meat, and stuffed it into his mouth, saying: "Xun'er, your craftsmanship is getting better and better."

Xun'er's eyes narrowed with laughter: "It's good that you like it, brother."

The corners of Tang San's mouth also twitched slightly. After arriving in this small city, Tang San had used his primordial spirit to investigate the werewolf's body, and their sense of taste was not much different from humans.

This charred dragon meat must be very difficult for werewolves to eat, but Peter was eating it with such relish... It was probably a habit, or maybe he just liked this taste.

Then it didn't seem like a big problem that these two could hit it off.

After the meal, Peter asked the question he was most concerned about: "Teacher, what do you say is the reason I can't cultivate? Why does my battle qi regress?"

Tang San didn't hide anything, saying: "It's very simple. There's a ghost absorbing your battle qi."

"A ghost?" Peter was puzzled.

"That bone behind you, you didn't buy it in this small city, did you?" Tang San asked.

"No, it was left to me by my deceased mother. I remember when I was thirty years old and not yet sensible, my mother often used this bone stick to tease me." Xiao Lang Ren's eyes were full of nostalgia.

Regarding the "thirty years old, not yet sensible" point, Tang San was already used to it. After all, he had stayed in this Eternal Domain for a hundred years, and the creatures here were basically long-lived species.

Thirty years was probably about the same as thirty days for them.

"Teacher, could there be a problem with this dark dragon bone?"

Xiao Lang Ren wasn't stupid, knowing that Tang San wouldn't bring it up for no reason, and if he wanted this dragon bone, he would have taken it when he handed it over, instead of bringing it up now.

Moreover, he himself didn't value this thing very much.

Although it was his mother's keepsake, to be honest, his mother died when he was sensible, and he didn't have much of an impression. The reason he carried this thing was just because it still held some memories.

But, well, werewolves always have to eat. If no one was willing to buy this common dark dragon bone, he would have sold it long ago, but it was his mother's keepsake after all, and he wasn't willing to sell it for too low a price.

"There is indeed a problem. Your cultivation regression is related to this bone." Tang San took the bone and tapped it with his finger, saying: "Senior inside, come out."

But the dark dragon bone didn't react at all.

So, Tang San released the Haotian Hammer and pressed it against the middle of the dark dragon bone, saying indifferently: "If you don't come out, I'll break this thing."

Just as the little wolf girl Xun'er was suspecting that Tang San's brain had a problem, the dark dragon bone suddenly vibrated, and a black little dragon emerged from it, shouting: "Don't! Don't! Don't! Can't I come out? Seriously, do you have to threaten me like this? I need some face too!"

Now, Xiao Lang Ren understood everything: "So, the reason I can't cultivate is because of you!"

460: Chuangshishen: I don't want to see

Chapter 460 Creator God: I Don't Want to See...

Peter Jack Trask Griffin was so angry after learning that his cultivation had regressed because of this little fellow in the dark dragon bone that he howled like a dog.

It wasn't until Xun'er comforted him for a while that he calmed down.

However, Xun'er didn't have a good impression of this Dark Dragon either, glaring at it angrily, and said, "If it weren't for you, my brother would be the most powerful genius in the family, how could he be ridiculed by the people in the family? How could he be reduced to this state?"

The Dark Dragon chuckled: "There's no way, who told me to be seriously injured? I hadn't awakened at the time, so I could only instinctively absorb other people's cultivation to nourish this wisp of my primordial Spirit."

"Primordial Spirit?" Xun'er's eyes narrowed, "Could it be that you are a god?"

"That's right, this dragon is the god of the Dark Dragon Clan, Dragon God Dak!" The Dark Dragon raised its small head, revealing a smug look, but then it was like a flower that had been withered by the sun, drooping its head, "However, now there's only such a wisp left, it's a loss that I'm still the son of a Sacred Dragon, that old thing actually beat me into oblivion."

Xiao Lang Ren and Xun'er looked at each other, not knowing what to say, and finally Peter spoke first, saying, "You have to give some compensation, after all, I've been sucked by you for so many years."

"Would this Dragon God take your things for nothing?" Dak said disdainfully, "I'm not absorbing your cultivation for nothing either. For true experts, the state of mind is the most important. During those years when you were ridiculed, your will was much firmer than usual. I was originally planning to observe you a little more before appearing to guide you..."

In fact, Dak had no such plan at all. When Xiao Lang Ren broke off the engagement, he still had some bloodiness, but later he ran away directly... Therefore, Dak never thought of being honest with Xiao Lang Ren.

It's just that this guy doesn't know what kind of luck he has, he actually met another expert, and also discovered his existence.

More importantly, this guy has the attribute of destruction, a more pure one than him, even his heyday is difficult to compare with, as if he is his superior.

"The state of mind is not tempered like this."

Tang San shook his head, "Forget it, I won't say more about this, but listening to your previous words, it seems not quite the same as the story version we heard?"

"Oh? What do outsiders say about me?" Dak was a little curious.

"They said you wanted to replace Sacred Dragon and launched a challenge, and then you were beaten to death..."

"Bullshit!" Dak's four claws tightly grabbed the dark dragon bone, his two purple eyes widened, and he cursed, "It was clearly that old thing who felt that I had transformed darkness into destruction and achieved the Destruction Dragon God, and felt that I was a scourge, so he directly killed me!"

"And also said that I was going to take the path of God of Heavenly Condemnation... At that time, it was a quick knife to cut the mess, without saying a word, he chopped this dragon, not even giving me a chance to explain!"

"Fortunately, this remnant soul of mine survived... I want revenge, since that bastard said I was going to take the path of God of Heavenly Condemnation, then I will take it for him to see, if I can't do it myself, I will cultivate someone out and make him regret it!"

In another version told by Dak, everything was blamed on Sacred Dragon, the reason being that he was afraid of the attribute of destruction on him.

Which of the two versions is true and which is false?

It doesn't matter.

If you really want to argue about the truth.

Tang San felt that the feasibility of what Dak said was higher, after all, Sacred Dragon, as a follower of Creator God, naturally knew Austin Griffin, knew his strength, and was naturally very vigilant about the attribute of destruction.

It was really: once bitten by a snake, ten years afraid of well ropes.

But Tang San would not completely believe it, but as far as the current situation is concerned, the surface purpose of this Dark Dragon God Dak is the same as his own, both are to defeat Sacred Dragon.

The only difference is that Tang San is to prevent the people here from taking faith in Sacred Dragon as everything, while Dark Dragon God Dak is for revenge and the like.

"Challenge Sacred Dragon?" Xiao Lang Ren suddenly felt that happiness came too suddenly. An unknown human expert had chosen him, and another Dark Dragon God had also chosen him. Could it be that he was the chosen one of this Dragon God Island?

"Do you have confidence?" Dak looked at Peter.

"Of course!"

Peter was full of confidence at this time, isn't it just Sacred Dragon? Watch him slaughter both of them in the future!

"Good! Very energetic!" Dak nodded with satisfaction, feeling that this Peter also had good points, that is, he was easy to fool, "In the future, listen to this dragon's orders, and you will definitely be able to have power beyond Sacred Dragon."

Peter looked at Tang San, thought for a while, and said, "No, you teach me because you owe me, who told you to steal my cultivation? And I already have a teacher, he will teach me, and besides, you are not as good, otherwise you would not be scared out by my teacher."

Dak wanted to refute, but Tang San hadn't taken the Haotian Hammer back yet, the aura of destruction seemed to come alive, turning into a set of purple chains, entangling his neck, as if he dared to say "No", it would make his wisp of primordial Spirit disappear.

"This is Heavenly Condemnation..."

Realizing something, Dak immediately prostrated on the dark dragon bone, kowtowing towards the Haotian Hammer, "It turns out that the great God of Heavenly Condemnation is above, it is I who have been presumptuous, please forgive me, I am willing to submit to you and be the most loyal servant."

The Haotian Hammer trembled, imprinting that wisp of the power of destruction into Dak's brow, making his primordial Spirit stable and no longer so illusory.

"Thank you, great God of Heavenly Condemnation!"

Xiao Lang Ren was very disdainful of Dak's surrender, but Xun'er was extremely vigilant about the Haotian Hammer in Tang San's hand: "That attribute of destruction is very evil, as if it can destroy everything in the world."

“Power does not have good or evil.” Tang San retracted the Haotian Hammer, dispersed the aura of Destruction, and released the Blue Silver Emperor. The rich aura of Life made Xiao Lang Ren and Xun'er feel much more comfortable. “The key lies in the person using it.”

After Xun'er came back to her senses, she was extremely incredulous: “Destruction and Life, these two attributes actually appearing on the same person at the same time, this is simply a fantasy!”

“But this is the truth.” Tang San retracted the Blue Silver Emperor into his body and introduced his origins and purpose to Xiao Lang Ren and Xun'er. “I come from outside the Eternal Domain, from a planet called Douluo Continent. The people there all have Martial Souls, which are a part of themselves...”

“And the reason I came to the Eternal Domain is because I accepted the Creator God's test.”

Xun'er was incredulous, but her identity was extraordinary. She knew some secrets, such as: Sacred Dragons are actually the Creator God's mounts, and this Eternal Domain is actually only contained within a throne.

Now, thinking of Tang San's appearance as a human, she immediately understood that the other party was not lying, but was accepting the Creator God's test, to make the faith of the creatures of the Eternal Domain belong to himself, and not to the God Realm.

This is not to deny people's faith in Gods, but to prevent them from dedicating everything to Gods, and to live out their own lives!

Because—

Gods do not need faith.

Perhaps, this is what the Creator God wants to see...

Core of the Eternal Domain.

The Sacred Dragon looked gloomy. He didn't expect that Dragon God Dak still had a trace of his Primordial Spirit remaining in the world: "I was careless. I didn't look carefully at the beginning, but it doesn't matter. Even Dak in his prime is not my opponent. The guy he cultivated can only be suppressed by me."

Easton King reminded him: "Don't forget, Tang San is also cultivating the person Dak chose. You're going to be miserable, hehehe."

"Hmph!" The Sacred Dragon flicked his tail, knocking Easton King a distance away, and scolded: "It's better than you. The elf in Easton Forest have almost forgotten about you, Easton King, in the past hundred years."

Easton King snorted coldly, but couldn't refute anything.

Eternal Angel acted as a peacemaker and said: "Alright, you two, don't quarrel. The Eternal Lord is still here. Isn't it too embarrassing for Gods? Let's see what Tang San will do."

The Sacred Dragon said: "As long as that Tang San doesn't take action himself, even if that Peter Jack Trask Griffin grows stronger, he's just a God-level without a Godhood. I can suppress him with one claw and make him follow in Dak's footsteps."

"Dak is still your son." Easton King mocked, "Is killing your own son very glorious? I haven't even destroyed the Moonlight Elf Clan in my territory."

"What son? I don't even know when I slept with his mother!"

The Sacred Dragon made a "scumbag" declaration, which caused Eternal Lord to turn his gaze over—

"Um... his mother slept with me while I was sleeping and stole my essence seed. Afterward, that female dragon became pregnant and came to me. Only then did I know about that matter."

"Eternal Lord, this really can't be blamed on me, right?"

Eternal Lord turned his head away, not wanting to pay attention to this lecherous mount. Anyway, He didn't quite believe the words the Sacred Dragon said, after all, in the tens of millions of years after He created the world, this guy, apart from mating, was on the way to mating, to pass the boring time.

He even had fantasies about Him, the Creator, but later he was beaten so badly by Him that he gave up that idea.

However, speaking of which, the Dragon Clan seems to be promiscuous. Even if they reach the God-level, it is difficult to avoid...

...

“Teacher, Dak won't absorb my Battle Qi now, but I've wasted too much time. How can I make up for it?” Xiao Lang Ren rubbed his hands, huffing, with his tongue hanging on one side of his long mouth.

Saying he's a wolf, but he's actually more like a husky.

To put it bluntly, in Tang San's eyes, all male werewolves look the same. If he only used his eyes to look, without using the power of his Primordial Spirit to distinguish, he wouldn't be able to recognize who was who.

Just like in his previous Life, Chinese people looking at foreigners, and foreigners looking at Chinese people, were all face-blind at first, and couldn't tell who was who at all. Only a more special appearance could be recognized at a glance.

“Follow me, go forward all the way, spread wisdom, and accept one challenge after another. Your strength will naturally improve by leaps and bounds.” Tang San got up and extended an invitation to Peter, “Are you willing to travel with me throughout Dragon God Island?”

“Sounds good, and it's boring to live in one place for too long.” Xiao Lang Ren agreed, his gaze falling on Xun'er, “That, you...”

“Wherever Griffin-er gege goes, I will go.” Xun'er was like a little daughter-in-law, unwilling to be separated from Xiao Lang Ren.

“No problem, more people means more company.” Tang San smiled, “After all, your little girlfriend is very worried that I will abduct you.”

“What little girl...” Xiao Lang Ren suddenly felt a pain in his waist. Seeing Xun'er pinching his fur, he immediately changed his words: “That's right, Xun'er is my little girlfriend. We will definitely be together in the future and have many babies.”

Only then did Xun'er let go, looking shy (ω): “Gege, don't say it so...This concubine is really shy!”

Tang San: “...” This female wolf is not right!

Meng Meng, Nian Nian: “...” Are beastmen so bold?

461: Give chicken soup to your disciples

Compared to the Elves, the Beastmen were much wilder. While they also had artistic Creation, their greater focus was on the worship of martial prowess.

Therefore, to impart wisdom, one must first win with martial force.

Go personally?

Tang San believed his martial prowess was unparalleled, but that wouldn't win over the masses. If he left, the people here would likely revert to their old ways. He needed to cultivate a spokesperson.

Xiao Lang Ren, Peter Jack Trask Griffin, was a good candidate.

However, before embarking on a martial conquest, Xiao Lang Ren needed to improve his strength. For this, Tang San truly treated him as his student, wholeheartedly teaching him how to cultivate and how to fight.

Although the other party was a Beastman, Tang San's examination showed that, apart from lacking a Spirit, and aside from having abundant fur and a different skull structure from humans, their other body parts were largely similar to human body structures. Moreover, the place where the so-called Douqi was stored was also three inches below the navel.

However, Tang San also discovered that the Beastman's—hmm, the Werewolf's—meridians were still different from humans. They were naturally thicker, capable of holding more energy, and even had a closer connection with blood essence, allowing for the autonomous activation of Qi and blood.

This was much more convenient than most humans on the Douluo Continent.

Moreover, within every cell of Xiao Lang Ren, Tang San also detected a peculiar energy. According to this World's说法, it was the bloodline power of the Shouting Moon Wolf King.

But Tang San could perceive a deeper level: this energy was merely a superficial manifestation. The true root lay in the expression of bloodline factors within the cell nucleus.

In this World, there was a saying about extracting bloodline power. In reality, it was just extracting the bloodline power within these cells, while the bloodline factors could not be extracted.

However, for ordinary Beastmen, extracting bloodline power was equivalent to violently destroying most of the cells throughout their entire body. As a result, the entire person's tissues, organs, and the internal circulation formed by those organs would experience a chain of problems. Naturally, there would be no way to recover, and only a very few individuals with tenacious Life force could survive.

And if these surviving Beastmen could regain a healthy state in the future, their bloodline power would reappear.

"What does that mean?" Xiao Lang Ren didn't understand.

"If I explain too much, you still won't understand. But to put it simply, if a Beastman can extract bloodline power without damaging the cells, it will not cause the Beastman to permanently lose their bloodline power. At most, they will be sickly for a few days, months, or years. As long as they regain health, the bloodline power can be cultivated again," Tang San said, stating a fact that seemed like a fantasy to Xiao Lang Ren. "So, don't focus too much on bloodline power. This is the instinct of Life. For you at this stage, before the seventh rank, there's no need to deliberately cultivate it."

"I see!" Xiao Lang Ren seemed to understand but not fully, and couldn't help but nod—anyway, Teacher Tang San was stronger than him, so listening to him was definitely correct.

But Dak had a different opinion and said, "How can bloodline power not be important? Only by cultivating bloodline power quickly can he rapidly increase his cultivation."

"Moreover, bloodline power can better help him control Douqi!"

"The higher the rank of bloodline power, the greater the control over Douqi!"

Tang San shook his head and said, "If he follows your path, he will never be able to defeat the Sacred Dragon. After all, you lost to the Sacred Dragon, and the methods you teach will inevitably carry your experience, which the Sacred Dragon will surely be familiar with. How could he possibly defeat it?"

"He is a Werewolf, not a Dragonman. Your methods may not necessarily suit him."

"He needs to forge his own path."

"And I will only provide direction."

Dak still retorted, "I can give him a blood transfusion. Within this dragon bone of mine, there is a drop of Dark Dragon blood that can make him undergo a complete transformation, becoming a Dragon-Wolf, which is much stronger than an ordinary Werewolf."

Tang San was noncommittal.

He admitted that this would indeed make him stronger, but there would be no chance against the Sacred Dragon.

All the dragons on this Dragon God Island were seeds spread by the Sacred Dragon. Their bloodlines were all inferior to the Sacred Dragon's. If Xiao Lang Ren accepted dragon blood, he would naturally be a head shorter than the Sacred Dragon. At that time, when facing the Sacred Dragon, he would likely suffer extreme bloodline suppression.

"Now, you have two paths." Tang San gave the choice to Xiao Lang Ren. "Peter Jack Trask Griffin, do you want to undergo a blood transfusion, acquire the Dragon race's bloodline, and naturally be a head shorter than the Sacred Dragon in the future, or rely on your own Werewolf identity, constantly advance, constantly break through, surpass your own limits, and crush the Sacred Dragon with a Werewolf body?"

Dak was indignant: "What do you mean by choosing the Dragon race bloodline will naturally make him a head shorter than the Sacred Dragon? I was careless back then, I didn't dodge... Peter what Jack, forget it, that name is really awkward... Little wolf cub, don't listen to this hairless monkey, listen to me. If you get my bloodline, your early cultivation will definitely be very fast. Before the seventh rank, there will be no bottlenecks."

Even though Tang San carried the God of Heavenly Condemnation, who was Dak?

The Dark Dragon God!

Respect for the God of Heavenly Condemnation did not mean worship for this human.

Xun'er wanted to persuade Xiao Lang Ren to choose dragon blood. After all, the Dragon race was the noblest on Dragon God Island, and the other... Although Tang San was very special, she felt there was no need to let Peter take risks.

"I'll listen to Teacher." Xiao Lang Ren deliberated repeatedly and finally decided to take a risk. Although Dak's method was safer, he was already in this predicament, how much worse could it get?

Taking a risk wouldn't hurt.

Moreover, Teacher Tang San remembered his name: Peter Jack Trask Griffin. This meant he respected him, unlike Dak, who acted like an old man and called him 'little wolf cub.'

"Congratulations, daring to take a risk, the possibility of success has reached fifty percent." Tang San smiled.

"Ah? Only fifty percent?" Xiao Lang Ren began to regret it.

"Why fifty percent? Can you explain?" Xun'er wanted to ask what confidence Tang San had.

"When doing something unknown, the possibilities of success and failure are fifty-fifty..."

Xiao Lang Ren: "... I really regret it now.

Xun'er's fur on her face turned pink with anger: "Are you joking with Brother Griffin?"

"I haven't finished speaking." Tang San motioned for her to calm down and continued, "Only by daring to do it will there be a fifty percent chance of success. If there isn't even courage, then the possibility of success is zero."

Xiao Lang Ren clenched his fists and said, "That's right, courage is very important. I want to pick up the courage I've dropped! Teacher, please whip me hard!"

462: Make rapid progress, reach the sky by leaps and bounds

For Xiao Lang Ren, Tang San, based on the structure of his body's meridians, the circulation of his blood and qi, and the quality of his mental force, created a simple cultivation method that combined the three treasures of essence, qi, and spirit.

This was also an experiment to see what effects Xiao Lang Ren would produce after cultivating, and Tang San was also researching how to perfectly integrate the cultivation methods of his own essence, qi, and spirit.

During his hundred years with the Elf race, Tang San had a thorough understanding of how to convert spirit power into various natural elements. After all, the energy within elves, though not exactly spirit power, was still part of the 'qi' within the three treasures theory of essence, qi, and spirit, and it had properties very similar to spirit power.

Furthermore, in Tang San's estimation, there wasn't much difference between the energy within elves and spirit power; it was merely due to being in different planes and being influenced by various factors such as heaven and earth energy and the natural environment, leading to different properties.

As for the Dou Qi on Dragon God Island, although it was also 'qi,' Tang San discovered through careful observation of Xiao Lang Ren that this stuff could actually combine with qi and blood, and even produce a certain resonance.

It was like throwing a stone into a calm lake, causing ripples. When Xiao Lang Ren cultivated Dou Qi, this power would instinctively vibrate all the cells in his body, tempering his physique and making his entire body's qi and blood 'dance' together with the Dou Qi, just like a perfectly arranged set of dominoes where the first one is pushed, and the rest, as long as none are removed, can move on their own.

This was a very peculiar phenomenon.

The human body is inherently orderly.

Through this point, Tang San had an idea of how to construct corresponding energy patterns on the Heart Core Ring and the Blood Qi Ring, which required the most basic...

Vibration!

Indeed, the Great Dao is simple!

However, if one's own level did not reach Tang San's height, even knowing this principle would not allow them to achieve it.

Similarly, based on this point, Tang San also began to speculate whether the conversion between spirit power and mental force could also adopt this method of resonance and sympathetic vibration...

Time spent cultivating always passes quickly.

Ten years flew by in a hurry.

For ten years, Xiao Lang Ren comprehended the rhythm of the waves in the ocean, experienced the fluctuations of the air in strong winds, understood the sounds of insects, birds, and beast roars in natural forests, and listened to the tenacious vitality within the silence and death of the Desert—the growth of cacti, and the sounds of insects, lizards, and snakes moving on the sand.

From initial fear to later habituation, and now being able to listen to the sounds of all things, Xiao Lang Ren felt as if he had witnessed the most authentic side of Life.

"What's the use of such cultivation?" Dak was very puzzled and did not understand Tang San's arrangements. "Isn't this just tormenting people? For the past ten years, his cultivation is still at zero-star, with no progress at all. If it were me, he would definitely be able to advance to above first-star within these ten years."

The nine stages of Dou Qi cultivation correspond to the Spirit Master to Titled Douluo on the Douluo Continent.

The reason why the beastmen here seem to cultivate slowly is mainly due to two reasons:

Firstly, they have long lifespans and abundant resources, with no external intelligent races competing with the beastmen, so they are content with enjoyment. If the Spirit Masters of the Douluo Continent saw this, they would certainly say: lacking ambition.

Secondly, the Dou Qi cultivated by beastmen also stimulates qi and blood, and the effort required for this is much more troublesome than Spirit Masters who only cultivate spirit power, so the time spent is naturally longer.

However, the advantage is that, provided Spirit Masters do not use spirit ring and Spirit Bone abilities, and both sides compete with physical techniques and self-created abilities, beastmen are generally stronger.

At least, beastmen do not have convenient things like spirit rings, so even if the living environment here is excellent, they still need to create combat skills suitable for them based on their racial characteristics.

Hmm—

On this point, most Spirit Masters on the Douluo Continent are inferior to beastmen.

spirit rings...

Sometimes, overly convenient things indeed limit imagination, causing most Spirit Masters not to consider creating their own Spirit Abilities, but rather to think about how to obtain a spirit ring that can provide excellent Spirit Abilities.

But this is also the advantage of the Douluo Continent; as long as the energy flow within Spirit Abilities can be systematically, reasonably, and effectively summarized, organized, and concluded, Spirit Masters can completely surpass the cultivation systems of other planes in a relatively short period of time.

This is also why Iliex often laments: the Douluo Continent is uniquely blessed.

"I also think Brother Peter is wasting his time." Xun'er began to suspect whether Tang San was toying with Peter, as Peter's cultivation over the past ten years really seemed to be nothing but torment.

"No, I have already touched upon the truth!" Xiao Lang Ren, however, understood what he had gained in these ten years, and that was the comprehension of the rhythm of Life!

That was the purest—

Vibration!

He could feel that the insignificant Dou Qi within his body had reached its peak resonance with his bloodline power, and it even resonated with another energy in his mind.

The three energies, under the operation of the basic Dou Qi cultivation method taught by his teacher, connected with each other, flowing throughout his body and constantly strengthening everything about him through vibration.

Boom!

When the Dou Qi began to circulate, Xiao Lang Ren's realm continuously broke through, from zero-star to four-star, five-star... The increase in realm and cultivation continued until one-star, where the speed barely stopped.

But it only stopped for a short while before continuing to break through.

Two-star!

Two-star!

Two-star!

.....

When he reached two-star, it stagnated for a while, longer than before, but then it continued to break through.

Just like that, continuously breaking through.

The surrounding energy also continuously poured into his body, being rapidly refined into incomparably pure Dou Qi energy.

When his Dou Qi cultivation stopped, he had already reached six-star, just one star away from breaking through to seven-star!

The seventh stage of Dou Qi is equivalent to a Spirit Saint among Spirit Masters, serving as a watershed. Once broken through, it signifies entering the ranks of true powerhouses, allowing one to pursue the legendary realms of eight-star and nine-star.

"Six-star!"

Dak's pupils sharply contracted as he checked Xiao Lang Ren's cultivation, finding his Dou Qi extremely condensed. With just a few more powerful combat techniques, he could easily defeat a seven-star and even contend with an eight-star powerhouse.

"Unbelievable!"

"How did you do that?"

"Speak! Did that Tang San give you some divine treasure medicine or something? Otherwise, how could you have become so strong?"

Xun'er was also dumbfounded.

This was six-star!

Among the beastmen, even the dragon race prodigies with the best talent and bloodline had a fastest record of breaking through to six-star at four hundred thirty-three years old, but how old was Griffin this year?

One hundred forty-three years old!

Was this defying heaven?

Or was it that these 'torments' were actually some extremely powerful cultivation method that could make a person advance by leaps and bounds and ascend to heaven in just ten years?

463: Enlightenment: One step to reach the sky

"Good, these ten years have not been in vain. I have sensed the frequency of the vibration." Tang San praised and sighed, "You are much more outstanding than I was back then."

This was not a humble statement, but a fact.

After all, Tang San at the time was still pondering the vibration based on the Rampaging Wind Technique.

Of course, the current Tang San is beyond Xiao Lang Ren's reach because of the Heavenly Dao bonus. The expansion of the Blue Silver Network allows Tang San to gain countless inspirations, not to mention the blessing of computing power.

"It's all thanks to Teacher's good teaching." Xiao Lang Ren flattered, suddenly hugged Tang San's thigh, panting, and wagging his tail, "Teacher, train me harder! At this rate, I can break through to the ninth rank in just two hundred years!"

"What I can teach you, I have already taught." Tang San shook his head, released the Blue Silver Emperor, and Haotian Hammer to show everyone, "My own abilities are based on the attributes of my two Martial Soul. Even if I want to teach you these two abilities, you won't be able to learn them. Even if you do, it won't be suitable for your own path."

"Everyone has a different path. If you want to learn how to fight, you have to venture out on your own."

"Now that you have laid a good foundation, what you need to do next is to constantly challenge yourself, comprehend the Shouting Moon Wolf bloodline in your body, condense the bloodline core, and break through to the seventh rank."

If the Beastmen race wants to break through to the seventh rank, they need to condense a bloodline core. According to Dak, it is to gather the power of the bloodline in the Heart and condense it into a corresponding pattern in a specific way.

Different Beastmen races have different ways of condensing.

Originally, Dak wanted to give Xiao Lang Ren a blood transfusion and teach him the Dark Dragon's method of condensing. In addition, Xiao Lang Ren was born into the Shouting Moon Wolf lineage, and he also had the Shouting Moon Wolf's method of condensing the bloodline core, so he could condense two cores.

Dual-core blessing far exceeds the same rank!

It can explode with an effect of $1+1 > 2$.

However, Tang San denied this path, saying that 2.1, 2.01, and 2.001 are also greater than 2, which is not of great significance, but will waste cultivation time. It is better to be single-minded.

Tang San also knew something about the so-called bloodline core, and understood that this thing only transfers the overflowing blood energy from the body to the Heart, and then condenses it into an energy core according to a specific method.

This process can shock the blood energy, and because the core's storage point is in the Heart, each beat can make the energy of the core circulate throughout the body. Even because the heartbeat is an instinct, this method of strengthening the body can also be carried out autonomously, without the Beastmen spending their minds to cultivate.

This also gave Tang San great inspiration. After all, the operation of his five internal organs and five Qi, and the rotation of the six viscera and six paths are also carried out autonomously. If he condenses them into Dan cores according to the corresponding methods and melts them into the five internal organs temples and six paths reincarnation platforms, it will definitely make his Life level further improve and perfect the system of the physical universe.

Getting back to the main topic, for Beastmen, the vibration generated by the heartbeat after condensing into a bloodline core can stimulate Battle Qi, causing it to also instinctively condense into a Battle Qi crystal.

In Douluo Continent, it is equivalent to a Soul Core.

I have to say that the Beastmen's Battle Qi cultivation is much more advanced than the Soul Master's single Soul Power cultivation. However, if calculated according to the time of existence, even if Douluo Continent did not have him, Tang San, it is estimated that after ten thousand years, the technology of condensing Soul Ring would be developed. And how long have the Beastmen of the Dragon God race existed?

Anyway, according to the time of existence of the Elf race, the time of existence of the Beastmen race must have exceeded one million years, but this development... compared to Douluo, it is really slow.

However, it is also excusable. After all, this Eternal Domain is similar to Utopia. Even if the Beastmen of this Dragon God Island have a relatively strict distinction between superiors and inferiors, as long as a Beastmen is willing to live alone and like tranquility, they can also survive in the mountains and forests, and they can live well.

Although the forest here is not as lush as the Easton Forest, there are still many delicious wild fruits and the like.

As long as you can defeat Magical Beasts, you can live a relatively comfortable Life.

And fighting...

Perhaps it is the main form of entertainment for Beastmen besides contributing faith to the Sacred Dragon.

"I understand, Teacher. I already understand the essence of condensing the bloodline core. In fact, I can break through to the seventh rank without condensing it, but I just can't enjoy the benefits of the core passively strengthening the body as it beats with the Heart." In the past ten years, Xiao Lang Ren has not only been comprehending the frequency of vibration, but also learning Tang San's philosophy and way of thinking, and can perform some simple analysis of the cultivation method.

However, if he wants to challenge the Sacred Dragon, he must condense the bloodline core in order to reach the strongest.

"It's good that you know." Tang San nodded, "Next, we will start to truly roam Dragon God Island, and you will challenge those warlike Beastmen powerhouses one by one."

"Do you have that confidence?"

Xiao Lang Ren did not hesitate: "I have suffered for ten years. If I still don't have confidence, I might as well kill myself with a piece of tofu!"

"Don't waste the tofu." Dak rolled his eyes, but he was also convinced by Tang San's teaching, but there was one thing he didn't understand: "Why can this kid directly reach the realm of Rank Six, Nine Stars?"

"Cultivation, the most important thing is comprehension. Once you comprehend it, you will reach the corresponding realm. Improving cultivation is just about supplementing the body with energy. Although the method I taught him is very basic, it can initially achieve the transformation and circulation between essence, Qi, and Spirit. In the past ten years, he has comprehended the vibration and has improved it, increasing efficiency."

Tang San explained, "Of course, it is only effective in this Eternal Domain where the energy of heaven and earth is ridiculously abundant. If it were placed in other places, it is estimated that it would take him about twenty years to directly reach the realm of Rank Six, Nine Stars."

Dak was speechless: "Twenty years is also very fast... Are you humans monsters?"

"In a sense, yes." Tang San nodded, "In the plane where humans exist, as long as humans are not extinct, they will continue to grow, and then all kinds of species will be extinct. Those who dare to fight against humans will eventually become [protected animals]. The purpose is only for research."

Dak shivered: "Are humans so terrifying?"

"It's not that terrifying. There are still many humans with love, such as me." Tang San grinned.

"That's right, there is definitely no human more loving than my teacher." Xiao Lang Ren was extremely convinced of Tang San, although he had only seen Tang San as a human.

Meng Meng and Nian Nian are the same.

Xun'er still has a sense of vigilance towards Tang San. Women are always more suspicious, especially at the moment when the person they like is more admired by other men, fearing that he will be fooled...

464: Little werewolf's progress

Over the next three years, Xiao Lang Ren, Xun'er, Dak, and the others followed Tang San and his companions, traveling across most of Dragon God Island, constantly challenging powerful individuals along the way.

Xiao Lang Ren's combat skills also progressed little by little, from unfamiliar to proficient, gradually honing his own unique fighting style.

It was a combat technique centered on vibration, supplemented by the Shouting Moon Wolf lineage's fighting skills, forming his exclusive combat technique: Vibrating Shouting Moon Method!

A very straightforward name.

But since his debut, Xiao Lang Ren could be said to have been victorious in every battle; seventh-order and eighth-order powerhouses all fell to him, and he could even remain undefeated against ninth-order powerhouses for half an hour!

Furthermore, during a certain battle against a ninth-order one-star powerhouse, Xiao Lang Ren broke through on the spot, condensed his bloodline core, reached the realm of seventh-order one-star, and hardily persisted undefeated for an entire hour.

From then on, the reputation of the Vibrating Moon Wolf King: Peter Jack Trask Griffin, spread throughout Dragon God Island!

A genius who could fight above his rank!

Dragon God Island was not without such individuals; for example, the Holy Dragon People could fight three to six stars above their rank, but that was within the same major realm. Xiao Lang Ren, however, was different; he crossed major realms!

And Xiao Lang Ren's past deeds of breaking off engagements were also dug up.

For a time, the Underworld Wolf clan, which had gone to the Shouting Moon Wolf clan to break off the engagement, lost a great deal of face, especially the little princess of the Underworld Wolf clan who personally went to break off the engagement: Youyue, who was utterly mortified.

She never expected that only a little over ten years had passed since the three-hundred-year agreement, and the other party had already broken through to the seventh-order, while she was still lingering at first-order two-star.

They were simply not on the same level!

As Youyue considered whether to apologize to Xiao Lang Ren, he was already immersed in the joy of becoming stronger, completely forgetting the three-hundred-year agreement.

Youyue?

Who was that?

He didn't know her.

He now had a grander goal, which was to become a ninth-order, then break through the ninth-order, and then challenge the Sacred Dragon.

Since this was what the Creator God expected, then he would fulfill this expectation for his teacher, telling the Creator God that the beast-kin nurtured under His protection had already become independent, no longer needing to live in swaddling clothes, and would explore higher realms, wider worlds, and a more distant future!

Just thinking about this "chicken soup" instilled by Tang San made Xiao Lang Ren uncontrollably excited. After all, for a wolf-kin over a hundred years old, he was in his most lively, active, and passionate period, brimming with youthful vigor and full of energy.

It was precisely with this momentum that over the next two decades, Xiao Lang Ren seemed to have no bottleneck, constantly improving.

For Dak, Xun'er, Meng Meng, and Nian Nian, Xiao Lang Ren was as if directly empowered by Heaven and Earth, his cultivation almost without bottlenecks—constantly challenging, constantly progressing, until his cultivation reached ninth-order nine-star, only then did he stop.

This rapid advancement made the entire beast-kin race incredibly disbelieving, speculating whether Xiao Lang Ren had received the Dragon God's favor, otherwise there was no way to explain why he progressed so quickly.

The Shouting Moon Wolf clan found Xiao Lang Ren again, hoping he would return to the clan to take charge.

With a ninth-order nine-star powerhouse in charge, the Shouting Moon Wolf lineage would surely flourish and become a powerhouse on Dragon God Island and Beast King City, second only to the Holy Dragon People.

However, Xiao Lang Ren refused, as the actions of his family members had already disheartened him.

But before his family members could persuade him further, Xiao Lang Ren challenged the three great ninth-order nine-star powerhouses of the Holy Dragon People, intending to fight one against three!

"He's crazy!"

"That Griffin actually wants to challenge the Holy Dragon People! They are said to be the inheritors of the Sacred Dragon!"

"And he's challenging the three ultimate powerhouses simultaneously!"

"I think he's getting carried away!"

"Daring to challenge oneself, this is a true Qi practitioner!"

"..."

Upon learning this news, the beast-kin expressed various reactions: admiration, mockery, or regret.

But Xiao Lang Ren had no time to pay attention to these words; he was wholeheartedly engaged in a battle with Tang San, which was his graduation assessment—

"Vibrating Moon Blade!"

Xiao Lang Ren, leaping high into the sky, let out a clear, long howl. Within a hundred-mile radius, everything turned into darkness. A crescent moon floated behind him, emitting a faint white light. Around it, there was a peculiar pulsation, distorting space.

Upon closer inspection, one could see that the area around the moon blade was composed of countless silver-white rays of light, entangled and pulsating with each other, not a static energy blade.

All things are in motion.

Xiao Lang Ren's comprehension of vibration could be said to be superb, applying it to his attacks.

"Not bad."

Looking at the attack that shot towards him, a moon blade with a diameter of over a thousand meters and countless vibrating energy particles on its surface, Tang San couldn't help but praise, "Utilizing the laws of vibration to make your own Domain vibrate, and condensing a portion of high-frequency vibration force onto the moon blade, breaking through all obstacles in the air, even using the vibration frequency of energy and matter in the air as a counter-propulsion force, making its speed increase again... This way, even an ordinary divine-level powerhouse would find it difficult to escape this attack."

The Domain, which spontaneously appeared after Xiao Lang Ren broke through to the seventh-order and activated the bloodline power of the Shouting Moon Wolf King, was not too different from the predecessor of Tang San's Life and Creation Domain: the Blue Silver Domain, both being inherited abilities.

After Xiao Lang Ren mastered vibration, the power of this Domain was also applied by him in another way.

Just like now, Tang San not only had to face the thousand-meter-long Vibrating Moon Blade, but the surrounding space also pulsed at a certain frequency, thereby binding Tang San's body.

Under normal circumstances, Tang San could only take this Vibrating Moon Blade head-on.

But when it came to vibration, Tang San was also an expert. While Xiao Lang Ren was comprehending vibration, Tang San was also comprehending it, and with the Heavenly Dao cheat, his level of comprehension was even deeper.

Facing the moon blade that seemed to cut through everything with the power of vibration, Tang San did not use his Spirit. He drew circles in the void with his hands, using the Controlling Crane Catching Dragon technique to twist invisible energy and apply vibration, as if forming two yin and yang fish, flowing into each other and shattering the vacuum.

Boom!

The Vibrating Moon Blade touched the yin and yang fish, and the vibration frequency on its blade seemed to be affected, twisted along by the vibration of the yin and yang fish that Tang San cast. Then, the entire Domain space seemed to be driven to rotate by the helical yin and yang fish, gradually vibrating and shattering.

"Go!"

Tang San twisted his arms, and the yin and yang fish were pushed out, covering Xiao Lang Ren. Moreover, the vibration frequency of the surrounding Domain space had already been controlled by the helical vibration frequency of these yin and yang fish, so Xiao Lang Ren could not dodge and could only take this attack head-on.

He was given a taste of his own medicine.

"Ah! Teacher! Spare me!" Xiao Lang Ren's body was now fixed in mid-air by his own Domain, and feeling the vibrating vortex that was like a star exploding, he cried out in alarm.

465: The final test of the little werewolf! Bloodline resonance!

Amidst the violent explosion, the entire Domain shattered, and Xiao Lang Ren was blasted away. Not a single patch of skin or fur on his body was intact, and a large hole was torn through his chest, piercing through his back.

In this dying breath, Tang San released Blue Silver Emperor, suspending his Life and restoring his injuries.

In less than a quarter of an hour, Xiao Lang Ren was fully revived.

"Teacher, you are truly amazing. I can't see the gap between you and me at all." Xiao Lang Ren touched his intact chest, sighing slightly, but then cheered up again, "Just now, I seemed to have gained some understanding. If I use the power of vibration to create a spiral, can I break through the ninth-rank, ninth-star realm and become the legendary tenth rank, which is the realm of god?"

Ninth-rank, ninth-star, in Douluo Continent, is level ninety-nine, Peerless Douluo.

Upon reaching this realm, wanting to break through again, besides gathering faith and forging a God Realm, one must rely on massive amounts of energy to break through, or follow Tang San's cultivation theory and cultivate oneself as a brand-new universe.

Although Xiao Lang Ren didn't cultivate Mystic Heaven Skill, he also cultivated the three treasures of essence, energy, and spirit, receiving Tang San's true inheritance. The battle qi, bloodline power, and spiritual power within his body also reached a balance, and he walked his own path based on his understanding of vibration.

Therefore, even without absorbing faith or condensing laws, Xiao Lang Ren, relying on massive amounts of energy to break through the ninth-rank, ninth-star realm, his strength would not be inferior to those god who have condensed a God Realm.

"That requires you to comprehend it yourself." Tang San played mysterious, then said, "Let's go. Before challenging Sacred Dragon, pass the final test, defeat those three ninth-rank, ninth-star experts of the Holy Dragon People. That is your true graduation assessment!"

"Yes!"

Xiao Lang Ren nodded vigorously and stepped into the air towards Beast King City. His speed was so fast that he disappeared from Tang San's sight in the blink of an eye.

"Tang San, aren't we going to take a look?" Meng Meng saw Tang San heading in the opposite direction and was a little puzzled, "What if Xiao Lang Ren fails?"

"Don't worry, he won't lose." Tang San raised his head, looking at the seemingly boundless sky, the corners of his mouth slightly raised, "Not only do I know, He also knows."

"He?"

In the core area of Eternal Domain, Eternal Lord saw Tang San in the picture looking at the sky, that is, at himself and the others, with a meaningful look. He couldn't help but close the "monitoring" and said to Sacred Dragon, "You go down. After that Peter Jack Trask Griffin defeats your three direct descendants, he will break through to the tenth rank and challenge you."

Sacred Dragon hesitated at this time: "Can I admit defeat? I feel like I'm going to die. That guy's current strength can already defy some god-level experts without a God Realm. If he breaks through to the god level, my chances of winning are slim!"

Eternal Lord said: "You won't die. Since Tang San said that defeating you is a test, then let it be a test. After all, the content he teaches seems like fooling around, but in reality, it still has some truth. This is fate's arrangement... If you really can't beat him, then just admit defeat. Come back and accumulate power. I want to have a fair and square battle with that Tang San in my strongest state."

Eternal Angel asked: "Then have you made up your mind?"

Eternal Lord knew what the other party was asking, and said: "If he wins, then I will naturally enter his Blue Silver Emperor and control Austin Griffin. The karma between me and Him, from the moment I separated Him from my body, if we can return to one body, it can be considered the end."

At the same time.

Beast King City.

Xiao Lang Ren stood in the air, his entire body surging with battle qi, pressing down on the royal palace in the center, and shouted loudly: "The three of the Holy Dragon People, dare to follow me to a battle a thousand meters in the sky?"

The three ninth-rank, ninth-star experts of the Holy Dragon People were all furious and stepped into the air, each shouting at Xiao Lang Ren:

"Little wolf cub, don't think that just because you have also achieved the ninth-rank, ninth-star realm, you can be compared with us!"

"You are far from it!"

"Considering that you have received the grace of Sacred Dragon, how about joining our Holy Dragon People? You can marry the princess of the Holy Dragon Clan!"

However, Xiao Lang Ren remained unmoved, chuckled, and retorted:
"Great ambitions are not limited by age, and living a thousand years is empty without ambition. The distance between me and the three of you is not as far as you think. Also, I didn't receive the grace of Sacred Dragon. After defeating you, I will challenge Sacred Dragon!"

"You're crazy!" One of the dragon people experts' pupils shrank sharply,
"You must know some secrets since you were able to cultivate to this realm, right? The experiences of the Dark Dragon clan are not stories, but facts. Their king provoked Sacred Dragon and had his wisdom erased... It doesn't matter if you're crazy, but are you going to let the entire Shouting Moon Wolf clan have their wisdom erased by Sacred Dragon?"

"A strong person should always punch towards the stronger." Xiao Lang Ren's tone was high-pitched and incomparably heroic, and the aura on his body was like a tsunami, tilting towards the three Holy Dragon People experts.

In just an instant, the three felt that the surrounding air was all vibrating, even the airflow was no longer stable, and even their skin and scales were vibrating together.

"What a strange method!"

The three were all shocked, erupted with battle qi, and golden flames emerged from their bodies, turning into three streams of light and rushing towards Xiao Lang Ren.

Since they couldn't reason with him and the other party's strength was so strong, they could only fight quickly.

"That's what I want."

Xiao Lang Ren's body also erupted with battle qi, but unlike the Holy Dragon People, it was in the shape of a jet, more explosive, and even the space around his body was vibrating along with it.

The three dragon people formed an encirclement, constantly waving their sharp claws at him, but no attack landed on Xiao Lang Ren's body. The power of that spatial vibration could not only affect their bodies and blood, but also affect their battle qi, causing it to vibrate along with it, making it very difficult to control.

Xiao Lang Ren didn't attack immediately, but kept flying upwards, raising the battlefield to avoid affecting the other residents of Beast King City.

And the residents of Beast King City, feeling the pressure on their bodies gradually decreasing, couldn't help but breathe a sigh of relief and looked up—

Only to see a white stream of light and three golden flames constantly colliding and touching, erupting bursts of air waves, even shaking the clouds in the sky.

"Dragon God descends!"

As time passed, the auras of the three Holy Dragon People gradually became chaotic. The rhythm of the battle had always been led by Xiao Lang Ren. That strange power of vibration seemed to be an existence that transcended laws. Their bodies, battle qi, and even souls seemed to be vibrating along with it.

Clearly, Xiao Lang Ren's attacks didn't hit them once, but every circulatory system, every organ, every tissue, and every cell in their bodies was vibrating along with it.

Viscera, brain, bones, meridians...

Throughout their bodies, there was no place that wasn't uncomfortable, as if an invisible hand had reached into every inch of their bodies, like a beastmen cub with boundless energy, jumping, shouting, grabbing, and pinching in their bodies.

It was simply worse than death!

For this reason, the three had to use their trump card.

Dragon God descends.

This move is to use the bloodline power of the Holy Dragon People, condense all the battle qi, communicate with the Sacred Dragon in the dark, and borrow his power.

The flames on the three Holy Dragon People's bodies soared threefold, converging together, gathering above the three, forming a vortex-shaped wormhole, and summoning a strand of extremely oppressive golden aura.

"The aura of Sacred Dragon?" Xiao Lang Ren's eyes showed a bit of vigilance, but he didn't interrupt—this was a challenge, not a Life-and-death feud, and he also wanted to defeat them at the moment when the three opponents reached their strongest.

"Great Sacred Dragon!"

"We are willing to offer faith!"

"Summon the sacred divine body!"

The three chanted sentence by sentence, that strand of golden aura flowed around the three, absorbing battle qi, and slowly manifested its form.

"Roar!"

A dragon without wings on its back, with a slender body more than thirty meters long, covered in golden scales, with five claws under its abdomen, and horns on its head, emerged.

This dragon, entirely composed of energy, wrapped the three Holy Dragon People inside. The powerful power it displayed was extremely oppressive and far from comparable to battle qi.

But Xiao Lang Ren became excited, sensing that energy that seemed to transcend the Life level of the beastmen. He laughed loudly and shouted, "God-level power? Then let me see how powerful the power of a god is!"

As soon as he finished speaking, surging battle qi bloomed from Xiao Lang Ren's body, followed by the fiery power of his bloodline and the intangible spiritual power.

The three energies intertwined in a spiraling manner, erupting with unparalleled tremors, actually shaking the phantom of the Sacred Dragon hundreds of miles away.

Before the god-level dragon phantom could react, Xiao Lang Ren clasped his hands together, gathering the three energies on his hands, and integrating the energy of the Domain into them, drawing a crescent-shaped moon blade in the air.

Different from the thousand-meter-long moon blade he used when fighting Tang San, this one was only six meters long, but when this moon blade was condensed, all the residents of Dragon God Island felt it in their hearts. They raised their heads and looked towards the direction of Beast King City, seeing the moon blade shimmering with silver-white light.

The power of vibration contained in that moon blade was connected to the space within a thousand miles, and even the space within this range vibrated.

If the matter and energy in the air were dominoes that had already been arranged, then Xiao Lang Ren's moon blade was the first and last one to be pushed.

The energy generated by the vibration, at this moment, re-converged on Xiao Lang Ren's body.

In just an instant!

Xiao Lang Ren's figure disappeared from the spot. When he reappeared, he was already behind the Sacred Dragon's phantom, and the moon blade in his arms had dissipated.

This move was so fast that it approached one-tenth of the speed of light. Even god-level power could hardly detect it.

The dragon phantom dissipated, and the bodies of the three Holy Dragon People fell downwards.

Xiao Lang Ren, who had consumed a lot of energy but still had some left, immediately chased after them, supporting them and sending them to the center of Beast King City—

At this moment, everyone below understood that the three strongest of the Holy Dragon People had been defeated, defeated by a werewolf who was no more than two hundred years old.

At this moment, the entire Shouting Moon Wolf race cheered, because among their race, there appeared a supreme expert who could fight three against one, and even defeat a god-level powerhouse!

"Teacher, I won." Xiao Lang Ren looked into the distance, silently reciting in his heart, not caring about the noise in the distance, but flying into the sky again, sitting cross-legged in the void, recovering his consumption, and then condensing more heaven and earth energy.

In an instant, clusters of heaven and earth energy, almost condensed into liquid, appeared above Beast King City, constantly pouring into Xiao Lang Ren's body. The vast battle qi began to continuously compress and transform, turning into pure silver-white, and the hair on Xiao Lang Ren's body also completely turned silver-white, with a crescent-shaped纹路 appearing between his eyebrows.

Buzz—

Invisible vibrations spread out again. The Shouting Moon Wolf race, which shared the same bloodline as Xiao Lang Ren, began to tremble continuously, as if feeling the vibration of a more noble bloodline, and began to actively transform. Heaven and earth energy also continuously poured into their bodies, helping their realm to continuously improve.

"What's going on?"

"My cultivation is improving uncontrollably!"

"My whole body seems to be vibrating!"

"It's Peter Jack Trask Griffin helping us!"

"Is he going to break through to a higher realm?"

The Shouting Moon Wolf lineage showed admiration for Xiao Lang Ren, and had already begun to transfer their object of faith from the Sacred Dragon to their own clansmen.

Why could the werewolves of the Shouting Moon Wolf lineage also break through when Xiao Lang Ren broke through?

Among the three people who were walking out of Dragon God Island, Meng Meng sensed the situation of the Shouting Moon Wolf lineage with her spiritual power and asked Tang San this question.

"It's very simple, because of vibration, the vibration between bloodlines, which I call: bloodline resonance."

Tang San told a new term, explaining the principle to Meng Meng and Nian Nian.

"Battle qi, this kind of energy is relatively violent, but it is more closely connected with the physical body and blood, and can produce a deeper level of resonance with oneself and the bloodline of the same race."

"This kind of resonance can also be compared to the dominoes that I once taught to you Elf race. In the process of peter, this werewolf, breaking through to the god level, his qi, blood, and spirit, in the midst of vibration, truly touched the bloodline factors in every cell, and this bloodline factor sensed similar bloodlines, and began to promote them to grow together."

"Of course, this kind of situation will only happen in Eternal Domain, where the heaven and earth energy is extremely rich. In other planes, if the heaven and earth energy is scarce, activating this kind of bloodline factor is not a good thing, and it is easy to drain oneself dry."

"Moreover, only by cultivating essence, qi, and spirit together, and comprehending the true meaning of vibration, can one induce the vibration of the bloodline in the process of breaking through to the god level, otherwise, one would at most break through to the god level alone."

Speaking of this, Tang San inexplicably thought of the 'battle through the heavens' he had read in his previous Life. The clansmen there who broke through to the fighting emperor and possessed the same bloodline as the emperor could also improve their cultivation.

Putting aside the factors of destructive power, the bloodline resonance phenomenon of Xiao Lang Ren is likely to be the same thing...

...

At the same time, Xiao Lang Ren, who had broken through to the tenth level and achieved the god level, was standing in the air, releasing his pressure towards the central mountain range of Dragon God Island, provoking the Sacred Dragon:

"Sacred Dragon, I, Peter Jack Trask Griffin, challenge you!"

"I will defeat you!"

"And tell you—"

"We who live in Eternal Domain no longer need your protection. We have grown up and can face everything from the outside world on our own!"

Before everyone could react to what Xiao Lang Ren was saying, the Sacred Dragon broke through the air and stood above him, overlooking Xiao Lang Ren, and said in a deep voice: "Then come on! Let me see what qualifications you have to get rid of the identity of a believer and move towards independence!"

"I will not let you down!"

Xiao Lang Ren closed his eyes, and there was no trace of aura leaking from his body. Then he suddenly opened his eyes.

Chirp—

No one saw Xiao Lang Ren's movements clearly, including the Sacred Dragon. Everyone could only notice that Xiao Lang Ren's figure suddenly appeared behind the Sacred Dragon, and the second half of the Sacred Dragon's body had already fallen from the sky and smashed into an open space in Beast King City.

Xiao Lang Ren's attack was still the same move that defeated the three Holy Dragon People before, but after breaking through to the god level, the power was restrained to the extreme, and there were not so many fancy fluctuations. All the energy was gathered in the body, and when used, it was released instantly, and even the divine sense of a god could not detect it.

The aura of the Sacred Dragon suddenly weakened, and he had no choice but to fall down and connect the half of his body back to himself.

He had never imagined that he would not be able to withstand even a single move.

What did Tang San teach this guy? He and Eternal Lord and others clearly saw the process of teaching, without any omissions. Why is the other party so powerful?

"What's this move called?" The Sacred Dragon felt that the lower half of his body was connected, stared at Xiao Lang Ren for a while, and then said quietly, "I didn't even have a chance to make a move, and you should have restrained that strange vibration divine power, otherwise my entire body would have been shattered. If you had aimed at my head, my divine soul would have collapsed, and there would not have been a chance to leave a trace of divine sense."

"Move name?"

Xiao Lang Ren posed in the same way as his teacher, stroking his chin, and said slightly frivolously, "I haven't thought about it yet. What do you think about calling it: tremor moon?"

The Sacred Dragon was about to open his mouth to comment when he heard Xiao Lang Ren continue: "No, that's too straightforward, not good. How about calling it god avoid? What do you think?"

God avoid?

Just as the Sacred Dragon was wondering about the meaning, Xiao Lang Ren explained: "God avoid, even you, a god-level, can't avoid this move. Next time you encounter it, you have to find a way to avoid it in advance."

Suddenly, the Sacred Dragon's eyes were full of anger, and he shouted: "Bastard! You're actually making fun of me! Even if I can't defeat you, I will bite off a piece of flesh from your body!"

The Sacred Dragon rushed over again, and Xiao Lang Ren also went all out. The battle between the two was full of wolf howls and dragon roars, which was quite fierce……

466: Last stop: Sky City

"Now, Xiao Lang Ren has defeated the Holy Dragon People of Dragon God Island, and next, he will challenge the Sacred Dragon."

Nian Nian looked back towards Beast King City, and an extremely oppressive aura emanated from that direction. After that, the aura weakened, and then two powerful auras collided, causing the energy of the entire Dragon God Island to vibrate. This made Nian Nian's heart involuntarily tighten. "Is he really okay?"

"He's fine."

Tang San also looked back, confirmed the Sacred Dragon's strength, and gave the two a reassuring look. "The Sacred Dragon controls the force of Life, but Peter controls an objective phenomenon that transcends laws—vibration. All things in the World are in motion. By controlling vibration, he is equivalent to controlling the entire World."

"Life, too, is like this."

"Besides, Dak is with him. That guy is not to be trifled with..."

Meng Meng stretched lazily and said to Nian Nian, "That's right! Since Lord Tang San said so, there's nothing to worry about. After all, Tang San is the inheritor of the great Creator God!"

Nian Nian turned her head back, nodded slightly, and said, "You're right. The new Creator God will never be wrong."

"Don't say that. I'm not omniscient and omnipotent, and I won't be a simple Creator God..." Tang San waved his hands repeatedly. The Blue Silver Emperor's twelve wings emerged from his back, and two more Blue Silver Emperor vines extended, binding the two. He said, "Let's go to Sky City. That's the last area I need to reach before my final assessment. It's the residence of the Eternal Angel."

Meng Meng's face showed longing. "Although I have now converted to Lord Tang San, the Eternal Angel was my previously worshipped Divinity after all. I hope she is more beautiful than Easton King and the Sacred Dragon, fitting my imagination and expectations for her."

Sky City is located above the clouds of the Eternal Domain. Its exact location is unknown to anyone; there is only a legend:

[High above the distant sky, there is a sea of clouds stretching for nearly a thousand miles, with snow-white castles adorned with golden stars. That is the Eternal Angel's homeland!]

[The beings living there all have a pair of wings like birds, capable of soaring freely in the air. They are the Eternal Angel's most devout followers!]

[And the Eternal Angel appears at the highest point of the sea of clouds every year, showering her people with nine-colored radiance, bringing them happiness and joy!]

[No existence in the World can deny their faith!]

Based on this legend, Tang San knew that causing trouble in Sky City would be much more difficult than in Easton Forest or Dragon God Island.

After all—

In the elven kingdom, Easton King basically sleeps and doesn't manage affairs, and the elves' faith in him is not that firm.

Within the beastmen's kingdom, the Sacred Dragon only displays divine force when the beastmen clear the Dark Dragon clan. Moreover, the beastmen value martial prowess more.

As long as Xiao Lang Ren can defeat the Sacred Dragon, the beastmen will no longer offer devoutness to the Sacred Dragon... After all, a Divinity was defeated by a wolfman who was not of dragon bloodline.

And Sky City...

Although Tang San had not yet arrived, the information revealed by this legend proved that the Eternal Angel "manifests" once every year. The Winged People's faith in her must be extremely devout.

It's even possible that faith in the Eternal Angel is the entirety of the Winged People's lives.

Two and a half days later, Tang San, Meng Meng, and Nian Nian finally saw a sea of clouds in the sky. It was indeed as vast as the legend described.

The moment they stepped onto the sea of clouds, Tang San discovered that the ground beneath his feet was not clouds, but solid ground, though it was white. He picked up a handful and observed it carefully, finding it to be very fine, like sand, but with a peculiar stickiness that allowed the particles to attract each other. Therefore, when aggregated, the texture of stepping on it was similar to stepping on solid ground.

"According to legend, everything in Sky City is forged from Star Sand." Meng Meng scooped up a handful of sand and exclaimed, "This kind of sand can also be called the Foundation of Stars. A tiny bit can make plants grow extremely lush, but in large quantities, it will inhibit plant growth, or even kill plants."

"Too much is as bad as too little." Tang San casually scattered the sand in his hand, looked at the magnificent city ahead, and walked forward. "This place is much more advanced compared to the kingdoms of the elves and beastmen."

The entire sea of clouds had only one city: Sky City.

All the Winged People lived within it. Its diameter exceeded four hundred miles, while the rest of the cloud sea was the living area for species the Winged People called Cloud Beasts.

Those Cloud Beasts all shared one characteristic: their body fur was as soft as mist, as if it would drift away with a single gust of wind.

And that was indeed the case.

Just by looking up, one could see some round "cotton balls" swirling in the air.

This place was simply a dreamlike kingdom.

The city gate was unguarded. Tang San, Meng Meng, and Nian Nian walked directly in. What greeted their eyes was a wide avenue, as well as spherical houses stretching on both sides and Winged People with wings.

The Winged People looked no different from humans, but both males and females had delicate features. Their hair colors included red, gold, white, blue, and green, but notably, no black.

However, their most prominent feature was the pair of wings on their backs. These were not extraordinary organs that could be retracted into the body, but real wings of flesh and blood.

"Don't they sell food here?" Nian Nian scanned the shops along the avenue and found that they sold clothes, paintings, sculptures, and even corresponding carving knives, paintbrushes, and drawing paper, but there was no place selling food.

"There are no places selling food anywhere else either." Meng Meng used her mental force to investigate the nearby streets and found no place selling food, and even within households, there was no storage for food.

"They don't need conventional eating as we understand it." Tang San, however, saw more clearly. In his perception, there was a peculiar extraordinary core within the wings of these Winged People that could actively absorb light and use it for their Life activities—meaning, they could directly obtain energy from light!

With such a talent, they naturally didn't need to spend time thinking about preparing food like the elves or beastmen. Precisely because of this, they had more time to research other things they enjoyed.

For example: painting, sculpture, clothing design, etc.

This was somewhat different from Tang San's previous assumptions, but it was undeniable that the people here had an incredibly devout faith in the Eternal Angel.

This could be inferred from the verbal exchanges among the Winged People —

"Great Eternal Angel, what a beautiful painting is this?"

"Holy Eternal Angel above, I swear, your sculpture is absolutely a treasure!"

"Praise the Eternal Angel, can this blank Star Painting Scroll, refined from Star Sand, be a bit cheaper, three Angel Coins, how about it?"

Almost every sentence did not stray from the four words "Eternal Angel," and they also had to add words like "great," "holy," and "beautiful" as embellishments.

Although the beastmen would also add the exclamation "Sacred Dragon," it was basically like a catchphrase, whereas the people here had placed the Eternal Angel deep in their hearts...

467: The eternal angel wears no clothes!

“What a beautiful and peaceful land,” Nian Nian exclaimed after understanding the place for a while, then complained, “It’s just that the people here are too rigid. Every time they speak, they add phrases like ‘beautiful,’ ‘sacred,’ ‘powerful,’ or ‘Eternal Angel.’ Don’t they find it troublesome?”

“For us outsiders, perhaps this way of speaking is strange, but for the Winged People, such behavior has become commonplace, etched into their very souls,” Tang San said, understanding their perspective.

He had no intention of changing Sky City, as the Winged People, apart from praising the Eternal Angel and offering their faith, lived for themselves in other aspects. This was the entirety of their lives.

Instead, in Sky City, he was more interested in researching the extraordinary organs within the Winged People’s wings—the core that allowed them to naturally abstain from conventional food.

Bigu.

Tang San could naturally achieve this now, as with the improvement of his cultivation, his physical body had undergone a transformation, and the bloodline factors within had also evolved, causing his cells to develop structures capable of actively absorbing external heaven and earth energy.

However, the ability to actively absorb light, like the Winged People possessed—

The Blue Silver Emperor could achieve it, but to apply it to his physical body, a certain degree of energy conversion was required, which was far less simple and direct than the Winged People's method.

Just as Tang San was envisioning establishing an "Anatomy Art Research Institute" to recruit angels, ostensibly for art research but actually to study the internal organs of the Winged People's wings, a nine-colored halo appeared above Sky City, followed by a white pillar of light that pierced the heavens and earth.

However, this light pillar was not thick; its diameter seemed to be only about ten meters, appearing about fifty meters in front of Tang San, and it did not contain any elemental energy.

After about three seconds, the light pillar slowly dissipated, and a figure appeared in mid-air.

The Winged People's exclamations rose: "Eternal Angel!"

It was a woman, tall and slender, with twelve wings on her back.

The Winged People knelt and prostrated themselves, not daring to look directly at this angel. Her inherent arrogance seemed to be innate, as if she were the master standing upon the stars.

Sacred and magnificent.

The twelve wings were pure white and flawless, with a faint lustrous sheen under the sunlight. That sanctity made one feel not the slightest urge to profane.

More importantly, the pure white wings below her waist draped down like a long dress, very simple yet luxurious, perfectly fitting her lower body—adding a bit would be too much, subtracting a bit would be too little.

Golden hair, golden eyes, yet no aura of light emanated from her.

In her right hand, there was a slender white magic staff.

The magic staff had no gems inlaid, but Iliex, hidden in Tang San's upper Dantian, was immediately drawn to it, for what he saw seemed not to be a magic staff, but the sun, moon, and stars.

Tang San also saw through the power of the stars within it, but to this sacred Eternal Angel, he asked an inappropriate question: "By the way, you're using your wings as a skirt... are you naked right now?"

The Eternal Angel was momentarily stunned, then chuckled, "I thought you were humorous enough, but I underestimated you... However, I can answer that question. I am indeed wearing nothing. In those distant ages, there were no clothes, and the most perfect state was a pure and flawless body."

"Your words might mislead your followers, and perhaps a large number of exhibitionists will appear in the future," Tang San said jokingly.

"How about we have a chat at my place?" The Eternal Angel avoided the topic and invited Tang San, Meng Meng, and Nian Nian, "Let's have a good talk."

"Alright," Tang San realized that the Eternal Angel certainly didn't want him to mess around in Sky City, so she came personally. It was good, as he didn't plan to waste too much time there either.

A complete World still needed the existence of corresponding religions.

Following the Eternal Angel as they flew upwards towards Sky City, after a short while, Tang San saw a garden, where most of the flowers were white, and there was also a small pond and a small house nearby.

The house was not tall, only about ten meters, and its roof was decorated with something resembling clouds, which danced with the wind, as if never resting.

Meng Meng and Nian Nian were surprised; they had never imagined that the Eternal Angel would actually live in such a place. Although secluded and peaceful, compared to Sky City below, it was much simpler.

“Easton King lives in a cave, Sacred Dragon lives in the mountains, and the Eternal Angel is better off, living in a house,” Meng Meng, having followed Tang San for a long time and seen different sceneries, also complained sharply.

“After all, one has to keep up with the times,” the Eternal Angel smiled.

“Not bad,” Tang San surveyed the surroundings, but he was quite surprised that the Eternal Angel could say things like “keeping up with the times.”

One could only say, as expected of someone who looked like a human.

However, this place probably hasn’t been improved for ten thousand years... The Eternal Angel’s “keeping up with the times” seems to have rather large limitations.

The Eternal Angel invited Tang San, Meng Meng, and Nian Nian into the small house. The space inside was not a hidden wonderland; it was truly just as large as it appeared from the outside.

Pouring tea for the three of them, the Eternal Angel said, “I’ve heard about the matters of Easton Forest and Dragon God Island, especially the Sacred Dragon, who was severely wounded by your disciple Peter Jack Trask Griffin two days ago... Speaking of which, Creator God’s second trial for you should have already ended, so why did you still go to Dragon God Island?”

“I wanted to tour this Eternal Domain and get a general understanding. As for the trial, there’s no hurry. After all, even if I don’t obtain the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, it doesn’t matter much, as I’ve gained a lot during these years in the Eternal Domain.”

“My understanding of the power of nature...”

“The application of bloodline power...”

“And preliminary investigations into the Winged People’s wings have also yielded some initial ideas...”

Tang San picked up the teacup, sipping the silvery-white tea, noticing a hint of sweetness and the power of the stars contained within, as he recounted the general gains from his time in the Eternal Domain, “Also, this tea is quite good.”

“Is that so? It seems what you said is true; even if you don’t inherit the God Position of Creator God, you can still surpass Creator God in the future,” the Eternal Angel nodded. She didn’t understand the specifics of Tang San’s gains, but she could sense that Tang San was now much stronger than before entering the Eternal Domain.

Her purpose in inviting Tang San was merely to probe and see what chances the Eternal Domain, combined with her, the Sacred Dragon, and Easton King, had of winning.

But even without fighting now, she could sense the extremely restrained aura within Tang San’s body.

Their chances of winning were only fifty percent.

Either lose.

Or win.

Isn’t that a fifty-fifty split?

But for the Eternal Lord, fifty percent meant no certainty at all...

468: The practice of the universe

Chapter 468 Universe's Cultivation

“Speaking of which, do you know the function of Faith?”

Eternal Angel brought up this matter, “For Gods, Faith is the foundation for ensuring their own existence. To put it bluntly, it is the key to ensuring that one's own consciousness does not perish.”

Tang San shook his head and put down his teacup: “I'd like to hear the details.”

“Gods are inherently immortal, physically immortal, as long as they have enough energy to support their bodies...” Eternal Angel slowly revealed the secrets, “However, the will of Gods is not, so in the description of God's immortality, the word 'nearly' is added, because the will of Gods is not eternally present.”

“In the vast universe, there are countless God Realms.”

“Most God Realms exist in special dimensions, with different time flows from other mortal-level planet planes. One day in the God Realm is often one year on a mortal star.”

“The reason is simple. If Gods really experienced that long period of time, their will would not be able to withstand it and would go mad.”

“Those beings who became Gods from beasts are better off because before they developed intelligence, they did not have much self-thought. Everything was only for survival. After they developed self-thought, if no one taught them, their habits would not be much different from before they developed intelligence. Although their wisdom is no less than that of humans, they do not often use their brains to think. This is also why beast Gods can withstand longer periods of time than human Gods.”

“Eternity is also a curse.”

“The creatures of Eternal Domain may seem foolish to you, but this is the price they must pay to enjoy a long lifespan.”

“Knowing too much and seeing too much is not a good thing.”

Tang San listened silently, unmoved. Only after she finished speaking did he quietly ask: “So, Eternal Domain has existed for so long, drifting in the vacuum of the universe for so many years, haven't you seen a civilization that developed technology?”

Eternal Angel pondered the meaning of the word “technology” and tentatively asked: “Do you mean those Worlds that have not cultivated, but through research, have created civilizations such as spaceships that can navigate in the universe?”

“So you have seen them.” Tang San smiled.

“I have seen them, but whenever Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne encounters that type of plane, it will, under the guidance of the Great Universe's will, move away and not make contact.” Eternal Angel said, as if remembering something, a hint of fear appeared in her eyes, “Those civilizations are violent invaders. Although their bodies are weak and they do not have a trace of extraordinary power, with the weapons on those spaceships, they can destroy a planet plane with one blow.”

Tang San was silent for a while, realizing that this universe was very dangerous, but then asked: “Then, why do you think the Great Universe's will guides Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne to stay away when it encounters those planes?”

“I don't know.” Eternal Angel shook her head, “However, Eternal Lord believes that the universe's will has abandoned those planes, they are hopeless and cannot be saved.”

To this, Eternal Angel, Sacred Dragon, and Easton King deeply believed. That civilization that can destroy a plane of matter with weapons is the destroyer of the universe!

What future is there for this kind of plane?

Beyond redemption!

Furthermore, it was their unconditional belief in Eternal Lord. Even if Eternal Lord said that those civilizations were dog shit, they would believe it unconditionally.

After being silent again for a while, Tang San slowly said: “Speaking of which, have you ever considered that the reason why the Great Universe's will does not allow you to save those planes is because they do not need saving?”

“After all, from the perspective of the entire universe, the total amount of matter and energy inside is in a constant state, but they can be transformed between each other.”

“It's just that for the intelligent beings within the civilization, the efficiency of utilizing matter and energy is insufficient, which leads to a lack of, and unstable situations. When it develops to a certain stage, it must seek outward.”

After realizing that the soul is composed of the soul's outer shell and the undying True Spirit, Tang San speculated on the fundamental purpose of cultivation—to know oneself.

For the current Tang San, improving essence, energy, and spirit is certainly important, but what is really important is to improve the Primordial Spirit and inscribe all his information into the undying True Spirit.

Perhaps only in that way can one achieve [Today I finally know who I am]!

And according to his own cultivation's imitation of the universe, then for the entire universe, does its existence itself also need a cultivation to recognize itself?

And the universe's means of self-recognition need to be carried out through the development and research of intelligent creatures on various planets—

Therefore, for those who want to destroy planets and eliminate intelligent creatures, such as: demons, abyss, etc., the universe's will regards them as diseased cells, or bacteria, viruses, etc., then naturally there is a need for "immune cells", that is, existences such as Creator God, to clear them.

And after clearing them, Creator God needs to leave and cannot stay in that plane for too long. Is it also because the universe's consciousness is worried that the powerful power will stay for too long, so that the local intelligent creatures of the plane do not plan to develop, and only want to contribute faith to Creator God, in order to obtain everything they hope for?

This is absolutely not conducive to the development of civilization.

The more Tang San thought about it, the more he felt that he was getting closer to the truth, and those God Realms would set rules similar to “Gods cannot interfere with the mortal World”, perhaps they are not clear about these, but the Great Universe's will, the Great Universe's environment, still warned them through some things, thus passively influencing them to set similar rules.

But it's not foolproof, after all, those Gods are not ruthless and unfeeling, and cannot be fair and selfless.

After sharing his speculation, Tang San continued to say, regardless of Eternal Angel's surprised expression, “The Great Universe's will guides Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne to save the planes, but stipulates that they cannot stay for a long time, in order to give the planes a peaceful and stable development environment.”

“Those planes without extraordinary power, civilizations do not need you to save them, and, they can use matter to create spaceships that travel the universe and explore the truth of the universe. At least, from the perspective of the utilization efficiency and cognitive level of matter and energy, the self-cognitive effect on the Great Universe's will far exceeds us.”

“Living beings have will, and the universe also has will.”

“We can cultivate, why can't the universe cultivate? Perhaps, developing civilization is the cultivation of the Great Universe's will, and for those who hinder the development of civilization, it will use its own way to clean them up.”

Eternal Angel's twelve wings trembled, excited, inspired, and fearful, even the wings covering the key parts were revealed, scattering silver-white holy light.

Well—

Perhaps for Eternal Angel, this is her true pure state!

469: The Lord of Eternity Appears

Regarding Tang San's conjecture, the Eternal Angel didn't want to believe it, but according to his logic, it really made sense.

After all, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne would leave after resolving the plane's issues, and even if the Eternal Lord wanted to stay for a longer period, they would be 'urged' by the will of the Great Universe.

More importantly, when the Eternal Lord reached the realm of Creation back then, they didn't truly want to create a World, nor did they want to disintegrate themselves and evolve other God Realms.

Moreover, are Gods redundant?

The Eternal Angel was startled by their own thought, then calmed down and said, "Alright, our ideas are different, but how will you maintain the eternal nature of your will in the future?"

"Just keep progressing," Tang San said, indicating that the reason why will cannot be eternal is mainly because one sees through everything from ancient times to the present, but as long as everything is constantly developing forward, wouldn't that be enough?

Isn't it the best thing to be able to see new things and gain new inspiration every moment?

Just like how he researched the Creation and Destruction True Scripture, Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure, Cosmic Meditation, Carefree Wind Riding, etc., based on Mystic Heaven Skill, Profound Jade Hand, Purple Demon Eyes, and Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track, and these are not all. As his cultivation increased and his knowledge grew, they have also been continuously improved, and there has never been such a thing as perfection.

Maintaining the eternal nature of will through faith is merely drinking poison to quench thirst, and it is not advisable.

Only by constantly moving forward is the true principle.

Furthermore, as the old saying goes: Those who fall behind will be beaten!

This Eternal Domain is unknown how many levels behind some planes in the outside World. It only exists within the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, tucked away in a corner where ordinary people cannot find it. If someone were to truly find a way to enter here, the creatures here would have little power to resist.

After all, the so-called eternity, in a sense, is also 'closing the country to outside interaction,' hindering communication with the outside World, not to mention that the three guardians of the Eternal Domain merely treat the citizens living here as livestock providing a source of faith.

Tang San believed that in the things he did in Easton Forest and Dragon God Island, he did not explicitly describe the fundamental purpose of these three, but rather embellished it, which was already giving them enough face.

After all, no matter what, he, who had not yet controlled the Eternal and Creation Throne, was only an outsider and needed to give the 'hosts' some face.

"My body is the universe, and I can be eternal." Tang San now understood that no matter how much he said to the Eternal Angel, the other party would not easily change their mind unless he became the controller of this Eternal Domain. Therefore, he didn't say much more, just lightly uttered this sentence that sounded extremely chuunibyou.

But for the Eternal Angel, who didn't have much experience, this indicated Tang San's idea.

If a God cannot be eternal, then become a different kind of universe!

Moreover, Tang San himself was also walking such a path... As expected of an existence capable of defeating the previous Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, such grandeur is astonishing!

No wonder even the Eternal Lord felt inferior.

【Bring him over.】

Just as the Eternal Angel was about to discuss topics like faith again, the grand voice of the Eternal Lord echoed in their mind.

"Yes, great Eternal Lord!" The Eternal Angel showed a hint of reverence, then their expression became serious, and they slowly rose from their seat, saying to Tang San, "Follow me, the Eternal Lord wants to see you. You need to complete all the trials. If you can defeat Them, then you will be the true master of this Eternal Domain and this Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne!"

However, upon hearing the other party say this, Tang San was not particularly excited. He merely nodded slightly, his face showing nothing but calmness, without a hint of excitement.

Noticing this, the Eternal Angel was puzzled: "Could it be that you are not interested in the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne?"

"I have already gained many rewards. If I get it, it's my fortune; if I lose it, it's my fate," Tang San's calm voice sounded. "Furthermore, the foundation of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne is this Eternal Domain, right? In the distant future, I myself can cultivate the Blue Silver Emperor into an existence that surpasses this ultra-divine artifact!"

The Eternal Angel sighed, knowing that Tang San's words were true: "Perhaps, you truly will surpass the Creator God!"

Leaving the small house, the Eternal Angel raised their arms, and a formation pattern appeared beneath Tang San and her feet, enveloping the two of them and transforming into a pillar of light that pierced through the heavens and earth, heading straight towards the higher sky.

"Wait! We haven't gone up yet!"

"Wait!"

Meng Meng chased after them, but how could the speed of flying compare to the transmission of the light pillar? In just an instant, Tang San and the Eternal Angel disappeared before their eyes.

"The final place of inheritance is definitely not somewhere the two of us can go," Nian Nian's twelve thin wings flapped as she came to Meng Meng's side. "We'll just wait below."

The core area of the Eternal Domain is filled with chaotic colors, brimming with the natural aura of Life, the aura of all living beings, and the aura of starlight. As these three intermingle, they condense into a peculiar power that carries no attributes, as if it can encompass and create all things.

This should be the legendary chaotic power.

But whether it can truly create all things... Tang San was skeptical.

In the center of this space, there is a platform, with a diameter exceeding one thousand meters, in the shape of a disc, just floating quietly in this space.

A seat of the same style as the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne was placed in the very center of the circular platform, and an existence that seemed to be composed entirely of a substance similar to glazed glass.

From Tang San's perspective, it was similar to the humanoid representations of the universe imagined by humans in the science fiction films he had seen in his previous Life.

For example: the God who is said to dominate the multiverse in the Marvel worldview, Eternity.

The image of the Eternal Lord before him was similar to that state, except that it presented a female form. If one were to ignore the color of her skin, then this Eternal Lord would undoubtedly be a stunningly beautiful woman.

Beside her, stood two existences.

One looked very short, no more than 1.6 meters tall, but his muscles were solid. He held a hammer in one hand and a battle axe in the other. It was the Easton King.

Tang San felt that this guy should be from the dwarf race.

And the creature on the other side was a giant dragon about thirty meters long. It had no wings on its back, but it wasn't the kind of winding, coiling dragon either. Its form was similar to that of a ground dragon that walks on four limbs.

Adding the Eternal Angel, the three great guardians of the Eternal Domain were all present.

The Eternal Lord slowly rose from the throne, as if the entire universe's starry sky was lifted, giving an inexpressible sense of etherealness.

But for Tang San, whose body was also a nascent universe, he was immune to this special temperament.

This was also why when the Eternal Angel descended upon Sky City before, everyone else would show reverence in their eyes, while he even joked that the other party wasn't wearing clothes.

The Eternal Lord slowly walked towards Tang San and said, "Welcome, Tang San from the Douluo Continent. Do you have the confidence to defeat me?"

470: The Past of the Eternal Lord

“Isn't it bad to be so straightforward?” Tang San stepped forward, sizing up the other party's body. “It is said that you were already dead, with only a wisp of divine thought remaining. I didn't expect you to reappear in this way. It's quite peculiar.”

Eternal Lord smiled, the starlight on her face seemed to flicker, and she said naturally, “I thought you would ask questions like, 'Are you wearing clothes?’”

Wearing clothes or not?

Tang San indicated that there was no need to ask. Eternal Lord was naked, wearing nothing at all. Although her figure was good, this appearance wouldn't arouse any desire in a normal person.

“Since it is what you expect, then I will ask, are you wearing clothes?”

However, Tang San still responded to Eternal Lord's wish.

“Sorry, I'm not.” Eternal Lord also revealed a mischievous side, then regained her composure and said calmly, “Next, let's begin the final test. If you win, then everything here will be yours. The scene that hasn't changed for ten thousand years is indeed a bit dull and boring... Come on, bring some fun to my long Life.”

Why does this sound like a villain's speech?

Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel stood around Eternal Lord, each emitting three different auras—

The Power of Nature, containing the purest Life aura.

The Power of Life, representing sacred wisdom and powerful strength.

The Power of Stars, referring to the endless elemental power and the vastness of the universe.

At this moment, the three transformed into the purest energy and poured into Eternal Lord's body.

Crack!

A crack appeared on her smooth, glass-like skin, revealing white light.

Then, there was the second crack, the third crack...

In the end, Eternal Lord's body was covered with web-like patterns, and then her whole body bloomed with white light. An energy filled with vast aura erupted, shaking off the cracked shell on the outside, turning it into pieces like fragments, suspended in the air of the entire platform.

The light emanating from Eternal Lord's body slowly converged, revealing skin as transparent as crystal, and finally turning snow-white, just like the skin of an ordinary woman.

And on her body, she naturally wore a gauze skirt, with two gems floating on both sides, connecting the sides of the skirt's train.

Above the gems, there were two light golden butterflies, with shimmering light spots around their wings, like a dream.

However, the most eye-catching thing was Eternal Lord's three thousand Star Strands, dancing without wind, casually draped behind her head, as if each one was cast from the most brilliant stars in the starry sky.

This is a woman?

No!

This is a work of art!

Ordinary people would not have any blasphemous thoughts upon seeing her, but would only reveal a look of inferiority.

“The Creator God is actually a girl.” Tang San praised.

“Hmph! What's so strange about that? I am also a girl!” Austin Griffin said unhappily.

“You are also a female appearance?” Tang San remembered that in god seal throne, Austin Griffin transformed into a man, but the dialogue with Dragon Hao Chen did reveal a hint of ambiguous feelings.

“That's because I imitated Dragon Hao Chen's appearance to transform!” Austin Griffin said angrily, “I didn't want to be against him at first, who knew that bastard was so rigid... Forget it, let's not talk about him. Now, let me out. I want to kill this bastard woman who abandoned me, just as compensation for my challenge to you, how about it?”

Facing Eternal Lord, Tang San didn't plan to use Haotian Hammer. After all, even if Eternal Lord obtained the Nature, Life, and Star origins of Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel, her strength would not be one or two tenths of her peak.

But subduing Austin Griffin was also a necessary thing.

“After all, you are also one of my abilities.” Tang San agreed, but he wouldn't let Austin Griffin truly appear, at most in the form of Haotian Hammer and violet-gold jiu hao battle armor. After all, according to Austin Griffin's description just now, the relationship between Him and Eternal Lord didn't seem to be as simple as twins.

“Tang San, this is the real me——”

As Eternal Lord spoke, she raised her white arms upwards, interlaced her fingers, and made a lotus shape. The fragments suspended in the air of the platform floated behind her, turning into a peculiar halo.

This halo was divided into two parts, one vertical and one horizontal, with the horizontal halo wrapping the vertical halo. From the front and north, it formed a "ten" shape, which was extremely special.

And Tang San could feel the peculiar aura emanating from this halo. Among them, the horizontal halo seemed to be infinitely large and infinitely small, with the power of Qiankun, while the vertical halo seemed to have the Sun and Moon and stars revolving, endlessly recurring and continuously growing.

Undoubtedly, that represented space and time.

And the horizontal halo wrapping the vertical halo meant that time was born in space, and time was meaningful because of the existence of space.

“This is the artifact I used before I found the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne and before I achieved the realm of Creator God, named the Time-Space Wheel.”

Eternal Lord held up her right hand, and the halo behind her, which was more than ten meters in diameter, turned into one meter in size and floated above her right palm, slowly rotating.

“I am not a born Creator God. I was once a human like you. The Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne was also obtained by me the day after tomorrow. It's just that I can be said to be the first owner.”

“And the Winged People, Beastmen, and Elves were the races of the World I was born in. Incorporating them into Eternal Domain was just because I didn't want to be alone after becoming a God... That was the initial idea, until I discovered the effect of the Power of Faith.”

“Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel, their Angels are not excellent. When they stayed in the previous plane, their strength only reached the ninth rank. According to the Douluo Continent's saying, they were only Title Douluo level... After leaving that plane called Saint Magic Continent, after countless years, and through a space-time turbulence, absorbing some of the power, they broke through to the God-level, and then relied on the Power of Nature, the Power of Life, and the Power of Stars, combined with the Power of Faith accumulated over the years, to condense the corresponding God Positions, and achieve the level one God level in the Upper Realm God Realm planned in this World.”

“Sacred Dragon was just a low-blooded Earth Dragon at first, but I raised it from a young age, and we have a deep affection...”

“Eternal Angel was originally a Winged Person, and her cultivation talent was not strong. It was only because she was my closest follower and had been with me since she was a child, and under my encouragement, she regarded me as a goal to catch up with...”

“And Easton King... Originally, the controller of the Power of Nature was not him, but Elf Queen: Alice, but she couldn't bear the pain of eternity, and she didn't want to bind the freedom of the Elves, forcing them to believe in her, so every once in a while, she would erase her memory herself. Because of this, the Power of Nature was given to Easton King, the most loyal follower besides Alice...”

At this time, Eternal Lord was not in a hurry to take action, but was like an elder who wanted to share all her experiences with Tang San... No, this tone was not like an elder, but a friend.

Tang San did not interrupt, but acted as a loyal listener, listening carefully to the other party's story.

“To be honest, I am very happy to see someone who can walk out of a path I have never imagined.” Eternal Lord suddenly showed a smile, “If you win, can you take me to pursue the realm of the universe? After all, I am just a wisp of the Creator God's soul, although I have all of His memories, He is ultimately gone, and I am another independent existence... I don't have relevant evidence for this, but I have a feeling in the dark that I have lost the most important thing.”

“By the way, Austin Griffin, who is residing in your hammer, is also like this. Every time he is reborn after death, although he retains the memory of the last time, in fact, every time he is resurrected, he is not the original Him _____”

“death is a strange thing. Even if you are reborn and have the same memory, you cannot say that you are the same person.”

“I am afraid that only when you reach my realm can you understand this.”

However, Tang San already knew the reason, that is, there was an undying true spirit in the soul.

For the entire universe void, perhaps that is the true foundation of a living being, not memory, because this thing can be copied and fabricated.

Take the Gods of God Realm as an example.

If a God dies, but the divine soul and divine consciousness still remain, and are divided into multiple copies, and each copy grows up again, then each of them is an independent individual, and they all think that they are the original God.

This method is more like memory being retained than resurrection, and the undying true spirit representing the essence of Life has already escaped into the void at the moment when the divine soul is shattered. After the divine soul is resurrected, it is just that another undying true spirit has penetrated into it.

But the soul cannot be compared to a simple Soul Guidance Device, and the undying true spirit cannot be regarded as a Soul Guidance Battery that can be replaced at any time.

Listening to Tang San's description of the form of the soul shell and the undying true spirit, Eternal Lord was slightly stunned, smiled mockingly, and then said, “I didn't expect you to know the reason?”

“It's just that I have seen the performance and made some guesses.” Tang San denied that he had found absolute evidence. After all, he had only seen the existence of the undying true spirit, and he didn't know its specific nature and situation, so he couldn't make a decision rashly.

“Too rigorous.” Eternal Lord sighed.

“Only in this way will inspiration be endless, and cultivation will not encounter bottlenecks.” Tang San had a different view, “In my eyes, the cultivation before level 100, whether it is Spiritual Power, Qi and Blood, or Soul Power, is just accumulating the amount to make oneself transform.”

“While insignificant, it is also the most important foundation.”

“It's quite contradictory.”

Eternal Lord smiled: “There are many contradictory things in the World... It seems that we have a lot in common.”

471: austin griffin rivalry

Chapter 471: The Clash Between Austin Griffin

“Let’s fight, stop talking.” Austin Griffin grew impatient and urged, “I can’t wait to smash this little girl in front of me to pieces.”

After the Haotian Hammer was released, the Eternal Lord smiled slightly and said, “Long time no see, my other half... Well, I’m not the original one, and neither are you. Our relationship is truly like the rumors say, we are twins.”

Crack, crack!

The Nine Haos pattern on the hammerhead of the Haotian Hammer lit up, and the phantom of the Nine Haos enveloped the hammerhead, sneering, “Eternal Lord, this day next year will be your death anniversary!”

“Seeing you, I really have a wonderful feeling...” The Eternal Lord showed a hint of nostalgia.

“I’m going to kick your ass hard today!” Austin Griffin said fiercely.

“You look as cute as ever!”

“Just wait, I’m going to blow up your chrysanthemum too!”

“.....”

Tang San felt himself caught between the two, listening to them talk past each other, one wanting to kill the other, the other reminiscing about the past, not knowing how they ended up talking together.

“Enough!” Austin Griffin interrupted the conversation, shouting, “You can keep reminiscing about the past, but that’s just trying to carve a boat to find a sword in the long river of time.”

“You’ve learned a new idiom.” The Eternal Lord still smiled, “I also learned some new idioms from Xu Huang, and I have a question: You say I am reminiscing about the past, so when you stand opposite me, are you looking to the future?”

“You, who represent Destruction, are actually looking to the future... That’s truly incredible. Speaking of looking to the future, is it perhaps just craving plums to quench thirst?”

Their discussion, which started with memories and insults, drifted into philosophical content about thoughts on the past and the future.

One could only say, they truly were the twins of Creation and Destruction.

Buzz—

Suddenly, on the Wheel of Time in the Eternal Lord’s hand, the horizontal wheel representing space instantly expanded, covering the entire platform.

The space enveloped by the aura felt as if it was filled with sand, making Tang San feel as if he had been subjected to a body-fixing spell, making it extremely difficult to move even slightly.

And to break free from this body-fixing spell, Tang San currently thought of two methods.

First, possess the power to pry open the entire space.

Second, have a higher degree of control over the power of space than the Eternal Lord.

“By the way, isn’t it a bit underhanded for you to suddenly attack? As the dignified Eternal Lord, the Creator God, even if it’s just a wisp of divine soul, you should be a bit more magnanimous, right?” Tang San controlled the cells around his body to vibrate, forming invisible ripples of vibration one after another, constantly influencing the surrounding power of space, allowing his body to move freely within it.

Using the vibration, Tang San treated this space filled with “sand” as water that he could leverage, then simulated the soul power flow route used by the Iron Tooth Fish when swimming in the Desert sea, and then covered his body with a layer of spatial power, making himself a fish that could swim freely in this space.

The power to pry open space, and a higher control over the power of space than the Eternal Lord, these two points, Tang San could not achieve at the moment, but who said there were only these two methods?

Just like the Iron Tooth Fish that Guang Ling obtained as his first soul ring, it itself did not have the power to pry open the entire Desert, and its control over the Desert sea was almost zero, but it was able to roam freely within the Desert.

Tang San was merely doing the simplest imitation at this moment.

“When you stepped in here, the final assessment had already begun.” Seeing Tang San swim like a fish within the space He had confined, the Eternal Lord’s eyes, bright as stars, became even more brilliant, and He explained, “However, you are very powerful. You are actually able to move within my spatial confinement, and you even ‘flew’. You should know that my spatial confinement is not just fixing your body, but confining the entire space, which is equivalent to burying you alive.”

“But you are actually unaffected... Is it through the vibration of your body and the slight control of the power of space, treating this place as your swimming pool?”

“What a wonderful idea.”

As a wisp of the Creator God’s divine soul, the Eternal Lord’s knowledge was not poor, and the move Tang San performed was not some mysterious and unpredictable ability, but the simplest—

Swimming.

It was just that ordinary fish swam in water, while Tang San swam in space.

It sounded easy, but in actual operation, if one did not have meticulous control over one's physical body, energy, and spirit, it would be impossible to be as relaxed and free as Tang San.

“Observe everything in nature, and you will find that it is not you who created everything in the world, but everything in the world that created you.” Tang San's legs gently swayed, swimming freely in this space, as if he didn't take this assessment to heart at all, but was enjoying the feeling of roaming in space.

“Being able to say such words proves that the height you stand at is already no less than mine.” The Eternal Lord nodded slightly, His slender jade fingers forming a lotus shape, and the vertical wheel of space began to rotate, stirring up layers of ripples throughout the entire space, and then, truly like water, it was stirred into a vortex.

And at the moment the vortex formed, Tang San also noticed the “vacuum zone” at the edge of the spatial vortex, meaning the power of space was condensed within that vortex.

Taking this opportunity, Tang San leaped out of the spatial ripples, released the Blue Silver Emperor, constructed a curved surfboard, attached a layer of spatial power underneath, and then extended two Blue Silver Emperor leaves, tying them to the outer spatial horizontal wheel.

Pulled hard!

In an instant, the Blue Silver Emperor leaves shortened, and Tang San stepped on the Blue Silver surfboard, leaving the area around the vortex, constantly approaching the spatial horizontal wheel.

Originally, within the spatial Domain of the spatial horizontal wheel, the space within was infinitely large and infinitely small, and layered upon layer, it was almost impossible for Tang San to reach the edge.

But at this time, the Domain within it had a vacuum zone of spatial power due to the vortex, which happened to give Tang San an opportunity, which he seized, and broke out in one fell swoop.

Tang San, who was sliding in the spatial vortex on the Blue Silver surfboard, had now leaped up and stood steadily on the spatial horizontal wheel, smiling at the Eternal Lord, “It seems that even the Eternal Lord cannot truly control space.”

“This is something that cannot be helped, after all, everything in the world, it is not that you can control everything by controlling the corresponding laws, otherwise the entire universe could be controlled, and how could my predecessor collapse because of Creation?” Facing Tang San’s teasing, the Eternal Lord was not angry, after all, this was a fact.

Moreover, just now He could have stopped Tang San, but because He wanted to see how he would escape, He did not act.

It must be said, Tang San’s whimsical ideas greatly interested Him.

472: The first step in the way time works: making matter and energy

“This spatial ring is quite sturdy,” Tang San said, stepping on the spatial ring beneath his feet and sensing the stable spatial force contained within it. He praised, “I’m afraid it can’t be destroyed without the power to shatter stars, right? However, you don’t seem to be good at close combat?”

“Indeed, I’m not,” the Eternal Lord admitted. “If we divide it into physical attack and magic attack, my magic attack is one hundred, while my physical attack is a bit lower, only ninety-nine.”

Tang San: “.....”

“This is not a joke.” The Eternal Lord saw Tang San’s seemingly pained expression and chuckled, covering her mouth. “After all, without the blessing of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, my physical combat ability truly is only ninety-nine. And, on that point, I’m really not as good as you. Besides, am I dressed like this now for a convenient fight?”

Saying that, the Eternal Lord raised her hand and tugged at the skirt behind her, then continued, “If it’s to deal with beings weaker than me, dressed like this, I can still punch them to death. But facing you, even wearing the Eternal and Creation Armor would be useless. Not to mention, we are currently in the Eternal Domain. Even if I can freely borrow the power of the god seal throne, I cannot unleash its full might... Therefore, it’s better to focus on magic attack.”

“This is not looking down on you, but rather, this is all I can do right now.”

“Otherwise, Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel wouldn’t need to contribute their power to me.”

Tang San understood this, but only asked, “So, is this still an assessment?”

“Of course,” the Eternal Lord’s smile remained serene. “The so-called defeating me also includes gaining my recognition, or me voluntarily admitting defeat.”

The Creator God naturally had her own pride.

But she was not a fool. If they really fought, all the living beings in the entire Eternal Domain might be destroyed because of their battle.

That would be more loss than gain.

“You have passed the test of space. Next, it will be the test of time.”

As soon as she finished speaking.

The vertical wheel representing time in the Eternal Lord’s hand began to rotate counter-clockwise. Tang San noticed his physical body beginning to shrink... This situation was the same as what he experienced in the Life and Death Arena!

However, back then, Tang San was powerless to resist and didn’t even know how that force acted upon him.

But now, Tang San realized that the so-called power of time was not some true matter or energy, but rather a conceptual ability that influenced and distorted the mind.

Unlike the illusions of mental force, this power of time, while acting on a person’s mind, also affected the physical body, causing it to become energy. The stability of energy is far inferior to tangible matter, making it more easily changed by the mind.

At such a time, as long as one has the thought “I’ve turned back into a six-year-old” in their mind, no matter how this thought arises, whether it’s an external illusion or an internal conception, as long as this thought exists, then the energized physical body will truly revert to a six-year-old state, and then the energized body will transform back into a body of flesh and blood.

This was the truth!

The so-called time ability means accelerating the movement speed of matter and energy in space. When applied to the physical body, it makes the basic matter composing the body completely energized, and then applies a certain illusion, causing a person's thoughts to produce a delusion, which then affects the energy composing the body, causing it to regress to six years old.

Similarly, this ability can also turn a person into a decaying old man.

To control time means to control the transformation between matter and energy, which is equivalent to controlling a truth close to the universe...

Probably not!

Tang San denied this conjecture. Controlling an ability does not mean controlling its essence. After all, if she truly controlled a truth close to the universe, how could the Eternal Lord have fallen to this point?

Most likely, she only knows how to use it, and is only half-aware of its principles, or perhaps doesn't know them at all.

And after understanding the essence of this time ability, Tang San also understood why the rune representing time among the twelve basic soul guide runes developed by the Golden Civilization was so illusory.

Because—

Time doesn't exist at all!

Time is merely a concept defined by humans. Essentially, it works by influencing a person's mind, causing their cognition to err, and then controlling the transformation between matter and energy!

At this moment, the Eternal Lord looked at Tang San, who hadn't changed at all, and said in surprise, "Even if your lifespan is long, under the mighty power of time, you shouldn't be able to last this long! Could it be that you also control the power of time?"

"Not yet. It's just that my primordial spirit is stable and my mind is firm." Tang San gently shook his head and recited a doggerel, "First there was Creation, then there was heaven; my body existed before Creation. Born only eighteen years old, one chaos, one year."

The Eternal Lord knew that Tang San must be jesting, but for some reason, she always felt that this was not an empty boast, but rather a fact that could be achieved in the future...

"What was before Creation?"

"Self-cognition," Tang San blurted out without any hesitation.

"No wonder you are immune to the ability of time." The Eternal Lord suddenly understood. She also had some understanding of how time acted upon things, which was the most basic movement between matter and energy.

For example, if the power of time is directly applied to a fruit, it will not rot or appear to have been bitten; instead, it will directly turn into energy and disintegrate.

This was the effect obtained by the very first Creator God after performing simple experiments upon mastering the power of time.

And when the power of time acts on a person, with a little mental influence added, it can turn a middle-aged person into a vigorous youth, a lively and adorable child, or even an elderly person of advanced age.

However, for a newborn infant, this power of time is useless. It cannot turn them into a youth, young adult, middle-aged person, or elderly person; they remain a naive and ignorant infant.

At that time, the Creator God believed that infants were pure and innocent, coexisting with the power of nature, and therefore the unnatural power of time could not affect them.

But now, through Tang San's explanation, there was another possibility: infants simply do not understand the concept of time, nor do they know who they are. Therefore, even if their physical body becomes energized and is subjected to mental force influence, in their still underdeveloped brains, there are simply no concepts such as 'youth,' 'old age,' or 'decay.' Thus, the energized physical body still maintains the appearance of an infant and does not change.

The first step for time to act on an object is to energize the matter.

If this step is not completed, then subsequent operations can never proceed.....

473: My friend, please calm down.

Chapter 473 This friend, please calm down...

To manipulate time, the first step is to master the method of converting matter into energy.

The flesh of a living being is a very complex composition. The activities of each cell are independent, but they are also closely linked together.

Contrary to what one might imagine, making a person age rapidly under the influence of unnatural time abilities is simply not realistic. The division and aging of cells alone require a large amount of energy intake.

Without energy intake, one would only become a dried corpse, not aged.

Therefore, the so-called rejuvenation or becoming senile can only be achieved by first completely energizing the physical body, fixing it with the power of space to prevent energy from dissipating, and then using mental abilities to influence a person's thoughts, making them believe they have become younger or suddenly aged, and then fixing this perception, causing the energized body to transform back into flesh and blood.

Tang San estimated that even most Creator Gods would not understand the technical content involved, but that did not prevent them from using this ability.

Understanding the technology and being able to use it are two different things.

Perhaps, in this universe, once a certain realm is reached, one can naturally use the corresponding abilities without having to deliberately learn them.

However, according to Tang San's theory derived from his own cultivation that the universe itself is also cultivating, the universe's will wants to understand itself better. Therefore, for Gods, it cannot prevent their emergence, but it can use rules to bind them, making them laborers for the universe itself... It's just that the great will of the universe cannot convey its meaning directly, and the laborers below have their own ideas and are not of one mind.

This causes the entire universe to exhibit a situation of order within chaos and chaos within order...

"Your will is firm; time cannot affect you." The Eternal Lord took a deep breath, put away the Wheel of Space and the Ring of Time, and separated Easton King, Sacred Dragon, and Eternal Angel, transforming back into that "Cosmic Man" state. He directly conceded, "I won't fight anymore. You've won. Without using the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, I can't do anything to you, and part of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne has been taken away by you. Even if I borrowed it, I couldn't beat you."

"No! We must fight!" The Haotian Hammer cracked open, transforming into Nine Haos. At this time, all nine of its heads had appeared, but because Tang San had not obtained the eighth and ninth Soul Rings, its eighth and ninth heads were somewhat illusory. "How can you concede? How can you concede? You are a Creator God..."

"...a wisp of divine soul of." The Eternal Lord stretched lazily, leaving himself wide open, and said nonchalantly, "I am not the original Creator God. He is arrogant, He is noble, why must I be the same as Him?"

"And you, Austin Griffin, you are not the original you either. Although you feel like you are you in terms of memory and cognition, I want to tell you, you are not."

Austin Griffin felt like he was about to be dizzy, but he still insisted: "In any case, I must fight you... Tang San, don't agree, otherwise this time won't count."

"I can't force others if they don't want to fight." In other words, Tang San wasn't going to fight either. As for Austin Griffin's challenge not counting this time, it didn't matter. They could always compete later.

This made Austin Griffin so angry that he directly hugged the back of Tang San's head, scratching his hair constantly with his two small claws, and biting his scalp non-stop with his nine heads, but he couldn't hurt Tang San at all.

After all, Nine Haos is the Haotian Hammer, Tang San's own Martial Soul. Even if it had the heart to "devour its master," it couldn't succeed.

On the other hand, the twelve-section jadeite tied to the back of Tang San's head was trembling with fear—after more than a hundred years in the Eternal Domain, it had also gained great benefits and had evolved into a completely new form under Tang San's passive influence.

Unfortunately, facing a God of Destruction like Austin Griffin, it was still not enough. It could only try to remain still, lest it be swallowed by the other party in one bite.

However, at this time, Austin Griffin was just venting his temper and didn't really want to engage in "internal strife" with Tang San.

After all, the Eternal Lord admitting defeat to Tang San could be considered as admitting defeat to Him, but He hadn't engaged in a real fight with the other party, so he was just a little dissatisfied.

"Alright, stop it. We'll have a chance to fight again in the future." Tang San took Austin Griffin off the back of his head, stroked his little head, making him squint his eyes comfortably.

Afterwards, Austin Griffin realized that the Eternal Lord was watching, and his Destruction consciousness immediately hid back into the body of Nine Haos. The ninth illusory head disappeared, leaving only the eighth illusory head, while the remaining seven heads returned to their independent wills.

Logically speaking, the wills of the nine heads of Nine Haos jointly formed Austin Griffin's consciousness, except that the ninth Destruction head was the main consciousness, and the others were sub-consciousnesses.

This also meant that Austin Griffin was actually a natural multiple personality patient!

The seven heads, as well as the eighth head that was illusory to the point of solidifying, rubbed against Tang San's head affectionately, as if enjoying being held in Tang San's arms.

Seeing this scene, the Eternal Lord smiled knowingly, but a strange look also appeared on his face like colored glaze.

No matter what, Austin Griffin, like Him, was also a part of the original Creator God. Seeing the other party being kept as a pet, he always felt a little subtle.

Especially his previous master: Dragon Hao Chen. If he was still alive and still looking for his Bright Moon, he wondered what he would think if he found that his Bright Moon had become someone else's Nine Haos.

In some ways, that guy is also very stubborn...

After Tang San retracted the Haotian Hammer into his body, the Eternal Lord led Tang San to the center of the platform where the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne was located and said, "Sit on it, junior, and then use your Blue Silver Emperor to refine it. This seat is the true core of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne."

"Others only have the right to use it. Only you, who also possess the power of Creation, can refine it into something that belongs to you."

"After that, I will also belong to you."

Tang San was stunned for a moment and asked, "Why does what you're saying sound so strange?"

It felt like the other party was going to dedicate himself to him.

"This is a necessary measure—"

The Eternal Lord's eyes fluttered, stating his reasons, "After all, you don't want the God Realm to know that you possess the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, do you?"

Tang San: "...I think you, cough, should calm down. Although I'm horny, I won't do that kind of thing with someone without an emotional foundation, unless I'm forced to, but you don't seem to be able to force me."

474: The right choice?

Tang San's righteous words were tinged with a hint of anticipation, making the Eternal Lord suddenly realize that humans were truly a multifaceted race.

He himself—or rather, his previous incarnation, his past Life—was also human, but with all of his memories, he ultimately hadn't truly experienced the diversity of humanity.

Choosing Tang San—

That's right.

"You're overthinking it; it's not self-sacrifice."

"Oh, it's not?" Tang San showed a look of disappointment.

What are you disappointed about?!

The Eternal Lord secretly took a deep breath, and the starlight flowing on his body also flickered. It took a while for him to calm down, and he said, "After you truly refine the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, I will temporarily suppress it. Only after you obtain your eighth spirit ring will it truly merge with your Blue Silver Emperor and become your ninth spirit ring."

Tang San wasn't particularly curious about the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne being able to transform into a spirit ring. After all, it was a super divine tool, and a diverse set of abilities wasn't unacceptable.

It's just, why would it become a spirit ring?

"Naturally, it's to allow it to truly merge with your Spirit."

The Eternal Lord answered his doubts, "The six eternal stars formed from the Eternal and Creation Sword have already merged with your Blue Silver Emperor. The main body of this Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne naturally needs to do the same. Moreover, once completely merged, it will forever belong to you, and the spirit ring rules of Douluo Continent can be used in any plane."

"Just as you said, we don't understand the technology, but we can use it."

"The Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne is a treasure conceived autonomously by the universe; it is itself one of the rules of the universe, transcending all other rules."

Tang San pondered, then finally nodded, realizing, "So that's what you meant by 'following' before—sacrificing yourself along with the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne to me."

"After all, I am now the tool Spirit of this Eternal and Creation Throne," the Eternal Lord said rather shamelessly. "Under the rules of Douluo Continent, any non-human extraordinary creature can be recognized as a Spirit Beast, and upon death, it can drop a spirit ring. By temporarily suppressing the rules of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, allowing it to adapt to the rules of this plane and transform into a spirit ring, merging with your Blue Silver Emperor will be incredibly easy."

"At that time, the aura of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne can be completely concealed. Even if the Divinity of the God Realm notice you, they will only think you are imitating."

"After all, you yourself once controlled the power of Creation, and the battle with Xu Huang, who controlled the Throne, was witnessed by those Divinity. It will be easy to explain... They won't make things too difficult for a talented potential colleague."

Tang San sat on the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne. The six eternal stars around the luminous pearl of the Blue Silver Emperor appeared and submerged into the backrest of the Throne.

Immediately, the ancient Throne erupted with holy light, revealing its true form.

Its originally dark exterior transformed into a luminous white, like sculpted white jade, emitting a magnificent nine-colored light around its body. When it shimmered, it showed no disorder, gradually forming circles of light wheels behind the Throne, reflecting each other.

There were intricate bas-reliefs on the backrest: the sun, moon, and stars at the top; birds and beasts in the middle section; and natural landscapes where it connected to the seat, giving an unparalleled beauty that connected the upper and lower parts.

At the armrests of the seat were sculptures of Sacred Dragon and a twelve-winged Eternal Angel, respectively.

As for Easton King...

He was not there.

Easton King: "....." Am I not worthy?

However, after the control of the Eternal and Creation Throne truly belonged to Tang San, the sculptures of the Sacred Dragon and Eternal Angel slowly dissipated, turning into nothingness.

The Eternal Lord said, "The power of Nature, the power of Living Beings, and the power of Stars are the core divine force inherent in the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne. Now that you are the master here, the God Position formed by these three naturally belongs to you and can be provided to your followers."

Tang San frowned slightly and asked, "What will happen to the three of them?"

"They are followers of the Creator God. Losing their God Position, they naturally cannot live forever," the Eternal Lord sighed, but showed no regret. Perhaps it was because he was not the same as the original Creator God; even with memories, he didn't have much emotion towards them.

"However, fortunately, they have already reached the divine level. With future effort, they might be able to condense a God Position that truly belongs to them..."

Although he said that, the Eternal Lord had no expectations for these three. After all, if they could condense a God Position themselves, they wouldn't have to stay in this Eternal Domain, waiting to die.

"Is that so? That's fine too. After all, the lifespan of a Divinity is quite long." Tang San nodded slightly. After all, these three would still live in this Eternal Domain in the future. Although the energy here was slightly inferior to the Immortal Spiritual Energy of the God Realm, it was enough for them to live until the end of time.

When the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne was completely refined by Tang San, thirteen eternal stars successively burst forth with brilliant light, suspended around the luminous pearl atop the Blue Silver Emperor, like petals supporting the pearl, enshrining the pearl in the center like stars surrounding the moon.

Thirteen streams of energy shot out from it, forming a massive ring with a diameter exceeding a thousand meters, like a flowing galaxy, converging into a circle and enveloping the Blue Silver Emperor.

Its immense energy also caused Tang San's first seven spirit rings to appear at that instant, constantly evolving, until each spirit ring reached the million-year level!

Wu Lin, Wu Tong, Ling Yun, A Lan, as well as Heaven Dream, Heaven Dream, Ice Jade Emperor Scorpion, and others, all continuously elevated their cultivation at this moment, reaching the divine level.

Furthermore, Tang San could even sense that this brilliant spirit ring, like a swirling galaxy, had not yet truly formed and was in a relatively illusory state.

Clearly, the Eternal Lord had suppressed the energy, preventing it from being truly absorbed by Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor, requiring him to obtain his eighth spirit ring first.

In reality, with the Eternal Lord's ability, condensing a spirit ring was not difficult, but considering Tang San might have his own plans, he did not prepare one for him.

"It seems the fusion was very successful. Your Blue Silver Emperor has rich Life force and can draw upon the power of the earth and the light of the sun, moon, and stars, which complements the attributes of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne very well. Even without this Throne, in the distant future, it could become a super divine tool-level existence," the Eternal Lord said with emotion. "Following you is perhaps the most correct choice."

At this moment, Tang San had already felt the enhancement brought by this Eternal and Creation spirit ring and couldn't help but beam with joy, but he still suppressed his excitement and solemnly said to the Eternal Lord, "The correct choice? That's not necessarily true. Until the very last moment, who dares to say they are correct?"

475: Ninety-seventh level soul power

After obtaining the starry sky soul ring condensed by the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, Tang San gained control over everything within the Eternal Domain, allowing him to appear anywhere within the Eternal Domain at will.

Moreover, unlike the Starry Sky World, this Eternal Domain is a real material plane, capable of housing tens of billions of intelligent beings, but compared to planet-like Worlds, it is still slightly inferior and not very stable.

That is to say, once such a plane enters the real cosmic void, it will be affected by various spatiotemporal energies within the universe, thus shattering and dissipating.

Much like the spatiotemporal turbulence and spatiotemporal black holes encountered by the God Realm in the Douluo Series, that kind of disaster can have a huge impact on an energy World like the God Realm, but it cannot shake a material planet World.

However, at the moment the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne integrated with the Blue Silver Emperor, this real plane also began to border the Starry Sky World and will eventually be enveloped by the Starry Sky World, becoming a real plane within the Starry Sky World.

This is also the only real plane within the Starry Sky World at present.

Secondly, there is the Spirit Beast Illusion Space.

Afterward, Tang San went to Dragon God Island and found that Xiao Lang Ren had become the new faith of the beastmen.

Xiao Lang Ren defeated the Sacred Dragon, so he naturally became the object of worship for the beastmen, although Xiao Lang Ren attributed all the credit to his teacher, the beastmen did not know Tang San.

There were also some beastmen who realized something and took Xiao Lang Ren as an object to pursue, hoping to replicate Xiao Lang Ren's miracle.

And Xiao Lang Ren himself was not stingy, establishing a martial arts academy, recruiting students, teaching the method of vibration, and then researching together.

“You're doing great, Griffinel.” Tang San's figure quietly appeared beside Xiao Lang Ren, waving to him, “You haven't been blinded by faith.”

“Teacher!” Xiao Lang Ren was excited but immediately adjusted his posture, coughed twice, and said solemnly, “After all, I am your disciple. Faith and such, whether active or not, doesn't matter... Speaking of which, Teacher, I've recently felt that the Eternal Domain has changed, as if it has come into contact with another World, but I cannot enter it myself, as if my body would disintegrate once I enter.”

“That is the Starry Sky World, the illusory World within my martial soul. There is still a long way to go before it evolves into a World like the Eternal Domain...” Tang San described the situation of the Starry Sky World, then said to Xiao Lang Ren, “In the future, if you or others reach the God Realm and want to leave this World, do not directly break open space. That is no different from suicide. At that time, I will give you permission, and you can help open the passage to the real universe.”

“A plane outside the Eternal Domain?” Xiao Lang Ren's eyes showed longing.

“Don't worry, you can definitely leave, and it's easy to come back, but it's not that easy for others to come back once they leave this plane.” This was also Tang San's consideration. The power of the God Realm would indeed greatly influence the direction of civilization's development.

Existences like Xiao Lang Ren, who are not eager for the power of faith, are quite good, but the self-awareness of others is not necessarily so.

Although faith is free, if those God Realm powerhouses frequently “manifest,” it will obviously affect the judgment of beings below the God Realm. Therefore, it is necessary to throw out those God Realm powerhouses who go too far from the Eternal Domain, letting them explore and adventure in the real cosmic void themselves.

If you ask what qualifications Tang San has to do this?

The answer is simple: Now, he is the master of the Eternal and Creation Throne and the ruler of the Eternal Domain. Everything here is up to him. If he wants, he can throw out all the beings within it, letting them leave this near-utopian World, reconnect with the outside World, communicate with other races, and thus gain true growth!

Even, Tang San was quite tempted by the latter idea, after all, only through mutual communication between races can they continuously progress.

However, considering the degree of humanized acceptance, Tang San planned to take it slowly. After all, independence is not something that can be achieved overnight. Throwing them out directly is no different from killing them.

Immediately after, Tang San moved his fingers, and the surrounding space was distorted. Meng Meng and Nian Nian emerged from the spatial fluctuations.

They had been at the Eternal Angel's residence before, more than ten thousand miles away from Dragon God Island!

But now they appeared before Tang San in an instant.

The reason is simple. Tang San, who controls the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, is the true god here, and the Eternal Domain is part of his Domain.

As long as he wants, any being, any thing within the Eternal Domain can appear before him.

Even, as long as he can figure out the specific structure of a being or an object, he can use the energy and matter he controls to create it at will.

Of course, this is limited to within the Eternal Domain.

“Lord Tang San, have you become the Creator God?” The worship in Meng Meng's eyes almost overflowed. She wished she could pounce on him and inhale that sacred aura.

Nian Nian was the same, wanting to bask in the noble aura of the Creator God.

These two elf have followed Tang San for nearly a hundred years. Counting it, they have been with him longer than Xiao Wu and the others, but there has been no relationship between Tang San and the two of them.

Although he himself is not married, he has at least established a boyfriend-girlfriend relationship with Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, and Huo Wu. To take these two, he at least needs to let them know, get their consent and understanding, otherwise he would feel bad.

That time with Bibi Dong was an exception, he was forced!

“I haven't broken through to the God Realm yet, but I do control this place.” Tang San explained his situation, then asked, “Are you willing to come with me to see the Douluo Continent?”

Meng Meng was very much looking forward to it: “The Douluo Continent? I've often heard you talk about it. There are God Realm's martial souls there. I've wanted to see it for a long time.”

Nian Nian was a little worried and asked, “The rules of the Douluo Continent are different from the Eternal Domain, right? Will our cultivation become a problem after we go out?”

“Others might have this problem, but you won't.” Tang San indicated that they didn't need to worry. The Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne can disregard the rules of planes. As long as he injects a trace of the Throne's aura into each of them, they will be able to disregard the rules of the Douluo Continent.

And Tang San himself was no longer bound by the rules of the Douluo Continent at this time. His soul power reached level ninety-seven, but he had not obtained the eighth soul ring. He had obtained the ninth soul ring in advance, but because the eighth soul ring had not been found, the ninth soul ring had not been truly fixed.

With the arrogance of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne and the Eternal Lord, how could they be willing to condescend to the eighth soul ring?

Therefore, after going out, Tang San's first thought was to obtain his eighth soul ring.

Although with the power of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, condensing a soul ring is nothing, Tang San had other plans – in Phoenix City, that Feng Wu Tong is still waiting for him to receive her...

476: The little werewolf can't break through

The flow of time in the Eternal Domain is different from that of the Douluo Continent; a myriad years inside is but an instant outside.

Therefore, when Tang San emerged, the Soul Martial Manor remained unchanged. Xiao Wu and the others were still at their respective posts, working and researching, and had not yet returned.

The moment Xiao Lang Ren, Meng Meng, and Nian Nian stepped into the Douluo plane, the first thing they sensed was that the World's energy here was somewhat sparse.

Although the entire Spirit Hall City had the blessing of the Blue Silver Emperor, coupled with Lan Yinzi's Blue Silver Emperor assisting in researching formations and gathering spiritual energy, compared to the Eternal Domain, there was still a significant gap.

Subsequently, Xiao Lang Ren discovered that he seemed to be targeted by the World rules of this plane, sealing off the divine part of his power. Only then did the invisible oppressive feeling dissipate.

"Teacher, what's going on?" Xiao Lang Ren asked, puzzled.

"This World had a rule added by the previous Dragon God that was extremely selfish: Before the new Dragon God appears, no other beast species are allowed to become gods," Tang San revealed the truth. "You should be glad that the rules of this World did not identify you as a soul beast. Otherwise, if something unexpected happened to you, you would even lose your soul rings."

This was the "damn" part of the Douluo Continent's rules.

It was also because Xiao Lang Ren was a race born with intelligence, similar to humans, and could be considered a branch of humanity. Otherwise, he would definitely have been identified as a soul beast by the rules of this World.

Speaking of which, in the original work, those Wolf Thieves didn't drop soul rings after death... It's probably because they were the prototype race of the native Beastmen on the Douluo Continent.

It's just a pity that due to environmental factors and the influence of their own soul beast bloodline, Wolf Thieves were naturally bloodthirsty and basically couldn't form a civilization...

"Dragon God?" After learning that the Sacred Dragons on Dragon God Island were collecting faith power, Xiao Lang Ren had no good feelings towards the Dragon Clan. He didn't expect the Dragon Clan in this World to be so excessive, even cutting off the hope for other beast races to break through—

Truly detestable!

However, Xiao Lang Ren wouldn't empathize too much with soul beasts. After all, he was a Beastman, not a soul beast. He just didn't like the actions of the Dragon God.

"Don't even think about looking for the Dragon God. He's already dead. There might be remnants of his divine soul, but the main body was divided into two parts, one of which has already..."

Before he could finish speaking, half of the Dragon God, Gu Yuena, found her way over. Her small nose twitched, and she said, "I smell unfamiliar auras. Two Elves similar to Luo Qiu, and... a wolf walking upright? A Wolf Thief?"

Gu Yuena naturally understood Wolf Thieves. They were a species of half-human, half-soul beast produced by the reproduction between wolf soul beasts with Dragon Clan bloodline and human females.

They were not human—they had intelligence, but not much, and were inherently bloodthirsty.

They were also not soul beasts—they wouldn't drop soul rings after death.

But the "Wolf Thief" in front of her seemed a little different. Not only was his strength unreasonably strong, reaching the divine level but being suppressed at level ninety-nine, but his pair of green, glowing eyes were also very lively. One look told you he was full of intelligence, his bloodline pure, not a creature produced by hybridization.

"Don't be so impolite. He is my disciple, Peter Jack Trask Griffin," Tang San introduced. "He comes from a plane called the Eternal Domain, is from the Beastman race, a lineage of the Shouting Moon Wolf King. His strength has already reached the divine level... He is not a soul beast, but upon arriving in this plane, he was still restricted by the Dragon God's rules."

Gu Yuena was a little embarrassed. After all, who was to blame that the Dragon God was her "previous life" and "father god"?

Calculating this way, if the other party had to suppress his strength, she would have to take the blame.

However, within the Dragon God's rules, as long as it wasn't a human in the complete sense, even the Beastman race was counted as a beast species?

And this guy's bloodline was truly very pure...

Wait!

Eternal Domain?

"I didn't notice just now, but your soul power has now reached level ninety-seven!?" Gu Yuena examined Tang San, her slightly open small mouth large enough to fit an egg. "Did you obtain that complete divine artifact?"

"Uh-huh," Tang San stroked Gu Yuena's head, briefly described the situation in the Eternal Domain, and then said, "With me making a move, it was naturally a piece of cake."

"Oh, roar!" Gu Yuena's eyes emitted silver-white light, her expression excited. If her main body could enter the Eternal Domain, she could definitely recover to her peak state very quickly.

Furthermore, besides this Xiao Lang Ren, there were three other divine-level powerhouses, a divine sense left behind by a Creator God-level being: the Eternal Lord. Adding Tang San's own Blue Silver Emperor and Starry Sky World, establishing their own God Realm in the future was just a matter of time, and they didn't need to bother with the God Realm at all.

Given her relationship with Tang San, asking for a bit of help in the future wouldn't be agreed to in minutes?

Limitless prospects!

"Don't get excited, take it slow," Tang San, who knew what Gu Yuena was thinking, sighed inwardly. The God Realm was not that easy to deal with. Their opponents were not just the Five Great God-Kings, but the entire God Realm's first-level main gods, second-level gods, third-level gods, and divine officials.

Among them, some might not follow orders, but this part of the God Realm definitely accounted for a very small portion, and they naturally stood on the same front as the Five Great God-Kings.

Although the Goddess of Life had taken Tang San as her godson, and the God of Destruction might also have good intentions towards him, Tang San knew that in the future, as long as he didn't go to the God Realm, it would be equivalent to challenging their authority. Unless he showed a crushing attitude, he could only develop cautiously and then proceed slowly.

Of course, the God Realm was boring, and some gods were thinking of passing on their divine positions and then exploring the wider universe. Perhaps they could find a way to make them switch sides.

As for politics, as that teacher said so well: Make many friends and few enemies.

"Lure a part, strike a part, eliminate a part, is this the key to development?" Gu Yuena also understood quite a bit about these matters. After all, the Spirit Hall's development over the past few years had been done this way. Could the same measures be applied to the gods of the God Realm?

Tang San indicated: Naturally, they could.

After all, some gods in the God Realm were always thinking of passing on their divine positions. Didn't this mean the God Realm was boring?

The most classic example was the Sea God.

He became a god locally on the Douluo Continent, becoming a god a thousand years ago.

Calculating based on the time ratio of one day in the God Realm being one year in the mortal World, he had only stayed in the God Realm for about a thousand days, rounded up to just over three years.

Yet, he couldn't stand the God Realm and wanted to leave.

Perhaps he realized the shortcomings of faith power, but there was no doubt that even if the God Realm didn't lack various resources, there was very little enjoyment in terms of spiritual aspects.

From the fact that [those two Supreme God Kings could find amusement in Ji Dong and Lie Yan for a gamble], it could be seen that the spiritual enjoyment of those two God-Kings was also close to zero.

Mere love, yet it required a gamble to verify... They could have completely understood it by finding humans who inherited divine positions, condensed divine positions, and thus ascended to the God Realm. Instead, they insisted on tormenting a couple, even calling it a test.

Putting aside other reasons, with two such Supreme God Kings, any god who ascended from the lower realm would not be able to work in peace.

After all, if these two Supreme God Kings dared to find amusement in the love between a mortal and a god today, they might dare to find amusement in two gods tomorrow. Who would want to stay in such a place?

477: Respect is mutual

“It’s just time, I can wait.” Gu Yuena realized the key point and didn’t care at all. After all, before coming to human society, she had no concept of time.

A thousand years is but an instant, ten thousand years but a moment.

For her true form, time was spent in slumber, there was no need to rush at all.

And what about her?

Although she had grown accustomed to the “fast pace” of humans, she still possessed a calm heart, able to settle down and not be impatient, for no matter what, she had inherited the rationality of the dragon god.

“Speaking of which, what’s with these two elves? Your new mates?” Gu Yuena asked about Meng Meng and Nian Nian, her flippant tone carrying a hint of mockery, jealousy, helplessness, and a sliver of almost undetectable envy. “You really can’t control your lower body, can you? How many is this now? Should I call you: God of War of the Lower Body?”

Facing Gu Yuena, who was staring with wide eyes as if demanding an explanation, Tang San said unhurriedly, “God of War of the Lower Body is a bit much. I’m far worse than those princes and nobles. Moreover, I treat every relationship very seriously, and I don’t keep my female companions as canaries. It’s mutual respect and understanding.”

“Tch~” Gu Yuena said stubbornly, “You’re clearly so unfaithful, I really don’t know why they all understand you... Forget it, I’m too lazy to bother with you. When you have time, take me to the Eternal Domain to have a look.”

If the Eternal Domain was truly good, then at worst, she could find a way to persuade Tang San to migrate the entire soul beast race into it. That way, they would no longer be affected by the rules of this plane.

The responsibility of being hailed as the co-ruler is truly heavy.

“Teacher, then I’ll return to the Eternal Domain first.” Xiao Lang Ren decided to go back. After all, the laws here really suppressed him uncomfortably. If he were to unseal himself, it would also attract the attention of the God Realm on this plane, and might even cause trouble for the other party. It was better to return to Dragon God Island and slowly establish and develop the martial dao path for the beastmen.

“Alright.”

Tang San nodded, sent Xiao Lang Ren back to Dragon God Island, and gave him the permission to freely enter and exit the Eternal Domain, as well as access to the Blue Silver Network.

As for Meng Meng and Nian Nian, they weren’t angry about Gu Yuena calling them Tang San’s mates. On the contrary, they were quite happy, as this was a form of recognition to some extent.

When Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, and Huo Wu returned, they were happy for Tang San upon learning that he had gained great benefits, but were also speechless about him suddenly bringing back two elves. They all criticized his “lecherousness,” “inability to control his lower body,” and the like.

However, after learning that Meng Meng and Nian Nian had accompanied Tang San for nearly a hundred years in the Eternal Domain, and that Tang San had not overstepped, the four women were able to understand, but they still unceremoniously criticized Tang San for being insensitive.

Because of this, that night, the four women decided to bring Meng Meng and Nian Nian along to “punish” Tang San.

Unfortunately, dreams are beautiful, but reality is harsh. Tang San, whose cultivation was not bound by the rules of the continent, had already reached level ninety-seven, his physical universe was growing stronger, and his primordial spirit was even more condensed. Instead, he imprinted his mark on Meng Meng and Nian Nian, the two newly joined elves...

...

The next day, before dawn.

Tang San was with the women. Although it was the first time for Meng Meng and Nian Nian, they weren't very shy. Instead, they kept sticking to Tang San, after all, the joy of last night was a wonderful experience they had never had before.

So, everyone started another "morning exercise"...

However, when the morning sun rose, everyone still got up on time. After washing up, they began the real morning exercise. Tang San also taught his ultimate skills to Meng Meng and Nian Nian, and personally provided one-on-one guidance, as some of the meridians in the elf body were different from those of humans and needed to be modified.

The strength of Meng Meng and Nian Nian had also improved significantly during their hundred years following Tang San. In this Douluo Continent, they had reached the level of ninety-nine.

Therefore, the two of them couldn't learn all the cultivation techniques. They mainly sorted out their existing cultivation according to similar methods based on their own circumstances, and finally created the cultivation techniques that were most suitable for them.

Speaking of this, one has to mention mystic heaven skill. This is truly a divine technique. It is upright and peaceful. Not only is the cultivation speed extremely fast, but as long as one has a certain understanding of the body's meridians, they can modify and change it according to their respective circumstances.

Dao gives birth to one, one gives birth to two, two gives birth to three, and three gives birth to all things.

From the perspective of cultivation techniques, mystic heaven skill is that “one.” When cultivated by different people, it evolves into different cultivation techniques.

Xiao Wu, focused on the physical body, excelling in control; Guang Ling, focused on the control of elemental power; Ning Rongrong, multitasking, focused on the dispersion and control of soul power; Huo Wu, focused on the explosion and traction of energy.

They all walked their own paths.

And Meng Meng and Nian Nian, as members of the Elf race, their future direction will inevitably be to strengthen their understanding of the power of nature and the power of Life, in order to ultimately control these two in the future.

Because of this, a thought in Tang San’s heart became increasingly firm: when the time is right in the future, and the Blue Silver Network spreads throughout the entire Douluo Star, he can spread mystic heaven skill for everyone to cultivate—different people, different races, cultivating mystic heaven skill, and continuously improving it. He can use the Blue Silver Network and the computing power of the Heavenly Dao to record all their modifications and evolutions of mystic heaven skill, thereby continuously strengthening his Creation and Destruction True Scripture.

Moreover, not only mystic heaven skill, but also the basic chapters such as Jade Bone Technique, Purple Demon Eyes, Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track, and controlling crane capturing dragon can also be spread. Even as the research on related cultivation techniques deepens in the future and Douluo Star progresses, the current versions of the Creation and Destruction True Scripture, Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure, and Cosmic Meditation that he is currently cultivating can also be spread.

After all, by that time, he will definitely be cultivating cultivation techniques that are dozens of versions ahead.

After breakfast, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Rongrong, and Huo Wu each went to pursue their careers and hobbies, while Meng Meng and Nian Nian were introduced by Tang San to the city lord's mansion of Min Shi Liang Du, where they became master grain breeders.

Natural elves, doing this kind of thing is most suitable, and they both quite like it.

This is naturally for Tang San to cultivate the independent consciousness of the two women... He comes from an advanced era, and women cannot become his dependents. Love does not mean that one party can unconditionally accommodate the other. Respect is mutual, and only then can emotions last for a long time in the long passage of time, and not become distorted.

At least, in Tang San's view, the female characters in the original protagonist group were all dependents of the male characters, and their love for each other was just a kind of twisted spiritual sustenance or something. Especially the protagonist of Dou 5, who committed suicide for the sake of love, and was even a god king...

Tang San does not comment on whether his heart is fragile or not.

After all, if you say he is fragile, the protagonist dared to commit suicide to find his scabbard, not fearing death; if you say he is not fragile, he acts like he wants to die after losing his scabbard.

It feels like he's gone crazy.

Objectively speaking, his thoughts and logic must be twisted to an unimaginable degree beyond ordinary people.

Perhaps it is related to the act of wrongly using the power of faith...

But Tang San does not want to become like that.

478: "Social Practice Course"

Min Shi Liang Du.

Compared to the other five outer cities, there were more food streets here, and further out were farmlands planted with various crops.

Initially, the crops in these farmlands were quite disorganized, but as Spirit Hall increased its recruitment of experienced farmers, the farmlands also became "orderly."

Things like wheat and rice growing in the same field, or corn and sorghum growing in the same plot, no longer happened. Moreover, as some Spirit Masters' plant Spirits could accelerate the evolution of grain seeds, some fruits grew larger and larger, and edible leaves became crispier and crispier.

Meng Meng and Nian Nian were seeing such a prosperous city and such vast farmlands with a fresh aura for the first time.

In Easton Forest, although the Elves also planted, they only planted trees, flowers, and some herbs, never crops like rice or corn.

After all, the naturally growing wild fruit trees in Easton Forest alone could sustain the entire Elf race.

On Dragon God Island, the Beastmen did have farmlands, but they weren't as extensive, and the grains they planted were similar to foxtail grass, with very small kernels.

Most Beastmen lived by hunting magical beasts.

As for Sky City, there's even less to say; the Winged People's innate wings contained extraordinary organs that could directly convert light into energy needed for Life activities, so they didn't need to eat, and naturally, they didn't need to plant.

"Are all the plants here cultivated?" Meng Meng exclaimed. "There are clear artificial traces, but it feels as beautiful as an environment shaped by nature. Is this what they call 'ingenious craftsmanship'?"

Nian Nian also sighed, "Humans are truly a great race."

Tang San smiled, "It's just for survival."

Afterward, Tang San led the two girls to explore Min Shi Liang Du. Whenever they saw something new, they would exclaim and shout, full of curiosity, and after learning the purpose of these new things, they would feign reserve and nod cutely.

And so, after understanding the general situation of Min Shi Liang Du, the two girls gloriously took office as Grandmasters of Grain Seed Cultivation.

Initially, the local grain seed cultivators only thought these two pointy-eared women were sent by the Holy Son to supervise and manage, after all, Economic Capital had Ning Rongrong, Medicine Dan City had Xiao Wu, Soul Guidance Technology City had Guang Ling and Huo Wu. Some people secretly spread rumors that this was the Holy Son's method of controlling the three outer cities.

Now, it was just one more Min Shi Liang Du.

As for why Fantasy Film City and Spirit City were not interfered with, it was, of course, because the Holy Son currently lacked sufficient personnel!

However, when Meng Meng and Nian Nian demonstrated their ability to accelerate plant growth, the expressions of these grain seed cultivators immediately changed—the rumors were false; the people arranged by the Holy Son truly had real talent!

And after learning some methods for researching plants, cultivating grain seeds, and screening plant varieties, Meng Meng and Nian Nian quickly immersed themselves, even catching up to those "older generation" grain seed cultivators in less than three days.

Some people were indignant, feeling that these two were here to steal their jobs, but upon learning that both had reached ninety-ninth level, they immediately quieted down, not daring to show any dissatisfaction.

After all, these two were not only Spirit Masters but had also raised their spirit power to the super Douluo level!

Among these grain cultivators, a large portion were ordinary farmers with extensive planting experience, and a small portion were older Spirit Masters from Spirit Hall, as younger Spirit Masters were not interested in cultivating grain seeds.

After these ordinary farmers came to Min Shi Liang Du, they heard a lot of inside stories and rumors about Spirit Masters, such as: Powerhouses who reached ninety-ninth level, except for Supreme Pontiff, were basically over a hundred years old, but super Douluo could maintain their youth... The age of these two beautiful pointy-eared women might even make them grandmothers to these forty or fifty-year-old farmers.

Naturally, they had to be respected!

And when they learned that Meng Meng and Nian Nian were already over 1,100 years old, their scalps went numb... This wasn't just a grandmother, but an old ancestor!

They should be placed on an altar and worshipped!

Thus, in a very short time, news spread throughout Min Shi Liang Du about two grain seed cultivation Grandmasters who were over a thousand years old.

After Hu Liena learned of Meng Meng and Nian Nian's appearances, she didn't investigate much further, as their pointy ears already proved they were from the Elf race, just like Luo Qiu.

She guessed Tang San must have obtained something from that Xu Huang.

By the way, Luo Qiu and the thirteen Moonlight Elves have now joined Spirit Hall, becoming Hu Liena's assistants, helping her handle affairs, and also being responsible for investigation work in Spirit City, sometimes even needing to go out to gather intelligence.

Who told the Moonlight Elves that they have a natural dark constitution and can perfectly merge with the night?

They are natural assassins!

“Speaking of which, there have been some disturbances in the New Heaven Dou Federation recently. Xue Beng wants to truly grasp real power, and the kings of various nations have engaged in intense discussions with him.” Hu Liena looked at the report submitted by the Spirit Hall Branch in the New Heaven Dou Federation's main city, called Luo Qiu, and said, “Send someone to investigate. I need more specific intelligence.”

“Yes, Lady Hu,” Luo Qiu said sweetly. “My compatriots have learned a lot about how to conduct themselves these past few days, and it’s a good opportunity to test them.”

Hu Liena raised an eyebrow and said, “Speak normally from now on. I’m not a man, who are you trying to seduce?”

“You have no sense of humor at all. Who says women can’t? Let me tell you, Xu Huang even had his two empresses 'grind tofu' together, you know.” Luo Qiu said seriously, “Maybe Tang San also...”

Hu Liena's face flushed crimson as she listened, stopping the other party and saying, “Don’t talk about such things. I’m not interested. Now, immediately, quickly go arrange it. Don’t make me say it a second time! Really, you’re so strong, but you have no demeanor of a powerhouse. You just love gossip.”

Luo Qiu pouted and said, “Who says powerhouses can’t gossip? Powerhouses also have emotions, okay? I’m not some cold-hearted fellow.”

Seeing Hu Liena's face darken, Luo Qiu chuckled twice and stopped talking, going down to arrange for the Night Elves to carry out their first "social practice course"—

The multi-nation conflicts and the open and covert struggles on Douluo Continent are much more interesting than those in the Sun Moon Empire... I just wonder what the reaction will be on the Sun Moon Continent when they learn that Xu Huang is dead?

Why was Luo Qiu so certain that Xu Huang was dead?

She had her own understanding of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne. Tang San being able to bring two natural Elves out of it proved that the previous owner had already lost their qualification.

Under normal circumstances, only when the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne completes its corresponding mission and departs voluntarily, or when the previous owner dies, can the current one succeed to the throne.

"Thinking about it this way, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne is quite a scumbag," a strange thought popped into Luo Qiu's mind. "And Tang San, with so many female companions, is also quite a scumbag. Does this count as finding a match?"

479: Tiandou and New Tiandou

"Hehe, my good brother, it seems he's been having conflicts with his supporters recently."

Qinghe Emperor looked at the intelligence that had been handed up, sneered twice, and casually tossed the paper aside, saying to the shadow behind him, "Thorn Blood, go investigate the detailed situation."

"Yes, Your Highness," Ci Tun Douluo's figure disappeared into the shadows.

"Next, it's time to think about how to restore my true form."

Qian Renxue had considered that if she continued to disguise herself as a man, she might need Ling Yuan from the Heaven Dou City Martial Soul Sub-Hall to cooperate in putting on a show, but since Emperor Xue Ye was already gone, there was naturally no need for any disguise.

That's right, Emperor Xue Ye was already dead.

On the very day the war ended... the message released by Qinghe Emperor was: excessive excitement, reaching the peak and then declining, and hoped that Xue Beng could come back to see his father one last time.

The goal was simple: to take the opportunity to send that "unfilial son" down as well.

Who knew that this unfilial son, Xue Beng, actually didn't come!

This made things even easier, giving Xue Qinghe a reason to send troops: The Emperor passed away, and he didn't even come to see him, even separating himself from the Heaven Dou Empire, colluding with the rebels, and forming the New Heaven Dou Federation, which is truly disloyal, unfilial, heartless, and unjust!

After this news spread, the entire Heaven Dou territory criticized Xue Beng, and even some people within the New Heaven Dou Federation were indifferent to their Federation Emperor.

After all, Xue Beng's profligacy was well-known among those nobles, and the reason they let him be Emperor was simply because he had the bloodline of Emperor Xue Ye and was the legitimate imperial lineage!

The kings of those kingdoms and duchies felt that having someone with the Xue family bloodline as Emperor would command respect... at least on the land of Heaven Dou, it was justifiable in terms of righteousness.

But now, Xue Beng wanted to truly control real power just because he won a battle, how could they tolerate that?

But killing him was not easy, after all, without the title of Xue Beng, they would truly be rebels... after all, their initial goal was not to rebel, but to hope that Xue Qinghe would abandon the idea of reform.

They just wanted to gamble that Xue Qinghe wouldn't dare to actually attack them, after all, the Star Luo Empire, and even Spirit Hall, would not sit idly by and would inevitably take advantage of the opportunity to get a share.

They just didn't know that Xue Qinghe herself was from Spirit Hall.

However, Xue Qinghe had not yet decided when to suppress the rebels and had not arranged a plan, as she also needed to consider the issue of the Sun Moon Empire.

Although the Emperor of Sun and Moon had already been defeated, the fact that Xu Huang, the Emperor, didn't handle affairs was also known to Qian Renxue—Xu Huang, on that Continent, was just an existence with extremely powerful influence, and most things were left to his subordinates to execute; he himself was actually quite idle.

Qian Renxue felt that this was the true Emperor!

How could there be an Emperor like her, busy from morning till night, with almost no free time?

However, Xu Huang's defeat also gave Qian Renxue a warning: that such an Emperor seemed to have no specific use for the operation of a country, as it was the same with or without him, the Empire still operated, and his existence was merely equivalent to a high-level thug and bodyguard?

It was just that his strength was formidable, and no one dared to defy him.

But there is always a stronger person among the strong, one mountain is higher than the next, and didn't he get killed by Tang San?

"A mere Blue Silver Grass, to be able to grow to such a degree, now that I think about it, there's still a sense of unreality."

Thinking of Tang San, Qian Renxue felt that she hadn't seen him for some time and wondered what realm the other party had reached at this time and whether the gap between her and him was growing wider and wider.

As a Soul Master, Qian Renxue wanted to compete with Tang San and also hoped to subdue Tang San and use him for her own purposes.

It's just a pity, there was no opportunity, and in terms of hard power, before she became a God, she probably would never be able to catch up with the other party...

"Forget it, let's focus on the upcoming All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament."

Whether it was the reform within Heaven Dou, sending troops to the New Heaven Dou Federation, or guarding against another invasion from the Sun Moon Empire, everything had to be postponed; the Continental Elite Tournament was the biggest event on the Douluo Continent.

However, before that, the captive army of the Sun Moon Empire needed to be individually judged.

Although all the captives from the Sun Moon Empire were taken to Spirit Hall City, the judgment was not solely the affair of Spirit Hall; Star Luo, Heaven Dou, and the New Heaven Dou Federation all had to participate.

After all, this was an invasion from another Continent, a provocation to all forces on the Douluo Continent!

Qian Renxue even decided that after unifying the Continent in the future, she would send troops to the Sun Moon Continent and take that Continent as well; those natives of the Sun Moon Empire also needed to be illuminated by the glory of the Angel to understand the true meaning of Life!

Meanwhile, on the other side, Xue Beng of New Tiandou was already overwhelmed when facing the kings and rulers of the kingdoms and duchies, but he still managed to temporarily stabilize these people.

At this moment, in the palace hall, there was only him and his uncle: Xue Xing.

The reshuffling of hereditary nobles naturally included the nobles of the imperial family itself; even if Xue Xing wanted to stay, he had to consider whether Xue Qinghe would keep him, so he naturally had to follow Xue Beng to the New Heaven Dou Federation.

However, unlike the exhausted Xue Beng, Xue Xing's complexion was much better, after all, he was older and didn't need to handle any affairs himself.

"Uncle, you say, those people recommended me to be the Emperor of this New Heaven Dou, so why aren't they willing to give me real power?"

Xue Beng sighed, "I also know that they value my legitimate bloodline, but their hearts are not united, so how can I lead them to oppose that scoundrel Xue Qinghe?"

"That hateful guy has already killed Father, and he's even thrown mud on me, saying I'm unfilial; are the things he's done glorious?"

Xue Xing was speechless, after all, they had no evidence of any dirt on Xue Qinghe, and it was confirmed that Xue Beng did not visit Emperor Xue Ye after he became critically ill!

Even if they fabricated dirt on Xue Qinghe now, how many people in the world would believe it?

That Xue Qinghe, his methods are very clever!

"Your Majesty, saying these things is useless now; judging from the current public opinion, the more we explain, the more people will think we have problems."

After a long while, Xue Xing finally spoke, offering his opinion, "Fortunately, the common people within our New Heaven Dou Federation have limited contact with the outside world and know less information, so your reputation is still okay... In short, for now, it's best to maintain the status quo, and the future requires slow and steady progress."

"This is not a problem you can solve in this generation."

"It requires a long-term plan..."

"Now, Your Majesty should first deal with two matters: first, the judgment of the captives from the Sun Moon Empire, and second, the upcoming Continental Elite Tournament.

It is said that this year's tournament has relaxed the entry requirements, so it will definitely be extremely lively, but I don't know how it will be held."

480: The messed up time-travelers

Xue Beng naturally cared about the new Continental Elite Tournament. If the students of the New Heaven Dou Federation Academy could achieve good results, it would undoubtedly greatly enhance its prestige.

Spirit Masters were the noblest profession in this World.

Especially after the invasion of the Sun Moon Continent, Tang San, with his own power, forced the invaders to kneel and abide by his rules, which made the World realize the power of Spirit Masters!

Although in Xue Beng's opinion, that unique throne was even more powerful, there was no denying that a Spirit Master like Tang San could completely decide the outcome of a war. In fact, if he wanted to, he could even help Spirit Hall unify the entire Continent.

It was just that Tang San himself had no such interest...

Xue Beng believed he saw this clearly, but to be safe, the New Heaven Dou Federation also had to cultivate its own powerful Spirit Masters.

“Uncle, what do you think about having Poison Douluo train the students of the Federation Academy?” Xue Beng thought of Dugu Bo. This Titled Douluo had a strange temper, but Dugu Yan was his granddaughter, and Dugu Yan was now in Spirit City. She must frequently communicate with Tang San and others. Perhaps they could extract some secret methods of Tang San’s teaching from Dugu Bo to strengthen the Federation students.

“I’m afraid not.”

Xue Xing could only say that Xue Beng’s idea was good, but Dugu Bo was only willing to be his guest elder to repay him for saving his life. He would certainly not obey Xue Beng's orders.

Even if he went to plead, a eccentric person like Dugu Bo might not agree, and Poison Douluo was also his guarantee for a comfortable old age!

“Poison Douluo is naturally unrestrained and reclusive. He is often nowhere to be found, so it's best not to disturb him.”

“Your Majesty, I think even without Poison Douluo, we still have hope of winning. Don't we, the New Heaven Dou Federation, have a new emerging force called the Transcendents' Alliance?”

“Don't they claim to be able to defeat the Three Kingdoms and One Hall, and surpass all Spirit Masters? I also went to investigate, and among them, there are indeed exceptionally talented individuals who can fight above their level. Why not invite them over?”

Transcendents' Alliance...

Xue Beng had naturally heard of them, but he had always been wary of this force. After all, they had migrated from the Heaven Dou Empire and could be spies arranged by Xue Qinghe within the New Heaven Dou Federation, so he had never contacted them.

In reality, it was because with the rapid development of Heaven Dou City and its surrounding cities, the members of the Transcendents' Alliance found it increasingly difficult to fool others; people had become smarter.

Moreover, Heaven Dou City had been following Spirit City's example: Sect personnel who wanted to establish themselves in Heaven Dou City had to register with Heaven Dou and Spirit Hall, otherwise they would be considered “unlicensed Sects.”

If the scale was small, they wouldn't interfere much, but if the scale became large and caused a significant impact, both sides would come looking for them.

The Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, and other Sects didn't care much about this, as they were already cooperating with Spirit Hall and the Heaven Dou Empire. Now it was just an additional formality.

But for an organization like the Transcendents' Alliance, this formality was their undoing—to establish a Sect, they needed to pay one million gold coins to the Heaven Dou Empire and Spirit Hall each year.

If they didn't pay, they could still establish a Sect, but they couldn't recruit members.

Helplessly, Feng Ming of the Transcendents' Alliance could only bring Huo Ke and Tang Luoya, who had returned almost empty-handed from Spirit City, to the New Heaven Dou Federation, where there weren't so many rules.

And Feng Ming and the others did not intend to change the name “Transcendents' Alliance.” For the Douluo natives, there was an explanation, but for their own kind, no explanation was needed. As long as they understood the meaning, they would naturally seek them out.

“Are the people from the Transcendents' Alliance trustworthy?” Xue Beng finally asked the doubt in his heart.

“Trust people you use; don't use people you doubt.” Xue Xing shook his head from side to side, “Whether they are trustworthy or not, they are at least staying within the territory of the New Heaven Dou Federation, aren't they?”

“Moreover, Your Majesty, if Xue Qinghe wants to investigate our information, it's actually very easy. Don't forget that Ning Fengzhi of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School is his teacher, and the Speed Clan has submitted to them.”

“In terms of intelligence, even Spirit Hall is not as good as the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, right?”

Xue Beng's expression sank. The Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School was indeed a major hidden danger for the New Heaven Dou Federation, and being on the same boat as Xue Qinghe, they had to be wary. However, their New Tiandou also lacked reconnaissance-type Spirit Masters with speed comparable to the Speed Clan.

New Tiandou was good in every aspect, except for a lack of people...

"Then let's do that for now. Please trouble Imperial Uncle to invite the Transcendents' Alliance to the Federation Academy and ask them to help guide the students of the Federation Academy," Xue Beng said with a worried expression.

"Your Majesty, please rest assured, I will definitely invite them over." Xue Xing swore, preparing to call Dugu Bo along, confident they wouldn't refuse...

...

The headquarters of the Transcendents' Alliance was located within the New Heaven Dou Federation City, covering an area of about three thousand square meters. It was small, but for now, it was sufficient.

"Speaking of which, the Transcendents' Alliance's reputation has been established, so why is it still just us few?" Feng Ming opened a discussion meeting.

Although Huo Ke was the leader of the Transcendents' Alliance, all the money came from the Feng family, so Feng Ming naturally had more say.

"We can't guess the thoughts of Transcendents. Not all Transcendents like to gather together, and not all Transcendents have read Douluo Continent." Huo Ke shrugged, leaning lazily against the back of his chair, "Tang Luoya and I even saw two Transcendents serving as maids to Tang San in Spirit City. They probably haven't even read the novel."

Tang Luoya also expressed his opinion: "I think calling it the Transcendents' Alliance directly is a bit foolish. What if there are only a few Transcendents on this Douluo Continent?”

“It’s definitely not just a few.” Feng Ming denied the other’s idea, “Just like newspapers. This thing wasn’t invented by Tang San initially. I suspect that Douluo Continent and Earth might have some kind of space-time passage, so some concepts in this World are not too different from those on Earth.”

“If you say so, then in ‘Battle Through the Heavens,’ Xiao Yan wasn’t the first Transcendent either, after all, Canaan Academy there used English letters to evaluate student aptitudes.” Huo Ke complained about the ancient, imprecise settings in web novels, “It should be blamed on the original author for not setting it well. Now that we have Transcended to this Douluo Continent, we have only encountered a similar situation.”

Tang Luoya said, “If we really want to explain it, we can only push it onto the Transcendents.”

Feng Ming was speechless. His goal was not to push all illogical things onto Transcendents, but to get these two to pay attention and find other hidden Transcendents!

Also, this alliance was clearly organized by Huo Ke initially, so why was he the only one doing things now? These two guys were doing well, incredibly idle, truly acting like hands-off managers?

He now suspected whether these two had gone to Spirit City, witnessed Tang San’s true power, became reclusive, and thus started to lie flat.

Especially Huo Ke, where was your arrogance from back then, when you said, “Guiding the nation, inspiring words, determined to become Sea God, gather a Transcendent team, go to the God Realm, and contend against the Five Great God-Kings”?

481: The bad time travelers (continued)

Just as Feng Ming was about to properly rectify the atmosphere within the Alliance, a knock sounded from outside the meeting room. Feng Lie then walked in and excitedly said, "Little brother, Prince Xue Xing has brought Senior Poison Douluo over. They are in the living room right now, and Father is hosting them. Do... do you guys want to go take a look?"

Why was Feng Lie also in the Transcendents' Alliance?

The reason was very simple: the Transcendents' Alliance was established with Feng Ming's funding. The people inside, except for Huo Ke and Tang Luoya, were basically all from the Feng Family.

In fact, from the perspective of the Feng Family members, Feng Ming was the true person in charge of the Transcendents' Alliance, while the other two were just Elders with relatively strong power.

"Xue Xing? Dugu Bo?" Feng Ming was startled.

"Shh~" Feng Lie quickly put his index finger to his lips and said in a panic, "That's a Title Douluo! How can you call him by his name? You were clearly quite polite when you were young."

"..." Feng Ming was speechless for a moment, then pushed Feng Lie out and said, "Wait a bit, I'll discuss with the two Elders and be right over."

Closing the door, seeing Huo Ke and Tang Luoya showing him a look that was not quite a smile, Feng Ming's face instantly darkened. "Huo Ke, you orphan, it's fine, but Tang Luoya, what the hell are you laughing at? Does the Clear Sky Sect not have parents and brothers?"

Tang Luoya was startled, stopped smiling, coughed twice, and said, "I just thought of something happy."

Feng Ming had no time to joke with him. He got down to business and said, "Xue Xing and Dugu Bo are here to see us. What do you think it's for?"

"We don't have much interaction with them, do we?"

Huo Ke and Tang Luoya were also puzzled by this, but in the end, Huo Ke, as the leader, turned his gaze to Tang Luoya and spoke, "Perhaps it's for communication with the Clear Sky Sect?"

Tang Luoya's face darkened. He said, "I haven't revealed my Martial Soul in front of anyone from the New Heaven Dou Federation. They shouldn't know I'm from the Haotian Sect... Moreover, before the Haotian Sect sealed the mountain, it supported the Star Luo Empire. Now that we've re-emerged, we haven't made a stance yet, but people on the Continent still assume we support Star Luo. Even if the people from New Tiandou knew my identity, they shouldn't have come to find me for this, right?"

"That's not necessarily true. I can't trust the minds of royalty and nobles." Huo Ke shook his head, stood up from his seat, and said to Feng Ming, "Guessing here is useless. Let's go out. Dugu Bo is a Title Douluo after all. Maybe we can communicate with him and get some Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) along the way."

"There are still Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs)?" Feng Ming remembered that in the previous Continental Elite Tournament, Dugu Bo and Tang San were quite close, so he figured the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well had already been taken by Tang San.

Even if there were other Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs), they wouldn't know their specific effects. Eating those things casually might lead to poisoning... Also, why would Dugu Bo take them to the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well?

"Dreams are still necessary." Huo Ke walked to the door of the meeting room, pulled it open, and waved to the two behind him, "Let's go, it's not good to keep the guests waiting too long."

"Speaking of which, if we mention that the detoxification method Tang San gave him has problems, would he believe us?" Feng Ming followed closely out of the meeting room and asked abruptly.

"Please, that's not what I meant by communication." Huo Ke rolled his eyes

Dugu Bo was a Title Douluo no matter what, and the kind who was skilled in using poison. His temper was strange; he would poison people at the slightest disagreement. In the original work, Tang San of the Tang Sect only gained his trust after first neutralizing three types of poison... If they dared to mention it, they would likely be secretly poisoned by Dugu Bo without even knowing how they died.

What he meant by communication was to use this opportunity to get to know each other, and perhaps later, if they became familiar, there might be a slim chance to go to the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well...

...

Arriving at the living room of the Transcendents' Alliance, Huo Ke recognized Dugu Bo at a glance. No one else there had white hair and was the oldest.

Moreover, a faint, intangible sense of oppression subtly covered the three of them, like mountains and seas, yet terrifyingly cold, as if corroding bones and marrow, instinctively causing fear.

Feng Ming, Huo Ke, and Tang Luoya realized that Dugu Bo's poison attacks must have reached their peak, otherwise, it wouldn't be possible for only the three of them to feel it, while Feng Ming's father and Elder brother felt nothing.

This was a show of force for the three of them!

"Greetings, Senior Poison Douluo." X3

The three bowed to Poison Douluo.

Poison Douluo nodded slightly and praised, "Your bodies are quite sturdy. Even if placed in Spirit Hall City, you would be decent talents, but compared to true monsters, you're still quite far off."

This statement lacked emotional intelligence, but it was indeed something Dugu Bo would say. After all, he didn't need to care about the psychological feelings of these three.

The strong are willful.

"We naturally cannot compare to the peerless geniuses of Spirit Hall City." The one who spoke was Feng Ming. After all, this place was funded by his family. Huo Ke, the real person in charge, was not suitable for "usurping the host's role".

The Feng Family head said, "Then I'll go get you some refreshments."

He knew that Prince Xue Xing and Senior Poison Douluo were here to find Feng Ming, Huo Ke, and Tang Luoya, especially Prince Xue Xing, who had always disdained discussing things with him since arriving and was just drinking tea... The discerning Feng Family head naturally knew the other party looked down on him. So, since his son had arrived, he wouldn't stay here suffering and pulled Feng Lie out of the living room with him.

Seeing this situation, Dugu Bo didn't stand on ceremony and said, "We are here this time because the New Heaven Dou Federation hopes that you can guide the cultivation of the Federation's students so they can achieve a better result in this year's Continental Elite Tournament."

"This concerns the reputation of the New Heaven Dou Federation."

Xue Xing chimed in, "If you are willing, we can provide you with a large amount of development funds, and your Transcendents' Alliance will also become the largest Sect in New Tiandou... I've looked into you. You are all exceptionally gifted geniuses, no less than the champion team from the previous tournament, but you lack money and sufficient cultivation resources."

"Just say the word, and we can provide it immediately!"

"Don't worry, we won't ask you to do anything else. We just hope you can guide the students, that's all, equivalent to the Three Education Committee of Heaven Dou Royal Academy."

Huo Ke understood. It meant that Xue Beng and Xue Xing of New Tiandou likely saw their talent and were preparing to invest in them to become a force for the New Heaven Dou Federation in the future.

But was Xue Beng reliable?

In the original work, Xue Beng was described as a revitalizing ruler with great ambition and strategy, but whether this applies to the current Xue Beng is unknown. After all, he currently doesn't hold real power in the New Heaven Dou Federation. During the resistance against the Sun Moon invasion, although he personally led the troops to add glory to himself, that war was essentially Tang San's personal show, and Xue Beng and others became like a cheering squad, just going through the motions.

The Transcendents' Alliance is established within the New Heaven Dou Federation's territory, which is fine. Even if it's conquered by the Heaven Dou Empire later, they can just honestly work for them; it's not a big deal.

But if they completely supported the New Heaven Dou Federation, the nature of things would be different.

This would mean completely clashing with the Heaven Dou Empire to the end!

They all knew who Qinghe Emperor was. Although he had a "small" misunderstanding with Bibi Dong of the Spirit Hall, they were at least connected by blood... This would mean directly confronting the Spirit Hall and Tang San!

Based on the strength Tang San displayed in that battle, Huo Ke felt that even if he inherited the Sea God in the future, he might not be able to handle it... What was even more outrageous was that he had even created something similar to the god seal throne.

This cheat is too powerful!

We really can't win!

But with Dugu Bo present, they couldn't directly refuse. Therefore, Huo Ke could only say, "We are grateful for the Prince's kindness and are naturally willing to help. However, our cultivation also requires outdoor training, and we cannot stay in one place for a long time. I'm afraid we cannot fully join the Federation Academy."

"Training?" Xue Xing's expression turned angry, but he still suppressed his temper and said, "This doesn't conflict with joining the Federation, does it?"

Huo Ke's face sank, and he thought to himself: The weak don't even have the right to refuse. In this World, strength is still supreme. Now I need to think carefully about how to refuse...

"If we join the Federation Academy and use the Federation's resources, but then are often nowhere to be seen, wouldn't we just be freeloaders?"

"You don't need to worry about that." Xue Xing waved his hand casually, indicating that the Empire could still afford such resources, but he also became curious. "You said you need training, where do you train?"

"Devil Island."

After some thought, Huo Ke still spoke the name.

"Devil Island!" Compared to Sea God Island, the name Devil Island was more well-known on the Douluo Continent. Dugu Bo was even more startled, then said in a deep voice, "Youngsters, you have a lot of guts. Although this old man hasn't been to that place, I know that it's a hard bone that even the Spirit Hall couldn't chew. Not a single Soul Master who went to that island, no matter how exceptionally gifted, has ever returned alive..."

Although he said that, Dugu Bo felt there was one person who could return from that Devil Island.

Tang San!

That kid is a monster to the extreme. Judging from the Sun Moon Empire invasion battle, the other party possessed extremely strong power. Even without using weapons like that throne, he could probably rival Title Douluo above level ninety-five. Moreover, the members of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team from the same generation as him were all capable of fighting above their level. Except for the pure support system members, each of them had considerable combat power.

"Where there's a will, there's a way." Huo Ke smiled confidently, then said, "However, it is precisely because the three of us plan to train there after reaching a certain realm that we are unwilling to join the Federation Academy... After all, we need to consider possibilities."

Dugu Bo nodded and said nothing more.

Xue Xing had also heard of Devil Island and didn't understand why these three excellent Soul Masters wanted to court death, but he no longer insisted. He said, "Alright, if that's the case, then I'll trouble you to guide the students of the Federation Academy. How about we hire you as temporary teachers?"

"We are naturally willing." Huo Ke agreed. If he didn't agree, he estimated he would have to bring up Tang Luoya's identity to scare Dugu Bo before saying anything else.

Even if Dugu Bo wanted to silence them, he would have to consider his reputation and the Haotian Sect's pursuit of him afterward. After all, the appearance of Soul Guidance photography devices made information spread quickly, and the three of them were all carrying a Soul Guidance photography device.

Moreover, there was also a Soul Guidance camera installed on the beam of the living room!

482: Trial of Prisoners of the Sun and Moon Army

As the Sun and Moon rotated, the time arrived for the Sun Moon Empire Army captives to be judged—

Those to be judged: All captives of the Sun Moon Empire Army.

Time of judgment: May 5th.

Location of judgment: Spirit Hall City Central Plaza.

Judges: Bibi Dong, Qinghe Emperor, Star Luo Emperor, Emperor of the New Heaven Dou Federation.

Judgment assistants: Hu Liena, Ge Long, Zhu Zhuqing, Huo Ke.

Among them, Huo Ke, one of the judgment assistants, was the representative from the New Heaven Dou Federation. Most people were quite curious about this new face, the head of the Transcendents' Alliance.

And Huo Ke could become a judgment assistant mainly because among the younger generation of the Empire, only this guy's Soul Power was the most outstanding, reaching the Soul Emperor level, making him qualified to stand alongside Hu Liena and Zhu Zhuqing.

Therefore, he personally invited him to come to Spirit Hall City with him.

As for the Soul Douluo level powerhouses in the New Heaven Dou Federation, while they existed... it was still the same story. The position of Emperor in the New Heaven Dou Federation, Xue Beng was merely put onto the throne; the real power was still controlled by the rulers and kings of the various kingdoms and duchies.

At this time, the Soul Guidance reporters and Soul Guidance photographers from the Wuhun News, Heaven Dou News, Star Luo News, and New Heaven Dou Federation News had all taken their positions and began filming and taking pictures.

The entire periphery of the plaza was already packed with people, but the circle closer to the center was mostly the captive army, as well as Spirit Hall law enforcement and patrol personnel maintaining order.

"The invasion of the Sun Moon Continent caused immense damage to the Douluo Continent, resulting in the deaths of almost an entire city's worth of people..." Above the open-air courtroom, Bibi Dong stood up from the tall judge's seat and struck the bluestone-paved ground with the scepter in her hand. Immediately, a screen tens of meters long appeared in the air.

That was an information simulation video constructed by the Blue Silver Network, presenting a three-dimensional scene that perfectly reproduced the moment Xiao Hai City was invaded—

Artillery bombardment, collapsing buildings, the wailing of the common people, broken limbs, splattering flesh and blood, the Jingguan built from skeletons...

Scene after scene, it was like a human purgatory!

Everyone's emotions were stirred up, angrily denouncing the brutality of the Sun Moon Empire Army, wishing they could slaughter all these Sun Moon Army personnel and then go to the Sun Moon Continent to let them also taste the feeling of being massacred.

"...These invaders have committed heinous crimes. Therefore, we will conduct a public trial of this group of Sun Moon Army captives and declare to the entire Continent: We will never forgive enemies who invade our Continent!" When the content of the screen finished playing, Bibi Dong also sat down again and ordered people to begin announcing the name of every single person in the Sun Moon Army one by one, describing what crime they committed and what kind of punishment they needed to receive.

This trial of the Sun Moon Army was precise down to every individual, but it didn't last long. In just seven days, the crimes of everyone were judged.

Those who should be killed were killed, those who should undergo labor reform underwent labor reform, and those whose rights should be deprived had their rights deprived.

This made the various countries witness the Spirit Hall's strictness and seriousness, while also realizing the terrifying aspect of the Spirit Hall—it could actually present images of what every captive did during that period!

The Spirit Hall's Soul Guidance technology must have reached a level they couldn't imagine!

Little did they know, these images were all deduced by the Blue Silver Network's Heavenly Dao after combining the intelligence provided by people within the Sun Moon Army, such as Liu Ziqiang, who opposed the war.

The accuracy was only between 80% and 90%.

But even if this accuracy wasn't 100%, it was enough for a trial. After all, they were invaders. Everything was simplified. Even if these images were fabricated and all these people were slaughtered in one go, not a single sane Douluo person would plead for these invaders.

Now that a portion could survive, this trial was already very objective.

Correspondingly, within the Starry Sky World, a large number of souls of Sun Moon Empire war criminals who had committed massacres also appeared. They were imprisoned within the eighteen layers of space of the soul imprint throne of goodness and death, for some Spirit Hall mental-type Soul Masters to study, and then studied by Iliex for final waste utilization.

"Pope, why not slaughter all of them?" Xue Beng asked righteously, "These foreign invaders are all aggressors. They were inhumane to our Continent's natives, so there's no need for us to be so friendly to them, right?"

"The lightest crime is life imprisonment. Is that considered friendly?" Bibi Dong counter-asked.

"The Douluo Continent is a civilized nation, naturally we cannot be as barbaric as the Sun and Moon people." Xue Qinghe glanced at Xue Beng, who had barely managed to gain some insignificant influence, and stood on his mother's side, "Otherwise, what difference would there be between us and them? When we conquer the Sun Moon Continent in the future, the Sun and Moon people there will also inevitably be our Douluo Continent's people. Only the officials there need to be eliminated. Could it be that in the future, you still plan to slaughter everyone on that Continent?"

Xue Beng's face sank, but he tried his best to maintain a smile. After all, it was being broadcast live across the entire Continent now, and he couldn't show an unpleasant expression, which would damage the New Heaven Dou Federation's image.

The Star Luo Emperor, meanwhile, was quietly eating melon on the side, not participating in this "dispute." He was just considering whether he should pass the throne to Davis after returning this time... After all, among the four power holders here, he was the oldest and seemed unable to talk to these "young people." This was not a good sign.

In the future structure of the Douluo Continent, the Star Luo Empire must also control sufficient discourse power; it absolutely cannot be excluded by these three...

...

While the power holders were still entangled in topics of politics and interests, Tang San came to Phoenix City alone and found that Feng Wu Tong.

"Great Plant Emperor, you've finally come to pick me up!"

Over the past five years, Feng Wu Tong's spiritual intelligence had completely devoured the remnant phoenix soul and grown up. Her cultivation had reached a million years. Now, feeling that familiar aura again, she was naturally extremely excited. The entire Feng Wu Tong tree trembled, and its golden-red paulownia leaves rustled constantly, as if cheering for Tang San's arrival.

"Long time no see." Tang San stroked Feng Wu Tong's smooth trunk and smiled slightly, "I've come to pick you up. Are you ready?"

"I've been looking forward to this day!" Feng Wu Tong was already impatient. She drilled out from the trunk, transforming into a small girl with golden hair and golden eyes, the size of a normal infant, wearing a crimson-gold phoenix feather coat. "Quickly absorb me, Great Plant Emperor, I can't wait to dedicate myself to you!"

"Those words aren't pleasant to hear." Tang San chuckled, looked at Feng Wu Tong's main body, and asked curiously, "You're really different from other plant Soul Beasts. Does the Feng Wu Tong main body still exist?"

483: Sacrifice of Fengwutong: Yijiling

Chapter 483: The Sacrifice of Feng Wu Tong: A Shiver...

For plant Soul Beasts, sacrifice means burning everything they have, leaving only a single seed, but this Feng Wu Tong was actually able to preserve its main body!

Moreover, from the looks of it, this main body seems capable of continuing to live, it's just that all of its cultivation has disappeared, becoming an ordinary Feng Wu Tong tree, just slightly taller by 'a billion' points.

Feng Wu Tong smiled and explained, "This is thanks to you. I absorbed the remnant phoenix soul and comprehended the true meaning of Nirvana. My current appearance is the result of a preliminary Nirvana, where everything has been gathered within this one body."

"Speaking of which, plant Soul Beasts that reach a certain level of cultivation actually possess the Nirvana talent – Sacrifice."

"This is the advantage of plant Soul Beasts. With each sacrifice and rebirth, the Spiritual Power and bloodline of the plant Soul Beast will undergo transformation. Theoretically, as long as a plant Soul Beast can be reborn after sacrificing nine times and reach the hundred-thousand-year level again, their Spiritual Power can transform into divine consciousness, and their bloodline can also transform into a God-level bloodline."

"But unfortunately, no plant has succeeded."

"As for me, it's a special case. Comprehending the true meaning of Phoenix Nirvana, combined with my inherent rebirth ability, has created who I am now."

Speaking of Nirvana, what could be stronger than plants that 'cannot be burned by wild fire, but sprout again with the spring breeze'?

And this ability of Nirvana rebirth is exactly what Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor needs.

Although the Blue Silver Emperor's Life Force is already very strong, it is almost impossible for anyone on the Douluo Continent to completely destroy it, but unexpected situations must also be prevented.

For example: the moon colliding with Earth.

In the future, the Douluo Continent will inevitably move towards the stars, and the Blue Silver Emperor is definitely not the ultimate. Obtaining this 'Nirvana' ability will undoubtedly allow it to undergo continuous transformation in the future, enabling it to grow indefinitely!

"Haha, that's good. Otherwise, I would have spent money to buy your main body."

Who knew that Feng Wu Tong would pout her mouth and say, "So, great Plant Emperor, if my ability wasn't Nirvana, would you not want me?"

"Cough."

Tang San coughed awkwardly and immediately comforted her, "That's not it. It's just that I wouldn't let you be my Soul Ring... But don't worry, even in that situation, I would transplant you to the most suitable place for you to grow."

Feng Wu Tong chuckled, hugged Tang San's neck, and laughed, "You're so honest! I was just joking, hehe!"

Tang San finally understood that this Feng Wu Tong was definitely not as simple as other plant Soul Beasts. After all, she grew up in a human city.

Even though the growth time of her sentience was only about five years, with her Spiritual Power, understanding everything in Phoenix City was effortless, wasn't it?

Afterward, Tang San left Phoenix City, found an uninhabited forest, and began to actively accept Feng Wu Tong's fusion.

Unlike the fusion with other plant Soul Beasts, Feng Wu Tong kept getting closer to Tang San, almost kissing him mouth to mouth, and then—

Tang San stopped her.

"What are you doing?"

"Sacrifice needs to be prepared in advance."

"Does sacrifice require kissing?"

Tang San was suspicious. The previous plant Soul Beasts who sacrificed to him didn't need to do such a thing. Why, when it came to Feng Wu Tong, was it 'prepared in advance'?

"Other plant Soul Beasts don't need it, but I'm different."

Feng Wu Tong's cute round face revealed an extremely serious expression, "I am currently in a semi-Nirvana state, a conglomerate of my cultivation. I don't have my own physical body, so I need to first acquire your aura, determine your specific state, and set a target before I can perform a clear sacrifice."

"And this is a Feng Wu Tong forest. If I don't acquire your aura in advance, I might make a mistake in the sacrifice and enter a certain Feng Wu Tong tree. Then you would have to wait for a while."

Looking at Feng Wu Tong's serious face, Tang San somehow felt that the other party was talking nonsense. Phoenix City had a traditional festival called 'Phoenix Seeks Phoenix'. He had reason to suspect that this little girl wanted to try the feeling of kissing.

"Alright, I agree, but kissing the cheek is also okay, right?"

Tang San felt that if the other party became his Soul Ring, she could be treated as a daughter-like character, such as Wu Lin, Wu Tong, or Ling Yun.

A Lan: I don't deserve it?

"No, it must be mouth to mouth."

Feng Wu Tong said emphatically, "Moreover, it must be a French kiss. Only then can our auras interact relatively perfectly. Furthermore, we even need to have a deeper integration to allow our souls to merge together..."

Listening to this increasingly outrageous speech, Tang San felt his scalp tingle a bit, feeling that Feng Wu Tong, who grew up in Phoenix City, could be said to be very 'mature'.

"How about you go back, I'll move you, and I'll find another one..."

"Don't, actually kissing the cheek is also okay."

Seeing Tang San stand up, Feng Wu Tong immediately hugged his thigh, drooling, "I was just joking just now. I was just trying to relax you so you wouldn't be too nervous, which could cause us to be too tense during the fusion process, and it would be over with a shiver."

This 'driving' skill had already reached the pinnacle of perfection!

The speechless Tang San finally accepted Feng Wu Tong's kiss, and then the other party directly entered his Blue Silver Emperor. A massive energy instantly permeated his entire body.

As the eighth Soul Ring, which was reddish-gold and had a spiral pattern, appeared, Tang San felt as if a peculiar energy was injected into every cell of his body.

The first sensation was heat.

But it wasn't the heat from flames; it was the heat originating from Life, as if there was infinite vitality that reached its peak, then quietly returned to the origin, and then burst forth with stronger vitality, re-emerging.

Prosperity declines, and decline leads to prosperity.

In this cycle, Tang San noticed that every inch of his body's cells was constantly undergoing Nirvana. This cycle repeated nine times before stopping.

The final feeling at the moment of Nirvana was very strange.

It was like running a hundred-meter race, and at the moment of touching the finish line, unleashing all the power within the body, rushing towards the finish line at the fastest frequency, and then a shiver—

His whole body and mind relaxed, his heart was filled with tranquility, great joy and great freedom emerged in his mind, allowing him to enjoy the most wonderful moment of his Life.

That feeling was as if he had completed the instinctive mission carried by Life. The sense of accomplishment, originating from the deepest genetic instinct of his body, was unparalleled.

When Tang San opened his eyes again, the 'Nirvana behavior' on his body had stopped, and Feng Wu Tong's sacrifice had also ended. If he wanted to experience it again in the future, he would need to use his eighth Soul Skill.

And Feng Wu Tong's million-year-level Soul Ring did not bring any external changes to Tang San, but Tang San understood that when the Blue Silver Emperor grew to a certain extent and could not advance further, it could undergo transformation. Furthermore, if it suffered an unsolvable curse-type attack, it would only need one Nirvana to be解除 (removed).

After all, what does the damaged Blue Silver Emperor before Nirvana have to do with the Blue Silver Emperor after Nirvana?

In short, it gained a 'status refresh' passive ability.

484: Nirvana and Reincarnation Technique

The eighth Spirit Ability that Feng Wu Tong brought to Tang San had only one name, given by Tang San: Nirvana Reincarnation Art.

A million-year spirit ring, like the Heaven Dream Iceworm, could grant Huo Yuhao four Spirit Abilities, but for Feng Wu Tong, she focused solely on one point: Nirvana, and thus, there was only one skill.

But for Tang San, this single skill was sufficient.

This Spirit Ability could be used on himself or on others, but when applied to others, it could cause enemies to perish in Nirvana.

Why would they perish?

Because of the conservation of energy, without the energy transfer from the Blue Silver Emperor, performing Nirvana would consume their spirit power, blood essence, and mental force; once Nirvana began, it could not be stopped. Even if successful, they would become very weak afterward, and the stronger the existence, the more energy Nirvana would require.

This Spirit Ability, for Tang San and his companions, was a divine skill that allowed them to continuously transform themselves, but for his enemies, it was a heavenly punishment that would erode their essence, energy, and spirit.

Therefore, for Tang San and others, this eighth Spirit Ability was for Nirvana; but for Tang San and their enemies, being subjected to this eighth Spirit Ability was equivalent to taking a trip through reincarnation: for the less severe cases, their cultivation would turn to naught; for the severe cases, they would die and their dao would vanish, truly following reincarnation, leaving no place for burial.

After obtaining the eighth spirit ring, Tang San's ninth spirit ring, the stellar river spirit ring condensed from the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne itself, gradually solidified, completely becoming Tang San's ninth spirit ring!

In an instant, within a thousand-mile radius, stars shimmered with extraordinary phenomena. The power of nature and the power of living beings actively flowed into Tang San's body at this moment.

However, this phenomenon only appeared for an instant before quietly receding, returning to nature, and did not cause any sensation. None of the powerhouses on Douluo Star detected it.

After all, the absorption of the ninth spirit ring actually happened earlier than the eighth spirit ring. Even if there were any grand phenomena, they were already in the past; now, it was merely stabilizing the position of the ninth spirit ring.

And the skill this ninth spirit ring brought to Tang San, like the eighth spirit ring, was only one Spirit Ability: Creation.

Although there was only one Spirit Ability, in reality, countless skills could be evolved through this one ability, such as: Eternal and Creation Armor, Eternal and Creation Sword. All skills possessed by the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne were encompassed by this Spirit Ability; the rest depended on how Tang San himself developed "Creation."

"My spirit power has reached ninety-ninth rank!" Feeling the surging spirit power within him, Tang San couldn't help but clench his fists. With a gentle tremor, the surrounding air twisted, its formidable strength self-evident.

To break through the ninety-ninth rank, the quality of spirit power, the strength of the body, and the solidification of mental force were all indispensable; at least, there could be no significant flaws.

And Tang San's body and mental force had long surpassed his spirit power. Now, he had finally reached the ninety-ninth rank by fully absorbing the ninth spirit ring.

He was but a single step away from the legendary hundredth rank.

This final step, which might be extremely difficult for others, was truly just a matter of taking one step for Tang San.

After all, at this moment, his physical body was like the cosmic space, his primordial spirit like the will of the stars. He only needed spirit power to act as an ethereal life force, permeating through it, to reach a truly extraordinary realm.

However, becoming a Divinity meant being bound by the God Realm.

Before possessing the strength to crush the Five Great God-Kings of the God Realm, Tang San felt it was better to be cautious. As long as his own understanding continuously progressed, his realm would not stagnate.

What he lacked was merely energy.

Given the time difference between the God Realm and Douluo Star, as long as his Blue Silver Emperor (Blue Silver Network, Starry Sky World, etc.) continuously absorbed energy, plane fragments, and space fragments from the entire great cosmic void, energy would not be an issue.

However, now that he had a foundation of strength, his previous plans for the God Realm could begin—cutting off the spatial passage between the God Realm and Douluo Star, and using the Starry Sky World to open a passage to the God Realm that only he controlled, drawing the Immortal Spiritual Energy of the God Realm into the Starry Sky World.

The former required long-term planning, as it first necessitated clearing out the inheritance lands left by the Divinities on Douluo Star. Secondly, he would need to contend with the indigenous believers at the Divinity ruins, which could even lead to Divinities descending to the mortal realm.

Although Divinities cannot descend before divine-level power manifests, rules always have numerous loopholes, and those Divinities' characters... their divine qualities cannot be trusted.

Including the Goddess of Life, who had adopted him as her godson.

As for the latter?

Just as he had described to Bibi Dong back then, it might not succeed in one go, and there was a chance it would connect to other plane passages... The Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne could indeed traverse planes, but one thing made Tang San very speechless: the Eternal Lord always traversed according to the guidance of the so-called Great Cosmic Will and never recorded the coordinates of the traversed planes. Therefore, once activated, which plane it would traverse to was entirely up to luck—and, this Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne came from another parallel Douluo timeline ten thousand years in the future, so even if coordinates were recorded, they might not be useful.

After all, the planes and stars within the entire universe are constantly moving, and their positions are not static.

Moreover, these were two parallel timelines, one ten thousand years in the past, and the other ten thousand years in the future.

Tang San could now perceive the spatial passage to the God Realm, but if he were to directly build a small path on this ascension passage, it would certainly be discovered by the God Realm.

He needed to open another small path to the God Realm, not necessarily wide or large, just a thumb-sized hole would be enough for the Immortal Spiritual Energy of the God Realm to permeate into the Starry Sky World.

"Eternal Lord, speaking of which, you and Austin Griffin don't seem to be from this timeline. You should be from a parallel timeline ten thousand years in the future, right?" Tang San suddenly asked, "So, can you perceive the other versions of yourselves in this timeline?"

After pondering for a moment, the Eternal Lord revealed his form and slowly shook his head: "I cannot sense them... You also shouldn't deify the Creator God too much. I cannot truly sense the entire universe; that is too distant. However, I never expected that there could exist Worlds that are identical but on different timelines."

"The spatial turbulence that swept the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne and Austin Griffin into this World was likely caused by a very powerful existence, or perhaps some spatiotemporal storm involving the multiverse."

Tang San was surprised: "Multiverse?"

The Eternal Lord spread his hands and suddenly showed a playful smile: "That term was told to me by your memories. Who knows, perhaps the myriad Worlds of the heavens still exist."

Tang San narrowed his eyes: "I don't think I allowed you to read my memories, did I?"

"Oh, don't be so distant, I'm yours now, you know." The Eternal Lord became bashful, "And the kind that can never be separated. Our relationship is even closer than with your little girlfriends."

Tang San: "....."

485: Discussion on Tang San's cultivation realm

"Tang San, do you see? This is that woman's true face!" The Haotian Hammer emerged from Tang San's left hand, then split open, transforming into Nine Haos with nine heads.

Because Tang San's strength had reached level ninety-nine, the Haotian Hammer, which was born with him, also grew to its peak state, which is: Nine-Headed Chimera.

Fire, Light, Wind, Water, Poison, death, Darkness, Nirvana, Destruction.

Among them, the first five attributes were inherited from the previous rebirth, while the death attribute came from the experience of hunting The Fallen Normann and first seeing the Cloud Tree; Destruction, without a doubt, was Austin Griffin himself.

As for Nirvana, it was because Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor absorbed Feng Wu Tong, and Austin Griffin, not wanting to fall behind the Blue Silver Emperor and wanting to gain the ability to constantly evolve, borrowed a portion of his own origin to replicate Nirvana, fixing it as the attribute of the eighth head, thereby catching up to the Blue Silver Emperor.

"Hehe, aren't you just another me? Why are you so agitated?" Eternal Lord was indifferent to Austin Griffin's mockery, instead chuckling, "Or are you jealous because Tang San often uses me instead of you?"

"You're the one who's jealous!" Austin Griffin cursed, "You're just a latecomer who occupied the Blue Silver Emperor, that's all. I followed Tang San since his childhood, can you compare?"

"Tsk tsk." Eternal Lord sneered twice dismissively and retreated back into the Blue Silver Emperor, leaving Austin Griffin roaring outside: "Bastard, why are you running? Get out here for this master! Damn guy, even if he's not the original Creator God, he's still as annoying as Him! Tang San, don't you believe Him!"

Tang San was speechless and ignored this matter, carefully examining Austin Griffin's nine heads and asking a question: "Are your nine consciousnesses integrated now?"

"Of course." All nine pairs of Austin Griffin's eyes glowed with purple light, and they all grinned, as if remembering something, and immediately said, "Although I have reached my peak state now, challenging you still requires careful planning. You can't directly demand that I challenge you now."

"I wasn't talking about the agreement... Speaking of which, can you still split into nine consciousnesses? I feel that was cuter." Tang San made a request that left Austin Griffin speechless.

"First of all, I'm not schizophrenic, secondly, I don't have multiple personalities, and finally, I won't make the same mistake as last time." Austin Griffin's scales were originally the material of the Haotian Hammer, pitch black, but at this moment, the complexions of the nine faces seemed even darker, and the nine pairs of small purple eyes glared even more angrily at Tang San, "Also, the nine wills are all me."

"That's not true." The head representing death, Tian Si, suddenly broke free and resisted the other eight heads, "I am an independent entity, I only listen to master."

Tian Si's voice was similar to Austin Griffin's, the only difference being that it was much softer.

This head was born from the collection of soul fragments within the Cloud Tree. Although it only provided the death attribute and usually seemed submissive, it turned out to be the one with the most personality.

Immediately after, the head representing Darkness also became independent, followed by the five heads of Light, Fire, Wind, Water, and Poison. Finally, the head representing the attribute of "Nirvana" also became independent again.

Although the Nirvana head was the last to be born, Nirvana is naturally close to Tang San, and it naturally did not submit to the ninth head representing Destruction, Austin Griffin.

"You scoundrels! Are you trying to rebel again?!" Austin Griffin was furious, trying hard to control these eight disobedient heads, but finally found that he couldn't control them, as if there were another eight consciousnesses in his brain—

How is that possible?!

It was understandable last time with that stubborn Dragon Hao Chen, his other consciousnesses were confused, causing him to truly have multiple personalities... He had taken precautions, so why are they disobedient again?

Wait!

This is not a real body, but Tang San's Martial Soul: the Haotian Hammer!

"What did you do?" Austin Griffin questioned.

"It's nothing much, I just thought that you could be independent, and then they really became independent... A Martial Soul can change according to my will. Although the Haotian Hammer is not my main Martial Soul, as my Soul Power has increased to this level, and your heads have increased, it has also continuously strengthened the Haotian Hammer, making it more closely connected to my will..."

Just as Tang San was about to give a lengthy explanation, Austin Griffin interrupted him, questioning: "Get to the point! What is going on with me?"

"Simply put, the Martial Soul belongs to me. Unless I give you freedom, I can make your other eight consciousnesses independent. That is to say, from now on, the status of the nine of you is equal, no longer dominated by just one head." Seeing Austin Griffin's impatience, Tang San stated the final result and consoled him, "Actually, this is also a good thing. At least you can get along well and cooperate."

"Am I tying my own noose?"

The head representing Destruction suddenly felt a bit regretful about joining Tang San's Haotian Hammer in the first place, after all, this way, He would truly become a multiple personality patient!

Involuntarily, tears flowed from the corner of Austin Griffin's eyes as he recalled his experiences with his previous master. At that time, his heads had also rebelled against him.

It was better now, though, as the sub-consciousnesses of these eight heads were newly born, and the memories from that life were all in his main Destruction consciousness, which was also one of the reasons why he didn't just want to destroy everything.

"Don't be so pessimistic, after all, you won't be bored in the future. You can talk more with the other eight selves, so you won't be lonely, and your psychology will be healthy..."

"Talking to myself, how could you even think of that! Isn't that even lonelier? Meeting you was truly eight lifetimes of bad luck!" Austin Griffin cursed, transformed back into the form of the Haotian Hammer, and ignored Tang San.

"This guy has a talent for being tsundere." Tang San muttered to himself, ignoring the trembling of the Haotian Hammer, and put it away. He took a step forward and returned to Spirit Hall City.

So close, yet so far!

It was nothing more than this!

Having reached level ninety-nine, even without using Fusing Rings, his strength was comparable to a First Rank God Realm. Coupled with absorbing the Star River Soul Ring from the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, controlling space and doing things like traveling a thousand li in an instant was just a trivial matter.

At this time in Spirit Hall City, the judgment of the Sun Moon Army had just concluded. The Qinghe Emperor, Star Luo Emperor, and Xue Beng Federation Emperor were kept by the Spirit Hall Pope, who hoped they would stay in Spirit Hall City for a while longer, the reason being: the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament was only about three months away, which would save them from having to travel again later.

The three Emperors all thought for a moment and felt that staying here for three months was relatively stable for their Empires. After considering it, they decided to stay, and also discuss the rules for this tournament together.

Leaving aside other things, just the point about 【the relaxation of participant restrictions and the increase in the number of participants】 required them to adjust the rules, otherwise, just the preliminary rounds might take half a year to complete.

After discussing for a while in the Pope's Hall, Xue Qinghe suddenly looked directly at Bibi Dong and asked: "Pope, didn't you say that Tang San would also participate in formulating the rules for this tournament? Where is he?"

Xue Beng also asked: "That's right, where did the Saint Child of Spirit Hall go?"

Dai Legao also showed a look of doubt.

Bibi Dong said lightly: "The Saint Child is busy. When I said he would formulate the rules, it was only auxiliary, not full participation. Moreover, his Soul Power has reached a bottleneck stage, and he is currently hunting Soul Beasts."

"Oh?" The Qinghe Emperor looked at her mother, whose expression hadn't changed, and continued to ask, "A bottleneck, could it be that Tang San has already broken through to the Soul Douluo level?"

"Title Douluo." Bibi Dong glanced at her presumptuous biological daughter and uttered these four words, then continued, "To be honest, I didn't expect his cultivation speed to be so fast..."

Bibi Dong also knew what happened in the Eternal Domain. After all, the moment Tang San came out of the Eternal Domain, his ninety-seventh level Soul Power was too dazzling.

And he also brought out two pointy-eared Elves.

However, Bibi Dong had no jealousy, but was excited about it, even thinking that Tang San was becoming more and more charming... She didn't know if it was because Tang San had stayed in the Eternal Domain for over a hundred years, truly possessing the mature charm that attracts mature women.

Leaving aside these personal subjective thoughts, what surprised Bibi Dong the most was that the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne actually came with a God Realm rank from the Creator God, allowing Tang San to ignore the rule that requires Soul Rings to break through bottlenecks.

This point was simply cheating to the extreme!

If a person obtained this Throne at the age of six, they could completely raise their Soul Power to the Title Douluo level first, and then go hunt Soul Beasts.

That way, they could obtain at least nine Soul Rings of fifty thousand years or more! And the energy that came with the Soul Rings would be enough to raise their Soul Power above level ninety-five!

"Title Douluo!"

The Qinghe Emperor exclaimed, her voice even becoming sharp due to excessive excitement.

However, the others didn't pay attention, because they were also shocked by the news revealed by Bibi Dong.

Tang San's talent was obvious, and his combat power was even more outstanding, but had it been half a month since the Sun Moon Empire invaded until now? He was still a Soul Saint before, and now he has actually become a Title Douluo... Something must have happened during this time.

The greatest possibility was that he obtained something from the Emperor of the Sun Moon Empire, which caused his cultivation to break through quickly, but this was also someone else's spoils of war and opportunity, what reason did they have to ask Tang San to hand it over?

Moreover, if they really forced him, Tang San alone might be able to defeat their three Empires.

Oh no, it was two countries.

The Qinghe Emperor of the Heaven Dou Empire was secretly one family with Spirit Hall.

"There's no need to be so surprised. For Tang San, isn't this an easy matter?"

486: The rules of the new mainland elite competition: preliminaries

"Spirit Hall truly has a constant stream of talent," Xue Beng's tone was a little sour. "It seems Spirit Hall has successors. With Tang San's talent, I'm afraid he'll be the next Spirit Hall Pope."

Bibi Dong glanced at Xue Beng, who had been forced by her own daughter to feign weakness and even truly looked a bit like a pig, and said leisurely, "Let's discuss how to standardize the rules for this Tournament. Wait for Tang San to return... he's already back."

As soon as the words fell, a slight, almost imperceptible spatial fluctuation occurred near the door of the Pope's Hall. Tang San's figure quietly appeared, bowing slightly to the four people present and saying, "Greetings, Pope, Heaven Dou Emperor, Star Luo Emperor, and Federal Lord Xue Beng."

Among the four, except for Bibi Dong who noticed the slight spatial fluctuation, the others, including Xue Qinghe, did not notice when Tang San arrived. It was as if he had been standing there the whole time, they just hadn't noticed.

A trace of shock appeared in Xue Qinghe's eyes: What kind of realm has this Tang San reached?

Dai Legao was also shocked, but showed no change in expression, merely nodding slightly, accepting Tang San's bow.

Xue Beng, however, was a little unhappy. After all, Tang San addressed Xue Qinghe and Dai Legao as "[Empire Name] Emperor," so why did he call him by his name and add "Federal Lord" as a suffix?

He was also an Emperor!

Bibi Dong asked, "Since you're here, let's participate in setting the rules for the new Continental Elite Tournament together. You can do your research afterward."

"I came precisely for this," Tang San walked to the seat that had been prepared for him. To his left was Xue Qinghe, to his right was Dai Legao, and Xue Beng was sitting next to Dai Legao.

Xue Qinghe's gaze remained on Tang San, which made Bibi Dong keenly realize that her feelings for Tang San were not just a desire for talent, but closer to a personal emotional inclination.

For no other reason, that gaze was exactly the same as her own when she had fallen in love back then.

Thinking of this, Bibi Dong suddenly became worried...

"Since that's the case, why doesn't the Saint Child tell us how this Tournament should be held?" Xue Beng threw the question to Tang San, hoping he would provide a plan.

Everyone present cared quite a bit about the Continental Elite Tournament. Even though research on Spirit Guidance Weapons had begun, their use by Soul Masters and their use by ordinary people were completely different matters.

When Soul Masters use Spirit Guidance Weapons, they can definitely achieve stronger effects!

Furthermore, some Spirit Guidance Weapons seized from the Sun Moon Empire Army required Soul Masters with higher Soul Power levels to use; otherwise, they could easily injure themselves.

For example: Spirit Guidance Firearms, a regular Spirit Guidance Weapon of the Sun Moon Empire Army, when firing Spirit Guidance energy rounds, the recoil is not something ordinary people can withstand.

Soul Guidance Devices still served Soul Masters!

It was just that lifestyle Soul Guidance Devices could greatly convenience people's lives and give ordinary people the means to resist low-level Soul Masters.

But at least within a hundred years, ordinary people did not have the ability to resist Soul Masters.

This was the consensus among the major powers on the Continent.

"The rules for the Tournament can largely follow the usual format, but the preliminaries need to be adjusted. After all, with the selection criteria broadened, the number of participants has increased dramatically, and even some major Sects will send disciples to compete," Tang San had already thought of a plan. "Didn't the finals of the last Tournament have multiple teams battling together in one arena? This time, the preliminaries can be done this way too. For example: seven participating teams compete in the same arena, and the winning team advances, while the others are eliminated."

Dai Legao nodded, "That's not bad, but this way, the arenas will need to be rebuilt. Three months is enough time, but won't it be too taxing on the people and resources?"

"New arenas don't necessarily have to be built; we can directly choose existing ones," Tang San stated his idea. "The Sun Moon Continent's invasion this time served as a warning to us: the maritime defense line is extremely weak... If not for the development of lifestyle Soul Guidance Devices like Soul Guidance Photography Devices, Soul Guidance Telephones, and related products, which sped up information transmission, I'm afraid the Sun Moon Empire would have captured four or five coastal cities before we even gathered intelligence."

Reminded of this, everyone couldn't help but feel a chill.

That's right!

If the speed of information transmission hadn't increased with Soul Guidance Telephones and Soul Guidance devices, by the time they realized the Sun Moon Empire existed and prepared to counterattack, they might have already had a significant amount of land occupied by outsiders.

Coastal defense...

In the past, they hadn't paid much attention to it. Even after the value of Whale Jelly was publicized and maritime Soul Masters were organized and trained, the focus remained on the Continent.

But now, the Sun Moon Empire had appeared. If they didn't pay attention to the sea anymore and the Sun Moon Army attacked, it wouldn't just be the faces of these Emperors that were lost, but also the dignity of an Empire!

"Therefore, I have an idea, which is to hold the preliminaries on islands along the coast surrounding the Continent."

"These islands have diverse environments, meeting the standard for diverse venues. Secondly, it can save the cost of rebuilding venues and reduce losses. Furthermore, after the competition ends, the internal conditions of these islands will likely have been mostly explored by the participants, which can prepare for establishing corresponding defense measures in the future."

"The only problem might be that it's not very friendly to the audience. Most people can only watch through footage captured and recorded by Soul Guidance Photography Devices."

Bibi Dong thought for a moment and felt it was good. After all, the Sun Moon Continent existed overseas. Taking this opportunity to help various countries bring the coastal islands into their control was beneficial. Larger islands could have coastal defense cities built, while smaller ones could have coastal defense lines established.

In any case, Spirit Hall would establish new Spirit Hall Branches in those cities by then, so they wouldn't lose out.

"That point is irrelevant; establishing coastal defense is key," Qinghe Emperor was the first to speak. "The original purpose of the Tournament was not for profit, but to select talent. Holding it on islands with diverse environments can better showcase the diversity of Soul Masters."

Bibi Dong glanced at Xue Qinghe without changing her expression and thought inwardly: She definitely doesn't know how many Golden Soul Coins those spectators contributed to Spirit Hall through tickets, snacks, and the like during the last Tournament... That's right, Qian Daoliu doesn't handle such matters and naturally wouldn't tell this granddaughter the specific income of Spirit Hall.

It could be said that the audience of the Tournament was just as important as the participating Soul Masters!

However, earning a little less this time was fine. Establishing coastal defense was key. In any case, everything would eventually belong to Spirit Hall, so let the New Heaven Dou Federation and the Star Luo Empire busy themselves with it first.

"After the great war, it is indeed not suitable for large-scale construction, and coastal defense is indeed crucial. Holding the preliminaries on those islands can also help us investigate the specific environment of the islands beforehand," Bibi Dong also agreed, even proposing another idea.

"Moreover, I think that after the islands are determined, routes can be set up, allowing participants to find their own way to the competition venues. Unqualified teams can be eliminated first, and rescue boats can be arranged on the sea at that time."

Xue Beng had some reservations about this. After all, among the four major powers present, his New Tiandou had the fewest outstanding talents. If they were to follow this standard, more than half of their teams would be eliminated on the way to the competition islands.

But the minority obeyed the majority.

Bibi Dong even said bluntly, "The New Heaven Dou Federation can choose not to participate."

Xue Beng: "....."

A weak nation has no diplomacy!

487: Suggestions to Qian Renxue: Tweet the Order of Grace

Why did Bibi Dong have the worst attitude towards the New Heaven Dou Federation?

The reason is also simple.

This country split from the Heaven Dou Empire, and rounding up, it was like a piece of flesh was dug out from her daughter's hands. Although she had a few minor issues with her views on her daughter, the blood connection caused her to subjectively have no good feelings towards Xue Beng.

Secondly, the New Heaven Dou Federation was formed by multiple kingdoms within the original Heaven Dou territory. Xue Beng was merely put forward and did not control real power.

Although the military strength of this federation is not weak, it can only be compared to the other three major forces in terms of army numbers. In other aspects, whether it is the unity of the army or the strength of individual powerhouses, it is the worst.

There is a Title Douluo: Dugu Bo.

However, Dugu Bo himself is not fully affiliated with the New Heaven Dou Federation. He only protects Xue Xing's safety and does not follow Xue Beng's orders.

Therefore, among the few people present, Xue Beng's suggestion was the most insignificant.

After the rules of the preliminary round were detailed, the Star Luo Emperor and Xue Beng successively left the Pope's Hall, leaving only Bibi Dong, the Qinghe Emperor, and Tang San inside.

Xue Qinghe glanced at Tang San, then looked at Bibi Dong, and asked, "Is Tang San not leaving?"

"He is one of us," Bibi Dong said this sentence, and then said faintly, "You are really incompetent, you actually let Xue Beng split Heaven Dou!"

"Hmph! I didn't expect that the kings of those kingdoms would be so decisive!" Xue Qinghe's voice changed into a clear female voice, the golden short hair under the crown also quietly grew longer, draping down her back, and her figure also became well-proportioned, "The situation in Heaven Dou is not quite the same as in Star Luo. There are too many kingdoms within it, and they only superficially submit to Heaven Dou, but secretly they have great autonomy."

"Trying to change it is not something that can be done overnight. You were too hasty," Tang San suddenly spoke. "The imperial examination system, this is indeed good, but it is too advanced. The network of interests formed between the major nobles is enough to keep you busy. It's just that Heaven Dou has a sufficient foundation, enough for you to mess around..."

In fact, if it were a World without magic or supernatural power, if Qian Renxue suddenly wanted to change the system from recommendation to imperial examination, she would have drowned while boating in the same year.

It is because this Douluo Continent has supernatural power, and Soul Power is extremely strong. Otherwise, let alone the Heaven Dou Empire splitting, Xue Beng would have led a group of officials to force Xue Qinghe off the throne under the recommendation of the kings of those small countries.

"Tang San, then tell me, what should I do?" Qian Renxue no longer cared that Tang San knew her identity. After all, she had a moment of impulsiveness back then and forgot that her Martial Soul had a connection with Tang San. She had even taken the initiative to reveal her female identity in front of him. Now... Since Bibi Dong said Tang San was one of them, then she could naturally trust him one hundred percent.

"You should first divide the ruling power among the various small countries," Tang San said leisurely.

"How to divide?" Qian Renxue became interested.

"Before Heaven Dou split, the large and small kingdoms within its territory were all hereditary, right?" Tang San asked.

"Yes, inherited by their sons," Qian Renxue nodded. "What's wrong with that?"

"Then do these kings only have one son?"

"Of course not."

"If there are multiple sons, which one inherits?"

"Naturally, the legitimate eldest son."

Qian Renxue blurted out, and then suddenly realized, "You mean, I can win over the descendants who cannot inherit the position of king? But how can I win them over? They can't compete, and they don't have much ability to begin with. Winning them over won't be of much use, right?"

Tang San slowly said, "You don't need to spend real money to win them over. Just issuing an order is enough—the Edict of Grace."

Qian Renxue was stunned and quickly asked, "What is the meaning of Edict of Grace?"

"Simply put, you tell the kings of the kingdoms within the entire Heaven Dou Empire that from now on, the family's territory can be given to other children who are not the legitimate eldest son, because those children are all their own flesh and blood, and it's impossible not to leave anything for them, right?" Tang San said more plainly, "When ordinary people divide the family, the furniture, houses, and land in the house also need to be distributed equally... Of course, equality is only the most ideal state of distribution. In most cases, the eldest son inherits more land, and the other descendants inherit less."

Qian Renxue's mind buzzed and quickly turned—

In this way, the various kingdoms will inevitably split, and eventually their area will continue to shrink. By then, it will definitely be more convenient to control them than it is now.

Moreover, this is a naked open scheme. As long as she issues this decree and publicizes it, even if those kings know the problems within it, they will be helpless.

Even if their children have foresight, most of them will certainly prioritize their immediate interests and will not give way to their siblings.

By then, whether these kingdoms still let the legitimate eldest son inherit, or distribute it equally among all children, it will be of great benefit to her in unifying the kingdoms within the territory.

If the legitimate eldest son inherits, those children who cannot inherit will inevitably harbor resentment towards their father and eldest brother, naturally siding with her, the Qinghe Emperor; if each child is allocated a little, a kingdom can be split, and it will definitely be extremely convenient to manage in the future.

More importantly, after this decree is issued, others cannot say anything bad about her, because she is considering the kinship between those kings and their children!

Edict of Grace!

What a good Edict of Grace!

The more Qian Renxue looked at Tang San, the more she liked him. Such a talent, she wished she could take him into her embrace.

"Good idea!"

"Within the current Heaven Dou territory, it can also be used, after all, some small countries and city lords are secretly defying me."

Bibi Dong mocked, "After being an Emperor for so long, you still don't see things as clearly as Tang San. You're really useless."

Qian Renxue was instantly angry, "If you hadn't made the first move, I should have been the one to subdue Tang San first and unify the Continent!"

Bibi Dong chuckled, "Tang San came over by himself, and he joined Spirit Hall to conquer for me. You can only blame yourself for not being as skilled."

Qian Renxue cursed, "Shameless old woman!"

...

Seeing this mother and daughter suddenly start arguing, Tang San, who had proposed the Edict of Grace, immediately pretended to be mute and let his mind wander until he was called back by Qian Renxue, who asked, "Tang San, what should I do next?"

"I'm sorry, esteemed Qinghe Emperor, I don't know much about politics," Tang San said, indicating that everything just now was just theoretical, and as a Martial Soul researcher, what he was best at was naturally research.

...

Qian Renxue was silent for a while, then asked, "Then, what level has your Soul Power reached? My... sister said that yours has already reached Title Douluo?"

"Ninety-ninth level," Tang San truthfully informed her, and displayed his nine Soul Rings. The first eight were all golden with different patterns, while the last one was forged like a galaxy, as if the entire starry sky was imprinted within it, magnificent and mysterious, making it difficult to pull away.

With just one glance, Qian Renxue felt as if she was mesmerized—

488: Bibi Dong's confession to Tang San

“A golden spirit ring, what is its age?” Qian Renxue asked, trembling, realizing something.

“A million years.”

Tang San said without hesitation, “My ninth spirit ring is quite special and cannot be measured by simple age. If I had to put a number to it, its age might be even longer than the entire Starry Sky World has existed.”

Qian Renxue was completely speechless this time, then narrowed her eyes again and asked, “You underwent a Divinity examination?”

The colors of Tang San’s previous spirit rings were not gold, but yellow, purple, black, and red. Only a Divinity examination could increase the age of a spirit ring.

But the reason for her questioning tone was that, as the successor of the Angel God, she hadn’t sensed any Divinity aura on Tang San... which was a bit strange.

“No.” Tang San shook his head, glanced at Bibi Dong, and seeing her nod slightly, he proceeded to explain about the Blue Silver Network, the Starry Sky World, and the Spirit Beast Illusion Space.

“Spirit Beast Illusion Space, huh?” Qian Renxue hadn’t expected that so many things had happened in Spirit City while she was undercover in Heaven Dou. Moreover, Tang San’s Spirit had actually constructed that illusory space, which connected to a World populated by Spirit Beasts. After killing Spirit Beasts in that World, one could increase the age of their spirit rings, and even had a chance to obtain Spirit Bones...

Is this really not a joke?

Or has the World changed too quickly, causing her to fall behind?

Why didn't her grandfather tell her?

Although she had a plethora of questions, Qian Renxue wasn't planning to ask them now. After all, she was still Emperor Xue Qinghe, and staying here for too long would be inappropriate.

"Can you take me in to see it sometime?" Qian Renxue asked.

"Yes, given our brotherhood, I can give you a twenty percent discount," Tang San said indifferently.

Qian Renxue narrowed her eyes: "I still have to pay?"

"That's right, Spirit Hall doesn't support idlers. If you have any questions —"

Tang San nodded earnestly, then presented a price list for entering the Starry Sky World. "Different people have different prices. You are currently... not a formal member of Spirit Hall. In fact, according to the standards, you're not even qualified to enter. For specifics, you can discuss it with Supreme Pontiff Bibi Dong yourself."

Taking the thick price list, Qian Renxue opened it and her eye twitched immediately. Who set so many rules?

"These are the regulations," Bibi Dong said, and following Tang San, she produced a large stack of trust rule books. "You can memorize them carefully."

Qian Renxue was dumbfounded, not understanding what was going on in Spirit City, but she still put all these books into her storage soul tool and quickly walked out of the Supreme Pontiff Palace, afraid that Bibi Dong and Tang San would pull out even more rules that would make her scalp tingle.

“Why is Emperor Xue Qinghe coming out so late?” Not far outside the Supreme Pontiff Palace, Xue Beng, who was idly chatting with Star Luo Emperor Dai Legao, immediately stepped forward and mocked when he saw Qian Renxue, who had returned to her male attire, emerge. “Could it be that you want to sell the legacy left by your ancestors to Spirit Hall?”

Xue Qinghe ignored him, merely tidying his collar and calmly said to Star Luo Emperor Dai Legao, “I just chatted with Silverblue Earl for a bit longer. After all, Silverblue Earl and his disciple’s Ling Tang Technology Unlimited Company is established in Heaven Dou City, and I have many collaborations with him... I apologize for making Star Luo Emperor Dai Legao wait so long.”

“No problem.” Dai Legao nodded, took a few steps forward, and invited Xue Qinghe, “How about we explore Spirit City together thoroughly?”

“In the past five years, Spirit City has developed faster and faster, and its six outer cities are changing with each passing day. Perhaps we can take a good look and learn from it to make up for the shortcomings of our respective Empires.”

“What do you think, Emperor Xue Qinghe?”

Xue Qinghe smiled gently and nodded in agreement: “That was exactly my intention.”

Dai Legao then invited Xue Beng, “Federal Lord of New Tiandou, what do you think?”

Hearing the title “Federal Lord” again, Xue Beng’s expression showed a hint of anger, but it vanished instantly. He said, “Of course, if there’s something good, we must learn from it.”

Although he had been an Emperor for two years and his temper had risen, he was still able to conceal his inner thoughts quite well, so that his emotions were not evident on his face...

...

“What do you think of Qian Renxue?”

After Qian Renxue left, Bibi Dong asked Tang San for his opinion on Qian Renxue.

“Self-reliant, confident, and self-respecting.”

Tang San said three adjectives in a row, paused for a moment, and then continued, “She’s quite stubborn, and also, she yearns for your approval.”

Bibi Dong’s eyes narrowed, and she asked faintly, “Do you know what her relationship with me is?”

“Her surname is Qian, she can speak directly to you, and her words are not very polite. She must have a high status, from the Angel lineage.” Tang San, who already knew the outcome, began to analyze the process. “But you don’t have a good impression of the Angel lineage, and your attitude towards her is quite strange. There’s disgust, reluctance, and even affection, multiple emotions intertwined, making it quite complex. Considering the death of the former Supreme Pontiff, there might be something fishy. A Titled Douluo doesn’t die easily from severe injuries... Her relationship with you is probably also quite complex. I can sense a blood connection between the two of you.”

Well!

After all that analysis, only the last sentence was the most practical!

Bibi Dong suppressed her anger and said, “You should be a smart person, right? Then you should know what the consequences are of saying that in front of me?”

“Hmm—”

Tang San stroked his chin, drawing out the sound. “It seems you can’t beat me now, can you?”

Crack!

Bibi Dong, laughing in anger, directly snapped the scepter in her hand. It took her a while to calm down, and she said faintly, “Then I truly ‘nurtured a tiger to cause trouble’.”

“Ahem, Supreme Pontiff Bibi Dong, there’s no need to be so serious, is there? I’m not interested in the next Supreme Pontiff position, nor will I seize power from Spirit Hall,” Tang San said honestly. “Pursuing a higher realm and exploring more unknowns is what a Spirit Master should primarily do. I just want to have more companions.”

“To be able to propose the Edict of Grace, you see through human nature quite well. I wouldn’t dare to be careless,” Bibi Dong hinted, as if announcing to Tang San that she might look for an opportunity to test him.

“But wise people never test human nature; at most, they guide it,” Tang San said straightforwardly without being polite. “Tests can be set with objective physical standards, such as the strength of physical fitness, the amount of spirit power, the value of mental force, and so on. But the human heart should absolutely never be tested. Whether the other party passes or not, it will always leave a trace of resentment in their heart.”

“If the other party is incapable, it’s fine. But if they gain capability, they will definitely retaliate with an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth.”

“As long as we don’t indiscriminately kill the innocent and implicate others in the blame, it counts as clear distinctions between gratitude and grudges. For example, regarding the Sun Moon Army prisoners, we don’t just kill them all; instead, we judge and sentence them one by one.”

489: Bibi Dong's concern for Qian Renxue

The reason for being so blunt with Bibi Dong was naturally because Tang San had the strength to make Bibi Dong listen.

At the very least, for a Spirit Hall Pope and ruler like Bibi Dong, testing the humanity of her subordinates was completely unnecessary.

It would only chill the hearts of loyal subordinates and achieve no positive effect.

Of course, Tang San couldn't be counted as loyal.

"Forget it, I won't dwell on this with you."

Bibi Dong also didn't intend to test anyone, so she changed the subject, "Let's focus on the Continental Elite Tournament.

You shouldn't constantly research.

Occasionally letting your mind relax is also a good choice."

Tang San's expression was strange—

Was she concerned about him?

Also, wasn't he the first one to propose the concept of balancing work and rest?

"Thank you for your concern, Pope.

I'm fine.

In terms of energy, there's probably no one in the world who can compare to me."

Tang San, whose strength had already reached level ninety-nine, could indeed forgo sleep.

Coupled with the assistance of Heavenly Dao, he could work year-round without rest.

He was already inhuman!

Bibi Dong nodded slightly: "Then just be careful yourself... Speaking of which, can you go to the Sun Moon Continent now?"

Although the navigation route from the Sun Moon Continent to the Douluo Continent had been obtained, Bibi Dong, as the Pope, had to remain in Spirit Hall City and could not leave.

As for the others, such as Qian Daoliu and the Title Douluo of his lineage, they basically would not leave the Hall of Offerings and treated Bibi Dong's orders as if they were wind blowing past their ears.

This had led to the current situation of [You don't listen, I don't care], which could generally be considered a勉强 peaceful coexistence.

Therefore, Bibi Dong thought of Tang San, who had [obtained the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne and fused it with his Martial Soul, turning it into a Soul Ring], and should be able to directly cross the vast sea and go to the Sun Moon Continent.

"Yes."

For Tang San, going to a place only required coordinates.

Although Tang San didn't have the specific coordinates of the Sun Moon Continent, even following the sea chart and flying all the way there wouldn't take much time.

For him now, a thousand li was but an instant, a trivial matter not worth mentioning.

"Do you want me to go and investigate the situation on the Sun Moon Continent?"

With all due respect, it's unnecessary.

Based on the Soul Guidance Devices captured from the Sun Moon Army, they don't have devices for Soul Guidance sound or image transmission.

This means it's highly likely they still don't know that the army that came to the Douluo Continent has been completely wiped out, and their Emperor is also dead."

"Instead of expending effort to explore their situation, it's better to wait like a hunter by a tree, waiting for them to spend time and effort coming here, and then strike when we are rested and they are weary."

"To develop overseas, the internal forces on the Douluo Continent must first be unified, otherwise there will be plenty of people dragging things down."

To repel external threats, internal stability must first be achieved.

This holds true for the current Douluo Continent, because judging by the technical content of the Soul Guidance Weapons equipped by the Sun Moon Empire Army, they don't significantly surpass the Douluo Continent's life-type Soul Guidance Devices.

It's just that before the Sun Moon Army's invasion, the major forces had been researching Soul Guidance Weapons in secret and had not produced them on a large scale.

This is also why Xiao Hai City was caught off guard and suffered the horrific tragedy of being massacred.

After all, no one had ever thought that people from an overseas Continent would attack...

However, there was also a benefit, which was that it shifted the attention of the major forces on the Douluo Continent from internal strife to overseas matters... But Tang San felt that Spirit Hall should still focus on land development in the short term, as overseas exploration Soul Guidance equipment was far from mature.

Indeed, during the last pursuit of The Fallen, Tang San and others brought out a large number of Soul Guidance Devices from the Golden Ancient Tree, including many Haohai Sky Arks and other ship-type Soul Guidance Devices capable of sailing on the vast sea.

However, the internal principles of those Haohai Sky Arks that could traverse the great sea haven't been fully understood yet.

Spirit Hall cannot learn from the Star Crown Sect.

Without understanding the specific principles, and without even clearly understanding the specific functions of the Haohai Sky Ark, they dared to sail it to explore the sea... Xu Xing being able to find the Sun Moon Continent could be considered having good fortune bestowed upon him in the unseen world.

"Is that so?"

Indeed, I was a bit too hasty.

To conquer the Sun Moon Continent as well, we do need to stabilize the internal situation first."

Bibi Dong felt that made sense, and moreover, during this process, neither she nor Tang San could break through to the God level, otherwise the God Realm would cast its gaze down—Gods cannot interfere too much in the human world.

As for why Sea God Island could have so much faith?

The Sea God is far from the Continent, establishing a place of inheritance only on a sea island.

The beings that provide him with the most faith power are not humans, but rather sea Soul Beasts.

Although sea Soul Beasts also exist within the human world, they do not belong to humans, so—

The Sea God found a loophole in the rules!

It's just a pity for the first generation Angel God, who was exceptionally talented, but chose the wrong object of faith.

Wanting to obtain the faith power of humans led to becoming a muddled ghost.

Thinking of this, Bibi Dong felt she also needed to remind Qian Renxue, lest after inheriting the God Position of the Angel God in the future, she thinks she is invincible and can do whatever she wants...

...

"Grandpa."

That night, Xue Qinghe found an opportunity, resumed her daughter's identity, went to the top of Wu Hun Mountain, entered the Douluo Hall, walked through the Elder Hall, and arrived at the Hall of Offerings.

The halls on Wu Hun Mountain are divided into three layers, from outside to inside, they are the Douluo Hall, the Elder Hall, and the Hall of Offerings.

Douluo Hall, as the name suggests, as long as one becomes a Title Douluo, they can leave their name here and receive a title.

Elder Hall is where Title Douluo who have joined Spirit Hall can leave their names.

The final Hall of Offerings is the place where the statue of the Angel God is enshrined, and it is also the most mysterious area.

Most Soul Masters have never even heard that Spirit Hall has such a hall.

And the people residing within are naturally the offerings to the Angel God, led by Qian Daoliu.

"You're back?"

Qian Daoliu was quite happy to see his granddaughter, but upon learning that she was only temporarily staying here because of the Continental Elite Tournament, his joyful expression immediately subsided, "Xue'er, strength is key.

Why covet power?

You don't need to prove anything to her either."

"Grandpa, I want to know, why exactly does she dislike me?"

Qian Renxue asked directly, "Although the relationship between us seems to have a tendency to ease, I can see that she still holds a grudge against me... Grandpa, you must know something.

Also, my father, did he really die from injuries sustained from Tang Hao, which never healed?"

Qian Daoliu's expression changed.

Seeing Qian Renxue in this state, he immediately knew that if he didn't tell her, his granddaughter would probably cause trouble for him... She was in her rebellious phase.

But, if he told Xue'er, would she still be able to pass the Angel's assessment?

490: Everyone in Wuhun Palace "betrayed" Angel's

"Grandpa, please tell me. Don't treat me like a three-year-old child anymore." Qian Renxue saw her grandfather's expression constantly changing, and knew there must be a problem, so she pressed, "This is almost becoming my inner demon. I went through countless hardships, undercover in Heaven Dou, just to gain her approval."

"But if her dislike for me is due to other reasons, no matter how much I do, it will only slightly stir her compassion..."

"During the time I was the Tian Dou Emperor, I also grew a lot. Plus, I often chatted with Tang San and learned that a dignified Titled Douluo couldn't die from severe injuries. The Clear Sky Hammer's power is strong, but the Angel Spirit is not bad either, and Spirit Hall has plenty of healing Spirit Masters."

"So—"

"My father's death, there's another hidden story... Was it her who delivered the final blow?"

As she spoke, Qian Renxue began to analyze, coming to a conclusion that even startled herself, and then considered her own identity...

"Don't say it! Don't think about it!" Qian Daoliu immediately stopped her, but it was already too late. He had no way to erase others' memories, so he could only close his eyes and nod helplessly, "The conclusion you deduced is correct. Your father was indeed killed by her, and he was devoured in the most cruel way, leaving no bones behind."

"By the time I found out, it was already too late... Originally, I wanted to wait until the moment you inherited the God Position to tell you this, to prevent you from being unable to accept it."

"I just didn't expect your mind to be so sharp."

Looking at her pained grandfather, Qian Renxue felt a mix of emotions.

In the past, she definitely wouldn't have been able to accept it, but after being an emperor for a period of time and dealing with too many matters, she had witnessed similar ethical dramas among nobles—now it was just happening to her.

Why Bibi Dong killed her teacher and why she hated her, the reasons seemed clear—it was all because of her scumbag father's fault!

Why did Qian Xunji do that?

Qian Renxue didn't want to investigate, and felt there was no need to investigate.

Reason?

Bibi Dong was an orphan, and Qian Xunji, as Bibi Dong's teacher, was like a father figure, deeply trusted. And no matter how big a mistake a "daughter" made, her personal dignity should not be insulted.

This was beastly behavior!

If the teacher and disciple had mutual affection and admired each other, like Tang San and Guang Ling, it could become a beautiful story, but that was clearly not the case between Qian Xunji and Bibi Dong.

Qian Renxue was now fortunate that Bibi Dong didn't strangle her when she was still in her infancy. Was it because she still had some mother-daughter affection for her?

Perhaps Tang San had persuaded her...

"Xue'er, since you know the truth, why don't you come back and focus on cultivating and accepting the God test?"

Seeing that Qian Renxue didn't have much of a reaction, Qian Daoliu breathed a sigh of relief, interrupting her thoughts, and showing anticipation, "Only by becoming a Divinity can you control this World."

"But, what about the previous Angel God?" Before coming here, Bibi Dong had found her again, warning her not to become a Divinity, as that would mean losing the right to interfere with the entire continent.

Hearing this question, Qian Daoliu was stunned.

The previous Angel God, that is, the first generation Angel God... How would he know where that person went? In fact, he had no communication with the previous Angel God at all. He only knew that this place of inheritance would give their Angel lineage God tests, and as long as he, the Grand Priest of the Angel lineage, allowed it, others could also receive the God test and become loyal believers of the Angel God.

"Did Bibi Dong tell you anything?" Qian Daoliu, having recovered, realized that Bibi Dong must have told Qian Renxue some secrets about Divinities, perhaps the Divinity Bibi Dong inherited told her something.

"Divinities cannot interfere with the human World, including faith. Once it expands, the God Realm will intervene and enforce the law. In severe cases, Divinities who extensively absorb faith will be killed..." Qian Renxue recounted what Bibi Dong had told her, "Grandpa, you once told me about Sea God Island in the form of a story. That place is a paradise for Sea God's followers. The followers live and work there in peace and contentment, and provide faith to the Sea God... The power of faith is extremely powerful. Why doesn't Spirit Hall expand the Angel God's faith and make everyone a follower of the Angel?"

"Our ancestors left behind ancestral teachings that we must not widely spread the Angel's faith without becoming a Divinity..." Qian Daoliu said this and also reacted, his expression extremely solemn.

If one could not extensively interfere with human affairs after becoming a Divinity, then Xue'er would not be able to take Bibi Dong's Supreme Pontiff position, nor would she be able to personally lead the Empire to unify the continent and spread the glory of the Angel.

But why could the Sea God?

That Sea God Island...

That's right!

Sea God Island!

The Sea God's faith only exists on one island. On the continent side, only fishermen and Sea Spirit Masters in coastal cities have some faith. Others simply don't know of the Sea God's existence!

Qian Daoliu felt that the warnings left by his ancestors, through the "Divine Punishment theory," made perfect sense—the first generation Angel God extensively established Spirit Halls on the continent, absorbing faith, which attracted the attention of the God Realm. Enforcers came down to punish and kill the first generation Angel God, causing the descendants of the Angel to erase that entire history.

"Is that so?" After learning this ancestral teaching, Qian Renxue believed eighty percent of Bibi Dong's warning, and a hint of warmth also rose in her heart—at least, Bibi Dong still cared about her daughter.

"Xue'er, these are all guesses, not true. Improving your strength is ultimately good." Qian Daoliu pulled his thoughts back to the present and said very seriously.

"The matter of accepting the God test will be discussed later. If my mother doesn't become a Divinity, I won't either." Qian Renxue made her decision, "Also, I want to rely on my own efforts to cultivate to rank ninety-nine, to catch up with Tang San."

"Tang San?" Qian Daoliu was stunned, then suddenly reacted and hurriedly asked, "He reached the peerless realm? How is that possible? How old is he?"

That young lad, although his combat power was heaven-defying, was only nineteen years old this year, or twenty by lunar age.

Now he was being told that Tang San had already reached the pinnacle of a Spirit Master?

Was the realm that easy to break through?

"But that's the truth. I saw him before; he has already reached rank ninety-nine, and his spirit ring configuration is also extremely terrifying: eight golden and one chaotic." At this point, Qian Renxue paused, and said, "Grandpa, perhaps this is also her using me to convey a message to you, and a show of force: she no longer fears you."

Qian Daoliu was silent for a long time, then asked, "Is there anything else I don't know?"

"Spirit City is full of Tang San's Spirit. Grandpa, you know that, right?"

"I know. It can increase the concentration of Heaven and Earth energy in the entire Spirit City. What's wrong? Is there some other use?"

"Within Tang San's Spirit, there is a Starry Sky World, similar to a dream. Through the Blue Silver Emperor's roots, a Blue Silver Network has been established, which allows Spirit Hall personnel to transmit sound and images over a thousand miles. Besides that, it can also capture other planes. Currently, it has captured a Spirit Beast Illusion Space. Killing the Spirit Beasts inside can increase the age limit of spirit rings, and there's even a chance to obtain Spirit Bones." Through Qian Daoliu's astonished eyes, Qian Renxue confirmed that her grandfather truly didn't know these things, and couldn't help but sigh, "It seems that besides Grandpa and the other few 供奉, everyone else has already been subdued by her."

Qian Daoliu's face was terrifyingly gloomy—

Shocked that his subordinates had all silently "betrayed" him and defected to Bibi Dong...

Even more shocked that Tang San actually managed to do such things using his Spirit...

But what Qian Daoliu found most unbelievable was that he and others were now isolated and helpless in the current Spirit Hall! Bibi Dong and Tang San's group had hollowed out the faith of their Angel lineage!

The only remaining connection was Qian Renxue.

491: Communication between mother and daughter

When Qian Renxue walked out of the Douluo Hall, Bibi Dong was already waiting outside the door.

"You..."

Before Qian Renxue could finish speaking, Bibi Dong turned and walked down the mountain.

Qian Renxue gritted her teeth, could only quickly follow, and said, "I already know everything. You killed him, right?"

"What? Can't even call him father?" Bibi Dong said coldly, "Did Qian Daoliu tell you everything, or did he hide something?"

"I don't know the specifics. It's just that after being Emperor for a long time, I've seen too many absurd things. Comparing them to my own situation, I made a bold guess." Qian Renxue said this, feeling a bit helpless, "Grandpa just confirmed my statement... My destiny is truly full of twists and turns. I clearly didn't know anything before."

Bibi Dong stopped.

Qian Renxue also stopped.

Finally, Bibi Dong broke the silence first: "Nobles are truly depraved enough."

"Yes, what the hereditary nobles of the Heaven Dou Empire have done is much more excessive than him. Teachers violating students, fathers violating daughters, and so on. I only truly understood these absurdities after I took the throne." A flame appeared in Qian Renxue's eyes, "Compared to you, those people are much more miserable. They don't even have the strength to resist... Do you know? Grandpa wanted me to inherit the position of Angel God quickly, but I refused."

"Oh?" Bibi Dong was surprised.

"It's not because of what you said about Gods being unable to interfere in the human World, but because I have seen the true darkness of the nobles. I want to remove them from this World—"

Qian Renxue's tone rose, "Completely eradicate them!"

It was as if Bibi Dong was seeing this daughter she hadn't seen for a long time for the first time... She thought that after learning the truth, this daughter would go crazy, give up, or become depraved, not caring about anything. But she never thought that she would actually make such a determination.

"When I was little, I was always taught by Grandpa, hoping that I would inherit the God Position and spread the glory of the Angel..."

"When I grew a little older, I found that I was different from other children. I didn't receive your love and didn't know what made you dislike me. I longed for your recognition, so I volunteered to go to the Heaven Dou Empire as an undercover agent..."

"Now, I am the Emperor of the Heaven Dou Empire and have seen a lot. But what I usually consider more is how to develop an Empire, how to take back power from you, or how to restore my daughter's identity... But when I learned the truth of everything, I didn't collapse. Instead, I calmed down."

"Now, I just want to do what I want to do!"

"I no longer live for you!"

Bibi Dong looked at Qian Renxue's back for a while before speaking, "Since that's the case, then go and do what you like to do. I will not give the Spirit Hall to the Angel lineage."

Qian Renxue suddenly turned around, a hint of inexplicable emotion in her eyes, and said lightly, "Can you help me with something?"

"What?"

"Lend me Tang San for a while."

Bibi Dong was silent for a moment, then spat out a word: "Scram."

Qian Renxue smiled and said, "I didn't expect you to lend him anyway. This was just a joke, but just because you can't conquer him doesn't mean I can't."

"If you're done talking nonsense, you can leave." Bibi Dong's expression turned cold, and the slight maternal love she had for Qian Renxue suddenly disappeared—this daughter was still so annoying!

"Not yet. The favor I want to ask you for is to restore my daughter's identity." Qian Renxue shook her head and stated her request, "Dressing up as a man is really uncomfortable. Now Ling Yuan is still acting as my girlfriend... This is truly a very strange thing."

Due to the gossiping of certain people, during her time as Emperor of the Heaven Dou Empire, Qian Renxue ultimately found Ling Yuan to act with her, making her the girlfriend of the Qinghe Emperor.

The betrayal of those small countries and their support for Xue Beng was also partly due to her, the monarch of the Heaven Dou Empire, being too close to Ling Yuan, the Hall Master of the Heaven Dou Spirit Hall Branch.

"This is indeed a strange thing."

Bibi Dong's face showed no expression as she echoed, then after a moment of silence, she said, "I will find a way to restore your female identity. Just wait for the right time. You don't need to worry too much. What you need to do now is to first find a way to govern the Heaven Dou Empire well, and by the way, reclaim the New Tiandou."

"The Edict of Grace that Tang San mentioned is indeed good, but you also need to be careful. That way, there will be more bloodline descendants. Sects and families are all based on direct bloodlines and Martial Souls."

On the Douluo Continent, a family or Sect doesn't believe in oaths or promises, but they absolutely believe in clansmen with the same Martial Soul.

"No need to worry. Tang San's Edict of Grace has also given me many ideas. Extending it, there can be many operations, such as: marriage should also be free, and children's choices should be respected, etc." Qian Renxue said lightly, "Families and Sects are said to be connected by blood, but in reality, they are nothing more than connections of interests. It's just that having the same blood and the same Martial Soul makes them naturally closer. When the interests are greater than the interests connected by blood, betrayal is commonplace."

"Being able to establish large forces like the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School and the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family is not an easy task."

"Those hereditary nobles, although capable, are not many. I can handle them."

Bibi Dong nodded, then spoke about the Haotian Sect: "You need to be careful about this Sect that has recently reappeared on the Continent. Those Hao Tian Disciples supported the Star Luo Empire before they sealed the mountain, but their Sect is within the territory of the Heaven Dou Empire. Well, it is currently located in the mountains between the Heaven Dou Empire and the New Heaven Dou Federation."

Supporting the Star Luo Empire, but the Sect's headquarters are within the Heaven Dou territory.

If you said that the Haotian Sect didn't have the idea of collaborating with the Star Luo Empire from within and outside to destroy the Heaven Dou Empire, neither Bibi Dong nor Qian Renxue would believe it.

At least, the Haotian Sect when Tang Chen was still there definitely had that ambition!

And now—

"Tang Chen has returned to the Haotian Sect and is undergoing the Shura God's trial."

"A God Realm's successor?" Qian Renxue wasn't too surprised, "If Gods truly cannot participate in the conflicts on the Continent and cannot affect the situation on the Continent, then his becoming a God would mean he has to stay out of it... However, listening to your tone, you value him highly. How does the Shura God compare to the Angel God?"

"In front of the Shura God, the Angel God can only be instantly killed." Bibi Dong recounted the information she had obtained from the previous Rakshasa and her discussions and conjectures with Tang San about the God Realm, "The Shura God is a God King level powerhouse, and he is also an enforcer. His strength is far beyond what an ordinary Angel God can compare to."

Qian Renxue's heart sank: "Is that so?"

"Do you want to become stronger?" Bibi Dong suddenly asked.

"You have a way?" Qian Renxue was stunned, then immediately understood something—it was actually very simple for Bibi Dong to kill Qian Daoliu, but she didn't do that, "Has Tang San researched further content in Martial Soul cultivation? No wonder you stayed outside the Douluo Hall before, under the coverage of the Angel God Realm's divine power, even Grandpa didn't discover you."

"Want to learn?"

"You are willing to teach me?" Qian Renxue suddenly became excited, not because she could become stronger, but because Bibi Dong... her mother...

was willing to personally teach her knowledge.

Was the maternal love she longed for about to be realized now?

"Thank Tang San, he helped me come out."

Bibi Dong walked down the mountain, "But don't think I will give up my hatred for the Angel lineage, including you."

"The Angel lineage now only has me and my Grandpa left. There are no other people... I will change your mind."

"It seems you still don't know that the inheritance method of a first-level God like the Angel God is not quite the same as the Rakshasa God I inherited—"

"What do you know?"

"For the inheritance of a God Realm that has a legacy and faith in the human World like yours, the final Ninth Trial is to obtain the final God Position of the corresponding God Realm, and the God Position exists within another space. Opening that space requires a considerable price."

"What price?"

"I won't tell you."

"..."

492: Conversation with Xue Qinghe (Part 1)

After descending the mountain, Qian Renxue was preparing to return to the royal high-class hotel arranged by Bibi Dong, when she saw Tang San and Gu Yuena walking towards the Soul Martial Manor, chatting and laughing.

She had an idea, leaped several hundred meters in a few steps, then slowly walked over and greeted, "What a coincidence, Brother Tang, do you live here?"

"Greetings, Qinghe Emperor."

At this time, Qian Renxue had already resumed her male attire, and since they were not in a private setting, Tang San naturally used a more formal address.

"There's no need to be so polite.

This isn't a formal occasion either.

I call you Brother Tang, and you call me Dai Xue, to show our friendship."

Xue Qinghe laughed heartily.

"Dai Xue is truly generous."

Tang San didn't stand on ceremony either, and a single "Dai Xue" immediately brought their relationship closer.

Together with Gu Yuena, he accompanied her towards the royal hotel.

"Brother Tang, what is your duty here in Spirit Hall City?"

Xue Qinghe wanted to know what Tang San did in Spirit Hall City.

"Mainly researching Martial Soul, Soul Power cultivation, supplemented by research on qi and blood, Spiritual Power, and such.

After that, it's researching the Physical Martial Soul."

Tang San spoke generally.

If outsiders investigated, they could find out by just asking someone, but he didn't mention any specific details.

After all, there were still pedestrians on the road, and it wouldn't be good if others overheard.

Xue Qinghe asked curiously, "Physical Martial Soul?"

That is indeed a very rare Martial Soul.

Spirit Hall has been searching for owners of this type of Martial Soul in recent years.

Could you tell us, what is so magical about this type of Martial Soul?"

Tang San glanced around, seeing that the sky was getting darker and the pedestrians were gradually decreasing, he said, "Based on the research data currently available, I have made a bold speculation, which is that the Physical Martial Soul is the Martial Soul that humans should have originally possessed.

The other Martial Souls are all influenced by other external factors, combined with their own thoughts and concepts, before gradually taking shape."

"In the beginning, the Martial Soul should have just been a mass of formless, peculiar energy.

At the beginning of awakening, it would choose a fixed form based on a person's expectations, and the closest thing to humans is nothing more than the body."

"It was only later that, influenced by various factors, other Martial Souls were born."

"In the beginning of antiquity, humans developed stone tools, which greatly facilitated human hunting and Life.

Therefore, this strong desire for stone tools also caused the Martial Soul to solidify into the appearance of an artifact when it awakened."

"The origin of the Martial Soul can sense one's thoughts and respond."

"Of course, once the external form of the Martial Soul is fixed, it will tend to be stable.

Under normal circumstances, it is difficult for it to change again.

Either through cultivation and attaching Soul Rings, causing the Martial Soul to change, or through hereditary transmission from generation to generation, due to changes in the environment and their own migration, changes in their beliefs for survival, thus causing the solidified Martial Soul to evolve from generation to generation."

Xue Qinghe nodded repeatedly, "This is the 'Martial Soul Evolution Theory'.

Brother Tang's work, I have read it all.

It is reasonable and well-founded, convincing.

Every Martial Soul is an evolution from the ancestors' struggle against nature."

"This is just the evolution method of the Martial Soul."

Tang San continued, "As for beast Martial Souls, a large part of them, as I speculated, also evolved from the original unsettled Martial Soul origin.

According to some mountain villages and ruins in remote areas of the Continent, ancient ancestors worshipped Soul Beasts with extraordinary power and regarded them as totems.

Under intense thought, their Martial Soul origins solidified into the appearance of Soul Beasts."

Xue Qinghe also agreed, "There are also related records in the Heaven Dou's collection of books.

In areas where Soul Masters are scarce, the local people would use Soul Beasts as totems for sacrificial activities and the like.

Perhaps this is the most primitive form of belief."

For Tang San, the solidification of an unsettled Martial Soul was due to the desire for the corresponding object.

But for Qian Renxue, perhaps this was the ancient ancestors, through worship, generating the power of faith, and unknowingly utilizing this power to give the formless Martial Soul origin the shape they thought and desired.

It's just that this kind of "solidification" is very stable, and although it can be changed, it requires time.

"Besides that, there is also a part of beast Martial Souls that should be given to humans by Soul Beasts."

"Soul Beasts?"

Xue Qinghe was surprised, then thought of something and narrowed his eyes, "Brother Tang means, Ten-thousand year soul beast that have transformed?"

"That's right, according to my estimation, the ancestors of powerful beast Martial Souls most likely had a powerful Ten-thousand year soul beast that had transformed, after all, these Soul Beasts need to attach great importance to the so-called bloodline power if they want to become powerful."

Tang San stated his conjecture, "For example: Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family, White Tiger Family, Nether Cat Family."

"Of course, it's just a conjecture..."

"Oh right, I've found that a part of powerful beast Martial Souls can also transform in the direction of Martial Soul.

For example, Serpent Spear Title Douluo, who recently returned to Spirit Hall City, his Martial Soul can transform back and forth between Martial Soul and beast Martial Soul, in between the two."

Xue Qinghe smiled faintly, "Isn't your Haotian Hammer the same, Brother Tang?"

Tang San nodded slightly, "Indeed, and my main Martial Soul can also transform between plant and artifact..."

Perhaps the human species is naturally equipped with a brain that is good at thinking, flexible fingers, long arms, and legs that walk upright, naturally suited for "making good use of objects".

Beast Martial Souls should be more symbolic, used to stimulate the body's instinctive belligerence, but the most fundamental purpose is still to allow humans to control objects.

After all, humans with beast Martial Souls, at the same level, are inferior to true Soul Beasts of the same type in all aspects except intelligence.

And with weapons, even a physically weak human can still find a way to kill animals many times larger than themselves.

Xue Qinghe heard this statement for the first time and was also surprised, but Tang San continued, "This is just my personal opinion, my own thoughts.

I won't publish this kind of speculation, after all, I don't have the ability to stand at the top of the river of time and look down on the future.

Just take it as entertainment."

However, Xue Qinghe believed that Tang San's speculation was very reasonable, after all, considering the body of an ordinary human (excluding factors such as Soul Power, qi and blood, Spiritual Power, Soul Bone, etc.), it is naturally not suitable for comparing speed, strength, and defense with those fierce beasts.

The only outstanding aspect is perhaps a naturally intelligent brain and flexible limbs.

"Besides these, are there any other Martial Souls?

For example: Angel."

Xue Qinghe asked about other special Martial Souls.

"I always exclude this type of Martial Soul before researching."

"Why?"

Xue Qinghe didn't understand why Tang San discriminated.

"Because this type of Martial Soul is influenced by a power that surpasses the mortal level, which is the influence of divine power."

Tang San said with a slight heaviness, "After a Martial Soul is solidified, if you want to change it, under normal circumstances, you can only change it through hereditary transmission from generation to generation, as well as cultivation and attaching Soul Rings.

But for divine power, changing a Martial Soul is like eating bean sprouts—a piece of cake."

"According to my estimation, as long as God is willing, no matter how weak a Martial Soul is, it can be made powerful."

"The power of God surpasses Soul Power, and the dissipation of its energy can even change the level of Life."

Dark Demon Evil God Tiger—

Before being descended upon by the power of the Evil God, it was nothing more than an ordinary White Tiger.

493: Conversation with Xue Qinghe (Part 2)

"Brother Tang is indeed meticulous."

As the successor of the Angel God, Xue Qinghe was actually not very clear about the power of the God level, the only thing he knew was that the power of God was immense.

Because the previous Angel God was completely dead, only a divine position was left, as well as the power of faith that was condensed in the Hall of Offerings at that time.

If Bibi Dong hadn't revealed some secrets, Qian Renxue's thoughts on becoming a God might have only been one: After becoming a God, no one can be an enemy.

But now, Qian Renxue had become cautious about becoming a God.

After all, she didn't want to be bound by another, even more powerful God Realm that she couldn't resist after becoming a God.

"It can't be considered meticulous, after all, there are still many objective factors that cannot be excluded. Martial Soul research definitely requires human cooperation, and there won't be multiple identical people in the World, and their personalities are also different, so we can only collect a large amount of data."

Tang San shook his head, sighed, and then talked about Physical Martial Souls, "For this type of Martial Soul, most people in the past thought it was a waste Martial Soul, either with zero innate Soul Power, or only one or two ranks, and even if they could cultivate, they couldn't cultivate anything special."

"But the fact is, this type of Martial Soul possesses a talent that ordinary Martial Souls do not!"

"That is, as long as their physical fitness keeps up, their cultivation speed will also increase. In the best case, they can reach the cultivation speed of innate full Soul Power."

"As for the reason, I have only thought of one so far, which is that this type of Martial Soul is the same as a part of the body, and every part of the human body, except for things like hair which may not be very important, the rest are indispensable organs. Considering the mutual induction between Martial Souls and people, humans instinctively will not dislike a part of their body, unless their mind generates despair towards Life, producing thoughts of suicide or similar."

Hearing this, Xue Qinghe was stunned, finding it extremely unbelievable, but according to Tang San's theory of [Mutual Induction between Martial Soul and Mind], it did make sense.

If that were the case, wouldn't it mean that at the very beginning, everyone's starting point was the same?

Instead, was it because of various desires and worship that the unformed Martial Soul origin underwent specific shaping, leading to a distinction between superior and inferior Martial Souls?

"Perhaps it's like this."

Tang San's eyes became distant, as if he had become a charlatan, "Humans produced desires, so they were punished, and this punishment was not imposed by the God Realm, but was self-inflicted by humans."

Qian Renxue was thoughtful, remembering the kindness and magnanimity of the Angel, and the sharp glint in her eyes couldn't help but become firmer!

And Tang San continued, "A dragon gives birth to a dragon, a phoenix gives birth to a phoenix, and a mouse is born knowing how to dig holes. The inheritance of bloodline is also very obvious on Martial Souls. Excluding those mutated types that can't be seen in their original form, you can determine whether a child is biological by their Martial Soul awakening at the age of six."

"But the inheritance of Physical Martial Souls is different from other Martial Souls."

"For example, if both the father's and mother's Martial Souls are hands, the child's Martial Soul having hands will have a slightly higher probability, but situations like arms, thighs, chest, ribs, etc., might also appear."

"Among the Physical Martial Soul owners currently staying in Spirit Hall City, there are several couples whose children also have Physical Martial Souls, but not many are exactly the same as their parents... You might think they are not the father's biological children, but these children all look relatively similar to their fathers, the one who looks the most similar is almost carved from the same mold."

Qian Renxue knew that this was to rule out the possibility that those children were not biological, and to clarify one thing, which was that the inheritance of Physical Martial Souls was more unstable than other Martial Souls.

This so-called "instability" was perhaps providing theoretical support for the previous statement that [the vast majority of humanity's initial Martial Souls and Beast Martial Souls were shaped by strong thoughts].

Although it could not be completely used as supporting evidence, Qian Renxue already understood why Tang San was so powerful — while other Soul Masters were still considering which Soul Ring to obtain, he was already researching issues such as the origin of Martial Souls, the essence of Martial Souls, the mutation and evolution of Martial Souls, and so on.

How many steps ahead was this?

Perhaps, this was what a true Soul Master was, not only mastering power but also understanding the essence of power and comprehending the specific changes within it.

And the vast majority of Soul Masters were just constantly accumulating power, and then using Soul Rings to release Soul Skills, at most honing the best techniques for using Soul Skills through training.

That is, combat experience.

But what about Tang San?

How was his combat experience?

Qian Renxue had already witnessed it in the previous Continental Elite Tournament, it was imaginative and adaptable.

She could see that Tang San... at least five years ago, Tang San didn't have much combat experience at all, but his powerful physical fitness, profound Soul Power, and keen spiritual perception allowed him to engage in crushing battles against students from other academies, with various flexible combat methods emerging endlessly.

It was truly free and unrestrained, doing as he pleased!

"Brother Tang, I really want to fight you."

Xue Qinghe's eyes were burning, if his identity were not easily exposed, he would definitely personally experience Tang San's power.

"Are you kidding?"

Gu Yuena spoke, "Don't you know what realm Tang San is in now?"

"It's precisely because I know that I want to, to see the gap between me and him, little sister."

Qian Renxue reached out to touch Gu Yuena's soft silver hair, but she dodged it, muttering, "I don't play with guys who are neither male nor female."

Xue Qinghe, whose mouth twitched, awkwardly withdrew his hand, looked around, and seeing no one around, glared at Tang San, "Some things can't be said carelessly to children."

The implication was that he was blaming Tang San for telling her affairs to someone who shouldn't know, which might cause trouble in the future, at least her handle had been caught by this little girl.

Tang San said calmly, "No one will believe a little girl's words."

Gu Yuena raised her head and puffed out her chest, put her hands on her hips, looked up at Qian Renxue, and said seriously, "That's right, I'm a child, who would believe what I say?"

Qian Renxue was also confused by this scene, then she thought of public opinion and reacted — indeed, without enough status, there is not enough right to speak. Truth and falsehood, reality and illusion, naturally the statements of these people are more likely to gain the trust and support of the common people, while others, even if they discover the truth, will only be considered fake.

[Truth] is always in the hands of them, the authorities!

Of course, Qian Renxue also understood that this power must absolutely not be abused, otherwise it would also suffer backlash, thus losing the trust of the people —

As expected, communicating with Tang San always yielded considerable benefits from him.

Tang San just wanted to say: What did I say? Weren't we just discussing Physical Martial Souls and a whole bunch of speculations about the origin of Martial Souls that extended from it?

How did the sentence that Qian Renxue understood the most deeply end up being guidance on "public opinion"?

It can only be said that after being Emperor for a long time, one's thinking also tends towards that of a ruler.

When they arrived at the inn, Wang Chen greeted them with a smile, but when he saw Tang San, that smile abruptly stopped —

494: Talking with Xue Qinghe Bingzhu at night

Wang Chen had long anticipated seeing the person he least wanted to meet in Spirit City, and had even prepared thoroughly. Yet, the moment he saw him, he still couldn't accept it!

Damn it!

You already have a harem, and you still want to steal the moonlight in his heart. Is there no justice, no law in this world?

"Your Majesty, you've returned." After composing himself, Wang Chen greeted respectfully.

"How about we go inside and have a chat, Tang? We haven't seen each other in a long time, so we have a lot to talk about." Xue Qinghe ignored the expectant Wang Chen and instead invited Tang San.

"I am the Spirit Hall Saint Child and also the Silverblue Earl of the Heaven Dou Empire. Since Your Majesty invites, I naturally cannot refuse." With outsiders present, Tang San's address to Xue Qinghe was more respectful.

Xue Qinghe nodded slightly, then said to Wang Chen, "Go prepare some supper. I want to talk with Tang until dawn, seeking his wisdom."

Seeking essence?

Wang Chen misunderstood, but still respectfully agreed, very obediently—he believed that with his sincerity, he could definitely move Qian Renxue and make her understand his feelings.

As the saying goes: where there is sincerity, even metal and stone will open.

Tang San is promiscuous, a scumbag.

But he is: among three thousand weak waters, he only takes one scoop, making him exceptionally loyal.

Looking at his departing back, Tang San couldn't help but think of a certain upright, dark-skinned sheep—"Tang, how should I reclaim the New Heaven Dou Federation?" Upon entering the hotel room, Xue Qinghe personally poured tea for Tang San and Gu Yuena, and brought up the matter.

"You know, I don't get involved in conflicts and disputes between nations on the continent, and besides, this should be a 'family matter' for you," Tang San tactfully refused. "The Edict of Grace was merely a theoretical discussion for me; its actual implementation still depends on you."

"What I need is your theoretical strategy." Xue Qinghe revealed an eager expression, as if a lustful woman had seen a peerless handsome man.

Tang San asked, "Wang Chen should also be able to say these things, right?"

"Him?" Xue Qinghe scoffed, "When he was young, he indeed had many novel ideas, but unfortunately, they were useless to me at the time—now, to use your words, his thinking is rigid, and his mind is full of mush."

Environment has a significant impact on people. Even a Transmigrator with immense talent, raised by Xue Qinghe through 'eagle training' since childhood, would forget much during that period of growth.

Wang Chen was precisely like this. After enduring numerous setbacks, even with immense unwillingness in his heart, he had already developed a passive 'conditioned reflex,' much like Fang Zhongyong, fading into obscurity among the masses.

"It can't be said that way," Tang San thought that Wang Chen's ability to get to this point was already quite good. Haven't some of the other Transmigrators already died?

However—

"It's actually simple to take down New Tiandou."

"The New Heaven Dou Federation formed because you wanted to eliminate the old aristocratic forces within the Empire, which led to the alliance of those kingdom nobles. However, such an alliance is actually not stable."

"They cannot achieve effective unity. When fighting the Sun Moon Army in Xiao Hai City, the army brought by Xue Beng had the largest numbers, but their coordination was the worst."

"If it were a direct assault, the Heaven Dou Empire could easily destroy the New Heaven Dou Federation, but that would be a costly victory and might make the Star Luo Empire feel there's an opportunity to exploit, right?"

Xue Qinghe nodded. For her, the New Heaven Dou Federation was nothing. The only trouble was that the Star Luo Empire might take the opportunity to mobilize troops.

In addition, the entry of the Sun Moon Empire forced her to consider overseas factors.

Also, the research into spirit tool weapons has been brought into the open. All nations are researching them, and no one dares to act rashly, only dispatching their respective spies for deeper investigation.

It can be said that currently, Heaven Dou, New Tiandou, Star Luo, and Spirit Hall all have their own spies—only the Spirit Hall here in Spirit City is slightly better; any spies can be directly rooted out.

Because of the Blue Silver Network, all spy activities are conducted openly right under Tang San's nose.

"The reason those kingdoms chose Xue Beng is because he is a Bloodline descendant of Emperor Xue Ye; they truly care about the word 'legitimacy'."

"If they were to elect their own king to be the Federal Lord, that would truly be rebellion."

"Reputation is very important, especially in this era where information spreads very quickly, it is even more crucial."

In the past, when there were disturbances in the imperial family, common people didn't know about it and naturally didn't care.

But now, with public opinion propaganda, it's easy to incite emotions. The natural tendency to watch a spectacle can drive a large number of people to proclaim their own 'justice'.

Although true keyboard warriors have not yet appeared on the Douluo Continent, due to the development of spirit tools, the reduced cost of newspapers and spirit guidance cameras, coupled with Spirit Hall establishing elementary Spirit Hall Academies in villages and towns across the continent, spreading new ideas and selling high-yield crop seeds, allowing people to eat their fill while also increasing the literacy interest of the continent's populace, this enables them to know things they wouldn't ordinarily know, and then openly or secretly express their views.

Don't be fooled by the New Heaven Dou Federation's current 'closed-door policy,' preventing residents from various kingdoms from leaving. In reality, many insightful individuals within its borders have been continuously spreading outside news into the territory.

"So, you mean to tarnish their reputation, to the point where the people of the entire continent reach a consensus, right?"

Xue Qinghe's eyes lit up. "Those guys already have a bad reputation, and their internal unity isn't strong. Perhaps a little divisive scheme could make them fall apart."

"But how should it be implemented?"

Tang San stretched lazily and slowly said, "I don't know about that, but I can only say that they allied together to resist your reforms, wanting to preserve their hereditary status, honor, and wealth."

Having been prompted this far, Xue Qinghe naturally understood what to do—find certain kings, promise them hereditary rights, or even approach every single king. There would always be a few confused individuals who would believe it.

She didn't expect them to truly fall apart because of this, but as long as there were conflicts, they could be continuously amplified. Even if they knew it was a divisive scheme, once a rift was planted, even if pulled out, it would leave a hole, never returning to its original state.

Gu Yuena watched Tang San and Xue Qinghe, smiling but saying nothing, pursing her lips and secretly sneering, "What evil humans, to devise so many schemes and tricks—but the relationships between humans are truly complex. I'm almost assimilated into a human. If I return to my true form in the future, I definitely won't want to live in those deep mountains and old forests again."

"However, for now, with my relationship with Tang San, it's not impossible to just 'lie flat' and let the Spirit Beasts move to another place."

"Unfortunately, neither Tang San nor I allow ourselves to 'lie flat'—"

495: resurrection? Or a sacrifice?

When Tang San brought Gu Yuena and opened the door, preparing to leave, he happened to see Wang Chen with a face full of resentment and ferocity. He didn't say much, just turned around, bid farewell to Xue Qinghe, and left the inn.

"You took so long to deliver a late-night snack?" After seeing Tang San off, Xue Qinghe turned and asked Wang Chen.

"Hearing that you and Tang San were having a pleasant conversation, I didn't dare to knock," Wang Chen replied softly, lowering his head while holding the snack box.

Xue Qinghe stopped and fell silent.

Just as Wang Chen thought Xue Qinghe was about to show concern for him, he heard her say, "From now on, you must not call him by his name directly. You must call him Saint Child or Silverblue Earl. Understood?"

Wang Chen was stunned, wanting to cry but having no tears. Still, he nodded and said, "Understood, Your Majesty."

"Go rest."

"Your Majesty, there is one more thing I wish to request."

"What is it?"

"My age still qualifies, and I can participate in this Continental Elite Tournament. Perhaps I can win honor for you," Wang Chen said confidently. Five years later, his strength had also reached the Soul Emperor level.

"Aren't you afraid of making a fool of yourself?" Xue Qinghe's expression darkened. "Tang San and the others aren't participating, so why are you trying to join in the fun? The essential purpose of the Continental Elite Tournament has always been to select talent, not to show off, although it does have that effect. The fundamental reason is still to select talent for the major powers."

"If you enter, others won't think highly of you because, in the eyes of outsiders, you already belong to the Heaven Dou Empire royal family. They will only think that I am competing unfairly to win the championship."

"At that time, this Continental Elite Tournament will no longer be a place for selecting talent, but a battleground for the major powers to contend with each other."

Wang Chen was stunned, feeling helpless.

Then, Xue Qinghe started speaking words of wisdom: "Don't dwell on past failures; have a broad mind, otherwise you will never escape your mental predicament."

"You must know—"

"Take a step back, and the sea and sky will be vast."

Wang Chen: "....." Those words definitely didn't come from Qian Renxue... What on earth did Tang San teach her?

But at this moment, he could only nod and agree...

...

In the blink of an eye, three days before the start of the Continental Elite Tournament, Tang San took Xiao Wu to the Starry Sky World and met her mother's soul.

Over the past few years of nurturing, Xiao Wu's mother's soul had also fully recovered.

Resurrection, it was today!

But—

"Xiao Wu!" Seeing Xiao Wu arrive, Xiao Wu's mother's soul, who looked almost exactly like Xiao Wu, exclaimed, "Did you also die and come to the World of the undead? Is this person next to you your husband? Did he die with you?"

"...Mom, I'm not dead yet." Xiao Wu was originally quite touched by being able to reunite with her mother, but upon hearing her mother ask that, she suddenly calmed down—her mother was very caring when she was alive, but she also had a very lively personality. Her own personality was inherited from her!

After Tang San's explanation, Xiao Wu's mother suddenly understood and then asked, "So, I'm the only one who died? Woo woo woo, Xiao Wu, Mom is sorry!"

Xiao Wu pushed away her mother's soul who was hugging her. Seeing Tang San's half-smiling eyes, she felt even more disgusted with her mother... Leaving aside the issue of the Undying True Spirit, just this attitude reminded Xiao Wu of embarrassing incidents she absolutely didn't want to remember...

"Cough cough, Mom, be careful. My man is watching," Xiao Wu finally pushed away her mother and then introduced her to Tang San, "This is my mother, Xiao Rou."

"Hello, handsome young man, would you like to go on a date?" Xiao Rou was very bold, winking at Tang San and even flirting with him in front of Xiao Wu, not shy at all.

"I'm sure now, memories are definitely the key to a person's soul!" Xiao Wu was so angry that the braid behind her head stuck up—her mother Xiao Rou was exactly the same as in her memory. She didn't feel much before, but now that she thought about it, her mother had barely been responsible at all. Raising her daughter was like raising a living toy.

Xiao Rou also stopped fooling around at this moment and said seriously, "Thank you for taking care of Xiao Wu all these years, and for saving a wisp of my residual soul from that woman for her..."

"But I also understand that even with the same memories, I am still not Xiao Wu's original mother."

"I recovered from that wisp of residual soul. If there were other residual souls that survived and had similar opportunities, they could still recover into another Xiao Rou."

"So, let's not resurrect me."

Xiao Wu was startled and said, "Mom, you..."

"Xiao Wu, I'm already very happy to see you happy," Xiao Rou looked at Xiao Wu and smiled slightly. "I'm really sorry just now. As soon as we met, I couldn't help but tease you."

Xiao Wu: "....." Give me back my感动! You bastard mother!

"Auntie, are you really not planning to resurrect?" Tang San looked at Xiao Rou, having temporarily given up thinking about the composition of the soul, and asked curiously.

"It's better not to do things like resurrection from the dead," Xiao Rou shook her head. "Since I'm already dead, my physical body has probably already returned to nature. Even if you help reconstruct it, it would be another body... Also, maybe I would compete with Xiao Wu for a man."

"Cough!"

Speaking of this, Xiao Rou coughed lightly, glanced at Xiao Wu who was staring at her openly, and said, "Now that the child has grown up and doesn't need my care anymore, and I'm not the original one, there's really no need to resurrect... Speaking of which, Xiao Wu, you've reached level eighty now, right? How about I sacrifice myself to you?"

Xiao Wu's Soul Power level was close behind Tang San's, but because she didn't want to hunt Soul Beasts, she had never obtained a Soul Ring. Coupled with Tang San being able to give her the aura of Eternity and Creation, allowing her to break free from the rule restriction of not being able to break through without a Soul Ring on the Douluo Continent, she hadn't thought about obtaining a Soul Ring again.

At this time, her Soul Power had already reached level eighty-three.

"Sacrifice? Don't be ridiculous. You're just a soul, and you don't have any cultivation. Moreover, after resurrection, you'll only be human," Xiao Wu hoped she wouldn't think about such things.

"No, I can sacrifice myself. After all, for my resurrection, a physical body must be created first. As long as I don't resurrect to my peak period and then sacrifice myself, it should be possible," Xiao Rou said her naive idea.

"That seems to make some sense," Xiao Wu also agreed.

"So, have you considered my idea?" Tang San expressed his thought, and then was glared at by the mother and daughter together, as if he had disrupted their "communication."

Helpless, Tang San shrugged, signaling for the two to continue.

Resurrection?

Or sacrifice?

If Xiao Rou were the original one, Tang San felt that resurrection would naturally be best. But the Undying True Spirit of the soul was clearly no longer the original one. How could this be the same person?

Memories and the soul's outer shell could both be replicated!

496: The eighth soul skill: Space Oven!

Finally, no matter how Xiao Wu and Tang San tried to persuade her, Xiao Rou had made up her mind to sacrifice herself to Xiao Wu, so that they wouldn't be awkward when they met in the future.

"Son-in-law, I'll leave Xiao Wu and me in your care from now on," Xiao Rou entrusted Tang San, but why did these words sound so strange?

However, with Xiao Rou sacrificing herself to Xiao Wu and the mother and daughter becoming one, Tang San, in a sense, really had to take care of both of them at the same time.

"Hmph! I knew it, you had ill intentions!" Xiao Wu seemed to see through everything, after all, her lively personality before meeting Tang San was inherited from her mother!

How could she not know what this woman was thinking deep down?

A man who snatches his daughter's man...

Although this was a joke, being Soft Bone Rabbits, their preferences were the same, and if she were truly resurrected and spent a long time with them, she might actually fall in love with Third Brother.

Furthermore, Xiao Rou now also understood that from a higher perspective, she was not the mother of her original self, and if that kind of thing really happened then... Xiao Wu was sure that her mother would definitely use this point as an excuse.

Her desire to sacrifice herself now was also to avoid future awkwardness.

"Don't worry, Auntie, you won't completely die after you sacrifice yourself, I can make you a Soul Spirit." Saying that, Tang San summoned Wu Lin, Wu Tong, Ling Yun, A Lan, and Feng Wu Tong.

Especially Feng Wu Tong, who started spewing suggestive remarks as soon as she appeared—

"Emperor, you finally called me out?"

"Are you planning a secret date with me?"

"Oh no, there are others here? Your girlfriend is here too!"

"How disappointing!"

Xiao Rou's eyes revealed a hint of danger: "Daughter, your man has quite a few women around him, you need to be careful, lest he be snatched away by other bad women."

Tang San naturally wouldn't hide his new Soul Spirits from Xiao Wu, and she naturally wouldn't be angry about it, but said: "Alright, Mom, don't stir up trouble, these are all Third Brother's Soul Spirits, they actively sacrificed themselves to him, they are good partners who can grow together with him, now Tang San's worst Soul Ring is at the million-year level, speaking of which, these Soul Spirits are all at the God level. You can treat them as Third Brother and my common daughters, it's just that the last one, Feng Wu Tong, just arrived and isn't very sensible."

Feng Wu Tong wasn't having it, she flew to Xiao Wu and pouted, saying angrily: "What do you mean I just arrived? The great Plant Emperor and I have had a spiritual connection for a long time, and I've been staying in his Spiritual Sea, in terms of intimacy, I'm much closer than you."

"You fellow, you really are disobedient!" Xiao Wu grabbed the palm-sized Feng Wu Tong and tickled her armpit, making her laugh heartily, even shedding tears, which then turned into energy as they fell.

Seeing this scene, Xiao Rou showed a look of relief: It seems Xiao Wu has found a good man, which really makes her mother envious, but—

"Will I also become like this in the future?"

The appearance of a Soul Spirit...

On the point of [cuteness], it was indeed true, but she was Xiao Wu's mother after all, if she turned into this child-like appearance in the future, wouldn't she be played with in Xiao Wu's hands?

This daughter wouldn't return all the [things she had done to her in the past tens of thousands of years] back onto her, would she—teasing her with Blue Silver Grass, tempting her with carrots, making her a flowery skirt with Da Ming's fur and Er Ming's scales, and so on.

Thinking of the things she had done to Xiao Wu before, Xiao Rou shivered and felt that her idea of sacrificing herself just now was a bit too decisive.

"No," Tang San guaranteed, "They just like to maintain this appearance, it's actually very easy for them to transform into adult form."

As their Soul Rings evolved to the million-year level, Soul Spirits like Wu Lin could naturally switch freely between child and adult forms, the reason they chose to appear as children might be that they were used to this body, or perhaps because appearing in this body gave them enough reason to sit on Tang San's shoulder or head.

Openly and honestly!

If they turned into adults, they could only follow beside Tang San.

Although Xiao Rou was not sacrificing herself to Tang San, with Tang San's current ability, assisting Xiao Rou in becoming a Soul Spirit after her sacrifice and maintaining her adult appearance was also an effortless matter.

The formation of a Soul Spirit requires three foundations: a powerful soul, abundant Life force, and an energy entity that can carry its bloodline aura (the Soul Bone energy before it takes shape).

Tang San's five great Soul Spirits: Wu Lin, Wu Tong, Ling Yun, A Lan, and Feng Wu Tong, are all like this.

Of course, this type of Soul Spirit of Tang San is not the same thing as the "Soul Spirit" created by that Iliex in the Douluo Dalu 2 plot.

Xiao Rou's current situation—

The above three foundations, even the energy entity that carries its bloodline aura, can be possessed after resurrection, not to mention that the Blue Silver Emperor's ninth Soul Ring comes from the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, possessing the power of Creation, plus Ilyas lives within Tang San's upper dantian, so transforming her into a true Soul Spirit is also an easy matter.

"That's good," Xiao Rou's soul body seemed to let out a sigh of relief, and then smiled, "Then let's start quickly, I can't wait to merge with my daughter."

"Oh right, my precious daughter, what kind of Soul Skill do you want?"

"Mom can have some choices."

Xiao Wu thought for a while and said, "My first Soul Ring strengthens the waist, the second Soul Ring: ears → brain, the third Soul Ring: spine, the fourth Soul Ring: thighs; the fifth Soul Ring: arms, the sixth Soul Ring: nervous system."

"As for the seventh Soul Ring, it's mainly about entering maturity and strengthening the entire body in all aspects."

"As for the eighth Soul Ring, it's probably about strengthening the internal organs, although I have already cultivated Third Brother's Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method, strengthening them again with a Soul Ring is also a good option, that way, it will be completely integrated."

Xiao Rou looked at Tang San, thoughtfully, and said, "I feel like you don't resemble a Soft Bone Rabbit at all. But as a mother, I naturally have to fulfill my daughter's wish, although Soft Bone Rabbits are weak, their running speed is extremely fast, and to run fast, they must also possess an indispensable strong internal organ system, the Soft Bone Rabbit clan also has similar skills..."

Xiao Wu was stunned: "How come I didn't know?"

Xiao Wu originally only hoped that her mother's sacrifice could slightly strengthen her internal organs, she didn't expect that the Soft Bone Rabbit clan also had skills related to internal organs.

"It's mainly because I died too early and didn't have time to tell you," Xiao Rou sighed, then smiled again, "But it's not too late now—just as I said, Soft Bone Rabbits are fast and have good endurance, it's not just enough to have soft and developed bones, they also need an internal organ system that is far stronger than other species."

Tang San affirmed: "I agree with this point, if the body size of a Dragon Clan Soul Beast is compressed to the same size as a Soft Bone Rabbit and they are at the same age, and without comparing other aspects of their stats, just comparing the frequency of internal organ operation, Soft Bone Rabbits far surpass the Dragon Clan."

But this does not mean that their energy utilization efficiency also surpasses the Dragon Clan—

Tang San didn't say the latter half of the sentence, after all, since Xiao Rou dared to say this, it's likely that the Soft Bone Rabbit's internal organs also have secret uses that he doesn't know about.

"Good son-in-law, you have insight."

Xiao Rou winked at Tang San, admiring him more and more, then soothed Xiao Wu, whose fists had hardened again, and continued, "And the application of internal organs is actually related to the power of space..."

497: The eternity of life, level eighty-nine

Spatial power, after a Soft Bones Rabbit reaches the Ten-thousand year level, is a kind of ability that naturally arises from the root of its bloodline. However, unlike other Spirit Beasts with spatial abilities, the Soft Bones Rabbit's spatial power is very weak, and there are only two ways to develop it: Paragon Golden Body and Teleportation.

Teleportation goes without saying, and Paragon Golden Body doesn't actually make the physical body indestructible; it merely relies on spatial power to cover the body surface with a spatial membrane.

Overall, for the application of spatial power, a typical Ten-thousand year Soft Bones Rabbit only has these two methods.

"It is said that the bloodline of our Soft Bones Rabbit clan originates from the Dragon Rabbit, which is a type of rabbit with dragon bloodline, and it is the most noble golden bloodline," Xiao Rou said, recalling the memories passed down through generations of Soft Bones Rabbits, sighing endlessly. "And what I mean by strengthening the internal organs is actually related to spatial power."

"After mastering spatial power, by operating it in a specific way, it can be attached to the five internal organs, and even the brain, forming an extremely strong digestive system."

"We Soft Bones Rabbits are more sensitive to plants and can distinguish which plants are beneficial to us, which plants, when eaten together, or mixed with some peculiar rocks and soil, can bring us the greatest benefits."

"This is also the reason why this lineage of Soft Bones Rabbits can become a Ten-thousand year soul beast."

Upon hearing this, Xiao Wu suddenly understood.

It turns out that the Soft Bones Rabbit clan are natural alchemy masters! It's just that their method of refining elixirs is to eat various herbs and minerals, letting them naturally react within their body organs, then skipping the step of solidifying the elixir, allowing the medicinal effects to naturally permeate the body.

No wonder she had such great talent in medicine!

So, the internal organs of the Soft Bones Rabbit are natural alchemy furnaces. Her current research into medicine, refining medicines and elixirs, is also bionics, but she's imitating herself?

Tang San's realization was even deeper: nature is humanity's best teacher; what is called 'close to the Dao' is probably being close to nature.

Xiao Rou continued, "This ability requires extremely strong control over spirit power and sufficient perception of space to be performed; ordinary Ten-thousand year Soft Bones Rabbits cannot do it."

Xiao Wu's face was covered in black lines, feeling that her mother was subtly criticizing her past self.

"However, the current you should be able to do it."

"I can sense that you also seem to possess a spatial Domain, right? And the space opened up by the Soft Bones Rabbit lineage has also been inherited by you, right?"

Xiao Wu did not hide this and spoke about the Spirit Beast Illusion Space.

"How lucky! Why wasn't I so fortunate?" Xiao Rou couldn't help but feel a touch of envy, then continued, "Then, my sacrifice to you should be able to shape a system for you that primarily strengthens the five internal organs, supplemented by strengthening the brain and nervous system. As for Spirit Abilities, that can only be determined by the situation, after all, your current set of spirit ring abilities are not what a Soft Bones Rabbit should have, and I'm not sure what kind of Spirit Abilities will evolve when my spirit ring merges with you after my sacrifice."

Subsequently, Tang San took Xiao Wu and left the Starry Sky World. Using his fourth Spirit Ability, Nine Deaths Revival, and a wisp of Soft Bones Rabbit bloodline aura that Iliex had obtained from Bibi Dong's Soft Bones Rabbit Spirit Bone, he began to shape a physical body for her.

The phenomenon of resurrection was not astonishing; it merely emitted a faint glow within a small room—at the top of a three-meter-tall Blue Silver Emperor, a luminous pearl expanded to a diameter of three meters, densely covered with nebular-like misty colors. A Soft Bones Rabbit, over 1.6 meters in length, slept peacefully within it, like a flower bud about to bloom, ready to break through its wall at any moment.

"Third Brother, how long until Mother comes out?" Xiao Wu asked somewhat nervously.

"About an hour or so," Tang San gave an approximate time. "The feedback from the Blue Silver Emperor, converted into human time measurement, is like this."

As they spoke, Tang San and Iliex also saw a deeper phenomenon: the moment Xiao Rou's physical body was fully formed, an invisible and intangible spiritual light appeared out of thin air, as if suddenly emerging from the void, then instantly merged into the brain of that physical body, fusing with Xiao Rou's soul.

Previously, Xiao Rou's soul also seemed lively, but no matter how complete it was, it felt to Tang San like a worn-out coat, devoid of any vitality.

But now, that soul seemed to have come alive!

"It seems the Undying True Spirit is truly a key to Life," Iliex had long accepted this. "When I learned that the soul's outer shell and its memories could be copied, I should have stopped having any expectations... I, after all, am not that original Necromancer. Just as I once said, I should enjoy my own Life."

Eternal Lord and Austin Griffin, with Tang San's permission, also witnessed that trace of undying spiritual light through their respective perspectives, falling into deep thought.

Eternal Lord felt that that wisp of spiritual light was the true eternity.

Although Austin Griffin was a thousand times unwilling to admit it, even if he became stronger, he could not destroy or annihilate that wisp of spiritual light.

That was the eternity of a Life!

When the Soft Bones Rabbit in the luminous pearl was about to transform into human form, it suddenly opened its eyes, emitting an intense light.

The sacrifice had begun!

The Soft Bones Rabbit's energy, plus the Life force, moonlight and sunlight, and Earth's power provided by Tang San's fourth Spirit Ability, were all injected into it, transforming its entire body into a pure energy form, condensing into a blood-red spirit ring, which slowly settled onto Xiao Wu.

Of the same origin, connected by blood.

Xiao Wu almost didn't need to sit in meditation to sense the energy from the spirit ring flowing within her body, actively strengthening her physique and elevating her spirit power. But more importantly, there was a spatial power flowing through a different route, permeating all her internal organs and brain, constructing a circulatory system that intertwined with spirit power, blood essence, and mental force.

At that instant, Xiao Wu's body was like glazed glass, emitting a peculiar heat all over, like a scorching sun, yet also like the vast Starry Sky World.

Tang San's primordial spirit, however, keenly perceived that Xiao Wu's three Dantians were vibrating at this moment, forming an extremely complex energy circulation circuit with her physical body's five internal organs, continuously attracting the external Heaven and Earth energy—

When Xiao Wu had completely absorbed the spirit ring, her spirit power had already risen to level eighty-nine, just one step away from the final level ninety.

"Are you ready, Xiao Wu, you..."

Before he could finish speaking, Xiao Wu embraced Tang San and kissed him, giggling as she said, "Want to know the effect of my Spirit Ability? I'll let you experience it right away."

After speaking, she began to pull at Tang San's clothes.

Seeing Xiao Wu's interest, Tang San cut off the 视线 of Iliex, Eternal Lord, Austin Griffin, and others, preparing to thoroughly check Xiao Wu's physical condition...

498: Oven double cultivation elixir

The natural macrocosm, the human microcosm.

The collision between macrocosms is brilliant and magnificent.

The collision between human microcosms is also passionate and overflowing with enthusiasm.

After obtaining her eighth spirit ring, Xiao Wu gained two Spirit Abilities. One of them, named Space Furnace, allowed her to use her internal organs as a furnace to refine all things in the world into elixirs.

At this moment, she was pulling Tang San into a scientific experiment in a peculiar way: the tempering and interaction of Blood Qi, spirit power, and mental force within the human microcosm.

Through the close connection between the two human microcosms, Xiao Wu unleashed her eighth Spirit Ability, Space Furnace, tempering and achieving a common combination of essence, qi, and spirit through the interaction of their information.

Both of them were immersed in it, sensing the joy of physical collisions between universes, the surge of elemental spirit fusion, and the warmth of energy and information exchange between essence, qi, and spirit.

Their movements also seemed to follow the grand principles of the natural universe: sometimes like an old man pushing a cart, enduring and growing stronger; sometimes like Guanyin sitting on a lotus, standing out from the crowd.

When this experiment concluded, Xiao Wu asked earnestly, “Hoo~ Haa~ San Ge, how was it? Isn't my eighth Spirit Ability powerful?”

“It is indeed very powerful.”

Tang San nodded involuntarily, savoring the taste from just now. He noticed that his entire being's essence, qi, and spirit were more condensed, and even a portion of the dissipated essence, qi, and spirit had converged into a peculiar energy mass, perfectly integrated, like an undying true spirit.

However, Tang San could sense that it was completely different from an undying true spirit; the only similarity was that it carried a hint of an undying nature.

When this energy mass touched his primordial spirit, it actually integrated into it on its own, continuously strengthening the primordial spirit and making it more condensed—the primordial spirit is the purest essence of Life, and the “nutrition” required for its growth can be high-quality energy, such as Immortal Spiritual Energy, chaotic qi, etc., but the most suitable is still provided by one's own essence, qi, and spirit.

Condensing the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, establishing the transformation and circulation between essence, qi, and spirit, was not only about cultivating the physical body as a universe but also for nourishing the primordial spirit.

He hadn't expected that Xiao Wu's eighth Spirit Ability would have such an effect, being able to help him condense the great elixir of essence, qi, and spirit, assisting his cultivation.

However, Tang San estimated that such an effect was likely due to their long-term dual cultivation of Blood Qi, making them extremely familiar with each other's essence, qi, and spirit, even reaching a state of “sharing weal and woe.”

“During the cultivation process, by interacting essence, qi, and spirit, my primordial spirit also improved. Perhaps I can also help Guang Ling and the others with their cultivation,” Xiao Wu explained the effects of her Spirit Ability. “Besides that, I can purify various medicines and minerals, condense their medicinal power, and gather them into pills through the Space Furnace formed by my internal organs. And when I use this Spirit Ability, I also feel as if I have inexhaustible strength.”

“With this Spirit Ability, my seventh Spirit Ability: Soft Bone Avatar, should be able to last for nearly an hour even without your Blue Silver Emperor's support.”

“The internal organs are truly the source of a person's power.”

Tang San felt that if he thoroughly researched this Space Furnace, he might be able to create a “Blood Qi Furnace” to further improve the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure method, but he was currently more concerned about Xiao Wu's other Spirit Ability from her eighth spirit ring.

“The other Spirit Ability is—”

Xiao Wu satisfied Tang San's curiosity. After putting on her clothes, she released her spirit ring. The crimson eighth spirit ring flickered, and a figure almost identical to Xiao Wu was outlined in the air, then slowly solidified, transforming into the appearance of Xiao Rou.

The only difference might be that the other party's long hair was casually draped over her back shoulder in a ponytail, unlike Xiao Wu, who braided it into a scorpion tail braid.

“Auntie, how do you feel in this state?” Tang San asked.

“Not bad.” Xiao Rou sniffed her nose, smelling a peculiar scent but not asking further. She just observed her own condition. “I found that I can use all the Spirit Abilities Xiao Wu knows, and the Soft Skills I developed can also be used, such as the Eight-Stage Drop and so on... This is where I need to tell you off, you've actually forgotten the fundamentals of the Soft Bones Rabbit lineage.”

Xiao Wu, on the other hand, seemed to have thought of something, her face suddenly flushed. She coughed twice and huffed, “How could I have forgotten? I just used it where it should be used.”

Tang San felt a bit awkward and changed the subject, saying, “Ahem, Auntie, your current state is no different from a living person. How long can you exist without the aid of Xiao Wu's spirit power?”

Xiao Rou sensed the energy within her body and said in surprise, “In terms of cultivation alone, my strength has already reached its peak, even exceeding it by quite a bit... If I don't use Xiao Wu's spirit power, I should be able to last for about three years. If I use her spirit power, I can exist indefinitely.”

“Xiao Wu, the quality of your spirit power is simply outrageous!”

“Have you condensed a Soul Power Core?”

“It feels like it has condensed, but it seems a bit different from the way I told you. Have you condensed three Soul Power Cores? No, it's that Blood Qi and mental force have also condensed their corresponding Soul Power Cores, and they seem to be able to transform into each other... A very peculiar method.”

At this point, Xiao Rou looked at Tang San—

Evidently, in Xiao Rou's mind, Xiao Wu simply didn't have the brains to develop cultivation methods. The Soft Bones Rabbit lineage's method of condensing a Soul Power Core was passed down from a much more distant era, from the time when the Dragon Rabbit had not yet gone extinct.

“These years, thank you so much for taking care of Xiao Wu.” Xiao Rou sincerely bowed to Tang San and thanked him, then suddenly said, “This humble woman has nothing to repay you with, so I can only offer myself in marriage. I hope my son-in-law won't dislike...”

Whoosh—

Before she could finish speaking, Xiao Rou was angrily pulled back into Xiao Wu's body. Xiao Wu grumbled, “I always wanted to revive Mother, but once she's actually revived, she's just too uninhibited... San Ge, don't believe a word she says!”

Tang San nodded blankly, then suddenly smiled and said, “After Auntie appeared, you've become much livelier, with the same cheerfulness you had in Nuoding City.”

“Hmph!” Xiao Wu was in a pretty good mood, and she also understood how her personality had been cultivated back then. Besides the protection of Da Ming and Er Ming, it was more influenced by this unreliable mother.

In the future, she would have to properly “educate” Xiao Rou, lest she cause embarrassing situations.

And on this night, besides Tang San, Guang Ling, Rongrong, Huo Wu, and the two elves: Meng Meng and Nian Nian, all enjoyed the “marvelous use” of the Space Furnace.

However, for Tang San, pleasure could not affect his original intention. While immersed in joy, he also comprehended the exchange, transformation, and circulation of essence, qi, and spirit between himself and the girls, sensing the “Furnace Grand Dao” within it, conducting the most rigorous, practical, and scientific research...

499: The new competition officially opens

In the blink of an eye, three days passed quickly.

Continental Elite Tournament—

Officially opened!

The participating teams successively arrived on the way to Spirit Hall City. It was possible to see some soul guidance devices for shooting suspended above the sky. They formed a long line, leading to the coastal area where Heaven Dou and Star Luo meet.

This made these participants somewhat confused.

When all the teams arrived at the center of Spirit Hall City—the Spirit Hall Great Spirit Arena—it was already packed with spectators. On the field in the very center, tall soul guidance device screens were erected. There were six in total, each twenty meters long and ten meters wide, jointly surrounding and forming a hexagonal standing sign.

After Pope Bibi Dong of the Spirit Hall appeared, the entire audience was silent.

"Welcome everyone to Spirit Hall City to participate in the new Continental Elite Tournament. The rules of this competition are different from previous years. Everyone has heard about it, right—"

"As long as the age is appropriate and there is no record of wrongdoing, teams can be formed to sign up enthusiastically."

"The reason is simple: to give all commoner soul masters who cannot join advanced academies a chance to show themselves. Perhaps they... no, it should be you!"

"Perhaps among you, there will be someone who can show talents and abilities in some aspects that are no weaker than students of advanced soul master academies."

Bibi Dong's words were very practical, winning cheers from all the commoner soul masters present.

However, the disciples and Elders of the Sects, especially the Haotian Sect who announced their emergence, were disdainful—

How can the trash martial souls of commoner soul masters compare to their Clear Sky Hammer?

What kind of talent can they show?

Just ants!

"That is Tang San!" Seventh Elder noticed Tang San sitting next to Bibi Dong, a trace of danger flashing in his eyes. He said to Tang Xiao, "He looks quite presentable."

This time, Tang Xiao personally led the Haotian Sect to participate, while Tang Hao guarded the Sect.

Reason—

Mainly, Tang Xiao didn't want the father and son to meet, as it would only increase embarrassment, and even lead to a fight, which would be a loss of face for the entire Haotian Sect.

Secondly, Tang Xiao felt that he had handled so many affairs over the years and needed to go out and relax. His younger Brother Hao couldn't just know how to swing the hammer. He needed to learn to be more mature, and he had accumulated too much killing intent in Slaughter City and needed to cultivate his moral character.

Finally, he wanted to confirm one thing—

Tang Yuehua hadn't returned to the Sect for some time, and the funds and supplies sent to the Sect were decreasing month by month... He suspected that Yuehua might be collecting intelligence in this Spirit Hall City and was being targeted and suppressed by the Spirit Hall.

"Seventh Elder, don't cause trouble. We are here this time to revive the reputation of Haotian, not to make things difficult for the Spirit Hall," Tang Xiao said in a deep voice. "If the Spirit Hall doesn't mention the old events, we won't cause trouble either. Everything is for the glory of the Sect! Also, you really can't beat Tang San now."

Seventh Elder's face darkened.

He naturally understood the reasoning and the situation. As long as he dared to rush out, Tang San might not even need to get up. He only needed to raise his finger and say "Kneel down," and he estimated that he would be crushed to the ground and unable to get up again.

But how could the anger in his heart be vented?

He couldn't beat Tang Hao...

And he couldn't beat Tang San...

He had clearly become a Title Douluo, standing among the top people on the continent, but why did he still have to suffer?

Sorrow!

Resentment!

Unwillingness!

In the end, it all turned into a helpless sigh: "For the sake of reviving the reputation of the Haotian Sect."

At this time, Bibi Dong had finished speaking and said: "Next, please welcome the Spirit Hall Saint Child, the Silverblue Earl of Heaven Dou Empire, the master of martial soul cultivation theory, one of the explorers of soul guidance device research, Tang San, to explain the rules of the preliminary competition."

Tang San, with a bunch of prefixes, helplessly glanced at Bibi Dong, who seemed to be smiling but not smiling, and slowly got up to announce the rules of this year's preliminary competition: "Ahem, hello everyone, I am Tang San. I won't say much, anyway, you don't like listening to those gorgeous opening monologues..."

Yu Yuanzhen put his hands on his waist and said, "This Tang San is quite practical."

Yu Luomian shook his head and said, "This personality is not very suitable for communicating with nobles..."

Ning Fengzhi, who was sitting closer to the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family, said, "Now, Tang San doesn't need to look at other people's faces anymore. Who can say he is wrong?"

"And this true temperament is the most precious!"

For Ning Fengzhi, he naturally had to protect his son-in-law.

Yu Yuanzhen and Yu Luomian looked at each other, quite speechless—they knew you had a good son-in-law, but you didn't need to show off to them like that, right?

"Speaking of which, isn't your Sect quite close to the Haotian Sect?" Yu Luomian glanced at Tang Xiao and others sitting in the ordinary competition area and asked Ning Fengzhi, "Why don't you go visit them?"

"Although the Upper Three Sects are united, the Haotian Sect took the initiative to sever this connection, and we can't offer a warm face to a cold reception," Bone Douluo, sitting next to Ning Fengzhi, said for Ning Fengzhi.

Crude words naturally cannot be spoken from the mouth of a Sect leader.

Yu Luomian nodded: "That's the logic."

Among the Upper Three Sects, the relationship between the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon and the Haotian Sect was the most distant. Before the Haotian Sect closed the mountain, it mostly relied on the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School to communicate feelings between the two Sects.

Now that the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School is estranged from the Haotian Sect, then the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family does not need to re-establish any connection with the Haotian Sect. Anyway, the direct disciples of the Sect will never marry each other, even if the direct descendants awaken martial souls that are not Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon, they cannot be used as marriage partners.

"...Regarding the rules of the preliminary competition, due to the relaxation of the restrictions on the contestants, there are too many contestants, and this Spirit Hall Great Spirit Arena is about to be crowded. Therefore, after the Spirit Hall's Pope: Bibi Dong, the Heaven Dou Empire's Emperor: Xue Qinghe, the Star Luo Empire's Emperor: Dai Legao, and New Tiandou's Federal Lord: Xue Beng, plus myself, participated, we jointly drafted—"

"The preliminary competition will be conducted in a battle royale mode."

"Friends who have watched the last championship match of the previous competition should have understood the last melee, right? This elimination round will also adopt that method, but the number of teams participating in the same venue will be a little more."

"Ten teams per group."

"That is, seventy people will compete in the same field. You can cooperate with each other, but please remember that only one team can advance in one round."

The hearts of all the participating teams sank.

Because these rules also mean that, in addition to their own team members, they cannot fully trust cooperation with other teams and need to be constantly vigilant.

Even members of their own team have the possibility of "betrayal."

After all, among the team members on the scene, a large part are not students of the academy, but private groups. As long as the benefits are sufficient, giving up the competition and betraying are also possible.

"And the official competition venue is on a deserted island near the continent."

"The first step you have to do is to arrive at the corresponding competition location within the specified time, otherwise you will be directly eliminated, and the direction—"

"The aerial photography device has already given instructions."

500: Tang San doesn't need to take action

Upon learning the rules of the preliminary round, all participating teams were shocked.

“Seven teams per group.”

“The venue is on a deserted island overseas?”

“We have to reach the competition venue ourselves first?”

“Why?”

“Is it because of the Sun Moon Empire’s invasion, which has made the great Empires feel a sense of urgency, and so they are turning their attention overseas?”

“Not good! We need to use our brains!”

Spirit Masters inherently have better physical素质 than ordinary people, but in the past, they were accustomed to solving problems with force.

However, once they tried to think with their brains, they could also analyze some logical deductions based on their existing knowledge.

For example, the rules of the preliminary round are set up this way, most likely related to the invasion of the Sun Moon Continent, which has made the major forces vigilant.

“Alright, no more nonsense. Now, the participating teams can depart.” Tang San shouted loudly, “Oh, and the audience doesn’t need to worry about not seeing the footage.

Those photographic spirit tools in the sky were developed by the ‘Sun Chaser’ spirit tool research Grandmaster, utilizing a part of my Spirit’s ability, and can clearly display the footage on the big screen.”

After he finished speaking, the screen above the center of the Great Spirit Arena lit up, showing multiple teams on the field, and even when the image was magnified, it was still clearly visible.

“Therefore, during the competition, your every move will be under the eyes of the entire continent’s audience, so if some people want to play tricks, they had better weigh whether their reputation can withstand the condemnation of the entire continent’s residents.”

“Now, depart! Reach the competition venue within two days!”

“We have already cleared the obstacles on the way. From Spirit City to the competition island, ordinary people would probably need three months, but you are all Spirit Elders and Spirit Ancestors. A long-distance race should be completable within two days, right?”

“Of course, riding a carriage is also allowed.”

As soon as he finished speaking, many participating teams quickly left the venue and ran towards the competition island, following the direction in which the aerial photographic spirit tools were arranged.

As for riding a carriage?

Heh!

The speed of a horse might not even be as fast as theirs, let alone riding in a carriage.

Before long, the entire venue was left with only the audience and some exceptionally strong teams.

They all watched the running teams on the big screen, each displaying their unique abilities, and listened to the Spirit Hall referees' passionate commentary based on the screen footage— Some transformed into ferocious lions, moving on all fours, leaping or running, constantly surpassing the competitors ahead.

Some spread their wings and soared into the sky, looking down at the dense smoke below, their eyes filled with disdain and mockery.

Some even drove spirit tool steam locomotives, carrying an entire team, raising clouds of dust, extremely dashing.

There were also those riding bicycles, their feet pedaling like wind-and-fire wheels, using all their strength, their speed surprisingly not slower than a Spirit Ancestor in Spirit possession state.

It can be said that those with a Spirit advantage utilized that advantage, while those with brains used the spirit tool transportation methods that had appeared in recent years.

And those who had neither could only honestly exert themselves and run.

Although the displayed visual effects were somewhat chaotic, this novel scene indeed gave Bibi Dong, Xue Qinghe, and others a fresh perspective.

In fact, some of these activities, such as cycling, if set up as a separate competition, might also achieve good viewing results.

Moreover, bicycles are foot-powered, and under the pedaling of a Spirit Master, their speed is much faster than horses, and they are also easier to control than horses.

The only drawback is that bicycles are only suitable for relatively flat ground and are not suitable for the ever-changing battlefield.....

“I think this rule is just torture!” On the Clear Sky Sect's side, the Seventh Elder suppressed his anger, but since everyone else had accepted it, they couldn't object.

He could only say to Tang Xiao, “Sect Master, should we also let the participating Hao Tian Disciples depart?”

Tang Xiao’s gaze retracted from the screen footage and he said to the participating Hao Tian Disciples: “Depart! Catch up to them! And then—”

“Surpass them!”

“Surpass them!” X7

The participating Hao Tian Disciples raised their right hands, released their Clear Sky Hammers, and shouted in unison.

This shout almost drowned out the clamor of the entire venue and attracted the attention of Tang San, Bibi Dong, and others.

Xue Beng, however, felt this was a good opportunity to create friction between Tang San, Spirit Hall, and the Heaven Dou Empire, so he asked with a smile, “Your Highness, the Holy Son, it is rumored that you are from the Clear Sky Sect.

Is there such a thing?”

Tang San glanced at Xue Beng, who seemed to be trying to sow discord among Bibi Dong, Xue Qinghe, and others, and calmly said, “Rumors, of course, are not credible.

It is well known that I was born in Saint Spirit Village. Why does the Federal Lord not believe facts and instead choose to believe a baseless rumor?

This is unbecoming of a monarch.”

Xue Beng was stunned, then smiled and said, “But Your Highness, the Holy Son, possesses the Clear Sky Hammer Spirit, which is the ancestral Spirit of the Clear Sky Sect.”

“How do you know it’s called the Clear Sky Hammer?”

Tang San raised his left hand, and a purplish-black hammer slowly appeared, then split apart, transforming into a Nine-Headed Chimera, only the size of a normal house cat, quietly coiled on Tang San's lap, letting out a soft purr towards Xue Beng, as if disdainfully mocking him.

“Does this look like a Clear Sky Hammer?”

“Federal Lord, please do not speak nonsense.”

Looking at the Nine-Headed Chimera, which was as docile as a kitten, Xue Beng indeed found it hard to say it was a Clear Sky Hammer.

After all, he was not a Spirit cultivation Grandmaster; what the other party said was authoritative.

Realizing he couldn't continue, Xue Beng paused the topic and said with a smile, “Indeed, I was careless. I hope Your Highness, the Holy Son, does not mind.”

After this small interlude, the others did not ask further and continued to watch the participating teams on the screen employing all their methods.

But Nine Haos couldn't bear it and secretly transmitted a message: “Master, should I teach that guy who has ill intentions towards you a lesson?”

“Let it be, he won't be able to jump around for much longer.” Tang San stroked the Nine Haos' Heavenly Light, a faint smile on his face— The Moonlight Elf Luo Qiu had already returned with information and told Tang San about the New Heaven Dou Federation, from which he deduced: For Xue Beng, who couldn't control the real power of the New Heaven Dou Federation, he was merely a puppet.

If he had continued to disguise himself as a profligate, as he did in the former Heaven Dou Empire, he might have been able to live out his days in peace in the future.

But he had shown his political ambition and capabilities, and the lords of the New Heaven Dou Federation would certainly be wary of him.

If there weren't other "legitimate" candidates, Xue Beng would probably have been replaced long ago.

After this great competition, Qian Renxue, disguised as Emperor Qinghe, was bound to deal ruthlessly with the New Heaven Dou Federation.

And the New Heaven Dou Federation, not to mention "disloyalty between monarch and ministers," with each nation still acting independently, might have few major conflicts but constant minor disputes, and thus would inevitably not last long.

Therefore, Tang San didn't need to act at all!

501: Looking for Tang Yuehua (Part 1)

In the blink of an eye, a day quietly passed. Among the participating teams, a small portion gave up halfway, either due to injury, exhaustion, or realizing the gap between themselves and other teams, having lost the courage to compete.

The remaining participating teams had already arrived at the coast.

For them, the next challenge was to swim across this vast sea to reach the actual competition venue.

Some teams jumped directly into the sea, preparing to swim across.

Some teams took out inflatable boats from their storage soul tools.

Even more teams paid fishermen who were already waiting nearby, eagerly watching them, to help transport them to the competition island.

"Is this fair?"

Among the audience far away in Spirit Hall City, people once again entered the Great Spirit Arena to watch the competition, but some raised doubts, and Bibi Dong personally provided an answer: "Fairness is only relative. We are only trying our best to ensure the fairness of the rules."

"The invasion of the Sun Moon Empire has made us realize the role of Soul Guidance Devices. When they invade again in the future, can we tell them, 'Put down your Spirit Guidance Weapons and have a proper Martial Soul battle with us'?"

"Obviously not."

"Therefore, from a rule perspective, in the process of going to the competition venue before the official competition begins, participating teams can naturally use anything that can be used by people."

"As long as it complies with the general laws and moral norms of the Douluo Continent."

"For weaker teams, in the process of advancing using tools, we can also see their agile thinking, thereby showcasing their other abilities besides combat."

"If they are recognized by the Emperors, Elders, and others present, even if they don't even make it to the preliminary rounds, they can still be specially recruited and become outstanding talents for the major Empires, gaining wealth, status, and honor!"

These words were inspiring and made the civilian Soul Masters who were beyond the competition age feel even better about Spirit Hall and the Pope.

Although they were too old to participate in the competition, as Soul Masters, their descendants were more likely to become Soul Masters... This was an opportunity for them, the civilian Soul Masters, and their future generations!

Moreover, in the eyes of civilian Soul Masters, using tools, weapons, and Soul Guidance Devices was fairer, because only then could they compete with those Soul Masters whose Martial Souls were inherently powerful.

People always tend to choose what is beneficial to themselves.

The number of civilian Soul Masters is far greater than the number of members of the great families, and they also favored this rule that allowed the use of tools during the journey.

"They certainly have a way of winning people's hearts," Seventh Elder snorted, his gaze shifting from Bibi Dong. That dignified demeanor carried a strange pressure, as if looking for too long would cause a hint of panic in one's heart.

This was not only because Bibi Dong's strength was extraordinary, but also because she was getting closer and closer to the hundred-level realm. In addition, she had already condensed the Qi and Blood Golden Core, Soul Power Core, and Spiritual Mindset, forging the inner universe of the human body. Her Primordial Spirit had also condensed not long ago, and the essence of her Life had undergone the most thorough transformation.

Ordinary people with malicious gazes could be passively detected, and instinctively retaliated with Primordial Spirit-level pressure.

The Primordial Spirit naturally had a crushing advantage over the soul.

Furthermore, the Death Spider Emperor and Soul-Devouring Spider Emperor, these two great Martial Souls, carried the death Godhood and Rakshasa Godhood respectively, both of which were things that had absolute suppression over the soul.

Affected by these two, Bibi Dong's Primordial Spirit naturally also had the passive effects of "Soul Breaking" and "Spirit Shattering."

If Seventh Elder's malicious gaze also contained Spiritual Power, then the instinctive resistance of the Primordial Spirit would be enough to make his Spirit disperse and his soul shatter.

"Indeed, Spirit Hall's action is to win over the civilian Soul Masters of the entire Continent." Tang Xiao agreed more. Although he, born in the Haotian Sect, was a little more rational than Tang Hao, it was only a little. The thing he believed in the most was still the extremely overbearing power of the Clear Sky Hammer. "Let's go. We'll go outside the venue and inquire about Yuehua's news. The Hao Tian Disciples should be able to enter the preliminary rounds..."

Tang Xiao and Seventh Elder's departure was naturally noticed by some people. Ning Fengzhi, Yu Tianheng, Bibi Dong, and the Lower Four Sects, among others, all sent people to follow them secretly.

Tang Xiao naturally noticed these tails but ignored them. After all, this was Spirit Hall City, and it was not easy to cause trouble.

"Those little puppies are really persistent." Seventh Elder was quite resentful of the followers, but due to Tang Xiao's order, he could only bear it. Then he spoke of his discovery: "By the way, did you notice? Tang San and the young girls around him didn't come today. I don't know where they went... Could they be carrying out some secret mission for Spirit Hall?"

Tang Xiao's already low mood once again broke through the limit, making his complexion quite gloomy.

Seeing this, Seventh Elder didn't dwell on this topic but instead talked about another matter: "Tang Luoya that kid seems to have joined a Sect called the Transcendents' Alliance in the New Heaven Dou Federation. The name is really strange, but I heard him say that the main members inside are all exceptionally talented geniuses, and the Fire Ganoderma was provided by one of the members."

Mentioning the Transcendents' Alliance, Tang Xiao's complexion improved a bit and he said, "It's a good thing that child Tang Luoya can make friends with like-minded companions. That Transcendents' Alliance might become a subordinate Sect of our Sect in the future."

However, when it came to subordinates, Seventh Elder's complexion turned gloomy, because among the former four single-attribute great families, except for the Li Zhi Clan and Yu Zhi Clan, the other two families actually refused the invitation they sent out after emerging from seclusion.

One joined the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, and the other chose to pledge allegiance to Qinghe Emperor, both climbing high branches.

Among them, the patriarch of the Li Zhi Clan only admired Tang Hao and was so excited that he knelt down and agreed to return to the Haotian Sect after Tang Hao personally sought him out and persuaded him; the Yu Zhi Clan, due to their good relationship with the Li Zhi Clan, also followed along, which was considered an addition.

These two clans had no good feelings towards these Elders.

Although the Haotian Sect gained two additional forces because of this, they might also become two internal problems in the future. After all, old man Titan only listened to Tang Hao, and Niu Gao was in cahoots with Titan, so roughly speaking, he still listened to Tang Hao.

And Tang Hao?

In Seventh Elder's opinion, he was a fool with a problem in his head. Letting him manage these two subordinate families would likely cause who knows what kind of trouble in the future...

"Sect Master, it's so big here, how do we find her?"

Returning to the present, Seventh Elder had already walked out of Spirit Hall City with Tang Xiao and arrived at the Soul Guidance Technology City, one of the six outer cities of Spirit Hall.

Facing Seventh Elder's question, Tang Xiao was also a bit anxious and could only randomly grab someone to ask, but the other party claimed not to know—the six outer cities of Spirit Hall City were extremely vast. Tang Yuehua's Moon Pavilion was in the Fantasy Film City. Although it was relatively famous, people who had no interest in music naturally wouldn't go to understand what kind of place the Moon Pavilion was, nor would they get to know someone named Tang Yuehua.

For example, within this Soul Guidance Technology City, people preferred forging and researching Soul Guidance Devices. The music they liked was the banging sound of hammers hitting metal and the clicking sound of carving knives shaping Soul Guidance runes.

At the same time, the people here more or less had a dedicated and studious attitude and could endure loneliness.

"Tang Xiao?"

502: Looking for Tang Yuehua (Part 2)

The speaker was Lan Yinzi.

Although the Continental Elite Tournament was a big event, Lan Yinzi found it rather boring just watching the live broadcast on screen. So, in between studying formations, she took Gu Yuena out for a stroll.

Gu Yuena wanted to study almost everything. Furthermore, she herself controlled various elemental powers, had an outstanding interest in studying spirit tools, and often helped Guang Ling, Huo Wu, and others who were conducting research in the Soul Guidance Technology City.

She just didn't expect to run into Tang Xiao.

Although she wanted to pretend not to know him, they had met in Soul Sea City. At that time, they hadn't conversed or interacted, but they had an impression of each other, barely counting as “comrades-in-arms.” Moreover, in her previous life, she was still his companion. By all accounts, she couldn't treat him as a stranger.

However, compared to Spirit City, the Clear Sky Sect indeed had too many shortcomings. Now, in her thoughts, she could understand the way of thinking and behavior of the Clear Sky Sect and its disciples, but she would never again become close to them, nor would she think of acknowledging Tang Hao, Tang Xiao, and others.

After all, she was no longer purely Ah Yin. As for them... while her memories were perfectly preserved, emotionally, besides Tang San, she wasn't really familiar with the brothers Tang Da Chui and Tang Er Chui.

But since they had met, and the other party seemed lost, she could offer a little guidance.

“You are?” Tang Xiao found the woman in front of him a bit familiar, as if he had seen her in Soul Sea City, and she was also one of Tang San's women. With this preconceived notion, Tang Xiao immediately kept his distance from his “niece-in-law,” involuntarily stepping back two paces.

Lan Yinzi showed a look of confusion: “—_—?”

Are you serious about stepping back two paces?

When did Tang Xiao become so reserved?

“My name is Lan Yinzi. You are the Sect Master of the Clear Sky Sect, aren't you? Why aren't you watching the tournament? What are you doing in this Soul Guidance Technology City?” Lan Yinzi asked, “Are you looking for Divine Craftsman Lou Gao?”

Tang Hao was slightly stunned. Her tone carried a hint of nostalgia for him, but then he shook his head and said, “No, I'm not familiar with Lou Gao. We are looking for Tang Yuehua. You are with Tang San, so you should know she is my sister, right? I heard she opened a Moon Pavilion here, but I don't know its exact location? This place is a bit big.”

“Moon Pavilion? It's not here.”

“Ah?”

“It's in Fantasy Film City,” Lan Yinzi said. “These six major outer cities are built around Spirit City. If you go left, bypassing four cities, you can reach Fantasy Film City; if you go right, the third one is it. The specific location of Moon Pavilion... Moon Pavilion is quite famous in Fantasy Film City. Many directors of spirit tool art invite her to play background music for films. You can ask anyone for directions, and some intersections even have maps.”

Tang Xiao was immensely grateful: “Thank you for telling me, Miss Lan Yinzi.”

“No problem. We two also happen to be going there, it's on the way. If Sect Master Tang doesn't mind, would you like to come along?” Lan Yinzi indeed planned to go to Moon Pavilion, mainly because she found that music could promote plant growth, and sound waves were also a natural formation. Plus, Tang Yuehua had a unique mental Domain, and she wanted to research it with her.

As for Gu Yuena, she simply wanted to see the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud, which is the Sea God's Heart.

This item had only been obtained by Tang Yuehua a few days ago through Xue Ke's connections from the Heaven Dou Empire's treasure vault. Two days ago, after Qian Renxue learned of this, she wasn't angry. Instead, she visited Moon Pavilion and gave the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud to Tang Yuehua.

Qian Renxue didn't know the specific details about this indestructible exotic treasure, but she could sense the divine force aura on it, realizing that it might be part of a divine tool.

But it was only a part, insignificant, and she also wanted to see if she could use this part of a divine tool to lure out some interesting fish...

The reason Gu Yuena wanted to see the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud was because the divine force fluctuations it emitted were very obvious; beings close to or at the divine level could perceive them.

It was practically treating the entire World as its backyard!

Tang San, Bibi Dong, and the two old men on Wu Hun Mountain must have also sensed it, but each had their reasons—research / Continental Elite Tournament / desire for stability, so they had no time.

But Gu Yuena was different; she was still young and had plenty of time.

Lan Yinzi needed to research formations and was also the housekeeper of Soul Martial Manor, but she had a lot of free time. After all, Tang San didn't have many demands on her, and the affairs of the manor were actually already arranged by the servants. Lan Yinzi only needed to check in daily, which didn't take much time.

Therefore, Gu Yuena and Lan Yinzi were arguably the two most idle people in Soul Martial Manor.

“Then I'll trouble Miss Lan Yinzi to lead the way.” Tang Xiao originally intended to search with Seventh Elder, but hearing that Lan Yinzi was also going there, he was naturally delighted.

For some reason, Tang Xiao felt he quite liked the sound of Lan Yinzi's voice. Although it was different from Ah Yin's, it was just as gentle—

【Tang San's taste is the same as his father's and my own, his grand-uncle, just a bit more promiscuous.】

Arriving at Fantasy Film City and entering Moon Pavilion, the students at the entrance saw Lan Yinzi and Gu Yuena and hurried forward, inviting them, along with Tang Xiao and Seventh Elder, inside: “Miss Lan Yinzi, Miss Gu Yuena, you're here.”

“We mainly came to chat with your Pavilion Master and brought her two distant relatives along,” Lan Yinzi said with a smile.

“Please come in, I'll go find the Pavilion Master first.” The student who greeted them ran in ahead.

“Let's go.” Lan Yinzi greeted Tang Xiao and Seventh Elder behind her, then walked into Moon Pavilion with Gu Yuena.

Passing through the antique corridors and seeing male teachers in the courtyard leading students in sketching, depicting butterflies collecting nectar, Tang Xiao's mood sank slightly: “What's going on? When we were in Heaven Dou City, although there were men studying music and painting at Moon Pavilion, there were never male teachers. Could it be Moon Hua's boyfriend?"

As a brother, emotionally, he hoped his sister could be happy, but from the Sect's perspective, Tang Yuehua still had the Clear Sky clan's bloodline, and her future children might awaken the Clear Sky Hammer Spirit. She couldn't marry someone outside.

Especially since the male teacher in front of him was physically weak, and the spirit power fluctuations he displayed were only around level thirteen, making him a complete废物Spirit Master.

However, after passing through several teaching areas, Tang Xiao saw many male teachers and realized he had been mistaken earlier; that person was not Tang Yuehua's boyfriend, just a most ordinary teacher.

It was just, why did Moon Pavilion start recruiting male teachers after coming to Spirit City?

Could it be that Moon Pavilion really couldn't continue operating here?

Then he couldn't mention the Sect's need for funding later, after all, for Moon Hua to provide funds to the Sect, she at least needed to establish herself here first.

It took Moon Hua several years to establish herself in Heaven Dou City. In this Spirit City, it would probably take even longer, which was understandable. And with the prosperity of Spirit City, once Moon Pavilion established itself, it would definitely be able to provide more development funds to the Sect...

503: Tang Yuehua gave up thinking

"Dai, Seventh Elder, it's been a long time."

While Lan Yinzi was introducing the internal layout of Moon Pavilion to Tang Xiao, Tang Yuehua led the reception student from the entrance over, then let the student return to her post.

"Yuehua, it truly has been a long time."

Seeing Tang Yuehua looking even younger than before, with even a hint of a young girl's liveliness and innocence about her, Tang Xiao suddenly felt a bit unfamiliar with her, but it also seemed to bring back memories of their childhood—

Hmm?

Tang Xiao shook his head abruptly and said with a laugh, "Yuehua, there's no need to give Dai a welcoming blow, is there? Your application of Domain is getting more and more powerful; even I was almost lost."

Tang Yuehua's talent was affirmed by Tang Chen. Her Martial Soul and Soul Rings were extremely special. Her first Soul Ring had no Soul Skill, but after passing the test set by Tang Chen, the God of Slaughter Domain was engraved upon it.

In addition, the Mind Domain that the Ruyi Ring itself came with was also used by her with superb skill. Those with unstable minds would likely be confused, hypnotized, and thus unconditionally obey her commands.

With Tang Xiao's Spiritual Power at the Title Douluo level, he naturally wouldn't be easily affected. However, towards his blood-related sister, he didn't keep his guard up too much, and his posture naturally relaxed, leading to a moment of daze.

As for Seventh Elder...

The moment he saw Tang Yuehua, his entire body tensed up, not daring to be careless in the slightest. After all, his arm had been severed by Tang Yuehua using the Asura Sword.

That feeling of his arm being cut off, and only sensing the pain three seconds later, Seventh Elder still remembered vividly—this woman could directly borrow Uncle's divine power!

"Dai is joking. I don't have the ability to use a Domain. I'm just immersing my body and mind in nature and have gained a slight understanding of the true meaning of Life."

Tang Yuehua smiled slightly, walked to the side of the corridor, and held out a hand. A butterfly fluttering in the courtyard landed on her finger, folded its wings, and rested quietly.

With a gentle lift, the butterfly was startled again and flew away.

Tang Xiao praised, "Sister, you have already emerged from your cocoon like a butterfly. In the future, you will surely be able to become a powerful Soul Master."

Tang Yuehua slightly restrained her smile. She wasn't particularly receptive to Tang Xiao's attempt to get close, but she still led the group to the Moon Pavilion main hall and served them tea and water.

"We have important matters to discuss."

After a while, seeing that Lan Yinzi and Gu Yuena had no sense of self-awareness, still sitting in their seats, eating melon seeds, drinking tea, and chatting, Seventh Elder couldn't hold back and said to Tang Yuehua.

Tang Yuehua smiled, "It's fine. These two are my closest friends. There's no need to mind them."

Seventh Elder: "....."

He now suspected that there was something wrong with Tang Yuehua's mind... In his current view, among the three of Tang Xiao, Tang Hao, and Tang Yuehua, except for Tang Xiao who seemed relatively normal, the other two's minds didn't seem very normal.

His standard for judgment?

For Seventh Elder, having spent little time in the Sect and not receiving guidance from the Sect for a long time, their thinking was absolutely different from the other disciples of the Sect, and their minds were definitely not normal.

Tang Xiao sighed and then asked, "It's not anything important, Seventh Elder, you don't need to be so loud. It doesn't matter if others hear it. We mainly want to ask: Yuehua, are you doing well in Spirit Hall City? Did the people here bully you? Before, when Moon Pavilion was still operating in Heaven Dou City, I heard from the disciples who went out that Moon Pavilion only received royalty and nobles, but after Seventh Elder and I personally came here, we found that there aren't many nobles among the people here."

So, the reduced amount of money sent to the Sect recently meant they came to inquire about the reason—

Having understood the underlying meaning, Tang Yuehua was now able to accept it relatively calmly, so she said with a smile, "Spirit Hall City is different from Heaven Dou City. There aren't as many nobles here. The Spirit Hall personnel are relatively busy every day and don't have time to come here to cultivate their temperament. To make a living, I had to change my strategy, lower the standards, and focus on establishing a foothold for the first three to five years."

The implication was that the funds delivered to the Sect within the next five years would not be much, and she hoped the Sect would find other ways to increase their income and not just rely on her, a mere woman.

She had witnessed "啃老" (feeding off parents), but Tang Yuehua had never heard of "啃少" (feeding off juniors), although she herself was currently "experiencing" it.

"Ah~" Tang Xiao sighed and then asked, "Didn't Spirit Hall make things difficult for you because of your identity?"

"That didn't happen. Instead, because Spirit Hall found out about my relationship with Tang San, they even reduced my taxes by ten percent."

Speaking of this, a strange look even appeared on Tang Yuehua's face.

"They still collect taxes? Is Spirit Hall crazy? They actually compete with merchants for profit!" Seventh Elder exclaimed.

"That was in the past. Now, the high-level figures of all forces on the entire Continent have seen the value of merchants... Now, it's the same in Heaven Dou City."

Tang Yuehua originally wanted to elaborate, but thinking that these two wouldn't understand, she didn't say anything. "Now, the entire Continent is developing very quickly. Although the Haotian Sect has announced its emergence, the disciples are only interested in Soul Masters and are completely ignorant of these matters... This will cause them to fall behind the times. Therefore, Dai, if you want to develop the Sect, it's best to cultivate a group of knowledgeable disciples."

Tang Xiao frowned, considering the pros and cons.

But Seventh Elder was the first to disagree, saying, "The strongest thing about our Haotian Sect is the Haotian Hammer. This World, in the end, is a World of Soul Masters. As long as you are strong, who would dare to disobey?"

"Seventh Elder is right."

Tang Xiao, who had been startled awake, couldn't help but nod. After all, the strongest thing about the Haotian Sect wasn't power?

How could they train direct descendants to learn those pedantic articles?

Power is the eternal master of this Continent!

Tang Yuehua sighed slightly and finally said, "But your power cannot compare to Tang San, cannot compare to Bibi Dong, cannot compare to Qian Daoliu, and even Tang San's girlfriends, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and Huo Wu—any one of these three, taken alone, can utterly defeat you. I can confirm this and swear on my Martial Soul."

Seventh Elder was extremely disgusted by Tang Yuehua's behavior of "boosting others' morale and dampening one's own prestige," saying, "We have Uncle."

Tang Yuehua ignored Seventh Elder and looked at Tang Xiao, finding that although he said nothing, the look of adoration in his eyes already explained everything.

With Tang Chen, the Haotian Sect is invincible!

That's the idea being conveyed—

But it was also this kind of thinking that made Tang Yuehua helpless. As someone from the Haotian Sect, she also hoped the Sect could be strong, but Tang Chen's strength was not the strength of the Haotian Sect; that was just Grandpa's personal strength, not the overall strength of the Haotian Sect.

Wasn't the Haotian Sect forced to seal the mountain back then, and they still haven't woken up?

Then there was nothing she could do.

"I will find a way for the Sect's funds..."

Tang Yuehua gave up thinking and proactively brought up the topic of funds again. This time, the conversation was relatively "pleasant"...

504: Vast Sea Universe Cover

After Tang Xiao and Seventh Elder left, Gu Yuena couldn't help but complain, "Little Yuehua, your relatives are truly shameless."

When discussing the Sect's funds, Tang Xiao was still a bit embarrassed, but that Seventh Elder became excited, even setting a goal that the supplies Tang Yuehua delivered to the Sect next month must be more than the previous month, even if only by a little.

He said this could motivate Tang Yuehua...

However, Tang Yuehua did not agree.

Seventh Elder, fearing Tang Yuehua's outburst, once again borrowed Tang Chen's power and only then gave up on the idea.

"There's nothing I can do. My relationship with the Clear Sky Sect isn't something that can be severed just because I want to," Tang Yuehua shook her head. In terms of gratitude, the materials and money she had sent to the Sect over the years were already enough to repay the kindness of upbringing, but the many years of affection between siblings were like an unceasing stream... Although it was almost dry, it hadn't completely dried up.

If her experience had been like Tang San's, she probably would have cut ties without hesitation.

"Yuehua, let's not talk about these upsetting things. Let's discuss music. I've found that sound waves, under certain circumstances, can also serve as a special array..." As for the Clear Sky Sect, Lan Yinzi had come to understand them: a group of arrogant "madmen" immersed in Tang Chen's power. If their mindset didn't change, they would no longer be suitable for survival in this rapidly developing era... Therefore, she changed the topic and began discussing research on music and arrays.

Moreover, Lan Yinzi had recently made some discoveries, feeling that the unique skill of "Domain" might also be used to research arrays, or even that this thing was some kind of natural array.

Tang Yuehua's spirit ring being able to engrave a Domain would definitely help her research.

Lan Yinzi was not a professional researcher, but to pass the time, she had to find something interesting to do, after all, she was no longer a Blue Silver Emperor but a human, and her thoughts no longer had the "inertia" of a plant, unable to live an unchanging life for thousands of years as before.

As the two discussed, Gu Yuena also listened attentively and offered her own thoughts. Finally, when the two finished the topic, Gu Yuena requested to see the Sea God's Heart.

"The Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud?" Tang Yuehua raised her hand and brushed her waist, taking out a triangular gem and placing it on the table. She then released her Spirit and spirit rings. Among them, on her second spirit ring, blue-gold patterns like waves had already appeared, and a trident pattern was outlined in the center of the spirit ring. "After obtaining this Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud, my second spirit ring attracted a certain aura from it, gaining another Domain: Sea God Domain, which can also be called Vast Sea Domain. I can borrow the Sea God's divine force from the unseen."

"Your Spirit is ridiculously overpowered." Gu Yuena observed the Sea God Domain on Tang Yuehua's second spirit ring, feeling that if this person grew, she might truly be able to achieve the Nine Gods in One in the future.

The body cannot bear so many God Positions?

It doesn't matter!

Anyway, it is the spirit ring that bears the God Position, not her body, and the spirit ring will evolve autonomously under the influence of the Slaughter God Domain and Vast Sea Domain until it becomes a true God-level spirit ring.

Moreover, according to Gu Yuena's perception, Tang Yuehua's two Domains are closely related to the Asura God and Sea God, yet they appear independent, meaning they are not controlled by those two Divinities.

This point is even more defying!

The Ruyi Ring, as one wishes, naturally comes with a mental Domain, truly extraordinary.

"It's not that outrageous," Tang Yuehua didn't think so, after all, she herself wasn't very good at combat... But as long as she borrowed the power of the corresponding Divinity, she could unleash strength that would crush Title Douluo level.

In this situation, Tang Yuehua herself doesn't need much combat experience; just wildly attacking would be enough to deal with ninety-nine percent of the Title Douluo powerhouses in the entire World.

Of course, with Tang Yuehua's current strength, she cannot borrow the Divinity's power for a long time, otherwise she would be drained to death first, unless she asks Tang San for help to replenish her spirit power during combat.

Charge for three hours, fight for three seconds?

This is still a relatively good situation... According to Tang San himself, before Tang Yuehua reaches Spirit Saint, if no one helps her replenish her spirit power, the time she can borrow the Divinity's divine force will definitely not exceed thirty seconds.

However, without relying on the Divinity's power, simply using the Domain's ability, the spirit power consumption is not that exaggerated.

"Indeed, you should really exercise your body well." Gu Yuena examined Tang Yuehua's physique with a look of disdain, then turned her gaze to the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud.

The core of the Sea God Trident, the Sea God's Heart.

Within this thing, there is a wisp of the Sea God's divine consciousness, but it is only a wisp of divine thought and cannot establish contact with the Sea God's true body in the God Realm, unless one goes to Sea God Island.

The distance between the God Realm and Douluo Star is very far, and it is not easy for the gods of the God Realm to observe matters in the lower World; they need coordinates.

God King level existences can directly broadcast in real-time through divine consciousness and divine thought, but existences below God King do not have that ability.

They need to rely on a relay station, which is the intersection of the spatial passage between the God Realm and the inheritance grounds left in the mortal realm, to "receive signals," otherwise they cannot see what is specifically happening in the mortal World.

Moreover, in the case of the Sea God, he seems to have achieved his Divinity through the faith of native humans on Douluo Star, approximately a thousand years ago... He is not the same kind as those who besieged her back then.

Therefore, Gu Yuena was more daring with the Sea God's Heart, but to be safe, she still concealed her God-level core origin.

The moment she touched the Sea God's Heart, Gu Yuena released the purest water element aura, causing the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud to tremble and emit a blue light.

The wisp of divine consciousness contained within it exclaimed endlessly: "What pure water element! The Douluo Continent is full of talents nowadays. Before, there was a person whose Spirit could imitate the Sea God's divine force, engraving the Sea God Domain onto one of his spirit rings; now, there is even a woman who possesses such a pure water element aura... Both are excellent inheritors, but alas, why are they women?"

This wisp of the Sea God's divine consciousness was left behind after the Sea God ascended to the God Realm. To reduce consumption, it mostly slept, so its thoughts were naturally from a thousand years ago—not that it favored men over women, but this wisp of divine consciousness felt that if a woman wielded the Sea God Trident he left behind, the scene would be too "beautiful," he dared not imagine it.

Moreover, his divine tool is also power-type, weighing one hundred and eight thousand jin. At the same level, a woman's strength is far inferior to a man's, making it unsuitable for inheritance.

Although this wisp of divine consciousness felt that neither Tang Yuehua nor Gu Yuena were suitable, it still granted them permission to use the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud, meaning they could use this Sea God's Heart for defense, diving, and other functions similar to a spirit tool.

This is also the main reason why a part of this divine tool was mistaken for an ancient spirit tool—throughout a thousand years of history, there were also people whose Spirit attributes were more compatible with the Sea God's Heart, and even if they didn't receive its true recognition, they could still borrow some of its abilities.

Because when it emits light, it is like reflecting a vast ocean, containing a universe within, and its main function is defensive, it was thus named: Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud!

505: Twelve Yuan Chen arrives

"Can I have this Boundless Sea Universe Cover?"

Gu Yuena had already sensed its structure and was preparing to obliterate the wisp of divine sense within it. Then, she would imprint this Sea God's Heart with her own mark, using it as the core to bear her water element. In the future, she could even imitate its structure to create another eight gems, forging a set of gem-type super artifacts!

"No problem." Tang Yuehua handed over the Boundless Sea Universe Cover without the slightest hesitation. After all, Gu Yuena was one of her own, and she had also obtained the Sea God Domain, so this Sea God's Heart was dispensable.

"Thanks, this Miss will cover you in the future." Gu Yuena put the Sea God's Heart into her golden rope treasure bag, grinned, and asked about another matter, "Speaking of which, everyone has gone to watch the preliminaries. There are fewer students here than usual. Could it be that they also went to participate?"

Tang Yuehua smiled, "They did go to participate. After all, this year, as long as they meet the age requirements, they are eligible to participate. They wanted to go, how could I refuse?"

"It's all about participation."

"Besides, it's also a kind of promotion for Moon Pavilion."

Gu Yuena asked, "Aren't you going to take a look?"

Tang Yuehua spread her hands, "I've never been interested in the Soul Master Competition. In the past, I still needed to record some outstanding geniuses and pass the news back to the Sect, but now, I only live for myself..."

After leaving Moon Pavilion, Lan Yinzi and Gu Yuena returned to Soul Martial Manor. During the days when the Continental Elite Tournament was being held, some of the idle servants in the manor also went to watch the competition, so it was a bit more deserted than usual. However, the Twelve Yuanchen of Silverblue Manor in Heaven Dou City came here together,挥洒着汗水 on the training ground, and the beating muscles stimulated traces of red blood.

These twelve people were led by Shen Hou, and their soul power had all reached the Soul Grandmaster level or above. Shen Hou himself had even become a Soul Elder. When his energy and blood erupted, it was as hot as the scorching sun, and he could rival a Soul King in close combat.

"Why are you here?" Lan Yinzi asked in surprise. These twelve people used to arrive in batches to receive Tang San's training and research. Why did they all come together today?

"Grand Butler Lan Yinzi, Earl sent a message asking us to come over." Shen Hou smiled heroically, stopped training, and waved to Lan Yinzi and Gu Yuena, "We rushed over immediately, but Earl is not currently in the manor, so we are training on the open space ourselves."

"Called you all over together?" Lan Yinzi was stunned for a moment, as if thinking of something, and said, "By the way, he seems to have researched another secret skill of the Body Forging Art in the past two days, and is experimenting with other members of the Spirit Hall to let those with Physical Martial Soul use it. I heard that its power is quite great."

Moreover, Lan Yinzi also knew that the research progress was so fast because 【Heavenly Dao】 had been upgraded again after Tang San obtained his eighth and ninth soul rings, which could make people's minds more agile.

It could be said that with the blessing of 【Heavenly Dao】 , most of the research progress in Spirit Hall was advancing rapidly, far exceeding the Three Great Empires of Heaven Dou, Star Luo, and New Tiandou.

Not to mention, the Soul Guidance Martial Souls seized from the Sun Moon Army had given the researchers a lot of inspiration.

"That's really something to look forward to!" Shen Hou and the others originally thought that this time was just a special training, but after hearing what Lan Yinzi said, it seemed that they were going to be taught a very powerful secret skill, and they were all excited.

Shen Hou and others had naturally also cultivated the Body Forging Art, but their progress was at a lower stage. As for the secret诀: Spirit Bone Armor True Body, they could only imagine in their minds how powerful they would be when they succeeded in their cultivation in the future.

But now, they might have the opportunity to obtain a secret skill that they could practice at this stage!

How could they not be excited?

"Not necessarily, after all, this is just my guess." Lan Yinzi became more conservative, so as not to disappoint these twelve people if Tang San did not teach the newly developed secret skill.

It's just that Lan Yinzi was overthinking things—

"Secret skills or something are actually not important. We can only survive and become respected Soul Masters because of Earl." Shen Hou still had a smile on his face, overflowing with vitality.

You Ji, Hai Zhu and the rest of the Twelve Yuanchen also had similar views.

Loyalty.

That was the only valuable thing they felt they could repay Tang San with...

...

At the same time.

The stipulated two days had already passed, and nearly six hundred teams had arrived on the designated competition island and obtained the qualifications to officially participate in the preliminaries.

The remaining teams could only retreat helplessly, either returning to their respective homes or staying to watch the competition.

And the audience located in Spirit Hall City was finally able to truly see the first match.

Each participating team was drawn by Bibi Dong, Xue Qinghe, Dai Legao, Xue Beng, Ning Fengzhi, Yu Yuanzhen, Hu Liena, as well as people from the Lower Three Sects and many other important figures.

Why not the Lower Four Sects?

Star Crown Sect had already been removed from the list.

And the teams in the first match were: Shrek Team, White Tiger Sect Team, Hurricane Soul Hunting Group Team, Fanatic Team, Blue Tyrant Academy Team, Groundhog Team, Sea King Team, Twenty-Nine-Year-Old Team, Who Says Women Are Inferior to Men Team, Roaring Lion Team.

Because the conditions for participating this time were relaxed, a large number of soul hunting groups and free soul masters formed teams to participate, and the names of their teams were also taken very casually.

Just like the "Twenty-Nine Years Old" team, the ages of its members are exactly twenty-nine years old.

There's also the "Who Says Women Are Not As Good As Men" team, whose members are all women, but the muscularity of each member is no less than that of a man, which is extremely exaggerated.

"Humph, our Haotian Sect isn't the first to appear, there must be something fishy going on." Seventh Elder cursed, "Also, Spirit Hall didn't even invite us to draw lots, they really don't take us seriously at all."

Tang Xiao was also a little angry.

Even during the period when the Haotian Sect closed its mountain, outsiders would still classify it as one of the Upper Three Sects, let alone now that it has announced its re-emergence... Ning Fengzhi, Yu Yuanzhen, and people from the Lower Four Sects can all go up to draw teams, so why can't their Haotian Sect?

Spirit Hall is really deceiving people too much!

In fact, these people can go up because they have an inseparable cooperation with Spirit Hall and are a community of interests.

And what about the Haotian Sect?

Putting aside the grievances between the former Pope and Tang Hao, what commercial or political cooperation does the Haotian Sect have with the current Spirit Hall?

None?

Then why should they give Haotian Sect face?

Even if we put aside this factor, Ning Fengzhi and others are also registered in Spirit Hall as honorary Elders without real power, which in a sense can be regarded as the facade of Spirit Hall.

Does anyone from the Haotian Sect have a name registered in Spirit Hall?

Since there isn't even such a superficial relationship, then naturally there's no need to invite them.

"Forget it, let's endure it for now. When Grandpa inherits the Asura God position, he will definitely make Spirit Hall stretch their necks and await slaughter!" Tang Xiao held down the agitated Seventh Elder.

If a real fight breaks out, the Haotian Sect will only be in the wrong. If the Haotian Sect Team's qualification to participate is cancelled at that time, then the entire Haotian Sect will really become a joke.

It's not worth doing things that outweigh the benefits.

Now, Spirit Hall is powerful, and the Haotian Sect must not give the other party a chance...

...

And when the competition officially started, the captain of the Shrek Team: Oscar, found the captain of the White Tiger Sect Team: Dai Mubai, and prepared to cooperate.

Dai Mubai, after all, returned to the Star Luo Empire, entered the White Tiger Sect, and represented the White Tiger Sect to participate in the competition.

"Dai Laoda, I didn't expect that when we meet again, we would actually be opponents." Oscar hugged Dai Mubai, and then said, "Why don't we cooperate and eliminate the other teams first, and then have a competition, how about it?"

"That's exactly what I want." Dai Mubai naturally couldn't ask for more. Compared to these clansmen of the White Tiger Sect, Oscar and Ma Hongjun of Shrek are more trustworthy, "Little Oscar, Fatty, what kind of realm have you reached in these five years?"

"I have been working hard to cultivate in these five years, and I have become a Soul King, but my soul power is only level fifty-one." Oscar smiled triumphantly. With the devouring ability of the Eight Spider Lances, his cultivation speed is extremely fast—by killing soul beasts and bandits, and devouring their cultivation and vitality.

The Eight Spider Lances have also evolved to the level of ten thousand years.

Moreover, Oscar discovered that his body has also become stronger, and he has also obtained soul skills that can attack from a distance. He is already an almost all-around Strong attack system soul master!

Ma Hongjun said with a wry smile: "I am a little worse, only level forty-six. As my soul power increases, my evil fire is getting stronger and stronger... I am becoming more and more unable to bear that kind of thing, and I have to find several women to have a big fight almost every day."

"No wonder—" Dai Mubai saw the new Shrek Team and found that there were no girls, all men, probably because they were afraid of being harmed by Fatty.

"In the past five years, I have also traveled to various cities on the continent, looking for legends about phoenixes, to see if there is a way to get rid of my evil fire." Ma Hongjun's expression was dim, "But the goddess of luck is not on my side... I swear, if there really is a goddess in the future, I will definitely fuck her before I die!"

The evil fire increases with soul power, which is simply killing him!

He used to think it was good to enjoy himself among women, but as time went by, Ma Hongjun found that finding women gradually couldn't solve the problem, and his body became more and more dry.

For this reason, Yu Xiaogang proposed a method, which is to let people with ice-attribute martial souls help Ma Hongjun suppress it, such as: Shui Bing'er of Tianshui Academy.

Then—

Then there was no then.

Shui Bing'er's martial soul is an Ice Phoenix!

This is an extremely powerful beast martial soul!

If Ma Hongjun's martial soul was a Fire Phoenix that had completed its transformation, Shui Bing'er's parents would be happy to see it happen, but now Ma Hongjun's martial soul is just an "Evil Fire Chicken", and taking Shui Bing'er's future to gamble is just like joking!

Shrek Academy doesn't have the face to find Tianshui Academy!

"Okay, Fatty, stop complaining, isn't it just a woman? Follow Dai, my Big Brother in the future, if ten is not enough, I will give you a hundred, I'm just afraid you can't stand it!" Dai Mubai threw out an olive branch. He still has some ideas about the throne—at least during this time, Dai Mubai has also figured it out, people live to fight for a breath!

The matter of Zhu Zhuqing's engagement with him being terminated...

He can't swallow this breath.

What do Zhu Zhuqing and those people in the royal family think of him?

He wants to take back this face!

506: Oscar's fourth and fifth soul skills

“Is that true?”

Ma Hongjun slurped, the flab on his body jiggling, and the two small mustaches on his upper lip seemed to come alive, bouncing up and down, making his lewd aura even stronger.

If there were beautiful women, and a hundred of them at that, he wouldn't mind living twenty years less!

Dai Mubai pushed Ma Hongjun away in disgust, patted his shoulder, and said, “I'm Young Master Dai, when have I ever lied?”

Oscar, on the other hand, didn't want to get involved in the Star Luo Empire's royal disputes at all, but he couldn't refuse outright, so he could only take it one step at a time, saying, “Dai Laoda, then we're agreed, let's cooperate first and clear out the other teams.”

“Of course, how could anyone else compete with our two teams?” Dai Mubai was quite pleased with himself.

Although the average strength of the participating teams in this competition had increased, there were no monsters like Tang San, Feng Xiaotian, or Shui Bing'er.

The opponents they needed to face were only the teams from Heaven Dou, Star Luo, and Spirit Hall.

Dai Mubai, who had already become a Soul King, naturally felt he could handle it.

At least, the top three should be no problem.

As for the New Heaven Dou Federation Academy team, to be honest, Dai Mubai didn't put them in his eyes at all.

They didn't even have a Soul King, how could they compete with them?

“Speaking of which, what is Spirit Hall doing? Why hold the preliminary competition on an island?” Ma Hongjun talked about the island's environment, “It's desolate here, very primitive.

I even suspect they hope we'll be free labor and clear the land here.”

Oscar wasn't very interested in these things.

He used his Soul Skill to create a Recovery Great Sausage and handed it to Ma Hongjun, saying, “What are you thinking about?

Anyway, before we become true powerhouses, no one will care about us, we can only do our best to show ourselves.”

When he mentioned “show”, Oscar's face darkened.

After all, in the previous competition, the effect of his Soul Skill was too “heaven-defying”, so much so that many forces on the Continent changed color upon hearing about him, and he couldn't even get a girlfriend.

Regarding this, Oscar didn't blame Yu Xiaogang, it was just that the world couldn't understand.

A food system Soul Master who wanted to have combat power comparable to a Battle Soul Master had to pay the corresponding price.

It was already very good that he didn't degenerate into one of The Fallen.

Moreover, he couldn't decide what the Soul Curse was like or what the effect of the Soul Skill was.

Dai Mubai noticed Oscar's expression and instantly knew the reason, saying, "Xiao Ao, tell me, what are your Fourth Soul Skill and Fifth Soul Skill?"

"Don't worry, we're brothers, we won't say anything."

After speaking, Dai Mubai also pulled Oscar and Ma Hongjun a few steps away from the two teams behind them.

And at this moment, the other members of these two teams began to be wary of each other.

After all, the other members of the Shrek Team and the other members of the White Tiger Sect Team were not familiar with each other and couldn't trust each other.

In fact, if possible, they all hoped that their respective Captains would not trust each other too much either.

Oscar looked back at his companions behind him, sighed helplessly, and said, "If I tell you, you can't laugh."

"Don't be so coy, if you don't say it, I will." Ma Hongjun couldn't stand it and revealed the effect of Oscar's Fourth Soul Skill: "His Fourth Soul Skill can ejaculate profusely."

Dai Mubai smiled lewdly: "Isn't that the same as the Third Soul Skill?"

Oscar's Third Soul Skill was to make his Martial Soul spray out white viscous threads.

Could it be that this Fourth Soul Skill also had a similar effect?

Anyway, Dai Mubai didn't have any hope for the "seriousness" of Oscar's Soul Skills.

"It's different, the Third Soul Skill is sticky threads that can bind, while this Fourth Soul Skill is pure liquid, and it can shoot far, over thirty meters." Ma Hongjun laughed so hard that his eyes were blocked into slits by the fat at the corners of his eyes, “And that shooting speed, tsk tsk, within ten meters, it can penetrate steel!”

Oscar, on the other hand, was relieved and nodded, saying, “My Fourth Soul Ring comes from an armored insect Soul Beast called a water-shooting insect.

Its attack method is to compress the venom in its body and spray it out.”

“This ability was applied to my Martial Soul and can spray venom... I have to say, my Martial Soul and insects really complement each other.”

Ma Hongjun added: “There's more! Dai Laoda, you don't know, after this guy's Martial Soul ejaculates profusely, it shrinks... Isn't that very vivid?”

Dai Laoda was also stunned for a moment, then he also laughed out loud: “It really is exactly like a ‘Sausage’, Oscar, if I didn't know from the beginning that your Martial Soul could be eaten, I would suspect that thing of yours mutated from a Physical Martial Soul.”

Oscar's forehead was full of black lines, and he said, “It's different, okay? My Martial Soul Sausage, after using the Fourth Soul Skill, will be even harder! Its hardness is even comparable to diamond!”

“How can it not be hard?” Ma Hongjun gestured with his finger, “Your Sausage isn't a real Physical Martial Soul, when there's no water, it naturally gets drier.”

“Fatty, if you keep talking nonsense, don't even think about me giving you Recovery Sausage in the future.” Oscar threatened.

“Don't, I was wrong, brother.”

Ma Hongjun immediately apologized, afraid that Oscar would really ignore him at that time.

After all, as Oscar added more and more toxic Soul Rings to his Martial Soul, his Sausage itself also carried a little bit of toxicity, and the Sausage made by the First Soul Skill actually had a little bit of effect in suppressing evil Fire.

Perhaps this could also be considered fighting poison with poison.

When others take the Recovery Sausage made by Oscar's First Soul Skill to recover Soul Power, it is no longer entirely dependent on the energy contained in the Sausage itself.

The part of the toxin carried by the Sausage will stimulate the cells of the user's physical body, squeeze their potential, and promote the rapid recovery of Soul Power.

However, Yu Xiaogang couldn't detect this point, and even thought that the toxin enhanced the effect of Oscar's First Soul Skill, and was very pleased with his research.

Then, Dai Mubai asked about Oscar's Fifth Soul Skill.

“Can't I have some privacy?” Oscar felt like dying at this moment.

His Fifth Soul Skill was even more “lewd”.

“Fatty?”

The more Oscar didn't want to say it, the more curious Dai Mubai became, and he turned to look at Ma Hongjun.

Ma Hongjun glanced at Oscar, who was raising his hand and gesturing at his neck, swallowed, and said with a forced smile, “Dai Laoda, I really can't say.”

“Xiao Ao...”

“Alright, alright, I'm really convinced by you, Dai Laoda.” Oscar described his Fifth Soul Skill with a lifeless expression—

It turned out that his Fifth Soul Ring came from a fungal Soul Beast called an umbrella mushroom.

This kind of mushroom has a layer of transparent film on its surface, which can block wind and rain, but from a human perspective, this is no different from putting a protective film on the mushroom.

And after Oscar obtained the Soul Ring of this kind of Soul Beast, the Soul Skill it brought was to wrap a layer of transparent film on the outside of the Martial Soul.

It looked like it had no effect, but in fact, this layer of film could be shot out through the Sausage Martial Soul, cover the surface of the body, and block a fatal elemental energy attack once.

After learning about this effect, Dai Mubai's eyes widened and he held out his hand: "Can you give me a condom?"

"Get lost!" Oscar rolled his eyes and talked about the shortcomings of this Soul Skill: "This thing can't be used casually, you can only shoot it seven times a day."

"I told you, this Soul Skill is even more lewd, right? Seven times a day!" Ma Hongjun chuckled, and his two small mustaches twitched.

Little did they know, the scene of their conversation was also completely broadcast on the large screen in the Spirit Hall City venue—

Perhaps in Oscar and Dai Mubai's view, the flying Soul Guidance photography devices distributed above the island could only capture images, but not extract sound.

In fact, these Soul Guidance photography devices indeed could not record too much noisy sound.

However, when the picture was transmitted to Spirit Hall City, in order to ensure details, the Heavenly Dao within the Blue Silver Network would perform a 100% accurate restoration, and also deduce the language information of the contestants.

This was mainly to allow the referees and commentators to understand the planning of each team more clearly, so as to carry out standardized commentary, thereby making the audience see more clearly.

It's just that the commentators didn't know how to explain the words and deeds of the Shrek Team and the White Tiger Sect Team—Oscar's Soul Skill was truly outrageous, and it was not suitable to be described in such a public setting!

Some viewers also complained one after another, hoping to cancel Shrek's participation qualification, this was clearly disgusting people!

Bibi Dong's face was also quite ugly—Yu Xiaogang, Yu Xiaogang, you have actually fallen so low, teaching such a thing... A good Food Martial Soul, not using its strengths, but insisting on developing in the direction of attack.

It's one thing for you to develop, but why are the skills so lewd?

Martial Soul Theory Master?

It really is a joke!

Completely letting go of the last bit of resentment, Bibi Dong suddenly felt that she wasn't too sad, but rather felt a sense of relief—

[It turns out that what has been tormenting me is myself.]

After thinking it through, Bibi Dong suddenly had a realization of “taking a step back and the sea is vast and the sky is wide”, and her Soul Power surged, about to break through to level 100.

But at the last moment, she suppressed it.

Level 100 becomes a God.

Now is not the time.

Having already given up the idea of destroying Spirit Hall and destroying the Continent, she didn't want to break through to the level 100 realm too early, so as to be bound by the God Realm and not be free.

Now, even without breaking through, she could still live forever in the world by relying on her Physical Universe and Primordial Spirit Heavenly Dao.

On the other side, Tang San was more concerned about Oscar's Martial Soul —

Putting aside the lewd external appearance, the trend of his Sausage Martial Soul developing in a direction similar to human reproductive organs also confirmed one of his theories:

[Martial Souls can sense the thoughts of people's hearts, thereby evolving, it's just that Soul Rings accelerate this process to a certain extent.]

The power of the mind.

It is indeed very powerful!

507: Qi and blood oven method

“This guy's Spirit Ability really isn't suitable for public display,” Gu Yuena commented with a chuckle, appearing beside Tang San at some point, evaluating Oscar's Spirit Ability effect.

Although she had spent some time in the human World and learned about privacy and secrecy, she was still “blunt” with people she could trust one hundred percent, without any pretense.

“Indeed... Speaking of which, why are you here? Didn't you go to Moon Pavilion with Lan Yinzi?” Tang San asked.

“I have good news to share with you, I've already obtained the Sea God's Heart.”

Gu Yuena took the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud out of her Golden Rope Hundred Treasures Pouch and showed it off to Tang San, “The wisp of divine consciousness inside has been annihilated by me. The Sea God in the God Realm might have some sense of it, but he won't realize it was my doing. After all, a mere一级主神 cannot directly observe the scenes of the lower realm in a non-inheritance location.”

“I'm preparing to brand it with my own mark and refine it into something that belongs to me.”

“Although the Sea God is a一级主神, I can perceive that this God Position has the potential to become a God King level one—over ninety-nine percent of all Life in the mortal World is born from the ocean. It can encompass all things, reflect the stars, and if the sea is taken out alone, it can also be called a small plane.”

At this point, Gu Yuena paused for a moment, revealing a mysterious smile (— —): “Doesn't that sound incredibly powerful? But I don't plan to replicate the Sea God's God Position. Instead, I will refine it into a vessel capable of carrying water elements.”

“This is a necessary adjustment based on my own circumstances.”

“Although the ocean is vast, for me, it's still too small. My future journey is the Star Sea!”

Tang San was noncommittal, as he had already guessed Gu Yuena's future plans: she probably intended to refine multiple gems similar to the Sea God's Heart to carry her elemental power.

If successful, Tang San speculated that Gu Yuena should be able to obtain a set of gem-type divine artifacts that surpassed ordinary Super Divine Artifacts.

“Oh, right, Tang San, help me forge a Soul Imprint Throne. It needs nine empty slots that can hold elemental gems, and circular ones will do, as I'll make all the gems circular later,” Gu Yuena stated her request.

“You sure know how to order people around.” Tang San was speechless. The materials needed to forge a Soul Imprint Throne were very precious. If Gu Yuena wanted one, she'd have to be at the very end of the line.

Unless she provided the materials herself.

“Of course I do~”

Gu Yuena put her hands on her hips, looking incredibly proud, without a hint of shame on her face, “Don't worry, I won't make things difficult for you regarding the materials. Later, I'll take you to the Star Dou Great Forest. With a single word from this King, the ferocious Spirit Beasts will surely find all the materials you need.”

Indeed, the resources of the Star Dou Great Forest are very abundant, but current humans are unable to carry out large-scale development, while Gu

Yuena, as the co-lord of Spirit Beasts, has a natural advantage.

It's just that in the future, how should humans treat the Star Dou Great Forest?

Perhaps, a way should be found to make the ferocious Spirit Beasts and Ten-thousand year soul beasts more proactive, instead of always wanting to idle away in their habitats. After all, 【Death by Comfort】 is one of the most straightforward truths in the World.

“If you don't speak, I'll take it as you agreeing.”

“.....”

“There's something I need to tell you. Tang Xiao and the Elder of the Clear Sky Sect came to Moon Pavilion to look for your aunt.”

Gu Yuena brought up the matter, “The two of them give me the feeling of being greenhorns who just arrived in a big city, but are unwilling to accept the rules of the big city, thinking they are the best.”

“Although their Spirit is indeed much stronger than most people's, and their path as a Spirit Master is also easier than others, I estimate that if they cannot keep up with the pace of this era, they will eventually be eliminated.”

“The secret suppression by other forces...”

“The rise of new Spirit families...”

“Even if these don't crush them, the Clear Sky Sect itself doesn't have the ability to make money on a large scale, and the internal shortage of funds and resources will eventually drag them down.”

Clap! Clap!

Tang San clapped his hands, his eyes showing relief: “Not bad, although still quite immature, the analysis is quite reasonable and well-founded.”

Inheriting the Dragon God's wisdom is not wisdom.

Thinking with one's own mind—

That is called wisdom.

As for the Clear Sky Sect?

Tang San didn't want to bother with them at all at this moment.

Unless Tang Chen breaks through level 100, otherwise, under the current development trend of the Douluo Continent, he will inevitably be eliminated by the era... Who told the “pride” of the Hao Tian Disciples to be essentially arrogance and prejudice?

Just swinging hammers can't keep up with the times!

“Don't treat me like an idiot. If I use my brain, you can't even catch up.” Gu Yuena let out a soft “哼”, proudly raising her head, then asked another question: “Shen Hou and the others have arrived at the Soul Martial Manor. They said you called them over, what for? Research? Or have you really researched new skills related to the Body Forging Art?”

“Based on Xiao Wu's eighth Spirit Ability, with the computing power of the Heavenly Dao, and with the cooperation of those Physical Martial Souls found by the Spirit Hall, I created a Blood Qi Furnace.” Tang San explained the brand new cultivation method he created, “It uses blood qi to circulate through the five zang and six fu organs, then connects with spirit power, and then, with strong mental force control, it can achieve the maximum efficiency in refining the energy of heaven and earth, as well as extracting the essence from swallowed food.”

Taking Immortal Herb as an example, consuming it requires a specific sequence, otherwise, the medicinal power will be lost. But with the Blood Qi Furnace, even if it's swallowed whole like an ox chewing a peony, not too much medicinal effect will be wasted.

“However, I called them over not just for cultivating the Blood Qi Furnace, but also to research Martial Soul Fusion Skill.”

“The fusion between Physical Martial Souls might be able to fuse into a truly meaningful— ” spirit power Fusion, Spirit Ability Fusion, Martial Soul Fusion.

“Human.”

Martial Soul Fusion Skill requires extremely strong cooperation between participants.

Once the number of participants exceeds two, then Martial Soul Fusion is the most difficult one, followed by spirit power Fusion, with Spirit Ability Fusion being the simplest.

After learning about Physical Martial Souls, Tang San always had an idea, which was to have multiple owners of Physical Martial Souls from different body parts fuse.

Tang San had a premonition that when multiple Physical Martial Soul owners fused into one “human,” it would present the most perfect posture of a human. At that time, his records of the “human's” blood qi fluctuations, energy circulation, and multiple different mental force unified control methods would surely allow for further improvements to the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method, Creation and Destruction True Scripture, and Cosmic Meditation. They might even be able to deduce patterns and circuits that could be inscribed on the Golden Core Ring, Heart Core Ring, and Lingge Ring.

Whether it's the cultivation of spirit power, blood qi, and mental force, or the development and research of soul tool technology, humans have actually always been imitating natural objects.

And this time, Tang San wanted to imitate—a human.

508: It is inferred from the multiple awakenings of the original martial soul that the original

What a wild idea.

Gu Yuena sighed, suddenly thinking, since humans can imitate the appearance and energy flow methods of Soul Beasts to create cultivation methods and invent Soul Guidance Devices, can Soul Beasts also imitate humans?

Uh...

Soul Beasts transforming into human form seems to be a complete imitation of humans, even transforming their own race into humans.

However, this is caused by the rules of the Douluo Continent, after all, before transforming, Soul Beasts at most know what a person looks like on the outside, but are unclear about the internal human organs.

But after transforming, their bodily organs are no different from humans.

This must be because the corresponding rules within the Douluo Continent plane have set everything up.

Speaking of this, Tang San suddenly thought that the Heaven Dream Iceworm had even reversed the process of 'transformation', completely changing Huo Yuhao's physical body into an Ice Jade Emperor Scorpion.

He had also asked the Heaven Dream Iceworm back then, and they only said it was by using immense energy, and with the help of the Ice Jade Emperor Scorpion Martial Soul granted to Huo Yuhao, they reversed the energy pathways involved in transformation.

Regarding this, what Tang San was interested in was not the point of 'humans transforming into Soul Beasts', but rather that during the process of transformation, whether a Soul Beast becomes human or a human becomes a Soul Beast, changes must occur in the original body size, either compressing a massive body or expanding a tiny body. The first step in this process must be to fully energize the body, otherwise even a tiny material collision could cause an originally robust creature unbearable pain, or even direct death.

After all, if a Soul Master cultivates for a long time, the meridians in their body will swell and ache, and in severe cases, they will directly rupture.

Let alone a transformation that changes the body's structure?

The first step is naturally to energize the entire body!

However, Tang San currently doesn't understand how energization can be achieved without God-level power?

The plane rules of the Douluo Continent?

But rules are rules, and energy is energy; they cannot be lumped together.

Tang San had a guess, for example: during the process of transformation, external heaven and earth energy gathers around the body, forming a special environment.

When Huo Yuhao transformed into the Ice Jade Emperor Scorpion back then, the external energy was indeed chaotic, constantly converging on his body, but all things considered, that energy was still less than that of a ninety-level quasi-Title Douluo.

There must be other reasons for this.

To clarify the concepts involved, experiments are necessary, but making humans transform into Soul Beasts is indeed inhumane, so we can only start with Martial Soul Fusion.

Martial Soul Fusion, in a sense, is also 'transformation', except it transforms two different Martial Souls into one, which is an energetic fusion.

Martial Souls, being between energy and matter, are perfectly suitable for research.

It's just that instances of Martial Soul Fusion are relatively few.

However, while researching Physical Martial Souls, Tang San discovered that the fusion between this type of Martial Soul doesn't encounter much resistance. He has currently summarized only two reasons:

First, they are all parts of a complete body.

Second, they do not carry any elemental attributes.

In short, they naturally do not have any conflicts in terms of fusion.

Other Martial Souls with different attributes require their attributes to be balanced to a certain extent before fusion, but Physical Martial Souls do not.

After all, they have no attributes, so balancing is naturally unnecessary.

Of course, not all Physical Martial Souls can fuse with each other.

For example:

However, when six people possessing left hand, left arm, chest, waist, left leg, and left foot Martial Souls hold hands, with their Soul Power flowing into each other, standing closely together, they all experienced the sensation of Martial Soul Fusion.

But if, from this arrangement of six, the middle one of any three adjacent ones is removed —

Left hand, left arm, chest: if the left arm is removed, the left hand and chest no longer have the sensation of Martial Soul Fusion.

Left arm, chest, waist: if the chest is removed, then the left hand and left arm have a sensation, and the waist has a sensation with the left leg and left foot.

This phenomenon provides an argument: Physical Martial Souls can all undergo Martial Soul Fusion, but this fusion has continuity; once a certain part is disconnected, the sensation of fusion disappears.

Furthermore, the Soul Power of Soul Masters with Physical Martial Souls is much easier to fuse than that of those with Martial Souls or Beast Martial Souls. Their own Soul Power attributes are extremely stable and, in most cases, are not affected by the attributes of the Soul Rings.

The Soul Power between Soul Masters who possess the same Beast Martial Souls or Martial Souls is also difficult to fuse, mainly because their Martial Souls' inherent attributes are affected by the Soul Rings when they are attached.

Even within the same large clan, although the Soul Rings of the Soul Masters within the clan come from the same series of Soul Beasts, the cultivation years of the Soul Beasts will also affect the attribute bonuses obtained by the Martial Souls after absorbing the Soul Rings, either strongly or weakly.

However, Physical Martial Souls do not have this flaw, or rather, this flaw is reduced to a negligible extent, such that Soul Rings can only provide Soul Skills, and the energy within them is mostly transformed and stored by the Physical Martial Soul for future secondary awakenings, tertiary awakenings, and so on.

This is an extremely pure Martial Soul. In a sense, it is even purer than those simple elemental Martial Souls, as even those elemental Martial Souls change when absorbing Soul Rings.

This overturned Tang San's previous speculation about Physical Martial Souls: that Physical Martial Souls were the result of the solidification of the origin of Martial Souls within the human body in primeval times, taking the form of human organs.

If this theory were correct, then Physical Martial Souls and other Martial Souls should have no essential difference, and would all be affected and changed by the elements, attributes, and bloodlines of external Soul Rings.

But in reality, Physical Martial Souls are not like that; instead, they refine and accumulate the energy within the Soul Rings, hoping to undergo a secondary or higher awakening at some point in the future.

In Tang San's understanding, this kind of awakening is not in the sense of releasing the Martial Soul from the body, but rather restoring its true form.

Taking the Blue Silver Emperor as an example, its predecessor was the Blue Silver Emperor. Before revealing its true form, it was in the form of ordinary Blue Silver Grass. When it transformed into the Blue Silver Emperor, it can be said to have undergone a secondary awakening, which is actually restoring itself to its original form.

Similarly, Physical Martial Souls should also be like this.

However, Tang San was very happy.

After all, theories are meant to be overturned!

Moreover, Physical Martial Souls seem even purer; before restoring their original form, they will not undergo minor external changes due to the bonuses from Soul Rings like the Blue Silver Grass.

This purity sparked Tang San's curiosity —

What kind of existence were the original 'humans' to be able to resist the bloodline influences within various Soul Beast Soul Rings... Tang San was certain that this could definitely be traced back to an era much earlier than the Golden Civilization.

The so-called Dragon God, perhaps in the eyes of those original 'humans', was nothing more than a slightly larger lizard.

"Give me some face, don't call the Dragon God a lizard, okay?" Gu Yuena rolled her eyes. Her feelings towards the Dragon God were actually quite complex. After all, if he hadn't messed things up back then, he wouldn't have been cut in half... Of course, if he hadn't been cut in half, there wouldn't be her, the Silver Dragon King.

Perhaps, the growth of the mind is far more important than the improvement of cultivation...

509: Bionics of Oscar's Martial Spirit

"It's just a metaphor." Tang San's gaze drifted until Gu Yuena stared at him, then he sincerely apologized, and then coughed, saying, "We've strayed a bit too far from the topic. Let's watch the match."

At this moment, in the image on the large screen, the Shrek Team and the White Tiger Sect Team had already joined forces to eliminate the other teams and were now engaged in a decisive battle. Only about an hour had passed since the match began.

The island's diameter exceeded fifteen kilometers and featured diverse environmental terrains. Logically, after the ten teams dispersed, they shouldn't have encountered each other so quickly.

However, when formulating the rules, Tang San, Bibi Dong, and others had naturally considered this issue. Their method was that every five minutes, the flying Soul Guidance Devices hovering above the island would move inward a certain distance, and participants on the island also had to enter the corresponding area within a specified time, or they would be eliminated.

In short, it was similar to the shrinking circle in "battle royale" type games.

Achieving the effects of electric shock or poisoning was actually easy, but considering this was a competition and there was no need to add unnecessary burden to the organizers, similar measures were not included.

As the activity area shrank, the probability of the ten teams encountering each other would continuously increase, and conflicts between them would also intensify.

By the end, the only teams left for the first match were the White Tiger Sect Team, which had solid strength, and the Shrek Team, which had grown through "barbaric education."

"Dai Laoda, how about we fight?" Oscar issued an invitation to Dai Mubai, seemingly intending to have a one-on-one duel.

"Alright, let's fight like this!" Dai Mubai laughed heartily. His attached White Tiger Martial Soul turned his golden hair white, and he instantly pounced towards Oscar.

Tear!

The clothes on Oscar's back instantly ripped apart, and the Eight Spider Lances broke through his skin. The dark and sharp spider lances startled Dai Mubai. He activated his First Soul Skill: White Tiger Protective Barrier and Third Soul Skill: White Tiger Vajra Transformation, adding a layer of energy defense to himself and doubling his attack, defense, and strength attributes.

In terms of strength, Dai Mubai was naturally not afraid of Oscar, who looked even more robust than him, but the opponent's Eight Spider Lances were highly poisonous. Even a slight touch would affect his body.

Therefore, in close combat with Oscar, Dai Mubai had to attach a layer of protection to himself, isolate the thrusts of the Eight Spider Lances, and absolutely prevent them from touching his skin.

Bang!

In close proximity, Dai Mubai swiped a claw towards Oscar's chest.

The Eight Spider Lances on Oscar's back slightly bounced, carrying him away from Dai Mubai and quickly moving around Dai Mubai.

Using the dense bushes, Dai Mubai couldn't help but look left and right, his nerves tense.

In terms of agility, Oscar, aided by the Eight Spider Lances, far surpassed Dai Mubai.

"White Tiger Meteor Shower!"

Wanting to finish the fight quickly, Dai Mubai raised his claws sharply. Countless Lights gathered in the sky, condensing into white Light clusters, then 砸 down like meteors.

In an instant, centered around Dai Mubai, all the vegetation within a nearly hundred-meter radius was broken, revealing pitted craters, and Oscar naturally had nowhere to hide.

The fluctuations of this battlefield also forced the other members of the Shrek Team and the White Tiger Sect Team to stay away from the two men's battle.

"Dai Laoda, do you have to be so serious?" Oscar looked at the dense craters around him, a trace of cold sweat seeping from his forehead. In his hand, a dark, shiny Sausage appeared, as thick as a baby's arm and over two meters long, looking like a "big gun" with a slightly vulgar shape.

This was precisely the effect of his Second Soul Skill, turning the Sausage into a club.

"I can't be careless at all when dealing with you." Seeing the club in Oscar's hand, Dai Mubai's pupils shrank sharply, and he slightly hunched his waist, ready to dodge at any moment.

After all, the fact that Oscar's Martial Soul had transformed into that appearance proved that the opponent was "蓄势待发" (poised to strike).

Whether it was the already known Third Soul Skill or the never-before-seen Fourth Soul Skill, Dai Mubai did not want to be splashed by even a tiny bit; it was simply too disgusting.

Especially since they were being filmed by those Soul Guidance Devices in the sky... He had already been humiliated enough in the previous tournament. If it happened again this time, the moment of his embarrassment would probably be inscribed on the "Continent Shame Record List" by the entire Continent.

"I have a Exploding Water Sausage!"

Shouting the vulgar Soul Chant loudly, the Sausage club in Oscar's hand suddenly expanded by a third, and the tip swelled to the size of a fist. Following this was a fierce torrent of Water spurting out, its speed so fast that even Dai Mubai almost couldn't react in time.

As the torrent cut through the air, it left behind a foul odor, forcing Dai Mubai to pinch his nose, but some of the smell still entered his lungs, and then--

"Ugh!"

Dai Mubai knelt on the ground and dry-heaved.

"This guy is still as vulgar as ever."

"No, he's more vulgar than five years ago!"

"Before it was bursting, now it's spraying urine, it's even more disgusting, right!"

"....."

Bibi Dong, Xue Qinghe, Dai Legao, Xue Beng, and others all showed expressions of awkwardness, displeasure, and disgust... Oscar's Soul Skill was challenging the limits of their senses!

Even among the audience who were more "open" in their private lives, they were still spitting on Oscar.

If it were just vulgar, that would be fine, but that stuff was also poisonous!

This was simply incomprehensible.

"Although I knew about this guy's Soul Skill effect before, seeing it truly displayed can only be described with two words: 'Heaven-defying,' and the kind with quotation marks." If this kind of behavior occurred among Soul Beasts in the Star Dou Great Forest, Gu Yuena wouldn't feel anything, after all, Soul Beasts basically have no ethics or morals.

But humans are different. Compared to others' Soul Skills, Oscar's Soul Skill is equivalent to a "uninhibited" Soul Beast that doesn't understand morals and arbitrarily intrudes into human society.

Even so, such behavior would be extremely heaven-defying even in the Soul Beast world and would be attacked by the vast majority of intelligent Soul Beasts.

"Perhaps it's to expel the toxins accumulated within the Martial Soul." Tang San had a different view on this—with the Eight Spider Lances, evolution could occur through accumulating toxins. Oscar certainly didn't seem to worry about the Martial Soul's poison, but the Soul Ring was attached to the Martial Soul, not the Eight Spider Lances, so it was bound to have an impact.

Therefore, some method was needed to expel the toxins within it.

This Fourth Soul Skill was clearly prepared for this.

But--

Tang San estimated that Yu Xiaogang probably didn't think of this point and focused more on the attack capability of the spurting Water column.

The Water column had a fast shooting speed and could impact and cut enemies. Secondly, it contained toxins and a strong irritating smell. Dai Mubai's immediate dry heaving, almost unable to maintain his attached Martial Soul, was the best proof.

And the flowing Water stains could also quickly evaporate, forming something similar to miasma, launching a secondary attack on the enemy, and it was also an area-of-effect attack.

It just so happened that when using this Soul Skill, a portion of the uncontrollable toxins within the Martial Soul could also be regularly expelled.

It was also a happy accident.

"Speaking of which, does this count as biomimicry? Imitating some functions of the human urinary system?" Tang San began to contemplate the biomimetic effects of Martial Souls on some human circulatory systems.

The current Oscar was a very good example...

510: Game 2: The soul ring configuration of the Wuhundian team!

Amidst the miasma formed by the evaporating "urine," Dai Mubai, with tears and snot streaming down his face, shouted, "Little Ao, if you're going to fight, do it fair and square! Don't use such petty tricks!"

"Boss Dai, this is a Spirit Ability, so it is fair and square. You can't possibly expect me, a food system Spirit Master, to engage in close combat with you, a Beast Spirit Spirit Master, can you?" Oscar, as the one who released the Spirit Ability, was naturally immune to the miasma's toxins, but his complexion wasn't very good either—it was from being熏 by the urine smell produced by his own Spirit Ability.

He couldn't stand the smell himself.

To finish the fight quickly, Oscar seized the opportunity while Dai Mubai was weakened and unleashed his third Spirit Ability, spraying out white sticky threads to bind him securely.

Immediately, the foul smell of the watery stench, the disgusting white threads, and the toxins carried by both combined, making Dai Mubai unable to bear it any longer, and he fell to the ground with resentment.

Before finally fainting, Dai Mubai secretly swore that if he ever got the chance, he would definitely find a way to cut off the other party's lifeline!

This brotherly bond—

It was better to not have it!

On the other side, the other six, including Ma Hongjun, were indeed not very optimistic, being beaten back steadily by the other members of the White Tiger Sect, with three already having lost their combat ability.

As a last resort, Oscar joined in, and using the movement technique brought by his Eight Spider Lances, he quickly injected the toxins, a mixture of Man Faced Demon Spider and other insects, into their bodies, causing them to fall one after another.

Poison always made people change their expressions at the mention of it.

Finally, the Shrek Team won the first preliminary match.

Immediately, the entire venue erupted in boos.

Flender, Zhao Wuji, and others from Shrek Academy were also a bit embarrassed, but Oscar's victory was within the rules, at most his Spirit Ability was a bit lewd.

Yu Xiaogang, on the other hand, was calm, as exceptionally talented individuals were always prone to criticism from the world.

For example, he himself, Yu Xiaogang, was a Grandmaster of Spirit cultivation theory, possessing such profound knowledge and world-shaking talent, yet he was misunderstood by others and subjected to much criticism.

As his disciple, Oscar was merely misunderstood by the people of the world.

Little did they know, truth was held by a minority!

As for Tang San and the others...

Yu Xiaogang had already automatically excluded them from the comparison, and if he really had to compare, Yu Xiaogang would stake his reputation that in terms of hidden lethality, Tang San's poisons absolutely couldn't compare to Oscar's.

However, in the upcoming second match, among the participating teams was the Spirit Hall Team, and the spirit ring configuration they displayed made Yu Xiaogang's pupils contract sharply!

This was because all the members of this Spirit Hall group had thousand-year first, second, and third spirit rings, and even their fourth spirit ring was ten-thousand-year!

A ten-thousand-year fourth spirit ring had been seen in the previous session, and it was not surprising for Spirit Hall to appear in this session, but what Yu Xiaogang and others could not understand was how these people managed to have their first spirit ring reach the thousand-year level?

Some people even recognized those members of the Spirit Hall Team and knew their previous spirit ring configurations: two yellow and one purple, or two yellow and two purple.

But now, they were all uniformly three purple and one black, or three purple and two black.

Could it be that Tang San had researched a method to discard spirit rings without side effects, allowing a Spirit Master to strip off already absorbed spirit rings and then re-hunt Spirit Beasts?

Hmm—

This idea was indeed very tempting, but the consumption of Spirit Beasts would be too great, and Tang San would not research such an "unsustainable" method, at least not at the current stage.

And outsiders, regarding the "increasing of spirit ring age," could not imagine it no matter what, as this touched upon their knowledge blind spot.

"Xiaogang, how do you think the people from Spirit Hall did it?" Flender's tone sank as he watched the Spirit Hall members on the screen release their spirit rings, displaying overwhelming power against other teams. "From the looks of it, if our team encounters the Spirit Hall Team, we might not even be able to secure a top three spot."

Oscar was good, but the spirit ring configuration of the Spirit Hall members was truly terrifying.

Yu Xiaogang did not answer, but instead carefully observed the effects of the Spirit Hall members' Spirit Abilities, frowning slightly, and said, "The power of their first two Spirit Abilities doesn't seem to match the thousand-year level... From the looks of it, the spirit power consumption seems to be less, allowing for multiple releases."

Flender also had some understanding of Spirit cultivation theory and said, "The higher the spirit ring age, the stronger the Spirit Ability effect obtained after absorption, but their Spirit Ability power doesn't match the spirit ring age, yet it can be released multiple times... This is truly strange."

"Unless—" Yu Xiaogang's eyes gleamed, "Their spirit rings weren't replaced, but rather their age was increased on the original foundation!"

"That's right! This is the only possibility!"

"Back when I was in Spirit Hall, I read a miscellaneous talk that was about the legendary gods: accepting and passing a god's trial, receiving a god's reward, and increasing the age of spirit rings—the Spirit Ability power remains unchanged, but when used, the spirit power consumption is reduced... These people from the Spirit Hall Team have definitely increased the age of their spirit rings."

"This is my new theory: the higher the spirit ring age, the greater the power of the Spirit Ability, but after being absorbed by a Spirit Master, if the spirit ring's age is further increased, it will not increase the Spirit Ability's power, but only reduce the spirit power consumption when using the Spirit Ability!"

After taking out paper and pen from his storage soul tool and quickly recording this theory, Yu Xiaogang finally breathed a sigh of relief, then became nervous again: "The spirit ring ages of these people from the Spirit Hall Team have all increased, they must have accepted a god's trial. Spirit Hall has a god..."

At this point, Yu Xiaogang looked at Bibi Dong, who was sitting in the center of the VIP audience seats—

That was the successor of a god!

【Just wait, Bibi Dong, I must also cultivate Oscar into a god! Even if he cannot obtain a god's trial, with the Eight Spider Lances that can infinitely evolve, continuously devouring energy to strengthen his physical body and increase his spirit power, he will definitely be able to quickly break through realms and reach the legendary hundred-level!】

【As long as he breaks through level one hundred! Even if Oscar's skills are still lewd, the world will still praise him and redefine "lewd"!】

Meanwhile, in the VIP audience seats, Xue Beng was also curious about the spirit ring colors of the Spirit Hall Team, so he asked Bibi Dong, "Supreme Pontiff, what's the deal with the spirit ring configuration of the Spirit Hall Team members? Such a spirit ring configuration has once again broken the best spirit ring configuration, hasn't it?"

Best spirit ring configuration?

The value of this thing gradually disappeared after Tang San's "Evolution Theory of Best spirit ring Configuration" came out, especially within Spirit City, where Spirit Masters could increase the age of their spirit rings by hunting Spirit Beasts within the Spirit Beast Illusion Space.

"This is not a secret." Bibi Dong knew that the moment the Spirit Hall Team revealed their spirit rings, countless people would want to investigate. Instead of hiding it, it was better to speak it out openly.

After all, even if these people knew, it didn't matter.

Without the authority granted by Tang San, one could never enter the Spirit Beast Illusion Space.

At that time, if people from other Empires wanted to enter the Spirit Beast Illusion Space, they would have to allow Tang San's Spirit to be planted within their Empire's territory, thereby expanding the Blue Silver Network's range.

And as the Blue Silver Network expanded, the Starry Sky World would also expand accordingly, with more users, the mental energy gained daily would also increase... This was extremely beneficial for the development of Spirit Hall.

As for the ultimate control of the Starry Sky World, Blue Silver Network, Heavenly Dao, etc., being with Tang San... Bibi Dong was not worried that Tang San would betray Spirit Hall.

Spirit Hall's development to its current state was largely due to Tang San's guidance in the theoretical direction—

If Tang San knew that Bibi Dong was praising him so much in her heart, he would definitely be embarrassed, after all, Spirit Hall's development to its current state was also because Bibi Dong was willing to listen to Tang San's suggestions and boldly experiment.

Perhaps at first, Bibi Dong carried out Tang San's experimental suggestions with the intention of "destroying Spirit Hall," until she gradually changed her mind later...

But undeniably, Spirit Hall could no longer do without Tang San!

"The spirit ring configuration of the Spirit Hall Team is mainly due to Tang San's development and utilization of his Spirit..."

511: Avalanche: Xue Qinghe is crazy!

After Bibi Dong explained a large amount of theory, among the Emperors of the Three Great Empires, except for Xue Qinghe who could still understand some, Dai Legao and Xue Beng were already lost in thought.

However, they both understood that the reason why the members of the Spirit Hall Team could have Soul Ring configurations of three purple and one black / two black was because Tang San planted his Martial Soul, Blue Silver Emperor, all over Spirit Hall City, building some kind of Network, and then there was an illusory space inside, which contained a Spirit Beast Space, and by killing the Spirit Beasts within it, they could absorb the energy to increase their Soul Ring age limit.

"This method has already surpassed the imagination of us mortals," Star Luo Emperor exclaimed in surprise, and then asked, "May I know if we can enter that Spirit Beast Illusion Space?"

"Naturally, you can," Bibi Dong stated the condition, "As long as Tang San's Martial Soul is planted within the borders of the Star Luo Empire."

Blue Silver Emperor.

Dai Legao had seen many of this plant in Spirit Hall City; compared to wildly growing plants, they were more like magnificent and mystical treasures sculpted by nature's uncanny craftsmanship.

If this was truly some kind of natural plant, and Spirit Hall was the first to discover its use, their Star Luo Empire could certainly plant it within the Empire's borders for research.

But this thing was Tang San's Martial Soul.

Planting a person's Martial Soul within the Empire's borders... Dai Legao didn't dare to be so bold; Heaven knows what Tang San could do with the Blue Silver Emperor, and Spirit Hall might even want to use the Blue Silver Emperor to rule the entire Continent.

Xue Beng was also vigilant and asked, "Is this Blue Silver Emperor dangerous in any way? It is planted inside and outside of Spirit Hall City; will there be any hidden dangers in the future?"

Regarding this clumsy attempt at sowing discord, Bibi Dong said indifferently, "Federal Lord is overthinking. Tang San is the Spirit Hall Saint Child, why would he act against his own side?"

"I know that the New Heaven Dou Federation has only recently become independent and lacks national resources. If you want in the future, I will discuss with Tang San and ask him to appropriately lower the price for your Federation."

"What do you think, Federal Lord?"

Xue Beng's face twitched; he cursed inwardly, 'You have a problem with the three words "Federal Lord," don't you? Also, the New Heaven Dou Federation is not poor, as long as I completely control real power...'

"Still need money?" Xue Beng asked in a deep voice.

"Naturally, after all, Spirit Hall is in a period of development. Don't look at how prosperous the six outer cities are, but the expenses required for daily operation can be said to be 'spending ten thousand gold daily'! What's more, the money Tang San spends on research every month is also considerable."

Bibi Dong sighed, "I worry about this every day."

However, none of the people present were fools. Even Xue Beng, who had acted like a pig for a long time, understood that the prosperity of a city would inevitably bring considerable benefits to its ruler each year.

Not to mention, among the six outer cities of Spirit Hall City, just take one and place it on the entire Continent, its level of liveliness can rival, or even surpass, the former capitals of the Two Great Empires: Heaven Dou City and Star Luo City.

No matter how profound Tang San's research on Martial Souls was, he couldn't possibly drain the entire city dry, could he?

Moreover, their eyes weren't blind; they could see that Spirit Hall City was developing every month and expanding every year... Does it look like it's short on money?

Xue Qinghe pondered for a while and asked, "Tang San is the Spirit Hall Saint Child, but he is also my Heaven Dou Empire's Silverblue Earl. Presumably, my Heaven Dou City can also plant the Blue Silver Emperor, build the Blue Silver Network, and enjoy the benefits of that Spirit Beast Illusion Space, right?"

Bibi Dong took a deep look at Xue Qinghe, nodded, and said, "Indeed, Qinghe Emperor is much more open-minded."

Who this was clearly mocking was self-evident.

Dai Legao was curious, didn't Xue Qinghe worry that Spirit Hall would control all information about Heaven Dou City through Tang San's Martial Soul? Although Tang San was indeed also a subject of the Heaven Dou Empire, he spent most of his time in Spirit Hall City and felt more a sense of belonging to Spirit Hall, right?

As the Emperor of a country, no matter how good his impression of Tang San, he cannot joke around with his own Empire!

Xue Qinghe is still too young!

And Xue Beng's expression, on the other hand, was somewhat unpleasant. Although he detested Xue Qinghe, he even more so did not wish the Heaven Dou Empire to be close to Spirit Hall. This is the foundation left by the ancestors!

How can it be treated so lightly?

That's right, Xue Qinghe seems to have an ambiguous relationship with Ling Yuan, the Hall Master of the Heaven Dou City Martial Soul Sub-Hall. Perhaps he was bewitched... No! Xue Qinghe colluded with Spirit Hall from the start! The deaths of his other brothers and younger brothers definitely cannot escape responsibility; maybe he used the power of Spirit Hall Soul Masters!

And Imperial Father, he felt that he was also poisoned by this unfilial son, Xue Qinghe, it's just that the poison was colorless and odorless, and even Poison Douluo could only sense a little, but could not produce conclusive evidence...

Xue Qinghe is going to hand over the foundation of the ancestors to Spirit Hall!

He is absolutely crazy!

[Imperial Father, if you have a Spirit in heaven, you will definitely regret choosing Xue Qinghe to be Emperor, right? Fortunately, this useless son of mine can preserve a part of the Empire's territory... I will absolutely not let Spirit Hall interfere with the New Heaven Dou Federation again!]

Xue Beng decided that after this Continental Elite Tournament ended, he would convene a meeting to discuss with the kings of various kingdoms and principalities: how to expel the Spirit Hall Branch within the borders, and the future Martial Soul awakenings of residents within the Empire's borders could be handled by people they arranged themselves... This method of winning the people's hearts should be done by the Empire itself!

Spirit Hall had 'overstepped' for so many years, it was time to return this power!

Xue Qinghe, on the other hand, had already begun to think about how to have a good chat with Tang San when the tournament ended and invite him to stay in Heaven Dou City for a while longer.

After all, he is the Silverblue Earl officially recognized by Heaven Dou, how can he stay in Spirit Hall City for a long time?

This is not good.

That's right, Tang San resisted the Sun Moon Empire and recovered Xiao Hai City for the Empire; he was meritorious, and had not yet rewarded him for his merits—the main reason was that after the war ended, Tang San directly returned to Spirit Hall City.

Therefore, Xue Qinghe felt that he could use this opportunity to elevate Tang San's noble title, and by the way, ask him to help refer to the future development direction of the Heaven Dou Empire, and specifically talk about the details of how to recover the New Heaven Dou Federation...

...

In the blink of an eye, the preliminary rounds ended, and the island that had been ravaged by over six hundred teams also became 'riddled with holes', but this is exactly the situation that Spirit Hall, Heaven Dou, Star Luo, and others hoped to see—this is equivalent to first clearing the entire island's bushes, poisonous insects, and the like, saving a lot of time for establishing corresponding coastal defense measures and establishing towns in the future.

After the preliminary rounds, were the elimination rounds and promotion rounds. The rules were not much different from the previous Soul Combat tournament, it's just that some loopholes in the rules were blocked.

It's just that humans have always been able to find loopholes for breakthroughs within the scope allowed by the rules; there are always people who can find 'breakthrough points' to gain the most favorable 'advantage' for their own team...

512: Artificial soul ring

After the preliminary rounds, elimination rounds, and promotion rounds ended, there was a month for the major teams to make adjustments. During this period, various powers would send people to visit and check on talented Soul Masters who performed well in certain aspects, and recruit them.

This was just a tactic like in previous years, as the Continental Elite Tournament was a stage for the major powers on the Continent to select talents.

As for Tang San and the others, apart from occasionally watching the matches, they were mostly busy with their own affairs.

Especially Tang San, who had already begun teaching the Twelve Yuanchen the method of the Blood Qi Furnace, which he created based on Xiao Wu's Spatial Furnace Lock. This method uses blood qi as the foundation, flows through the heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, and spleen according to a specific circulation method to form a furnace prototype, and then circulates the six internal organs to condense the blood qi in the abdomen, elevating it to flame, making the Blood Qi Furnace fully formed.

In this "Blood Qi Furnace" method, Tang San also added some methods regarding his own circulation of the five qi in the chest and condensation of the six qi within the abdomen, allowing those who practice this method to quickly digest food, absorb nutrients, strengthen their physique, and even, theoretically, when mastered, directly devour the energy of heaven and earth like Xiao Wu's Spatial Furnace.

To make the Twelve Yuanchen cultivate faster, Tang San took them into the Magical Beast Mountain Range on Dragon God Island for a three-year special training period.

The time difference between the Eternal Domain and the outside World can be up to ten thousand years in an instant at its maximum.

Therefore, only one month passed in the outside World, while the Twelve Yuanchen cultivated for three years on Dragon God Island. Their progress in Body Strength and Blood Qi Furnace cultivation had greatly improved, and each of them had even reached a level close to Soul Emperor. The ones with the highest cultivation: Shen Hou, You Ji, Hai Zhu, and Wei Yang, all four of them had already reached level fifty-eight and fifty-nine in Soul Power.

However, because the Eternal Domain is isolated from the Douluo Continent, the rules cannot be applied to the Twelve Yuanchen, so their Soul Power levels will not stagnate due to not obtaining Soul Rings.

The planar rules of the Douluo Continent targeting Soul Beasts can be said to be openly displayed... A relatively normal World would definitely not have such great restrictions on the cultivation of both humans and Soul Beasts.

Admittedly, Soul Beasts, to some extent, did save human Soul Masters the time to create their own Soul Skills, but they also, to a certain extent, stifled human creativity.

Everything has two sides.

However, in the current Douluo Continent, the setting where Soul Beasts drop Soul Rings after death is still more beneficial than harmful, but with the development of the era, more innovative inspiration will be needed. At that time, this setting will be more harmful than beneficial and should be eliminated.

Everything changes with the times; if it's unsuitable, it's eliminated, and if it becomes suitable again one day, it reappears. This is an unchanging truth of the World.

After understanding this point, Tang San realized that he didn't need to think so much; he just needed to do what he thought was possible from his own perspective.

After the cultivation of the Twelve Yuanchen ended, Tang San used the Creation ability of his ninth Soul Ring to shape Soul Rings for the twelve individuals and assisted them in absorbing them.

This made the Twelve Yuanchen even more extremely worshipful!

Creating Soul Rings!

This kind of method is probably only possessed by the Gods in legends!

In the hearts of the Twelve Yuanchen, Tang San was already no different from the Gods in legends. Besides loyalty in their eyes, only fanaticism remained—whatever Tang San said, they would regard as truth!

As for the ability to create Soul Rings, before Tang San controlled the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, he could use the Blue Silver Emperor to condense Blue Silver Emperor level Soul Rings. After truly obtaining his ninth Soul Ring, Tang San, under the guidance of the Eternal Lord, conducted simple research on the process of shaping Soul Rings—

To put it simply, the so-called Soul Ring is a product that semi-materializes and fixes the energy and soul fragments of an extraordinary and non-human creature under the rules of the Douluo Continent.

In this process, energy and Spirit are indispensable.

As long as one can analyze this planar rule of the Douluo Continent and utilize it, they can create Soul Rings using energy and Spirit.

Compared to the Soul Rings born from the death of Soul Beasts, Artificial Soul Rings replace the Soul Beast's soul fragments with spiritual energy, lacking one ability, which is the inability to provide bloodline and attribute bonuses to the Martial Soul.

After all, the Soul Rings dropped from Soul Beasts carry their soul fragments and bloodline information energy. After being absorbed by a Soul Master, they will naturally cause the Martial Soul to change, which is to accelerate the evolution and transformation of the Martial Soul.

And when Tang San created Soul Rings using only the "Creation" ability without using the Blue Silver Emperor, there was no corresponding Soul Beast's bloodline information, so the Soul Rings naturally couldn't provide the corresponding bloodline bonus to the Martial Soul.

However, this kind of Soul Ring doesn't just have the advantage of helping people break through realms. Precisely because there is no Soul Beast's bloodline information or soul fragments, this type of Artificial Soul Ring can evolve the most suitable Soul Skills according to the Martial Soul's own situation.

The specific principle is that the pure spiritual energy within the Artificial Soul Ring will actively sense the Soul Master's thoughts and then evolve the skills that the Martial Soul should inherently possess based on its type.

Just like: birds naturally grow feathers and gain the ability to soar through the sky when they grow to a certain stage; beasts can walk upright or even run within half a day after birth; fish can swim in Water immediately after hatching from their eggs.

This is instinct!

Tang San's Artificial Soul Rings simply evolved the instinctive skills that the Martial Soul should have possessed after growing to a certain stage, and that's all.

In addition, during the absorption process of this type of Artificial Soul Ring, the spiritual power within it will resonate with the Soul Master. As long as the Soul Master's spiritual will is strong, the energy inside the Soul Ring will continuously absorb external energy under the drive of the spiritual power, causing its age limit to increase during this process until the Soul Ring is fully absorbed.

And this manifestation is almost identical to the "God bestowed Soul Ring" in the original work.

Perhaps, this is the principle of the God bestowed Soul Ring!

"Next, it's time for you to conduct the Martial Soul Fusion experiment." Tang San's thoughts returned to the present, and he smiled at the twelve people, "If successful, you can also obtain power even stronger than the Spirit Bone Armor True Body!"

Martial Soul Fusion has a fatal flaw that cannot be called non-fatal—the two parties in the fusion will develop mutual affection and feelings due to the mutual attraction of their Martial Souls.

The phenomenon in the past was that as long as they were not siblings, two people of different genders undergoing fusion would develop instinctive affection.

But with the progress of research, Tang San and the Spirit Hall researchers discovered that this was not the case. In fact, during Martial Soul Fusion, even people of the same gender would develop mutual affection, and examples of people remaining unmarried because of this also exist.

For example: Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo.

These two are now truly fused together.

The reason why Martial Soul Fusion between blood siblings does not result in ethical issues is mainly because these people already had relatively complete values before undergoing Martial Soul Fusion, at least in terms of moral concepts, which conformed to the mainstream of the Douluo Continent.

If a pair of blood-related siblings had never met since childhood, and after growing up, they met and discovered a tendency for Martial Soul Fusion between them, then they would inevitably develop affection and even get together until their family members discovered it, leading to an awkward ethical drama—whose example this refers to goes without saying, those who understand will understand.

However—

Physical Martial Souls would not.

513: An existence from ancient times!

After Martial Soul Fusion, it causes mutual affection between the Soul Masters who fuse...

This point does not exist with Physical Martial Souls.

Or rather, this characteristic does not exist when both parties fusing are Physical Martial Souls.

This was the conclusion Tang San reached after studying a large number of Physical Martial Soul owners recruited by Spirit Hall — Physical Martial Souls have a connection between them, but this connection is limited to “mutual cooperation,” meaning it ensures individual independence rather than causing the individuals themselves to be influenced by the Martial Soul Fusion and be mutually attracted.

Martial Soul Fusion between other non-Physical Martial Souls will cause the Soul Masters themselves to be influenced by the Martial Soul.

Even if they originally found each other disagreeable, due to the other party's Martial Soul being able to compensate for the deficiencies in their own Martial Soul, their respective Martial Souls will instinctively generate a certain fluctuation, thus affecting the physical senses between the two, making them feel more attracted the more they look at each other.

This might be a strong alliance between Martial Souls.

In the society of Douluo Continent, it means two individuals capable of Martial Soul Fusion getting married and establishing a family.

For example: The renowned Dragon-Snake Couple in the Beast World.

But Physical Martial Souls are different.

As part of the human body, they can cooperate with each other, which is Martial Soul Fusion, but after “cooperation,” the “individual” must also maintain independence, meaning between Physical Martial Souls, no one is dependent on anyone else.

This is exactly like humans themselves.

Even if people are divided into different ranks, with subordinates obeying superiors, forming a large collective, the thoughts of every individual within the collective are independent.

Physical Martial Souls are also like this.

Furthermore, because Martial Souls possess spirituality but do not have the seven emotions and six desires of humans, this independence is even more pronounced among Physical Martial Souls, meaning — Every Physical Martial Soul has the Heart to be the “leader”!

Therefore, when Physical Martial Souls undergo fusion, how to properly integrate the relationship between the 【Individual and the Collective】 among the Martial Souls is also a key issue.

When a Physical Martial Soul has a Martial Soul Fusion connection with other types of Martial Souls, it returns to the situation of ordinary Martial Soul Fusion, but the influence on the Physical Martial Soul owner is much smaller than that on owners of other Martial Souls, even to the point of being negligible.

“What should we do?”

Shen Hou was already impatient to try it out.

The others were also like this.

Martial Soul Fusion, they naturally understood, was a powerful technique that could unleash power far exceeding that of a single Soul Master.

Under normal circumstances, only two people could fuse, but now there were twelve of them!

After fusion, how strong would they be?

And what kind of power could they erupt with?

The Twelve Yuanchen were full of anticipation!

“Unlike fusion with other Martial Souls, the fusion between your Physical Martial Souls is both simple and difficult,” Tang San said, speaking in contradictions.

Without waiting for them to ask, he continued, “It's simple because the twelve of you train together frequently, know each other inside and out, not to mention training in the Eternal Domain for three years, your mutual understanding far surpasses ordinary people.”

“This is the foundation of Martial Soul Fusion.”

“It's difficult because there are twelve of you.

How to unify your respective Soul Power requires a relatively long period of training.

Secondly, you yourselves need to have a detailed understanding of the human body, not just knowing the divisions like hands, feet, body, and head, but more detailed parts, for example: the functions of the five internal organs and six major organs, the way the brain and nervous system operate, and so on.”

“At the very least, you need to understand the specific situation of that part of your own body based on your Martial Soul, otherwise, even if the fusion succeeds, I estimate it will only be a superficial success.”

Soul Masters have always disliked using their brains, and the Twelve Yuanchen were no exception.

But since it was Tang San's command, the twelve could only treat it as truth and study.

Fortunately, there was the Heavenly Dao which could provide them with a boost, offering mental processing power, making their learning progress extremely fast.

Especially Yin Hu, Si She, and Wei Yang, these three, when receiving Tang San's guidance back then, were taught according to their aptitude and gained an understanding of medicine.

Si She is even a qualified doctor now.

Coupled with the time difference between the Eternal Domain and the outside world, in just half a day's time, the Twelve Yuanchen had already finished learning and returned, their faces showing excitement: “Earl, we already have a good understanding of our own Martial Souls and the corresponding body parts.

Can we start the Martial Soul Fusion experiment now?”

Tang San inspected everyone's bodies, asked questions about the corresponding body organs, and tested their application of their respective Martial Souls.

He praised them with satisfaction: “Good, the foundations are all laid.

The Martial Soul Fusion experiment can begin —”

There have already been precedents for multiple people performing Martial Soul Fusion on the Continent: besides the Golden Iron Triangle, which was famous on the Continent for a time, there were the multi-person Martial Soul Fusion Skills displayed by various academies in the previous Continental Elite Tournament.

For example: Xu Xing's Soul Power Fusion, Huo Yuhao's Soul Skill Fusion.

However, none of them reached the level of true Martial Soul Fusion.

The Twelve Yuanchen, on the other hand, were to complete Martial Soul Fusion in its complete sense, fusing twelve types of organs to form a completely “human” being — Zi Shu (Male): Nose

Chou Niu (Male): Left Arm

Yin Hu (Female): Right Hand

Mao Tu (Female): Ears

Chen Long (Male): Right Foot

Si She (Female): Tongue

Wu Ma (Female): Waist

Wei Yang (Female): Hair

Shen Hou (Female): Heart

You Ji (Female): Skin

Xu Gou (Male): Mouth

Hai Zhu (Male): Bones

Among them, Zi Shu, Mao Tu, Si She, Wei Yang, and Xu Gou form the head.

Among these, Wei Yang's Martial Soul is hair, but it contains a large number of neuron cells and is an extension of brain tissue, which can be considered the brain.

However, regarding the head, eyes are missing.

Chou Niu, Yin Hu, and Chen Long represent the limbs, but there is only one of each.

In the future, with the second and third awakenings of their Martial Souls, the other parts may be perfected.

Wu Ma represents the waist, which also includes internal organs like the large and small intestines.

Shen Hou's Martial Soul is the Heart, including blood vessels and meridians throughout the body, as well as blood.

In the future, the other four internal organs can also be developed.

Hai Zhu's Martial Soul is the human body's Bones, the skeleton, which is the foundation that supports a person.

And finally, You Ji represents the human body's Skin, covering the surface of the body, capable of expansion and contraction with flexibility.

Furthermore, You Ji herself can use her skin to camouflage herself, truly capable of a myriad of changes.

These twelve people cultivated the Body Forging Art, learned the Blood Qi Furnace, and under Tang San's guidance, the Blood Qi of the twelve was like a great bell, emitting a muffled and surging resonant sound, and their Jing, Qi, and Shen reached a certain balance with each other.

“Now!”

“Sense the rhythm between the Martial Souls and combine!”

Following Tang San's command, the twelve lightly shouted in unison, and the Soul Power on their bodies connected to each other, forming a not-so-perfect circuit.

Subsequently, something that surprised Tang San happened — The Martial Soul Fusion between the twelve was not the fusion of the Soul Masters' bodies after being energized, but rather the Physical Martial Souls detached from the possessed state, appearing in an out-of-body form, suspended in front of everyone.

Under a certain peculiar fluctuation, the five sense organs, four limbs, Skin, waist, skeleton, Skin, Heart, etc., actually actively flew into the air and combined sequentially according to the arrangement order of the human body structure.

Those incomplete Martial Souls, such as the right foot, also, under the impetus of that peculiar fluctuation, absorbed the energy of heaven and earth from the outside world, giving rise to a right leg and symmetrically creating a left leg and left foot.

The rest of the Physical Martial Souls also continuously tended towards completion: the Heart and the circulatory system of blood gave birth to the other four internal organs; the layer of nerve tissue beneath the hair also slowly grew an energized brain.

And so on.

Three minutes later, a “person” six zhang tall was completely formed.

Its gender was indistinguishable, neither male nor female, and it carried no aura, as if it were truly just an ordinary... person.

It resembled an old farmer in the fields, or a hunter in the mountains, and Tang San even saw his own appearance on it.

A thousand people, a thousand faces, each different.

“Is this the ancestor of all humans?!”

Tang San's mind trembled, and this thought inexplicably popped into his head.

Meanwhile, the Eternal Lord, who had already fused with the Blue Silver Emperor and become its soul, transmitted a trembling voice: “This has awakened an ancient existence that has completely passed away!

Its realm is probably similar to my previous life at its peak, also a Creator God!”

514: The person who controls the immortal spirit: Ancient

The "person" with no pupils suddenly raised a hand, clenched a fist, and uttered a sound, as if speaking of something, or perhaps shouting about something.

"Eternal Lord? What is he saying?"

Tang San saw that Shen Hou and the others had completely lost consciousness, only instinctively maintaining the existence of their Spirits, and knew that this "person" had developed his own will.

Physical Martial Soul, there's a big secret!

The Eternal Lord should understand what's going on, right?

Although Spirits possess their own sentience, this "blind person" formed by Martial Soul Fusion from a Physical Martial Soul possesses an overly powerful intellect, even having an independent will.

Could it be that the existence who has already passed away can be revived in this manner?

Truly terrifying!

Can Shen Hou and the others still awaken?

At this moment, Tang San had already prepared for the worst, ready to defeat this "person" at any time.

"Don't ask me, I don't know what he's expressing either," the Eternal Lord replied. "Just be careful."

"Perhaps he's expressing his unwillingness to be perfectly revived," Iliex guessed, putting himself in the other's shoes. "It's actually very easy to solve; just interrupt the Martial Soul Fusion. After all, the Spirits that compose him come from those twelve guys. Knocking them out completely and cutting off the spirit power supply should do it."

Tang San nodded, about to act, but then saw the "person" lower his head to look at him, those dark, empty eye sockets, without eyeballs, were somewhat unsettling.

"Hello, Tang San."

Unexpectedly, he actually spoke Douluo language, and even knew Tang San's name.

"You are?" Tang San became vigilant, wondering why this "person" knew him.

"Don't be nervous. I spent a little time just now, sensing all the natural phenomena of heaven and earth, and learned all the information about the past events in this world, and thus understood your past—"

"I have to say, to be able to discover the existence of the undying true Spirit, you are truly gifted... I call it: the Primordial Spirit, the 'Yuan,' the original foundation."

Tang San dared not be careless and asked curiously, "In your era, did you already have a method to control the undying true Spirit?"

"No, I might have been the only one who realized the existence of the undying true Spirit and started thinking about how to control it," the "person" shook his head. "I can't tell you the specific method, after all, I stumbled upon it by accident back then, fortunately recording everything about myself onto the undying true Spirit."

"The undying true Spirit is the only unique aspect of a living being; the external soul is merely a protective shell. However, most beings are unaware of this, thinking that the divine soul, divine sense, and divine thought are the fundamentals. But in reality, if they were a bit more careful, they would discover that when a trace of their own divine soul separates and moves too far from the main body, losing connection, that wisp of divine soul could potentially become a separate, entirely new individual."

"In this vast universe, similar flowers are abundant, but only the undying true Spirit is unique."

Tang San realized that this might be his opportunity, so he wanted to ask more about the undying true Spirit, and the other party was not stingy, saying, "The undying true Spirit is unique. As long as one controls the true self, then one can use this undying true Spirit to travel through the infinite multiverse. However, in most cases, we, who control the undying true Spirit, do not interfere with anything. We merely observe the growth and demise of all things, acting as observers."

"We?" Tang San knew that every word and every phrase from such an existence was carefully considered and not baseless... And this meant that there was more than one existence who controlled the undying true Spirit.

"Indeed, there are countless existences like me," the "person" expressed his view.

"Although we are eternal and transcend space-time, eternal and immortal, we also have ideological disputes among ourselves, mainly discussing how to make all sentient beings eternal together. But because our methods differ, it often leads to conflicts... It's just that we are all immortal beings; at most, our physical forms are destroyed, leaving only the undying true Spirit."

"But the true Spirit is immortal; in the long passage of time, there will always be a time of recovery... And as for me, I was utterly annihilated, which is why you managed to awaken me prematurely. Otherwise, I don't know how long it would have taken for me to truly achieve Nirvana."

"Are you sure it's okay for you to tell me all this?" Tang San always felt that he would be killed for knowing too much. "Is this something someone at my level should know?"

"Don't worry, we don't care. After all, what does it matter if you know? Without understanding the true meaning of Life and the mystery of eternity, it's merely knowing, and it will eventually be forgotten in the long passage of time."

The "person" was nonchalant, a faint smile on his lips, "As for knowing too much and thus developing cognitive barriers or the like, that has nothing to do with me. After all, from the perspective of the undying true Spirit, all Life in the world, from the moment of birth, is eternal!"

To be honest, Tang San could understand this statement from a purely rational perspective, but he was currently immersed in the mortal world and could not remain aloof. He himself was bound by his own seven emotions and six desires, and thus his spiritual realm had not yet reached this level.

"This is enough, after all, to truly control eternity, one must first impose a layer of cognitive barrier on oneself, and then find a way to break through it."

"Only then can one truly see the true meaning of Life!"

After saying this, the "person" shuddered, and the Spirits that formed his body separated, returning to the bodies of Shen Hou and the others. However, his own appearance became clearer and clearer, finally revealing a dignified, square face.

He was the kind of person who would be impossible to pick out in a crowd.

Ordinary, commonplace, even his demeanor had no outstanding features; he was just one of the most common masses, without any remarkable qualities.

"You've... revived?" Tang San asked in surprise.

"For me, who controls the undying true Spirit, there is never such a thing as death," this person's voice was steady like surging ocean waves, yet also like a gentle breeze, already a part of nature. "In the future, if you have people conduct Physical Martial Soul Fusion experiments, you won't be able to summon me again, you can rest assured. As for me, I need to..."

Before he could finish speaking, this person's expression changed, and his figure instantly vanished into the void, leaving only a single sentence: "My name is Gu. If fate allows, we shall meet again in the future. One of my arch-enemies has discovered me, so I need to run. That guy is very rigid; I might have to spend countless epochs to shake him off..."

Epoch...

As Tang San pondered this unit of measurement, the person before him had already dissipated into nothingness. He couldn't help but give up thinking: "Although I've learned a lot, before reaching that realm, knowing it isn't very useful. I still have to be honest and take one step at a time..."

515: Twelve Yuan Chen: six feet tall

Eternal Lord, Austin Griffin, and Iliex discussed the mysteries of controlling the undying true Spirit with Tang San, but ultimately, due to their insufficient realm, they could only accept the current situation.

Although Tang San had read many novels in his previous Life that described the realms of Taiyi and Daluo, capable of traversing the vast universe and spanning multiple universes, merely reading descriptions didn't tell him how to actually achieve it, making it useless.

Being down-to-earth was the key.

As for the 'ancient one's' sworn enemy... Tang San and the others hadn't detected anything at all, nor did they know how the 'ancient one' disappeared, as if the other party had never existed from beginning to end.

“All Life in the world, from the moment of birth, is eternal...”

Although he didn't intend to think too much, this sentence was firmly etched in Tang San's mind, and he pondered whether it referred to the essence of the undying true Spirit?

Matter transforms, energy weakens, memories blur, divine souls disperse; only the undying true Spirit endures eternally.

What was the key among them?

“Woo~”

At this moment, Shen Hou scratched his head and woke up, immediately jumping up and standing straight, apologizing to Tang San: “Sorry, Lord Earl, I actually fell asleep.”

“No harm, this is not your fault.” Seeing that Shen Hou seemed unaware of the 'ancient one's' existence, Tang San mused thoughtfully and asked curiously, “Do you have any feelings about Martial Soul Fusion?”

“Lord Earl might laugh if I say it, but I feel like I had a good night's sleep, and my Spirit is at its peak,” Shen Hou said a little awkwardly.

“Is that so?” Tang San pondered, waiting for the others to wake up, inquiring them one by one, and checking their bodies. He found that none of them had any consumption; in fact, their essence, qi, and Spirit had even increased slightly, and all their Spirits had undergone a second awakening, becoming more complete and able to cover more parts of their bodies.

For example:

Chou Niu, his Spirit was originally his left arm, but now it was both arms.

Yin Hu, her Spirit changed from a single right hand to both hands.

Wei Yang, her Spirit was originally hair + nerve tissue on the outer layer of the brain, but now it had become the brain + hair with nerve tissue.

Similarly, the Physical Martial Souls of all twelve individuals had evolved to be more complete—this was likely the 'ancient one's' reward to Shen Hou and the others for helping him reappear in the world.

However, Tang San did not describe the 'ancient one' to Shen Hou and the others, but instead had them perform Martial Soul Fusion again.

This time, the eighteen-foot-tall, genderless human body was once again fused, only it was more ethereal than the last time, and its face looked quite indifferent, with dark, somewhat dull eyes.

But its aura was like a god or demon descending, and any Spirit Master who saw this 'person' would marvel at the power it exuded; even god-level powerhouses would be moved by it.

“It lacks mental will...” Tang San hit the nail on the head, asking the twelve, “Try to make it move.”

Shen Hou and the other eleven looked at each other, then began to try to control the eighteen-foot human body, all exerting great effort and turning red in the face, but the effect was minimal, only making the arms move slightly.

Unable to control it?

Tang San used his primordial spirit power to investigate and found that each of the twelve Spirits forming the eighteen-foot human body was trembling, wanting to take the dominant position.

Especially the Spirits of Shen Hou and Wei Yang, their resistance became increasingly fierce... In terms of strength, Shen Hou was stronger. In terms of the completeness of the Spirit, Shen Hou's Spirit originally included the blood vessels and meridians of the human body, and after the second awakening, it even incorporated blood. Moreover, Shen Hou was already the leader among these twelve individuals.

However, after Wei Yang's Spirit underwent its second awakening, it transformed from mere hair to the brain + hair. And the human brain is the fundamental controller of the entire body, so how could it allow the Heart and circulatory system to 'usurp' its authority?

The eighteen-foot human body should be led by the brain.

But Wei Yang herself obeyed Shen Hou, yet when her Spirit formed the eighteen-foot human body, it became the most crucial part, the brain. How could it obey the commands of the Heart?

Wasn't this a rebellion?

Therefore, this eighteen-foot human body lacked an absolutely significant existence to integrate all the organs, or rather, a mental will, causing the internal energy flow to be chaotic, with every Physical Martial Soul wanting to become the master... It was fortunate that the spirituality of Spirits was not truly exceptionally strong, otherwise, this eighteen-foot human body might have turned into some kind of extremely Cthulhu-esque organ monster.

“Alright, stop.” Tang San knew that without the 'ancient one's' mental will, this eighteen-foot human body was just an empty shell. Although it was full of power, the Twelve Yuanchen simply couldn't unify their thoughts... They hadn't truly mastered their own Physical Martial Souls, so being able to make the eighteen-foot human body slightly raise its arm was already quite good.

After all, this was not controlling a puppet, but controlling a human body composed of Spirits with spirituality!

Just imagine, no matter how tacit the cooperation, when controlling the same body, with twelve wills present, coordinating with each other would certainly be extremely troublesome.

To perfectly control the eighteen-foot human body, it would probably require adding another mental will into it, one that could make all twelve wills, that is, the Twelve Yuanchen, obey.

At this time, after the Twelve Yuanchen withdrew their Spirits, they were already panting, clearly having consumed a great deal of spirit power.

After Tang San used his First Soul Skill to restore their spirit power, he said, “As it stands, your tacit understanding is still insufficient. To perfectly control the eighteen-foot human body, you need to achieve a connection of Hearts, becoming one person... However, humans ultimately have their own privacy, and you will also have your own private lives in the future, so it's impossible for you to be so transparent with each other that you have no secrets at all.”

“Even if the eighteen-foot human body is successfully fused, it is just an empty shell without an independent mental will to control it. As for a collective will... humans are not like swarms of bees or ants.”

“Or, another person could join in, using a powerful mental will to control your Spirits' fused eighteen-foot human body.”

Shen Hou's eyes gleamed: “Lord Earl, then can you be the mental will that dominates the eighteen-foot human body?”

You Ji also said: “Whether we ourselves can exert its power is not important; what matters is that it helps Lord Earl.”

Wei Yang said: “My brain operates for you.”

Seeing that the other nine were also about to say something, Tang San quickly interrupted, saying, “Don't say anything flattering. I've received your intentions. I do have thoughts about the eighteen-foot human body, but not as a mental will dominating the body. Rather, it's to study the way essence, qi, and Spirit flow within the original human body, using it as a reference... But for now, if it doesn't have a mental will to dominate it, this Martial Soul Fusion is incomplete, and the internal energy is between chaotic and orderly, making it impossible to conduct further detailed research...”

Shen Hou asked expectantly, “So Lord Earl agrees?”

“I am indeed quite curious—”

The existence of the eighteen-foot human body exceeded Tang San's original expectations. If there was an opportunity, he naturally wanted to find a way to try it himself, “But not now.”

“Ships have sailed over from overseas again...”

516: The Haotian Sect team only has muscles in mind

The teams entering the finals were more numerous than in previous years. Besides the three guaranteed spots for Heaven Dou, Star Luo, and Spirit Hall, there were also the Four Elements Academy, Shrek Academy, Clear Sky School Team, and Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School Team.

The New Heaven Dou Federation Academy Team did not enter the finals.

The Four Elements Academy was composed of the original Thunder Academy, Shenfeng Academy, Heavenly Water Academy, and Blazing Academy. Just like in the original work, these four academies still merged.

It wasn't due to Spirit Hall's oppression, but because Heaven Dou City was closely following Spirit Hall City's development, requiring the campuses of various academies to be re-planned. Qinghe Emperor personally sought out the senior leadership of the academies within Heaven Dou City for discussions.

After relocating to a new place, these four individual element academies were situated close to each other, became familiar with one another, and prepared to form a strong alliance to seek progress and develop together.

There's not much to say about the Clear Sky School Team; they brutally fought their way into the finals using hammers... Their watchability was the worst, possessing only the pure brute force brought by the Clear Sky Hammer Martial Soul.

The Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School Team was able to reach the finals because Ning Rongrong sent the cultivation method for the Nine Treasure

Nine Apertures Nine Sun Array back to the Sect. Although, without cultivation techniques like Mystic Heaven Skill, none of the direct disciples could compare to Ning Rongrong, it still greatly enhanced their amplification abilities, to the extent that their teammates' strength was fiercely boosted.

"Congratulations, you have entered the finals of the Continental Elite Tournament."

In the VIP section of the venue, Bibi Dong slowly stood up, causing the lively venue to fall silent in an instant. "After a month of recuperation, the final competition should have begun, but unfortunately, people from Sun and Moon have arrived by ship from overseas again. Therefore, the finals might have to change..."

As soon as she said this, all seven teams were shocked.

Ning Fengzhi was also surprised and quickly asked Bibi Dong, "Dare I ask, Pope, how did Spirit Hall get this information? If Sun and Moon were invading, intelligence should have first arrived from the vicinity of Xiao Hai City..."

Bibi Dong replied, "It was Tang San who sensed it. His cultivation of Spiritual Power has already transcended the mundane. If he concentrates his energy, he can observe the entire Continent."

"So that's how it is!"

Ning Fengzhi was filled with emotion, but his heart was also overjoyed: My son-in-law is invincible!

However, the Sun and Moon enemy forces have sent troops again... The Sun and Moon Emperor was clearly defeated, so did that Continent select a new Emperor so quickly?

Or is it that the Sun Moon Empire's method of rule is different from the Empires on the Douluo Continent side?

Unfortunately, Ning Fengzhi didn't know that although Xu Huang was the Emperor in the Sun Moon Empire, his relationship with his subordinates was more like that of a gang. He let those below him handle everything and didn't need to deal with too many state affairs himself, only needing to maintain his own strength to suppress those below him.

To put it bluntly, he was just a thug.

As long as those below were content with the status quo and didn't think about things like rebellion, then in most cases, it didn't matter whether Xu Huang attended court, did business, or even existed.

After all, although the Sun Moon Continent was unified because of him, the management and development of the Empire truly had little to do with him. More often, he served as a special mascot who controlled military power.

Hmm—

Similar to the most carefree and happiest Emperors in novels.

In a World without magic or the extraordinary, this would undoubtedly be a foolish Emperor, but placed on Douluo Star, which possesses extraordinary power, where the Soul Master World respects strength, forming such a system is not surprising.

The original Spirit Hall was also like this; the stronger the Soul Master, the more luxurious the enjoyment. However, under Tang San's influence, apart from the Title Douluo in the Hall of Offerings, the rest of the high-ranking officials, either voluntarily or passively, increased their workload, causing their time for enjoyment to constantly decrease, including Bibi Dong herself.

"Everyone, although the Sun Moon Empire has come again, according to Tang San's perception, the ships this time are smaller than before, perhaps merchant ships or reconnaissance ships."

Bibi Dong continued, "Exactly what they are is still unknown... And the final competition for your seven teams is to go and investigate what kind of ship that is."

"Humans from another Continent have invaded our territory using forceful means, but this has also broadened our worldview; across the sea, there is another Continent... However, we cannot be as barbaric as they are. We must first investigate clearly before taking appropriate measures."

"After all, we hope that one day we can also bring civilization to that territory, instead of engaging in barbaric acts of aggression like them."

The seven teams entering the finals each had different thoughts—the new Heaven Dou Team and Star Luo Team were pensive; the Spirit Hall Team looked on with reverence, even wishing they could depart immediately to gather intelligence; the Four Elements Academy Team was also eager to try, wanting to experience a true battle of Life and death; the Captain of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School Team looked towards Ning Fengzhi, hoping he would give them an idea, after all, there weren't many direct disciples in the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, and they couldn't afford too many losses.

Among the Shrek Team, the seven individuals had differing opinions, and it was quite chaotic, including Oscar and Ma Hongjun, whose ideas were also different.

Oscar wanted to participate in it to test whether the Eight Spider Lances could absorb the Soul Power and Life force of human Soul Masters... When he discovered that the Eight Spider Lances could devour the Life force and cultivation of Soul Beasts, Oscar had the idea of using the Eight Spider Lances to devour people. However, no matter how poor Shrek Academy was, it still had the most basic moral education, thus suppressing this terrifying thought.

But devouring invaders from the Sun Moon Continent should be no problem, right?

Anyway, the Sun Moon Army can massacre cities and build Jingguan (piles of heads), so it's likely that even ordinary people from the Sun Moon Continent aren't good people. He could absolutely go ahead and do it with confidence!

As Yu Xiaogang's disciple, Oscar naturally inherited the true teachings. He also had his own insights into Yu Xiaogang's set of theories, and he had an additional advantage over Yu Xiaogang: the "courage" to personally conduct experiments...

Ma Hongjun, on the other hand, was a bit timid and didn't want to take risks. He felt that it was already very good that their Shrek Team could enter the finals this time. There was no need to take risks, and besides, given their age, they wouldn't exceed the competition age limit even if they participated in the next session five years later.

The Clear Sky School Team, finally, was the most disdainful, only feeling that the Pope of Spirit Hall was too hypocritical.

If others come to Douluo Continent to massacre cities, then they should also fight their way to the Sun Moon Continent, and then massacre a few cities, and even capture them all to be slaves, who must serve them for generations!

That is true revenge!

But at this time, Spirit Hall was powerful, so they could only obey and not refute anything, merely thinking about how to win then... Or perhaps, directly sink that Sun Moon Empire ship?

Anyway, gathering intelligence and such was ultimately for dealing with the Sun Moon Empire. Wouldn't it be even better if their Clear Sky School Team directly skipped this step and did it perfectly?

517: Space teleportation: coordinates

"Pope, isn't this too sudden?" Xue Beng asked, "How about we postpone the finals? Even if these seven teams rush there now... the distance from Spirit Hall City to Xiao Hai City is not close, unlike the distance to the islands where they participated in the preliminaries. It would take at least seven or eight days to get there, right?"

"No matter, Tang San will send them there. All the spectators also need not be disappointed; the broadcast will not stop, you can watch with peace of mind." Bibi Dong finished speaking and looked towards Tang San, who was just walking over slowly.

"Everyone, prepare yourselves." Tang San walked to the platform, and nine Soul Rings appeared in sequence, eight gold and one chaos. Such a Soul Ring configuration made all the spectators present widen their eyes.

Gold Soul Rings?

What is their age limit?

And that last, ninth Soul Ring, as brilliant and mysterious as the starry sky, what level of Soul Ring is that?

But what was most shocking was that Tang San actually had nine Soul Rings!

He is already a Title Douluo!

"Uncle Bone, what level has Tang San's Soul Power reached?" Ning Fengzhi couldn't help but send a voice message to the Bone Douluo beside him, asking.

"It's unclear, I can't sense any Soul Power fluctuations, but the oppressive feeling from him is no less than that of the Spirit Hall Pope. He has probably reached that realm." The Bone Douluo's eyes were full of astonishment, filled with emotion, "He's only close to twenty years old, right? And he has already reached the peak of a Soul Master. Also, the color of those Soul Rings, I estimate he has also embarked on the same path as Bibi Dong—"

"Becoming a God!"

Ning Fengzhi and the Bone Douluo exchanged glances, both extremely excited.

Especially Ning Fengzhi, he was overjoyed. If this weren't a public occasion, he would definitely burst into laughter three times.

Who told Tang San to be his good son-in-law?

"Rongrong really is something, hiding this kind of thing from us."

"Perhaps she was worried about someone disturbing Tang San's progress."

"Would Tang San be afraid of being disturbed? In the last Continental Elite Tournament, he was afraid others wouldn't know his talent and brilliance, but was there anyone who could hinder his progress?"

"Indeed, it couldn't be hindered. At the Soul King level, he could already unleash power no less than the Spirit Hall Pope..."

"Speaking of which, when will Rongrong and Tang San officially get married?"

...

The two were already secretly discussing names for the next generation.

Meanwhile, Tang San slowly raised his right hand and drew a circle in the void. A swirling teleportation gate about fifty meters in diameter appeared in the center of the venue.

"I have already opened a spatial passage leading to the direction of Xiao Hai City. As long as you step inside, in just an instant, you can reach the destination from Spirit Hall City."

Everyone was once again amazed.

They saw the Spirit Hall Team walk into it first. At the same time, a holographic screen also appeared in the sky, displaying the figures of the Spirit Hall Team:

Around them were buildings with various broken walls and ruins, scorched black and withered yellow. Except for Blue Silver Grass, there was no other sign of life.

Looking further into the distance, there was the boundless, vast ocean.

Without a doubt, the people from Spirit Hall had already arrived at Xiao Hai City!

"Such a method of teleportation—"

Xue Beng's voice trembled. He couldn't imagine how to deal with an enemy like Tang San.

If he could shrink the ground into inches himself, that would be one thing, but he could also open a teleportation passage and send others through... As long as Tang San was present, Spirit Hall's combat methods would be extremely flexible.

Just imagine, if the New Heaven Dou Federation wanted to go to war with Spirit Hall and was discussing it in the war room, and Spirit Hall suddenly opened a teleportation gate in their main base, with the Spirit Hall army directly attacking the heart, how would they respond?

If this ability were used in conjunction with spies and assassins, even if New Tiandou could elect countless Emperors, it wouldn't be enough for Spirit Hall to assassinate!

"May I ask, Saint Child of Spirit Hall, how did you manage to open up space?" Xue Beng wanted to understand the specifics of this ability in order to find a countermeasure.

Although his cultivation path as a Soul Master couldn't compare to those exceptionally gifted prodigies, he still understood some principles, such as: any ability has corresponding weaknesses, and as long as you find the weakness, you can target it.

Xue Qinghe reminded, "Xue Beng, this doesn't comply with the rules."

"Hmph!" Xue Beng snorted coldly. The current him didn't need to bother with any older brothers; their statuses were equal!

"No matter." Tang San nodded slightly towards Xue Qinghe, then explained to Xue Beng, "As long as you control the spatial elements, understand their mode of operation, and then set coordinates, you can do it."

Xue Beng: "...". He understood, but it seemed like he didn't understand.

Let alone him, even Xue Qinghe didn't quite understand. However, Bibi Dong's cultivation was getting closer and closer to the God level, allowing her to sense the power of spatial elements, and she felt a sense of sudden enlightenment upon hearing these words.

The key to spatial teleportation is controlling the spatial elements as the foundation. Secondly, it is understanding the mode of operation of the spatial elements and being able to utilize them. Finally, it is setting coordinates to establish a complete passage and perform perfect teleportation.

For Bibi Dong, the first two conditions were already mastered. Only the matter of coordinates remained; she didn't know how to set them...

In reality, Tang San's coordinates were Blue Silver Grass. After all, the Blue Silver Emperor controlled all Blue Silver Grass, as well as most plants. Therefore, as long as Tang San could sense them, he could open a teleportation passage.

However, there was another prerequisite, which was the Heavenly Dao helping to process that huge pile of messy coordinates. Otherwise, Tang San's own Primordial Spirit and brain would be unable to handle so much coordinate information.

Under normal circumstances, even a God wouldn't be able to remember so many coordinates, nor could they waste brain power or soul power to memorize such unimportant content.

Therefore, Tang San handed all of this over to the Heavenly Dao. Wasn't this external brain, which could record all information and constantly grow, meant to assist him in remembering the information that was changing and being born every moment?

"May I ask, Saint Child, what is the age limit of the gold Soul Rings? And what is the age limit of the Soul Ring whose color is like the starry sky?" Xue Beng intended to ask something practical.

"Gold, under normal circumstances, represents a million years." Tang San did not hide this, as it would help the world admire and yearn for Spirit Hall. "As for my ninth Soul Ring, it is quite special and can no longer be measured by simple age limits. It is an existence as ancient as the starry sky."

On the Haotian Sect's side, Tang Xiao secretly clenched his fists, regretting more and more that he had given A Yin to Tang Hao back then. If he hadn't been such a good-natured person, an excellent child like Tang San would definitely have become the pillar for the rise of the Haotian Sect. They wouldn't even need to rely on Grandpa; Tang San himself would surpass Grandpa!

This is the disciple the Haotian Sect should have!

But—

Hao, what foolish things have you done?

Seventh Elder opened his mouth, wanting to mock, but as a Title Douluo, he would also give a certain degree of respect to other Title Douluo: "Tang Hao fathered a good son, but unfortunately, he didn't know how to raise him..."

All of this is Tang Hao's fault!

518: Mysterious prize for the contest winner

After the Spirit Hall, the other six teams, Heaven Dou, Star Luo, Four Elements, Clear Sky, Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, and Shrek, also crossed the spiral nebula-shaped spatial gate and headed towards Xiao Hai City.

The seven teams arrived together at the coast, looking out into the distance. Members with good eyesight had already noticed the silhouette of a sailboat appearing on the horizon.

"Little Oscar, what do we do now?" Ma Hongjun of the Shrek Team glanced around, searching for cover. "Why don't we hide and wait until they get closer? Let's do that 'waiting for the rabbit' thing?"

"That won't do," Oscar saw that the Spirit Hall Team had already started cutting down trees nearby, building rafts, and changing their team uniforms to fisherman's clothing. He shook his head at Ma Hongjun and the others. "Waiting for the rabbit will just starve you. We have to take the initiative. Besides, what did Shrek teach us?"

"Not daring to cause trouble is mediocrity!" X5

The other five Shrek members shouted in unison, their voices filled with fervor.

"Exactly, that's the principle of our Shrek," Oscar waved his fist. "We represent the face of Shrek Academy, how can we be so cowardly? We definitely have to take the initiative and 'cause trouble' to show the strength and excellence of our Shrek!"

Ma Hongjun also agreed with Shrek's philosophy of "not daring to cause trouble is mediocrity," but he couldn't commend the idea that they represented the Shrek philosophy itself.

After all, Oscar's Soul Skills had already ruined the academy's reputation!

Over the past five years, the number of girls who dared to join Shrek Academy was negligible—Ma Hongjun would not believe it for a moment if it weren't for Oscar's contribution.

But it was not the time for jokes, so Ma Hongjun said, "Causing trouble is fine, but we didn't bring a boat, and we don't know how to build a raft either? The Teacher at the academy didn't teach us this skill..."

As he spoke, Ma Hongjun glanced at the other teams who were already close to finishing their rafts, his eyes twitching uncontrollably: "How do people from other academies know how to do this? Could it be that their Teachers even teach this kind of stuff?"

In reality, after Tang San proposed diversifying the competition venues and it was adopted, major advanced academies would mention some tips for making tools during the process of teaching students theoretical knowledge, including how to use trees to build rafts that could carry people in rivers.

After all, some Soul Masters needed to find specific Soul Beasts near rivers, places that were basically uninhabited and where boats couldn't be rented. Cutting down trees and building their own was the best option.

Teachers in various academies also gradually enriched their instruction to students on wilderness survival during soul hunting.

As for Shrek Academy...

It was still the same barbaric education. Combat experience mainly relied on Soul Fighting competitions. For soul hunting, besides mentioning some basic precautions, they let students figure out the experience themselves. Teachers only intervened at the last moment... The possibility of accidents was not small.

To put it nicely, it was cultivating students' independence; to put it bluntly, it was a lack of a complete educational policy, letting students suffer a lot of unnecessary hardships through a free-range approach to "tame" them into the "powerhouses" in their minds.

Indeed, students who could emerge from this kind of "education" were truly impressive, but more students became ordinary, or even didn't live to graduate.

In short, Shrek Academy was a place that treated talented disciples as consumables. Students who couldn't meet the standards would be called trash and waste.

An academy that didn't even give people basic respect for their dignity would definitely not be a proper academy.

"Hmph! They're just bored!" Oscar was quite disdainful, thinking that Soul Masters only needed to focus on cultivation. Why bother learning so many unnecessary skills?

Moreover, if their Shrek also had the resources of these advanced academies, their Shrek students would definitely be stronger.

These advanced academies and powerful teams truly didn't know how lucky they were!

When the other members of Shrek heard Oscar say this, they were more or less envious and jealous, but who could blame them for not having the financial resources of other academies?

The Clear Sky School Team had the same problem as the Shrek Team. This group of people, whose Martial Souls were all Haotian Hammers, only knew how to swing hammers and didn't know how to build rafts or boats.

They did know how to blacksmith; the Chaotic Cloak Hammer Technique was a basic skill of the Hao Tian Disciples, but blacksmithing techniques couldn't be used in carpentry.

Thus, of the seven teams, the other five set sail, leaving only the Shrek Team and the Clear Sky School Team on the shore, quite at a loss.

"Fatty, can't you fly?" Oscar had an idea and suggested that Ma Hongjun go scouting.

"Good Second Brother, don't you pit me! I don't have infinite Soul Power. Flying doesn't last long. Other teams can support each other, but I'm alone, what can I do?" Ma Hongjun immediately refused. He could fly, that was true, but using the Soul Skill Phoenix Wing Ascension constantly consumed stamina.

That wasn't land, it was the sea!

Heaven knew how far that boat was from the shore. If his Soul Power ran out and he fell into the sea, he would be buried in the belly of a fish. Moreover, there was nowhere to land on this vast sea. Could he possibly expect to occupy the entire boat from the Sun Moon Empire by himself?

He might as well wash up and go to sleep.

Oscar said angrily, "Are we just going to stay here and do nothing?"

Ma Hongjun, however, had a nonchalant expression: "I don't think that's impossible either. Spirit Hall asked us to gather intelligence, but they didn't say we had to gather it ourselves. These seven teams of ours are competitors. It's not impossible to snatch the intelligence from other teams when the time comes."

Oscar was immediately amazed: "Not bad, Fatty, you actually have a brain like that!"

Although Oscar wanted to test the power of the Eight Spider Lances on the Sun and Moon people on that boat, the most important thing was to win the championship of the tournament.

The winner is king!

As long as the Shrek Team could win the championship, no matter how cowardly his Captain's Martial Soul and Soul Skills were, they would be sought after, and perhaps even become a brand new trend leading this era.

Cowardly?

No!

This was the beauty of returning to the original, primitive instinct!

However, the main thing was to win the championship prize—

The prize for this Continental Elite Tournament had not yet been announced, but there were already rumors in Spirit Hall City that in addition to a Soul Bone, there was also a mysterious reward provided by the Martial Soul Theory Master, Tang San.

Although in Oscar's opinion, his Teacher, Yu Xiaogang, was no less inferior to Tang San in terms of Martial Soul theory, he was just unrecognized. However, Tang San becoming a Title Douluo before the age of twenty, and his Soul Ring configuration being terrifying to an extreme... Just this strength alone meant that the mysterious reward he could offer was worth everyone's anticipation.

519: Prize: Noumenon Artificial Soul Ring

Chapter 519: Prizes: Body Forging Art + Artificial Soul Ring

The actions and discussions of the seven teams were naturally all recorded by Tang San's Blue Silver Network and broadcast in the center of the Great Spirit Arena in Spirit City.

Regarding Oscar and Ma Hongjun's discussion, the audience mostly showed disdain and disgust, feeling that they were too despicable.

"Supreme Pontiff, is this in accordance with the rules?" Xue Beng asked.

"The rules do not explicitly forbid doing so. Moreover, for the participating teams, finding information and safely bringing it back is also a kind of test," Bibi Dong said without a ripple.

"That may be true, but the Captain and Vice Captain of the Shrek Team are a bit despicable." Xue Qinghe put a hand to his forehead, covering his face, feigning an embarrassed and helpless look.

Who told Shrek to be an academy within the Heaven Dou Empire?

Perhaps, in the future, the education model of academies will need to be standardized. There cannot be academies or students with such low moral character... This harms the reputation of the Heaven Dou Empire!

Xue Qinghe secretly made up his mind, after all, she was now Emperor Qinghe!

Xue Beng, quite disdainful of his 'good brother's' actions, retorted, "Despicableness is the pass for the despicable. Brother, you must respect the diversity of living things."

Xue Qinghe: "....."

These two sentences, when taken individually, were both good, but when combined, why did they sound so strange?

Moreover, Xue Beng could not say such profound words.

It seems there are 'experts' within the Transcendents' Alliance. I need to be vigilant.

"Is that so?" Xue Qinghe smiled lightly. "This is a competition, and the participating teams should be more open and honorable."

Xue Beng said, "This is to be on the safe side, and even the Supreme Pontiff thinks it's acceptable."

Xue Qinghe said, "Since that's the case, why don't I, the Emperor, decide to move Shrek Academy to your New Heaven Dou Federation? How about it? Then I'll personally go and speak with the dean of Shrek Academy, explaining your strong liking for Shrek Academy..."

"No need for Brother to trouble himself." Xue Beng's expression changed. He certainly didn't dare to take Shrek Academy, and quickly changed the subject, looking at Tang San and asking, "Saint Son, besides the Spirit Bone, what is the secret prize you are providing for this year's competition? We are very curious."

Tang San chuckled and said, "It's a secret."

Xue Beng: "....."

So uncooperative?

Xue Qinghe, however, spoke up: "Silverblue Earl, would you mind telling me?"

"Naturally." Tang San agreed.

Xue Beng: "....."

Such preferential treatment? That's truly too much!

"The champion's reward, besides the Spirit Bone, is a blood qi cultivation method I developed: the Body Forging Art," Tang San said. "This cultivation method can strengthen the muscles, bones, skin, internal organs, and even the brain. Even those within Spirit Hall who wish to cultivate it must make corresponding contributions."

"This cultivation method does not cultivate spirit power; it only refines blood qi. Even ordinary people can cultivate it."

"If someone can cultivate it to its peak, even with zero spirit power, they can deal with Spirit Masters below the Spirit Saint level... Of course, this is the most ideal state, because according to my research, when a person's blood qi becomes strong and overflows, it will spontaneously circulate through the body and transform into spirit power. This means that if this cultivation method is cultivated to a certain realm, even a Spirit Awakener with zero innate spirit power can produce spirit power and embark on the path of a Spirit Master."

Xue Qinghe's eyes widened. She subtly glanced at Bibi Dong and, seeing no major reaction from her, knew that she had already known, and immediately felt a bit indignant: This woman actually kept it from her, how outrageous!

"As expected of the theoretical Grandmaster of Spirit cultivation, truly amazing! This is a cultivation method that can defy fate!" Xue Qinghe, turning her head, praised endlessly, "And with strong blood qi, the body also becomes strong, which will surely allow one to bear higher-grade spirit rings in the future... I suppose Silverblue Earl's ability to bear such powerful spirit rings means his physical strength is also incredibly formidable, right?"

"How should I put it? Without using spirit power or mental force, relying solely on physical body and blood qi for combat, it might take two hands to defeat a Titled Douluo above rank ninety-eight," Tang San said with a relatively rigorous and conservative tone.

Xue Qinghe: "....." The gap with Tang San is getting wider and wider... No, once I return to Heaven Dou City, I must also have Tang San plant Blue Silver Emperor there, and I must also enter the Spirit Beast Illusion Space to increase the grade of my spirit rings, and then learn all the theoretical knowledge and cultivation methods Tang San has researched, so as to catch up with Tang San's progress.

Seraphim is absolutely no weaker than other Spirits!

"And the other reward I'm giving, besides this 'Body Forging Art', is another latest research achievement." Tang San said, taking out a crystal-clear bead from his storage wristband.

In terms of size, it was only as big as a fingernail, but within it contained a unique energy fluctuation, similar to spirit power, yet somewhat different, a bit illusory.

"This is?" Xue Qinghe was puzzled.

"Artificial Soul Ring."

Regarding the Artificial Soul Ring, Tang San had already experimented with it on Shen Hou and others, and the effect was quite good. This time, bringing it out was precisely to give the world a concept: that even without hunting Spirit Beasts, one could obtain spirit rings.

It was a preparation to subtly change human perceptions—

This would be a long process.

Xue Qinghe observed the bead in Tang San's hand, puzzled: "This is a spirit ring?"

"Naturally it is."

Tang San injected a wisp of spirit power into it, causing the bead to float up and then slowly expand, forming a white spirit ring.

"This kind of spirit ring bead, condensed from pure energy and Spirit, when a Spirit Master's spirit power is injected into it, the internal energy becomes active, forming a spirit ring. The spiritual energy within connects with the Spirit Master's own mental force, allowing it to detect the Spirit Master's physical quality and mental willpower, thereby allowing the spirit ring to continuously evolve during the absorption process, until it reaches the limit the Spirit Master can bear."

"Of course, the increase in the spirit ring's grade only occurs during the absorption process. After the spirit ring is absorbed, if one wants to increase its grade again, they need to enter the Spirit Beast Illusion Space to hunt Spirit Beasts."

The implication was that if one wanted to increase the grade of their spirit ring, they had to join Spirit Hall.

Moreover, even if one joined Spirit Hall, they couldn't immediately enter the Spirit Beast Illusion Space. First, they needed to make significant contributions to Spirit Hall and truly integrate into Spirit Hall's system.

"What about Spirit Abilities?" Xue Qinghe was more concerned about Spirit Abilities, as most Spirit Masters hunt Spirit Beasts and obtain spirit rings not only to break through existing cultivation bottlenecks but also for a powerful Spirit Ability.

"As for Spirit Abilities, they will derive corresponding types based on the type of Spirit and the Spirit Master's own ideas, but generally, they evolve based on the abilities the Spirit itself should inherently possess," Tang San explained. "Under normal circumstances, abilities unrelated to the Spirit itself will not appear."

520: Just right, I need some slaves

As Tang San's Soul Power and Spiritual Power were injected, the Soul Ring suspended in his hand transformed from pure white to a gentle yellow, then dyed with an enchanting purple, after which a deep black appeared, followed by a vibrant red.

Hundred Thousand Year!

Seeing this scene, everyone present felt as if they had witnessed a miracle.

However, the enhancement of this Hundred Thousand Year level Soul Ring did not stop; the red color deepened continuously, causing a golden pattern to appear on its surface.

Subsequently, the golden patterns increased continuously, two, three... When they reached the ninth pattern, the entire red Soul Ring was covered by gold, turning into a blue-gold Soul Ring.

Million Year!

The age of this Soul Ring was self-evident.

Xue Qinghe's heart trembled violently, feeling that only after becoming a God could he compare to Tang San: "Could this, like your first eight Soul Rings, be a Million Year level Soul Ring?"

"That's right, and the pressure from this Soul Ring has been erased by me, otherwise most people in this venue would be suppressed. Before the Soul Ring is absorbed, the pressure within it is indiscriminate, oppressing everyone regardless of whether they are friend or foe."

Tang San pointed and retracted his finger, and the Million Year level Soul Ring dispersed into starlight, returning to its original state as a crystal clear bead. "However, whether one can obtain a Million Year level Soul Ring depends on the individual's own situation upon absorption."

Although he said this, everyone present knew that unless the Soul Master absorbing this Artificial Soul Ring had already reached the level of ninety-nine, it would be very difficult to possess a Million Year level Soul Ring.

And would a ninety-nine level powerhouse still need a Soul Ring?

Unless it was a Twin Martial Soul.

But even so, everyone present had burning eyes, after all, this was an Artificial Soul Ring that could provide Soul Masters with the most suitable Soul Skills, without the need for Soul Masters to spend a lot of effort hunting Soul Beasts in various remote Hunting Spirit Forests.

If this Artificial Soul Ring could be saved until level ninety before being absorbed, would it be possible to obtain a powerful Hundred Thousand Year Soul Ring?

Xue Qinghe felt that in the future, if he needed to obtain a Soul Ring, he wouldn't need to hunt Soul Beasts; he could just ask Tang San for it. This way, he wouldn't have to worry about his identity being discovered by others.

Moreover, Qian Renxue, as the successor of the Angel God, knew about God Bestowed Soul Rings and felt that Tang San's Artificial Soul Rings were no less impressive compared to God Bestowed Soul Rings.

God Realm is mysterious and unfathomable, but Qian Renxue gradually stopped being superstitious, after all, Tang San, with his strength and wisdom, had shown miracles time and time again... Perhaps one day, Tang San would announce to the world: God is nothing more than a certain cultivation realm, and the so-called miracles can also be achieved when people or Soul Guidance Devices reach a certain stage.

It's just that the current Tang San is far beyond the imagination of the Soul Masters currently on the Continent...

...

Yue Trading Company.

This was a merchant ship belonging to the Xu family of the Yue clan from the Sun Moon Empire.

After the Sun Moon Empire advanced towards the Douluo Continent, many families in the Sun Moon Empire wanted to take ships out to sea, head to the Douluo Continent, and establish their own colonies.

However, the ruling officials of the Sun Moon Empire prohibited these families from doing so.

Reason?

Naturally, it was the order left by Xu Huang before setting sail. As a transmigrator, he knew the horror of capital and would not allow these families to establish capitalist groups and thus oppose him.

This was also one of the reasons why Xu Huang personally went to the Douluo Continent in the first place.

"Fu Hongchen, do you think my Dai has already conquered more than half of the Douluo Continent by now?" On the deck, a woman with a high nose bridge, clear eyes, delicate features, and short hair cut at ear level asked the man beside her.

"Junzhu Huang, according to the intelligence from the guide, the main situation on the Douluo Continent is a tripartite standoff, and within the Heaven Dou Empire, there are multiple duchies and kingdoms, with a relatively primitive system."

The man named Fu Hongchen had a head of flowing white hair, and even his eyebrows were white. This was a physical change caused by a Martial Soul mutation.

"His Majesty personally led the expedition to deal with a primitive Continent, which is naturally a piece of cake, especially since he brought so many Title Douluo, and even the Imperial Enshriners went."

"Even if the Spirit Hall also has peerless powerhouses, they cannot stop my family's ancestor!"

You Hongchen, who had been killed by Tang San, was Fu Hongchen's grandmother's generation, so he naturally revered her immensely, but he still admired Xu Huang more. No other reason than the fact that the entire Empire was unified by him relying on his unparalleled strength!

"That's right, my Dai is the most amazing."

The woman's name was Xu Huang, and she was Xu Huang's younger sister; their names were also homophones.

At this moment, she stretched, looked at the coastline in the distance, and said, "We'll be reaching land soon. I wonder how Dai will welcome me."

"I think His Majesty might be angry, after all, he didn't allow the large families within the Empire to come here to do business."

Fu Hongchen pursed his lips, somewhat worried that he would be punished.

As for the Junzhu?

It was well known that in the Sun Moon Empire, the great His Majesty Xu Huang doted on his younger sister the most. As long as she didn't disobey him, she could do almost anything she wanted.

"Relax, I'll plead for you. Dai listens to me the most."

Xu Huang patted Fu Hongchen's shoulder, not at all like a dignified Junzhu, but rather a lively, willful little girl.

Fu Hongchen sighed and looked at the sea.

Sensing something, he immediately walked to the railing, gazing into the distance, and discovered a raft with seven young fishermen sitting or standing on it.

"Are those natives of the Douluo Continent? They look quite miserable, actually going out fishing on such a simple raft."

Xu Huang also noticed, and a playful smile couldn't help but appear at the corner of her mouth.

She said, "Fu Hongchen, tell me, when they see our luxurious merchant ship, will they think they've encountered a sea monster or something?"

"Perhaps."

Fu Hongchen echoed, "Even in some remote areas of the Sun Moon Empire, when people there see an unknown large ship, they also think it's some kind of monster, let alone the Douluo Continent, which is much more backward than our place."

At this moment, among the Spirit Hall Team on the raft, there was a member with extremely good hearing, who heard the conversation between the two and said to his companions, "They think we are fishermen, and this seems to be a merchant ship."

"Then let's turn their plan against them. We'll pretend to be fishermen and conceal our Soul Power."

The Captain leading the team instructed, "Then, we'll paddle back, after all, we are ignorant native fishermen who have seen a 'sea monster', so we will definitely be scared!"

"Good idea!"

The others agreed one after another and made panicked expressions, scrambling to paddle towards the Continent, and some even "accidentally" dropped their oars.

Seeing this scene, Xu Huang laughed heartily and said to Fu Hongchen, "Capture them. It's perfect, I need some servants, and they are just right."

"Yes, Your Highness Junzhu."

Fu Hongchen called over a few guards and had them take small Soul Guidance Device boats to chase after the raft carrying the Spirit Hall Team and capture all of them onto the Soul Guidance Device boats.

"Who are you?"

"What do you want to do?"

"We don't have any money!"

"We haven't caught any fish today!"

"Heaven bless us~"

"Ah! Help!"

The seven people were terrified, causing the two guards from the Sun Moon Empire to laugh wildly: "Haha! Ignorant Douluo natives!"

This scene was also seen by all the audience in the Spirit Hall City Great Spirit Arena --

"As expected of the Spirit Hall Team, their acting is first-rate!"

"Brave and resourceful!"

"Spirit Hall truly has a lot of talented people!"

"....."

Listening to the compliments about the Spirit Hall Team coming from the side, Tang Xiao frowned. He couldn't see anything about the Spirit Hall Team that was "brave and resourceful."

The Seventh Elder even snorted, "A bunch of flatterers, not worth mentioning!"

And after the Spirit Hall Team, the Heaven Dou, Star Luo, Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, and Four Elements teams were successively captured by the Yue Trading Company's crew and brought before Xu Huang.

"Are you fishermen from this area?"

Xu Huang's gaze swept over the thirty-five people, and suddenly her eyes narrowed, her tone carrying three parts playfulness.

Just now, she could still believe they were fishermen, but now, how did these people not look like it?

At least, some of them didn't look like it --

Where are the fishermen who go out to sea all young people?

Even if she didn't fish, she knew that going out to sea required an older person to lead, otherwise, even in nearshore areas, it was very dangerous.

"Yes, Miss."

The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team stood out and said tremblingly, "It's just that this time we didn't come out to fish, but to flee."

"Flee?"

Xu Huang became interested.

"Yes, flee. Xiao Hai City was occupied by a group of barbarians. To survive, we could only escape."

The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team realized that these people probably didn't know that the Sun Moon Army had been annihilated, so he pretended to be terrified and said loudly, "They have weapons that can shoot fire, more powerful than Soul Masters. We only heard a loud bang, like thunder exploding, and our resisting Soul Masters fell down... Devils! They are definitely devils!"

The Captains of the Heaven Dou, Star Luo, Four Elements, and Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School teams were all shocked when they saw the leader of the Spirit Hall Team acting so exaggeratedly.

Thinking that they would have to act like this later, and that this scene was being live-streamed and watched by the audience in Spirit Hall City, a sense of shame immediately surged in their hearts.

But --

Heaven Dou: "Yes, those people, their skin is a bit dark, like charcoal sellers."

Star Luo: "They are man-eating barbarians."

Four Elements: "But we heard that the Heaven Dou Empire, Star Luo Empire, and Spirit Hall have united and are preparing to counterattack those bandits together."

Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School: "The Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School has also joined."

Seeing these people talk about the warriors of the Sun Moon Army like this, Fu Hongchen's eyes flared with anger, and he was about to step forward to teach these "ignorant" Douluo natives a lesson.

But Xu Huang raised her hand to stop him and said, "They are just ignorant natives. Brother often says that the Douluo Continent must be liberated. The natives here will also be citizens of our Sun Moon Empire in the future..."

The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team was surprised, not expecting this woman to be quite open-minded, but the Douluo Continent did not need you foreign invaders to liberate it.

Just when the members of these five teams thought that Xu Huang was a decent person, they heard her continue, "...However, before becoming citizens of our Sun Moon Empire, they will have to be slaves for a while."

All members of the Spirit Hall Team: "....."

521: Real combat competition

"May I ask who you are?" the Captain of the Spirit Hall Team inquired "trembling with fear."

"Listen well, standing before you is the Your Highness of the Hongchen family of the Sun Moon Empire: Fu Hongchen," Fu Hongchen said with conviction, his voice accompanied by the crashing sound of the ship breaking through the waves, adding a touch of grandeur.

He then introduced the woman, saying, "And this lady is the Emperor of the Sun Moon Empire's own sister: Xu Huang.

Why aren't you kneeling down to pay homage?"

"They're actually accomplices of the barbarians!" The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team "trembled" uncontrollably with "fear," his flailing limbs looking quite comical, causing the Captains of the other teams to shrink their pupils sharply—

They're playing this big?

Only the other members of the Spirit Hall Team knew that their Captain was letting himself go.

After all, in his spare time, this Captain often went to the Soul Guidance Film City to watch soul guidance movies.

Besides being a Soul Master, he also had a relatively strong interest in becoming an actor who could portray different roles, not to mention that he himself came from the department within the Spirit Hall specifically responsible for gathering intelligence, and sometimes even went out to act as a spy.

"How dare you! You should address her as Junzhu Highness!" Fu Hongchen roared.

"Don't be so agitated, you're scaring them," Xu Huang stopped Fu Hongchen, who was about to make a move.

She looked at the members of the five teams and chuckled, "I know you have some misunderstandings about us, but you will eventually understand that this is for your own good.

Now, I won't pursue your identities, but as long as you board this ship, you will be my slaves."

The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team shouted, "We escaped precisely because we didn't want to be slaves.

You can forget about enslaving our bodies again."

The Captain of the Heaven Dou Team also echoed, "We are definitely more resilient than you imagine!"

The Captain of the Star Luo Team followed up by saying, "We also have courage!"

The Captain of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School Team looked directly at Xu Huang: "We only yield to justice!"

The Captain of the Four Elements Academy Team also seemed possessed by a drama Spirit, looking up at the sky and shouting, "Power is precious, but Life is even more valuable; if it's for freedom, both can be cast aside!"

The continuous stream of dramatic pronouncements from the five Captains earned cheers from the audience in Spirit Hall City who were watching in real-time, with only a few people finding it jarring.

For example, Tang San.

Regarding the Captain of the Four Elements Academy, if he hadn't confirmed it beforehand, he would have suspected that the other party had been possessed by a transmigrator during the competition.

And Xue Qinghe looked at Ning Fengzhi, who coughed and said, "He is the nephew of a Soul Douluo Elder in the Sect, and he usually likes to write poems and couplets, but they are all impractical and cannot be considered refined."

However, some people's attention was not on these teams, but were quietly observing Tang San, guessing what level of realm he had reached.

After all, the distance from here to Xiao Hai City is not close, and the image above the venue was not released by a Soul Guidance Device, but rather seemed like a manifestation of some kind of Spiritual Power... Doesn't this mean that as long as Tang San is willing, he can observe anyone's secrets?

Terrifying!

Especially Tang Xiao, his gaze was even more solemn, secretly thinking:

Does Tang San know about the internal affairs of the Haotian Sect?

Does this mean that the Spirit Hall has already grasped every move of the Haotian Sect?

No wonder the Spirit Hall was indifferent to the Haotian Sect's emergence.

It turns out everything was within Tang San's observation...

...

On the Yue Trading Company ship, Xu Huang was a little stunned.

She didn't expect that these "fishermen" could say such things.

It seems—

"Although the ruling powers on the Douluo Continent are primitive, they have a way of winning the Hearts of the people.

On our Sun Moon Continent side, there are still a large number of people who are completely uninterested in who rules the Sun Moon Empire."

"However, I like your temper."

"Be my servants!"

Facing Xu Huang's renewed invitation, the Captain of the Spirit Hall Team suddenly erupted, his three purple and two black Soul Rings lighting up.

He leaped out, moving so fast that the nearby Fu Hongchen couldn't react at all.

Slap!

In just one move, the unresponsive Xu Huang was instantly grabbed by the neck and controlled by him.

"Bastard! He's a spy!" Fu Hongchen was enraged and also shocked by the color of the opponent's three purple and two black Soul Rings.

But he immediately activated his Martial Soul, revealing bumps on his body, and five Soul Rings, two yellow, two purple, and one black, surrounding him.

He was also a Soul King.

And the Captains and members of the other teams also revealed their strength, taking down the surrounding guards.

Fu Hongchen was only a Soul King and was difficult to resist.

The commotion on the ship also attracted the attention of others.

Three Soul Douluo hurried over from the back.

Seeing Xu Huang being controlled, they were furious: "What are you doing?"

"Heh heh, we are actually pirates.

Hand over all your valuables!" The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team once again played the part, gripping Xu Huang's neck and shouting at the three Soul Douluo.

Moreover, just in case, the other members of the Spirit Hall Team released their Martial Souls, aiming their attacks at Xu Huang's head, neck, Heart, and other vulnerable areas.

During the previous conversation, they had already determined that this Xu Huang was the sister of the Sun Moon Empire's Emperor, with a high status.

As long as they took her down, even if the enemy had strong individuals, they wouldn't dare to act rashly.

Unless the other party could instantly kill all seven of them.

But was that possible?

Now, all of them were on high alert, and it was possible that the slightest disturbance could cause a mistake.

And this action of startling the snake saved them the trouble of secretly searching the entire ship.

They could directly determine how many people were on this large ship, how many Soul Masters there were, and how many strong individuals at the Soul Saint level and above there were.

Looking now, there were three Soul Douluo, six Soul Saint, and the rest, about a hundred people, half of whom were Soul Masters, at the Soul King level and below.

The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team couldn't help but feel fortunate—

With the other party having this kind of strength, if they had truly acted as "captives," there would have been great uncertainty, but now, they had instantly exposed all of the opponent's trump cards.

Besides, they also controlled Xu Huang and Fu Hongchen, which was enough to make the opponent hesitate.

Of course, the reason why this Captain dared to do this was naturally because they were currently in competition with the other teams.

Being able to quickly expose the enemy's intelligence was also part of the test.

As for the other four teams present, they also knew...

This point was irrelevant.

The champion was the one who obtained the intelligence and returned to Spirit Hall City first.

In other words, when returning to Spirit Hall City, the seven teams had to compete with each other to see who was faster.

During this period, they could fight, cooperate, or slow down the other teams.

And the teams that did not obtain intelligence, such as the Clear Sky School Team and the Shrek Team, could also find ways to challenge the other teams to seize intelligence and try to return to Spirit Hall City first.

This final match tested the contestants' intelligence gathering abilities, strategic capabilities, and individual strength and teamwork simultaneously.

Of course, this was also a coincidence, and Tang San had the ability to control the overall situation and protect the Life safety of all contestants, otherwise, the seven teams would have engaged in a traditional对抗赛 (confrontation match).

However, in this practical combat competition, the high-level officials of the major forces watching the match in Spirit Hall City, as well as other insightful individuals who were also following the competition, could better see which team was more outstanding.

522: Capturing Xu Huang and Fu Hongchen

"You damned natives, how dare you be so arrogant!"

One of the Soul Douluo roared, "Quickly release Her Highness the Junzhu, or you will be annihilated."

"Oh, I'm so scared!" The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team showed an exaggerated expression, but tightened her grip on Xu Huang's neck by three points, then coldly said, "Sun Moon bandits, everyone should execute them. We pirates also understand the hatred of city massacres. If you want to occupy our land, then you deserve to be killed."

"Pirates?" Another Soul Douluo was more composed, "With your Soul Ring configuration, could you be pirates? I'm afraid you are spies from Sects or Empires on the Douluo Continent, right?"

"Heh heh, we are pirates. Hand over everything valuable. I don't want to say it a third time." The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team tightened her grip on Xu Huang's neck with one hand and took out an eye patch from the storage soul tool at her waist with the other hand, covering her right eye.

"Enough! We don't have time to play games with you!" The Soul Power fluctuations on the surface of the last Soul Douluo's body nearly solidified, even distorting and heating the surrounding air, "Release the Junzhu, or—"

"Or else what?" The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team chuckled, and couldn't help but add another point of strength, making Xu Huang's face more severely congested, and even causing veins to pop out, "You should be glad she's a Soul Master, otherwise she would have been strangled to death by me long ago... Now, prepare a ship that can carry seven people for us, and let us leave."

"Seven people?"

The three Soul Douluo exchanged glances and immediately understood that this group didn't seem to be one faction. Looking closely, they were vaguely divided into five camps... Could it be seven forces?

"We also want one!"

"Same here."

"We want two ships, the other for collection."

"Same for us."

The other four teams also spoke up one after another.

Since the intelligence had been mostly gathered, leaving here became the primary objective.

The three Soul Douluo's faces turned green.

In the Sun Moon Empire, they were respected powerhouses. When had they ever suffered such humiliation?

They are going too far!

But the Junzhu was in the hands of one of the teams, and Fu Hongchen was a genius of the Red Dust family, reaching the Soul King level at twenty years old, so nothing could happen to him either.

"Are people from the Douluo Continent all so despicable?" A certain Soul Saint shouted, "I heard you like Soul Duels, how about a match?"

"Heh heh, we people are currently in a match." The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team's words were a double entendre, leaving the people from the Sun Moon Empire confused.

However, one of the Soul Douluo thought of something and suddenly asked, "You are in teams of seven, clearly distinct, and looking at your cooperation, you are not from the same force. Could it be that you are competing to see who can capture our Junzhu first?"

As soon as these words were spoken, before the people from the Spirit Hall Team could confirm, all the crew members on the entire Yue Trading Company ship were enraged!

This was completely disregarding them and fiercely trampling on their dignity!

However, some people also thought of a point, which was that since this group dared to do this, did it mean that the Empire's vanguard army and His Majesty had already—

"Impossible!"

"Absolutely impossible!"

Among the three Soul Douluo, the powerhouse whose Soul Power had reached eighty-ninth rank glared angrily, staring fiercely at everyone in the Spirit Hall Team, and finally focused his main gaze on their Captain, roaring, "Do not disturb our minds. Release the Junzhu, or don't blame us for being impolite."

"No need to be polite, after all, we didn't plan to be polite to you either. Who told you to be subjects of the Emperor of the Sun Moon Empire?" The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team shouted, "Let us leave, and your Junzhu might be able to survive. Otherwise, let's all perish together. At least, having a Junzhu buried with us, this life is worth it!"

The eighty-ninth rank Soul Douluo stared at her for a long time and said, "Are you willing to die? With this Soul Ring configuration, becoming a Title Douluo is just a matter of time."

"For the Spirit Hall, we are willing to dedicate everything!" X7

The seven people spoke in unison, their noble beliefs rising in their eyes like blazing flames.

Xu Huang, who was being controlled, was also startled and suddenly became curious about the Spirit Hall. She said, "Elder Xu Long, let me go with them. Continuing the stalemate is not a solution. I think they won't do anything to me. After all, I am the Junzhu of the Sun Moon Empire. If something really happens to me, it will be truly irreparable."

"Besides that, I also want to know what happened to my brother and the Sun Moon Army."

"Junzhu, you..." Xu Long opened his mouth and finally agreed, saying to the Captain of the Spirit Hall Team, "If the Junzhu loses even a single hair, I will definitely tear you into ten thousand pieces."

"Snap!"

The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team, in front of Xu Long and everyone present, pulled out a small lock of Xu Huang's hair and said with a grin, "Sorry, I hurt your Junzhu more than just a single hair."

Xu Long was so angry that his blood surged, and he glared fiercely at the other party.

At this moment, not only the people on the Yue Trading Company ship but even the audience in the Spirit Hall City arena felt that the Captain of the Spirit Hall Team was a bit despicable.

Xue Qinghe chuckled, "The Spirit Hall has a constant stream of talents."

Bibi Dong said, "Since the start of the competition, she has received simple guidance from Tang San... But as it looks now, she has learned Tang San's impropriety."

"Cough, Pope, that was humor." Tang San defended himself, and he was clearly very proper!

Bibi Dong scoffed lightly (￣_,￣).

Humor?

Is there a difference between that and impropriety?

At the same time, Xu Long also prepared small Soul Guidance Device ships for the five teams. After watching them leave, he said to the crew members behind him, "Follow them, but maintain distance. Do not bombard them, lest you injure the Junzhu and Fu Hongchen... I want to see what exactly happened over there!"

"Brother, is it alright to let the Junzhu be so reckless?" Another Soul Douluo was a bit worried, "Although the Douluo Continent definitely doesn't want a full-scale war with our Sun Moon Empire, they are barbaric and primitive. If the Junzhu is bullied, we will be hard-pressed to escape blame."

"Don't you know the Junzhu's temper?" Xu Long retorted, "Her strength isn't high, only a Soul Elder, but she's mischievous and has plenty of ways to torment people... That woman, although she looks quite sharp, I can tell she's probably doing this for the first time..."

Although he said that, Xu Long's gaze became even more serious.

Doesn't this situation resemble some kind of test?

Could it be that the Sun Moon Army and His Majesty have really—

"No! Impossible!" Xu Long cut off his absurd thought, "His Majesty cannot possibly lose. This is definitely an enemy conspiracy. They just want to threaten His Majesty by kidnapping the Junzhu."

"Yes, it must be like this."

The other two Soul Douluo had similar thoughts, ignoring a series of questions such as [Why could the enemy army bypass them by riding rafts?] [Why didn't His Majesty's army discover them coming?]....

523: The fight for “the spoils of war”

“Can you tell me your name?” Xu Huang, who was in Binding, struggled a few times, finding she couldn't break free, and could only try to extract information from the enemy.

“No,” the Captain of the Spirit Hall Team shook his head, lifted her chin, and said with a frivolous tone, “You don’t need to think about getting information. Taking a captive like you back will surely win us the championship.”

Championship?

Xu Huang's heart sank. She realized that the Sun Moon Army might have truly been defeated by the natives of the Douluo Continent. The Sun Moon Empire hadn't received the news yet, and for the natives of the Douluo Continent, they merely discovered them arriving by ship, so they came to gather information, even treating it as some kind of competition...

Could it be that Imperial Brother also...

This is impossible. Her elder brother possesses power far exceeding a Spirit Master, unrivaled in the world. How could he lose?

After calming down, Xu Huang continued to ask, “You are competing, right? Then I must be key, after all, I am a Princess of the Sun Moon Empire and know more secrets about the Empire. I am the intelligence itself... The other four teams, are they your competitors? What if I demand to be captured by them?”

The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team was slightly surprised, not expecting this Princess to be unlike those foolish Imperial nobles; her mind worked quite fast. “This is a matter of competition between us, unrelated to your own wishes.”

Xu Huang’s breathing hitched. She felt that the other party was impervious to both soft and hard tactics. She was, after all, a Princess of an Empire, yet she was being treated this way... Truly worthy of a Douluo barbarian.

“Also, we have a total of seven teams. The other two didn’t have the courage to go out to sea and stayed on the shore,” the Captain of the Spirit Hall Team continued.

Xu Huang was puzzled: “Why are you telling me this?”

The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team showed a mysterious smile: “I just hope that if you are snatched by those two teams, you can find a way to escape yourself. After all, one of those two teams only knows how to swing a hammer, and the other’s behavior is like that of a ruffian. If you don’t escape, you can only pray for good fortune. Oh, and an extra reminder, among them, one person’s Spirit is a Sausage, and his Spirit Ability is very perverted.”

Xu Huang’s expression immediately changed. In the Sun Moon Empire, there was also this food called Sausage, and it also had other meanings... Could this Sausage be that “Sausage”?

“You’re not trying to scare me, are you?”

“I’m not that bored. If you don’t believe me, ask my companions. They all know that person’s Sausage Spirit is as hard as steel and can spray viscous liquid attacks, which is very disgusting,” the Captain of the Spirit Hall Team said casually, “And it has a strong fishy smell that can make people throw up their overnight meal!”

“That’s right, we can all guarantee it.”

“That guy’s Spirit is as perverted as he is.”

“I heard the Academy he belongs to is also a gathering place for ruffians.”

“I also heard that the Dean of their Academy is a kept man, taking the position of Dean from a woman, and the relationship between that former female Dean, the current Dean, and the Vice Dean is unclear.”

“Really?”

“Is that even false?”

Hearing these people speak like this, not only was Xu Huang stunned, but most of the audience in the Great Spirit Arena in Spirit City also heard a huge piece of gossip, utterly shocked.

“Bullshit! When did I have an unclear relationship with Flender?!” In the Shrek Academy area, Liu Erlong cursed loudly, glaring angrily at Bibi Dong, who was chatting and laughing with Tang San in the VIP section in the distance, “It must be that old woman slandering my innocence through her team’s mouths!”

“Xiaogang, you must not believe it!”

Yu Xiaogang lowered his head, silent, but his tightly clenched fists showed the turmoil in his heart—if it weren’t for him, perhaps Liu Erlong and Flender could have truly gotten together...

Also, Bibi Dong, do you really still have me in your heart?

Flender, who was beside them, adjusted his glasses and looked at the indignant audience around him. He couldn’t help but shrink his body, thinking to himself: “I’m not really a kept man, am I? The Academy was given to me by Erlong, and we are good partners, so there’s no problem, right? Also, I do want to have an unclear relationship with Erlong, but Erlong doesn’t give me the chance...”

More than ten minutes later, the Spirit Hall Team had already returned to the shore. As soon as they landed, members of the Clear Sky School Team surrounded them, each holding a Clear Sky Hammer. The spirit ring configuration of two yellow, two purple, and two yellow, two purple, one black, actually made Xu Huang breathe a sigh of relief: at least, the spirit ring configuration of these people was not as exaggerated as that of the Spirit Hall people... However, it seemed that no one's Spirit was "Sausage," so it should be in another team.

"This guy should be an important figure from the Sun Moon Empire, right?"

The Captain of the Clear Sky School Team sized up Xu Huang, finding her dressed lavishly, and since she was captured by the Spirit Hall Team, she must know a lot of information. Snatching her and quickly rushing back to Spirit City would win them the championship. "Hand her over, lest you suffer physical pain."

"Captain, why waste words with them? Just fight them directly. Anyway, we and the Spirit Hall are already at odds. Just be careful not to kill them." A team member swung the Clear Sky Hammer in his hand, with wisps of electric arcs缠绕 around it, crackling in the air, coupled with a ferocious smile, looking quite arrogant.

"Heh heh, truly worthy of Clear Sky Sect disciples who only know how to swing hammers, without a bit of brain, only thinking with their hammers." The Captain of the Spirit Hall Team had two people take Xu Huang back and detour from nearby, while he and the remaining four surrounded the seven from the Clear Sky Sect. "Then let us see how powerful the Clear Sky Hammer really is!"

"Five against seven?" The Captain of the Clear Sky Sect narrowed his eyes, a hint of anger rising in his heart. He pointed his hammer at the opponent. "Truly arrogant!"

"Just a bunch of melee control-type brutes," the Captain of the Spirit Hall Team sneered, "Are you still living ten years ago?"

"Only the weak rely on tactics!" the Captain of the Clear Sky School Team roared, holding his Clear Sky Hammer, his first spirit ring flashing. He leaped, and the hammerhead instantly enlarged three times, like a water vat, smashing towards the Captain of the Spirit Hall Team.

The other six Clear Sky Sect disciples also raised their Clear Sky Hammers high, running towards the other four members of the Spirit Hall Team.

The battle erupted at this moment!

Other teams, such as the Four Element Academies, escorting Fu Hongchen, were immediately surrounded by the Shrek Academy Team as soon as they landed. Moreover, behind them, the Heaven Dou, Star Luo, Seven Treasure Glazed Tile, and other teams were also eyeing them covetously.

After all, Fu Hongchen's status was clearly not low, and he was one of the chips for winning the championship, so he needed to be snatched.

“Buddy, how about we have a seven-on-seven Spirit Douluo battle? The winner gets this person, how about that?” Oscar suggested, “This is good for everyone.”

Fu Hongchen shouted: “You can't insult people like this! Killing is nothing more than a nod, how can you treat me as an object?!”

“Don't your Sun Moon Empire also want to treat us as slaves?” The Captain of the Four Element Team retorted, then said to Oscar, “This is our spoils of war. If you want it, bring your people and snatch it yourself, but I think it's better to leave this place first...”

At this point, he raised his hand and pointed at the giant ship on the sea behind them, chuckling: “That big ship has also come over. There are three Spirit Douluo and six Spirit Saint on it. We all don't want them to benefit from our conflict, do we?”

524: There is a long way to go

Chapter 524 The Road is Long and Arduous

The approach of Yue Trading Company caused the seven teams near the coast to stop fighting and run into the ruins of Xiao Hai City, preparing to go to Spirit Hall City.

As for the fight for Xu Huang and Fu Hongchen, it could only be carried out on the way back.

"Don't even think about running!"

Seeing this, the three Soul Douluos rose into the air before the ship docked and jumped towards the coast, but before they landed, they were covered by an invisible force and pressed down on the beach.

"This is!"

Xu Long struggled, but the invisible pressure on his body was as heavy as a mountain, and he couldn't resist it at all. Only his eyes and mouth could move.

"It is a serious crime to illegally invade another's territory." In mid-air, Tang San stood still, dissipating the pressure on the three, his magnetic voice resounding in their hearts.

"Peerless..." Xu Long was shocked, unable to think of escaping or resisting. Facing a Peerless Douluo, any means were futile.

This was an absolute crush in strength!

However, even if they didn't dare to act, Xu Long and the others would not easily surrender, let alone reveal information about the Sun Moon Empire!

Little did they know that Tang San didn't care about the information in their mouths at all. The information Luo Qiu knew was far more than these three Soul Douluos, not to mention that he could now sense the Blue Silver Grass, Blue Silver King, and Blue Silver Emperor on the Sun Moon Continent. As long as he wanted, those Blue Silver citizens would instantly transmit everything they knew to him, the Blue Silver Emperor.

"The Sun Moon Empire really hasn't given up on destroying my Douluo Continent. Waves after waves... It also allows me to experience the feeling of waiting for a rabbit." Tang San seemed to be talking to Xu Long and the others, but also seemed to be talking to himself. With a wave of his hand, a space teleportation gate expanded, enveloping Xu Long and the others, as well as that Yue Trading Company.

When Xu Long and the others opened their eyes again, they found that they had arrived at a relatively open space, and they were also bound by long strips of leaves similar to Blue Silver Grass, unable to move.

This kind of Blue Silver Grass rope was very tough, and even Soul Douluo-level soul power could hardly break free.

The Spirit Hall law enforcement officers successively tied up the rest of the people on the ship and escorted them to the prison, awaiting trial in the future...

Xu Long shouted at Tang San, who was chatting with Gu Yuena: "Who are you? Can you tell me your name? It is an honor for us to be captured by a powerhouse like you!"

"Tang San." Tang San glanced at Xu Long and said his name, "You don't have to be so sad. Although you are with the invading Sun Moon Army, you didn't have time to implement it after all, so there will be no Life concerns after the trial. At most, it's illegal invasion."

After Xu Long was taken down, Gu Yuena asked, "What is illegal invasion?"

"It means entering the homeowner's territory without the homeowner's consent," Tang San explained.

"In that case, isn't it also illegal invasion of my territory for Soul Masters to hunt Soul Beasts in Star Dou Great Forest?" Gu Yuena said with a smile, drawing inferences from one instance, "So, there's nothing wrong with capturing them too, right?"

"The concept is different. After all, Soul Beasts don't have the collective concept of humans, so they can't be generalized," Tang San said again.

"Hmph." Gu Yuena was a little angry, but didn't say much. After all, she also knew that Soul Beasts couldn't form a civilization similar to humans.

"Don't worry, when the Artificial Soul Ring technology is analyzed in the future, others can also manufacture it, and human demand for Soul Beasts will decrease," Tang San touched Gu Yuena's head and comforted her, "As for the competition for living space, there's no need to worry about it for tens of thousands of years. Perhaps in the future, humans will be able to find a way to coexist harmoniously with Soul Beasts, who knows."

Speaking of this, Tang San thought of the films and television related to "Pokémon" in his previous Life, which depicted a World where humans and species called Pokémon lived in harmony.

Although there were also dark conflicts of interest, generally speaking, the coexistence of humans and Little Elves in that World view was relatively perfect.

Humans controlled Elves to fight, but Elves were not tools, but partners.

However, it would be more troublesome to do this in Douluo Continent. In addition to the time it takes to change human concepts, Soul Beasts themselves are also "difficult to tame." The main reason is that Soul Beasts are different from Pokémon. Before their cultivation reaches a certain age, they can't understand human language at all, that is, they lack intelligence.

It can be said that Soul Beasts under ten thousand years old are not much different from ordinary plants and animals in terms of habits. The main reason why they are difficult to tame is because they possess extraordinary power that ordinary plants and animals do not have, and they can easily hurt people.

Only Soul Masters can subdue Soul Beasts.

However, the number of Soul Masters is pitifully small among all the humans on the continent, and the status of Soul Masters is so high that they don't need to do taming work for survival.

The change of concept is not something that can be achieved overnight.

"Let humans and Soul Beasts coexist?" Gu Yuena imagined that future, shook her head, and said, "To do that, Soul Beasts and humans must understand each other. At least, the vast majority of Soul Beasts must be born with no weak intelligence, otherwise it can only be empty talk."

"Indeed, that's a problem," Tang San nodded. After all, no matter which Pokémon World view it was, Pocket Monsters were born with no weak intelligence, but like Soul Beasts, most of them lived in natural environments and didn't think too much. All their thoughts were for survival and reproduction.

How to make Soul Beasts also have intelligence?

Tang San felt that he had to start with the rules.

"It's really a dreamlike World." Eternal Lord looked at the Pokémon anime in the memory given by Tang San and was filled with emotion, "But unfortunately, I have traveled through countless planes with the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, and I have never encountered a similar World. The most similar plane is that the plants and animals in it can generate intelligence when they cultivate to a certain level, and then transform into a half-human, half-beast form, or all transform into human form. The cultivators there call it: Demon."

Iliex said: "Isn't that much different from the Soul Beasts of Douluo Continent?"

Eternal Lord shook his head and said: "Not quite the same. They can freely transform between beast form and human form, but their strength is only equivalent to ten thousand-year-level Soul Beasts."

"Can you modify the rules and apply them to the rules of Douluo Continent?" Tang San felt that by sorting out the similar laws that Eternal Lord knew, he might be able to establish a rule suitable for Soul Beasts.

But Eternal Lord said: "It's possible, but I haven't recorded so many rules. After all, I just wander randomly in the universe under the guidance of the will of the universe. Most of the time, I'm asleep, so how can I have time to record those plane rules? I wasn't a researcher before, and I don't understand scientific thinking."

Tang San: "..."

The road is long and arduous—

525: Yu Xiaogang: I, Shrek Academy, protest!

“Solved?”

When Tang San returned to the VIP section with Gu Yuena, Bibi Dong asked.

“Just three Spirit Douluo, it won’t take too long.” Tang San nodded, “They are the Sun Moon Empire’s royal caravan, here to do business, but considering they entered without our permission, treating our sovereignty as nothing, it’s best to detain them and await future judgment.”

Bibi Dong nodded slightly, looked at the screen above the venue, and asked, “Which team do you think will win this final?”

“The Spirit Hall Team,” Tang San said without hesitation, “Although in terms of individual strength, the strongest is the Clear Sky Sect Team’s captain, their team is too singular; they are all power-type players. Melee, armor-piercing, and crowd control are relatively comprehensive, but they lack long-range attack methods.”

“If it were a seven-on-seven Spirit battle, the Spirit Hall Team might capsize in a ditch, after all, the Clear Sky Sect Team can barely be considered ‘one force breaking all methods’.”

“But this competition for transporting intelligence, the venue is very large. Before returning to Spirit City, the venue changes after every certain distance. Moreover, even if the Clear Sky Sect Team snatches Xu Huang, they still need to guard against sneak attacks and snatching from other teams... From observing their previous battle with the Spirit Hall Team, the Clear Sky Sect Team members are strong in adapting during combat, but in terms of strategy, they are quite stubborn, as if they also use their brains as hammers.”

“As for the other teams, I don’t know much, but all members of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School Team are quite flexible in their thinking. Now they are even divided into four groups, secretly watching the Spirit Hall Team, the Four Element Academies Team, the Shrek Team, and the other two teams... I estimate they want to extract more intelligence from those two people on the way back.”

“Although those two people are ‘the intelligence itself,’ collecting intelligence, as long as more detailed content is obtained, is also a method.”

“Even if they don’t get the championship, third place is also good.”

“As for the Shrek Team...”

“Still need to be vigilant; the Eight Spider Lances gave Oscar excellent flexibility and also possess potent poison. His Spirit’s Spirit Ability is also quite unique; it can heal, engage in close combat, and control. It even has long-range and defensive skills, making it very comprehensive.”

Speaking of Oscar, Bibi Dong’s expression darkened, but she still evaluated objectively, “Putting aside the lewd aspect, it is indeed ‘refreshing’... Why would a food Spirit like Sausage derive such Spirit Abilities? According to your theory, no matter what kind of Spirit Beast’s spirit ring is attached to a Spirit, it will only produce abilities that the Spirit itself can possess? Just like a rope can bind, and a lone wolf can bite.”

“The premise of [under normal circumstances] was not forgotten,” Tang San reminded, “spirit rings produced by some special Spirit Beasts may not have any relation to the Spirit itself. For example, a Ten-thousand year soul beast’s spirit ring, if it doesn’t match the Spirit itself, the Spirit Ability obtained may be dominated by the Spirit Beast.”

The Tang San in the original work, his sixth spirit ring was sacrificed by Xiao Wu, and none of his Spirit Abilities were related to Blue Silver Grass.

One was nothingness, and the other was to summon Xiao Wu's soul for energy materialization, then perform a set of physical attacks called "Instant Kill Eight Stage Drop."

"Is Oscar's situation because the Spirit Beasts he hunted were no different from food?" Bibi Dong became interested.

"No," Tang San shook his head, "Food Spirits and Tool Spirits can inherit the corresponding attributes of Spirit Beasts. His Spirit clearly inherited the attributes of the hunted Spirit Beasts."

"As for why his Spirit Abilities manifest in that form—"

"This brings us to my 'the evolution of martial souls.' Spirits can sense the desires of the human heart, thus responding to the mind's expectations and evolving."

"An ordinary person's Spirit needs to evolve through several generations, while a Spirit Master can cultivate spirit power, promoting rapid Spirit evolution. In this process, in addition to the changes brought by spirit rings, the Spirit Master's own strong thoughts will also play a certain role... And recently, I also have a guess: the earliest human Spirits were all Physical Martial Souls, after all, the inheritance of Physical Martial Souls has uncertainty and instability, making it prone to changes in other limbs. If some influence is applied before this type of person awakens their Spirit, there is a high probability of the Physical Martial Soul appearing in other forms."

"As for Oscar's Spirit, it is estimated to have a tendency to evolve towards the physical direction. As for why it evolved in that direction... As I said before, Spirits, to some extent, can respond to a person's wishes."

"Moreover, judging by his Spirit Abilities, the Spirit Beasts he hunted also likely had skills like spitting silk and spraying venom, which just happen to coincide with that part of the male reproductive organs... Analyzing it this way, if his Spirit didn't evolve in that direction, it wouldn't be fair to the Spirit Beasts he hunted."

Although Tang San's analysis was logical, Bibi Dong's face grew darker, and her impression of Yu Xiaogang worsened.

If the disciple is so lewd, how good can the teacher be?

Also, Yu Xiaogang knew Liu Erlong was his cousin, yet he still got together with her...

Yu Xiaogang, have you no shame left just to clear your name?

You've fallen!

But this is also good; there's no need to show any leniency in the future.

In a flash, time arrived in the afternoon.

All seven teams returned to Spirit City, and the moment they stepped into Spirit City, they could no longer fight each other.

The winning team, naturally, was the Spirit Hall Team, carrying the dazed Xu Huang.

The second place went to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School Team—while the Four Element Academies Team, Shrek Team, Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team, and Star Luo Royal Team were entangled, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School Team jumped out when they were all overly exhausted and snatched the pale Fu Hongchen.

And the third place went to the Four Element Academies. Although they lost Fu Hongchen, they managed to extract a lot of intelligence about the Sun Moon Empire from him, with a far greater completeness than the other teams, thus earning them third place.

The Heaven Dou, Star Luo, Clear Sky Sect, and Shrek Teams collected the least intelligence and missed out on the top three.

Among them, the Clear Sky Sect Team collected the least intelligence!

“The prosperity here far exceeds the imperial capital of the Sun Moon Empire!” Xu Huang had just recovered from her disoriented state and was surveying her surroundings, her heart sinking: This is definitely a major power no less than the Sun Moon Empire, Imperial Brother, could it be that you really have...

As Tang San and Bibi Dong were about to present the awards to the winners together, Yu Xiaogang of Shrek Academy stepped forward and shouted at the two, “Our Shrek Academy protests! We do not recognize this final! We hope that according to the usual rules, the competition will be held fairly in a standardized arena!”

526: Then you are also real heroes

Why did Yu Xiaogang protest?

Couldn't wait.

Five years and another five years, how many five years are there?

Yu Xiaogang had been watching the development of Spirit Hall these years, and what about the next five years? Even if Oscar and Ma Hongjun could still participate, what then?

They were no longer mere teenagers. Even if they won the championship, it wouldn't prove how great he was, only because they were older.

And the Continental Elite Tournament is a stage for young people!

If he couldn't prove himself this time, then he would have no chance... Moreover, he had also calculated that if this competition was based on a seven-on-seven team battle, Shrek Team would be able to defeat Spirit Hall Team. Oscar had a 70% chance of winning against the captain of Spirit Hall Team!

This abrupt behavior caused everyone to focus their attention on Yu Xiaogang.

"I protest!"

Yu Xiaogang, who said these three words again, spoke loudly, his eyes bright and piercing, staring straight at Bibi Dong, "This doesn't comply with the rules!"

The people from Spirit Hall were about to drive him away, but Bibi Dong raised her hand to stop them, saying, "Although the rules of this final are temporarily changed, I don't think this is unfair. During the process of detecting enemy intelligence, each team has fully demonstrated their methods, abilities, strategies, and so on."

"Soul Master, just fight, you don't need to understand so much." A trace of cold sweat seeped out of Yu Xiaogang's forehead, but for the sake of his reputation, he had to persist.

He only hoped that Bibi Dong still had him in her heart and could give him face and change the rules.

But—

"Times have changed."

Bibi Dong had already recognized Yu Xiaogang's character and knew what he truly cared about—his ridiculous self-esteem. "Although the Sun Moon Continent's invaders are brutal, they have also broadened our understanding, making us realize that overseas, there are other continents and other civilizations."

"The era has changed, and Soul Masters must naturally follow the pace of the times and move forward together."

"Could it be that you, as the former Martial Soul Theory Master, think that Soul Masters shouldn't improve and should remain the same? You should know that in the beginning, when humans hadn't learned to use bonfires, they were still drinking blood."

Yu Xiaogang's heart skipped a beat, and he realized that there was no place in Bibi Dong's heart for him anymore. He couldn't help but feel gloomy: "You're changing the subject... Also, the enemies of the Sun Moon Empire are nothing more than that. Weren't they defeated by Tang San alone?"

These words offended the high-level members of all the major forces present—

"Is this mocking us for not contributing in that war?"

"Your Shrek hasn't responded to the call to join the army yet!"

"What qualifications do you have to say that?"

Although they were cursing in their hearts, no one said it out loud, as the occasion was not suitable.

Yu Yuanzhen of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family was even more furious, clenching his fists tightly: "Ungrateful son!"

Bibi Dong looked deeply at Yu Xiaogang and said, "Do you think that every time the continent has foreign enemies invading, you can rest easy and let Tang San and our Spirit Hall deal with them?"

"Admittedly, we will go, but—"

"We have no obligation to do so."

Seeing that Yu Xiaogang didn't answer, Liu Erlong wanted to say something, but Flander stopped her and covered her mouth. The atmosphere in the room fell silent, and Bibi Dong faced the entire venue and asked, "Everyone, do you admire Tang San, admire the Spirit Hall Saint Child, admire the hero who, with his own strength, caused the Sun Moon bandits to collapse?"

"We admire him!"

At this moment, the entire venue shouted, waving their arms, and the enthusiastic roar resounded through the clouds, stunning Yu Xiaogang—how wonderful would it be if the cheers here were for me?

He yearned for such adulation!

Soul Masters should be like this, respected by all!

He initially suffered from a malignant mutation of his Martial Soul, and had no hope of reaching the peak on the path of a Soul Master, so he could only place his hopes on achievements in Martial Soul cultivation theory.

His fundamental purpose was to enjoy the cheers, admiration, and even worship of everyone, to be regarded as a faith!

Unfortunately, this glory did not belong to him.

Little did he know that it was precisely because of this vanity, this desire for others to admire and praise him, that the compatibility between him and his Martial Soul "Luo San Pao" was extremely low...

After seeing Bibi Dong arouse the emotions of the crowd, Tang San was speechless. Realizing that it was time for him to speak, he said, "Everyone, please be quiet, I have a few words to say."

His simple words were like a gentle spring rain, silently moisturizing everything, causing the audience to stop cheering.

"Thank you everyone for your trust in me, but there's no need to admire me too much. I don't think of myself as any kind of hero, just a cunning businessman with a relatively cheerful personality, unable to keep secrets, and fond of sharing some of my research results, self-satisfied, and enjoying it, a clumsy imitator focused on exploring the laws of nature."

"Perhaps, also a relatively flirtatious womanizer?"

"Ahem! These are not important, what's important is that, like me, you eat well, rest well, strive to live your own lives, and leave the results to future generations to inherit—"

"This is a hero!"

"And the results are not divided into large or small. If I can be a hero, then you are also true heroes!"

His impassioned speech caused everyone in the venue to cheer!

Others, whether they praised him openly or slandered him secretly, at this moment, no one could deny that Tang San was the focus of everyone's attention.

Envy, jealousy, regret...

Yu Xiaogang stared fixedly at Tang San, thinking to himself: "That was the position that should have been mine, but now—it has been occupied by others... Fate is really unfair, I am clearly the Martial Soul Theory Master!"

"Finally, if you admire me, then please surpass me. This is the greatest respect for me." Tang San raised his hand again, signaling everyone to be quiet, and said the last paragraph, "Don't blindly think that everything I say and do is the truth. Discover my mistakes and be able to point them out, that is what you should do."

"When three people walk together, there must be one who can be my teacher."

"No one is perfect. My achievements are also based on the research of predecessors. I just slightly organized it, and slightly diverged my thinking, and then did some experiments, and then came to the current more authoritative results. Maybe in the future, when research methods are more sophisticated, the theory will be overturned, and a more accurate theory will be replaced."

"It's just keeping pace with the times."

Suddenly, the whole place was silent, and most people began to think, and then—

Cheers rose again!

Chasing stars doesn't require too much reason~

However, Yu Xiaogang's matter was also ignored by the vast majority of the audience present. No one cared about his feelings... Although this preserved a bit of his face, for him, being ignored was more tragic than being ridiculed.

Ridicule...

At least someone cares.

But now, no one wants to know who he is, or what he just proposed. Everyone is only concerned with cheering and rejoicing for the person they admire in their hearts.

Yu Xiaogang?

Who is that?

No matter how he shouted, his voice could not drown out the audience, and he could only be pulled back to the Shrek Academy audience seats by Flander and Liu Erlong in loneliness...

527: Actions of the Traveler Alliance

This time's awards ceremony is much more luxurious than the last, mainly because the prizes are richer; the top three all receive rewards.

The third place receives three thousand-year-level Soul Bones.

With the development of the Spirit Beast Illusion Space, the number of Soul Bones dropped has also increased daily, and some were damaged and broken during the research process by Guang Ling and Tang San, becoming incomplete, so they discussed and took them out as prizes.

Although the Soul Bones are only thousand-year level, currently on the Douluo Continent, this item is still priceless, hence extremely precious, and in the past, besides the champion receiving prizes, the other teams could only accept recruitment and enfeoffment from the various Empires after returning.

Therefore, the moment the Soul Bones appeared, the eyes of many people on the scene lit up.

"Spirit Hall is really generous, even the third place gets a Soul Bone reward." Although the Haotian Sect's Seventh Elder didn't think much of the thousand-year-level Soul Bone, if that item fell into his hands, he would definitely absorb it.

No other reason, ten-thousand-year-level Soul Bones are too rare; wanting to achieve a full set of ten-thousand-year-level Soul Bones, a Title Douluo like him shouldn't have too many extravagant hopes.

Next, it was the second place, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School team, who went up to receive their reward.

Bibi Dong personally presented a ten-thousand-year-level Soul Bone.

At this, the eyes of the vast majority of people present flickered with greed, but due to the Pope's powerful strength, and Tang San also being beside her, no one dared to act rashly.

"Ten-thousand-year Soul Bone! That's a treasure of the Soul Master World!" Tang Xiao unconsciously swallowed his saliva, calming down, "Is Spirit Hall this generous?"

He wasn't surprised that Spirit Hall could produce a ten-thousand-year Soul Bone, but if the second place received a ten-thousand-year-level Soul Bone, then wouldn't the Soul Bone obtained by the first place have to reach the fifty-thousand-year level? Or perhaps multiple ten-thousand-year Soul Bones? The champion prize in the previous competition seemed to be multiple ten-thousand-year Soul Bones, but it seemed to have been used by Tang San as a stepping stone to challenge Bibi Dong...

When the Spirit Hall Team went up to receive their awards, Bibi Dong took out three ten-thousand-year-level Soul Bones.

This was not unexpected; everyone had speculated.

What they were more concerned about was what reward Tang San would give.

And Tang San did not disappoint, taking out seven thick small booklets and saying, "This is the Body Forging Art. Those within Spirit Hall who wish to cultivate it need to make certain contributions. As you are important figures captured from the Sun Moon Empire, you may cultivate it in advance."

"Thank you, Saint Child!" X7

The seven were all overjoyed, respectfully taking the seven small booklets, their eyes burning with fervor.

"Body Forging Art? What is that?"

"Could it be related to Spirit Hall collecting a large number of Physical Martial Soul users?"

"Perhaps it's a special meditation method or something created by Tang San."

"The cultivation efficiency should be very high, otherwise the Spirit Hall Team wouldn't be so excited... Looking at the situation, even internal Spirit Hall personnel who want to cultivate it have to pay some kind of merit or contribution."

Amidst everyone's discussions, Tang San again took out seven crystal-clear beads the size of a fingernail, supporting them with Soul Power in front of the seven, and said, "This is the second prize I am giving, called Artificial Soul Ring. It is a Soul Ring created based on the ability I gained after obtaining my ninth Soul Ring. When you reach a bottleneck, you can absorb it, and during the absorption process, it will reach the maximum Soul Ring year limit you can bear, based on your respective body, Spirit, and Martial Soul conditions. And the Soul Skill that evolves from it, under the World rules of the Douluo Continent, will not necessarily be the strongest, but it will definitely be the most suitable Soul Skill for your respective Martial Souls."

As soon as these words came out, the entire venue fell silent.

Artificial Soul Ring?

World rules?

The Saint Child of Spirit Hall, Martial Soul Theory Master, Silverblue Earl, he, Tang San, what realm has he reached? Can he even create Soul Rings?

This is already no different from a God!

After Tang San finished speaking, he took out another Artificial Soul Ring bead and demonstrated the usage in front of everyone.

Everyone watched as that single bead, under the injection of Soul Power, dispersed and condensed into a white Soul Ring, then its color changed to yellow, purple, black, red, and that incomparably brilliant golden.

Finally, this Soul Ring was dispersed again by Tang San with a wave of his hand, turning back into a bead.

"If you have the ability, the year limit of this Artificial Soul Ring can reach the million-year level," Tang San said, releasing his nine Soul Rings, which were eight gold and one chaotic color, "Just like the first eight Soul Rings of my Blue Silver Emperor, they have all reached the million-year level."

Everyone's breathing hitched.

Million years?

Is this still human?

Could it be that Tang San has already broken through to the legendary level 100, becoming a deity?

"We will definitely go all out!" The seven members of the Spirit Hall Team showed admiration and longing in their eyes, respectfully taking the seven Artificial Soul Ring beads, looking forward to the future when they might obtain a hundred-thousand-year-level Soul Ring...

...

"Tang San is powerful to an excessive degree."

Within the Transcendents' Alliance, Tang Luoya's eye twitched, "Eight golden million-year Soul Rings, plus that ninth peculiar Soul Ring, perhaps at the ten-million-year level... How did he do it?"

Feng Ming sighed, saying, "We are all Transcendents, why are we so poor? Is it just because he transcended into the protagonist? Is there any justice left?"

Huo Ke was also shocked, but then said, "Don't be so dejected; at least we have established a connection with him and left some goodwill... Right, I am getting closer and closer to the Soul Emperor level, let's start preparing and go to Sea God Island. I'll take you guys flying."

Huo Ke had figured it out; there was a high probability that Tang San truly did not accept the inheritance of a certain God Realm—

According to the original work, the most generous God Realm on the Douluo Continent is the Sea God; all residents of Sea God Island can participate in the assessment when they reach a certain age.

Unlike the Angel God and Rakshasa God, who are stingy.

And Tang San obtained eight million-year-level Soul Rings, and one special Soul Ring of unknown age... It doesn't look like something a human could achieve, but it's even less likely that the God Realm intervened.

They wouldn't mess around like this!

"Go to Sea God Island? Do you have a way to bypass the guardians outside the island: the Demonic Soul Great White Sharks?" Feng Ming asked excitedly.

"The New Heaven Dou Federation has captured a lot of ship-type Soul Guidance Devices from the Sun Moon Army; borrowing a fast and durable ship is not a problem."

Huo Ke had his own ideas, and his face showed more anxiety and helplessness.

"The Sun Moon Empire Army was able to cross the sea to reach the Douluo Continent, even with Xu Xing acting as a guide; their ships themselves must be able to withstand the impact of ten-thousand-year-level Soul Beasts, otherwise, they couldn't have arrived safely."

"We must quickly approach Tang San in terms of strength, otherwise, this connection we have with him could be cut off on a whim one day."

"To have a say, we must have corresponding strength."

Feng Ming pondered, finally agreeing, and said, "Speaking of which, is the Emperor of the Sun Moon Empire also a Transcendent?"

Huo Ke said, "Certainly, but it doesn't matter anymore; he's already been beaten to death by Tang San..."

528: Tang Chen: Failed again

Chapter 528: Tang Chen: Failed Again...

"The inheritance failed..."

In the dim, scarlet Asura God inheritance ground, Tang Chen's expression was grim. "Is my will really not firm? However, I can be considered to have fulfilled the agreement from back then."

Although he did not inherit the Asura God's position, Tang Chen also relied on his powerful talent to break through level 100 in the inheritance ground, becoming a God of Slaughter under the Asura God.

"Your heart is not firm, you are trapped by love, and it is difficult to inherit the Asura God's position."

The Asura God King also arrived in the inheritance space at this time—at that time, he had gone to track the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, but after searching for many days, he found no trace at all and could only return to the God Realm to report... Afterward, he discovered that Tang Chen, during the assessment for inheriting the divine position, saw a phantom of Posey and couldn't extricate himself.

The Asura God King could sense it, and Tang Chen himself knew it was a phantom, not a real person, but he was willing to indulge in it and didn't want to wake up.

Such a person is simply incapable of taking on the Asura God's position.

Shura are the enforcers of the God Realm; they can have selfish desires, but when enforcing the law, they cannot be so sentimental and trapped by the seven emotions and six desires. This is absolutely unacceptable!

"Great Asura God, can you give me another chance?" Tang Chen pleaded.

"If you're not qualified, you're not qualified. It's only because you accumulated a large amount of energy during this process and broke through level 100, reaching the level of a divine official. Otherwise, you would have long since been eternally lost in purgatory during the process of inheriting the divine position, and finally, your spirit and body would have been extinguished."

The Asura God King said coldly.

Tang Chen's heart trembled, and he lowered his head, not daring to retort—he also wanted to inherit the divine position, but who could blame him when the person in the illusion was Posey? Even if it was an illusion, he was unwilling to harm her in the slightest.

"This attachment is quite impressive to this God."

The Asura God King sighed lightly and said, "However, you have also broken through level 100. From now on, you will be a God of Slaughter under me. As for Posey, you don't have to worry. She is the Sea God's High Priest, and when her lifespan ends in the future, her soul can be brought to the God Realm by the Sea God, and her body can be reshaped then."

"Thank you, Asura God King!" Tang Chen quickly thanked him, and the stone in his heart finally dropped a large part.

"Now, you have two choices: First, follow me to the God Realm and become familiar with the relevant matters; second, stay in the mortal world, but you can only stay for a hundred years, and during these hundred years, you cannot interfere with human affairs, nor can you kill mortals, even if he or she is extremely wicked... From our perspective, the existence of good and evil also has its reasons, not to mention that there is a Supreme God King in the God Realm named Evil."

The Asura God gave Tang Chen two choices.

Tang Chen was stunned. He had never thought that Gods could not interfere with the human world. What about Haotian Sect... Suddenly, Tang Chen seemed to think of something and asked, "Then why can the Angel God interfere with the human world?"

"Spirit Hall has faith in Angels. That Qian Daoliu is also a good friend of mine. He once spoke of the glory of Angels. That shouldn't be some illusory story, right?"

"And the Sea God, doesn't he also gather faith? Isn't this interfering with the human world?"

The Asura God King's eyes were indifferent: "Therefore, the Angel God died. She disobeyed the God Realm's command back then and insisted on staying in the lower realm to spread faith... She was personally killed by me with just one sword, but considering that she condensed her own divine position and had excellent talent, I only shattered her divine body and extinguished her divine soul, but the Angel God's position was left behind, which can be considered a hope for her descendants."

"As for the Sea God..."

"When I went down to the lower realm to enforce the law against the Angel God, I met him and we had a pleasant conversation."

Tang Chen's heart sank, and he thought to himself: The God Realm also has connections.

"Of course—"

As if seeing Tang Chen's thoughts, the Asura God King added, "He didn't violate the rules of the God Realm. After all, he only made his home on a small island overseas. The people on Sea God Island were originally just some fishermen who spontaneously believed in the Sea God, and it wasn't the Sea God who actively recruited them. Moreover, the beings who provided him with the most faith power were Sea Soul Beasts."

Spontaneous?

Active?

That's the difference!

Tang Chen suddenly understood, and then said, "I want to stay in the mortal world for a hundred years. I wonder if I can teach my disciples?"

"Those who become Gods cannot extensively interfere with human affairs."

The Asura God King said indifferently.

"Certainly not."

Tang Chen understood. The implication of these words was that he could not affect the Continent's situation, but he could secretly plant small-scale chess pieces. However, Tang Chen's only two thoughts at this time were: teaching his disciples, and—

Marrying Posey!

However, when Tang Chen emerged from seclusion, he learned the results of this Continental Elite Tournament from Tang Xiao and others who had rushed back to the Sect: the Clear Sky School Team couldn't even make it into the top three.

"Hmph! You all obtained the God of Slaughter Domain, right? How useless!" Tang Chen was quite frustrated.

"Sorry, Great Grandpa..."

These fourth-generation disciples of Haotian Sect all lowered their heads, ashamed to face Tang Chen.

Tang Xiao said something fair: "The main reason is that there was an accident in the finals this time. The Sun Moon Empire invaded again... Then the finals became seven teams collecting intelligence on that Yue Trading Company ship, and also Tang San. He has already reached the level of a peerless expert. With a wave of his hand, he can open a spatial channel and travel a thousand miles in an instant..."

After understanding the tip of the iceberg of Tang San's strength, Tang Chen frowned: "Artificial Soul Ring? Can that thing even be created? It seems he has definitely also embarked on the same path as me."

"Uncle, since you've come out of seclusion, have you already become the Asura God?" The Seventh Elder asked about this matter, his face excited, and the others were also invigorated. Does this mean that their Haotian Sect will once again reach the peak of the Continent?

"No."

Tang Chen's words extinguished the flames of joy and excitement of everyone, and then he said, "However, I have indeed broken through to level 100 and become a God of Slaughter under the Asura God... The Gods in the God Realm are also divided into different ranks. The Asura God is a God King level, one of the most top-tier in strength. My aptitude is not enough to gain his recognition, so I can only become a minor God."

The Seventh Elder became excited again: "That's still a God!"

Tang Xiao also regained his spirits: "Grandpa, can we declare war on Spirit Hall first? Then, we can go overseas and also conquer the Sun Moon Empire! Dealing with Spirit Hall is a personal vendetta, others can't say much, but Spirit Hall is currently in its prime, others will think we are disregarding the overall situation. But if we also conquer the Sun Moon Continent, then the reputation of Haotian Sect will surely be praised."

However, Tang Chen's expression was a little grim, and he said, "As a God, I cannot interfere with human affairs. My power is too strong and will cause widespread suffering."

Huh?

The smiles on the faces of Tang Xiao and others disappeared—

When did Great Grandpa, Uncle, Grandpa become so compassionate?

"However, I will teach you to break through your realms. Your status and reputation must be earned by yourselves!" Tang Chen continued.

Tang Xiao and the others understood—

So Grandpa (Uncle, Great Grandpa) is training them.

That's right!

The things they lost must naturally be taken back by themselves. How could they rely on Tang Chen?

"By the way, where is Hao'er?"

"Brother Hao? He is cultivating in the back mountain. I heard him say that the God of Slaughter Domain on his Haotian Hammer is about to evolve again, and he senses a divine thought from the ethereal realm."

"Really? Perhaps Hao'er has a chance..."

529: Invitation: Qian Daoliu, you want to come to my wedding.

“You guys manage the Haotian Sect and send invitations to all forces across the Continent. I am going to marry a noble woman.” After learning that Tang Hao had hope of undergoing the Asura God's trial, Tang Chen was overjoyed and decided to fulfill the promise he made to Posey – Xier, you must have waited a very long time, right?

As for teaching the disciples, that was put aside for later.

Tang Xiao and the others: “.....” No, isn't the leap in logic a bit big? Marry a noble woman? Who is that? Who among the women from the same era as Grandpa (Uncle, Great-Grandpa) is still alive? Or is it a talented woman from this era?

It couldn't be the current Pope of the Spirit Hall, could it?

Many of the younger generation in the Haotian Sect thought of Bibi Dong. Only a woman who is a God Realm inheritor is qualified to marry a God.

“So this is what Great-Uncle is planning –”

“This way, we can take down the Spirit Hall without shedding blood. It's truly brilliant!”

“Haha, the Spirit Hall will be ridden on by us!”

However, Tang Xiao thought of something and shouted, “Don't talk nonsense. It's not Bibi Dong. Grandpa doesn't know her at all. It should be the one from Devil Island. She and Grandpa are old acquaintances.”

Posey.

When Tang Xiao and Tang Hao were young, they had gone there to deliver a letter. Although they had never met her, they knew of her existence. They had also learned a little about the story between her and Tang Chen from the few guardian Title Douluo on Sea God Island...

...

The moon was bright and the stars were sparse.

At the peak of Wu Hun Mountain, outside the Douluo Hall, an uninvited guest arrived quietly. It wasn't until he swaggered in, passed through the Elder Hall, and reached the Hall of Offerings that Qian Daoliu noticed his presence.

“Body merging with nature, effortless movement, you have already broken through to that realm!” Qian Daoliu was shocked, then calmed down and sighed, “Indeed, among the three of us, only you, a strong person who cultivated to ninety-ninth rank by yourself, can reach such a realm. It's truly remarkable.”

Hundred rank...

Qian Daoliu also yearned for it, but as a worshipper of the Angel God, he had dedicated everything to the faith of the Angel, becoming the most loyal servant of the Angel God. It was impossible for him to break through to the hundred rank again.

“Old friend, it's been a while since we last met. You still look as young on the outside as in previous years, but your mindset seems to have aged a lot. Is it because no one has been able to inherit the Angel God position for many years, so you've been too worried?” Tang Chen asked with a hint of sarcasm, “This is not like the old you.”

“If you're here to mock me, then finish your mockery and leave.” Qian Daoliu's face darkened. He turned around and continued to face the Angel God statue, beginning to pray. “You won.”

“Aren't you afraid I'll kill you?” Seeing Qian Daoliu completely defenseless, Tang Chen's tone sank. He paid no attention to the worshippers around Qian Daoliu who were wary of him.

“If you want to kill me, I can't stop you.” Qian Daoliu seemed indifferent to his own Life, saying in a resigned manner, “Besides, the Tang Chen I know, if he were to act, he would never talk so much nonsense.”

“Haha!” Tang Chen laughed heartily, took out an invitation, and flicked his finger. The thin piece of paper was embedded seven inches into the floor in front of the Angel God statue, in front of Qian Daoliu.

“What is this?” Qian Daoliu was puzzled.

“Naturally, it's an invitation for you to drink my wedding wine.” Tang Chen turned and walked out. “We're old friends, you wouldn't even give me this much face, would you?”

Qian Daoliu picked up the invitation, his expression fluctuating.

He had also pursued Posey before, but at that time, she had rejected him in a relatively subtle way, choosing Tang Chen. It was only Tang Chen's pride at work, wanting to truly break through to the hundred rank before marrying Posey.

He hadn't expected that Tang Chen would actually break through to the hundred rank and even invite him to the wedding... This was truly surreal. He had thought that even if Tang Chen succeeded, it would be after Xue'er, and by then he would have already sacrificed himself to the Angel God. He hadn't expected to witness the day of Tang Chen and Posey's wedding.

This is truly—

Going too far!

Knowing full well that he also had feelings for Posey, and even admired her, he still sent him an invitation... Tang Chen, he hadn't expected this seemingly upright guy to have such a dark heart.

“I will definitely visit at that time.” Qian Daoliu accepted the invitation and agreed. After all, he had to give face to an old friend, and besides, he couldn't refuse a hundred-rank God.

Gods cannot interfere with the affairs of the mortal world. Qian Daoliu didn't know this, but even if he did, he couldn't refuse, because the other party had already become a God, and people would instinctively worship them.

“Then it's settled.” Tang Chen laughed and walked out of the Hall of Offerings. In just an instant, he disappeared without a trace. No one present, including Qian Daoliu, saw how he vanished, just as they hadn't known when he had arrived here before.

The Third Worshipper wiped the cold sweat from his forehead and said in a trembling voice, “Great Worshipper, has he really reached that realm? If he wanted to assassinate us, I'm afraid no one except you would be able to detect him, right?”

“I can't detect him either.” Qian Daoliu felt his mouth dry. In fact, from just now until now, he had appeared leisurely, but his heart was extremely vigilant. However, it wasn't until Tang Chen disappeared that he understood the gap between the ninety-ninth rank and the hundred rank – it was like a firefly compared to the Bright Moon, completely unable to compete with it.

The fact that Tang Chen could be detected by him just now was probably because the other party intentionally revealed his form. In front of him, Qian Daoliu was like a three-year-old child, only fit to be toyed with.

“Great Worshipper...” The Third Worshipper opened his mouth, but didn't know what to say.

“Don't worry too much. I understand Tang Chen. He won't do things that bully others with his power. It's just that we need to carefully consider our attitude towards the Haotian Sect in the future... Golden Crocodile, forget it, he is currently in seclusion, only one step away from the ninety-ninth rank, so it's not suitable for him to act.” Qian Daoliu looked at the Sixth and

Seventh Worshippers. “Old Six, Old Seven, you go and tell Bibi Dong about this.”

The Sixth and Seventh Worshippers agreed and left the Hall of Offerings.

At the same time, when Tang Chen arrived at the mountainside, a powerful Spiritual Power pressed down on him. In Tang Chen's perception, this spiritual energy was already almost the same as divine sense, or rather, it was an alternative divine sense.

“The current Pope of the Spirit Hall, Bibi Dong? Truly extraordinary, to have cultivated to this level. Breaking through to the God rank is just a matter of course, but –”

Looking at the woman blocking him, Tang Chen showed appreciation, but there was also a hint of doubt in his eyes, “Why are you suppressing your breakthrough? Don't you want to become a God?”

“The founder of the Haotian Sect, Tang Chen, seeing you today, you are indeed domineering.” Bibi Dong did not answer, instead she said coldly, “This Wu Hun Mountain, can you come and go as you please? Do you think that by breaking through to the hundred rank and becoming a God, you can disregard the rules of the mortal world?”

530: Shura alone does not have the final say in the divine world.

“As expected of the current Spirit Hall Pope, much more backbone than Qian Daoliu.” Facing Bibi Dong's aggressive demeanor, Tang Chen didn't mind, instead praising her, before continuing, “However, just as you said, I have already become a god. The rules of mortals are naturally not something I need to abide by. To put it bluntly...”

“In this World where strength reigns supreme, my strength is the greatest, so everything is up to me.”

Tang Chen's domineering nature was on full display at this moment!

Bibi Dong chuckled coldly: “Is that so? You inherited the position of Asura God?”

Tang Chen was touched on a sore spot, and also remembered that Bibi Dong had inherited the Rakshasa God, perhaps knowing something about the Asura God, so he said: “Asura God is the God King of the God Realm. My talent is insufficient, and I cannot inherit it, but I have broken through level hundred and become a Killing God under him.”

“I didn't expect that what Qian Daoliu, that old thing, was wary of was a guy like you who even failed to inherit a Godhood. He's really getting worse and worse. No wonder he himself can't break through level hundred and can only be a priest of an Angel God.” Bibi Dong expressed her disdain for Qian Daoliu, and then said to Tang Chen, “And you, Tang Chen, don't think that breaking through to level hundred means you can do whatever you want. If you don't leave an explanation today, don't think about leaving so easily.”

“Little girl, you're not old, but your tone is not small.” Tang Chen laughed in anger, but he didn't want to fight with her, because if they really fought, the commotion would affect Spirit Hall City.

It wasn't that Tang Chen was kind-hearted, but that gods couldn't create large-scale extinction events. Once the commotion was too great and the God Realm noticed, the Asura God wouldn't be able to protect him.

Moreover, because he failed to inherit the Asura Godhood, the Asura God King didn't seem to have a very good impression of him...

If the woman in front of him was easy to take down, then so be it, but the other party's strength was infinitely close to the God-level, and her body seemed to contain some kind of grand power. If it were to erupt, it would not be easy to deal with.

“You'll find that my strength is not small either.” Bibi Dong smiled coldly, and nine hundred-thousand-year Soul Rings slowly emerged. The aura of death was like maggots on bones, Entanglement towards Tang Chen.

“Hmph!” Tang Chen snorted coldly, divine power permeated out, and the killing intent instantly condensed into substance, nearly covering the entire Wu Hun Mountain. Plants and trees trembled, and birds and insects fled.

The Domains of death and Killing Intent collided with each other, surprisingly evenly matched for a time, and even death was corroding the Killing Intent, slowly enveloping Tang Chen.

Tang Chen, at level hundred, actually fell into a disadvantage in the first exchange of Domains with Bibi Dong.

“death... no, Rakshasa shouldn't have such a thick aura of death. Could it be that you have created a Godhood like death God?” Tang Chen circulated his divine power, and the Domain condensed from Killing Intent instantly collided, scattering Bibi Dong's aura of death, and looked at Bibi Dong in horror, “Looking at the appearance, it seems that you have successfully created it yourself, but how is this possible? Where did you get so much power of faith?”

The power of faith is not something that can be provided just because people admire someone. It requires people to sincerely revere that person and be willing to contribute everything, including their body and soul, to the other party.

Spirit Hall has indeed developed well in recent years, but it definitely cannot provide the faith needed to condense a Godhood. The wider the scope of people's cognition, the less pure their faith will be, and Bibi Dong's Godhood is death... How many people would worship the concept of "death"?

The Angel God was able to reach level hundred by relying on the beauty, sacredness, and sublimity of the Angel; the Sea God was able to break through level hundred because the faith he absorbed mainly came from the creatures in the vast sea, which can be regarded as taking a different approach.

But what does Bibi Dong have?

How was that Godhood of death condensed? Could it be that she used some method to steal the faith accumulated by the Angel God?

"This is a secret." Bibi Dong found it difficult to talk about this past and would not tell Tang Chen, she just said quietly, "Speaking of which, from just now until now, you have not taken the initiative to attack. When did Tang Chen, who is known for his domineering style in the rumors, have such a good temper?"

Tang Chen's expression changed, and he questioned: "Is this the reason why you chose to suppress your breakthrough?"

Becoming a god means that you cannot interfere in the affairs of the human World.

Could it be that Bibi Dong had already known this, so she was trying her best to suppress her breakthrough, and would rather be a mortal before completing a certain purpose?

“Gods cannot interfere with humans.” Bibi Dong chuckled, “Not only am I suppressing it, but Tang San has also slowed down the progress of his cultivation. In this way, the gods of the God Realm can't do anything to us... Or perhaps, they don't have so much thought to put on us two mortals, just as most people don't pay attention to the ants on the ground, the gods of the God Realm are also like this.”

Tang Chen suddenly laughed: “This is just your guess, right? Aren't you afraid that I will really launch a challenge against Spirit Hall?”

“If you really had this ability, you wouldn't ask such a question, and you wouldn't sneakily come to Spirit Hall to catch up with your old friend.” Bibi Dong was calm and collected, and put away her Soul Rings, “Tsk tsk, it's really pitiful, a dignified level hundred powerhouse actually has to worry about the existence of the God Realm and dare not act rashly.”

Gods have the power of gods.

Humans have the freedom of humans.

At this moment, Bibi Dong faced Tang Chen without the slightest fear, not even a trace of respect, but instead mocked him, for fear that he would not attack.

“I can still kill someone.” Tang Chen said angrily.

“But you can't kill me in three hundred moves.” Bibi Dong said without any scruples, “If the commotion is too big and alarms the God Realm, the person who will be punished will only be you, the god, while I, the mortal, am innocent.”

“Although the Asura God is a God King-level powerhouse, the God Realm is not his alone, and this Douluo Continent is not his back garden.”

“As a Killing God under him, if you knowingly break the law, I'm afraid the punishment will be even more severe, right?”

Tang Chen clenched his fists, making cracking sounds, the surrounding air vibrated, the airflow was turbulent, and the entire space seemed to freeze in an instant, but Bibi Dong was also not afraid. A huge scythe with a black-purple body appeared in her hand. This was the artifact left to her by the Rakshasa God: the Rakshasa Magic Scythe.

With a casual wave of the Rakshasa Magic Scythe, the solidified space was split open, and a purple-black streamer slashed straight at Tang Chen.

“Boom!”

A blood-colored giant hammer covered with strange patterns appeared in Tang Chen's hand, casually dispersing Bibi Dong's attack, “Artifact! The Rakshasa God's artifact, you actually want to inherit two Godhoods at the same time!?”

Holding the Rakshasa Magic Scythe, Bibi Dong did not pursue, but said in a normal tone: “Are you surprised? This is the benefit of having two Martial Souls, and you—”

“If I'm not mistaken, your Martial Soul, Haotian Hammer, should still have the form of the Asura Sword, right? Inheriting the Asura God, if you can't obtain a ready-made Asura Divine Sword, you need to recast and condense the Martial Soul into the Asura Sword. You failed to inherit the Asura Godhood, but the form of the Asura Sword should have been retained, right?”

“Don't you want to come out?”

Tang Chen stepped into the void, put away the Haotian Hammer, and snorted: “There's no need to use the Asura Sword to deal with juniors, and I'm not here to fight with you.”

After saying that, Tang Chen left an invitation and then soared away, disappearing without a trace.

Originally, he wanted to go to Tang San to chat with this great-grandson, but at this time Bibi Dong had already noticed his existence, so it was not easy to cause trouble, it was better to leave first...

...

531: Yang Wudi's understanding

At this moment, Tang San was not in Spirit Hall City. Instead, he had been warmly invited by Xue Qinghe to return to Heaven Dou City, where they discussed various topics. Besides governance, they talked about martial soul theories, and then, cultivation issues.

It wasn't until the arrival of Yang Wudi, the current head of the Tiandou Royal Knights, that the conversation between the monarch and his subject was interrupted.

"Brother Tang, let me introduce you. This is Yang Wudi, the Clan Leader of the Po Zhi Clan, and also the head of the Tiandou Royal Knights. He is a Soul Douluo at level eighty-nine!" Xue Qinghe introduced enthusiastically, "Moreover, he might even have some connection with you."

"Your Majesty . . ."

"Ahem, let's get down to business." Xue Qinghe coughed and said to Tang San, "Let's set aside Grandmaster Yang Wudi's relationship with Brother Tang for now. He has something he wants to ask you. If Brother Tang knows, please tell him the truth."

Tang San sized up Yang Wudi, noticing that although he was over fifty years old, he was full of energy, and his soul power was quite condensed. His physical body was also quite strong, and he couldn't help but nod secretly:

No wonder in the original work, this Yang Wudi could rely on his Soul Douluo-level strength to stalemate with Serpent Spear Douluo, or even contend against him.

Regardless of his spear skills, just this body of soul power and vitality is enough to rival a Title Douluo.

"What does Senior Yang Wudi want to say? This junior will definitely tell you what I know," Tang San asked with a cupped fist salute.

"I dare not!"

Yang Wudi hurriedly returned the salute. After all, the soul master world still respects strength above all else. Tang San was already a Title Douluo, his soul power was unparalleled in the world, and his soul ring configuration was even more beyond common sense. How could a mere Soul Douluo like him bear the title of "Senior"?

It's just that he is a bit older in age.

Even though Tang San's attitude was very amiable, Yang Wudi was still quite restrained and said cautiously, "It's like this, there is a genius in my clan named Yang Long. I don't know if you know him?"

"I know him. He even tried to do business with me back then. Unfortunately, it seemed like he didn't bring too much money with him . . ."

Tang San sighed incessantly, describing that past event in a relatively calm tone, " . . . After that, he encountered The Fallen, Blood Sword Norman, and was unfortunately killed by him."

Regarding the ambush on Yang Long, Tang San slightly modified it, replacing Xiao Wu with himself, severely injuring the other party, and also slightly changing the reason for the conflict.

After all, theories such as [Yang Long is a transmigrator, wanting to capture Xiao Wu and exchange her for Mystic Heaven Skill] definitely cannot be said, and another more reasonable reason must be found.

Coincidentally, Yang Long had a conflict with Tang San due to a business relationship—

"Speaking of which, I'm also to blame for this matter. Back then, I was just a Grand Soul Master, and he was a Soul Grandmaster . . . At that time, I didn't know that I could fight beyond my level, so when he tried to force a sale and became angry out of humiliation, he came to trouble me afterward. In the process of resisting, I was a little too heavy-handed . . ."

Yang Wudi felt a bit of a toothache—Yang Long's death did have hidden circumstances, but it was a little different from what he had imagined. However, being severely injured by Tang San and then ambushed by Blood Sword Norman was logical.

" . . . At that time, I also wanted to save him, but who knew that he was more vigilant towards me, saying that when going out, one can only trust oneself, and the Po Zhi Clan has plenty of healing medicines."

Yang Wudi felt even more uncomfortable.

When going out, one must not casually accept the unprovoked kindness of others . . . This is the way of survival for the Po Zhi Clan. After all, the most important thing when traveling the continent is to be safe, but who would have thought that this would actually harm Yang Long.

Xue Qinghe sighed from the side, "If there were a little more trust between people, Yang Long would not have been able to be ambushed by Blood Sword Norman."

Yang Wudi was helpless and could only sigh.

After all, this matter cannot be blamed on Tang San. Could it be that he should say: It was you, Tang San, who severely injured Yang Long, so that The Fallen found an opportunity, so you must pay with your life?

If he really said that, he might not be able to walk out of this hall alive.

In all fairness, this matter is really not Tang San's fault. It was Yang Long himself who didn't bring enough money, and wanted to force a sale first. Afterward, he was unwilling and was injured by Tang San in the process of finding trouble with the other party . . . He was at fault first, and his skills were inferior to others, so he couldn't blame others.

Moreover, Yang Wudi believed that Tang San didn't need to lie about this matter. After all, if this was a lie, he could find out by asking at the blacksmith shop in Notting City.

But what Yang Wudi didn't know was that even if he went to the blacksmith shop in Notting City, the local boss would choose to stand on Tang San's side. Not to mention that Tang San had worked there, and his reputation was greatly enhanced, the blacksmith shop had become increasingly prosperous, and Su Yuntao had also gone there to say something like "If anyone wants to find trouble with Tang San through Yang Long, just say that Yang Long was the one who started the trouble first."

Moreover, the boss and apprentices of the blacksmith shop had all seen the quarrel between Yang Long and Tang San, and in their simple-minded concepts, that kind of arrogant and domineering noble would definitely do that.

It's just that Yang Long was more unlucky, encountering a tough nut like Tang San and being severely injured.

"Earl, I apologize for that unworthy child. I spoiled him back then, alas ~" Yang Wudi sighed, as if he had aged more than ten years, and his Spirit seemed to have dissipated, but his eyes seemed to be a lot more relaxed—Yang Long's death, this thorn in his heart, can be considered to have been pulled out.

Yang Long has been dead for so many years, he has to let go. The future of the Po Zhi Clan still depends on him, the head of the Tiandou Royal Knights, to create it.

It was precisely because he had figured this out that Yang Wudi's soul power fluctuated, breaking through the bottleneck of level eighty-nine and reaching the quasi-Title Douluo realm of level ninety.

"Congratulations, Senior, on breaking through to level ninety. As long as you obtain a soul ring, you can become a true Title Douluo!" Tang San congratulated.

"Haha, with Grandmaster Yang Wudi in Heaven Dou, we will definitely have no worries!" Xue Qinghe smiled extremely happily from the perspective of the Heaven Dou Empire, "Soon, I will confer you as an Imperial Offering, enjoying the treatment of a Prince!"

"Thank Your Majesty." Yang Wudi bowed and thanked him, but there was not much excitement on his face. After all, he had only just learned the "truth about Yang Long's death", so even if he broke through at this time, his mood could not change from heavy to light all at once.

"And Brother Tang, you have recovered Xiao Hai City for my Heaven Dou Empire, and you must also be rewarded for your merits. I will confer you as a Marquis." Xue Qinghe looked at Tang San, but found that his gaze was looking outside the hall, with a slightly solemn expression—

Tang Chen became a god, left the Haotian Sect, and was sensed by Tang San

"Sorry, I was distracted just now." Tang San turned his head and smiled at Xue Qinghe, "Regarding the matter of being conferred as a Marquis, let's keep it simple. You know, I don't like grand fanfare."

Yang Wudi also said, "Your Majesty, you don't need to worry too much about me either."

Xue Qinghe sighed, "Since that's the case, then let's keep it simple. Actually, I quite wanted to have some fun . . ." After all, the time when a celebration is held is the time to put down government affairs and be lazy and leisurely.

It's just that now it seems that there are more important things to do—

532: Sooner or later this world of gods will come to an end!

After Yang Wudi retreated, only Tang San and Xue Qinghe, or rather, Qian Renxue, were left in the room.

At this moment, she no longer maintained her male identity and revealed her true self, saying, "Being an Emperor is really tiring, especially when you have to disguise your gender, it's even more tiring."

"It's the path you chose; you have to walk it even with tears," Tang San replied.

Qian Renxue was a little speechless: "...I'll just take that as encouragement...Tell me, what happened to you just now? I don't believe you would be distracted during a conversation."

"Someone broke through level 100," Tang San revealed the truth, "From the looks of it, it's Tang Chen of the Haotian Sect..."

"Tang Chen!" Qian Renxue naturally knew this peerless powerhouse of the same generation as her Grandpa. She didn't expect him to have broken through level 100. Her eyes were solemn, but quickly relaxed. "Becoming a God is good. They cannot interfere with human affairs. That's just adding a restriction onto himself."

"What if he doesn't know the rules of the God Realm?" Tang San asked in return.

Ignorant people are just reckless.

Qian Renxue paused, but then shook her head and said, "That's even better. The God Realm will come to handle it. By then, we can also verify whether your and Mother's guesses about the God Realm are correct."

Tang San stared at Qian Renxue for a while until her face turned red, and she asked, "Is there something on my face?"

"I heard from the Pope that after you became sensible, you never called her 'Mom' or 'Mother', but always referred to her as 'she', 'that woman', 'sister', and so on," Tang San showed an auntie smile, feeling that the 'plot' he had changed was quite significant, but from his personal perspective, it seemed pretty good?

Unexpectedly, Qian Renxue, hearing Tang San describe it so clearly, seemed a bit jealous: "Heh, that woman trusts you quite a bit, telling you even this kind of thing?"

"Cough, I guessed," Tang San rather stiffly changed the subject, and then brought up another matter, "I heard you want to revert to women's clothing... Ah, no, you want to restore your identity as a woman?"

Qian Renxue nodded: "If possible, as a woman, I would never want to pretend to be a man. It's very troublesome, especially in certain aspects of life."

Even a beautiful Angel needs to eat, drink, and excrete.

Tang San sighed in his heart and came up with a bad idea: "How about you find a way to offend Tang Chen, and then slowly change back into women's clothing afterwards, finally 'becoming' a woman? Then you can announce to the outside world that you were punished by Tang Chen of the Haotian Sect and turned into a woman."

Qian Renxue narrowed her eyes: "That sounds like you want to use me as an experiment to see if Tang Chen will interfere with the Continent's situation... Also, if I really went before him, I wouldn't be able to hide my identity, right?"

"So ~ I don't have any political talent," Tang San spread his hands, indicating that he was powerless.

"Don't try to use this method to make me distant from you."

Qian Renxue realized that Tang San said this intentionally, with a playful component, but more so hoping that she wouldn't think of asking him for advice on governing the country, urban construction, economic development, and various personal matters, big and small.

Although she also knew that in these areas, Tang San was merely talking on paper. What he was best at was the research of Martial Soul cultivation, human body research, and Soul Guidance Device and the like; but the more she couldn't get, the more she wanted it. Moreover, Tang San's own strength was extremely formidable. As long as he was willing to stand on her side, even if others in the world wanted to oppose her policies, they would not succeed.

Because the man before her, Tang San, always used a straightforward, open strategy—making himself powerful, so that no matter what schemes the poisonous snakes in the darkness used, they were useless. In most cases, those people even had to rack their brains to 'think twice before acting', and even after 'thinking twice', they would directly abandon their original plans and continue to make new ones.

Because Tang San himself was the general trend!

"Why does it sound like... it's my fault?" Tang San's expression was strange. He didn't have much contact with Xue Qinghe, did he? Was the other party's 'collecting desire' that strong?

However, given that her Grandpa only longed for her to become a God, her Mother was emotionally abusive, and she had learned to pretend to be a man since childhood, even if she appeared normal on the surface, having a 'perverted' side in her heart was logical...

...

At the same time, after leaving Spirit Hall City, Tang Chen went straight to Sea God Island. His undisguised Divine power fluctuations and swaggering figure immediately attracted the attention of the Holy Pillar Guardians of Sea God Island.

But just as they were about to act, they were crushed by Tang Chen's invisible, overbearing aura.

Then Tang Chen went directly to the center of Sea God Island, to the Haishen Hall. At the island within the island, there was a pyramid-shaped building, with a staircase of one thousand and one steps leading to the hall at the top—the Haishen Hall.

Facing the Sea God's Light, Tang Chen was fearless. He stepped forward, and merely by relying on his aura, he pushed aside the light as steady as the sea, easily ascending upwards.

The Sea God's Light was merely the application of the power left by the Sea God before ascending to the God Realm. How could it compare to a true God?

"Tang Chen!"

Inside the Haishen Hall, Posey sensed the tremor of the Sea God's Light and walked out. Seeing the old acquaintance, she was filled with shock and surprise.

Seeing Posey, Tang Chen also couldn't help but quicken his pace and said, "Xixi, I've fulfilled the agreement. I've broken through level 100 and have come to find you!"

Posey suppressed her excitement, her gaze distant: "You really are a fool. Didn't you know that back then I was rejecting Qian Daoliu?"

"I know!"

Tang Chen had already reached the top of the stairs at this moment. He smiled honestly, "It's just that at that time, the relationship between the three of us was good, and we couldn't let Qian Daoliu be awkward alone. Moreover, I was confident that I could definitely break through to the level 100 realm. See, I spent so many years, and I finally succeeded."

"Now that I have fulfilled the condition I promised you, are you willing to marry me?"

Posey, who had lived as a homebody for many years and had not experienced the outside world's storms, had a temperament and experience not much different from an ordinary teenage girl. She naturally nodded in agreement: "I have been waiting for this day for a long time. I originally thought there was no hope, but who would have thought that you would actually reach that realm? I am naturally willing."

After three days and three nights of intimacy, Posey bid farewell to the seven Guardian Title Douluo of Sea God Island and left Sea God Island with Tang Chen—although Posey was the Sea God's High Priest of Sea God Island and the Sea God's most loyal believer, Tang Chen was a level 100 God. The rules here could not bind him. The Sea God in the God Realm could only watch his own priest being abducted.

"Brother, isn't this dishonest?" The Sea God angrily found the Asura God and wanted to ask him for an explanation. Such an excellent priest of his, responsible for sacrificing to the inheritor and being the key to opening the final inheritance door, was just gone... Even if someone qualified to inherit his position in the future, who would open the door to the final inheritance?

Would he go down himself?

Then the sense of mystery would be gone!

And he would personally go to open the door for the inheritor... Didn't he, the Sea God, want face? He was much stronger than the other first-level Gods in the God Realm, second only to the God King!

The Asura God slowly said, "Why are you so agitated? Didn't Tang Chen also not remove the Sea God's mark from Posey's forehead? Anyway, Tang Chen is just a God Official level existence, without a divine position. He is not qualified to bring people back to the God Realm after a hundred years. By then, if he wants to stay with Posey for a long time, he can only find a way to find you an excellent inheritor, and then let Posey sacrifice herself at the end, her soul entering the God Realm, and reconstructing her body with your help."

The Sea God suddenly asked, "Is this a loophole in the God Realm's rule for lower realm Gods bringing people to ascend?"

The Asura God raised an eyebrow and asked, "What? Do you want to plug it? Then I estimate that after Tang Chen comes up, he will fight you desperately. Although he cannot overcome the emotional barrier and cannot inherit the Asura God's position, his talent is not weak. As long as he supplements the Immortal Spiritual Energy in the God Realm and solidifies his foundation, he might reach the level of a Main God in terms of combat power, and even have hope of rivaling the God King level. The only difference between him and Gods like you might be that he doesn't have a divine position and cannot truly control the laws."

Not being able to control the laws does not mean weak strength.

The Asura God knew Tang Chen's past. He could create the Exploding Ring, Rampaging Wind Technique, and Haotian Nine Secret Skills. If he knew that the Sea God didn't give him a back door, he would definitely hold a grudge against him. Under that hatred, Tang Chen's talent would once again take precedence over his emotions.

The Sea God's breathing stopped, and he could only accept this loss, saying, "So, I still have to thank you?"

"Naturally. After all, Tang Chen can only stay in the lower realm for a hundred years, and he must also find a way to find an inheritor that satisfies you within a hundred years... In the final analysis, it is because I am generous and did not abandon him after he failed to inherit my divine position," the Asura God nodded proudly, then became worried again, "It's just that my inheritor is hard to find. The second guy who is qualified to open the inheritance is Tang Chen's grandson. According to the feedback from his Slaughter Domain, he also seems to be a lovesick guy... This family is truly amazing."

Involuntarily, the Asura God thought of the guy who borrowed his power, who was also Tang Chen's great-grandson.

"Speaking of this, the divine core of my divine artifact left in the mortal world, the Sea God's Heart, has had its divine sense erased, and some of my power seems to have been borrowed," the Sea God mentioned the matter of the Sea God's Heart, "The perception is not very clear. By the way, is it the same person who borrowed some of your power?"

"Probably," after asking the Sea God for the detailed perception process, the Asura God had a guess and said in surprise, "That guy's Martial Soul is a bit powerful! He can actually borrow the power of multiple God Realm at the same time. Can he achieve the Nine God Unity in the future?"

"It shouldn't be that terrifying, right?" The Sea God's scalp tingled. Nine God Unity, just thinking about it felt outrageous.

"It shouldn't be that outrageous, but if it's just borrowing, it's possible... Well, that guy can be a backup for you and me, but after the corresponding aura is captured by her, it truly becomes her own thing. We cannot determine her coordinates, but as long as she doesn't perish in the future, she will definitely ascend to the God Realm. By then, we can find her to understand the situation and see her condition. If possible, we can just give her the divine position directly," the Asura God said rather irresponsibly.

Sea God: "...". Is that it? And he's a God King? This God Realm is bound to be finished sooner or later!

533: Tang San was far from noble

"Earl, how long has it been since you came home to visit?" Returning to Silverblue Manor, Ling Meng revealed a resentful gaze, "Silverblue Manor is also your home."

"Sorry, I'm busy almost every day. There are quite a few studies on the Spirit Hall City side, so there's really no chance." Tang San scratched his head, changing the subject, "How has your cultivation been recently?"

"I'm already close to reaching Soul Emperor." Speaking of cultivation, Ling Meng's progress is also not slow. The Soul Ring condensed from the three treasures of essence, qi, and spirit can also evolve with the improvement of her own Soul Power. At the same time, it also improves her blood and energy intensity and Spiritual Power condensation. Moreover, Ling Meng is currently in the development stage of her body, and her cultivation speed is naturally in a high-speed period of improvement.

I have to say that the cultivation of a Soul Master's Soul Power is quite scientific, and is basically linked to the development stage of the human body.

Just like if you don't cultivate to level 30 before the age of 30, it will be difficult to break through in the future. The reason is that after the age of 30, people's physical fitness no longer increases and begins to decline.

Only when Soul Power is cultivated to the Soul Grandmaster level, and the quantity reaches a certain level, can it have a more obvious impact on the human body. It can slowly promote physical development and even strengthen the flesh from the foundation.

Ling Meng's Soul Power is close to the Soul Emperor level at this time, which is not an incredible thing. With the cultivation method taught by Tang San, sufficient cultivation resources, and the Soul Ring of the three treasures of essence, qi, and spirit that the world cannot imagine, which can assist her in cultivating essence, qi, and spirit at the same time, it would be strange if she couldn't reach this level.

"That's quite fast cultivation." Tang San praised, asking about the recent events in Heaven Dou City and the affairs within the manor.

"Heaven Dou City is still the same as usual, and the manor is also peaceful." Ling Meng slowly recounted everything she knew, "It's just that after the competition, the rumors about you are flying all over the place again... Some private tabloids even said that you and Qinghe Emperor discussed for two days and two nights in order to create big news, and there must be something going on..."

Speaking of this, Ling Meng secretly glanced at Tang San. Seeing that his expression remained unchanged, she continued, "Obviously, that newspaper was sealed by the Tiandou Royal Knights and the Spirit Hall enforcers together less than three hours after publishing this news... But speaking of which, Qinghe Emperor, in terms of women, is only closer to Ling Yuan, the Hall Master of the Heaven Dou City Martial Soul Sub-Hall. There really is no one else. The rest seems to be Earl you."

"Don't talk nonsense like that." Tang San shook his head and smiled, but didn't intend to talk more about this topic, "Is there any other news?"

Ling Meng was very sensible and said, "There is one more thing, that is, some rumors have recently appeared in Heaven Dou City, that is, Tang Chen of the Haotian Sect has broken through to level 100 and become a God. Now he is going to marry Posey from Sea God Island, who is said to be the Sea God's High Priest, whose strength has reached the peerless level!"

Tang San knew a little about the relationship between Tang Chen and Posey, but he didn't expect that the first thing Tang Chen did after becoming a God was to marry Posey.

Tang San admired this point.

However, is there any other purpose?

For example: Why make such a big fanfare?

Heaven Dou City has such rumors, then it can be confirmed that most of the more developed cities on the entire continent should know about this.

Gods cannot interfere too much in the human world... But is marriage a private matter, does it count as interfering in the human world? It's just that the scope covered by this wedding is a little wider, so that everyone knows it.

More importantly, the fact that Tang Chen became a God is already known to the world, but the world does not know the rule that "Gods cannot interfere in the human world."

Whether Tang Chen did it intentionally, wanting to passively expand the influence of the Haotian Sect...

Or unintentionally, just wanting to give Posey a grand wedding, so that both parties in the marriage can get unparalleled satisfaction...

It will affect the world's view of the Haotian Sect and their attitude towards the Haotian Sect.

After all, the Haotian Sect not only has an additional level 100 God, but also has a level 99 Title Douluo. Even if Sea God Island does not ask about the affairs of the continent, people will never ignore the existence of Sea God Island.

"Earl, is it true that Tang Chen has become a God?" Seeing Tang San's expression become a little dignified, Ling Meng also became serious, and asked worriedly, "Will this affect the situation on the continent?"

"Tang Chen has indeed broken through to level 100, but if it affects the situation on the continent... Indeed, a large number of people will choose to rely on the Haotian Sect, but it is not enough to affect the development of Spirit Hall." Tang San signaled Ling Meng to rest assured, "The Haotian Sect does not have that leadership ability. They only know how to swing hammers, and their productivity is almost zero."

From the perspective of social productivity, production relations, economic base, and superstructure, the various major Sects are all 蛀虫 rooted in the common people at the bottom, drawing blood.

Perhaps in the beginning, the predecessors of these Sects were competing with Soul Beasts for the living space of mankind, and were the first group of people to rush to the front.

But do their descendants have the right to enjoy the glory of their ancestors with peace of mind?

At least, in this era of continuous progress, the model of the major Sects is no longer suitable and needs to be transformed... The commercial capitalization model of Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School is a good example.

"In this case, the Haotian Sect can't really make any big waves, after all, it's all rising by relying on Tang Chen alone." Ling Meng naturally understood the meaning of "productivity". The strength of the Haotian Sect lies in Tang Chen. As long as he is gone, the Haotian Sect is a castle in the air—the backbone of a large force, if it is only one person, not all members, then this force must be rootless duckweed, which can be manipulated by others, even if the trump cards left behind are strong, but if they don't know how to keep pace with the times, then it's only a matter of time before they are destroyed.

"Speaking of which, Earl, how long will you stay in Silverblue Manor this time?"

"About half a month." Tang San estimated the time. This time, invited by Qian Renxue, he came to Heaven Dou City together. In addition to her wanting to give him an official promotion, it was to help transform Heaven Dou City, that is, to plant some Blue Silver Emperor and establish a new Blue Silver Network, so that she can enter the Starry Sky World and Spirit Beast Illusion Space here.

As the Blue Silver Network expands and the number of users increases, the evolution of the Starry Sky World will also accelerate. The Spiritual Power, Heaven and Earth energy, etc. required for the upgrade of the 【Heavenly Dao】 also do not require him to worry too much.

When the Blue Silver Emperor is planted all over the planet, and the Blue Silver Network covers all living beings, everyone will add bricks and tiles to the growth of the Starry Sky World!

Hiss—

No wonder everyone hates capitalists, but everyone wants to become a capitalist.

Only the most sublime and selfless mind can get rid of this mentality!

Pity~

Tang San is far from being so noble.

534: Tang San regretted saying so much Chicken Soup for the Soul

Half a month passed quietly.

Under Xue Qinghe's full support, a Blue Silver Emperor was planted in the north, south, east, and west sections of Heaven Dou City, as well as in the very center of the imperial palace. Their roots intertwined and connected underground, forming the Blue Silver Network, which significantly increased the density of the world's energy throughout Heaven Dou City.

Originally, some officials objected to planting the Blue Silver Emperor in the center of the imperial palace, but Xue Qinghe "acted arbitrarily," suppressing all opposing opinions. Especially after the world's energy in Heaven Dou City became denser, no one raised the issue again.

In addition to this, Ning Fengzhi also took Tang San to their Sect's ancestral land and planted a Blue Silver Emperor there, establishing a Blue Silver Network with a slightly smaller coverage area.

The Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family was somewhat moved, but they also had concerns—after all, the Blue Silver Emperor was Tang San's Martial Soul, and he might have some hidden arrangements.

The Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School did not have such concerns; they were a family, and all their eggs were in Tang San's basket, so there was absolutely no problem.

Before returning to Spirit Hall, Tang San went back to Holy Soul Village.

Holy Soul Village had already changed its name and was now called Douluo Village. The reason was simple and plain: a Title Douluo had emerged from the village!

Thanks to Tang San's achievements, the number of work-study student slots in the village increased from the original one to eighteen. Furthermore, because they were born in Douluo Village, if children from the village qualified to attend a junior academy in the future, their living expenses would be subsidized by Spirit Hall until they graduated from the junior academy.

Although few children in the village had awakened Martial Souls with Soul Power over the years, selling the extra slots to other villages was a disguised way of increasing the village's income.

In addition, Douluo Village and other villages joined forces and, with the help of Su Yuntao, established cooperative farmland. The results were also good, producing a large amount of grain each year, making Douluo Village more prosperous.

Old Jack pulled Tang San, walking through the farmland, and said, "Xiao San, thanks to you, Holy Soul Village couldn't be this prosperous otherwise."

"How is this my credit?" Tang San looked at the boundless golden rice stalks, his Heart couldn't help but calm down. "It's all Tao Ge and everyone's credit. I haven't planted land."

"Although you haven't planted fields, if you hadn't become a Soul Master and had listened to your irresponsible old man to become a blacksmith, let alone Holy Soul Village changing its name to Douluo Village, we would still have to pay a large amount of taxes every year... Now it's good, Qinghe Emperor personally reduced our taxes, and we only need to hand over 10% of the grain each year." Old Jack was hunched over, but his eyes were full of Spirit. Then he asked, "Speaking of which, Xiao San, why didn't Xiao Wu and the others come back with you?"

Tang San said, "They are busy with their respective careers in Spirit Hall City... The main reason is that I have become a Title Douluo, and they also want to catch up as soon as possible."

Old Jack laughed heartily, "That's good, I thought they didn't recognize me as their Grandpa anymore."

After staying in Holy Soul Village for a few days, Tang San bid farewell to Old Jack. During this time, he also visited Notting City, which was also more lively than before...

After visiting Su Yuntao, Sisi, Wang Sheng, and acquaintances at Notting Academy, Tang San left Notting City. In an instant, he crossed space and returned to Soul Martial Manor.

However, before he could even summon the Twelve Yuanchen to continue researching the Martial Soul Fusion experiment of "Gu," Bibi Dong sent an order for him to come over.

"Pope, is there something?" Tang San asked.

"Tang Chen of Haotian Sect is marrying Posey of Sea God Island. You know about this, right?" Bibi Dong said calmly, "That guy, who is of the same generation as that old immortal Qian Daoliu, is having a second spring. He's afraid others won't know he's getting married; the news has spread almost throughout the entire Continent."

"Not really, some remote villages don't know."

At least the people in Holy Soul... Douluo Village don't know that Tang Chen is getting married, and the villagers there haven't even heard of the Haotian Sect.

"Don't argue with me about such things." Bibi Dong glared at the increasingly audacious Tang San, then sighed and said, "All the major powers with influence on the Continent have been sent invitations, and our Spirit Hall is naturally included. Qian Daoliu will definitely go, and our faction naturally needs to send someone to offer congratulations."

The wedding of a level 100 powerhouse, and the other party even personally sent invitations, this face must be given.

But Bibi Dong would not go in person.

There were three reasons:

First, she needed to stay in Spirit Hall to handle various affairs and didn't have the time.

Second, she wanted to take advantage of Qian Daoliu's absence to have a "earnest talk" with the other Offerings, striving to win them over to her side.

Although they all believed in the Angel, her chances of success were slim, but she at least had to try, as Qian Daoliu didn't leave the Hall of Offerings often.

Finally, she didn't know Tang Chen at all.

But she couldn't just send anyone. After all, attending the wedding of a level 100 God represented the prestige of Spirit Hall, and they couldn't let others feel that Spirit Hall looked down on the other party.

So, Bibi Dong thought of Tang San.

His peak level strength was considered showing respect.

"Let me go?"

Tang San was slightly surprised but felt it was reasonable: In terms of status, he was the Saint Child of Spirit Hall, which was prestigious enough; in terms of strength, he could easily defeat Bibi Dong and was sufficient to handle any difficulties from the Haotian Sect.

"For something like this, letting Hu Liena go would also be fine, right? With the blessing of the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne, her current strength is second only to peak level. Tang Chen wouldn't make things difficult for a junior."

"As for me, my other identity is somewhat awkward."

From a bloodline perspective, if his relationship with the Haotian Sect was too strained, the world wouldn't widely recognize it. The best approach in the short term is to avoid meeting them, or wait until the general societal values regarding bloodline, influenced by the development of productivity and economic relations, gradually change to a value system based on something similar or close to [society, the 'big family,' composed of individual 'small families'], rather than based on the closeness of bloodlines. Only then can the issue of his bloodline relationship with the Haotian Sect be discussed more rationally.

Going to contact the Haotian Sect now would be quite awkward.

And the reason the Haotian Sect didn't grandly come to find him to acknowledge his ancestors and return to the clan was simply because Tang Hao had first severed their father-son relationship, putting them in the wrong from the start... Proud as they were, they dared to take responsibility!

At the same time, this matter was not suitable for public discussion.

After all, the public opinion on the Continent is currently controlled by Spirit Hall. As long as Spirit Hall is willing, no matter what the truth is, the Haotian Sect will always be in the wrong.

Does the Haotian Sect have a God?

So what?

Xu Huang, who obtained the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, had his Heart pierced by Tang San's spear and could only escape to other planes. How could a mere level 100 Tang Chen, who hadn't even inherited the Asura God position, stir up any trouble?

"Facing the weakness deep within yourself is the mark of a true powerhouse." Bibi Dong suddenly became philosophical and smiled at Tang San, "I heard from Hu Liena that you said something like that. Don't just say it; you have to lead by example."

Tang San now deeply regretted why he said so many inspirational quotes when chatting with others. Now look, he's dug a pit for himself, hasn't he?

However, isn't it just the Haotian Sect?

I'll go!

535: Yan: Are you polite?

After agreeing to attend Tang Chen's wedding, Tang San walked out of the Pope's Hall and headed to the prison established by the Spirit Hall.

There was still some time before their departure, and Bibi Dong had asked him to interrogate Xu Huang, the Sun Moon Empire Emperor's younger sister, and Fu Hongchen, the one with white hair.

As soon as he arrived at the interrogation room, he saw Yan binding Xu Huang in an extremely humiliating posture, while Fu Hongchen was hanging upside down, his eyes so red they looked like they were about to shoot flames.

"Yan, what are you doing?" Tang San knew that Yan of the Golden Generation had a fiery temper and usually served in the law enforcement team, also taking on interrogation duties, but what was this erotic bondage play?

NTR in person?

He couldn't tell that Yan, this thick-browed, big-eyed man, actually had such a hobby, it was truly eye-opening—

Fortunately, most of the junk information was filtered out by the Heavenly Dao, otherwise Tang San felt he would really need to wash his eyes properly... The Spirit Hall's internal interrogation methods were quite dark.

"This, well, I just wanted to try some novel interrogation methods. These two seem to be boyfriend and girlfriend." Yan saw Tang San approaching and awkwardly whistled, only explaining with a forced smile when Tang San's gaze made him uncomfortable, "I swear, I absolutely did not commit that kind of mistake. They are still wearing their clothes."

"No wonder Saintess doesn't care for you." Tang San didn't hesitate to hit the other party's sore spot, and without waiting for him to feel dejected, he ordered, "Untie them and bring them to the interrogation room. You wait by the side."

Without a word, Yan untied the ropes on the two, but they were still bound by Soul Sealing Belts, unable to use Soul Power.

The interrogation room was very simple, with only a square table. Xu Huang and Fu Hongchen sat on one side, while Tang San sat on the other, with Yan standing beside him.

"Pour water."

Hearing Tang San's command, Yan immediately picked up a kettle from beside the table, heated it on the spot with Soul Power, boiled it, and poured two cups for Xu Huang and Fu Hongchen.

"Hmph! Don't think that just because you treat us a little better, we will tell you about the Sun Moon Empire!" Xu Huang stared at Tang San for a while, her face suddenly turned red, she turned her head away, and coldly snorted, "A honey trap? It won't work on me."

"Your level of appearance is not worth me using a honey trap, don't overestimate yourself." Tang San said calmly, "Moreover, I know quite a bit about the Sun Moon Empire's situation, but what I'm more curious about is, when the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne descended upon your Continent, it also carried some precious materials, didn't it?"

In god seal throne, when the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne first descended upon the Saint Magic Continent, it also carried a meteorite outer layer, which contained precious metals and gems. The other god seal thrones were forged using those materials.

And Heaven Dream also said that when he and Huo Yuhao were traveling through the spatial turbulence, they saw the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, and it was also covered with a layer of "protective shell" on the outside.

When it descended upon Douluo Star, that outer layer must have also come to this World, and having gone through spatial turbulence, it must be much more precious than ordinary metals and special materials.

After Xu Huang obtained the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, it was impossible for him to ignore that layer of "outer layer." Perhaps he would forge similar divine artifacts.

Of course, there was another possibility, which was that the above speculation was incorrect, and the outer materials of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne had already melted away due to friction before descending upon Douluo Star—

"You!"

Xu Huang's eyes widened, her gaze trembling, and she asked, "Was my brother, the Emperor of the Sun Moon Empire, really captured by you?"

Otherwise, how would these people know about the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne?

Even her, his own sister, only knew the name. Her good Dai was also guarding against her in this regard... However, it seems that sister-in-law Luo Qiu knows more...

"No, he used that divine artifact to escape to another plane." Tang San told the truth.

Moreover, Xu Huang himself became one of Austin Griffin's chess pieces; furthermore, the Eternal Lord also said that Xu Huang was resurrected by a certain energy in a space filled with sinister energy.

Perhaps one day he would find a way to travel between planes and come back to challenge him.

"I knew my Dai wouldn't be captured so easily." Xu Huang was thrilled.

"But before he left, his Heart was pierced by me."

As soon as Tang San said this, Xu Huang's excitement came to an abrupt halt, and she stared blankly at Tang San.

"Impossible!" Fu Hongchen broke the silent atmosphere, "How could Your Majesty be defeated by you? He is invincible, no one can defeat him! He is the synonym of victory, the one of all things, the eternal ruler, the sacred king, who will bring infinite happiness to the World!"

Yan said disdainfully, "That guy is quite good at deceiving people. We in the Spirit Hall wouldn't dare say that. What right does a mere Emperor have?"

"Don't look at our Emperor with your narrow-minded eyes!"

Fu Hongchen shouted excitedly, the Soul Sealing Belt on him trembled, but he ultimately couldn't break free, and could only stare intently at Yan, "Even behind his back, I cannot allow you to insult our Emperor like this. He is the object of my admiration!"

"He was born standing above the sky, not something you common folk can imagine!"

Feeling Fu Hongchen's fanaticism and excitement, Tang San suddenly said, "Then, have you considered: admiration is the furthest distance from understanding?"

Fu Hongchen was stunned, the rush of blood to his head seemed to recede.

And Tang San continued to speak famous quotes: "No one stands in the sky from the beginning, whether it's the Emperor you admire, or me who became the Spirit Hall Saint Child, even the legendary Gods are like this."

However, you can't wake someone who is pretending to be asleep, let alone Fu Hongchen who was a fervent fan of Xu Huang?

Instead, it was Xu Huang, this younger sister of Xu Huang, who was thinking about Tang San's words, and it was a while before she asked, "So, you really are the Spirit Hall Saint Child?"

"Similar to a Crown Prince?"

Tang San stroked his chin, pondered for a moment, and nodded, "You could say that, but I'm not interested in being the Pope, because I clearly know I'm not cut out for it."

Yan opened his mouth, wanting to remind Tang San not to go off-topic, but was signaled by him to keep quiet: "Others may not know, but you, as his sister, know more about what's going on with your brother. Your blind faith in him won't be as outrageous as Fu Hongchen's... After all, there is a fact before the World, and that is the relationship between siblings, which is mostly not as beautiful as depicted in various novels."

Xu Huang's breathing hitched, feeling completely seen through, and she couldn't help but become fully alert, saying, "I don't know what you're talking about, but I won't say a single word about those materials."

"It seems you really did hide them." Tang San originally just wanted to bluff, but he didn't expect to have an unexpected gain.

"Sly fellow, if you have the guts, let that ugly guy next to you interrogate me!"

Yan: "....."

536: scare children

"As the Junzhu of a nation, being this willful is not good," Tang San shook his head. "Yan isn't ugly..."

"Saint Child!"

Yan couldn't help it, veins bulging on his forehead. "Can we skip this topic?"

"OK!" Tang San made a gesture towards him, which shocked Xu Huang. She quickly asked, "How do you know that gesture? This is a secret signal and code between me and my Dai. Outsiders couldn't possibly know it, nor would they understand its meaning. You actually..."

"You might not believe it, but to some extent, your Dai and I should be considered the same type of person," Tang San shrugged, completely disregarding Yan and Fu Hongchen's presence. After all, they wouldn't understand, and even if they did, it wouldn't matter. Therefore, he casually said, "Moreover, regarding this language, I might know a bit more than your Dai. After all, foreign languages are my specialty."

Xu Huang didn't understand, but she felt it was profound. Then she prepared to say something to test him: "Aila Fuyou, what does this mean?"

"The pronunciation isn't very standard. It should be 'I love you'. Under normal circumstances, it refers to a confession between men and women, which is: I love you," Tang San chuckled, but his gaze caught Yan's look of sudden realization, and he kept muttering "Aila Fuyou" to himself, seemingly wanting to make a secret confession to someone.

No need to think, it must be to Hu Liena.

"He actually knows!" Xu Huang's eyes widened, looking at Tang San in disbelief. "Just who are you?"

"Tang San, and also, your...guardians for the time being," Tang San raised a finger and moved it slightly, causing the sealed Soul Power belts around their waists to fall off on their own.

Without the restraint, their Soul Power naturally recovered.

Instantly, the two exchanged glances and quickly ran towards the left and right sides—the interrogation room had doors on both sides, and during the days they were imprisoned, they had also figured out the general layout of the prison. Moreover, before being captured, Fu Hongchen had noticed a waterway flowing outwards, which they could potentially use to escape.

More importantly, because of Tang San's special status, they had noticed that the guards here had temporarily left after he entered.

Wouldn't this be the best time to escape?

But—

As soon as their hands touched the doorknobs, two Blue Silver Emperor leaves appeared on their bodies. Before they could react, they were pulled back to their original seats.

Before they could struggle, Tang San said, "I think you should have recognized the difference in strength between yourselves and me, right? Why do something so ridiculous?"

After speaking, Tang San released the Blue Silver Emperor.

Xu Huang glanced at Fu Hongchen, giving up the idea of escaping, and asked, "Is this the attitude of a so-called guardian?"

"So-called guardianship is about monitoring and protecting, don't confuse it with 'elder'," Tang San smiled slightly, stating his definition of a "guardian". "We are civilized people, so we won't kill you just because you are from the Sun Moon Empire. Those Sun Moon Army soldiers and generals who invaded the Douluo Continent, after being defeated by us, were not directly killed, but were judged through legal procedures to determine their guilt."

"Hmm—"

"Perhaps you might find this hypocritical, but this is the difference between us and you."

"After all, I don't want us to become like you, where the strong prey on the weak, and even slaughter cities on a whim, like beasts."

Not only were Xu Huang and Fu Hongchen stunned, but Yan on the side was also somewhat dazed, feeling that what Tang San said applied not only to the Sun Moon Empire but also to the former Spirit Hall and the Two Great Empires... But now, under Tang San's influence, this situation seemed to be gradually changing. Although the strong still held the highest power, now, some weaker individuals also had a certain say.

At least within the Spirit Hall, this was the case.

"Nonsense!"

Xu Huang was annoyed. "We clearly came to liberate you!"

"Why do you think we need liberation?" Tang San retorted.

"Because... because..."

Xu Huang wanted to explain something, but saw Tang San place photos and videos of the Sun Moon Army invading Xiao Hai City and piling up a Capital Jing 观 in front of her: "If this is the so-called liberation, then if I go to the Sun Moon Continent now, find any city, kill all the people there, and pile them into a small mountain like this, can that also be called liberation?"

Xu Huang's eyes widened in disbelief—although she was Xu Huang's sister, she had never been exposed to such things. From childhood to adulthood, she had never participated in a real war.

She had never imagined that the so-called liberation was so cruel.

"It seems you still have some conscience."

Tang San confirmed his guess. The other party was born into royalty but was well protected. Perhaps in terms of personality, she was willful and capricious, influenced by the bad habits of the nobility, but being in a high position, she didn't come into contact with too much darkness, or rather, couldn't truly experience it. She had considerable sympathy for ordinary poor people, and the "clarity" and "stupidity" revealed in her eyes were no less than that of a college student who had just entered society.

"According to the laws of our Douluo Continent's Spirit Hall, Heaven Dou Empire, Star Luo Empire, and New Heaven Dou Federation, you came to the Douluo Continent in the Yue Trading Company. Although it wasn't an invasion and you didn't kill any citizens of the Douluo Continent, you ultimately entered our territory without our permission."

"Therefore, you need to serve."

"Given your special status, I will personally supervise you. I hope you can learn something from this to correct your attitude and understand what you are truly living for."

"As for the others? Their Soul Power will be sealed, and they will go to the mines to dig."

The two, who had recovered their senses, looked at each other. After a while, Xu Huang asked, "How long do we need to serve?"

Tang San thought for a moment and said, "Ten years, how does that sound?"

"Too long!" Fu Hongchen wanted to negotiate.

"Fifteen years."

"What?"

"Twenty years." Tang San added another five years and reminded them, "Please remember, after this, if I don't hear the words 'agree', or if you choose to default, which is to remain silent for ten seconds, I will add another five years."

Xu Huang didn't understand. "What's the point of that? If you add up to a hundred years, we'll be old!"

"Twenty-five years," Tang San stated a number, then said to Yan, "Go to the prison and find a death row inmate who has been stripped of all rights, someone older, or on the verge of death."

Yan didn't say a word and immediately went to the prison to drag out an old Fallen who had been beaten half to death.

Well, he met both conditions.

Under the puzzled gazes of Xu Huang and Fu Hongchen, Tang San snapped his fingers.

With a 'snap', a Blue Silver Emperor grew from the ground and wrapped around The Fallen. With the injection of Life force, the other party's injuries recovered quickly, and his skin also became smooth, only his hair remained white.

"Do you see? As long as I want, people can keep living," Tang San said, signaling Yan with his eyes.

"What do you mean?" But Yan and Tang San didn't have much tacit understanding and asked directly.

"Don't make a serious occasion so funny, okay?" Tang San rubbed his forehead helplessly and said bluntly, "Punch him in the stomach, the kind that goes straight through."

"That's not good."

Although he said that, Yan grinned menacingly and directly punched The Fallen's abdomen. A punch carrying scorching magma pierced through his abdomen, coming out from his lower back.

The Fallen was in so much pain that his eyeballs bulged out, veins popping all over his body, and he screamed loudly.

Tang San used his First Soul Skill to heal him.

In less than ten seconds, the hole in his abdomen recovered as before, only his prison uniform was still scorched black.

Then, Tang San had Yan chop off The Fallen's head.

Thud!

The Fallen's head fell to the ground, his eyeballs still moving, his consciousness not immediately dissipating.

Tang San pressed it back onto the body and used his First Soul Skill to heal the wound. The Fallen's head and body were reconnected, and the other party was so scared that he trembled all over.

"Isn't it interesting?"

Tang San showed a devil-like smile towards the two trembling in fear.

"Have you thought about what to say next? I keep my word. Otherwise, let alone a hundred years, even a thousand or ten thousand years can be added, you know. Anyway, with me here, even if you want to die, you won't be able to."

After speaking, Tang San signaled Yan again.

"Punch him again?"

"No, give them a shock. Kill this Fallen directly. Oh, and before killing him, tell them what this guy did."

"Oh~ This guy, in order to become a Soul Master, relied on his Martial Soul to absorb people's blood and Soul Power. And because he was too old and couldn't defeat other Soul Masters, he targeted ordinary people, especially women, children, and infants. According to statistics before his capture, one hundred and seventy-three women, two hundred and twenty-one children aged six to fifteen, and three hundred and sixty-nine infants had their blood absorbed by him. He also liked to absorb people's brain matter."

Yan said this, then punched and shattered the other party's head, and then continued, "Because it was too heinous, we didn't plan to kill him directly. We were preparing to utilize him before he died for waste research on blood, Soul Power, Spiritual Power, and so on... You know more about these. And after death, the soul..."

"Oh, I guess I shouldn't say that."

But Xu Huang and Fu Hongchen could no longer hear what Yan was saying, only that this Fallen had done such things.

On the Sun Moon Continent side, there were also many people who lacked talent but wanted to become Soul Masters and seek "shortcuts"... But the two had only heard stories and had never come into contact with such things.

They didn't expect that The Fallen could be so cruel!

Tang San wrapped the corpse with Blue Silver Emperor and used his Fourth Soul Skill: Nine Deaths Revival. In less than fifteen minutes, the dead Fallen was "resurrected". He was a bit sluggish at first, but then he remembered something and looked at Tang San and Yan in horror, constantly backing away.

"Do you see? Even if you die, I can resurrect you," Tang San showed a smile like a demon to the two trembling in fear. His meaningful gaze made them feel as if they had fallen into a bone-chilling ice cellar, unable to escape.

"Now, have you thought it through?"

"Agree!"

Xu Huang immediately agreed.

Fu Hongchen nodded woodenly, involuntarily agreeing.

537: I want to learn everything here!

"I didn't expect the Saint Child to actually be able to resurrect others."

Yan was also seeing Tang San's abilities for the first time and couldn't help but exclaim, "Doesn't that mean the people of Spirit Hall can live forever?"

"If the complete soul is gone, the resurrection won't be truly successful in the proper sense."

Tang San shook his head, but this didn't mean that without a complete soul, one couldn't be resurrected. Rather, it was uncertain if the person resurrected would be the original one.

After all, the soul is divided into: soul shell and immortal true spirit.

And the soul shell, which is that layer of mysterious substance mostly composed of memories, is like the data information from Tang San's era – it can be copied.

A more primitive method is equivalent to borrowing a book to transcribe, while a more advanced method is clicking "Ctrl + C" and then clicking "Ctrl + V", pasting with a single click.

Yan also understood this to some extent and knew that within the Starry Sky World, the Spirit Hall's mental system Soul Masters were researching The Fallen's souls to obtain Soul Embers, a precious substance that can only be left behind after a soul's natural death and can be used to improve the quality of human souls.

Xu Huang and Fu Hongchen, who were following Tang San, felt their scalps tingle—

Spirit Hall, so terrifying!

They didn't expect this Saint Child to have already started researching resurrection and even delving into the soul aspect!

This was an area that even their brother (Your Majesty) hadn't touched upon!

After leaving the prison, Xu Huang suddenly spoke up and asked, "Can I see Elder Xu Long?"

"No."

Tang San refused outright.

"Why?"

Xu Huang was a little angry, "You're already so powerful, are you still afraid of me plotting something with him?"

"I'm not afraid, but I dislike trouble. My time is very precious, and I don't have that much free time to deal with other matters. Moreover, I am now the guardian of the two of you, so you must listen to me."

Speaking of this, Tang San showed a playful smile to the two, "Xu Huang, which is your brother, had his Heart pierced by me before leaving this plane. If he didn't have some life-saving means, he's most likely dead. Therefore, if the two of you want revenge, you can ambush me at any time, but you only get one chance."

"Because, in such a situation, you would be attacking the Spirit Hall Saint Child, and being executed on the spot is also acceptable."

Xu Huang clenched her fists, but ultimately let go, staring with wide eyes and questioning, "Could it be because you have no reason to kill us, so you want to provoke us to give yourself a reason to act? Does the Spirit Hall Saint Child need to be aboveboard?"

Fu Hongchen suddenly realized, "As expected of the Junzhu, she's so smart... Tang San, we've already seen through your scheme! Although you are strong, you are not Your Majesty's opponent. How could Your Majesty be killed by you?"

"Very smart."

Tang San clapped his hands, as if admitting that he hadn't killed Xu Huang, then grinned, "But, the fact that he was beaten by me and fled to another plane is also an undeniable fact, isn't it? Otherwise, how would you two have been captured? Otherwise, how could our Continent have the leisure to hold the Continental Elite Tournament?"

The two of them turned pale and were speechless.

Returning to Soul Martial Manor, Tang San called Lan Yinzi and said, "You know these two guys too. They were quite 'famous' in the competition. From today onwards, I am their guardian. You..."

"Guardian?"

Lan Yinzi exclaimed, interrupting Tang San, "You're going to be their dad?"

Xu Huang and Fu Hongchen's expressions became even gloomier.

"Monitoring and taking care."

Tang San corrected, pushing the two in front of Lan Yinzi, "But I don't have that much time. Help me teach them how to do housework."

"I won't."

Xu Huang refused, "No matter what, I am the Junzhu of the Sun Moon Empire. How can I do the work that servants should do?"

"So, you need to learn."

Tang San was blunt, and said to Fu Hongchen, "You should be more sensible than her. If you want to live, or escape, you at least need to eat your fill, stay warm, figure out the route map of the entire Spirit Hall City, and understand the general map of the Douluo Continent. And all of this requires time and energy."

Fu Hongchen nodded repeatedly, then felt something was off, and asked strangely, "Are you giving us advice?"

"Try to impress me."

Tang San had other plans. The two of them held extremely high positions in the Sun Moon Empire and had considerable influence. As long as they were subtly influenced by this side, when they returned to the Sun Moon Continent in the future, making institutional adjustments and improvements there would likely allow the values of the people on both sides to become slightly closer, making integration easier at that time.

Also—

"One question, on your Sun Moon Continent side, is the common language the same as ours on the Douluo Continent?"

"The accent is a bit different, but the language is the same."

Xu Huang answered without thinking, then asked strangely, "Why do you ask?"

"Nothing, I just feel that perhaps in ancient times, the two Continents were originally one."

Tang San said casually, but in his Heart, he was thinking: The theory of continental drift applies in this World too. That's right, in a planetary World, it would be strange if Continents didn't drift.

However, the fact that the language hasn't changed after the Sun Moon Continent and the Douluo Continent separated for so long... It seems that the superiority inherited from the Golden Civilization is extraordinary, otherwise it wouldn't have such a great influence.

"Are you making a Continent-level joke?"

Xu Huang looked at Tang San with the gaze of someone looking at a fool, feeling that he shouldn't be such a boring person.

"Occasionally telling a little joke can also relax the mood."

Tang San smiled, then said to Lan Yinzi, "These two guys are in your care. At least, let them learn life skills like buying groceries, cooking, washing clothes, and cleaning."

Lan Yinzi looked at the two with a smile and said, "Don't worry, I will definitely train them well into obedient good children."

"That's quite unnecessary."

Tang San gestured for Lan Yinzi not to go too far, then said to the two, "Actually, the people who are servants here are noble Soul Masters who have made mistakes. Perhaps you have a lot in common with them. Moreover, during your free time, you can also explore the situation of the entire Spirit Hall City and conduct corresponding studies. I won't restrict you too much."

Xu Huang and Fu Hongchen exchanged glances, wondering why they were being given so much freedom. Were they really not afraid of them running away?

Subsequently, after experiencing two days of servant life, the two discovered that the advancement of Spirit Hall City + the six outer cities was truly incomparable to the Sun Moon Empire.

At least, in terms of clothing, food, housing, and transportation, their lives as servants were no worse than their original lives—

Although the style of clothing was simple, the fabric was no worse than that of royalty and nobles; the living space was small, but it was a single room with a kitchen, stove, toilet, bed board, etc., which could be described as: although the sparrow is small, it has all the necessary organs; and the food they ate was not leftovers. The manor had a public canteen with a variety of dishes, no different from the royal family, except there was no Soul Beast meat; and for transportation, there were dedicated bicycles or Soul Guidance vehicles. If they wanted to drive, they could apply for the corresponding assessment.

Was this really the enjoyment that servants should have?

Then, the two discovered that the servants here also worked very seriously, after all, they had to put in as much labor as they enjoyed, otherwise they would be fired.

In addition, the six outer cities of Spirit Hall City were also very prosperous and lively, and each city had its own characteristics, constantly expanding outwards—

"Junzhu, should we try to escape?"

"No!"

At this moment, Xu Huang had other plans, "It's more advanced here than in the Empire. I want to stay and learn everything here (Spirit Hall City)!"

538: To attend a wedding, you have to climb a mountain

This was a remote little village.

There weren't many fields, not many houses, and not many villagers either.

Behind the village, there was a range of continuous mountains, half-hidden by clouds and mist.

At the entrance of the village, people were already arriving one after another.

The villagers also put on their best clothes and, along with the Hao Tian Disciples who came down the mountain, welcomed the various major powers who came to offer congratulations — Tang Chen and Posey's wedding was today!

However, among the fourth-generation disciples of the Haotian Sect, one person was missing: Tang Luoya, who had already set off with Huo Ke and Feng Ming to search in the direction of Sea God Island, and didn't even know about Tang Chen and Posey's marriage.

From the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family, Yu Yuanzhen personally led his disciples, while the family was guarded by Yu Luomian; from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, Ning Fengzhi and Sword Douluo brought a small group of Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School disciples.

From the Heaven Dou Empire, the Three Education Committee arrived, as Xue Qinghe himself was not suitable.

From the Star Luo Empire, Davis, Zhu Zhuyun, and Zhu Zhuqing personally came to offer congratulations.

Naturally, Spirit Hall was represented by Tang San, Hu Liena, Yan, Xie Yue, and others, while Xiao Wu and the others did not participate in this lively event, as the Haotian Sect were all barbarians, and it wasn't Tang San's home either; they weren't here to meet parents or anything, so there was no need.

Upon seeing familiar faces, Tang San greeted them one by one, and Zhu Zhuqing directly "abandoned" Davis and Zhu Zhuyun to walk over to Tang San's side.

"Tang San, why did you come personally?" Ning Fengzhi was slightly surprised to see Tang San, as Tang San's identity issue... wasn't quite suitable for this occasion.

"It's an order from above, there's nothing I can do," Tang San shrugged, sighing faintly, "However, what needs to be faced, must be faced, I have a clear conscience... Who told me I didn't grow up in the Haotian Sect?"

Ning Fengzhi quickly changed the subject, saying, "It's my fault, Uncle shouldn't have mentioned that. Speaking of which, regarding becoming a God at level 100, do you know some secrets?"

"Yes," Tang San didn't hide anything from this future father-in-law, "Those who become Gods cannot interfere with the human world."

Sword Douluo frowned, "Why?"

"The rules of the God Realm," Tang San pointed upwards, "The power of Gods has a significant impact on the lower realm, perhaps a single breath can cause a complete transformation."

"My cultivation has reached level ninety-nine, and breaking through to level 100 is merely a matter of whether I want to or not."

"It's definitely not possible at this stage, after all, I don't want to be bound by the rules of the God Realm. The progress and development of this world have not yet reached my expectations."

Upon learning these secrets, Ning Fengzhi didn't doubt, only asking, "Does the God Realm really exist?"

"It exists. When cultivation reaches level ninety-nine, one can sense it. There are spatial passages or something similar between the God Realm and the human world," Tang San said calmly, "Spirit Hall has two inheritors who have received the inheritance of a God Realm God. As far as I know, Gods of the lower realm, if they don't conceal themselves well and are noticed by the God Realm, can only stay in the lower realm for a maximum of one hundred years. After one hundred years, they must ascend to the God Realm, otherwise, enforcement officers will come down to enforce the law. In severe cases, the God who has become a God will be directly eliminated."

"Although Tang Chen has become a God, he cannot actively influence the human world; he can only handle his personal affairs. Otherwise, with the pride of the Haotian Sect, the first thing they would do is attack Spirit Hall, not form a marriage alliance with Sea God Island, a strong alliance."

Sword Douluo suddenly understood, saying, "So that's how it is. I heard my father mention Tang Chen; he is the most overbearing person. It's impossible for his own Sect to be bullied... Cough cough, anyway, he should attack Spirit Hall immediately, not marry someone, even if he loves that person very much."

As they spoke, everyone arrived at the bottom of a cliff.

This cliff was about five hundred meters high, perpendicular to the ground at ninety degrees. There were concave pits on the cliff face, less than the size of a fist, spaced more than ten meters apart. It was impossible for an ordinary person to go up. Even for a Soul Master, as long as they didn't have the ability to fly, they had to be extremely careful, otherwise, they would fall from above if they weren't careful.

"Everyone, please," Tang Long and Tang Hu, who were leading the way, smiled at everyone, "To go to the Haotian Sect, you must first climb up."

"Hehe," Yan sneered twice and said to Xie Yue beside him, "The Haotian Sect is giving us a show of force. Those who are not strong enough can't even enter the real gate."

Xie Yue nodded, "Indeed, the Haotian Sect is too overbearing. It's easy for the leaders of the major powers to climb this cliff, but it's not possible for the other ordinary disciples. Furthermore, some non-Soul Master princes and nobles can't go up at all, and if they ask us for help, they will lose face."

Just as some people were hesitating and their expressions were uncertain, Tang San released his Blue Silver Emperor, forming a soft ladder that went up along the cliff. Then he said to everyone, "If you don't mind, you can climb the ladder. Although it's a bit tiring, it's safe."

Some of the less powerful members of Spirit Hall climbed the ladder, and a Blue Silver Emperor would automatically tie around their waists to prevent them from falling.

Seeing this, the others expressed their endless gratitude.

Tang San, on the other hand, took Hu Liena, Yan, Xie Yue, and the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School and others into the air, and in an instant, they reached the top of the cliff.

In reality, Tang San could have also flown everyone else up, or even teleported, but—

Tang San wasn't familiar with them.

Moreover, if the Haotian Sect intentionally wanted to block the weaker individuals, he could help once, twice, but not a third time. If they were too tired to even climb the ladder, they might as well go back.

Otherwise, even if they entered the final gate, they would be targeted by the Hao Tian Disciples.

Being convenient to others doesn't mean he has to be their nanny or something.

"I have to say, it's not without reason that the Haotian Sect was once the number one Sect in the world," Sword Douluo looked around, seeing the steep cliffs and peaks connected by thick chains the size of thighs, and exclaimed in admiration, "If the disciples within the Sect all enter and exit through these chains, and go up and down the mountain through the cliff just now, their disciples' strength will definitely be formidable."

"Definitely not," Tang San was certain, after all, before Tang Yuehua understood her own heart and let go of that pride, her Soul Power was only level nine. Could it be that she had to walk these paths to return to the Sect?

There must be other secret passages, otherwise, just building such a tall building in the main hall of the Sect would require materials that Soul Masters couldn't transport up.

Moreover, Soul Masters are inherently disdainful of transport work, let alone the overly proud disciples of the Haotian Sect.

After a while, people from other forces also leaped onto the peak. Tang Long and Tang Hu looked back at the Soul Masters and nobles who were still climbing the ladder and said to everyone, "We won't wait for them. Everyone, please follow us. This is the only way to the main branch of the Haotian Sect. They will advance on their own when they arrive."

Everyone followed Tang Long and Tang Hu forward and came to a broken cliff. A thick chain connected a large mountain on the opposite side, where there were many palaces and buildings.

"This is the chain bridge. To reach the final Haotian Sect mountain gate, you need to walk across it," Tang Long introduced, his gaze specifically lingering on Tang San—this time, he shouldn't be able to build ladders or similar things, right?

539: Demon Soul Great White Shark King: Xiaobai

For this chain bridge made of a single chain, Tang San once again released his Blue Silver Emperor, connecting it to the other end to form a Blue Silver suspension bridge about ten meters wide.

Although it was wider than the chain bridge, which was only as thick as a thigh, it was still insignificant compared to its several hundred-meter length, and the strong mountain wind caused the Blue Silver suspension bridge to sway.

But it was always wider, and there were handrails on both sides, making it a bit more stable to walk on.

However, for those who would later climb up the Blue Silver rope ladder, walking across such a suspension bridge still required extreme caution, fearing a fatal fall.

Tang Long and Tang Hu, the two brothers, looked at each other, both feeling a slight headache, never expecting Tang San to have such ability, to be able to play so many tricks with Blue Silver Grass.

Subsequently, Tang San led Hu Liena and others across the suspension bridge, while the rest either walked the chain bridge or the suspension bridge, with no one flying.

After all, the other side was the true mountain gate of the Clear Sky Sect, and a certain degree of respect should be given to hundred-level powerhouses.

Flying would be too impolite.

More than ten minutes later, Tang San stepped onto the entrance of the Clear Sky Sect's main hall, where there was an open space about a thousand meters wide, without floor tiles, as if the mountain peak had been cut into a flat surface, feeling extremely solid underfoot.

"Welcome, everyone, to the Clear Sky Sect!"

The Second Elder led people to greet them, and upon seeing Tang San, he was slightly surprised, not expecting Spirit Hall to send him over, then he saw Hu Liena and immediately understood: Holy Son and Holy Maiden?

"Please follow me to the reception hall to rest for a while. We have prepared refreshments and drinks. Everyone can enjoy them to their heart's content before the wedding begins."

Upon arriving at the reception hall, everyone found that there were already people there, and there were seven of them, precisely six of the seven Great Sacred Pillar Guardians of Sea God Island, and the female human form of the Devil Spirit Great White Shark King!

When Bo Saixi got married, they naturally came to offer their congratulations, but Sea God Island could not be left unguarded, so the strongest Sea Dragon Douluo remained on Sea God Island to guard it.

As for the Devil Spirit Great White Shark King coming along, it was naturally because she also wanted to witness the wedding ceremony of the Great Priestess of Sea God Island and a hundred-level powerhouse, which would become the most unforgettable memory in her Life!

However, the Devil Spirit Great White Shark King did not hide her Spirit Beast aura at all, causing the Titled Douluo present: Yu Yanzhen and Gu Chen, to feel somewhat restless.

This was a walking Ten-thousand year spirit ring and Spirit Bone.

Sea Horse Douluo naturally realized this and stood up, saying, "Everyone, please do not look at Xiao Bai with such eyes. She is the mount of the Sea God, not an ordinary Ten-thousand year soul beast. I hope you do not covet her spirit ring and Spirit Bone, otherwise, you will be an enemy of our entire Sea God Island."

Ning Fengzhi stepped forward two steps and smiled, "Please do not mind, Your Excellency. We are just surprised, nothing more. Besides, a Ten-thousand year soul beast is already no different from a human and should not be easily hunted."

Xiao Bai snorted coldly, "Land humans are just greedy!"

"Miss Xiao Bai, innocent and lovely, truly a bit too lively," Ning Fengzhi smiled.

"Are you praising me?" Xiao Bai tilted her head, looking very cute and naive.

"Yes," Ning Fengzhi nodded, but a thought formed in his mind: A Ten-thousand year soul beast that has transformed into human form seems not very bright, quite simple. Can she be tricked?

However, after meeting the gazes of Sea Horse and others, Ning Fengzhi abandoned this idea.

It was unwise to make enemies with six Titled Douluo for the sake of a mere Ten-thousand year soul beast, but due to the conflict between the Clear Sky Sect and Spirit Hall, it was also not good to have too much friendship with these six Titled Douluo. A brief acquaintance would suffice.

Having made up his mind, Ning Fengzhi began to introduce himself, and Sea Horse and others also introduced their general situations, and then—

The conversation died.

Because Ning Fengzhi and these six people simply couldn't get along.

Ning Fengzhi wanted to ask what specialties Sea God Island had, so they could engage in trade with each other.

Sea Horse and others immediately spoke of their faith in Sea God, saying that Sea God Island was self-sufficient and did not need large-scale trade with the mainland. In fact, after learning Ning Fengzhi's identity, they even hoped that he could also believe in the Sea God to spread the deeds of the Sea God.

One could only say that a normal person cannot wake up a group of fanatical followers of a Divinity.

However, during their conversation, Sea Horse and others frequently looked at Tang San, as if confirming something.

Tang San noticed their movements and did not deliberately eavesdrop. After all, the necessary respect must be given, and this was one of the essential courtesies.

"You are the Holy Son of Spirit Hall: Tang San?" Sea Witch walked over, pulled out a chair next to Tang San, and sat down gracefully. "I saw your performance in the Continental Elite Tournament. That was five years ago. At that time, you were already a Spirit King and possessed a Ten-thousand year spirit ring."

"It's nothing worth mentioning," Tang San was a bit curious. "I heard that Sea God Island is known as Devil Island. Coastal residents of the mainland turn pale at its mention, and there is no interaction between them. Did you see my deeds through soul-guided photography devices or something similar on your way to this wedding?"

"No, our Sea God Island actually has trading caravans with the mainland," Sea Witch shook her head and explained to Tang San, "Children born on Sea God Island, upon reaching the appropriate age, need to undergo the Sea God's assessment. If they fail, they need to leave Sea God Island to live. They either live on islands near Sea God Island or form maritime caravans to go to the mainland, helping us transport necessary supplies, which allows us to get news from the outside world."

"I see," Tang San nodded slightly. From this perspective, Sea God Island was not completely isolated from the world; it still had some communication with the outside.

But it was only to that extent.

After all, this session of the Continental Elite Tournament seemed to have already ended, and the other party seemed completely unaware, as if they hadn't thought about investigating news on their way from Sea God Island to the Clear Sky Sect.

"Hey! Where did your Ten-thousand year spirit ring come from?" The Devil Spirit Great White Shark King walked over at this moment, very impolitely. As a Ten-thousand year soul beast, she hated Spirit Masters having Ten-thousand year spirit rings the most, because that meant the other party had killed a Ten-thousand year soul beast.

Although human Spirit Masters must obtain spirit rings from Spirit Beasts to level up, she couldn't do anything about that, but why must they hunt Ten-thousand year soul beasts?

Ten-thousand year soul beasts already possessed the same intelligence as humans and should be respected!

"Good luck, a Spirit Beast voluntarily sacrificed itself." Tang San was not angry at the Devil Spirit Great White Shark King's aggressive demeanor. As long as she didn't cross his bottom line or cause trouble for no reason, he was always a relatively generous person. He summoned Wu Lin and Wu Tong and introduced them: "They are now in a symbiotic relationship with me."

Wu Lin: "Is this a shark?"

Wu Tong: "Its skin is a bit creepy."

The Devil Spirit Great White Shark King originally found it quite peculiar, but the attitude of these two little娃娃 was not good at all, making her breathe rapidly: "These two guys are not likable at all."

540: How come he is the same as Tang Chen?

However, Xiao Bai was also an optimist; she wouldn't dwell on unhappy things. After learning that Tang San's Ten-thousand year spirit ring wasn't obtained through hunting, she became willing to chat more with him.

It's rare to see a human coexisting with a Ten-thousand year soul beast in this manner; it's even stranger than a soul beast falling in love with a human, so she wanted to learn more.

However, Tang San also noticed that Xiao Bai drank a glass of water every ten minutes.

Sea Witch explained, “Xiao Bai hasn't transformed. Compared to other land-based Ten-thousand year soul beasts, Sea soul beasts, after reaching Ten-thousand years, can autonomously transform into human form when they go to land, but their strength is only about sixty to seventy percent of their Spirit Beast form, similar to mermaids.”

Xiao Bai drank a large glass of water and added, “That's right. I can't stay on land for long; I need to keep my skin moist, so of course I have to drink more water.”

“Oh, speaking of mermaids, Sea Witch is actually a mermaid.”

“Let me tell you, the mermaid race is favored by Sea God, after all, before Sea God was born, the mermaid race was the darling of the sea!”

Just as Xiao Bai was about to reveal more secrets about mermaids, the Second Elder of the Clear Sky Sect returned to the reception hall and said,

“Guests, the wedding is about to begin. Please follow me to attend the ceremony.”

“So soon?” Xiao Bai was still not satisfied, after all, Tang San was full of Life aura, and communicating with him made her unable to help but feel close to him, but she still quickly followed the six Titled Douluo from Sea God Island out, and said to Tang San, “Let's chat more later if we have time.”

“Okay.”

Tang San smiled and nodded, walking out of the reception hall with Hu Liena and the others.

“You have good luck with women,” Hu Liena teased. “Even female Spirit Beasts are charmed by you, and you have so many beautiful wives at home. Can you handle it?”

“Don't talk nonsense,” Tang San said seriously. “If someone hears it, they'll think I have kidney problems. This is blatant slander!”

Hu Liena showed a look of disdain and spat, “Be serious. Right now, you represent the Spirit Hall Saint Child. You can't give others the impression of a cynical playboy.”

“Do I look like a playboy?” Tang San pushed up his detection glasses and said earnestly, “I'm a researcher, just with a unique sense of humor.”

Outside the main hall of the Clear Sky Sect, Hao Tian Disciples had already gathered, all having changed from their usual black martial arts uniforms to more vibrant attire, either red or yellow, adding a festive touch to the otherwise monotonous Clear Sky Sect.

In the lively square, some Hao Tian Disciples were performing the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method, swinging their hammers with great power and grace.

The Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method is a secret technique of the Clear Sky Sect that is not passed down, but for a mere performance, others can at most learn a set of movements. The true method of leveraging power to strike, without guidance, can only be explored on one's own. If one does not possess Tang San's powerful recovery ability, it is virtually impossible to learn, and if one gets injured, or even breaks bones, during the self-exploration process, it would be a net loss.

Therefore, these disciples were not stingy about demonstrating it in front of outsiders at this moment.

“The Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method, it is said that the Clear Sky Sect’s other secret techniques and combat skills all rely on this basic hammer method as their foundation to be performed.” Ning Fengzhi memorized the movements of the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method, walked up to Tang San, and asked curiously, “Tang San, you should also know this hammer method, right?”

“Yes,” Tang San nodded, but his hammer method had already evolved into the form most suitable for him, no longer simply the “Rampaging Wind Technique.” “Their practice isn't up to par; they haven't found their own path.”

“As the saying goes: those who learn from me live, those who imitate me die.”

“If you only learn the methods created by your predecessors without your own insights, without knowing how to innovate and truly make it your own, then you will never surpass them in your lifetime.”

Ning Fengzhi nodded, and Sword Douluo, who was beside him, also seemed thoughtful, asking, “Tang San, do you understand swordplay?”

“Not really, but a sword, to put it simply, primarily uses thrusting and slashing as its main attack methods. As long as you focus on these two and comprehend the force application during thrusting and slashing, constantly discarding unnecessary movements, you can most likely continue to improve.” Tang San shook his head, indicating he didn't understand swordplay, but still offered his opinion.

Sword Douluo sighed, “As expected of a Grandmaster of Spirit cultivation theory. Even without understanding swords, he can speak such truths. I only understood this principle when I was sixteen. Back then, my father always made me figure it out myself... that period of cultivation was quite boring, but also fulfilling.”

Tang San was silent for a moment, then said, “Elder Sword Douluo, I think if you have descendants or take on disciples in the future, it's better to be straightforward.”

“Although things you comprehend yourself will give you a deeper understanding, it takes too much time. Aren't the experiences of predecessors meant for later generations to inherit?”

“Moreover, to truly comprehend, before the age of twenty or thirty, ordinary geniuses, their spirit power cultivation is at most between Spirit Ancestor and Spirit King. Without much experience, they won't be able to comprehend any profound truths.”

Sword Douluo seemed to ponder, finally nodding and saying, “If I have disciples in the future, I will consider it as appropriate.”

“That's how it should be,” Tang San smiled. “Didn't predecessors create cultivation methods and accumulate experience precisely so that later generations could save time in cultivation?”

“Of course, how to prevent later generations from merely imitating is also a problem that needs to be considered.”

Just as the two were getting more and more engrossed in their conversation, an invisible pressure startled them both.

Above the Clear Sky Sect square, a person slowly stepped through the air, an invisible aura causing the space to solidify.

Except for Tang San, everyone present involuntarily looked over, but no one sensed any spirit power fluctuations from the other party, as if he was just an ordinary person.

But how could an ordinary person stand in mid-air?

Level one hundred, becoming a god!

Returning to simplicity!

It was at this moment that winding wisps of water vapor appeared in the arena, swirling past everyone, like small rivers, converging at the center of the square to form a light blue water tornado seven or eight meters wide and dozens of meters high. A dignified figure slowly and faintly appeared in everyone's sight.

Splash!

When the water tornado dissipated, a beautiful and elegant woman appeared within it, dressed in a red gown, wearing a crystal crown, her long hair almost reaching the ground, comparable to Xiao Wu's long hair, if not even more impressive.

It was only because Titled Douluo possessed profound spirit power that they could gently vibrate their hair with spirit power to remove dust and dirt, otherwise, just managing such long hair would take no less than half a day every day.

And when Bo Saixi appeared, a golden light shot from outside the Clear Sky Sect mountain gate, landing in an empty spot on the square, revealing the figure of a handsome middle-aged man: "It seems I'm not late... Sister Xixi, you are still as beautiful as you were back then."

Seeing Qian Daoliu, Bo Saixi smiled: "Long time no see, Qian Daoliu, but why do you seem a little older?"

Qian Daoliu: "....."

Why is he just like Tang Chen?

541: The son of Poseidon comes to the world

“Qian Daoliu!”

Tang Chen descended from mid-air, sweeping Bo Saixi into his embrace like a victorious gander, chest puffed out, letting out a hearty laugh, “My old friend, you’ve truly come!”

Qian Daoliu’s gaze was complex; he merely nodded, but his eyes grew even more determined: Xue’er must also become a god, but before that, he must prevent Tang Chen and Xue Qinghe from meeting!

“That’s Spirit Hall’s trump card: Qian Daoliu.” Ning Fengzhi’s eyes narrowed, and he softly said, “His aura is truly magnificent. I never expected to see so many peerless Douluo at this event.”

Sword Douluo stared at Qian Daoliu for a good while before shifting his gaze, sighing, “As I am now, I am not his match.”

“What’s wrong, Senior Sword Douluo?” Tang San inquired.

“It’s nothing much. When my father was breaking through to ninety-eighth rank, he fought against a ninety-ninth rank expert, narrowly losing by one move, and later died from his injuries.” Chen Xin recounted this past event, “My father was quite open-minded; he challenged the opponent with the resolve to die, but I just couldn’t let it go... Now I’m certain, that person was Qian Daoliu.”

A ninety-ninth rank peerless Douluo—

Tang Chen's weapon is the Clear Sky Hammer. His father, eager to spar with a sword master, likely wouldn't have sought him out, and Tang Chen these past years should have been breaking through to the hundredth rank, so he wouldn't have had the chance to fight his father; Bo Saixi is far away on Sea God Island, and his father never went to sea.

As for Tang San...

A newly advanced peerless Douluo. Even if Chen Xin thought with his butt, he wouldn't connect him to his father's severe injuries; Tang Hao was just a little kid back then.

So, among the known peerless Douluo on the continent, only Qian Daoliu remained, and those with the Angel Spirit are all skilled in swordsmanship.

"So, Senior Sword Douluo wants revenge?" Tang San asked.

"No, I said, father had the determination to die, so I don't need to seek revenge. As a sword master, I simply wish to challenge him."

Chen Xin's gaze was like a sword, but it was Tang Chen's wedding, so it was not appropriate to make a move, otherwise, it would be disrespecting a hundredth rank expert.

Besides, he was still a small distance away from his deceased father's cultivation, so even if he challenged him, it would just be like throwing an egg against a rock.

Tang San knew he couldn't persuade Chen Xin of his persistence, so he just nodded slightly and said, "Then I congratulate senior on a future victory."

"I hope so." Sword Douluo was a bit melancholic, but he quickly regained his composure. After all, thinking about it seriously, defeating Qian Daoliu in the future wouldn't be difficult for him—the Sect had planted Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor, and he could also enter the Spirit Beast Illusion Space to spar with those Spirit Beasts, increasing his spirit ring's age limit; secondly, the Sect had Tang San, such a good son-in-law, that if he obtained some good things, he might even be able to instantly kill Qian Daoliu in the future.

However, he still preferred to challenge Qian Daoliu with his own strength. This was a testament to his own swordsmanship... sincerity!

If he relied on other powers, he always felt strange.

【Indeed, it's still because of Tang San. The era is developing too quickly, and I'm not as confident in the sword in my hand... But isn't this also a kind of trial?】

Sword Douluo thought this and intended to use it as a refinement to push himself forward in the future.

“Xixi, may I have this dance?” Just then, Tang Chen interrupted Tang San and the others' conversation and invited Bo Saixi.

“I'd be delighted.” Bo Saixi happily agreed, her eyes only on Tang Chen.

Just like that, the two, both over two or three hundred years old, held hands and danced gracefully in the plaza.

The man was confident, the woman shy.

If strangers saw them, they would think they were young lovers in their twenties, deeply in love.

However, for long-lived species, age is not an issue at all. What's important is maintaining a youthful mindset and the purity of one's self-awareness, otherwise, wisdom will be distorted, or even extinguished, over the long passage of time.

At the age of two or three hundred, to still maintain such a passionate relationship between a man and a woman... the weight they held in each other's hearts occupied a huge part.

Tang San could only sigh inwardly: As expected of the Continent of Love!

Of course, it was also due to the era in which these two were born, where entertainment activities were scarce. It was either cultivation or combat, and their minds were relatively simple, especially Bo Saixi. Before today, she probably had never truly left Sea God Island, a complete homebody.

If these two had been born in the era of Douluo Dalu 3 or 4, they probably wouldn't have been able to be so pure.

After all~

The father of Tang Xiao, Tang Hao, and Tang Yuehua of the Clear Sky Sect was Tang Chen's son, but this son was not born to Bo Saixi.

Of course, according to the original novel's setting, Tang Chen had already married and had a child before he met Bo Saixi, but his wife seemed to have died of illness, which is why he pursued Bo Saixi.

Was it lust at first sight?

Or was it purely due to mutual admiration?

Tang San felt it was a bit of both.

At this moment.

The Hao Tian Disciples present gathered in a circle, shouting loudly:

“Mighty Clear Sky! Everlasting and Flourishing!”

“Vast Ocean! Turbulent and Grand!”

Tang Chen, hand in hand with Bo Saixi, strolled left and right, moving back and forth, spinning, leaping, stepping into the void, and walking leisurely. It was truly the epitome of grace.

Many below looked on with envy.

But there were also some who seemed to have shattered a vinegar jar, their eyes hazy, sighing softly and continuously—Qian Daoliu could be said to be the quintessential example of “unrequited love.”

It was a pity, however, that Bo Saixi had “no intention” towards Qian Daoliu; she only cherished Tang Chen’s kindness...

Finally, the dance ended.

The rest of the Clear Sky Sect greeted the guests. Tang San scanned his surroundings, but he didn’t see Tang Hao. However, he could sense him cultivating on a mountaintop a few kilometers away from the Clear Sky Sect. That overwhelming killing intent was restrained yet steady, but in the eyes of a peerless expert, it was like a bright flame in the dark night, exceptionally conspicuous.

Tang San didn’t use his primordial Spirit power to investigate the specific situation, as it was someone else’s territory, which would be impolite, and he always respected people’s privacy.

“Everyone, welcome to the wedding of myself, Tang Chen, and the High Priestess of Sea God Island, Bo Saixi.” Tang Chen now spoke to the crowd, his voice booming, as if exploding in everyone’s ears, “I sincerely thank you. In the future, the Clear Sky Sect’s development and growth will still rely on all of you!”

Everyone offered a few compliments, more or less.

Just as the wedding was about to proceed with the normal ceremony, Bo Saixi suddenly looked towards the east, and the纹路 of the Sea God Trident appeared between her brows. The other six Sea God Island Guardian Douluo were also like this.

“The Sea God’s Son has been born!”

Bo Saixi was incredulous. She had never imagined that on the day of her wedding, the Sea God would choose a successor—

The wedding couldn’t continue!

With the advent of the Sea God's Son, as the High Priestess of Sea God Island, she absolutely had to go meet him. This was a testament to her devotion to the Sea God's faith.

But Tang Chen...

542: The wedding was interrupted

Bo Saixi and the others could sense the descent of the Sea God's Son, but others could not sense it at all, so they naturally felt that something had happened to Bo Saixi and she no longer wanted to continue the wedding.

Wouldn't this wedding become a farce then?

Qian Daoliu, as the High Priest of the Angel God, also looked towards the east, sighing: Has the Sea God's position also found a successor? In the future, perhaps it will be the era of Divinities!

But, the God Realm—

After becoming a God, one must not interfere with mortal affairs... How cruel this rule is! But at this moment, Qian Daoliu had some concrete evidence:

Tang Chen.

He knew this guy's temper too well; if Tang Chen knew that the Sect he had established was forced into a state of retreat, the first thing he would do after becoming a God would be to cause trouble for Spirit Hall.

It was both for the Clear Sky Sect's reputation and for his own dignity.

But Tang Chen didn't do that.

Did he change his personality?

Impossible!

If one's personality undergoes significant changes after becoming a God, then becoming a God would be a conspiracy... Qian Daoliu was unwilling to believe that, so it could only be the 'Divine Punishment Theory' that Qian Renxue had once told him about: After Tang Chen broke through to level 100, he received a warning from the God Realm's enforcers not to interfere with the mortal World, which is why he chose to marry Bo Saixi instead of immediately regaining his face.

The God Realm enforcer who could suppress Tang Chen's domineering nature must be even more domineering, even to the point of making Tang Chen unable to harbor any thoughts of resistance... Their power, or even strength, must be far superior to a single Divinity.

In this way, Tang Chen becoming a God was a good thing, because he could no longer interfere with mortal affairs, and could only remain an outsider, an ordinary spectator.

At least, on the surface, Tang Chen could no longer meddle in the major developments of the continent.

"Major events cannot be reversed?"

Involuntarily, this thought suddenly appeared in Qian Daoliu's mind, "But mortals don't know this situation; they will instinctively consider the influence of a level 100 powerhouse. As long as he still exists in the mortal World and is known to people, then most people will worship, revere, and consider the consequences of offending a God."

"His very existence is a huge unstable factor."

"Fortunately, there are only a hundred years..."

"We can wait."

At the same time.

Hock and the others had already landed on Sea God Island.

On Sea God Island, Sea Dragon Douluo, the only one left on the island to guard it, witnessed the birth of the Sea God's Son, and was extremely excited, showing a respectful look towards Hock: "Respected land Spirit Master, oh no, Sea God's Son, please tell me your full name."

Hock touched the golden trident pattern on his brow, and said excitedly: "My full name is Hock Neptune; you can call me Hock."

"Respected Your Excellency Hock, please accompany me with your friends to Sea Dragon City to rest. I will prepare the best room for you, and your assessment needs to be personally presided over by our High Priest, but she is currently holding a wedding with a level 100 Divinity. You may have to wait for some time," Sea Dragon said with a slight apology, "The other six guardian Douluos on the island also went to attend the wedding..."

Upon hearing Sea Dragon's description, Hock was stunned:

Bo Saixi got married?

To whom?

It wouldn't be another transmigrator, would it? And already a God?

"May I ask the name of that level 100 Divinity?"

"Tang Chen of the Clear Sky Sect."

Hock frowned, not understanding why Tang Chen had become a God. Could it be that he was also a transmigrator? Or was it the so-called butterfly effect? Most likely the latter.

However, has Tang Chen become the Asura God?

"May I ask what Divinity that one is?" Hock prepared to ask more clearly.

"The High Priest said that Tang Chen broke through to level 100, but as for what God he is, she didn't say," Sea Dragon shook his head, "How can a God be imagined by a mortal like me?"

"But Lord Sea God's Son, you don't need to worry, your future will certainly be no weaker than his!"

Hock breathed a sigh of relief, thinking: "Did Tang Chen only break through to level 100? That's right, the Asura God Position is an enforcer. According to the original description of Tang Chen, his talent is extraordinary, but he fell for the old saying 'a hero is often swayed by a beauty', which doesn't fit the Asura God's expectations..."

Clap!

Feng Ming suddenly placed a hand on Hock's shoulder and asked in a low voice: "When did 'Neptune' get added to your name?"

Hock was startled awake from his thoughts, and said speechlessly: "Sea God, besides Poseidon, it's Neptune. I added a suffix to myself to make it sound more grand."

Tang Luoya suddenly interjected: "Then why not Mazu?"

Hock was speechless: "I'm not a girl."

Feng Ming, however, laughed: "Actually, it's possible. After all, according to the original description, for Divinities, they can completely change the gender of mortals in the lower realm."

"Get lost!"

Hock was annoyed. These two 'buddies' had big problems, actually hoping he would turn into a woman... He had to be wary of them in the future, especially Tang Luoya, with his muscular physique—slight exercise attracts the opposite sex, excessive exercise attracts the same sex. This guy's sexual orientation is the most likely to change, so he absolutely cannot be given any opportunity!

Sea Dragon, as a Titled Douluo, naturally heard the whispers between these three. Leading the way at the very front, a cold sweat involuntarily seeped from his forehead: "The person chosen by Lord Sea God doesn't seem very serious, huh... No, how can I think like that? Lord Sea God chose him, there must be a profound meaning!"

"And, his Spirit is almost identical to Lord Sea God's trident!"

"This must be the Sea God's descent!"

"It's just that he was born on the continent, without the simple folk customs of our Sea God Island."

If the Sea God himself in the God Realm knew Sea Dragon's thoughts, he would certainly scoff, as he himself was a character who was outwardly serious but inwardly lewd.

Simple?

That's an insult to a God!

Among the Gods in the God Realm, except for those who were born in the God Realm, the Divinities who ascended later were all outwardly innocent, handsome, beautiful, and pure, but inwardly they were all dark. They played all sorts of tricks, far beyond the imagination of mortals in a relatively backward era.

As for why these ascended Gods couldn't outplay those innate Gods?

The reason is simple: these innate Gods control too high a level of authority, either good, or evil, or murderous intent, these conceptual things.

Furthermore, there are the foundations of the World, Life, Destruction, and so on.

It just so happens that these God King-level powerhouses, in terms of personality, are all relatively... pure, and they still make it so these ascended Gods can't defeat them.

Therefore, ascended Divinities, unless they are the kind with no ambition, who only want to embrace their wives and children and have a warm home, and don't care much about the influence of faith, will all think about finding a successor and then exploring the wider universe themselves.

People who become Gods are much more complex in personality and thought than innate Gods.

543: If only you weren't my nephew

"Truly not the time!"

The Sea God had found an inheritor, Tang Chen should have been happy, after all, as a level 100 powerhouse ascending to the God Realm, he wasn't qualified to bring others with him, Posey could only remain in the mortal World.

As the Sea God's High Priest, even at the peak level, she couldn't be pulled to the God Realm by the Sea God after death; she needed to make certain contributions.

For example: when waiting for the inheritor to appear, sacrifice herself to open the door of inheritance.

If not for this, wouldn't every generation of God Realm priests be able to be pulled to the God Realm by their respective Gods?

After all, becoming the inheritor of a God Realm priest and breaking through to level ninety-nine was just a matter of time and natural progression.

Coupled with the time flow ratio between the God Realm and the mortal World, if this rule had loopholes exploited, the God Realm would already be overcrowded with Gods.

After all, the God Realm doesn't just control the Douluo Continent World.

Getting back to the main point.

For Posey and Tang Chen, the appearance of the Sea God's inheritor was the best thing, but why did it have to be at this specific moment?

It interrupted their good fortune!

"I'm sorry, Chen, I need to go back and see."

Posey's face showed apology. As the Sea God's High Priest of Sea God Island, the Sea God's most devout follower, she couldn't stand by when the Sea God's Son appeared and comfortably continue the wedding with Tang Chen.

This didn't comply with the rules.

Not to mention, the residents of the island must have also seen the unusual phenomenon of the Sea God's Son appearing. If she, the Sea God's High Priest, didn't go, the islanders could understand, but she herself couldn't forgive herself.

As for her faith in the Sea God, Posey had believed for the first half of her Life, how could she just abandon it?

But this didn't change her feelings for Tang Chen.

Although Tang Chen knew that Posey's departure would inevitably cause the guests here to have strange thoughts, having witnessed the unmatched power of the Asura God King, he also understood the importance of this matter.

If Posey didn't go back, she might suffer misfortune.

Gods cannot interfere with the mortal World...

But punishing one's own followers is a "family matter," how can that be considered interference?

Tang Chen was helpless and felt a trace of resentment towards the Sea God—the Sea God should not be as powerful as the Asura God King. After Posey sacrifices herself and ascends to the God Realm to reshape her body, I will challenge him before he steps down, to see how big the difference is between him and a main God!

At this moment, Tang Chen completely forgot that if Posey couldn't sacrifice herself, she could never go to the God Realm. He only thought about the appearance of the Sea God's Son interrupting what should have been the happiest time of his Life.

"Grandpa..."

After Posey took the seven guests from Sea God Island and flew away, Tang Xiao saw that the guests were a bit uncomfortable and could only bite the bullet and step forward to ask what to do next.

After all, from the perspective of those present, when the wedding was halfway through, the bride suddenly ran off with her own people, and it wasn't even because she was snatched away. This was truly a bit... awkward.

Could it be an elopement?

Or eloping from a God's marriage.

If not handled well and it spread, others wouldn't say anything openly due to Tang Chen's status, but privately, who knew?

Since the Sub-Mother Soul Guidance Photography Ball appeared out of nowhere, people have learned more and more, and the topics they dare to discuss and the scope involved have become wider and wider.

So, now we must find a way to explain it properly.

Otherwise—

We can only find a way to silence those who know.

Thinking of this, a trace of killing intent flashed in Tang Xiao's eyes. The reputation of the Haotian Sect was far more important than people's lives. Moreover, perhaps he could use Grandpa's prestige to seize the opportunity to force Tang San to acknowledge his ancestors and return to the clan.

Tang Chen seemed to see Tang Xiao's thoughts and said, "Everyone, I apologize. My wife needs to go handle an important matter. Sea God Island is the place of inheritance for the Sea God God Realm. Just now, she sensed the Sea God's will and learned that the Sea God's inheritor has appeared. As the Sea God's High Priest, she must rush back to preside over the relevant ceremony."

Instantly, the attention of the vast majority of guests was indeed diverted by this news, and they even began discussing whether the future Sea God would form an alliance with the Haotian Sect and so on.

At least, everyone understood that whether Tang Chen's explanation was true or false, they absolutely had to give face to Tang Chen, this level 100 powerhouse.

And this wedding, under Tang Chen's hosting, turned into a "social gathering" used to strengthen the relationship between the Haotian Sect and other major powers.

"Is the matter about Sea God Island true or false?"

Hu Liena held a glass of wine and sat beside Tang San, who was chatting with Tang Yuehua (as someone from the Haotian Sect, she would naturally come to the Sect to attend the wedding on this day), with a slight look of curiosity.

"It's true, I sensed the divine power fluctuations from the ocean."

Tang San drained the fruit wine in his hand in one gulp, looked towards the east, and said, "Someone has indeed gained the Sea God's recognition, at least in terms of Martial Soul talent, it should be so."

Huo Ke, without a doubt, whose Martial Soul was also a trident, possessing ultimate Water element, was simply a natural candidate for the Sea God.

As for whether he could truly meet Poseidon's standards during the assessment...

The probability is quite high.

After all, according to the original work's portrayal, the Sea God was the one who placed the most importance on the selection of inheritors.

"A God Realm, ah~"

A strange look appeared in Hu Liena's eyes. She also had aspirations for the rumored level 100, which was the goal of almost every Soul Master with extremely high talent and aptitude.

Hu Liena believed that with her Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne, even without seeking a God Realm's place of inheritance, she would still be able to accumulate enough energy to break through the threshold of level 100, hoping to see an even wider landscape.

Tang Yuehua said, "Xiao San, does this mean I've also obtained the position of Sea God?"

Tang San, knowing that she had obtained the Sea God Domain, thought for a moment and said, "Your Sea God Domain truly belongs to you. The Sea God himself cannot sense it, but you haven't seized the authority of the divine position from him either. You've just taken the borrowed power for yourself... I estimate you could be considered a backup for the Sea God."

Honestly, a situation like Tang Yuehua's was unheard of in the Soul Master World. Even a Sea God's High Priest like Posey needed to rely on the Sea God's imprint to borrow the power of a God Realm.

While Tang Yuehua directly condensed the Domain of the corresponding God.

Inviting a God?

Moreover, looking at the current situation, those God Realm in the God Realm, like Shura, Sea God, and others, are also willing to lend out their own power, perhaps out of amusement?

However, Tang San felt that for now, it was best for Tang Yuehua to just obtain the corresponding Domain. As for "inviting Gods" and the like, before he thoroughly researched it, it shouldn't be used unless absolutely necessary.

Regarding Tang Yuehua's Soul Rings, Hu Liena had also heard a little, but she hadn't expected her Martial Soul to be so outrageous.

"It's not that outrageous. After all, she herself is frail. As long as she's not given the chance to use her abilities, an ordinary Soul Elder can instantly kill her."

Tang San unceremoniously stated Tang Yuehua's flaws, "Of course, for her, she doesn't need to fight. Living the Life she wants is enough."

"Xiao San~"

Tang Yuehua's beautiful eyes sparkled, very moved, "If only you weren't my nephew..."

544: Why have you seen the world?

“If there wasn’t this blood relation, you wouldn’t have been able to reach me,” Tang San stated a fact that Tang Yuehua couldn’t refute.

If Tang San wasn’t Tang Hao’s son, no matter how outstanding he was, he wouldn’t have moved Tang Yuehua. In fact, if he had been at odds with the Clear Sky Sect, she would have tried every means to gather intelligence on him, transmit it to the Sect, and then have the people in the Sect secretly eliminate him.

After all, before she resolved her inner conflict, she was a blindly stubborn person brainwashed by the Clear Sky Sect’s prideful education, idolizing her second brother Tang Hao and adhering to the Clear Sky Sect’s doctrines and rules.

“This is why you’re not cute at all; you don’t know how to indulge your aunt,” Tang Yuehua’s gaze became resentful. “Speaking of which, you’ve never even called me ‘aunt’.”

In response, Tang San subtly changed the subject, bringing up the Moon Pavilion’s tax issues, which made Tang Yuehua roll her eyes even more, especially since the tax collector (Hu Liena) was still sitting beside them.

Hu Liena at this point couldn’t quite grasp what was going on between these two, but she was rather envious of the atmosphere—even though Bibi Dong was her teacher and essentially her mother, as an orphan, she had never experienced an atmosphere that could be called “home.”

Sensing Hu Liena’s low spirits, Tang San said, “As the Holy Maiden, while you need to see high enough, you also need to delve deep enough. You can’t be so dejected; you must work hard to build up this big family.”

“Big family?” Hu Liena was startled, then her face suddenly flushed red, and she said shyly, “What are you talking about? What big family? And in front of your aunt.”

Tang San: “.....” Well, this girl got the wrong idea. But it seems quite normal for teenagers of this age to think about such things, it’s just—

After returning, he should talk to Bibi Dong about increasing Hu Liena’s workload, so she wouldn’t always think about romantic matters and neglect her work.

“I was talking about the insight of a superior,” Tang San clarified.

“Ah?” Hu Liena was stunned, then immediately straightened her posture and nodded earnestly, saying, “That’s what I was thinking too, and I feel that my insight is already sufficient.”

The ultimate goal of a Spirit Master, the future of Spirit Hall, the degeneration of Evil Soul Masters, and so on—she had seen, envisioned, and experienced it all. Moreover, as the current Holy Maiden of Spirit Hall, she reviewed various reports transmitted from below, truly deserving the description of:

Knowledgeable and well-informed.

Tang San smiled and said, “Since that’s the case, can you summarize ‘what it means to be insightful’? It’s boring here anyway, so consider it a test for you.”

Hu Liena was dumbfounded. She thought for a long while but couldn’t articulate a clear answer, only saying, “This requires experience, and also being in a certain position.”

“That’s not bad, but for you, the next Supreme Pontiff of Spirit Hall, it’s not enough, far from enough.” Tang San first nodded, then shook his head, and continued, “I’ll ask you five questions. If you can answer all of them, then you can truly stand on your own.”

“What questions?” Hu Liena became interested.

“What is the highest goal you see?”

“In terms of Spirit Master cultivation? That would be Level 100, which is godhood,” Hu Liena answered without hesitation. Then she thought for a moment and added, “If we’re talking about the populace, it should be to let them all live in peace and prosperity, without experiencing war. What our Spirit Hall needs to do is maintain long-term stability for the continent.”

Tang San didn’t say whether it was correct or not, and then asked, “So, what is the lowest situation you’ve seen?”

“Lowest?” Hu Liena realized that Tang San seemed not to be talking about Spirit Master cultivation, but she still said, “Ordinary people who cannot cultivate, The Fallen slaughtering villages, utterly inhumane.”

Tang San asked the third question: “Do you know where you stand?”

“The Holy Maiden of Spirit Hall.” After answering this question, Hu Liena’s mood became slightly heavy, because she knew that she bore immense responsibility, for the development of Spirit Hall, and also for the future of the World.

“Can you consider the feelings of ordinary people?”

Hu Liena did not answer, responding with silence... Although Spirit Hall had changed a lot, Spirit Masters still harbored an inexplicable arrogance when facing ordinary people.

Although she often sought out Tang San to chat when she had free time, and he always suggested she walk among ordinary people, she hadn't tried it much.

After all, there were enough things to deal with every day, so how could she have the energy for that?

If she didn't chat with the person she secretly admired—oh no, the person she wanted to catch up to—to relax, how could she keep going?

Dealing with those matters was so tedious!

“Last question: If there’s a huge pile of things you need to do, but you can’t finish them in one day, what will you do?”

“In that case, I’ll work overtime, even if I don’t eat or drink, I’ll complete them.”

Hu Liena said decisively, after all, before the Blue Silver Network existed in Spirit City and before she had the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne to assist her, she herself had done exactly that, mainly so as not to disappoint her teacher.

“How was it? Am I qualified?”

“Barely,” Tang San gave his evaluation. “But you have indeed seen a bit of the World.”

“Then tell me your summary of what it means to see the World?” Hu Liena was a little indignant and also wanted to hear what grandiose statements Tang San could come up with.

“Seeing the World, broadly speaking, can be divided into four levels—”

Tang San held out four fingers and explained to Hu Liena.

“The first level is knowing how high the sky is.

Knowing where the peak of this World is, what the best food is, the most expensive clothes, the wealthiest people, what the most luxurious life is like, how beautiful the farthest places are, and where the ultimate goal of Spirit Master cultivation lies.

Most people’s ‘seeing the World’ stops at this level, whether they are Spirit Masters, ordinary people, officials, or Sect disciples, it’s all the same. This is also the simplest; you just need to look up.

The second level is knowing how deep the pit is.

Knowing where the deepest pit in this World is, the poorest places, the darkest human hearts, the most impoverished families, and how damp the most shadowed corners are.

At this point, most people cannot achieve this.

Because dark places cannot be observed from afar; one needs to go down in person, to stay in others' quagmires to experience their suffering, to know that the lower limit of this World is not the 'should be' written in the information and data you can obtain, but the 'actual' desperation found in the human World.

The third level is knowing 'where am I'.

The sky is thirty thousand feet high, the earth is thirty thousand feet deep, and a human body is less than seven feet. Where do we stand between this Heaven and Earth?

This question seems simple but is actually very difficult, because we can be misled by ourselves.

Sometimes we become inflated by our immediate achievements and forget that we are merely standing at a height, not flying. Even with flying skills, we will eventually land on the ground; sometimes we are suppressed by the difficulties around us and become blindly self-deprecating, ignoring those who live in the deeper layers of the World.

'Knowing where I am' actually answers one of life's three ultimate questions.

'Knowing where I am' means knowing one's starting point and also knowing one's boundaries.

Life will no longer blindly pursue illusions, nor will it abandon itself anywhere;

Not pursuing the highest, not giving up on oneself, knowing how to live and cultivate in a way that yields the most suitable results for oneself.

The fourth level is knowing that the World also has left and right.

This World is not just about the high and low of Heaven and Earth; there are also the myriad beings of the three thousand great Worlds.

This World is not just about height and depth; it is not a one-dimensional line, but an infinitely vast three-dimensional World, meaning it has width.

All beings in this World are different. They are not above or below us, but to our left and right. Every aspect of the World has its reason for existence, every existence has its darkness and its beauty.

Fully embracing the differences of each person, fully understanding every existence, rejoicing in others' joy, and sorrowing in others' sorrow.

No longer pursuing height or depth, but seeking to experience this prosperous World, immersing oneself in the human World, and saving all sentient beings.”

At this point, Tang San paused for a moment, looking at Hu Liena, who was deep in thought, before continuing, “How is one considered to have seen the World?”

“Actually, the answer is very simple—”,

“Look as high as possible upwards;”

“Go as deep as possible downwards;”

“Know where I am with a clear mind, to the best of my ability;”

“Understand the myriad beings to the left and right with all my heart.”

“Do as much as you can.”

545: Tang San: I refuse!

Not only Hu Liena, but Tang Yuehua was also deeply touched by these words—wasn't Spirit Hall developing in the direction of “having seen the World”?

It was precisely because Spirit Hall was developing in this direction that it became increasingly popular among the residents of the continent.

“Thank you for the lesson.”

Hu Liena regained her composure, feeling that she still had much to learn, but another question arose: “However, what would happen if we didn't understand the common people?”

“Nothing would happen. We have the power, and they can't overthrow us. But if that were the case, we would fall into an endless cycle, summed up in one sentence: 'Emperors rotate, this year it's our turn.'”

Tang San scanned the others who were chatting amongst themselves. “Perhaps the Blue Silver Overlord Dragon family would become the imperial family, or Ning Fengzhi of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School might become the Emperor. But no matter what, as those in power, if they don't reach the fourth level in terms of seeing the World, if they can't see that the World also has left and right, then their so-called rule is nothing more than 'you sing, I take the stage.'”

“If we don't understand the common people, then the common people won't understand us. The World will long maintain its previous state of low productivity and low economic foundation, performing one monotonous but not entirely identical play after another for the Divinities of the God Realm.”

“Do you wish to be an actor in the play, or to break free from the confines and gain true freedom?”

A chill inexplicably rose in Hu Liena's heart, then turned into a hot current, stimulating her entire body's blood to tremble. She couldn't help but ask, “Does Teacher also know your thoughts?”

“He knows.” Tang San nodded slightly, deliberately lowering his voice. “Why plant the Blue Silver Emperor? The Blue Silver Network has indeed greatly improved our work efficiency and quality of life, but the ultimate goal is to let its roots spread throughout the entire World, and then—”,

“On a certain day, we will uproot all the Divinity inheritance grounds that exist in this World in one fell swoop!”

Hu Liena felt a bit of fear, but also a surge of excitement: “So, our ultimate opponent is the God Realm? We are to eradicate all Divinity inheritance grounds?”

“Don't make us sound like villains.” Tang San chuckled. “Eradicating is too exaggerated. Divinities have left traces in our World, and some ethnic groups have established beliefs. They are also people, a part of this World. What we need to do is not to kill them all, but to embrace the culture and traditions created by these Divinities.”

“The so-called uprooting is actually very simple: it's about finding the spatial passages between the God Realm and our World, then severing them. As for those Divinity inheritance grounds, they are all coordinates, and their corresponding imprints must also be erased, that's all.”

“The vast universe is boundless and constantly in motion. Without spatial passages and coordinates, it would take at least 'billions' of years for the God Realm to find our World again.”

“A hundred million years? I think, in just a few hundred years, we can develop to a level that will make the entire God Realm look up to us in awe.”

Tang Yuehua learned of this plan for the first time and couldn't help but ask, "What if the God Realm is a form of protection for a mortal realm like ours?"

Tang San retorted, "Have you grown up?"

Tang Yuehua frowned, not understanding why Tang San asked this.

"All love in the World is for reunion, except for the paternal and maternal love parents have for their children, which is for separation," Tang San said meaningfully.

"I understand." Tang Yuehua recalled her time managing the Moon Pavilion alone in Heaven Dou City, far from the Clear Sky Sect, self-sufficient, and even sending money and supplies to the Clear Sky Sect. She suddenly understood.

However, the Clear Sky Sect had always been 'feeding' on its 'young'.

Thinking of this, Tang Yuehua was speechless... This Sect, not being destroyed, was only because the times had not undergone earth-shattering changes, and Spirit Masters still held a relatively high position.

"If the God Realm is truly for so-called selfless protection, then it should respect our choices. And we, as the protected, should one day be able to tell them proudly that we have grown up, that we can venture out on our own, and that they should be proud of us and encourage us."

Tang San continued, "I think, if a son or daughter can be independent and venture out and experience things on their own, every mentally and physically healthy parent would be willing and hope to see such a situation, right?"

Tang Yuehua, however, sighed, "Unfortunately, there aren't many such parents."

While they were talking, Tang Xiao walked over and said to Tang San, "Could we talk outside?"

Tang San glanced around, and seeing that Tang Chen was gone, he immediately understood. He stood up and left with Tang Xiao, heading to a steep cliff.

“The blood aura here is a bit heavy.” Tang San saw Tang Chen with his back to him and didn't greet him. Instead, he surveyed the surroundings, realizing that this place was often covered by a certain Domain, making the environment here a bit more man-made and fierce, and a bit less naturally majestic.

“Sharp spiritual senses, truly excellent.” Tang Chen turned his head, waved his hand, and dismissed Tang Xiao. Only then did he ask Tang San, “Are you willing to return to the Clear Sky Sect?”

“I was not born into the Clear Sky Sect, so how can I return?” Tang San retorted, and immediately, a murderous aura like a mountain of blades and a sea of fire rushed at him, trying to cut his flesh and scorch his divine soul.

But Tang San merely circulated his blood and spirit power and condensed his spirit, easily resisting it. He even used this invisible murderous aura as a whetstone, carefully comprehending it, hoping to understand a true level 100 powerhouse...

“Not bad.” Tang Chen withdrew his murderous aura, realizing that he couldn't see through Tang San. “Your physical strength has already surpassed what a Level 99 should have. I guess you are probably only one step away from becoming a Divinity.”

“How about I take you to Sea God Island?”

“Breaking through Level 100 by accumulating one's own energy is not the same as inheriting a God Position; the latter is stronger.”

No matter what, Tang San was his great-grandson. Although his son, Hao'er, had been muddled and pushed this son away, severing ties, he, as the great-grandfather, still needed to maintain a good relationship.

If Tang San could inherit a God Position, the relationship between the two families could also be closer.

As for Spirit Hall...

Qian Daoliu had already lost his son and only had a daughter left. Perfect, the two families could form a marriage alliance. At worst, Hu Liena could also be included and join the Tang family.

“Doesn't Sea God Island already have a Divinity successor?” Tang San asked.

“That's not one of our own.” Tang Chen chuckled, implying that if Tang San agreed, he would immediately go and kill that successor, or perhaps trouble Bo Saixi to tamper with that guy's assessment and directly cripple him.

As for personal reasons, that successor had coincidentally appeared during his and Bo Saixi's wedding ceremony, disturbing his long-awaited enjoyment... If he hadn't considered that there were so many outsiders present and needed a reason to explain, he would have wanted to go to Sea God Island himself.

Now, if Tang San agreed, it would be killing two birds with one stone—Bo Saixi could contribute to the process of inheriting a Divinity through sacrifice, and her divine soul would gain the qualification to go to the God Realm; and the relationship between the Clear Sky Sect and Spirit Hall could also be eased, even becoming closer.

Why not?

As for Divinities not being able to interfere in mortal affairs... The moment that guy was recognized by the Sea God, he was no longer a complete “human.” His own actions were irrelevant; it could only be considered his bad luck.

Tang San refused: “I refuse.”

“Why?” Tang Chen was puzzled, then surprised and angry.

He had racked his brains to come up with such a perfect solution. Coming up with another one would be difficult for him, an old ancestor who wielded a hammer.

Tang San yawned and said, “If I want to become a Divinity, I will strive for it, research it, and create it myself. I don't need the charity of other Divinities.”

546: This world is not just up and down, but also left and right

“It really is—”

Tang Chen suddenly laughed, “Ambitious... So, you also know that after becoming a god, you cannot interfere with human affairs?”

“I know.” Tang San had nothing to hide, “I even told Bibi Dong about it. Speaking of which, I was personally sought out by two gods who descended to the mortal realm, asking me to inherit their God Positions. They even said they were God Kings, Life and Destruction.”

Hearing this, Tang Chen's eyes became solemn. Having communicated with the Asura God King, he had some understanding of the God Realm. Among them, Life and Destruction were two of the Five Great God-Kings of the God Realm.

Could Tang San have really met those two?

“You agreed?”

“I refused.” Tang San's face was calm and composed, “However, the female Life recognized me as her godson.”

The unspoken meaning:

He had someone backing him, a God King, who was also his godmother.

Tang Chen had a lot to say, but didn't know where to start... He swore that in all these years, he had never encountered such an unconventional person and matter. This great-grandson truly refreshed his worldview again and again.

“Talking to you is very interesting.” Finally, Tang Chen said this and brought the topic back to the beginning: “However, are you really unwilling to return to the Haotian Sect? Your father, he misses you very much.”

“Is that so?” Tang San was expressionless, followed by a period of silence, completely killing the conversation.

Looking at Tang San's eyes, which had no ripples, Tang Chen realized that the other party had no concept of blood relations and could not be bound, or rather, did not want to be bound at all.

“Spirit Hall can give you more freedom?”

“Something like that.” Tang San was a little surprised, but still nodded. After all, Tang Chen had lived for so many years, so it wasn't strange that he could see through his thoughts. “Moreover, I think the atmosphere in Spirit Hall is very good. There are many people there, they speak nicely, and everyone is a talent. I really like it there.”

Tang Chen was angry: “There are also many people in the Haotian Sect, and they are all related by blood, making them even closer.”

“There are indeed many people, but I've seen them now, and their minds don't work fast. They only know how to swing hammers.” Tang San commented unceremoniously, “I suggest they go out more, and finally find a school to attend. Otherwise, they are bound to disappear in the long river of history in the future. Each and every one of them looks quite dull.”

Tang Chen trembled with anger: “You...”

“For example, a little girl named Tang Tiantian.” Tang San interrupted Tang Chen and continued, “I think she's also thirteen or fourteen years old, right? But her behavior is like that of a naive... cough, like a five or six-year-old child who is innocent and carefree. At thirteen or fourteen, in a poor family, she should already be able to wash clothes and cook, and might even be married. Among nobles, at thirteen or fourteen, she might already be able to stand on her own.”

“Isn't being innocent and carefree good?” Tang Chen opened his mouth and finally said this sentence, “This proves that our Haotian Sect can protect her and prevent her from experiencing those things.”

“Heh, being innocent and carefree is good, and she indeed doesn't have to accept those things, but does the current Haotian Sect have the right to say that? This is not protecting her, but raising her in captivity.” Tang San sneered. Couldn't he tell that his “innocent and carefree” was ironic?

The greatest love for a child is to let him/her be independent!

From this point of view, Tang Hao did quite well, but it's a pity that he didn't have that kind of heart. If not for Tang San's own tenacious vitality, he wouldn't have lived to awaken his Martial Soul before the age of six.

Therefore, Tang Hao doesn't count.

Before the child truly grew and became independent, he missed the most important companionship.

“I... have nothing to say.” Tang Chen didn't feel that the Sect was wrong on this point. After all, he was born in the “past” and couldn't understand Tang San, who came from another World, was not changed by the rules of this World, and wanted to change the rules of this World.

But there was one thing Tang Chen could be sure of, and that was if Tang San didn't return to the Haotian Sect, then the Haotian Sect would be his opponent and would be eradicated someday in the future.

There was no affection between Tang San and the Haotian Sect.

This was not good.

Very not good.

In a hundred years, he must ascend to the God Realm, and for this peerless great-grandson before him, a hundred years was only one-tenth of a thousand years. Moreover, in his view, Tang San's vitality was extremely strong, far exceeding a thousand years. Perhaps he could stay in the World for more than ten thousand years by relying on that powerful vitality.

The God Realm rules: Gods cannot interfere with the human World.

But now Tang Chen felt that this rule had a big problem and should also include those peerless powerhouses, especially those who reached the peerless level on their own.

Logically speaking, this type of powerhouse should pursue a higher realm and would not be swayed by the power of the mortal World, but the Tang San before him was an anomaly.

Although he didn't focus on power, he seemed to pay special attention to those weak mortals.

“I just want to ask one question, why are you so caring towards those who are not on the same level as you?” Tang Chen asked what he wanted to ask, “I don't understand the research on Soul Guidance Devices and the like, but ever since you joined Spirit Hall, the entire Continent seems to have become restless, and there are more disputes between people.”

“Disputes?” Tang San chuckled, “But fewer people are starving, and more babies are born every year. However, if you really want to ask why, I can only say that as long as ordinary people are well-fed and guided, the wisdom they can unleash is far beyond your imagination, even the gods of the God Realm can only look up in awe.”

“They are just stronger in power and have longer lives than humans, but their thinking and logic are far behind those humans.”

“I don't expect everyone in this World to be extraordinarily wise, but as long as one in a thousand, or even one in ten thousand, of those ordinary people can unleash the brilliance of the wisdom they should possess in a relatively stable environment, it will be enough to accelerate the development of the Douluo Continent tens of thousands of times.”

Tang Chen frowned: “What's the point of this? What use is their wisdom to you? Your power is not on the same level at all, and in terms of identity and status, you are not the same kind of people at all.”

“We live in the same World. Even if some people have never left that remote and poor little village in their lives, as long as they look up, they can see the same vast blue sky and the boundless starry sky. When we take a step, the land beneath our feet is also connected.”

He said this not because Tang San thought of some famous quotes from his previous Life, but because over the years, he had gone from Holy Soul Village to Notting City, and then to Spirit Hall City, and during that time he had also traveled through some towns and villages. His experiences, coupled with his research on the soul, his understanding of the undying True Spirit, and some teachings from “Gu”, made him truly have this realization in his heart.

“People, with the sky above their heads and the earth beneath their feet.”

“Even you, who have become a god, aren't you like this?”

“At least, within a hundred years, it is.”

As for after a hundred years?

Tang Chen ascended and left Douluo Star, naturally also leaving the category of a human from a “physical aspect”.

547: Poseidon's attention

After Tang San went down the mountain, Tang Chen was completely puzzled, not understanding why the other party had such an realization.

It makes sense.

But he didn't agree!

This World is originally about the strong preying on the weak. The strong can dominate the weak, so why sympathize with the weak?

You can help, but why care about their Life and death?

The only reason they live a difficult Life is that their fate is bad, that's all!

"Sigh~"

Tang Chen sighed, his gaze becoming serious, "Tang San will be a great enemy of the Haotian Sect. If the Haotian Sect truly clashes with the Spirit Hall in the future, he will not hesitate to attack the Haotian Sect, even if Hao'er is his biological father..."

"That firm will, unmoved by others, he can truly do something like sacrificing family for righteousness."

"Troublesome!"

"Hao'er is really something, to actually abandon such a talented child..."

"Xiao'er!"

Hearing the call, Tang Xiao quickly came over, bowed and said, "Grandpa, did Xiao San agree?"

"No."

Tang Chen's tone sank, and he said seriously, "I have broken through to level 100, but I cannot interfere with mortal affairs. Within a hundred years, I can guide your cultivation. Therefore, within a hundred years, you can use my power to expand the sect, but there are some people you cannot provoke, so don't provoke them. You don't have that strength."

The most overbearing Tang Chen actually had the thought of compromise at this moment—the first time was bowing his head to the Asura God King. That kind of power made him unable to produce any thought of resistance, and he could only submit.

And with the first time, there was naturally a second time.

Tang San.

Although he was level 100, to be honest, he wasn't confident in keeping Tang San. Otherwise, he wouldn't have wasted so many words just now and would have directly taken action.

No amount of reasoning or truth was as real as his hammer.

However, Tang San's strength was not something he could handle. Moreover, if the commotion was too big, alerting the God Realm would not be pleasant. Tang Chen even had an inexplicable premonition in his heart that once he acted, there was a high probability he would die without a burial place.

A level 100 God, killed by a level 99 person?

How absurd!

But Tang Chen chose to believe his premonition. A strong person's sixth sense would never be wrong.

And after Tang Xiao realized who the person Tang Chen couldn't provoke was, his eyes widened in disbelief: "Grandpa, are you saying that Tang San has also reached the same realm as you?"

"No, he is still level 99, but he possesses the power to slay Gods."

Tang Chen turned his head, looked towards the east, and sighed again, "Compared to me, this old fellow who is bound by the rules of the God Realm after becoming a God, he is the truly strong person standing in the mortal World. Even I have to admit defeat."

Tang Xiao opened his mouth, but couldn't say anything.

"I need to go find my old friend Qian Daoliu to chat. As for the guests who came to the wedding, you handle them."

After saying that, Tang Chen's figure dissipated like mist and disappeared...

...

On the other side, above Sea God Island, Posey brought the six Guardian Title Douluo and Xiao Bai back. The first thing she did was summon Sea Dragon Title Douluo and ask about the Sea God's Son's situation.

"The Sea God's Son is named Huo Ke Neptune. His Martial Soul is the trident, carrying the ultimate Water element. Its appearance is highly similar to Sea God's golden trident."

Sea Dragon mainly introduced Huo Ke's Martial Soul situation, as this was likely the main reason Sea God chose Huo Ke as the successor.

"A Martial Soul similar to the Sea God Trident?"

Posey was thoughtful. She ordered the Guardian Title Douluo of the other Six Sacred Pillars to return to their respective posts and planned to meet Huo Ke herself.

Xiao Bai, however, asked, "Lord Posey, what about your wedding with Tang Chen?"

Bringing this up, Posey was a little angry, but she still said calmly, "At least until Huo Ke fails the assessment, or successfully completes the ninth test, Tang Chen and I cannot be together. As the Sea God's High Priest, I cannot ignore the Sea God's successor. I must constantly monitor his assessment progress."

"High Priest, how about..."

Sea Dragon, the only one left, had a flickering gaze. Although they were all followers of Sea God, they had never truly seen Sea God and were more willing to believe Posey.

And they only knew that when the Sea God's Ninth Test began, it would be the moment Lord Posey sacrificed her Life.

Sea Dragon and the others did not want Posey to sacrifice herself.

So what if Huo Ke was Sea God's successor?

Posey was the faith closest to them, while Sea God was too distant. Most importantly, they weren't familiar with Huo Ke.

"Sea God's faith cannot be blasphemed."

Posey stated her attitude and dismissed Sea Dragon and the Demon Soul Great White Shark King Xiao Bai. However, what she was truly thinking in her heart was unknown.

After all, Posey wouldn't be in a very good mood towards the Sea God successor who disrupted her happiest moment.

Now, it depended on whether Tang Chen could convince his great-grandson. If he could, then she would kill the other party in the assessment without a second thought.

If he couldn't be convinced, then this Huo Ke would be the backup key for her to reunite with Tang Chen in the God Realm in the future.

Walking out of Haishen Hall, Posey saw Huo Ke and his two companions who were cultivating on the twelfth step. She thought to herself, "Quite smart, knowing how to use the pressure of Sea God's Light for cultivation. Not only can it improve Soul Power, but it can also be used to temper the body. Especially for the successor of Sea God, the longer they cultivate in this Sea God's Light, the higher their compatibility with Sea God will be."

When Huo Ke and the others finished cultivating, they saw Posey slowly walking down the steps. They immediately stood up and bowed, saying, "Greetings, Senior High Priest of Sea God Island."

"No need for formalities."

Posey smiled slightly, her gaze lingering on Tang Luoya for a few seconds, and asked, "The aura on your body is similar to that of Hao Tian Disciples. Are you from the Haotian Sect?"

"Precisely."

Tang Luoya was surprised. He hadn't even revealed his Martial Soul, yet the other party could tell he was from the Haotian Sect. Could it be that his identity held no secrets for these top powerhouses?

"No need to be so surprised. For someone familiar, where you come from and what style you have can be known with just a glance."

Posey saw that the other party was a bit nervous and couldn't help but answer his question, "Speaking of which, today was supposed to be my wedding day with Tang Chen. But who would have thought that you three would disrupt it?"

Huo Ke, Feng Ming, Tang Luoya, and the others exchanged glances, cold sweat breaking out on their backs. Especially Huo Ke, his heart grew even colder—in the original work, Posey had planned to kill the original Tang San during the sixth test because she didn't want to sacrifice herself for Tang San to start the final ninth test. After all, Posey had an agreement with Tang Chen.

Now it was even worse. On the day of Posey and Tang Chen's wedding, he just happened to obtain the Sea God's Nine Tests, and at the same time disrupted Posey and Tang Chen's good event, offending both sides...

It would be best to be careful in the future.

Otherwise, with this "old woman's" petty mind, he would probably die without a burial place when going through the sixth test. After all, in terms of combat, he didn't dare say he was better than the original Tang San from the Wuxia World...

He only hoped that guy Sea God really wanted to run away and would be willing to help more.

And Sea God in the God Realm was indeed paying attention to what was happening in his inheritance place. He even sensed Posey's hint of killing intent through the Sea God's Light, and his scalp tingled: "Does it have to be such a coincidence?"

Forget it. With Posey's devout faith in me, she wouldn't do such a thing. Moreover, this might not be one of the tests for the successor. It's just that the Sea God's Heart seems to have had an accident. It's probably gone because of that descendant of Tang Chen...

That Deep Sea Demon Whale King is also part of the assessment. Let Huo Ke find a way to kill it in the future, obtain its whale pearl, and recast it. With my help in secret, it should be fine."

"It's been so many years, this successor cannot have problems. I need to pay attention..."

548: Measures to be taken against the Killing City

After Tang San came down from Tang Chen, Hu Liena approached him and asked, "What did that Divinity tell you? He wouldn't be trying to get you to return to the Clear Sky Sect, then cooperate from the inside out to launch a sneak attack on Spirit Hall, would he?"

"The people of the Clear Sky Sect mostly have muscles for brains; they wouldn't think of a sneak attack strategy." Tang San denied Hu Liena's latter guess, then said, "Get ready, it's time to go back. This place is truly boring."

The Clear Sky Sect still lived in the past.

Tang Chen's return not only didn't make them reflect, but instead made them feel like their backbone had returned... One can only say that such a Sect has no future and will eventually disappear into the long river of history.

"Indeed, the disciples of the Clear Sky Sect basically think with hammers. Spirit Masters are warlike, but not to their extent." Hu Liena recalled what she had seen and heard in the Clear Sky Sect in places where other forces were allowed to visit. The disciples were basically all sparring. Besides that, they didn't seem to do anything else.

And the other miscellaneous tasks of the Sect were all done by the Strength Clan, the Defense Clan, and some others whose Spirit was not the Clear Sky Hammer.

The people of the Clear Sky Sect seemed to truly have only muscles in their brains.

If it was said that they were deliberately demonstrating in front of outsiders...

Impossible!

Actions can be disguised, expressions can be changed, words can be insincere, but habits formed over several years cannot be changed overnight.

What's more, the entire Clear Sky Sect was extremely proud and disdained to hide their true thoughts. When asked about some secrets that shouldn't be asked, they would at most avoid the topic. Most people couldn't even think of changing the subject.

After the two returned to the Clear Sky Sect's mountain gate, they greeted the rest of Spirit Hall and prepared to leave.

The Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, and others also planned to leave together, as staying there would only lead to awkwardness.

Especially Ning Fengzhi, who found that there was not much common ground or business cooperation between the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School and the Clear Sky Sect, couldn't help but sigh: The Clear Sky Sect has declined.

Although Tang Chen becoming a Divinity was considered to have propped up the Clear Sky Sect again, a hundred years later, when he ascends to the God Realm, what will become of the Clear Sky Sect?

Perhaps because of Tang Chen, the Clear Sky Sect will have many Titled Douluo, but looking at the current situation, the disciples of the Clear Sky Sect can no longer keep up with the ever-changing new era. Even with more powerful individuals, what can they do? Can they really rely on the number of powerful individuals to forcibly cooperate with other forces, or collect protection fees?

Don't be ridiculous!

The times have changed!

Moreover, if we really talk about the number of powerful individuals, Spirit Hall, with Tang San, will only have more Titled Douluo after a hundred years of development. Even the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School and the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan will be friendly with Spirit Hall, forming a complete community of interests. What will the Clear Sky Sect use to fight then?

After returning to Spirit City, Tang San reported the general situation to Bibi Dong, then said, "Currently, to deal with Tang Chen, we either force him to ascend to the God Realm, or make him violate the rules of the God Realm."

"For the former, when the Sea God's successor breaks through level 100, Tang Chen will most likely follow Bo Saixi to the God Realm; he is a relatively infatuated person. For the latter, it's to constantly provoke him, but the methods are not very honorable, and Spirit Hall is now upright and not suitable for doing such things."

"There is also another way, which is to wait for the Blue Silver Network to cover the entire Douluo Star, find all the Divinity inheritance places, erase the coordinates, and cut off the spatial passages."

"Or, control the spatial passages in our hands."

This, of course, is to use the Starry Sky World and Tang San's ninth spirit ring: the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, to communicate with the God Realm. After all, for the Douluo Star World to grow, it also needs high-quality origin energy.

Immortal Spiritual Energy is quite good.

"Then let's go with the third method, after all, what we lack least now is time." Bibi Dong made her decision, then asked, "So, what do you think about Sea God Island? How should we deal with the Sea God's successor when he becomes a Divinity in the future?"

"Divinity successors are much easier to deal with than those who independently gather faith to become a Divinity, because they more or less know the rules of the God Realm and will not act recklessly after becoming a Divinity." Tang San said indifferently, "Moreover, the path to becoming a Divinity is not smooth sailing, and he may not necessarily succeed."

"As for how to treat Sea God Island..."

"Expanding territory is not something Spirit Hall should do."

Spirit Hall has not yet established a nation, so it naturally doesn't need to worry about the size of an Empire's territory; it just needs a reasonable reason to deal with Sea God Island.

For example: Emperor Qinghe of the Heaven Dou Empire, considering the importance of coastal defense, wants to include Sea God Island in the coastal defense circle.

It is obvious that Bo Saixi of Sea God Island will definitely not agree.

This will inevitably lead to conflict, and Spirit Hall will have a reason to act. Given the current relationship between Sea God Island and the Clear Sky Sect, Tang Chen might get involved, which would be killing two birds with one stone.

"Indeed, Xue'er needs to work harder." Bibi Dong decided to write a letter, asking her to resolve the New Heaven Dou Federation as soon as possible, recover Heaven Dou's original territory, and then, while developing the Empire, also advance towards Sea God Island... This Divinity inheritance place closest to the Douluo Continent, it's best to find a way to deal with it first.

And speaking of Divinity inheritance places, within the Douluo Continent, there are also the inheritance places of the Angel God and the Asura God.

There's no need to worry about the Angel God's inheritance place; the former Angel God has already died, so there's no need to bother, only a God Position remains in the World; as for the Asura God's inheritance place...

most of the entrances and exits of Slaughter City have been sealed, but its continued existence in the World is always troublesome.

"Regarding Slaughter City, I have an idea—"

Iliex already possesses the soul imprint throne of goodness and death, but staying in his upper dantian, or the Starry Sky World, isn't a permanent solution; he needs his own territory.

Conveniently, this ownerless city of Slaughter City can be cleaned up and provided for Iliex to reside in.

As for the issue of Slaughter City belonging to the Asura God?

His godmother is still the Goddess of Life!

Moreover, as an enforcer of the God Realm, the Asura God should be magnanimous towards mortals. In the original work, the protagonist destroyed Slaughter City, and he didn't seem to care much.

It is estimated that Slaughter City was just one of the Asura God's backup plans for choosing an inheritor. If he truly favored someone, it wouldn't be impossible for him to directly send a divine sense down to invite them.

Of course, even if the worst-case scenario occurs and the Asura God descends to question him, then he can just test the gap between his current self and the God King level.

If the commotion is too great and alarms the God Realm, then it will be the Asura God King's fault for making trouble with him, a mortal.

"Then Slaughter City will be handed over to you, but how do you plan to deal with it?" Bibi Dong trusted Tang San, but was also curious about how Tang San would specifically do it.

"Mainly because I have a friend..."

"But it's not suitable for him to appear now. Once Slaughter City is reformed, I will introduce him to you."

549: The establishment of the Nether World and the theory of Wuhunzi's entanglement system

Slaughter City.

Arriving at this "City of the Dead" once again, Tang San had a different feeling—the space here was between reality and dimension. To put it simply, it was at the endpoint of the spatial passage between the God Realm and the Douluo Continent, similar to a transfer station, but only God Realm could pass through. Ordinary people, even powerhouses of the peerless level, could not break through the space to enter the God Realm.

Walking within Slaughter City, the former flesh and bones had long since turned to dust and vanished in this special environment with divine power fluctuations. Only the broken buildings highlighted its past "prosperity."

Tang San arrived at the center of what was once the Slaughter King's palace. There was an array pattern composed of strange lines, which was the true gate to the God Realm.

"This is it."

Iliex's figure emerged. After observing the area for a while, he said to Tang San, "Release your Martial Soul. Eternal Lord and I will cut off this connection. From now on, Asura God will lose a coordinate. If he wants to observe the lower realm, he will either have to observe through Soul Master who have been bestowed with the God of Slaughter Domain, or he will need to go through the inheritance grounds left in the lower realm by other God Realm."

This would inevitably alert the enemy.

However, Tang San released his Blue Silver Emperor and planted it in the ground where the spatial passage was located, working with Eternal Lord to destroy the corresponding passage lines.

How can anything be accomplished by being timid?

Furthermore, from a human perspective, isn't developing a deserted city the most normal thing? It's just that by accident, the spatial passage left by Asura God was cut off, that's all.

As the spatial passage was severed, the Asura God power within the entire Slaughter City could not be maintained and gradually dispersed. The entire underground World began to shake, as if it could collapse at any moment.

But the shaking only lasted for about ten seconds before stopping, because the Blue Silver Emperor's roots had already spread throughout the entire Slaughter City, re-stabilizing the corresponding foundations.

After the space of Slaughter City was re-stabilized, Iliex released the soul imprint throne of goodness and death, leaning it against the Blue Silver Emperor.

The Blue Silver Emperor's leaves wrapped around it and lifted it to the top.

The eighteen layers of hell space within this Soul Imprint Throne were originally connected to the Starry Sky World. Now that the Soul Imprint Throne had come to reality and established a connection with this space, they combined with each other, making the entire Slaughter City a part of the eighteen layers of hell.

"Haha! Netherworld Ghost Gate! It's done!" Iliex's figure gradually solidified, becoming indistinguishable from a real human body, as if he had been completely resurrected.

However, Tang San could see that Iliex had not obtained a physical body. Instead, it was because the eighteen layers of hell space within the Soul Imprint Throne had combined with the space of Slaughter City, plus the stability provided by the Blue Silver Emperor's Starry Sky World, that allowed him to live like a real person within this space between reality and illusion.

This meant that within Slaughter City, Iliex was essentially alive, and as long as the power of others could not reach the level of destroying the entire Slaughter City, then they would be crushed by Iliex.

The entire Slaughter City had become Iliex's Domain!

Although from the perspective of external length, width, and height, the scope of Slaughter City was only slightly larger than Heaven Dou City, in reality, the internal space had already been bound to the eighteen layers of hell within the soul imprint throne of goodness and death, and that eighteen layers of hell space was bound to the Starry Sky World within the Blue Silver Emperor.

As long as the Starry Sky World continued to grow, the space here could also expand indefinitely.

Similarly, as this Domain is upgraded, the Starry Sky World can also receive feedback and grow rapidly.

"Come out!"

"My most loyal servants!"

Following Iliex's call, a humanoid undead monarch emerged from the soul imprint throne of goodness and death. It was the undead creature created by Iliex using countless undead, and also the artifact Spirit of this Soul Imprint Throne.

It was seen constantly splitting, transforming into thousands of undead of varying sizes, appearances, and genders, and began to quickly clean up Slaughter City, repairing and rebuilding the damaged areas.

According to Tang San's estimation, at this efficiency, the entire Slaughter City could be completely renovated in less than half a month.

These undead did not need rest, food, or wages; they were simply the most perfect workers. The only problem was that after the artifact Spirit split into so many undead, it lost its mind. Whatever they did, it required Iliex's personal command, otherwise, it was easy to mess things up.

However, if the soul imprint throne of goodness and death could be promoted to the level of Nine-Pattern Forging and become a Super God Tool, then the artifact Spirit's intelligence would inevitably be stronger, and it might even become a true Life.

"With these undead, rebuilding this place is simply easy." Iliex stroked his beard and smiled proudly, "Perhaps, in the future, this place can be completely renamed the Netherworld."

"How long will it take to completely build this place?"

"It will probably take three to five years, and the only beings that can live here for a long time are souls."

Iliex pondered, "Originally, when all living beings died, their souls would dissipate, but relying on my Netherworld and the soul imprint throne of goodness and death, I can actively attract the souls of those who die outside. However, during this process, most souls that are far from the Netherworld will dissipate along the way due to the external environment. The best way is to send people to bring the souls of the deceased here."

Tang San's expression was strange. Wasn't this the job of Ox-Head and Horse-Face, and Black and White Impermanence?

However, it was not convenient to collect souls all over the World. The team of Black and White Impermanence and Ox-Head and Horse-Face could not be small. It was definitely not suitable to let people handle it. It would require the artifact Spirit of the soul imprint throne of goodness and death to split into billions of avatars to search.

However, the current artifact Spirit certainly could not cover the entire Continent. The roots of his Blue Silver Emperor would have to lay the foundation first before the range of the soul imprint throne of goodness and death could cover the entire Douluo Continent, Douluo Star, and even the entire star system in the future.

It was just how to get the roots of the Blue Silver Emperor to cover other planets in the future?

Could it be that the Blue Silver Emperor would be used as a rope to connect multiple planets?

That was definitely not the case.

After all, everything in the universe is in motion. It should be to make the Blue Silver Emperor evolve again, transforming into a conceptual existence, carrying out connections similar to quantum entanglement.

What is quantum entanglement?

Two particles are entangled, and even if they are far apart, the behavior of one particle will affect the state of the other.

To put it simply, after two particles form a system, even if they are separated by a great distance in space, they can still influence each other.

If only technological means were used, even if Douluo Continent developed for another million years, it would not be able to utilize quantum convenience. But relying on the special nature of Martial Soul, it might be possible.

Martial Soul, existing between energy and material objects, in a sense, isn't it a relatively special "quantum" entanglement system?

To give a more obvious example, Tang San planted many Blue Silver Emperor plants. As long as he wanted, his mental will could manifest through any one of them, even if the roots between these Blue Silver Emperor were not connected. And if any one of them was touched with Soul Power, the other plants would also change and tremble. How could this not be called "quantum entanglement"?

However, due to the special nature of Martial Soul, it might be called "Martial Soul Particle" entanglement.

Planting the Blue Silver Emperor in space in the future will probably require first perfecting the "Martial Soul Particle Entanglement System Theory"...

550: Awareness of the Divine Realm

After Slaughter City was renamed Netherworld, Iliex planned to stay there and prepare to build a future home for the immeasurable undead.

However, this does not mean that Iliex and Tang San broke contact. The soul imprint throne of goodness and death is still connected to the Starry Sky World, and the Blue Silver Network is enough for Iliex to communicate with Tang San anytime, anywhere.

Moreover, because Iliex does not intend to truly resurrect at this time, with the permission given by Tang San, he can also travel to any Blue Silver Emperor through the Starry Sky World, greatly increasing his freedom.

According to him, after resurrection, going to find Tang San would require a long journey to Spirit Hall City. Whether it's flying or opening up space, it's very troublesome.

Secondly, this Netherworld is the residence of the dead, and it is not suitable for the living to come.

Furthermore, he is already dead. If he is resurrected, can he still be the master of this underworld? It's better to be in this half-dead state.

Moreover, Iliex also plans to compare with Tang San to see if he can cultivate "qi and blood" energy without a physical body.

After all, based on previous research on the souls of those The Fallen and criminals, the soul itself is not purely illusory energy, and it seems to possess corresponding "blood."

Tang San also had some expectations for this.

"When are you going back?"

"Later." Tang San looked back, sat on the soul imprint throne of goodness and death, "There are uninvited guests coming."

Uninvited guests...

...

In the God Realm, the Asura God, who was listening to the Sea God's incessant complaints, suddenly moved his divine sense and his eyes became serious, saying: "Stop for a moment, the place of inheritance I left in Douluo Continent has been destroyed, and even the space channel has collapsed."

"What?" The Sea God was shocked, revealing an unbelievable look, "Your place of inheritance has been destroyed? Could it be that the humans there filled it up? I told you before, don't build the place of inheritance underground. Now it's good, it's been filled as a big pit, right?"

The Asura God was covered in black lines, and said: "I have a hunch that things are not that simple. It's just that the space channel is broken, and I can't collect the corresponding information, but I can sense a gloomy aura."

"Gloomy? Could it be the Rakshasa God?" The Sea God thought of something and frowned slightly. That guy became a God at the same time as him and the Angel God, but at the beginning, he didn't know that the Asura God had descended from the God Realm, and he tampered with his place of inheritance. Then, after ascending to the God Realm, he was "law enforced" by the Asura God.

However, the Rakshasa God should have divine consciousness remaining in Douluo Continent. Could it be done by his inheritor?

Then the Asura God is really unlucky.

After all, before becoming a God, the rules of the God Realm cannot restrain the other party. The Asura God can only suffer this loss, and he cannot deliberately make trouble because of this afterward. He must find other reasons.

"No."

The Asura God denied the Sea God's guess. How could he not know the Rakshasa God's aura?

That aura:

Gloomy, but mixed with a trace of light.

Cold and lonely, but carrying mental fluctuations.

It seems like death, but the death attribute should not be so strange, and being able to destroy the passage of Slaughter City proves that its origin has reached the level of a God, perhaps someone is creating a Godhood on their own.

"Why don't you go chat with the other God Kings?" The Sea God suggested.

"Humph! Those guys don't care about this kind of trivial matter. If they want to have fun, there must be existences in the lower realm who break through the mortal realm and violate the rules first. Otherwise, those two guys will not cause trouble at will. We have formulated the rules, and we must naturally abide by them. If we don't set an example, how will the other Gods look at us?"

The Asura God snorted coldly and said quietly, "Although the strength of the God Kings far exceeds the other Gods, if all of you unite and don't look for inheritors, just run out, we can't stop all of you either."

"If we want to find loopholes in the rules we made, there must be existences who violate the rules first."

The Sea God smiled sheepishly: "Look at what you're saying, brother. We are all relatively responsible. How could we run away without even passing down the Godhood? After all, this is also to strengthen the God Realm."

"That's not necessarily true. You Gods who ascended later are much more complicated than us Gods who were born innately in this World." The Asura God seemed to be implying something. After all, as an enforcer, he can often go to the lower realm. The more humans he comes into contact with, the more he is like a human than Goodness, Evil, Life, and Destruction. It is precisely because he possesses the curiosity of humans that he has the idea of exploring a wider universe, rather than living in a corner.

The Sea God was speechless.

Even if they want to unite, the number of Gods who ascended later must be a little more. Now, apart from those Second-Level Gods, Third-Level Gods, and God Officials, the number of Ascenders at the Main God level is less than fifty. How can they compete with the God Kings?

As for the Ascenders below the Main God, those who followed the First-Level Gods are quite a few, but that kind of strength, when placed in front of the God Kings, is the type to be instantly killed. What's the use of uniting?

"Alright, let's skip this topic. I'll borrow your place of inheritance. I'll send a wisp of divine sense down to see who is causing trouble. If he ascends in the future and belongs to my lineage, see how I deal with him." After the Asura God finished speaking, without waiting for the Sea God to agree, he directly separated a trace of divine consciousness and used the Sea God's inheritance space channel to go to Douluo Continent.

Sea God: "...". This guy, saying it's borrowing, but the actual operation is no different from blatant robbery... Forget it, who told me to have a better relationship with him? If it weren't for his guidance back then, I couldn't interfere with the development of humans on a large scale, and the Angel God's experience might have fallen on me at that time.

After a while, the Asura God's divine sense transmitted back the picture. The originally murderous and red-light-filled Slaughter City had become full of gray mist, gloomy and dark. On both sides of the buildings, there were clusters of ghostly fire in pale blue, pale white, and cold green floating. On the streets, there were various soulless souls walking. Amidst the chaos, it actually revealed a trace of order.

"How did your place of inheritance become like this?" The Sea God widened his eyes and smacked his lips, "Are these all soul bodies? Could it be that someone really condensed the death Godhood? By the way, at the God level, is the God of death a Second-Level God or a First-Level God?"

Relying on the feeling transmitted back by that wisp of divine sense, the Asura God's eyes were particularly solemn, and he uttered two words: "God King."

"What?!" The Sea God picked his ears, suspecting that he had misheard, and said with a sneer: "Brother, you must be joking, right? God King level?"

"I never joke." The Asura God frowned, and that wisp of divine sense continued to move forward, heading to the central palace of the Netherworld. The original Slaughter Palace was also stained with a layer of gloom, and in the center, a dark blue Blue Silver Emperor supported the entire space, with a peculiar throne on it.

"Artifact!" X2

The Asura God and the Sea God said in unison, and then they saw the figure sitting on the throne...

551: Awareness of the Divine Realm (continued)

“That guy...”

Asura God’s eyes became strange.

Tang San.

The “son” of Life and Destruction.

He naturally knew him...

But why did he possess the aura of death?

Could it be that Life + Destruction = death?

This deduction actually makes a lot of sense. Destroyed Life, isn't that “death”?

“You know him?” Sea God asked in surprise.

“I do. He’s the person I once told you about, who simultaneously controlled both Life and Destruction attributes, and was even adopted as a godson by Goddess of Life,” Asura God recounted the matter in detail.

“Godson? Then wouldn’t I have to call him Young Master?” Sea God’s face was filled with black lines. After all, Sea God was a Divinity under Goddess of Life’s lineage and could not offend Goddess of Life or anyone related to her, otherwise, he would be subjected to a husband-and-wife tag-team beating from Life and Destruction.

Asura God ignored the clowning Sea God and transformed into a dark red divine light, heading towards the center of the God Realm Committee, applying for a meeting with the Five Great God-Kings.

Soon, Goodness, Evil, Life, and Destruction all arrived.

“Asura, is something the matter?” Goodness asked.

“Someone in the lower realm has condensed a God Position, and it seems to be based on the concept of death,” Asura God reported to the Supreme God Kings.

“death? Is it the God of death?” Evil became interested. “If he ascends to God Realm, shouldn’t he belong to my lineage? After all, death is always accompanied by Evil, hehehe.”

“His God Position doesn’t seem to be fully condensed yet, and it also seems to be more than just the concept of death... But I have a feeling that once he succeeds, he will reach the God-King level, even comparable to you two.” Asura God, relying on that wisp of divine sense, projected a scene—Tang San sat upon the soul imprint throne of goodness and death, looking forward, at a Nether Space teeming with demons and monsters, where countless undead walked orderly within the city, truly a scene of a hundred ghosts walking at night.

“This person...” Evil was stunned, then suddenly looked at Destruction and Life. “Isn’t he your son?”

Destruction’s expression sank, and he corrected, “At most, he’s a godson. Moreover, Life acknowledged him; I haven’t acknowledged him yet.”

Life gave Destruction a speechless look, then gazed at the scene in the image, her brows slightly furrowed, then she realized, “So that’s it. He has merged Life and Destruction, giving birth to the death attribute. Furthermore, there’s also light, indicating that he has retained goodness in his heart. He is a Good God of death.”

A Good God of death?

Evil God glanced at Goodness beside him, his expression becoming strange—a God of death, just hearing it sounds incredibly evil, yet he still retained goodness. Could it be that the intertwining of Life and Destruction would lead to “death”?

death belongs to the Evil lineage, but it actually retained goodness... It felt like Tang San had transformed from the son of Life and Destruction into the son of him, Evil, and Goodness.

What a strange fellow!

This matter absolutely cannot be spread outside the God Realm Committee, nor can it be joked about anymore, otherwise, the Divinities would not know how to view them, these four God-Kings: four Divinities, giving birth to the same son, how chaotic would their relationships be?

The thoughts of the Four Great God-Kings were surprisingly consistent. They exchanged glances and decided to set this matter aside. Asura God-King also thought of this, but an inexplicable surge of anger rose in his heart.

After all, among the Five Great God-Kings, it seemed he was the only Asura who had no connection to Tang San. Furthermore, these four had always been in pairs, leaving him to chat only with Sea God...

These guys always excluded him!

“Cough cough!” Destruction coughed twice, breaking the silence, and looked at Asura God, saying, “Tang San hasn’t become a Divinity yet, has he? Could it be that because the son of Life and I has the potential to reach the God-King, or even Supreme God Kings level, you’re jealous?”

Godson?

No!

This is definitely a biological son!

“The existence of God-King level is the more the better for God Realm, only then can God Realm continuously expand and become an incomparably stable Divine Star,” Life objectively explained the benefits of God-King level existence to God Realm, “A God-King level God Position can make the God Realm core more stable.”

“I’m not that petty,” Asura God frowned. “It’s just that for Tang San, as the son of Destruction and Life, to rashly occupy my inheritance ground, isn’t that inappropriate?”

“Your inheritance ground?” Goodness and Evil became interested, and also released two divine senses, passing through the spatial channel, to Douluo Continent to investigate...

Goodness then nodded: “It is indeed yours, but—”

“Don’t be so petty,” Evil chimed in with a laugh. “He’s just a mortal; it doesn’t count as violating the rules we set. You’re already a God-King; there’s no need. Besides, your Slaughter City was already polluted by Rakshasa God. Now that he’s cleaned it up, it’s just right.”

“As Life’s godson, shouldn’t he know some rules?” Asura God was being a bit unreasonable.

“What do you intend to do?” Life understood what Asura wanted to achieve.

Asura God suddenly smiled: “I think Tang San can inherit my God Position. After all, doesn’t he still have a Clear Sky Hammer Spirit? It would be perfect for...”

Destruction: “No.”

He now admitted that Tang San was his and Life’s godson. If the Destruction attribute was replaced by Asura’s killing intent, wouldn’t Tang San become Asura’s godson?

You, Asura!

With thick eyebrows and big eyes, he looked quite honest, but he actually wanted to snatch his son and wife!

Life shook her head: “No, this death attribute is nurtured by the Life attribute and the Destruction attribute. If it’s mixed with killing intent, it won’t be pure, and it might even lead to the failure of the ‘Good God of death’ God Position to fully form in the end.”

Goodness nodded, agreeing with Life’s view: “That makes sense, and this point of goodness must be preserved.”

Evil, on the other hand, looked at Asura with a hint of reproach: “Speaking of which, Asura, are you so eager to go on strike? We’re all brothers and sisters here. If you leave, we’ll miss you terribly.”

However, Asura God wished he could be further away from these two couples, only saying: “Then I have nothing more to say. This meeting wasn’t just about Tang San. The Creator God’s divine artifact that fled to other planes still has no trace. I alone cannot monitor all the planes under God Realm’s jurisdiction.”

“Among them, a certain Nether Space within Vast Continent seems to have undergone a change. A certain Life form within it has reached the demigod level, and given the special nature of that space, an ordinary Second-Grade Divinity might not be its opponent. My subordinate’s Killing God is difficult to deal with, and I need to personally keep an eye on it...”

Goodness separated a wisp of divine consciousness, went to Vast Continent, investigated for a while, and returned to her senses, saying: “That Nether Space is indeed peculiar, but that plane has a connected spatial channel to the Douluo Continent plane... The two planets are not in the same stellar system, so there shouldn’t be a spatial channel. Moreover, that spatial channel was formed after the spatial channels connecting God Realm to the two planes became entangled.”

Evil frowned: “Are there too many spatial channels connecting to Douluo Continent, causing them to become entangled with the spatial channels connecting to Vast Continent?”

“Douluo Continent is the hometown of the Dragon God, and it has the most spiritual energy, so the probability of extraordinary geniuses appearing there is the highest. Didn’t Sea God, Angel God, and Rakshasa God, three Divinities, appear there last time?” Destruction held up three fingers, giving examples, “It’s just that Angel and Rakshasa violated the rules of God Realm and were killed, but their corresponding God Positions, spatial channels, and inheritance spaces still remain and are connected to God Realm.”

Life, however, had a different opinion: “That’s not quite right. Even if there are many spatial channels, they are extremely stable and won’t entangle like ordinary ropes... Perhaps there has been some fluctuation in the spacetime of the grand cosmos, causing the spatial channels to diverge.”

As soon as these words were spoken, the other four Divinities were immediately startled.

In the universe, spacetime fluctuations are not uncommon, and God Realm has experienced many large and small spacetime fluctuations, even dealing with spacetime turbulence.

More dangerous spacetime turbulence can cause spatial channels to become chaotic.

Perhaps this is a premonition!

And this kind of spacetime turbulence cannot affect material planes, but for energy planes like God Realm, it is extremely dangerous.

“Let the Divinities be vigilant within the next hundred years, investigate their respective jurisdictions, and report immediately if any spacetime fluctuations are discovered,” Goodness God’s expression was extremely solemn, “Spacetime turbulence capable of entangling the spatial channels connecting God Realm to two planes without our five sensing it must be extremely powerful. Perhaps this will be a catastrophe for God Realm, and also a test from the will of the grand cosmos. If we cannot overcome it, perhaps the entire God Realm will collapse.”

Evil God also said seriously: “Now, I have a different view of that Tang San. Perhaps he was born to resolve the crisis of God Realm, a glimmer of hope brought to us by the will of the grand cosmos.”

Asura God: “.....”

552: The "human" of martial soul fusion: control

“Alright, the uninvited guests have left,” Tang San said to Iliex, getting down from the soul imprint throne of goodness and death. “It should have been hidden for now. If they come again, you can disguise yourself as me. This is an advantage of not having a flesh and blood body; you can change your appearance at will, and with the help of this Blue Silver Emperor, unless it’s someone I’m most intimate with, they won’t recognize me.”

“The God Realm is indeed a problem, Brother Tang. You must quickly plant the Blue Silver Emperor throughout the entire planet, find all traces of Divinity, and cut off the spatial通道 to the God Realm.” Iliex was a bit worried. Although relying on the soul imprint throne of goodness and death and the Starry Sky World within the Blue Silver Emperor, he was not inferior in strength to a true Divinity, but there were too many gods in the God Realm.

Indeed, even in the cosmos, when you’re out and about, you need to talk about influence and background. If you don’t have them, you have to establish your own power first.

“I’ll try my best. After all, Douluo Continent hasn’t been unified yet, not to mention the Sun Moon Empire,” Tang San said, indicating that this kind of thing couldn’t be rushed and could only be done step by step. Otherwise, taking too big a step and tearing something would be bad.

After returning to Spirit City, Tang San summoned the Twelve Yuanchen and continued the experiments on Martial Soul Fusion between the twelve of them, but the effect was still the same as usual. Without the will of “Gu,” the twelve found it difficult to control the “Human” that was fused.

Therefore, after Tang San used the Heavenly Dao to analyze the energy circulation rules within the “Human” body, he created a special method of circulating essence, qi, and Spirit. He integrated himself into it and found that in the process of integrating with this “Human,” it was equivalent to awakening a Spirit for the “Human,” allowing it to use the Blue Silver Emperor and the Clear Sky Hammer. However, only one Spirit could be used at a time, and to use the other Spirit, one needed to disengage from the fusion and then perform another fusion.

For this purpose, Tang San also invited Yu Tianheng and Dugu Yan, who were on vacation, to help with the experiment. He found that after they integrated into the “Human” according to the method he provided, the “Human” also transformed into their respective appearances, and they could also use their corresponding Spirit abilities, with their power magnified dozens or even hundreds of times.

Subsequently, Tang San found other Spirit Masters to conduct the experiment and found that the effect remained the same. This “Human” was like a “Spirit Master Amplifier”; anyone who integrated into it could magnify their body and abilities.

From this perspective, the “Human” formed by the fusion of the Twelve Yuanchen could be controlled by anyone, and no matter how strong the final controller was, their strength could be exerted between ninety-ninth and one hundredth level, while the amount of spirit power determined the length of time they could control it.

【Twelve Yuanchen + Controller】 —this was the true Martial Soul Fusion. If the spiritual will of the twelve could not be unified, then another person was needed to control it, serving as the ultimate leader.

Between the controller and the “Human” formed by the fusion of the Twelve Yuanchen, there was also a compatibility, which was whether they could perfectly control the body after fusion.

This point was not very important, after all, anyone entering an unfamiliar body would need a process of practice to adapt, just like a child learning to walk at one or two years old, it takes time.

And maintaining the fusion of “Human” and “Controller” required a large amount of energy, jointly provided by the Twelve Yuanchen and the controller.

On this point, the Twelve Yuanchen and the controller were separate.

Although both sides jointly drove the fused body, the Twelve Yuanchen provided the energy to maintain the “Human” form, while the controller provided the energy to drive the “Human” into action.

If the controller’s spirit power was exhausted first, they would be actively repelled, causing the “Human” to stiffen and stand still.

And if the Twelve Yuanchen’s spirit power ran out first, the “Human” body would naturally collapse, forcing the controller to revert to their original body.

Of course, the Physical Martial Soul of the Twelve Yuanchen could not completely fuse into a Human. If the Spirits of these twelve people were more complete, the fused “Human” might be able to autonomously absorb the energy of heaven and earth, building a natural circulation system. At that time, it might reduce the consumption of the Twelve Yuanchen, and they might not even need to provide additional spirit power to maintain it.

Tang San’s initial goal was merely to understand the way energy operated from this “Human.”

However, to achieve this, more Physical Martial Soul owners would need to be added to the Twelve Yuanchen. Spirit Hall had many Physical Martial Soul owners, but their spirit power was low, and there was no tacit understanding or trust between them and the Twelve Yuanchen.

Other than that, they could only wait for the twelve to reawaken their Physical Martial Soul in the future to see if their Spirit could become more complete.

However, this time, Tang San did not take Shen Hou and others to the Eternal Domain to accelerate their growth, after all, they were also living beings and needed to have their own lives, not just live for cultivation or for his experiments.

“Do you see it?”

Tang San’s experiment was witnessed by Xu Huang and Fu Hongchen. Xu Huang’s mouth was wide open: “Twelve people’s Martial Soul Fusion, and it can be controlled by someone. How strong would that power be?”

“Its might is no less than that of Grandm—You Hongchen,” Fu Hongchen secretly clenched his fists, but eventually released them. At this time, he already knew that You Hongchen had died at Tang San’s hands—

Revenge?

He was willing but powerless.

Moreover, there were many members of the Hongchen family. Fu Hongchen was not a direct descendant of You Hongchen but a collateral branch, only fortunate enough to stay by the Princess’s side because of his good talent.

“I didn’t expect this guy to be so strong, able to defeat the Empire’s Enshrined, and his mind is so smart, he’s a research Grandmaster,” Xu Huang’s eyes lit up. “If we work hard, maybe we can learn all his skills.”

Fu Hongchen was not very confident: “Some things cannot be learned just by watching. His study has hundreds of thousands of books, and we can’t finish them in a lifetime.”

“Then how did he finish them?” Xu Huang retorted, “Those books must be for show.”

“Not necessarily. Peerless powerhouses are already different from ordinary Spirit Masters in terms of Life level. Maybe they have the ability to remember everything at a glance.”

Fu Hongchen spoke fairly, and being from the Hongchen family, he also had some research into spirit tools and possessed research literacy.

“Although the results of his research are priceless, the truly valuable thing is the process of research. Otherwise, if we use what he researched to deal with him, he will definitely beat us until we can’t find north.”

“Most importantly—”

“His strength has reached ninety-ninth level, he is a peerless being in the human world. Let’s first figure out how to learn the advanced aspects here, and then, if he keeps his word, we can talk about returning to the Sun Moon Empire.”

Xu Huang nodded repeatedly: “That makes sense. That’s my plan.”

“You two…….”

553: Xu Huang's Regret (Extra)

“What are you two doing?”

A familiar voice sounded from behind them, startling both of them. They quickly turned around and saw Tang San with a playful expression. They hurriedly said, “Nothing! We didn’t mean to peek!”

“Don’t worry, I won’t do anything to you. Although my experiments are confidential, they aren’t something that can’t see the light of day. After all, given the special nature of Martial Souls, even if you find corresponding Martial Souls in the future, it’s unlikely you’ll successfully fuse. The conditions for Martial Soul Fusion Skills are extremely strict, let alone the fusion of twelve people.”

Tang San said this, then showed a devilish smile, “Of course, if you want to avenge your relatives, I also welcome it.”

“Just you wait!”

Xu Huang pursed her lips and secretly vowed that in the future, she would make Tang San do the hardest and most tiring work, treat him like an ox or a horse, and plow fields for a lifetime.

Compared to the lively and bold Xu Huang, Fu Hongchen was more aware of his current status as a “prisoner.” He quickly pulled Xu Huang and bowed to Tang San, saying, “Sorry, Saint Child, Xu Huang is used to being willful. I will discipline her more in the future.”

“You are a bit boring.” Tang San glanced at the lowered eyes of Fu Hongchen and shook his head. “Although you are prisoners, here with me, you can be bolder. As long as you don’t violate the corresponding moral bottom line and do things that go against the noble education you received, the degree of freedom is actually quite high.”

“Of course, it’s better to forget some of the contents of your noble education for now, after all, you are not nobles anymore.”

Xu Huang’s head was full of black lines. She wanted to say something, but saw that Tang San had already walked away, as if he hadn’t put her in his Heart at all. She immediately became furious and cursed, “What an irresponsible guardian! Isn’t he afraid we’ll run away?”

Fu Hongchen said in a low voice, “We can’t even get out of Spirit Hall City, how can we run?”

“Shut up!”

Xu Huang shouted angrily.

Fu Hongchen: (⊙x⊙;)!

After a while, Xu Huang took deep breaths, her mood gradually calming down. Suddenly, she had an idea and said, “What do you think about us sowing discord?”

Fu Hongchen: “???”

“Doesn’t he have several women? Women, you know, always hope their men are devoted to them. The desire to compete, everyone has it, and women even more so, not to mention they are all powerful Soul Masters, so they must be very proud...”

Listening to Xu Huang’s various “palace intrigue schemes,” cold sweat broke out on Fu Hongchen’s forehead, but it was not surprising, after all, Junzhu was born into the royal family and had witnessed the affairs of His Majesty’s and the late Grand Emperor’s harems.

It’s just—

Is this appropriate?

Moreover, wasn't their initial plan to learn about the advanced aspects and corresponding systems of Spirit Hall City?

Sowing discord takes a lot of time.

"Now I understand, the most troublesome person on this Continent is Tang San. As long as we deal with him, wouldn't it mean that the Sun Moon Continent surpasses the Douluo Continent?" Xu Huang felt that she had seen through the essence of things. "And he said that after Dai's Heart was pierced by him, he went to other planes... This might be true. He is holding us, or rather, mainly holding me, so that one day he can deal with Dai who might return in the future."

Although it sounded reasonable, Fu Hongchen still didn't believe that Xu Huang went to other planes.

How could His Majesty lose?

As for piercing the Heart, that's even more impossible!

However, there was one thing that Fu Hongchen had to admit, and that was that the army that first arrived on this Continent had been completely wiped out. In the past few days, he had also witnessed the scenes of the Sun Moon Army being judged and executed, and had even seen Tang San sitting on the Wisdom and Spirit Soul Imprint Throne, looking down on the World, suppressing the Sun and Moon Army with a single word.

The Douluo Continent was not ignorant natives; the Sun Moon Empire's advance into the Douluo Continent not only failed to conquer this land but also awakened this sleeping Titan beast, broadening their horizons.

Where will the future lead?

Before being captured, Fu Hongchen could proudly say: The glory of the World will be forged by the Sun Moon Empire!

But now, he had already lost that confidence.

In Junzhu's eyes, the changes on this Continent were due to Tang San... This might be true, and most people on the Douluo Continent also thought so, but Fu Hongchen could realize that the changes had already occurred. Even if Tang San suddenly disappeared, it wouldn't cause this Continent to stagnate. His ideas had already been passed down, and people would follow one after another to inherit and perfect his will and Spirit.

"What are you thinking about?" Seeing that Fu Hongchen seemed to be distracted, Xu Huang was a little unhappy. She felt that ever since this guy entered Soul Martial Manor and visited the inside and outside of Spirit Hall City, he had been absent-minded.

"Nothing, I just feel like I've seen through something." Fu Hongchen didn't know what words or language to use to express his realization, which made him anxious and even a little desperate—

Why desperate?

Fu Hongchen was also not sure, he just felt that Spirit Hall's various methods were not suitable for the Sun Moon Empire, otherwise the first ones to be targeted would be the royal family of the Sun Moon Empire.

The Pope of Spirit Hall and the Emperor of the Empire seemed to be not the same concept.

But how should he tell Junzhu about these things?

"Seen through? You feel like those old men in the Empire who become senile after retirement." Xu Huang was quite disgusted, then said to herself, "Anyway, I'm going to try. What if it works?"

"What are you going to try?"

Lan Yinzi suddenly appeared behind the two and asked gloomily, "Not working properly, being lazy here, you really don't recognize your status at all."

“Elder Sister Chief Steward!” Xu Huang was startled, then squeezed out a smile, “Why are you here? Fu Hongchen and I were just talking about private matters between a man and a woman. You know, he and I are boyfriend and girlfriend.”

“Really? How come I heard you saying you wanted to sow discord?”

Lan Yinzi showed a playful smile.

Lan Yinzi’s Blue Silver Empress was born by Entanglement with Tang San’s Blue Silver Emperor, and her control over the Blue Silver Network was second only to Tang San, even a level higher than Xiao Wu.

No way, who made her Martial Soul the same type as Tang San’s?

Then, without waiting for the stunned Xu Huang to explain, Lan Yinzi gave her a thumbs up, “Courageous, I admire you, so—”

“You don’t need to sweep the floor anymore. Come and be my experimental subject for creating formations.”

“Anyway, with your courage, you are definitely not afraid of death.”

Xu Huang quickly waved her hands and said, “No, no, no, I won’t. Sister, please spare me. I’m still young and don’t want to die! I was wrong! Sister, spare my Life!”

“Unfortunately, it’s too late.” Lan Yinzi sighed, “Don’t worry, I won’t let you die. After all, Tang San is your ‘guardian,’ how could I put your Life in danger? It will just be quite painful. As for the specific pain level, it is said that the mildest pain is a mosquito bite, and the most severe pain is the pain of a woman giving birth to a child. So, at most, you will only endure pain at the level of ‘a woman giving birth to a child + a mosquito bite.’”

Immediately, Xu Huang was on the verge of tears...

554: Eight years passed by in a hurry: Douluo calendar year 2138

douluo calendar 2130.

Heaven Dou City's spiritual energy concentration dramatically increased due to the planting of the Blue Silver Emperor, which also gradually improved the cultivation speed of Spirit Masters. The emergence of the Blue Silver Network further greatly enhanced the work efficiency of Empire officials.

For this reason, Emperor Xue Qinghe personally traveled to Spirit City to invite Silverblue Earl to return home for a visit, hoping that all citizens within the Empire's borders could enjoy this convenience. Over half a year, Blue Silver Emperors were planted in all major and minor cities and villages within the Empire, with local Spirit Hall personnel and Empire officials jointly overseeing them.

By this point, the Heaven Dou Empire was already covered by the Blue Silver Emperor.

douluo calendar 2131.

Emperor Xue Qinghe collaborated with Spirit Hall to accelerate the development of spirit tools within the Heaven Dou Empire and began to widely popularize them, significantly improving the living standards of residents throughout the Empire.

Within the New Heaven Dou Federation, Xue Beng desired to seize real power, but the rulers of various nations objected. Later, Emperor Xue Qinghe intervened again, proposing a "feudal system," which was rejected.

However, Xue Qinghe had already secretly dispatched people to spread this matter throughout the entire New Heaven Dou Federation, causing unrest among the heirs of various princes and nobles.

douluo calendar 2133.

A coup occurred in the Balak Kingdom within the New Heaven Dou Federation. Xue Beng seized the opportunity to gather a group of princes willing to follow him, contending against the King of Balak and the First Prince.

Ultimately, the Balak Kingdom split into seven parts, inherited by the King of Balak's seven sons. While the First Prince inherited Balak Kingdom City and its surrounding cities, the remaining provinces and cities were divided among the other six brothers.

These brothers, lacking sufficient military strength, chose to defect to Xue Beng and formed an alliance.

Although the feudal system proposed by Xue Qinghe's intervention severely weakened the cohesion of the various kingdoms, Xue Beng also saw his opportunity to seize real power.

Therefore, Xue Beng also began to implement the "feudal system." There was no other reason; although this would disperse the national power of the various nations within the borders, it was extremely beneficial to him.

douluo calendar 2134.

The Heaven Dou Empire issued a public announcement to the entire continent, demanding that Xue Beng of the New Heaven Dou Federation come to humble himself and pay respects before Emperor Xue Ye's tomb—it was widely known and criticized that Xue Beng had not paid respects after Emperor Xue Ye's death.

Xue Beng ignored it.

Therefore, Emperor Xue Qinghe, citing "unfilial," "disloyal," and "unrighteous" conduct, listed multiple charges against Xue Beng and launched a war against the New Heaven Dou Federation.

douluo calendar 2135.

Dai Weisi ascended to the throne of the Star Luo Empire, intending to claim a share, but was prevented by Zhu Zhuqing. Additionally, the Holy Maiden of Spirit Hall frequently visited the Empire for cooperation, forcing him to halt his plans.

douluo calendar 2138.

With Spirit Guidance Weapons provided by Spirit Hall, the Heaven Dou Empire was invincible on the battlefield. Although the New Heaven Dou Federation also researched Spirit Guidance Weapons, its many kingdoms had their own agendas and could not work together. Their technology was far behind that of Spirit Hall and the Heaven Dou Empire, so they were repeatedly defeated.

In just three years, most of the cities within the New Tiandou were "recovered," and even the residents within the borders were resettled without much unrest.

The New Heaven Dou Federation was left with only the Federation City and eight surrounding cities.

"Bastard!"

Xue Beng looked at the empty Federation Hall, cursing loudly and resentfully, "A rabble! The allied nations of the New Heaven Dou Federation are all a rabble!"

Three years!

Only three years!

The New Heaven Dou Federation was almost gone, it was like a damn dream!

The spirit tools captured from the Sun Moon Army had clearly been put to use, but the Heaven Dou Empire's Spirit Guidance Weapons were even more advanced. When the two armies clashed, the New Heaven Dou Federation army was completely one-sided.

But thinking about these things now was already useless.

Xue Xing and Poison Douluo walked in and said to Xue Beng, "Xue Beng, let's escape. Xue Qinghe is determined to kill you this time, there's no chance left. Poison Douluo will take us to a safe place. Then, we can live in peace and wealth, living anonymously."

"Senior Poison Douluo!" Xue Beng suddenly brightened, rushing to stand before the two, and said to Dugu Bo, "It is rumored that your poison is extremely potent. Just one drop can spread and enter the human body, then it can multiply and expand by using human flesh and blood, achieving a spread of one to ten, ten to a hundred, a hundred to a thousand, a thousand to ten thousand, poisoning an entire city is not out of the question!"

"Just false, exaggerated propaganda." Dugu Bo knew what Xue Beng was planning, and his heart couldn't help but feel a chill. He hadn't expected Xue Beng's nature to be so malicious, wanting to poison tens of thousands of people.

His poison indeed had such an effect. Poisoning an entire city was not impossible, and if left unchecked after poisoning, it could potentially wipe out humanity across the entire continent.

But it was better not to let Xue Beng know about such a thing!

Moreover, it was Xue Xing who had shown him kindness, not Xue Beng, so there was no need to pay too much attention to him.

"Then to what extent can Senior achieve?" Xue Beng asked, unwilling to give up.

"Hmph! Never tried." Dugu Bo's expression was impatient. He then said to Xue Xing, "Please make arrangements in advance, Prince. If we delay any longer, it might be too late. After all, if the Heaven Dou Empire invites Lord Silverblue Earl... Although I have some friendship with him, when we are on opposing sides, he will not show mercy."

"Xue Beng, don't think about those things. Living is the true path." Xue Xing earnestly advised, after all, he had watched Xue Beng grow up since childhood and couldn't bear to see him die in vain.

"No! I'm not leaving!" Xue Beng gritted his teeth. He had already fled once, how could he be a defeated dog again? Not to mention living anonymously, that would definitely be ridiculed by everyone in the world!

Dugu Bo flashed behind Xue Beng, gently tapped the back of his head, knocking him unconscious, and hoisted him onto his shoulder. He then said to Xue Xing, "Alright, Your Highness, let's go. In a remote town not yet under the Heaven Dou Empire's jurisdiction, I have already prepared a manor where you two can live out your remaining years in peace."

"Even if the Heaven Dou Empire reaches there in the future, there's no need to worry. It's a remote, poor place, not many people will recognize your faces."

"From now on, my debt of gratitude to you is repaid. We are even from now on."

Xue Xing opened his mouth, wanting to bring up their past friendship, but found himself unable to say anything. After all, Poison Douluo had always had a peculiar temper and preferred to be alone. If not for the kindness he had shown him, he would not have been able to make him his guest elder.

"Alas....."

At the end of douluo calendar 2138, the New Heaven Dou Federation dissolved, and the Heaven Dou Empire was reunified. Emperor Xue Qinghe's prestige reached its peak, and she announced something to the public: she was a woman!

There was no drama of a Divinity descending, changing gender, or enhancing Spirit. Instead, Xue Qinghe directly fabricated a story: she was originally a woman, and the late Emperor Xue Ye had foresight, believing early on that future princes would be useless, hoping that she, his eldest daughter, could shoulder the great responsibility. It was just that the world had many misunderstandings about women, so she needed to disguise herself as a man to gain the approval of the old officials in court...

Busy, tired, two updates, please forgive me.

555: The Emperor on the Snowy Night smiles at Jiuquan

Xue Qinghe revealed that she was a woman!

This news caused a sensation throughout the entire nation, especially among the old officials who still remained in the court, whose scalps tingled—when Xue Qinghe was born, Emperor Xue Ye had personally held him and shown them that he had a penis. Could it be that they were old and dim-sighted at the time, or that the penis was glued on?

Without a doubt!

Crown Prince Xue Qinghe had long since been replaced!

But by this point, the overall situation was set. “Xue Qinghe’s” prestige had reached its peak, and the official public opinion of the Heaven Dou Empire was controlled by Xue Qinghe. The truth of the matter was determined by her, and the common people were more willing to believe a monarch who had reunified the Heaven Dou Empire.

What’s more, with the exposure of her female identity, a large portion of the women within Heaven Dou also took her as a role model, feeling that women didn’t necessarily have to marry and raise children; they could achieve great things and establish careers.

Wasn’t the Supreme Pontiff of Spirit Hall the same?

For this, Xue Qinghe also decided to appoint women to official positions and uttered a famous saying: “A woman’s talent is her virtue, and a woman does not necessarily have to depend on a man!”

This made the women within Heaven Dou worship Xue Qinghe even more!

And as for men...

Most were also like this.

After all, although the Douluo Continent was generally male-dominated, thankfully, with the existence of Spirits, there were countless powerful female Spirit Masters.

Especially in Spirit City, the status of men and women was nearly equal.

Of course, equality was fought for; to gain respect, one must also have abilities, which is why it's said—

A woman's talent is her virtue.

When Xue Beng learned that Xue Qinghe was a woman, he was completely stunned. Then, with a distorted face, he found Xue Xing, who was enjoying a massage from a young girl, and asked, "Uncle, is Xue Qinghe a woman?"

"Hmm?" Xue Xing was startled, then shook his head, "No, why do you ask that?"

"Look."

Taking the Tian Dou News handed to him by Xue Beng, Xue Xing immediately saw the striking headline: "Shocking! Emperor Qinghe is actually a woman!"

Xue Xing was first stunned, then became enraged and embarrassed. The more he read, the redder his entire face became. He cursed, "Bastard! The Xue family of Heaven Dou has been usurped by outsiders!"

As Xue Qinghe's uncle, how could Xue Xing not know whether Xue Qinghe was male or female when she was born?

A woman?

It was simply impossible!

However, he was now living incognito, and no one would believe him if he said he was Xue Xing. After all, before fleeing the palace of the New Heaven Dou Federation, Xue Xing had set a fire, creating the illusion that Xue Beng and he had feared the Heaven Dou army and committed self-immolation.

Now, the world would only believe Xue Qinghe, not the two of them.

“Uncle, why don’t we find Senior Poison Douluo?” Xue Beng suggested.

“Don’t even think about it, it’s too late for everything,” Xue Xing said with a dejected face.

Poison Douluo?

The other party no longer owed him anything and would not choose to help again. Moreover, Poison Douluo’s residence was in Heaven Dou City. If he went there, wouldn’t he be walking into a trap?

Although Poison Douluo also had a reclusive dwelling in the Sunset Forest, the Sunset Forest was so vast, how could he find it alone?

Would anyone help just based on the legitimacy of the Xue family’s bloodline?

Perhaps those old officials of the Heaven Dou Empire had also realized Xue Qinghe’s conspiracy, but they could not expose this act. Even if loyal officials to the Xue family exposed it, how many people would choose to believe them?

Most of those loyal old officials were not alone; their large families could not withstand confiscation and extermination.

There was just one thing Xue Xing didn’t understand: appearance could be disguised, voice could be disguised, but how was a Spirit disguised? Could it be that someone with a swan Spirit was found?

But if so, how could the force behind her guarantee her unwavering loyalty?

After all, the current Xue Qinghe was so powerful that she could completely disregard the leverage of the forces behind her; the world would choose to believe her.

Also, which force was behind her...

...

Upper Three Sects.

The Clear Sky Sect was not interested in such matters, and the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan also had no intention of getting involved. Only Ning Fengzhi of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School felt a chill down his spine.

Xue Qinghe was clearly a boy!

When Xue Qinghe was born, he was invited by Emperor Xue Ye and had seen Xue Qinghe as an infant. That was clearly a penis.

“Sect Master, there is something strange about this matter.” Bone Douluo put down the Tian Dou News, his brows tightly furrowed, “Which force do you think this Xue Qinghe comes from?”

“Spirit Hall.”

Ning Fengzhi thought it over repeatedly and finally stated his guess, then instructed, “Sword Uncle, announce to the outside that we have long known Xue Qinghe is a woman, and it is precisely for this reason that I accepted Xue Qinghe as a disciple, to help Emperor Xue Ye conceal her female identity.”

“Emperor Xue Ye’s painstaking efforts and his wisdom as a person should indeed be known to all under heaven.”

“After all, we have already formed a unified front of interests with Spirit Hall; it’s impossible to separate because of this.”

Although Sword Douluo felt that doing so was not honorable, for the sake of the Sect, he could only do so. Moreover, under the rule of the current “Xue Qinghe,” the Heaven Dou Empire was becoming increasingly prosperous. If the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School wanted to make a lot of money and develop rapidly, it could not do without a stable environment, so it naturally had to offer support.

Also, the words “Heaven Dou” in Heaven Dou Empire haven’t changed, right?

Presumably, Emperor Xue Ye, even in the afterlife, would be pleased that the Heaven Dou Empire was becoming more and more prosperous...

...

“Imperial Brother... Sister.”

After Xue Ke learned that Xue Qinghe was a woman, she completely disregarded the conspiracy theories she had heard. Instead, she felt that her relationship with her was even closer. “You’ve been pretending to be a man for so many years, aren’t you really tired? When you use the restroom, you don’t stand, do you?”

After all, the two of them had grown up together, and her brother... sister had taken great care of her, much more considerate than her imperial father or mother.

Whether it was true or not, Xue Qinghe was her own sister!

“Xue Ke,” Qian Renxue did have genuine affection for this sister with no blood relation, but hearing her ask such a question truly annoyed her a little. “Do you think I need someone to watch me when I use the restroom?”

“Hehehe.” Xue Ke stuck out her tongue, then asked about another matter, “Imperial Sister, since you are a woman, then your closeness with Spirit Hall’s Ling Yuan was also an act, right?”

“After all, before my female identity was exposed, quite a few people in court wanted me to take concubines.” Qian Renxue sighed, “During that time, there were even rumors that I liked men.”

“Speaking of which, there are still rumors in Heaven Dou City about you and Marquis Silver-Blue...” Xue Ke suddenly remembered something and covered her mouth, laughing, “Could it be that you and Tang San really had something going on, Sister?”

“What are you saying?” Qian Renxue tapped her forehead and scolded with a laugh, “Am I that desperate, Sister? But if there’s anyone in this world worthy of me, it’s only him...”

“You still say there’s nothing going on. Sister, you don’t look like you dislike Tang San.” Xue Ke seemed to see through everything, narrowing her eyes. “Back then, Imperial Father seemed to want to arrange a marriage between me and Tang San at the celebration banquet, but he suddenly got drunk. I’m afraid you were the one who got him drunk, Sister?”

“Haha.” Qian Renxue was speechless. After all, she couldn’t very well say that Tang San was the one who did it, could she? That would give this adorable sister psychological trauma, so she might as well just implicitly agree.

However, what was Tang San doing at this moment?

PS: A brief discussion on feminism. Labor is the only way for women to gain respect!

Two interpretations of “A woman without talent is virtuous” —

1. A simple and crude belief that women do not need talent and only need to obey their husbands.
2. If a woman has no talent, then look at whether she has virtue.

In the text, it's put more directly, simply changed to: "A woman's talent is her virtue," so there's no ambiguity. As for being arrogant because of talent...

For example, in a family where the woman is strong and the man is timid, the reasons are varied, but who is right and who is wrong is open to discussion.

However, such families are often due to the woman earning more money each month than the man.

And if the woman earns less money, that's another matter. Such families often have a more assertive man, with male chauvinism being common.

This kind of thing is very common, but it doesn't mean it's normal.

Initially, perhaps both sides thought about understanding each other, but when it came down to it, even a trivial matter could lead to an argument all day long.

Finally, among the readers of this book, if there are any female readers, when you get married in the future, you must not be a full-time housewife. Otherwise, no matter how many sweet words and vows of eternal love there were before marriage, and promises that you won't have to do this or that, it will eventually be diluted by the mundane realities of life. Moreover, if you are a housewife for too long, your thinking will also become rigid, and when you argue with your (future) husband, you will be "at a loss for words," because not working is equivalent to eating free meals, being worthless... Perhaps he won't say it so harshly to your face, but that's his attitude towards you in his heart.

If you are a second-generation rich and your future husband is a live-in son-in-law, you can ignore the above.

556: Silver Dragon Three Xi Jue

Over the past eight years, Tang San's Life had been quite peaceful.

Besides research, teaching, and publishing Martial Soul theories, he spent his time organizing the energy flow circuits of the Golden Core Ring, Heart Core Ring, and Lingge Ring.

Especially the last point; based on eight years of research into the flow circuits of various Soul Masters' Soul Ring Skills, he had summarized a total of 362 flow circuits for blood energy conversion to Soul Power, 273 flow circuits for Soul Power conversion to Spiritual Power, and only 108 flow circuits for Spiritual Power spreading throughout the body, stimulating the physical form, and thereby generating blood energy.

After organizing these patterns, Tang San, according to the condition of his own Martial Soul, selected the most suitable flow circuits from these three types of skills. Compared to his Creation and Destruction True Scripture, Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method, and Cosmic Meditation, these flow circuits were much simpler, but they were fundamental in assisting these three cultivation methods to accelerate their connection progress.

After all, the body's blood vessels, meridians, and nerves are limited. Before breaking through level 100 and becoming completely extraordinary, relying on the Golden Core Ring, Heart Core Ring, and Lingge Ring to carry excess energy flow and conversion circuits was the best way to emulate heaven, earth, and nature.

Currently, Tang San's Golden Core Ring contains 300 flow circuits; the Heart Core Ring has 200 flow circuits; and the Lingge Ring, surprisingly, has the most, with 365 flow circuits.

Why were only 108 flow circuits summarized from Soul Masters' Soul Rings regarding the conversion of Spirit to blood energy, while Tang San's Lingge Ring could have 365?

Naturally, it was because he had recorded the formation patterns of the Zhou Tian Xing Dou Great Array from Xu Xing, which could also be considered a type of energy flow circuit, and it was related to Spiritual Power. Tang San made slight modifications to it, allowing him to use the energy circulation method within it to transform Spiritual Power into myriad stars, spreading throughout his body, thereby stimulating blood energy.

However, this was not summarized from Soul Master's Soul Ring Soul Skills, and therefore was not included in those 108 flow circuits.

Nevertheless, the addition of energy flow circuits on the Golden Core Ring, Heart Core Ring, and Lingge Ring did not increase Tang San's Soul Power level; he was still in the stage of level 99. But as the conversion and circulation efficiency between essence, qi, and Spirit increased, Tang San's physical body and Primordial Spirit were rapidly improving geometrically, while his Soul Power was continuously being compressed, as if undergoing some kind of qualitative change.

Furthermore, over the past eight years, the Starry Sky World had also opened a spatial passage leading to the God Realm. The infusion of Immortal Spiritual Energy made it so that after Soul Power was released, it could be converted into any attribute energy, and other attribute energies could also be converted into Soul Power.

In other words, Tang San could convert the various diverse Soul Skills released by other Soul Masters, whether they were offensive, healing, defensive, or edible, as long as they came into contact with Tang San's Soul Power, they would be automatically converted into the purest Soul Power, the kind with no attack power whatsoever, and then dissipate and return to nature.

"The Dao gives birth to one, one gives birth to two, two gives birth to three, and three gives birth to all things."

Tang San released a wisp of Soul Power, and with a slight shake of his finger, this wisp of Soul Power transformed into red flames, then into a white stream of Water, followed by conversion into elemental energies like whirlwind, lightning, and frost, and finally returned to its original Soul Power form. It was truly mysterious and unfathomable. "Applied to a Soul Master's cultivation, Soul Power is that initial 'Dao', the most original 'one'. With this 'one', one can utilize Martial Souls and Soul Rings to release Soul Skills."

"And my Soul Power can already transform into all things, and it can also convert Soul Skills released by others based on Soul Power back into the most original Soul Power, which is that initial 'one', the most original 'Dao'."

"Returning to the origin, all things become one."

"The former is Creation, the latter is Destruction... Austin Griffin, perhaps this is the true meaning of Destruction, making all things return to one, rather than pure destructive desire."

Austin Griffin, being Tang San's Martial Soul, naturally could also sense the special nature of Tang San's Soul Power and couldn't help but snort, "What do you mean destructive desire? What I originally thought was the same as you, it's just that the Eternal Lord, that bastard, abandoned me, so I just wanted to trouble Him... That's right, that's what I thought, it's just that the Eternal Lord was brain-damaged and thought I wasn't pure, so He separated me."

The Eternal Lord, who had long since completely merged with Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor, retorted, "Hey, don't be so stubborn. The Eternal Lord died long ago. Although I possess all of His memories, I am a different individual. Don't get it wrong."

"Tch!"

The two began arguing in Tang San's mind, and Tang San had no choice but to block them out. He looked at Gu Yuena, who had been following him as an experiment subject and was now gracefully mature and well-developed:

"The experiment is over. The testing of my Soul Power can only be done to this extent for now."

Over the past eight years, Gu Yuena did not hide her "cultivation speed," directly advancing to the Title Douluo level, which was even more overpowered than cheating. Furthermore, based on the initial Xuan Tian Treasure Record set of three: Mystic Heaven Skill, Profound Jade Hand, and Purple Demon Eyes, she had developed a set of cultivation methods unique to herself: the Dragon Chant Three Tides Art.

According to Gu Yuena, the Silver Dragon Three Chants, the elemental tides rise, resonating with her own essence, qi, and Spirit, thereby mobilizing the heaven and earth energy and elemental energy of the entire Douluo Star. With full power, she could annihilate over eighty percent of the Life on the entire plane.

Previously, Tang San had suggested to Zhu Zhuqing how to use her own Soul Power to draw upon the heaven and earth energy of the entire Continent. He hadn't expected that the one who achieved this first would be the latecomer, Gu Yuena.

Hmm—

Gu Yuena cannot be considered a "latecomer" in the complete sense, after all, her foundation was there. Cultivating Soul Power was like transferring money from the Heaven Dou Commerce to the Heaven and Earth Commerce established by the Spirit Hall.

Rather than cultivation, it was more like an investment.

"I have to say, your Soul Power is already more miraculous than God Power."

Gu Yuena was extremely shocked by the nature of Tang San's Soul Power, because it was already extremely similar to the primordial chaotic qi that was said to exist at the beginning of the universe. However, primordial chaotic qi could not be controlled so freely... If the quality of Tang San's Soul Power were a bit higher, it might truly be able to become the most fundamental energy.

One transforms into ten thousand, ten thousand transforms into one. How profound!

Moreover, during the experiment just now, Gu Yuena had also personally swallowed Tang San's Soul Power. This stuff was ten thousand times more "delicious" than Immortal Spiritual Energy. That wisp of Soul Power was like the warmest breath in the world, flowing through every inch of her body, and then exploding in her middle dantian, like the Big Bang at the beginning of the universe, scattering into countless starlight points, colliding, attracting, repelling, and finally merging into her body.

That wonderful feeling!

That comfortable feeling!

That intensity!

That tranquility!

That taste was simply irresistible!

Gu Yuena understood that if she could take Tang San's Soul Power after he broke through level 100 for a long time, her main body's injuries would be nothing but a trivial matter. She might even be able to achieve the position of Dragon God in the future without devouring the other half of the Dragon God: the Golden Dragon King, or even surpass the Dragon God!

557: The industrial production of artificial soul rings is still a bit difficult

“What are you looking at me like that for?”

Seeing Gu Yuena staring at him as if she wanted to devour him, even Tang San, who had experienced many great storms, felt a bit apprehensive.

“Nothing, I just have something to tell you.” Gu Yuena quickly retracted her gaze, adjusted her mindset, and spoke with a serious attitude: “I plan to return to the Star Dou Great Forest. As the king of the Soul Beast race, while I don't really care about them personally, since they respectfully call me 'Master' and contribute faith, then I have to be responsible.”

Tang San nodded: “That is as it should be.”

In the nearly eight years that followed, Tang San also analyzed the steps for Artificial Soul Rings and opened them up to Spirit Hall researchers for study, to facilitate future human Soul Masters in obtaining Soul Rings.

Although in these eight years, those researchers had thoroughly understood the principle of Artificial Soul Rings, when it came to actual manufacturing, they still couldn't achieve industrialized mass production. Only Soul Masters above Soul Douluo could process them using Soul Power energy and mental energy.

Moreover, due to insufficient proficiency and precision, the age limit of Artificial Soul Rings was fixed the moment they were created and could not be increased during the process of being absorbed by a Soul Master by attracting Heaven and Earth energy or sensing the Soul Master's will.

They also couldn't make the Artificial Soul Ring's Soul Skill the most suitable for the Soul Master's Martial Soul.

However, these Spirit Hall researchers, in an accidental experiment, inadvertently injected the bloodline aura of Soul Beasts into the Artificial Soul Rings, making them indistinguishable from Soul Rings dropped by real Soul Beasts.

This meant that in the future, obtaining a desired Soul Ring might not require hunting Soul Beasts, but merely obtaining their fur, blood, and extracting the corresponding bloodline factors from them.

After all, based on current research findings, every type of Life on the Continent has its unique bloodline factor, and whether it's blood, fur, or scales, they all contain its bloodline factor.

However, the bloodline factor information in fur and scales is incomplete, so it's best to choose blood, skin, etc.

Some Spirit Hall researchers are even considering whether a complete Life can be replicated based on this so-called bloodline information.

However, this project was stopped by Tang San.

It's better to maintain some reverence for Life.

The Blue Silver Emperor's fourth Soul Skill: Nine Deaths Revival, can also replicate a complete Life based on a piece of bloodline information, but Life has a soul.

Tang San only used this ability to resurrect Xiao Wu's mother and conducted an experiment on an unforgivable The Fallen; at other times, this ability would not be used.

After learning that others could also manufacture Artificial Soul Rings according to the corresponding procedures, Gu Yuena understood that in the distant future, the act of Soul Masters hunting Soul Beasts would gradually evolve into obtaining Soul Beast fur, scales, and blood.

The competition between Soul Beasts, Soul Masters, and ordinary people would also gradually shift from “cultivation” to “survival”.

But the sad thing is, Soul Beasts cannot be considered a complete race in the true sense; the difference in Life forms dictates that cooperation between them is merely submitting to stronger power.

Therefore, after abandoning the idea of lying flat, Gu Yuena felt that the definition of “person” could actually be broader; as long as one possesses human intelligence, they can be considered a person.

Over the years, Gu Yuena has also noticed a point: human inclusivity is actually very strong; as long as one has a human form, they basically won't care too much whether they are pure humans or not.

Of course, humans are also narrow-minded; as long as an existence is detrimental to themselves, even if it's their own kind, even if they are related by blood, they can still be excluded, and even killed.

[What a complex and contradictory race!]

This was Gu Yuena's view of humans, but she also realized that it was precisely this complexity and contradiction that made the human World so colorful.

In terms of bloodline continuation, humans are inferior to insects like mosquitoes and flies; perhaps one day, humans will become extinct, while these creatures controlled by bloodline factors and only possessing instinct will still be living well.

Living their entire lives just to eat, sleep, mate, and reproduce, living to pass on their own bloodline factors, what meaning is there in that?

And the appearance of intelligence gives Life the right to think.

Soul Beasts, having gained intelligence, should no longer just think about eating, drinking, and sleeping, or mating and reproducing, but should use that hard-earned intelligence to make themselves stronger, develop their own race, or contemplate the meaning of intelligence.

Otherwise, cultivating to the Ten-thousand year level of cultivation and gaining intelligence not much different from humans, only to end up doing things that don't require intelligence, what's the point?

Conversely, without that intelligence, perhaps Soul Beasts could live more easily, because if they can't see the future, they naturally won't sense that despair.

As for the extinction of Soul Beasts... Gu Yuena felt that even if Tang San didn't exist in this World, human Soul Masters had already realized the importance of Soul Beasts.

In the distant future, humans might not be able to research Artificial Soul Rings, but they would likely establish things like “Soul Beast Sanctuaries”.

After all, the Hunting Spirit Forest currently under human jurisdiction on the Douluo Continent is similar to a nature reserve; one can only enter to hunt with a warrant from the Spirit Hall, and there are clear regulations against indiscriminate killing—

However, this point was not done very well before the appearance of the Sub-Mother Soul Guidance Photography Ball, mainly due to inadequate monitoring.

Many Soul Masters, in order to explain to their juniors, would directly kill a large number of low-year Soul Beasts to serve as examples for explanation.

However, this phenomenon has decreased in recent years, as Spirit Hall has installed many Soul Guidance monitoring devices in those Hunting Spirit Forests and disguised them in various ways.

Once a Soul Master is photographed indiscriminately killing innocents under unnecessary conditions, 执法者 (enforcers) will be dispatched to arrest and fine them.

As more and more Soul Masters join the Spirit Hall, the Spirit Hall's manpower naturally becomes more and more sufficient, and some Hunting Spirit Forests within Heaven Dou territory even have Soul Beast ranger teams patrolling and inspecting frequently.

After returning to the Star Dou Great Forest, Gu Yuena plans to do some ideological work on those fierce beasts.

If survival competition cannot be avoided, then she will find a way to make the intelligent Soul Beasts abandon their Soul Beast identity and become a branch of “people”.

After all, Ten-thousand year soul beasts can transform into humans, and fierce beasts can transform between human and beast forms at will... This rule was not set by the God Realm, nor was it stipulated by the Dragon God, but is a manifestation of the great cosmic rule.

It is simple to subdue those fierce beasts; however, convincing them is extremely difficult.

The thinking patterns accumulated and developed over tens of thousands of years are not easy to change, unless they undergo a complete transformation and truly want to integrate into the big family of humans.

After all, humans are by no means a narrow-minded race!

558: The Son of Luck in the Star Forest

"Why do you want me to come along?"

Looking at the Star Dou Great Forest not far ahead, Xiao Wu looked at Gu Yuena strangely, "I have absolutely no connection with Soul Beasts now; I am a complete human."

"Although I've had the idea of Da Ming and Er Ming also transforming into humans, I haven't implemented it yet, have I? As the co-lord of Soul Beasts, you don't need to be so narrow-minded, do you?"

"Or are you—"

"Are you also interested in Tang San and want to steal my position as the Big Sister?"

Seeing Xiao Wu's increasingly outrageous remarks, even acting as if it were a serious matter, Gu Yuena's face darkened, and she said, "If you keep joking, I'll really steal him."

"Whatever, Tang San is getting stronger and stronger anyway, I can barely stand it anymore," Xiao Wu stretched, speaking suggestive words, which made Gu Yuena's head full of black lines.

Taking a few deep breaths to calm down, Gu Yuena said, "Haven't you obtained your ninth Soul Ring yet? Coincidentally, I'll take you to get one this time."

Xiao Wu's eyes became even more strange: "With Third Brother's help from the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, I am not bound by the plane.

Without a Soul Ring, my Soul Power can still break through. My Soul Power has already reached level ninety-eight. Having or not having the ninth Soul Ring doesn't matter much, right?"

"Could it be—"

"You want to curry favor with me, the Big Sister?"

"Hehe, then you can only be Seventh."

Gu Yuena gave Xiao Wu the middle finger, then said indifferently, "Tang San possesses both human and Soul Beast bloodlines, making him a bridge of peace between the two races. As long as the worst-case scenario hasn't occurred, I still want to try and see if the two races can coexist peacefully. As a hundred-thousand-year-old Soft Bone Rabbit who transformed, you were the first to come into contact with him, and you have also continuously transformed, reaching a level that even the current me cannot defeat... At least, you can be considered to represent the destiny of the Star Dou Great Forest."

"Therefore, I have a plan, or rather, an experiment: to have a very special Soul Beast from the core area sacrifice itself to you, thereby making you the Child of Destiny of the Star Dou Great Forest."

Xiao Wu was surprised, thought for a moment, and asked, "Isn't this a bit disrespectful to that Soul Beast? Will it be willing?"

Gu Yuena said, "It was her own decision, and she also wants to see the human World... Don't worry, after she sacrifices, she will appear in a state similar to a Soul Spirit, and can even perfectly preserve her physical body, similar to your mother, Xiao Rou."

This is naturally not the special aspect of that Soul Beast, but rather that Gu Yuena has followed Tang San for many years and understands the existence method of Soul Spirits. She feels that with her own strength, she can completely make a Soul Beast exist in the form of a Soul Spirit.

Furthermore, benefiting from Gu Yuena herself being a God, she can also make that Soul Beast's physical body become energy-based, truly becoming a part of the Soul Ring.

Moreover, that Soul Beast is indeed extremely special, and there might be unnecessary accidents in the future. It's better to let her sacrifice to Xiao Wu, Tang San's spouse who is bound to reach eternal immortality in the future, and ride this wave together to that realm, saving herself countless years of cultivation.

How could she not be willing?

"Speaking of which, it's me who's going to carry that Soul Beast," Xiao Wu was speechless, suspecting that Gu Yuena just wanted to find a bodyguard for that Soul Beast, "By the way, what kind of Soul Beast is that? Let's be clear, if the difference from a rabbit is too great, I'll turn around and leave without a word."

Gu Yuena raised an eyebrow, thought for a moment, and said, "It's not a rabbit, but according to classification, it can be considered a distant relative of the Soft Bone Rabbit. If you look roughly, there are quite a few similarities. It's just that her fur is golden. Oh, and her ears are quite long."

Based on Gu Yuena's description, Xiao Wu imagined a large golden-furred rabbit and said thoughtfully, "It's a bit like a variation of a Blazing Flame Rabbit."

However, when Xiao Wu followed Gu Yuena into the core of the Star Dou Great Forest and saw that Soul Beast, she was instantly dumbfounded: "Isn't this a Three-Eyed Golden Lion?"

This thing is a distant relative of the Soft Bone Rabbit?

You're fooling ghosts!

"It is indeed a distant relative. The Soft Bone Rabbit evolved from the extinct Dragon Rabbit, and the Dragon Rabbit has the bloodline of the Golden Dragon, as does the Three-Eyed Golden Lion." Gu Yuena's words were well-reasoned and well-founded, causing the fierce beasts present to nod repeatedly. Some even caught a Soft Bone Rabbit and compared it to the Three-Eyed Golden Lion.

They found that if they looked roughly, the faces of the Soft Bone Rabbit and the Three-Eyed Golden Lion were indeed very similar, and the Three-Eyed Golden Lion's ears were also quite long, just hidden in the fur at the back of its head and neck, making them invisible.

"You guys are really 'Beast Talents'!" Xiao Wu snatched the Soft Bone Rabbit from Xiong Jun's claws, held it in her arms, and mocked these guys.

"What does Beast Talent mean?" Xiong Jun asked Wan Yao Wang beside him.

"Among humans, smart people seem to be called talents," Wan Yao Wang said proudly, "This is praising us for being smart."

Xiong Jun suddenly understood and said to Xiao Wu, "Oh, oh, little rabbit, you don't need to praise us so much."

Xiao Wu: "....."

These guys are hopeless.

Gu Yuena also held her forehead. If she hadn't left the Star Dou Great Forest and gone to the human World, she might have been like these guys. So she said, "Alright, let's skip this. Xiao Wu, get ready with the Three-Eyed Golden Lion."

"Wait, before that, I want to establish my identity." Xiao Wu looked at Gu Yuena and suddenly laughed, "I'm contributing to all of you in the Star Dou Great Forest, shouldn't you call me Xiao Wu Jie?"

"You rabbit, you're too presumptuous!" Di Tian's eyes were unfriendly, preparing to teach Xiao Wu a lesson in front of the master, but as soon as he poked his head out, the space above his head began to distort, and a massive hand emerged from it, instantly grabbing Di Tian's neck and pressing the entire dragon onto the ground, unable to move an inch.

Bi Ji, Zi Ji, Xiong Jun, Wan Yao Wang, and other fierce beasts watched in shock as the large hand pressed Di Tian's true form onto the ground, and then looked at Xiao Wu doing the same action, all swallowing their saliva.

The Soft Bone Rabbit, Xiao Wu, could actually suppress Di Tian!

And what kind of move is this large hand?

While shocked, the Sky Blue Bull Python and the Titan Giant Ape were also overjoyed, and quietly walked behind Xiao Wu, cheering her on: "Xiao Wu Jie is mighty!"

"Damn rabbit!" Di Tian was furious. As a strong person with a pure Dragon Clan bloodline, when had he ever suffered such humiliation? He was pressed down by a single hand from a rabbit who had transformed into a human, and it was even in front of the master.

Is she trying to steal the master's position?

However, no matter how hard Di Tian tried, he couldn't move his neck even a fraction of an inch. Furthermore, the energy within that large hand even invaded his body, creating blockages in some important energy flow routes, making him unable to use his vast cultivation.

This was naturally because Xiao Wu had a concrete understanding of the Dragon Clan's physical body—

How did she understand it?

Naturally, it was through Gu Yuena.

Moreover, Xiao Wu had also cultivated her Primordial Spirit. With just a slight probe, she could see through all the energy flow methods, transformation methods, and operational principles within Di Tian's body. Catching him off guard, she produced the effect of instantly killing Di Tian with one move. Otherwise, if they truly fought, Xiao Wu estimated it would take three to five minutes to beat the thick-skinned guy like Di Tian until he cried out in pain.

559: Xiao Wu's Ninth Soul Skill: Master of Destiny

“Alright, release Ditian. I’ll call you ‘Xiao Wu Jie’ then. After all, in terms of age in the human World, I’m indeed not as old as you are,” Gu Yuena said helplessly.

Gu Yuena’s compromise surprised all the fierce beasts and Ten-thousand year soul beasts.

“Master, you!” Ditian couldn’t believe it. Their Master, one of the Dragon God’s splinters, actually recognized a transformed Soft Bones Rabbit as her older sister. This World was truly fantastical.

But Ditian had to admit, the current Xiao Wu already possessed power that surpassed his... Could it be that humans were truly so uniquely favored, that even a transformed Soft Bones Rabbit could grow into a powerful being capable of crushing them, these fierce beasts?

“No need to say more,” Gu Yuena stopped Ditian from speaking further, then said to Three-Eyed Golden Lion, “Alright, prepare yourself. Let the sacrifice ceremony begin.”

Then, she said to Xiao Wu, “You also prepare to receive the Three-Eyed Golden Lion’s spirit ring.”

“Got it, got it,” Xiao Wu waved her hand casually, sat cross-legged on the grass, her Spirit attached, one hand propping her chin, gazing at the Three-Eyed Golden Lion with three eyes in front of her. She beckoned as if teasing a puppy, saying, “You’re Three-Eyed Golden Lion, right? Follow Xiao Wu Jie from now on, and I guarantee your future will be bright.”

“I hope so,” Three-Eyed Golden Lion looked at Xiao Wu for a long while, then sighed, burning all the cultivation within its body, causing its entire flesh and blood to seemingly turn into energy, with wisps of light red air rising and condensing into a pale golden spirit ring above its head.

At the same time, Gu Yuena also injected her own energy into Three-Eyed Golden Lion, completely energizing its flesh and blood body and stabilizing its soul to prevent any damage.

She also understood the undying true Spirit. If the soul was damaged, the undying true Spirit would escape, and even if the soul recovered in the future, the undying true Spirit that descended again might not be the original one.

Although they were still far from reaching the realm of confirming “I am I” based on the undying true Spirit, with soul and memory being their foundation at the current stage, even having detected the existence of the undying true Spirit, it was imperative to be extremely cautious when conducting experiments related to “Life” to prevent any slightest accident to the soul.

Gradually, Three-Eyed Golden Lion’s physical body completely turned into energy, along with its cultivation, injecting into the spirit ring. Only a palm-sized ethereal soul image of Three-Eyed Golden Lion remained in place, which eventually also merged into the spirit ring, carving a Three-Eyed Golden Lion pattern onto it, and this spirit ring also turned rose gold at this moment.

“Three-Eyed Golden Lion is an auspicious beast and also a dragon species. Its spirit ring is very special. Its current age limit is only over 4,900 years, but it can increase as the absorber’s cultivation improves. At the same time, Three-Eyed Golden Lion itself can also increase the age limit of this spirit ring as time passes, which can be said to kill two birds with one stone,” Gu Yuena described the uniqueness of this rose gold spirit ring. “With your physique and cultivation, you should be able to evolve this spirit ring directly to a million years, or even ten million years.”

As this spirit ring was worn, Xiao Wu felt as if she had merged with the entire Star Dou Great Forest. Her other eight red spirit rings also emerged, resonating and vibrating with this rose gold spirit ring. An invisible power emanated from it, and the entire Star Dou Great Forest seemed to revive, with the concentration of heaven and earth energy increasing by more than ten times!

At this moment, Xiao Wu became the true master of the Star Dou Great Forest's luck, and her spirit power also increased by one level during this profound integration process, reaching level ninety-nine.

"Master, why have all her spirit rings turned into Ten-thousand year soul beast ones?" Ditian couldn't help but ask.

"A gift from the Soft Bones Rabbit clan."

The Spirit Beast Illusion Space was originally a storage space opened by the Soft Bones Rabbit clan, so Gu Yuena's statement wasn't exactly wrong.

Ditian nodded, half-understanding, and didn't ask further.

After Xiao Wu finished absorbing, the Three-Eyed Golden Lion, over a hundred meters tall, leaped out from the ninth spirit ring, looking down at the other fierce beasts apart from Ditian who still maintained his original form, and muttered, "Is this what I look like when I grow up? The perspective is really different. Now I'm a big guy too."

Compared to the "puppy state" Three-Eyed Golden Lion, the third eye on the forehead of this hundred-meter-tall Three-Eyed Golden Lion had changed from its original crimson color to a crystal-clear rose gold, like a peculiar star. If ordinary people looked at it for too long, they would seem to become addicted to it, unable to extricate themselves.

After Xiao Wu obtained this spirit ring, her soul, or rather, her primal Spirit, was strengthened, and her control over her essence, qi, Spirit, and physical body was greatly enhanced.

And the Spirit Ability this Three-Eyed Golden Lion's spirit ring brought to Xiao Wu was only one: Destiny Master.

After using this Spirit Ability, Xiao Wu's primal Spirit could merge into the entire Douluo Star, allowing her to see the luck of all things and then extract, deprive, or bestow luck.

As long as it was a Life or object born on Douluo Star, Xiao Wu could control its luck.

Furthermore, if Xiao Wu went to other planes, she could still use this Spirit Ability to control a certain degree of the power of fate.

As the saying goes: when a person is unlucky, even drinking cold water can get stuck in their teeth.

And Xiao Wu's Spirit Ability could completely control her and others' luck and misfortune values by manipulating others' luck. If used well, Xiao Wu's ability was completely equivalent to "Final Destination" or "Protagonist's Halo."

It couldn't directly kill people, but it could control others' fates through macroscopic luck regulation. After all, if a person became unlucky, let alone having water stuck in their teeth, perhaps a cell in their body suddenly mutated, which could unknowingly put a super Douluo in a critical condition, or cause a super Douluo to suffer a Qi deviation and go berserk during cultivation.

Such a heaven-defying ability naturally came with an extremely severe price. After all, luck was evenly given to every living being by the will of the Douluo plane. Who had more or less depended only on individual postnatal development and whether their development was beneficial to Douluo Star. The will of the Douluo plane would not participate in the competition between various living beings, as the will of the Douluo plane was merely a collection of rules themselves, without overly intelligent sentience, only the purest instinct.

But Xiao Wu's subjective regulation of luck meant she was stealing a portion of authority from the Douluo plane, taking away a part of the Douluo plane's rules.

Under normal circumstances, every time Xiao Wu used this ability and was perceived by the plane's will, she would suffer the Heavenly Punishment of the plane's will, the kind that left no survivors. Furthermore, its rigid rule mechanism would cause this Heavenly Punishment to disregard the survival of other living races on the continent.

Until death do us part!

Even if it destroyed the entire continent, even if it annihilated all living beings on the Douluo plane, as long as Xiao Wu was still alive, the Heavenly Punishment of this plane's will would not stop.

After all, from a planet's perspective, billions of years are but a flick of a finger. As long as the atmospheric environment doesn't change too much, and its own position remains in the original suitable location within the stellar system, new Life will eventually be nurtured.

However—

Xiao Wu was in that abnormal situation.....

560: Xiao Wu's views on soul beasts

Why is Xiao Wu said to be in an abnormal situation?

Naturally, it's because her relationship with Tang San is extremely close, their aura intermingling as one, and it also contains the aura of the Golden Ancient Tree.

If Tang San is the eternal Son of Fortune of the Douluo Continent, then Xiao Wu is no less, being the wife of the eternal Son of Fortune. Moreover, Xiao Wu also walks the path of the physical universe and primordial Spirit heavenly dao. As long as she stays on Douluo Star for a day, the invisible energy interaction between her human micro-universe and the external heavenly macro-universe can bring great benefits to the Douluo Plane.

The most basic benefit is that it continuously increases the heavenly energy of Douluo Star.

It can be said that even setting aside the function of Spirit, existences like Tang San and Xiao Wu, who follow the path of cultivating the three treasures of essence, qi, and Spirit, and constructing a human micro-universe, are themselves the most beloved children of the Douluo Star Plane consciousness.

For ordinary beings, no matter how strong their power, even if they reach the ultimate or even become a God, to the Plane consciousness of Douluo Star, they are equivalent to adopted children.

But Tang San, Xiao Wu, and others are her biological children!

They are held in her hands for fear of dropping them, and held in her mouth for fear of melting them. How could she bear to give them heavenly punishment?

Isn't it just taking control of the fortune?

What's the big deal?

If her good daughter wants to play, let her play. Even if it ends up messed up, after hundreds of millions of years, Douluo Star will still usher in its next period of Life prosperity.

“This ability is truly outrageous.”

Even an existence like Gu Yuena was shocked by Xiao Wu's ability. “Fate, even a God cannot control it. Even an anomaly like the Three-Eyed Golden Lion can only perceive and observe fortune, but cannot manipulate fate, let alone become the master of fate.”

“This might be related to the situation of cultivating oneself as a universe.”

Xiao Wu stretched, summoned the Three-Eyed Golden Lion back into her spirit ring, and seeing the curiosity and shock on the faces of Di Tian and the other fierce Spirit Beasts, she briefly described her situation, “Anyway, you don't need to worry too much anymore. This ability won't be used on you, after all, we're not really familiar.”

Di Tian and the other fierce Spirit Beasts: “.....”

“Good sister, what do you want to do next?” Xiao Wu, who transformed from a Ten-thousand year Soft Bones Rabbit, naturally preferred to see Spirit Beasts and humans coexist harmoniously, but she also understood that Spirit Beasts need to experience at least ten thousand years to develop characteristics similar to human intelligence, as well as an untamable wildness, which are obstacles to harmonious coexistence between the two.

Furthermore, Spirit Beasts cannot even be considered a single race. Which of the fierce Spirit Beasts present would truly care about the lives of other Spirit Beast races besides their own kind?

Even animals below ten thousand years can gain intelligence early. The best-case scenario is like the situation in the soul-guiding movie “Crazy Spirit Beast City.”

Without a unified and similar body shape, it's impossible to live harmoniously in the same city, let alone the detailed issues like aesthetic concepts and dietary concepts between different Spirit Beast races.

If body shapes were to be unified, everyone transforming into human form would be the best choice.

In fact, in Xiao Wu's current view, Spirit Beasts completely transforming into humans is the most appropriate choice. After all, most of these fierce Spirit Beasts do not consider their less intelligent kin as true members of their race. The purpose of gathering them might be out of an instinctive desire to protect their own race, or perhaps they have realized the benefits—the Power of Faith.

Perhaps these fierce Spirit Beasts do not know about the existence of the Power of Faith, but Xiao Wu is certain that these guys must know that the faster their race's numbers increase, the faster their own cultivation can improve.

For example: Blue Silver Grass.

According to Brother San's speculation, in ancient times, the initial birth of the Blue Silver Emperor might have been due to one or more ordinary Blue Silver Grass plants evolving their bloodline factors under the spontaneous Power of Faith from other Blue Silver Grass, thus becoming Blue Silver King, Blue Silver Emperor, and the like.

The Power of Faith, ordinary beings cannot perceive its existence, nor can they enjoy its benefits of improving cultivation and enhancing the essence of Life, but as long as there is a large quantity and it gathers together, it will always change the environment of the faith gathering place.

Not just the Blue Silver Emperor, but the Kings and Emperors of other races, in the primordial era, might have all been born this way.

The spontaneous Power of Faith of a race leads to the birth of a King, and the King then protects the development of the race, leading to an increase in the race's numbers, which is a spiraling upward development method.

However, the “King” itself is not absolutely rational. The birth of intelligence gives the “King” complex emotions and desires, though relatively simpler than humans.

At this point, the “King” will think about having other existences of the same level to communicate with, but also fear the emergence of a new “King” within the race, threatening their status, so the development of the race stagnates. After all, the “King” cannot actively absorb the Power of Faith. If the race expands and a new “King” is born in an ungoverned area, what if they think about rebelling?

Perhaps the “King” doesn't think that much, but instinctively feels that other “Kings” within the same race who are not a continuation of their own bloodline but are born independently will be a threat to them, so once discovered, they will be immediately eliminated.

Thus, the “King” enslaves the race rather than simply protecting its development.

From this perspective, the different races of fierce Spirit Beasts and Ten-thousand year soul beasts in the Star Dou Great Forest can coexist relatively harmoniously only because they are different races. The competitive conflicts between them are, at most, about the living space of their respective races.

Moreover, only the “Kings” and “Emperors” of the corresponding races can command their less intelligent kin.

For example, Di Tian, his power is strong, but he cannot command the Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear race. The moment those bears see Di Tian, they are either intimidated or immediately flee; they will not listen to any of his commands. Only Xiong Jun, the King of the Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear race, can command the members of his race.

Therefore, in Xiao Wu's view, once Spirit Beasts gain intelligence, they have already detached from their original race and become another race; this is an evolution!

And the Power of Faith has little effect on most ordinary beings.

Or rather, its effect is only in two aspects:

Firstly, over a long period of time, in an environment filled with massive Power of Faith, it passively affects the bloodline factors of the race, leading to transformation after generations of development.

Secondly, when cultivation reaches the ultimate level, one can perceive and simply utilize the Power of Faith, and as long as there is enough Power of Faith, it can be used to condense a God Position.

The authority of a God Position is related to one's own cultivation and the desires of one's heart.

Of course, currently the God Realm is still connected to Douluo Star via a spatial passage. Even with abundant Power of Faith, existing God Positions in the God Realm cannot be successfully condensed, because the corresponding rules and authority have already been occupied.

Therefore, Spirit Beasts above ten thousand years who can transform should ideally transform and go to the human World.

It used to be very dangerous, but now, with her as the big sister, they will surely be able to grow up safely, reach maturity, and have an even more wonderful Life in the future.

Although human lifespan is short, however—

Without ambition, living for ten thousand years is empty.

However, ultimately, it still depends on Gu Yuena's thoughts.

“Sister my ass!”

However, Gu Yuena, upon hearing the words “Good sister,” immediately cursed, “Do you really think that just because I called you ‘Xiao Wu Jie’ just now, you're truly my older sister?”

“(= “ =)凸”

561: Return to the body: bad luck

Chapter 561 Returning to the True Form: How Annoying~

"Oh, you little girl, you dare to rebel against the heavens?"

Xiao Wu wasn't angry, after all, as an older sister, she should always yield to her younger sister, right?

Gu Yuena still flipped her middle finger: ""=凸!

Before the character "井" could appear on Xiao Wu's forehead, Gu Yuena leaped backward into the Life Lake. Before entering the water, she sent a telepathic message to Xiao Wu: "I'm returning to my true form. When I come out again, I'll be at my peak. At that time, I'd like to see if you, this dead rabbit, still dare to be arrogant in front of me."

"Hmph, wait until you figure out how to evade the God Realm's surveillance first," Xiao Wu said, putting one hand on her hip and rolling her eyes.

However, Xiao Wu wasn't worried about whether Gu Yuena's true form appearing would be detected by the God Realm. After all, she had created and cultivated the Silver Dragon Three Tides Art, based on Tang San's Mystic Heaven Skill set and the theory of the cyclical universe transforming essence, energy, and Spirit. This allowed her essence, energy, and Spirit to circulate perfectly within her body, and even divine power could be concealed.

After all, when the Silver Dragon King escaped from the God Realm, she hadn't transformed into a human form, so the Gods of the God Realm didn't recognize her.

It's just that it will probably take some time before Gu Yuena comes out again...

"Xiao Wu Jie, just how strong are you now?" The Titan Giant Ape glanced at Di Tian, who had already turned into a human form, and quietly asked Xiao Wu. But as a Titan Giant Ape, even if he lowered his voice, it still boomed like a great bell.

Di Tian and the others naturally heard it clearly.

Correspondingly, they were also curious about how strong Xiao Wu was at this moment and how she had reached such a realm.

"It's not that great, just a little bit stronger than this black dragon~" Xiao Wu made a gesture, separating her index finger and thumb by an inch, "Just this much, a tiny bit stronger."

Di Tian said in a deep, muffled voice, "The Master should wake up soon. Now, you are the strongest in the Star Dou Great Forest, so naturally, what you say goes."

"Don't worry, I won't order you to do anything," Xiao Wu saw through their thoughts. "After all, I'm no longer a Soul Beast. If I ordered you, you wouldn't be convinced in your hearts."

"Oh, right, sorry about earlier, but who told you to order me around before?"

"Rabbits are quite vengeful."

Di Tian turned his head away, only able to swallow this silent loss.

"Da Ming, Er Ming, why don't you transform into human form? Going out with Xiao Wu Jie to explore will be good for you." Xiao Wu felt that staying in the Star Dou Great Forest wasn't really cultivation. These two wouldn't have any substantial growth here. It would be better to go to Spirit Hall City with her.

As her younger brothers, they should be smarter.

What surprised Xiao Wu was that these two guys didn't immediately agree. Instead, they fell silent and even sought Di Tian's advice.

In recent years, Di Tian had also been guiding their cultivation, especially Da Ming. As a special bloodline of the Dragon Clan, Di Tian took extra care of him.

If they transformed into humans and cultivated again, they couldn't rely on their Dragon Clan bloodline as the foundation but would need to rely on their Martial Soul.

Although powerful Beast Soul Masters among humans also valued bloodline, it was ultimately different from the bloodline of the Soul Beast itself, which was why Da Ming was somewhat unwilling.

What about Er Ming?

He liked to fight. Although he couldn't defeat Di Tian, at least he had Xiong Jun to spar with. This guy also had a hot temper, and the two often fought, which could stimulate the Titan Giant Ape's bloodline and allow him to grow continuously. Therefore, he was also reluctant to leave the Star Dou Great Forest.

"You two really are... By becoming humans, with Third Brother's guidance, you can become stronger." Xiao Wu felt frustrated, like hitting iron that wouldn't turn into steel. She even felt that Da Ming, Er Ming, and the others had become disobedient after staying with Di Tian and the others for too long... Could it be the so-called rebellious phase?

Thinking of this, Xiao Wu felt she couldn't push too hard, so she just said, "Since that's the case, then forget it. You can wait until Gu Yuena comes out again."

After Xiao Wu left the core area of the Star Dou Great Forest, the fierce beasts all looked thoughtful. However, except for Di Tian and Bi Ji, whose thinking time exceeded half an hour, most of the other fierce beasts gave up thinking after three to ten minutes. Xiong Jun, in particular, was thinking about what kind of Soul Beast he would catch for dessert later.

"Everyone, return to your respective territories. The energy of heaven and earth in the Star Dou Great Forest is richer than before. Be careful when cultivating; heavenly tribulations are not easy to overcome." Seeing the other fierce beasts staring blankly or making small movements, Di Tian felt a trace of inexplicable irritation in his heart, so he ordered them to retreat.

"Di Tian, what are you worried about?" After the other fierce beasts left, Bi Ji asked, puzzled, "Is it the words Xiao Wu said?"

"Soul Beasts, humans, can we really only choose one?" Di Tian sighed, looking down at his ten human-shaped fingers. "Why can Ten-thousand year soul beasts transform into human bodies? Why can we fierce beasts transform into human form? Why can we instinctively become human in shape?"

"I had this question before I met you, but I never really thought about it. This time, when Xiao Wu presented her view, I thought about it again and became confused."

"There's one point we have to admit: from the perspective of continuing the bloodline, the birth of intelligence is indeed dispensable for us Soul Beasts."

"Perhaps, humans are the goal of all intelligent Life."

Bi Ji didn't quite understand, she just said, "Di Tian, don't think too much. The Master will definitely give us guidance."

"Let's hope so."

Di Tian's tone was deep as he turned back to look at the quiet Life Lake... There was one thing he hadn't told Bi Ji and the other fierce beasts: the Master just now was different from when he first saw her. She had seven parts less of the Dragon King's majesty and three parts more of natural amiability.

Can even the Master be changed by the human World?

At this moment, Di Tian truly felt fear towards humans, as well as a trace of curiosity...

"I hope it's just my illusion."

As for Gu Yuena, who had returned to her true form, the memories of living in the human World for many years were recorded like ink on that vast white paper.

The richness and colorfulness of the human World awakened the consciousness of the Silver Dragon King's true form and merged with Gu Yuena, but ultimately, Gu Yuena was the dominant one.

In terms of time, Gu Yuena's age in the human World was just a drop in the ocean compared to the Silver Dragon King's true form. Her memories should have been like a drop of ink falling into a tank of clear water, quickly dispersing and disappearing.

However, the Silver Dragon King was severely injured from the moment of her birth and had been in a state of deep sleep ever since. Her personality was extremely simple, so much so that this drop of "ink," Gu Yuena, instantly spread like a virus after entering, staining the entire tank of clear water black.

"Tang San, an interesting little guy, interesting humans, and also--"

The Silver Dragon King opened her eyes, revealing a trace of shame. "That dead rabbit, just you wait for this King. In the future, I will definitely make you kneel and call me older sister!"

"However, the Star Dou Great Forest doesn't seem to have the prosperity of the human World. It seems I won't be able to eat the candied hawthorn Tang San bought for a while."

"How annoying~"

562: The difference between internal and external luck: external luck and internal luck

Returning to Spirit Hall City, Xiao Wu first found Tang San, explained Gu Yuena's situation, as well as her experience in obtaining the ninth soul ring, and released the Three-Eyed Golden Lion.

However, at this time, the Three-Eyed Golden Lion was only thirty centimeters long, held in Xiao Wu's arms, looking just like a pet.

"Are you Tang San?" The Three-Eyed Golden Lion sized up Tang San, grinning, revealing a mouth full of small sharp teeth, "Sure enough, you are filled with an extremely strong Life aura."

"Hello." Tang San was also really curious about a dragon species like the Three-Eyed Golden Lion. He raised his hand and touched its head, and then took the opportunity to pluck one of its hairs.

Unfortunately, the current Three-Eyed Golden Lion was in a Soul Spirit state, and its hair was also a product of energy. The moment it was plucked, it directly turned into energy and dissipated, unable to retain any useful bloodline information.

Regarding Soul Spirits, Tang San and Iliex had also studied them together, and designed a set of mechanisms to prevent the leakage of their bloodline information, so that outsiders could not replicate them by obtaining the Soul Spirit's hair, blood, and the like.

Moreover, this set of confidentiality mechanisms could be set according to the Soul Spirit's creator, that is to say, this was a protective measure added by Gu Yuena in order to prevent the Three-Eyed Golden Lion from being mass-produced.

Although for Tang San, it would take some time to crack it, but since Gu Yuena had given such a signal, then he could not do it again.

After all, he still had to give the Silver Dragon King some face.

Also, after becoming familiar with the Three-Eyed Golden Lion in the future, when she took the initiative to agree to help, it would inevitably make the research smoother.

"What are you doing plucking my hair?"

The Three-Eyed Golden Lion bared its teeth. Even though it was just a hair, it still hurt.

Not to mention that she would not lose hair when she was a soul beast, but now that she had become a Soul Spirit, her hair was even more sensitive. Being plucked one hair was equivalent to losing cultivation.

Even if it only consumed one minute of cultivation, she would still feel pain.

"Sorry, I'm a little curious, after all, I haven't seen such a cute, beautiful, and fluffy creature." Tang San praised the Three-Eyed Golden Lion, and released a trace of his soul power, injecting it into the eye in the center of its brow.

"嘤 嘤 嘤 ~"

Suddenly, the Three-Eyed Golden Lion trembled all over, its eyes narrowed, only feeling that its soul seemed to have ascended to the Elysium, and it cried out happily.

"Are you horny?" Xiao Wu threw the Three-Eyed Golden Lion aside, and wiped her hands in disgust.

"... Not." The Three-Eyed Golden Lion was stunned. After understanding what "horny" meant, she was a little speechless, "I now understand why you are so powerful. This person is not only a child of destiny, but also has extremely special soul power. A wisp of soul power is equivalent to decades of hard work for me. You have obtained so much essence"

"嚶 ~ 嗷!"

Before she could finish speaking, the "teacup dog" was kicked out by Xiao Wu, and she cursed fiercely: "Suddenly I found that accepting the sacrifice of this thing was an unwise choice. It dares to talk nonsense about anything, it's really tired of living!"

A trace of cold sweat appeared on Tang San's forehead, but he still "coughed" and said: "Okay, don't argue with children, besides, she is still your Soul Spirit. No matter how far you kick her, she will return to your soul ring. Tell me about your ninth soul skill, Fate Dominance."

Speaking of this, Tang San did not expect that after Xiao Wu obtained the sacrifice of the Three-Eyed Golden Lion, she could actually obtain such a powerful ability and become an existence that controls luck.

As long as this skill is used, the luck of the entire Douluo Star is in Xiao Wu's hands, and she can use luck to manipulate the fate of others.

Those with little luck, even if they hide at home, will suffer misfortune, and even going to the toilet may drown in the outhouse.

Those with a lot of luck, even if they jump off a cliff, may not suffer any injuries, and may even meet hidden masters and obtain treasures.

This type of luck is called by Tang San: External Luck, that is, given by heaven and earth.

The luck that Xiao Wu can control is only this external luck.

Since there is external luck, then there is naturally internal luck.

Internal luck is determined by a person's knowledge, character, strength, wisdom, etc. The strong and wise can attract a large group of people to follow; those with extensive knowledge will naturally be sought after.

In short, internal luck can be summarized in one sentence: If you have a phoenix tree, the phoenix will come to roost.

Therefore, Xiao Wu cannot directly control internal luck.

But this does not mean that Xiao Wu has no way to deal with those with abundant internal luck.

After all, if people want to have internal luck, but learn extensive knowledge and practice powerful strength, they also need external luck to give them time to grow to reach these things.

As mentioned before, if you are unlucky, you will drown even when going to the toilet.

If Xiao Wu deliberately targets someone, as long as the other party still exists on Douluo Star and needs to rely on the environment of Douluo Star to survive, that is: needs to drink the water of Douluo Star, eat the food grown on Douluo Star, and breathe the air of Douluo Star, then the other party may have an accident at any time.

Even if hiding in the safest place, it may cause cell lesions in the body, or Douluo Star directly pulls meteorites from the universe and smashes them towards the other party.

Don't say that the water is picked from the mountains and the food is grown by yourself. As long as you are still within the major ecological cycles of Douluo Star, then you will always be subject to the rules of Douluo Star.

Even if you can "jump out of the Three Realms and not be in the Five Elements", that is: you can survive in the vast vacuum of the universe without relying on the environment of Douluo Star, which in Douluo Continent is to reach the level of God.

But as long as you are still on the planet, you still need to be bound by the planet's gravity. You can resist gravity and fly away from Douluo Star, but it does not mean that the gravity that pulls you disappears.

Of course, the power of Douluo Star's luck has very little binding force on god-level power. After all, Douluo Star is one of the one hundred and eight small Worlds of God Realm, and is governed by God Realm. No matter how awesome Douluo Star's luck is, how can it control the gods of God Realm?

But even so, Xiao Wu's ability is very powerful.

However, Tang San still suggested that Xiao Wu not use this ability. After all, their minds have not yet broken away from the level of mortals, and the position they stand in does not reach the corresponding height. Playing with the fate of others, even if the will of the entire Douluo Star plane is on their side, they may be backlashed by luck.

"Don't worry, Third Brother, I'm not the kind of troublemaker who arbitrarily plays with the fate of others." Xiao Wu waved her hand with a smile, "Gods are not qualified to play with fate, let alone me, who only controls luck?"

"To increase internal luck with one's own cultivation, and feed back to the heaven and earth, so as to obtain external luck, is the kingly way."

"The most important thing for the master of fate is to be objective."

Tang San smiled: "I didn't expect that the unruly little girl back then can now say such great truths. She has really grown up."

"I can do more than just talk about great truths." Xiao Wu gave Tang San a blank look. She, who has extremely high research in human body and medicine, really feels that the gift of luck should be fair and just, just like the internal organs of the human body, each has its own function and effect, combined together, to form a complete person.

Although luck is divided into more and less, each creature needs to give corresponding rewards for the part it receives.

Just like them, gaining the power they have now, they also have to give back to the heaven and earth, for the World, and also for themselves, just like the old saying: Every gift of fate has secretly marked the corresponding price.

Of course, for her, Third Brother, and Guang Ling, they have already cultivated the Primordial Spirit and become self-contained. If they really mess things up, they can just leave Douluo Star.

But that would be too irresponsible.

Moreover, escaping from a small World, there is still the great universe that binds them

563: An exploration of the afterlife

After Gu Yuena's matter was temporarily settled, Bibi Dong learned of the situation, called Tang San over, and asked, "Gu Yuena returned to the Star Dou Great Forest?"

After acquiring Artificial Soul Rings, Bibi Dong had already completed the eighth and ninth spirit rings of her second Spirit, and all her spirit rings had been elevated to the Ten-thousand year level within the Spirit Beast Illusion Space.

As for Spirit Ability skills, after the Soul Power Twin Cultivation Method was perfected and her primordial Spirit condensed, Bibi Dong no longer cared much about them; she focused more on comprehending the divine force of the Rakshasa and death God Positions.

The power of her primordial Spirit, in addition to allowing her spiritual coverage to be wider and more precise, also enabled her to control any elemental power, making her almost omnipotent.

Theoretically, as long as she understood the operating principles of all Spirit Abilities, she could imitate them through the power of her primordial Spirit, thereby achieving the goal of controlling all skills.

The original spirit ring skills, on the other hand, became like instincts.

Therefore, after learning Gu Yuena's true identity, Bibi Dong did not pay much attention to it; after all, she no longer needed spirit rings, so there was no need to dwell on whether Gu Yuena was human or not.

"She went back. After all, she is the lord of the Spirit Beast clan, though in a sense, it's only because she is the strongest and the hope for the Spirit Beast clan to become a God," Tang San nodded, "As for the relationship between humans and Spirit Beasts, I think it still requires a change in the Spirit Beasts' own perception, just as humans do not regard anthropoids as their own kind, but under normal circumstances, no one would actively attack anthropoids or other primates, unless the primate is overly aggressive, like baboons."

"Ten-thousand year soul beasts, in essence, are no different from us humans, and they do not consider their unintelligent, low-level kin as their own kind; they only possess compassion and sympathy psychologically."

"Transformed Ten-thousand year soul beasts appear foolish only because they have lived in those deep mountains and old forests for too long and have not experienced the baptism of complex human society, so they seem a bit naive. But in reality, the moment they choose to transform, whether they have reached maturity or not, they are already human."

"This has nothing to do with the soul; the physical body is exactly like a human's, and the soul will naturally gradually transform into a human form, and the personality will also approach that of a human, until it completely transforms into a human."

"Gu Yuena may be the key to guiding harmonious coexistence between humans and Spirit Beasts."

Bibi Dong remained silent for a long time, then suddenly asked, "Can humans and Spirit Beasts truly coexist harmoniously? Although Artificial Soul Rings have appeared and may be mass-produced and commercialized in the future, the competition for living space between humans and Spirit Beasts is the main contradiction."

"It is man-made, and besides, aren't humans themselves constantly fighting each other?" Tang San smiled slightly, "If we were to venture into space in the future and encounter other races, other civilizations, who look completely different from us, have different beliefs, different ideologies, and even different modes of thinking, are we supposed to eliminate all of them and only leave our Douluo humans?"

“Heaven Dou and Star Luo, especially Heaven Dou, originally had many kingdoms and duchies within their borders, and diverse ethnic groups, but now they have been unified.”

“Personnel within Spirit Hall also come from various regions and different ethnic backgrounds.”

“With the development of the times, the concept of ‘human’ can actually be expanded, not limited by bloodline or race. All beings with intelligence and the ability to understand each other can be classified into the concept of [human].”

Bibi Dong could understand this idea, but she also knew that, given the current situation, it was impossible to reach such a level, as even humans themselves could not yet fully understand each other.

Moreover, this goal was too grand.

“For a great Supreme Pontiff like you, having a grand goal and achieving it is what brings a sense of accomplishment,” Tang San flattered.

Bibi Dong: “……So you’re just giving me an empty promise.”

“An empty promise can satisfy hunger. For an existence at your level, there is no need for excessive material pursuits, so naturally, you must enrich your Spirit,” Tang San had his own reasoning, “Eternal Life must have a goal. Mere enjoyment will inevitably corrupt the mind. Otherwise, learning the living habits of Spirit Beasts, staying in that unchanging secluded place for tens of thousands of years as if it were one day, and making oneself simple, might allow the mind to be content with the status quo.”

Bibi Dong’s head was full of black lines, because Tang San’s words implied that after achieving eternal and immortal Life, there were three choices: either become a madman, playing games in the World; or find a spiritual sustenance and constantly pursue it; or simply not think or desire, content with the status quo.

Coupled with the time difference between the God Realm and Douluo Star...

Perhaps even those Gods cannot bear true eternal time. The God Realm Committee, enforcers, and administrators are probably just trying to find something to do for themselves, otherwise, their long lives would be too boring.

“According to you, aren’t all Spirit Masters masochists?” Bibi Dong asked.

“That’s right, Spirit Masters, or rather, cultivators and truth-seekers, are all masochists. You and I, who have reached this realm, did not rely on luck. Along this path, you fought your way out of slaughter and endured hardships; as for me, I spend almost every day immersing myself in libraries and archives, and conducting experiments for verification, and my path has not been smooth sailing either,” Tang San sighed.

Bibi Dong’s mouth twitched.

Although Tang San made a lot of sense, why did it always feel like Tang San had reached his current realm with such ease?

Easy?

Tang San just wanted to say:

Organize, categorize, summarize...

Discover, experiment, summarize...

These sound simple, but if you actually try to experiment, you’ll find that the difficulty is immense. If it weren’t for his scientific literacy from his previous Life, and the fact that this World already had a large number of predecessors who had extensively summarized and categorized existing phenomena, he wouldn’t even know where to begin to achieve something from scratch.

But Tang San also did not deny his luck.

“Alright, let’s skip this topic for now. Although we are already standing high enough, the common people’s perceptions have not reached our level; we still need to descend from the mountain first,” Bibi Dong prepared to discuss something practical, “In the past eight years, the Sun Moon Continent has dispatched troops three more times, but they were all defeated by the Heaven Dou Empire and our Spirit Hall. However, a small portion escaped back, and it’s estimated that they now know their emperor is in trouble. Now they have dispatched another fleet, not to mention rescuing the princess and captured generals, but under the guise of strengthening exchange between the two continents, they want to exchange goods and information.”

“What do you think of this matter?”

Tang San: “……”

564: Make the sun and moon stand erect? Start by sweeping the floor!

"I'm not good at this."

Tang San felt helpless; he was a researcher, so why ask him about everything?

A mere Sun Moon Empire, without Xu Huang, was just another Star Luo Empire, and it was far overseas; just be prepared.

As for the exchange between the two Continents—

"However, if Pope truly wants to hear it, then I think we still need to agree to mutual exchange; it can be considered communication and exchange between the two Continents, which is beneficial to promoting our development."

"Secondly, they can come here, and our people can go there."

"Although one can build a cart behind closed doors, the times are developing, and Soul Guidance technology is progressing; the cart built behind closed doors can run, but its speed might not necessarily keep up with others."

Bibi Dong nodded: "That's pretty much what I was thinking; I will write a letter and send it to Xue Renxue."

"Who is Xue Renxue?" Tang San frowned slightly, not reacting for a moment.

"It's Qian Renxue; didn't she return to being a woman? Then she changed her name back, but her surname is still Xue, and I actually hope she keeps the surname Xue."

Although Bibi Dong had resolved the knot in her heart with Qian Renxue as mother and daughter, she still had no good feelings for the Qian family of the Angel lineage; as long as the surname wasn't "Qian", it was fine.

As for taking her surname... Bibiren Xue?

That name sounded ridiculous.

Tang San wasn't too interested in this, although sometimes he would ponder whether Bibi Dong's surname was just "Bi" or "Bibi Dong"...

...

"Junzhu, have you heard?"

On the street of Min Shi Liang Du, Fu Hongchen, carrying a vegetable basket, whispered to Xu Huang, who was also carrying a vegetable basket beside her, "Today's Spirit Hall News reported that the Sun Moon Empire and the Heaven Dou Empire have established a maritime trade route, allowing free passage between the two sides... The Empire must know about our situation here now."

"So what if they know? The Empire is too far behind here."

Having lived in Spirit Hall City for eight years, Xu Huang truly realized the gap; she no longer had the grand ambitions of eight years ago, and even developed the idea that "living here for the rest of my life isn't bad."

"Even if Tang San is willing to let us go back, without Tang San, how many years would it take to transform the Sun Moon Empire into a model similar to Spirit Hall City?"

"You haven't seen how convenient the Blue Silver Network is."

"Also, on this Continent, there exists a level 100 expert... Although the Haotian Sect and Spirit Hall don't get along well, they wouldn't choose to support our Sun Moon Empire for revenge on the basis of righteousness."

"What's more, Spirit Hall also produces many talented individuals; Tang San's companions have all become Soul Douluo and Title Douluo; in terms of the quantity and quality of experts, our Sun Moon Empire cannot compare."

"The only advantage is perhaps that the two Continents are separated by a vast ocean, allowing the Sun Moon Empire to maintain stability for a longer period... But in reality, whether it's the Pope of Spirit Hall, Bibi Dong, or Tang San, they can both cross the vast ocean with their own power and go to the Sun Moon Continent; who there can resist them?"

"Admittedly, the Empire still has two level 98 experts, but can either of them defeat Tang San or Bibi Dong?"

As she spoke, Xu Huang's eyes gradually calmed down, clearly preparing to completely resign herself; anyway, she had food, drink, and lodging, and felt that being a Junzhu in the Sun Moon Empire was not as comfortable as being a servant in Soul Martial Manor.

Fu Hongchen was stunned, then sighed: The Junzhu has given up, but he cannot; as a talented descendant of the Hongchen family, he must strive for the Empire's strength!

Initially, the person who proposed learning from Spirit Hall City's advanced systems and models was Xu Huang; Fu Hongchen was rather slow to realize, but gradually, this Junzhu gave up, while Fu Hongchen worked hard to learn and pursue progress.

After all, before being captured, Xu Huang was carefree and enjoyed her innocence; she could see further than ordinary people, but when it came to execution, her perseverance was not as good as ordinary people.

Furthermore, Tang San didn't do anything to her; he just kept her working in the manor; even if the other servants looked down on them, they wouldn't say anything out of line, because anyone who dared to do so was fired by Lan Yinzi.

Therefore, in Soul Martial Manor, even if she didn't come into contact with truly important people, Xu Huang could be considered to be: chatting with learned scholars and interacting with no common folk; her life was actually more comfortable and at ease than during the time she was a Junzhu.

Fu Hongchen was different; born into the Hongchen family, he had always been extremely loyal to the imperial family, and his admiration for Xu Huang had never diminished in the slightest.

Therefore, in these eight years, he seriously studied everything here, and it wasn't just superficial.

However, the more he understood, Fu Hongchen sometimes felt lost; after all, according to Spirit Hall's concept of rule, the Empire's rule simply cannot rely on bloodline; the ruling model of a family dynasty will eventually decay.

Spirit Hall did not publicly announce such a ruling model, as the Heaven Dou and Star Luo Two Great Empires were "family dynasties", but it is undeniable that Spirit Hall is gradually abandoning the family dynasty system.

Fu Hongchen also had some understanding of Spirit Hall's history; before the current Pope Bibi Dong took office, the Angel lineage dominated, until the previous Pope died unexpectedly, which allowed Bibi Dong to take office, and Bibi Dong even took a woman with a Fox Martial Soul as her disciple... It was obvious that she was a candidate for the next Pope.

This had already departed from the "family dynasty" and transformed into a "master-disciple inheritance system", no longer relying on bloodline as the basis for succession, similar to selecting the virtuous and capable.

And over the past eight years, Fu Hongchen had also asked Tang San related questions; the other party was even blunt, feeling that the "master-disciple inheritance system" was also not suitable, and that the standard for succession should be based on "ideals, dreams, and beliefs."

His reasoning was: no matter how close the blood relationship, there will be conflict over interests; the "more children, more blessings" of the "family dynasty" imperial family members might seem good, but in order to compete for the throne, the struggle among them disregards any blood ties.

Only those with the same ideals, common dreams, and firm will can remain unwavering; such people can betray everything, but they will never betray their own hearts.

Regarding this, Fu Hongchen knew that Spirit Hall had not yet reached this point; this concept was too advanced, but there was no doubt that if no one disrupted Spirit Hall's development process, Spirit Hall might develop to the level Tang San spoke of.

"The World's situation is changing; if the Sun Moon Empire does not keep up with Spirit Hall's pace of reform, it will inevitably disappear into history; I absolutely do not want to see this."

Fu Hongchen cast aside distracting thoughts and secretly swore that he must make the Sun Moon Empire strong again.

However—

"Oh right, Fu Hongchen, I'm cleaning the backyard today, can you help out?" Xu Huang showed her watery big eyes and pleaded, "Xiao Qing and Xiao Bai and I agreed to go to the Soul Guidance Film and Television City this afternoon to watch the new Soul Guidance movie: 'One Piece'."

"Okay."

Fu Hongchen sighed and agreed—to make the Sun Moon Empire catch up with Spirit Hall's pace and stand tall in the World, he still had to start by sweeping the floor...

565: Documents required for navigation

With the opening of maritime trade routes, a portion of Spirit Masters within Heaven Dou, Star Luo, and Spirit Hall territories, influenced by the development of soul tool technology and the continuous exploration of various regions within the continent over the past eight years, also began to consider venturing out to sea.

Furthermore, as the Douluo Continent and the Sun Moon Empire entered a 'honeymoon period,' many newly emerging families also planned to visit the Sun Moon Empire, wondering if they could leverage its resources to develop their families.

After all, while the resources of the Douluo Continent had not yet been fully developed, they had largely been divided among the three major powers: Heaven Dou, Star Luo, and Spirit Hall.

With fierce internal competition, they could only seek opportunities externally.

It is precisely for this reason that some now refer to the current era as the Age of Sail, and the soul tool movie 'One Piece' is a story adapted by a director based on existing facts, with its protagonist, Lu Fei, a man who vows to become the King of the Pirates, setting sail in a small boat, gathering companions along the way, journeying to unknown lands, and helping their people resolve various conflicts.

Moreover, in this soul tool movie, there is also an 'antagonist' named: Heaven Soul Navy!

This brings us to the current reality of the continent—

For Douluo people to go to sea, they need to jointly obtain a sailing permit issued by Heaven Dou (Star Luo) and Spirit Hall; without one, it is unauthorized sailing and will result in arrest and detention.

The protagonist of 'One Piece,' Lu Fei, sailed without a permit, leading to his pursuit by the Heaven Soul Navy.

Heaven Soul...

The director of this soul tool movie is implying Heaven Dou Empire and Spirit Hall!

However, Spirit Hall and Heaven Dou Empire did not prevent this soul tool movie from being broadcast across the continent; instead, they even promoted it to some extent.

After all, the vast and magnificent sea truly requires more ambitious Spirit Masters to explore.

Of course, permits still need to be obtained, or else they will be jointly wanted by the three major forces on the continent.

Why are sea permits required?

The most fundamental reason is to prove identity, as the relationship between the Douluo Continent and the Sun Moon Empire cannot truly be called a 'honeymoon.'

"The sea is truly magnificent," Xiao Bai exclaimed with emotion, also feeling a bit inferior, as she had never truly seen the ocean in either her past or present life.

"It's a pity our Saint Son won't take us with him even if he goes to sea," Xiao Qing complained, "He looks like quite a lecherous person, yet he completely ignores our temptations."

Xu Huang, standing nearby, pursed her lips.

Lecherous?

That's broad-minded, isn't it?

As a Princess of the Sun Moon Empire, she found it quite normal for an excellent man to have multiple wives, as her brother Xu Huang was just like that.

However, Xu Huang would never let his wives pursue careers; aside from cultivation, they primarily traveled, enjoyed scenery, and cultivated their sentiments. For Tang San to let his women go out and work, or even engage in research, was simply unheard of.

Xu Huang, in any case, couldn't understand it.

As for why Xiao Qing and Xiao Bai's attempts at seduction failed, Xu Huang only wanted to say: Tang San isn't as lecherous as he appears; otherwise, she would have been completely taken by him years ago, so why would he bother with two common girls like them?

After watching the soul tool movie, the three left the soul tool film city and immediately ran into an acquaintance upon exiting.

"Who are you?" Xiao Qing didn't recognize the person in front of her, her brows tightly furrowed. "Troublemaking is not allowed inside or outside Spirit City; please step aside."

"We've met before; my name is Hawke."

The person who arrived was Hawke, the Sea God's successor who had returned from Sea God Island and the leader of the Transcendents' Alliance.

"Hawke?" Xiao Qing acted as if she understood, then her eyes showed confusion.

"I knew you'd remember..."

"Don't know you."

Hawke was stunned for a moment, then shook his head and chuckled, "Yes, it's been so many years, and we only met once. Back then, I wasn't alone; there was also a guy named Tang Luoya, whom you took to Soul Martial Manor to find work."

"Oh!" Xiao Qing remembered, then became a little wary. "Although we're from the same hometown, I've heard from others that you're not good people."

"Don't say that, I am a good person. Didn't your master personally receive me and Tang Luoya back then?" Hawke said, torn between laughter and tears, trying his best to explain, hoping the two would take him back to Soul Martial Manor to see Tang San.

At this time, Hawke had already completed the Sea God Seventh Trial, pulled out the Sea God Trident, and his strength had reached the Spirit Douluo level. The Sea God's Eighth Trial for him was to complete his spirit rings and Spirit Bones, with his Spirit Bones needing to be at least fifty thousand years old. Secondly, he needed to retrieve or repair the Sea God's Heart. Finally, he had to raise his cultivation to ninety-ninth level and then kill the Deep Sea Demon Whale King.

Among the four conditions, the second condition was intriguing.

The Sea God's Heart, which was the Vast Sea Cosmic Shroud, required him to retrieve or repair it... Did this mean that the Sea God's Heart had fallen into someone else's hands, or had even been damaged?

After much thought, Hawke felt that only Tang San could have obtained the Sea God's Heart, but this was Spirit City, and he couldn't act recklessly. The guards of Soul Martial Manor wouldn't let him in—even though he and Tang San had a collaboration, others didn't know that.

Therefore, he thought of Xiao Qing and Xiao Bai, hoping they would take him into Soul Martial Manor again to confirm with Tang San and see if there was a way to obtain the Sea God's Heart.

Even if Tang San had already damaged it, it didn't matter. If there were fragments, it should be easier to recast, otherwise he wouldn't be able to challenge the Deep Sea Demon Whale King.

To be honest, Hawke had no confidence at all in defeating the Deep Sea Demon Whale King. Tang San in the original work was able to defeat the Deep Sea Demon Whale King by relying on the power of his Slaughter God Domain evolving into the Slaughter Domain. The Asura God most likely truly chose Tang San at that time.

But he had no Slaughter God Domain; defeating the Deep Sea Demon Whale King would be as difficult as ascending to heaven!

One must know that although the Deep Sea Demon Whale King had one eye blinded by the Sea God, that should have been done by the Sea God after he became a god. Before becoming a god, did the Sea God truly have a way to deal with that Deep Sea Demon Whale King?

Hawke didn't believe it.

If he were to kill this Deep Sea Demon Whale King before beginning the final Ninth Trial and also make it his ninth spirit ring, it would simply be as difficult as ascending to heaven.

Of course, the trial condition only required him to kill the Deep Sea Demon Whale King and didn't state that he must use it as his ninth spirit ring. Hawke could completely challenge it after reaching ninety-ninth level.

But as a Transcendent, and having obtained the Seagod Nine Trials, Hawke was always unwilling not to strive for a million-year-level spirit ring, hence his desire for the Sea God's Heart.

"Alright, come along then. Anyway, even if we don't take you, you'd probably sneak in," Xiao Bai said, agreeing to Hawke's request. "But whether the Saint Son sees you then is another matter."

"Don't worry, as long as I can enter Soul Martial Manor, Tang San will definitely see me," Hawke said confidently.

"Let's hope so."

566: The Poseidon Trident weighing one hundred and eight thousand kilograms

“Speaking of which, what’s the situation like on the Douluo Continent now? Are customs inspections that strict?”

Along the way, Hawke recalled seeing modern-looking patrol ships when he returned to the Heaven Dou border, finding it dreamlike.

He had only been away from the Douluo Continent for eight years, and the changes were already so significant?

However, as a transmigrator, he couldn't say he was out of touch with the times; he just felt that if development continued at this pace, he might need to work even after becoming a god in the future.

“Of course, after all, it’s the Age of Exploration now!” Xiao Qing said earnestly, “The World is constantly developing, and so are other Worlds.”

Hawke was speechless, because if Tang San hadn't given this era a cheat code, it would have taken at least twenty thousand years for the Douluo Continent to develop to its current level.

Upon arriving at the entrance of the Soul Martial Manor, Shen Hou and You Ji stopped the four.

For the past eight years, the Twelve Yuanchen had been in Spirit City, serving as Tang San’s bodyguards and concurrently as gatekeepers of the Soul Martial Manor.

“Do you three know this person?” Shen Hou frowned slightly.

“I’ve met him once,” Xiao Bai said respectfully, “and Saint Son Tang San has spoken with him before. Seeing his anxious look, it seems he has an urgent matter for Saint Son Tang San. Furthermore, he and we are from the same hometown, so, could you two please be accommodating?”

Shen Hou’s brow relaxed as he sized up Hawke. Pointing at the long, cloth-wrapped object in Hawke’s hand, he said, “I don’t know if it’s real or not, but this thing in your hand cannot be brought in. We need to inspect it.”

“I’m afraid not,” Hawke shook his head.

“What? Is there gold inside, and you’re afraid we’ll pocket it?” You Ji squinted her eyes, scoffing, “Don’t say we’re not short on money; even if it were gold, it wouldn’t be as valuable as a single stone in the manor.”

“Not really,” Hawke grinned, unveiling the cloth to reveal a golden trident, shimmering brilliantly under the sunlight, extremely dazzling.

“It really is gold!” Shen Hou was slightly surprised. “Is this an artwork? Do you intend to offer this to Saint Son Tang San to secure wealth for the rest of your life?”

“Then I advise you to give up on that idea. Saint Son Tang San isn’t interested in such things.”

“Besides, with this thing, if you find a reputable auction house to sell it, you should be set for life, right?”

The reason Shen Hou said this was because Hawke’s attire was indeed overly simple; his clothes were severely faded and had many tears... However, Shen Hou also noticed something odd: the man was strong and full of vitality, yet there was no spirit power fluctuation. A normal person, no matter how well maintained, couldn't possess such powerful vitality. In fact, her keen senses could hear his heartbeat like surging ocean waves, continuous and endless.

This person must be a master!

This was also one of the reasons why she had driven him away earlier—the identity, friends, and character of Saint Son Tang San had all been clarified by the Twelve Yuanchen over these eight years. This fellow suddenly appearing was certainly not a friend or relative of Saint Son Tang San, and even if he did know Saint Son Tang San, he couldn't be let in easily; they had to wait for Saint Son Tang San to return and confirm it personally.

“No,” Hawke was a little exasperated. “This thing is quite heavy. An ordinary person can’t lift it.”

The Sea God Trident, also known as the Golden trident, weighs one hundred and eight thousand jin, but in the hands of its inheritor, it only weighs one hundred and eight jin, though its use creates the effect of one hundred and eight thousand jin.

Even the strongest mortals before becoming a god, for weapons used in a normal state that can be held for extended periods, their weight absolutely cannot exceed a thousand jin; otherwise, it would only add a burden with no other use.

If it's too heavy, it can only be used for bursts.

This can be seen from the Clear Sky Sect's self-created Spirit Ability such as the Rampaging Wind Technique, Clear Sky Nine Absolutes, and Ring Explosion; even Tang Chen couldn't change this.

The Rampaging Wind Technique, using force against force, is likely because the hammer is too heavy, making it necessary.

Clear Sky Nine Absolutes mostly relies on clever techniques.

Ring Explosion, an instantaneous burst of power.

This is still because the Clear Sky Hammer Spirit itself can offset a portion of its weight for a Spirit Master, similar to how the one hundred and eight thousand jin Sea God Trident only weighs one hundred and eight jin in the hands of its inheritor. No matter how heavy the Clear Sky Hammer is, even if it weighs one hundred thousand jin, in the hands of the Spirit Master holding it, its weight would at most be around one hundred jin.

Otherwise, even if a Spirit Master with the Clear Sky Hammer could lift a hammer that was truly that heavy, they would find it very difficult to wield it, and even if they could, they would likely be exhausted after a single swing.

Let's put it this way: if someone could truly wield a weapon weighing over ten thousand jin under normal circumstances, then their inherent strength could at least bear a mountain weighing over ten million tons. Such an existence, with a casual strike, would be nuclear-level.

"Can't lift it?" Shen Hou felt the other party was looking down on her. Just as she was about to try, she saw Tang San approaching from nearby and quickly went up to him with You Ji, saying, "Saint Son Tang San."

"Hmm." Tang San had just returned from the Spirit Research Institute. The moment he saw Hawke, his gaze was drawn to the golden trident. "The Sea God's divine artifact, tsk, as expected, you've embarked on that path."

"I had no choice. This is the best way I could think of," Hawke handed over the Sea God Trident, wanting to test Tang San's base strength.

In the original work, the level 99 Bo Saixi could lift the one hundred and eight thousand jin Sea God Trident, but she could only lift it; she couldn't wield it at all.

Therefore, through this, Hawke could judge just how strong Tang San was.

Tang San didn't stand on ceremony. He took the Sea God Trident, his arm sinking slightly. It felt like holding a ten-jin watermelon.

He tossed it, swung it, and then used it like a spear, performing picks, stabs, and chops in one fluid motion.

"Hush~"

Exhaling a puff of white air, Tang San returned it to Hawke, saying, “A good weapon. It can be used as exercise equipment.”

Hawke watched, dumbfounded. After taking the Sea God Trident, he stammered, “This thing weighs one hundred and eight thousand jin. How strong are you, exactly?”

“Currently, if I use all my means, I can forcibly push the entire Sun Moon Continent over to the Douluo Continent, making the two landmasses connect,” Tang San pondered for a moment, calculating this result.

“This is even more powerful than a god,” Hawke knew that Tang San wasn’t talking about pure strength, but including other means, but even so, he could probably crush a large number of deities.

At the very least, a level 100 powerhouse who had not ascended to the God Realm after becoming a god and had not absorbed Immortal Spiritual Energy to make up for their deficiencies would definitely not be able to compare. This meant that even if he inherited the Sea God’s position, he would still be inferior to Tang San.

“Not comparable to a god, at least gods live longer than I do,” Tang San shrugged, gave a few words of encouragement to Shen Hou and You Ji, then led Hawke, Xiao Bai, Xiao Qing, and Xu Huang into the manor...

567: Hawke's entry

"This Huo Ke is actually capable of lifting a weapon weighing 108,000 catties. How impressive! Can we win him over?"

Xu Huang, who was following behind Tang San, had this thought, but then she heard Tang San say, "You came here to me, is it for the Sea God's Heart?"

"Haha, I can't hide anything from you."

Huo Ke gave an awkward laugh and didn't hide anything in front of Xiao Bai, Xiao Qing, Xu Huang, and the others. After all, Tang San didn't ask them to leave, so he knew that whether they knew about these matters or not was irrelevant. "You know, I am currently receiving the inheritance of the Sea God. One of the contents of the eighth trial is to find or repair the Sea God's Heart... So, I only thought of you."

"No matter what, we can be considered to have a collaboration. If I go to the God Realm in the future, I can also act as your vanguard."

"Just give me the Sea God's Heart."

However, Tang San shook his head and said, "You came too late. The Sea God's Heart has already been refined by Gu Yuena."

"Ah?" Huo Ke was dumbfounded. "Refined... refined?"

"That's right," Tang San told him truthfully. "Although my relationship with her is good, I'm not raising her as an obedient maid. Her independent consciousness is very strong, and when her opinions are contrary to mine, she will actually refute me."

Huo Ke: ".....Then can I go and talk to her myself?"

"You can," Tang San acted very generously. "It's just that she has returned to the Star Dou Great Forest now, wanting to try and see if the Soul Beasts' personalities can be similar to Pokémon."

"So, you have to find a way to gain the trust of those fierce beasts first."

"It's just --"

Speaking of this, Tang San paused for a moment, looked at the trident mark on Huo Ke's brow, and said faintly, "They don't have any good feelings towards the inheritors of the God Realm."

Huo Ke bared his teeth, not expecting that Tang San and Gu Yuena were actually plotting to turn the Douluo Continent into a World of Pocket Monsters... Humans and Soul Beasts living in harmony, do they have to play this dream so big?

As if seeing through Huo Ke's thoughts, Tang San laughed heartily and said, "When poor, one perfects oneself; when successful, one benefits the World. But I am just someone who researches Martial Souls and cultivation. If things go smoothly, it will be Spirit Hall that handles the negotiations."

"You are truly carefree." Huo Ke suddenly felt a little envious and also a little regretful. Why didn't he love studying in his previous life and only focused on reading novels?

"Let's not talk about that. How about we make a deal?" Tang San suddenly asked.

"What deal?" Huo Ke was vigilant, unconsciously gripping the Sea God Trident tightly. His instinct told him it was related to this divine artifact.

"Materialized Martial Souls are very rare," Tang San said very seriously. "This Golden trident is the Martial Soul of the Sea God before he became a God Realm. After becoming a God Realm, it condensed into a physical form."

"As far as I know, multiple Martial Souls can be condensed. By the same logic, the owner of a materialized Martial Soul can likely also condense multiple ones, just as I can plant Blue Silver Emperor within the Heaven Dou territory and Spirit Hall City."

"It's just that the energy consumed by condensing multiple Martial Souls is different, and basically no one would do this."

"But I think the Sea God in the God Realm must still possess a Golden trident, otherwise, if he leaves his divine artifact in the lower realm, what will he use to contend with the other First-Grade Main God Realm in the God Realm?"

Huo Ke was thoughtful, but he wasn't interested in these things. He just asked, "You won't break the Golden trident, right?"

"Break it?" Tang San chuckled. "Wouldn't that be even better? By then, you can find a way to condense your own trident Martial Soul into a divine artifact. After all, no matter how you look at it, this thing is transformed from the Sea God's weapon. Can you say that the predecessor didn't leave any backup plans?"

Huo Ke's expression changed, realizing the problem but not knowing where the problem was.

He only heard Tang San continue, "Of course, I estimate it's just through means like faith and divine power, subtly influencing personality... What is your address for the Sea God?"

Facing this sudden question, Huo Ke answered without thinking, "Lord Sea God."

After speaking, Huo Ke himself reacted, gritting his teeth and his eyes spitting fire.

Lord?

How could he address the other party as Lord Sea God?

If he were on Sea God Island, in order to cater to the believers on Sea God Island, calling him "Lord" would be acceptable, but now, having left Sea God Island, he actually still called him "Lord."

This wasn't respect, but that he had already been subtly influenced!

Sea God!

What a Sea God!

No wonder he could conquer the entire ocean and make most of the Sea Soul Beasts provide faith to him, a human God Realm. This method is truly brilliant.

"See, you've found the problem yourself, right?" Tang San also confirmed the guess in his heart. Those who inherit a divine position will, to some extent, be influenced by the predecessor God Realm. "If it were the rest of the people in this World, I wouldn't be surprised, after all, it's due to the environment, but even you, who have experienced modern education, would be superstitious and instinctively say... Is this the failure of education, or is the radiance of the Sea God's faith too dazzling?"

Huo Ke thought for a moment, gritted his teeth, and handed over the Golden trident in his hand, saying, "Here, you can research it however you want, but can you help me solve the problem of the divine trial? If I can't reach level ninety-nine within twenty years, I'm finished."

"Twenty years?" Tang San raised an eyebrow.

"My talent is not as good as yours." Huo Ke's face was flushed with embarrassment, knowing what Tang San was surprised about. After all, the original Tang San in the original work only had a time limit of five years for the eighth trial, and he even completed it early.

But he himself needed twenty years.

However, Huo Ke just wanted to say that the time required for an inheritor like him is the normal situation. Those like Tang San, who had the Mystic Heaven Skill as a cheat, definitely can't be compared.

"That's true," Tang San actually nodded in agreement, taking the Sea God Trident that was handed over, and slowly said, "Don't worry too much about the problem of the divine trial. Once you have thoroughly researched the Sea God Trident and the Sea God's divine power, there will naturally be a way to avoid it. Moreover, you might even be able to truly smelt this divine artifact into something that belongs to you."

"Before this, there was a fellow countryman who was thinking of refining equipment into his soul, using ordinary Hundred Refinements and Thousand Refinements weapons to refine into his Martial Soul, thereby improving the quality of his Martial Soul."

"It's impossible for him to succeed because the Martial Soul is essentially between matter and energy. It's impossible to melt simple material metal into the Martial Soul, but this Sea God Trident is not simple metal. It is materialized from a Martial Soul. It is not impossible to energyize it, integrate it into your Martial Soul, thereby improving the quality of your own Martial Soul, and even materializing it into a divine artifact."

Huo Ke was extremely moved, but he still asked, "What is the success rate?"

"Fifty-fifty," Tang San was ambiguous, but then he advised, "Don't worry, didn't you come with Tang Luoya before for Soul Armor? That thing is a derivative of the Soul Imprint Throne. What is the Soul Imprint Throne, you should know, right?"

"I know," Huo Ke nodded.

Soul Imprint Throne?

Isn't that the god seal throne? It's just a different name...

"Wait, did you create that?"

"Naturally!"

568: The Secret of Divine Affinity

Tang San led Huo Ke into the laboratory, put on a white coat, and told Huo Ke to undress, preparing to give him a thorough examination.

Huo Ke looked at the various medical and chemical experimental equipment, as well as some unknown Soul Guidance Devices, that filled the room, which he had seen in TV shows and textbooks in his previous life, and shivered: "You really look like a mad scientist like this."

"Don't worry, it's just a basic physical examination, I won't dissect you, at most I'll just collect your blood, hair, skin, oral epithelial cells, urine, etc., for examination."

Tang San motioned for the other party to calm down, "Even in modern society, if you had special abilities, a regular official department would never dissect you. Don't believe those idiotic plots in movies and TV shows. A regular institution has a complete medical system and a sound psychological counseling system. Your value is greatest when you are alive, healthy, and safe."

Huo Ke trembled as he looked at the sharp small knife Tang San held in his hand, swallowed, and forced a smile onto his face: "Um, if you weren't holding that knife, it would be more convincing."

"Me?" Tang San smiled slightly, "Right now, I'm not in a regular setting."

Huo Ke's face suddenly changed, and he shouted: "I regret it."

"Too late! Hehehe!" Tang San laughed very arrogantly, but his eyes were clear, listening to the sound of the other party's blood flowing rapidly within him, as if he saw the sea roaring, continuously crashing against the cliffs, rumbling incessantly. Although rapid, it was full of rhythm, without any disorder, continuous and unending.

And Huo Ke, seeing that Tang San didn't make a move for a long time, also realized that the other party wasn't going to dissect him, and heaved a sigh of relief, calming his mood.

At this time, under Tang San's observation, Huo Ke's blood flow speed became gentle, like the undulating surface of the sea, continuously pulsing, yet quiet and peaceful.

"What are you doing?" Huo Ke was puzzled.

"Checking the fluctuations in your blood caused by emotional excitement." Tang San put down the small knife in his hand, "Using ordinary methods to examine your body can only yield one result: your body is about four or five times stronger than a normal Soul Master of the same level, nothing more."

"But I sensed another result—"

"Your Heartbeat and blood flow seem to simulate the rhythm of the sea, and this rhythm changes with your emotions."

Huo Ke thought for a while, then said: "This might be the effect of Tidal Body Tempering."

"Perhaps during the process of Tidal Body Tempering, your body adapts to the rhythm of the sea, but once you leave that environment, this rhythm will gradually fade."

Tang San shook his head, "After all, you can't possibly live in that environment your whole life, right? The greatest effect of Tidal Body Tempering is to temper the physique and blood under the impact of the waves, but you can't possibly turn this fluctuation into your passive."

"To put it simply, it's a habit, or rather, a characteristic."

"People living at low altitudes who suddenly go to high altitudes will experience slight changes in their appearance after adapting, the most obvious being that their features become rougher."

"Tidal Body Tempering is the same principle."

"In short, it's a process of adaptation, and this adaptation changes according to the environment. In different environments, people also need to have different response methods, just like Soul Masters hunting Soul Beasts in different Hunting Spirit Forests also need to prepare different equipment, otherwise, their efforts will be doubled with half the result."

Huo Ke suddenly understood, then said strangely: "Why does it sound like science?"

"This is science to begin with."

Tang San suddenly felt like he was playing a lute to a cow, "Science does not equal technology, it's just a way of thinking, discovering natural laws, summarizing laws, and utilizing laws. No matter what grand words are used to describe this behavior and the results produced by this behavior, as long as it conforms to the set of logical theories they have summarized themselves, then it can be classified into the category of 'science'."

"On the Douluo Continent, any strong person who has cultivated successfully can be said to be a scientist, it's just that some scientists are not good at summarizing, have bad tempers, and are arrogant."

Huo Ke's eye twitched, and he asked: "What did you do in your previous life?"

"That's a secret." Tang San didn't answer, and continued the previous topic, "Your blood flow is like the rhythm of the sea, and it can be maintained almost permanently, which must be the power of the Sea God assisting you."

"Light of the Sea God." Huo Ke touched the golden trident mark on his brow with a heavy Heart, "It should be this thing that is changing the way my blood flows."

"In my previous life, there was a conspiracy theory that the Gods in the God Realm were all Soul bodies, and they cultivated successors to seize their physical bodies." Tang San brought up a niche theory, "Have you heard of it?"

"Uh... it can't be true, right?" Huo Ke was startled, if becoming a God meant sacrificing your physical body to the God, how tragic would that be?

"Not entirely correct, but not entirely wrong either." Tang San extended a finger, "The successor of a God inherits the position of the previous God, which is: the God Position."

"And what does a God Position look like?"

"Does it have a specific shape? Are there any attribute requirements?"

"These questions might be a bit abstract, but there is no doubt that inheriting a God Position means making the successor's physical body able to adapt to the God Position. In short, it means becoming the shape of the God Position."

Huo Ke opened his mouth, and after a long time, he asked: "So, the affinity rewarded to the inheritor during the God trials is to make the inheritor's body more suitable for the placement of the God Position?"

"That's right." Tang San nodded, "If the previous God has completely died, like the Rakshasa God or the Angel God, rewarding affinity is not a problem, after all, the current inheritor controls everything."

"But if the previous God is not dead, then the inheritor might be affected by them."

"The 'me' in the original work had an affinity of over one hundred percent... Although one hundred percent is enough to inherit, the Sea God increased the affinity to over one hundred percent."

"It is estimated that in that case, that Tang San's body was even more suitable for the Sea God Position than the original Poseidon."

Huo Ke felt that this was not bad, but the premise of increasing the upper limit was losing freedom and being subtly influenced in one's disposition. In that case, it's better not to have this power.

Losing oneself...

Huo Ke had never experienced it, but he never wanted to experience such a thing.

"Do I have to go through this too?" Huo Ke didn't want to experience being modified into "becoming the shape of something". Putting aside whether there were any pitfalls, the feeling described by Tang San was just too strange.

"Definitely, otherwise how can you inherit the Sea God Position?" Speaking of this, Tang San's tone changed again, "However, your Martial Soul is the trident, almost identical to the Sea God Trident. So, even if this thing needs to be 'inserted' into your body, it won't require too much modification. At least compared to someone like me whose Martial Soul is the Blue Silver Emperor, modifying your body with the Light of the Sea God is much simpler."

Huo Ke wanted to cry but had no tears.

After all, he had actively jumped into this pit himself...

569: Refining Weapons into the Soul: Artifact Edition

Immediately after, Tang San inspected the Sea God Trident, discovering a peculiar fluctuation within it that resonated with Huo Ke's blood flow and Soul Power circulation, relying on the Light of Sea God for resonance, though the efficiency was not very high.

This point should be related to the Sea God Trident missing the Sea God's Heart.

Subsequently, Tang San had Huo Ke hold the Sea God Trident while simultaneously releasing his own Martial Soul: trident, and merging it with this divine artifact.

Huo Ke followed instructions, diligently controlling his Martial Soul to become transparent energy, covering the Sea God Trident, and under Tang San's guidance, using a special method of circulation, created a connection between the two.

Instantly, a wonderful sensation appeared in Huo Ke's heart, as if a part of his Martial Soul had merged into the Sea God Trident, giving this divine artifact a subtle, almost imperceptible spirituality.

"Very good. According to the rough Soul Power circulation method I created based on the resonance between you and the Sea God Trident, it is estimated that within twenty years, you can completely fuse this divine artifact with your Martial Soul. By then, you won't have to hold it so laboriously, but can store it within your body like a Martial Soul."

Tang San recorded the frequency oscillations between the two and gave a result.

"I have to say, your Martial Soul and the Sea God Trident are truly very similar, and your Martial Soul also has a blue gem. As long as you succeed, the Sea God's Heart will be considered half-recondensed. By then, you just need to find a Water element treasure and refine it into your Martial Soul."

"At that time, your strength will also reach level ninety-nine."

"For a Martial Soul, this divine artifact is the best heavenly material and earthly treasure."

Huo Ke excitedly asked, "In that case, can I get rid of the Sea God's influence?"

"No," Tang San shook his head. "After all, you have his brand on your forehead, and he has already modified your body. The influence already exists. It's naturally more difficult to remove it, but it's not impossible..."

"What method?" Seeing Tang San stop talking, Huo Ke became anxious, hoping he wouldn't keep him in suspense.

"The first method is for you to conquer the oceans of Douluo Star within twenty years, walk the path of the Sea God, and experience your own path of the Sea God. The same path, walked by different people, results in different understandings. By then, you will naturally be able to get rid of the Sea God's influence."

Tang San suggested a clumsy method, but one that required unyielding perseverance to achieve.

With Huo Ke's perseverance...

It's tough.

As expected, Huo Ke only thought for a moment before giving up, saying, "That's too difficult. The ocean is vast and boundless. Poseidon could conquer the ocean before becoming a god. I strongly suspect he had a secret connection with the Mermaid race. After all, among the seven sacred pillar guarding Title Douluo of Sea God Island, there is a mermaid, and the believers of Sea God Island universally acknowledge: Mermaids are the Sea God's most beloved darlings."

"This is definitely not groundless. I even suspect Poseidon was able to avoid getting lost in the vast ocean because he married a princess or something from the Mermaid race."

"As for the so-called 'strength of one person', I estimate that in the process of conquering the ocean, he also had many companions. At least the Mermaid race and the Demon Soul Great White Shark race were subdued by Poseidon and could escort him in conquering the ocean... It's just that among these companions, only Poseidon was a thorough human, hence the 'strength of one person'."

As a transmigrator, Huo Ke understood that this World was also spherical, and coupled with his knowledge of the approximate strength of Soul Masters at various levels, he wouldn't blindly believe in so-called legends.

But even so, Poseidon's ability to subdue Soul Beasts for his own use was considered a rare talent.

But he absolutely couldn't do it!

Just by being the successor of the Sea God, he couldn't command the Mermaid race or the Demon Soul Great White Shark race, especially the Demon Soul Great White Shark King. She had to guard Sea God Island and couldn't leave for a long time at all.

"The second method is to wait," Tang San said slowly.

"Wait?"

Huo Ke was puzzled. Wait for what?

"You know about the God Realm's ascension channel, right?"

"I know." Huo Ke naturally knew that there was a spatial channel between the God Realm and Douluo Star. Gods descending to the mortal World couldn't really fly from the God Realm to Douluo Star. That would be too time-consuming, and whether they could find the World they wanted to go to in the vast starry sky was also a big problem.

It's just that he didn't know the specific location of the spatial channel, nor did he know why Tang San was asking this question... Could it be that he wanted to take control of the ascension channel connecting Douluo Star to the God Realm?

But what did this have to do with whether he was influenced by the Sea God?

"If the God Realm can't contact the mortal World, the Sea God won't be able to influence you, right?" Tang San said with a smile.

"So that's it!" Huo Ke suddenly understood, and then asked, "Do you have a way to cut off the connection between the God Realm and the mortal star?"

"Yes, but that's a secret." Tang San's implication was: Huo Ke was not yet fully trustworthy.

This made Huo Ke's heart itch with impatience, but he also knew that by telling him this, Tang San was certain that he would no longer side with the gods.

The reason was simple: he would never approve of the Sea God who wanted to change his thoughts.

And the fact was indeed like this—

The inheritance of a divine position required changing the body; he accepted it, treating it as the price for gaining power. But to also subtly change his thinking and cognitive patterns... This was going too far. It was practically not treating him as a person!

However, the gods in the original work also didn't truly treat mortals as important.

Benevolence is not a god's obligation...

...

"Listening to Huo Ke, it seems Saint Child is also a transmigrator?" In the garden near the laboratory, Xiao Qing and Xiao Bai were watering flowers and discussing this matter.

"So what? In this day and age, does it still matter if someone is a transmigrator?" Xiao Bai had a nonchalant expression. After all, the current atmosphere in Spirit Hall City wasn't much different from modern society. It was just that the status of Soul Masters was higher, and under the guidance of Spirit Hall, the higher the status, the more and more important work they had to do.

As for the original idea that [cultivation is for wealth, glory, and status], it has gradually been guided towards [cultivation is for oneself]. That is, Spirit Hall's current evaluation standard is gradually shifting from solely strength to ability.

This is also related to the abundance of talent in Spirit Hall now. After all, powerful Soul Masters are everywhere, and there is no shortage of fighters. To enjoy higher treatment, one must have other outstanding advantages besides combat.

And this has also made the Soul Masters in Spirit Hall increasingly competitive in all aspects... Now, Xiao Bai and Xiao Qing are very grateful that they were captured back then, otherwise they wouldn't have gotten such an easy job.

It is estimated that if there were other transmigrators in this World, they would definitely be very flustered. After all, they finally transmigrated, originally intending to become kings and overlords, or local landlords. Who would have thought that times would change so quickly, and they would have to start working!

570: True Traveler Alliance

Huo Ke returned to the Douluo Continent, and Tang Luoya and Feng Ming naturally returned as well, but instead of going to Spirit Hall City with Huo Ke, they returned to the territory of the Transcendents' Alliance in the former New Heaven Dou Federation.

The New Heaven Dou Federation had already been recovered by the Heaven Dou Empire, but the Transcendents' Alliance was not destroyed. Instead, because Feng Ming's father was self-aware, he surrendered to the Heaven Dou Army in advance and became a guide, allowing the Heaven Dou Army to strike directly at the heartland more easily, thus preserving the family and Sect's foundation.

However, what surprised Feng Ming even more was that many new faces had appeared in the Transcendents' Alliance, and all of them were Transcendents. Counting them carefully, there were actually around fifty people.

Good heavens, they could form a class!

Now, the Transcendents' Alliance truly lived up to its name.

These Transcendents had actually known about the Transcendents' Alliance eight years ago, but most were observing and none chose to reveal their identities until—

The New Heaven Dou Federation was destroyed, and the Heaven Dou Empire was carrying out vigorous reforms within its borders, even nationalizing all land within its territory. Those who resisted, whether officials or small families, were executed.

In an ordinary feudal society, doing this would surely lead to widespread complaints, but this was the Douluo Continent with a supernatural World. Furthermore, the current Empress Ren Xue's true identity was the Spirit Hall Pope Bibidong's daughter, making the connection between the Spirit Hall and the Heaven Dou Empire increasingly close. There were plenty of Soul Masters, so they didn't lack those stubborn large and small families.

After round after round of reshuffling, these Transcendents, who had originally been living relatively comfortable lives, suddenly went bankrupt. They wanted to make a comeback but couldn't contend with the Heaven Dou Empire and the Spirit Hall, and they themselves didn't want to work until death.

In desperation, they could only find the Transcendents' Alliance to try their luck.

As a result, they were also surprised. After all, the number of Transcendents was indeed quite large, and some were even old acquaintances from their previous lives, which truly brought tears to their eyes.

However, Feng Ming also discovered that the Martial Soul cultivation talent of these Transcendents was acceptable, even quite good. They could cultivate to the Title Douluo level within their lifetime. But unfortunately, most of these people had not read "Douluo Continent," and some had never even heard of it.

This was probably why they hadn't done very well. After all, their attitude towards Martial Souls was probably no different from how the native inhabitants of Douluo viewed them.

Feng Ming didn't mind this, after all, people who weren't interested in novels in their previous lives might not have even heard of the Four Great Classical Novels, let alone just a web novel?

"Fellow compatriots, please don't argue. Since everyone is willing to join us, we will definitely be responsible for you, at least ensuring that you can enjoy your former treatment."

Feng Ming appeased everyone, "However, our Transcendents' Alliance has only been established recently, and we are short on manpower and financial resources. Everyone needs to work hard for a while first."

Most of the Transcendents felt that these words sounded a bit familiar, but they didn't say much. A few with good minds asked, "The Transcendents' Alliance has been established for so many years, and it's still short on manpower and financial resources?"

"Haha, look at what you're saying, fellow countryman. If it weren't for the Heaven Dou Empire's reforms impacting your lives, would you have come here?" Feng Ming didn't get angry, he just laughed, "Furthermore, there's something I need to tell you, and that is that there are Gods in this World."

Although most of the Transcendents hadn't read "Douluo Continent," transmigrating and living another life had truly happened to them. In their understanding, at least the soul should truly exist.

Moreover, this World also had magical Martial Souls.

Then, perhaps the legendary Gods also existed.

And a small number of people who had read the novel had already noticed the red dots on Feng Ming and Tang Luoya's foreheads...

"Tang Luoya and I went to Sea God Island and were granted trials by Sea God. Moreover, we have another companion who has obtained the Sea God's inheritance and will be able to inherit the position of Sea God in the future." Feng Ming's eyes held a hint of fanaticism, "Because our future is bright, but before that, you need to work a bit harder."

"Sea God?" Someone was confused.

"That's right, Sea God—" Before he finished speaking, Feng Ming froze, realizing something was wrong. He thought to himself: This isn't Sea God Island, why am I also calling him Sea God? Could it be that I've already formed a habit? This won't do!

However, Feng Ming didn't think too much about it, he just said, "Sea God is actually achieved by humans. As long as your Soul Power reaches level one hundred, you can become a God."

Immediately, there was a lot of discussion below.

"Cultivating as a Soul Master?"

"Level one hundred? Isn't that similar to scoring one hundred on an exam?"

"After level one hundred, you become a God?"

"Do Gods need incense?"

"Is Sea God Mazu, or the Dragon King?"

"Go to Sea God Island to farm for benefits? That's not a bad idea, but if you can't get the red level trial, there's no way to leave the island. The benefits from Sea God aren't that easy to get."

...

"Silence!"

Finally, Tang Luoya released his Martial Soul. The enormous Haotian Hammer slammed onto the ground, intimidating everyone, and the seven Soul Rings, Purple Purple Purple Black Black Black Black, were extremely dazzling.

One must know that the place on the Continent currently announced to be able to increase the age of Soul Rings was the Spirit Hall. That Tang San possessed a Spirit Beast Illusion Space.

After this matter was exposed, these Transcendents originally thought that a bloody storm would be stirred up on the Continent and they could take the opportunity to profit from the chaos.

But who would have thought that the only two major events that occurred were the New Heaven Dou Federation being recovered by the Heaven Dou Empire, and the Sun Moon Empire establishing a maritime trade route with the Douluo Continent.

"Everyone has seen it, this is the benefit of the God Realm Inheritance Land. As long as you pass the trial, you can obtain rewards and increase the age of your Soul Rings." Feng Ming continued to promote this and began arranging for people from his family to conduct a more detailed registration of this batch of Transcendents for better management in the future.

After dealing with these Transcendents, Feng Ming began to think about his address for the Sea God: Sea God...

There was definitely something wrong with this!

Respecting the strong was right, but there was no reason why he should still keep the other party in his heart after leaving Sea God Island. Even if the other party was great and conquered the ocean, what did that have to do with him?

Poseidon wasn't his ancestor, and he was also a Transcendent from modern times. How could he possibly worship him so much?

"Donald Duck, what do you think?"

"My name is Tang Luoya!" Tang Luoya's face darkened, but he still thought for a moment and said, "It might be related to the power of faith."

"Power of faith, faith..." Feng Ming suddenly understood, "I didn't expect you, a guy who isn't usually very bright, to still be able to find the key point."

Tang Luoya's face was full of black lines. He snorted, "That Posey kept talking about Sea God's faith and things like that in our ears all day. It was hard for me not to notice. Also, my mind is very bright, I just don't like thinking. It's too tiring."

"Yes, yes, you're very bright." Feng Ming humored him, but he also knew that the physical quality of Soul Masters far surpassed ordinary people, and their brains were definitely more developed than ordinary people. It was just that most Soul Masters didn't really like to think and only wanted to solve problems with force, especially Tang Luoya, who was from the Haotian Sect.

Three days later, Huo Ke returned and was also a bit surprised to see so many Transcendents. But after learning about their origins from Feng Ming, he said speechlessly, "So they couldn't make it elsewhere and came to join us."

Feng Ming hissed, "Hmph, if it weren't for my Feng Family helping, you, the Alliance Leader, would be a lone wolf and have no right to talk about others."

"At least I was chosen by the Sea God," Huo Ke defended himself.

"That's just because your Martial Soul met the Sea God's selection criteria. By the way, regarding the Sea God's Heart, did you get any information from Tang San?" Feng Ming was more concerned about this point. "If he doesn't give it, then you can only give up on using the Deep Sea Demon Whale King as your ninth Soul Ring. Wait until you cultivate to level ninety-nine in the future, then kill it, and use its whale pearl to repair the Sea God Trident's Sea God's Heart... Speaking of which, where is your Sea God Trident?"

Ever since Huo Ke pulled out the Sea God Trident, the divine artifact had never left his hand. Even when sleeping, he would hold it.

Now it was actually gone?

"The Sea God's Heart can no longer be obtained, and the Sea God Trident has been given to Tang San for research..." After Huo Ke described what happened, Feng Ming frowned deeply, "You just trust him like that?"

"What else can I do if I don't believe him? I estimate that even if I become a God, I won't be his opponent. It's better to be generous. Furthermore, the Sea God's faith has indeed had some influence on us." Huo Ke's expression was extremely solemn, "The benefits of being a God are not that easy to obtain, especially before the previous God has died."

Feng Ming was helpless, "What about these fifty-plus Transcendents now? I did some promotion before, implying that I would take them to Sea God Island to participate in the trials."

"Said it clearly?" Huo Ke raised an eyebrow.

"I didn't explicitly say I would take them." Feng Ming realized there was more room for manipulation, but those people were all Transcendents, and their talent wasn't bad. If they weren't managed well and betrayed them in the future, it would be troublesome.

"That doesn't matter then. Although the Sea God's inheritance has some issues, I am definitely going to break through level one hundred. Tang San has already planned a path for me." Huo Ke was full of confidence, "Once the Sea God Trident is thoroughly researched, Tang San will return it to me, along with a book on how to refine the divine artifact into my Martial Soul, the 'Martial Soul and Divine Artifact Resonance Fusion Method'. At that time, the divine artifact will truly belong to me."

"That good?" Feng Ming was suspicious, "Could it be that he wants to use you for experiments?"

"It doesn't matter. It's better than me having to worship the former Sea God from the bottom of my heart." Huo Ke's mood was slightly heavy, "If the price of becoming a God is changing one's will, then it's better not to be this God."

571: The role of the Alliance of Travelers

“So this is the foundation of Martial Soul deification.”

Under the cheat of the Heavenly Dao, after half a month of research, Tang San thoroughly understood the Sea God Trident—this thing, in essence, was still between matter and energy, but it could exist in the World for a long time.

For a Martial Soul to remain in the World for a long time after leaving its Soul Master, it needs energy supply and a self-contained cycle.

Turning the 虚 (void/illusory) into 实 (real/solid)...

Creation...

In a sense, the materialization of the Sea God Trident also touched a trace of the power of Creation.

The sea, too, can nurture all things.

But the Sea God Trident is ultimately just a weapon, not the ocean itself. To be preserved in the World for a long time, it requires energy to maintain, and this energy is the power of faith.

The Sea God Trident can absorb the power of faith from all living beings in the entire sea, which not only maintains the existence of this divine artifact but also makes it more spiritual.

It's just that the Sea God Trident lacks the core specifically used to carry spirituality and convert faith: the Sea God's Heart, which leads to its inefficient absorption of the power of faith.

This is different from Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor. The materialization of the Blue Silver Emperor is achieved by controlling the power of Creation, turning the 虚 (void/illusory) into 实 (real/solid). Moreover, every Blue Silver Emperor can autonomously draw power from the earth and the light of the sun and moon to sustain itself, forming an independent cycle with the external World. It doesn't require Tang San to provide extra Soul Power or draw the power of faith for maintenance, and its vast energy can even feed back to Tang San.

In terms of the form of existence, the efficiency of the Sea God Trident is far lower than that of the Blue Silver Emperor, not to mention that the Blue Silver Emperor will also actively reinforce the land of Douluo Star, increase the concentration of World energy, and feed back to the planet; while the Sea God Trident simply plunders the faith of believers, then gives believers trials and grants them some small favors, which is not beneficial to the development of the entire planet... The living beings in the ocean, instead, have become servants of the Sea God, only remembering the Sea God's power, but not knowing that Douluo Star is the fundamental source that nurtures all living beings.

After understanding this point, Tang San laughed: “No wonder I'm so lucky. It turns out I really am the most cherished treasure of this planet, and it's the kind of parent who is afraid of starving themselves and desperately feeds their child—”

[My planetary mother!]

Cutting off distracting thoughts, Tang San's Primordial Spirit moved, confirming Huo Ke's location. He then casually tossed the Sea God Trident, and it traveled thousands of miles, landing at the base camp of the Transcendents' Alliance.

With the Heaven Dou Empire's capital city full of Blue Silver Emperor, Tang San could determine precise coordinates with just a sweep of his Primordial Spirit. He could open a spatial passage and deliver things to any location with 100% accuracy.

Then, he threw over a manual for refining the Sea God Trident.

This ability is difficult for even the Gods of the God Realm to match...

...

Seeing the Sea God Trident suddenly appear before him, Huo Ke was startled, but with quick eyes and hands, he immediately caught it.

“This thing appeared out of thin air... Was it teleported by Tang San?” Feng Ming was discussing with Huo Ke how to utilize the talents of the Transcendents. He was shocked by this scene and immediately began to think, “How did he determine your location? Did he leave Soul Power or Spiritual Power coordinates on you? Or is it that the roots of the Blue Silver Emperor have already spread throughout every corner of the Heaven Dou Empire, and all our actions are under his watchful eye?”

Huo Ke held the Sea God Trident and the booklet that appeared afterward, saying, “Most likely the latter. He wants to plant Martial Souls all over the World, then have the Blue Silver Network cover the entire planet, and build that Starry Sky World.”

“A nearly real virtual World?” Feng Ming understood, “Something that modern society hasn't even reached has been achieved in this World by relying on Martial Souls. It's truly incredible.”

“Martial Souls themselves are incredible. Otherwise, do you think Spirit Hall could have researched high-yield grain seeds in just a few years?” Huo Ke retorted, leaving Feng Ming speechless.

Alas—

They were all misled, focusing only on cultivation, but forgetting that Martial Souls are the "primary productivity" of this World.

But there was nothing they could do. When they transcended, they were basically managed by their families. No matter how many ideas they had, it was difficult to implement them. After gradually growing up, their thinking also became gradually fixed.

“It's not too late to think about it now, but it's impossible to catch up with Spirit Hall.” Feng Ming sighed, “After all, with Spirit Hall's reforms, the native people of the Douluo Continent are gradually awakening, especially in big cities like this, where people are even harder to fool.”

“Speaking of which, where is Tang Luoya?” Huo Ke put away the booklet and glanced around, finding it strange that he hadn't seen Tang Luoya today.

“He went back to the Sect,” Feng Ming said casually, “It is said that after Tang Chen of the Haotian Sect broke through level 100, he has been teaching his disciples, and he wants to go back to listen... Speaking of which, Tang Chen has become a God, and the Haotian Sect has long since re-emerged, but it doesn't seem to have much fame on the Continent, compared to when it was sealed off, there's no difference.”

Feng Ming had never seen Tang Chen in person, but from the original work, he should be a very domineering guy. This can also be seen from the behavior of the Hao Tian Disciples currently walking on the Continent—to build a good reputation for the Sect, the Hao Tian Disciples also often help small villages and strongholds fight against bandits and robbers, but they basically leave no one alive. Everyone in the bandit's den, whether they are guilty bandits or kidnapped women and children, are all killed.

They even claimed to the outside World that it was to preserve the reputation of those women and children.

Remote villages thought such behavior was good, but the closer the cities were to Spirit Hall City, the more critical their residents were of this behavior.

And there was only one reason why the Hao Tian Disciples did this, which was to cultivate the God of Slaughter Domain.

Tang Luoya had told the two of them that Tang Chen had established an Asura Illusion in the Haotian Sect. Those who passed could obtain Asura

Aura, and as long as they accumulated enough killing intent, they could condense the God of Slaughter Domain.

But now that Slaughter City is gone and The Fallen and Evil Soul Masters are hiding deeper and harder to find, these Hao Tian Disciples can only find bandits and kill them all to accumulate more killing intent to obtain the God of Slaughter Domain.

As for those innocent women and children, they would only be given one evaluation: bad luck.

That was all.

Honestly, Feng Ming and Huo Ke were also very resistant to such behavior, but that was the Haotian Sect, and they had no power to resist, nor could they say anything. They could only turn a blind eye.

“After becoming a God, one cannot interfere with the mortal World.” Huo Ke stated the truth, “Moreover, Tang Chen should be from the Asura God lineage and should abide by the rules of the God Realm. In the original work, when Bibi Dong and Qian Renxue were killed by Tang San, the Asura and Sea God in the God Realm were broadcasting the entire process and had no intention of intervening. The reason is very simple: Bibi Dong and Qian Renxue, these two God-level beings, interfered with mortal warfare.”

“What about that Tang San in the original work?” Feng Ming frowned.

“According to the rules of the God Realm, he shouldn't be considered as interfering with the mortal World, just developing his Tang Sect, and the various forces in the mortal World need to consider the impact of his existence. However, he should have collected a lot of good things on the Continent before ascending to the God Realm, such as the Golden Ancient Tree.” Huo Ke speculated, “As for Douluo II, his strength reached the realm of the Supreme God King, plus Goodness and Evil descended for a bet, so he naturally became the strongest individual in the God Realm, the master of the rules, and then he got arrogant.”

“Is that so?” Feng Ming pondered for a moment, then shook his head, “What does this have to do with us?”

“Not much,” Huo Ke said, “The future Douluo Star might develop into a planet no less than the God Realm. We need to consider taking sides.”

“Taking sides?” Feng Ming sighed, “Haven't we already taken sides?”

“So—”

“We need to be wary of some of the Transcendents with holes in their heads... The Transcendents' Alliance is to help Transcendents adapt to life in this new era, and at the same time, to eliminate those Transcendents who want to cause trouble.”

572: Kill all life on a planet

After understanding the essence of Martial Soul materialization, Tang San gained a deeper understanding of the Power of Faith. This derivative energy of spiritual power possessed an effect comparable to the Power of Creation.

The only problem was that the Power of Faith originated from the thoughts and desires of all living beings. If not handled properly, it was extremely easy to be assimilated by the thoughts and desires of all living beings, changing one's temperament.

It was no wonder the Sea God left behind a Sea God Trident to carry the Power of Faith.

This was not only to find a successor but also to avoid being assimilated by the Power of Faith himself. It was estimated that the Sea God's Heart had a similar effect of transforming the Power of Faith.

Unfortunately, it was refined by Gu Yuena.

Tang San didn't feel distressed about this, as the Heavenly Dao within the Starry Sky World could also refine faith under the trajectory of the Zhou Tian Star Dou's operation and constantly grow.

However, compared to the Power of Faith, the growth of the Heavenly Dao required more spiritual energy, as well as the expansion and growth of the Starry Sky World. This was a process of accumulation over time.

"The road ahead is long and arduous!"

After sighing, Tang San left the laboratory and was about to go find Xiao Wu and others to research the "Path of Blood and Qi", when he suddenly felt an inexplicable palpitation and couldn't help but look in the direction of the Star Luo Empire.

"Space fluctuation?"

At the same time, the committee of the God Realm also mobilized and held a meeting.

"Have you investigated clearly?"

Evil's face was serious, "The space in the lower realm has fluctuated, what is going on?"

Asura God suddenly opened his eyes, extremely solemn, and said, "Among the one hundred and eight planets under the God Realm's jurisdiction, the spatial passage between the Vast Continent and us is broken. It should be the work of the demigod-level expert who appeared in the Nether Space there, and this fluctuation has also affected our connection with the Douluo Continent."

"The Sea God can prove this. He has already found a successor, but his own connection with the lower realm is intermittent, and the images he sees are extremely blurry."

Goodness's tone was unfriendly: "Vast Continent, Nether Space, aren't those under your supervision?"

Asura God said, "It is indeed under my supervision, but that guy hasn't reached the God-level, and according to the rules of the God Realm, it's not convenient for me to act; secondly, the God of Slaughter Hypnos has gone to the Five Elements Continent, and he borrowed a trace of my power before, and it seems there's a problem... Moreover, on the Douluo Continent, someone has cultivated the God of Slaughter Domain to the realm of Slaughter Domain, and recently reached the standard for assessment, so I must also investigate... And there's the artifact of the Creator God from another World, which I also need to pay attention to."

"With so many things, I really can't be in two places at once!"

Although Destruction and Life were also law enforcers, their duties were different from Asura's, mainly responsible for the judgment of the Gods in the God Realm. Therefore, in the vast God Realm, only the Gods of the Asura lineage often descended to the lower realm, and Asura never thought of sharing this power with Destruction and Life.

After all, this power allowed Gods to descend to the mortal World openly!

But who would have thought that multiple planets would have problems at the same time?

What bad luck!

"Multiple planes having problems at the same time, perhaps it's a sign of that spatiotemporal turbulence." The Evil God frowned, but saw Asura's face suddenly change drastically, and asked, "What's wrong now?"

"The spatial passage between the God Realm and Douluo Star is broken..."

Within the dark, black, and oppressive space, Xu Huang, who had become the Lord of the Nether, raised his hands and let out a sinister laugh: "I never expected that there was a soaring passage between the Vast Continent and the God Realm, and that it was also connected to this Nether Space. Now that I have found it and cut it off, this World is mine to command!"

"Also, this World should also have a plane passage connecting to Douluo Star. Zhou Weiqing in the original work was able to rise by relying on the bead of the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger. I will find that passage and return to Douluo Star."

"But before that, I must assimilate the entire planet—"

Thus, the Vast Continent and the Profound Heaven Continent ushered in their darkest hour. The Lord of the Nether, Xu Huang, and his disciple, Zhou Weiqing, launched a conquest of the entire World.

Without the bead of the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger, Zhou Weiqing was a complete and utter waste. He was almost killed by his fiancée, but Xu Huang saved his Life.

He truly experienced the feeling of death once, and after that, Xu Huang took Zhou Weiqing to see the darkness of human nature—

Xu Huang, either openly or secretly, let Zhou Weiqing see his fiancée having relations with multiple men, and then managed to arrange for his wives from the original work: Shangguan Bing'er, Tian'er, Wu Yuehan, Shangguan Xue'er, Shangguan Fei'er, and Dongfang Hanyue, to meet him, and then designed for them all to cheat for various reasons and become addicted, even begging for his forgiveness afterwards and saying they didn't do it on purpose.

In addition, Xu Huang did not spare Zhou Weiqing's mother, Ling Zihan, causing her to also fall due to a certain "accident", and even thought of including Zhou Weiqing in her "harem" to keep the secret.

At this point, Zhou Weiqing completely transformed and decided to follow his master Xu Huang, who saved him, to destroy this filthy World!

"This World is defiled again." Xu Huang stood in the void, pressed down with his hand, and the united resistance army on the Vast Continent turned into dust. He looked at Zhou Weiqing beside him with a look of vicissitude and said, "Disciple, my experience is similar to yours. In ancient times, I was a prince of a certain Empire. Betrayal, assassination, mockery, there were countless such things, until I fell into the Nether and decided to destroy the World. But the World born after the destruction is still so dirty."

Zhou Weiqing deeply resonated, and said emphatically: "Master, what do you want to do?"

"My eyes cannot tolerate filth. So, this time, I will exterminate humanity and control everything in our hands, turning them into undead. Naturally, they will be emotionless, desireless, and have no wants or thoughts. Only in this way can we create a World without disputes!" Xu Huang's eyes were fanatical.

"Exactly!"

However, this concept, in the eyes of Zhou Weiqing, who had experienced betrayal, assassination, and mockery, was perfectly normal. He even felt that his encounter with Xu Huang was an arrangement of fate, meant to allow them to destroy the human World and thus fill the World with harmony and peace.

"So—"

"Kill!"

And so, the master and disciple began their slaughter of the entire planet. During this process, some people also rallied around the two and joined them, forming the Nether Sect, but this group of people was also thoroughly killed by the master and disciple.

In just three months, the two, relying on their powerful cultivation, slaughtered almost all living beings on the entire planet. death spread throughout this World, and scenes of mountains of corpses and seas of blood were everywhere.

Endless resentment was born from the trillions of undead, but this resentment was also a power emanating from the Spirit. To a certain extent, it was also the Power of Faith, thus it instead became sustenance for Xu Huang and Zhou Weiqing, allowing both of them to break through to the God-level and even condense corresponding divine positions.

Xu Huang achieved the Nether God Position, and used the blood of all living beings on the planet as a guide to forge three thousand Blood God Children, which were placed in the Nether Blood River, condensed from the endless resentment and hatred, to be nurtured.

And Zhou Weiqing, with Xu Huang's help, achieved the Asura God Position.

Unlike the Asura God in the God Realm, although the Asura God Position was also a God of Slaughter, in this process, too much living resentment and undead souls were condensed, causing Zhou Weiqing's own image to also undergo a transformation, turning into the image of a nine-headed, thousand-eyed being, and growing nine hundred and ninety hands, with his lower body growing eight legs, like a spider...

573: Invasion of the Abyss

Zhou Weiqing didn't care about the change in his own image, and even felt that this was the most real self. Those who value external appearances are duplicitous and the source of filth in the World.

"Master, now that the World is at peace and we have become true Gods, what should we do next?"

"Naturally, we must bring peace to other Worlds as well." Xu Huang's face showed compassion. "This universe is not limited to our World. Those billions of stars are billions of Worlds."

"Our great cause is far from over."

"I discovered that the planet we are on has a space channel to another World. The space channel connecting to the God Realm was also severed by this master. It can..."

Just as Xu Huang was preparing to take his good disciple to Douluo Star to seek revenge on Tang San, his expression suddenly changed, and he looked up at the sky, only to see ripples appearing there.

"That is!"

In Zhou Weiqing's thousands of eyes, a hundred and eight layers of multiple Worlds appeared above the planet, each layer no smaller than the Vast Continent, but excelling in quantity. What's even more terrifying is that there is a powerful being sitting in each layer.

"The Abyss?"

Xu Huang had a smile in his eyes.

It turned out that the God Realm was in charge of the lower realms and also had the function of preventing Life planets from being discovered by such Worlds and civilizations. Without the jurisdiction of the God Realm, it would be equivalent to exposing the coordinates in the universe and being discovered by such predators.

However, for Xu Huang, the Abyss Plane was a great help.

In these one hundred and eight layers of Worlds, in the first thirty-six layers, the strongest in each layer, that is, the Emperor-level powerhouses, are only comparable to ordinary Title Douluo on the Douluo Continent; in the middle thirty-six layers, each Emperor's strength is equivalent to a Super Douluo above level ninety-five; the Emperors of the last thirty-six layers are more powerful, each equivalent to level ninety-nine. According to Dou Yi, they are Peerless Douluo, and according to Dou Three, they are Limit Douluo.

And the final Abyssal Saint Monarch is equivalent to a first-level God in the God Realm.

"Master, do you know this World?" Zhou Weiqing asked.

"I have heard of it before. They have the same ideals as us, but they are relatively naive. We need to conquer them." Xu Huang was spreading rumors, "Let's go, these one hundred and eight layers of Worlds can just be used as our place to settle down, integrate into our World, and turn it into our base camp, so that all the filth in the World will disappear!"

"That's right!"

Zhou Weiqing's eyes were fanatical, and he and Xu Huang soared up together and directly broke into the one hundred and eight layers of Worlds. The strength of the two, close to the God King level, caused countless Abyssal creatures to fall just by their pressure, but the Emperor of each layer of the Abyss was spared, because Xu Huang remembered that it seemed that if the Emperor died, this layer of the Abyss would collapse... He couldn't bear it.

Above the one hundred and eight layers, the Abyssal Saint Monarch and thirty-six Limit Douluo-level Abyssal Emperors watched Xu Huang and Zhou Weiqing, only to feel that they were more like Abyssal creatures than Abyssal creatures.

Not to mention Zhou Weiqing's nine-headed, thousand-eyed appearance, although Xu Huang has a human form and looks extremely handsome on the outside, through that performance, the Abyssal Saint Monarch and others can see that this person in front of him seems to be composed of three thousand faces, three thousand hands and feet, and three thousand bodies, and there are countless grievances, hatreds, and hatreds of the dead souls around him, with ghosts crying and wolves howling endlessly.

Ordinary people can't see or hear it, but for the Abyssal Saint Monarch and others, the two people in front of them are simply indescribable horrors... Would a normal plane give birth to such terrifying and strange creatures?

Are you kidding me!

"We are willing to submit." The Abyssal Saint Monarch knelt down directly without saying a word, and the remaining thirty-six Emperors were stunned. After reacting, they also knelt down and kowtowed, not daring to resist in any way.

The master of the house has knelt down, if they don't kneel, aren't they looking for death?

Abyssal creatures are not afraid of death, but at this moment, that indescribable aura made them feel fear for the first time and had to submit.

"A child can be taught." Xu Huang originally wanted to fight with this Abyssal Saint Monarch to test his strength, but he never thought that the other party would kneel directly, which saved a lot of trouble.

After taking over the Abyss Plane, Xu Huang, the Netherworld Master, issued his first order, which was to integrate the Abyss Plane into the nearly dead planet below.

Only then did the beings in the Abyss Plane and other existences understand that the Netherworld Master and Shura had killed all the creatures on the entire planet... Compared with them, the Abyssal Saint Monarch suddenly felt that he was quite Goodness.

Those two guys are complete lunatics, not for resources, but for some kind of ideal... Maybe one day they will kill all the creatures in the Abyss Plane...

...

"The space channel between the God Realm and Douluo Star is broken."

Douluo Continent, Spirit Hall City, Wu Hun Mountain, inside the Pope's Hall on the mountainside, Bibi Dong called Tang San to discuss this matter, "I can no longer contact the God Realm, but this has no impact on my and Xue'er becoming Gods, after all, our God Positions are left on the Continent."

"As for the Sea God's God Position, the space for inheritance is still preserved, but the Sea God himself should not be able to interfere anymore."

"I just don't know if Tang Chen is going to take action."

Becoming a God at level 100, but Gods cannot participate in human affairs.

In the past, with the God Realm, Tang Chen could only abide by the rules, but now that the connection between the God Realm and Douluo Star is broken, the other party may not be so certain.

"Tang Chen may be confused, but at least there will be no major moves in the next few decades."

Tang San was not too worried about Tang Chen. The only thing that concerned him was that a space channel had appeared at the junction of the Star Luo Empire and the Star Dou Great Forest, and the aura emanating from it was extremely dark and carried an extremely strong sense of hatred.

Perhaps it was an invasion from another plane.

"Other planes?" Bibi Dong's eyes became serious, "Perhaps this is also an opportunity for the Douluo Continent to develop rapidly, as long as we are stronger than them."

"That's not necessarily true. The aura revealed in that plane channel carries strong resentment, hatred, fear, sadness and other negative emotions, like a 滔天 (tao tian) heavenly sea of blood, I'm afraid it's not a good place." Tang San's mood was slightly heavy. Even if only a trace of aura was revealed in that plane channel, it was still so coldly terrifying, as if putting a normal person into the vacuum of the universe, as if suffocating.

It can be foreseen that on the other side of the plane channel, countless creatures must have died for some reason, but the resentment and hatred of the souls have been preserved, so that even his mind is somewhat shaken.

In this case, there will inevitably be a very powerful and strange existence... Perhaps for Iliex, it is a professional counterpart.

But what if that plane is a planet-like existence?

Iliex may not be able to deal with it, and a long-term plan is needed—

574: Invasion of the Nether World

(Part 1)

Half a month later, all major forces on the Douluo Continent discovered that Spirit Hall seemed to be busy, and they were also purchasing a large amount of metal minerals, clearly to manufacture weapons.

For a time, all major forces suspected whether Spirit Hall was going to wage war against the Heaven Dou Empire and the Star Luo Empire, but what was even more puzzling was that among the Two Great Empires on the continent, only the Star Luo Empire initiated defensive actions, while the Heaven Dou Empire seemed to completely ignore Spirit Hall's actions, continuing with its original reforms and evolution, as if completely indifferent to Spirit Hall's movements.

"Is Empress Ren Xue of the Heaven Dou Empire not concerned about Spirit Hall?" Dai Weisi was equally puzzled after receiving the relevant intelligence, "Or is it that Empress Ren Xue has already defected to Spirit Hall?"

"Perhaps, after all, when she was Xue Qinghe, she was already close to Spirit Hall, and the Heaven Dou Empire was able to develop with Spirit Hall's help." Zhu Zhuyun brought Dai Weisi tea and pastries, "Speaking of which, my sister also seems to be leaning towards Spirit Hall, hoping to introduce Tang San's Spirit for cultivation within the Empire, citing the convenience of the Blue Silver Network and the value of the Spirit Beast Illusion Space, and so on. We, the Star Luo Empire, are already lagging behind Spirit Hall and Heaven Dou."

"A blatant open conspiracy." Dai Weisi pondered for a moment, then finally let out a helpless sigh, "That guy, Tang San, doesn't play any schemes or tricks; instead, he openly presents benefits, attracting people to pursue them... He sees people's instincts to seek advantages and avoid harm, and to pursue profit, very clearly."

"Oh, and according to him: 'People's pursuit and yearning for a better life is the source of motivation.'"

"Open and aboveboard, schemes and tricks truly can't stand before him."

Zhu Zhuyun did not refute, only saying: "How about we agree too? Since the Clear Sky Sect emerged, it hasn't explicitly stated its continued support for our Star Luo, and the Hao Tian Disciples haven't come to us either. That... God, seems uninterested in all worldly affairs, only focusing on teaching the disciples within the Sect."

"Silence." Dai Weisi was serious. No matter what, Tang Chen was a level 100 powerhouse, a God. To speak ill of him behind his back, if he were to perceive it, they might suffer divine punishment.

As an emperor, he naturally did not want anyone to stand above him.

But Tang Chen was a God.

Helpless—

"Merchants from the Sun Moon Empire have also arrived in our territory." Seeing this, Zhu Zhuyun no longer mentioned the two previous matters, "They say they are here for exchange, but in reality, they are investigating the situation of the Two Great Empires and Spirit Hall."

"Has Spirit Hall made any moves regarding this?" Dai Weisi asked.

"According to the intelligence officers there, there have been no movements; it's as if they don't care about these merchants from the Sun Moon Empire at all." Zhu Zhuyun briefly summarized the intelligence gathered, "With Spirit Hall's power, they truly don't need to care. Just Tang San alone could probably suppress the entire Sun Moon World, making it unable to raise its head."

The disparity in strength left Dai Weisi with a deep sense of powerlessness.

Once upon a time, he still had the ambition to catch up.

But now, he could no longer harbor any thoughts of comparison; the chasm, like a heavenly abyss, was something he could not cross, and he had lost all confidence.

"Although I don't want to admit it, the Star Luo Empire truly cannot compare to Spirit Hall. We still need to thoroughly investigate those merchants from the Sun Moon Empire." Dai Weisi took a deep breath, made his decision, and was about to summon his ministers to discuss the matter when he received a message from the border between the Empire and the Star Dou Great Forest—

"[Monsters have appeared in the northwest, similar to Spirit Beasts, but they can walk upright, and those who are scratched by them will be invaded by a strange energy, thus being assimilated into monsters... The Star Luo border has fallen! Danger! Danger! Danger!]"

"Danger" in the Star Luo Empire's intelligence system meant that the situation was severe and a major war was about to break out, and at the end of this message, three "Danger" characters actually appeared.

This meant that the Star Luo Empire was facing a crisis that could potentially lead to the destruction of the nation!

"Bang!"

Dai Weisi immediately slammed the letter in his hand onto the desk and rushed to the imperial palace hall, summoning all his ministers to discuss the matter of the monsters at the border between the Empire's northwest and the Star Dou Great Forest...

...

In the blink of an eye, another half month passed. The border between the Star Luo Empire and the Star Dou Great Forest had become a desolate land.

Trees were scorched black, and the land was scorched yellow, with no signs of any normal life.

The aura from another plane had eroded everything within a hundred-mile radius, and a gray-black miasma had formed at the edges. Any creature that came into contact with it, whether human Spirit Master or Spirit Beast, would be eroded by it.

Those who couldn't withstand it naturally turned into a pool of pus.

And those who did withstand it did not survive either, but were instead transformed into Abyssal creatures.

Among the Abyssal creatures, some possessed intelligence, leading the rest of the transformed creatures in a mode of sacrifice, as if summoning a certain existence to descend.

As a jet-black pillar of light burst forth from the planar space, a blood-colored egg traversed through it.

Bang!

Thump thump!

Accompanied by powerful heartbeats, an infant rapidly grew within the transparent blood egg, constantly plundering the Heaven and Earth energy of the Douluo Continent.

Crack!

The blood egg shattered, revealing a man with blood-colored long hair, his blood-red eyes filled with indifference: "Douluo Continent, I, Xu Huang, am back!"

"Level ninety-nine strength, but according to Douluo III's detailed classification of level ninety-nine: quasi-demigod, demigod, quasi-god, this blood god child clone of mine should have reached the quasi-God Realm."

"And with such a clone, plus myself, my main body has a total of three thousand!"

"Heh heh, Tang San, what if you are powerful alone? What will you use to fight me? Not to mention my main body is already close to the God King realm... It's just a pity that my main body and the other clones are all working with Abyssal Saint Monarch and other existences to prevent the God Realm from reconnecting with the spatial passage of the continent, building the Underworld together. Otherwise, if they all came, the Douluo Continent would be powerless to resist."

As he spoke, the blood god child clone looked at the local beings of the Douluo Continent who had been infected by the Abyssal aura, kneeling and offering their meager faith to him. He sneered and, with a raise of his hand, annihilated a large area.

This was a grand blood and flesh fireworks display to congratulate his descent to the Douluo Continent!

Those Abyssal creatures did not feel fear at this; instead, they were incredibly fanatical, wishing they were part of that blood and flesh fireworks, contributing everything they had, cheering for the descent of their great master!

"Ahead is a human city. Go, kill them all, expand our race, occupy this World, and bring eternal silence and peace to the continent!" With a wave of his hand, the blood god child clone, countless Abyssal creatures howled fanatically, charging towards the border newly established by the Star Luo Empire in the past half month.

What if the Star Luo Empire had advanced spirit tools?

While they had not yet researched devices that could protect against the infiltration of the Abyssal aura, they would charge directly. As long as they were touched by a trace of the Abyssal aura, it could lead to their death or assimilation.

Under endless resentment, hatred, and animosity, the erosive power of the Abyssal aura was terrifyingly bizarre!

And the blood god child clone himself further widened that planar passage, ushering a bizarre existence with nine heads, a thousand eyes, a thousand arms, and eight legs to descend upon the Douluo Continent...

575: Invasion of the Netherworld

(Part 2)

"General, this is bad!"

"Those monsters are charging towards the border!"

Above the Star Luo defense line, a scout reported, his expression extremely anxious.

The Star Luo Descendants rushed to the front line one after another, looking at the rolling smoke dozens of miles away, all shivering with fear. The commander-in-chief ordered, "Quickly load the Soul Guidance Cannons!"

"Fire!"

Soul Guidance Cannons were aimed at the charging abyssal creatures and fired.

Boom!

Wherever the cannonballs passed, corpses lay everywhere, black blood flowed into rivers, polluting the land.

But those abyssal creatures seemed to not know what fear was at all. Stepping on the shredded flesh of their companions, facing the Star Luo Army's firepower coverage, they constantly charged forward.

"Bastards!" the commander-in-chief roared, "Where did these things come from? Why are they so crazy? And they don't drop Soul Rings after death... This time, someone must be behind it."

Since discovering the abyssal creatures, the Star Luo Army had fought them three or four times. Although these monsters were ugly and vicious, fortunately, they had Spirit Guidance Weapons, and each time they repelled them.

These monsters still retained their biological instincts.

But this time was clearly different. It was as if they had come out in full force, fearless of death. The commander-in-chief even sensed a hint of madness in their pupils.

These things definitely possessed considerable intelligence!

Moreover, they grew very quickly. As long as they devoured, they could grow in a very short time—

"Under the current circumstances, it's estimated that a very powerful king has been born among the monsters, so they are forcibly ordering these monsters to charge at us. Furthermore, these things are very strange and can assimilate other creatures, so there's no need to worry about losses... That Star Dou Great Forest is the best source of troops for this group of monsters!"

After realizing the seriousness of the problem, the commander-in-chief immediately took out a communication Soul Guidance Device to report the matter to the Empire's high command, and then personally joined the resistance against the impact of the abyssal creature beast tide...

...

"You are not humans, but you are not Soul Beasts either, so—"

In the outer area of the Star Dou Great Forest, Di Tian, Bi Ji, Zi Ji, Wan Yao Wang, Xiong Jun, Chi Wang, Yao Ling, and other ten-thousand-year Soul Beasts with considerable intelligence surrounded the blood god child clone and Zhou Weiqing.

"Get out of the Star Dou Great Forest!"

It was Di Tian who spoke. As for the blood god child clone, he could tell that the other party was an existence close to the God level. As for the other strange-looking fellow, he couldn't see through him; he carried an extremely heavy pressure, likely having reached the God level.

But why would a God level existence be led by a quasi-God?

There must be something strange about this!

But Di Tian didn't want to investigate, he just hoped they would withdraw from the Star Dou Great Forest... This ominous aura made him disgusted.

"Oh, who did I think it was? Turns out it's the beasts in this forest." The blood god child clone chuckled, then showed a look of regret, "Why cultivate a human form? Isn't it good to be livestock? Without thought or worry. But once you have intelligence, it's not good. Simple thoughts become complicated, just like a blank sheet of paper stained with black ink, defiled."

Di Tian couldn't understand what this guy was saying at all, but he could feel that the other party was mocking him and the others, and immediately roared angrily, "Are you looking for death?"

"No, it's you who are looking for death." Zhou Weiqing's nine heads all faced Di Tian and the others. His thousands of eyes all over his body stared intently at them. That invisible aura even pressured them into revealing their original forms. "How dare you disrespect my master? It seems I'll have to barbecue you livestock."

A blood-colored Domain bloomed from Zhou Weiqing's body, spreading towards the entire Star Dou Great Forest. However, before it had covered half the area, it was resisted by another extremely powerful elemental tide, even pushing it outwards.

"Roar!"

Accompanied by a clear dragon roar, a silver giant dragon over a thousand meters long, along with a Sky Blue Bull Python and a Titan Giant Ape, rushed towards the outer area.

"Oh roar, the true master of the Star Dou Great Forest has been alerted." The blood god child clone didn't mind making things bigger; he actually got excited. "Because the spatial passage between the God Realm and Douluo Star is cut off, you don't have to worry about the God Realm discovering this? How truly cunning! However, you also have to thank me, after all, I was the one who cut off that passage."

The Silver Dragon King transformed into a human form, with silver hair draped to her waist, wearing a silver-white dragon scale dress, and questioned, "Who exactly are you?"

The blood god child clone did not answer, but instead transmitted his voice to Zhou Weiqing beside him, asking, "What level has the strength of this Silver Dragon reached?"

"Not clear, but in terms of aura, she is similar to me. If we truly compete, I may not lose, but I definitely won't be able to determine the winner in a short time." Zhou Weiqing's nine faces were either crying or laughing, with different reactions, but all revealed a hint of solemnity. "Master, you can't tell now, but in my eyes, the other party is like a strange elemental starry sky, a universe, self-contained. Facing her is like facing the entire World."

If it were the Silver Dragon King before Gu Yuena's return, she naturally wouldn't give Zhou Weiqing this feeling. But at this moment, the Silver Dragon King had been reborn, establishing the circulation of essence, energy, and spirit, constructing an inner universe. Her divine soul had also transformed into a Primordial Spirit. Even though her injuries were not fully healed, her strength was far beyond what it was before!

Even the Silver Dragon King herself hadn't expected that after sorting out her own cultivation, she could reach such a realm, and that her injuries could completely recover in not too long.

"Is that so?" The blood god child clone's expression slightly darkened. He said to Your Excellency Silver Dragon, "No matter what, it was because I cut off the passage between the God Realm and Douluo Star that you could openly appear. You wouldn't be thinking of repaying kindness with enmity, would you?"

"I don't have human moral concepts." The Silver Dragon King's morality was very flexible. As soon as she finished speaking, the elemental power within a hundred miles around them squeezed towards the two.

"Go!"

Without a word, Zhou Weiqing took the blood god child clone and flew up, leaping into the sky ten thousand meters high.

"Destroy all those disgusting creatures." After the Silver Dragon King finished giving orders to Di Tian and the others, she chased after Zhou Weiqing and the blood god child clone.

For the Silver Dragon King, although Zhou Weiqing was powerful, he was not the key figure. The blood god child clone was the biggest problem. As long as he was alive, he would continuously affect the beings on the Continent, causing the World to become abyssal.

Such a dangerous and strange existence must be eliminated!

At the same time, Tang Chen and Tang Hao of the Haotian Sect, Bibi Dong, Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Qian Daoliu from the Spirit Hall, all sensed the battle between two God level existences on the Continent.

"The God Realm has lost contact with the Douluo Continent, and God level existences are appearing one by one. It's truly a time of trouble. As a Killing God under the command of the Asura God, I should go and mediate."

Thinking of this, Tang Chen ordered the disciples in the Sect not to go out during this period, and then flew towards where the great battle had erupted...

Within the Spirit Hall, Bibi Dong was in charge, so only Tang San could go. Xiao Wu and the others guarded their respective posts, preparing for the upcoming plane invasion war...

576: Just a little god in the world

“Why are you chasing me?” the blood god child clone asked the Silver Dragon King, who was stopped by Zhou Weiqing, with a grin. “Could it be that you’ve fallen for me?”

However, the Silver Dragon King had no desire to waste words with the Blood God Child at this moment. The guy in front of her, with nine heads, eight legs, and thousands of arms, was truly not to be underestimated. His cultivation had already approached the level of a God King.

She knew that this guy had probably only recently become a God and hadn't absorbed the Immortal Spiritual Energy of the God Realm to replenish himself. Instead, he had used another type of energy to compensate, and that energy originated from negative emotions such as resentment, hatred, and abhorrence. In short, this was also a power from the Heart, stemming from the same source as the power of faith.

Faith is a power comparable to Immortal Spiritual Energy, or even more profound and unfathomable.

However, the Silver Dragon King was not particularly covetous of this power at the moment. After all, it was a power derived from the thoughts of all living beings, and if not handled well, it could easily twist one's will, just like these two guys in front of her.

At least, in the Silver Dragon King's eyes, these two guys were dominated by countless resentments and hatreds that occupied their Hearts and influenced their minds, turning them into such personalities.

Crazy.

Strange.

“Two of you, Gods must not fight,” Tang Chen said at this moment, preparing to be a mediator. “The power of Gods is too strong for humans. Perhaps a wisp of power escaping could create a 绝地 or a treasure land, having too great an impact on the human World.”

“Then, as a strong individual under the Asura God, you should kill him. The other party is from another plane and has even contaminated the living beings of our World. According to the rules of the God Realm, his God Position should be annihilated and his divine soul exterminated.” The Silver Dragon King glanced at Tang Chen, feeling a bit disgusted, but also confirmed that the other party was merely a God of Slaughter, not the Asura God, so her words were slightly more polite.

The appearance of the abyssal creatures had naturally been noticed by Tang Chen, but he hadn't expected that Zhou Weiqing and the peerless individual beside him would be from another plane.

In that case, he really had to stand on the Silver Dragon King's side.

“Two of you, won't you explain?” Tang Chen released his blood-colored Clear Sky Hammer, and a crimson aura of blood fiend permeated, enveloping the two of them.

“Heh!”

Zhou Weiqing sneered, shaking his thousand arms, and gray airflow gushed out, instantly shattering Tang Chen's God-level Slaughter Domain.

“Just a minor God of the human World!”

The Blood God Child cackled, “Although your talent is not bad, you've only recently become a God, your strength is only at level 100, your God Position is depleted, and your divine force is weak. How can you compare to Zhou Weiqing, who has devoured the souls and faith of an entire planet's living beings?”

Tang Chen's divine soul sensed the immense resentment within Zhou Weiqing's body, and his mind almost trembled.

Slaughtering the living beings of an entire planet!

This was the true God of Slaughter!

However, before Tang Chen could transform his Clear Sky Hammer into the Asura Sword, Zhou Weiqing moved. Invisible gray airflow covered both Tang Chen and the Silver Dragon King. Myriad vengeful Spirits emerged from the barrier, forming a vast ocean of undead, howling and wailing at them.

Crying, or angry...

Sorrowful, or mournful...

All were negative emotions. The wails of billions of 亡魂 formed an ocean of sound waves, shaking Tang Chen's God Position and disturbing his divine soul, as if endless souls were recounting the suffering of the human World to him, and it seemed the only way to resolve this pain was to gnaw away at his divine soul.

Roar!

A blood-colored sword light swung out, creating an opening, but before Tang Chen could fly out, the 亡魂 reconnected, forming a claw that grabbed Tang Chen and threw him back into the Domain.

Tang Chen was powerless to resist!

Although Tang Chen had not inherited the Asura God Position, he had broken through level 100, and his Clear Sky Hammer Spirit had also condensed into the Asura Sword during the eighth trial. His combat power far exceeded that of ordinary level 100 God officials.

The divine might of the Asura Sword was extraordinary, capable of slaying everything. It could kill the physical body and annihilate the soul, but it could not erase the negative spiritual powers of resentment, hatred, sorrow, and grief.

Therefore, Tang Chen could not break through this sea of 亡魂 with just the Asura Sword.

Not to mention, Zhou Weiqing was an existence close to the God King level, and this Domain was also a Domain he created by absorbing the souls of all living beings and condensing all the suffering in the human World.

He named it:

Requiem!

The World is full of betrayal. Only by experiencing it once can the Heart be at peace and tranquility, only then can one understand him, and then—

Integrate into this Requiem Domain and become one of its members.

Gu Yuena, on the other side, stabilized her mind and was much more relaxed than the disheveled Tang Chen. Her divine force surged, and elemental power gushed out, forming an elemental ocean around her, which even contained the attribute of death. It was precisely this attribute, obtained through contact with Tang San, that made the undead within the Requiem Domain not dare to approach her much.

After all, when 亡魂 saw death, it was like going home, a one-way trip.

“This Gu Yuena has been strengthened to an absurd degree. Tang San shouldn’t have become a God yet... uh.” The Blood God Child was watching the contest between Zhou Weiqing and Gu Yuena, Tang Chen with great interest when he suddenly found a long spear piercing through his chest, and all his power was sealed in an instant.

“It’s been a while, Xu Huang.” Tang San recognized Xu Huang, who had white hair and a very different face than before. With a casual flick of the Blue Silver Emperor Spear in his hand, he threw him several kilometers away. “This should just be a clone, right? The body structure is a bit peculiar.”

“You actually played a sneak attack!” After the blood god child clone regained his freedom, the pierced Heart began to heal on its own, as if he had an immortal body. “You really have no martial virtue!”

“Your personality has changed quite a bit.” Tang San sat back, and a throne, entirely like white jade, voluntarily appeared beneath him. The backrest emitted a magnificent nine-colored light, the nine colors shimmering, gradually forming circles of light wheels that shone intertwined.

“Bastard! What god seal throne!” The blood god child clone’s eyes were splitting with rage. He clawed at his face, his handsome features being torn apart, then immediately recovering. He looked at Tang San and the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne beneath him with shock and anger, “You bastard, how dare you NTR me! And Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, you actually dared to betray me! I won’t spare any of you!”

“Can you tell me what’s going on with your body?” Tang San ignored the curses, instead looking at the other party with interest. “It seems to have the genes of all living beings, filled with resentment and hatred, yet perfectly controlled... Hmm, not perfectly, after all, your own personality is also twisted.”

“Go to death!”

The Blood God Child did not answer. His body turned blood-red, forming a monstrous sea of blood that pressed down on Tang San, intending to refine him.

However—

Tang San merely threw the Blue Silver Emperor Spear in his hand. The Creator God divine force contained within it erupted, and a divine light streaked across the sky, instantly shattering the sea of blood clouds and dispelling them into nothingness...

577: Silver Dragon King's "Vitality Bullet"

The sea of blood scattered, but some peak blood beads remained. Under re-convergence, a Blood God Child was formed again, but its size was much smaller than a normal person, like a newborn puppy, only palm-sized.

Tang San lightly grasped, and the remaining power of Creation erupted from the Blue Silver Emperor Spear re-converged and wrapped towards the Blood God Child, turning into a round bead and sealing it within.

"A peculiar Life type, even if nothing can be researched in a short time, it can serve as good consumable material."

"Bastard! Let me out! If you dare, don't use the power of the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne!" The blood god child clone shouted loudly, but his voice was much softer, as if he had really become a child, "Zhou Weiqing, retreat for now, don't worry about your master!"

That nine-headed, thousand-armed, eight-legged monster said nothing, withdrew its Soul Calming Domain, and lunged towards Tang San.

"Zhou Weiqing?"

Tang San was slightly surprised, looked at the blood god child clone already in his hand, "It seems you transmigrated into 'Heavenly Jewel Change', and even turned the other protagonist into this appearance, truly fate plays tricks on people."

"However, Zhou Weiqing..."

Looking at the ferocious fiend already before him, Tang San still sat calmly on the throne, only a Haotian Hammer quietly appeared in his left hand, and he gently swung it.

Boom!

In an instant, extreme Destruction power surged out from the hammerhead, pushing the opponent several thousand li away.

Although Tang San had not yet broken through level 100, his body and Primordial Spirit could rival the power of a true God King, not to mention that his Blue Silver Emperor had already been planted throughout most of the Douluo Continent. Although the Starry Sky World had not yet transformed into a real plane World, the energy it contained, if unleashed, could completely shatter a part of the God Realm.

That hammer strike just now was not only the power of Destruction and Tang San's own power, but also one ten-thousandth of the Starry Sky World's power.

Zhou Weiqing's strength, even if close to a God King, would find it difficult to resist that blow.

"What kind of person he is, I don't know, I just understand that the other party seemed to have rejected Tang San's invitation on his original fate trajectory, and later, because he was afraid of dying of old age, he trained hard again, wanting to contact Tang San... It feels quite funny."

As Tang San's voice fell, that Zhou Weiqing also reacted from the impact, no longer trying to rescue the blood god child clone, but instead darted towards the border between the Star Dou Great Forest and the Star Luo Empire.

He was going to escape!

Moreover, that was the eruption of his source power, and his speed was so fast that even Tang San couldn't catch up for a moment, but, Tang San could open spatial channels.

When Zhou Weiqing arrived at the plane entrance, Tang San and Gu Yuena also happened to traverse space and arrive.

"Damn it!"

Seeing that he couldn't get close to that plane channel, Zhou Weiqing prepared to run in another direction, but a Blue Silver Emperor Spear descended from the sky, pinning him to the ground, and it was just one step away from that plane channel.

Just one step away, he could touch that channel.

"Dragon Roar Three Tides Sweep the Firmament!"

The Silver Dragon King let out a soft cry, and the myriad elements between heaven and earth, like a vast army, obeyed her command, gathered between her raised hands, and condensed into a sphere like a chaotic star.

Whoosh—

Instantly, this star bombarded towards Zhou Weiqing, a brilliant Light erupted in an instant, powerful energy shook the entire land, a cluster of brilliant Light covered an area of nearly a thousand li, wiping out the creatures and land stained by abyss aura.

At this moment, the Star Luo Empire's army seemed to witness a huge nine-colored sun rising from the ground, but it was not scorching, instead it was extremely warm, instantly annihilating those abyss creatures, and as for normal creatures... those who were close could only be considered unlucky.

"Aren't you exaggerating a bit?"

After the Light dissipated, Tang San waved his hand to dispel the smoke and dust, looking at the inverted conical pit below, about a hundred li deep and a thousand li wide, his forehead full of black lines.

"Facing a quasi-God King level expert, one must go all out."

The Silver Dragon King's face was slightly pale, the consumption just now was not small. If that Light ball just now hadn't hit Zhou Weiqing's body, where he bore most of the force of the impact, but had directly hit the ground, this energy could probably cause even greater destruction, even hitting directly to the earth's core, "Moreover, I have already calculated it."

Even, the Silver Dragon King, who was activating this move for the first time, had a terrifying thought arise at this moment, which was to use herself as the source for condensing elemental power, and impact the God Realm. Even God King level existences might not be able to stop it, and then she could detonate the entire God Realm.

"Then you're really a demolition genius." Tang San curled his lip, "Also, your action just now was really too chuunibyou."

"This King has this strength, so it's not chuunibyou, even if you want to call it that, you have to change 'two' to 'one'." The Silver Dragon King put one hand on her hip, and pointed a single finger towards the sky with the other, looking pleased with herself, then pointed towards the center of the explosion below, and said, "Look, that guy is dead, not even dregs are left, aren't I amazing?"

Looking at that little gaze asking for praise, Tang San was full of disdain, and said speechlessly, "The other party isn't dead, I sensed it, a wisp of his soul returned to his World through that spatial channel, and he can probably be resurrected in not long. Of course, according to our research, a resurrection achieved with only a wisp of soul is essentially another person, but for existences who haven't touched the Undying True Spirit, memory is the foundation, who they truly are is not important at all...

Your 'Spirit Bomb' is very destructive, but unfortunately it only has elemental power, not righteous energy, and cannot eliminate the resentment on his body, nor can it destroy that spatial channel."

"What Spirit Bomb? This move of mine is called Silver Dragon Three Tides Shake the Firmament!" The Silver Dragon King rolled her eyes, and as Tang San slowly landed on the ground, he walked to the entrance of that plane channel, used spatial power to seal it, but said with an uncertain expression, "The spatial attainment of the mastermind is no less than mine, and there is also the support of the entire vast World's power. The plane will of the Douluo Continent cannot fully resist... This plane channel is already stable and fixed. To cut it off, one must at least reach the Supreme God King level. Currently, it can only be sealed for ten years."

"Ten years?" Tang San rubbed his chin, thinking about something.

"You have the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne as your ninth Soul Ring, can't you cut off this plane channel?" The Silver Dragon King asked.

"Eternal Lord?"

Following Tang San's call, Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor transformed into a woman wearing a silver-blue dress. She just slightly shook her head and said, "Opposite, there are a hundred and eight layers of Worlds, and it has completely merged with a planet World that was slaughtered clean. Resentment, hatred, malice, and various extremely evil and Darkness energies have accumulated. I'm afraid it won't take a few hundred years for it to evolve into a World similar to the God Realm... To completely cut off the channel, you need to go to that World."

"Of course, the most important reason is that the extreme evil power of that World will defile your Martial Soul, and even your Primordial Spirit. Therefore, without going to that World, you can only perform seals similar to this, and cannot cut it off."

578: The "battle" lasted three months

"Do you need me to sacrifice myself for justice?"

Tang San looked at the choice before him and did not give the choice that the Eternal Lord expected, "Then let's forget about it. Keeping a useful body to solve the problem is the right path. Moreover, since Douluo Star has already been discovered, sealing or cutting off the connection will be useless. Even if this crisis is averted, there will be other disasters in the future."

The Eternal Lord pondered and nodded, "I forgot, you are not a knight at all, nor do you have any knightly spirit, but you do have a convincing will."

"You can hide for a while, but not forever. Facing it bravely is the right path." The Silver Dragon King was not very interested in the knightly spirit mentioned by the Eternal Lord, feeling that such people lived too tiringly. Instead, she felt Tang San's idea was good and agreed with it quite a bit. After all, she had been hiding for most of her Life and didn't want to hide anymore, nor did she particularly want to stay in the Star Dou Great Forest.

Having experienced the prosperity of the human World, how could she be willing to stay in the deep mountains and old forests?

As for the dangers of the human World?

That couldn't affect her, because she had plenty of strength.

Moreover, the attack just now would inevitably be known to the World. Coupled with the fact that the God Realm had lost contact with Douluo Star, the Silver Dragon King felt this was precisely her chance, as the representative of the Soul Beast race, to declare her existence to the World!

Furthermore, the Silver Dragon King even felt that the invasion of the Abyss Plane could serve as an opportunity for Soul Beasts and humans to cooperate. After all, for a period before, the appearance of Abyss creatures had been jointly opposed by humans and Soul Beasts.

"That is indeed something to consider." Regarding the Silver Dragon King's idea, Tang San pondered for a moment, nodded, and then released hundreds and thousands of Blue Silver Emperors, saying, "Plant these throughout the Star Dou Great Forest to build the Blue Silver Network, connect it to the Starry Sky World, and use this to cover the plane passage."

The Silver Dragon King was startled, "You mean to connect the Starry Sky World with that side of the real World?"

"Exactly."

Tang San's gaze fell upon the plane passage, as if seeing the other side, and he slowly said, "Instead of letting them invade the real World, it's better to incorporate them into the Starry Sky World. Those beings seem to be energy-based creatures, extremely aggressive, but with a heavy aura of death. Coincidentally, I have an old brother who is also skilled in studying death..."

"Furthermore, if the Starry Sky World can refine those one hundred and eight layers of the Abyss Plane and that material planet, it will surely take a big step forward. In the future, even if it reconnects with the God Realm, there will be no need to worry about the other side's strength."

"Of course, the connection definitely won't happen in a short time. I must first figure out the situation over there —"

After speaking, Tang San looked at the Blood God Child he held in his hand.

"Don't be delusional, I won't say anything!" The blood god child clone shrieked, "Just wait, the main body will definitely tear you all to shreds and bring this World under his rule!"

"Ensuring you can't transmit messages to your main body is enough." Tang San put away the Blood God Child, trapped in a bead constructed with creation power, and then asked the Silver Dragon King, "What should I call you now?"

"Naturally, Gu Yuena." The Silver Dragon King was a little speechless and said exasperatedly, "I'm not schizophrenic."

"Hmm~ I still prefer you in your little girl form." Tang San said with feigned seriousness.

"Is that so?"

Gu Yuena suddenly smiled strangely and slowly approached Tang San. If not for the absence of the Abyss aura on her, Tang San would have suspected that her soul had been corroded by the Abyss aura and mutated.

"What are you trying to do..."

Before the word "do" could leave his mouth, Tang San's expression suddenly changed. He found his weakness had been seized by the other party. His whole body trembled fiercely. Before he could resist, he saw a burst of silver light emanating from Gu Yuena's body, isolating the external space. Her dragon-scale white dress also slowly dissipated, revealing smooth and fair skin.

"Within the Star Dou Great Forest, the process of reproduction in the ordinary animal World and the Soul Beast World is quite brief. This is to prevent predators from finding opportunities, and the process is also quite monotonous."

Gu Yuena hugged Tang San, her demeanor composed. It didn't seem like she was seducing him; rather, she was conducting an objective experiment. "Only humans enjoy this process and never tire of it."

"I don't believe it, so I intend to try it myself."

"Moreover, as the child of the Blue Silver Emperor, you possess half the bloodline of a Soul Beast. Although according to your theory, after a Soul Beast transforms into human form, its body is no different from a human's, I am the co-lord of the Soul Beasts. Therefore, I am the authority now, and I'll put my seal on you while I'm at it."

"Furthermore, I also want to test whether your Primordial Dragon Spear, overflowing with vitality like the great sun, is more powerful, or the Star Grinding Disc I've cultivated is more powerful."

Tang San: "..."

With things hinted to this extent, what else could he do?

Of course, he'd do it!

At the same time, Di Tian and others, along with Tang Chen, also arrived at the scene from outside. Looking at the vast sphere of intertwined gold and silver energy, they were momentarily at a loss.

Listening to the roaring sounds coming from within the sphere and watching the lightning-like energy occasionally bursting from its surface, Di Tian shuddered, trembling with shock, "Who is Her Highness fighting? It's actually so powerful. Those thunderbolts are even more formidable than heavenly tribulations, carrying an endless aura of Destruction..."

Bi Ji, who had an extremely keen perception of Life force, however, said, "But it also seems to contain a hint of vitality. If one could withstand this kind of thunderbolt and survive, they would likely gain great benefits, instead of being as weak as after experiencing a heavenly tribulation."

Tang Chen was also startled by the power of this energy, but likewise couldn't see what was happening inside. He just glanced at Di Tian and the other fierce Soul Beasts, his brows furrowed, "Are there actually so many Soul Beasts with cultivation exceeding a hundred thousand years? I've been to the Star Dou Great Forest before, but there was only one Titan Giant Ape and one Sky Blue Bull Python there. At that time, I was already a nine-ring Title Douluo, and my full set of Soul Bones was complete. Not wanting to waste two hundred-thousand-year Soul Rings and wanting to give the younger generation a chance, I chose to let them go..."

Di Tian also noticed Tang Chen's gaze at this moment and immediately led Bi Ji and the other fierce beasts to guard the gold and silver intertwined energy sphere — even if they couldn't defeat the God before them, they had to guard Her Highness until she defeated the existence inside.

At this moment, Tang Chen truly didn't dare to act. He had been seriously injured earlier within Zhou Weiqing's Soul Calming Domain, with only a fraction of his strength remaining. Although dealing with these fierce beasts wouldn't be a problem, if he disturbed the energy of this light sphere and caused it to explode, he might not be able to withstand it.

It was better to plan for the long term.

Thus, Tang Chen chose to leave and return to the Haotian Sect to recuperate. After all, based on his perception of the energy fluctuations of this light sphere, the confrontation inside would last for at least three or four days.

However, this exhilarating "battle" only barely stopped after three months...

579: Breaking through level 100!

Achieve the divine status! Holy Dragon Emperor?

“Now, do you think it's better if I'm bigger, or smaller?”

Gu Yuena, her face flushed and her skin as delicate as a freshly watered flower, dressed herself in the blink of an eye and playfully stuck out her tongue at Tang San.

Tang San raised a hand to his forehead and quickly dressed himself as well, speechless. “How am I supposed to answer that?”

Tang San still won this “battle,” as Gu Yuena was the first to concede defeat, but Tang San had also used every trick in the book. After all, Gu Yuena was a God King level powerhouse.

However, this information exchange experiment between the Universe brought great benefits to both parties, especially Gu Yuena, who recovered to her peak state. Her God King level power was accompanied by the flashing of nine dazzling Divine Rings, which respectively controlled Water, Fire, Wind, Earth, Light, Darkness, Life/death, Space, and Destruction.

Even the tenth Divine Ring was faintly discernible, mixed with the attribute of Creation, but perhaps due to insufficient Cultivation, it had not fully solidified.

The benefit Tang San gained was a more refined control over the elements, and his spirit power Breaking through to Level 100. This was inconsequential, as he could have Broken through to Level 100 long ago; he had just been suppressing it.

Since the connection between the God Realm and Douluo Star was now severed, it naturally didn't matter.

Furthermore, the power of Creation and Destruction contained within the Blue Silver Emperor and the Clear Sky Hammer connected with the attributes of death and Life at this moment, condensing two God Positions:

Creation is for Eternity—the God of Eternity and Creation.

Destruction is but an Instant—the God of Instant and Destruction.

The level of these two surpassed the tier of the Supreme God King, touching upon the extraordinary Origin of the Universe.

The nine spirit rings of the Blue Silver Emperor began to interlock and Fused together, forming a unique Divine Ring with nine coils. It contained countless suns, moons, stars, flowers, plants, insects, fish, and natural scenery, even depicting scenes of all living things multiplying and thriving, constantly changing and flowing.

This was the symbol of Tang San achieving the God of Eternity and Creation!

Meanwhile, the Clear Sky Hammer, which had no spirit rings attached, unexpectedly took the initiative to condense spirit rings representing nine attributes: Fire, Light, Wind, Water, Poison, death, Darkness, Nirvana, and Destruction. Especially the ninth spirit ring, representing Destruction, was comparable to the ninth spirit ring of the Blue Silver Emperor, which had transformed into the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne.

Under the control of Austin Griffin, these nine spirit rings of different attributes also interlocked and merged into one, forming the Instant and Destruction Divine Ring, which was comparable to the Eternal and Creation Divine Ring.

This Divine Ring was entirely purple-gold. It did not have as many engraved patterns as the Eternal and Creation Divine Ring, featuring only a lifelike black pattern of a Nine-Headed Chimera, looking as if it might leap out at any moment and utterly Destroy all things.

For Tang San, although he had conducted various studies after joining Spirit Hall, his research into “spirit ring fusion” was the most profound.

Whether it was his past research on the Cultivation, transformation, and circulation of Essence, Qi, and Spirit, or his recent study on the transformation between faith, Spirit, and energy in the materialization of the Sea God Trident, Tang San always considered whether he could apply the underlying principles to “spirit ring fusion.”

After all, in his view—

To Cultivate to godhood using a Spirit requires condensing a Divine Ring.

Ordinary people would obtain a tenth spirit ring, but Tang San did not follow the usual path. Instead of condensing a tenth spirit ring, he performed the Nine into One, Fusing all previously obtained spirit rings into a single unit, achieving the “Tenth” spirit ring!

However, the fact that Austin Griffin was also willing to help the Clear Sky Hammer condense an Instant and Destruction Divine Ring was somewhat unexpected for Tang San.

“Hmph, don't flatter yourself. I just didn't want to fall behind the Eternal Lord,” Austin Griffin explained with a cold snort, sensing the emotions Tang San conveyed.

Tang San smiled, put away his Spirit and Divine Rings, and said to Gu Yuena, “Now that you are God King level, and my two God Positions surpass the Supreme God King tier, the possibility of controlling the Abyss Plane and refining it into the Starry Sky World is much greater.”

“Don't get too smug. Your physical body and Primordial Spirit can indeed rival a God King's Divine Body and divine soul, perhaps even surpassing them slightly, but in terms of energy, or Cultivation, you still have less than me. Your spirit power is only Level 100. Although spirit power at Level 100 or above is usually considered divine force, and the quality of your spirit power far exceeds that of ordinary people—even possessing the characteristic of One into Ten Thousand, Ten Thousand into One—the quantity is still significantly lacking.”

“If I had used my spirit power earlier, there's no way I would have been the first to concede defeat.”

As she spoke, Gu Yuena suddenly felt indignant and wanted to start a second round with Tang San, but Tang San stopped her, saying, “You want more?”

Gu Yuena's face flushed, and she huffed, “Who wants that? I just wanted to conduct the inter-Universe information exchange experiment again—never mind. Di Tian and the others must be getting anxious. If we delay any longer, their anxiety over these three months will probably be worse than their wait of the past thirty thousand years.”

The energy sphere slowly dissipated. Di Tian and the others rushed forward, viewing Tang San with considerable caution, but Gu Yuena introduced him: “This is an old acquaintance of mine: the Saint Dragon Emperor. He is a human, and also my husband. In the future, he will also be the sovereign of the Spirit Beast race.”

Saint Dragon Emperor?

Gu Yuena really came up with that name.

Tang San inwardly complained, but still released his third Spirit: the Five-Clawed Golden Dragon.

After his spirit power reached Level 100, Tang San's third Spirit also reached the Divine Rank. Although it did not condense a God Position, the special Eight Trigrams-shaped spirit ring transformed into a true Divine Ring. Its profoundness was no less than that of the Eternal and Creation Divine Ring or the Instant and Destruction Divine Ring.

Especially when using this Spirit, Tang San felt that his Essence, Qi, and Spirit had all been elevated to an extremely terrifying level. Even if the quantity of his spirit power had not reached the God King tier, he could easily instantly kill a God King level powerhouse, and he himself erupted with a supreme imposing aura that dared to stand tall against the heavens and the earth.

Di Tian and the others noticed that Dragon Might and instantly understood that the Dragon Might they had sensed before originated from the person standing before them. They never expected him to become their Sovereign's husband.

“Regarding the future of the Spirit Beasts, as a human, I shouldn't say anything overly eloquent; that would be too superficial. But regarding the future of both Spirit Beasts and humans, I truly believe we don't need to slaughter each other,” Tang San said to Di Tian and the others. “At the very least, I think those of you who can transform into human form can be considered a branch of humanity. As for the remaining Spirit Beasts, we need to change the rules regarding the Creation of spirit rings, thereby reducing their value to human Spirit Masters.”

“Currently, I cannot change the rules of a World, and the advancement of humans requiring spirit rings is also a rule of this World. Therefore, everything needs to be taken slowly.”

“And the timely emergence of Abyss Creatures happens to give you an opportunity to showcase yourselves to the World.”

Di Tian and the others lacked the wisdom to fully grasp this, but seeing Gu Yuena lean toward Tang San, they could only agree with his proposal, hoping for future progress—

580: Great cycle of soul energy

After a wisp of Zhou Weiqing's divine soul escaped back to the Netherworld, with the help of the Netherworld Master, he recovered his divine soul, reshaped his physical body, and learned about the situation on the Douluo Continent.

"Tang San is actually that powerful, and—"

"My Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne actually abandoned me?"

Xu Huang's eyes were about to split, and the aura around him condensed into a Domain of resentment that almost covered the entire planet. The ineffable demons and monsters within it terrified the Abyssal Saint Monarch and others, making them tremble.

After seizing control of the one hundred and eight layers of the Abyss Plane, Xu Huang's strength reached a new level, completely reaching the level of a God King.

In addition, the Abyss Plane merged with the planet, and as the ruler of this Netherworld, his strength was also constantly increasing, capable of breaking through to the level of a Supreme God King within a thousand years.

As for the original powerhouses of the Abyss Plane, their strength also increased significantly. For example, the Abyssal Saint Monarch, although still at the level of a first-rank God, had already absorbed the remaining resentment and hatred on the planet with Xu Huang's help, condensing a divine position: Demon.

The rulers of the other Planes, the emperors of the first thirty-six layers, all reached a strength equivalent to a Super Douluo above rank ninety-five; the emperors of the middle thirty-six layers had a strength equivalent to a ninety-ninth rank quasi-demigod; and the emperors of the latter thirty-six layers, twenty-seven reached the quasi-God level, and nine reached the hundred-rank level.

But even so, under the might of the Netherworld Master, none of them could muster any thought of resistance.

"Master, don't be angry."

As for what connection existed between that Tang San, that Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne, and his Master, Zhou Weiqing did not want to investigate, only saying, "That World named Douluo Continent has many powerhouses, so we can only slowly encroach upon it. The aura of our Netherworld will continuously permeate over there..."

Xu Huang also knew Zhou Weiqing's idea, which was to fight a protracted war, after all, the Plane Will on the Douluo Continent side also repelled them.

Of course, if they really went over, the Plane Will, in terms of realm, was only equivalent to a second-rank God, and couldn't do anything to them.

But forcing their way through might not succeed. When Zhou Weiqing returned, a very strong explosive energy was also transmitted through the Plane passage, blasting millions of Abyss creatures into dust.

This point needed to be guarded against.

"How is the Plane passage over there?" Xu Huang asked about this matter.

"The Plane passage was not destroyed, but the exit on that end was sealed. To break it open, it will probably take about ten years," the Abyssal Saint Monarch reported the situation that was investigated immediately to the Netherworld Master.

"Ten years? It seems that unleashing that energy also requires a price, otherwise, with Tang San's personality, he would have fought over, not sealed the entrance."

The Netherworld Master laughed, believing he had guessed Tang San's situation, and his mood suddenly improved significantly.

"Losing a Blood God Child to understand the situation on the other side is not a loss."

The Abyssal Saint Monarch had already experienced the Netherworld Master's unpredictable moods and carefully asked, "Then, Master, should we accelerate the progress of breaking through the Plane passage seal?"

"No need, it's just ten years, I can wait. Consider it ten years of preparation time for my old rival. I am going to prepare a big gift for him."

Xu Huang sneered, "In these ten years, we must constantly advance towards other Life planets, devour everything, and upgrade our Netherworld into a World like the God Realm. All one hundred and eight of you guys must reach the God level!"

The Abyssal Saint Monarch quickly said, "If we can find planets with extremely high Life quality, and our Netherworld devours them, we will naturally also be able to quickly advance and reach the level of God, or even surpass ordinary Gods."

"Then what are you standing around for? Act!"

Xu Huang waved his hand, ordering his subordinates to search for the coordinates of other Planes and launch invasions. He didn't believe that other planets also had existences as powerful as Tang San and the Silver Dragon King...

...

"Third Brother, did you sneak a bite?"

As soon as Tang San returned to Spirit Hall City, he was surrounded by the girls. Xiao Wu, who had the most sensitive nose, smelled something and her eyes looked strange, "Or were you forced?"

"Forced what? I was letting her."

Tang San put his arm around Xiao Wu's waist and greeted the others before heading to Soul Martial Manor for a night of sharing the same bed.

Crack!

Bibi Dong, who was working, clenched her fist: Good for you, Tang San, you didn't report the situation to this Pope as soon as you came back, instead, you played with multiple phoenixes, you've really grown bold!

The next day, Tang San got up refreshed and did not immediately study the Blood God Child. Instead, he went to the Pope's Hall to report the situation and the next plan to Bibi Dong.

"...So, you spent the whole night being absurd with your girlfriends last night?" Bibi Dong suddenly asked.

"For a general returning from battle, the first thing to do upon returning home is to visit his wife and daughters, which is only human nature."

Tang San glanced at the expressionless Bibi Dong, not feeling embarrassed at all, and responded calmly. He even planned to use the records from the history books he saw in the Heaven Dou Empire as an example, but was interrupted by Bibi Dong: "Alright, alright, human nature, no need to elaborate, I'm not interested in these things, but is it really okay to connect the passage of the Abyss Plane to the Starry Sky World?"

"I can only say that I don't have one hundred percent certainty, so before proceeding, I still need to go and investigate," Tang San stated his idea.

"Go personally?" Bibi Dong raised an eyebrow. Spirit Hall couldn't be without Tang San, otherwise, the progress of various research projects would slow down, which might be more harm than good.

"No, I captured a clone of the enemy leader. Perhaps I can use its structure to project a similar clone over," Tang San explained his idea, "Moreover, the Abyss creatures were not completely annihilated. Although Gu Yuena's move was powerful, correspondingly, the Abyss aura has probably also permeated into the Soul Energy Great Cycle of the Douluo Continent."

The so-called Soul Energy Great Cycle was the energy interaction cycle system between Soul Masters/Soul Beasts and the World proposed by Tang San. Whether it was Soul Masters or Soul Beasts, cultivating Soul Power and improving their cultivation required refining the energy between heaven and earth.

And during this process, it was impossible to only absorb without exhaling.

In Tang San's research, during the process of Soul Masters refining the energy of heaven and earth into Soul Power, they would also release a unique energy.

Just as plants need the carbon dioxide produced by the Life activities of animals for photosynthesis, this energy expelled by the human body during cultivation is not used by humans, but for the entire World, it is the basis for some kind of "chemical" reaction with the energy in the universe to produce the energy of heaven and earth.

Therefore, in a normal World, the energy of heaven and earth does not decrease with the increase in cultivators, but rather increases with the increase in cultivators, until the planet reaches a certain level of saturation.

For example: every inch of the planet is inhabited by people.

Of course, this is a bit exaggerated, but Tang San was sure that the Douluo Continent was currently in a period of vigorous development, and the Soul Energy Great Cycle had not reached the saturation stage at all. In fact, as Tang San's Martial Soul filled the entire Continent, this upper limit would continue to rise.

After the Abyss creatures died, a portion of their aura would enter the Soul Energy Great Cycle. However, because specific energies have a tendency to gather, for example, Fire-attribute heaven and earth energy will condense in places like Deserts and volcanoes, the aura generated after the death of those Abyss creatures will also condense in a certain place and will not be directly absorbed by Soul Masters.

However, when that energy accumulates to a certain extent, it will obviously affect the living beings on the Continent again. As for how long this will last, Tang San did not know.

This was also one of the reasons why Tang San planned to connect the spatial passage of the Abyss Plane with his Starry Sky World.

"That is a problem, but since you have your own plans, I won't ask too much. Report to me when you handle it well, and also let me know if you don't handle it well, so I can come and help you."

Bibi Dong gave her full support within her power, "Next, I am also going to break through to the hundredth rank. The spatial passage between the God Realm and our World is broken, so I don't have to be under their jurisdiction anymore. Coupled with the subtle passage connected between your Starry Sky World and the God Realm, Immortal Spiritual Energy is sufficient. After I become a God, I should be able to quickly replenish my foundation and reach the level of a God King..."

581: The plane channel is opened again!

After reporting the situation to Bibi Dong, Tang San began to study the blood god child clone.

Upon initial observation, Tang San discovered that although this thing was Xu Huang's clone, it had become independent and formed a true soul the moment its divine soul was separated from the main body. However, within its divine soul, there was an incomplete gray airflow, which was the means Xu Huang used to control the blood god child clone.

However, Tang San speculated that Xu Huang himself was unaware of this, merely thinking that the blood god child clone would never betray him, and nothing more.

The composition of the Blood God Child was what truly sent shivers down Tang San's spine. Its bloodline information contained billions of biological species, meaning that when Xu Huang refined this blood god child clone, he killed countless races in the Tianzhu Transformation World, even turning that World into a 绝地.

This also led to the Blood God Child being able to take any form, with the control depending on which segment of bloodline information was expressed.

In addition, within this blood god child clone, there were countless resentments, hatreds, and other mental powers different from those generated by worship and respect.

This kind of mental power was the Power of Faith.

It was just that compared to the positive Power of Faith that held beautiful aspirations, this one was negative, but it also possessed extremely powerful strength, though it was more likely to affect people's minds.

But Tang San felt that Xu Huang himself wouldn't care.

Or rather, in order to gain the power for revenge, he was willing and believed that he was always in control of these powers.

"The situation is clear now. After his defeat, Xu Huang went to the World of Tianzhu Transformation, and it's very likely he entered the World of the final boss and occupied it. He also influenced Zhou Weiqing, the protagonist, and turned him into that monstrous state, destroying all living beings on that planet, and cutting off the spatial passage to the God Realm. Afterward, he made contact with the Abyss Plane."

"As for whether the Abyss Plane actively sought him out or if Xu Huang contacted the Abyss Plane, that point isn't important. The two have already merged, and Xu Huang has occupied the Abyss Plane, becoming its master."

"Also, looking at this type of clone, with its complex and numerous bloodline information, and countless resentments, Xu Huang certainly didn't create just one..."

Thinking of this, Tang San's expression turned solemn.

The Abyss and Xu Huang—if the Starry Sky World were directly connected to the other side, it would likely suffer considerable damage. It would be better to weaken that side to a certain extent first.

"Tang San, what have you researched?" The blood god child clone saw Tang San's solemn expression and couldn't help but sneer, saying with a cackle, "Do you want me to tell you?"

"No need."

Tang San raised his hand and pressed it on the blood god child clone's glabella. His divine soul power erupted, directly destroying the opponent's divine soul. Then, this mass of blood god child clone became a blood-colored egg-like object. Perhaps because it had been so severely beaten that only this much remained of its form, its size was similar to an adult's fist.

Looking at this blood egg, Tang San's mind stirred. The three-headed, six-armed Greed, Hatred, and Ignorance detached from his glabella and entered it.

Greed, Hatred, and Ignorance—this unique Spirit had already been controlled by his divine soul over the years, but Tang San himself also needed to cultivate precepts, concentration, and wisdom to prevent his own mind from degenerating.

Now, his mind was close to perfection, allowing him to easily strip Greed, Hatred, and Ignorance from his body and integrate them into this blood egg, transforming them into a materialized clone.

For someone of Tang San's realm, multitasking and controlling two bodies simultaneously was nothing. He then transmitted this blood egg through the sealed Plane passage to the Underworld where Xu Huang was located...

...

And the situation on the Douluo Continent also changed due to the invasion of Abyss creatures—

In douluo calendar 2139, the invasion of Abyss creatures weakened the national power of the Star Luo Empire, making it the weakest kingdom on the Douluo Continent...

Bibi Dong of Spirit Hall broke through level 100, achieving the Rakshasa God and the God of death. Tang Chen of the Clear Sky Sect came to stop her from interfering in human affairs, but he, being only level 100, was instantly killed by Bibi Dong, who had achieved the First-Class Main God, replenished Immortal Spiritual Energy, and reached the God King level. Her tenth spirit ring and the divine core she condensed after level 100 were shattered, and her cultivation was knocked back to level 99.

Because Tang San ultimately had the bloodline of the Clear Sky Sect, Bibi Dong spared Tang Chen's Life.

From then on, Spirit Hall's reputation soared.

In Douluo calendar 2140, in the original Abyss creature invasion area, strange monsters appeared once again. They could devour all matter to grow. To prevent these monsters from multiplying and expanding, the Heaven Dou Empire and Spirit Hall united, forming the Douluo Continent United Nations, led by Spirit Hall.

In Douluo calendar 2141, due to the strange creatures approaching the Star Luo Empire, the defense line there tightened daily. As a last resort, the Star Luo Empire also joined the Douluo Continent United Nations.

In Douluo calendar 2142, Lou Gao, the city lord of Soul Guidance Technology City, one of the six outer cities of Spirit City, along with Guang Ling, one of Tang San's wives, researched and developed the Soul Energy Purification System device, which could purify Asura Aura. From then on, the resistance against Abyss creatures saw a qualitative improvement.

In Douluo calendar 2149, seven years had passed since the successful research of the Soul Energy Purification System device. The Abyss creatures were being steadily beaten back, and the Heaven and Earth energy of Douluo Star became increasingly rich. The number of children born with innate spirit power each year was far greater than usual.

During this period, the Sun Moon Continent also launched another attack on the Douluo Continent.

However, this time, the Douluo Continent United Nations sailed across the ocean, reaching the other side, causing the Sun Moon Empire to split into countless small countries. They began mining on the Sun Moon Continent, transporting all resources beneficial to the Empire's development back to the Douluo Continent.

In the same year, the Plane passage sealed by the Silver Dragon King reopened, and Abyss creatures attacked again, but they were jointly repelled by the Spirit Beasts led by the fierce beasts of the Star Dou Great Forest.

douluo calendar 2150.

The Silver Dragon King, who had been preparing for ten years, finally led the fierce beasts and several cultivated Ten-thousand year soul beasts to declare their existence to humanity.

Bibi Dong, the head of the Douluo Continent United Nations, invited Gu Yuena to a battle in the sky. The battle was so fierce that the sun and moon dimmed, the World lost its light, and even the entire Douluo Star trembled.

This battle was known as the Spirit Beast Independence War.

Who won or lost, the World did not know, but after this battle, the Douluo Continent United Nations promulgated a law prohibiting the arbitrary hunting of Spirit Beasts, unless the Spirit Beasts first infringed upon the residents' Life, property, or other interests. The principal of the Spirit Beast side, Gu Yuena, and her subordinates, Ditian, Bi Ji, and others, also joined the Douluo Continent United Nations.

In douluo calendar 2151, Spirit Hall had already developed a complete spirit ring manufacturing process. Spirit Master cultivation no longer required hunting Spirit Beasts. They could break through bottlenecks by purchasing spirit rings, from the lowest ten-year white spirit ring to the highest hundred-thousand-year red spirit ring, everything was available. As long as one had money, they could buy them!

And for students of elementary Spirit Master academies, as long as their identity was legitimate, they could receive their first spirit ring for free. The local Spirit Hall would help select the most suitable spirit ring based on the student's Spirit and physical condition. As long as they could bear it, even if the first spirit ring required a ten-thousand-year-level spirit ring, Spirit Hall could provide it.

Thus, within the Spirit Master community, a new profession emerged: Ring Creators, that is, the Spirit Master group that creates spirit rings.

In douluo calendar 2152, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Huo Wu, Lan Yinzi, and others wrote books and established theories, becoming the founders of alchemy, spirit tools, artifact refining, and array formations. From then on, alchemists, spirit tool Masters, artifact refiners, and array masters also appeared on the Continent.

In douluo calendar 2153, due to the decreasing number of bandits and The Fallen on the Continent, the Clear Sky Sect gradually declined. Although Tang Chen re-cultivated back to the level 100 realm, he still couldn't change the situation. The观念 of the Clear Sky Sect members had not changed in these thirteen years. Instead, because of the peace on the Continent, talented individuals among them condensed the Slaughter God Domain by relying on Asura Aura.

If Abyss creatures were used as training targets, it would be too dangerous. Many excellent Hao Tian Disciples had already died, and if the blood of Abyss creatures was attracted by Asura Aura, it could easily cause the simple-minded Hao Tian Disciples to go mad.

After multiple incidents of problems with Hao Tian Disciples, the United Nations army no longer recruited disciples with the Clear Sky Hammer for military service. After all, they had no way to detect if there was Asura Aura on the Clear Sky Hammer Spirit. To prevent friendly forces from suddenly going mad, they could only be killed immediately.

Of course, officially, the allied forces still welcomed anyone to join the army, but if they encountered someone whose Spirit was the Clear Sky Hammer, they would be eliminated on the grounds of being "unqualified" during inspection.

As the territory around the Clear Sky Sect was continuously developed, villages gradually urbanized, and residents gradually moved to large cities, the Clear Sky Sect's income also decreased.

As a last resort, to make a living, the brothers Tang Xiao and Tang Hao led the Sect to resume the Clear Sky Hammer's old trade—blacksmithing.

As for robbing the rich to help the poor...

With their own old ancestor being instantly killed by Bibi Dong, even if the Hao Tian Disciples were stupid, they wouldn't do such a thing, otherwise, it would mean the destruction of the Sect.

In these times, even a level 100 God had to abide by the rules!

In Douluo calendar 2154, the leading party of the Douluo Continent United Nations, Spirit Hall, prepared to develop the Infinite Desert.

After three years, in 2157, the Infinite Desert was fully explored. The Golden Ancient Tree was controlled by Spirit Hall, the guardian mechas left by the Golden Civilization were defeated by Bibi Dong, and the civilization's heritage recorded in the intelligent computer was fully taken over by Spirit Hall.

However, the United Nations did not fully replicate all this data. Instead, they selectively conducted research based on the current situation of the Douluo Continent.

But even so, the development of the Douluo Continent was like riding a high-speed train, advancing rapidly.

Douluo calendar 2155.

The Blue Silver Emperor spread throughout the entire Douluo Continent, the Starry Sky World and the Underworld were officially connected, and the Blue Silver Network also announced a piece of news: The Abyss Invasion Game! Officially launched!

582: Realize the true spirit! The game is coming! season finale!

Chapter 582: Attaining the True Spirit! The Game Descends! — The Grand Finale!

In the sixteen years of rapid development on the Douluo Continent, Tang San's gluttony, wrath, and infatuation avatars sent to the Underworld also grew rapidly.

The moment the blood egg shattered, the avatar witnessed the darkness of this World—it was truly black; the entire World seemed to be enveloped in a thick layer of black cloth, with the only two sources of light being the bloody lightning flickering within the heavy black clouds and the distorted, unknown glowing creatures growing on the ground.

The environment here was constantly changing.

At times, the cold wind was biting, like being in an ice cave in the far north; at other times, the fierce fire burned, as if being roasted on a stove.

Normal people couldn't last even a second!

Even a level ninety-nine peerless powerhouse couldn't stay in this environment for a month!

But for Tang San's avatar at this time, enjoying the bone-chilling cold wind and scorching fire waves was like bathing in a spring breeze, incredibly comfortable; the evil thoughts, resentful thoughts, hateful thoughts, wrathful thoughts, and furious thoughts here were all nourishment for his rapid growth.

As a result, from 'birth' until now, in just about half an hour, his strength had already reached a level close to a quasi-god, only a step away from breaking through to level one hundred.

"I am the true master here!" The gluttony, wrath, and infatuation avatar roared up to the sky, its six eyes scanning for the core of this World, and then directly broke through space and entered.

Abyss creatures are inherently subject to the law of the jungle; the emperor of each layer is the strongest, and as long as someone of a lower rank can defeat them openly, they can become the new emperor of that layer.

The Netherworld Master wouldn't care, and the Abyssal Saint Monarch wouldn't pay attention either.

At least, before the final thirty-sixth layer, no matter how much trouble the gluttony, wrath, and infatuation avatar caused, it was irrelevant, because with the integration of the Abyss Plane and this planet, the World of each layer would not shatter due to the emperor's demise, and coupled with the Netherworld Master's order for the emperors to search for other plane passages, this Underworld was constantly evolving.

"Interesting." After defeating the first layer's emperor and obtaining this information, the gluttony, wrath, and infatuation avatar chuckled, resurrected the defeated first layer emperor, and said, "You are still the ruler here; I don't fancy being the emperor of a mere first layer."

With that said, without waiting for the first layer emperor to question, the gluttony, wrath, and infatuation avatar went to the second layer, killed all the abyss creatures that blocked his path, then found the second layer emperor, killed the opponent once, and then resurrected them.

And so on, the gluttony, wrath, and infatuation avatar continuously challenged and resurrected the emperor of each layer, and during this period, the gluttony, wrath, and infatuation avatar also continuously collected information about each layer and recorded its details.

This behavior continued until the challenge reached the seventy-third layer, only then attracting the attention of those emperors.

Due to the power of gluttony, wrath, and infatuation, the emperors of the latter thirty-six layers found him and wanted to subdue him, but then this quasi-god gluttony, wrath, and infatuation simultaneously challenged the thirty-six emperors.

Among the thirty-six emperors, nine had already reached the god level, but even so, this quasi-god gluttony, wrath, and infatuation was not afraid in the slightest.

After revealing his true form with three heads and six arms, his six arms held three weapons respectively: a ferocious warhammer, a long spear emitting an eerie blue light, and a whip resembling a serpentine creature, whose beast head was integrated with the central head, turning it into an extremely fierce dragon head.

Three divine weapons, Gluttony, Wrath, and Infatuation, each controlled by one face, charged towards the thirty-six emperors, directly entering the encirclement, facing the thirty-six attacks and laws, Gluttony, Wrath, and Infatuation blocked left and right, and when the fight became intense, he even spun his body, like a raging tornado, sweeping across the thirty-sixth layer of the abyss World, annihilating all twenty-seven quasi-gods!

And the nine god-level emperors were also beaten with broken divine bodies, scared to the point of trembling, not daring to resist him anymore.

They had never imagined that a quasi-god could possess such combat power, capable of defying gods with a mortal body!

This enormous commotion naturally alarmed Shura Zhou Weiqing and the Netherworld Master Xu Huang.

The two came to the scene and saw the three faces of gluttony, wrath, and infatuation in a frenzy, displaying their mental power, and immediately entered the fray, but the opponent, perhaps sensing the pressure, actually broke through on the spot, achieving god level, and even condensed the divine positions of the three evils: gluttony, wrath, and infatuation, coupled with the extreme abundance of these three thoughts in the Underworld, his cultivation had already become the same as Tang San's main body, reaching the realm of a supreme god king!

The Netherworld Master and Zhou Weiqing immediately erupted, attacking gluttony, wrath, and infatuation, determined to kill this being and prevent him from occupying the Underworld.

However, as a result, the gluttony, wrath, and 执念 in the hearts of these two became nourishment for the growth of gluttony, wrath, and infatuation, causing his power to grow again, even overwhelming the two at one point.

"Bastard! This is my World!" The Netherworld Master roared in anger, three thousand blood god children burst forth from his body, each evolving into an avatar, and each with strength equivalent to a god official.

"Three Thousand Blood Gods Cover the Common People!"

The three thousand blood god children each unleashed a kind of law power, but all carried the aura of the Underworld, converging into a monstrous sea of blood, nearly covering the entire Underworld, pressing down towards gluttony, wrath, and infatuation.

"Interesting." Gluttony, wrath, and infatuation showed no fear, chuckled, and with a wave of his six arms, the monstrous sea of blood seemed to pause in the void, revealing the forms of the three thousand blood god children within, and their faces gradually transformed towards the appearance of gluttony, wrath, and infatuation.

"How could the control of the blood god children...!?"

The Netherworld Master was in a panic, and looking at gluttony, wrath, and infatuation again, he felt that if the three faces overlapped, they were incredibly familiar—

"Tang San!"

Gluttony, wrath, and infatuation swept his long spear, annihilating the nine god-level emperors, and smiled at Xu Huang, saying, "Oh, did you recognize me? It really wasn't easy."

"Blood God Child, I really didn't expect you to create such a good thing..."

"Unfortunately, you yourself don't seem to know what is most important for controlling the blood god children, but I am different; by analyzing the origin within, I can take the authority from you. The cultivation of fantasy is actually no different from the development of technology."

Xu Huang roared, his whole body exploding, transforming into a mass of monsters composed of endless undead, charging towards the gluttony, wrath, and infatuation avatar.

However, unexpectedly, gluttony, wrath, and infatuation did not stop him, but instead allowed him to tear at his own flesh, but no matter how those undead thought, the lost flesh and blood would always recover.

Xu Huang's undead army was endless, but the gluttony, wrath, and执念 contained within it were also boundless.

And during this process, Tang San's main body's primordial spirit also seemed to constantly sink, awaken... sink again, awaken again, until he saw that point of spiritual light that seemed eternally inextinguishable.

The Indestructible True Spirit!

At this moment, Tang San finally saw his original self and understood who he truly was—

"Ah!"

In the classroom, Tang Chuan suddenly woke up with a red mark on his face, causing the other students to burst into laughter.

"Tang Chuan, don't you want to go to college?" The English teacher in the classroom had an unfriendly expression, "Don't think that just because your English is good, you can sleep in class. There are only two years and three months left until the college entrance examination. If you relax, you might not get into a good university. Don't blame me, your teacher, if you fail."

"I'm sorry, teacher, I was just too tired from studying last night." Tang Chuan immediately stood up and apologized to the teacher.

"Okay, sit down and listen carefully." The English teacher nodded slightly, motioning for Tang Chuan to sit down, and continued writing English words and sentences on the blackboard.

But Tang Chuan was not interested in listening to the class and muttered, "Am I dreaming?"

"Hey, what's wrong with you? You're distracted." His deskmate next to him nudged Tang Chuan's arm with his elbow, "Did you do it too much last night? Ah, being a day student is good, you can go home and play on the computer."

"Go away, I wouldn't do something like that." Tang Chuan looked disdainful, glanced at the English teacher on the podium, and then asked his deskmate, "Sun Ming, what time is it now?"

"Ten twenty-five, class is almost over." The deskmate named Sun Ming looked at the cheap electronic watch on his right wrist and reported a time.

"That's not what I'm asking, what year is it now?"

"Did you transmigrate? Or are you reborn?" Sun Ming said jokingly, pointing to the calendar next to the blackboard, "March 3, 2012."

"Oh, then it seems I'm dreaming."

Tang Chuan muttered until the day's classes ended, then he came back to his senses, picked up his schoolbag, and headed home.

When the weekend came, Tang Chuan wandered along the park walkway by the river outside the campus, observing this real World, and suddenly took a deep breath, sighing, "I really miss it so much, I didn't expect I would actually come back."

Walking a few more steps, he saw three classmates who stayed at school on weekends, including his deskmate Sun Ming, watching a woman practicing tai chi by the side of the walkway, their faces looking like lecherous pigs, clearly captivated.

However, in Tang Chuan's eyes, he seemed to see the trajectory of fate: "Perhaps my deskmate is also dreaming—"

Immediately, a Blue Silver Emperor as brilliant as the starry river emerged from his palm...

Sun Ming seemed to sense something and suddenly turned his head, but found no one, and couldn't help but touch his head strangely, but then didn't care and continued to watch the woman practicing tai chi, thinking to himself, "This woman, could she be Tang Zichen?"

It was no wonder Sun Ming thought this way, after all, among the two classmates beside him, there was a guy named Wang Chao...

...

Inside the Soul Martial Manor, Tang San opened his eyes, and thousands of stars seemed to appear in his eyes, and he smiled, "This is the true 'my destiny is up to me', I can descend upon infinitely many multiverses."

"Once proven, forever proven, it's nothing more than this."

"Perhaps my power is still far from those beings who have already proven their true spirits, but at the root, there is no longer any gap between me and them."

"After all, Life is eternal from the moment it is born."

It was only after proving his true spirit that Tang San finally understood the meaning of the phrase "gu" had said back then. All information was recorded on the true spirit, and the true spirit is immortal; no matter how many times it is annihilated, it will always return from the endless flow of time, and once resurrected, it will reach its original strongest level.

Moreover, the information imprinted on the true spirit can also be continuously updated.

The way beings who have proven their true spirits compete with each other is no longer just pure power, but the breadth and depth of information. As long as the amount of information is large, the effect presented gives people a sense of very strong "special effects."

However, Tang San was also fortunate for his luck, being born in this universe cluster called the Underworld of All Heavens, the Douluo universe cluster, and proving his true spirit; those great figures were not interested in investigating, otherwise, he would definitely be beaten until only his true spirit remained, serving as some kind of "innate spiritual treasure," and thus falling into a state of "loss of self."

And Tang San also understood the reason why there were so many transmigrators in this Douluo Continent: it was because two or more beings who controlled true spirits had a great battle, and a trace of their power radiated to their universe, causing spatial distortion, time-control turbulence, and information radiation, thus causing a large number of transmigrators to descend... Not just the Douluo Continent, but the entire myriad of multiverses were affected, and countless transmigrators descended.

Tang San also told Xiao Wu and the others about these matters, after all, those who control true spirits never care whether they are known to others; even if they are known, as long as they don't reach their level, this memory will always be forgotten in the long flow of time.

And the purpose of Tang San telling the girls was also to hope that they would also prove their true spirits, so that they could share weal and woe and also establish a "legal and compliant" "private enterprise."

After all, "gu" had already given Tang San a cautionary tale for those who dared to go it alone.

"So, what should we do now?" Xiao Wu asked.

"In the past sixteen years, my avatar has almost taken control of the Abyss Plane, but individual heroism is not advisable, so—"

Tang San waved his hand, and through the Blue Silver Network, he opened the first game of the Starry Sky World for the sentient beings of the Douluo Continent: Abyss Invasion Game! It officially begins!

This is the first game, but definitely not the last!

And the type of game is not just war; in the future, farming, management, adventure, civilization development, and so on will also be opened!

Essentially, it is the process of the Starry Sky World continuously incorporating other planes into it and establishing a diversified World where multiple races coexist, which naturally also includes the God Realm...

"Let's put aside thinking about the future for now." Xiao Wu interrupted Tang San, her eyes shining like jewels with a serious expression, "There is a very important matter before us right now—"

"We haven't officially gotten married yet, have we?"

Tang San was slightly stunned, scanning Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, Huo Wu, Meng Meng, Nian Nian, and Zhu Zhuqing, Qian Renxue, and Gu Yuena, who had arrived at some point, and couldn't help but smile, "Okay, then let's get married!"

(—End of this book)

583: Final words

This book started with the plot of "Ultimate Conducting Dread Beast Standing Above the Douluo Continent", after all, I felt that splitting the protagonist into two was a bit redundant, plus other Douluo novels were basically too "cool", leading to aesthetic fatigue...

Of course, the biggest reason among them is likely because the Douluo Series is being criticized by everyone in the web novel circle, and the protagonist Tang San is even a target of mindless hate. For this, I plan to try the opposite approach, using that book as a control group, thinking of writing a protagonist who is a transmigrator Tang San, going against other transmigrators, to see the effect.

The root cause was mainly that he wrote too slowly, so I took it upon myself to write a book.

As I was writing, I suddenly realized that the section about the academy battles was the most fluid I wrote, and later my state slowly declined, feeling that writing was no longer interesting.

Of course, besides being a new writer with no experience, I also had personal life troubles. After all, writing novels isn't everything. This is off-topic, so I won't mention it for now.

Now, I realize that the World view I've built is too large, and there are too many plot characters, making it uncontrollable. This started appearing from the moment I joined the academy, there were too many related people.

I now understand why the map-changing upgrade template is classic, because it's easy to handle. Change the map, and new characters appear, and you can even completely keep old characters from the previous map from appearing.

Having said all this, I don't even know what I'm saying in this completion reflection. Maybe my mentality has really collapsed.

As an author, whether part-time or full-time, you need to learn to ignore comments. For those who write well, even if they say nothing, there will be plenty of people who read it.

Finally, let's talk about new books related to the Douluo Series —

It depends on the situation.

Currently, I have no ideas. The Physical Martial Soul's Heaven and Earth Phenomenon and Twelve Yuanchen mentioned in the book haven't been clearly written in detail. I could restart a book on this, but I don't know why, I just don't feel like writing about Douluo anymore. I'll let fate decide.

Among the readers, if anyone thinks this idea is viable, perhaps they can write a book, and I will go read it, after all —

Compared to using the time after dinner to write novels, I prefer to read novels. Perhaps one day I'll see something to complain about, or become interested, and I'll want to start writing again.

However, compared to Douluo fanfiction, I actually want to write about the modern daily life plot of Under One Person next. The main reason is that I think some of the stories in it are good, the World view won't be too large, and there's already a framework, making it easy to write.

As for Douluo, honestly, in my free time, if I want to write something that can move me a little, I don't really want to write this kind of game-level upgrade mode type...

Finally, I wish all you esteemed readers good health and fortune!
