

1: Before the martial soul awakens

Douluo Continent.

This is a magical World, where there is no battle qi, no magic, but there are magical Spirits. Everyone possesses that magical power, which can help them live more conveniently.

Humans living in this World, when they reach six years old, all have the opportunity to awaken their Spirit once.

Spirits can be objects, plants, or animals.

Among them, a small number of people can possess spirit power after awakening their Spirit.

These Spirits, born with spirit power, can cultivate and grant humans powerful strength.

And these people are called:

Spirit Masters!

Spirit Masters are the most noble profession on the continent, possessing unimaginable power. Ordinary people fear Spirit Masters, revere Spirit Masters, and at the same time, long to become Spirit Masters.

However, whether one can become a Spirit Master depends on whether they possess innate spirit power after their Spirit awakens.

If one has innate spirit power, they can cultivate, have the opportunity to reach the peak, and become a true Spirit Master.

But if there is no innate spirit power, then all efforts are just wasted.

"Innate spirit power, even if I don't cultivate Mysterious Heaven Skill, I should still have it, right?"

A small figure walked on the streets of Saint Spirit Village, heading towards the village chief's house, listening to the casual chats between villagers returning from the fields, a thoughtful expression on his face.

"I am Little San, Grandpa Jack, are you home? I'm here again!"

Knock knock knock!

The person just now was named Tang San.

And the village chief of Saint Spirit Village was precisely the well-known good old man in the nearby villages—

Old Jack!

"Creak!"

The large door, its red paint peeled by the scorching sun, slowly opened. Old Jack's hunched back and kind face came into Tang San's view: "Little San, you're here. Grandpa has already prepared breakfast."

Before Tang San could say anything more, Old Jack pulled Tang San into the house.

On the clean and tidy table, there was a bowl of rice porridge, a basket of steamed buns, a plate of pickled vegetables, and a bowl of eggs.

For villagers in the countryside, even the village chief did not eat very well.

However, Old Jack had clearly prepared multiple servings.

It was obvious that Tang San frequently came here for meals.

"I've troubled you again, Grandpa Jack." Tang San, familiar with the place, took the rice porridge and steamed buns that Old Jack handed him, drinking the porridge and biting the steamed buns in large mouthfuls.

"That scoundrel Tang Hao, he's truly despicable, he doesn't act like a father at all." Seeing Tang San wolfing down his food, Old Jack couldn't help but complain about Tang Hao again.

"Ever since he came to Saint Spirit Village, I haven't seen him act like a proper person."

"When he first arrived, he at least knew to take care of you, borrowing milk from the villagers, but he often choked you when feeding you... Once you grew a bit older and learned to cook, he completely gave up taking care of you, making you do everything."

"And himself? He only knows how to drink and sleep. A grown man, I really don't know why he's so useless. Even if he suffered before coming to Saint Spirit Village, there's no need to be so decadent, right?"

"He doesn't know how to take care of a child at all. The family is so poor, yet he doesn't know to earn more money to leave some family property for you, his son."

"Blacksmithing is a skill that can provide a living, but unfortunately, he's too lazy, has a bad temper, and only knows how to drink... The villagers don't dare to look for him, they come to me instead, asking me to take their damaged farm tools to him."

"Really, Little San, you must not learn from your father in the future. His life is already like this, but you are different, very smart. Grandmaster Su Yuntao likes you very much."

Old Jack was old and very talkative; this was perhaps a common ailment of the elderly.

However, Tang San didn't feel that Old Jack had said anything wrong. That fellow Tang Hao indeed had a major flaw.

The pride of the Clear Sky Sect?

It wasn't reflected in him at all.

What was there was merely that bit of humble, pitiable self-esteem.

If he was truly unconvinced, he should heal his injuries, cultivate diligently, and strive to fight back!

As for any hidden injuries that were difficult to recover from... Tang San scoffed at that even more. With such severe injuries and alcoholism, it would be a miracle if he recovered.

However, Tang San didn't say these words. After all, he was just a child at this time and shouldn't know so much. Therefore, he merely helped the elderly Old Jack into the house, massaged his back, and then helped with chores.

In reality, the current Tang San was not the original Tang San who had transmigrated from a martial arts World, but a modern transmigrator, having undergone nine years of compulsory education, whose previous name was Tang Chuan.

After transmigration, the character "Chuan" (川) changed from vertical to horizontal.

But unfortunately, regarding the memories of the other martial arts World's Tang San, he only inherited the cultivation methods from the Mysterious Heaven Treasure Record: Mysterious Heaven Skill, Purple Demon Eye, Mysterious Jade Hand, as well as Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track and Controlling Crane Catching Dragon.

The methods for crafting Hidden Weapons, training techniques, recognition of medicinal herbs, and most importantly, knowledge of Immortal Herbs, not a single bit remained.

Perhaps his transmigration caused the martial arts Tang San's soul to completely shatter, his memories scattered, leaving only the Mysterious Heaven Treasure Record, a secret manual that the martial arts Tang San had been obsessed with.

If that were truly the case, Tang San still had to thank his predecessor's persistence, otherwise, without even a cheat, how could he survive in this Douluo Continent?

In fact, the Douluo Continent was truly difficult to navigate.

The first problem to solve was his own development.

Coming from modern society, he understood that to eat his fill, his cheap father Tang Hao definitely couldn't be relied upon. He could only rely on his somewhat cute appearance to seek assistance from others.

For example: the greatest village chief of Saint Spirit Village, Old Jack.

It must be said that Old Jack's persona as a good old man was not a disguise, but truly that amiable. He was well-known far and wide. The young Tang San relied on Old Jack to grow up, not as thin and small as in the original work.

Although he still wasn't in perfect health now...

However, Tang San was not freeloading.

Equivalent exchange is the path to longevity.

Therefore, every time he received food from Old Jack, Tang San would massage Old Jack's back or help collect firewood. He always had to do some work, otherwise, he felt he would be letting his conscience down.

However, for a year, Tang San had lived there to better help Old Jack with chores, until a dark-faced Tang Hao dragged him back.

At that time, Tang Hao even suspected that Old Jack, who had no children, was trying to abduct his son to be his grandson.

Since then, Tang San would go home every day, but he made an agreement with Tang Hao that he would go to Old Jack's place to help, and Tang Hao agreed.

And through this period of experience, Old Jack seemed more like Tang San's elder, rather than that Clear Sky Douluo who slept all day and drank heavily.

"Cough cough!"

Old Jack was still talking non-stop, choked, and coughed violently.

"Grandpa Jack, are you alright? Don't worry, I will definitely not be like him in the future." Tang San had finished eating by this time and quickly patted Old Jack's back twice.

"Oh, that was a bit hard!" Old Jack's breathing smoothed out, but he felt a bit of pain in his back.

Tang San was a little embarrassed and immediately went back into the house, poured Old Jack a bowl of water, and brought it to him.

Old Jack, who had drunk the water, smacked his lips and said, "Much better."

"Then I'll go help pick up firewood." Tang San took the empty bowl, washed it in the nearby sink, put the bowl back inside the house, and then walked out the door, saying to Old Jack, "Tao Ge is coming this afternoon to awaken the Spirits of the suitable children in the village, right?"

"You child, you're so disrespectful. Don't think that just because Grandmaster Su Yuntao was kind to you two years ago, you can call him that. You should call him Grandmaster." Although he said this, Old Jack was smiling, and then he picked up two eggs and stuffed them into Tang San's pocket...

2: This Tang San is different

Spirit Masters, in everyone's eyes, were extremely noble existences, the most respected profession on the Douluo Continent, without exception.

However, in Tang San's view, commoners didn't so much respect Spirit Masters as they revered and yearned to be them.

Everyone yearned to become a Spirit Master.

Since Tang San was old enough to understand, he had been researching knowledge about becoming a Spirit Master.

Where did the knowledge come from?

Naturally, it came from the famous "Blind God King" in various fan fiction novels: Su Yuntao.

This Master Su would come to Saint Spirit Village every year.

It was actually very easy to approach him; Tang San simply found him and talked to him.

At first, Su Yuntao didn't want to bother, but when Tang San offered to help him pursue girls, Su Yuntao stopped.

Then, when Su Yuntao came the following year, he was very enthusiastic towards Little San and even brought him the "Spirit Encyclopedia," which introduced various Spirit Beasts, as well as the basic meditation method released by Spirit Hall.

Afterward, Tang San also suggested going to the Nuo Ding City Spirit Hall Branch to read books. Su Yuntao, seeing Tang San's intelligence, felt a touch of pity and agreed.

Therefore, Tang San and Su Yuntao could be considered old acquaintances, which is why he wanted to ask Old Jack if Su Yuntao was truly arriving in the afternoon.

“Grandpa Jack, I’m leaving now.”

After receiving Old Jack’s affirmation, Tang San waved to Old Jack and headed towards the hillside near the village, where there was a forest, Tang San’s firewood gathering spot.

Arriving at the familiar forest, looking at the Blue Silver Grass scattered everywhere, Tang San, though accustomed to it, still sighed faintly at the thought, muttering, “This is also one of the reasons why I started learning early. Those fan fiction novels are not reliable. In this real World, hunting isn’t that easy. Without experience, catching prey truly depends purely on luck, and hunting itself already requires luck, so it’s better to just pick up firewood.”

Hunting, in theory and practice, were two completely different things.

Anyway, Tang San didn't have that kind of skill.

Besides, there wasn’t even a mouse to be seen in this place, so what could he hunt?

Although there were birds in the forest, they were very small, similar to sparrows, and without things like rubber, he couldn't make a slingshot, so he couldn't catch them.

As for using a basket as a trap.

The family didn't even have enough rice to eat, so how could it be used as bait for small birds?

It was too wasteful.

However, he once asked Old Jack why there were no large prey in the forest.

He was then told that Saint Spirit Village's geographical location was good, situated at the border of the Two Great Empires, with merchants from both countries frequently traveling back and forth. Saint Spirit Village also had large tracts of farmland suitable for cultivation, making it more prosperous than other villages, and thus, famine would not occur.

However, the so-called prosperity was only in comparison to other villages; the people in the village could only eat meat during holidays and festivals.

Twenty years ago, there might have been ordinary animals like rabbits in the forest near Saint Spirit Village, but now, they had long since been captured.

Thus, it was naturally not his turn as a transmigrator.

There was a small stream near Saint Spirit Village.

However, Tang San had no fishing experience.

If it wasn't for cheating, it would be impossible to catch a fish with one cast. It wasn't just a fishing rod, a fishing line, a fish hook, and an earthworm that could catch fish.

Given the time spent waiting, it was more practical to gather firewood.

This was the only way for poor people to immediately get cash.

Two hours later, Tang San, carrying firewood much taller than himself, wiped the sweat from his face and headed towards Saint Spirit Village, first returning to his dilapidated home.

Placing the firewood in the small shed at the entrance, Tang San evenly divided it into two portions. One portion was kept at home, as forging iron and cooking for daily Life also required burning firewood.

The other portion would be sent to Old Jack's house later; that was the payment for the eggs, and Old Jack would give him two eggs then.

One bundle of firewood for four eggs.

“Ha~”

Tang Hao pushed aside the curtain, walked out of the bedroom, yawning, then walked out of the house to wash up. Seeing Tang San dividing the firewood, he asked, “Have you been to Old Jack's?”

“Mm.”

Tang San hummed in response, then fell silent, clearly not wanting to have too much interaction with him.

Although compared to the original novel, this Tang Hao in front of him was more caring towards him, perhaps it was because he only started cultivating Mysterious Heaven Skill this year.

This wasn't Tang San wanting to see if Tang Hao would treat him better if he didn't cultivate Mysterious Heaven Skill.

How could he joke with his own talent?

It was just that after he inherited the martial arts Tang San's memories related to secret manuals, he didn't gain relevant cultivation experience, meaning he didn't know where the meridians for inner force circulation were located.

If he didn't understand these, would he dare to cultivate recklessly?

That would be playing with his own Life. Who knew if he cultivated incorrectly and died suddenly, whether he could transmigrate back to the real World again.

After dividing the firewood, Tang San took out an egg from his pocket, placed it next to Tang Hao, who was washing his face, and then carried the firewood to Old Jack's house.

At least, Tang Hao raised him for one or two years when he was still a baby.

Although it was only those one or two years, after that, he was in a state of semi-neglect and semi-lying flat...

Tang Hao, who had finished washing his face, picked up the egg, didn't bother to peel the shell, and threw the whole thing into his mouth, chewing it three or five times before swallowing it directly. His eating style was extremely wild...

...

Returning to Old Jack's house, Tang San placed the firewood in the backyard.

"You child, Grandpa doesn't lack firewood here." Old Jack feigned anger, "It's not like a few eggs make a difference, honestly, why be so serious?"

"Grandpa Jack, this is what I should do. After all, if I keep eating for free, the other people in the village will gossip." Tang San smiled, took out the other egg from his pocket, cracked it, peeled it, and said while eating, "Also, I always have to be self-reliant."

"If your father had thoughts like yours, how could the family be so poor? With his physique, if he found a job in Nuoding City when he was free, even moving bricks could earn enough money for you to marry a wife." Old Jack sighed at Tang San's sensibility while also complaining about Tang Hao, "I really don't know what he's thinking in his head."

Tang San found it difficult to comment on this.

Knock knock knock!

Just then, a knock came from the door. A man dressed in white close-fitting clothes, wearing a white cape, with a cyan badge pinned to his left chest, smiled at Tang San and Old Jack inside the house and said, "Old Village Chief, I'm here."

This person was none other than Su Yuntao.

Because of Tang San, in recent years, Su Yuntao's attitude towards Old Jack had become increasingly respectful; it was a respect for an elder, not an awe based on strength.

Perhaps in Su Yuntao's view, it was Old Jack's credit for raising such a clever child like Tang San.

"Tao Ge, it's been a while, I hope you've been well."

Tang San hurriedly swallowed the egg in his mouth and greeted Su Yuntao, "Grandpa Jack said you seemed to be coming in the afternoon. Did you come early?"

"According to the original schedule, I was indeed supposed to come in the afternoon, but I have a date with Sisi today, so I set off at three in the morning." Su Yuntao explained, "Also, you brat, you haven't been to our Spirit Hall's library since you finished reading the books there. Master Ma Xiunuo has been talking about you a lot recently."

"Who told Sister Sisi to spoil me so much? I'd be embarrassed, and also, aren't I afraid of you, Tao Ge, getting jealous?" Tang San said with a shy face.

Although Tang San at this time hadn't awakened his Spirit, and the Blue Silver Emperor bloodline was still a long way off, and his appearance was ordinary, he couldn't help but be lively.

Outgoing children are always likable.

As for going to Spirit Hall to read books... this was a real World, and he had to deeply understand Spirit Beasts. He couldn't believe those fan fiction novels, otherwise, if he messed himself up, he'd have nowhere to cry.

If he really let those netizens analyze things, Tang San felt he would become even more unreliable than Yu Xiaogang.

"Master Su, I'll have to trouble you again this year." Old Jack bowed slightly and spoke to Su Yuntao about the main business, "I've already had the parents of the children of suitable age bring them to wait in the center of the village. Shall we go now?”

“Alright, the sooner we finish, the sooner I can have my date with Sisi.” Su Yuntao also wanted to finish quickly. Although he was happy to see Tang San, helping people awaken their Spirit was indeed a rather boring task. Not only did it require traveling, but it also consumed spirit power.

He was only a Spirit Grandmaster, with not much spirit power, and it was consumed quickly.

Afterward, Tang San also followed Old Jack behind Su Yuntao, unable to resist asking, “Master Su, can Spirit awakening really only happen at six years old?”

“What, Little San, do you want to awaken your Spirit early?”

Su Yuntao laughed heartily, “That won’t do. Spirit Hall regulations state that awakening happens at six years old. I can’t awaken someone early. The reason, you know, I don’t really like reading. And also—”

“You little rascal, you call me Master Su when you need something, but Tao Ge when you don’t, right?”

Tang San widened his large eyes, acting cute, and said, “Isn’t it because I feel Tao Ge, you’ve traveled a long way and look a bit tired? I was just joking to help you relax.”

Su Yuntao smiled, then said, “That excuse, I find it clumsy... As for your Spirit awakening, we’ll talk about it when you’re six, which is next year. Although I don’t know why Spirits can only be awakened at six years old, it’s always been this way throughout history, so there must be a reason for it.”

“Haha, Little San, you must want to become a Spirit Master early. But Master Su is right, you can’t rush these things,” Old Jack said, affectionately patting Tang San’s head. “You’re so smart, you’ll definitely become a Spirit Master in the future.”

Upon hearing this, Su Yuntao didn't say much, only sighed inwardly.

How difficult is it to become a Spirit Master?

First, the Spirit needs to possess spirit power.

Just this first step blocks over ninety percent of the people on the Douluo Continent.

However, Su Yuntao still sincerely hoped that Tang San would awaken a Spirit with innate spirit power next year.

Two years ago, Tang San had planned which Spirit Beast he should choose for his second spirit ring, which indeed brought him a powerful Spirit Ability.

With such wisdom, if he were to become a Spirit Master and could proceed smoothly, he would certainly become a Spirit Master surpassing him.

As long as Tang San possesses spirit power after awakening his Spirit next year.

As long as there's even a little spirit power, Su Yuntao is certain that Tang San can cultivate. Even if he can't reach a profound realm, he can still become a theoretical Grandmaster, surpassing that joke of the Spirit Master's world.

They arrived at the center of the village, where the Spirit Hall was located.

Every village has a Spirit Hall.

But in reality, it's just a stone house.

In small villages like Saint Spirit Village, the Spirit Hall has no Spirit Master stationed there; it's managed by the village chief and regularly cleaned by hired people.

Because Su Yuntao was coming, the stone house had been cleaned a few days prior and looked very tidy.

For Spirit awakening, only Su Yuntao and the age-appropriate children could enter the Spirit Hall. Everyone else, including Old Jack and Tang San, had to wait outside.

Nine minutes later, Su Yuntao emerged with five children, shaking his head at Old Jack, “Their Spirits are all Blue Silver Grass, sickles, hoes, and spatulas, and none of them have spirit power.”

“Alas~”

Old Jack sighed deeply, comforting the children and their parents, telling them to take them home. “It’s fine even without spirit power. With their Spirits awakened, doing the corresponding work will be a bit easier.”

As for Su Yuntao, after chatting with Tang San for a few moments, he left Saint Spirit Village to visit other villages.

After helping Old Jack back home, Tang San said goodbye and returned to the blacksmith shop, waking Tang Hao, who was taking a nap.

“What’s all the noise?” Tang Hao rubbed his eyes, looking a bit impatient. “Did your Spirit awaken early? What is it? Let me see?”

Evidently, Tang Hao knew Su Yuntao had been there and might have been secretly watching him.

After all, Tang San and Su Yuntao were getting a bit close, and he worried his identity might be discovered.

However, Tang Hao was clearly overthinking.

With Su Yuntao’s impatient personality, eager to go back and meet Sisi, even if he wanted to invite Su Yuntao to his home as a guest, he wouldn’t come.

Tang San thought this, speaking with the innocence a five-year-old child should have, “I think Grandpa Jack is right, you should cheer up. If you keep being so decadent, you’ll get moldy later. At least repair the house, right? Otherwise, no one in the village will want to marry me in the future.”

Tang Hao raised an eyebrow, sitting up from the wooden bed, and said in surprise, “I didn’t realize you were so precocious. You’re already thinking about marriage?”

“You don’t want our Tang Clan to have no descendants, do you? Do you know the saying ‘poor for three generations’? If you’re poor for three generations, you can’t marry a wife, and then the bloodline ends.” Tang San stared with his large, watery eyes, making Tang Hao’s scalp tingle a bit.

“You look like you have no ability, and I suppose your father, which is my grandfather, also didn’t have much ability and was poor. By the time it gets to me, it’s exactly three generations.”

“What kind of crooked logic did that idiot from Spirit Hall teach you?”

Tang Hao gritted his teeth in anger, wanting to chase after Su Yuntao, who had already left the village, and smash him to smithereens with a hammer.

His good son was spouting crooked logic one after another, and he couldn’t even refute some of it.

In the end, Tang Hao gave up the idea of beating Su Yuntao to death, got out of bed, walked to the furnace, and began to light the fire, pull the bellows, and forge iron. He said, “Don’t think I’ll support you. I’ll teach you a set of blacksmithing movements. You remember them and practice by yourself. The money you earn in the future, you can save it.”

“If the house needs repairs, you do it yourself in the future. I won’t help.”

“Also, don’t practice the meditation method you got from that wolf cub. Before your Spirit awakens, it’s useless no matter how you practice. You won’t sense even a bit of spirit power. The Spirit is the foundation of cultivation.”

As expected of a Titled Douluo, had he already discovered he was practicing Mysterious Heaven Skill?

However, before the Spirit awakens, even a Titled Douluo cannot sense spirit power fluctuations?

It seemed it should be so.

Otherwise, every Sect could determine a child's talent before their Spirit awakened, without needing tools like crystal balls.

Furthermore, what he cultivated was Mysterious Heaven Skill, which was said to be a pure Daoist cultivation method. The internal force cultivated from it was neutral and peaceful, unlike Spirit Masters, who produced so-called spirit power fluctuations.

Internal force, spirit power.

Perhaps before the Spirit awakens, internal force is truly just internal force. Without the transformation of the Spirit, others cannot detect it.

Tang San thought while observing Tang Hao demonstrating the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method once. Relying on the talent brought by his transmigration—photographic memory—he had already memorized it.

But he couldn't remember it in one go; that would be too exaggerated.

“Demonstrate it again, I didn't remember it!” Tang San puffed out his cheeks, saying righteously.

Tang Hao: “.....”

He's my son, he's my son...

Tang Hao silently repeated it a few times in his heart and continued to demonstrate the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method until Tang San said he had remembered it. He had already practiced it over twenty times.

However, when Tang Hao asked Tang San to try, Tang San made him realize something else—Tang San couldn't swing the forging hammer.

He could lift it, but that was all.

The reason, of course, was that Tang San had only started cultivating Mysterious Heaven Skill this year, and he barely had any internal force.

After lifting the forging hammer and swinging it two or three times, he was completely out of strength.

Tang Hao: “.....”

He had been speechless too many times today.

“I think it’s a problem with the tool. You should forge a special hammer for me that suits my height,” Tang San said again, full of righteous indignation.

Tang Hao rolled his eyes at him and went back to his room to sleep.

Tang San was also helpless: “There aren’t even rabbits in the nearby mountains, and the fish in the river are hard to catch. How can it be so difficult to have a good body in such a poor family?”

Tang San had ways to get rich, but he couldn’t use them.

The reasons were simple.

Firstly, identity issues. If he attracted attention, he and Tang Hao would have to start a Life of fleeing.

Secondly, age issues. Although he could already plan spirit rings for Su Yuntao, the villagers didn’t know, and Old Jack certainly wouldn’t go along with his nonsense.

Believing in his intelligence was one thing, but following his ideas was another.

No hair on the mouth, no reliability in doing things.

This also held true on the Douluo Continent.

“It’s better to cultivate internal force first and try to strengthen my physique, otherwise, my spirit power might be very low when my Spirit awakens.”

As the son of Tang Hao and Blue Silver Emperor, Tang San was certain that he definitely had innate spirit power, but in this malnourished state, it certainly wouldn't be innate full spirit power.

Tang San didn't know how old the original martial arts Tang San was when he started cultivating, but he knew that it wasn't until around six years old that the martial arts Tang San felt his internal force could no longer improve, encountering a bottleneck.

And now, Tang San only fully understood Mysterious Heaven Skill at five years old. Cultivating at this time, with only one year, he would definitely not have innate full spirit power.

However, a slower cultivation speed in the early stages didn't matter. With the Mysterious Heaven Skill bonus in the later stages, the spirit power increase speed would definitely not be slow.

As for the next plan.....

3: Martial spirit awakening moment

For the future, Tang San naturally had his own plans.

The first step was to awaken his Spirit, which was the most crucial part, as Spirit was the foundation of the extraordinary in this World.

After his Spirit awakened, he would go to Notting Academy to study.

It wasn't that Tang San didn't want to find other academies; it was simply that his family had no money, so he could only become a work-study student.

Note: Yu Xiaogang, he is a pit to avoid.

Since he gained awareness at three years old, Tang San befriended Su Yuntao and occasionally went with Su Yuntao to the Nuo Ding City Spirit Hall Branch.

He read many public books there and also learned about the theories Yu Xiaogang had published, truly understanding why he was called a joke.

One point needed to be admitted: Yu Xiaogang's theories had correct parts, but only parts, and those were common knowledge in the Spirit Master's world.

What is common knowledge?

It is knowledge summarized by the vast majority of Spirit Masters throughout generations in the Spirit Master's world and recognized by everyone.

When Yu Xiaogang published them, it was as if he had summarized them all by himself.

Secondly, where Yu Xiaogang's theories were not recognized, there was basically no proof, and some were even just his personal subjective conjectures.

To dare publish at this level was truly laughable.

Of course, because of his identity as a son of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, no one dared to mock him to his face; that would only bring trouble to themselves with no gain.

Tang San had also considered the benefits of becoming Yu Xiaogang's disciple. Putting aside the mysterious concept of destiny, the greatest benefit Yu Xiaogang could bring to Tang San was his extensive knowledge of Spirit Beasts and some ancient texts that outsiders couldn't access.

Besides that, it was not having to worry too much about living expenses in the early stages.

However, Tang San felt he was capable of self-reliance.

As for Spirit Beast knowledge, Tang San felt that the books obtained from the Nuo Ding City Spirit Hall Branch were enough for him to figure out what kind of spirit ring he should choose.

After avoiding the pit of Yu Xiaogang, there would be six years of study. During this period, Tang San planned to establish his own core team, looking towards the future.

He was not some upright gentleman.

Fame, power, wealth, beauty, knowledge, and truth—he wanted them all!

Thinking about obtaining these, one person alone couldn't do it. Moreover, researching alone was not as good as multiple people cooperating; different brains could spark different inspirations.

And after graduating from Notting Academy, where to go...

Anyway, Shrek was definitely out.

Environment greatly affects people.

The teaching method where talented students could go whoring, gambling, and cause trouble at will was something Tang San truly couldn't appreciate.

To be fair, the original Tang San, a martial artist from the Tang Sect and an assassin, whose fighting style was not about showing off but focused on assassinating targets—sneaking was preferred over head-on confrontation—this was the core principle of Hidden Weapons sects.

But the martial artist Tang San in the original work was forcibly led astray by “not daring to cause trouble is mediocrity,” becoming arrogant and ostentatious.

Perhaps because he had transmigrated to become Tang San, he was psychologically inclined to explain for the martial artist Tang San. But from the perspective of the original work, Tang San dared to say that, apart from being somewhat hypocritical and double-standard, the martial artist Tang San was truly a “moral paragon” compared to most Douluo fanfiction protagonists.

It was only from Douluo II that he started to “go crazy,” becoming less like a person and more like a ruthless God.

Back to the main topic.

After graduating from Notting Academy, he could choose any advanced academy, participate in the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament, and become famous in one fell swoop.

As for his personal identity?

Being Tang Hao's son was indeed a problem, but as long as the issue with that rabbit was handled, Tang Hao shouldn't be so foolish as to jump out directly at the last moment.

If he wanted to use the power of the four affiliated clans of the Clear Sky Sect, he would have to abandon his Clear Sky Sect identity.

This was exactly what he wanted.

Anyway, he had no intention of playing the game of recognizing ancestors and returning to the clan.

Modern people don't have much concept of ancestors and don't want another ancestor on their heads.

Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School?

Ning Fengzhi was an old fox; when it came to schemes and tricks, he, a modern person, really couldn't outplay a sect master.

Then, there was no need to play schemes. Once his strength increased, he could befriend him. Ning Fengzhi already held great goodwill towards talented Spirit Masters.

However, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School didn't seem to have its own academy? At least it didn't appear in the original work.

Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan? Thunder Academy?

This was possible. Yu Tianheng was a decent person, and he was in a boyfriend-girlfriend relationship with Dugu Yan, so they could get closer... Wait, Yu Tianheng seemed to be part of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team.

And Blue Tyrant Academy...

Cross it out!

Although this academy heavily recruited commoners, he might encounter Yu Xiaogang there.

The specific academy was still undecided; he had six years to consider—

And after the tournament, he could travel the Douluo Continent. After all, judging from the map obtained from Spirit Hall, the landmass of the Douluo Continent was equivalent to Eurasia, very large, with a significant portion still unexplored by human Spirit Masters.

At that time, becoming an explorer might not be a bad choice.

However, there was one place to avoid—

Slaughter City.

Although one could obtain the Slaughter God Domain there, that place was a paradise of sin, where all sorts of depraved things happened. Tang San guessed that the protagonist in Douluo II and Douluo III was so abnormal, possibly due to the influence of this place.

Although he later washed away his impurities in the Moon Pavilion, Tang San estimated that he merely put on a more hypocritical facade—having witnessed the darkest scenes of human depravity, could noble etiquette wash away those memories?

Absolutely impossible!

Washing away the impurities probably only brought his mind temporary peace. Once the Slaughter God Domain was activated, scenes of mountains of corpses and seas of blood would surface in his mind, and peace would naturally vanish into thin air.

As for Sea God Island... he could go there.

A God Position was still very appealing.

At least it granted eternal life.

The above was Tang San's general life plan for now. If any other unforeseen circumstances occurred during this period, for example: after his Spirit awakened, he didn't have innate full spirit power, and Tang Hao truly gave up, wanting him to cook for him in this village for the rest of his life.

Then, he would cultivate and research Spirits simultaneously, becoming a respected Martial Soul Theory Master.

As for a future war breaking out, Spirit Hall wanting to unify the Douluo Continent, the Heaven Dou Empire defecting to Spirit Hall, etc., these had no direct relation to him. If the war spread to Saint Spirit Village at that time, he would take Old Jack and flee to the nearby mountains.

However, it shouldn't be that bad; after all, in the original ending, Saint Spirit Village remained safe and sound.

War, a war that affected the entire Douluo Continent, to exaggerate, was actually only fought in those few strategic military locations. For other small towns and villages, unless they were unlucky enough to have armies pass through, the only war atmosphere they would feel would be the rising prices around them.

Snapping back to reality, Tang San set aside the forging hammer and began cultivating Mysterious Heaven Skill.

Tang Hao, who was lying on the bed, noticed Tang San's movements and thought to himself, "I already said that meditating is useless before the Spirit awakens... Never mind, let him be."

After a while, Tang Hao got up from the bed and walked out with a dark expression.

It was noon, and he was hungry.

"Where's lunch?"

"I ate at Grandpa Jack's house. That bundle of firewood exchanged for four eggs, and one of them was for you," Tang San stopped cultivating and said honestly.

"What am I, your father, supposed to eat?"

"You want me to forge iron to earn money, so shouldn't you set an example and cook for yourself first?" Tang San stared at Tang Hao, retorting with the same attitude Tang Hao had used on him earlier.

“You truly are my good son!” Tang Hao walked out of the blacksmith shop with a face full of black lines and returned an hour later, clutching a bag of rice. He said, “Go cook for me.”

“Alright.”

Tang San happily took the rice bag, untied the rope on it, scooped out a bowl of rice, and began washing and steaming it. He didn't throw away the rice water but mixed it with wild vegetables to boil. With just a little salt, the taste was actually quite good.

Soon, fragrant rice was ready.

Tang San served himself a large bowl, then went back to the bedroom and called out to Tang Hao, who didn't want to waste even a moment of laziness. He said, “It's delicious.”

Tang Hao saw Tang San holding a bowl of rice and frowned. “Is that for me?”

“No, it's for me.” With that, Tang San stuck out his tongue and licked around the edge of the rice, leaving a trail of saliva.

This scene made Tang Hao's mouth twitch.

“Forget it, I won't bother with you.”

But when he was scooping the vegetables, Tang Hao seemed to regain his dignity, scooping all the vegetables into his bowl, leaving only a few vegetable leaves and some soup for Tang San.

“If you do this, do you believe I won't take care of you in your old age?” Tang San's expression darkened as he threatened.

“Hmph! Do I need you to take care of me in my old age?” Tang Hao finished the food in his bowl in a few quick bites, then threw the bowl aside and went back to his room to sleep.

“You said it, you don't need me to take care of you.” Tang San felt he had had enough, but he still picked up the bowls and basins, carried them to the sink outside, and began washing them...

...

Just like that, a year passed in the blink of an eye.

Su Yuntao arrived as scheduled.

“Little San, it's finally your turn to awaken your Spirit this year. Are you excited?”

Su Yuntao saw Tang San and Old Jack waiting together at the village entrance from afar. When he reached the entrance, he greeted them kindly.

“I'm so excited I can hardly contain myself.” Tang San even jumped twice.

“Since that's the case, let's go. I'll help you awaken your Spirit.”

Su Yuntao followed Old Jack to the center of the village with practiced ease. The other six-year-old children had already arrived with their parents.

Su Yuntao led Tang San and the six children into the Spirit Hall. He put down his satchel, took out six black stones, arranged them in a circle, and then his Spirit possessed him, transforming him into a wolf-man.

Unlike the form shown in the anime, Beast Spirits appearing in a possession form would make the Spirit Master appear like a beast-man, looking quite... wild.

At this moment, Su Yuntao looked like a wolf demon who had gained sentience.

“Little San, you go first. After all, we're old acquaintances, so I have to let you cut in line.” Su Yuntao waved to Tang San, who was at the very end of the line.

This was one of the few powers he, a Spirit Grandmaster, could wield.

“Okay.”

Tang San wasn't pretentious and stood in the center of the six small round stones.

Su Yuntao injected his spirit power into the six awakening stones. Relatively dense golden light points emerged from them, gathering towards Tang San's body, as if attracted by his physique.

Suddenly, Tang San's body trembled, as if he were immersed in a warm golden ocean, and objects seemed to be gushing out from his hands.

His left hand was undoubtedly the Clear Sky Hammer, and he couldn't let it appear, so Tang San clenched his left fist tightly.

“Don't be nervous, it's fine.” Su Yuntao noticed Tang San's hands were clenched tightly, as if he was holding in a bowel movement, and felt a bit speechless. “Hold out your right hand.”

Tang San extended his right hand, and a Blue Silver Grass floated in his palm.

“Blue Silver Grass, a waste Spirit.” Su Yuntao was disappointed but quickly relieved. After all, what Spirit awakened was not something Tang San could decide. “Let's test your spirit power. As long as you have spirit power, I believe with your intelligence, even with a waste Spirit, you can become a powerful Spirit Master. At the very least, you'll be a Martial Soul Theory Master.”

Under Su Yuntao's explanation, Tang San put away his Spirit, raised his hand, and placed it on the crystal ball.

Instantly, the crystal ball lit up with a little more than half its light.

Tang San felt that the internal energy he had cultivated over the past year also converged into spirit power and entered the crystal ball.

“Innate Level Six spirit power!”

Su Yuntao was shocked, then pleasantly surprised. “Little San, although your Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, you have Level Six spirit power, so you can cultivate!”

Although he wasn't very interested in Martial Soul Theory, Tang San had already done some research on Spirit cultivation. His second spirit ring was obtained by referring to the advice Tang San gave, getting a Spirit Ability that suited him very well.

He believed that as long as Tang San could cultivate, with his intelligence, he could still make Blue Silver Grass display its advantages.

Moreover, this was innate Level Six spirit power!

In recent years, influenced by Tang San, Su Yuntao, when he had free time, would no longer just think about pleasing Sisi. After all, Tang San had once told him that girls liked excellent boys, especially knowledgeable ones.

For his own promotion and salary increase, he had diligently studied some knowledge of Spirit Master cultivation, knowing that the amount of innate spirit power represented one's cultivation potential and speed.

With innate Level Six spirit power, Tang San, if nothing unexpected happened, could at least cultivate to Spirit Emperor!

That was a Spirit Emperor!

Much, much stronger than him, a Spirit Grandmaster.

What if Blue Silver Grass couldn't attack?

When Tang San cultivated to the Spirit Emperor level in the future, even without an offensive Spirit Ability, his vast spirit power could still crush a Spirit Grandmaster like him.

Moreover, perhaps Blue Silver Grass could go the control system route.

If Tang San knew Su Yuntao's thoughts, he would surely be amazed, because Yu Xiaogang thought the same way.

“Innate Level Six spirit power?” Tang San released Blue Silver Grass again, deep in thought. “It seems that the innate spirit power level has something to do with physical condition.”

He could sense that the innate spirit power inherent in Blue Silver Grass was only two levels; the remaining four levels were supplemented by the internal energy he had accumulated from cultivating Mysterious Heaven Skill over the past year.

The Tang San in the original work had a rather cold, or rather, introverted personality, and certainly didn't eat as well as he did. If he hadn't had Mysterious Heaven Skill, his innate spirit power would probably have been even lower.

Level one?

Or half a level?

4: Cut off the relationship between father and son

After Tang San, Su Yuntao began to awaken the Spirit for the rest of the children, but unfortunately, none of them had spirit power, including the little girl whose Spirit was also Blue Silver Grass.

Originally, Su Yuntao thought it would be a good start.

But facts proved that Tang San was just an exception.

Among commoners, individuals who could awaken a Spirit with spirit power were, after all, only a minority.

After packing up the six black stones and the crystal ball, Su Yuntao took out paper and pen from his satchel, issued a Spirit Hall certificate for Tang San, and asked, “Tang San, do you want to join Spirit Hall?”

“I’m not considering joining Spirit Hall for now,” Tang San refused very directly.

Join Spirit Hall?

If he dared to join, his cheap old man would dare to break his legs.

Before he had the strength to resist, joining Spirit Hall was an unwise choice.

Objectively speaking, joining Spirit Hall was the best choice.

But there was a prerequisite: being able to defeat Tang Hao.

As for the stance between Spirit Hall and Clear Sky Sect, did he eat Clear Sky Sect's rice? Did he have to take Clear Sky Sect's side?

And the revenge for his mother's death.

How to put it, as a modern person, he should have some conscience, but for a mother he had never met, no matter what the reason, for him, from an emotional perspective, there was absolutely no so-called familial affection.

He was not like that wuxia Tang San; he wasn't lacking love in his previous life.

Secondly, the direct enemy, Qian Xunji, was already game over.

The enemy was dead, so what revenge was there to exact?

The future was clearly beautiful, so why hold such great resentment?

There was also one more point, which was the conspiracy theory in the fanfiction he had read in his previous life: the sacrifice of Blue Silver Emperor was indeed a bit too coincidental.

Whether it was true or not, although he had observed Tang Hao over the years and thought he probably didn't have the brains for it, what if?

Therefore, Tang San's attitude could be summed up in three words: troublesome matters, don't want to deal with them.

"Why?" Su Yuntao didn't understand. Earlier, Tang San had tried every means to follow him to the Spirit Hall in Nuoding City, but now that he extended an invitation, he refused to join?

How strange.

"You know, Tao Ge, I'm researching Spirit cultivation, but the Spirit Hall's 资料 has not changed much for hundreds of years. I need to innovate myself," Tang San could only find another reason. "If I go to Spirit Hall, I'm worried I'll be assimilated by Wuhun Academy's teaching model, and with innate level six spirit power, it's too low. I definitely won't be taken seriously, and those teachers won't care about my opinions, only thinking I'm daydreaming."

"That actually makes sense. Students at Wuhun Academy are generally innate level five or above. You are innate level six, so although you're one level higher, you're only slightly stronger than ordinary students." Su Yuntao thought for a moment, felt that Tang San's words made a lot of sense, and didn't press the issue. He continued, "Anyway, you'll definitely go to Notting Academy to study later. It won't be too late to consider then, after you graduate."

Tang San asked, "Then when I reach level ten, can I ask you to help me hunt Spirit Beasts?"

"No problem! Who told you to call me Tao Ge? With Tao Ge around, no accidents!" Su Yuntao patted his chest, reciting a jingle. "Oh, by the way, Master Ma Xiunuo is also very fond of lively children like you. When he finds out, he might even come along, since the duties of a branch hall master don't seem to be very busy."

"That's too much trouble," Tang San smiled shyly, but in his heart, he was thinking about how to repay Ma Xiunuo and Su Yuntao. This kindness could not be taken for granted.

The Spirit Hall door in the center of Saint Spirit Village opened, and Old Jack, who had been eagerly waiting, quickly walked up to him and asked anxiously, "Master Su, were there any children with spirit power? How is Little San's situation?"

"Yes, just one, and it's Tang San," Su Yuntao smiled and pushed Tang San forward. "His Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, and his innate spirit power is level six. This is much higher than ordinary people's spirit power. If there are no accidents in the future, he can definitely become a Spirit Emperor. If he works hard, he might even become a Spirit Saint. Then Saint Spirit Village will truly live up to its name."

"Really?!"

Old Jack was so happy that he danced with joy, smiling so widely that his face twitched, and his wrinkles seemed to come alive and dance.

Although Blue Silver Grass was a useless Spirit, it was widely acknowledged on the continent.

But Master Su Yuntao said that Little San's Blue Silver Grass had spirit power, which meant he could cultivate. If Little San worked hard, he might even become the second Spirit Saint of Saint Spirit Village in the future!

Su Yuntao chatted with Old Jack for a while, then said to Tang San, "Three months from now, Notting Academy will be recruiting students. When you go to Nuoding City, you can come to the Spirit Hall, and I'll accompany you to the academy. The doorkeepers there aren't very friendly to commoners."

"Tao Ge, thank you," Tang San was extremely grateful, and in his mental notepad, he recorded this help from Su Yuntao.

After seeing Su Yuntao out of Saint Spirit Village, Old Jack eagerly took Tang San to his house, and facing the door, he puffed out his chest and loudly shouted, "Tang Hao, are you dead asleep?! If you're not dead asleep, make a sound! Lest I go in and pull you off that coffin-like bed!"

"Who is it?"

Tang Hao yawned, lifted the door curtain, and seeing Old Jack, who was somewhat breathless from shouting, he looked impatient, "Oh, it's Old Jack. Is your voice really necessary to be that loud? I'm not deaf."

As he spoke, Tang Hao even picked his ears, not taking Old Jack seriously at all.

Old Jack, fuming, began to criticize Tang Hao, "How dare you talk about me? Today is the day Little San awakened his Spirit. Other parents are waiting outside, and even if the awakened Spirit has no spirit power, they will comfort their children. But you, you didn't even go, not caring about Little San at all."

“No wonder people in the village gossip about Little San, thinking he’s not your biological son, and advising their children not to associate with Little San... But children are innocent.”

Tang Hao’s face was filled with black lines. He felt that Old Jack was also becoming improper, but he was still a little angry about Old Jack saying Tang San wasn’t his biological son.

But—

A dignified Clear Sky Douluo wouldn’t bother bickering with a country bumpkin.

So, Tang Hao looked at Tang San: “What is your Spirit?”

Tang San didn’t answer immediately. Instead, he was silent for a moment, staring at him for a while, as if with a hopeful expression, and asked, “You really didn’t secretly go there?”

Aren’t you afraid that what I awaken is a hammer?

Of course, the latter half of the sentence couldn’t be spoken aloud.

Tang Hao also fell silent.

Didn’t go?

What a joke.

If his son awakened a Clear Sky Hammer, he would beat Su Yuntao to death on the spot and then run away with his son.

However, on the big day of Spirit awakening, was it really a bit too much that he didn’t go?

Forget it, anyway, that matter was already in the past.

Little San was precocious, so he should be fine. At most, he wouldn’t be close to him in the future.

That's good too. He wouldn't have to step into the World of Spirit Masters and could live a peaceful life as an ordinary person.

Old Jack, with eyes full of distress, thought Tang San still held hope for Tang Hao, but Tang Hao's silence made him unable to hold back, and he cursed, "Tang Hao, you're just a good-for-nothing! Why aren't you speaking? Say something!"

At least say something, even if it's a lie, to make Little San happy.

Tang San was just a child after all!

Tang Hao clenched his fists, but said nothing, ignoring Old Jack's suggestive gaze.

"Let me tell you, Tang San's Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, but his spirit power is level six!" Old Jack gestured the number "six" with his fingers. "Master Su said that Little San can at least become a Spirit Emperor! If he works hard, he can even become a Spirit Saint!"

"Innate level six?"

Hearing this innate spirit power level, Tang Hao was stunned. After he secretly saw Tang San awaken the Blue Silver Grass Spirit, he left directly and didn't pay attention to the spirit power level.

Level six?

Isn't that too low?

He was the prodigy of the Clear Sky Sect, with innate spirit power of level nine. Ah Yin was a Ten-thousand year soul beast who had taken human form. How could their son's innate spirit power only be level six?

At the very least, it should be level seven!

However, looking at Tang San's emaciated body, Tang Hao seemed to realize something crucial and thought to himself, "No sufficient food, so malnutrition, leading to low innate spirit power? I remember when I was six years old, my father would also prepare medicinal baths for me and my elder brother, almost once a day. Even if I couldn't bear it, I would be pressed down. And Little San..."

"Tang Hao!"

Old Jack saw Tang Hao staring blankly and cursed, "Are you listening to me?"

"I said, don't be so loud, I'm not dead," Tang Hao's tone sank. He was a little displeased because Old Jack had interrupted his brain, which had just started to work.

"I plan to let him go to Nuoding City to study," Old Jack felt that Tang Hao was beyond help, but he couldn't let Tang San suffer. He was still young and had an unknown future. He couldn't follow this drunkard father, otherwise, who knew what kind of terrible person he would grow up to be?

"No!"

Tang Hao refused outright, "Blue Silver Grass can cultivate nothing! It's a complete waste of time. It's better to stay and cook for me. Yes, he can't go to school, otherwise, who will cook for me in the future?"

"Unreasonable! You are simply unreasonable!" Old Jack cursed loudly, "Do you know what it means to keep Little San tied to your side? Master Su thinks very highly of Little San! Even if he can't go too high in Spirit Master cultivation in the future, as long as he becomes a Spirit Master, he will be respected and can live better than ordinary people."

Tang Hao became a little agitated: "What's the use of becoming a Spirit Master? Isn't it still..."

He wanted to say something, but stopped abruptly in front of Old Jack.

Seeing that Tang Hao had a story, Old Jack frowned, but since the other party didn't want to talk, he couldn't pry. He just said, "Tang Hao, your life is already over, but Little San is still young. You have no right to decide for him.”

Taking a deep breath, Old Jack looked at Tang San and asked expectantly, “Little San, as long as you speak, even if I have to risk my life, I will send you to Nuoding City.”

Tang San looked up at Tang Hao and said, “I want to become a Spirit Master.”

“I disagree,” Tang Hao’s face was like that of a Nine Nether Demon God. Although he didn’t release his spirit power, the oppressive feeling was extremely strong, making even Old Jack feel a chill. “What use is level six spirit power?”

“What if I insist on going?” Tang San looked directly at Tang Hao.

“You!”

Tang Hao was furious.

Dare to defy him?

No matter what his shortcomings were, he was still the father. How could a son dare to oppose his father?

It was simply rebellious!

But Tang San was not interested in this father-son dynamic. While a ruler should be a ruler and a subject a subject, and a father a father and a son a son, if a father didn't act like a father, then the son didn't need to be filial.

Born but not raised, hair cut and returned!

Although Tang Hao didn't completely neglect him, there wasn't much affection between them. Tang San felt that he could repay him later!

When that slap was about to fall, Old Jack stood in front of Tang San, hugging him, and cursed, “Tang Hao, are you even a man? You’re going to hit a child?”

“Old Jack, this has nothing to do with you. Can’t I discipline my son?”
Tang Hao cursed.

“I’m interfering today!” Old Jack stood firm for once, “Tang San grew up under my watch, just like my grandson. Since he’s my grandson, why can’t I interfere?”

Tang Hao’s chest heaved violently. He glared at Tang San for a while before saying, “Alright, I agree to let you go to Notting Academy to study, but there’s a condition: you are not allowed to say that you are my, Tang Hao’s, son in the future!”

5: It is suspected that there are other time travellers.

“Tang Hao!”

Old Jack’s finger trembled with rage, “Just because Little San didn’t listen to you, you want to sever your father-son relationship with him?”

“How can you be a father like that?”

“He started learning to do chores at two, slowly mastering them, from unfamiliar to proficient, and then taking care of your daily life... At three, he started collecting firewood, and at four, he began helping you move smaller pieces of raw iron. I saw all of this with my own eyes, and everyone in the village saw it too. Is your conscience made of stone? Doesn’t it hurt?”

Tang Hao ignored Old Jack’s earnest advice and said to Tang San, “Just this one thing, if you agree, you can go. Otherwise, don’t go.”

“You! You... are simply unworthy of being a father!” Old Jack was furious. He had never imagined a father could be so unprincipled. Could it be that Tang San wasn’t his biological son at all, but the son of an enemy? And he came to Saint Spirit Village just to torment Tang San?

But if there was an enemy, why not go find that enemy?

What did Little San have to do with it?

Old Jack finally understood. That Tang Hao guy was just tormenting Little San, but being an old fox, he knew that if Tang Hao couldn’t let go, he was only tormenting himself.

“Think it over carefully.” After Tang Hao finished speaking, he returned to the blacksmith shop.

Helpless, Tang San could only send Old Jack home first.

Why was it like this?

Never mind, this was good too. At least on the surface, Tang Hao had no relation to him anymore.

“Good child, go back and try to persuade Tang Hao. I guess he was just speaking in anger.” After Old Jack returned home, he drank a bowl of water and calmed down a bit. He said to Tang San, “If Tang Hao really doesn’t want you anymore, just come live at Grandpa’s house. Grandpa’s house is big.”

“En, I will listen to Grandpa Jack. I also really like the kind Grandpa Jack.” Tang San’s words were not insincere; he truly felt that way.

On one side was a father who started taking care of his daily life at the age of two, a lazy, unmotivated drunkard who could barely utter a word or two. On the other side was a kind and amiable old man who had looked after him well for five years and often made things convenient for him.

Did he even need to choose?

When Tang San returned to the blacksmith shop, Tang Hao just happened to walk in from outside, holding a lead box. His face was terrifyingly gloomy, as if he was about to devour someone.

“What happened?” Tang San couldn’t help but ask.

Tang Hao tried to calm his breathing.

Three minutes later, he calmed down, placed the iron box on the table, opened it, revealing a Spirit Bone emitting a blue-gold light.

This was a 100,000-year-level Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone!

Tang San's pupils constricted.

Why?

"Don't recognize it? You read the Spirit Hall's books for nothing." Tang Hao suppressed his anger. "This is a Spirit Bone. Absorb it, quickly!"

Make him absorb it now?

What happened?

Could it be!

Tang San thought of a possibility:

Something happened to the Blue Silver Emperor.

In the original work, the Blue Silver Emperor was planted by Tang Hao in a cave behind a waterfall, and the Spirit Bone seemed to be there too.

That place had little sunlight but plenty of water. Tang Hao planted the Blue Silver Emperor there, most likely fearing that others would mistake it for ordinary Blue Silver Grass and pick it.

From Tang San's observations over the years, people in Saint Spirit Village, especially farmers, liked to pick a stalk of Blue Silver Grass and hold it in their mouths when resting in the shade.

Because the sap of the Blue Silver Grass had a slight sweetness.

If something happened to the Blue Silver Emperor now, then it could only mean it happened recently.

So, was it other transmigrators?

Tang San thought of this possibility.

"Why are you spacing out? You're usually so smart, why are you so slow now? Absorb it quickly, don't waste time." Tang Hao said impatiently, "The process of absorbing a Spirit Bone will not cause any pain, so there's no need to worry. Place it on your right leg and circulate your spirit power."

Coming back to his senses, Tang San picked up the Spirit Bone, placed it on his right leg, and circulated his spirit power, discovering that the spirit power actively entered the Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone.

Then, that blue-gold bone slowly merged into his right leg.

In just thirty minutes, Tang San finished absorbing it. Circulating Mysterious Heaven Skill, he found that his spirit power could no longer increase. Clearly, he had reached Level 10, likely even more, but without a spirit ring, the excess spirit power was suppressed, making it difficult to determine his exact spirit power level.

However, even though this Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone shared the same origin as his Spirit, Blue Silver Grass, it did not cause his Spirit to transform into the Blue Silver Emperor; it remained that vibrant Blue Silver Grass.

Why was this happening?

Based on the original work's descriptions of Spirit Bones being absorbed by Spirit Masters, Tang San had a small theory.

That was that Spirits and Spirit Bones were two different things.

When a Spirit obtained a spirit ring, unless it was a special circumstance, the Spirit Ability would always be related to the Spirit, or rather, it was an extension of the Spirit's own abilities.

However, after a Spirit Bone was absorbed by a Spirit Master, the Spirit Bone skill had no direct connection to the Spirit; instead, it was a skill possessed by the Spirit Beast itself.

In short, when a Spirit Master absorbed a Spirit Bone, it was equivalent to grafting a part of the Spirit Beast's own skills, and it was very likely the most fundamental abilities of the Spirit Beast itself.

Looking at it this way, the 100,000-year Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone being unable to awaken his Blue Silver Emperor seemed to be within reason.

However, Tang San felt that after absorbing this Spirit Bone, the spirit power consumed during absorption was continuously recovering. This should be the Spirit Bone skill: Spring Wind Blows and Life Returns.

However, the name “Spring Wind Blows and Life Returns” was a bit long and might make people suspect it was padding. So, it was changed to another name: Endless Life.

“Finished absorbing it? Then promise me one more thing.” Tang Hao said in a deep voice, “Don’t let others discover you have a Spirit Bone. If you can’t continue on the great path of a Spirit Master in the future, then return to Saint Spirit Village, become a blacksmith, and when you’re about to die of old age, find a deserted place, dig your own grave, and bury yourself.”

Tang San’s head was full of black lines.

Dig a pit and bury himself?

As expected of Tang Erchui, his thought process was incomparable to others!

After Tang Hao finished his instructions, he didn’t care whether Tang San agreed or not, and walked directly out of the house, towards the hillside where Tang San often collected firewood, disappearing into the moonlight.

“He really left?”

The next day, Tang San simply tidied up the kitchenware, tableware, and bedding in the house, then went to Old Jack’s house.

“That Tang Hao fellow, he really left?” Old Jack helped tidy Tang San’s luggage and sighed, “He’s truly a man without any sense of responsibility. What a pity, the village has lost a blacksmith. From now on, villagers will have to go to Nuoding City to repair their farm tools.”

“Grandpa, don’t worry, I’ve already learned blacksmithing. I can help the villagers repair their farm tools.”

During this year of Mysterious Heaven Skill cultivation, Tang San’s strength had also increased significantly; he could now lift a forging hammer. Plus, he had just absorbed a 100,000-year Spirit Bone yesterday, so his strength had increased even more.

His craftsmanship wasn’t necessarily excellent, but Tang San felt he had no problem simply repairing farm tools for the villagers.

“You? Haha!”

Old Jack laughed heartily, only thinking Tang San was joking and trying to amuse him. “You’re so young, you’re not much taller than a forging hammer, are you?”

“As the saying goes: one cannot judge a book by its cover, nor measure the sea with a dipper.”

“Oh? That’s a cultured saying, I learned something.” Old Jack laughed.

Seeing that Old Jack didn’t believe him, Tang San naturally had to prove it. He pulled on his sleeve, returned to the blacksmith shop home, and began to light the fire and pump the bellows.

His slender, bamboo-like figure, wielding a forging hammer larger than himself, used leverage to strike, dancing like a demon god in the wind.

In a short while, a piece of refined iron was forged.

“Little San, you have so much strength?” Old Jack was incredibly surprised.

“For blacksmithing, it’s just barely enough.” Tang San smiled shyly, put down the forging hammer, and looked at the iron block he had hammered very flat, thinking: “The sudden surge in strength indeed requires a period of adaptation. Fortunately, there are still three months until school starts, so I have plenty of time to train and properly control my physical strength.”

Thus, during the day, Tang San practiced the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method in the blacksmith shop using Tang Hao's leftover iron blocks. At night, he rested at Old Jack's house. For the remaining time, he cultivated Mysterious Heaven Skill, Mysterious Jade Hand, Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track, Controlling Crane Catching Dragon, and other绝学 from the Mysterious Heaven Treasure Record. When he had free time, he would collect firewood for Old Jack.

As for the cultivation of Purple Demon Eye, this only needed to be cultivated at specific times, so it didn't take up much time.

In the blink of an eye, three months had passed.

Tang San's body now had simple muscle lines and had become much sturdier. At this moment, he was packing his bedding and clothes, preparing to report to Nuoding City.

Originally, Tang San wanted to go alone, but Old Jack insisted on sending him, saying that he was only six years old and it wasn't safe to travel alone... even though he had gone to the Spirit Hall Branch in Nuoding City with Su Yuntao to read books before and had walked back by himself afterwards.

"We've arrived in Nuoding City."

Half a day later, Old Jack turned back and showed a kind smile to Tang San, who was cultivating in the back of the carriage. "Nuoding City isn't too far from our Saint Spirit Village. It takes half a day by ox cart."

Tang San opened his eyes and looked up to see a thick city wall, over ten meters high, with the three large characters "Nuoding City" on the city gate.

"Familiar city, your King! Is back!" Tang San was a bit chuunibyou in his heart, "From this moment on, I will become the master of this World!"

After his chuunibyou moment, Tang San said, "Grandpa Jack, let's go to Nuoding City. Tao Ge said that once we enter the city, we should find him first. After all, city people look down on us country folk. Notting Academy is a Spirit Master Academy, and the people there might not even let us in if they see how... simple we are dressed.”

“Alright, Grandmaster Su is a good person.” Old Jack also knew that it was difficult for villagers to get around in the city and they needed someone familiar to guide them. However, after entering the city, the ox cart stopped at the post station next to the city gate.

Unless you were a noble, carriages and ox carts were not allowed to carry people inside.

Tang San and Old Jack walked to the Spirit Hall.

The guards at the entrance smiled when they saw Tang San: “Xiao Tang, you haven’t been here in a while. If Master Su hadn’t said that you awakened a Spirit with spirit power, we would have thought you were kidnapped by human traffickers.”

“Wasn’t I working hard for my Spirit awakening?” Tang San laughed, then introduced Old Jack to the guard, “This is my Grandpa, the village chief of Saint Spirit Village. Can he come in and take a look with me?”

“In principle, no, but you are an exception. Go on in.” The guard smiled.

6: Register at Notting College

“Thank you, Uncle Lin. I’ll bring you tea next time.”

After apologizing to the guard, Tang San pulled Old Jack’s hand and headed into the Spirit Hall Branch in Nuoding City.

In the past, Old Jack had never been to a place like this.

Although he had been to Nuoding City many times, he had always only looked at the tall buildings of the Spirit Hall from the outside; this was his first time entering.

At this moment, Old Jack was like Grandma Liu visiting the Grand View Garden, looking left and right, carefully examining the furnishings inside the Spirit Hall, exclaiming in wonder. He was curious about everything here, but looking at the shiny displays, he didn't dare to touch them, fearing he might break them and not be able to afford the compensation, so his movements were quite cautious.

“Grandpa, it’s your first time entering a real Spirit Hall. Is there anything you want to say? How does it compare to the stone house in our village?” Although Tang San didn’t come here often, he was considered an old regular, and he asked Old Jack about his feelings.

“It can’t compare, it can’t compare. How did you put it? Oh, magnificent, that’s the word.” Old Jack smacked his lips, with a strong sense of longing, and then said, “This is my first time entering a place like this. It’s truly beautiful. If only our village’s Spirit Hall could be this bright in the future, it would be great. The children would surely have a better life.”

“Don’t worry, Grandpa, there will be a chance in the future,” Tang San said with a smile.

Just as the grandfather and grandson were chatting, Su Yuntao walked out from a passage on one side of the hall. Seeing the two, his eyes lit up, and he waved to them, saying, “Little San, you’re finally here. With Notting Academy starting, I knew you’d be back. I’ve been timing my visits here these past few days, and I just happen to be free, no work.”

“Tao Ge, you’ve really gone to a lot of trouble,” Tang San said, feeling a bit embarrassed.

“You kid, you’re just too serious. What trouble? I also graduated from Notting Academy. I’ll go with you later, it’ll be like visiting my alma mater, though there probably aren’t any teachers I know there anymore.” Su Yuntao laughed heartily, scratching his head, his gaze falling on Old Jack. “Old Village Chief, is this your first time truly coming here? What do you think? If you have time in the future, you can come often. I, Su Yuntao, have some connections here.”

“I wouldn’t dare trouble Master Su. I just came to see with Little San today,” Old Jack said, somewhat flustered, but a smile appeared on his face. He knew this respect from Su Yuntao was due to Tang San, but he still felt an irrepressible joy deep down.

Old Jack and Su Yuntao didn’t chat for long before a woman in a short skirt, holding a stack of documents, walked out from a nearby passage.

That was none other than Su Yuntao’s girlfriend: Sisi.

“Little San, long time no see. Why haven’t you been coming over lately?” Seeing Tang San, Sisi’s eyes lit up. She walked over with a smile, raised her hand, and pinched Tang San’s round face. “So cute.”

Do girls like to pinch children’s faces?

A somewhat helpless Tang San wanted to resist, but at this moment, he could only put on a slightly disgusted face, which made Su Yuntao and Old Jack burst into laughter.

“Since you’re here, do you want to go visit Master Ma Xiunuo?” Su Yuntao asked. “He’s been thinking about you, this smart child, and your Blue Silver Tea a lot lately.”

“Since I’m here, it wouldn’t be right not to visit. Coincidentally, I also brought Blue Silver Tea, but my grandpa...” Tang San looked at Old Jack.

“This is Spirit Hall, nothing will happen,” Su Yuntao said, looking at Sisi. Sisi then pulled Old Jack to a nearby back garden to chat, serving him some tea and snacks, and talking about everyday things.

Seeing this, Tang San breathed a sigh of relief. The other people here didn’t know Old Jack, but now with Sister Sisi accompanying him, it was safer. Perhaps he could also get to know the Spirit Hall personnel here.

The two walked through the main hall and entered a passage. On the walls on both sides hung portraits, which were the past branch masters of this Spirit Hall.

They arrived at a door.

“Knock, knock, knock!”

Su Yuntao knocked on the door.

“Come in.”

A serious voice came from inside the room.

Su Yuntao turned the doorknob and opened the door.

The furnishings in the room were very simple: a desk, a bookshelf, and a green plant by the window, simple yet fresh.

On the chair behind the desk sat an old man whose face was covered in wrinkles. He was holding a quill pen and signing a document, his gaze quite serious, but overall he looked very energetic.

This person was Ma Xiunuo.

“It’s Xiao Tang.”

Compared to Su Yuntao and others calling him “Little San,” Ma Xiunuo called him “Xiao Tang,” which was a bit more formal.

At this moment, the serious expression on Ma Xiunuo’s face softened, his furrowed brows relaxing, as if a weathered rock full of crevices had grown moss, causing the tense hearts of others to also relax slightly.

Poor Su Yuntao, standing beside Tang San, greeted Ma Xiunuo, but he merely nodded.

Meeting every day couldn’t compare to Tang San, whom he hadn’t seen in a long time.

“Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, how have you been lately?” Tang San greeted him, apologizing for not having visited for a long time, and handed him a small jar.

“This is?” Ma Xiunuo asked curiously.

“Dried Blue Silver Grass,” Tang San said with a smile. “Tao Ge said you’ve been missing my Blue Silver Tea.”

The so-called Blue Silver Tea was actually Tang San selecting tender Blue Silver Grass leaves, drying them, and then stir-frying them dry in a pot thirty-six times. When brewed into tea, the dried Blue Silver Grass would have a unique clear taste, with a hint of sweetness on the palate, but a different flavor in the aftertaste, and it even had a refreshing effect.

In Tang San’s opinion, this stuff was equivalent to coffee without side effects, or a stimulant.

“Then I’ll accept it, Grandpa.” Ma Xiunuo gave Su Yuntao a chiding look, then opened the lid with a joyful smile. A faint fragrance wafted out, not strong, but it made his somewhat tired body relax. “If it weren’t for your discovery, Xiao Tang, no one in the World would know that Blue Silver Grass has such a use.”

Dried and stir-fried Blue Silver Grass leaves could actually refresh one's mind!

If Tang San hadn't discovered it, who would know?

After putting away the dried Blue Silver Grass, Ma Xiunuo asked Tang San why he didn't join Spirit Hall: "Xiao Tang, Spirit Hall Academy is very good, much better than Notting Academy. Are you really not going? Although your Spirit is only Blue Silver Grass, your innate spirit power of six has the qualification to go there. As long as you say the word, I can write a letter of recommendation and personally send you over."

"Thank you for your kindness, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, but I won't be joining for now."

Tang San shook his head. If there was a reason, it was still a matter of identity. If he dared to go, Tang Hao would dare to deal with him.

However, facing Ma Xiunuo, he gave a similar reason to what he had told Su Yuntao, only more specific:

"You know, I want to research Spirit cultivation theories. Although Spirit Hall has the most data in the World, you also know that I am just a six-year-old child, and my Spirit is only Blue Silver Grass. The teachers at Wuhun Academy are Spirit Masters, at least Spirit King level, right? Would they believe a child's words?"

"They would only think that my weed Spirit wants to challenge their authority... Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, you also know that my ideas are wild, perhaps most of them are impractical, but to make breakthroughs in Spirit research, what's needed are these wild ideas."

"Spirit Masters respect strength. As a commoner Spirit Master, I have no power or influence there. If I'm bullied, I can't resist, and to resist, my personality would have to change..."

"At least, I don't want to be changed by the Wuhun Academy's educational environment into someone I don't even recognize. I don't like fighting; I like reading and studying.”

Ma Xiunuo sighed, “It seems I was overthinking. You must have thought a lot in the three months before school started, right? In the past, the environment of Wuhun Academy was quite good, but in the past six years, many small families have joined Spirit Hall. Their children attend Wuhun Academy and indeed look down on talented commoner children.”

“It’s good to study at Notting Academy; you can have more freedom. But you must be down-to-earth and not aim too high, as that won’t do you any good.”

“Don’t worry, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, don’t you know my temper? Even if I publish a theory, I’ll first find existing evidence or experiment on myself. I won’t just publish it casually,” Tang San said with a smile.

After reminiscing with Master Ma Xiunuo for a while, Tang San planned to go to Notting Academy.

“Alright, there’ll be plenty of time to chat later. Su Yuntao, you send Xiao Tang to Notting Academy,” Ma Xiunuo said with a smile.

“No problem, I’m free today anyway.”

Su Yuntao sent Tang San and Old Jack to Notting Academy.

Notting Academy was quite large, similar to a high school in his previous life.

Should he say, as expected of a Spirit Master Academy?

The doorman, seeing Su Yuntao, immediately opened the door without questioning, not even asking Tang San to show his Spirit certificate. The doorman’s face was full of smiles, as if Su Yuntao were the master here.

Is this what a Spirit Master is like?

Ordinary people simply dared not resist.

Tang San gained a deeper understanding of the status of Spirit Masters.

“Little San, you must study hard. Grandpa is going back now.” Old Jack handed Tang San a small bag containing five silver coins. “This is your pocket money from Grandpa, not much, but buy some good food at the academy. You’re still growing. I’ll come pick you up when this semester ends.”

“Thank you, Grandpa.” Tang San accepted the bag, a warmth surging in his heart, his eyes moist.

After watching Old Jack’s figure disappear from sight, Tang San said to Su Yuntao, “Tao Ge, just tell me where the Dean’s office is, and I’ll go myself. After all, people always have to be independent.”

“Then I’ll be going. When you need to hunt for a spirit ring, just come find me at Spirit Hall.” Su Yuntao pointed Tang San in the direction of the Dean’s office, gave a few simple instructions, and left Notting Academy.

After Su Yuntao left, the doorman cautiously asked, “Little brother, is Master Su Yuntao a distant relative of yours?”

Tang San shrugged, not directly answering: “I call him Tao Ge, what do you think our relationship is?”

The doorman was a bit awkward but still kindly reminded, “Hurry and report! It’s almost noon, and the teachers at the Dean’s office might be going to eat. There’s still an hour and a half of rest at noon. If you’re late, you won’t be able to go to the dormitory.”

“Thank you.”

Tang San was somewhat impressed by this doorman. He thanked him, slung his luggage over his back, and quickly ran towards the Dean’s office.

The teacher receiving new students took the Spirit certificate from Tang San’s hand and said in surprise, “You are Tang San?”

“Yes, I am. Does the teacher know me?” Tang San guessed that perhaps Ma Xiunuo or Su Yuntao had been to Notting Academy and explained his situation.

“I know. Su Yuntao came to see the principal and explained your situation. However, since you are a work-study student, the school cannot let you enroll for free. You will just be responsible for organizing the library from now on. We know you like to read.”

The teacher filled out Tang San’s information, then gave him a school uniform, and then took out a brand new set of bedding. “But we’ve prepared bedding for you, so you’ll be warmer when you sleep at night.”

“Thank you, teacher.” Tang San took the quilt and thanked the teacher.

Leaving the Dean’s office, Tang San hadn’t walked far when he encountered a somewhat disheveled middle-aged man.

Looking at the man’s unkempt hair, scruffy beard, and plain long gown, Tang San guessed his identity—

Yu Xiaogang.

It was true that Spirit Hall recruited commoner Spirit Masters, but a commoner Spirit Master who wasn’t innately full spirit power and truly had no power or influence wouldn’t receive much attention there.

If someone said Bibi Dong was a commoner, or the Golden Generation were commoners...

How should he put it? In this World where Spirits are inherited through bloodlines, could ordinary commoners possess things like Death Spider Emperor, Soul Eating Spider Emperor, Moon Blade, Charming Fox, or Flame Lord?

Or were they to believe, wishfully, that these were mutations?

One could say their families had declined and were then discovered and absorbed by Spirit Hall, but it could absolutely not be said that they themselves were commoners.

7: Wild soft-bone rabbits appear

“What’s your name? A new work-study student?” Seeing Tang San carrying a large bundle and holding new bedding, the middle-aged man was a little curious—Notting Academy wouldn’t issue new bedding to students. Was he related to a teacher in the academy?

“My name is Tang San, and I am indeed a new work-study student.” Although he recognized the other party and didn’t want to answer, he shouldn’t know the person in front of him at this moment. Regardless of whether it was hypocritical or not, the necessary politeness still had to be shown.

“Spirit proof? Let me see it?” The middle-aged man’s tone was stiff, but it revealed an unquestionable authority.

What’s there to be so arrogant about?

Tang San cursed inwardly, but he first placed the bedding he was holding on a relatively clean stone brick before slowly taking out the Spirit proof from his pocket.

“A Blue Silver Grass with innate six-level spirit power.” The middle-aged man frowned slightly. He had some understanding of the Blue Silver Grass, and none had innate spirit power exceeding three levels.

Innate six-level?

This child’s Blue Silver Grass must have mutated.

As a Martial Soul Theory Master, Yu Xiaogang needed a child whose Spirit appeared to be trash on the surface but whose actual talent was extremely strong, in order to prove himself.

The Blue Silver Grass indeed met his criteria for choosing a disciple.

But was six levels too low?

Innate spirit power represented future cultivation potential. Six levels, even if everything went smoothly in the future, at most, would only lead to a Spirit Saint.

A Spirit Saint wasn't enough; a Titled Douluo was required. If this child was innate seven-level, Yu Xiaogang could be persistent for once, but unfortunately... should he wait for the next one?

How much longer would that take?

Should he take him in?

Tang San didn't care what the other party was thinking and asked, "Teacher, can you return the proof to me? I need to go to the dormitory."

"Here."

Yu Xiaogang was somewhat displeased that Tang San had interrupted his thoughts, but he didn't curse aloud.

Although he was proud, he wouldn't get angry with a six-year-old child. He thought to himself, "No, innate six-level doesn't meet my selection criteria. It's unlikely he'll be able to show his skills in the future All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament. Moreover, his patience is a bit poor, so his future cultivation speed will definitely be very slow."

Seeing Yu Xiaogang shake his head and sigh as he left, Tang San also breathed a sigh of relief.

Fortunately, Yu Xiaogang left. Otherwise, if the other party tried to trick him, as a child, it would be difficult to refuse. After all, the more he exposed, the more interested the other party would become.

If he refused, this Yu Xiaogang wouldn't be like those in fan fiction, raging in incompetence.

After all, he must have known that people had been speaking ill of him behind his back all these years, but he had endured it for so long. His mind was too deep to go crazy because of someone's rejection or mockery.

Furthermore, Yu Xiaogang was good friends with the dean of Notting Academy.

And himself?

He hadn't even met the dean.

His talent, innate six-level, was good on the surface, comparable to most students in this academy, but he didn't believe the dean would offend Yu Xiaogang for him.

Even if Tao Ge came to speak well of him...

It was still the same old saying: no matter what, Yu Xiaogang was Yu Yuanzhen's son, and he hadn't been expelled from the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan yet!

If Yu Xiaogang put aside his pride and went back to the clan to complain, the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan would not spare anyone.

As for pride?

As long as one is strong enough, that is justice.

This was not only true for Tang San in the original work, but also for the various major powers, the difference being only a matter of the pot calling the kettle black.

Although those familiar with Yu Xiaogang knew that his self-esteem was extremely strong and he would never return to the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan.

But what if?

No one dared to gamble.

This was also why he was the laughingstock of the Spirit Master's world, yet no one dared to mock him to his face, only daring to speak ill of him behind his back.

His status was there. No matter how much dissatisfaction others had in their hearts, speaking about it behind his back was fine, but doing it to his face was equivalent to mocking the entire Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan.

Members of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan could mock Yu Xiaogang to his face, but others could not.

Those who dared to do so basically had no emotional intelligence.

His thoughts returned, and Tang San had already arrived at the entrance of Dormitory Seven.

“A new work-study student?” Standing at the entrance of Dormitory Seven was a child about 1.6 meters tall, with a sturdy build, bruises on his hands and feet, and a square face that looked a bit simple and honest.

“That’s right, I’m from Saint Spirit Village, my name is Tang San, and from now on, we’ll be roommates.” Tang San introduced himself, then walked past the boy, found an empty bed in the dormitory, put down his bedding, and began to tidy up.

“Let’s fight.”

The boy said, “This is the tradition of Dormitory Seven. The strongest one becomes the boss of Dormitory Seven.”

“How about no? My Spirit is just Blue Silver Grass, it has no combat power.” Tang San released his Spirit, and a stalk of Blue Silver Grass emerged from his palm.

“These days, even Blue Silver Grass can be cultivated?” The boy scratched his head, somewhat puzzled, but he didn't ask about Tang San's innate spirit power. He said to Tang San, “In that case, I won't fight you either, lest others say I'm bullying you. But you'll have to listen to me from now on, because I'm the boss of Dormitory Seven, the strongest one. Of course, don't think being the boss is glorious; it's to stand up to those noble students. They look down on us common work-study students. Oh, by the way, my name is Wang Sheng, and my Spirit is a tiger.”

Indeed, this point was the same as in the original work: work-study students had no human rights.

Of course, Tang San didn't expect the rulers under this semi-feudal, semi-slave system to have any humanitarian thoughts.

However, as a new student, he still needed to pretend not to understand and ask, “Do the academy's teachers allow them to bully us?”

“They don't care. In fact, I've been here for five years, and I feel that the teachers even vaguely encourage this behavior, but they can't cause deaths or cripple students.” Wang Sheng shook his head, “Don't be afraid. As the boss, I will naturally protect my younger brothers. But when we have group fights, you must also charge forward; you can't be afraid.”

“I will take action.” Tang San, however, was thinking about Wang Sheng's conjecture—

Encouraging noble students to bully work-study students?

It should be encouraging competition.

From this perspective, Notting Academy and Shrek seemed to be no different, except for the severity of the “competition” and Shrek's lower bottom line... Or perhaps, all academies on the continent were the same?

Perhaps, after all, the various Spirit Master's departments seemed to serve war.

At this moment, a tender childish voice at the entrance of Dormitory Seven interrupted Tang San's thoughts, carrying a hint of shyness: “Excuse me, is this Dormitory Seven?”

Tang San looked over. Standing at the entrance of Dormitory Seven was a little girl in a pink dress, with a scorpion braid tied behind her head that almost reached the ground.

Her face was exquisite; she didn't look like a commoner.

Tang San thought to himself, "A fated encounter, the protagonist's accessory and temper detonator has arrived!"

"Yes, this is Dormitory Seven." Wang Sheng was the second to recover, walking up to Xiao Wu, his face slightly flushed, and said, "Hello, my name is Wang Sheng, and I'm the boss here. According to the tradition of Dormitory Seven, we must have a fight. Whoever wins becomes the boss. Of course, you can also surrender."

A child with budding romance, this one in front of him was a wild Ten-thousand year soul beast that had transformed into human form. You couldn't handle her.

Tang San secretly shook his head.

However, if he wanted to participate in the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament, he couldn't bring this wild Soft Bones Rabbit. Besides causing him trouble, she would be of no other use.

"Fight?"

Xiao Wu's shyness instantly vanished. She flexed her wrists, her eyes gleaming, "Then let's go. I, Xiao Wu, am determined to be the boss of Dormitory Seven!"

"Wang Sheng, Spirit, Tiger!" Wang Sheng roared, his Spirit possessed him, a "King" character appeared on his forehead, and his fingernails became sharp.

"Hehe, big tabby cat."

However, Wang Sheng only heard a light, bell-like laugh before he found Xiao Wu already in front of him. With a somersault, her legs clamped his head, and then she flung him out.

Wang Sheng was instantly defeated!

Everyone in Dormitory Seven was dumbfounded, including Tang San.

However, unlike the others who were shocked by Wang Sheng's instant defeat, Tang San noticed Xiao Wu's exertion of force.

The action of throwing Wang Sheng out was to use her waist as a bow, accumulating potential energy, and then using Wang Sheng as an arrow to “shoot” him out. The use of force was extremely subtle.

Compared to the waist techniques required for wielding the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method, it was no less impressive.

Tang San was certain that this was Xiao Wu's First Soul Skill: Waist Bow.

It's just that he didn't see her Spirit possession, nor did he see her spirit ring. Obviously, it was just mimicking the action, not using a spirit ring skill, otherwise Wang Sheng wouldn't have been simply thrown out.

“You’re really amazing! Hiss~ It hurts so much!”

Wang Sheng crawled up from the corner, feeling a burning sensation on his back. He grimaced in pain and developed a fear of Xiao Wu. “The position of boss of Dormitory Seven is yours.”

“Hehe, sorry about that just now. I didn’t expect you to be so weak.”

“.....” Wang Sheng was speechless.

And after Xiao Wu became the boss of Dormitory Seven, she issued her first command: “From now on, everyone must call me Xiao Wu Jie!”

“Yes!”

In the dormitory, everyone agreed, except for the silent, transparent Tang San.

Xiao Wu didn't pay attention to the plain-looking Tang San. She scanned the dormitory, saw that everyone had bedding, and pondered the bedding issue.

The other children in Dormitory Seven eagerly offered their old, worn-out bedding, but Xiao Wu didn't like it. Finally, her gaze fell on the simply dressed Tang San and the set of bedding on his bed.

“What’s your name?” Xiao Wu walked up to him, hands on her hips, displaying the authority of a boss.

“Tang San.”

“Little San, can we make a deal? Can I borrow your bedding?” As the boss, Xiao Wu felt she needed to act like one and couldn't just snatch it, especially from a six-year-old child's belongings.

Although the Spirit Beast's world operated on the law of the jungle, she wasn't sure if that applied to human society, so Xiao Wu thought it better to be more subtle.

However, if Tang San gave it to her himself, there would be no problem.

“You were able to defeat Wang Sheng, so you should have already obtained a spirit ring and become a Spirit Master, right?” Tang San did not wish to “share a bed” with Xiao Wu and decided to show her a clear path. “Spirit Hall gives out gold coins to Spirit Masters. A Spirit Master receives one gold coin per month. With money, you can buy bedding.”

One gold coin could be exchanged for ten silver coins, and one silver coin could be exchanged for one hundred bronze coins.

A set of bedding only cost three bronze coins.

“Spirit coins?” As a Ten-thousand year soul beast who had just transformed, Xiao Wu was very mature in some aspects, but very naive in others, even ignorant of things like currency.

In human society, buying anything required money, but she didn't know how to obtain it. Now that Tang San had pointed her in a direction, she immediately ran out.

“Xiao Wu Jie is already a Spirit Master?” Wang Sheng mumbled, then said to the others, “From now on, Dormitory Seven will listen to Xiao Wu Jie.”

“Yes, Boss Wang Sheng!”

Clearly, the original work-study students of Dormitory Seven were more loyal to Wang Sheng than to Xiao Wu, who had just become the new boss.

“Wang Sheng, where is the dining hall?” Tang San felt a little hungry and planned to go eat.

“It’s the building directly opposite Dormitory Seven.” Wang Sheng pointed to a two-story building about a hundred meters away. “The new boss just took office, it's not good to go alone. Let’s wait for her to come back, and we’ll go together. As the former boss, I’ll treat everyone to a meal. The food on the first floor is quite cheap and filling!”

“Oh.”

Tang San also didn't want to be so unsociable and decided to wait a bit.

Ten minutes later, Xiao Wu returned carrying a new set of bedding, still pink.

Afterward, at Wang Sheng’s suggestion, Xiao Wu agreed to go to the dining hall for a meal. The group could be considered “mighty” and quite a spectacle...

...

“Is Little San’s personality a bit timid?”

Late at night, Tang Hao came to the window of Nuoding City, looking at the sleeping Tang San, his brows deeply furrowed. “And that girl, could this be fate?”

“Forget it, anyway, with Little San’s talent, the chance of breaking through to Titled Douluo in the future is slim. When he graduates from Nuoding City, they will definitely go their separate ways. I’ll just kill her and keep her Spirit Bone.”

“Now, I need to do one thing, and that is to find the thief who stole Ah Yin!”

The original work didn't specify whether Xiao Wu's First spirit ring was condensed before Tang San went hunting for Spirit or after. It only appeared after Tang San revealed his hundred-year spirit ring.

Considering she was a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form, the probability of her condensing it after transformation was higher, otherwise she would have no self-preservation ability.

8: Notting first course

Coming out of the cafeteria, Tang San rubbed his round belly and thought, "The first floor offers all-you-can-eat, which is indeed good, but to develop my body quickly, I still need to eat something better."

He had five silver coins, equivalent to five hundred bronze coins; it was enough to fill his stomach, but not enough to eat well.

To strengthen his physique, he had to earn money.

Ways to earn money...

Blacksmithing?

This was indeed a path, but he couldn't waste too much time here; he needed to research which Spirit Beast his Blue Silver Grass Spirit's first spirit ring should be obtained from.

Regarding Yu Xiaogang's theory: a plant Spirit using a spirit ring from an animal Spirit Beast?

Tang San felt it was nonsense.

A Spirit was not a real thing, but a product between energy and matter.

Similarly, his Blue Silver Grass Spirit was not a real Blue Silver Grass plant; as long as its attributes matched Blue Silver Grass, a spirit ring from an animal Spirit Beast could naturally be attached.

For example, his Blue Silver Grass had extremely strong Life force, and the Life force of an animal Spirit Beast like the Emerald Swan was also terrifyingly strong; could Blue Silver Grass not absorb the spirit ring of such a Spirit Beast?

Therefore, in Tang San's view, if one did not focus on bloodline evolution, as long as the attributes were compatible, any spirit ring produced by any Spirit Beast could be added to the Spirit.

Otherwise, would his Clear Sky Hammer Spirit have to find a 'Hammer Spirit Beast'?

To determine his target, Tang San went to Spirit Hall, preparing to find information for research.

Ma Xiunuo saw Tang San arrive and, while happy, was also a little strange: "Xiao Tang, have you encountered any trouble? Why are you here again?"

"My spirit power has cultivated to level ten, and I'm preparing to find information to research which Spirit Beast my Blue Silver Grass should choose." Tang San's words greatly shocked Grandmaster Ma Xiunuo.

Level ten!

Cultivating so fast?

In three months, he improved one level each month, plus this month of schooling, a total of four levels. Tang San's Blue Silver Grass actually cultivated so fast?

Was he dreaming?

Or was Tang San one of The Fallen?

No!

The Fallen were violent in nature; even ordinary people could tell something was wrong. The Tang San in front of him had clear eyes and was definitely not one of those bastards who gave up being human for the sake of improving their spirit power.

Moreover, the small village of Saint Spirit Village had no access to the meditation methods to become one of The Fallen.

But how did Tang San cultivate?

Whether as Tang San's elder or the Hall Master of this Nuoding branch hall, he, Ma Xiunuo, had to ask clearly to prevent Tang San from going astray.

"It might be because my Blue Silver Grass mutated. After all, ordinary Blue Silver Grass couldn't possibly have six levels of spirit power."

The matters of the hundred-thousand-year Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone and Mysterious Heaven Skill absolutely could not be revealed; he could only attribute the cultivation speed to Spirit mutation.

After all, his Blue Silver Grass was already extraordinary.

However, this was not enough; he needed to find another reason.

"Also, I've read the books in Spirit Hall; there's a saying about simulated cultivation environments. Blue Silver Grass is everywhere. When I was in Saint Spirit Village, I put Blue Silver Grass under my mattress, and my yard was also full of Blue Silver Grass."

Ma Xiunuo believed him and laughed, "Spirit mutation, plus a simulated cultivation environment everywhere, Blue Silver Grass, in this regard, actually has an advantage over other Spirits... Good, I, your grandfather, will decide to give you the backyard. You can also stay and live here from now on."

"Grandfather Ma Xiunuo, I..."

"I know you don't want to take advantage for free." Ma Xiunuo interrupted Tang San, his expression serious, "So, this is rented to you. The rent will be to help clean this Spirit Hall. From now on, I won't call anyone else to clean. Can you do that?"

"Yes." Tang San understood that this was Ma Xiunuo's convenience for him, so he agreed. Refusing at this point would not make Ma Xiunuo happy.

"Besides this, there's one more thing."

"What is it? If I can, I will definitely help." Tang San said without hesitation.

"You little rascal." Ma Xiunuo laughed heartily, "It's definitely something within your power. I hope that if you want to publish articles in the future, please consider our Spirit Hall's 'Wuhun News' first."

"Of course."

In the future, if he wanted to publish theories, he would naturally choose the most authoritative 'Wuhun News'.

To be more practical, it was because he currently only knew Ma Xiunuo; he had no connections to submit to 'Tian Dou News' or 'Star Luo News'.

However, when he first learned that there were newspapers on Douluo Continent, Tang San found it quite surprising.

In such a backward society, how could the existence of newspapers not be strange?

However, Tang San didn't think much of it; the existence of newspapers would be beneficial for the spread of his reputation.

Finally, Ma Xiunuo said, "There's one more thing. The knowledge and theories you acquire in the future, those openly published by Spirit Hall, you can spread freely, it's fine. If you want to spread theories you created yourself, that's also fine. But those not openly published by Spirit Hall, you must never spread them. Remember?"

"I remember."

Tang San nodded heavily.

Precious Spirit cultivation knowledge was priceless treasures, capable of turning a small family into a large Sect, so naturally, it couldn't be easily spread. That was the foundation of a force's standing.

Afterward, Tang San took advantage of the still-light evening to go to the Spirit Hall backyard to organize miscellaneous items, preparing to start his research tonight to determine his first spirit ring choice...

The next day.

In the early morning, the dawn light broke the silence of the night.

Tang San hurried over; after all, he still needed to be present for the first class, and he also needed to get to know his classmates and the Mohen Teacher, leaving an impression.

He met Xiao Wu on the way; she had some impression of Tang San, so she followed along.

Tang San didn't return last night, and Xiao Wu found it strange, but she didn't say much.

However, after arriving at the classroom, among the new students, she only knew Tang San. Unable to sit still, she started making conversation: "I didn't expect us to be assigned to the same class, how lucky! What's your Spirit? What level of spirit power? Mine is a rabbit, Soft Bones Rabbit, the very cute kind of Xiao Bai, and I'm innately full spirit power, you know."

"Six levels of innate spirit power Blue Silver Grass." Tang San was concise.

"Blue Silver Grass? Six levels of spirit power, is that considered high talent?" Xiao Wu wanted to confirm the average innate spirit power of human Spirit Masters, so she wouldn't be too high-profile.

Fortunately, she met Tang San; if it were another child, they wouldn't be able to answer at all.

"It can be said to be excellent, surpassing seventy percent of Spirit Masters." On the Continent, those with innate spirit power exceeding five levels were considered exceptionally gifted and could attract recruitment from some major powers.

"Wow! That amazing? Then what kind of talent is innate full spirit power?" Xiao Wu felt that her sudden mention of innate full spirit power made her a bit too noticeable.

"Innate full spirit power talent can be described as monstrous." Tang San's words had a double meaning.

In the original work, Xiao Wu was the one with the best cultivation talent; she could eat, drink, and sleep, and her spirit power would automatically increase, requiring no effort in cultivation.

"Is my talent that high? Haha, as expected of me!" Xiao Wu was praised and immediately became smug, nodding repeatedly, looking at Tang San with an 'educable' gaze, thinking this junior was very good at flattery.

However, as she shook her head, her scorpion tail braid swayed, and almost no boy could resist the urge to tug it.

Tang San finally resisted.

But the other boys were truly little boys.

Then—

Bang!

Xiao Wu, as if by reflex, suddenly turned around, kicked over the table behind her, and stared unpleasantly at the boy who had tugged her braid: "What the hell are you doing?"

Tang San: "???"

An old hand, not to be provoked.

"I didn't do it on purpose, please forgive me!" The boy was startled and immediately apologized.

"Hmph!"

As the boy helped set up the desk, a young man in a black robe walked in, holding a black-covered book in his hand.

The young man came to the podium, put down the book, turned around and wrote "Mo Hen" on the blackboard, then introduced himself to Tang San and the others: "Hello everyone, from now on, I will be your homeroom teacher. My name is Mo Hen, my Spirit is a long spear, twenty-seven levels of spirit power, and I am an attack system Battle Spirit Master."

"Now, everyone, please introduce yourselves one by one and get to know each other. After all, for the next six years, barring any accidents, you will all be in the same class. I hope the students in the class can get along harmoniously."

"Starting with the girl sitting in the front row."

Mo Hen finished speaking and his gaze fell on Xiao Wu, pointing a finger at her.

And Xiao Wu jumped up directly and said, "My name is Xiao Wu, the 'Wu' from dancing. My Spirit is Soft Bones Rabbit. You can call me Xiao Wu Jie. I am already a one-ring Spirit Master, level thirteen."

After speaking, Xiao Wu very high-profilely manifested her Spirit. The yellow spirit ring floating up and down greatly surprised all the students in the class.

Low-key?

Her personality couldn't do it.

And the other students didn't expect that someone would become a Spirit Master right after enrolling!

Speaking of which, the graduation standard for the junior academy was to become a Spirit Master, which meant having one spirit ring. She should be able to apply for graduation directly, right?

Mo Hen's eyes narrowed, and he thought, "Six years old, a hundred-year spirit ring. Can a commoner really possess this? Could she be the young lady of some big family coming out to experience Life? This carefree personality doesn't seem like something a commoner could raise. Work-study students are mostly cautious. Forget it, I'd better speak to her more gently in the future."

After labeling this long-braided girl as "not to be provoked" in his mind, Mo Hen motioned for Xiao Wu to put away her Spirit and said to the boy sitting next to her, "Next."

"My name is Tang San, from Saint Spirit Village. My Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, but it might have mutated, possessing six levels of spirit power. In the three months before school started, I diligently cultivated, and my spirit power has already reached level ten. So, I hope after class, I can ask Mochen Teacher for leave to hunt Spirit Beasts in Hunting Spirit Forest."

Tang San's neither humble nor overbearing attitude made Mo Hen's eyes light up.

This was a genius among commoners!

Although he didn't know what Blue Silver Grass could cultivate into, with this cultivation speed alone, he would definitely be a powerful Spirit Master in the future.

Don't think that because the main characters in the original work had high innate spirit power, there were many innate spirit power possessors above level five in the Douluo Continent during the Douluo I era. In those large Sects, there were many members who were Spirit Ancestor and below. Spirit King was already considered mid-to-high level.

9: Do you want to kill the other person?

"Hello everyone, my name is Wang Wu..."

"Hello everyone, my name is Kun Liu..."

In just about a minute, all the students in the class had finished their introductions. After all, only a minority could become Spirit Masters, and there were only fifteen people in the entire class.

Mo Hen wrote down everyone's names, closed the roll call book on the podium, and said, "Alright, next, we'll arrange this semester's courses."

"Seven days a week, five days of classes, two days of rest. Classes are basically in the morning. In the afternoon, you have to clean the school, but I suggest that if you have free time after cleaning, you should cultivate more."

"Alright, that's the basic situation."

"Now, let's begin your first lesson: literacy."

The fifteen students in the class were all work-study students, mostly from small villages and hamlets near Nuoding City. Most of them barely recognized any characters and needed basic education.

The work-study students born in Nuoding City were literate, but that group of work-study students was in another class.

When the academy divided classes, even if they were all work-study students, they were separated into urban and rural groups.

Tang San had previously asked Wang Sheng, and the work-study students in Dorms Seven, Eight, and Nine were all from villages near Nuoding City. The work-study students in Dorms Six, Five, and Four were all native-born Nuoding City residents. The remaining Dorms Three, Two, and One were for the children of Nuoding City's various nobles, and also included a portion of official students whose families could afford the tuition.

Nine dorms, three tiers, one could say they were clearly distinct.

In the class Tang San was in, besides him and Xiao Wu from Dorm Seven, the other thirteen were from Dorms Eight and Nine.

They were illiterate and couldn't even understand meditation methods, so they had to take it slow.

Speaking of meditation methods, Tang San had also read the Spirit Hall meditation method that Su Yuntao gave him. It was described very simply: close your eyes and meditate, sense the Spirit, communicate with it, and control the Spirit to absorb the energy between heaven and earth, making it flow within the body and slowly convert into spirit power.

In this process, the Spirit occupied the dominant position.

That is to say, for most people's meditation cultivation to improve spirit power, it was the Spirit that helped the Spirit Master draw in the energy of heaven and earth and convert it into spirit power, rather than the Spirit Master being able to draw in the energy of heaven and earth through meditation alone.

He could imagine that if other forces could think of letting children who hadn't awakened their Spirit meditate, they probably all failed, with no one successfully cultivating.

Tang San estimated that even with more advanced meditation methods, Spirit Masters in this World would still need to use their Spirit to absorb the energy between heaven and earth, rather than their own bodies, or rather, primarily rely on their Spirit.

After all, in the original work, Yu Xiaogang provided a very simple method for spirit power circulation, but the martial arts Tang San didn't think much of it.

Cultivating spirit power through the circulation of cultivation techniques was still a rather illusory fantasy in this era.

It was also for this reason that in this era, the innate spirit power talent of the Spirit was extremely important. This perhaps represented whether the Spirit Master could better communicate with their Spirit, and represented the Spirit Master's efficiency in refining the energy of heaven and earth.

However, the people of this World were also fortunate, because having a Spirit meant having infinite possibilities.

It was just that, from the perspective of ordinary people at the bottom, the existence of Spirits was also a misfortune, because they had no chance to resist those powerful Spirit Masters.

The disputes between continents, in the final analysis, were all struggles between Spirit Masters.

Even in the spirit tool era ten thousand years later, the primary beneficiaries of spirit tools were still Spirit Masters.

This was perhaps a common problem in all Worlds with extraordinary power.

However, compared to those fantasy Worlds that casually destroyed heaven and earth, the common people of this World were not without a chance to resist; it just took a longer time.

Back to the main topic, Tang San felt that meditation methods could also be studied, after all, they were based on the Spirit.

Although he had Mysterious Heaven Skill, which could help him draw in the energy of heaven and earth without awakening a Spirit, and could be said to be an peerless divine force in this World, this was after all the World of Spirits, so perhaps they could be combined.

Although Mysterious Heaven Skill could already allow him to reach the peak of this World, meditation methods were also the crystallization of wisdom in this World and should not be looked down upon.

Dedicated to becoming a researcher, arrogance is not advisable...

...

"Tang San, do you need a teacher's help to hunt Spirit Beasts?" After class, Mo Hen called out to Tang San, who had taken half a month's long leave, and kindly asked, "The academy's teachers can help students hunt their First spirit ring for free."

"Thank you, Mohen Teacher, but I have already found two Grandmasters from Spirit Hall and have also determined the type of Spirit Beast to hunt." Tang San politely declined Mo Hen's kind offer.

"Is it Su Yuntao? That guy was in the same year as me, just in a different class." Mo Hen smiled, his gaze catching Yu Xiaogang walking past the window. His expression became somewhat serious as he warned, "We have a 'Grandmaster' in our academy whose reputation isn't very good. Don't go near him. If he takes a liking to you and wants to take you as his disciple, just refuse him directly."

"Thank you for the reminder, Mohen Teacher, but I heard that he is friends with the dean. If I refuse directly, won't he complain?" Tang San wanted to confirm the consequences of refusing.

"Just refuse directly, don't say anything extra, and it'll be fine." Mo Hen said, "Although his 'Grandmaster' title is a joke, he has a strong sense of self-esteem and won't turn hostile just because a child refuses him. For so many years, he couldn't possibly not know what we say about him behind his back, but he's endured it all... Honestly, he's quite an oddball."

Bidding farewell to Mo Hen and leaving the office, Xiao Wu suddenly stopped Tang San. She had been waiting outside the whole time and asked, "You're not also innately full spirit power, are you? How do you cultivate so fast?"

"Perhaps it's because my affinity with the Blue Silver Grass Spirit is relatively high." Tang San smiled, "Besides, according to the information I found, the probability of a Soft Bones Rabbit having innate full spirit power is still a first for the Continent. I'm also very surprised."

Xiao Wu's expression changed, but she immediately reacted, realizing that the guy in front of her was a child and couldn't possibly guess her identity. She said, "That's not necessarily true. Maybe previous Soft Bones Rabbit Spirits with innate full spirit power just weren't recorded?"

"That's possible." Tang San recalled that Xiao Wu's mother seemed to have also taken human form, so he nodded, then looked at the braid behind Xiao Wu's head. "However, I still think it's more likely that you're not a normal person. After all, whose normal six-year-old child has hair that long?"

Xiao Wu gritted her teeth, feeling that Tang San was personally attacking her, but she really couldn't refute his words.

"So—"

Tang San drew out his words.

"So what?" Xiao Wu felt as if Tang San had seen through her.

"So, you might have hypertrichosis." Tang San made up a story, "I know Su Yuntao. He's from Spirit Hall and knows the environment of Nuoding City very well. He must know where to buy hair removal cream here to suppress your excessive hair growth."

Xiao Wu was stunned, then took a deep breath and uttered one word:

"Scram!"

"Alright, see you in half a month." Tang San was about to walk past Xiao Wu when she grabbed him again.

"Is there anything else?"

"Yes, do you have research on Spirit cultivation?" Xiao Wu asked.

"Yes, you've asked the right person." Tang San raised his hand and made a gesture as if adjusting non-existent glasses on his nose, which made Xiao Wu quite speechless, but his eyes at this moment were extremely bright, like stars in the sky, very dazzling.

"Then what?"

Xiao Wu saw that Tang San had answered one sentence and then just looked at her without speaking. She wondered if she had misjudged him; his eyes were so brilliant just now, perhaps there were just tears in his eyes, making them seem... sparkly?

"You have to tell me what you want to ask before I can answer, don't you?" Tang San rolled his eyes, "Also, can you let go now?"

"Tell me, what kind of Spirit Beast should I choose for my second spirit ring?" Xiao Wu released Tang San's arm. Her eyes darted around, wanting to test if Tang San had any real knowledge.

"Listening Wind Rabbit."

Tang San stated the name of a Spirit Beast.

"Why?"

Xiao Wu was puzzled. "I want a Spirit Ability that can confuse people, like Charm. After all, opponents I encounter in the future might not foolishly stand still and let me use attack Spirit Abilities."

"That sounds very reasonable, but I don't recommend it." Tang San said.

"Why?" Xiao Wu didn't understand.

"What is your self-positioning? Or rather, what type of Spirit Master do you want to become in the future?" Tang San didn't answer directly, but instead kept her in suspense and asked her a question in return.

Currently, on the Douluo Continent, there were seven types of Spirit Masters: attack system, agility-attack system, control system, defense system, Healing System, support system, and food system.

Xiao Wu had heard of these, so she answered without hesitation: "attack system."

"attack system? Your First Soul Skill, from your fight with Wang Sheng, I can roughly understand, it should be related to the waist..."

"That's right, my First Soul Skill is Waist Bow."

"Don't interrupt me." Tang San was a little displeased, and Xiao Wu seemed to be startled, closing her mouth but still pouting, "Why are you so serious?"

Tang San ignored Xiao Wu's chatter and continued to ask, "Waist Bow, does a Soft Bones Rabbit Spirit Beast have a waist?"

"Don't insult rabbits!" Xiao Wu's face flushed with shame and anger. "Where does a Soft Bones Rabbit not have a waist? It's just a bit fat! No, its fur is a bit fluffy!"

"What you said makes a lot of sense, but the Soft Bones Rabbit's waist is indeed very fat, unlike ordinary rabbits. Spirit Beast rabbits and ordinary wild rabbits can truly be said to be two different species. Honestly, I don't even know what Spirit Beast you hunted to get your First Soul Skill." Tang San complained, but in his heart, he had another idea:

Waist Bow, this Spirit Ability, is very likely adapted to Xiao Wu's body after her human transformation. After all, Beast Spirit possession cannot completely change the human body's skeletal structure.

For example, Su Yuntao, after Spirit possession, wasn't he also a werewolf?

And after Xiao Wu's Spirit possession, she only grew two rabbit ears on her head and a round, ball-shaped rabbit tail behind her waist. Other parts didn't seem to change much.

However, Soft Bones Rabbits definitely don't have a Waist Bow skill; at most, it's a leg kick.

In the original work, Xiao Wu did indeed have a self-created Spirit Ability called "Rabbit Kicks Eagle."

But why not use that skill as a spirit ring skill and choose a Waist Bow instead?

Alright, even if it barely makes sense, in the original work, besides Waist Bow, what about the later Charm, Teleportation, Paragon Golden Body, Soft Bones Lock, Eight-Stage Drop, and Doppelganger? Which of those are skills a Soft Bones Rabbit could have?

Let's not even talk about Charm. Let's just assume Xiao Wu wants to control enemies, but if their mental force is stronger than hers, she won't be able to control them and might even suffer a backlash.

Teleportation and Paragon Golden Body might be talents born from ten-thousand-year-level Soft Bones Rabbits. This is just Tang San's guess, after all, in the soul beast encyclopedia, the number of thousand-year-level Soft Bones Rabbits is scarce, and there are no related records for ten-thousand-year ones.

Even if a ten-thousand-year Soft Bones Rabbit could have such skills, they would be used for escape.

Combat?

Heh.

They are all escape skills, so why be an attack system?

Just the Teleportation skill alone is suitable for an agility-attack system.

Moreover, attack system Spirit Masters also need a certain degree of defense. Xiao Wu's defense is just a Paragon Golden Body, and she cannot move when using Paragon Golden Body.

It's purely a life-saving skill.

As for the later Soft Bones Lock, please forgive Tang San's lack of imagination; he can't understand how an un-transformed Soft Bones Rabbit could use its four limbs to lock down other ten-thousand-year Spirit Beasts.

Therefore, there is only one possibility, and that is that Xiao Wu self-condensed her spirit ring, and she could choose what the Spirit Ability would be.

"Anyway, my First Soul Skill is Waist Bow, and it just happened to drop from a Soft Bones Rabbit." Xiao Wu snorted. Didn't the spirit ring she condensed herself just drop from a Soft Bones Rabbit?

"Tell me, why Listening Wind Rabbit? I think the Charm skill is actually pretty good. I can control the enemy, and then with one Waist Bow, I can throw them out. If the direction is towards the ground, I can even make the opponent more severely injured."

"That makes a lot of sense, but since you're going for the attack system, why would you add a control skill for yourself?" Tang San retorted, "Your Charm, if someone's mental force level is high, it shouldn't have much effect, right? Think carefully, when you reach the Titled Douluo level, will you still use the Charm skill?"

"A Titled Douluo using Charm, and then using Waist Bow, that scene is just too beautiful! I can't even imagine it! Are you trying to make the opponent die of pleasure?"

10: I do not provide free services

Xiao Wu, a Ten-thousand year soul beast who had taken human form, was mature in some aspects, but after spending a day or two in human society, she also developed a sense of shame. She spat, “How can your thoughts be so impure? What will you be like when you grow up?”

“Are you and I any different? Other six-year-old girls wouldn't understand the meaning of those two sentences I just said.” Tang San stared at her with wide eyes, making her extremely uncomfortable.

“Ahem, let's skip this topic. We are still children, we should be purer.”

Tang San coughed, avoiding their intense gaze.

“What do you mean? You said it first,” Xiao Wu mumbled.

“Different Spirits have different advantages and disadvantages. The Soft Bones Rabbit Spirit is not suitable for the attack system; it's best suited for the agility-attack system,” Tang San said, pretending not to hear her, and continued to talk about the Spirit Master path Xiao Wu should take.

“Why must it be the agility-attack system?” Compared to speed, she preferred strength. After all, before transforming, her speed was already not slow, and after transforming, she wanted to experience the method of using fists to overwhelm people, like Da Ming and Er Ming.

“When cultivating a Spirit, one needs to leverage strengths and avoid weaknesses, developing and strengthening the Spirit's advantages. As for weaknesses, the focus should be on compensating for them, but not specifically strengthening them, as that would only make a Spirit Master mediocre,” Tang San said seriously. “The Soft Bones Rabbit, and all other types of rabbits, are best at escaping... cough, speed. They are good at speed, or rather—”

“Running.”

“And flexible running!”

Xiao Wu gnashed her teeth, very displeased with Tang San's use of the word “escaping,” but she still listened patiently.

Cautiously glancing at Xiao Wu, who had clenched her fists, Tang San's forehead broke out in a cold sweat, but he continued, “Ordinary wild rabbits run extremely fast and are incredibly flexible, almost capable of making 90-degree turns. This is an advantage that other animals cannot compare to. The Soft Bones Rabbit is even a Spirit Beast, so this advantage is even greater.”

“You're not utilizing this advantage; instead, you want to add a Charm Spirit Ability. It feels like you just came up with it on a whim, without properly considering your future.”

“Waist Bow can enhance your waist strength. As a First Soul Skill, it's actually quite good, because the human body needs to use the strength of the waist for all movements, especially running. Fast and prolonged running requires a good waist, otherwise you can't run very fast or very far.”

“You should know that adding a spirit ring can strengthen a Spirit Master's physical qualities, especially for Spirit Masters with a Beast Spirit. This strengthening is even more evident. What kind of strengthening can Charm bring you?”

“The only thing I can think of is mental force, but how much mental force can a spirit ring that brings the Charm Spirit Ability enhance?”

“According to your spirit ring plan, with Waist Bow as your First Soul Skill and Charm as your Second Soul Skill, then your Third Soul Skill must be one that helps you quickly approach enemies. After all, as your spirit power increases, the opponents you encounter will become stronger and stronger.

If your mental force is weak, you can only succeed by getting close to the enemy at short range.”

“But then, another problem arises: what if you can't Charm the enemy, or the enemy reacts instantly?”

“You'll be in danger.”

“Therefore, for your Fourth Soul Ring, you need to add a defensive skill. Otherwise, if your Waist Bow doesn't work, are you going to attack with your fists? If the opponent is a squishy target, it's fine, but what if they're a tough, strong guy? Then you must find a skill that can save your Life, one that allows you to gain a Life-saving skill when your attack misses and Teleportation or similar Spirit Abilities are not off cooldown.”

It could be said that Xiao Wu's first four Spirit Abilities in the original work were all about patching up deficiencies.

Attack: Waist Bow.

Control: Charm.

Speed: Teleportation.

Defense: Paragon Golden Body.

Wasn't it just like a step-by-step reading machine?

Highlighting whatever wasn't bright.

Looking at it this way, it was balanced, seemingly quite good.

But in reality, she knew a bit of everything, but none of it well, unable to form a perfect system.

After listening to Tang San's analysis, Xiao Wu was instantly amazed. She really seemed to have thought that way, it was just—

“Is there a problem with these types of Spirit Abilities? I think they're pretty good.”

“Big sister, every spirit ring of a Spirit is an evolution of the Spirit itself. You're messing around like this; you're practically gambling with your future!”

Tang San was exasperated, but he also understood that trying to make a rabbit that had lived in the Star Dou Great Forest for a hundred thousand years understand Spirit cultivation was like playing a lute to a cow.

Indeed, a Ten-thousand year soul beast is, after all, a Spirit Beast. Perhaps in terms of instinct, they are much stronger than humans, but their understanding of themselves is probably not as good as humans, who can constantly explore, categorize, and summarize various things around them.

This is the wisdom of humanity!

And Spirit Beasts are all intellectually disabled, relying on their natural talent. Even after living for a hundred thousand years, in Tang San's eyes, if they hadn't experienced the baptism of human society, their eyes would still reveal clear foolishness.

“Oh? Is that so?”

“Ordinary civilian Spirit Masters certainly wouldn't know these things, but I feel like you're not a civilian; you're a brain-dead girl who ran away from some big family.” Tang San didn't hold back his sarcasm.

Xiao Wu's face flushed with anger. She resisted the urge to beat him up and asked, “Then tell me, what kind of Spirit Ability can a Listening Wind Rabbit bring me? Will it increase speed?”

“Nonsense. The most commendable things about rabbits, besides their fur, are their speed. Any rabbit's spirit ring can more or less increase your speed. But I want you to choose a Listening Wind Rabbit not for its speed, but for its reaction speed. According to the existing case files in Spirit Hall, the Listening Wind Rabbit can grant rabbit-type Spirit Masters a Spirit Ability: Listening to the Wind.”

Tang San's eyes gleamed. “Do you know why the Listening Wind Rabbit is named ‘Listening Wind’?”

Without waiting for Xiao Wu to answer, Tang San provided the answer: “Because this Spirit Beast can perceive the flow of wind, thereby predicting danger in advance and thus escaping quickly.”

“It can be said that the perception of this Listening Wind Rabbit is extremely keen. Even if you want to enhance mental force, it's far more effective than Charm. Moreover, with this Spirit Ability, I speculate that you might be able to foresee the future and predict how the enemy will act in advance.”

“This way, you can also save a defensive skill.”

“After all, if you can already predict the enemy's movements and you still rush forward, it only proves you're too stupid. And if you predict it but can't avoid the enemy's attack, it proves the enemy's strength is far superior to yours, and a defensive Spirit Ability won't change your fate of being killed. Just lie down and accept it.”

Xiao Wu gnashed her teeth. Although what Tang San said made a lot of sense, why was it so irritating?

Out of ten sentences, three were sarcastic.

Where had she ever received such a lecture?

Tang San realized he might have said too much, letting out emotions he shouldn't have, which went against the demeanor of a scholar. So he coughed twice, softened his tone, and began to explain the origin of the Listening to the Wind Spirit Ability.

“I read about Listening to the Wind in a Spirit Master biography from Spirit Hall titled 'Legend of the Wind Rabbit Hunter.' The author's Spirit was a Listening Wind Rabbit, and their First Soul Ring came from a Listening Wind Rabbit. The Spirit Ability effect it brought them was the ability to perceive wind fluctuations and then form a three-second future image in their mind.”

“This effect made the Spirit Master feel that this Spirit Ability gave Life to the wind around him, and it conveyed future images to him.”

“Therefore, this Spirit Ability was also given a poetic name: Listening to the Wind, listening to the song of the wind, becoming a favorite of the wind.”

“However, in my eyes, this Spirit Ability primarily strengthens the Spirit Master's mental force and brain. The human brain inherently possesses infinite imagination. Under the effect of the Spirit Ability, perceiving information transmitted by air vibrations and automatically calculating it into a three-second future image in the mind doesn't seem surprising.”

Even on Earth, without extraordinary powers, a small portion of human brains are particularly developed, capable of predicting future scenarios based on existing information.

What's more, in this fantasy World with spirit power, spirit rings, and Spirit Abilities?

Xiao Wu nodded, then suddenly realized: “It sounds good, but is reaction speed also within the scope of the agility-attack system?”

“Naturally. Your Spirit is the Soft Bones Rabbit, and your speed is inherently very fast. As your spirit power increases, your speed will also strengthen, it just won't be as astonishing as a specific ‘acceleration Spirit Ability.’ Correspondingly, reaction speed is more important. After all, humans aren't real rabbits; if your speed is too fast, you might not be able to stop in time. As for acceleration-type Spirit Abilities, once your spirit power is high, choosing a higher-year Spirit Beast is much stronger than a low-year one. I estimate that after you grow up, no one's speed will be able to surpass yours, except for a few Spirit Masters who specialize in speed.”

Speaking of Spirit Masters who specialized in speed, Tang San thought of the Speed Clan. Their Swift Swallow Spirit's skills were all focused on speed, not suitable for combat, but excellent for reconnaissance.

Unfortunately, neither the Clear Sky Sect, which hadn't abandoned them, nor other forces, saw the reconnaissance role of the Speed Clan in war.

No, it should be said that they saw it, but didn't value it.

Xiao Wu puffed out her cheeks: "Didn't you say rabbits can turn at ninety degrees?"

"They can, but that's a rabbit; you are human. The reason I chose the Listening Wind Rabbit for you is also because the ability of the Listening to the Wind Spirit Ability can increase with the improvement of spirit power level, making it an ability that can be used for a lifetime." Some support system Spirit Abilities can evolve with the Spirit Master. The most typical example is the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda's amplification-type Spirit Abilities. The spirit ring simply cannot limit the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's amplification percentage from increasing with the Spirit Master's spirit power.

For most other Spirit Masters, amplification-type skills are basically fixed. At the Spirit Master level, they can amplify by fifty percent, and at the Titled Douluo level, they can still only amplify by fifty percent.

Amplification-type Spirit Abilities that can improve along with the Spirit Master are very rare.

Otherwise, Spirit Hall could completely cultivate forces similar to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, and the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda Spirit would not be recognized as the strongest support system Spirit on the continent.

"Makes sense." Xiao Wu decided that her Second Soul Ring would be the Listening to the Wind skill. She was a Soft Bones Rabbit, and the Listening Wind Rabbit was a close relative. With her Ten-thousand year soul beast origin, she could completely trace back to the ancestors of all rabbit types and then obtain a similar skill.

“Then what should I choose for my Third Soul Ring?” Xiao Wu asked next.

“That's paid content. I don't provide free services. You need to pay one hundred gold coins.” Tang San seemed to have fallen into a money pit.

“Providing you with the Second Soul Skill option was already a favor because you're my classmate. You've made a huge profit.”

Amplification-type Spirit Abilities: Not all Spirit Masters' amplification-type Spirit Abilities can increase with level. For example, Yu Tianheng's Spirit Ability: Thunder's Fury, is a self-amplification type, increasing attack by one hundred percent and spirit power by fifty percent.

If this amplification-type Spirit Ability could increase with the spirit power level, by the time he reached Titled Douluo, his overall attack would increase by over one hundred ninety percent, and his spirit power by over one hundred forty percent. Then his Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon would be even more formidable than the Seraphim.

Therefore, in the setting of this book, ordinary amplification-type Spirit Abilities start with a relatively large amplification, over fifty percent, but will not increase further. The amplification is fixed.

However, a small number of amplification-type Spirit Abilities can increase with the improvement of spirit power.

For example: the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda's Spirit Abilities, 11: The choice of the first soul ring

Money?

None!

Xiao Wu, without money, left in a huff.

Watching her scorpion braid sway, Tang San could tell she was very angry, but what did that have to do with him?

Xiao Wu, a 100,000-year-old transformed Spirit Beast, had a somewhat carefree personality; although she was self-taught in matters of adulthood, she was still very naive when it came to dealing with people.

However, one thing Tang San could confirm was that he didn't like being a pedophile, nor did he like being the one subjected to it; for now, being ordinary friends was enough.

As for their relationship deepening in the future, if Xiao Wu hadn't resolved the issue of her Spirit Beast aura, he would absolutely not let her participate in the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament.

It's just that, speaking of 100,000-year-old transformed Spirit Beasts, why do they have to be in a human societal environment to cultivate quickly?

By the way, are transformed Spirit Beasts really Spirit Beasts?

From his current interactions with Xiao Wu, her body and bones were completely indistinguishable from a human's, and her internal organs were probably the same; could she truly still be called a Spirit Beast?

After thinking for a while, Tang San had no concept, so he decided to put this question aside for now, as he was currently unable to access the essence of "transformation."

Arriving at the Spirit Hall's entrance, Tang San greeted the two guards and walked in, as they were old acquaintances.

He walked through the main hall and took the left passage to the backyard.

Tang San was preparing to confirm whether his Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul bloodline was still there.

Back then, Tang Hao's reaction, that gloomy, man-eating expression, made it impossible for him not to overthink.

This World might contain other transmigrators besides him, and they might have already gained the upper hand, taking away the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul seedling.

What was the purpose?

Based on Tang San's experience with fanfiction, there were only two reasons.

First: coveting the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul's body.

Second: coveting the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul's bloodline, which could also be categorized under the first.

What would happen if his Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul bloodline was gone?

With Mysterious Heaven Skill, Tang San estimated that the cultivation speed of spirit power wouldn't be greatly affected, as the original Tang San relied on Mysterious Heaven Skill to improve his spirit power, rather than meditating by absorbing the energy of heaven and earth through his Spirit.

As long as he didn't die, becoming a Titled Douluo was only a matter of time; it would just take a bit longer.

And choosing a Spirit Beast that perfectly matched the Blue Silver Grass's attributes could also allow his Blue Silver Grass to evolve step by step.

However, the above was the worst-case scenario.

Tang San estimated that his Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul bloodline wouldn't be废掉.

This World also talks about cells.

Bloodline, perhaps, is not genes; this body of his was formed by the combination of half single-stranded gene chains from Tang Hao and the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul.

To abolish the half he inherited from the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul would be billions of times harder than killing him, because according to Tang San's idea, it would first require changing half of the genetic material in every single cell throughout his body.

If it were that kind of World-destroying fantasy World, Tang San naturally wouldn't think this way, but this Douluo World is a planet, full name: Douluo Star, revolving around the sun, and perhaps thousands, tens of thousands, or hundreds of millions of light-years away, this grand universe might also contain another Earth.

As for the uniqueness of the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul...

Tang San estimated that this wasn't a setting but a cognitive issue; after all, a frog at the bottom of a well cannot see the vastness of the sky, and the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul cannot imagine that beyond the sea there exists another continent called "Sun Moon," where there is also a Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul.

Furthermore, the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul and the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul plant might not be two separate entities; perhaps the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul can exist in multiple forms as a Spirit, since the resurrected Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul in the original work had completely transformed and was no longer a Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul Spirit Beast, making many possibilities...

...

Shaking off distracting thoughts, Tang San began his test.

The method was simple: approach ordinary Blue Silver Grass.

Tang San observed closely and found that other Blue Silver Grass would slightly "nod" towards his Blue Silver Grass Spirit, meaning their leaves would slightly bend towards his Spirit.

If he didn't look carefully, he really wouldn't have noticed.

"It seems my Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul bloodline wasn't abolished. Most likely, my previous guess was correct: the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul bloodline exists in every cell within my body, forming a part of my genetic expression as a person, unlike the Golden Dragon King bloodline of that cheap son in Douluo Dalu 3, which was forcibly implanted."

Tang San breathed a sigh of relief, then began to ponder, "A small probability is that I guessed wrong, and the other transmigrators in my hypothesis haven't succeeded yet, or they only covet the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul's body."

"Since that's the case, then let me confirm again which Spirit Beast I should choose for my first spirit ring."

The best choice, naturally, would be to go directly to the Blue Silver Forest, find the Blue Silver King, and have him help awaken the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul and condense the first spirit ring.

Unfortunately, the Blue Silver Forest cannot be found.

On the current map of the Continent, the location of the Blue Silver Forest is not marked, presumably because it has not yet been explored by humans; it is an unknown adventure land.

Moreover, at six years old, he couldn't possibly travel far; that would be no different from seeking death. He couldn't possibly assume that because he knew Tang Hao was secretly watching, he could boldly go to such wild Hunting Spirit Forests, could he?

Besides, whether Tang Hao was still watching him at this time was also a question.

Wife and child, that bastard Tang Hao would definitely choose the former.

Therefore, he could only settle for the next best thing: find a spirit ring that could enhance the characteristics of the Blue Silver Grass.

And how to clearly define the advantages and disadvantages of Blue Silver Grass?

Naturally, by drawing a six-dimensional diagram.

This point, a novel he read in his previous Life, "Ultimate Conduction Tyrannosaurus Stands Above Douluo Continent," gave him inspiration.

Although the six-dimensional diagram was simple and not perfect, it could clearly show the characteristics of a Spirit.

This was also a new theory Tang San wanted to publish on the Douluo Continent in the more distant future, to make it easier for every Spirit Master to find their strengths.

By organizing various Spirit data from the Noding Spirit Hall Branch, Tang San simply categorized Spirit characteristics into Strength, Speed, Defense, Endurance, Energy, and Special, making them clear at a glance.

Strength: 0, Blue Silver Grass has no destructive power.

Speed: 1, Blue Silver Grass cannot move at all, but its generation speed is relatively fast, barely earning it a score of 1.

Defense: 0, Blue Silver Grass, without spirit rings for enhancement, can be easily torn by anyone.

Endurance: 5, Endurance represents recovery speed, and this is the only strong point of Blue Silver Grass; maintaining the Spirit consumes very little spirit power, so its durability is excellent.

Energy: 0, Blue Silver Grass does not possess any energy that can be released.

Special: 3, Possesses extremely strong Life force, can enhance one's perception abilities, and can subtly sense the Life energy transmitted from other Blue Silver Grass.

In the six-dimensional diagram, each item is worth five points, with a maximum of thirty. Blue Silver Grass only scored nine.

Low!

As expected of a useless Spirit.

Except for endurance, it was useless.

"The current situation is very clear. The Blue Silver Grass has two advantages: low spirit power consumption and extremely strong Life force." Tang San stroked his tender chin, feigning a mature expression, "As for the other Spirit..."

Now was not the time for testing; Heaven knew if Tang Hao was secretly watching, so it was better to be cautious and focus on the Blue Silver Grass for now.

However, even without testing, Tang San could roughly estimate that the Clear Sky Hammer's strength would definitely be 5. Speed, including attack speed, could be 2, because swinging a hammer isn't as fast as swinging a knife;

In terms of defense, the hammer is quite hard, but it's not as large as a shield. Although it can be enlarged by injecting spirit power, that's sacrificing one for the other and not objective, so it can only be 3;

Endurance: It consumes a lot of spirit power. With Tang San's current ten levels of spirit power, it can't last more than half an hour, so it's only 1;

In terms of energy, the Clear Sky Hammer comes with a unique energy that, when guided by spirit power, can cause objects to shatter into pieces, perhaps earning a 4;

Special: 0. It hasn't been tested, but perhaps the previous energy could also be included here, but since no specific tests have been conducted, it will not be counted for now.

But even with a rough estimate, the Clear Sky Hammer, without a single spirit ring added, still scored 14 points.

If it were truly tested, it would be at least fifteen or higher; in this World, it truly lives up to the name "Clear Sky."

After testing the advantages and disadvantages of the Blue Silver Grass Spirit, Tang San went to the study, opened a book, and his gaze fell upon a picture depicting a plant Spirit Beast that grew like a fishing net:

Thousand Root Banyan!

The Thousand Root Banyan, this plant-type Spirit Beast, has a very special growth method: its seeds attach to other trees. After the seeds germinate, the roots grow first, continuously differentiating downwards along the host tree until they completely wrap around the tree trunk. Then the roots penetrate the soil and continue to spread, forming a net-like root system that covers the entire forest, slowly strangling other plants, severing their roots, and seizing all their nutrients.

Legend has it that the Thousand Root Banyan doesn't sprout from a single seed, but rather the roots of multiple seeds connect to form a root network, drawing strength from the earth to grow.

Even old Thousand Root Banyans can form a forest from a single tree, covering hundreds of miles.

And this Spirit Beast has no mobility and does not develop intelligence, but once it grows to ten thousand years or more, no one will hunt it.

Because the roots of the Thousand Root Banyan are extremely hard, like metal and stone, and incredibly tough. Moreover, the Thousand Root Banyan has no main root; all its net-like roots must be cut to truly kill it, making it very troublesome.

Not many Spirit Masters are willing to contend with a tree that is both hard and troublesome.

They are not lumberjacks!

According to the records of the Nuo Ding City Spirit Hall Branch, it has been over five hundred years since any Spirit Master chose this plant Spirit Beast as a spirit ring, because it is simply too troublesome to deal with.

Five hundred years ago, Spirit Masters harvested the Thousand Root Banyan to obtain spirit rings, mainly to enhance the hardness of their Spirits. However, Tang San noticed the Thousand Root Banyan's massive root system, capable of deep penetration into the earth and even covering thousands of miles.

A plant Spirit, without roots, how can it be considered complete?

Moreover, the Thousand Root Banyan's Life force is extremely tenacious; at the seed stage, its roots need to survive for several days without direct contact with water. Once grown, it can draw power from the earth to nourish its branches and leaves, forming a lush canopy. This would definitely make his Blue Silver Grass even more vibrant.

After choosing the Spirit Beast, Tang San found Ma Xiunuo and Su Yuntao.

"Xiao Tang, why are you so excited? Have you already decided which Spirit Beast to choose?" Ma Xiunuo's expression became serious, "Tell me about it, so I can consider it?"

"Thousand Root Banyan."

"Thousand Root Banyan? That's a very strong Life force Spirit Beast. I remember there's one near Nuoding City's Hunting Spirit Forest, about five hundred years old; its age is a bit high."

Su Yuntao thought for a while, recalling where the Thousand Root Banyan was, "Do you want to switch? The age is too high. Other Hunting Spirit Forests might have suitable ones, but Master Ma Xiunuo and I cannot leave the Nuoding City area too far, as that would be dereliction of duty."

Due to their identities, he and Ma Xiunuo could not leave Nuoding City and its surrounding villages.

"Just this one. I am confident I can absorb it."

Tang San made up his mind, "Regarding the absorption age limit for spirit rings, based on the information I've seen at the Spirit Hall, the spirit ring age limit that Spirit Masters can absorb has been continuously increasing. I believe I can withstand a five-hundred-year spirit ring. I am willing to personally test this theory."

"Of course, even if I succeed, others cannot directly imitate it. They must make an initial judgment based on various factors such as their Spirit type, physical fitness, and whether the Spirit Beast's attributes match their Spirit's attributes."

12: The Soul Hunt Begins: Things to Note

In small cities like Nuoding City, the main responsibility of Spirit Hall is to help city residents awaken their Spirits, and to form a team with the City Lord's Mansion patrol to jointly patrol and prevent Spirit Masters from fighting in the streets.

As the Branch Master, Ma Xiunuo usually only needs to organize documents, record Spirit Master levels, and distribute gold coins, which is relatively leisurely.

Su Yuntao, needless to say, besides being busy for a month each year helping various villages awaken their Spirits, the rest of the time he just patrols with the patrol team.

Work for half a month, rest for half a month.

It must be said that Spirit Hall's job is quite good.

Since both of them were free, they naturally planned to accompany Tang San to hunt Spirits to pass the time.

In addition, Sisi also followed along.

It wasn't that she was also on vacation, but rather that her cultivation had reached level twenty, and she also needed a spirit ring. She took a leave of absence and, hearing that Tang San was also going to hunt Spirit Beasts, decided to go together.

Ma Xiunuo took Tang San onto the carriage, while Su Yuntao and Sisi took turns driving.

The Hunting Spirit Forest is not far from Nuoding City, but it still takes most of a day, requiring them to take turns to ensure their physical strength.

"Xiao Tang, I want to tell you that when hunting Spirits in the future, you must choose a reliable Spirit hunting team, such as those with a good reputation. It's best not to choose unknown teams. Also, different Hunting Spirit Forests have different environments and different Spirit Beasts. You must talk to the locals more. Some specific medicines and Spirit hunting equipment are only available in the small towns on the outskirts of the corresponding Hunting Spirit Forest environments," Ma Xiunuo, who was very fond of Tang San, explained various precautions for Spirit hunting.

Although Tang San had already memorized these things when reading books, he still listened carefully to Ma Xiunuo's instructions.

On this Douluo Continent, there are many Hunting Spirit Forests, not just the few that appeared in the original work.

The most famous Hunting Spirit Forests are the Star Dou Great Forest, Sunset Forest, Storm Grand Canyon, and Devil's Grand Canyon. As for other Spirit Beast hunting grounds, either their scope is smaller, or the number of Spirit Beasts is sparse, or they have not yet been fully explored by human Spirit Masters.

For example, the Extreme North Land.

This place has not been fully explored, and its exact size is unknown.

To be honest, this is what a real World should be like. Spirit Beasts have different attributes, some can breathe fire, some can control ice, and they must live in an environment that makes them comfortable.

The natural environment and the types of creatures influence each other. Spirit Beasts are also a type of creature, just possessing extraordinary power.

Therefore, under normal circumstances, fire-attributed Spirit Beasts will not appear in the Extreme North Land. Similarly, water-attributed Spirit Beasts will not appear in scorching Desert areas.

In addition to these wild Hunting Spirit Forests, there are also Hunting Spirit Forests jointly controlled by the Two Great Empires and Spirit Hall.

It is rumored that these Hunting Spirit Forests were once wild Spirit Beast forests, no smaller in scale than the Sunset Forest. However, with human development, deforestation, and road construction, their area gradually shrank, and the powerful Spirit Beasts within them migrated to the Star Dou, Sunset, or other suitable Spirit Beast gathering places.

Nowadays, in such Hunting Spirit Forests, ten-year and hundred-year Spirit Beasts are common, but thousand-year Spirit Beasts are extremely rare.

The reason?

Besides the slow cultivation speed of Spirit Beasts, more importantly, Spirit Hall sends people to inspect, capture, or even kill thousand-year Spirit Beasts every three to five years to prevent them from escaping the forest and attacking nearby villages or destroying farmland.

However, for thousand-year-level plant Spirit Beasts, Spirit Hall is a bit more lenient, as most plant Spirit Beasts cannot move until they reach the ten-thousand-year level.

As for thousand-year animal Spirit Beasts, if they can be captured, Spirit Hall will try their best to capture them, as Spirit Hall has also realized that the number of Spirit Beasts is decreasing.

If one day Spirit Beasts become extinct, Spirit Masters will no longer be able to cultivate, and this profession will no longer be so noble.

Unfortunately, no one has yet found such a method, and in fact, no one has even thought about this matter, only instinctively realizing that Spirit Beasts are precious resources.

Half a day later, the carriage arrived at the Hunting Spirit Forest.

This forest is called Notting Forest.

Nuoding City can have a junior academy precisely because there is such a Hunting Spirit Forest not far from Nuoding City. If there were no Spirit Beast forests, there would be no cities nearby.

It can be said that the major forces on the Douluo Continent are established based on forests rich in Spirit Beast resources, as most Spirit Masters do not particularly like the adventurous lifestyle of wandering the World.

Outside Notting Forest, there is a small town, quite prosperous, with a bustling atmosphere comparable to Nuoding City during a market day.

Most of the residents here are Spirit Masters, but none are higher than a two-ring Spirit Grandmaster. The number of ordinary people is also considerable, but there are more strong and healthy individuals. Two or three of them together can be equivalent to a one-ring Spirit Master.

If a Spirit Master is of the support system, Healing System, or food system, and has no hidden abilities, such ordinary strong men can even fight one-on-one.

According to Ma Xiunuo, the number of Spirit Masters and Spirit Grandmasters who died at the hands of ordinary people is also considerable, several hundred every year, and in one year, the number even approached a thousand.

However, when a Spirit Master's spirit power reaches level thirty, becoming a Spirit Elder, the number of Spirit Masters dying at the hands of ordinary people drops sharply. In the past decade, on average, there are only about three per year.

This is normal. When they are Spirit Masters or Spirit Grandmasters, their spirit power is still low. After using a Spirit Ability once or twice, or eight or nine times, their spirit power is exhausted. At that time, strong ordinary people surrounding them may well win.

But after reaching the Spirit Elder level, the quality and quantity of spirit power both improve, and the body also begins to benefit from the nourishment of spirit power, gradually strengthening. It becomes difficult for ordinary people to kill a Spirit Elder, unless they sacrifice many lives.

"Little San, what do you think of this place? Is it a bit unfamiliar for your first time?" Su Yuntao asked.

"I'm indeed not used to this kind of bustle, but this place is truly prosperous. Spirit Beasts are the greatest resource in this World," Tang San sighed.

"Most of the Spirit Masters here live off the Hunting Spirit Forest, and the nearby villages and cities were also gradually established because of the prosperity here."

"That's right. Although places without Spirit Beasts are very safe, places without Hunting Spirit Forests must be very backward, without large cities or Spirit Master academies. Although Spirit Hall also sends people to those places to help awaken Spirits, those children with cultivation talent who are unwilling to follow Spirit Hall basically cannot attend a junior Spirit Master academy," Ma Xiunuo said, as if recalling past memories, also sighing.

Tang San nodded.

In his previous life on Earth, even in peaceful times, there were still impoverished mountain areas where most children could only stay in the mountains their entire lives and could not go to school.

The Douluo Continent, needless to say, has even more impoverished areas. Who knows how many children with cultivation talent, but not high talent (innate spirit power one or two levels), are unable to become Spirit Masters and change their fate because they cannot leave the mountains.

It's not that they are not allowed to go to school, but that they do not have the conditions to leave their impoverished hometowns.

For children with only one or two levels of innate spirit power, the Spirit Masters sent by Spirit Hall to awaken Spirits will not usually invite them unless there is a family connection. They will only issue a certificate, giving them the opportunity to study at a junior academy.

Spirit Hall accepts all Spirit Masters, but at the very least, they must be a Spirit Master.

Failing that, if their innate spirit power is a bit higher, say level three, and they have hope of becoming a Spirit Elder, they might be specially recruited and could then make a living at the local Spirit Hall.

Training children with one or two levels of innate spirit power is not as effective as finding strong, healthy ordinary people without spirit power, training them slightly, equipping them with weapons, and putting them in armor. The role they play on the battlefield is not smaller than that of Spirit Masters.

At least these ordinary people accept their fate, and their obedience is definitely stronger than those who aspire to become Spirit Masters but only have one or two levels of talent.

"Also, the higher your chances of seeing Spirit Masters will be when you go to bigger cities in the future," Ma Xiunuo changed the subject and continued, describing the places Tang San would go in the future...

Although he wanted to deny it, the saying "birds of a feather flock together" was indeed true.

Just like in a small village like Saint Spirit Village, ordinary people could only see the Spirit Master sent by Spirit Hall to help awaken Spirits when the children in the village awakened their Spirits each year.

As for him, with innate spirit power, he entered the World of Spirit Masters and could see Spirit Masters every day: Ma Xiunuo, Su Yuntao, Sisi, and various teachers, directors, and the dean of Notting Academy... well, the dean was not seen often.

Afterward, the four of them briefly purchased some insect repellent powder and then entered the Hunting Spirit Forest.

The guarding knights were Spirit Hall members, and moreover, Ma Xiunuo's subordinates, so they naturally dared not ask him for a warrant and let them pass directly.

Privilege, as long as one is within the system, is ubiquitous.

"What kind of Spirit Beast do you plan to choose for your Second spirit ring, Sister Sisi?" Tang San walked on the ground of the Hunting Spirit Forest, noticing that there weren't many fallen leaves and branches, and asked about Sisi's spirit ring choice.

As Su Yuntao's girlfriend, planning a spirit ring for her could be considered repaying Su Yuntao's "kindness of recognition."

Furthermore, he had also received a lot of help from Spirit Hall, and Sisi was also a member of Spirit Hall. Helping each other was not a problem.

"Yes, Sisi, tell us your choice and let Little San see if it's suitable? If not, change it, he's very smart," Su Yuntao echoed, then used himself as an example, "Just like my Second Soul Skill, it allows me to contend with Spirit Grandmasters close to level thirty."

Sisi was a little moved, and finally decided to trust Tang San, saying, "Little San, my Spirit is a ribbon, it has no attacking ability. For my First Soul Skill, I chose a Datura Snake close to ninety years old, which gave my Spirit the ability of Binding, and even some toxins that can paralyze enemies. Following this line of thought, for my Second spirit ring, I want to broaden the range of Binding, finding a Spirit Beast that can lengthen my ribbon or make it divide... What do you think of my idea?"

Binding?

Tang San couldn't help but feel a little dazed.

He had thought that by not becoming Yu Xiaogang's disciple, he would stay away from the Datura Snake, but he didn't expect to "meet" it again in such a way. It truly was fate.

This was also why Tang San hadn't asked Sisi about her Spirit Ability when he was reading in Spirit Hall, otherwise he wouldn't have been so surprised.

"Sister Sisi, that ninety-year-old Datura Snake, besides giving you a Binding Spirit Ability, also increased the toughness of your Spirit, right?" Tang San asked.

"That's right. My ribbon Spirit was originally very brittle and would break with a tug, but after adding the Datura Snake's spirit ring, it gained considerable toughness," Sisi nodded. "But the most important point is still the Binding Spirit Ability."

"Sister Sisi, what I'm about to say might not sound good, but isn't it a bit wasteful to exchange a spirit ring slot for a Binding Spirit Ability?"

To make his argument more convincing, Tang San continued, "An ordinary person, practicing with a rope for a few years, can also lasso others."

"A ribbon Spirit can indeed be used for tying and Binding, but the First spirit ring should primarily enhance the ribbon's advantages, rather than aiming for the Binding Spirit Ability."

"Although Spirits are not real objects, they have similarities to real objects. May I ask, Sister Sisi, what are the characteristics of a ribbon?"

Sisi thought for a moment and said, "Light and soft."

"Exactly, light and soft. Let me ask you another question: if a ribbon is suspended in the air and someone tries to cut it with a sword, what will happen?" Tang San affirmed these two characteristics of the ribbon and continued to ask.

"The ribbon will be cut in two?" Sisi was a little unsure, as she had never seen that scenario.

"Perhaps I didn't provide the premise for my question. The person wielding the sword is an ordinary person, the sword is not a Spirit, nor a divine weapon, just the most ordinary weapon."

13: A soul ring suitable for Sisi

Hearing the stack of prerequisites, Sisi was stunned, wanting to say that the ribbon would still break, but she was afraid of saying the wrong thing and being laughed at.

So, she turned to look at Su Yuntao.

"Uh... I don't know either." Although Su Yuntao had been working harder recently, he wasn't sure if a normal sword could cut the ribbon.

However, he leaned towards it being able to be cut.

After all, when Sisi used her ribbon to bind him, his wolf claws, which were like sharp blades, could easily cut Sisi's ribbon and then pounce towards Sisi... Cough cough! Now was not the time to think about those R-rated scenes.

Finally, the well-informed Ma Xiunuo gave the answer, saying, "If it's as Xiao Tang said, then the sword won't be able to cut the ribbon; instead, the ribbon will bind the sword... So that's it, is this the meaning of 'light and soft'? Sisi, the Datura Snake really isn't very suitable for your ribbon."

"Indeed, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo has experienced more. As the saying goes: 'An old person in the family is like a treasure.' It's true; he's rich in all sorts of experience." Tang San smiled.

"Cough, I just lived long and saw a lot." Ma Xiunuo coughed dryly, hiding his joy at being praised.

"Sister Sisi, do you know now? You chose the wrong first spirit ring; the Datura Snake is not suitable."

Tang San asserted, "The Datura Snake doesn't provide much of a boost to your Spirit; the ribbon is still very fragile. As for the poison, that bit of paralyzing effect basically has no impact on a Spirit Master, right?"

"Yes."

Sisi nodded, admitting it, but she subtly glanced at Su Yuntao.

This small action could fool Ma Xiunuo, but it couldn't escape Tang San's eyes—so, Sisi's Spirit Ability was just for playing 'Binding play' with Su Yuntao?

Is she that open-minded?

It's no different from modern society in his previous World.

He truly underestimated the boyfriend-girlfriend relationships on Douluo Continent.

Putting aside distracting thoughts, Tang San continued, "To be honest, the Binding ability is actually quite good and is also a means of attack, but the Datura Snake should not have been chosen."

"You should choose silkworm-type Spirit Beasts that can spin silk."

"Silk is light and soft, perfectly fitting your Spirit. Moreover, silkworm-type Spirit Beasts, except for the Ice Silkworm in the Extreme North Land which hasn't been found to spin silk and metamorphose into a moth, all silkworm-type Spirit Beasts living in other environments can spin silk. Furthermore, silkworms of different attributes can also give your Spirit different attribute bonuses, as your Spirit has no special attributes."

"Regarding attributes, the Datura Snake brought poison to your Spirit, but it only has a paralyzing effect."

"The Datura Snake's poison, even when newly born, one drop can poison hundreds of adults. Yet, after you hunted a ninety-year-old Datura Snake and its poison was inherited by your Spirit, it only brought you the ability to paralyze... This means your Spirit is trying its best to reject the poison. For future spirit ring choices, unless absolutely necessary, you must never choose a poisonous Spirit Beast, otherwise..."

Tang San didn't speak the latter half of the sentence, but Sisi, Su Yuntao, and Ma Xiunuo all realized the seriousness of the problem: if Sisi added more poisonous spirit rings to her Spirit, her Spirit might not be able to bear it.

"After absorbing a spirit ring, the characteristics of the Spirit Beast will be inherited by the Spirit, giving rise to abilities of that kind, which are Spirit Abilities. However, some characteristics of Spirit Beasts are not suitable for the Spirit."

"And the Spirit is one with us humans, or rather, it is a part of us, a peculiar organ, a transcendent organ that exists between matter and energy."

Tang San explained his understanding and definition of Spirit, "How can you be so casual with a part of your own body? Like poison, who would inject poison into their own body organs?"

"Even if some Spirits are naturally poisonous, the Spirit's own capacity to bear poison also has limits."

"Furthermore, what can bear the poison is the Spirit, not the human body."

"Spirits of different qualities have different limits for bearing poison. Sister Sisi, your ribbon obviously isn't suitable for bearing too much poison."

"If you don't believe me, I can give an example. The author of the biography 'The Poison King's Chronicle,' the Poison King, had a poisonous frog Spirit, which was naturally poisonous. He absorbed only poisonous spirit rings, and they were all from toads and poisonous frogs. But do you know why this book is called 'The Poison King's Chronicle'?"

Sisi asked tremblingly, "Why?"

"Because after he became a Spirit King, he was poisoned by his own Spirit's backlash and died. When his wife found him, his entire body had already rotted away, leaving no bones."

Tang San sighed with emotion, "The final description in 'The Poison King's Chronicle' was recorded by the Poison King's wife, who decided to make it public to help future generations avoid this pitfall. However, most Spirit Masters don't seem to like reading much."

"Cough, getting back to the topic, even a poisonous frog Spirit couldn't bear poisonous spirit rings produced by similar Spirit Beasts, and Sister Sisi's Spirit has nothing to do with poison at all..."

Sisi's face turned pale, and her body trembled as she asked, "Will I also experience a Spirit backlash from poison and end up with no bones left? Just thinking about it is terrifying."

"Sisi, it should be fine. It's just a paralyzing effect, and it's not even a Spirit Ability, so it's definitely fine." Su Yuntao comforted her, but it had little effect. He could only look at Tang San for help.

"There's no need to be afraid. As I said, every Spirit has a limit to its tolerance for poison. As long as that limit isn't reached, there won't be a problem. The prerequisite is that in the future, when you choose spirit rings, do not choose poisonous Spirit Beasts." Tang San gave his answer, which reassured Sisi. "Moreover, poison, to some extent, is also a medicine. As long as the dosage is adjusted well, it can have very good therapeutic or auxiliary effects."

"Just like Sister Sisi's paralysis, when used on severely injured Spirit Masters, it can alleviate their pain, allow them to relax, be less agitated, and make treatment easier."

Ma Xiunuo pondered, "Is poison also a medicine?"

"Yes, after all, drinking too much water can also cause death by bloating." Tang San gave the simplest example, "Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, water can also kill people, so is water poisonous too?"

"A novel idea." Ma Xiunuo finally understood Tang San's wild thoughts from that day, and then he spoke a word, "Dosage. After all, while medicine can cure illnesses, taking medicine when not sick can also cause harm to the human body. In severe cases, it can even kill people."

"That's the truth."

Tang San laughed, "It's just that the amount of some medicines the human body can tolerate is very small; perhaps one drop could cause death. But if that one drop is subdivided, subdivided, and further subdivided, if a human inhales that tiny amount, subdivided a dozen times, perhaps they'll be fine, or perhaps they'll recover in a moment."

"Just like the paralyzing effect Sister Sisi carries after absorbing the Datura Snake, perhaps that's the Datura Snake's venom diluted to a point where the human body can detoxify it through its own immunity... its recovery ability."

At this point, Ma Xiunuo was completely awed by Tang San's talent.

Next, Tang San analyzed suitable second spirit ring choices for Sisi, mainly insect-type Spirit Beasts that could spin silk, with silkworms being the majority.

"However, compared to silkworms, there's a Spirit Beast even more suitable for you: the Cloud Bird."

"This type of Spirit Beast has feathers as light as silk, which can float with the wind, traveling a thousand li in a day. If Sister Sisi absorbs this type of Spirit Beast's spirit ring, she will most likely make her ribbon lighter, and might even gain a flying Spirit Ability, though it probably isn't conventional flight, but rather requires reliance on air currents, meaning wind."

Ribbons and streamers were the first impressions that came to Tang San's mind, reminiscent of the fairies he had seen in various murals and beautiful pictures in his previous World.

If Sisi absorbed a Cloud Bird's spirit ring, she would most likely inherit the ability to utilize streamers and float with the wind.

"Cloud Bird? That's good, I want that one."

Flight?

This was a rare Spirit Ability.

Even bird-type Spirit Masters, to possess a flying Spirit Ability, either had to wait for their spirit power to increase or attach a spirit ring that could grant flight in advance.

Therefore, Sisi was very fond of the Cloud Bird.

"For the second spirit ring, Sister Sisi probably won't have the chance."
Tang San shook his head, "Currently, the best choice is a silkworm-type."

"Why?" Sisi was puzzled. In Tang San's words, wasn't it like picking up sesame seeds and throwing away watermelons?

"Cloud Birds reside in the Storm Grand Canyon." Tang San revealed a fact that made Sisi despair.

The Storm Grand Canyon was a gathering place for wild Spirit Beasts, and it was even rumored that Ten-thousand year soul beasts existed there. Spirit Masters who wanted to hunt Spirit Beasts there would need at least a Spirit Ancestor to lead the team.

"Haha, Sister Sisi, look on the bright side. If you can't get a Cloud Bird for your second spirit ring, you can prepare for it in your third spirit ring," Tang San said. "Hunting Spirit Beasts doesn't necessarily require going yourself; buying them is also an option."

In the small town outside Notting Forest, there were similar services where Spirit Hunting teams would capture live Spirit Beasts requested by customers.

Therefore, there must be similar Spirit Hunting teams in other places as well.

However, the employment fees for such Spirit Hunting teams were very high.

After all, Spirit Beasts were very difficult to catch.

There were also benefits: if a Spirit Beast dropped a Spirit Bone, it could avoid bloodshed, as Spirit Masters who bought live Spirit Beasts would basically take them home to absorb, not in front of the Spirit Hunting team.

It's just that the drop rate for Spirit Bones is extremely low, so this benefit is almost never enjoyed.

However, Tang San estimated that Sisi wouldn't be able to encounter a Cloud Bird in the future.

After all, with Sisi's current talent, reaching the Spirit King level in her lifetime would be considered top-tier.

And the Cloud Bird, this type of Spirit Beast, lived in dependence on the rumored Ten-thousand year soul beast in the Storm Grand Canyon, similar to the symbiotic relationship between rhinos and oxpeckers that Tang San saw in the Animal World in his previous life.

Although the Spirit Beast Encyclopedia in the Nuoding City Spirit Hall did not explicitly state what type of Ten-thousand year soul beast it was, Tang San could already guess that Spirit Beasts were actually not much different from ordinary animals, except for possessing supernatural powers and gradually developing intelligence comparable to humans after their cultivation reached ten thousand years.

Therefore, if Sisi didn't have a powerful team, or connections with higher-ups in the Spirit Hall, she would never be able to obtain a Cloud Bird's spirit ring.

The reason Tang San said that was to give Sisi hope, to make her persevere longer on the path of a Spirit Master, at least to be stronger and have a greater chance of protecting herself.

Regarding his friends, if possible, Tang San would always try to change them in his own way.

14: The helplessness of civilian soul masters

“Then, which type of Banyan Silkworm Spirit Beast should I choose?” Sisi wasn’t the impractical type; although she admired wealth, she could also accept reality. If she couldn’t get something, she’d choose an alternative and make do. “Besides the Ice Silkworm you mentioned, most Banyan Silkworms like to eat mulberry leaves, and Notting Forest doesn’t seem to have many mulberry trees.”

“Sister Sisi, you don’t have to worry about that, because we’re going that way anyway,” Tang San said with a smile.

Why did Tang San say that?

It all started with the plant Spirit Beast he needed, the Thousand Root Banyan.

The Thousand Root Banyan, a plant Spirit Beast, has a very lush canopy with emerald green leaves that almost all insect Spirit Beasts consume, and its sap can even help insect Spirit Beasts grow.

Of course, it’s only effective for herbivorous insect Spirit Beasts.

If the sap of the Thousand Root Banyan could increase a Spirit Master’s cultivation, then even if this plant Spirit Beast was difficult to cut down, Spirit Masters would cut it to extinction.

When a Thousand Root Banyan grows to the ten-thousand-year level, it becomes an entire forest, a beautiful home for insect Spirit Beasts.

However, the Thousand Root Banyan, before it grows, also needs protection.

After all, its leaves are very delicious to insect Spirit Beasts, and its sap can even increase their cultivation.

Insect Spirit Beasts do not possess human wisdom.

The previously mentioned human Spirit Masters cutting the Thousand Root Banyan to extinction was merely a hypothetical extreme case where [the sap is effective for spirit power enhancement]. In reality, humans would regularly harvest it, and Spirit Hall would very likely send people to guard plant Spirit Beasts like the Thousand Root Banyan, which do not develop intelligence.

But insect Spirit Beasts are different; they only have an instinct for growth. Before reaching ten thousand years of cultivation, their intelligence is not high. When they encounter something beneficial to themselves, they will devour it immediately, regardless of whether it has fully grown.

If that were the only case, then the extinction of the Thousand Root Banyan would not be surprising.

But in fact, the Thousand Root Banyan has not gone extinct.

After learning about the Thousand Root Banyan, Tang San couldn't help but praise the wonder and beauty of the natural World.

The Thousand Root Banyan has not gone extinct because, before it grows to the thousand-year mark, it is guarded by a carnivorous Banyan Silkworm Spirit Beast named "Banyan Silkworm."

The "Spirit Compendium" does not record how the Banyan Silkworm appeared on the Thousand Root Banyan, but every Thousand Root Banyan discovered that is under a thousand years old has a Banyan Silkworm.

Tang San had a guess about this: when the Thousand Root Banyan was still in seed form, the Banyan Moth, the adult form of the Banyan Silkworm Spirit Beast, would search for Thousand Root Banyan seeds all over the World and lay its eggs on them, growing alongside the Thousand Root Banyan.

The Banyan Silkworm is a carnivorous Banyan Silkworm Spirit Beast and does not eat plants, while the Thousand Root Banyan, before it grows, cannot withstand the gnawing of other insect Spirit Beasts.

The two coexist, each taking what they need.

Listening to Tang San's introduction to the symbiotic relationship between the Thousand Root Banyan and the Banyan Silkworm, Su Yuntao, Ma Xiunuo, and the others were also greatly enlightened, marveling at the unique ecology among Spirit Beasts.

Ma Xiunuo, however, asked a question: "Why is it 'under a thousand years'?"

Tang San replied, "The 'Spirit Compendium' doesn't give a specific explanation, it just says that Banyan Silkworms over a thousand years old, if not hunted, still exist, but they no longer completely eliminate other insects that come to eat leaves or gnaw on sap. I have two more plausible conjectures about this—"

Su Yuntao asked curiously, "What conjectures?"

"First, the Banyan Silkworm doesn't have the ability to completely eliminate other insect Spirit Beasts, because a thousand-year-cultivation Thousand Root Banyan's roots already extend nearly a thousand meters underground, and the trunk above covers an area of nearly a hundred meters."

Tang San spoke eloquently, with a commanding air.

"With such a scale, a thousand-year-level Banyan Silkworm simply cannot manage it."

“A thousand-year-level Thousand Root Banyan will no longer lose Life force due to such a small amount of sap. Those herbivorous insect Spirit Beasts that come to suck sap will also attract other carnivorous insects and animal Spirit Beasts, already forming a complete ecosystem.”

“Frankly speaking, a thousand-year-level Thousand Root Banyan is a small Spirit Beast forest.”

Ma Xiunuo nodded: “That should be it. In the northern part of the Heaven Dou Empire, there is a Spirit Beast forest entirely composed of Thousand Root Banyan. No Spirit Master can determine whether those crisscrossing, interconnected Thousand Root Banyan are one plant or multiple plants... In fact, let alone ten thousand years, even at a thousand years, no Spirit Master would hunt this type of plant Spirit Beast. Besides the difficulty of hunting, it’s because it’s equivalent to destroying a Spirit Beast forest. No Empire would allow a Spirit Master to do that, and Spirit Hall absolutely forbids it.”

One Hunting Spirit Forest, one plant Spirit Beast.

Even if the Spirit Masters of Douluo Continent didn’t understand the principle of “sustainable development,” they would know what to choose by common sense.

“And the second conjecture is that the Banyan Silkworm has reached maturity and is about to undergo metamorphosis into a moth, with no time to bother with other insect Spirit Beasts.”

“However, the first possibility is more likely.”

During their discussion, the four had already passed through a large forest area and, guided by the map, found the location of the Thousand Root Banyan.

The nearly towering tree standing before Tang San was the Thousand Root Banyan.

The terrain here was also different from other parts of Notting Forest. Centered around this Thousand Root Banyan, within a thirty-meter radius, no grass grew, and the area was covered with a spiderweb-like network of Thousand Root Banyan roots.

These roots were not just on the surface; they were rooted even deeper underground.

Legend has it that even a Titled Douluo, known for his strength, cannot uproot a hundred-year-level Thousand Root Banyan, because it is connected to the earth. To uproot a Thousand Root Banyan, one would need the power to lift the entire Douluo Continent.

Although this legend contains elements of exaggeration, the point about a Titled Douluo being unable to uproot a Thousand Root Banyan might be true.

A Titled Douluo has a thousand ways to destroy a Thousand Root Banyan, but uprooting one can still be described as “a mayfly trying to shake a tree.”

Destructive power and strength are, one could say, two different matters.

“Is this the Thousand Root Banyan? It’s truly magnificent!”

Su Yuntao couldn’t help but exclaim.

Even though it was only a little over five hundred years old, the trunk of this Thousand Root Banyan had a diameter exceeding ten meters!

However, unlike ordinary trees, the trunk of the Thousand Root Banyan was not round or oval; it was hollow inside, intertwining with itself like an irregularly stretched fishing net, with both sides enclosing and forming a twisted ring.

Its trunk was very clean, with no extra branches or leaves, only a large canopy at the top, whose coverage was comparable to the range of the roots on the ground.

From the branches at the top, there were dense, downward-growing, sprawling root tendrils. Some had already touched the ground and rooted, becoming hard, while others still hung in mid-air, swaying gently with the wind, very supple.

Hardness and softness in one, truly unique.

This was how the Thousand Root Banyan expanded: its roots grew downwards from the branches of its crown towards the ground.

Ordinary trees can be roughly divided into canopy, trunk, and roots, but the Thousand Root Banyan, a plant Spirit Beast, actually has no trunk at all, only roots and a canopy.

In fact, it could even be considered a unique type of grass that looks like a tree.

Rustle!

The leaves on the canopy trembled, and a large greenish-blue insect, almost the size of a human head, emerged. Its head was black, and it had two mandibles below, twitching as if warning Tang San and the others.

“A Banyan Silkworm! I didn’t expect it to come out so quickly. I thought we’d have to cut down the tree first for it to appear. From its appearance, it probably considers us intruders,” Tang San said, surprised, pleased, and pointing a finger at Sister Sisi. “We’re lucky. We can take it down first, and then we’ll cut the tree.”

“Its attack method is to spit silk threads, which can branch out. I even think that if it had human intelligence, it could weave them into something like a spiderweb.”

“Is it poisonous?” Su Yuntao, in his Lone Wolf Spirit Master form, transformed into a werewolf, and was more concerned about whether this thing was poisonous. Sisi’s Second Soul Skill couldn’t be poisonous.

“Don’t worry, a Spirit has a tolerance limit for poison, and besides, I’m the one who pointed it out to Sister Sisi first, so why would I choose a poisonous spirit ring for her?” Tang San indicated the age of this Banyan

Silkworm, “After absorbing this Banyan Silkworm’s spirit power, I estimate Sister Sisi’s strength will receive a qualitative improvement. The Banyan Silkworm’s silk and the ribbon’s silk can be said to complement each other perfectly.”

“Over four hundred years, isn’t that a bit too high for its age?” Su Yuntao was a little worried about whether his girlfriend could handle a four-hundred-year spirit ring. “Why don’t we find another one?”

“No, this one will do.” Sisi was unwilling to give up. “Isn’t the limit for the Second spirit ring around seven hundred years? This is only a little over four hundred years. Do you think I can’t handle it? Don’t underestimate me; when we were having our PC battle, you were the first one to run out of stamina!”

Su Yuntao: “.....”

“Ahem! Watch your language, there are children present,” Ma Xiunuo couldn’t stand it anymore and reminded them.

Su Yuntao was a bit embarrassed, but still didn’t want Sisi to take risks, so he returned to the main topic, saying, “That Grandmaster’s theory can’t be trusted. He’s just a joke.”

In front of Yu Xiaogang, these words naturally couldn’t be said, but now, they could speak freely.

Ma Xiunuo also nodded repeatedly.

“Isn’t your second ring also four hundred years?” Sisi snorted, “If you can do it, why can’t I? Besides, Little San said that my compatibility with this Banyan Silkworm is extremely high.”

“Alright then.”

Su Yuntao no longer tried to dissuade her. His First spirit ring lit up, and he leaped towards the Banyan Silkworm.

First Soul Skill: Hungry Wolf Pounces on Food!

He had, of course, named it himself.

spirit ring: White.

Clearly, it was the retired teacher from Notting Academy who had taken the once young him to hunt.

Even Xiao Chenyu, the City Lord's son, only had a white spirit ring, let alone Su Yuntao?

And the effect of the Spirit Ability was quite useless; it simply allowed Su Yuntao to run on all fours like a real wolf in his Spirit attached state, pouncing on his prey.

If he didn't know this was a Spirit Ability effect, Tang San would have thought Su Yuntao was playing dog *play.

In Tang San's view, wasting a spirit ring slot just to gain an attack method that could be achieved even without a spirit ring skill was truly a bit "luxurious."

The helplessness of commoner Spirit Masters was precisely this.

Their First spirit rings were mostly obtained while studying at a junior Spirit Master academy, led by their teachers to hunt.

However, teachers at junior Spirit Master academies basically just capture and stun a Spirit Beast that they feel has similar characteristics to a student's Spirit, to save trouble.

They would not consider every aspect for the students.

After all, hunting Spirit Beasts was not easy, and if they didn't encounter a suitable Spirit Beast for a long time, the patience of the team leader would wear thin. Plus, the students weren't truly apprenticed, so naturally, they wouldn't put too much effort in.

Yu Xiaogang's optimal spirit ring age limit was probably compiled from the highest age limits that different Spirit Masters in history were recorded to be able to absorb at different ranks.

However, the physical constitutions of people cannot be generalized.

15: The ribbon has weaving marks

After using his First Soul Skill, Su Yuntao's movements were much sharper and faster than before, and his Spirit Grandmaster-level spirit power added to his ferocity.

He leaped up, like a hungry wolf pouncing on its prey, and in the blink of an eye, he had jumped beneath the Thousand Root Banyan's canopy.

He raised his hand.

He swung a claw towards the Banyan Silkworm.

“Ch!”

However, the Banyan Silkworm lived up to its name as the guardian of the Thousand Root Banyan; its reaction speed was astonishingly fast. It instantly spat out a silk thread, wrapping around Su Yuntao's arm, and the silk thread continuously branched out, spreading and Binding along his arm towards his body. It also had a sticky quality, making it very difficult to break free.

“This really isn’t some spider disguised as a silkworm? This silk thread is much more powerful than Sisi’s.” Su Yuntao noticed the sticky silk thread spreading from his arm to his body. Startled, he quickly activated his second Spirit Ability.

Su Yuntao's second spirit ring was planned by Tang San.

Logically, for a Spirit Master whose Spirit is a wolf, the chosen Spirit Beast should also be a wolf-type, matching their own Spirit, which would likely increase their bloodline power.

However, the Spirit Beast Tang San chose for him was not a wolf-type, not even a canid, but a feline.

The Saber-toothed Cat!

First, the Lone Wolf Spirit is not a true wolf; it exists between matter and energy. In Tang San's conception, it is part of the human body's extraordinary organs.

Adding a spirit ring and gaining a Spirit Ability is like adding a skill to an empty skill slot.

It's just that spirit rings produced by different Spirit Beasts have a compatibility with the Spirit.

Otherwise, Tool Spirit Masters would only be able to find spirit rings from ancient artifacts.

Indeed, hunting Spirit Beasts of the same species as a Beast Spirit, or close relatives, can enhance bloodline power. From the perspective of continuing and expanding a family, this is a good choice.

But one point to note is that commoner Spirit Masters like Su Yuntao cannot do that.

Large and small families with powerful Beast Spirits can do so because they can eliminate most other unstable factors, and the family can protect its descendants as they grow. But Su Yuntao is just a commoner; even if he joined Spirit Hall, due to his own talent, he would not be valued by the higher-ups of Spirit Hall. It's impossible for them to deliberately help him hunt powerful wolf-type Spirit Beasts with strong bloodlines for the sake of one Spirit Master or Spirit Grandmaster.

Building a family from scratch is the most difficult step.

And for the first generation of a family, commoners, the first thing to consider is not bloodline inheritance or Spirit evolution, but power.

If he wants to establish his own family and legacy, then he can only become strong first, then after one or two generations of accumulation, form a small family. Only from the third generation onwards can they slowly experiment to find which wolf-type Spirit Beasts are most suitable for his Lone Wolf Spirit.

This process would take at least a hundred years.

Su Yuntao can wait a hundred years, but he is the “first generation.” He doesn't have that many options. Born a commoner, he can only temporarily set aside the factor of enhancing bloodline when choosing a spirit ring. His main goal is to gain powerful offensive capabilities, strengthening his Spirit while increasing special attacks.

This is both for self-protection and to have the power to fight criminals and even The Fallen during law enforcement.

As mentioned before, although Su Yuntao's job was leisurely, besides helping people in villages near Nuoding City awaken their Spirits, he also needed to take shifts with the patrol team.

And during patrols, it was inevitable to encounter some trouble.

This requires power, not bloodline.

For Spirits with weak bloodlines, a slight increase in bloodline does not significantly improve combat power.

For a not-so-powerful Beast Spirit like the Lone Wolf, unless a high-level wolf Spirit Beast is found, the bloodline improvement is limited, far less effective than a powerful offensive Spirit Ability.

In Su Yuntao's environment and social class, the choice was simply a matter of cost-effectiveness.

The most famous characteristic of the Saber-toothed Cat Spirit Beast is its claws, which are about ten centimeters long. Even a hundred-forged steel blade can be cut by its sharp claws.

After Su Yuntao obtained the Saber-toothed Cat's spirit ring, his physical attributes increased less, but his waist flexibility improved by more than one level.

Regarding this, Sisi had the most say.

Ahem!

Getting back to the point, besides improving Su Yuntao's agility, the Saber-toothed Cat spirit ring more importantly gave him another pair of claws.

Vajra Wolf Claw!

When using this second Spirit Ability, the wolf claws on Su Yuntao's ten fingers disappeared. He clenched his fists, and three sharp blades, like peculiar daggers, emerged between his four fingers, excluding his thumb.

Their sharpness could easily cut through armor that could withstand a full-strength blow from a Level 30 Spirit Master. If applied to flesh and blood, it could be said that unless it was a defense-type Spirit Master, even a Spirit King could have their defenses broken by these sharp claws—though a Spirit King wouldn't just stand there foolishly.

Moreover, Su Yuntao could also use this Spirit Ability to condense all his spirit power onto the six wolf claws, firing them out as energy blades with an attack range exceeding twenty meters, though their power would weaken with distance.

If within ten meters, a Spirit Elder hit by it would have a nine out of ten chance of dying... excluding those Spirit Elders with powerful Spirits.

However, if he used his full power, Su Yuntao would exhaust all his spirit power with this move.

If this move failed to kill the enemy, then he would be the one killed.

But Su Yuntao was very happy, because he had never expected his second spirit ring to possess such a powerful offensive Spirit Ability, and the attack method was truly very cool, much more elegant than his First Soul Skill: Hungry Wolf Pounces on Prey.

However, because this move consumed a lot of spirit power, Su Yuntao basically wouldn't use it. He relied on the Vajra Wolf Claw to enhance his combat power. After all, with such a pair of Vajra Wolf Claws that could cut through iron like mud, his armor-piercing ability increased by at least five times.

At this moment, Su Yuntao used the Vajra Wolf Claw, cut off the Banyan Silkworm's silk thread, landed back on the ground, and brushed off the silkworm silk from his body.

“It’s really sticky.”

“Sisi!”

He turned and called out to Sisi.

“First Soul Skill: Binding!”

Sisi naturally knew Su Yuntao's thoughts and immediately released her Spirit, activating her First Soul Skill.

In an instant, the white ribbon in her hand truly moved like a slithering python, wrapping around the Banyan Silkworm on the tree canopy. In just a moment, the slowly moving Banyan Silkworm was caught, bound, and twisting incessantly.

“Got it!”

A pull.

A tug.

The Banyan Silkworm fell to the ground, no longer moving.

“The Banyan Silkworm might be playing dead,” Tang San reminded.

“Watch me!” Su Yuntao leaped up, jumped in front of the Banyan Silkworm, and plunged his Vajra Wolf Claw into the Banyan Silkworm's body, pinning it to the ground.

Now, whether it was playing dead or not, it could no longer break free.

“Sisi, hurry up, this bug is quite strong.” Su Yuntao used one hand to pin the Banyan Silkworm with his steel claw and the other to press down on its violently struggling body, turning to call out to Sisi.

Sisi immediately ran over, took out the short knife she carried, and stabbed it into the Banyan Silkworm's head, cutting off the entire black part of its head.

Following that, a yellow spirit ring appeared.

“Phew~”

Sisi let out a sigh of relief, put away her short knife, and began to adjust her state.

Absorbing a spirit ring, for a Spirit Master, is also a challenge. It must be done in the most perfect state to increase the success rate of absorption.

After adjusting her state, Sisi released her Spirit, using her spirit power to guide the spirit ring, causing it to encircle her ribbon Spirit.

The moment the spirit ring enveloped her Spirit, Sisi's body trembled, and her complexion visibly paled. Su Yuntao, Ma Xiunuo, and Tang San couldn't help but worry for her.

And this also made Tang San feel a bit guilty.

According to his thoughts, an adult, regardless of their physique, should be able to withstand a hundred-year spirit ring, let alone a second ring.

But now, Sisi was absorbing a four-hundred-year spirit ring, and before this, she had almost no significant consumption, yet her performance showed immense pressure.

Was it that the Banyan Silkworm was incompatible with the Ribbon Spirit?

That's impossible.

Otherwise, Tool Spirits would be incompatible with any Spirit Beast.

Then there was only one reason left: for ordinary commoner Spirit Masters, even a second spirit ring, enduring a lifespan of around four hundred years, was still relatively difficult.

“Yes, ordinary commoner Spirit Masters are different from those large and small families. They didn't have medicinal baths in their youth, their Spirits were inferior, and they were often bullied by noble students in the elementary academy. It's estimated that they accumulated many hidden injuries back then, so their physiques naturally can't compare to those of family scions, or those with powerful Spirits, or those whose Spirits mutated in a superior direction.”

Tang San frowned tightly, immediately understanding why most commoner Spirit Masters' first spirit rings were white.

It wasn't just because the teachers at the elementary academy hunted them for convenience; more importantly, most commoner Spirit Masters' physical qualities couldn't compare to those of family scions.

Absorbing a hundred-year spirit ring as their first might pose a Life-threatening danger to them!

Ten minutes later, Sisi's complexion regained its rosiness. It seemed she had pulled through.

This also made Su Yuntao breathe a sigh of relief, thanking Tang San: “Little San, thanks to you, otherwise Sisi would have missed such a suitable four-hundred-year spirit ring.”

Tang San, however, shook his head: “I should be the one apologizing. For Sisi, this spirit ring almost caused her to fail absorption. I didn't expect a four-hundred-year spirit ring to put so much pressure on Sister Sisi...”

“No need to blame yourself.” Ma Xiunuo patted Tang San's head, chuckling, “spirit ring absorption is inherently an adventure. Every year, many Spirit Masters fail to absorb spirit rings, thereby losing the chance to become a Spirit Master... Sisi's situation is already quite good.”

What Ma Xiunuo said was indeed true.

Every time a Spirit Master absorbs a spirit ring, it is not only a breakthrough in their cultivation bottleneck but also a challenge to themselves.

If their willpower is insufficient, they won't have the opportunity to continue on.

And the consequences of absorption failure, at best, are a decrease in spirit power, preventing further breakthroughs; at worst, it's bursting and dying.

For Spirit Masters, cultivation is not always smooth sailing.

Half an hour later, Sisi finally finished absorbing, opening her eyes, filled with joy.

“Sisi, you succeeded! What's your second Spirit Ability? Tell me quickly!” Seeing this, Su Yuntao understood that Sisi must have obtained a very suitable Spirit Ability for her, and he was happy about it.

“My second spirit ring has made my Spirit tougher.” Sisi released her Spirit. The ribbon seemed no different from before, but Tang San, with his Purple Demon Eye vision, was the first to notice the difference in the ribbon.

If the previous ribbon was just a smooth white strip of cloth, now, the surface of her Spirit had weaving marks.

In short, before absorbing the Banyan Silkworm's spirit ring, Sisi's ribbon was a smooth strip of cloth with no marks on it, but now, it had details, like a work of art from a weaving Grandmaster.

16: Sisi's soul skill: Silk pupation

“Is there any difference?”

Although the details of the ribbon Spirit were richer, with traces of weaving, the ribbon itself was still very smooth, and Su Yuntao's eyesight couldn't detect any difference.

Of course, even Sisi would find it difficult to detect with just her naked eye, as the traces were too minute.

She could sense it because the ribbon was her Spirit.

Ma Xiunuo, wearing a pair of reading glasses, was the second to notice the weaving marks: “Your Spirit is indeed different from before; it has weaving marks on it, making it look more like a real ribbon.”

“It's this change! I feel my ribbon is more flexible and not so easily torn,” Sisi said, looking at Su Yuntao. “How about we have a match? See how much stronger I've become.”

“Okay, I'll also see how much stronger you've become after acquiring your Second Soul Skill, Sisi.” Su Yuntao was eager to see his girlfriend's progress. However, he still believed he was stronger. “I'll go easy on you.”

After all, his spirit power had reached rank twenty-four!

And Sisi had just obtained her Second spirit ring, so her spirit power was at most rank twenty-one.

From the perspective of Spirit Master restraint, a control system restrains an attack system, but his spirit power was three ranks higher than Sisi's, and he could fight beyond his rank, so Sisi definitely couldn't control him.

Moreover, Sisi was a woman, and her strength was inherently less than his.

If he didn't go easy on her, he might have to spend money coaxing her for a while afterward.

The two did not exchange names and ranks like in a typical Spirit Duel; after all, they were a couple and knew each other well, so there was no need for such formalities, and besides, this wasn't a formal Spirit Duel arena.

As a gentleman, Su Yuntao naturally wouldn't launch a strong attack first.

Moreover, Sisi was his girlfriend; if he attacked first just to win, he probably wouldn't be able to climb into Sisi's bed tonight.

“Hehe, then I’ll make the first move.” A hint of cunning flashed in Sisi’s eyes as she released her First Soul Skill, Binding, and the white ribbon attacked Su Yuntao.

Su Yuntao was already familiar with Sisi’s Binding Spirit Ability and began to dodge, but he found that Sisi’s First Soul Skill was much more flexible, truly like a white long snake, winding and entangling.

Coupled with the ribbon’s lightness, it made it difficult for Su Yuntao to judge the turning points of the Binding.

Therefore, Su Yuntao planned to use his wolf claws to grab the ribbon and tear it apart, as Sisi’s ribbon was not as tough as rope or chains.

However, the moment he gripped the ribbon, Su Yuntao was extremely surprised.

In the past, he wouldn’t need much strength to tear Sisi’s ribbon, but now, he needed to use spirit power to tear it, and even then, the spirit power consumption exceeded thirty percent of his total.

Su Yuntao knew that Sisi’s ribbon Spirit consumed little spirit power; she could probably cast her First Soul Skill about ten times with her rank twenty-one spirit power.

If each time he was entangled, it consumed thirty percent of his spirit power, then Sisi only needed to do it four times, and his spirit power would be completely depleted.

However, Su Yuntao believed that he was currently going easy on his girlfriend.

After all, in a real battle, he wouldn't give Sisi a chance to use her Spirit Ability; he would directly rush forward and strike with a claw, ensuring a decisive victory.

In fact, as long as the opponent was confirmed to be an enemy, he would try his best not to give them any chance to release their Spirit.

At a moment concerning one's own life, how could one hope for the enemy to adhere to martial ethics?

If he could eliminate the opponent with one move, he would absolutely not use a second!

“Sisi, it’s time to show me your Second Soul Skill, isn’t it?” Su Yuntao tore Sisi’s First Soul Skill apart, consuming a bit too much spirit power, but he still smoothed his bangs, showing his ease.

“Since that’s the case, then I’ll show you my Second Soul Skill.”

“Silkworm Cocoon Transformation!”

Instantly, ten ribbons emerged from Sisi’s hand and wrapped around Su Yuntao.

“Second Soul Skill: Vajra Wolf Claw!”

Su Yuntao had already consumed nearly thirty percent of his spirit power with the First Soul Skill. With ten ribbons in this Second Soul Skill, Su Yuntao naturally didn't dare to be careless and immediately released his Second Soul Skill.

However, the indestructible Vajra Wolf Claw was foiled this time.

The wolf claw swung at the ribbons as if swinging at air, as if the ribbons didn't exist at all.

But when the ribbons touched his skin, Su Yuntao could clearly feel the smoothness of the ribbons.

“Indeed, Sisi’s ribbon Spirit has evolved under the augmentation of the Banyan Silkworm spirit ring, becoming lighter and smoother. This inherits the characteristics of the Banyan Silkworm’s silk.”

“Tao Ge’s Vajra Wolf Claw is incredibly sharp, but it can’t cut through air, so naturally, it can’t cut through ribbons that can float freely in the air.”

“This might be another interpretation of using softness to overcome hardness...”

Tang San smiled, happy that Sisi had obtained a Spirit Ability that was extremely suitable for her. However, his gaze then fell upon the ribbon fragments on the ground.

Those were the remaining ribbon fragments after Sisi’s First Soul Skill was torn apart by Su Yuntao.

Logically, Spirits and Spirit Abilities are not physical entities; once released, they dissipate into nothingness.

But the ribbon fragments of Sisi’s First Soul Skill were still scattered on the ground...

At this moment, Su Yuntao was already entangled by ten ribbons, just like he was entangled by the Banyan Silkworm’s silk before, bound tightly.

Only this time, he couldn’t easily break free with his Vajra Wolf Claw.

“No, I must use spirit power.” Su Yuntao felt that if this continued, he would completely lose face. He injected spirit power into his Vajra Wolf Claw.

Rip!

Immediately, the ribbons on his body were shattered.

But this also consumed a large amount of his spirit power.

“Hoo~hoo~ Sisi, your Second Soul Skill is really good. It takes a lot of spirit power to break free. It seems to have inherited the stickiness of the Banyan Silkworm silk,” Su Yuntao said, panting, giving Sisi a thumbs-up.

“My Second Soul Skill isn’t finished yet, take this!” Sisi covered her mouth with a laugh, her right hand pointing, condensing nearly half of her spirit power, and shouted, “Rise for this old lady!”

In an instant, all those ribbon fragments floated up, reconnected with each other, and transformed into something akin to a tornado, continuously wrapping around Su Yuntao.

Su Yuntao, whose spirit power was almost depleted, had no power to resist and was tied into a zongzi by Sisi’s ribbons.

According to Sisi, it was a cocoon.

“Sisi, the effect of your Second Soul Skill is so good? You can even re-control the ribbon fragments to wrap around enemies? Is it true that the thicker your spirit power, the larger the range?” Ma Xiunuo couldn’t help but ask. If this Spirit Ability was used well, it would be much easier to deal with a large number of resisting individuals during future law enforcement.

“I think so, but that last move consumed nearly half of my spirit power. The more fragments there are, the more troublesome it is to control. My head feels a little dizzy now,” Sisi said, rubbing her temples, her face a bit tired.

At this moment, as Sisi relaxed and withdrew her Spirit, Su Yuntao also regained his freedom, but his expression was a little helpless: “Well, now I’m no match for you, Sisi. You mustn’t abandon me because of this. I’m already yours.”

Facing Su Yuntao’s antics, Sisi helplessly said, “There are children here, be careful.”

“Cough cough!” Tang San coughed twice, pretending not to understand, and said seriously, “Tao Ge, don’t worry, Sisi won’t abandon you. And dare you say you didn’t go easy? If it were a life-and-death battle, Sisi probably wouldn’t even have a chance to release her Spirit... However, to be honest, if Sisi’s spirit power were higher, even if you could win, it would be very difficult. After all, Sisi’s Spirit is very soft, and if it continues to develop in the future, you might not even be able to cut it.”

“Xiao Tang is right. Everyone’s Spirit has its own characteristics. By leveraging their respective strengths, they can become powerful Spirit Masters,” Ma Xiunuo also gave an objective evaluation. “In the future, when you two are together and cooperate, you will surely gain some fame in Nuoding City. Sisi is good at control, and you are good at attack. With more cooperation, even a Spirit Ancestor might not be able to do anything to you two.”

Ma Xiunuo said this not only to encourage the two but also to play matchmaker for Su Yuntao and Sisi.

Who said that the combined use of their Spirits could achieve a better destructive effect?

In the future, when he retired or was transferred to another city by his superiors, these two would be the signboard of the Noding Spirit Hall Branch.

Su Yuntao said, “Haha, it seems that in terms of attack power, I am still superior.”

Sisi snorted charmingly, “Hmph! Without my control, you might not be able to hit your opponent in future battles.”

The next period was dedicated to helping Tang San hunt the plant Spirit Beast he needed—the Thousand Root Banyan.

Tang San took off the satchel on his back, revealing a lead box inside. This was the lead box that once held the hundred-thousand-year Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone.

However, Tang San now used it to store tools.

Opening it, four large saws were arranged inside.

“Oh my goodness, are we really going to be lumberjacks?” Su Yuntao’s eyes widened, and his eyelids twitched.

“No choice. Who told the Thousand Root Banyan to be a tree? Only by cutting it down can I obtain the spirit ring I need,” Tang San said, taking out the saws and handing them to Ma Xiunuo, Su Yuntao, and Sisi respectively.

“I think you’ve overlooked something,” Su Yuntao’s eyes flickered, wanting to be lazy. “Only the spirit ring from a Spirit Beast killed by oneself can be absorbed by oneself. If we all chop wood together, and a spirit ring appears at the end, whose would it be? Wouldn’t that be a waste?”

“The Thousand Root Banyan is very special. Only when all the roots exposed above ground are cut down will a spirit ring appear.”

“So, Tao Ge, don’t even think about being lazy. Just leave the last root for me.”

Tang San said something that Tao Ge couldn't refute.

“Also, the trunk of this Thousand Root Banyan is an excellent carving material for some sculptors, but most of them are not Spirit Masters and cannot come to the Hunting Spirit Forest. We can sell it then and split the money evenly.”

17: Tang San's first spirit ring

In a blink of an eye, three days and three nights passed.

Tang San sawed off the last root of the Thousand Root Banyan, exhaled a cloudy breath, and thought to himself, “This Thousand Root Banyan is truly tough. It took four of us—one Spirit Ancestor, two Spirit Grandmasters, and me, a level ten quasi-Spirit Master—this long to deal with this Thousand Root Banyan... I really don’t know how a thousand-year-old Thousand Root Banyan should be cut down; perhaps it can only be burned.”

“Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, I’ve troubled you all. I really didn’t expect cutting down this Thousand Root Banyan to be so troublesome,” Tang San said gratefully. If he had come alone, he didn’t know how long it would have taken him to saw down this five-hundred-year-old Thousand Root Banyan.

It’s important to know that the longer the delay during the Spirit hunting process, the more unexpected events can occur.

Other Spirit hunting teams, other Spirit Beasts...

Just thinking about it made Tang San’s scalp tingle.

Indeed, Spirit hunting requires a team. Going alone, unless one is a protagonist with a cheat or possesses immense strength, one can only rely on the elusive luck for success in Spirit hunting.

“What are you talking about? Why be so polite?” Ma Xiunuo laughed heartily. “It’s just that I don’t have a granddaughter, otherwise I would definitely arrange a child betrothal with you... Adjust your state and absorb the spirit ring. A five-hundred-year spirit ring—I might just witness the birth of a miracle.”

“Mm.”

Tang San sat cross-legged, with his five hearts facing the sky, and cultivated Mysterious Heaven Skill for a while. Once he felt his state was optimal, he injected spirit power into his Blue Silver Grass, allowing the spirit power to circulate within it.

And that five-hundred-year spirit ring, as if sensing the circulation of spirit power on the Blue Silver Grass, slowly moved towards Tang San.

“Thousand Root Banyan, my first spirit ring, come! Lead me to truly begin my path as a Spirit Master!”

The moment the yellow spirit ring enveloped the Blue Silver Grass, Tang San immediately felt a powerful vitality inject into his body, along with an extremely vast energy flowing in, instantly breaking through his level ten bottleneck.

“This is the process of absorbing a spirit ring; it feels like my whole body is on fire! But it’s very warm, as if I’m sensing endless Life force erupting within me... My theory is correct, Thousand Root Banyan...”

Tang San thought to himself, then quickly circulated Mysterious Heaven Skill, rapidly refining the energy and Life force from the spirit ring, truly integrating the Thousand Root Banyan into a part of his own Blue Silver Grass...

...

Ma Xiunuo and the others were very nervous.

After all, this was a five-hundred-year spirit ring!

Could Tang San successfully absorb it?

However, three minutes later, Ma Xiunuo knew that their worries were unnecessary, because Tang San, aside from a slight tremor in the first three minutes, calmed down afterwards, and even his originally somewhat thin body became well-proportioned.

But what surprised Ma Xiunuo the most was that Tang San's short hair began to grow at a visible speed, reaching his shoulders before stopping, and even the tips showed a bluish-silver hue.

But what surprised the three of them most was that Tang San's face became slightly more refined.

Previously, Tang San's appearance was ordinary; regardless of his personality, if he were thrown into a group of children, a non-acquaintance wouldn't be able to pick him out at all.

But now, the roundness of his face made him much better looking.

He couldn't be called handsome, as he was still a six-year-old child, but in a crowd, he would be noticed at a glance. Ma Xiunuo even estimated that when Tang San grew up, he would definitely be quite handsome and would charm many young women.

The main reason was that he had a unique aura about him that made people feel refreshed and at ease.

Sisi's eyes widened, and she opened her mouth, her face full of disbelief, as she asked Ma Xiunuo, "Is this the benefit of absorbing an over-limit spirit ring? It can actually change one's appearance!"

Su Yuntao also didn't understand: "Spirit can affect the human body. Every time we absorb a spirit ring, our body will be strengthened by the spirit ring's energy, but this is the first time I've seen absorbing a spirit ring change one's appearance. It's truly strange, but—"

"He looks much better; even if he doesn't become a powerful Spirit Master in the future, he can still rely on his looks to make a living."

"What are you thinking about?" Ma Xiunuo chided, then thought for a moment and came up with what he considered a more reasonable explanation, saying, "Some Spirit mutations can have a great impact on the human body. Xiao Tang's situation should be due to his Blue Silver Grass mutating."

“Blue Silver Grass itself is very weak; even if it mutates, it won’t be strong. His situation might be that this five-hundred-year Thousand Root Banyan spirit ring is truly very suitable, causing the energy from the Blue Silver Grass’s mutation to spread throughout his body, giving him a transformative change.”

“I suppose you’ve all learned about some of Xiao Tang’s Spirit theories, haven’t you?”

“He once said that every time a spirit ring is added to a Spirit, it’s an evolution of the Spirit. So, I speculate that Xiao Tang adding the Thousand Root Banyan spirit ring to his Blue Silver Grass was probably to evolve his presumably mutated Blue Silver Grass. Spirit Ability might not be his primary goal.”

“After all, only when a Spirit evolves and becomes advanced can the speed of spirit power cultivation accelerate.”

“But I guess he probably didn’t expect that one spirit ring could change his appearance.”

Ma Xiunuo’s view was agreed upon by Su Yuntao and Sisi.

Sisi even speculated, “Tao Ge’s Lone Wolf Spirit has the Vajra Wolf Claw, and my Spirit has weaving patterns. Is that also a kind of evolution?”

Ma Xiunuo nodded: “Certainly. Sisi, you just obtained a spirit ring, so you might not be too clear, but Su Yuntao, your cultivation speed is slightly faster than other Spirit Grandmasters. Even if it’s just a tiny bit, it is indeed an enhancement. Other guys with the same talent as you are currently hovering around level twenty-one or twenty-two in spirit power, while you have reached level twenty-four. With more effort, you might even break through to level twenty-five this year.”

“With your previous talents, I estimated that Spirit Ancestor would be your limit.”

“But now, it seems that the Spirit King realm is not impossible to reach in your lifetime.”

Spirit King?

Su Yuntao and Sisi looked at each other, both with expressions of disbelief.

They knew their own talents.

Spirit Ancestor was already a luxury!

But Ma Xiunuo actually said they now had a chance to reach the Spirit King level?

Was this not a joke?

If not, could it be that Tang San choosing their second spirit ring changed their Spirit talent?

This was truly—

Exciting!

“It’s just a possibility,” Ma Xiunuo said, seeing the two of them excited, then changed the subject. “When you reach level thirty later, don’t choose your third spirit ring carelessly, otherwise it will be difficult to even reach Spirit Ancestor. Ask Xiao Tang more; his advice will be enough for you to benefit for Life.”

Only then did Su Yuntao and Sisi realize Tang San’s power.

Ma Xiunuo also hoped to see this, his goal being to foster good relations between Su Yuntao, Sisi, and Tang San.

Although his actions seemed quite utilitarian and self-serving, couldn’t friendship be forged through interaction?

An hour later.

Tang San finally finished absorbing the spirit ring. Opening his eyes, he felt comfortable all over, and his spirit power fluctuations unconsciously emanated outwards.

Ma Xiunuo was greatly shocked: “Xiao Tang, what level is your spirit power? So profound? It feels close to a Spirit Grandmaster!”

“Level seventeen,” Tang San reported a number. When the internal energy cultivated by Mysterious Heaven Skill converted into spirit power, it had a strong energy fluctuation. If he didn’t deliberately restrain it, it would be difficult to hide from other powerful Spirit Masters.

Although he had Mysterious Heaven Skill and should be able to conceal it, he would be dealing with Ma Xiunuo and others in the future, so it was better to tell the truth.

As for the reason, it was easy to find...

However, these seven levels of spirit power were not all brought by the Thousand Root Banyan.

In Saint Spirit Village, Tang Hao had given him the Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone.

After absorbing it, not only did his physique greatly increase, but his spirit power also directly reached level ten, with some leftover. It was just that without a spirit ring, it was suppressed and he couldn’t perceive the exact level.

Now that he had obtained the Thousand Root Banyan spirit ring, the accumulated spirit power released, increasing his spirit power by a total of five levels, while the remaining two levels were brought by the five-hundred-year Thousand Root Banyan spirit ring.

After all, it was a five-hundred-year spirit ring, with abundant energy. After Tang San refined it, it also greatly increased his spirit power.

However, a single hundred-thousand-year Spirit Bone only increased Tang San's spirit power by five levels, and that was at the Spirit Grandmaster level, which was indeed a bit scarce.

Although as a Spirit Master cultivates, the higher the level, the more spirit power is required for each level, the energy carried by a hundred-thousand-year Spirit Bone should be sufficient to support spirit power at the Spirit Grandmaster level.

Tang San estimated that if the Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone had been absorbed by him immediately after it dropped, it could have taken him directly to level twenty!

The reason it only increased by five levels now was because the energy on the Spirit Bone had dissipated over time.

Although a Spirit Bone will not decrease in grade due to energy dissipation, the extra energy attached to the Spirit Bone that can be directly used by a Spirit Master to increase spirit power levels will likely gradually dissipate over time.

Just like when a Spirit Bone is absorbed by a Spirit Master for the first time, it can increase the Spirit Master's spirit power level. But if this absorbed Spirit Bone is then absorbed by another Spirit Master, it can only enhance the Spirit Master's physical strength.

This is because after a Spirit Bone is absorbed by a Spirit Master for the first time, the attached extra energy has already been absorbed by the previous Spirit Master. Therefore, the second Spirit Master who absorbs it naturally cannot use this already absorbed Spirit Bone to increase their spirit power level.

Tang Hao was a rough man and probably didn't understand these things. Although he knew how to prevent a Spirit Bone from emitting spirit power fluctuations—by storing the Spirit Bone in a lead box, which can block the spirit power fluctuations emitted by the Spirit Bone—the energy attached to the Spirit Bone might not necessarily be preserved by a lead box.

While lead boxes can block the spirit power fluctuations emitted by Spirit Bones, lead, as a metal, is highly unlikely to block the dissipation of the Spirit Bone's energy. Moreover, lead is a toxin for most carbon-based Life forms.

Even Blue Silver Grass will not grow in soil containing high concentrations of lead ore.

However, for Tang San, six years old and level seventeen was already enough. In less than a year, he could reach level twenty and hunt for his second spirit ring.

This was also one of the reasons Tang San told Ma Xiunuo and the others the truth; otherwise, his spirit power increase would be too fast.

Spirit Bone setting in this book: when newly dropped from a Spirit Beast and absorbed, it can increase spirit power.

If dropped a second time, it only improves physical quality, not spirit power.

If a newly dropped Spirit Bone is not absorbed immediately, the energy capable of increasing spirit power will slowly dissipate over time, but it will not change the Spirit Bone's age—

Revision: 2023.7.25

“Chen guai” (嗔怪, pinyin: chēn guài) is a Chinese word meaning to blame. Its original meaning is to get angry or be upset. “Chen guai” also refers to strong blame.

Reply to the person who called me an elementary school student.

Is there any problem with my use of “chen guai”?

Su Yuntao said something close to an adult topic next to a six-year-old child. Ma Xiunuo chided (strongly blamed) him. For an elder to a junior, is there anything wrong with that?

Besides, if you really want to quibble over words and read something nutritious, you should read literary masterpieces.

Listen~

Good boy~ [o(^@^)o]

Uninstall the Qidian app, pick up the Four Great Classical Novels. If you understand and master these four books, it will be enough to benefit you for Life.

18: Tang San's first soul skill

“Seventeen!”

Ma Xiunuo’s voice trembled, his face filled with shock, “Is the effect of a five-hundred-year spirit ring this strong? Or is it that your Spirit mutated too much? It completely defies logic!”

“Perhaps Thousand Root Banyan is truly a perfect match for my Spirit. During the absorption process, I felt that all the energy within the spirit ring was refined by me, and even actively integrated into my Blue Silver Grass,” Tang San began to mislead... oh no, to explain, after all, this wasn't entirely a lie, “Therefore, my Blue Silver Grass evolved... Moreover, during the process of absorbing the spirit ring, I felt a continuous stream of energy from the World pouring into my body until it reached a saturated state.”

“The spirit ring and Spirit are extremely compatible, with almost zero repulsion; the Spirit evolved during the absorption of the spirit ring, causing the energy of the World to converge towards your body.” After Tang San’s explanation, Ma Xiunuo finally regained his composure and began to consider such a possibility—and seeing Tang San’s transformed appearance, he couldn't help but believe it.

After all, which child, after absorbing a spirit ring, could even change their appearance?

It must have been the drawing of the World’s energy to transform the body.

“Little San, I don’t even know what to say. At this rate, you’ll probably become a Spirit Grandmaster in less than a year, won’t you?” Su Yuntao wished his Lone Wolf Spirit could also mutate, “In this World, nobles rely on inheritance, commoners rely on mutation; otherwise, it's hard to make a name for oneself.”

However, Su Yuntao didn't feel any jealousy.

When the gap is too great, only admiration arises.

Moreover, Tang San's Spirit awakening was assisted by him, so he should call him Tao Ge.

Hehehe!

When Tang San becomes famous on the Douluo Continent in the future, his status as a Spirit Grandmaster will give him something to boast about —“Even a Titled Douluo has to call me Tao Ge!”

Unlike Su Yuntao's fantasies about the future, Sisi was much more practical, concerned about Tang San's Spirit Ability: “Little San, what is your Spirit Ability? Tell us, what will the Blue Silver Grass's First Soul Skill be?”

Tang San released his Blue Silver Grass Spirit.

Immediately, a Blue Silver Grass taller than before emerged from his right palm. Its leaves were more lush than before, and the veins on them displayed a hint of silver.

Just by releasing his Spirit, a surge of Life aura emanated, and Su Yuntao and Sisi felt their cells become more active.

And the elderly Ma Xiunuo even felt his entire body had become nine years younger, his bones much sturdier.

“What a rich Life force aura, Xiao Tang, you're not planning to become a Healing System Spirit Master, are you?” When Ma Xiunuo was young, he had seen Healing System Spirits. The methods of those Healing Spirit Masters mainly involved releasing substances similar to Life force, like water or light.

But none were as concentrated as the Life force from Tang San's Blue Silver Grass.

He hadn't even unleashed a Spirit Ability yet, and the Life force emanating from it was already so rich. What if he unleashed a Spirit Ability?

However, the Blue Silver Grass Spirit doesn't seem to have the ability to project energy externally, and Thousand Root Banyan doesn't have such an ability either.

"The most prominent feature of Blue Silver Grass is its Life force. I naturally want to enhance the Life force attribute of Blue Silver Grass, but to call it a Healing System is not entirely accurate; I'm going for a support system." Tang San nodded, "Of course, because of the tenacious Life force of Blue Silver Grass, plus the Thousand Root Banyan spirit ring making up for the flaws in my Spirit, I'm not entirely unable to go the control system route."

"However, I feel that the seven major categories into which Spirit Masters are currently divided on the Continent are a bit rough; they could actually be more finely classified."

"For example, in support, some Spirit Masters add Healing Spirit Abilities or amplification Spirit Abilities to their Spirits, so they can't be entirely called Healing System... cough, this is getting off-topic. It relates to a theory I'll be publishing later, so please allow me to keep you in suspense for now..."

"Next, I will demonstrate my First Soul Skill: Endless Recovery."

Su Yuntao asked, "How do we test it?"

"Tao Ge, use your Second Soul Skill on this empty space and completely deplete your spirit power," Tang San instructed.

"Okay."

Su Yuntao's Spirit attached to him, his second spirit ring lit up, and six sharp Vajra Wolf Claws grew from his fists. All his spirit power condensed onto them, causing energy-like claw blades over a meter long to appear on his ten-centimeter-long wolf claws.

“Go!”

With a powerful flick, six energy blades shot out, carving six grooves about five meters deep into the ground.

After using this Spirit Ability, Su Yuntao's legs trembled, and he collapsed directly onto the ground, looking utterly listless.

Sisi quickly went to help him up.

At this moment, Tang San also used his First Soul Skill. A leaf grew from the Blue Silver Grass in his hand, wrapped around Su Yuntao's body, and injected a stream of energy.

Instantly, Su Yuntao's complexion visibly reddened, and his spirit power recovered by half. He could stand up on his own, and even his stamina was restored.

“Incredible! My stamina has recovered, and even my spirit power has recovered by nearly half, and —” Su Yuntao was utterly astonished, and he felt his spirit power continuously recovering. He estimated that it wouldn't be long before his spirit power would be fully restored. “Little San, does this Spirit Ability of yours consume a lot of your spirit power?”

“Not much. If I don't consider my own spirit power recovery, I can use it over fifty times,” Tang San said, “However, this Spirit Ability can also recover me, but it can't be used infinitely, as physical strength also requires energy consumption, and this energy ultimately cannot replace food.”

It can only be said, it's more enduring!

Moreover, the Blue Silver Grass also inherited the toughness of Thousand Root Banyan!

“So, in actuality, you can use this Spirit Ability until you faint from hunger?” Ma Xiunuo felt his worldview being refreshed, even having the illusion of seeing a ghost.

Tang San’s First Soul Skill could recover others and also recover himself, and the number of uses was definitely over fifty.

It could even be called a divine ability!

If Tang San could, in the future, split off multiple Blue Silver Grass leaves at once to recover multiple people simultaneously, even the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda wouldn’t be able to compare!

“Xiao Tang, how many people can you recover simultaneously right now?” Ma Xiunuo asked.

“Thanks to the extremely numerous branches of the Thousand Root Banyan’s crown, my Spirit inherited this characteristic. As long as spirit power is sufficient, the number of Blue Silver Grass leaves that can be split off can be infinite.”

“However, due to me currently only being at seventeen, in an extreme state —”

As Tang San spoke, he activated his spirit power, and the Blue Silver Grass in his hand split into hundreds and thousands of long, thin leaves, densely packed, making Ma Xiunuo’s scalp tingle.

With just this one Spirit Ability, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda was already left in the dust.

Of course, there were also drawbacks.

That is, the Blue Silver Grass needs to wrap around a person to perform recovery. If there are too many, they might entangle together, creating a self-defeating situation.

In this regard, it's not as convenient as the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda, whose amplification shines in the form of light and is difficult to interrupt.

“This is indeed a divine support ability. Theoretically, you can assist thousands of people simultaneously, but where does that vast energy come from?” Unlike Ma Xiunuo and Su Yuntao’s shock at Tang San’s Spirit Ability, Sisi thought of a question she couldn’t figure out, which also caused Ma Xiunuo and Su Yuntao to be stunned.

Oh, right!

Could a seventeen-level spirit power be considered vast?

Su Yuntao was a Spirit Grandmaster after all. Could the recovered energy be generated out of thin air?

If so, the value of this skill would rise another level.

Su Yuntao’s spirit power was level twenty-four. After his spirit power fully recovered, Tang San looked as if he hadn’t consumed any at all, meaning the only significant consumption was when he had just split off hundreds and thousands of Blue Silver leaves.

Yet, this Spirit Ability could even work on himself, causing his spirit power to immediately recover.

“This is the characteristic of my First Soul Skill: it doesn’t require me to fully consume my own spirit power.”

Tang San explained, “After casting this Spirit Ability, my Spirit can continuously draw a certain energy from the earth. Through my Spirit and spirit ring, it undergoes a certain transformation and is then transmitted into your bodies, helping you recover.”

“Simply put, my Spirit Ability is like a factory that processes earth energy. Because of the Blue Silver Grass’s characteristic of extremely low spirit power consumption, once this Spirit Ability is used, the power of the earth can be converted into energy to help you recover.”

Su Yuntao's mind was full of questions, and he asked sheepishly, "Can you explain it in simpler terms? I don't quite understand. Can you use a simple analogy?"

Tang San sighed and said, "You know about spirit tools like Spirit guide lights, right?"

"I know that. I have one at home; it's for lighting, very convenient," Su Yuntao nodded.

"Spirit guide lights, although they are spirit tools and their manufacturing method hasn't been lost, unlike storage soul tools, ordinary people without spirit power can also use them. You just press the switch," Tang San said, "So, how does an ordinary person without spirit power make a Spirit guide light turn on?"

Su Yuntao still didn't understand, but he tentatively asked, "Because you pressed the switch?"

"Although you answered correctly, you probably don't know the specific principle," Tang San decided to explain in more detail, saying, "There are three factors that allow a Spirit guide light to turn on. First, the Spirit guide light has a device that can store spirit power—that's the energy source; it can make the bulb glow because the internal structure of the Spirit guide light has already been set up, so inputting spirit power makes it glow."

"And when an ordinary person makes the Spirit guide light glow, they just press that button, which is the switch."

"Don't you think this is similar to how Spirit Masters use spirit rings to unleash Spirit Abilities?"

— — — — —

Digression:

spirit tools, spirit rings, Spirit Masters.

There should be a connection between the three. In fact, the reason spirit tools were researched, I personally estimate, is that people from the Douluo Continent in the past studied the principles behind Spirit Masters using spirit rings, thus summarized corresponding attribute routes, and then applied them to artifacts.

However, during the Douluo Continent's first era, the manufacturing methods for most spirit tools were lost, with only the daily Life ones remaining.

The reason for the loss is unknown, possibly due to Divinity at play, or perhaps the rejection by native Spirit Masters of the Douluo Continent, as Spirit Masters on the Douluo Continent tend to reject offensive spirit tools, feeling that they are not their own power.

19: Reasons not to join

Tang San's explanation was very easy to understand.

Su Yuntao understood.

Sisi also understood.

Ma Xiunuo was even more astonished.

This explanation was equivalent to reinterpreting the essence of how soul masters use soul rings!

"When a soul master uses a soul skill from a soul ring, they need to actively 'press' the 'button' that is the soul ring, and then the corresponding skill can be released. The soul master doesn't need to think about it; at most, they just need to make the corresponding movements and recite the corresponding soul chant, and the soul skill can be released because the soul ring has already set how the soul power should flow internally."

Tang San's eyes flickered with thought. "The energy required to release a soul skill is soul power, which comes from the soul master themselves. It's like nobles using soul guide lamps; they press the switch, but the energy comes from the soul power storage device."

"When the energy runs out, the lamp stops shining. Applied to a soul master, it means their soul power is depleted, and they can no longer release soul skills or maintain them."

"My First Soul Skill is the same principle. Subjectively, in my mental will, I press the 'button' that is the soul ring, but I have an advantage over other soul masters: I have an external energy source."

"The ground."

"The consumption of Blue Silver Grass is very small, and my own soul power is also very low. But because the energy source I use to restore Tao Ge comes from the ground, the consumption of using this soul skill is equivalent to an ordinary person pressing a soul guide lamp switch. They press it once, and it doesn't take much effort. When I use this soul skill, it also doesn't take much soul power, and because my Blue Silver Grass instinctively recovers itself, the recovery is even faster than the consumption."

Ma Xiunuo, Su Yuntao, and Sisi were all shocked.

What kind of terrifying ability was this?

The entire Douluo Continent is your "soul power storage device"?

Are you the son of the ground?

After a long while, Ma Xiunuo finally asked, "So, as long as you stand on the ground, you won't run out of soul power?"

"Theoretically, yes." Tang San nodded. "Even a Title Douluo, my First Soul Skill can fully restore their soul power. After all, the soul power of a Title Douluo compared to the energy of the entire Douluo Continent is like a drop of water compared to the water volume of the entire ocean, a drop in the bucket."

"However, at my current soul power level, restoring a Title Douluo is a bit inefficient. It would probably take one or two months to fully replenish a Title Douluo whose soul power is depleted, and during that time, they couldn't eat, drink, or relieve themselves..."

"But fortunately, the recovery efficiency of this soul skill of mine can increase as my soul power level increases. It's not a fixed recovery skill."

Hearing that Tang San's soul skill recovery efficiency could increase with his soul power level, Ma Xiunuo felt that Tang San's Blue Silver Grass was a support-type martial soul comparable to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda.

Currently, on the Douluo Continent, only the amplification soul skills of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda can definitely increase the amplification percentage as soul power increases. Other martial souls rarely have support-type soul skills whose efficiency can increase with soul power.

Even the Nine Hearted Sea棠, although every soul skill is healing, the healing efficiency is fixed. It's just that the efficiency of a later healing soul skill is higher than the efficiency of the previous one.

Next, Tang San spent a little time asking Su Yuntao and Sisi to test his First Soul Skill.

In addition to restoring soul power, Tang San's First Soul Skill also had effects on healing external and internal injuries. Su Yuntao had the right to speak on this, saying that he had suffered internal injuries in his waist and would feel sore when twisting it, but now it was gone, he felt relaxed all over, and even his soul power felt more active.

In addition, the blisters he had gotten on his palms from sawing the tree earlier had also disappeared.

"Xiao San, the recovery effect of your soul skill is very comprehensive. It can recover soul power, injuries, and internal injuries, and it can also inject Life force. It's estimated that it can also make some illnesses, and even poisoning, feel better." Su Yuntao already couldn't imagine how much Tang San could earn if he became a doctor in the future. It would probably be more than his annual salary in a month.

However, Tang San himself had no interest in being a doctor.

"My First Soul Skill also has flaws. We also briefly tested it just now. Tao Ge, when you carried me on your back, there was a distance from the ground, and the energy transmitted from the ground was less. The higher the distance from the ground, the worse the effect of absorbing the power of the ground, and then I would need to consume my own soul power, which is not enough for me." Tang San stated the disadvantage of this soul skill. "I just don't know if standing on stone bricks or stone roads in the future will have an impact..."

Su Yuntao was speechless. "Even eagles soaring in the sky need to land and rest; they can't fly forever. I don't know how many people envy and hate your soul skill."

Tang San looked at Su Yuntao in surprise, with a look of disbelief.

"Why are you looking at me like that? Is there something on my face?" Su Yuntao raised his hand and touched his face, not feeling any foreign objects.

"No, there's no dirt. I just didn't expect that Tao Ge, you also have a poetic side and can say such things?" Tang San teased. "When we first met, if you wrote a love letter, you would only straightforwardly write 'I love...'
Wuwu!"

Seeing Sisi turn her head, Su Yuntao immediately covered Tang San's mouth and said, "I am a Grand Soul Master, with outstanding literary talent."

Was there any necessary connection between a Grand Soul Master and outstanding literary talent?

As far as he knew, many soul masters in the Notting City Spirit Hall only knew how to read.

However, after pulling away Su Yuntao's hand covering his mouth, Tang San didn't expose him further, only saying, "Tao Ge, since you are so talented in literature, why don't you recite a poem for us to hear?"

Su Yuntao: "... Is this not exposing him? I've really learned something!

However, he had indeed been reading some poetry recently, the purpose being to recite it to Sisi after they got married, which would definitely move her greatly.

But he still had no clue at the moment, and he couldn't say it now.

If Ma Xiunuo heard about it, how awkward would he be?

After leaving Notting Forest, Ma Xiunuo spoke to the Spirit Hall guards outside the forest about the Thousand Root Banyan. That tree was too big and required help to transport it to Notting City.

A five-hundred-year-old Thousand Root Banyan would likely be sought after by many sculpting masters, with a starting bid of at least five hundred golden soul coins.

The corpse of the Banyan Silkworm was taken by the four to a restaurant in the nearby small town, where they had the chef cook it and shared it among themselves.

Banyan Silkworm was edible, tasted good, and could even invigorate blood and energy.

If Tang San hadn't reminded them, Ma Xiunuo and the others wouldn't have bothered with the Banyan Silkworm's corpse.

After eating a meal of Banyan Silkworm meat, Sisi's soul power reached level twenty-two.

The Banyan Silkworm's meat naturally could not increase soul power, but the Banyan Silkworm's soul ring was very suitable for Sisi, and there was little wasted energy in it, bringing her close to reaching level twenty-two already.

And after consuming the Banyan Silkworm meat, her blood and energy were invigorated, and her soul power circulated faster, thus naturally breaking through the bottleneck and entering level twenty-two.

After returning to Notting City, Ma Xiunuo re-processed Tang San's soul master certificate.

"To avoid attracting attention from others, don't say your soul power is seventeen. If someone asks, say thirteen, okay? As long as you control it a bit, no one at Notting Academy will notice your actual level." Although there were no experts at Notting Academy, it was always better to be careful.

A lower level would also be less likely to attract attention.

More importantly, there was a "Master" at Notting Academy. If Tang San were led astray by him, or even tricked, it would not be good.

Although he believed that with Tang San's intelligence, he wouldn't be easily tricked.

But if possible, it was better not to attract the attention of that waste and joke of the soul master world.

"Don't worry, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, I understand the principle that the tallest tree in the forest is the first to be felled by the wind." After Tang San finished speaking, he also pleaded with Ma Xiunuo about one thing.

"However, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, about my situation, could the report to the upper levels of the Spirit Hall be delayed?"

"Why? Do you think the high-level Spirit Hall will notice you and study you?" Ma Xiunuo thought he was worried about those trivial matters.

"Indeed, there are some ill-intentioned people in the Spirit Hall, but don't worry, I won't report it level by level. I will go directly to Spirit Hall City and convey the message to the Pope."

"You know, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, I want to research martial souls, but I don't want to be constrained by the theories of the Spirit Hall. I will go to Spirit Hall City, but not now. I need to cultivate my own independent thinking to be able to innovate continuously."

Tang San still used the excuse of researching martial soul theory to not join the Spirit Hall. "Recently, I have researched a theory on how soul masters can determine their own positioning. At that time, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo can report it along with my information. I think with the Pope's benevolence, she should be able to understand my idea."

If the healing efficiency of the Nine Hearted Sea棠 could also increase with soul power level, it would be too heaven-defying, and bringing the dead back to Life would not be an exaggeration.

But there was no such performance in the original work, so in this book, the setting is that the healing efficiency of the Nine Hearted Sea棠 is fixed. The healing efficiency of the first soul ring is fifty percent, and for each subsequent soul ring, the efficiency increases by ten percent compared to the previous one. Even so, by the time of Title Douluo, it is still very heaven-defying and worthy of the name Nine Hearted Sea棠.

20: Return to Notting College

“Alright, Grandpa will agree to your terms.”

Ma Xiunuo understood Tang San; this was a child with an extreme thirst for knowledge. If he wanted to achieve something in Spirit research, he would definitely go to Spirit City in the future, where the most Spirit data and Spirit Master books on the entire Douluo Continent were stored.

Now, he probably knew that because he came from a small village, there was a gap between him and the students from Spirit City, so he wanted to wait until his strength truly improved and he had the right to speak before making a move.

“Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, thank you for your understanding,” Tang San said, thanking Ma Xiunuo and bidding him farewell, preparing to return to Notting Academy.

Just after the school year began and he attended one class, he followed Ma Xiunuo and others to Notting Forest to hunt for a spirit ring.

Now that he had obtained a spirit ring, he naturally had to go back and see.

Otherwise, the people at the academy would probably have forgotten about him, a new student.

“Stop, Notting Academy, no unauthorized personnel are allowed inside.”

The doorman stopped Tang San.

The reason was simple: Tang San’s appearance had changed, so the doorman naturally didn’t recognize him. Moreover, he wasn’t wearing the Notting Academy uniform but rather loose, brown-and-green “wilderness gear” for hunting Spirits.

“I am a student of Notting Academy. I just returned from hunting a spirit ring and haven’t had time to change my clothes,” Tang San said.

“Spirit Master?” The doorman was a bit reserved but still asked, “But, I couldn’t possibly not recognize a child like you. I’m familiar with all the students in the school. You... I haven’t seen you before.”

“I know Tao Ge. The first time I came to the academy, we even chatted for a few sentences,” Tang San reminded him.

“Tao Ge? Wait, are you Grandmaster Su Yuntao’s distant relative?” The doorman still thought Tang San was Su Yuntao’s relative, looking surprised. “How did your appearance change?”

“Spirit mutation affected my appearance.” Tang San released his Spirit, and the Blue Silver Grass with silver veins grew from his palm. The yellow spirit ring immediately made the doorman respectful. “You’ve already become a Spirit Master!”

“So-so. My cultivation talent is not bad, and Tao Ge and Grandmaster Ma Xiunuo took me to hunt for the spirit ring,” Tang San smiled, chatted with the doorman for a few moments, and then headed towards the academy’s academic affairs building.

Su Director of the academic affairs office saw Tang San and felt a little familiar, asking doubtfully, “Little friend, are you here to report? The academy’s enrollment has ended... Never mind, show me your Spirit proof, and I’ll arrange your enrollment. There aren’t many new students this year, and dormitory Nine isn’t full yet.”

“Su Director, we’ve only been apart for a few days, don’t you recognize me?” Tang San took out the new Spirit proof Ma Xiunuo had given him. “I am Tang San.”

“Tang San? Tang San!” Su Director was shocked. After learning that Tang San had already obtained a spirit ring, and that his appearance had changed after obtaining the spirit ring, he was greatly surprised. “You obtained a spirit ring? You returned so quickly? Didn’t you ask for half a month’s leave? Also, what’s with your appearance? Can adding a spirit ring also beautify you? Hmm~ Looking at you now, you don’t seem like you’re from a commoner background, but rather a young master from some family.”

“It should be the effect of Spirit mutation, causing a certain degree of change to the physical body.” Facing Su Director’s barrage of questions, Tang San only picked what he could answer. “I came this time to inform the teachers that I have returned from hunting Spirits and can attend classes normally.”

“As expected of a studious child. If other students took leave to hunt Spirits, even if they obtained a spirit ring early, they would probably wait until their leave was over before returning.” Su Director then confirmed that the Tang San in front of him was the same Tang San who had reported earlier, with the same easygoing tone and the same studious attitude.

This was definitely not some hidden noble young master.

He was just a good child whose Spirit mutation was a bit beyond common sense. The key was that he wasn't arrogant or conceited, which was very pleasing.

“As a primary student, once you become a Spirit Master, you can apply for graduation. You are also literate, do you want to apply for graduation?”

“No, I am far from mature. I haven’t even fully familiarized myself with the academy. Graduating suddenly feels a bit strange just thinking about it... Besides, I haven’t even visited the academy’s library yet; there are more books there than at Spirit Hall... Before, I grew wildly, but now, I must build a foundation, lest I be laughed at by others in the future,” Tang San said with a smile.

“Haha, you’re already a Spirit Master, who would dare to laugh at you to your face?”

Su Director laughed heartily, quite satisfied with Tang San's maturity. Of course, the higher Tang San's level when he graduated from Notting Academy as a genius, the greater Notting Academy's reputation would be, and it might even attract children from other small cities to study there.

More importantly, Tang San was a student in Mo Hen Teacher's class, and Mo Hen was under his supervision as the director of instruction. With such a genius emerging, he could also get a promotion and a raise.

Just thinking about it made him feel delightful.

"However, you're right. You're only six years old, too young. You really need to settle down."

"Then I'll be going... Oh, one more thing, Su Director, please tell Mo Hen Teacher about my return, so he won't be surprised by my changes," Tang San remembered something and said to Su Director.

"No problem."

Leaving the academic affairs office, Tang San went to dormitory Seven.

He learned from his roommates that during the three or four days he was on leave, Xiao Wu had already become the boss of Notting Academy. Without Tang San's help, she could still defeat Xiao Chenyu and others.

However, in Tang San's opinion, with Xiao Wu's strength, she could only bully the weak.

At this moment, Xiao Wu was leading Wang Sheng and others, eating the packed food from the second floor.

The source of the money was naturally not the gold coin that Spirit Hall had given Xiao Wu.

Xiao Wu had no concrete concept of money, and it was probably spent long ago, or even swindled by some merchants in Nuoding City.

From Wang Sheng and others?

Even more impossible.

Children from small villages and towns, and even scholarship students, were lucky to afford food; the second floor was completely out of their reach.

Therefore, there was only one possibility:

“Tributes” collected from the noble students in the academy.

“Little San, you’re back?” Xiao Wu saw Tang San, whose appearance had changed slightly. She was a bit confused but still recognized him. As a Ten-thousand year soul beast, she had her own method of discernment.

“He’s actually Tang San? I thought he was a new student who arrived a few days late at Notting Academy and went to the wrong dormitory... But does one change so much after obtaining a spirit ring? It’s much better than the effect of those nobles applying cucumbers. No wonder everyone wants to become a Spirit Master.” Wang Sheng was surprised by Tang San’s change in appearance and couldn’t help but look forward to becoming handsome after obtaining his own spirit ring in the future.

The others were more or less the same.

Tang San knew that Wang Sheng’s thoughts would be in vain.

His appearance could change because he himself had half the bloodline, or rather, genes, of the Blue Silver Emperor, inherited from the Blue Silver Emperor who had transformed into human form.

After obtaining the Thousand Root Banyan spirit ring, it most likely stimulated his Blue Silver Emperor’s appearance genes, causing a part of them to be activated and expressed as dominant traits.

And this also fully confirmed Tang San’s previous guess: the so-called bloodline was no different from genes.

The Blue Silver Emperor bloodline was not like Tang Wulin’s Golden Dragon King core, which was forcibly sealed within his body, but rather a genetic material that existed in every cell throughout his entire body.

Abolishing his bloodline would be thousands of times harder than killing him.

If it were truly possible to abolish half of his Blue Silver Emperor bloodline, then his entire body would rot and die, because that would be equivalent to destroying the genetic material in every cell throughout his body, preventing the cells from dividing autonomously anymore.

Although he didn't know if Spirit inheritance on this Douluo Continent relied on genes, this Douluo was a planet that revolved around the sun, so the various physical rules should not be too different from Earth.

At least, from what he observed, Tang Hao looked very ordinary and did not become handsome because he became a Titled Douluo; other Spirit Masters, from what he had observed so far, whether it was Su Yuntao or Sisi, would not have their appearance greatly altered just because their spirit rings were very suitable for their Spirits.

The reason was actually very simple: a Spirit, although it exists within the human body, is very stable. In most cases, it will not affect a person's appearance. At most, it will make the body stronger and more flexible after absorbing a spirit ring. As for appearance, unless the Spirit mutation affects the external gene expression of the physical body, there will be no obvious changes.

But Tang San could, because he himself had half of the Blue Silver Emperor's bloodline, though Tang San preferred to call it a genetic factor. It was precisely because of the existence of this genetic factor that his appearance could undergo a significant change due to a single spirit ring.

Because the genetic factor was already destined.

A dragon gives birth to a dragon, a phoenix gives birth to a phoenix, and a mouse is born to dig holes.

This fantasy World, in fact, was not that fantastical; many places still followed scientific principles.

For example, Oscar in the original work, who could replicate Spirits like the Blue Silver Emperor and the Clear Sky Hammer through Tang San's blood, probably had his Spirit Ability help him analyze the genetic factors representing the Blue Silver Emperor and the Clear Sky Hammer from Tang San's blood.

Mirror Beast, on the other hand, was a peculiar Spirit Beast...

Wang Sheng came back to his senses and asked Tang San, "Tang San, you actually obtained a spirit ring? Didn't you say your Spirit was Blue Silver Grass? How did your spirit power increase so quickly? Could it be that, like Xiao Wu Jie, you also have innate full spirit power?"

"It's just innate level six Blue Silver Grass, it might have just mutated." Tang San shook his head, "Also, I have unique insights into the cultivation of the Blue Silver Grass Spirit."

Xiao Wu dropped the dried carrot in her hand and came to Tang San, saying, "Little San, should we have a fight and see who is the strongest in Nuoding!"

"If you win, I'll give you the title of Nuoding's boss, how about it?"

"I am a support system Spirit Master, my combat power isn't strong." Tang San didn't refuse, after all, he also wanted to test his own strength, and Xiao Wu was a good opponent, but—

"I need some time to prepare and thoroughly research my First Soul Skill before sparring with you. After all, you became a Spirit Master before me, so you must be a bit more flexible in using Spirit Abilities."

When Xiao Wu heard that Tang San chose to be a support system Spirit Master, she was a bit disappointed, but then she heard the latter part of his meaning: he wanted to fight her?

Aren't support system all weaklings?

"You're a support system, and you still want to fight me?" Xiao Wu put her hands on her hips. "I thought you'd refuse... But, Xiao Wu Jie will accompany you."

"By the way, what is your First Soul Skill?"

"Endless Recovery, a recovery-type Spirit Ability that allows me to restore someone to their peak condition just by standing on the ground, but it's not as effective against poisoning or severe illnesses." Tang San slowly spoke, releasing his Spirit. The yellow hundred-year spirit ring shocked Wang Sheng and the others in dormitory Seven.

"Hundred-year spirit ring!"

21: Tang San's deception analysis

After activating his Spirit Ability, Tang San's Blue Silver Grass split into more than ten leaves, coiling around the waists of all the children in Dormitory Seven, including Xiao Wu.

Instantly, Xiao Wu, Wang Sheng, and the others felt a surge of power flow into their bodies from the Blue Silver Grass, making them feel incredibly comfortable, and their scrapes and bruises disappeared.

“What a powerful Spirit Ability, it even healed all our injuries.” Wang Sheng rolled up his sleeves, looked at his perfectly intact arm, and couldn't help but admire Tang San.

It wasn't just because Tang San had already become a Spirit Master; it was more because Tang San possessed a healing Spirit Ability. If they got injured in the future, they could ask him for help.

“It's barely usable.” Tang San also had a point of dissatisfaction with this Spirit Ability: the earth power it absorbed couldn't be refined into spirit power for his own use.

If he could use it for cultivation, Tang San guaranteed that by the time he graduated from Notting Academy, he would be a Titled Douluo.

Unfortunately, he couldn't exploit this loophole.

“How long do you need to familiarize yourself with your Spirit Ability?” Xiao Wu asked, “I remember you've never called me Xiao Wu Jie before. If I win, you have to call me Xiao Wu Jie.”

“Then what if I win?” Tang San revealed a meaningful smile that made Xiao Wu's scalp tingle a bit, but she didn't seem to dislike it in her heart.

There was a very pleasant scent emanating from him, reminding her of her favorite food from the past.

“If you win, you’ll be the boss of Dormitory Seven and the boss of Notting Academy.” Although Tang San had changed after obtaining his first spirit ring and possessed an aura she liked, Xiao Wu wasn’t stupid; she wouldn’t use herself as a stake.

“I’m not interested in being the boss of Dormitory Seven or Notting Academy.” Tang San shook his head, then looked at Xiao Wu with a serious expression, “I want a promise from you.”

“A promise? What kind of promise?” Xiao Wu was curious.

“Looking at your situation, you’re definitely different from us true scholarship students.”

In front of everyone in Dormitory Seven, Tang San, using terms Wang Sheng and the others could understand, speculated about Xiao Wu’s situation: “Although I’m not very familiar with you, looking at your personality, your smooth skin, your initial lack of concept about currency, and your first spirit ring being a hundred-year one, it’s clear you’re a little princess who ran away from a big family to experience life here.”

Xiao Wu chuckled and said, “You guessed wrong, I’m not a rich girl. Besides, if a hundred-year spirit ring can prove it, aren’t you the same?”

“Not the same.” Tang San maintained his dissenting opinion, “My Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, it just mutated, and when I first came to Dormitory Seven, my skin was as dark as Wang Sheng’s, and my body was very thin. You know this too. My current change is only because I absorbed my first spirit ring, causing my Spirit to mutate.”

Wang Sheng and the others nodded in agreement; they had seen Tang San arrive at Dormitory Seven, and his condition was exactly as he described: thin, dark-skinned, with short, not-so-smooth hair.

But now, he had completely transformed.

“Moreover, my home is in Saint Spirit Village. When everyone has a holiday, if you have time, you can go and see it. My grandfather is the village chief of Saint Spirit Village.” Tang San continued, “I can’t hide this. My achievements today are also because before my Spirit awakened, I was on good terms with Su Yuntao of Spirit Hall. I went to Spirit Hall to read various books, research theories, and thus made myself stronger.”

Wang Sheng looked at Tang San with admiration.

Compared to a rich girl like Xiao Wu who came here to experience life, Tang San’s background was clearly more likely to gain the approval and aspiration of Wang Sheng and the others.

Xiao Wu saw her little brother being persuaded by Tang San’s few words, snorted, and said, “Anyway, I’m not from a noble background.”

But her behavior was completely unlike someone from a commoner background.

Although Wang Sheng and the others weren’t smart, they weren’t stupid either. A child from a commoner background, even if their Spirit mutated and they had innate full spirit power, would never have such a personality.

They hadn’t thought deeply before, but now that Tang San reminded them, they immediately understood what had felt off a few days ago.

However, as long as Xiao Wu was still in Dormitory Seven and a scholarship student, then she was their boss. After all, Xiao Wu was indeed a qualified boss, but her personality was a bit erratic. If she suddenly left in the future, what would the scholarship students do?

“Alright, whether you are or not, give me a clear answer.” Tang San smiled, “If my research on Spirits has deeper insights in the future and I need powerful individuals, you’ll have your family cooperate with me.”

“I already said, I’m not.” Xiao Wu was helpless, but still said, “By the way, even if I really were, since I ran away, no one is controlling me, which means I’m not important in my family.”

“That’s not necessarily true. Perhaps your family elders are secretly watching you right now, preventing you from being bullied.”

Tang San speculated based on what he should seemingly know.

“Anyway, if I were from a big family or nobility, and after my Spirit awakened, I still had innate full spirit power, if I suddenly ran away, someone in the family would definitely be secretly protecting me.”

“After all, this is innate full spirit power. As long as you don’t die, and your spirit ring choices aren’t too reckless, becoming a Titled Douluo is only a matter of time.”

“What kind of family would be so careless as to let you wander around alone?”

“When I went to hunt Spirit Beasts, you became the boss of all the students at Notting Academy, defeating those nobles. But with their arrogance, even if you’re stronger, how could they truly submit to you? According to normal logic, they would definitely ask their families to send people to investigate your background, and afterwards come to cause you trouble, either to subdue you or suppress you. If you were too stubborn, they might directly make you disappear from the world.”

Xiao Wu shivered.

Although Tang San’s guess about her identity was wrong, if she really were a commoner Spirit Master, she might indeed have been retaliated against after defeating Xiao Chenyu.

“But they didn’t retaliate against me, did they?” Xiao Wu was still stubborn, “People aren’t that evil, are they?”

“People certainly aren’t that evil, but they’re not as kind as you think either. The reason they didn’t come looking for you is precisely because you have a hundred-year spirit ring. According to the speculation of these minor nobles, you must have a family behind you that they can’t afford to offend, because it's almost impossible for a commoner Spirit Master's first spirit ring to be a hundred-year one."

Tang San said exasperatedly, "Just like me, I have a connection with Su Yuntao of Spirit Hall. This hundred-year spirit ring was also obtained with the help of him and Ma Xiunuo."

Xiao Wu realized that her arrival in human society was indeed a bit abrupt, but fortunately, her first spirit ring was a hundred-year one, and others couldn't trace her exact origins, imagining her to be the daughter of a large family... This was good too; it was fine for others to misunderstand, and she could be safer.

Furthermore, Da Ming and Er Ming are Ten-thousand year soul beasts. Converting that, her family effectively had two Titled Douluo. So wasn't her identity exactly "from a big family"?

"Okay, I agree to your condition. Three days from now, we'll have a showdown on the Notting Academy training ground." Xiao Wu lifted her chin, looking down at Tang San.

Girls develop a bit faster than boys, so Xiao Wu was about three to five centimeters taller than Tang San.

22: Thirteenth level one-ring soul master

Over the next three days, Tang San requested a long leave from Mohen Teacher, essentially skipping classes to immerse himself in the library.

He read various books related to Spirits and Spirit Beasts, while also testing his spirit power and his First Soul Skill.

Among these, the most important discovery was another use for his First Soul Skill.

When he pressed his Blue Silver Grass Spirit onto the ground of the training field, he found that the base of the Blue Silver Grass Spirit grew dense roots, similar to the Thousand Root Banyan, anchoring themselves into the earth.

The coverage extended twenty meters in radius around him, and the roots penetrated over twenty meters deep.

Moreover, with the manipulation of his spirit power, Blue Silver Grass sprouts could grow throughout the covered area, forming a Blue Silver Grassland, and each Blue Silver Grass was an extension of his Spirit, capable of being controlled and extending long, slender leaves.

Coupled with the toughness provided by the Thousand Root Banyan, it was not easily cut by ordinary weapons like swords, and with the almost infinite energy supply from the power of the earth, each leaf could extend over ten meters.

Although Tang San's Spirit Ability was still Endless Recovery, once this Blue Silver Grassland was formed, the Blue Silver Grass could, under his control, become a control system Spirit.

Imagine, his Blue Silver Grass Spirit has low consumption, large numbers, long leaves, and the strength of the Thousand Root Banyan, allowing him to control it.

Even a Spirit Elder who falls into it would probably find it difficult to break free.

Isn't that just a living target?

Tang San was very satisfied with this.

This Spirit Ability, derived from Endless Recovery, was also named Endless Grassland by Tang San.

Because once activated, the energy to maintain this Spirit Ability can be directly drawn from the earth, without consuming his own spirit power; as long as the main root of his Blue Silver Grass Spirit, which is rooted underground, is not destroyed, then his Blue Silver Grass will be inexhaustible.

However, controlling all the Blue Silver Grass leaves within a twenty-meter radius is currently difficult for Tang San; he can only use them for binding in a general way, but cannot precisely control each individual leaf.

Because the quantity is simply too large.

“It seems I need to strengthen my Purple Demon Eye training to enhance my mental force, but this skill has limited daily practice time, only a short period in the morning, so I can only take it slowly,” Tang San added two plans, “Also, the control of spirit power needs to be very precise.

Can I draw inspiration from stepping on trees and climbing water in Naruto?”

For a moment, Tang San thought of many things.

However, when he retracted his Spirit, he found that many Blue Silver Grass seedlings had grown on the training field, very thin, only slightly thicker than a strand of hair.

But they were real Blue Silver Grass.

“Could it be that the Life force that dissipated when I used my Spirit Ability affected the Blue Silver Grass seeds scattered across this training field, causing them to sprout?”

Tang San felt that his guess was correct; after all, after obtaining his First spirit ring, he could draw upon the power of the earth, and his Life force was frighteningly strong, so some dissipation could indeed cause Blue Silver Grass seeds to sprout.

“However, all the Blue Silver Grass on this training field has sprouted; I hope the work-study students of Notting Academy won't blame me for increasing their workload.”

Time came to the day of the agreed battle.

Today happened to be a weekend, so there were no classes at the academy.

Some noble students were not at school, having returned home, but the work-study students all lived at the academy, and meditation cultivation was relatively boring, so they naturally flocked to watch the spectacle.

Su Director, Mo Hen, and the Dean of the academy also came to join the fun.

Yu Xiaogang also came to watch; although fights between children were not particularly interesting, he might discover some good talents.

However, he stood in a relatively secluded spot outside the crowd.

He knew his reputation at this academy wasn't very good, and those children were the most outspoken, so it was better for him to watch from afar.

“Little San, don't say I didn't warn you, Xiao Wu Jie won't go easy.”

Xiao Wu's Spirit possessed her, rabbit ears grew on her head, and a round, fluffy rabbit tail grew behind her waist.

A yellow spirit ring emerged, astonishing the work-study students.

The Dean said, “Is that the girl with innate full spirit power this year?”

Mo Hen nodded, “Yes, but whether she truly comes from a commoner background remains to be debated.”

Su Director also said, “Indeed, it's impossible for a commoner with a Soft Bones Rabbit Spirit to have full spirit power, let alone a hundred-year spirit ring as her First spirit ring.

Looking at the depth of its color, it's probably over three hundred years.”

Such a spirit ring configuration, and it's her First spirit ring—how could this be a commoner?

Yu Xiaogang's eyes lit up.

He stroked the stubble on his chin, a surge of joy in his heart: “Looking at this girl's figure, she's not old.

I didn't see her last year, so she should be a new student this year, meaning she's only six years old.”

“Six years old, a hundred-year spirit ring.”

“Most likely, she has innate full spirit power; at worst, she's at level nine, qualified to be my Yu Xiaogang's disciple.”

And while Yu Xiaogang was contemplating how to persuade Xiao Wu to become his disciple, Tang San released his Spirit; a Blue Silver Grass with silver veins grew from his palm, and a spirit ring, deeper in color than Xiao Wu's yellow, encircled his body.

“His Spirit is indeed Blue Silver Grass.”

Notting Dean looked at Tang San with interest, “Is that Tang San?

His appearance and demeanor don't seem like he's from a commoner background.”

Su Director said, “He really is a commoner, born in Saint Spirit Village.

The village chief there is his grandfather; otherwise, why would his Spirit be Blue Silver Grass?

Moreover, before he obtained his spirit ring, his appearance wasn't like this; he looked ordinary, thin, dark-skinned, except for the light in his eyes.”

Mo Hen said, “His Spirit must have mutated.

After all, ordinary Blue Silver Grass, even with spirit power, would at most be half a level, but he has six levels.”

On the other side, Yu Xiaogang's eyes widened when he saw Tang San's yellow spirit ring, and he was deeply shocked: “The color of that hundred-year spirit ring definitely exceeds five hundred years!”

“But how is this possible?”

“The spirit ring age limit that the First spirit ring can withstand is absolutely four hundred and twenty-three years; it cannot be higher.

My theory cannot be wrong!”

“But the depth of this spirit ring's color...”

Facts speak louder than words; Yu Xiaogang had to believe that Tang San's spirit ring was definitely over five hundred years, after all, as someone from the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, he was confident in judging the age of the first three spirit rings.

“This child is good, and he looks a bit familiar.

Is his Spirit Blue Silver Grass?

It seems he's the one I saw at the entrance of the academic affairs office back then; he's changed a lot.

Is it a mutation that occurred after obtaining a spirit ring?”

“Can a Spirit's mutation affect a person's appearance?”

At this moment, Yu Xiaogang thought of many things, but one thing Yu Xiaogang had already grasped was to find a way to take Tang San as his disciple.

There are no useless Spirits, only useless Spirit Masters.

Isn't such a talented child the best subject to prove himself?

As long as he grows up in the future, he will not be a clown, but a true Martial Soul Theory Master! Adored by all!

On the training field of Notting Academy, Xiao Wu said, “Xiao Wu, Spirit Soft Bones Rabbit, a level thirteen, one-ring Spirit Master.”

Tang San straightened up, neither humble nor arrogant, and smiled slightly: “Tang San, Spirit Blue Silver Grass, a level thirteen, one-ring Spirit Master.”

23: Tang San and Xiao Wu's first battle

On the field, Xiao Wu felt that she was an attack system, or at the very least, an agility-attack system, as Tang San had analyzed for her. Tang San himself claimed to be a support system, so it was only right for him to let the other party attack first.

She also wanted to see how a support system would attack.

"Little San, come on, Xiao Wu Jie will give you a chance."

"Alright."

Tang San nodded, clenching his right fist, the Blue Silver Grass in his hand wrapping around his fist like a bandage.

Tang San did not refuse Xiao Wu's request, because although he possessed the five绝学 of the Mysterious Heaven Treasure Record, he could not use them while Yu Xiaogang was hiding and watching.

Secondly, he had no combat experience. When hunting Spirit Beasts, Su Yuntao and Sisi were the ones who dealt with the Banyan Silkworm, and he was protected by Ma Xiunuo.

When it was his turn to obtain a spirit ring, he was basically just cutting down trees, still without combat experience.

Although he estimated that Xiao Wu also had little experience fighting humans, with her Ten-thousand year soul beast talent and the rabbit's innate kicking ability, she might be able to cause him trouble.

At least, the only area where he surpassed the other party was his spirit power.

Although the spirit power he reported was thirteen, the actual situation was seventeen.

Thirteen was merely a disguise to prevent others from paying too much attention to him.

Watching Tang San run quickly towards her, Xiao Wu was somewhat disdainful and directly punched Tang San.

Tang San was quick-witted, ducking his head to dodge the punch, then raising his hand to grab Xiao Wu's shoulder... He had originally wanted to choke her, but considering this was just a spar, it was best not to use any underhanded tricks if possible.

"Huh?"

Xiao Wu's eyes widened in surprise, then she took a step back and leaned backward, performing a backflip, clamping Tang San's armpits with her legs.

A yellow spirit ring glowed, and Xiao Wu's First Soul Skill, Waist Bow, activated.

Tang San only felt the strength of the legs that kicked his armpits suddenly increase, actually lifting his entire body.

However, Tang San also clamped Xiao Wu's ankles tightly to prevent himself from being thrown off.

But the result of this was that after Xiao Wu completed a backflip, Tang San's back was slammed hard onto the ground.

Thud!

The sound was clear and crisp.

Although Xiao Wu did not use her full strength, an ordinary person would likely suffer broken bones or even be bedridden for several months if they were thrown like that.

However, Tang San protected his body with spirit power, so apart from a little pain, there was no damage.

"Hehe, Little San, you lost," Xiao Wu said with a giggle.

"Not yet." Tang San released his hands that were gripping Xiao Wu's ankles, sat up, and slammed the Blue Silver Grass in his hand into the ground. Then, he quickly distanced himself from Xiao Wu.

Xiao Wu put one hand on her hip, looked at the lively Tang San, and nodded, "Your body is very sturdy, it looks like a good sandbag."

"Thank you for the compliment, but I'm not very good at fighting," Tang San said with a smile, raising his right hand. Within a twenty-meter radius, a large patch of Blue Silver Grass grew, countless leaves coiling towards Xiao Wu like vines.

"What?" Xiao Wu was startled and quickly jumped, wanting to leave this area, but she couldn't fly, and Blue Silver Grass had grown within a twenty-meter radius. Each plant's leaves could extend about ten meters and were extremely tough. Xiao Wu casually punched, but punching soft grass was not very effective.

Rabbits feed on grass, but grass also has a resilience that rabbits cannot match. What's more, Tang San's Blue Silver Grass had been strengthened by the Thousand Root Banyan, so how could it be easily torn apart?

Furthermore, due to the characteristics of the Thousand Root Banyan, the temperature required to ignite his Blue Silver Grass was also relatively high. Although it wasn't fire-immune, it couldn't be burned by ordinary fire.

Moreover, he had just rooted the Blue Silver Grass underground. Without removing the roots that were more than twenty meters deep underground, it would be impossible to burn all of this Blue Silver Grass.

Besides, Xiao Wu's Soft Bones Rabbit Spirit had no fire abilities at all.

Xiao Wu struggled continuously, indeed tearing off some Blue Silver Grass. After all, no matter how tough his Blue Silver Grass was, his Spirit Ability itself was not Binding, and Tang San's control over so many Blue Silver Grass leaves was insufficient.

However, the advantage was the large number of leaves, and the energy required to maintain this field came from the earth. Tang San himself only needed to consume the spirit power to control the Blue Silver Grass leaves.

But his First Soul Skill was Endless Recovery, and the spirit power consumed was not as fast as the recovery.

A man's strength lies in his endurance.

Three minutes later, Xiao Wu had been bound into a large zongzi by the Blue Silver Grass, with only her face not yet surrounded by the Blue Silver Grass. This was intentionally controlled by Tang San to prevent her from suffocating.

"It seems I won," Tang San said with a chuckle.

"You won, alright? Let me go!" Xiao Wu's face flushed red. Being defeated by someone in front of everyone, didn't her Xiao Wu Jie need face?

Tang San put away the Blue Silver Grass, and the Endless Grassland dissipated, leaving only a few strands of Blue Silver Grass on the ground.

"Didn't you say you were a support system Spirit Master?" Xiao Wu's expression was displeased. "You lied! You're clearly a control system! So many Blue Silver Grass leaves, they made me unable to move! Also, when you approached me just now, it was to trap me in your Spirit Ability, wasn't it?"

"First of all, I am indeed a support system Spirit Master, it's just that my first spirit ring is excellent, and I've developed other uses for it."

Tang San's First Soul Skill lit up again, and a Blue Silver Grass leaf wrapped around Xiao Wu's waist, helping her recover spirit power and the scrapes caused by being bound by the Blue Silver Grass just now.

"You see, the effect of my Spirit Ability is recovery, replenishing your injuries and consumed spirit power."

"As for fighting you with martial arts just now, I mainly wanted to practice my hand-to-hand combat skills. Honestly, I have countless ways of fighting in my mind, but when it comes to actual combat, it's a bit different from what I imagined. I was thrown down in an instant, but my body is quite sturdy, and my Spirit Ability can allow me to recover."

Xiao Wu's expression softened a little, and she said, "Alright, since you won, then Xiao Wu Jie won't go back on her word. I agree to your condition."

"Let's not talk about that for now. However, we can spar often in the future. I need to gain more combat experience, after all, hand-to-hand combat skills are also quite important, and I need to make up for it. And in our battles, you can gradually get used to the abilities of a control system Spirit Master, avoiding situations where you can only surrender when you encounter a control system Spirit Master in the future." Tang San extended his hand to Xiao Wu.

"That's right, I really can't be caught." Xiao Wu looked thoughtful, and also extended her hand, high-fiving Tang San, then suddenly laughed, "From now on, you don't have to call me Xiao Wu Jie. Anyway, you've never called me that. Just call me Xiao Wu. I'll call you Little San, how about that?"

Tang San shook his head: "I can call you Xiao Wu, but you can't call me Little San."

"Why?"

"Because I'm biased," Tang San blurted out, then coughed and said seriously, "Because I'm more mature, not a child."

Xiao Wu: "..."

It is said that before listing, there are more updates, but no recommendations.

So, before listing, about four thousand daily.

Author every

24: Secret talk, Xiao Wu returns to his heart

Seeing Tang San and Xiao Wu grow closer due to a competition, Su Director sighed, "Genius always attracts genius. It seems our Notting Academy is about to become famous among junior Spirit Master academies."

The Notting Academy Headmaster also smiled, "Indeed. Once they graduate, our Notting Academy might be able to launch a promotional campaign, expanding the academy's facilities and increasing enrollment."

The school leaders left, chatting and laughing.

The work-study students also dispersed, as the excitement was over, and they naturally had to do what they were supposed to do. Work-study students weren't rich people.

Moreover, anyone with eyes could see that Xiao Wu clearly wanted to discuss something with Tang San. Rushing over at this time wouldn't that be asking for trouble?

Children from impoverished backgrounds have self-respect, but they can also read the room and won't do things beyond their capabilities.

"If I don't call you Little San, what should I call you?" Xiao Wu blinked, feeling that she had to take advantage of this, otherwise she would feel uncomfortable. Who told this little boy in front of her to make Xiao Wu Jie lose face?

"Just call me by my name, no special address is needed," Tang San thought for a moment and said, "By the way, what's your full name? You're not actually surnamed 'Xiao', are you? That would be truly unique."

Xiao Wu snorted, "My surname is Xiao."

"Alright, then I'll take advantage of that," Tang San smiled.

"You're so annoying," Xiao Wu gritted her teeth, but still decided to follow Tang San to see what he usually did. Besides, being around such a genius would reduce the chances of her being noticed by powerful humans.

Furthermore, Tang San wasn't as annoying as she claimed.

"Is a Listening Wind Rabbit really more suitable for my Second spirit ring choice?" Xiao Wu asked about her future Second spirit ring choice.

"Of course. After all, if a rabbit doesn't follow the agility-attack system and goes for the attack system, it would truly be a waste of the rabbit's inherent talent," Tang San affirmed his idea.

"Why can't a rabbit be an attack system?" Xiao Wu still preferred the attack system, as her favorite thing was fighting, and the attack system clearly seemed to be the most powerful Spirit Master for fighting.

"I didn't say it couldn't. A Spirit isn't a true physical animal or object after all," Tang San corrected, "It's just not suitable. Given your personality, you're a bit erratic. If you don't change, no one will genuinely choose you as a teammate, and without protection, you'll face many difficulties in your early development."

"Oh, I almost forgot, you're a rich girl who ran away from home, with a big family behind you. You don't need to care about these things."

"Just pretend I didn't say anything."

Xiao Wu ground her teeth, making a clattering sound, but after taking a deep breath, she asked in confusion, "Can't we be friends?"

"Don't be too naive," Tang San looked into Xiao Wu's eyes, "The premise of friendship is mutual understanding. At least, I don't think you understand me very well."

"Don't speak too soon. We're going to be desk mates for six years, you know," Xiao Wu said with a giggle.

"That's not certain. After all, I'll be applying to Mohen Teacher later to study independently in the library, and you... I attended your first class, and you haven't even learned all 500 common characters yet."

Tang San mocked without reservation, "Aside from cultivation talent, you're useless. Even if others befriend you, it's probably just for your talent. There's nothing wrong with that, after all, good talent is capital."

"But you seem a bit naive. You might get sold and even help count the money for the seller."

Xiao Wu retorted, "Am I that stupid?"

"No. After all, there's an idiom called 'a cunning rabbit has three burrows,' and rabbits do have their clever moments. But cleverness doesn't equate to wisdom, and petty cleverness can sometimes lead to very serious consequences." Tang San's bright eyes made Xiao Wu's scalp tingle, as if everything about her had been seen through by him.

"What kind of Spirit Beast did your First spirit ring come from?" Xiao Wu changed the subject.

"Thousand Root Banyan."

"What's that?" Xiao Wu looked bewildered, having no idea what kind of Spirit Beast this was.

"A type of banyan tree. Even after ten thousand years, it won't develop any intelligence, but one tree can form a forest. This is also why I was able to develop the Endless Grassland from my First Soul Skill."

Tang San didn't hide anything, "However, its main effect on me is recovery. The most prominent characteristic of my Blue Silver Grass is its tenacious Life force. According to my judgment, once I reach the Titled Douluo level, I might even be able to achieve the resurrection effect of bringing the dead back to Life and mending bones."

"Resurrection!"

Xiao Wu was startled, thinking of something, and excitedly asked, "Can you really resurrect others?"

"It's not certain yet, but it should be possible."

Tang San knew what Xiao Wu was thinking but didn't speak too definitively, instead giving her a glimmer of hope.

"After all, the Blue Silver Grass plant has incredibly tenacious Life force. Even if it's burned by fire, it can grow back. And my Blue Silver Grass Spirit follows the path of Life. My First Soul Skill can fully restore a person's condition. I don't even know what level I can reach in the future."

"Sometimes, I'm truly afraid of my own talent."

Xiao Wu was speechless, her earlier excitement somewhat diminished, simply because this guy in front of her was even more erratic than her.

"Why were you so excited when I mentioned resurrection? Do you need me to help you resurrect someone in the future?" Tang San asked enticingly.

"Um, my mother..." Xiao Wu hesitated, then asked, "If there's no corpse left, can they still be resurrected?"

"What is a person composed of?"

Without waiting for Xiao Wu to answer, Tang San continued, "Flesh, soul, and at most a Spirit. Just these three. If your mother doesn't even have a corpse, then does her soul still exist?"

Flesh, soul?

Xiao Wu thought of something and mused, "My mother was hunted, and her corpse was taken away. I only kept some fur that my mother shed, and collected some bloodstains afterward. As for her soul, it exists within the spirit ring and Spirit Bone. As long as I find the person who hunted my mother, I should be able to get it back, but the premise is that I must be stronger than that person!"

Thinking of this, Xiao Wu suddenly had the motivation to cultivate diligently, but she still asked, "If the corpse is gone, but there's blood or something preserved, can they be resurrected?"

"Yes. Have you heard of cloning?" Tang San asked.

"Never heard of it. What is that?" Xiao Wu asked, puzzled and curious.

"It's a technique for replicating Life. I've read widely and seen a theory that inside every cell of a living organism, there are bloodline factors representing that organism. As long as one cell remains in the world, and someone can analyze and replicate its bloodline information, with sufficient technology and energy, that organism can be fully replicated."

Tang San said calmly, "This is a forbidden art of Life, but I will walk the path of Life in the future, so I will inevitably encounter it. You can try to believe me, but don't fully believe me, because I'm not even sure how far I can go."

"I believe you," Xiao Wu said, "After all, no one else would lecture me so much like a nagging mother."

Tang San: "..."

25: Yu Xiaogang wants to take on a disciple

When Tang San and Xiao Wu arrived at the entrance of Notting Academy, Yu Xiaogang, known as the Grandmaster, happened to walk in from outside the academy gate, encountering them by chance.

Compared to the first time Tang San saw him looking unkempt, Yu Xiaogang had tidied himself up, changed into clean clothes, cut his hair short, and shaved off the stubble on his cheeks, though he still had some on his chin. His eyes were full of light, and he looked much more energetic than before.

"Hello, Teacher."

Tang San greeted him politely.

"Just now, I watched your fight on the training ground. It was very exciting. You both are very talented, but talent isn't enough. You need a qualified teacher to lead you forward."

Yu Xiaogang's intention in saying this was clear: he wanted to take them as disciples.

"Indeed, for most people, a guide is needed, but I am different," Tang San smiled. "Teacher, I have heard much about your reputation at school."

Yu Xiaogang sighed and said, "It's all empty fame."

Isn't this a bit shameless?

Tang San's mouth twitched slightly, and he thought to himself, 'If an ordinary person who didn't know the truth heard this, they would think you truly are a Martial Soul Theory Master.'

Xiao Wu quietly asked, "Little San, who is he?"

Tang San glanced at her and said, "Grandmaster Yu Xiaogang. Didn't Wang Sheng tell you about him?"

"Oh, it's him, that good-for-nothing." Xiao Wu suddenly understood. In fact, she had seen Yu Xiaogang a few times when she went to the cafeteria, but she hadn't paid much attention.

But looking at the current situation, this person wants to take her and Tang San as disciples?

This won't do!

Tang San's mouth twitched, and he thought, 'This one is even more important!'

Yu Xiaogang being a good-for-nothing is true, but don't say it to his face. After all, he is a friend of the Notting Academy's dean, and also the son of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan's patriarch.

Even if you don't know these things, you should understand some human relations, right?

ε = (o ` *)))) Alas!

So tired.

As a Ten-thousand year soul beast who has taken human form, Xiao Wu still has much to learn in the future.

Yu Xiaogang's smile slightly receded when he heard the words "good-for-nothing," but he maintained it, as he needed these two to achieve success and fame.

"Actually, that's just a misunderstanding the outside World has of me." Yu Xiaogang sighed. "I wonder if you've seen the Ten Great Theories of Spirit Cultivation? Those were published by me."

Given that the two already knew his reputation was bad, Yu Xiaogang couldn't use the 'play hard to get' tactic. He could only use another method to 'boil the frog slowly,' subtly influencing their thoughts.

Unfortunately, Tang San is a modern transmigrator and doesn't fall for his tricks.

No actual benefits, just relying on words to deceive?

Then don't blame him for just quietly watching you "show off," applauding afterward, and then continuing with his own life.

Of course, Tang San won't completely believe the original work. After all, this is a real World, and this Yu Xiaogang might actually have some real ability?

Although the probability of this situation is very slim, what if?

"I've seen them." Tang San nodded. "They were published fifteen years ago. When I first saw them, I was amazed."

"Oh?" Yu Xiaogang's smile became more natural. "You know something about them?"

"Yes, I think the parts of those ten theories that are correct are almost common knowledge in the Spirit Master's world, while the problematic parts are very problematic, even feeling a bit foolish."

Tang San said this, glanced at Yu Xiaogang, whose face was a bit pale, and immediately changed the subject, "Of course, those were published by Grandmaster you fifteen years ago, and times are progressing. In fifteen years, an infant born into an ordinary family would have already married and had children. It's normal for them to be outdated."

These words already gave Yu Xiaogang a bit of face, but his pale face remained unchanged.

Tang San no longer held onto that "what if" chance.

He was just a child, at least outwardly only six years old. For an adult to show such an ugly expression to a child proved that his mind was not broad.

A theoretical Grandmaster with a small mind could only be a joke, nothing else.

"What you said makes some sense." Yu Xiaogang took a deep breath, deciding not to argue with a child, and inwardly told himself: 'Children's words are innocent.'

"Grandmaster, if you have nothing else, Xiao Wu and I will leave." Tang San didn't want to get involved with Yu Xiaogang anymore, to avoid trouble.

"Are you willing to take me as your teacher?" Yu Xiaogang decided not to wait any longer and got straight to the point, as he didn't know if he could afford to wait another fifteen years.

Xiao Wu was about to speak but was stopped by Tang San, who only asked, "Although my Spirit is just a mutated Blue Silver Grass, I have innate level six spirit power. In the future, I will at least be a Spirit Emperor, and Grandmaster you are only a Spirit Grandmaster."

"Of course, I don't judge a person's talent by their spirit power level. It's just that you need to give me and Xiao Wu a reason to believe in you."

"Especially Xiao Wu, she has innate full spirit power and extraordinary talent. Even if she doesn't know what Spirit Beast to choose for each spirit ring in the future, as long as she only looks for rabbit-type Spirit Beasts, it won't have too much adverse effect on her Spirit. As long as she doesn't die, becoming a Titled Douluo is only a matter of time."

"The only problem we two will encounter in the future is that before we grow up, we need strong individuals to protect us, as there are many dangers in the World, and the strength of a strong individual must at least be that of a Spirit Saint."

Yu Xiaogang's face grew increasingly ugly.

He knew that Tang San was right, his own strength was too poor to protect them.

Although he was born into the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan and was the son of the patriarch, his innate spirit power was only half a level, unable to break through level thirty, and he almost married his cousin Liu Erlong... What face did he have to go back to his clan?

Moreover, if he did go to his clan, then even if these two could grow up, would it be his, Yu Xiaogang's, credit?

No!

It would be the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan's credit!

He wanted to prove to his clan that he was not a good-for-nothing, so it was impossible for him to ask his clan for cultivation resources or protection.

"I have a good friend who is currently a Spirit Saint and has opened a Shrek Academy. We are often in contact." Yu Xiaogang stated his asset.

"Then may I ask you to introduce me, so I can take your friend as my teacher?" Tang San asked.

.....

Seeing Yu Xiaogang fall silent, Tang San didn't mock him with words like "It seems the friendship between you and your friend isn't very strong." Instead, he directly took Xiao Wu's hand and left.

Xiao Wu wanted to make a face at Yu Xiaogang, but Tang San forcibly pulled her away, saying, "Don't do meaningless things. His self-esteem is very strong, and who knows what he might do."

Xiao Wu said disdainfully, "Why are you such a coward?"

"This isn't cowardice, it's just not actively causing trouble," Tang San retorted. "Aside from a few harmless taunts, did he really affect us?"

"Not really." Xiao Wu thought about it. Anyway, she wouldn't take him as her teacher, so she said so.

"Dealing with people is also a kind of cultivation. Only thinking of provoking others and then solving it with fists will make your brain stupid. You're already very stupid; you can't get any stupider, or I won't know how to teach you." Tang San looked at Xiao Wu for a while before saying slowly.

Regarding the cloning part, if Xiao Wu knew, she knew. Would she casually tell others that Tang San might be able to revive her mother in the future? Or would she casually promote the concept of cloning?

When it comes to resurrection, it's impossible to be that foolish.

At least, Xiao Wu shouldn't be that foolish, right?

If the original work is considered that foolish, then this book is a fanfiction, and the setting is not.

Moreover, the author believes that the personality of Xiao Wu in the original work was basically spoiled - leaving aside her Spirit Beast period, once she entered human society, and with Tang San of the Tang Sect providing almost meticulous protection, her personality would certainly not change much.

As for other transmigrators knowing that Tang San is also a modern transmigrator...

It can only be said that any transmigrator who has read the original work, upon learning that Tang San's actions are different from the original, would guess whether he is from the Tang Sect. Is there even a need to disguise it?

It's simply not very possible to conceal it.

Unless Tang San truly became Yu Xiaogang's disciple and disguised himself... then this book would be no different from those fanfiction novels about showing off and slapping faces.

Personally, I think it would be more awkward.

Although this book also involves showing off and slapping faces, it's at least not as stiff.

Perhaps it's because I can't write 'cool' novels.

So, no big deal.

Finally—

Unified reply.

—Why a unified reply here?

The one-click binding function for mobile numbers on the APP cannot bind, possibly because the mobile number is bound to a secondary account. Replies can only be done in the backend, but too many people asked, so I'm giving a unified reply here.

26: Martial spirit attribute test

“Strength!”

“I need strength!”

Yu Xiaogang watched Tang San and Xiao Wu’s retreating figures, clenching his fists and gritting his teeth, “Without strength, I can’t even take on excellent disciples. But if I had strength, why would I need disciples?”

For Yu Xiaogang, this was a vicious cycle.

It wasn’t until Tang San and Xiao Wu’s figures disappeared from sight that Yu Xiaogang unclenched his fists, sighed helplessly, and returned to the independent courtyard the Nuoding City Dean had assigned him.

“No, I have to try again to make Tang San and Xiao Wu my disciples. When they come back, I’ll go find them and demonstrate my Spirit theory knowledge.”

Yu Xiaogang didn’t want to give up. “That Tang San, he seems interested in Spirit research. Xiao Wu will most likely listen to him. So, if I use his Spirit Ability as an entry point, explaining which Spirit Beast he hunted and what Spirit Ability he gained, maybe I can convince them.”

“I also watched their previous sparring match. Although that Spirit Ability had healing capabilities, with so many Blue Silver Grass leaves, the main skill must be control.”

“Therefore, it must be some kind of plant Spirit Beast with many branching tendrils, capturing prey by Binding, and it’s also a carnivorous plant.”

“Healing is just an auxiliary effect.”

With this thought, Yu Xiaogang disdained to ask the students and teachers in the academy. Instead, he directly searched through vine-type plant Spirit Beasts, analyzing their characteristics to deduce which plant Spirit Beast Tang San's First Soul Skill truly came from.

Besides that, there was Xiao Wu's Spirit Ability, Waist Bow.

Yu Xiaogang found it difficult to deduce which Spirit Beast this Spirit Ability came from, as there were no rabbit-type Spirit Beasts that focused on using their waists for power.

However, Yu Xiaogang did determine a direction: cat-type, tiger-type, leopard-type, and other Spirit Beasts with good waist strength. As for why Xiao Wu got the Waist Bow Spirit Ability, it was most likely because this type of Spirit Beast was completely unrelated to rabbits, so she only got this one physical skill.

"Indeed, I am the Grandmaster. Xiao Wu and Tang San can only become stronger under my guidance. Otherwise, why would Xiao Wu's First Soul Skill be so useless? Without me, even if they could become Titled Douluo, they would be the weakest Titled Douluo."

The more Yu Xiaogang analyzed, the more confident he felt.

"And Tang San, he actually chose a vine-type plant Spirit Beast. Those Blue Silver Grass leaves are numerous and tough, but their Binding ability is too weak. He should have chosen snake-type Spirit Beasts; their Binding ability is strong, and they must be venomous snake-type Spirit Beasts, which can make the Spirit venomous and limit enemies to a greater extent... But that spirit ring definitely exceeded five hundred years. How did he absorb it? Is it easier to absorb if they are both plant-type? Note for later."

While Yu Xiaogang was hypnotizing himself, Tang San took Xiao Wu to the Spirit Hall to see Ma Xiunuo, explaining that he would bring her along for Spirit research in the future.

"Xiao Tang, getting a girlfriend so young?" Ma Xiunuo knew Xiao Wu, as Tang San had reminded her to come and process her Spirit Master certificate on the first day of school.

Tang San said, “Just a classmate.”

Xiao Wu said, “He’s right, we’re just classmates. At most, we’re friends who fought.”

Ma Xiunuo, however, showed an auntie-like smile and waved his hand, saying, “Alright, go to the backyard. Anyway, it’s already rented to you. The rent is to help organize the sundries and books here.”

“Thank you, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo.” Tang San took Xiao Wu to the backyard.

The backyard wasn’t large. Besides a study, a bedroom, and a toilet, there was a relatively clean open space. Nearby was a small pond, and close to the wall, there was a date tree with a trunk fifty centimeters in diameter. Ma Xiunuo said it was a hundred years old, but it was just an ordinary date tree, not a plant Spirit Beast.

The conditions for a Spirit Beast to be born are quite strict. A blade of grass or a dog living for ten years doesn't automatically make it a ten-year Spirit Beast.

Just like Blue Silver Grass, it’s everywhere. If you break it off or even pull it out by the roots, will a spirit ring appear?

No.

Otherwise, the sanitation workers in Nuoding City, who clear weeds every day, would all be getting spirit rings, and the whole city would be filled with white spirit rings flying everywhere.

“What are we doing here?” Xiao Wu asked.

“Testing Spirit and spirit power,” Tang San said. “Not with a crystal ball, but testing the nature of the spirit power.”

After speaking, Tang San condensed his spirit power in his right hand and pressed it onto the ground.

In a moment, some Blue Silver Grass sprouts grew from where his palm was pressed.

“See, this is the nature of my spirit power. It has a Life attribute and can make Blue Silver Grass grow quickly.”

This was also a characteristic Tang San discovered. In the past, the spirit power cultivated by Mysterious Heaven Skill was neutral and peaceful, without any attributes. But after cultivating the Blue Silver Grass Spirit, his spirit power gained the nature of Life. Its destructive power was less than that of attack system Spirit Masters’ spirit power, but with spirit power that had a Life characteristic, even without using a Spirit Ability, this spirit power could slowly heal injuries.

It could be said that as long as Tang San didn't deliberately seek death, his body wouldn't suffer from hidden injuries with his spirit power having this nature.

“I’ll try too.” Xiao Wu became interested, condensed her spirit power in her palm, and pressed it onto the ground.

Crack!

Because she pressed a bit too hard, the ground cracked, but no sprouts emerged from the ground.

“It seems your spirit power has greater destructive power, but no special attributes. It can only be considered average,” Tang San observed the crack for a while before giving his evaluation.

Subsequently, Tang San conducted a series of tests on Xiao Wu’s Soft Bones Rabbit Spirit. According to the previously defined six-dimensional chart, Xiao Wu’s Soft Bones Rabbit attributes after obtaining her First Soul Skill were as follows:

Strength: 3. Soft Bones Rabbit is not known for strength, but the First Soul Skill slightly enhanced it.

Speed: 4. Rabbits are very fast and extremely flexible, but their punching and kicking frequency is poor, so they don't get a perfect score.

Defense: 2. The body is soft, and defense is not strong. It is not recommended to directly withstand others' attacks.

Energy: 0. The Spirit itself does not come with energy-emitting skills.

Endurance: 3. As a rabbit, endurance is decent, and spirit power quality is also good, so it's roughly in the middle to upper range.

Special: 0. No special energy or attributes.

Total Score: 12

Xiao Wu looked at her Spirit's attributes and asked curiously, "What's the total score?"

"Currently set at 30." Tang San then gave his own Blue Silver Grass attributes after obtaining his First Soul Skill.

Strength: 2. The Spirit itself is not characterized by strength, but after absorbing the Thousand Root Banyan spirit ring, its toughness is good. Multiple Blue Silver Grass strands intertwined can be used as a whip.

Speed: 3. Although it still doesn't move, its growth is extremely fast. While control isn't precise, its swinging frequency is relatively fast, which can be considered attack speed.

Defense: 4. Thousand Root Banyan greatly enhanced the toughness of the Blue Silver Grass leaves. If gathered into a ball to wrap oneself, it can withstand attacks from an attack system Spirit Master (Su Yuntao) for nearly half an hour.

Energy: 0. After obtaining the First Soul Skill, it still doesn't have energy-releasing skills.

Endurance: 5. Endless Life, already at the peak, perhaps able to break through the set limit of 5.

Special: 5. Life energy is even more vigorous.

Total Score: 19

The first round of recommendations will be at midnight.

It might also be the last round.

After all, it's a new author and a new book, so failing is normal.

27: Conversation with Xiao Wu

"Seven points higher than me, you didn't deliberately add a few points, did you?" Xiao Wu looked at Tang San's Blue Silver Grass Spirit report, her face full of suspicion.

"I've already been very objective."

Tang San rolled his eyes, "Just like the Life energy that comes with my Blue Silver Grass, it can already break through the number 5 I set, otherwise it would be even higher."

Xiao Wu also knew that Blue Silver Grass had strong vitality. She pointed to the 'Energy' row: "Why is your Blue Silver Grass's energy zero? Isn't your First Soul Skill a comprehensive recovery for people?"

"This is the Spirit's state without counting the spirit ring Spirit Ability," Tang San explained. "If we were to count Spirit Abilities, the workload would be too great, something we can't figure out clearly right now. Therefore, it's better to keep it simple."

"So that's how it is."

Xiao Wu suddenly understood. "If we figure out the advantages of our Spirits, we can look for specific Spirit Beasts when acquiring spirit rings in the future, right?"

"Exactly."

Tang San looked at Xiao Wu with an appreciative gaze. "You're not just someone who only knows how to play after all."

"Hmph, if I used my brain, you wouldn't be able to catch up," Xiao Wu proudly curled her lips, very happy with Tang San's praise, and signaled with her eyes for Tang San to praise her more.

Unfortunately, Tang San ignored her and continued, "There are many schools of thought for Spirit Master cultivation, but currently, the Spirit Master's world can be divided into two major factions."

Xiao Wu asked, "Which two?"

Tang San replied, "The balanced style and the extreme style, also known as the ultimate style."

"Is there a difference?"

"You can tell from the names. Balanced means making every spirit ring's Spirit Ability different, covering all bases, diversifying the Spirit's abilities; while extreme style and ultimate style mean maximizing a single characteristic of the Spirit."

Tang San explained in more detail, "The characteristic of the balanced style is being proficient in everything, yet sparse in everything. If the Spirit is not strong, in the future, it can only rely on spirit power and a few powerful attack system Spirit Abilities as its main means. Currently, over ninety percent of the Spirit Masters on the Douluo Continent follow the balanced style, including two of the Upper Three Sects, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School and the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan."

"Upper Three Sects?" Xiao Wu interrupted.

"I'll talk about that later."

Tang San continued to speak about the characteristics of the ultimate style, "As for the extreme style, it's about constantly enhancing the outstanding characteristics of the Spirit. Just like my Blue Silver Grass, which has strong vitality, when I choose spirit rings, I will look for Spirit Beasts with powerful vitality, both plants and animals are fine, as long as their vitality is particularly outstanding. After all, the Blue Silver Grass Spirit is not a true Blue Silver Grass. When choosing spirit rings, as long as the attributes match, there won't be any conflict. However, if there are suitable plant Spirit Beasts, I won't choose animal types."

"However, as you can see, an auxiliary system extreme style like mine can also achieve what a control system can do by manipulating the Blue Silver Grass's leaves. I can even weave the Blue Silver Grass's leaves into a whip and become an attack system Spirit Master with a medium to long-range attack."

"Therefore, the so-called balanced style and extreme style are just general directions for Spirit cultivation. It mainly depends on personal performance and usage. If you really compare them, in terms of individual strength, each has its own advantages and disadvantages."

Xiao Wu asked, "What about the ultimate style? Is it really just another name for the extreme style?"

Through their brief interaction, Xiao Wu realized that Tang San was a relatively meticulous person. If it were just another name, he wouldn't have singled it out.

"Yes," Tang San nodded, "But I singled it out because among extreme style Spirit Masters, there is a particularly special type. That is, when they add spirit rings to their Spirit, they will all choose Spirit Beasts of the same major category, and the Spirit Ability is also the same, maximizing that single advantage of the Spirit."

"For example, the Needle Tailed Swift Spirit of the Speed Clan. When they choose spirit rings, they will all choose swift-type Spirit Beasts like Needle Tailed Swift, Wind Swift, and Great Swift of Rapid Travel, which are not aggressive but extremely fast. And the Spirit Ability they obtain is only one: acceleration."

"You can imagine, if someone among them could become a Titled Douluo, with all nine spirit rings being acceleration, how fast they could be."

Xiao Wu thought for a moment, then tentatively asked, "Faster than an ordinary Titled Douluo?"

Tang San shook his head: "Currently, the Speed Clan's clan leader is a Spirit Douluo. According to the information in a book describing Spirit fun from the Spirit Hall, he can fly from the extreme south to the extreme north of the Douluo Continent within seven days. While an ordinary Titled Douluo below level ninety-five would need three months to cross that distance, even if they used all their strength."

"Although this data is recorded in a miscellaneous book and its authenticity is uncertain, no one on the Continent has refuted it, which at least proves that the Speed Clan's clan leader's speed is truly incredibly fast, already surpassing a Titled Douluo."

"If the Speed Clan had a Titled Douluo-level powerhouse, give him a small knife, and with his speed, he could assassinate any Spirit Master below level ninety-five."

Xiao Wu exclaimed, "Then isn't he invincible?"

"How could he be invincible? I already said he's from the Speed Clan. He has a large group of family members to manage. If he dared to commit assassination, the Spirit Hall would dare to destroy them."

Tang San rolled his eyes, "After all, the Speed Clan was once an affiliated Sect of the Clear Sky Sect, and the Clear Sky Sect offended the Spirit Hall and is currently in a state of seclusion. The Spirit Hall has been suppressing these four Sects for a while, even wanting to subjugate them. If they can't subjugate them, they'll destroy them. They just haven't found an excuse yet."

"Young lady living in a greenhouse, do you think the Continent is very peaceful?"

Xiao Wu's face turned red, she just said, "I'm not a young lady!"

"Yes, yes, yes, you're not..." Tang San went along with her words, but there was still half a sentence left unsaid: you're just a cheerful, optimistic big white rabbit well-protected by the Sky Azure Bull Python and the Titan Giant Ape.

"Hmph!"

Xiao Wu was somewhat annoyed by Tang San's perfunctory attitude, but ultimately, she just snorted coldly.

"Next, I'll give you a make-up lesson and talk about the forces on the Douluo Continent, lest you offend someone in the future, get taught a lesson, and come crying back to me for help." Tang San prepared to talk about the forces on the Continent to give Xiao Wu an idea, lest she know nothing and be like an easily deceived simpleton.

"Will you save me?" Xiao Wu asked hopefully, her big eyes sparkling like rubies, but Tang San didn't fall for that.

"It depends on what price you can offer," Tang San was very pragmatic.

"How can you be like this, so greedy for money?" Xiao Wu sulked, turning her head away, but still glancing at Tang San to see if he would come and coax her.

"After all, my family is relatively poor, and I'm currently just your classmate. It's already good that I can help you analyze the pros and cons of your Spirit."

Tang San spread his hands, "If someone helps you for free, then you need to be careful. I don't deny that there are great philanthropists in the World, but I believe it's more likely that ordinary people fear your identity as a Spirit Master and have no choice but to help, while Spirit Masters stronger than you and high-ranking nobles are interested in your body or talent, but ultimately they are interested in your body. After all, you are female, and they will most likely overtly or covertly make you bear children for them."

Xiao Wu thought of that terrifying future, and her body trembled three times: "How can people be so bad?"

"Sorry, most people aren't bad; it's just that you're too naive, so naive that you don't seem like a spoiled and willful young lady raised by the powerful, but rather like someone who walked out of a carefree deep mountain forest."

Spirit Hall actually values its reputation greatly. In the original work, the destruction of the two great Sects was actually done by surprise and sneak attack.

If they were to be annihilated head-on, the two great Sects indeed wouldn't be as strong in terms of hard power, but the casualties wouldn't be as severe.

Even if they couldn't win, most of them could still escape.

After all, Spirit Hall also has an Elder Palace, or rather, the Hall of Offerings, and Bibi Dong cannot command the Titled Douluo there...

Before Bibi Dong truly became ill, if she wanted to openly deal with others, she also needed to find a justifiable reason.

In this World, the strong are respected, but not entirely so before becoming a god.

(The above is a relatively objective analysis.)

28: So what are you trying to do?

“What did you say? What deep mountains and old forests?”

Xiao Wu’s heart skipped a beat, and she almost rushed out the door, but she held back and feigned ignorance.

“It’s just a metaphor.”

Tang San walked to the edge of the pond, his back to Xiao Wu.

“Phew~”

Xiao Wu secretly breathed a sigh of relief and also walked to the edge of the pond, asking, “What are you looking at the pond for? The fish inside are so big.”

There were a few carp in the pond, which caught Xiao Wu’s attention.

“Have you ever thought about walking on water?” Tang San suddenly asked.

“Walking on water? That’s impossible, I don’t have such a Spirit Ability.” Xiao Wu shook her head like a rattle, her scorpion braid behind her head swishing back and forth, making Tang San almost unable to resist pulling it.

“This is to train our ability to control spirit power.”

Tang San looked at the jujube tree nearby, condensed spirit power at his feet, and rushed towards it, then ran up the tree trunk.

He only ran five meters high before falling down.

And his footprints were left on the tree trunk.

“This is my idea: condense spirit power at the soles of your feet and run along the tree until one day I can use spirit power to stick to the tree trunk without falling down. That will mean my precision in controlling spirit power has reached an extremely strong level.”

After Tang San stood firm, he explained to Xiao Wu, “And after that, it’s the next stage: walking on water, and even running on flowing water.”

“If we can reach that level, it means our control over spirit power has reached an extraordinary realm. We can rely on spirit power to walk, run on the surface of anything, and even hang upside down from the ceiling.”

Xiao Wu looked incredulous, because she felt that according to Tang San’s explanation, it really seemed possible to do such things by relying on spirit power.

Is this what humans are like?

So smart!

“Did you think of this?” Xiao Wu couldn’t help but ask.

“No.” Tang San said, “I’ve seen people do this, but I don’t know the specific method, so I can only imitate it. But it’s very beneficial for strengthening our spirit power control.”

Xiao Wu couldn’t tell if he was telling the truth, but she decided to believe him and started trying to climb the tree with her feet, but she fell down after not even running a meter.

“Ouch!”

Xiao Wu, covering her bottom, grimaced as she got up and said to Tang San, “You should put a cushion underneath.”

“That won’t do. With a cushion, you’ll think about being lazy, and isn’t your First Soul Skill Waist Bow? Before you fall, you can use similar methods to twist your waist to land steadily on the ground. It's also a form of training for your own Spirit Ability." Tang San refuted Xiao Wu's suggestion and offered his own advice.

"Alright, alright, you're the boss, but why do I have to listen to you, really." Xiao Wu grumbled, but she continued practicing, and Tang San also practiced climbing the same jujube tree.

A tree trunk with a diameter of fifty centimeters was enough for two people to practice from two different directions.

Just like that, they practiced for a whole morning.

Tang San reached the highest, only able to run to seven meters, while Xiao Wu hovered at two or three meters.

"So tired." Xiao Wu complained, "But this thing really requires high control of spirit power. If there's too much spirit power, the bark gets crushed. If there's too little, it won't stick."

"For beginners, it is indeed a bit difficult. Even I will probably need some time before I can walk upright on things like trees." Tang San realized that spirit power and chakra were not the same thing. Chakra, in its setting, is a collection of spiritual energy and cellular energy, which can be seen as the combination of essence and spirit among the three treasures of essence, qi, and spirit. It comes entirely from oneself, so it should be easier to control.

spirit power, on the other hand, can be seen as the "qi" among the three treasures of essence, qi, and spirit. It is refined by absorbing the energy of heaven and earth from the outside World, so it is indeed a bit more troublesome to control.

Just like him, with methods like Controlling Crane Catching Dragon, his control over spirit power is stronger than most Spirit Masters, yet his progress is still so slow, let alone other Spirit Masters.

However, his ability to run seven meters proves that this method is very effective for precise control of spirit power. If he can achieve what he envisioned, perhaps he will truly master the extraordinary power of spirit power. At that time, any self-created Spirit Ability that relies on spirit power will be at his fingertips.

“Let’s go eat. You’re treating, after all, I’m being your test subject.” Xiao Wu rubbed her somewhat deflated stomach and said to Tang San, “Exercising with spirit power is truly luxurious, and I get hungry faster.”

“Alright, I’ll treat.”

Tang San smiled wryly, and with Xiao Wu’s reminder, he remembered that he needed to find a way to earn money, otherwise he wouldn’t be able to afford the expenses of research and cultivation.

Also, he needed to find a blacksmith shop to forge iron.

It wasn’t that he wanted to become a Divine Craftsman or anything, after all, he had no memory of Hidden Weapons at all. As for handcrafted hot weapons... forgive him, he didn’t understand the principles, and even if he did, he couldn’t make them by hand.

The main reason was that Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method is a hammer method that uses leverage, and through vibration, it can also exercise the tendons and bones of the whole body, thereby strengthening the physique.

More importantly, if he could master the more fundamental ability: vibration, through the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method, then his future could be said to be boundless.

Leaving the backyard, Tang San took Xiao Wu to find Ma Xiunuo and said, “Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, we’re going to have lunch. Would you like to join us?”

“No, as the hall master of the sub-hall, I have to report the city’s crime situation to the higher-level Spirit Hall every month. Tomorrow is the time to submit the report, so I need to quickly organize it.”

Ma Xiunuo shook his head, then remembered something, called Tang San over, and handed him a bulging brown small bag, saying, “Xiao Tang, that Thousand Root Banyan was sent to the auction house in Nuoding City for auction. The starting price was five hundred gold coins, and it was finally bought by a master sculptor for two thousand gold coins.”

“I know you won’t take advantage, but in spirit hunting, the Spirit Beast hunted belongs to the Spirit Master who obtains the spirit ring, and those who help hunt receive a corresponding share based on their effort.”

“Therefore, I took eight hundred, Su Yuntao and Sisi each took three hundred, and the remaining six hundred is yours.”

Tang San took the small bag and said, “Thank you, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo.”

“No need to be so polite, this is what you deserve. If you hadn’t said that this Thousand Root Banyan was valuable to sculptors, we wouldn’t have known this thing was so valuable.” Ma Xiunuo said with emotion, “Who would have thought that a tree could be so valuable, even higher than my monthly salary.”

After a few casual chats with Ma Xiunuo, Tang San didn’t disturb Ma Xiunuo’s busy work, only saying that he would help bring food when they returned, and then left Spirit Hall with Xiao Wu.

“You got six hundred gold coins. It would take me six hundred months to get that from Spirit Hall.” Xiao Wu said naively, “You’re a rich person!”

“Although I have money, please rest assured, except for occasionally treating, I will definitely not lend it to you to waste.” Tang San cut off Xiao Wu’s crooked thoughts, “This is all needed for research and cultivation.”

“So stingy.” Xiao Wu’s eyes were resentful, pouting, truly like a little girl, “And why cultivate so hard?”

Regarding other transmigrators.

Three words: information asymmetry.

It's not about other transmigrators knowing Tang San is one of them. That's irrelevant. The protagonist of this book has such a personality, he can't pretend, so if he's discovered, he's discovered.

Information asymmetry refers to the fact that other transmigrators are wary of Tang Hao's strength and don't know whether Tang Hao is actually with Tang San at this time.

To catch the rabbit, Tang Hao is an obstacle they cannot bypass.

Daring to steal the Blue Silver Emperor doesn't mean they can defeat Tang Hao. If they could defeat him, they wouldn't need to steal. After all, given the usual behavior of most fan-fiction protagonists, wouldn't directly robbing him be a greater and better blow to Tang Hao?

...Perhaps they just stumbled upon the location of the Blue Silver Emperor (this is a spoiler of the outline). After all, the Spirit Bone is still there, which already indicates that the other party couldn't find where the Spirit Bone was hidden and couldn't break through the cave wall, meaning their strength isn't strong.

Also, I have been describing Tang San's perspective on life, emphasizing that this is a real World, which is also a foreshadowing...

Other transmigrators will not be extremely powerful. At least in the early and mid-stages, there will definitely not be transmigrators with systems. Writing that kind would definitely cause a huge collapse. Does the author also have to give Tang San a system? That would be too stiff.

29: The power of Douluo Continent

“If you don’t work hard, and you encounter danger, no one will save you. Even if I form a deep friendship with you later and come to save you, you’d still have to hold on until I got there, wouldn’t you?”

Tang San gave Xiao Wu a reason she couldn’t refute.

But Xiao Wu suddenly giggled and said, “It seems you’re still captivated by my cute appearance.”

“Everyone appreciates beauty. Unless there’s something wrong with their mind, no one can ignore something cute,” Tang San lectured. “But don’t think I’ll always protect you. If you’re not strong enough and you die, at most I’ll put some fruit in front of your cenotaph during holidays as an offering.”

“Hmph!” Xiao Wu snorted again, “You’re so sharp-tongued.”

Tang San was noncommittal.

At least, he had clearly explained the stakes to Xiao Wu.

And Xiao Wu did listen a little.

A Ten-thousand year soul beast that has taken human form is like a blank slate. Even if it has truly lived for ten thousand years, in the unchanging environment of the Star Dou Great Forest, even if it develops intelligence, how much knowledge can it gain?

Upon arriving in human society, they initially retain the habits of a Spirit Beast, but then slowly interact with humans, developing a personality based on who they meet.

Xiao Wu is indeed a genius among geniuses; she learns very quickly. As long as she is willing to learn, which means using her brain... it's probably the same for most Ten-thousand year soul beasts that have taken human form.

However, changing the habits of a Spirit Beast that has lived for ten thousand years takes time.

On the way to the restaurant, Xiao Wu suddenly asked, "Oh, right, you still haven't told me about the Upper Three Sects. Before, I was just focused on practicing climbing trees."

Tang San said, "The forces on the Douluo Continent can be called One Hall, Two Great Empires, Upper Three Sects, and Lower Four Sects."

"The One Hall is the Spirit Hall. It has branch halls in every city on the Douluo Continent, and even in villages. However, the Spirit Hall in villages is just a stone house, with no Spirit Hall official. The village chief is responsible for arranging cleaning and repairs every month."

"This is an organization similar to a religious faith. All members are Spirit Masters, and it recruits Spirit Masters from across the continent, even providing gold coins to every Spirit Master."

"A Spirit Master receives one per month; a Spirit Grandmaster, ten per month; a Spirit Elder, one hundred per month."

Xiao Wu exclaimed, "Is Spirit Hall a good organization?"

"Initially, when it was first established, perhaps it was. But after thousands of years of development, that's not necessarily the case. After all, when a large force develops for a long time, there will always be internal corruption," Tang San said objectively. "However, Spirit Hall's basic guarantee for common Spirit Masters is quite good. Regardless of what interests are involved, at least we benefit from it, right?"

Xiao Wu nodded and asked, "If a Spirit Elder gets one hundred per month, does a Spirit Ancestor get one thousand?"

Tang San glanced at Xiao Wu and shook his head: “Zero.”

“Huh?”

Xiao Wu was puzzled, “Why don’t they give it out anymore?”

“When an ordinary person awakens their Spirit, if they can cultivate to a Spirit Ancestor, they’ll be at least twenty years old. At twenty, they’re already adults and need to be self-reliant. Do they still expect to keep getting freebies?” Tang San rolled his eyes. “Spirit Hall cultivates Spirit Masters, it’s not a charity. If you want to keep getting money, you can only join Spirit Hall.”

“Also, if a Spirit Master is forty years old or older and hasn’t reached Spirit Ancestor, Spirit Hall will also stop providing subsidies.”

“After all, they’re forty years old, in middle age, and their bodies are starting to decline. If they don’t have a heaven-defying opportunity, they definitely won’t be able to break through again. Are they supposed to provide for these people in their old age?”

Xiao Wu nodded repeatedly, feeling that Tang San’s words made a lot of sense, and she developed a slight fondness for Spirit Hall.

“Next are the Two Great Empires, Heaven Dou and Star Luo. Currently, there are only these two Empires on the continent. Other duchies, kingdoms, independent cities, and so on, are mostly subordinates of these Two Great Empires. The Heaven Dou Empire has more kingdoms and duchies within its borders.”

Tang San paused, then continued.

“The Heaven Dou imperial family’s Spirit is a swan. According to existing records, if they haven’t been altered or intentionally concealed, then no Titled Douluo has appeared within their imperial family. Their governance primarily relies on enfeoffing nobles, allowing the nobles of various kingdoms and duchies to govern themselves, thereby achieving balance.”

“The Star Luo Empire’s imperial family’s inherited Spirit is the White Tiger. The local customs within its borders are fierce. If the records in the books are accurate, and no major changes have occurred in the Star Luo Empire over the years, then when you go there, you can often witness brawls.”

“However, it is also because of this atmosphere that the competition within the imperial family is extremely fierce, similar to raising poisonous insects. Only the strongest can become emperor, and those who fail the competition have only one fate: death. And successive Star Luo emperors, even if they haven’t met the conditions for competition, are basically Spirit Douluo or Titled Douluo level existences.”

“The Upper Three Sects are the Clear Sky Sect, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, and the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan.”

“Among them, the Clear Sky Sect’s ancestral Spirit is the Clear Sky Hammer. I heard it mutated from a forging hammer and follows an extreme flow, where all Spirit Abilities gained from spirit rings are related to strength, but not the kind of Spirit Ability that only increases strength; it’s not an ultimate flow. However, this Sect offended Spirit Hall and had its backbone broken. It is currently sealed, and it is very difficult for outsiders to see Clear Sky Sect disciples.”

“Next is the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. Their Spirit, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda, is a support system Spirit and follows a balanced flow, or rather, they can only follow a balanced flow.”

Xiao Wu asked in confusion, “Why?”

“The Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda Spirit has seven layers and can only add seven spirit rings. Aside from the Martial Soul True Body, the first six Spirit Abilities are all amplifications: strength, speed, defense, attribute, spirit power, and attack. No matter which Spirit Beast they hunt, the Spirit Ability they obtain will only be one of these six types. Spirit Masters with this Spirit can adjust the order of amplification according to their desired situation.”

Tang San sighed, “This is also the peculiarity of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda Spirit. Because the amplification is too powerful, they can only cultivate to level seventy-nine. Without special circumstances, it’s simply impossible for them to reach the Spirit Douluo level.”

“However, because of its powerful amplification ability, which has a great effect even on Titled Douluo, many Titled Douluo give face to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.”

“Their Sect has a very large industry, selling various luxury goods and living-type spirit tools. They follow a high-end route, which ordinary people cannot afford.”

At this point, Tang San paused, thinking about how to describe the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan.

“Finally, the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, although it bears the title of one of the Upper Three Sects, in my opinion, it is more like a family.”

“Their Spirit is the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon, a true dragon species. The requirements for bloodline are much higher than the other two. For marriage and alliances, their selection of a partner requires them to be dragon-related, at least having some connection to dragons. Otherwise, they will face strong opposition from the family’s high-ranking members... If they truly love a partner whose Spirit is not a dragon species, they can only do so secretly, not openly.”

“Otherwise, if a bad precedent is set, and people in the family see it and do the same, the bloodline of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Spirit might be diluted or lead to impure descendants.”

This was also based on Tang San’s reasonable inference from fragments of information about the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon he saw in the Spirit Hall’s library—to ensure the stable inheritance of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Spirit.

Perhaps the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan didn’t understand genetics, but after thousands of years of experience, they still summarized some principles and conclusions.

This is also why Liu Erlong, despite her good talent, could only be an illegitimate daughter. Her father, Yu Luomian, didn't give her the surname "Yu," and it's even possible he never took her back to the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan.

After all, the age difference between Yu Xiaogang and Liu Erlong should not be large, at least not more than ten years, otherwise, the two of them would not have been able to form the Golden Triangle with Flender.

The conditions for the Star Luo Empire's imperial succession cannot be competitive—

It's impossible for two "Hell White Tigers" to be born in every generation.

Martial Soul Fusion is not possible with just any White Tiger Spirit and Hell Civet Spirit. Otherwise, Martial Soul Fusion Skills wouldn't be so rare. If the Zhu Family and Dai Family had many children and cultivated them all, it would be enough to dominate the entire Douluo Continent within two or three hundred years, and Spirit Hall wouldn't be able to suppress them.

(Not referencing the Evil Eye Holy King setting from the comic)

30: Perseverance Yu Xiaogang

Speaking of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, Tang San thought of Yu Xiaogang again.

This guy's personality likely developed this way because the gap between his expectations and reality was too wide the moment his Spirit awakened, plus he was the Sect Master's son, and the clan members started having opinions about him.

Before his Spirit awakened, as the Sect Master's son, he could be said to be the chosen one of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan; even when young, he must have been instilled with a lot of ideas about the glory of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, and his personality must have been very proud.

After his Spirit awakened, it was one thing for the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon to mutate into a detached Spirit, but his innate spirit power was only half a rank.

This disparity must have made him feel inferior.

Self-respect and inferiority, these two emotions intertwined, shaped Yu Xiaogang's current personality, coupled with emotional setbacks... Speaking of this, Tang San had to complain about one thing, which was the messy affairs of the Douluo Continent in the original work, all caused by Yu Xiaogang's two relationships.

However, Yu Xiaogang was indeed irresponsible.

Leaving aside the Bibi Dong emotional line for now, regarding the Liu Erlong line, Yu Xiaogang was told that Liu Erlong was his cousin, and he couldn't accept it at first, so he ran away, which was actually understandable.

After all, any normal person, on their wedding day, would have their mind explode and be unable to accept it if their biological uncle suddenly told them that the bride they were about to marry was his illegitimate daughter.

Choosing to escape immediately was actually not a problem, it's human nature and understandable.

But Yu Xiaogang hid for so many years and never sent a reply; isn't that a bit too much? Could it be that he still hasn't accepted the fact? That's a bit too cowardly.

Thinking of this, Tang San reined in his wandering thoughts and continued to Xiao Wu, "And the Lower Four Sects are the Elephant Armored Academy, Sacred Dragon Sect, Star Crown Sect, and White Tiger Sect."

"The Elephant Armored Academy's Spirit is the Diamond Mammoth, possessing formidable defense and great strength; the Sacred Dragon Sect's Spirit is a sub-dragon, the White Armored Earth Dragon; the Star Crown Sect's Spirit is the Star Crown, said to be able to condense the power of stars for cultivation; and the White Tiger Sect is the Sect of the Star Luo Empire's imperial family, to prevent the White Tiger lineage from dying out, because the Star Luo imperial family is so reckless, if they go too far and something unexpected happens, the White Tiger's inheritance would be severed."

"The Upper Three Sects all have Titled Douluo; while among the Lower Four Sects, the strongest are Spirit Douluo."

Xiao Wu remembered carefully and thought to herself, "Before fighting in the future, I must first ask about the opponent's background, otherwise if I beat the grandson and the grandfather comes, whether it's a Spirit Douluo or a Titled Douluo, I'll be finished."

After explaining all this, Tang San and Xiao Wu had already arrived at a small restaurant in Nuoding City.

“You order, but don't waste food,” Tang San said.

“Don't worry, I'm famous at Notting Academy for cherishing food,” Xiao Wu guaranteed, patting her flat chest, and conveniently coiled her scorpion braid into her lap.

The scorpion braid was too long; when she sat down, it would drag on the ground.

Tang San frowned and said, “Your hair is too long, and you don't have any long-range attack capabilities; close combat is actually a big disadvantage.”

If it were a formal Spirit Battle, this wouldn't matter, as there are rules in competitions that certain body parts cannot be attacked, nor can hair be pulled or eyes gouged out.

But if they encountered robbers or evil The Fallen while hunting for Spirits, they wouldn't care about martial ethics; they would use whatever worked best.

According to the Spirit Hall's book, “Continental Travelogue,” Tang San knew that many commoner Spirit Masters were ambushed and killed by ordinary people while traveling.

Although Spirit Masters are more powerful than ordinary people, they are still flesh and blood; if they are caught off guard by an ordinary person at close range, and something like a handful of quicklime is suddenly thrown, a Spirit Master might not react in time.

In Tang San's view, if Xiao Wu's long braid couldn't be turned into an advantage, it was a burden, and it would be better to cut it.

“I won't cut it,” Xiao Wu said, cautiously covering her scorpion braid, afraid that Tang San would secretly cut it, “My mother used to comb my hair often; these are beautiful memories.”

“Alright, I'll try to make your hair an advantage.”

Tang San no longer mentioned cutting her hair, and regarding the application of this scorpion braid, he thought of an anime he had watched in his previous life that depicted the daily life of assassins; the female protagonist in it was similar to Xiao Wu, having a scorpion braid, but its end was tied with a spearhead, which could be used as a short sword and was very flexible to use.

Speaking of which, if a short sword were really tied to her hair, could it be considered a hair ornament and not a weapon?

This was a question worth pondering.

However, the right of interpretation would certainly lie with the competition organizers.

At this moment, Xiao Wu had already ordered the dishes, and the waiter quickly brought them up; most were vegetarian, but there were also meats, such as chicken and mutton.

After finishing their meal, Xiao Wu planned to return to Notting Academy and asked Tang San, “Are you going back?”

“Yes, I need to ask Mohen Teacher for a long leave,” Tang San nodded, “Also, regarding some theories, I need to look up some information in the school library; you should come along too, it will be good for you.”

“No, thanks? Just seeing those words makes my head ache, let alone those thick books,” Xiao Wu complained, rolling her eyes, trying to think of an excuse.

“Then suit yourself; anyway, you haven't even recognized all the common characters yet, so just come to my place for training every day, and I'll check your progress,” Tang San didn't intend to force Xiao Wu to study; he knew that forcing someone to read would absolutely not lead to learning, “Oh, and don't tell Wang Sheng and the others about the tree-climbing method.”

Xiao Wu was puzzled, “Why? Are you worried they'll learn it?”

“I'm just afraid someone will follow the clues and find me,” Tang San said, “They don't even have ten ranks of spirit power; after climbing three or four times, their spirit power will be almost depleted, and they'll probably give up afterward. Besides, this is also a self-created Spirit Ability of mine.”

“Do you know the value of a self-created Spirit Ability? A powerful self-created Spirit Ability cannot be compared to a hundred-thousand-year Spirit Bone.”

“I don't want to be sought out by Spirit Douluo and Titled Douluo from various clans and forced to join this place or that place before I've even fully developed; the feeling of being powerless is not pleasant.”

“And our training at Spirit Hall is also more secretive.”

Hearing “Spirit Douluo” and “Titled Douluo,” Xiao Wu immediately agreed and promised not to tell Wang Sheng and the others.

Compared to Tang San, Xiao Wu actually had even fewer options.

The two returned to Notting Academy and found that Yu Xiaogang was still standing at the entrance; seeing them return, he immediately walked quickly towards them, his face full of confidence.

Xiao Wu was somewhat disgusted by him, “Is this person stupid? Standing outside the gate for so long.”

Tang San said, “He definitely wasn't standing there the whole time; he probably thought we would come back to school for lunch. After all, we're work-study students and don't have much money, so he, not wanting to give up on taking us as disciples, must have eaten earlier and waited at the entrance.”

At this moment, Yu Xiaogang also walked up to the two and said, “Xiao Wu, Tang San, are you really unwilling to take me as your teacher?”

“Unwilling,” Xiao Wu said with a look of disdain, still the same as before, with little emotional intelligence, “You can't escort our growth, so what's the point of taking you as our teacher?”

Yu Xiaogang took a deep breath, suppressed the anger in his heart, and said kindly, “But I am a theoretical Grandmaster; I can help you choose better spirit rings and allow you to obtain the best Spirit Abilities.”

The Lower Four Sects truly only have Spirit Douluo; Hu Yan Zhen and the Sect Master of the Sacred Dragon Sect in the original work only broke through to Titled Douluo after joining Spirit Hall, especially Hu Yan Zhen, who was only level ninety before the decisive battle and hadn't even obtained his ninth spirit ring before being stabbed to death by a fish spear.

31: Yu Xiaogang's error analysis

“Help us choose spirit rings?” Xiao Wu was surprised, “Do you also have this ability?”

Yu Xiaogang became smug: “Regarding my understanding of Spirit Beasts, I have at least ninety-five percent or more of the Spirit Beast data on the continent, and I can definitely help you choose better spirit rings.”

Tang San knew that the only thing Yu Xiaogang could offer was data on Spirit Beasts.

However, he was certain that Yu Xiaogang's understanding of these Spirit Beasts was limited to what was written in books, and he wouldn't deduce any hidden characteristics from those records.

To put it bluntly, it was just rote memorization.

No wonder ever since he published the Ten Theories of Spirit Cultivation, Yu Xiaogang had never published any theoretical knowledge again. It turned out his mind was entirely focused on memorizing the written information of those Spirit Beasts.

“Is that so? Then tell me, what kind of Spirit Beast did my First spirit ring come from?” Xiao Wu saw Tang San glance at her as if he knew something, so she asked Yu Xiaogang.

Yu Xiaogang finally managed to squeeze out a smile and said, “Your First Soul Skill, I saw it when you fought Tang San on the training ground. It's a body technique, and it should be called Waist Bow, right?”

“Hmph, what's there to be proud of? Anyone can see that,” Xiao Wu said disdainfully.

“Your Spirit is Soft Bones Rabbit, but among rabbit-type Spirit Beasts, none are known for their waist strength. Therefore, your First spirit ring must have come from a cat-type, leopard-type, tiger-type, or other Spirit Beast with strong waist power,” Yu Xiaogang said to himself, “Actually, you chose the wrong First spirit ring. Looking at your fighting style, you want to become an attack system Spirit Master. Then you should have chosen a Great Ape known for its strength; that would definitely improve your punching.”

Xiao Wu narrowed her eyes.

How should she put it?

Besides seeing that she wanted to become an attack system Spirit Master, everything else he said was wrong. As for the Waist Bow Spirit Ability, it was completely developed according to her own ideas and had nothing to do with cat-type, leopard-type, or tiger-type Spirit Beasts.

Moreover, as a hundred-thousand-year transformed Soft Bones Rabbit, how could she choose a skill from a non-rabbit type?

Waist Bow was the most suitable Spirit Ability for her after she transformed into human form.

Although Tang San had also said that her First spirit ring wasn't entirely suitable, he also said it enhanced her waist strength, which counted as an improvement in physical fitness and reaction ability.

But this Yu Xiaogang directly said she chose wrong and should have chosen a Great Ape.

Was this really not nonsense?

She didn't want to become a muscular rabbit; that would be too ugly.

And Yu Xiaogang seemed not to notice Xiao Wu's gaze, continuing, “However, according to my research, the Soft Bones Rabbit Spirit Beast is at the bottom of animal-type Spirit Beasts, on the same level as a bamboo rat, just a bit larger in size. This kind of Beast Spirit, generally speaking, will not exceed three levels of spirit power. Like the Blue Silver Grass, it is a 廢 Spirit.”

Xiao Wu cursed: “You are the 廢 Spirit! Your whole family are 廢 Spirits!”

Yu Xiaogang was hit where it hurt, but he still endured it and appeased her, “Don’t be angry yet. I’m just giving an example. I know you are definitely not a 廢 Spirit. Then, if Soft Bones Rabbit has innate full spirit power, there’s another possibility: you must have another powerful Spirit. You are a twin spirits, aren’t you?”

“I twin your mother’s X!”

“F your mother’s X!”

Xiao Wu spewed out countless vulgarities, and for a moment, even Tang San, who was beside her, was stunned.

It was well-known that a Soft Bones Rabbit staying in the core area of the Star Dou Great Forest could not have such a rich vocabulary. Although she had been a bit talkative before, it was still acceptable, but now... So, what did you learn from classmates like Wang Sheng?

Yu Xiaogang was also dumbfounded; he couldn’t quite react.

How could a girl be so... fiery?

Had he fallen behind the times?

No!

Yu Xiaogang came to his senses, observing Xiao Wu’s genuine anger. Could he have guessed wrong? Was she not a twin spirits, but a mutated case like Tang San?

Preconceived notions led him to believe that Tang San’s Blue Silver Grass had mutated, and coupled with Tang San’s Spirit proof showing only six levels of innate spirit power, Yu Xiaogang did not believe Tang San was a twin spirits.

But Xiao Wu wasn't?

That was careless.

Yu Xiaogang was a bit annoyed. Given the current situation, he could only start with Tang San.

"Tang San, let me guess your First spirit ring's Spirit Ability. It should be something like Binding, right?"

Yu Xiaogang regained his confidence. Soft Bones Rabbit was a Beast Spirit, and he might have guessed wrong, but he would never mistake a plant Spirit like Blue Silver Grass. "You must have chosen a vine-type Spirit Beast, right? Unfortunately, you chose wrong. If you had chosen a snake-type, especially a poisonous snake-type, you could have obtained a very strong Binding Spirit Ability, and the snake's poison could also be inherited, giving you greater lethality against enemies."

"You're all wrong," Tang San shook his head. "My First spirit ring came from a Thousand Root Banyan, not a vine. The Spirit Ability it brought isn't Binding, but a recovery type. I am a support system Spirit Master."

"This is impossible!"

Yu Xiaogang's eyes widened. "I know the Thousand Root Banyan Spirit Beast. Although its trunk is like a network, it's very hard and it's impossible for Blue Silver Grass to evolve to that extent! And since it's a Thousand Root Banyan, how could it give you the ability to Bind? That kind of plant Spirit Beast doesn't even move! You must be lying to me, right?"

How could a plant-type Spirit Beast like the Thousand Root Banyan, which had no characteristics other than being hard, bring a recovery-type skill?

It was impossible!

“No, Grandmaster, my First spirit ring truly came from the Thousand Root Banyan. If you don’t believe me, you can go to Notting Forest and see for yourself. The five-hundred-year-old Thousand Root Banyan there has already been cut down.”

Tang San’s tone was calm. “If you still don’t believe me, you can go to Spirit Hall and ask Grandmaster Ma Xiunuo. I invited him, Grandmaster Su Yuntao, and Miss Sisi to help me hunt the Spirit Beast. They can all testify. Moreover, I really am a support system Spirit Master, it’s just that I can do some things that only control system Spirit Masters can do.”

“If you still don’t believe me, then Grandmaster, have you ever seen other Spirit Masters with the Blue Silver Grass Spirit absorb a Thousand Root Banyan spirit ring?”

Yu Xiaogang froze.

He truly hadn't seen it, and for his research on the Blue Silver Grass Spirit, he had never personally sought out Spirit Masters with the Blue Silver Grass Spirit, but instead directly recorded the data from Spirit Hall.

How could he have the energy to personally find hundreds of people with the Blue Silver Grass Spirit?

“It seems you haven’t,” Tang San showed a look of disappointment. “As a six-year-old student, I shouldn’t say this, but, Grandmaster, I still advise you to be more down-to-earth. Don’t think about finding a genius to prove yourself; that only shows the genius’s extraordinary talent, not that you taught them well.”

“What do you know? I hold the truth of Spirit cultivation in my hands!” Yu Xiaogang, disregarding that Tang San was just a six-year-old child, became a bit frantic.

“I truly don’t know anything, but I understand one thing: truth is never held by a few people. It is only truth when it is recognized by the world. If it is not made public, it is merely a means.”

Tang San looked directly at Yu Xiaogang, “Means, similar to the advanced meditation methods of various great families, or self-created Spirit Abilities, I’ve seen them in books, but not in reality. Therefore, I believe such things would naturally not be easily made public, as they are advantages for oneself and one’s family. But for theoretical knowledge of Spirit cultivation, if you think what you hold is truth, then please prove it with yourself first.”

“Among your ten theories, isn’t there one: ‘There are no 废 Spirits, only 废 Spirit Masters’?”

“Honestly, I think so many people on the continent mock you, perhaps because of this very line, because for a Spirit Grandmaster like you to say such a thing, it’s truly a bit... comical. Everyone thinks you’re mocking yourself.”

32: Half a month passes by in a hurry

“That’s all I have to say. I hope Grandmaster, you can heed the advice of an ordinary student like me.”

After speaking, Tang San politely added, “Well then, Xiao Wu and I will enter the Academy first. We are still quite busy, so we’ll see you next time, Grandmaster Yu.”

Even though Tang San was perfectly courteous, how could Yu Xiaogang not hear the mockery and sarcasm in the final phrase “Grandmaster Yu”?

What’s more, Xiao Wu even turned back and made a mocking face at him.

This time, Tang San did not stop her.

Watching Tang San and Xiao Wu’s retreating figures as they entered Notting Academy, Yu Xiaogang gritted his teeth: “Good, two brats, how dare they mock me! Utterly nonsensical!”

But no matter how much anger he felt, Yu Xiaogang could only suppress it. If he were to go to the Notting Dean and have these two geniuses expelled because of this, he would probably become famous again.

“Just you wait!”

Yu Xiaogang prepared to leave Notting Academy and seek refuge with his former good friend, Flender.

Over the years, although he had hidden here, he had exchanged letters with Flender and learned that his friend had established Shrek Academy, which only accepted monsters.

So, he would go there.

Flender had told him that there were three genius students in the Academy: one was the Star Luo Crown Prince of the Star Luo Empire, one was a lucky Spirit mutation child whose Spirit was the Evil Fire Phoenix, and another was a food system Spirit Master with a Sausage Spirit and innate full spirit power.

He couldn't accept the Star Luo Crown Prince; the family competition in the Star Luo Empire was too fierce, and if he wasn't careful, he would get dragged into it. The child with the Evil Fire Phoenix Spirit had already been taken as a personal disciple by Flender, so it was impossible for him to take him over. That left only the food system Spirit Master with a Sausage Spirit and innate full spirit power.

This child was about seven or eight years old, only one or two years older than Tang San and Xiao Wu, which was perfect for him to become his personal disciple.

“Tang San, since you want to become a support system Spirit Master, then I will also cultivate a support Spirit Master, and even let his Sausage possess powerful combat abilities!”

Yu Xiaogang understood that with Tang San's current talent, he would definitely participate in the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament in the future. At that time, his personal disciple, a food system Spirit Master whose Spirit was a Sausage, would be able to unleash powerful offensive abilities. He believed it would definitely be able to slap Tang San and Xiao Wu's faces hard.

These two truly infuriated him.

Coupled with the humiliation he had suffered over the years, being provoked by Tang San ignited it completely, burning fiercely, unable to be extinguished.

In short, he just got carried away for a moment...

So, Yu Xiaogang returned to his private courtyard, packed up his research materials, put them all into his storage soul tool, leaving nothing behind, and then went to find the Notting Dean to resign.

At least, he had lived with this friend for so many years and needed to say goodbye; he couldn't just leave without a word.

That would be too impolite.

He still had a little bit of face.

Seeing Yu Xiaogang's insistence on leaving, the Notting Dean tried to persuade him for a sentence or two, exchanged a few pleasantries, and then granted his wish, seeing him off from the Academy.

Notting Academy was not solely run by him as the Dean; he had to consider the attitudes of other teachers. Moreover, Yu Xiaogang had been decadent all these years, never giving a single public lecture at the school, which was indeed a bit unfair.

Now that he was leaving, he secretly breathed a sigh of relief.

Thus, Yu Xiaogang left Nuoding City, just as few people knew exactly when he arrived, and when he left, few people knew exactly when he departed.

When the teachers of Notting Academy learned of this matter, they merely sighed a few times and didn't say much sarcastic remarks. After all, the person had already left, and saying anything would be meaningless.

Their past gossiping behind his back initially hoped that Yu Xiaogang would feel shame and then become brave. He was at least a Spirit Grandmaster; he could teach the students in the Academy and give a few lessons, right?

Who knew, he remained silent.

Now that he was gone, they didn't have much thought to discuss anything, at most chatting a few sentences after dinner.

After all, they each had their own work and lives, and didn't have that much time to mock a guy who was almost fifty and still a Spirit Grandmaster...

On the other side.

Tang San found Mo Hen's office and asked him for leave, hoping to arrange his own time for the next six years.

"Tang San, do you want to stay at Notting Academy for six years?" Mo Hen asked curiously, "It's not that the teachers want to rush you away quickly, but we're afraid of wasting your talent. I estimate that at the latest, in your fourth year, you'll be able to obtain your second spirit ring. At that time, we really won't be able to teach you anymore."

"Don't worry, Mohen Teacher, I have arrangements for my own cultivation," Tang San was a little touched by Mo Hen's sense of responsibility, so he advised Mohen Teacher not to worry about him. "Moreover, I also have research on Spirit cultivation. Recently, I've been preparing to publish my own insights on Spirit research in the Wuhun News."

"Oh? Tang San, do you also have research on Spirit?" Mo Hen was surprised, "What is it about?"

"It's a secret," Tang San kept them in suspense. "You'll see it when the Wuhun News is published later, Mohen Teacher."

"Alright, then I look forward to your article," Mo Hen stroked Tang San's head. He liked this child more and more. Although he was mature for his age, he also had the liveliness appropriate for his age, which was truly remarkable.

After leaving the office, Tang San went to the library to organize the content he wanted to publish.

Considering that he was only six years old this year, some more advanced speculative theories absolutely could not be released. Therefore, he could only pick some trivial things. After all, being one step ahead was genius; being many steps ahead was madness.

Tang San felt that if he wanted to be “mad,” he would at least have to become a Titled Douluo first.

In a blink of an eye, half a month passed quietly.

Tang San’s daily life was also regular. Besides cultivating Mysterious Heaven Skill, Purple Demon Eye, Mysterious Jade Hand, Controlling Crane Catching Dragon, and Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track, he also trained his control over spirit power by climbing trees, and tried to integrate the faint mental force developed from cultivating Purple Demon Eye with his own blood qi and spirit power.

As for the remaining time, besides finding a blacksmith shop to forge iron and train his physique with the Rampaging Wind Technique, comprehending the patterns of vibration, he was constantly shuttling between the Spirit Hall’s library and Notting Academy’s library.

In addition, he occasionally chatted with Wang Sheng and others.

After Wang Sheng learned of Tang San’s daily schedule, he realized how hardworking Tang San truly was—every day was fully packed, with almost no free time except for sleeping, eating, and going to the restroom.

Therefore, he, who yearned to become a Spirit Master, also actively joined Tang San’s small group.

He also knew that there was a gap between his Spirit talent and that of Tang San, Xiao Wu, and others, so he couldn’t stay forever. Moreover, he was already in his sixth year and would graduate next year, so he needed to find a way out for himself.

However, being able to spend more time with Tang San, he could also learn more useful things.

“Wang Sheng, you’ll graduate next year, right?” Tang San asked about Wang Sheng’s graduation during mealtime.

“Yes, Third Brother, my spirit power has already reached rank nine. I estimate that before the New Year, I can break through to rank ten. Among Notting Academy, my talent is considered good,” Wang Sheng said.

Tang San understood this. For most commoner Spirit Masters, being able to cultivate their spirit power to rank ten by the age of twelve, possessing a spirit ring, and becoming a Spirit Master was already very good.

If one could become a Spirit Grandmaster before the age of twelve, even if only rank twenty-one, they would be a rare genius.

At least in this Douluo Continent era, it was so.

“Alright, you’ve helped me a lot in the past half month. When you reach rank ten, I’ll take you to hunt Spirit Beast. I’ll pick a hundred-year spirit ring for you.”

These days, Tang San had seen Wang Sheng’s efforts, and he had indeed helped a lot. Taking him to hunt Spirit Beast would be a way to repay him.

“Thank you, Third Brother.” Wang Sheng was overjoyed.

As a commoner, even if he reached rank ten, being alone, without power or influence, he simply couldn’t get the permit to enter the Hunting Spirit Forest. He could only ask a teacher from the Academy to lead him.

The Academy’s teachers would lead students to hunt Spirit Beast after they reached rank ten, but the teachers in the Academy would most likely only arrange a white ten-year spirit ring for him.

But now, Tang San actually promised to find him a hundred-year Spirit Beast. How could he not be happy?

Moreover, Tang San also had extensive research on Spirit cultivation. His first spirit ring was chosen by himself, and the Spirit Ability: Endless Recovery, had extremely powerful effects. It clearly seemed like a recovery-type support system Spirit Ability, but he could use it to achieve effects that even control system couldn't compare to; it was simply divine.

Presumably, he would also help him find a Spirit Beast suitable for his tiger Spirit.

Yu Xiaogang offline.

Wang Sheng online.

33: Re-planning the seven major departments

After receiving Tang San's promise, Wang Sheng spent almost all his remaining time cultivating his spirit power, persevering no matter how monotonous meditation became.

Unlike the cultivation described in the novels Tang San read in his previous Life, which depicted a blissful experience, meditation cultivation is an extremely monotonous process.

To put it simply, meditation is closing one's eyes and sensing the Spirit within one's body. Essentially, it's a process of self-hypnosis, focusing one's attention on the Spirit inside to make it operate and absorb the energy of the world.

In the Spirit Master's world, the higher the innate spirit power upon Spirit awakening, the better the cultivation talent.

However, based on the meditation methods for cultivating Spirits, Tang San felt that the level of innate spirit power represented the efficiency of the Spirit's reaction to one's own mental force.

From level one to ten, the higher the innate spirit power of a Spirit, the quicker its response to a human's mental force.

Taking the release and retraction of a Spirit as an example, if an awakened Spirit cannot be measured for innate spirit power, its release and retraction require a certain amount of time. However, if an awakened Spirit has innate spirit power, its release and retraction are much easier.

Although after proficiency, a Spirit can be released and retracted instantly, there was indeed a time difference in the release and retraction of the Spirit at the moment of initial awakening.

From this perspective, the amount of innate spirit power in a Spirit represents the degree of affinity between the Spirit and its awakener.

Just like the farmers in various villages, they always hoped to awaken a powerful Spirit, rather than a hoe, sickle, hammer, or pots and pans.

The more one desires to rise by relying on a good Spirit, the lower the affinity between one's own thoughts and these ordinary Spirits.

This can also be explained by looking at those ultimate Spirits.

After all, aren't Spirits like the Clear Sky Hammer, Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda, and Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon considered ultimate?

However, even when awakening the same Spirit, the innate spirit power each person possesses is different.

This cannot be simply explained by a phrase like "different Spirit quality."

Even though the bloodlines of members of these families are almost identical, and people of the same generation receive almost the same treatment, why do they have varying levels of innate spirit power when awakening the same Spirit?

Excluding special cases of mutation, the reason is very likely:

There is a compatibility between the Spirit and each person's personality, or to put it more mystically, their mind. The Spirit has a degree of compatibility with each person's mind.

This wasn't Tang San's baseless imagination. After all, the cultivation system of the Douluo Continent looked like a large-scale real online game, and the assessment of inheritors by the Divinities in the God Realm rewarded affinity. Only by reaching one hundred percent could one become a Divinity.

For Tang San, who had read "Douluo Continent" in his previous Life, isn't something like a Spirit quite similar to the existence of a "Divinity"?

Of course, the above are merely Tang San's conjectures. Such things are absolutely not something he can publish now. After all, if he dared to write down the term "affinity," Bibi Dong of the Spirit Hall would truly send people to find him, or even come herself, to see if he had received the inheritance of some Divinity or found relevant information.

In the blink of an eye, another half a month passed, and Tang San finally completed his first research theory on Spirits and Spirit Masters. Its main content discussed the Spirit Master's self-positioning— It is well known that Spirit Masters are divided into seven major categories based on the characteristics of their Spirits: attack system, agility-attack system, control system, defense system, Healing System, support system, and food system.

However, in reality, this division is somewhat too broad.

For example, among attack system Spirit Masters, some can perform long-range energy attacks, either carpet bombing or single-target long-range, while others cannot unleash any energy attacks and can only use their fists and feet.

A single attack system can be divided into long-range attack, mid-range attack, and close-range attack. Assigning different attack system Spirit Masters with different Spirits to deal with different enemies can yield different effects.

As for agility-attack system, it can also be broadly divided into two categories: one where the Spirit is offensive, and another where the Spirit cannot unleash any attack-type Spirit Ability and only pursues speed.

Especially the latter category is not suitable for rule-based competitions like Spirit duels. However, speed is power. As long as the speed of this type of Spirit Master is so fast that others cannot see them, or rather, cannot react, then the enemy's Life is in the control of this type of Spirit Master. With just a poisoned dagger, they can become the strongest assassins—Note: This type of Spirit Master is suitable for solo combat. If there is a large group of family members, it is best not to think about assassination, as it will likely lead to revenge killings and the complete annihilation of the entire family.

However, if there is a large group of family members, then the best positioning for this type of Spirit Master is to become a scout, because if their speed is so fast that enemies cannot see, perceive, or react to them, then the intelligence of hostile forces will be entirely in the hands of this type of family—Note: Unfortunately, it seems no one has thought of this point.

control system includes physical control and energy control. Spirits have different attributes, and the methods of control are also not entirely the same...

Tang San elaborately provided more detailed classifications for the seven existing systems, even consolidating the Healing System and food system into the support system.

In his view, there was no need to create separate categories just because a Spirit's primary function was healing or whether it could be eaten. After all, weren't their functions all about support?

For instance, if food produced by a food system Spirit Master could be used to treat illnesses and heal injuries, would he be considered a food system, a Healing System, or both?

To glorify such Spirit Masters in this way seemed a bit too absurd.

If someone had a wild imagination, a Healing Spirit could potentially be used for control. For example, if a Spirit Ability could heal wounds and make them close quickly, it would certainly accelerate cell division at the wound site. If used on a healthy person, could it accelerate their aging and thereby weaken their physical strength?

Could this Healing System Spirit Master be categorized under the control system or even the attack system?

At least, according to Tang San's own Blue Silver Grass tests, this was the case. However, when Blue Silver Grass restored others' conditions, it also infused Life force.

Other Healing Spirits couldn't do this; they consumed their own spirit power when using Spirit Abilities, unlike him who could draw power from the earth.

Writing nearly two hundred thousand characters, Tang San compiled an entire book, referencing numerous cases from past Spirit Master Grand Competitions, and annotating which session and which match provided sufficient persuasiveness.

He even extracted many cases from Spirit Master autobiographies collected by the Spirit Hall to corroborate the beneficial effects of detailed Spirit Master positioning on the entire team.

When Tang San bound dozens of pages into a book and handed it to Grandmaster Ma Xiunuo, his eyes nearly bulged out: "Xiao Tang, isn't this a bit much?"

"The Grandmaster who published the Spirit research paper, including those ten theories, was only about a thousand characters. You could publish a book with this."

Tang San said, "I'm not that Grandmaster, who only imagined things and had no basis for his arguments. After stating my own views, I added a large amount of existing evidence, which can be found in the Spirit Hall and publicly accessible libraries. I also cited the sources, so everyone can go and look up those existing books."

Ma Xiunuo was puzzled: "Isn't this a bit too pedantic?"

"This is the minimum respect for those who summarized before us. I want to be famous, but I cannot deny the efforts of my predecessors. Their collected achievements should be known to others," Tang San said very seriously. "This is not my sole achievement. It is precisely because of the efforts of my predecessors that I was able to save a lot of time. To be frank, regarding these, I am merely an analyzer, a categorizer, a summarizer, enabling others to better understand their own positioning."

Hearing Tang San say this, Ma Xiunuo couldn't help but feel a surge of respect, feeling that he hadn't misjudged him. This Tang San was a hundred, even a thousand times stronger than that Yu Xiaogang.

That fellow incorporated universally recognized common sense of the continent into his theories, and then added a few theories with absolutely no widespread cases, which was simply a joke.

While Tang San claimed to be merely a summarizer in his theories, Ma Xiunuo knew the value of the content just by reading the first page.

This was a more detailed classification of Spirit Master types!

Moreover, it contained a large number of documented cases, which was much more substantial than the ten dry theories of that so-called Grandmaster Yu Xiaogang, wasn't it?

The affinity between Spirit and person...

It's a foreshadowing.

34: Help Wang Sheng hunt the soul beast

After Ma Xiunuo sent Tang San away from Spirit Hall, he meticulously reviewed the report Tang San had written, becoming increasingly alarmed and awestruck with each passing moment.

He hadn't expected that a mere article defining Spirit Masters would contain so many case studies, and what's more, he could even use the annotations within to find corresponding data for verification.

"Xiao Tang is truly incredible. To be able to complete such a massive undertaking, he will definitely become a top-tier Martial Soul Theory Master in the future," Ma Xiunuo exclaimed in admiration. He immediately packaged the thesis and began writing a letter to the Supreme Pontiff, describing Tang San's situation.

Normally, Ma Xiunuo, as the head of a branch hall at the lowest level of Spirit Hall, would not be authorized to send letters directly to Spirit City; he would need to apply level by level.

However, in extremely serious matters, a lower-level Spirit Hall Master could bypass the intermediate layers and report directly to the Supreme Pontiff.

This was a rule set by the first Supreme Pontiff when Spirit Hall was established, its purpose being to prevent mid-level Spirit Hall personnel from obstructing reports from the lower levels.

After all, if problems arose at the lower levels, wouldn't that imply that the upper-level personnel were not doing their jobs?

If such matters reached even higher levels, those at the upper levels would certainly be punished.

Ma Xiunuo's decision to report directly was also out of concern that upper-level personnel, upon seeing Tang San's exceptional talent, might intercept him first and then force Tang San to join Spirit Hall.

Genius always comes with a certain pride.

If coercion can be avoided, it absolutely should be.

Tang San already had a good impression of Spirit Hall. If the upper-level personnel of Spirit Hall were to come and coerce or entice Tang San—Ma Xiunuo, who knew Tang San's outwardly gentle but inwardly resolute character, could already imagine how Tang San would retaliate against those who had forced him once he grew up, possibly even blaming the entire Spirit Hall.

It's not surprising that Ma Xiunuo thought this way, as currently, there are frictions between various major forces on the continent, with each even desiring the other's destruction.

Therefore, when writing the letter, Ma Xiunuo specifically highlighted Tang San's importance, adamantly hoping that Spirit Hall would not resort to coercive methods.

He didn't trust the Spirit Hall Master of Nuoding City's upper level, but he absolutely trusted the high-ranking officials in Spirit City. After all, the Supreme Pontiff was a Titled Douluo with a broad mind, and presumably possessed a love and appreciation for talent.

Just as Ma Xiunuo was writing furiously, describing Tang San's excellence, the protagonist of his letter had already taken Wang Sheng, who had cultivated to level ten, to Notting Forest.

As an aside, Xiao Wu also came along.

Arriving at the town on the outskirts of Notting Forest, Tang San explained various Spirit hunting matters to Wang Sheng, just as Grandmaster Ma Xiunuo had explained them to him.

"I remember, Third Brother," Wang Sheng listened very carefully, as this concerned his ability to hunt Spirits independently in the future.

"By the way, Wang Sheng, after you obtain a spirit ring, you'll be a true Spirit Master. What do you want to do then?" Tang San showed the pass he had obtained from Grandmaster Ma Xiunuo to the knights guarding the forest entrance, then led Wang Sheng and Xiao Wu into Notting Forest, inquiring about Wang Sheng's future plans.

"Me?" Wang Sheng thought for a moment and said, "I'll be a free Spirit Master."

"Oh? Not joining Spirit Hall?" Tang San asked curiously.

"I've thought about it, but I'm not sure," Wang Sheng replied vaguely.

Tang San nodded, not pressing further.

For commoners, information is scarce, and the elementary academy, to some extent, also serves as a form of protection for students, keeping them unaware of the general external situation.

The academy teachers' life guidance primarily revolved around the theme of "as long as you become a Spirit Master, you will be above others," supplemented by some basic moral education and the like.

After entering the forest, Tang San led the way, Xiao Wu observed their surroundings from the rear, and Wang Sheng stayed in the middle, protected by the two of them.

"Third Brother, Xiao Wu Jie, I can help too," Wang Sheng, a twelve-year-old boy, felt a bit flushed being protected by two six-year-olds.

"Hmm, pay attention to both sides. Although this is a Spirit Beast forest guarded by humans, the Spirit Beasts inside aren't domesticated. It's always right to be vigilant," Tang San didn't contradict Wang Sheng, instead letting him do what he was capable of.

"No problem, Third Brother," Wang Sheng said excitedly.

"Shh~"

Tang San turned around and slowly said, "In the Hunting Spirit Forest, try to speak less. Our footsteps on the dry branches and fallen leaves already create noise. If we speak too loudly, we might scare away the Spirit Beasts."

"Got it, Third Brother," Wang Sheng lowered his voice.

Half an hour later, guided by Tang San, Wang Sheng and Xiao Wu found a black and yellow striped tiger, three meters long, snoring under a large tree, with a half-eaten deer-like Spirit Beast in front of it.

"This is it, King Tiger, nearly two hundred years old," Tang San said to Wang Sheng, "Your Spirit is a tiger, so it's of the same kind. Absorbing its spirit ring will put less pressure on you. Secondly, before Xiao Wu became the boss of Nuoding, you often fought with Xiao Chenyu and other young noble children, so your body is stronger than average, and you should be able to withstand a hundred-year spirit ring."

Wang Sheng immediately nodded. Even if he couldn't bear it, he had to; this was a hundred-year spirit ring!

Miss this village, and you'll miss this shop!

"The King Tiger, with yellow fur and black stripes, its most important characteristic is possessing a King Tiger's Heart," Tang San began to describe the King Tiger's features, "Once the King Tiger's Heart is activated, the King Tiger's strength can be temporarily boosted by one fold, and it's the kind that comprehensively enhances all stats. Furthermore, a few King Tigers can even unleash Blood Qi through their King Tiger's Heart."

"Blood Qi?" Xiao Wu heard this term for the first time and was a little curious.

"That's the name I gave it," Tang San explained, "According to the <soul beast encyclopedia>, among King Tigers, there are those with exceptional talent who can, through their King Tiger's Heart, erupt with red airflow like smoke. Not only can this double their own strength, but it also has a blocking effect against others' Spirit Ability attacks."

"I just don't know if this one has it. If not, Wang Sheng, you don't need to be disappointed. After you obtain its spirit ring, at the very least, you can gain a Spirit Ability that comprehensively enhances your physical qualities and attributes."

Wang Sheng said, "It doesn't matter. If it were in the past, I would be very satisfied to obtain a spirit ring close to a hundred years."

"While it's sleeping, I'll go ahead and bind it. Xiao Wu, you're responsible for attacking. Wang Sheng, you just wait to deliver the final blow, because even an ordinary tiger is not something a level ten Spirit Master can hunt. Before you truly become a Spirit Master, you're completely defenseless," Tang San instructed the two.

Wang Sheng also knew that his combat power was no match for a real tiger, let alone the Spirit Beast in front of him. Going up might just get in the way, so he agreed, simply taking out the dagger he had already prepared.

Tang San placed his hand on the ground, and the roots of the Endless Grassland had already rooted themselves deep within the earth. As the roots spread beneath the snoring King Tiger, countless Blue Silver Grass suddenly sprouted from the ground, coiling around the King Tiger.

"Roar!"

Sensing its body being bound, the King Tiger immediately awoke from its slumber, roaring loudly and beginning to struggle.

35: Tiger King Qi and blood changes

Wang Sheng's struggles were quite violent, tearing off many Blue Silver Grass leaves, but Tang San's Blue Silver Grass was rooted in the earth, able to continuously draw energy from the earth, endlessly regenerating.

Moreover, with Blue Silver Grass surrounding Wang Sheng, it was only a matter of time before he was completely bound.

Xiao Wu also rushed out at this time, using the one to two-meter-high Blue Silver Grass leaves to obscure her figure, quickly arriving behind Wang Sheng and kicking his lower body.

The crotch kick was very effective.

"Roar!"

Wang Sheng roared again, but this time, the sound carried a hint of misery, and his tiger eyes were bloodshot.

Clearly, this attack made him extremely uncomfortable.

Wang Sheng couldn't help but clench his legs, his Heart trembling, and asked Tang San beside him, "Third Brother, isn't this a bit too much?"

"There's no other way, Xiao Wu's fists can't kill a tiger, so she can only attack the Spirit Beast's weak points," Tang San explained. "Wang Sheng, when you graduate, remember that even in the Spirit Arena, you must protect your vital parts. Although the Spirit Arena has rules against using underhanded methods, there are many loopholes in those rules that others can exploit."

"Understood." Wang Sheng nodded, indicating that he had remembered and also realized the dangers of the true Spirit Master's world.

After one strike, Xiao Wu immediately retreated, while Wang Sheng, in pain, erupted, tearing apart all the Blue Silver Grass that Tang San had bound him with in an instant.

But the broken Blue Silver Grass immediately grew back, re-binding Wang Sheng's limbs, and even, under Tang San's control, caused him to tumble.

Xiao Wu, meanwhile, used the cover of the Blue Silver Grass again, circled behind Wang Sheng, and delivered another kick.

Xiao Wu had no fondness or sympathy for carnivorous Spirit Beasts like tigers.

"Roar!"

Wang Sheng's cries were even more miserable than the last time.

After seven or eight such back-and-forths, Wang Sheng had exhausted all his strength, but for safety's sake, Tang San still bound him into a large zongzi, wrapping him nine layers deep, exposing only two nostrils and his neck below.

"Wang Sheng, hurry, otherwise it might be strangled to death by my Blue Silver Grass," Tang San urgently reminded Wang Sheng.

"Okay!"

Wang Sheng immediately ran to Wang Sheng and plunged a dagger into Wang Sheng's neck.

Splash!

Red blood stained the Blue Silver Grass, and Wang Sheng began his final struggle. Wrapped in nine layers of Blue Silver Grass, wisps of red blood qi emerged from him.

Unfortunately, with an opening in his neck, using his Heart of the Tiger King at this moment would only accelerate blood flow, causing more blood to pour out of his body, leading to a quicker death.

Sure enough, three minutes later, Wang Sheng stopped moving.

Tang San withdrew the Endless Grassland, leaving only Wang Sheng lying in a pool of blood. Above his body, a yellow spirit ring emerged.

Xiao Wu frowned, but there was little regret. After all, a rabbit certainly couldn't empathize with a tiger, though she felt a slight sense of sorrow, like a rabbit feeling for a dying fox.

"After a spirit ring appears, if it's not absorbed within an hour, it will dissipate. Wang Sheng, this is your first time hunting a Spirit Beast, so you're a bit excited. Adjust yourself first, calm your mind; you have plenty of time."

Tang San patted Wang Sheng, who was愣ing in place, unsure what to do, and smiled slightly, "At the moment Wang Sheng died, blood qi emerged from his body. I can confirm that this Wang Sheng could activate the power of blood qi through his Heart of the Tiger King. If you absorb this spirit ring, it might evolve your Spirit and also grant you a powerful Spirit Ability that I've named 'Tiger King's Blood Qi Transformation.'"

"Mm!"

Wang Sheng immediately began meditating, adjusting his state, and then, at Tang San's signal, used spirit power to guide the spirit ring and place it on his body.

In an instant, Wang Sheng's body trembled, and large beads of sweat seeped from his forehead.

Clearly, for a commoner Spirit Master like Wang Sheng, even with a compatible Spirit and spirit ring, and strong physical素质, a nearly two-hundred-year-old spirit ring was still a bit too much pressure. However, the commotion was smaller than when Sisi absorbed her spirit ring, so he would likely be able to withstand it.

As expected, two minutes later, Wang Sheng's complexion was no longer so pale, and an hour later, he had finished absorbing the spirit ring.

"Roar!"

Wang Sheng opened his eyes, his Spirit possessed him, black纹路 appeared on his body, the 'Wang' character on his head also turned black, and the yellow spirit ring encircling him suddenly lit up.

"Tiger King's Blood Qi Transformation!"

Wang Sheng roared, his whole body erupting with blood qi, as if red flames ignited all over him, his aura soaring. He punched a tree beside him, as thick as a person.

Boom!

In an instant, nearly half of the tree's trunk was shattered, and it swayed precariously.

It was foreseeable that if this punch landed on a person, they would either die or be crippled.

However, after delivering this punch, the blood qi on Wang Sheng dissipated, and his face turned pale. It was only under the effect of Tang San's Spirit Ability: Endless Recovery, that he recovered significantly.

"Not bad, Wang Sheng, you really did gain the 'Tiger King's Blood Qi Transformation' Spirit Ability. However, your blood qi is relatively low. In the future, exercise more, eat better food, build up your blood qi, and combined with your own spirit power, this skill will become even stronger," Tang San encouraged. "Moreover, in my estimation, the blood qi of the Tiger King's Blood Qi Transformation can be condensed and preserved. You can try to condense the blood qi in your Heart, or in your dantian... No, don't try it yourself. After we return, once I've thoroughly researched it, I'll slowly tell you how to do it."

"Thank you, Third Brother."

Wang Sheng was extremely grateful. After obtaining the Tiger King's Blood Qi Transformation Spirit Ability, he felt as if his Spirit had evolved, becoming more effortless to control. With the Spirit Ability's enhancement, he felt he could defeat ten of his former selves... If he had chosen an ordinary white spirit ring, he probably wouldn't have gained anything more than an extra Spirit Ability.

Afterward, Tang San and Wang Sheng together carried Wang Sheng to the stream, drained the blood, and then took his body, leaving Notting Forest.

The body of this Wang Sheng was sold by the three of them to a restaurant in the small town outside Notting Forest, earning one hundred gold coins. The three divided the spoils according to their efforts: Tang San and Xiao Wu each received forty gold coins, and Wang Sheng received twenty.

Wang Sheng originally didn't want any, after all, these two had helped him hunt his spirit ring, but Tang San insisted, saying he needed to nourish his body more in the future.

Wang Sheng was very grateful for this and swore in his Heart that if Third Brother and Xiao Wu ever needed anything in the future, he would rush to support them immediately.

Upon returning to Nuoding City, Tang San immediately examined Wang Sheng, confirming the state of his Beast Spirit, and discovered that his Spirit had indeed mutated after absorbing Wang Sheng's spirit ring.

However, what surprised Tang San most was that when Wang Sheng used his "Tiger King's Blood Qi Transformation," the state of blood qi activation allowed him to perceive how the blood qi flowed.

That is to say, as long as he imitated it, he could also activate the power of blood qi, though the effect might not be as powerful as Wang Sheng's First Soul Skill.

But what Tang San cared about wasn't the power of the Spirit Ability, but that he had found a method to cultivate the power of blood qi!

As long as he could perfect this ability within the next six years, his blood qi would continuously grow stronger, thereby strengthening his physical body!

Rabbits should act like this in the early stages: play it safe, run through the grass, strike the enemy's weak point with one blow, and then retreat quickly.

Rabbits and grass are a perfect match.

The stealthy playstyle!

It's just that formal Spirit Arena battles don't allow attacking weak points.

36: go home on holiday

After discovering the potential for cultivating Blood Qi, Tang San added another research topic, often having Wang Sheng come over for study. During this process, Wang Sheng also learned some small tricks for using Blood Qi, greatly increasing his strength. With his eleventh-level spirit power, he was actually able to contend with Xiao Wu, who had cultivated to the sixteenth level, for a period of time.

From thirty seconds to three minutes.

Although the progress seemed small, Xiao Wu found it increasingly difficult.

This gave Xiao Wu a sense of frustration and made her wonder: Am I really not suited for the attack system?

Wang Sheng, this guy is only at the eleventh level, but in a head-on confrontation, the current Xiao Wu cannot immediately defeat him or achieve an instant kill. Her Spirit's talent has already proven that even if she is a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form, she is not as strong as those carnivorous Beast Spirits with powerful physical strength.

Soft Bones Rabbit is too weak in terms of physical enhancement!

"I told you, it's not suitable for you to walk the attack system path. You can only win by overwhelming your opponent. If you encounter a Spirit Master at the same level as you, even if their spirit power is a few levels lower than yours, but their Spirit is stronger than your Soft Bones Rabbit and they know some combat techniques, you will struggle greatly," Tang San said. "Choosing the attack system path, isn't that a waste of your inherent talent?"

"Let me think about it. Anyway, I still have some time before reaching level twenty." Xiao Wu decided to give it some serious thought. "By the way, what level is your spirit power?"

"Twenty."

"Cultivating so fast?" Xiao Wu was shocked, feeling that her own cultivation speed, despite having innate full spirit power, was far inferior to this guy who only had innate sixth-level spirit power.

"After all, my Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, and Blue Silver Grass is everywhere. There are plenty of mimetic environments."

Tang San said calmly, "Moreover, although innate spirit power represents a Spirit Master's cultivation potential and speed, in my opinion, so-called innate spirit power, in a sense, also represents the affinity between a person and their Spirit. It's like the friendship between people; as long as you understand your Spirit and can truly merge your divine soul with your Spirit, reaching one hundred percent affinity, your cultivation speed will inevitably increase."

"During the process of cultivating spirit power, I have also been continuously understanding Blue Silver Grass, so my cultivation speed naturally increased."

"And, I have a method for circulating spirit power."

Among the major Sects, the meditation methods for cultivating spirit power actually involve meridians, allowing the spirit power generated through meditation to form a certain circulation circuit within the body.

It's just that compared to cultivation methods like Mysterious Heaven Skill, which can absorb world energy without needing a Spirit, they are far inferior, but they are still faster than pure meditation cultivation.

"A cultivation method for circulating spirit power? Can you teach me?" Xiao Wu asked excitedly.

"Not now." Tang San refused.

"What, how stingy." Xiao Wu pouted.

"If I were truly stingy, I wouldn't have told you." Tang San shrugged, "This proves that I at least trust you a little."

"Hmph, that's what makes you annoying... Why do you always speak such blunt truths? Can't you just humor me a little?" Xiao Wu's temper had changed quite a bit over this semester, but she was still a bit pampered.

"Then I'm truly sorry, I've never known how to humor girls." Tang San stated, humor girls? Impossible in this life, besides, he didn't want Xiao Wu to rely on him for everything.

Even if he and Xiao Wu truly ended up together in the future, that love could only be mutual, not one-sided.

"Big straight man, you won't be able to marry a wife in the future," Xiao Wu muttered.

"That's not necessarily true. I'm so smart, and I'm a Spirit Master. As long as I want to indulge, there are plenty of pretty girls willing to climb into my bed." Tang San said something that made Xiao Wu feel a bit stung.

"Pah, scumbag." Xiao Wu looked at Tang San with the eyes of someone looking at a scumbag. Seeing his indifferent expression, she felt like she was punching cotton, with nowhere to exert her strength.

"I'm going to Spirit Hall to do some research, want to come along?" Tang San extended an invitation.

"Together." Xiao Wu gritted her teeth, "This time, I must climb the tree faster than you."

"Mm, then work hard."

Tang San's perfunctory attitude made Xiao Wu even more exasperated, but ultimately, she was helpless.

Wang Sheng also went to Spirit Hall with them, accompanying them for training.

However, to Tang San's surprise, Wang Sheng and Su Yuntao had a good relationship. Perhaps because they both had Beast Spirits, they found it easier to bond. Moreover, under Su Yuntao's influence, Wang Sheng decided to join Spirit Hall, hoping that in the future he could cultivate using Spirit Hall's resources while also maintaining order in Nuoding City and apprehending various lawbreakers.

The only pity was that Wang Sheng only became a one-ring Spirit Master at twelve years old. Although with Tang San's help, his First spirit ring was a hundred-year one, and he obtained a powerful Spirit Ability, his talent was indeed a bit lacking, disqualifying him from being recommended to Wuhun Academy for further study.

Wang Sheng didn't mind this; in fact, he didn't even plan to go to a intermediate Spirit Master Academy, as he wasn't interested in Spirit knowledge. As for hunting Spirit Beasts in the future... after joining Spirit Hall, he could ask his colleagues for help, which would surely be much better than the teachers at the academy?

As for how to find a suitable Spirit Beast for himself, Wang Sheng said that Third Brother would stay in Nuoding City for at least six years, and he was often called over for research, so a simple question would get him the answer.

In his opinion, Third Brother was much more responsible than the teachers at the academy.

In a flash, another month passed.

This semester at Notting Academy had also ended, and students were packing their bags, preparing to go home for the New Year.

Tang San was also packing, preparing to return to Saint Spirit Village early to avoid Old Jack, who was getting on in years, coming to pick him up.

"Tang San, why don't I come to your house?" Xiao Wu saw everyone in Dormitory Seven packing, walked over to Tang San, and suggested.

"The young lady doesn't want to go home? It seems she really ran away." Tang San said teasingly.

Xiao Wu's cheeks puffed up in anger, and she said, "I told you, I'm not a young lady."

"Yes, yes, you're not. But let's be clear first, I'm a poor boy. Although my grandfather is the village chief of a small village, there's no exotic delicacies at home to entertain you. If you can't get used to the food then, don't say I didn't warn you in advance." Tang San finished packing his luggage, looked at Xiao Wu, and said calmly.

"Hmph, I eat everything except rabbits." Xiao Wu declared that she wasn't picky, after all, she used to only eat grass.

Tang San smiled and said nothing more, only to Wang Sheng: "Wang Sheng, after you go home, don't casually try to control the flow of Blood Qi within your body on your own, or you might injure yourself, and I won't know where your home is."

"Haha, don't worry, Third Brother, I know I'm not smart. Without you here, I definitely won't mess around."

In this month, Tang San, based on Wang Sheng's First Soul Skill, Tiger King's Blood Qi Transformation, had researched a crude method of circulating Blood Qi, but Wang Sheng could only attempt to circulate it when Tang San was supervising him.

Afterward, Tang San bid farewell to the other students in Dormitory Seven one by one, then left the dormitory gate with Xiao Wu, following the small city path outside Notting Academy.

This journey, of course, was on foot.

Xiao Wu didn't mind, after all, she had walked all the way from Star Dou Great Forest to attend Notting Academy. What was this little distance to her?

"Tang San, you're level twenty, aren't you thinking of immediately going to hunt for a spirit ring?" Xiao Wu asked, "Could it be that you're waiting for me?"

"No."

Tang San motioned Xiao Wu not to be narcissistic.

"After all, my cultivation speed is a bit too fast. It's not a good thing if others notice."

"Also, I plan to strengthen my physique a bit, so I can find a thousand-year Spirit Beast for my Second spirit ring."

Thousand years?

Xiao Wu was startled, "Can't the Second spirit ring only withstand a hundred years?"

The good thing about this book is one point: no level suppression.

37: About the role of whale glue

“Actually, according to the records in Spirit Hall’s library, the optimal spirit ring configuration has always been changing,” Tang San explained to Xiao Wu. “Initially, the optimal spirit ring configuration was white, white, white, yellow, yellow, yellow, purple, purple, black.”

“What kind of trash spirit ring configuration is that?” Xiao Wu’s mouth fell open. She couldn’t believe that such a configuration could even produce a Titled Douluo. Was he kidding?

“Whether it’s true or not, I’m not sure. After all, this was described in a book in Spirit Hall’s collection as the optimal spirit ring configuration for human Spirit Masters ten thousand years ago.”

Tang San continued, “Then, I found other books available in Nuoding City and discovered that over the past ten thousand years, the optimal spirit ring configuration has constantly changed. Black has increased, and white has decreased. It wasn’t until three hundred years ago that the optimal spirit ring configuration became yellow, yellow, purple, purple, black, black, black, black, black.”

“Then, two hundred years later, which is the era we are in, because a Spirit Master obtained a red Ten-thousand year spirit ring as their ninth spirit ring, the optimal configuration changed again to yellow, yellow, purple, purple, black, black, black, black, red.”

“Of course, most people don’t like to read and still think the optimal configuration is two yellow, two purple, and five black.”

Hearing about the red spirit ring, Xiao Wu’s expression was a bit downcast, but she quickly adjusted her mindset and asked, “So, human physical quality has been continuously strengthening over the past ten thousand years?”

“There is indeed such a possibility, but I think a greater possibility is that humans ten thousand years ago might not have dared to try absorbing spirit rings of higher cultivation years.”

Tang San offered a more reasonable explanation, “The book ‘Legend of the Spirit Master’ records a short story: a six-year-old child, with the help of an elder, hunted a Ten-thousand year Spirit Beast and began to absorb it, then instantly exploded and died.”

“Although this is just a short story, I believe that perhaps ten thousand years ago, or even earlier, humans simply didn’t know how to judge what year-limit spirit ring they could absorb. They could only use countless lives to slowly try out what stage to absorb what kind of spirit ring was safest.”

“This is also where Spirit Beasts can never compare to humans.”

“Humans dare to take risks. Even if they know it might lead to death, some are willing to go forward, paving the way for those who follow. As for Spirit Beasts, although Ten-thousand year Spirit Beasts possess intelligence, they don’t use that intelligence to think. Even the legendary Ten-thousand year Spirit Beasts, who possess intelligence comparable to ordinary humans, probably most of them wouldn’t think about leaving their suitable habitats.”

Xiao Wu retorted, “Ten-thousand year Spirit Beasts can be very smart, okay?”

“Indeed, I don’t deny it. After all, it’s recorded in books that some Ten-thousand year Spirit Beasts choose to transform into human form, but most of them were hunted down by humans,” Tang San said, stating a fact that seemed like a horror story to Xiao Wu. “After all, Ten-thousand year spirit rings and Spirit Bones are highly sought after by Spirit Masters. Furthermore, these transformed Ten-thousand year Spirit Beasts, because they retain their habits from when they were Spirit Beasts, even after transforming into human form, those habits are very difficult to change in a short period.”

“Ordinary people can’t tell, and weak Spirit Masters can hardly detect it, but Spirit Masters above Spirit Douluo begin to involve mental force and can immediately distinguish the aura of transformed Spirit Beasts. It’s a characteristic completely different from humans.”

“What specific characteristic it is, I’m not sure...”

“It is said that a Ten-thousand year transformed Spirit Beast can only truly become human after reaching the Spirit Saint realm... I speculate that this is not only related to the Ten-thousand year cultivation origin carried by the Spirit Beast itself, but more importantly, if a transformed Spirit Beast can cultivate to the Spirit Saint level within human society, it at least proves that she has become accustomed to her human identity and believes herself to be human, no longer a Spirit Beast.”

“According to my idea, if a transformed Spirit Beast can genuinely believe herself to be a human and not a Spirit Beast from the bottom of her heart before reaching Spirit Saint, then even if the Spirit Beast’s origin still exists, a Spirit Douluo wouldn’t be able to detect it, and even some Titled Douluo who don’t focus on mental force might find it difficult to detect.”

Xiao Wu pondered Tang San’s words. Judging by her current situation, she found it seemed to be true.

She hadn't seen other transformed Spirit Beasts besides her mother, so she couldn't compare. But recently, spending more time with Tang San, her mind had become more active, she had learned some ways of dealing with people, and she had become accustomed to human Life. She found that a faint white halo gradually surrounded her Ten-thousand year origin, which could conceal some of her Spirit Beast aura.

At first, she didn’t pay attention, but now that she thought about it, a transformed Spirit Beast could only walk the human path to the end, which was considered a betrayal of the Spirit Beast race.

Therefore, Xiao Wu's expression was a bit heavy, but she quickly brightened up again, thinking, "Why am I thinking so much? Anyway, in the core area of the Star Dou Great Forest, there are Da Ming and Er Ming, and they still listen to me. I'm still the big sister of the Star Dou Great Forest!"

Then, Xiao Wu asked again, "Tang San, you said you didn't want to get a spirit ring too quickly to avoid attracting attention, but isn't a thousand-year spirit ring still attention-grabbing?"

"It is attention-grabbing, but I know a method to improve physical quality. When I release it, it can divert most people's attention," Tang San said calmly. "Compared to spirit rings, the speed of spirit power cultivation is what draws the most attention."

"A method to improve physical quality?" Xiao Wu asked, "How do you improve it?"

"Whale glue. This is a type of fat from whales. Currently, no one on the Douluo Continent knows its function... No, perhaps someone does."

Thinking of Tang Hao's gloomy face back then, Tang San considered the existence of other transmigrators, but even if they knew, they wouldn't publish it. So, if he published it, he would be the first discoverer—

Besides, what's the point of one person becoming strong? It's truly fulfilling to get everyone strong together and then defeat them.

Inside Tang San's chest, there was also the heart of a berserker. "Among other people, within those great Sects, perhaps someone could discover it, but they would hide it and not make it public."

Xiao Wu asked, "What is the function of whale glue?"

"Most people believe it's an aphrodisiac that can help improve marital happiness."

Tang San said, “However, I spent one silver coin to buy a small piece for blood and qi research and found that it can slightly strengthen physical quality and blood and qi. Therefore, whale glue can enhance a Spirit Master’s physical quality and allow Spirit Masters to withstand spirit rings of higher cultivation years.”

Xiao Wu was puzzled, “Why would you release such a good thing?”

“First, it’s to find a suitable reason for my second spirit ring being a thousand-year one; second, only whale glue produced by Ten-thousand year whale Spirit Beasts can allow a Spirit Master to 100% withstand a thousand-year level for their second spirit ring.” (Note: dosage and quality must be considered)

Tang San gave two reasons. “Especially the second point: Ten-thousand year level whale glue is almost non-existent on the market because in the eyes of the world, this stuff is just an aphrodisiac. No one would hunt Ten-thousand year whale Spirit Beasts just for such an aphrodisiac. Even if a Sea Spirit Master needs a whale spirit ring, after hunting, at most they would cut off some meat; it’s impossible to bring the entire carcass back.”

“Because current navigation technology on the Douluo Continent is not advanced, the development of the whaling industry is almost nil.”

“Let alone whale Spirit Beasts, even ordinary whales, which are wild animals, basically live in deep-sea areas. That’s a restricted area for Spirit Masters. Even a Titled Douluo-level Sea Spirit Master wouldn’t dare say they could capture a Ten-thousand year whale Spirit Beast.”

“The whale glue currently on the market is basically from Sea Spirit Masters in coastal areas who hunted whale Spirit Beasts, obtained their spirit rings, and then cut some fat from the whale’s massive carcass to bring back to the Douluo Continent and circulate on the market.”

Releasing the function of whale glue would actually not have too much impact on the Spirit Master’s world; at most, it would cause various forces to start massively acquiring the whale glue remaining on the market.

As for hunting whale Spirit Beasts in the deep sea?

Again, in this era, only Titled Douluo are qualified to go into the deep sea, and even then, it's only a qualification. Without developed whaling technology, a Titled Douluo might even get lost in the sea trying to hunt whale Spirit Beasts.

According to Tang San's speculation, given the development of various forces on the Douluo Continent, if there were no transmigrators to help cheat, it would take at least a hundred years to massively acquire whale Spirit Beasts. It would be more convenient to acquire whale glue from the market.

However, Tang San could already foresee that after he released the function of whale glue in the future, ordinary hundred-year level whale glue would likely be sold at exorbitant prices.

Seeing other fanfiction say that whale glue is effective even for Titled Douluo, and that spreading this information is a plot hole.

But upon closer thought, how many of the new generation Shrek Seven Devils in Douluo Dalu 2 had thousand-year second spirit rings?

This chapter mainly explains in detail:

During the Douluo Dalu 1 era, the maritime industry was underdeveloped, and the whaling industry was nonexistent. The deep sea, apart from specific shipping routes, was a restricted area—there were countless Sea Spirit Beasts, and their cultivation years were relatively high. The original setting states there were hundreds to thousands of Ten-thousand year Spirit Beasts.

Therefore, hunting whales was extremely difficult. The whale glue remaining on the Douluo Continent was mainly from Sea Spirit Masters hunting for spirit rings; otherwise, it was unlikely they would specifically hunt for an aphrodisiac. There are many substitutes for aphrodisiacs, and hunting whales in Douluo Dalu 1 (and Douluo Dalu 2, where the maritime industry is also underdeveloped) was not cost-effective.

My personal guess is that some Sea Spirit Beasts who are extremely devout in their belief in the Sea God, such as the Devil Spirit Great White Shark King, can most likely avoid heavenly tribulations.

Also, Sea God Island should be relatively close to the Douluo Continent.

38: Xiao Wu became a younger sister

Upon returning to Saint Spirit Village, Tang San immediately spotted farmers returning home from weeding their fields. He approached them, greeting, “Uncle Wang, it’s been a while, how have you been?”

“You are... Little San?” Uncle Wang stared at Tang San for a long moment before finally recognizing him, his face filled with excitement. “How did you change so much? I almost didn’t recognize you.”

“Haha, mainly because I’ve already obtained a spirit ring and become a Spirit Master. My Spirit underwent a mutation, which affected my appearance,” Tang San explained. “Is Grandpa Jack in the village?”

“Yes, he’s at home. He even said he was going to pick you up in a couple of days,” Uncle Wang replied immediately, his attitude becoming somewhat respectful after learning that Tang San had become a Spirit Master.

“Then I’ll go find Grandpa first.”

After a brief chat with Uncle Wang, easing his nervous demeanor, Tang San took Xiao Wu to the village chief’s house.

“Grandpa, I’m back!”

“Little San is back!”

Old Jack immediately opened the door and came out. Seeing Tang San, he noticed his changed appearance but still recognized him, instantly overjoyed. “You child, didn’t I say I’d come pick you up? Why did you come back by yourself? Did you take a carriage?”

“No, I walked, for exercise,” Tang San said, releasing his Spirit. A yellow spirit ring appeared, bringing tears to Old Jack’s eyes: “Our village finally has another Spirit Master!”

After a while, Old Jack wiped away his tears and his gaze fell upon Xiao Wu, who was beside Tang San. He asked, “Little San, this is?”

Could it be that Little San brought a little girl back to be his wife?

“Grandpa, let me introduce you. This is Xiao Wu. She’s my age and also a Spirit Master. Since she’s an orphan, she plans to stay at our house,” Tang San explained the situation.

“Hello, Grandpa Jack,” Xiao Wu greeted obediently, which greatly pleased Old Jack. “Good, both of you are good children, come inside quickly.”

After Tang San entered the house, he put down his packages and took out many small pieces of furniture he had bought, arranging them in the house. He also gave Old Jack a bag of gold coins.

Old Jack counted them and found there were twenty, which immediately startled him. He pulled Tang San aside and asked worriedly, “Little San, we can’t do anything like stealing chickens or dogs.”

Tang San couldn’t help but laugh, saying, “Grandpa, don’t worry, it wasn’t stolen, nor was it robbed. I saved it up.”

Then, Tang San recounted how he, Su Yuntao, and Ma Xiunuo went to hunt a Spirit Beast, then sold the Thousand Root Banyan and shared the gold coins.

“That’s good,” Old Jack finally breathed a sigh of relief, handing the bag back to Tang San. “You’re still growing, keep it to buy some good food for yourself and Xiao Wu. This old man doesn’t need so much.”

“No, Grandpa, you keep it. I have enough for myself,” Tang San tucked the bag into Old Jack’s arms. “Grandpa, you’re getting old. From now on, when managing the fields, you can hire the young strong people from the village to work, making it easier for you. After I became a Spirit Master, I'll earn a lot of money in the future, so this little bit isn't much. It's just that my Spirit research consumed some, otherwise, I could have brought you even more."

"More? Grandpa is this old, what do I need so much money for?" Seeing Tang San's persistence, Old Jack stopped refusing, but still told Tang San not to bring so much in the future, as he might not even spend one gold coin in a year.

In the evening.

Old Jack killed a chicken and a sheep, ensuring Tang San and Xiao Wu ate their fill.

Old Jack's cooking was indeed excellent. Xiao Wu ate with oil dripping from her mouth. Although she was a rabbit, she ate meat without any hesitation.

This also confirmed one of Tang San's conjectures: that after a Ten-thousand year soul beast takes human form, its body becomes human, allowing it to eat foods it couldn't before, and its sense of taste is no different from a human's.

The reason why spirit rings and Spirit Bones still exist after a Ten-thousand year soul beast is hunted is likely because the inherent power of its Ten-thousand year cultivation remains within its body and has not yet been fully adapted to by its human form.

That is, after a Ten-thousand year soul beast takes human form, it is already human. The difference between being mature or not is only whether the inherent Ten-thousand year cultivation within its body has been completely absorbed by its human form.

If viewed from this perspective, if there is a method that can extract the inherent Ten-thousand year cultivation without harming the Life of the human-form Spirit Beast, would that human-form Spirit Beast truly become an ordinary human?

This is a question worth considering.

If so, then from a racial standpoint, human-form Spirit Beasts can no longer be considered Spirit Beasts.

At the dinner table, Xiao Wu ate heartily, and her address to Old Jack became more affectionate; she directly called him Grandpa, and Old Jack also accepted Xiao Wu as his granddaughter.

Tang San's eye twitched, because Old Jack gave him a meaningful look, which made him realize that Old Jack clearly wanted Xiao Wu as a granddaughter-in-law, and was trying to find a way to bring him and Xiao Wu closer.

"Little San, from now on, you are Xiao Wu's older brother. You must take good care of her," Old Jack said earnestly.

"Grandpa, don't worry, I will definitely help Xiao Wu become a powerful Spirit Master," Tang San said, glancing at Xiao Wu, implying that Xiao Wu needed to grow on her own, and he wouldn't spoil her.

Even if she were truly his sister, the best way to show affection would be to teach her independence and cultivate a strong heart, rather than constantly protecting her.

That would be no different from carrying a burden.

Old Jack didn't catch the hidden meaning in Tang San's words, only assuming Tang San was still young and didn't understand matters between men and women, so he didn't say much more. But Xiao Wu understood, though she didn't explicitly say so, only smiling at Tang San and saying, "I'm your younger sister, so you have to be nicer to me from now on."

"Don't worry, I'll 'look after' my sister even more," Tang San returned the smile, making Xiao Wu shiver involuntarily. But she still puffed out her chest and said, "Hmph, I'll definitely be able to endure it."

The next day, Tang San informed Old Jack and went to the blacksmith shop to repair farm tools for the villagers. He also recruited some children who were a year or two older than him, or of the same age, to go to the mountains to collect firewood, paying them three bronze coins a day.

The children were all very happy, and they also became curious about Tang San's identity as a Spirit Master.

Tang San was not stingy, telling them stories of Spirit Master adventures he had read in books, and even personally releasing his Spirit and using his Spirit Ability to restore their stamina and heal their old injuries.

Instantly, the villagers all began to respect Tang San.

Xiao Wu, on the other hand, was much wilder. She led another group of younger children to play in the fields, catching grasshoppers, frogs, digging wild vegetables, and fishing for crayfish—whatever was fun, they did, becoming more like human children.

During this holiday, apart from not conducting Spirit research, Tang San's Life was as usual: cultivating the techniques and skills from the Mysterious Heaven Treasure Record, training his physique with the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method, and then researching the method of blood and qi circulation, and the frequency of vibration, combining both with the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method to achieve better body tempering effects.

Before the New Year, a fifteen-year-old youth from the village approached Tang San, hoping to learn blacksmithing from him.

Tang San agreed.

After all, he had become a Spirit Master, and for the next six years, most of his time would be spent in Nuoding City. If farm tools in the village broke, they would indeed need a blacksmith to help repair them.

However, Tang San would not teach the Rampaging Wind Technique now, as it belonged to the Clear Sky Sect. If others learned it and Tang Hao found out, it would certainly bring unnecessary trouble to them.

The female lead is officially confirmed.

The scenes in Saint Spirit Village will be reduced or concluded.

39: The choice of the second soul ring (1)

After the New Year, Tang San and Xiao Wu stayed in Saint Spirit Village for seven or eight days before bidding farewell to Old Jack and preparing to return to Nuoding City.

Old Jack saw Tang San and Xiao Wu off at the village entrance, and the village children also followed, hoping that Tang San and Xiao Wu would play with them and tell them stories again in the future.

After returning to Nuoding City, Tang San and Xiao Wu reported to the academy, then went to Spirit Hall, resuming their usual training.

Wang Sheng, however, submitted an application for early graduation to Notting Academy, preparing to join Spirit Hall and start from a grassroots patrol member, working his way up steadily.

The graduation requirements for a junior academy are very simple: possessing a spirit ring and becoming a Spirit Master allows one to apply for graduation, and the academy's teachers will not insist on retaining them.

“Wang Sheng, when you're not working, don't forget to come here to have your Spirit and body checked, and to train your First Soul Skill. If I truly research a genuine blood and qi cultivation method, it will be beneficial to you,” Tang San said to Wang Sheng, who was about to go out for his first patrol mission.

“Is there any command from Brother San that I dare not follow?” Wang Sheng clasped his hands in a feigned manner, “I’d come even if I had to take leave.”

“That’s not necessary, just come when you have time.” Tang San smiled, patting his shoulder, “Go on, don’t be late for your first patrol mission.”

“Mm.”

Wang Sheng nodded and, led by Su Yuntao, headed to Spirit Hall’s patrol team.

Tang San also informed Ma Xiunuo about reaching level twenty, preparing to hunt Spirit Beasts.

“Level twenty?” Ma Xiunuo was surprised, “Seven years old, level twenty, Xiao Tang, you are a true genius, unprecedented, and perhaps unmatched in the future.”

“Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, I just cultivate a bit faster in the early stages. As a Spirit Master’s level increases, the more spirit power is required for each level, so future improvements will be slower,” Tang San said humbly.

“This time, do you need Grandpa to accompany you?” Ma Xiunuo was used to Tang San’s humility and asked about the Spirit hunt.

“No need, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo. As you know, I usually spar with Tao Ge and Sisi, and my strength is decent. I can easily handle a hundred-year Spirit Beast,” Tang San laughed, “Moreover, for this Spirit hunt, I also want to prove another one of my theories, and then I can write my second theory.”

“Speaking of theories, I’ve already sent your previous theory to Spirit City, and it’s expected to be published in the Wuhun News around February this year,” Ma Xiunuo said, referring to Tang San’s previous theoretical book on the precise analysis of Spirit Master classification and positioning. “You might think it’s a bit late, but Spirit City receives a large number of external Spirit theory reports almost every year, all written by Spirit Masters whose spirit power levels can no longer be improved but who want to gain fame. The staff there need time to distinguish which theories are viable and which are not, which takes a lot of time.”

“I understand, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo.”

Tang San believed that his paper would definitely be recognized and published in the Wuhun News.

Afterward, Tang San spent three days preparing for the Spirit hunt, shouldering a large pack, and getting ready to head to Barak Forest to hunt a suitable Spirit Beast for him.

Barak Forest is also a Hunting Spirit Forest, located within the Balak Kingdom. Unlike other Hunting Spirit Forests, this forest has very few animal Spirit Beasts; it is mostly plant Spirit Beasts.

Moreover, within the Balak Kingdom, there are more people whose Spirit is a plant, and there is also an Advanced Soul Master Academy: Plant Academy.

Besides that, the most famous is Barak Academy.

However, Tang San had no interest in either Plant Academy or Barak Academy; at most, he considered them as alternative academies for the future All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament.

And upon learning that Tang San was going on a Spirit hunt, Xiao Wu also prepared to join in the fun.

During the holidays, Xiao Wu not only played but also diligently cultivated her spirit power, reaching level eighteen, and she should be able to reach level twenty before the end of the first year.

“It seems that when you cultivate diligently, your spirit power increases quite quickly. You truly live up to being a born full spirit power user,” Tang San praised.

“Even if it’s fast, it’s still two levels lower than yours,” Xiao Wu snorted, following Tang San onto the carriage bound for the Balak Kingdom, “Are you going to hunt plant-type Spirit Beasts?”

“Yes, primarily to enhance the Life attribute of my Spirit, secondarily to make my Blue Silver Grass more resilient, and thirdly, to allow my Blue Silver Grass to gain a better amplification skill that can comprehensively boost a Spirit Master’s attack, defense, speed, attributes, and so on,” Tang San had these basic requirements for his Second Soul Ring.

“Amplification skill? You want one Spirit Ability to surpass the amplification capabilities of Seven Treasure Glazed Tile’s three or four spirit rings?” Xiao Wu was surprised. Having spent a long time with Tang San, she also understood some Spirit Abilities’ capabilities.

Among them, there is a very rare type of amplification Spirit Ability that can grow by percentage, increasing the amplification percentage as the Spirit Master’s cultivation level rises, but without increasing the spirit power consumption.

This is the terrifying aspect of this type of amplification skill, and it is also why the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda Spirit can only cultivate to the Spirit Saint level, yet Spirit Masters with this Spirit can establish a Sect and develop into one of the Upper Three Sects.

Other offensive and defensive Spirit Abilities can only increase their power by increasing the amount of spirit power input.

“There’s nothing that can’t be done,” Tang San said, “My Blue Silver Grass Spirit cannot release energy, but as a plant, how do you think amplification Spirit Abilities should be used?”

Xiao Wu knew Tang San was testing her, so she racked her brain, thought for a while, and extended a finger, saying, “I know! It can be eaten!”

As a rabbit, thinking of eating grass is a very normal situation.

Therefore, Tang San didn't expect Xiao Wu to answer completely correctly, but this answer was close.

“Not entirely correct.”

Tang San chuckled, “Although Blue Silver Grass can indeed be eaten, it doesn’t taste very good. It’s more suitable for brewing tea... Think again, what parts of a plant can be eaten?”

“Edible parts?” Xiao Wu thought for a moment and said, “I’ve eaten carrots and sweet potatoes in the academy cafeteria; you said those were plant roots and stems, so roots can be eaten. Then, green leaves can be eaten, but looking at your expression, you probably won’t be eating Blue Silver Grass leaves, so that only leaves fruit.”

“It’s fruit, right?”

Tang San nodded and said, “That’s right, it is indeed fruit. Blue Silver Grass also flowers and bears fruit, but the flowers and fruits are very small, smaller than sesame seeds. If you don’t pay attention, you won’t see them at all. And precisely because the seeds are small, they can grow anywhere as long as there is moisture, a suitable temperature, and a place to take root.”

“My requirements for my Second Soul Ring, besides strengthening its original characteristics, are to enable my Blue Silver Grass to produce seeds. The method of amplifying Spirit Masters is to have them inhale those invisible seeds, thereby initiating the amplification.”

“This form is much more concealed than the amplification of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda.”

“The amplification of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda, or rather, most Spirit Abilities that can amplify Spirit Masters, are performed in the form of light, meaning the Spirit emits a beam of light that shines on the Spirit Master. This is too obvious; as long as the enemy isn’t blind, they will understand that the opponent has been amplified.”

“But if I can amplify my companions with invisible seeds, wouldn’t that make the enemy wonder why we suddenly became stronger?”

Serving the plot: Plant Academy is set in the Balak Kingdom.

Of course, it can also be said that there is more than one Plant Academy.

After all, there were over a hundred advanced academies in the original work, but only a few were mentioned by name, so adding more is not a problem.

40: The choice of the second soul ring (2)

“It really seems that way.” Xiao Wu was amazed, then asked, “But the Blue Silver Grass seeds are very light, right? Wouldn’t they just scatter with a gust of wind?”

“Indeed, but if the enemies can’t see the Blue Silver Grass seeds, how would they think to use wind to blow them away?” Tang San said proudly, “This secret, as long as you don’t tell and I don’t mention it, others won’t know. Even if the other party knows, it’s useless. Have you forgotten my Endless Grassland?”

“Oh, Endless Grassland!”

Xiao Wu suddenly understood. Tang San’s Endless Grassland could draw power from the earth. If his second Spirit Ability was combined with the Endless Grassland, the seeds could be continuously supplied, while enemies couldn’t draw power from the earth to replenish their spirit power, making it impossible for them to keep blowing wind.

However, Xiao Wu thought of another question: “Since that’s the case, why use seeds? Wouldn’t it be better in the form of a floral scent?”

In Xiao Wu’s mind, wasn’t flower pollen more concealed?

“You just said floral scent. Others’ noses aren’t out of order; they’d immediately know what method I’m using to amplify.” Tang San rolled his eyes, “Moreover, pollen is too light and more easily blown away. More importantly, Blue Silver Grass, this plant, doesn’t bloom, or rather, it doesn’t produce the kind of flowers we recognize.”

“Indeed, I’ve never seen Blue Silver Grass that blooms... So how does Blue Silver Grass produce seeds?” Xiao Wu became curious.

“When Blue Silver Grass reaches its breeding season, tiny protrusions, which are even smaller flowers than Blue Silver Grass seeds, will grow in the veins of its leaves.”

Tang San raised his arm and pointed for Xiao Wu to see, “They are even finer than the hairs on our bodies, like tiny绒毛. When the wind blows, they pollinate each other, completing flowering and fruiting within a day. The speed is very fast, and according to my calculations, an ordinary Blue Silver Grass can produce millions of Blue Silver Grass seeds at once.”

“Goodness, millions!” Xiao Wu’s mouth dropped open in disbelief.

“That’s right, the quantity is that massive,” Tang San said. “Every breath we take, we might inhale countless Blue Silver Grass seeds and exhale countless Blue Silver Grass seeds.”

Xiao Wu was getting goosebumps: “Isn’t that a bit too disgusting?”

Tang San smiled, pointing at the light peeking through the carriage’s cracks, and said, “Look closely at this light. What’s inside?”

Xiao Wu focused her gaze and found that the tiny beam of light was filled with countless small particles, constantly moving, seemingly endless.

“Could these be the Blue Silver Grass seeds?”

“I can only say that a small portion of them are Blue Silver Grass seeds,” Tang San said. “Most of them are tiny particles invisible to the naked eye, dust. Every breath we take, we inhale this dust, but not all of it goes into our lungs. After all, the nose hairs and mucus in our noses are used to block larger particles from entering the body.”

After realizing this truth, Xiao Wu was stunned for a moment, then asked, “So, if nose boogers are black, it’s because too much dust has accumulated?”

“Hmm~ that is indeed part of the reason.” Tang San nodded, “Therefore, you also don’t need to worry about the seeds germinating in your body after inhaling Blue Silver Grass seeds. Without a suitable environment, the seeds will lose their vitality.”

At this, Xiao Wu finally relaxed, then asked about another matter: “Didn’t you say there’s a difference between the Blue Silver Grass Spirit and actual Blue Silver Grass? Why not choose to have your Spirit produce larger flowers?”

“There is indeed a difference, but I don’t want my Spirit to be so conspicuous.” Tang San shook his head, “It’s still the same thing, if my Blue Silver Grass had such a huge flower, anyone could tell that my Spirit Ability was related to flowers, floral scent, pollen, and so on.”

“So, which plant Spirit Beast are you going to choose?”

As a Soft Bones Rabbit, Xiao Wu would feel sympathy for cute Spirit Beasts, but plant Spirit Beasts were her delicious food before she transformed into human form, so she didn’t feel any pity.

“Wood Spirit Mushroom.”

Tang San uttered these three words.

Wood Spirit Mushroom, in reality, cannot be considered a plant Spirit Beast, nor an animal Spirit Beast, but rather a fungus.

This type of Spirit Beast grows on other plant Spirit Beasts, forming a symbiotic relationship with them, possessing vast Life energy. Its attack method is to release spores, comprehensively enhancing the abilities of the plant Spirit Beast it Parasites.

The spores of this Wood Spirit Mushroom also have a great effect on Spirit Beasts and humans. Long-term consumption can slowly improve physical fitness, but it is very addictive and difficult to quit.

Therefore, this Wood Spirit Mushroom is listed as a type of poison by Spirit Hall, and where it exists, besides a plant Spirit Beast with which it forms a symbiosis, there are usually animal Spirit Beasts guarding its surroundings.

“It makes people addicted?” Xiao Wu was a little wary.

“Don’t worry, I bought some Wood Spirit Mushroom spores from a pharmacy in Nuoding City and researched them. The so-called addiction is actually caused by a substance in the seeds that can stimulate cells to become lazy and diseased, thereby leading to nervous excitement... I can’t produce this substance by absorbing the Wood Spirit Mushroom spirit ring, after all, my Spirit is Blue Silver Grass.” Tang San gestured for Xiao Wu to relax.

Eight days later, Tang San and Xiao Wu finally arrived in the Balak Kingdom, and then spent another five days, traversing through most of the cities within the Balak Kingdom, before finally reaching the Balak Hunting Spirit Forest.

During this time, Tang San also visited the local Spirit Hall, presented Ma Xiunuo’s letter, and only then obtained the Spirit Hall pass to enter the Barak Forest.

The Barak Forest is much larger than the Notting Forest, and various ten-year and hundred-year plant Spirit Beasts, as well as many insect-type Spirit Beasts, can be seen everywhere.

Plant Spirit Beasts below ten thousand years old are basically unable to move, and the insect Spirit Beasts here generally ignore Spirit Masters. When Spirit Masters touch these insect Spirit Masters, they generally do not retaliate, but quickly hide or flee.

“It seems that most of the Spirit Beasts in this forest have already adapted to the presence of human Spirit Masters. Plant Spirit Beasts don’t move and can’t effectively resist, while insect Spirit Beasts are harder to develop intelligence than vertebrate Spirit Beasts, and their habits are no different from ordinary insects.” Tang San mused, “It seems that our hunt for the Wood Spirit Mushroom this time will be relatively easier.”

Xiao Wu, however, didn't listen to this sentence. Instead, she picked up a palm-sized seven-spotted ladybug and played with it joyfully, as if remembering her days as a Spirit Beast.

Tang San didn't mind. Following the map he bought from the Hunting Spirit Town outside the Barak Forest, he led Xiao Wu towards where the Wood Spirit Mushroom grew.

“Hmm?”

Upon reaching their destination, Tang San saw the human-head-sized Wood Spirit Mushroom, like jade, but what surprised him wasn't this Wood Spirit Mushroom, but the plant Spirit Beast it was symbiotic with.

This was a Demon Eye Magic Tree!

Moreover, an eye had already grown on its trunk, proving that it had reached a thousand years of cultivation.

However, why did this Demon Eye Magic Tree look so lifeless, without any vitality?

In addition, on that Wood Spirit Mushroom, there was a finger-thick emerald green snake, with nine fingernail-sized emerald green scales on its back.

That was a Nine-Section Emerald!

This book's setting is that Blue Silver Grass is a gymnosperm.

41: The Choice of the Second Soul Ring (Complete Three)

Chapter 41: Choosing the Second spirit ring (Part 3 - End)

The Nine-Section Emerald is the pinnacle among Bamboo Leaf Green Snakes. Its body has nine extremely hard scales, making it difficult for sharp blades to harm. Furthermore, its venom is incredibly potent; it is rumored that even a Titled Douluo, if bitten and lacking knowledge of toxicology or pharmacology, would turn into a pool of pus within two hours.

Tang San never expected to see one in this place. In the novel "Douluo Continent" he read in his previous Life, it seemed only Dugu Bo had raised one.

However, the Nine-Section Emerald Snake is described as an exotic beast in the "soul beast encyclopedia" and does not drop a spirit ring upon death. Therefore, no one would provoke such an extremely dangerous venomous snake.

This was probably why the Wood Spirit Mushroom could grow to be a thousand years old in this forest.

But Tang San sensed spirit power fluctuations from the Nine-Section Emerald Snake, indicating it had clearly become a Spirit Beast.

"What kind of snake is that? It's so short, and its tail is red, looking like a scorpion's stinger," Xiao Wu quietly asked.

"Nine-Section Emerald, a highly venomous snake. It's an exotic species; normally, it shouldn't be able to become a Spirit Beast," Tang San frowned slightly. "This one has probably been lying on the Wood Spirit Mushroom for a long time, affected by its spores, causing a mutation and beginning to transform into a Spirit Beast."

"Only transforming into a Spirit Beast? Isn't that very weak?" Xiao Wu relaxed.

"Strength cannot be judged solely by spirit power fluctuations. The venom of this snake can poison a Titled Douluo!" Tang San's eyes were grave. He hadn't inherited the detoxification-related memories from Tang San of the Tang Sect. If he were bitten, would the strong Life force provided by his First Soul Skill allow his body's immune system to overcome the toxin?

Therefore, to be safe, they had to deal with the Nine-Section Emerald first.

So, Tang San released a Blue Silver Grass field, wrapping himself and Xiao Wu in two layers of Blue Silver Grass. Except for their noses and eyes, everything else was covered, making them look like two moving mummies.

Xiao Wu was speechless: "Do we need to be this cautious?"

"I can't detoxify, so it's better to be careful and avoid getting bitten," Tang San said, controlling his spirit power to make countless Blue Silver Grass leaves emerge from the ground, binding the Demon Eye Magic Tree, the Wood Spirit Mushroom, and the Nine-Section Emerald.

The Nine-Section Emerald Snake sensed danger and instantly coiled into a ball. Its nine scales formed a peculiar ring that rotated rapidly, and it leaped away from the Wood Spirit Mushroom.

However, the direction of its leap was exactly where Tang San and Xiao Wu were hiding in the bushes.

"We've been discovered?" As Tang San's thoughts raced, purple light flashed in his eyes for a moment. Seeing the Nine-Section Emerald's figure clearly, he immediately released a Blue Silver Grass, binding the Nine-

Section Emerald, which couldn't dodge in mid-air, into a Blue Silver ball, with only its snake head exposed.

Tang San picked it up and said, "Although it's transforming into a Spirit Beast, it's not truly a Spirit Beast yet. But its body is very tough, its speed is fast, and its movements are concealed. If it weren't for my keen eyes... As for why it discovered us, snakes don't seem to hunt with their eyes, but rather by sensing the body heat of animals."

Xiao Wu walked over, looking at the Nine-Section Emerald in Tang San's hand, and said, puzzled, "It doesn't look that formidable."

Tang San squeezed the Blue Silver ball and brought the Nine-Section Emerald's mouth close to the ladybug in her hand.

The Nine-Section Emerald immediately opened its mouth and bit the ladybug.

Instantly, the ladybug had no time to struggle before it went silent. Its shell even visibly deflated at a speed visible to the naked eye, scaring Xiao Wu into immediately dropping it.

Splat!

The insect fell to the ground, instantly shattered into pieces, and then turned into a puddle of pus.

"Did you see that? The venom of this Nine-Section Emerald is incredibly potent. If we were bitten, neither of us could withstand it," Tang San tied the Blue Silver ball to a nearby tree trunk and had Xiao Wu watch it.

"Why keep something like this? Just kill it," Xiao Wu, having witnessed the Nine-Section Emerald's venom, was very scared, fearing she might be bitten, and suggested killing the snake directly.

To her surprise, the Nine-Section Emerald seemed to understand Xiao Wu's words and even showed a wronged expression, as if pleading with them not to kill it.

"It understands us? It's that smart?" Xiao Wu was astonished.

"The reason it's called an exotic beast is because it's different from Spirit Beasts. Even if it hasn't fully transformed into a Spirit Beast, it possesses intelligence comparable to a Ten-thousand year soul beast and can perceive the thoughts of other creatures," Tang San examined the Nine-Section Emerald for a while, speculating on its condition. "Originally, I planned to kill it directly, but now, I have a new idea."

"You're not thinking of raising it, are you?" Xiao Wu trembled, a little scared.

"Exactly. The Nine-Section Emerald can be tamed. If we can raise it, then we'll have an extra means of self-preservation in the future. Used unexpectedly, it can play a huge role," Tang San stroked his chin.

"Moreover, it should have absorbed the spores and Life force of the Wood Spirit Mushroom to begin transforming into a Spirit Beast. My Blue Silver Grass has no shortage of Life force, which I can provide to it. In the future, it can naturally be tamed."

Tang San didn't know how Dugu Bo tamed his Nine-Section Emerald, but he was confident that he could use his Spirit to make this little fellow his own.

Thinking of this, Tang San used Endless Recovery on the bound Nine-Section Emerald.

In an instant, the Nine-Section Emerald showed a comfortable expression, its eyes very agile, capable of making various human-like expressions.

When Tang San stopped the Endless Recovery Spirit Ability, the Nine-Section Emerald suddenly widened its eyes, staring straight at Tang San, as if displeased that he had stopped.

"If you listen to me in the future, I'll provide you with Life energy, how about it?" Tang San asked the Nine-Section Emerald.

The Nine-Section Emerald looked at Tang San for a while, then nodded its head up and down, indicating agreement.

"Whoa, its intelligence is very high. It shouldn't just be able to perceive our thoughts, but actually understand human speech... This is much more impressive than a Ten-thousand year soul beast," Tang San hinted, praising the Nine-Section Emerald.

And the Nine-Section Emerald also seemed very happy, nodding contentedly.

"What? How could this little snake be more impressive than a Ten-thousand year soul beast? It can't even speak," Xiao Wu scoffed at the Nine-Section Emerald, incidentally proving her identity as a Ten-thousand year soul beast.

Hiss!

The Nine-Section Emerald stared at Xiao Wu, flicking its tongue, as if saying: I am indeed more impressive than you, Ten-thousand year soul beast.

Xiao Wu didn't understand the exotic beast's language, as it wasn't a Spirit Beast yet, but she could sense that this little green snake was mocking her. She immediately laughed in anger: "A mere snake dares to mock Xiao Wu Jie? Just wait until I get back, I'll stew you!"

The Nine-Section Emerald turned its head away, not looking at Xiao Wu, as if it couldn't be bothered with this stupid rabbit.

Tang San ignored their "bickering," simply telling Xiao Wu to keep an eye on the snake to prevent it from escaping. He then walked over to the Demon Eye Magic Tree and the Wood Spirit Mushroom, which were bound by Blue Silver Grass.

Upon closer inspection, Tang San discovered that the stem of the Wood Spirit Mushroom was covered with patterns similar to the "Demon Eye" of the Demon Eye Magic Tree.

Was this Wood Spirit Mushroom devouring the essence of the Demon Eye Magic Tree?

Nine-Section Emerald image, referencing the comic, currently looking for image...

42: Second soul skill: positive and negative buffs

Is the Wood Spirit Mushroom devouring the Demon Eye Magic Tree's essence?

Tang San looked back at the Nine-Section Emerald that was bound, and thought to himself, “The Nine-Section Emerald is devouring the Wood Spirit Mushroom's Life force, and to survive, the Wood Spirit Mushroom is forced to start devouring the Demon Eye Magic Tree's essence, causing the Wood Spirit Mushroom to take on the characteristics of the Demon Eye Magic Tree.”

“As a result, this Wood Spirit Mushroom should have mutated into a Wood Spirit Demon Mushroom.”

“In terms of Spirit Abilities, it should still give my Blue Silver Grass the ability to release seeds, but will the effect still be an amplification?”

“The Demon Eye Magic Tree, a plant-type Spirit Beast, also has extremely tenacious Life force, but its most important feature is that Demon Eye, which can make Spirit Masters and other Spirit Beasts fall into an illusion. If I inherit this ability, then my Second Soul Skill's effect, logically, should be able to reduce the opponent's mental force, or directly reverse the Wood Spirit Mushroom's effect, a negative buff?”

After pondering for a while, Tang San decided to absorb this Wood Spirit Demon Mushroom's spirit ring after all. After all, being able to weaken an opponent is also a good Spirit Ability.

He could consider a positive buff for the Third Soul Ring.

For his Blue Silver Grass, strengthening Life force was the most crucial, and the Wood Spirit Demon Mushroom could absorb the Demon Eye Magic Tree's Life essence, which would definitely increase the First Soul Skill's efficiency in absorbing the power of the earth.

Thus, Tang San plucked the Wood Spirit Demon Mushroom from the Demon Eye Magic Tree's trunk.

Once a Wood Spirit Mushroom, a type of Spirit Beast, leaves its symbiotic plant Spirit Beast, it will die; even if it mutates into a Wood Spirit Demon Mushroom, it cannot avoid this.

Looking at the purple spirit ring, Tang San took a deep breath, sat down cross-legged, adjusted his state, and then pulled it over, thinking to himself, "Come on, my second spirit ring."

When the purple spirit ring enveloped the Blue Silver Grass, Tang San felt a surge of immense energy extending from the Blue Silver Grass into his body, as if it would explode his entire physique.

Tang San immediately circulated Mysterious Heaven Skill, controlling the chaotic energy, Binding it with spirit power, and slowly refining it.

Xiao Wu saw Tang San's expanded muscles return to their original appearance, breathed a sigh of relief, and complained, "Seriously, do you have to be so adventurous? You made me worry... Eh, Big Brother Tang San's hair seems to have grown longer again, and the blue-silver parts are more numerous. His facial features also seem softer."

"Could it be that every time he absorbs a spirit ring, he'll become more handsome? If I couldn't sense the Spirit Beast aura on him, this guy would look even more like a Spirit Beast than I do."

Two hours later, Tang San finally finished absorbing the spirit ring and opened his eyes. His originally black pupils showed a hint of silver, giving him a more elegant (false) demeanor?

“Twenty-second level spirit power, not bad.” Tang San sensed the state of his spirit power, his face showing joy. Then he looked at Xiao Wu, who was staring blankly at him, waved his hand in front of her, and smiled, “What? Are you mesmerized by my handsome face?”

Xiao Wu's face flushed, she spat, and huffed, “Conceited. I would never be mesmerized by you.”

“Hehe.”

Tang San chuckled twice and didn't continue to tease Xiao Wu. Instead, he began to explain the changes that had occurred in his Blue Silver Grass after absorbing the Second Soul Ring.

“My Blue Silver Grass has become more luxuriant, with more silver patterns on it, and its Life force is even more vigorous.”

After speaking, Tang San demonstrated Endless Grassland. The roots of the Blue Silver Grass burrowed deeper and wider, covering an area of nearly fifty meters in radius and fifty meters in depth, and the efficiency of absorbing the power of the earth was higher.

In addition, when using the Spirit Ability Endless Recovery, being bound by Blue Silver Grass was no longer a prerequisite. As long as one was within the Endless Grassland, they could recover at all times.

Moreover, thanks to the evolution brought by absorbing the Second Soul Ring, Tang San could mark teammates, allowing only teammates to enjoy the recovery effect, while enemies could only be bound by the Blue Silver Grass in the Endless Grassland.

Xiao Wu felt the effect of Tang San's First Soul Skill, feeling comfortable all over. After realizing it, she asked, “What is your Second Soul Skill?”

“The effect of my Second Soul Ring's Spirit Ability exceeded my expectations. It can both buff our side and debuff the enemy. I call it: Positive and Negative Buff.” Tang San didn't keep her in suspense, “Do you want to try it?”

Xiao Wu nodded, “Come on, but what does 'buff' mean?”

“It means enhancement.”

After Tang San explained, he first used the effect of the positive buff.

Xiao Wu carefully observed the Blue Silver Grass field, finding that besides being blown by the wind, there was no change. Just as she was about to ask, she found herself becoming excited, as if she had endless strength, especially her spirit power. She felt the amplification was most obvious, increasing by more than twenty percent.

Subsequently, at Tang San's request, Xiao Wu ran, and her speed was also twenty percent faster than usual.

Then came the test of strength, which was hitting a tree. The damage caused was also five times stronger than before, proving that attack was also enhanced, but the pain was reduced by twenty percent.

Xiao Wu's Spirit had no special energy, so she could only judge that Tang San's positive buff could amplify spirit power, speed, strength, defense, and attack by more than twenty percent.

As for attribute amplification, Tang San personally tested it, and the Life force of his Blue Silver Grass Spirit increased by twenty-two percent.

Therefore, his single positive buff achieved all the amplification abilities of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda Spirit's first six spirit rings.

What is called defying the heavens?

This is it.

However, compared to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda's amplification method, the Blue Silver Grass's positive buff is achieved by Spirit Masters inhaling invisible Blue Silver Grass seeds. If the wind is strong, the effect will be reduced, as he currently cannot control the trajectory of the seeds produced by Blue Silver Grass floating in the air with his mental force.

The only thing he could do was to mark teammates with spirit power, allowing only teammates to enjoy the amplification effect.

Next, Tang San used the negative buff. Xiao Wu immediately felt mentally sluggish, and all her abilities were reduced by more than twenty percent.

After Tang San retracted the Endless Grassland, Xiao Wu was still under the effect of the negative buff, and it wasn't until half an hour later that she returned to normal.

“You just watched me stay under the negative buff effect?” Xiao Wu's eyes showed resentment.

“No choice, I had to test the duration of the negative buff.” Tang San chuckled dryly, handed her a water bottle, feeling a bit embarrassed, “This negative buff is useless to me, but the positive buff is useful to me.”

Xiao Wu took the water bottle, drank some water, and said, “Your second Spirit Ability is very powerful. It buffs our side and weakens the enemy. When your spirit power is higher in the future, the percentage of amplification and weakening can both increase. Won't the enemies be played to death by us?”

“I just tried it, and this Spirit Ability actually has drawbacks. I need to set up the Endless Grassland first to achieve the best effect, and besides being affected by strong winds, the positive buff and negative buff cannot be used simultaneously. Also, I need to mark teammates with spirit power first to allow them to receive the positive buff's amplification and avoid being affected by the negative buff.” Tang San explained the drawbacks of this Spirit Ability.

“Isn't this already very strong?”

Xiao Wu complained, “Even if we don't get amplified, the opponent being weakened is very beneficial to us. When you become a Titled Douluo, all of the enemy's attributes will be weakened by ninety percent, directly making them commit suicide.”

43: God of Wrath: Austin Griffin

Chapter 43: God of Heavenly Condemnation: Austin Griffin

Although Tang San listed these shortcomings, he was quite satisfied with this Spirit Ability in his heart, and the positive and negative buff seeds could be retained.

This was also a characteristic of Blue Silver Grass seeds: tenacious vitality.

As long as the environment wasn't extreme, the positive and negative buff seeds created by the Second Soul Skill could last for nearly three months.

This was a way to make money!

Afterward, Tang San walked up to the Nine-Section Emerald, released it, held it in his palm, and injected spirit power rich in Life force into it, making it show an extremely enjoyable expression.

“From now on, you’ll follow me.”

Tang San felt that this Nine-Section Emerald was easier to subdue than he had imagined, so he tied his lengthened hair into a ponytail and then used the Nine-Section Emerald as a hair tie to bind his hair.

The Nine-Section Emerald was indeed intelligent. Realizing what its master wanted to do, it coiled its body into a circle, securing the ponytail.

“Don’t I look better?” Tang San asked Xiao Wu.

“Go on with your vanity.” Xiao Wu’s face flushed, and she turned her head, touching her own hair tie. Suddenly, she also wanted such a beautiful emerald hair tie.

Tang San smiled, picked up the Wood Spirit Demon Mushroom, and said, “Wood Spirit Mushroom is non-toxic and edible. It tastes delicious. It’s perfect to take back and make soup to nourish the body.”

“But didn’t this Wood Spirit Mushroom mutate?” Xiao Wu was a little worried.

“It mutated, but its essence is still Wood Spirit Mushroom. It has immense Life force and won’t be poisonous.” Tang San tore off a small piece of the mushroom flesh and held it behind his head. The Nine-Section Emerald swallowed it in one gulp, even sticking out its small red tongue, as if it wanted more.

The Nine-Section Emerald was a toxin, but it wouldn't specifically consume poisonous food itself.

Xiao Wu then nodded, believing that the Wood Spirit Demon Mushroom could be eaten.

On their way out of Barak Forest, Tang San and Xiao Wu encountered a Spirit hunting team. They were dressed lavishly, numbering twenty to thirty people. Judging by their spirit power fluctuations, they were all Spirit Ancestors or above. The leader was even a Spirit Saint.

Tang San recognized them as a Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School team by the pagoda-shaped emblem on their chests!

In the center of this team were two children, a boy and a girl, likely around the same age as Tang San, about six or seven years old.

“Stop.” The boy saw Tang San and Xiao Wu, and his gaze fell on Xiao Wu, as if he recognized her. He then stopped the leading Spirit Saint. “Young Master, do you have any instructions?”

“Have those two come over.” The boy pointed at Tang San and Xiao Wu, his attitude arrogant.

“Yes.”

The Spirit Saint sent someone to go and bring Tang San and Xiao Wu over.

“Who are these guys?” Xiao Wu whispered as she walked.

“People from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. That boy and girl are probably here to hunt for Spirits.” Tang San quietly whispered back, “Later, don’t say anything. These nobles always look down on commoners. To avoid trouble, I’ll handle it.”

“Okay.” Xiao Wu also understood. They had nearly thirty people, the weakest being Spirit Ancestors, and the strongest, whose spirit power fluctuations emanated, had reached the Spirit Saint level. If a conflict broke out, both of them would be finished.

When Tang San and Xiao Wu arrived before the boy and girl, the boy asked in a frivolous, casual manner, “What are your names? What are you doing here?”

“Respected Young Master, my name is Tang San, and she is my younger sister, Tang Wu. We naturally came to Barak Forest to hunt Spirit Beasts.” Tang San bowed in salute.

“Hypocrite.”

The boy sneered, speaking bluntly to the girl beside him, “Rongrong, look how hypocritical this person is? He’s clearly unhappy, but he insists on pretending to be respectful.”

Rongrong?

The little princess of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, Ning Rongrong?

Tang San didn't get angry because of the boy's mockery. Instead, he became concerned about the identity of this “Rongrong.” If she really was Ning Fengzhi’s daughter, given Ning Fengzhi’s doting on his daughter, then she should have been accompanied by Sword Douluo or Bone Douluo for Spirit hunting, not a team led by a Spirit Saint.

Did this boy, who was possibly a transmigrator, change something, or was there an issue within the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School?

As for being hidden in the shadows...

Impossible!

If Ning Rongrong were eleven or twelve, they might secretly watch her to give her some experience, but Ning Rongrong was only six now. With how doting those two were towards Ning Rongrong, how could they not accompany her?

Therefore, neither Sword Douluo nor Bone Douluo were present.

The girl called Rongrong by the boy rolled her eyes and said with a giggle, "I actually think he's better looking than you."

The boy's face instantly fell, and his gaze towards Tang San was filled with hostility. In his heart, he was frantically complaining: "At this age, Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor shouldn't have awakened yet, right? Is this what they call 'ordinary'? Damn it, I'll teach this hypocritical, double-standard bastard a lesson!"

"Isn't this the Hunting Spirit Forest? How did it become the Barak Forest?" The boy walked up to Tang San and asked coldly.

Is this person an idiot?

Or, after transmigrating, in the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's education, after learning to read and showing cultivation talent, did he focus solely on cultivating spirit power and never read any extracurricular books?

Tang San's expression became strange, and Xiao Wu beside him stifled a laugh.

The Spirit Saint couldn't stand it anymore and reminded him, "Young Master, this Hunting Spirit Forest is located within Barak territory. It is indeed called Barak Forest."

The boy's expression was a little unsightly. He said to Tang San, "You and your sister are both six or seven years old. How could two children come to hunt Spirit Beasts? You must have brought your sister to sneak into this forest, right?"

Tang San took out the Spirit Hall token and said, "The Spirit Hall permitted it."

The boy said with a chuckle, "Don't try to scare me with the Spirit Hall. I wasn't raised to be scared."

"Respected Young Master, your age should be similar to mine, right?" Tang San's tone was calm, suddenly stating a fact.

The Spirit Saint, nearly thirty Spirit Ancestors, and Rongrong nearby all had strange expressions—this sounded respectful on the surface, but secretly, how did it sound like mockery?

However, the Spirit Saint did not speak. After all, this Young Master was quite overbearing and self-righteous, and his reputation within the Sect was not very good. He was only highly regarded by the Sect Master because of his innate full spirit power.

But they were actually quite unconvinced by this kid... Now that someone was speaking impeccably, it wouldn't hurt to deflate his arrogance a little.

"Giggle!"

Rongrong, however, burst out laughing. "Mu Tian, this handsome young man is mocking you, aren't you going to teach him a lesson?"

With this temper and personality, Tang San was now ninety percent certain that the girl named "Rongrong" was Ning Rongrong, and not some other person with the same name.

Tang San had already labeled her in his heart, and his gaze towards Mu Tian was filled with a hint of pity: Reality isn't a novel. Ning Rongrong, this spoiled little princess, the more you fawn over her, the less you'll win her over. Moreover, this kid's brain doesn't seem to be working very well.

Provoked by Ning Rongrong, Mu Tian indeed lost his temper. Pointing at Tang San's nose, he said, "Do you dare to compete with me?"

"I don't dare."

Just as Mu Tian was about to mock him, he heard Tang San continue, "If I accidentally injure the esteemed Young Master, my sister and I are from a poor family and can't afford to compensate."

Ning Rongrong took out a Spirit card and giggled, "I'll decide. You don't need to compensate. If you defeat him, I'll give you a thousand, no, ten thousand gold coins!"

"Respected Young Lady, in big families, it's usually the men who make decisions. Can you make the decision?" Tang San bowed to Ning Rongrong, also to truly confirm her identity.

Ninety percent wasn't enough.

He needed one hundred percent!

"Hmph!" Ning Rongrong snorted, "I am the daughter of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's Sect Master, Ning Rongrong. The Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School will be inherited by me in the future, so of course I can make the decision!"

Tang San, whose mind was now settled, could tell that even though Mu Tian's talent was good, he was not worth mentioning in Ning Rongrong's eyes—perhaps because she was still young.

In Ning Rongrong's current perception, her father was only a Spirit Saint, but wasn't he still able to make her Grandpa Sword and Grandpa Bone obey him?

What if he had innate full spirit power?

Even if he grew to become a Titled Douluo in the future, he would still have to listen to her, Ning Rongrong!

“So it’s the little princess of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. I’ve heard so much about you, and seeing you in person is even better than hearing. It’s truly a once-in-a-lifetime fortune.” Tang San flattered her.

“Giggle!”

Ning Rongrong laughed, “Mu Tian was right, you are hypocritical.”

“But, respected Young Lady, you smiled, which proves that my hypocrisy pleased you, didn’t it?” Tang San smiled slightly, openly admitting his hypocrisy.

This display actually made the surrounding Spirit Saints and Spirit Ancestors look at him with new eyes.

But was this sincerity? Or hypocrisy?

“You’re really interesting.” Ning Rongrong was a little slow to react. After thinking for a while, she said, “You did make me happy. How about this, if you defeat Mu Tian, I’ll add another ten thousand gold coins, for a total of twenty thousand.”

“Thank you for your generosity, Young Lady. However, before the battle, I have a question. May I ask you to answer it? If it’s offensive, you don’t have to answer.” Tang San showed a puzzled expression.

“Hmm? What question? Ask away. As long as I can say it, I won’t hide it.” Ning Rongrong motioned for Tang San to speak.

“Do you and Mu Tian have a grudge? Why do you want me to defeat him?” Tang San showed curiosity. “Of course, if it involves secrets between nobles, please just pretend you didn’t hear it.”

“It’s no secret. This kid has been pestering me, it’s very annoying.” Ning Rongrong said, “If you can teach him a lesson, I’d naturally be very happy.”

“Oh, so it’s a toad wanting to eat swan meat.”

Tang San shed his previous humility, staring at Mu Tian, and sneered, "Your surname is Mu, so you're likely not a direct descendant of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. You were probably only specially looked after by the Sect Master of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School because of your high innate spirit power, but instead of thinking about serving the Sect, you want to pursue the Sect Master's daughter. That's truly going too far."

"Today, I will, on behalf of this respected little princess, teach you a lesson, you ungrateful fellow, to make you recognize yourself and understand the true meaning of humility."

The Spirit Saint leading the team: "....."

Nearly thirty Spirit Ancestors: "....."

Ning Rongrong: "....."

Xiao Wu: "....."

Everyone, including Mu Tian, felt as if countless alpacas were stampeding in their hearts:

The change in attitude was too fast, wasn't it?

Also, for some reason, when this commoner child said such things, except for Mu Tian, they didn't find it annoying. Especially the Spirit Saint leading the team, whose mind worked the fastest, recalling Tang San's expression when he first saw him, and was the first to react—

Tang San's eyes had never changed; they were calm and profound. And from the very beginning, he had been probing the identities of Mu Tian and Ning Rongrong, confirming that Ning Rongrong was the one in charge, and then constantly trying to ascertain the relationship between Ning Rongrong and Mu Tian. Finally, after realizing that Mu Tian was merely Ning Rongrong's suitor, he completely changed his demeanor and began to morally condemn Mu Tian.

One has to admit, this kid is a talent!

Although Mu Tian had innate full spirit power and the Sect Master had thoughts of bringing him and Ning Rongrong together, if Ning Rongrong didn't like him, he wouldn't force it.

Sword Douluo and Bone Douluo, the two Titled Douluo, did not become Elders of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School by marrying female members of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

"Good! I'll see what you've got!"

Mu Tian was so angry he laughed. He raised both hands, and spirit power surged. A black lizard jumped out from his body. It looked a bit ugly, with red patterns on its head, and a trace of flame spewing from its mouth, indicating it was fire-attributed.

There was also a prominent bulge on the side of its head.

Tang San's eyes narrowed. He didn't pay attention to the yellow spirit ring, but instead asked Mu Tian, "An detached Beast Spirit? An Earth Fire Lizard?"

"That's right, my Spirit, Bright Moon, is detached, just like your teacher Yu Xiaogang's, but my Bright Moon is much more powerful than that pig." Mu Tian became proud and boasted, "I can become a God naturally!"

Ning Rongrong was speechless: "Here he goes again, this guy. Just because his innate spirit power is one level higher than mine, he claims he can become a God. He's truly delusional."

Tang San ignored Ning Rongrong and instead confirmed that Mu Tian was a transmigrator, as only a transmigrator would know about the matter of "becoming Yu Xiaogang's disciple."

Unfortunately, he was not the original Tang San.

Moreover, this person was a big mouth.

However, why was it that as fellow transmigrators, his Spirit only inherited the bloodlines of his body's parents, while Mu Tian's Spirit was Austin Griffin, the God of Heavenly Condemnation from "god seal throne"?

This was one of the twin children of the Creator God in the worldview setting of god seal throne, representing destruction and devastation.

However, the eyes of this Spirit were extremely nimble, clearly possessing its own intelligence. So, if the ninth head, Austin Griffin, representing destruction, were to appear, would it backlash against Mu Tian?

This Spirit was not easy to get along with. Moreover, after Bright Moon appeared, it did not show much closeness to Mu Tian; instead, it kept staring at him.

Could it be that his compatibility with this Spirit was higher?

Wait!

If his Clear Sky Hammer possessed the special ability of "destruction," then even if the ninth head of the Nine-Headed Chimera, Austin Griffin, hadn't grown out yet, it should have some sensation of his Clear Sky Hammer.

Could it be that it wants to devour the Clear Sky Hammer Spirit?

If that were truly the case, it would be to cripple him, and given his current strength as a Spirit Grandmaster, if one of his Spirits were gone, the backlash would directly kill him, wouldn't it?

Tang San's eyes slightly narrowed with seriousness. He decided to kill him, and even afterwards, he would kill everyone from this Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School group, including Ning Rongrong!

If he were to find a hypocritical reason, it would be that if this Bright Moon were to grow, it would surely destroy the entire continent, causing widespread suffering. Tang San didn't believe that this simple-minded Mu Tian could control Austin Griffin.

But the main reason was that the current Mu Tian's hostility towards him was too great, and he already had killing intent towards him. Perhaps he was thinking of letting Bright Moon accidentally kill him in the subsequent competition.

Again and again.

He was not someone to be bullied.

Since he wanted to kill him, then he shouldn't blame him for being selfish this once. Anyway, he wasn't a good person either.

This Mu Tian's spirit power was level fifteen.

And after he killed Mu Tian, both emotionally and logically, the people from this Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School would not let him and Xiao Wu go, so they too must be dealt with.

If he had encountered this team before, Tang San would have had no way to deal with so many people, but now, his Second Soul Skill's debuff worked on Spirit Masters of all levels.

However, with only a twenty-two percent reduction, he could at most only make himself and Xiao Wu die a little later.

But!

Who told him he possessed the Nine-Section Emerald?

The Nine-Section Emerald was small and incredibly fast. If he hadn't had the Purple Demon Eye at the time, he wouldn't have been able to see it clearly at all.

And other Spirit Masters of this era only began to come into contact with mental force when they reached the Spirit Douluo level.

Thus, the first person the Nine-Section Emerald would bite would be that Spirit Saint. With just one bite, that Spirit Saint would die without a burial place.

The remaining twenty Spirit Ancestors, after being weakened by twenty-two percent by the debuff, should be able to be stalled for a period of time by the Endless Grassland, allowing the Nine-Section Emerald to deal with them.

If it really came down to it, he could also threaten them with Ning Rongrong.

And as long as all these people died from the Nine-Section Emerald's poison, their bodies would inevitably be gone, and no matter how angry the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School was, they wouldn't be able to pin it on him and Xiao Wu, two six or seven-year-old children.

"Mu Tian, seven years old, Spirit: Bright Moon, attack system."

While Tang San was still thinking about how to more easily deal with this large group of people, Mu Tian had already spoken, "Fifteen-level one-ring Battle Spirit Master."

Tang San took a deep breath, composed himself, gazed at Mu Tian, and slowly said, "Tang San, Spirit: Blue Silver Grass, support system, twenty-two-level Spirit Grandmaster."

Ning Rongrong was shocked: "Blue Silver Grass? Can this Spirit also cultivate?"

Tang San released his Spirit. A stalk of Blue Silver Grass with silver veins emerged from his right palm, and two spirit rings, one yellow and one purple, circled around him.

Everyone except Xiao Wu widened their eyes.

"A thousand-year Second Soul Ring!"

Tang San ignored everyone's shock, only looking at Mu Tian and slowly saying, "You guessed wrong. My teacher is not Yu Xiaogang, but myself."

Mu Tian secretly gritted his teeth, thinking: Could it be that Tang San didn't become Yu Xiaogang's disciple because of my transmigration? Is this butterfly effect a bit too outrageous?

Could it be that without that useless Grandmaster interfering with Tang San, this double-standard dog could actually be so strong?

"Respected Spirit Saint sir, can the battle begin now?" Tang San looked at the leading Spirit Saint, confirming his distance from him, and thinking about how he could get the Nine-Section Emerald to quickly dart onto the opponent if the worst situation truly occurred later.

"I will be the referee for this match." The Spirit Saint stepped forward, telling the other Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School disciples to retreat twenty meters away, leaving Tang San and Mu Tian with a battle space about ten meters long and seven or eight meters wide.

In his opinion, two six-year-old children, even if Tang San was already a Spirit Grandmaster, wouldn't cause too much commotion. This amount of space was enough.

Tang San scanned the distance and thought: Twenty meters? It doesn't exceed the range of my Blue Silver Grass's First Soul Skill after evolution. And this distance, using Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track, is enough for me to retreat further with Xiao Wu.

"Bright Moon, go!"

Mu Tian gave the command, but strangely, Bright Moon completely ignored Mu Tian's order, merely yawning as if it suddenly lost its Spirit.

Tang San: ".....Do you want some time to communicate with your Spirit?"

Mu Tian's face darkened, and he roared, "Bright Moon, don't throw a tantrum now! When we get back, I'll give you fire-attributed Spirit Beast meat to eat."

Hearing this, Bright Moon perked up. Its body suddenly expanded, reaching three meters in length, looking almost like an Earth Dragon. It roared at Tang San and then charged over.

Tang San immediately slammed his Blue Silver Grass into the ground, and he himself leaped up, landing on Bright Moon's back.

Bright Moon's head immediately rotated one hundred and eighty degrees, spewing a scorching flame at him.

Tang San immediately dodged, using the Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track footwork, not confronting this behemoth head-on. He dodged the flames, its claws, and its tail, while also testing Bright Moon's strength.

The more he interacted, the more Tang San was startled—this guy truly lived up to its name as the God of Heavenly Condemnation. Even with only one fire-attributed head, it could unleash power comparable to an ordinary Spirit Grandmaster.

But this was a competition between Spirit Masters, not a battle between humans and "Pokémon." Tang San had no need to contend with this thick-skinned Bright Moon, which was no different from a real Spirit Beast. Therefore, his gaze swept over to Mu Tian's body...

The first transmigrator appears, with a golden finger, the God of Heavenly Condemnation, Austin Griffin.

44: But I just have a good martial spirit.

After dodging Bright Moon's grab, Tang San quickly ran towards Mu Tian, his figure like Gui Mei. In the blink of an eye, he arrived in front of him, clenching his fist, which turned white as jade and emitted a faint chill.

Mysterious Jade Hand was a technique developed by Tang Sect to prevent its disciples from being poisoned, but after using it, the defense of one's hands was greatly enhanced, making it quite effective for offense as well.

Mu Tian naturally couldn't react to Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track, but seeing that fist, he didn't panic. Instead, he flashed a flamboyant, wicked smile.

“Not dodging?”

Tang San was vigilant, but he still punched out.

No matter what, he had to test it out. Even if he was seriously injured, with his First Soul Skill, he could recover quickly.

Bang!

The punch landed, but it stopped three inches from Mu Tian's nose, unable to advance another millimeter.

After failing to land a hit, Tang San immediately retreated, as Bright Moon from behind had already caught up, forcing him to continue entangling with it.

But Tang San was pondering Mu Tian's ability: "Can't break through his defense? What's the reason for this? It seems there's an invisible force protecting his entire body."

Mu Tian laughed sinisterly and said, "Don't think about attacking me directly. After I release my Spirit, there will be a connection between Bright Moon and me. I can borrow its defense. If you can't break its defense, you can't harm me. You should just keep fighting Bright Moon. Oh, and a reminder, the spirit power Bright Moon needs for its actions can be maintained by absorbing energy from the World itself. As long as I don't specifically use Spirit Abilities, there won't be no consumption."

Tang San's heart sank, and he became even more wary of Bright Moon.

Able to absorb energy from the World on its own, without requiring Mu Tian to meditate—is this really a Spirit, and not a truly independent Life form?

Most likely the latter, and Mu Tian is perhaps just a host chosen by Austin Griffin after he arrived in this World, with the purpose of allowing himself to grow better.

While his thoughts raced, Tang San continued to dodge Bright Moon's attacks, and through the Blue Silver Grass Spirit he had previously pressed into the ground, after it had fully rooted, he unleashed Endless Grassland.

Instantly, countless Blue Silver Grasses burst from the ground, Binding towards Bright Moon, wrapping around its limbs and neck.

However, Bright Moon was incredibly strong and immediately broke many of the Blue Silver Grasses. But Tang San's Blue Silver Grass was inexhaustible; even Bright Moon, before truly growing into the God of Heavenly Condemnation, could not contend with the power of the entire continent.

His Blue Silver Grass could draw an endless stream of power from the earth!

“Roar!”

Bright Moon opened its mouth and spat fire, burning away more than half of the Blue Silver Grass in the area. But it could only burn the surface stems and leaves; it was helpless against the roots buried deep underground.

And as long as the roots remained, the Blue Silver Grass could not be completely burned away.

“Although Blue Silver Grass is a weed, growing on the earth, it can also contend with Bright Moon.” Tang San's Second Spirit Ability lit up, purple light shining. The regrowing Blue Silver Grass continued to entwine around Bright Moon, and countless invisible seeds emerged from beneath its leaves, heading towards Bright Moon's and Mu Tian's nostrils and mouths.

No matter how well protected they were, they still needed to breathe, right?

The negative buff seeds were inhaled by Bright Moon and Mu Tian, instantly causing both of them to become lethargic, with all their attributes reduced by more than twenty percent.

“What kind of Spirit Ability is this?” Mu Tian felt his spirit power decrease and his Spirit grow weak, and he couldn't help but become nervous.

Tang San didn't explain, only watching as Bright Moon, despite all its attributes being reduced by over twenty percent, still struggled and broke free from the Blue Silver Grass. He couldn't help but marvel at the opponent's powerful physical body.

“As expected of the God of Heavenly Condemnation, stronger than the Blue Silver Emperor. It seems I still need to shatter this Spirit-state Bright Moon first.”

Having made his decision, Tang San, while Bright Moon's attention was on the Blue Silver Grass, once again used Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track and performed a slide, reaching beneath Bright Moon's body.

Under the cover of the Blue Silver Grass, Tang San clenched his left hand. The Clear Sky Hammer was about to emerge, but Tang San didn't fully release it. Instead, he clenched it tightly in his fist, and using Mysterious Jade Hand, he condensed most of his spirit power into it, punching Bright Moon's belly.

Spirits are different from Spirit Beasts; they don't have the characteristic of a "weaker belly." But Tang San found that Bright Moon was different; it was more like a living creature.

When he had used Blue Silver Grass to bind it before, its abdomen was noticeably softer.

Therefore, Tang San decided to trust his judgment.

Indeed, this punch, carrying most of Tang San's spirit power and a hint of the Clear Sky Hammer's nature, actually sent the three-meter-tall Bright Moon flying three to four meters, causing it to instantly dissipate from the pain.

"Pfft!"

With the Spirit dissipated, Mu Tian's face instantly turned pale, blood spilled from the corner of his mouth, and he swayed, collapsing to the ground.

"The victor has been decided!"

Seeing this, the Spirit Saint immediately stepped forward to intervene.

At this moment, Tang San also lost the best opportunity to kill Mu Tian, but he raised his left fist, pondering a question: The moment he hit Bright Moon, a strange energy injected into his right fist, merging into the Clear Sky Hammer... If his previous hypothesis was correct, then Austin Griffin abandoned Mu Tian and chose to parasitize his Clear Sky Hammer?

In Tang San's plan, Blue Silver Grass would embody Life, and the Clear Sky Hammer would embody destruction. It would indeed be a perfect match for the God of Heavenly Condemnation, representing destruction, to reside within the Clear Sky Hammer. The only issue was that Austin Griffin would be difficult to tame.

However, if the God of Heavenly Condemnation entered the Clear Sky Hammer, would Mu Tian still possess the detached Bright Moon Spirit?

“Thank you for the match.” Tang San cupped his fists, also abandoning his previous plan to annihilate this entire Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School team. After all, that plan wasn't very reliable.

Nine-Section Emerald could indeed poison a Spirit Saint, but Tang San wasn't confident he could dodge their final strike before death, and even if he took it, he couldn't guarantee he'd have a breath left.

Moreover, now that Austin Griffin seemed to have chosen him, Mu Tian was no longer a threat.

“You're really amazing!”

Ning Rongrong didn't pay any attention to the defeated Mu Tian. Instead, she walked towards Tang San and handed him two Spirit cards. “I, Ning Rongrong, keep my word. You won, so these twenty thousand gold coins are yours.”

“Thank you for your generosity, Young Miss.” Tang San took the two Spirit cards and thanked Ning Rongrong.

“Mm~” Ning Rongrong happily narrowed her eyes. “I like hearing that.”

“Tang San, you just wait! I'll definitely defeat you in the future!” Mu Tian had already stood up, wiping the blood from the corner of his mouth, glaring fiercely at Tang San and uttering the grand words of a defeated dog.

Tang San raised an eyebrow, watched him for a while, his eyes gradually becoming indifferent. Borrowing Shi Hao's famous quote, he quietly said, “Those surpassed by me are never regarded as opponents. I will give you time to catch up to me, until you can no longer see me in the distance.”

Hiss—

That Spirit Saint took a sharp breath, thinking to himself:

How confident is this Tang San!

However, he truly possesses the capital for such confidence!

Mu Tian's detached Beast Spirit was incredibly powerful, even comparable to a Spirit Elder within the Sect, while Tang San's Spirit was merely Blue Silver Grass, widely recognized as a trash Spirit on the continent. Yet, he was able to cultivate to the Spirit Grandmaster stage at the age of six or seven, and his Second spirit ring was even a thousand-year one!

How much effort must that have taken?

Humble in demeanor, yet possessing his own arrogance and confidence—only such a talent can truly reach the pinnacle of Spirit Masters.

Mu Tian?

He just has a good Spirit, that's all!

Shi Hao:

45: Mu Tian: Isn't this a double standard?

“You!”

Mu Tian pointed at Tang San, his finger trembling, his whole body shaking with rage, almost going mad: “I will definitely kill you!”

Tang San confirmed two points:

Firstly, the other party most likely hadn't read "Perfect World" and didn't understand too many internet memes. So far, he hadn't figured out Tang San's specific situation. It was possible he thought Tang San was so strong because of a butterfly effect caused by his transmigration... Slow to react and easily angered, such Dragon King-type transmigrators are the easiest to deal with, as long as they don't have system-like cheats.

Secondly, given his lively appearance, his Spirit was probably still intact, and he didn't have much of an impression of Mu Tian himself... So, was Austin Griffin truly only residing within the detached Earth Fire Lizard Spirit? Did he see a better candidate, test them slightly, and then directly abandon the original host, choosing Tang San instead?

Could the Life aura of the Blue Silver Grass better conceal the aura of destruction?

“Mu Tian, shut up!”

Ning Rongrong had just been shocked by Tang San's words. Moreover, Tang San was already cute and handsome, possessing a Life aura that made people want to get close to him. Her young heart was impacted like never before, making her feel that this was a true genius.

More importantly, everything Tang San said, whether flattering her or mocking Mu Tian, made her feel very comfortable.

“If you lost, you lost. Why do you always want to kill the other person? Is that how my father and Bone Douluo taught you?” Ning Rongrong reprimanded Mu Tian, ignoring his gloomy expression. She turned to Tang San and smiled, “Tang San, would you be willing to come to my Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School?”

The leading Spirit Saint was startled. He glanced at the “little devil” Ning Rongrong and sighed inwardly: “As expected of the little princess of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. Even if she loves to play, and most people in the Sect avoid her, her vision is still extremely unique. If Tang San can be brought into the Sect, what is Mu Tian? With that temper, if it weren’t for his good Spirit talent, who would bother with him?”

“It’s just, is Tang San really a commoner?”

“That movement technique, that ability to turn his hands jade-colored, should be a self-created Spirit Ability. This shouldn’t be something a child of this age could create, right?”

Tang San showed a slightly apologetic expression: “I apologize, Your Royal Highness, little princess of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. I am merely a commoner, how dare I aspire to join the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School? If I could just become friends with Your Royal Highness, I, a commoner, would be very content.”

“Hehe! Little princess? I like that title! Okay, then we are friends!” Ning Rongrong laughed joyfully, taking out a token with a carving of a Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda on it. “Here, this is a token from my Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. From now on, we are friends. Hold this, and you can get a 30% discount on purchases at any of our Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School’s businesses.”

“Thank you, Rongrong.” Tang San took the token and proactively took Ning Rongrong’s hand, shaking it.

Ning Rongrong was a bit slow to react but didn’t feel there was any problem. She just asked: “You called me ‘Miss’ before, then ‘Your Royal Highness, little princess,’ and now ‘Rongrong.’ You change so quickly.”

Tang San said earnestly: “Initially, you were a noble of high status, and I was a commoner, so naturally, I had to show respect and call you ‘Miss.’ Just now, you kept your promise and gave me the promised 20,000 gold coins, which made me respect you from the bottom of my heart, so I called you ‘little princess.’ And now, we are friends. Between friends, the address should naturally be more intimate, just as you call me Tang San, and I call you Rongrong.”

“Smooth talker.” Ning Rongrong huffed playfully, “But I like it.”

Seeing Ning Rongrong’s good impression of Tang San, Mu Tian became anxious and said: “How can you be friends with such a hypocritical person? And he’s just a commoner! Our statuses are completely different!”

Ning Rongrong’s expression changed, and she was about to scold him, but Tang San moved away from Ning Rongrong, subtly walked to Xiao Wu’s side, and bowed with her to Ning Rongrong, saying: “Miss Rongrong, it seems my commoner status still creates a huge gap between us. I appreciate your kindness, but I won’t stay here and be an eyesore.”

After speaking, Tang San didn’t wait for Ning Rongrong to react. He directly carried Xiao Wu on his back, used Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track, and quickly ran off. Among everyone present, including the Spirit Saint, no one reacted in time.

It was simply too sudden!

Leaving just like that!

“Wait, Tang San, I didn’t mean that!” Ning Rongrong called out to Tang San’s receding back, but Tang San seemed not to hear. His figure was like a ghost, disappearing into the forest in just a few blinks of an eye.

“Darn it!”

Ning Rongrong stamped her foot in anger, glared at Mu Tian, and cursed: “It’s all your fault, you jerk! You made me lose a friend!”

“Rongrong, that Tang San is really not a good person. Look at how he addresses you—Miss, Princess, Rongrong—isn’t that being very two-faced?” Mu Tian anxiously explained, speaking ill of Tang San.

“How is that two-faced? I think his explanation is perfectly fine. On the contrary, you, after losing one match, immediately clamor to kill the other person. That’s so... what was it again?” Ning Rongrong looked at the leading Spirit Saint.

The Spirit Saint glanced at the pale-faced Mu Tian and said word by word: “Narrow-minded, small-hearted.”

Don’t blame him for saying this. If Mu Tian’s personality doesn’t change in the future, even if his talent isn’t bad, the Sect Master won’t reuse him. Therefore, he had nothing to worry about and only hoped that Mu Tian could change in the future.

“That’s right, narrow-minded, small-hearted.” Ning Rongrong completely disregarded Mu Tian’s almost ashen face, repeated it, and then cleverly used what Tang San had said: “And don’t even think about a toad trying to eat swan meat. Your Spirit is so ugly, how could you be worthy of me?”

Mu Tian gritted his teeth, clenching his fists, but finally said: “Tang San can absorb a thousand-year spirit ring for his second spirit ring, and so can I! My Bright Moon Spirit is very powerful!”

Ning Rongrong scoffed, saying disdainfully: “Isn’t it just having a good Spirit? What’s there to be proud of? Tang San’s Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, and didn’t he still scatter your Earth Fire Lizard?”

“He’s a Spirit Grandmaster, his spirit power is higher than mine.” Mu Tian’s face was flushed as he gave an excuse.

“He’s about our age, yet he was able to break through to Spirit Grandmaster with such a weak Blue Silver Grass, and his second spirit ring is even a thousand-year one. Can you compare?” Ning Rongrong scorned Mu Tian, but then her eyes darted, and she changed the subject, saying to the Spirit Saint, “Forget it, I don’t want to talk about this anymore, Uncle. Let’s hurry and hunt Spirit Beasts. I still haven’t found my first spirit ring.”

“Alright, Young Miss.”

The Spirit Saint smiled, bowed slightly to Ning Rongrong, and prepared to continue their journey.

Although Ning Rongrong held a noble position within the Sect and often played pranks on Sect disciples, she also knew the proper boundaries and wouldn't truly abuse her status as the Sect Master’s daughter to act recklessly towards disciples. Moreover, when she needed something, she would first act spoiled and say nice things, only resorting to using her status if absolutely necessary.

This was why she could make everyone in the entire Sect fear her; otherwise, it wouldn’t be fear, but hatred.

Mu Tian still wanted to say something, but Ning Rongrong directly told him to shut up and calm down.

Helpless, Mu Tian could only close his mouth, but in his heart, he harbored hatred for Tang San, thinking: “Just you wait, Tang San. I will surpass you. With Bright Moon, my second spirit ring will definitely also be a thousand-year one. When I absorbed the four-hundred-year first spirit ring, I felt no pressure at all. Bright Moon is the God of Heavenly Condemnation!”

Mu Tian even suspected that even if his first spirit ring were ten thousand years, Bright Moon could bear it; it was just that Ning Fengzhi and Bone Douluo wouldn’t let him act recklessly...

...

After Tang San carried Xiao Wu out of Ning Rongrong and the others' sight, he didn't sense anyone tracking them, so he breathed a sigh of relief and put Xiao Wu down.

Xiao Wu, however, seemed to be seeing Tang San for the first time: "You really make me look at you in a new light."

"As commoners, facing nobles is like treading on thin ice; one needs to observe their words and expressions. But once you understand their general personality and show your own confidence, then you can gain mutual respect." Tang San said calmly, "In this era, this is our way of dealing with people as commoners. If we merely displayed strength, it could lead to more serious conflicts."

Xiao Wu pondered: "Is it that troublesome?"

"It's good to use your brain more, after all, most stupid people are basically dead." Tang San rolled his eyes.

The first transmigrator's cheat was lost...

46: buy white jade belt

Following Tang San, Xiao Wu learned many principles of dealing with people, and thus took his teachings to heart.

Afterward, the two walked out of the Barak Forest.

Tang San took Xiao Wu to a restaurant and had the chef cook the Wood Spirit Demon Mushroom for them to eat together before preparing to return to Nuoding City.

Passing by the outskirts of Soto City, Tang San lifted the carriage curtain and saw Shrek Academy recruiting students, but he did not get down to join the fun; he only told the coachman to enter the city.

Soto City was larger than Nuoding City and had shops selling spirit tools.

Tang San decided to buy two storage soul tools.

Tang San had an idea to research spirit tools, but twenty thousand gold coins were not enough to buy many; he could only buy storage soul tools first, to avoid the hassle of carrying large bags every time he hunted Spirit Beasts in the future.

Seven Treasure Pavilion.

Tang San looked at the branch opened by the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School in Soto City and walked in with Xiao Wu.

Although it was just a branch, it was much grander than other shops selling everyday spirit tools; the floor was made of reflective marble, and the counters were transparent glass, displaying various everyday spirit tools.

Honestly, sometimes Tang San did not understand what level of production technology the Douluo Continent had reached.

If you say it was backward, they could make transparent glass and even use it as counters.

But if you say it was advanced, Tang San had discovered along his journey that most people still traveled by carriage and relied on messengers to spread news.

Therefore, Tang San guessed that the ability to produce glass was most likely because the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School had spirit tools capable of making glass.

However, it was not necessarily true that all spirit tool production methods had been lost on the Douluo Continent.

After all, weren't everyday spirit tools being sold?

Most likely, everyday spirit tools did not require high-grade materials, and their spirit tool patterns were simple, making them easy to replicate, but no one bothered to ponder the specific principles, such as why replicating the spirit tool patterns in that way allowed spirit tool lamps to glow under the effect of spirit power, or spirit tool fans to rotate and blow air under the effect of spirit power.

To make a comparison, it was like the concrete Tang San knew in his previous life: cement powder, sand, stones, and water mixed in specific proportions could be used as building materials, but why did it have to be those specific proportions, and what was the exact principle?

In the modern society of his previous life, no one had figured that out yet.

They just used it if it worked.

People on the Continent who made everyday spirit tools probably had similar thoughts: who cares about the principle of the spirit tool patterns, if replicating them works, then just use them.

Xiao Wu looked at the various spirit tools, completely unaware of their functions, but Tang San could guess some, as the shapes of these spirit tools resembled some electrical appliances from his previous life.

Perhaps, for the human body structure, products invented to make things easier for people have a certain similarity in appearance, and it is only due to different environments that the power sources differ.

"Two young guests, what would you like to buy?" The smiling attendant walked over and introduced to Tang San and Xiao Wu, "We have all kinds of everyday spirit tools here, at affordable prices; I'm sure you'll be satisfied."

Although Tang San and Xiao Wu were dressed in relatively simple clothes, their appearances were definitely handsome and beautiful, certainly not children from ordinary families.

Especially the girl, with such long hair, yet so clean and smooth; commoners' children would not spend time on hair care.

Therefore, these two must be young masters and young ladies from wealthy families, just disguised as commoners' children.

Unfortunately, they were too naive; their appearance alone would not make people mistake them for ordinary people.

"Hello, I would like to buy two storage soul tools, priced under twenty thousand gold coins; do you have anything suitable?" Tang San asked.

"Yes." The attendant was already certain that the two were not commoners' children, as commoners could not produce gold coins, especially a sum like twenty thousand. "Please wait at the rest table nearby, young guests. We will bring suitable storage soul tools for you to choose from shortly. You may also enjoy the snacks and drinks on the nearby counter for free."

"Thank you for your trouble." Tang San replied politely and walked to the rest table with Xiao Wu, while Xiao Wu was not at all polite, directly grabbing a large pile of pastries, cookies, and other sweets from the counter, and also taking two cups to pour two glasses of orange-yellow orange juice from a device similar to a water dispenser.

"Here." Xiao Wu handed one cup to Tang San, then munched on pastries and sipped juice, her cheeks puffed out, clearly enjoying herself.

When the attendant came over with three sets of storage soul tools, seeing a large pile of sweets on the table, she began to doubt if she had guessed wrong just now.

After all, Xiao Wu's eating habits really resembled those of a commoner's child who came to freeload on free snacks and juice.

"Let me introduce them to you." The attendant secretly adjusted her mindset and smiled. "The first set is called the Storage Ring. Both rings have a white gem, with a half-cubic meter storage space inside. Each ring costs five thousand gold coins, totaling ten thousand gold coins."

"The second set is called the Glazed Tile Wristguard. It can be worn on the wrist. Its gems, one red and one blue, each have one cubic meter of space. Each costs nine thousand gold coins, totaling eighteen thousand."

"The last set is the white jade belt. Each belt has four transparent gems, each with a half-cubic meter space, totaling two cubic meters. Originally, this set, according to the value of storage soul tools, would cost twenty thousand per belt, but each gem on the belt can only hold half a cubic meter, which affects its value, so the total is twenty thousand."

Tang San thought for a moment and chose the last set: the white jade belt.

The Glazed Tile Wristguard was actually not bad, but Tang San felt that the white jade belt was more suitable for him, as it had four gems, allowing for four categories, so he wouldn't have to put daily necessities, food, money, Spirit Beast corpses, etc., into the same space.

It was just that each gem only had half a cubic meter, which was indeed a bit small, but for him, it was enough for now; he could buy a spirit tool with a larger storage space later when he earned more money.

"I'll take the last set." Tang San took out the two soul cards he had obtained from Ning Rongrong and also displayed the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's token.

He could get a thirty percent discount.

The attendant saw the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's token, confirmed its authenticity, and without asking how Tang San had obtained it, swiped the card and returned the two cards to Tang San: "Two young guests, these two white jade belts are yours."

Tang San took the box, handed one belt to Xiao Wu, and then placed all his personal belongings into the four spaces, immediately feeling light.

Xiao Wu also tied the belt around her waist and experimented with the storage function using the snacks on the table, having a great time; the only thing that made the attendant's eye twitch was that the snacks she put into the belt were never taken out.

Was she taking too much advantage?

Although the snacks were indeed free.

47: Brother Tao is getting married

After Tang San tested the storage capacity of the white jade belt, he spent the remaining six hundred gold coins to buy seven or eight daily Life spirit tools.

Compared to storage soul tools, daily Life spirit tools were much cheaper, mostly ranging from fifty gold coins to two hundred gold coins; only those ancient daily Life spirit tools, being antiques, would have their prices rise above one thousand gold coins.

However, even daily Life spirit tools were unaffordable for ordinary commoners, as their prices were calculated in gold coins, which commoners could not afford.

After leaving Soto City, Tang San and Xiao Wu found the carriage parked at the city's inn and continued their journey, finally arriving in Soto City seven days later.

After sending Xiao Wu off to train, Tang San immediately began testing his Spirit after obtaining his Second spirit ring.

Strength: 2. After absorbing the Wood Spirit Demon Mushroom, his strength increased slightly, but the change was not significant.

Speed: 4. He could control it more flexibly.

Defense: 4. His toughness improved.

Energy: 0. He still had no means of releasing energy attacks.

Endurance: 5. His recovery ability was extremely strong; perhaps it could break through "5."

Special: 5. His Life energy was even more vigorous.

Total Score: 20.

Compared to when he obtained his First spirit ring, the Blue Silver Grass's six-dimensional chart reached 20, especially in endurance and special; if Tang San had not set the maximum score at 5, it could have been much higher.

"Not bad. The Blue Silver Grass's situation, in terms of endurance and special, might be able to break through the values I set, which I'll call 'Limit Break.'" Tang San put away the Blue Silver Grass, looked at his left hand, entered the study from the backyard, pulled the curtains, locked the door, and then released the Clear Sky Hammer.

Compared to the initial Clear Sky Hammer, Tang San did not find much difference. The only distinction was that a simple, beautiful Chimera pattern appeared on the hammerhead, but currently, it only had two heads. The colors of its eyes were red and gold, respectively, and the Clear Sky Hammer also inherently possessed the abilities of fire and light.

"Indeed, Austin Griffin is definitely not as simple as Mu Tian's Spirit. Possessing his own will, upon sensing me, a better host, he injected something similar to his origin into my Clear Sky Hammer, abandoning Mu Tian."

"It just turned into two heads?"

"It seems to evolve with my individual spirit power."

Tang San, deep in thought, put away the Clear Sky Hammer and mused, "Austin Griffin, since you voluntarily came into my Clear Sky Hammer, then you are a part of my Spirit. You, who are not yet fully grown, have not reached divine-level power. I will truly subdue you in the future and make you serve me."

Putting away the Clear Sky Hammer and pulling back the curtains, Tang San saw that Xiao Wu had finished her tree-climbing practice and was instead cultivating her spirit power. He couldn't help but nod, "She's much stronger than the character in the original work who only knew how to eat and sleep. It seems I've changed some things."

Just like Su Yuntao, who was merely a tool for the protagonist's Spirit awakening in the original work and eventually broke up with Sisi, now, under his influence, he and Sisi have truly gotten together. It's just unknown when they will actually marry.

And Wang Sheng, the original work never mentioned what happened to him after graduation, but now, with his help, he obtained a spirit ring extremely suitable for him and joined Spirit Hall, starting as a patrol member and gradually beginning his Spirit Master cultivation path.

Perhaps none of it was perfect, but Tang San felt that he had changed their destinies, and his own destiny as well.

So what if Austin Griffin represents the God of Heavenly Condemnation, who embodies destruction?

He could still change him!

Regardless of whether he could succeed in the end, he clearly knew that he must have that kind of confidence; otherwise, if he was timid and hesitant, he would truly only be able to wait for Austin Griffin to awaken and seize his initiative, controlling everything about him.

The next day, as Tang San was writing a thesis on the evolution of optimal spirit ring configuration and the factors affecting the spirit ring year limit that a Spirit Master could withstand, Su Yuntao found him.

"Little San, it's been a while since we last met. I heard you hunted a Spirit Beast and obtained your Second spirit ring?" Su Yuntao exclaimed, "I'm so envious! When I was seven, I was just a Spirit Scholar, and my spirit power had only cultivated to a little over level four."

"Just by luck."

Tang San stopped writing and smiled, "Tao Ge, you didn't just come to ask me about this, did you? Or are you saying you want to spar with me?"

"Of course not sparring." Su Yuntao quickly waved his hand. When Tang San developed the Endless Grassland from his First Soul Skill, Su Yuntao realized that unless he used the full power of his Second Soul Skill, he couldn't break free at all.

Tang San was already so powerful during his Spirit Master period; now that Tang San had become a Spirit Grandmaster, he would definitely lose even more miserably, so it was better not to embarrass himself.

Sometimes, Su Yuntao wondered, was Tang San really a support system Spirit Master?

He was clearly more powerful than an average control system Spirit Master.

Even the Endless Grassland skill alone was comparable to a Spirit Ancestor's Fourth Spirit Ability, provided that Tang San's Blue Silver Grass became tougher and his control more precise.

Su Yuntao believed that with Tang San's excellence, he would definitely reach that level in the future.

"I came this time mainly to give you an invitation." Su Yuntao stated his purpose, "Sisi and I are engaged, and the wedding is on the third of next month. You must come to my house then."

"Congratulations!" Tang San congratulated, beaming with joy, "I'll definitely be there and prepare a gift for you, but don't expect too much, you know, I don't have much money."

"Isn't that being too polite?" Su Yuntao waved his hand casually, "You call me Tao Ge, so what gift do you need to send? Just your presence is enough. Also, you can bring your little girlfriend along."

Tang San coughed, saying, "Not a girlfriend, at most a younger sister."

"Good brother, obedient sister." Su Yuntao's face showed a hint of mischief, "Even if she's a sister now, she'll be a little girlfriend in the future."

Tang San rolled his eyes, too lazy to continue explaining, and asked, "Is there anything else?"

"Alright, don't be angry, I was just joking." Su Yuntao laughed heartily, "The other thing is, when you came back, Ma Xiunuo went out to handle some matters, so no one could help you with the Spirit Grandmaster test. He's back today, and he asked me to come tell you."

"No problem." Tang San nodded, "Also, on the third of next month, I will definitely bring Xiao Wu over. If you don't entertain me well then, be careful when you reach level thirty, I won't help you choose which Spirit Beast to hunt."

"I've saved a lot of money over the years, I'll definitely entertain you well." Su Yuntao patted his chest, guaranteeing, and after chatting with Tang San for a while longer, he went to accompany Sisi to prepare for the wedding.

After all, it was his big marriage event, and preparing a month in advance was perfectly fine.

Tang San, however, was pondering what gift to give. After all, Tao Ge had helped him a lot in the early stages; if he truly just showed up empty-handed, he would look down on himself.

In god seal throne, Bright Moon's second head was initially dark-attributed, and only transformed into light-attributed after the blood pact with Dragon Hao Chen.

This book will directly adopt the light attribute, setting the rebirth of this Austin Griffin to inherit some elemental legacies from his 'previous Life.'

By the way, for Austin Griffin, besides the final head representing destruction, any other head, regardless of attribute, should actually be fine, right?

48: The theory finally reached Bibi Dong's hands

Spirit Hall City.

Bibi Dong received a theoretical report on Soul Master positioning delivered from the Wuhun News Agency.

"So thick?"

Looking at the dozens of pages, roughly two hundred thousand words of theory in her hand, Bibi Dong's brows furrowed slightly.

The theories delivered to her in the past were at most a little over ten thousand words; this one was peculiar, unexpectedly reaching over two hundred thousand words, and since it could be submitted from below, it must possess something unique.

Therefore, Bibi Dong decided to spend some time to see what content was written inside.

As the Pope, aside from cultivation and handling some internal affairs, she was basically free and had plenty of time.

After reading for an hour, Bibi Dong's eyes gradually became serious, realizing that the person who wrote this theory truly had great insight, and the cases cited could all be found in Spirit Hall's collection of books, with evidence and basis, clear logic, and extremely accurate analysis, to the point where even she couldn't find any faults.

"This is a genius whose talent is comparable to Xiao Gang's," Bibi Dong thought to herself, developing a slight fondness for the person who wrote this theory, and the positioning of Soul Masters analyzed within it was very precise; perhaps before this year's All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament begins, she could have the red-robed Elders within the Hall make reasonable arrangements for Spirit Hall's teams.

Also, is the greatest use of the Agility System reconnaissance?

Why did no one think of it before?

Is it because Soul Masters focus too much on strength?

I need to make a note of this point.

Bibi Dong thought of the Min Zhi Clan, one of the four affiliated clans abandoned by the Haotian Sect; the direction of cultivation for this clan is extreme speed, and although their clan leader is merely a Soul Douluo, in terms of speed, even she, a Super Douluo, wouldn't dare say she could catch up.

This clan is currently living quite miserably, struggling financially; if Spirit Hall were to send people to provide assistance, would it be possible to win them over?

In the future, war will definitely erupt, and with such a remarkably fast Min Zhi Clan serving as scouts, wouldn't it be even more capable of completing Spirit Hall's plan to unify the Continent?

As for Spirit Hall having previously taken out its anger towards the Haotian Sect on the Min Zhi Clan... Bibi Dong pondered whether she could blame the issue on the previous Pope to shift the conflict.

"Tang San?" Seeing the signature on this theory, Bibi Dong murmured, unable to recall any Martial Soul researcher by that name, and asked the Wuhun News Agency manager who submitted the theory, "Where does this theory come from?"

"Reporting to the Pope, it comes from Notting City, and the Hall Master of the Notting City Branch Hall, Ma Xiunuo, also reported a file on the author, stating it needed to be personally opened by the Pope."

Bibi Dong raised her hand, and the letter flew to her fingertips.

After opening it, she began to read.

"Tang San, born in Holy Soul Village, the adopted grandson of Village Chief Jack, Martial Soul Blue Silver Grass, a mutation occurred, innate Soul Power level six, in places with Blue Silver Grass, cultivation speed is comparable to innate full Soul Power, three months after awakening his Martial Soul, he had already reached level ten, with the help of Spirit Hall, he hunted a Thousand Root Banyan of around five hundred years, obtaining a Soul Skill: Endless Recovery..."

Reading this, Bibi Dong's expression lifted, and she smiled, "Interesting, a mutated Blue Silver Grass Martial Soul, his first Soul Ring was absorbed beyond his level, reaching five hundred years, but he became a support system Soul Master?"

Continuing to read, she saw the letter stated: "After obtaining the Soul Ring, Tang San's Soul Power directly reached level seventeen, and his Martial Soul mutated again, even affecting his physical body."

Followed by two portraits of Tang San, one before obtaining the Soul Ring, looking ordinary, and the other, with a round face, looking much cuter.

"Martial Soul mutation affecting the physical body, it should be a beneficial mutation, but seventeen levels of Soul Power... Isn't this a bit outrageous?"

Bibi Dong knew that Martial Soul mutations could indeed affect the physical body, and some Martial Soul mutations could even permanently affect the human body, such as Catwoman or Dragon Girl, but such cases were extremely rare, and once such mutated individuals appeared, they would be taken by various nobles.

But what she was more concerned about was the increase in Soul Power.

This was truly a bit exaggerated.

Could a five-hundred-year Soul Ring increase Soul Power this much? Or was it that during the process of absorbing the Soul Ring and the Martial Soul mutating again, it led to the infusion of heaven and earth energy?

Such an opportunity is rarely encountered in a hundred years.

"According to Tang San himself, the Thousand Root Banyan's Soul Ring is extremely suitable for his mutated Blue Silver Grass, and absorbing it posed no difficulty whatsoever, with almost no energy wasted, and he also felt external energy entering his body, most likely a very rare situation: heaven and earth energy infusion."

Bibi Dong confirmed her guess and continued reading, learning the reason why Tang San did not want to join Spirit Hall; mainly, he was worried that receiving guidance from the Martial Soul Academy would limit his thinking, and he planned to make more imaginative conjectures and use himself as an experiment before he grew up.

For this, Ma Xiunuo vouched for Tang San and recounted how Tang San chose the most suitable second Soul Rings for Su Yuntao and Sisi, causing their Martial Souls to undergo slight evolution and acquire the Soul Skills most suitable for them.

"He is a good child, and he has a good impression of Spirit Hall, to the extent that even I might not be able to teach him."

Bibi Dong had already realized Tang San's intelligence, finding it hard to believe this was a six or seven-year-old child.

So, should I have Chrysanthemum Douluo or Ghost Douluo bring him directly to Spirit Hall City?

After much thought, Bibi Dong ultimately abandoned this idea, as she also knew that the guidance at the Martial Soul Academy was much stricter than other academies, and with Tang San's talent, he might point out many issues with the teaching teachers; the teachers at the Martial Soul Academy, the weakest of whom are Soul Elders, are quite arrogant and would never believe that a Soul Master could correct their mistakes.

They would never admit that they could be surpassed by a seven-year-old child.

At that time, Tang San would likely not be favored by the teachers, and without the corresponding authority or someone to vouch for him, it would be impossible to freely read Spirit Hall's books.

And she couldn't just give Tang San authority and vouch for him simply because of this detailed theory, otherwise, the Soul Masters who worked hard for Spirit Hall would feel psychologically imbalanced.

Therefore, Bibi Dong dismissed the idea of bringing Tang San to Spirit Hall City, and at the same time, she wanted to see how far that child could grow based on his own strength.

If he later became ordinary, it would save trouble.

However, this theory is indeed very useful and should be given a corresponding reward.

Thus, Bibi Dong sent the theory on Soul Master positioning and Tang San's information to several Title Douluo within the Hall, as well as Hu Liena, Xie Yue, Yan, and others she had cultivated, for them to read.

"This is simply unbelievable!"

"Is he really only seven years old?"

"Ma Xiunuo should have forced him to join Spirit Hall!"

"Pope, I think we can send someone to bring Tang San to Spirit Hall City for cultivation; although he is a support system, his cultivation speed is no worse than innate full Soul Power."

Bibi Dong listened to the statements from below and said, "I plan to give Tang San the opportunity for free development. Now, tell me, what is the value of this theory?"

49: Wuhun Palace is very generous.

Ultimately, Tang San's detailed theoretical analysis of Spirit Master positioning was discussed by everyone and determined to be worth a reward of 100,000 gold coins.

In addition, Bibi Dong, considering that Tang San was a commoner and couldn't afford a storage soul tool, also gave him a storage soul tool in the form of a wristband, adorned with three pale blue gems.

Each gem had five cubic meters of space, totaling fifteen cubic meters.

According to the basic market price of storage soul tools, one cubic meter costs 10,000 gold coins, so this storage wristband was worth at least 150,000 gold coins.

Considering it was a wristband with certain protective functions, its price would only be higher.

However, Bibi Dong didn't care, as this theory, if published, would cause a huge stir in the Spirit Master's world.

Nevertheless, this theory could not be published immediately; it had to wait until after this year's All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament.

The analysis in the theory needed to be experimented with by Spirit Hall first.

In reality, even without experimentation, Bibi Dong had already envisioned Spirit Hall applying this theory to Spirit Master positioning, leading to more rational team compositions and greatly enhanced combat effectiveness.

If possible, she wouldn't want to disclose this theory at all.

But others on the continent weren't fools; they could observe the Spirit Hall Team's personnel arrangements through the Spirit Master Tournament and make changes accordingly.

Given this, it was better to be generous and release it after this year's Spirit Master Tournament, demonstrating Spirit Hall's sincerity and attracting more Spirit Masters to join Spirit Hall.

However, Spirit Hall also needed to recruit talented individuals and families who were previously overlooked; as long as they were one step ahead of the Empires, great families, and Sects, Spirit Hall would have a huge advantage!

...

In Nuoding City, Tang San didn't know what arrangements Bibi Dong had made for his theory.

Instead, he went to Ma Xiunuo to test his spirit power.

“Twenty-second level!”

Ma Xiunuo immediately knew that Tang San had once again absorbed a spirit ring beyond his level.

However, compared to the seven-level increase in spirit power after obtaining his first spirit ring, this time it only increased by two levels, which made him feel much more normal.

“Xiao Tang, which Spirit Beast did you choose for your second spirit ring? How many years old was it?”

Tang San didn't hide it and released his spirit ring; that touch of purple made Ma Xiunuo's mouth drop open: “Thousand... thousand-year spirit ring! A thousand-year second spirit ring, how is that possible?!”

Regarding Ma Xiunuo's excitement, Tang San motioned for him to calm down, saying, "Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, I know you're excited, but please don't be so agitated yet."

Let me explain slowly.

I've recently been researching the optimal spirit ring combinations from ancient times to the present, and I discovered that the age limit a person can withstand for a spirit ring is closely related to their physical quality, spirit power quality, mental force, and compatibility with their Spirit.

I used myself as an experiment to confirm this."

After Ma Xiunuo calmed down, he remained silent for a while before saying, "You're being too risky."

What if you failed?

Also, I was wondering why you took so long to hunt a Spirit Beast this time; it turns out you didn't go to Notting Forest at all."

Tang San said, "I went to Barak Forest; only there can you find thousand-year Wood Spirit Mushrooms."

"Phew~ Thankfully it was Barak Forest."

If you had gone to Star Dou Great Forest, I probably wouldn't have seen you again."

Ma Xiunuo let out a sigh of relief, then scrutinized Tang San, "But with your current strength, you can probably venture into the outer reaches of Star Dou Great Forest now."

I really don't know what to say... your talent is excessively extraordinary."

"Hehe, I'm still far from that."

Tang San chuckled twice, then told Ma Xiunuo about the effects of his second Spirit Ability, but he didn't mention how it manifested.

“Positive and negative buffs? That truly is a terrifying Spirit Ability.

Strengthening allies and weakening enemies.

Compared to you, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda Spirit is practically thrown into a ditch by your Blue Silver Grass.”

Ma Xiunuo sighed, “Alright, you go busy yourself.

I will submit your information along with the theory you research next time.”

“Thank you, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo.

However, speaking of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda, I met people from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School after my Spirit hunt ended.”

Tang San decided to cause trouble for Mu Tian.

He wasn't generous enough to let go of someone who inexplicably sought trouble with him!

“You met people from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School? They forced you to join the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, didn't they?”

Ma Xiunuo broke out in a cold sweat, “You didn't join, did you?”

“No, I refused and ran away.”

Tang San said, “They were probably hunting for the daughter of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's Sect Master.

But there was also a boy around my age named Mu Tian.

His Spirit is an Earth Fire Lizard, a detached Beast Spirit.

His spirit power has already reached level fifteen or above, and his detached Beast Spirit's combat power is extremely strong, almost comparable to a Spirit Elder.

Moreover, as long as that Beast Spirit isn't defeated, no attack can harm Mu Tian.”

“Comparable to a Spirit Elder! And the main body has absolute defense when the Beast Spirit isn't defeated?!”

Ma Xiunuo realized the seriousness of the problem.

The relationship between Spirit Hall and the other Sects on the continent was not harmonious.

The emergence of such a genius in the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School would certainly warrant close attention.

“Xiao Tang, this information of yours is very important.”

Ma Xiunuo understood that Tang San said this because he had been annoyed by Mu Tian, but Spirit Hall indeed did not want Sects like the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School to grow stronger.

Tang San's information could be said to have thoroughly uncovered the hidden genius of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School for Spirit Hall.

“No, I just don't like him, that's all.

He saw me as a commoner and ordered me around, not knowing how to write the word ‘respect’ at all.”

Tang San sighed, “So, after learning about the friction between Spirit Hall and the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, I hoped that the higher-ups of Spirit Hall could cause him some trouble.”

“You, you're just too honest; you don't need to tell me all this, Grandpa.”

Ma Xiunuo laughed, but a warmth also welled up in his heart, which meant Tang San trusted him.

So he gave him some advice, “In the future, when you encounter those nobles and Sect disciples, try to stay away and don't interact with them.

They might appear friendly on the surface, but deep down, they look down on us commoner Spirit Masters.

Even if they show you a kind attitude, it's only because they see your value and want you to join them, to work for them for life, and never be allowed to leave.”

“I know.”

Tang San nodded vigorously, and he also knew that Spirit Hall treated commoner Spirit Masters similarly, but it was more lenient compared to those Sects and great families.

Spirit Hall could even secure gold coin subsidies for commoner Spirit Masters' early cultivation expenses from the Two Great Empires.

This alone was hundreds, even thousands of times better than those great Sects and great families.

Moreover, Spirit Hall members, upon reaching a certain age, could apply for retirement if they no longer wished to continue, and Spirit Hall would provide a certain gold coin subsidy to these retired individuals who left Spirit Hall each month.

In a fantasy World with extraordinary power, all forces, whether good or bad, are relative.

Their essence is actually the same—it's all about forming factions, just that some methods are gentle and some are forceful.

However, for now, Tang San still had a very good impression of Spirit Hall, as long as Bibi Dong wasn't truly insane...

...

Three days later, Tang San received the theoretical reward sent from Spirit City: 100,000 gold coins, plus a storage wristband with fifteen cubic meters of space.

“100,000 gold coins and a fifteen-cubic-meter storage wristband.

Spirit Hall is quite generous, after all.”

50: Analysis of the soul master's self-positioning

With the end of March, this year's All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament has also concluded, with Spirit Hall once again claiming the championship.

However, unlike previous times when Spirit Hall dominated with one or two Spirit Kings, this time the Spirit Hall Team, the champions, did not have a single Spirit King; they were all Spirit Ancestors who won by relying on teamwork.

For example, in their match against the Sacred Dragon Sect, who made it to the finals this year, the Spirit Hall Team replaced all their members with substitutes possessing flying abilities, exhausting the spirit power of the Sacred Dragon Sect's disciples.

Although it was somewhat underhanded, it was very effective.

After all, the Spirit of the Sacred Dragon Sect was the White Armored Earth Dragon, whose defense was second only to the Elephant Armored Academy, but it could not fly at all.

Furthermore, within the Spirit Hall Team, there was a Spirit Master whose Spirit Ability was released in the form of a mist, similar to a hallucinogen... This made it impossible for the Sacred Dragon Sect's disciples to resist it head-on.

In the Spirit Master Tournament, no abilities other than Spirit could be used, and drugs were strictly prohibited.

Among the Sacred Dragon Sect Team, not a single person's Spirit Ability could dispel the effects of this mist.

Thus, in this final, the Sacred Dragon Sect lost very vexingly, yet they could not fault the other side. After all, who told the Spirit Masters of the Spirit Hall Team that they all had flying skills, and some even had Spirit with mind-altering Spirit Ability?

This was actually a drawback of having a singular Spirit; as long as a weakness was found, targeted countermeasures could be implemented.

It's just a pity that in the past, Spirit Masters in the Spirit Master's world seemed to prefer head-on confrontations, showcasing their strength, and never considered that switching to a Spirit Master with a different ability could achieve unexpected results within the rules.

And when the Sects and families on the continent began to analyze Spirit Hall's tactics, Spirit Hall directly published Tang San's theory, baffling all the major Sects who were still researching Spirit Hall's tactics.

They were still trying every means to research, and Spirit Hall just released it directly. What trick were they playing?

But despite their doubts, these people still purchased a copy of the Wuhun News and found that this issue of the Wuhun News was much thicker than usual, and various miscellaneous articles were temporarily suspended, with the space used for the content of the "analysis of the self-positioning of soul masters" theory.

attack system, agility-attack system, defense system, support system, control system, Healing System, food system. The author of this theory provided a more detailed classification of these seven types of Spirit Masters.

attack system was mainly divided into melee crowd control attack and ranged output attack; agility-attack system was mainly divided into assassination interference and full-field reconnaissance; defense was divided into physical defense and energy defense; control was divided into indirect control and direct control.

As for the remaining support system, Healing System, and food system, the author directly combined these three into the support system, feeling that forcibly dividing them into two systems based on whether the Spirit could heal or be eaten was overly complex, as weren't the abilities of Spirit Masters in these two systems all supportive?

If a food system Spirit Master's Spirit Ability could be used for healing, then was he considered a food system or a Healing System?

In reality, such questions had been raised before, but no one paid attention, and now, someone organized and summarized them, and it was recognized by Spirit Hall and released across the entire continent.

It could be said that the author of this theory: Tang San, became famous throughout the continent.

However, Spirit Hall only indicated an author's name and did not include a portrait, nor did they clarify the author's age, causing the major powers to be unclear about who this Tang San was.

But according to their respective internal discussions, this Tang San must be a theoretical Grandmaster who has been immersed in Spirit research for many years, and his age must be over fifty.

"Bone Douluo, who do you think this Tang San is?"

Inside the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, Ning Fengzhi placed the Wuhun News in his hand on the table, "The analysis is so precise, allowing most Spirit Masters to more accurately determine what type of Spirit Master they are based on the characteristics of their Spirit and the effects of their Spirit Ability, and what role they can play in team battles. It can be said that it has solved the problem of many commoner Spirit Masters being unclear about their own positioning, and it also points out what kind of spirit ring they should choose... The future All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament will truly be a fierce competition, with everyone showcasing their unique abilities."

Bone Douluo picked up the newspaper, glanced at it a few times, and then put it down. He was not interested in these dense texts but still commented, "This person is at least more capable than that Grandmaster, and he has marked a large number of cases, and he is also very honest, not attributing all the so-called theories to himself. He even said that he is just a lucky person standing on the shoulders of his predecessors, a summarizer."

Sword Douluo picked up the newspaper, read it, and nodded frequently, "Indeed, this Tang San is at least a humble person, and very meticulous. His descriptions of various cases are also extremely objective, and even for his own conjectures, he has marked 'unverified, proceed with caution' to prevent people from blindly following."

"Dad, what are you looking at?" Ning Rongrong returned from hunting for a spirit ring, ran into the living room, and jumped onto Ning Fengzhi's lap, her gaze, however, darting towards the newspaper in Sword Douluo's hand.

"Rongrong is back." Ning Fengzhi stroked her head and said with a smile, "This is your first time hunting for a spirit ring without your father and your two grandfathers accompanying you. Did you encounter any danger?"

Originally, Ning Fengzhi had planned to accompany Ning Rongrong to hunt for a spirit ring, but at that time, an uninvited guest arrived at the Clear Sky Sect: Clear Sky Douluo Tang Hao.

He came to question whether anyone from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School had stolen his belongings.

To avoid a potential battle that could lead to the destruction of Sect buildings and injury to Sect disciples, he sent Ning Rongrong and other talented Sect disciples away. Ning Rongrong had just cultivated to level ten, so he arranged for a Spirit Saint and twenty-nine Spirit Ancestors to help her hunt for a spirit ring, and also had Mu Tian accompany them to foster a closer relationship between the two.

Unfortunately, Rongrong had no interest in Mu Tian.

However, fortunately, Clear Sky Douluo was reasonable and left after not finding the lost item...

At this moment, Mu Tian also walked into the living room and respectfully bowed to Ning Fengzhi, Sword Douluo, and Ghost Douluo.

"Mu Tian, who injured you?" Bone Douluo's Spirit was the Bone Dragon, and Mu Tian's Spirit was the "Earth Fire Lizard," which had similarities, so Mu Tian was taken as his disciple.

But now, his disciple was pale, and his spirit power was somewhat chaotic.

Who was so bold as to dare offend their Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School?

"Grandpa Bone, he was looking for trouble and challenged someone, and lost." Ning Rongrong didn't wait for Mu Tian to speak and interjected first, "And he was defeated by a handsome young man."

Ning Fengzhi was curious, "Oh? Who is that handsome young man? Did Rongrong invite him to visit the Sect?"

"Rongrong invited him, but, hmph! Because he was born a commoner, Mu Tian lost and was very unconvinced, even speaking ill of him and saying he wanted to kill him." Ning Rongrong finished speaking and roughly recounted the events, but through her description, it was mostly praise for Tang San and disgust for Mu Tian.

Bone Douluo's expression was strange, and he coughed, looking at Mu Tian, "So what if you lost? What's the big deal? Next time you meet him, just win it back. You need to be more open-minded."

"I..." Mu Tian wanted to explain something, to say that Tang San was the son of Clear Sky Douluo, but considering the relationship between the Upper Three Sects, if he said it, Ning Fengzhi might invest in him early, and he absolutely did not want Tang San to receive funding from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

From his perspective at this moment, due to the butterfly effect caused by his transmigration, Tang San did not become Yu Xiaogang's disciple, his talent was even more terrifying, and his outwardly hypocritical demeanor was even more sickening. If he also obtained a large amount of gold coin by selling Hidden Weapons, wouldn't he be able to purchase even more cultivation resources?

Perhaps he would truly be suppressed by him before becoming a Titled Douluo.

Therefore, he absolutely could not say it!

51: Reactions from various companies (Part 1)

"Sect Master, Tang San's spirit power is higher than mine, and I've always had smooth sailing in the Sect, so after one defeat, my mentality became a bit unbalanced," Mu Tian took a deep breath, explaining why he lost his composure back then.

"Hmph, hypocrite," Ning Rongrong cursed at Mu Tian, just as Mu Tian had cursed Tang San for being a hypocrite.

Ning Fengzhi ignored Ning Rongrong's chattering and exchanged glances with Bone Douluo, then asked Ning Rongrong, "Rongrong, the child your age you met is named Tang San."

"Yes, he's called Tang San, and he's about the same age as me and that guy Mu Tian. His Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, but he's already a Spirit Grandmaster, and his second spirit ring is a thousand-year level," Ning Rongrong showed admiration, then narrowed her eyes at Mu Tian, "He's much more amazing than a certain narrow-minded fellow."

"A thousand years? Rongrong, did you see it wrong?" Bone Douluo was the first to disbelieve. How could anyone absorb a thousand-year spirit ring for their second spirit ring?

"Grandpa Bone, I'm not lying," Ning Rongrong pouted, a little angry at Bone Douluo's distrust. "I'm not colorblind; I can tell the difference between purple and yellow, can't I? Besides, Mu Tian saw it too, everyone who went with me saw it."

Ning Fengzhi, Sword Douluo, and Bone Douluo's gazes turned to Mu Tian.

"Yes, that person's second spirit ring was indeed a thousand-year one," Mu Tian could only bite the bullet and answer truthfully.

"Mu Tian, you were indeed a bit agitated back then," Bone Douluo snorted coldly. "Go down and heal your injuries, and while you're at it, copy the Sect's rules a hundred times."

"Teacher, I—"

"Hmm?"

Bone Douluo's eyes narrowed, scaring Mu Tian into saying nothing. He respectfully affirmed, then quickly retreated.

Sword Douluo shook his head and said, "This kid Mu Tian has an active mind, but he's too unrealistic and unwilling to learn. Relying on his innate full spirit power and that mutated Earth Fire Lizard Spirit, he acts a bit overbearing. Many disciples in the Sect have opinions about him. Old Bone, don't just focus on teaching him how to cultivate his Spirit and improve his spirit power; how he conducts himself is also very important. He also came from a small village, a commoner by birth, yet he looks down on other commoners who are more outstanding than him. This attitude is very problematic."

"I know, didn't I just tell him to copy the Sect rules?" Bone Douluo said helplessly. "His Spirit is definitely not as simple as an Earth Fire Lizard; otherwise, it would be suppressed by my Bone Dragon. But in reality, it seems my Bone Dragon Spirit is suppressed, as if it fears his Spirit. Even when he doesn't release his Spirit, it's the same—however, when I saw him just now, my Spirit didn't have that usual trembling feeling, perhaps because he was injured."

Ning Fengzhi, however, didn't take it to heart. He then told Ning Rongrong to go play and asked the two, "Do you think the Tang San that Rongrong met could be the Tang San who wrote this theory?"

Sword Douluo said, "That shouldn't be possible, right? The two can't be the same person. Spirit Master cultivation takes time. If he's truly a commoner, where would he get the time to research the classification of Spirit Masters?"

Bone Douluo said, "I agree with Old Sword's statement."

Ning Fengzhi also thought so; it was just a whim to connect the two. He sighed, "It's a pity Rongrong didn't ask how that child absorbed a thousand-year level spirit ring for his second, nor did she ask where that child lived. The Heaven Dou Empire is vast, and there are many small cities. It's impossible to find him through just a name unless he's willing to reveal his second spirit ring."

Sword Douluo thought for a while and suggested, "Perhaps we can investigate the Spirit Fighting Arenas in various large cities. Someone who can defeat Mu Tian must be a battle Spirit Master, and if he wants to become famous, he'll definitely go to a Spirit fight."

"Makes sense."

Ning Fengzhi nodded. "However, for us, there's still one more thing to do, and that's to send invitations to the four single-attribute affiliated clans of the former Clear Sky Sect. According to this theory, these four clans each have their own abilities: the Strength Clan is known for its power, and many clan members are excellent blacksmiths; the Defense Clan has astonishing defensive capabilities; the Breaking Clan's Spirit is the Soul Breaking Spear, a weapon of war; and the Speed Clan, with its unparalleled speed, makes the best scouts."

At this point, Ning Fengzhi's gaze became solemn.

"I didn't realize it before, but enlightened by this theory, I now understand the ambition of the original Clear Sky Sect, or more precisely, the Clear Sky Sect when that super Douluo Tang Chen was still alive: the Strength Clan could forge weapons and provide logistical support; the Defense Clan was skilled in construction and had strong defenses, capable of being shock troops in war; and the Breaking Clan, wasn't their Spirit a weapon of war?"

"Spear-type Spirits are most suitable for use on the battlefield."

"And the Speed Clan, with speed unmatched in the world, aren't they the best scouts?"

Bone Douluo immediately shivered, realizing a possibility: "Could it be that the Clear Sky Sect initially gathered members of these four clans to conquer the world?"

"Right, before the Clear Sky Sect sealed itself off, it supported the Star Luo Empire. And if the Star Luo Empire hadn't been constrained by Spirit Hall, it would have already marched on the Heaven Dou Empire and launched a war."

"Whether it is or not, it's not important now," Ning Fengzhi said faintly, looking at the Wuhun News in his hand. "At least, no one in the current Clear Sky Sect can think of these things, they've even abandoned them."

"That's right, we can gather these four clans."

Bone Douluo was pleasantly surprised. "With our financial resources, we can definitely ensure that these four clans don't have to live so hard. Moreover, the Clear Sky Sect abandoned them, practically using them to vent Spirit Hall's anger, so they must have considerable resentment towards the Clear Sky Sect."

"If we go to gather them, will they join?" Sword Douluo was not so optimistic. "Spirit Hall isn't stupid; they can also realize the role of the four clans. They've definitely extended an olive branch to the four clans first. Even if there's enmity between them, Spirit Hall can completely blame the Clear Sky Sect for the wrongdoings, and even hand over the Spirit Hall members who killed the four clan members to the four clans for punishment, especially since the value of the four clans has greatly increased now."

"We have to try," Ning Fengzhi said. "At least, they have a blood feud with Spirit Hall, and the older generation is very stubborn. They will trust us, who are also one of the Upper Three Sects, more."

"The Clear Sky Sect is sealed off. Even if they get this Wuhun News, it's unlikely they'll send anyone out. Spirit Hall must be watching them, we just need to be careful about Tang Yuehua." Sword Douluo nodded and began his own analysis. "Secondly, there's the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, but they've always revered the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon bloodline and only believe their own bloodline is the strongest, so they're unlikely to get involved. But we still need to consider it; we can't conflict with them."

Meanwhile.

Within the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, the Sect Master Yu Yuanzhen, after seeing this theory, was pensive but didn't pay much attention to it. After all, his Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan relied on the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Spirit to dominate one side, and it would be difficult to change the entire clan's system all at once—Yu Yuanzhen felt that perhaps Jade Tianheng could try to change it in the future, as he had joined the Tian Dou Royal Academy and should be able to experience a different perspective from the clan.

However, looking at the newspaper again, Yu Yuanzhen became inexplicably angry and cursed, "If my good-for-nothing son had this kind of foundation, how could he be ridiculed?"

52: Reactions from various companies (Part 2)

The clan grounds of the Speed Clan.

Clan Leader Bai He looked at the Wuhun News in his hand, overjoyed to the point of tears: "It seems the hard times for our Speed Clan are about to end. With the capabilities of our Speed Clan, the Clear Sky Sect will surely realize our value and invite us back. When that happens, I'll finally be able to hold my head high."

Although Bai He resented the Clear Sky Sect for abandoning their Speed Clan, if they could return to the Clear Sky Sect, he would do so without a second thought, absolutely returning to the Clear Sky Sect's embrace.

There was no other reason than the fact that he was related to the Clear Sky Sect's former Sect Master; his own Elder sister was the wife of the former Clear Sky Sect Sect Master.

He believed that once the Clear Sky Sect realized the importance of the Speed Clan, they would definitely take them back.

Even though the Clear Sky Sect was currently sealed off, it was only publicly declared that they would not be active outside and would not participate in continental disputes. They could still go out to procure supplies, and when they reached a bottleneck in cultivation, they could also go out to hunt Spirit Beasts.

Spirit Hall would not interfere with any of this; they had to be given some breathing room, otherwise, those Elders of the Clear Sky Sect would definitely fight to the death.

Therefore, Bai He was not worried that the people of the Clear Sky Sect would not get this Wuhun News. Even if the people of the Clear Sky Sect who went out to procure supplies and hunt Spirit Beasts did not pay attention to outside information, Tang Yuehua had opened a Moon Pavilion in Heaven Dou City. She would definitely transmit this Wuhun News to the Clear Sky Sect.

It wouldn't be long before they sent someone to find him.

Bai He felt that he would definitely agree, after all, their clan had been living a very hard life, and they often needed to receive assistance from the other three clans, which made them feel quite uncomfortable.

If they returned to the Clear Sky Sect, even if they had to passively follow along with the sealing of the Sect, with his familial relationship to the former Sect Master, they should be able to live a better life. Moreover, they were natural scouts and did not need to be like the Clear Sky Sect, unable to move around extensively in the outside world. They could completely bring intelligence from various forces to Clear Sky.

They were useful!

However, there is always a gap between ideas and reality.

Half a month passed, and not even a shadow of anyone from the Clear Sky Sect was seen. Instead, people from Spirit Hall, Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon, and the Lower Four Sects frequently came to offer condolences, and their attitudes were excellent.

Among them, the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan only came once, while the other Sects and Spirit Hall came every two or three days, often bringing gifts, which made him feel a bit embarrassed.

Especially Spirit Hall, they even sent over the Spirit Hall personnel who had killed the most members of their Speed Clan, saying that he could deal with them as he pleased, and clarified that those past events had nothing to do with the current Supreme Pontiff of Spirit Hall, but were done by the subordinates of the previous Supreme Pontiff.

Bai He actually knew this point, but he still harbored resentment. However, since Spirit Hall was so sincere, he couldn't refuse to give them face. Furthermore, the younger generation had not experienced what their older generation had, and he also needed to secure a retreat for the entire clan.

"Damned Clear Sky Sect, half a month has passed, they must have received the Wuhun News, yet they haven't come. Have they really had their backbone shattered?"

Bai He sighed, realizing that the Clear Sky Sect might be beyond saving. If he waited any longer, other forces might become impatient. After all, this Wuhun News was a double-edged sword; it highlighted the advantages of their Speed Clan, but also made other Sects realize their dangerousness.

If they couldn't be subdued, they would definitely try to eliminate them to prevent them from defecting to others. The longer the delay, the more dangerous their Speed Clan would become.

Compared to the other three clans, the reconnaissance role their Speed Clan could play in war was the most crucial.

Finally, Bai He, who could not wait for the Clear Sky Sect to arrive, gathered everyone in the clan, explained the seriousness of the situation, and had everyone vote on which force to choose.

The final result was the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

The Lower Four Sects did not have Titled Douluo. Even though the White Tiger Sect was backed by the Star Luo Empire's imperial family, they were openly two separate entities and could not be confused.

As for Spirit Hall, apart from the new generation of juniors, none of the older people chose them. Even though Spirit Hall had sent over the people who had killed their members, that hatred had not been forgotten, and they could not accept it for a while.

Among the Upper Three Sects, the Clear Sky Sect had not even sent anyone, losing the trust of all members of the Speed Clan; the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan only came once, and the pride of this clan was no less than that of the Clear Sky Sect. If they went there, they might not receive much important use.

So, there was only one choice: the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

Whether the Sect Master of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School was an old fox or not, at least on the surface, he was flawless and a good old man. Just this point alone was enough to show the sincerity of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

Moreover, the two Titled Douluo of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School were both outsiders, and their Spirits were not the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda. Bai He and the members of the Speed Clan believed that they would certainly be treated well...

The Strength Clan and the Defense Clan scoffed at the Wuhun News's theories. Furthermore, these two clans suffered the least damage in that incident, and their clan grounds were located within large cities, so they were not worried about various forces secretly targeting them. Therefore, they continued to live their own lives.

The Breaking Clan was hesitant, but ultimately chose to remain independent. After all, although their Soul Breaking Spear could be of great use on the battlefield, there were other clans with Tool Spirits similar to theirs, so they would not face too much threat.

Inside the Clear Sky Sect.

Tang Yuehua did indeed send the Wuhun News to the Sect, hoping that they would pay attention to the four clans.

Unfortunately, the Elders of the Clear Sky Sect did not take it seriously, thinking that these things were merely superficial. Moreover, with the Clear Sky Sect's pride, how could they admit that their act of kicking out the four clans was wrong?

The Clear Sky Sect could not be wrong!

Therefore, this theory, in the eyes of the Clear Sky Sect's Elders, was Spirit Hall's mockery of the Clear Sky Sect, and the author's name was Tang San, with the surname Tang.

In the eyes of these proud and somewhat prejudiced people, the mockery within it was even stronger.

It was practically slapping them in the face with this newspaper!

The current Sect Master of the Clear Sky Sect, Tang Xiao, did find this theory to have unique insights, but he also felt that it was Spirit Hall's mockery of their Clear Sky Sect.

There was nothing he could do. Although he was more open-minded than the other Elders, he had, after all, grown up in the Clear Sky Sect, an environment that strived to cultivate a proud character in its disciples, so he couldn't avoid it...

Heaven Dou Empire, Heaven Dou City.

Inside the Moon Pavilion, Tang Yuehua paused her teaching for a day and secretly met with a man in a black robe.

"Brother Hao, you finally came to see me?"

Looking at Tang Hao's aged face, Tang Yuehua hugged him, tears flowing from her eyes, "How did you become like this? Where did the Clear Sky Douluo of yesteryear go?"

"Ah Yin died, and my heart died too." Tang Hao showed no reaction. After Tang Yuehua released him, he slowly sat down and stated his purpose, "Someone stole the Blue Silver Emperor seedling left by Ah Yin. I hope you can help me keep an eye out for any rising stars recently, with strength at least at the Spirit Emperor level."

In Tang Hao's mind, only Spirit Masters above the Spirit Emperor level could leap to that cave entrance with their strength. He had never considered that ordinary people could also reach that place by relying on tools like ropes...

Tang Yuehua sighed and said, "Okay, I'll help you, but are you going to continue like this? What about your son?"

"I've severed my father-son relationship with him."

"What?" Tang Yuehua's hand trembled as she poured tea, and she quickly put down the teacup. "How could you be so heartless? By my reckoning, he's only seven, right?"

"His Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, inheriting from Ah Yin. The Sect will not recognize anyone who doesn't have the Clear Sky Hammer, or a mutated Clear Sky Hammer, as a true member of the Sect." Tang Hao stated a fact, "He is currently attending a junior academy in a small city. For six years, I don't need to worry; I can look for Ah Yin. After six years, if he can't graduate smoothly, he will return to the small village where I once lived in seclusion. The storms of the Spirit Master's world won't reach there."

Tang Yuehua opened her mouth, wanting to say something, but ultimately nothing came out. Finally, she let out a sigh: "What a fated child. What's his name? You don't need to tell me his exact whereabouts. Once I know his name, I'll find him myself. As his aunt, I should at least go visit him."

"Tang San," Tang Hao said.

"Tang San?" Tang Yuehua was startled. She took out the Wuhun News, pointed to the signature below the line "analysis of the self-positioning of soul masters," and asked, "It couldn't be the same person as the author of this theory, could it?"

Tang Hao picked up the newspaper, looked at the content, and recalled seeing Tang San secretly analyze which Spirit Beast Su Yuntao should choose for his second spirit ring. He found that the writing style was not much different from what Tang San had said back then.

"It shouldn't be possible. I must have guessed wrong. It's probably a namesake. Little San is only seven years old..."

"It's him."

Tang Hao's two words interrupted Tang Yuehua's smile. "This is indeed my son's way of speaking. Written as an article, I also recognize it. He has aspired to become a Spirit Master since he was a child. Even before awakening his Spirit, he communicated with the local Spirit Master of Spirit Hall and borrowed various books for self-study and research."

Tang Yuehua exclaimed, "Little San is so talented? This theory of his has been recognized by most Spirit Masters on the continent!"

"So what? His Spirit isn't the Clear Sky Hammer." Tang Hao casually tossed the Wuhun News onto the table, feeling that without the Clear Sky Hammer, no matter how Tang San cultivated, it would be nothing special. He could only become a Martial Soul Theory Master in the future.

Since he had severed his father-son relationship with him, no one would associate him with his father, Tang Hao, in the future, so he could live a peaceful life.

"But he has great insight. This theory can allow Spirit Masters to determine their own positioning based on their Spirit characteristics and Spirit Ability types, and even enable various Sects to recruit corresponding talents with direction." Tang Yuehua was probably the only one in the Clear Sky Sect who could see Tang San's value. "Perhaps he can lead the Clear Sky Sect to become powerful again."

Tang Hao shook his head: "Forget it. What's the use of these things?"

In his eyes, these were all empty, far inferior to an excellent and practical Clear Sky Hammer Spirit.

Seeing Tang Hao growing a bit impatient, Tang Yuehua closed her mouth and said, "I can't persuade you, but Little San has clearly fallen into the eyes of Spirit Hall."

"That doesn't matter. His Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, unrelated to the Clear Sky Sect," Tang Hao said indifferently. "It's the people around him who need attention..."

Tang Hao thought of the Ten-thousand year soul beast that had taken human form, which he had seen before leaving Nuoding City, and felt that it was a problem. However, if he could live in seclusion with Little San in Saint Spirit Village, it wouldn't be bad.

53: Cheap and affordable whale glue

Tang San wasn't bothered by the fact that he had become famous.

Although the Wuhun News was already widespread, besides Ma Xiunuo, Su Yuntao, Sisi, Wang Sheng, and Xiao Wu, only the principal, Su Director, Mo Hen, and others at Notting Academy knew that he was that Tang San.

As for others, even if they stood in front of him, they wouldn't believe he was the author who wrote "analysis of the self-positioning of soul masters"; they would just assume he was a child with the same name.

How many people on Douluo Continent were named Tang San?

Tang San wasn't sure, but the number definitely exceeded a thousand; the probability of him being found was possible, but not high.

As for whether Tang Hao would find him, Tang San stated that a guy like Tang Hammer, who was strong-limbed and simple-minded, would only believe in the Clear Sky Hammer's awesomeness and disregard any theories he researched—the pride cultivated by the Clear Sky Sect blinded Tang Hao's vision, even though Tang Hao was currently in a state of "melancholy"...

"Regarding the spirit ring year limit that a Spirit Master can withstand, from the First spirit ring to the Second spirit ring, it's already written in great detail, and the effect of whale jelly is also included, which should allow me to openly use my Second Spirit Skill in the future." Tang San tidied up the theories he had written; they were a full centimeter thick, enough to publish a book, rather than just be published in the Wuhun News.

That was obviously not appropriate.

Tang San also realized this was a problem and decided to write a more concise theoretical report for publication in the Wuhun News, while the rest would be used to publish a book... No, two books.

In the future, every time he advanced a major rank, he could write a book about how a Spirit Master at that stage should determine how many years their spirit ring could withstand and how to enable themselves to absorb higher-year spirit rings.

"In that case, regarding the best spirit ring combination, I can only mention the evolution of the best spirit rings from ancient times to the present, clarifying that the year limit for human Spirit Masters to absorb spirit rings has actually been increasing, and then point out the effects of thousand-year whale jelly and ten thousand year whale jelly."

Thinking of this, Tang San felt that he should really buy some whale jelly to study it in detail, to make his theories more convincing, rather than relying on the settings of novels he read in his previous life.

Researchers must be down-to-earth!

So, Tang San went to a pharmacy in Nuoding City and asked the shopkeeper if he had whale jelly for sale.

The pharmacy shopkeeper was a kind old man who was a bit confused to see a child asking for whale jelly: "Little friend, you want to buy whale jelly? For your adult at home?"

"Yes." Tang San didn't want to explain too much, so he went along with the shopkeeper's misunderstanding, saying, "I heard this stuff can temporarily increase a person's strength."

"Hmm~ That seems to be not entirely wrong." The shopkeeper's expression was strange, but thinking that the person in front of him was a child, he stopped there and didn't talk nonsense, instead taking out two boxes of whale jelly and saying, "I have ordinary whale jelly here, which is produced by ordinary whales, and then there's the whale jelly from a thousand-year Spirit Beast."

"You have thousand-year level whale jelly?" Tang San was surprised. He didn't expect a small shop in Nuoding City to have thousand-year level whale jelly, though the piece taken out was a bit small, only the size of his fist.

"Yes, but not much. Currently, there's only this one piece in the pharmacy. After all, whales live in the deep sea, and even for those Spirit Masters who want to hunt them, it's very difficult," the shopkeeper explained. "I guess there isn't much thousand-year whale jelly on the entire continent, but most of it can't be sold. However, small pharmacies like mine have some, more or less."

"Why?" Tang San wondered, "Isn't whale jelly an aphrodisiac? Don't nobles covet it?"

"Uh... so you know." The shopkeeper was a bit speechless but still explained, "The effect of thousand-year whale jelly is quite strong. If the person taking it is not a Spirit Master, they will be excited to death. And for Spirit Masters... to put it bluntly, unless they genuinely have a problem in that area, no Spirit Master would buy this kind of thing; they'd be laughed at by other Spirit Masters."

"I see." Tang San nodded and then asked, "Do you have ten thousand year level whale jelly here?"

The shopkeeper's eyes instantly became wary, and he asked, "Where did you hear that?"

"There really is!" Tang San hadn't expected that such a small pharmacy in Nuoding City actually had ten thousand year whale jelly. Could it be that his previous guess was wrong, and there was still a lot of ten thousand year level whale jelly on the continent in this era?

"There is, indeed, but don't think that ten thousand year level whale jelly is common on the continent. I dare say, counting them piece by piece, without comparing their sizes, the number definitely doesn't exceed the fingers and toes of both hands and feet, and basically, they are all bought by some nobles for collection," the shopkeeper said cautiously. "At ten thousand years, everything on a Spirit Beast is a treasure. Even if ten thousand year level whale jelly can still only be an aphrodisiac, it also has collection value. It's just that no one dares to eat it, and ten thousand year level whale jelly is as hard as ore; some sculptors buy it for practice."

"Shopkeeper, do you sell your ten thousand year whale jelly?" Tang San asked.

"No, I'm going to keep it as a family heirloom..."

"What about the price of the whale jelly?"

"For the ordinary kind, one silver coin for one jin; for the thousand-year level, one gold coin for half a liang."

"Then how did you acquire the ten thousand year whale jelly?"

"When I was young, I saved a Spirit Master. He didn't have money at the time, so he gave me that head-sized ten thousand year whale jelly." The shopkeeper saw that Tang San really wanted it, gritted his teeth, and said, "My son is getting married soon, but he needs a thousand gold coins for the bride price, and my son also wants to move out of here, which means buying a new house in the city. If you can come up with five thousand gold coins, I'll sell it to you."

The ten thousand year whale jelly in this shopkeeper's hand was head-sized?

Tang San was startled, then calmed down and asked, "If I buy it, can you give me some thousand-year whale jelly?"

"At most, I can give you this thousand-year piece in front of you, plus ten jin of ordinary whale jelly," the shopkeeper said, feeling a bit pained.

"Okay, I agree." Tang San wiped the wrist guard on his left hand and took out a Spirit card.

"Spirit Master..."

The shopkeeper immediately became respectful and hurried to the back room, taking out a box slightly larger than a human head, opening it to reveal the dark, lumpy ten thousand year whale jelly inside.

It was indeed head-sized.

Tang San's mood brightened.

After paying, he put the ten thousand year whale jelly, the fist-sized thousand-year whale jelly, and ten jin of ordinary whale jelly into the gem of his left-hand storage wrist guard, then bid farewell to the shopkeeper and quickly headed towards Spirit Hall.

"What incredible luck! For five thousand gold coins, I bought a head-sized piece of ten thousand year whale jelly, a fist-sized piece of thousand-year whale jelly, and ten jin of ordinary whale jelly."

Upon returning to the study in the backyard of Spirit Hall, Tang San immediately took out all three types of whale jelly and observed them carefully.

Softening the ordinary whale jelly with spirit power, its fishy smell dissipated, and it became soft.

Tang San tore off a piece the size of a fingernail, put it in his mouth, and swallowed it. He immediately felt his whole body warm up, but the strengthening effect on his body was almost negligible.

Perhaps the ordinary whale jelly had no effect on him, or perhaps ordinary whale jelly simply had no body-strengthening effect.

Next, he used a small knife to cut off a fingernail-sized piece of the thousand-year level whale jelly, softened it with spirit power. Its brown color faded, turning into an orange-yellow, like honey.

Tang San quickly swallowed it and found it completely different from ordinary whale jelly. It was very smooth going down, but the taste wasn't very good; it had a fishy smell.

After swallowing it, he circulated his spirit power and immediately felt a surge of blood qi rush to his heart, circulating through his body, as if his entire body had heated up.

Tang San immediately circulated the simple blood qi circulation method he had created by studying Wang Sheng's First Soul Skill, "Tiger King's Blood Qi Transformation," to maximize the strengthening of his physique with this energy.

Thirty seconds later, the heat dissipated, and Tang San felt his body strengthen a tiny bit.

"thousand-year whale jelly has an effect on me, but the effect is extremely slight, barely better than nothing." Tang San's gaze turned to the head-sized ten thousand year whale jelly. He cut off a small piece with a knife, and just as he was about to try it, he found that the inside of this head-sized whale jelly was actually other substances... Could he have been scammed by that shopkeeper?

No, whale jelly is basically a solid piece, and that shopkeeper was just an ordinary person; there's no way he could have melted it with spirit power and then attached it to other objects.

Besides, whale jelly, if it's over a thousand years old, cannot be boiled in hot water.

Could it be that...

Thinking of a possibility, Tang San immediately used Mysterious Jade Hand, holding the small knife, and carefully scraped off the hard ten thousand year whale jelly, finally revealing a dark blue, transparent spherical pearl.

"whale pearl! The inner core of a ten thousand year level whale Spirit Beast!" Tang San was incredibly excited. Although he didn't know how long this thing had been stored or how much energy had been lost from within, as the inner core of a ten thousand year Spirit Beast, it must contain extremely vast energy. If he could digest it, it would definitely be of great benefit.

It's just, how should he use it?

The inner core of a Spirit Beast, also known as a Spirit Core, perhaps he could observe it to see if he could also condense a Spirit Core in the future.

For a Spirit Master, the greatest benefit of a Spirit Core is that it allows the Spirit Master's spirit power to recover faster and with higher quality.

In this era, Spirit Cores had not yet appeared, but there should be prototypes, such as Dugu Bo's poison pill.

Tang San strongly suppressed the urge to immediately research this whale pearl, put it into his white jade belt, and then began to study the strengthening effect of ten thousand year whale jelly on the body.

After taking the ten thousand year whale jelly softened with spirit power, Tang San found that his physical quality had improved very significantly; just a small piece increased it by nearly one level.

Subsequently, he continued to take it, and after taking nearly half, he found that his physical quality could no longer improve. He figured it had reached the limit for his current age group.

Gathering the remaining ten thousand year whale jelly fragments, Tang San found that there was only about a fist-sized amount left, and he couldn't help but laugh: "I knew why that shopkeeper was so quick to sell it for five thousand gold coins. It's a ten thousand year level whale jelly, and such a large piece should be worth at least ten thousand. He probably already discovered that there were other things inside this ten thousand year whale jelly and thought it might be worthless, so he felt bad about scamming me."

At this moment, the Nine-Section Emerald, which Tang San used as a hair tie, jumped from the back of Tang San's head onto the desk, pointed its tail at the ten thousand year whale jelly, and then pointed at its mouth.

"Want to eat? Here."

Tang San picked up a fingernail-sized piece of ten thousand year whale jelly and fed it to the Nine-Section Emerald. It swallowed it in one gulp, narrowed its eyes contentedly, and then jumped back to the back of his head, re-tying Tang San's hair into a ponytail.

Tang San didn't mind and continued to research the effects of whale jelly, experimenting with it in various ways to see if there were any other more suitable ways to consume it.

"By the way, it seems like I'm missing hundred-year whale jelly?"

Tang San thought of this question and immediately ran to that pharmacy again. The shopkeeper, upon learning that Tang San wasn't there to return goods, breathed a sigh of relief and replied, "Whales all live in the deep sea. Spirit Masters only hunt for spirit rings when they are at least at the Fourth spirit ring, and they will only choose thousand-year ones. Hundred-year whale jelly is even rarer than ten thousand-year ones."

"So that's the reason." Tang San hadn't expected that the rarity of hundred-year whale jelly was due to demand.

However, it made sense when he thought about it. Whale Spirit Beasts all lived in the deep sea. Even if one's Spirit was a whale, it would be impossible to hunt in the deep sea for the First spirit ring; there were too many unsafe factors.

After thanking the shopkeeper, Tang San spent another three hundred gold coins to buy all the thousand-year whale jelly in the pharmacy before returning to the backyard of Spirit Hall.

At this moment, Xiao Wu was just practicing climbing a tree.

54: Su Yuntao's wedding (Part 1)

“Xiao Wu, come here, I have something delicious for you to eat.”

Tang San waved at Xiao Wu, signaling her to come over.

Xiao Wu walked up to him, rolled her eyes, and said, “I’m not a child… what is it?”

“And you say you’re not a child?”

Tang San smiled, took out a fist-sized piece of thousand-year whale jelly, and handed it over, saying, “This is thousand-year grade whale jelly. Eat it, it can improve your physical fitness.”

Xiao Wu took it, squeezed it, and asked in confusion, “How do I eat this thing? Do I boil it in soup? It feels a bit hard when I pinch it. Or do I just lick it directly?”

“Infuse spirit power, soften it, and then eat it. However, the taste might not be very good, you can add some sugar.” Tang San informed her of the eating method and suggested adding some condiments according to her taste. “I’ve tried it, and personally, brown sugar is the best, followed by white granulated sugar, and finally honey.”

Xiao Wu stared blankly at Tang San for a while, not understanding why he could experiment with three different ways to eat whale jelly.

So, which one should she add?

“Can I add chili?” Xiao Wu asked.

“Yes, do you like spicy food?” Tang San asked.

Xiao Wu shook her head and said, “That’s not it. It’s just that since this thing can increase physical fitness, will mixing it with condiments and eating it really not cause problems?”

“No, I’ve tried it. Besides, most of the salty condiments on the market are mineral salts and won’t affect the whale jelly’s body-strengthening properties,” Tang San said. “After all, to put it simply, whale jelly is just whale fat. It’s just that the whale jelly of whale Spirit Beasts contains a certain energy that can cause slight changes in its microscopic structure under the action of spirit power, but essentially, it’s still a relatively unique fat.”

Xiao Wu nodded, took out a plate from her white jade belt, placed the whale jelly block on it, and then, following Tang San’s instructions, infused spirit power. She found that the thousand-year whale jelly actually softened, and its color changed from brown to orange-yellow, looking crystal clear, no different from honey.

Xiao Wu dipped a little with her finger and put it in her mouth. Her pretty little face immediately twisted, and she stuck out her tongue, saying in disgust, “It tastes so bad! No wonder you said to add sugar, honey, and other condiments.”

Taking out a jar of brown sugar from her white jade belt, Xiao Wu sprinkled some on, dipped a little again, and put it in her mouth. She only felt that the fishy smell was lessened, and then she added a large handful of brown sugar.

After she swallowed all the whale jelly, she felt her body warm up. She immediately concentrated and began to meditate, only waking up an hour later.

“How do you feel?” Tang San had not been idle during this hour either. He was practicing tree climbing skills on the jujube tree, strengthening his control over spirit power. Seeing Xiao Wu wake up, he asked.

Xiao Wu clenched her fists, threw a casual punch, making a “pop” sound, and then jumped, saying, “I feel like my body is stronger than before. If I reached level twenty now, I should be able to withstand a spirit ring of about eight hundred years.”

“Eight hundred years? Not bad.” Tang San took out another fist-sized piece of ten thousand year whale jelly and handed it over, saying, “This is ten thousand year whale jelly. Its effect is better than thousand-year whale jelly, but don’t eat it today. Wait a few days, after all, if you supplement too much, you won’t be able to digest it.”

Xiao Wu accepted it, then began to practice tree climbing with Tang San. However, it seemed that because her body had become stronger, her control actually decreased.

But Xiao Wu quickly adapted, and in a short while, she reached her original level.

Tang San also taught Xiao Wu the spirit power circulation route of Controlling Crane Catching Dragon to strengthen her control over spirit power.

“How could you! You had such a good method, but you didn’t teach it to me before!” Xiao Wu puffed out her cheeks, looking very cute in her angry state.

“We weren’t familiar with each other before,” Tang San said as a matter of course. “And I had to observe you for a while, lest you learn half-heartedly.”

“Anyway, whatever you say makes sense.” Xiao Wu didn’t ask how Controlling Crane Catching Dragon came about. She just turned her head, walked to an open space nearby, and began practicing Controlling Crane Catching Dragon with jujube tree leaves. After a period of time, she indeed found that her control over spirit power had made great progress.

If controlling spirit power before was like gripping an uneven stone with her hand, where a little force would hurt her hand and make her want to throw it away, then after learning Controlling Crane Catching Dragon, the edges of that stone were smoothed, becoming sleek and rounded, making her love it.

After learning it, Xiao Wu's control over spirit power became very strong, almost catching up to Tang San.

This also made Tang San truly understand the talent of a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form: as long as they were willing to use their brains and abandon their former habits as Spirit Beasts, they could truly be called geniuses among geniuses.

Moreover, Tang San's previous conjecture that the strength of innate spirit power represented the affinity between the Spirit and the person could also be confirmed by Ten-thousand year transformed Spirit Beasts, as this type all possessed innate full spirit power.

Of course, Tang San would not be so arbitrary. After all, Ten-thousand year Spirit Beasts possessed a vast cultivation origin, and perhaps they could achieve something similar to Mysterious Heaven Skill.

In the blink of an eye, a month had passed.

Tang San's theory, "analysis of the self-positioning of soul masters", had spread widely across the continent. Many Spirit Masters, based on their Spirit characteristics and Spirit Ability capabilities, clarified what kind of Spirit Master they were and their future cultivation direction. They no longer simply hunted any Spirit Beast that looked similar to their Spirit or had the same attribute when adding a spirit ring.

After all, most commoner Spirit Masters needed to strengthen their own advantages, rather than relying on Spirit Beasts to enhance their bloodline, because commoner Spirit Masters did not have strong protectors before they grew up. All risks in cultivation had to be borne by themselves.

Therefore, even though Tang San mentioned in his theory that the bloodline of Beast Spirit could be enhanced by spirit rings of the same type of Spirit Beast, the vast majority of commoner Spirit Masters would not do so, because they had no choice.

However, in reality, most commoner Spirit Masters didn't care about bloodlines anyway. After all, for them, a powerful Spirit Ability was far more practical than any bloodline enhancement.

Tang San didn't pay much attention to this. Currently, he had changed into new clothes, preparing to take Xiao Wu to Spirit Hall to attend a wedding.

As a member of Spirit Hall, Su Yuntao had always been diligent in his work, so he was allowed to apply to hold his wedding within Spirit Hall. Ma Xiunuo naturally agreed and even offered to officiate.

The two set off from Notting Academy and arrived at Spirit Hall. A floral arch had already been set up at the entrance, and the hall inside was decorated festively, filled with various flowers, tables, and pastries.

Besides the available colleagues from Nuo Ding City Spirit Hall Branch, the guests included nobles of Nuoding City, as well as the dean of Notting Academy, Su Director, Mohen Teacher, and other teachers.

Tang San and Xiao Wu went over to greet Mohen Teacher and the others, then found an empty seat.

After a while, Ma Xiunuo, dressed in formal attire, walked to the center of the hall, cleared his throat, signaled for quiet, and said, "Please welcome the bride and groom!"

"Clap, clap, clap!"

The Spirit Hall members standing on both sides of the seats applauded, and Su Yuntao and Sisi, holding hands, walked together from outside the hall into the hall amidst the warm applause, finally arriving in front of Ma Xiunuo.

55: Su Yuntao's wedding (Part 2)

“Great Angel God above, under divine witness, from today onwards, you two shall become one family.”

Ma Xiunuo’s voice rose, and he first looked at Su Yuntao: “Groom, do you take Miss Sisi to be your wife? Whether in poverty or wealth, health or sickness, do you promise to be devoted wholeheartedly?”

“I do.” Su Yuntao answered without hesitation, gazing at Sisi with deep affection.

“Bride, do you take Mr. Su Yuntao to be your husband? Whether strong or weak, brave or cowardly, do you promise to be loyal and faithful?” Ma Xiunuo looked at Sisi.

“I do.”

Sisi also had no hesitation, and without even waiting for Ma Xiunuo to announce the next part of the ceremony, the two directly kissed.

Ma Xiunuo: “...These young people nowadays are truly passionate.”

Afterwards, the two exchanged rings, and then Ma Xiunuo “threw” them out of Spirit Hall. After all, this was the sacred Spirit Hall; it was already daring enough to hold a wedding here. Were they planning to have their wedding night here too?

If they wanted to hold a banquet, they should go home and do it!

Most of the nobles in Nuoding City gave their gifts and left, as they weren’t very familiar with Su Yuntao; a small number went to Su Yuntao’s house to drink some wedding wine and try to build connections; the rest were mostly relatives and friends of Su Yuntao and Sisi.

After three rounds of drinks, Su Yuntao was a little drunk. He told Sisi to go back to their room first, while he found Tang San and pulled him into the courtyard to talk: “Thank you, Tang San. If it weren’t for you, I wouldn’t have been able to win Sisi over.”

“Don’t say that, Tao Ge. I didn’t help you win Sisi over; it was clearly you who attracted Sisi,” Tang San said, taking out an exquisite small box from his storage wristband and handing it to Su Yuntao: “Here, this is my gift to you two.”

“I told you, there’s no need for a gift,” Su Yuntao pouted, but still took it and opened it. Inside was a piece of black whale jelly.

“Uh... my ability in that regard is actually very good, I don’t need this thing.” After Su Yuntao saw what it was, he sobered up quite a bit, his eyelids twitching. He suspected that Tang San might have heard rumors from Wang Sheng—that kid, he knew he couldn’t keep a secret, he shouldn’t have talked to him about adult topics, which led to this misunderstanding now...

“This is a piece of thousand-year whale jelly mixed with some ten thousand year whale jelly.”

“It seems even more contemptuous.” Su Yuntao naturally knew the aphrodisiac effect of whale jelly, and also how expensive ten thousand year whale jelly was, but he really had no problems in that area... Could it be that he had appeared to have kidney deficiency in front of Tang San recently?

Even if he had, it was only because he had been busy with wedding preparations in addition to work this past month, making him a bit tired.

“Whale jelly has other uses. When the time comes, you and Sister Sisi can soften this piece of thousand-year whale jelly mixed with ten thousand year whale jelly with your spirit power, then divide and swallow it. This can strengthen your physique,” Tang San said. “After one night, I estimate your physical qualities can reach close to the Spirit Ancestor level.”

“Spirit Ancestor level physical quality!” Su Yuntao was startled, incredulous, “Really?”

“It’s hard to say exactly what level it will reach, but it should be comparable to the elderly Grandpa Ma Xiunuo.” Tang San thought for a moment, using Ma Xiunuo as a comparison. “Oh, and a reminder, Tao Ge, buy more thousand-year whale jelly the next day. This stuff is going to become astronomically expensive later on.”

“Little San, I’ll listen to you. If you ever need anything in the future, just tell me. I’ll go through fire and water for you,” Su Yuntao said very seriously.

“There’s no need for that, we’re all friends,” Tang San smiled, unconcerned. “Besides, I just want to see if the effect is better when a man and woman take whale jelly together and do that kind of thing.”

Su Yuntao laughed heartily: “Haha, so you’re using me as an experiment!”

“There definitely won’t be any danger, after all, I’ve already tested the effects of whale jelly myself, and it can indeed greatly improve physical qualities. It’s just that considering whale jelly itself can be an aphrodisiac, I wanted to see if the effect would be better when consumed by a couple for dual cultivation. Even if it doesn’t work, the whale jelly will at most waste some of its medicinal power, and the improvement to your physical qualities will still be very significant,” Tang San said solemnly. “This is for the sake of the vast number of Spirit Master couples on the continent.”

“Why don’t you use it yourself?” Su Yuntao asked.

“I’m only seven years old! If I were fully developed, where would it be your turn?” Tang San said as a matter of course.

“Alright, I believe you. Anyway, this stuff also has an aphrodisiac effect, so even if it doesn’t work, it can still add to the fun between Sisi and me.” Su

Yuntao laughed heartily, chatted with Tang San about some future plans, and then eagerly entered the room to enjoy the thousand-year whale jelly with a bit of ten thousand year whale jelly added to it, with Sisi.

Tang San had no intention of staying to watch. He pulled Xiao Wu, who had eaten and drunk her fill, back to the backyard of Spirit Hall.

Xiao Wu usually stayed with Tang San, even living there, except when she went to Nuoxing Academy to inspect and prevent noble students from bullying work-study students.

However, as a trade-off, she also needed to help clean Spirit Hall and organize various sundries.

This was Tang San's requirement. He didn't want Xiao Wu to be treated as Old Jack's granddaughter and, after officially becoming his adopted sister, naturally enjoy the benefits and convenience he provided.

Self-reliance was key.

The next day.

Su Yuntao brought Sisi to find Tang San to thank him, because his and Sisi's physical qualities had indeed improved, and the effect was very good.

When Ma Xiunuo learned of this, he arm-wrestled Su Yuntao without using spirit power and found that Su Yuntao's strength was actually three-tenths greater than his own.

One must know, he was a Spirit Ancestor!

Although he was old now, his physical body, under the constant blessing of spirit power, was still stronger than that of an ordinary Spirit Elder. But now, his pure physical strength was inferior to Su Yuntao, who was still a Spirit Grandmaster.

"Little San, what's going on?" Ma Xiunuo asked.

“This is why I was able to withstand a thousand-year spirit ring for my second spirit ring,” Tang San explained the reason why he could withstand a thousand-year spirit ring for his second ring.

“This is truly a major discovery!” Ma Xiunuo was shocked, then asked, “Is this also the theory you’re going to publish later?”

“Naturally, after all, my thousand-year second ring is too dazzling. I need to explain the reason to the world, otherwise, I can only openly use my second Spirit Ability after I become a true powerhouse in the future.”

Tang San took out the written theories on the ancient and modern evolution of spirit ring matching and the factors affecting the Spirit Master’s ability to withstand spirit ring age limits from his white jade belt, and then took out a thumb-sized piece of ten thousand year whale jelly, handing it to Ma Xiunuo.

“Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, I’ve already written the paper, and as for the ten thousand year whale jelly, this is all I have left to give. Could you please help send it to Spirit City? It will be convenient for the Spirit Masters there to conduct experiments.”

Ma Xiunuo sighed: “If this article is published, you will single-handedly drive up the price of whale jelly. Those nobles will hate you to death.”

Su Yuntao and Sisi immediately exchanged glances and requested a month’s leave from Ma Xiunuo, saying they were going on their honeymoon. However, Ma Xiunuo and Tang San both could tell that the two absolutely wanted to take advantage of the fact that Tang San’s theory hadn’t been sent out yet, to visit nearby cities and extensively purchase thousand-year whale jelly.

Moreover, the two actually had plenty of time, because even if Ma Xiunuo sent the letter, it would take one or two months to reach Spirit City, and even after it arrived, the personnel there wouldn’t immediately read it.

56: Innate soul power and affinity

A month passed in the blink of an eye.

Su Yuntao and Sisi also returned from their honeymoon, bringing back nearly a hundred jin of thousand-year whale jelly, which they secretly stored in the basement of their home.

Upon learning of this, Ma Xiunuo bought some for his descendants at a suitable price.

When Tang San wanted to buy some, Su Yuntao gave it to him for free, saying that if Tang San hadn't told them about the use of whale jelly, they wouldn't have gained such a huge advantage.

Moreover, Su Yuntao also said that Ma Xiunuo had bought one kilogram from him, and he had already broken even.

It was foreseeable that just these nearly hundred jin of whale jelly would be enough to ensure Su Yuntao and Sisi a life of comfort in the future.

However, neither of them planned to retire from Spirit Hall, as they were both still young.

Su Yuntao even hoped to become the Hall Master of Nuoding City's Spirit Hall after Ma Xiunuo retired, so he needed to accumulate experience and diligently cultivate, striving to reach level thirty before he turned thirty.

After all, by thirty, one is already entering middle age, and it becomes difficult to further strengthen one's physical constitution; after forty, the body begins to age, so generally speaking, if there isn't some heaven-defying opportunity to change one's fate, if one doesn't break through to level thirty before thirty, they won't be able to break through for the rest of their lives.

Therefore, in his spare time, Su Yuntao often brought Sisi to Tang San to cooperate with all his research.

And the results were significant.

With Tang San's help, both of their spirit power cultivation speeds increased significantly.

Furthermore, Tang San also used their cultivation methods to verify whether a Spirit's innate spirit power represented the Spirit's affinity with the person themselves.

Tang San had Su Yuntao raise a large number of dogs and had him care for them, even having him cultivate among the dogs after they became familiar with him.

As expected, Su Yuntao's speed of cultivating spirit power increased.

But after leaving the dog pack, Su Yuntao's cultivation speed decreased again.

Mimetic cultivation environments might allow a Spirit Master to increase their understanding of their Spirit, thereby increasing cultivation speed, but this understanding is only temporary; deep down, it does not truly strengthen the connection with one's own Spirit.

For Su Yuntao, cultivating among wolves would actually be best, but unfortunately, wolves are difficult to domesticate, and Tang San would not let Su Yuntao take that risk.

And what about Sisi?

Tang San first had her cultivate while wrapped in silk ribbons, and found that her spirit power cultivation speed did indeed improve, but compared to Su Yuntao, the improvement was very small, almost negligible.

Was it because Su Yuntao had a Beast Spirit, while Sisi had a Tool Spirit?

Tang San didn't think so.

Although Beast Spirits and Tool Spirits are different, the disparity shouldn't be so great.

So, next, Tang San had Sisi buy a weaving machine and learn to weave silk ribbons, to deepen her understanding of silk ribbons.

Half a month later, Sisi meditated in an environment without any silk ribbons, and her cultivation speed actually increased, although it was only comparable to Su Yuntao's cultivation speed among the dogs, this was a permanent improvement.

Although it would still be affected by external environments, this improvement was indeed permanent.

Sisi also expressed her feelings, which was that she seemed to understand her Spirit better, somewhat different from before; she couldn't quite articulate the specifics, but she had unique insights into weaving silk ribbons.

However, perhaps because Sisi's understanding of silk ribbon weaving was insufficient, for a period afterward, no matter how Sisi wove with the loom, she could not further increase her Spirit's cultivation speed.

Tang San had no solution for this, as his Spirit was not a silk ribbon, but he did offer Sisi advice: that she shouldn't only think about weaving silk ribbons, but could try using silk ribbons to create other things, such as handkerchiefs, clothes, and so on.

And Tang San's gains were also significant: he understood why mimetic cultivation environments provided a bonus to a Spirit Master's cultivation—besides the fact that the corresponding environment contained more suitable natural energy for the growth of the respective Spirit attribute, more importantly, the Spirit Master could deepen their understanding of their Spirit.

However, it seemed that most Spirit Masters in the World currently did not 'communicate' with their Spirits, and did not know how to deepen their understanding of each other; instead, they unilaterally believed that cultivating in a specific environment could increase cultivation speed, entirely attributing it to the mimetic environment, rather than their own understanding of their Spirit.

From this, Tang San had another conjecture: that those existences with innate spirit power below level nine who could become Titled Douluo all possessed a unique ability to understand their Spirits.

"Now I can confirm my hypothesis. Different types of Spirits have varying qualities, which affect innate spirit power, but among Spirits of the same type, the quality difference is not significant. After all, it's the same bloodline; there's no reason for such a large difference. Most likely, it's due to insufficient affinity between humans themselves and their Spirits," Tang San said excitedly. "After all, Spirits are inherited through bloodline; it's not like a person can directly possess whatever Spirit they want, unless it's a mutation, or a long-term evolution, or perhaps..."

Tang San thought of Mu Tian, the transmigrator; his Spirit was the Nine-Headed Chimera, which was the God of Heavenly Condemnation.

Spirits, besides bloodline inheritance, can also be bestowed.

As long as one reaches the God level.

However, this theory requires more people to verify, and even if it could be published, Tang San felt that before he reached a certain level of strength, it could only be spread on a small scale among his own people...

...

In the blink of an eye, another month passed.

The Notting Academy's holiday was approaching, so Tang San brought Xiao Wu back to Saint Spirit Village in advance, bought many gifts for Old Jack, and helped with the summer harvest.

Afterward, Tang San decided to go with Su Yuntao to nearby villages to help awaken Spirits.

His purpose, naturally, was to research various different Spirits, and if possible, to start from a young age and cultivate his own core group.

Compared to those exceptionally talented geniuses, Tang San trusted these commoners, who shared his social class, more.

Although, from a bloodline perspective, half of Tang San's bloodline factors came from the Clear Sky Clan, which was by no means commoner, in his eyes, the distinction between commoner and noble lay in one's own social class, not just bloodline.

Indeed, in this World, a strong bloodline made it easier to become a noble.

"Little San, are you really going to help me awaken Spirits in the villages near Nuoding City? This is a very arduous task," Su Yuntao asked.

"Of course, reading ten thousand books is not as good as traveling ten thousand miles. I realized that I haven't even familiarized myself with the towns and villages near Nuoding City, which is truly unacceptable. Therefore, I want to start with small things," Tang San nodded. "Moreover, Tao Ge, my spirit power has already reached level twenty-four."

"I really envy you! My spirit power is only level twenty-six right now; you're about to surpass me. You'll definitely become a powerful Titled Douluo in the future," Su Yuntao said with a smile. "In the future, I hope to be able to tell my children: 'Even a Titled Douluo calls me Tao Ge.'"

Tang San: O(∩_∩)O Haha~

The two prepared briefly and set off, but unlike usual, Su Yuntao was also leading fifteen puppies. After discovering that cultivating among the dogs was faster, Su Yuntao now brought this group of dogs with him wherever he went.

Well—

Except for trivial matters like going to the restroom, bathing, or intimate exchanges between husband and wife.

"Where's your little girlfriend?" Su Yuntao asked about Xiao Wu. "Isn't she always inseparable from you?"

"What little girlfriend? Not yet." Tang San denied, then said, "She's cultivated to level twenty and has gone to hunt for a spirit ring. I hope she'll listen to my advice."

57: Xiaowu goes home (Part 1)

“She’s going to hunt a Spirit Beast by herself?” Su Yuntao was surprised. “You’re not going with her?”

“Do you think she’s really a commoner?” Tang San retorted. “You saw her personality at the beginning; she was a bit willful and overbearing. Ordinary commoner families can’t raise a child with that kind of temperament.”

Su Yuntao was silent for a moment, then sighed and said, “It seems it won’t be easy for you to win her over.”

Tang San: “???”

“However, I believe that with Little San’s talent, you can definitely win her over. After all, you are a true Spirit research Grandmaster, experimenting on yourself, absorbing a thousand-year spirit ring beyond your level, unlike that joke.”

Su Yuntao patted Tang San’s shoulder in encouragement. “If you get married in the future, you must invite me to your wedding feast. By then, you might already be a Titled Douluo. For me, a Spirit Grandmaster, to attend would certainly be a great honor.”

Tang San was speechless: “If you really attend my wedding, your cultivation definitely won’t be just that of a Spirit Grandmaster.”

“Haha, you’re right, but with your cultivation speed, by then, I’ll probably only be a Spirit Elder at most,” Su Yuntao said, making a cold joke.

Amidst their discussion, they arrived at the first village: Zonghun Village.

As the name suggests, this village was named because a Spirit Ancestor once appeared here.

It must be said that the villagers near Nuoding City were quite simple in naming their villages.

On the other side.

Xiao Wu went to the Star Dou Great Forest. After entering the edge area, she began to call out to the Titan Giant Ape.

Soon, a colossal creature over twenty meters tall pushed aside the bushes and appeared before Xiao Wu, but it didn't reach out its hand immediately; instead, it showed a puzzled expression.

Although Xiao Wu had taken human form, in the past, her Spirit Beast aura was very obvious, and it could distinguish it at a glance. Spirit Beasts also used this method to confirm their species and identity.

But now, Xiao Wu's Spirit Beast aura seemed to be flickering, as if it was barely there. If there wasn't even a tiny bit left that he could perceive, the Titan Giant Ape would have thought this was a human who looked similar to Xiao Wu.

"Xiao Wu Jie?"

"Hmm? Don't you recognize me?" Xiao Wu put her hands on her hips, a bit displeased. "You haven't forgotten me, your big sister, after such a short time apart, have you?"

"No." The Titan Giant Ape quickly shook his head, extended his hand, and gently placed Xiao Wu on his shoulder. Then, he headed towards the core area of the Star Dou Great Forest and asked, "Xiao Wu Jie, are you back this time to obtain a spirit ring?"

"Yes." Xiao Wu nodded. "Take me to the lake. I want Da Ming to take me to the center of the lake. The Life aura there is the strongest, and I want to condense a thousand-year spirit ring."

The Titan Giant Ape didn't know if a Spirit Master could withstand a thousand-year level for their second spirit ring, but he slowed down and said, "Um, Xiao Wu Jie, we can't go to the Life Lake. Da Ming was also driven out of the lake and can no longer stay inside. Da Ming and I can only get close when we drink water; normally, we can only move around the edges."

"Hmm?" Xiao Wu was confused. "Did Ten-thousand year soul beasts from other places attack? Are you and Da Ming no match for them? Was our home just snatched away?"

"How should I put this?" The Titan Giant Ape was a bit uneasy. "Actually, we were latecomers. There is an extremely powerful Spirit Beast overlord sleeping beneath the Life Lake, and recently, he let Beast God and the others come out."

"Beast God?" Xiao Wu was puzzled.

"He is from the Black Dragon clan, a Golden-eyed Black Dragon, with a cultivation level close to nine hundred thousand years." The Titan Giant Ape's eyes showed a hint of fear. "I am a unique variant among Spirit Beasts; I can rival a Ten-thousand year soul beast in a hundred years, but after a hundred thousand years, the gap widens. I can only say that if he doesn't use his spirit power, my strength is greater than his."

Xiao Wu trembled all over: "Close to nine hundred thousand years? How is that possible? My mother said that after a hundred thousand years, Spirit Beasts can only live for a thousand years, otherwise they will be struck dead by lightning."

"That's right, under normal circumstances, that is indeed the case. That is the Heavenly Tribulation for Spirit Beasts. But as long as you pass it, you can break through a hundred thousand years and accumulate two hundred thousand years of cultivation. By analogy, in theory, if we pass nine Heavenly Tribulations, we Spirit Beasts can become a million-year Spirit Beast, equivalent to the legend among human Spirit Masters: a God."

A trace of longing appeared in the Titan Giant Ape's eyes.

“Auntie chose to take human form back then because she was already close to undergoing her tribulation and knew she couldn’t survive it, so she could only choose to take human form.”

“The Heavenly Tribulation does not affect humans.”

“Most Spirit Beasts, even if they cultivate to a hundred thousand years, find it difficult to withstand the Heavenly Tribulation. Therefore, quite a few hundred thousand-year Spirit Beasts are actually struck dead by lightning.”

Xiao Wu learned these secrets, remained silent for a long while, and then asked, “So, when you two weren’t around and my mother was hunted, that Black Dragon didn’t help?”

Although she knew those fierce beasts weren’t obligated to help, Xiao Wu still felt a bit angry.

“Xiao Wu Jie, this...”

The Titan Giant Ape didn’t know what to say, afraid of making Xiao Wu sad, but seeing Xiao Wu staring intently at him, he still spoke the reason.

“Beast God Di Tian doesn’t care for hundred thousand-year Spirit Beasts who take human form, because that’s equivalent to betraying Spirit Beasts. After all, the Heavenly Tribulation only targets Spirit Beasts, and a hundred thousand-year Spirit Beast in human form, essentially, even if they haven’t entered their mature phase, are human, merely possessing the original essence of a hundred thousand-year Spirit Beast within them.”

“Actually, if Di Tian hadn’t sensed the powerful bloodline of Da Ming and me back then, and if he and the other hundred thousand-year plus Spirit Beasts hadn’t been busy with another matter, he would never have allowed Auntie to bring you to live by the Life Lake.”

“After all, in their eyes, you who have taken human form, besides being considered semi-traitors to the Spirit Beast race, are weaker. Your hundred thousand-year essence can’t compare to theirs. Even if you reach ninety-ninth rank, you can only live for a thousand years. They might just take a nap, and you'd already be dead of old age."

"And our outing that time was also because we received an order from Di Tian to help capture a tonic that would greatly benefit Spirit Beasts."

Xiao Wu asked, "What kind of tonic is so important?"

"A lucky one among the Ice Silkworm race living in the Extreme North Land found a large amount of ten-thousand-year Mysterious Ice Marrow. By eating, drinking, and sleeping, it reached nine hundred ninety thousand years of cultivation, but it has no attack capability. Although it possesses vast energy and mental force, it doesn't know how to use them very well," the Titan Giant Ape explained. "Da Ming and I are actually guarding the perimeter of the Life Lake, waiting for other Spirit Beasts to finish absorbing it before it's our turn."

"Oh, you actually thought of hogging it all!" Xiao Wu was even more indignant. Her own younger brothers were keeping so many secrets from her, their big sister!

"This... we didn't dare tell you about Di Tian and the others. If we dared to mention it, it wouldn't even be Da Ming and my turn in the future," the Titan Giant Ape said, a bit wronged.

"Forget it, just find a safe place. I'm not going to the Life Lake. Let them use that place for now. When I get stronger later, I'll take it back... You just need to help guard it later."

Xiao Wu had already realized that, having chosen to take human form, she was no longer the same as Spirit Beasts. If she went to the core area, Di Tian would definitely not welcome her, so it was better not to meet him.

But just then, there was a commotion not far away. A large python with a bull's head found the Titan Giant Ape and Xiao Wu and said, "Xiao Wu Jie, Er Ming..."

58: Xiaowu goes home (Part 2)

“Da Ming, why are you here too?” Xiao Wu asked, puzzled.

“Di Tian wants to see you.”

The Sky Azure Bull Python said, “The Three-Eyed Golden Lion sensed that your fate is connected to the Star Dou Great Forest, and it even concerns the Life and death of all fierce Spirit Beasts.”

“It can’t be that serious, can it?”

Xiao Wu trembled slightly. She was just a small Soft Bones Rabbit. Even if she exaggerated, she could only call herself a Soft Bones Jade Rabbit. How could it concern the Life and death of all fierce Spirit Beasts?

“Don’t worry, Xiao Wu Jie, if Di Tian dares to harm you, Er Ming and I will risk our lives to get you out of the Star Dou Great Forest.”

The Sky Azure Bull Python comforted her, “Although we only have a hundred thousand years of cultivation, we are both rare species, stronger than the Three-Headed Red Demon Mastiff or the Dark Gold Terrorclaw Bear. We should be able to hold Di Tian back for a short while.”

The Titan Giant Ape also chimed in, “That’s right, Xiao Wu, we will protect you.”

“Can I not go?” Xiao Wu was a little scared.

“I’m afraid not. The Three-Eyed Golden Lion’s luck is connected to the Star Dou Great Forest. If you even think of leaving, she can sense it, and then all the fierce Spirit Beasts will come to catch you,” the Sky Azure Bull Python said. “Since you can leave the Star Dou Great Forest relatively safely, there's no need to run away. I don't think Di Tian will make things difficult for you."

"Alright." Xiao Wu agreed, but she thought to herself, "Damn Di Tian, when I grow up, I'll show you how powerful Xiao Wu Jie is."

On the way to the Life Lake, Xiao Wu asked, "What is the Three-Eyed Golden Lion? Is it also a Spirit Beast over a hundred thousand years old?"

"She is a dragon species with Golden Dragon bloodline, looks similar to a lion, has three eyes, and can sense the luck of the Star Dou Great Forest, but her cultivation is only around a thousand years," the Sky Azure Bull Python introduced.

"What? A thousand years?" Xiao Wu found it hard to believe.

"It is a thousand years, but the Three-Eyed Golden Lion possesses wisdom comparable to humans from birth, which none of us can match. Moreover, she represents the luck power of the Star Dou Great Forest. Therefore, any Spirit Beast that encounters her can only flee. Even a ten-thousand-year-level Spirit Beast cannot attack her, or they will be captured and killed by Di Tian and other fierce Spirit Beasts and given to the Three-Eyed Golden Lion to consume."

The Sky Azure Bull Python sighed, "However, it's not that there are no Spirit Beasts who dare not lay a hand on the Three-Eyed Golden Lion. For example, that thousand-year-level Dark Demonic Evil God Tiger that escaped from me and Er Ming's grasp in the Star Dou Great Forest – there's no Spirit Beast in the world it doesn't dare to devour, as long as it has the ability. We estimate that even the sleeping Spirit Beast Lord, it would dare to directly devour."

"I estimate that it won't be long before it can accumulate nearly ten thousand years of cultivation in other Spirit Beast forests. That is a true menace."

Xiao Wu naturally knew about the Dark Demonic Evil God Tiger; it was a Spirit Beast that specialized in devouring.

Although other Spirit Beasts could also gain cultivation by preying on other Spirit Beasts, digestion took time, and if the prey's attribute differed from their own, digestion was even more troublesome.

But the Dark Demonic Evil God Tiger was different. It was rumored to be descended from an Evil God. Any Spirit Beast it swallowed, regardless of attribute, could be quickly digested and absorbed, with an efficiency far beyond what other Spirit Beasts could match.

The Sky Azure Bull Python and the Titan Giant Ape were very fast. In a short while, they arrived at the core area of the Star Dou Great Forest.

Di Tian and the other fierce Spirit Beasts were already waiting there.

Aside from the nearly sky-obscuring black dragon shadow, Xiao Wu also saw a giant bear with sharp claws, a swan like jade, a large red dog with three heads, a purple demonic dragon slightly smaller than the black dragon, and a very cute-looking golden lion dog.

This lion dog was not large, only two meters long, but its claws were sharp, indicating it was not to be trifled with. Moreover, it had a third eye on its forehead, which looked extremely mystical.

Besides these, Xiao Wu also saw two humanoid figures. She didn't know what species they were; one had green hair, and the other looked neither male nor female, but judging by their aura, they were both Spirit Beasts.

Xiao Wu could sense an extremely strong Spirit Beast aura from both of them.

However, among fierce Spirit Beasts, were there also those who chose to take human form?

"Is it her?" The great bear spoke, its voice extremely loud.

"It's her." The Three-Eyed Golden Lion spoke human words, her voice soft and sweet, like a cute little girl. "She carries a strong power of fate, but it doesn't belong to her; she has only been touched by it, as if she has connected with the Child of Fortune of this era."

Child of Fortune?

Xiao Wu heard this term for the first time. Recalling what Da Ming had said earlier, her mind quickly raced:

"The Child of Fortune should be related to Third Brother."

"Although his Spirit is only Blue Silver Grass, he is exceptionally talented and can even create his own Spirit Abilities."

"Moreover, I am now his younger sister. Although he often teases me, he actually cares about me a lot and has helped me grow so much... If something happened to me, if I died at the hands of these fierce Spirit Beasts, with Third Brother's personality, he would definitely choose to seek revenge. He is broad-minded and willing to share his theories and achievements, but he also clearly distinguishes between kindness and enmity. He repays kindness and will not hold back from seeking justice for himself and those around him when wronged."

At this moment, Xiao Wu seemed to understand everything clearly. Only Tang San truly cared about her. Even if he had selfish motives, he would never harm her, and he even made things clear from the beginning.

As for these fierce Spirit Beasts before her...

Tang San was right; they dared not take risks and could only hide in this forest, "admiring themselves." It was only a matter of time before humans found them, developed targeted strategies, and hunted them down.

"Soft Bones Rabbit, I hope you approach that Child of Fortune and bring him to the Star Dou Great Forest." Di Tian's enormous dragon head lowered, his cold golden eyes reflecting Xiao Wu's trembling body, his tone allowing no dissent.

“I don’t know who the Child of Fortune is.” Xiao Wu bit the bullet, thinking to herself, “I must not bring Tang San to this place. I’ve transformed into a human, and these fierce Spirit Beasts don’t consider me one of their own at all.”

“Just bring the person you believe it is. We have plenty of time.” After Di Tian finished speaking, his entire body erupted in black light, and his massive form disappeared, transforming into a human figure over two meters tall, though his expression remained cold.

“This is!”

Xiao Wu was confused. Had Di Tian also transformed?

At this moment, the Emerald Swan beside him also transformed into a human, a beautiful woman in a green dress, who smiled at Xiao Wu and said, “After enduring a heavenly tribulation, one can continue cultivating and freely transform between human and beast forms, and cultivation will not be restricted by the human form, though the human body is slightly weaker than the original beast body.”

Xiao Wu lowered her head, not daring to look at Bi Ji.

Although this woman exuded a strong Life aura that made her feel comfortable, in Xiao Wu’s eyes, this was definitely some kind of bewitchment, and she absolutely could not trust it.

“Condense your spirit ring, then bring the Child of Fortune back.” Di Tian gestured for the Sky Azure Bull Python to take Xiao Wu to the center of the Life Lake.

“Yes, Beast God.” The Sky Azure Bull Python and the Titan Giant Ape exchanged glances, both relieved of their heavy hearts.

At least, Xiao Wu would not be killed by Di Tian.

Watching Xiao Wu sit on the Sky Azure Bull Python’s head, condensing her spirit ring, Di Tian asked the Three-Eyed Golden Lion, “Can she really succeed?”

59: Today's kids are so precocious

“The fate of the Child of Fortune is only connected to her; whether she can bring him back is an unknown,” the Three-Eyed Golden Lion yawned.

“However, recently, as I observed the fortune of the Douluo Continent, I discovered many supernovas. Some are hidden, some have already established power, but none are as stable as the one she has encountered.”

“Stable?” Ditian asked, puzzled.

“Other supernovas have immense fortune, but it's like smoke, only appearing formidable, as if a gust of wind could scatter it. But the Child of Fortune that Soft Bones Rabbit has encountered, his fortune is different from others. Although it also has that smoky form like others, internally, he has also generated his own fortune, solid as a rock.”

The Three-Eyed Golden Lion spoke, a look of doubt appearing in its eyes.

“If the smoky fortune is a gift from the entire Douluo Continent, and once a supernova fails to meet the requirements, it will dissipate and descend upon others, then a large part of the Child of Fortune's power, the one Soft Bones Rabbit has encountered, is self-condensed and cannot be taken by others. To make him lose this fortune, one can only kill him, or... let me take a look, think of a way.”

Mid-sentence, the Three-Eyed Golden Lion communicated with the power of destiny, and soon opened its eyes, though looking somewhat fatigued.

“How is it?” Ditian asked hurriedly.

“Besides killing him, there's another way to make him lose the fortune he condensed, and that is to make him lose his memory, or turn him into an idiot,” the Three-Eyed Golden Lion scratched its ear with a hind leg, stating this method.

“Amnesia?” Ditian thought of something and speculated, “Could it be that this fortune is wisdom! That’s right, just like us Spirit Beasts, we are powerful and can rule other Spirit Beasts, but human wisdom is far beyond what Spirit Beasts can compare to. If an extremely intelligent person appears, he can still rule the entire human race.”

“Wisdom, knowledge; courage, strength.” Bi Ji looked at Xiao Wu and sighed softly, “Humans are truly a blessed race. Why do the gods favor them?”

No fierce beasts could answer this question; they silently understood, only hoping that Xiao Wu could bring the Child of Fortune to the Star Dou Great Forest in the future.

At that time, whether it was direct killing or some other purpose, the initiative could be controlled by them, the Spirit Beasts.

And Xiao Wu’s second spirit ring also gradually condensed, revealing an enchanting purple...

...

Dihun Village.

Leaving Zonghun Village and passing through Wanghun Village, Tang San followed Su Yuntao to this village where a Spirit Emperor had once appeared.

The Spirit awakening ceremony was still conducted by Su Yuntao, but compared to before, with Tang San by his side, there was no need to worry about spirit power consumption.

It could be said that Su Yuntao, apart from having to take care of those fifteen dogs, was much more relaxed than usual.

Among the Spirit awakeners in this village, there was a girl who showed spirit power, innate level three, and her Spirit was a bow.

She was an orphan in the village. Her father was a hunter, and when the girl was three years old, he went to Nuoding City to sell his prey. He had an argument with a minor noble, had his leg broken, and later died from excessive blood loss.

In the village, she grew up eating from various households until she was six years old, but being an orphan, not many children her age were willing to play with her, so she had a somewhat solitary personality.

Su Yuntao asked the girl's name: "What is your name? I will issue you a certificate, and then you can go to Notting Academy as a work-study student and become a Spirit Master in the future."

"Guang Ling," the girl said timidly, stating her name, but her gaze remained fixed on Tang San, because this older brother was truly very handsome, even prettier than the boys in the village.

"Alright, Guang Ling."

Su Yuntao recorded the name and handed her the Spirit certificate, saying, "If you become a Spirit Master in the future, you can join Spirit Hall! You can travel to various villages and see different scenery, just like us."

Spirit Hall was not a charitable organization that sought no returns; it did not accept just anyone. Those with innate spirit power below level four were generally not actively recruited, as innate spirit power largely represented a Spirit Master's cultivation speed and potential. Below level four, there was a high probability of being unable to break through to Spirit Ancestor.

With such talent, Spirit Hall would not actively ask them to join, but rather wait until they obtained a spirit ring and became a true Spirit Master. Only after registering with Spirit Hall would a formal invitation be issued.

After all, once one became a Spirit Master and their strength improved, with a little training, even if their Spirit was not suited for combat, as long as their spirit power reached level ten or above, wearing armor and wielding a spear, they could still unleash combat power far stronger than ordinary people.

Therefore, Su Yuntao did not directly ask Guang Ling to join Spirit Hall, but rather suggested she go to Spirit Hall after becoming a Spirit Master.

After all, there were many Spirit awakeners with innate spirit power at level three and below on the Continent. If every Spirit Hall member who helped villages awaken Spirits recruited them into Spirit Hall, even if they conquered the Two Great Empires, they wouldn't be able to provide that many cultivation resources.

The subsidies for Spirit Masters, Spirit Grandmasters, and Spirit Ancestors from Spirit Hall were also dug out from the Two Great Empires. Spirit Hall itself could not provide initial cultivation subsidies for all Spirit Masters on the Continent.

They didn't have that much money.

"Can I become a Spirit Master?" Guang Ling asked cautiously.

"Of course, you can. Your Spirit has innate spirit power of level three; you will definitely become a Spirit Master," Su Yuntao smiled and said, "When Notting Academy starts, you can go and report. Your talent is much better than most civilian Spirit Masters. I have visited many villages, and most children with spirit power only have innate spirit power of one or two levels, some even only half a level. You have three levels!"

Tang San said, "Are you interested in coming with me?"

Su Yuntao was startled and asked, "Little San, are you interested in her?"

"Don't say ambiguous things, okay?" Tang San said irritably, "Her talent should be more than this. I asked the villagers; her father's Spirit was also a bow, but it was a wooden bow without innate spirit power. However, her Spirit is an Iron Bow, with innate spirit power of level three. Her Spirit has clearly undergone a mutation. If she obtains a suitable spirit ring, it will definitely allow her Spirit to transform.”

Moreover, Tang San felt that her Spirit being able to grant her three levels of innate spirit power subtly corresponded to his “affinity between human and Spirit” theory.

“So that’s how it is,” Su Yuntao nodded and said to Guang Ling, “Guang Ling, are you willing to follow this older brother who is one year older than you? He is already a Spirit Grandmaster and a Martial Soul Theory Master; he can guide you in your Spirit cultivation.”

“Okay.”

Guang Ling agreed. After all, she was an orphan and didn’t know what to do staying in the village. It was better to leave with this handsome older brother in front of her.

“My name is Tang San,” Tang San extended his hand to Guang Ling. “Are you willing to study Spirit knowledge with me in the future? After all, I am only your guide; your future still needs to be grasped by yourself.”

Guang Ling extended her small hand, grasped Tang San’s palm, and nodded vigorously, saying, “I am willing.”

Su Yuntao secretly sighed: Children nowadays are really precocious. It’s just that when Xiao Wu returns, Tang San will be in a Shura field, hehehe.

60: Tang San, I'm back!

Over the next few days, Tang San took Guang Ling with him to other villages, following Su Yuntao to help awaken Spirits.

Along the way, as Tang San initiated conversations, Guang Ling's voice grew a bit louder, no longer muffled as it was when she stayed in the village, though she remained relatively introverted.

During this period, Tang San also studied Guang Ling's Spirit, the Iron Bow. Its length was similar to Guang Ling's height, making it a relatively large bow, and Guang Ling herself knew how to use it.

The reason was simple: Guang Ling's father was a hunter. Although he passed away when she was three, children from impoverished families tend to mature early.

According to Guang Ling, after her father's death, she practiced drawing and shooting arrows every day. Her father had left a stiff bow and some arrows at home.

However, Guang Ling stated that until she was six, before her Spirit awakening, she couldn't fully draw the bow her father left behind; she could only pull it back a little.

In Tang San's view, this was normal. After all, it would be strange for a six-year-old girl to be able to draw a real bow.

But she could draw her Spirit bow.

Honestly, for Guang Ling's Spirit to mutate from a wooden bow to an Iron Bow, her innate spirit power couldn't possibly have instantly reached level three. Instead, like other children whose Spirits had slightly mutated, she would only have half a level or one level.

After all, according to Su Yuntao, he had previously awakened children whose Spirits were Iron Swords or Iron Knives, but their spirit power was either zero, half a level, or one level, rarely exceeding two levels.

Yet, Guang Ling's Iron Bow Spirit was level three.

Level three represents the potential to at least become a Spirit Elder. In the Spirit Master's world, reaching Spirit Elder status is a watershed that determines whether a Spirit Master can continue cultivating and become a true powerhouse in the future.

Why could an Iron Bow Spirit have innate spirit power of level three?

Based on Tang San's previous speculation that innate spirit power represents the affinity between a person and their Spirit, then Guang Ling, who had been exposed to bows and arrows since she was three, might not be able to articulate the specific relationship between bows and arrows, but she certainly had a strong understanding of both, which consequently increased her connection with her Spirit.

Tang San was quite confident that his speculation was correct. By encountering more commoner Spirit Masters in the future, he could gather more real-life examples.

The amount of innate spirit power in a Spirit not only indicates the quality of the Spirit but also the compatibility between the Spirit and the awakeness.

High-quality Spirits, such as the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon, Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda, and Clear Sky Hammer, will definitely possess innate spirit power, at least level three or above, unless an uncontrollable mutation occurs. The specific amount above level three is determined by various factors such as the awakeness's physical fitness, mental state, and personality, but most crucially, it is determined by whether the Spirit Master themselves is compatible with the Spirit.

As for low-quality Spirits, like pots, pans, and hoes, they can actually also awaken spirit power. However, ordinary people always dream of becoming a Spirit Master, so they certainly don't want to awaken Spirits that appear useless in combat.

And although Spirits exist within the human body, they also possess a certain spirituality. Yu Xiaogang's Luo San Pao is the best proof of this—if you don't want me, then I don't want to bother with you; mutual dislike.

Perhaps this statement is a bit severe and exaggerated, but the principle remains the same.

It was only because Luo San Pao was a mutated Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon that its Spirit quality was undoubtedly not low; otherwise, Yu Xiaogang wouldn't even have half a level of innate spirit power.

"Spirits are truly wondrous. In the future, there will even be a cigar Spirit, which proves that Spirits can respond to human thoughts and change accordingly."

Tang San thought of the cigar Spirit in "peerless tang sect" and became even more certain of his conjecture. "However, this theory must exclude various external factors such as Immortal Herbs, mutations, divine force, and environment. Moreover, it's not something I can publish at my current stage."

Over the next half month, Tang San, Guang Ling, and Su Yuntao visited eight more villages and discovered two more children with innate spirit power.

One had a Sick Spirit with half a level of spirit power; the other had a Hoe Spirit, but its handle had changed from wood to iron, similar to Guang Ling's situation, yet his innate spirit power was also only half a level.

Although there's a significant difference between a hoe and a bow, setting aside the distinction between farming tools and weapons, there's no difference in material.

Moreover, according to the villagers, this child had been going to the fields with his father since he was three, using a small hoe to help weed and dig in the fields.

This further increased the accuracy of Tang San's speculation.

If another Spirit appears next, which is a bow that mutated from a wooden bow to an Iron Bow, but its innate spirit power is zero or only half a level, then Tang San can be more than ninety percent certain that the innate spirit power of a Spirit is absolutely in some currently immeasurable direct proportional relationship with the awakens's understanding and affinity for the Spirit.

"Anyway, there are still five years. In the villages near Nuoding City, there are many ordinary people whose Spirits are bows. Collecting this data will also serve as a form of evidence." Tang San felt that his future was brighter than ever before...

...

Upon returning to Nuoding City, Tang San immediately took Guang Ling to Notting Academy to report. The dean readily agreed, as Tang San was the face of Notting Academy and held that much influence.

Subsequently, Tang San took Guang Ling to Dorm Seven to arrange her accommodation.

During her work-study period, Guang Ling still needed to interact more with her peers.

However, in the room in the backyard of Spirit Hall, Tang San also arranged a bed for Guang Ling, placed next to Xiao Wu's. Both were girls, so they could sleep together.

After arranging accommodation, Tang San began testing Guang Ling's Spirit.

Strength: 1. Even without shooting arrows, the Iron Bow itself could be used as a weapon in combat.

Defense: 1. The Iron Bow's material is iron, which is relatively hard; limited to that.

Speed: 2. Primarily refers to attack speed. According to Guang Ling's test, she can quickly draw the bowstring, indicating fast speed.

Endurance: 2. Although Guang Ling's spirit power is only level three, the Iron Bow consumes relatively little spirit power. She can continuously hold the Iron Bow for thirty minutes without using spirit power to condense arrows.

Energy: 2. spirit power can be used to condense and release arrows, which is an energy-release Spirit Ability inherent to the Iron Bow. However, with Guang Ling's current spirit power, she can only release it once (Note: Before Spirit Elder, if one's own spirit power is insufficient, real arrows can be used to substitute for condensed spirit power, or a combination of both, to reduce spirit power consumption.)

Special: 0. The Spirit itself does not possess any special properties. The spirit power arrows shot out are merely condensed spirit power and carry no attributes (Note: After obtaining a spirit ring, they may take on the attributes of the Spirit Beast itself.)

Total Score: 8.

Guang Ling's Iron Bow Spirit's basic attributes were not very high, but its attack speed, endurance, and energy were decent, especially when combined with Tang San's First Soul Skill, which resolved Guang Ling's spirit power deficiency.

"These are the basic characteristics of your Spirit. Before you cultivate to level ten, study with me. You tell me which Spirit Beast to choose for your First spirit ring. This is also a test I'm giving you."

Tang San said, "If you don't satisfy me, I won't abandon you, but I hope even more that you can forge your own path in the future, rather than relying on me."

"A teacher always hopes that their students can surpass them, understand?"

Guang Ling nodded vigorously: "I will definitely not let down teacher's expectations and will study diligently."

Just then, the back door was kicked open, and a familiar voice rang out, as boisterous as ever:

"Tang San, I'm back!"

Suddenly discovered that the second season of Wushan Wuxing has been updated today!

Then why write novels!

Time to binge-watch!

61: The flow route of soul power inside the soul ring

“If you’re back, you’re back. There’s no need to shout so loudly; I’m not deaf.”

Tang San assessed Xiao Wu, then asked, “Which Spirit Beast did your second spirit ring come from?”

“A Listening Wind Rabbit, and the Spirit Ability is Listening to the Wind.”

Xiao Wu had followed Tang San’s suggestion and condensed the Listening to the Wind Spirit Ability.

After obtaining this spirit ring, Xiao Wu found Tang San’s words to be very true; her speed increased after her Spirit possessed her, especially her reaction speed, which could even rival a Listening Wind Rabbit of the same thousand-year cultivation.

And this was only the passive effect brought by the spirit ring.

Furthermore, the Listening to the Wind Spirit Ability significantly enhanced her mental force, greatly increasing her perceptive abilities, even allowing her to predict the future three seconds ahead.

Of course, this ability to predict the future was only possible when using the Spirit Ability; under normal circumstances, Xiao Wu could only perceive fluctuations in the air.

“Good, let’s practice.”

Tang San executed Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track, and he and Xiao Wu began to run around the courtyard.

Tang San's movements were like Gui Mei, elusive and unpredictable. Xiao Wu's speed was even faster than Tang San's, and she was extremely flexible and light, yet she couldn't even touch the edge of Tang San's clothes.

The Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track movement technique is actually suited for skirmishes and guerrilla tactics; it's not very suitable for direct speed contests.

But for dealing with Xiao Wu at this moment, it was more than enough.

“Not bad.”

Tang San stopped his footwork, signaling Xiao Wu to stop as well. “Your speed has increased quite a bit, and with Listening to the Wind enhancing your perceptive abilities, you can absolutely become a close-combat assassination-type agility-attack system Spirit Master, or an interference-type agility-attack system Spirit Master. Moreover, rabbits' ears are quite sensitive; they can perceive any disturbance, and in the future, when your spirit power is higher, you can also become a reconnaissance-type agility-attack system Spirit Master.”

“Hmph hmph, Xiao Wu Jie, I am naturally that outstanding.” Xiao Wu proudly raised her head, her gaze falling upon the dumbfounded Guang Ling. “Who is this little sister?”

“My new student.”

Tang San introduced, “Guang Ling, Spirit Iron Bow, innate spirit power level three. Her existence gives me definite hope for a certain conjecture I once had.”

Xiao Wu looked suspicious: “Why do I feel like you're abducting a child?”

Before Tang San could speak, Guang Ling glared at Xiao Wu and said, “I willingly became Big Brother's student; he didn't abduct me.”

“Tsk tsk.”

Xiao Wu looked Guang Ling over a few times and said, “I was just joking; there’s no need to be so overreactive.”

“Overreactive?” Guang Ling was intrigued by the new term.

“A term Tang San coined; it means taking things too seriously.” Xiao Wu casually explained, “From now on, stick with Xiao Wu Jie. I’ll take you to beat up the noble children at Notting Academy. I’m telling you, hitting them is really satisfying.”

Guang Ling: “.....”

“Cough cough, it’s better not to involve Guang Ling in such matters. Wasting too much time on hitting people isn’t a good thing.” Tang San coughed twice, changing the subject. “Show me your spirit rings; I want to take a look.”

Xiao Wu obediently activated her Spirit possession, and two spirit rings, one yellow and one purple, circled around her, appearing quite mystical. This also made Guang Ling realize that the sister, who was only one year older than her, had already become a Spirit Grandmaster.

However, Guang Ling had not yet begun her Spirit Master cultivation and did not know how astonishing it was to reach the Spirit Grandmaster level at seven years old, with a thousand-year second spirit ring.

Therefore, she wasn’t particularly shocked; she was more curious about the yellow and purple spirit rings.

“A thousand-year second ring, the color is a bit lighter than mine, probably just entering the thousand-year level... not bad. The ten thousand year whale jelly I gave you wasn’t wasted.”

Tang San’s evaluation was very objective, but for some reason, Xiao Wu heard a hint of mockery in his tone and immediately got angry: “Anyway, the spirit ring I can bear right now is a thousand years, which is just right.”

“Let’s test the foundation of your Spirit to see if the values have changed.”
Tang San began to test Xiao Wu.

Strength: 4. Her mental force has strengthened, and her control over her strength is more perfect, allowing her to exert her Waist Bow more powerfully.

Speed: 4. When running, she can rival a thousand-year Listening Wind Rabbit.

Defense: 3. Her inherent defensive power has not increased much.

Endurance: 4. Soft Bones Rabbit consumes little spirit power.

Energy: 0. No external energy release.

Special: 2. Soft Bones Rabbit has gained the ability to perceive wind.

Total score: 17.

Xiao Wu looked at the analysis report of her Spirit state, nodded with satisfaction, and said, “As expected of me, I’m so strong. But I’m still a bit weaker than you.”

“For a Soft Bones Rabbit to reach your level is already very good.” Tang San put away the test report and said unceremoniously, “To be honest, for a Soft Bones Rabbit, which is at the bottom of the Spirit Beast food chain, to reach your level, I have to praise you for your exceptional talent.”

Xiao Wu pouted, ignoring Tang San’s teasing, and asked, “What should I choose for my third spirit ring?”

“I haven’t conducted a more detailed test on your current state yet. For a period of time after this, I need to study it thoroughly, as I have an idea.” Tang San extended a finger.

Xiao Wu asked, “What idea? Don’t keep me in suspense, tell me quickly.”

“A Spirit Master can obtain nine spirit rings. Theoretically, a Titled Douluo, excluding Martial Soul True Body and Spirit Bone, can obtain at least nine Spirit Abilities.”

Tang San slowly explained his idea.

“According to the information I’ve currently found in the Spirit Hall’s library and Notting Academy’s library, a small number of aristocratic Spirit Masters have already considered the combination of Spirit Abilities.”

“That is, Spirit Abilities from different spirit rings can be combined to form a synergy, or to progress gradually in their effects.”

“For this, the Spirit Master’s world has even developed a technique: spirit ring fusion.”

“As the name suggests, it’s about fusing spirit rings to unleash stronger power. However, the conditions for spirit ring fusion are extremely strict. Besides requirements for the Spirit Master’s physical body and mental force, the attributes of the spirit rings need to be consistent, and the skills of different spirit rings need to be close or complementary; otherwise, spirit ring fusion is simply impossible to achieve.”

As far as Tang San’s memories from his previous life knew, there was only one representative figure who had achieved spirit ring fusion: Huo Wu of Blazing Academy.

Currently, Tang San naturally couldn’t go to Blazing Academy to find Huo Wu, and others wouldn’t give him face, especially since he wanted to lie low for a while longer. Therefore, cases of spirit ring fusion could only be sought from historical records.

However, the results were minimal.

But Tang San understood one thing: the reason Spirit Masters can use Spirit Abilities simply by injecting spirit power after obtaining a spirit ring is because the spirit ring already has the spirit power circulation route inscribed within it.

The way most Spirit Masters use Spirit Abilities is like an ordinary person turning on a soul tool lamp: they just need to press the corresponding button (perform the corresponding action, Spirit incantation), and the device storing spirit power within the soul tool lamp will cause the spirit power to flow along the inscribed patterns (the Spirit Master's spirit power is injected into the spirit ring), and the lamp lights up (the Spirit Master releases the Spirit Ability).

This process, though slow to describe, actually doesn't take much time to operate.

After all, how much time does it take to turn on a lamp and press a button?

In short, the reason spirit rings allow Spirit Masters to release Spirit Abilities is because the spirit rings have already set up the spirit power circulation routes, saving the Spirit Master a great deal of effort.

And the spirit ring fusion skill, in Tang San's view, is connected to the spirit power circulation routes within the spirit rings.

62: Ring fusion requirements: complementary soul skills

“Indeed, inside the spirit ring, there are pre-set spirit power circulation routes, much like soul-guiding lamps, which save Spirit Masters a lot of time. Otherwise, those dense, intricate circulation patterns would be impossible for a Spirit Master to manage.”

Xiao Wu knew that there were spirit power circulation routes within the spirit ring, but these routes were extremely complex. Even for the simplest Waist Bow Spirit Ability, there were tens of thousands of spirit power circulation routes, involving many detailed aspects of spirit power circulation. If humans had to do it themselves—

If it were merely imitating actions, a rough approximation could be made, but the more detailed aspects were beyond human capability; in fact, the human body simply didn't have that many spirit power circulation circuits.

However, not being able to do it now doesn't mean it can't be done after becoming a Titled Douluo.

Titled Douluo's mental force is extremely powerful!

“So, as long as the spirit power circulation patterns inside the spirit ring are similar, or rather, identical, then spirit ring fusion is possible?” Xiao Wu asked.

“Not necessarily.”

Tang San shook his head, “If it were really that simple, wouldn't all Spirit Masters who pursue extreme paths be able to perform spirit ring fusion? We also need to consider whether the spirit ring itself can withstand the energy after fusion.”

“spirit rings produced by the same Spirit Beast, with the same Spirit Ability and identical internal spirit power circulation patterns, might not be able to fuse; in fact, I think they might even repel each other.”

Xiao Wu was puzzled: “Why? spirit rings from the same Spirit Beast, with the same Spirit Ability, why would they repel each other?”

“The book ‘The Legend of Huoyang’ describes a case where a Spirit King named Huoyang, when cultivating spirit ring fusion, had his five spirit rings explode directly after merging, and Huoyang himself was annihilated by the impact of that energy, leaving no remains.”

Tang San recounted a case, “Huoyang’s Spirit was fire, a pure elemental Spirit. His five spirit rings all came from a Spirit Beast called the Firebird, and their Spirit Ability was Flame Sublimation, a Spirit Ability that could continuously purify flames.”

“This Huoyang was exceptionally talented. By continuously purifying his flames through his Spirit Ability, even without any offensive Spirit Abilities, the mere temperature of his flames was enough to make a Spirit Saint dare not approach him.”

“To pursue an even higher temperature, he chose to cultivate spirit ring fusion. He believed that since all five of his spirit rings came from the same Spirit Beast and had the same Spirit Ability, he would definitely succeed.”

“However, from the beginning of his cultivation, he encountered trouble. He found that while the attributes between the five spirit rings could merge, upon getting close, extremely severe repulsion occurred, making fusion difficult. Huoyang merely thought his control was insufficient, so he spent five years training his spirit power control.”

“Five years later, he succeeded. He could forcibly suppress the five spirit rings together with his spirit power, but the repulsion reaction became even greater. However, seeing that the five spirit rings were closer than last time, he felt that his path was not wrong. So, he spent another five years training his spirit power control, and then made one last attempt—”

“It exploded with a bang.”

Xiao Wu was speechless: “What kind of ghost story is this?”

Tang San said seriously: “This is not a ghost story, but a real case. When Huoyang was cultivating, his family members recorded his situation. After Huoyang's failure, his family listed spirit ring fusion as a forbidden art and left a rule that future generations cultivating spirit ring fusion must have consistent spirit ring attributes, at least not conflicting, but absolutely cannot allow spirit rings with the same Spirit Ability to fuse with each other.”

“This is also why I speculate that the spirit power circulation patterns within the spirit ring are the key to successful spirit ring fusion.”

“It's like a jigsaw puzzle; only when the pieces are placed in the correct positions relative to each other can there be no conflict, and they can exist better, or even perfectly, within the same space.”

“A complete jigsaw puzzle does not need two identical puzzle pieces.”

“To use a more vivid analogy, it's like magnets: like poles repel, opposite poles attract.”

Xiao Wu understood and inferred: “So, the Spirit Abilities we choose in the future must be complementary to each other, right?”

“Exactly. Take my Blue Silver Grass, for example. The First Soul Skill is Endless Recovery, which essentially involves rooting into the earth and drawing energy from it for transformation; while the second Spirit Ability, positive and negative BUffs, setting aside the seed effect, can be released using the energy transformed from the First Soul Skill's absorption of earth power. They complement each other.”

Tang San was pleased that Xiao Wu was willing to think, “This way, even if we can't successfully cultivate the spirit ring fusion skill, we can still make our Spirit Abilities complement each other, thereby producing stronger effects. We won't have a situation where each Spirit Ability has only one function, with no direct connection to each other, or even conflicts.”

“Every time a spirit ring is obtained, it strengthens the Spirit. Similarly, if carefully considered, it can also make the Spirit Ability puzzle more complete.”

“From my own situation, if there are no other factors that can strengthen me in the future, then as long as my cultivation reaches Spirit Saint, putting aside Martial Soul True Body, if my first six Spirit Abilities can perfectly combine, then I have over ninety-five percent confidence in fighting any Titled Douluo below ninety-five levels, and a chance to win.”

Xiao Wu's mouth dropped open. She wanted to say Tang San was joking, but then she remembered that Tang San's First Soul Skill, Endless Recovery, could continuously draw energy from the earth to replenish himself, and his second Spirit Ability, positive and negative buff, could weaken enemies. Although he was afraid of wind, with Endless Grassland providing energy, he could continuously release it.

Furthermore, Tang San had self-created Spirit Abilities, was now practicing his control over spirit power, and had ways to enhance his physical strength.

For a Spirit Saint to fight a Titled Douluo, Xiao Wu felt that this didn't seem to be a problem. She even felt that Tang San could contend with a Titled Douluo once he reached the Spirit Emperor level.

This was truly...

Too cool!

Xiao Wu felt that if she followed Tang San's arrangements, she might even be able to rival a Titled Douluo when she reached Spirit Saint. At that time, she would definitely teach fierce beasts like Di Tian a good lesson and let them know who the real boss of the Star Dou Great Forest was!

Jie jie jie!

Beast God Di Tian?

In the future, I'll make you crawl and call me Xiao Wu Jie!

“Hey, hey, hey, what are you thinking about? You're drooling.”

Tang San somewhat disdainfully woke Xiao Wu from her sweet dream, handed her a handkerchief, “Wipe it, then go practice climbing trees.”

“Got it, so nagging.” Xiao Wu made a face and walked to the jujube tree, which had many footprints on it. Thump, thump, thump, she began her practice, almost like disturbing the peace.

Now, she no longer needed to run for momentum as she did at first; she could walk directly upright, showing great progress, but she still fell down sometimes.

Tang San stroked Guang Ling's head and said, “When you reach level ten and get your first spirit ring, you'll also need to do this kind of training. Your spirit power is too little right now.”

“Okay, I'll follow Brother's arrangements.” Guang Ling nodded vigorously. Although she was taken as a student by Tang San, she didn't want to call him 'teacher' and preferred 'Brother'.

Tang San didn't mind this, only thinking that his charm was great—

63: The Whale Glue Controversy (Part 1)

Spirit City.

Supreme Pontiff Palace.

Bibi Dong once again received the theories and information about Tang San sent by Ma Xiunuo from the Nuo Ding City Spirit Hall Branch.

This time, the content Tang San wrote was much less, only twenty thousand words. The content described the changes in the optimal spirit ring combination from ancient times to the present, and the factors that determine the maximum spirit ring year limit a Spirit Master can withstand.

"Ten thousand years ago, was the optimal spirit ring combination really white, white, white, yellow, yellow, yellow, purple, purple, black?"

Upon seeing this, Bibi Dong became curious and immediately had someone bring over the historical records of Spirit Masters from ten thousand years ago. She found that the records for Titled Douluo from that era indeed showed three white, three yellow, two purple, and one black spirit rings.

Then, as the recorded years approached the present, the number of black spirit rings increased, while white and yellow decreased. Until today, the optimal spirit ring combination is two yellow, two purple, and five black, or the last one being red.

It can be said that today's optimal spirit ring combination was tested by past Spirit Masters with their lives, and it wasn't like this from the beginning.

Bibi Dong felt a bit shocked, as she hadn't completely gone mad yet; her rationality still existed.

How could someone who manages such a vast Spirit Hall and is revered by thousands be a complete lunatic?

"It seems I really need to go look at the Spirit Hall's archives. As the Supreme Pontiff, to not even know such a secret, what was I doing when I was young..."

Bibi Dong muttered to herself, recalling something, her expression changed, and she immediately cut herself off, focusing all her attention on the latter half of Tang San's theory this time: the factors determining the maximum spirit ring year limit a Spirit Master can withstand.

"Physical strength, mental force, quality of spirit power, and whether the spirit ring of the Spirit Beast aligns with the Spirit Master's Spirit..."

Seeing this, Bibi Dong realized that Tang San was truly a rigorous theoretical Grandmaster. Regarding the spirit ring year limit a Spirit Master can withstand, he not only considered physical strength, mental force, and spirit power, but also the issue of attribute conflict between the Spirit Beast and the Spirit.

First, he refuted the continent's recognized optimal spirit ring combination, using evidence preserved in the Spirit Hall to prove that the spirit ring absorption year limit has actually been increasing. Then, he explained that because each Spirit Master's situation is different, the spirit ring year limit they can withstand at each stage also varies, requiring selection based on their individual circumstances, rather than blindly believing the continent's recognized optimal spirit ring combination.

For this point, Bibi Dong didn't even need Tang San to write case studies in the text. Anyone who had been in the Spirit Master's world for three years would have heard of Spirit Masters failing to absorb spirit rings, resulting in their Spirit being crippled, physical disability, or even exploding to death.

"Excellent, truly excellent. If this theory is published, it can make Spirit Masters on the continent less impulsive when choosing spirit rings, allowing them to consider their own situations and greatly reduce casualties among common Spirit Masters." Bibi Dong was very satisfied and felt a great deal of goodwill towards Tang San.

After all, besides Wuhun News, there were also Tian Dou News and Star Luo News on the continent, but Tang San chose to submit to Wuhun News, clearly showing great goodwill towards the Spirit Hall.

Publishing this theory through Wuhun News could completely make the vast majority of common Spirit Masters on the continent who had not joined the Spirit Hall feel good about the Spirit Hall.

If so, why would the Spirit Hall not unify?

And the people she needed to deal with, besides those Empires and Sects, were only the Elder Palace forces, especially Qian Daoliu. Bibi Dong was certain he knew about his son's actions.

Next, Bibi Dong saw the method Tang San proposed after his theory to enhance a Spirit Master's physical quality.

Whale jelly!

Bibi Dong poured out a piece of ten thousand year whale jelly the size of a fingernail from the envelope. Following the instructions, she infused spirit power into it in a specific way to soften it.

Instantly, the dark whale jelly became translucent and inviting, like honey.

Bibi Dong put it into her mouth and frowned, as the whale jelly didn't taste good, but she quickly noticed the effect of the ten thousand year whale jelly: "It truly has a miraculous effect on strengthening the body."

Although it wasn't of much use to a powerful individual like her, for people like Hu Liena, it was an excellent tonic. It might even allow them to withstand a spirit ring approaching the ten thousand year level for their fourth spirit ring.

Why approaching ten thousand years?

Because Bibi Dong knew that after a Spirit Beast reached ten thousand years, there would be residual soul in its spirit ring. If a Spirit Master wasn't careful, their soul could be severely damaged.

She wouldn't let her direct disciples take that risk. For their fourth spirit ring, hunting a Spirit Beast approaching ten thousand years would suffice.

However, there was a problem before her now: should she release the news that [whale jelly can enhance a Spirit Master's physical strength]?

Whales, even if not Spirit Beasts, live in deep sea areas. Even a Titled Douluo trying to capture a non-Spirit Beast whale would face extreme danger.

The ocean is a forbidden zone for land Spirit Masters. Even Sea Spirit Masters can hardly claim to conquer the sea; most of them rule in coastal areas.

Those pirates only act arrogantly on specific routes and don't even dare to pass through sea areas with a large number of Sea Spirit Beasts.

In other words, even if this matter was announced, all current forces on the continent could only try to acquire whale jelly from various pharmacies and collectors, rather than personally going into the ocean to capture whale Spirit Beasts.

Also, this method was tested and discovered by Tang San. He must have told Ma Xiunuo and others, so this matter would spread sooner or later. And when the Spirit Hall collected large amounts of whale jelly, those Sects would definitely know. They might not guess what the Spirit Hall was collecting whale jelly for, but they would certainly follow suit.

Since that was the case, it was better to openly publicize it.

Bibi Dong made her decision. The Spirit Hall had an advantage that those Sects didn't: Spirit Hall Branches existed in every city on the Douluo Continent.

"Someone!"

Bibi Dong summoned Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo, saying, "Please inform everyone to have all Spirit Hall Branches collect hundred-year, thousand-year, and ten thousand year whale jelly from their respective cities and transport it to Spirit City."

"Yes, Your Holiness Supreme Pontiff."

The two Douluo bowed respectfully and then withdrew.

Next, Bibi Dong called the manager of Wuhun News and instructed him to publish Tang San's theory in Wuhun News, saying, "In the future, if you receive any theories from Tang San, send them to me immediately."

"As you command, Supreme Pontiff." The manager of Wuhun News took Tang San's theory and withdrew, while Bibi Dong then called a red-robed Elder and told him to reward Ma Xiunuo of Nuoding City...

...

"Why is the Spirit Hall collecting large amounts of whale jelly?"

Three days later, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School was the first to notice the Spirit Hall's actions. After all, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School had many businesses, with shops selling luxury goods and spirit tools in various large cities of Heaven Dou and Star Luo, making their information channels the most well-informed.

Moreover, the Speed Clan had already accepted their Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's favor and chose to join the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, making information gathering and transmission even more convenient and fast.

"Ning Fengzhi!"

Sword Douluo, holding the latest issue of Wuhun News, found Ning Fengzhi and said, "The reason the Spirit Hall is collecting whale jelly has been found. That stuff, when softened with spirit power, can enhance a Spirit Master's physical quality, thereby increasing the year limit of the spirit ring they can withstand!"

Ning Fengzhi was startled and immediately took the newspaper, found the words "Tang San," and read the theory he wrote. Especially when he saw the description of how to consume whale jelly and its effects, he couldn't help but exclaim: "It's Tang San again! Enhancing a Spirit Master's physical quality... Could the Tang San Rongrong met really be the same person as this Tang San?"

"Incredible, truly incredible!"

"Oh, right, whale jelly!"

Remembering this crucial information, Ning Fengzhi immediately said to Sword Douluo: "Uncle Sword, go inform the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's businesses in various places to acquire whale jelly. Also, notify Uncle Bone; he's faster and might be able to get ten thousand year whale jelly from some large pharmacies."

"Rongrong has innate spirit power of rank nine, but her Spirit is still the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda. If her second spirit ring can absorb a thousand-year one, and her third and fourth spirit rings also absorb beyond their normal limits, perhaps the greater energy contained in the spirit rings can cause the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda to transform!"

"Even if not, it can make Rongrong's physique stronger, greatly increasing her safety if she encounters unavoidable danger in the future."

Sword Douluo realized the importance of this matter and immediately went to inform the Sect disciples to contact the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's businesses in various places. And after Bone Douluo learned about it, he directly put aside his teaching of Mu Tian and headed to the largest pharmacy within the Heaven Dou Empire.

After Mu Tian learned about the effects of whale jelly, he slapped his head and cursed, "Damn it, I clearly knew the effects of whale jelly, but I didn't expect someone else to get ahead of me."

"Tang San, that guy truly lives up to his name as the Child of Destiny. Without that Yu Xiaogang guy leading him astray, he actually discovered the effects of whale jelly in advance... No, when the time comes, I must ask Bone Douluo for a piece of ten thousand year whale jelly."

Afterward, Mu Tian released his Spirit, Bright Moon. But for some reason, Bright Moon's eyes became much duller. Although the bulge grew larger as Mu Tian's spirit power increased, he always felt a sense of unease in his heart.

"It should be a misconception. Bright Moon is clearly more obedient than usual. I must be overthinking it."

Mu Tian comforted himself in this way, ordering Bright Moon to begin cultivating spirit power, while he himself sat back and enjoyed the benefits, lying on the lawn, feeling the slow increase of spirit power within his body.

"I don't know if it's a misconception, but I always feel that the increase in spirit power is much slower than usual. Did Bright Moon become disheartened and decadent after being defeated?"

"You're the God of Heavenly Condemnation, put in some effort!"

...

Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan.

After Yu Yuanzhen learned about the effects of whale jelly, he immediately sent people to buy it, but it was already too late.

Needless to say, other Sects and clans couldn't buy any at all. Most of the whale jelly had already been acquired by the Spirit Hall, and a small portion was taken by the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, who reacted the fastest.

The other forces couldn't even get a share.

So, these forces turned their attention to ordinary whale jelly and found that whale jelly from ordinary whales also had an effect, but they might need to eat over a hundred catties to slightly improve their physical quality.

Moreover, these hundred catties of ordinary whale jelly couldn't be eaten all at once, otherwise, there would be no effect on improving physical quality, and they would die from overeating first.

And after the effects of whale jelly became known to everyone on the continent, many theoretical Grandmasters who studied Spirits began to imitate, writing about fish jelly, shark jelly, and other marine creature jellies, which could also enhance a Spirit Master's physical quality.

There was also a group of theoretical Grandmasters who turned their attention to land Spirit Beasts, claiming that various parts of Spirit Beasts could enhance a Spirit Master's physical strength and even accelerate spirit power cultivation speed, exaggerating their claims to a miraculous degree.

The director of the Wuhun News Agency looked at the theories submitted by various Spirit research Grandmasters from below, and he had a headache. He told his subordinates to burn all those garbage documents.

Grandmaster Tang San's theory was based on actual evidence, it was real, credible, and feasible. Others' theories were imitations, and one theory even directly copied Tang San's paper, then changed a few nouns, replaced the names in Tang San's examples, and finally replaced "whale jelly" with "ox pizzle" for enhancing physical strength.

Damn it, whale jelly can be an aphrodisiac, and with certain usage, it can enhance a Spirit Master's physical strength; ox pizzle also has a slight aphrodisiac effect, so it can also enhance physical strength, right?

Now this director realized that among theoretical Grandmasters, there were truly many talents.

At least describe it in your own writing style!

64: Whale Gum Controversy (Part 2)

As the effects of the whale jelly spread, the entire Douluo Continent was swept up in a whale jelly craze for a time. Countless people began to covet whale jelly, even resorting to counterfeiting it.

Many people bought “whale jelly” made from mutton fat, and after consuming it, not only did their physical constitution not improve, but they also suffered from diarrhea.

The major powers, however, collected quite a bit of whale jelly, but the thousand-year whale jelly was the most abundant, with almost no ten-thousand-year whale jelly, and not a trace of hundred-year whale jelly could be found.

After all, whales live in the deep sea. The ocean is a forbidden zone for humans on the continent. Currently, the Sea Spirit Masters and ships of coastal cities can only explore and hunt in shallow sea areas.

This is a matter of demand.

With such rich resources on the continent, humans haven’t even fully explored them, so how could they spare any thought for the ocean?

Most of the whale jelly currently on the market is obtained by powerful Sea Spirit Masters from coastal cities through hunting. They have to venture into the deep sea to hunt whale Spirit Beasts, and at least thousand-year level ones, otherwise, few people would risk going to the deep sea for a hundred-year level whale Spirit Beast.

However, that was in the past.

Now that Tang San has announced the effects of whale jelly, many Sea Spirit Masters will surely venture into the deep sea for profit.

But that has nothing to do with Tang San.

He has already enjoyed the benefits of whale jelly and was even lucky enough to obtain a whale pearl.

As for whether this news will enhance the combat power of Spirit Masters across the entire continent, Tang San doesn't care. Perhaps, he actually looks forward to a future where the Spirit Master's world flourishes.

After all, he also needs inspiration, and one person's inspiration is always limited, even if he is a transmigrator from modern times.

As for whether someone will surpass him, Tang San is not worried. There are already many people in this World who have surpassed him, those Titled Douluo whose spirit power is higher than his and who have more Spirit Abilities than him.

Giving up all his identities in the Clear Sky Sect and not acknowledging his ancestors in the future, then he is just a commoner genius, and his reputation has soared because of these two Wuhun News.

Just for this point alone, most of the Spirit Masters on the continent who benefit from this must thank him.

As for other transmigrators besides him, Tang San speculates that there might be more than just Mu Tian, but their cheats shouldn't be too powerful, otherwise, it wouldn't have been his turn to be born.

Just like Mu Tian, his cheat was the God of Heavenly Condemnation, Austin Griffin, representing destruction. After being defeated by him, its origin even came into his Clear Sky Hammer.

As for other transmigrators, Tang San is not sure how many there are, but they are probably not very powerful, otherwise, they would just sweep through directly. Would they need to steal Blue Silver Emperor saplings?

Therefore, Tang San doesn't mind if those transmigrators also benefit from the papers he published. He even hopes to attract them out this way, to see how many there are, and incidentally, to devise countermeasures.

After all, the reputation of the “Tang San” identity isn't very good. These transmigrators all want to step on his head to rise, only “ancient” transmigrators would want to fawn over him.

The whale jelly commotion indeed attracted the attention of many transmigrators, but most of them remained hidden, secretly cursing Tang San for being inhumane. It was bad enough that he discovered whale jelly could enhance physical constitution, but to actually publish it was simply foolish.

However, one or two transmigrators realized that Tang San might have, due to certain butterfly effects, already fortunately consumed whale jelly, and even absorbed a spirit ring beyond the limit. To avoid being noticed by all the powers on the continent, he chose a strategy for self-preservation—after all, at this time, Tang San was still just a commoner from Saint Spirit Village, without power or influence. He had to divert the attention of the major powers elsewhere, not on himself. He was currently just a talented child whose Spirit was Blue Silver Grass, but who had some research into Spirit cultivation.

This portion of transmigrators who realized the reason had already transmigrated for some time and had a more genuine understanding of the entire Douluo Continent.

Therefore, this part of the transmigrators didn't cause trouble, they just lived their own lives.

As for changing the Douluo Continent?

They could speak eloquently online, but when it came to actual implementation, they fell short. The people of this World are not as brainless as those in novels; they just prefer to use their fists in most situations. Once they truly realize that their brains can solve problems better and more perfectly, they will absolutely not use their fists.

After all, no matter which power it is, they do not want their victory to come at a heavy cost, especially in this World where Spirit requires bloodline inheritance.

Heaven Dou City, Moon Pavilion.

Tang Yuehua also learned the contents of the latest Wuhun News and realized the effects of whale jelly, but it was too late to acquire it now. At any pharmacy, she found that all the whale jelly had been sold out, even the ordinary whale jelly was gone.

To place an order, she would have to wait ten years.

And Spirit Hall has now also begun recruiting Sea Spirit Masters from coastal areas, hoping to train a Spirit Master army capable of fighting at sea to explore ocean resources.

Tang San's announcement of the whale jelly's effects also made all the Spirit Masters on the continent realize the importance of ocean resources.

The ocean, that is a World even vaster than the land, how many undiscovered Sea Spirit Beasts and minerals exist within it is an unknown.

Although with Spirit Hall's current power, it would take more than ten years to train a Sea Spirit Master exploration team, it would still be enough for Spirit Hall to surpass other powers by a large margin.

The Heaven Dou Empire and Star Luo Empire will certainly have corresponding plans and preparations, but in terms of Spirit Masters, they definitely cannot compare to Spirit Hall.

“Little San, you've aided the enemy.”

Tang Yuehua sighed, and couldn't help but feel some resentment towards Tang Hao.

Such a good child, if he doesn't bring him, let her bring him. Even if those major powers knew he was also from the Clear Sky Sect, with Blue Silver Grass as his Spirit, others wouldn't care too much.

Now, Little San has been exposed to Spirit Hall since childhood, and has a good impression of Spirit Hall. In the future, he might even help Spirit Hall deal with the Clear Sky Sect.

“Alas~”

“Teacher Tang, why the sigh?”

At this moment, a blond young man approached Tang Yuehua, smiling, with dignified and very elegant manners.

“Qinghe, I'm sighing because I can't buy whale jelly. After all, I want to try if I can strengthen my body through whale jelly, and thus cultivate to rank ten spirit power.” Tang Yuehua remained composed and immediately came up with a reason.

Tang Yuehua's Spirit is the Noble Ring, mutated from the Clear Sky Hammer, and comes with a Domain, but her innate spirit power is extremely low, as if all her innate spirit power was used to mutate her Spirit and produce the Noble Domain.

“What's so difficult about that? I was fortunate enough to buy ten catties of thousand-year whale jelly, and I can give half to Teacher and help Teacher consume it.” Xue Qinghe studied music and calligraphy here at the Moon Pavilion, so calling Tang Yuehua “Teacher” was perfectly acceptable. And she also knew that Tang Yuehua secretly disliked her Clear Sky Hammer mutating into the Noble Ring.

Those born in the Clear Sky Sect, regardless of gender, are raised with a sense of pride before their Spirit awakens.

How could Tang Yuehua possibly like her awakened Spirit being the Noble Ring?

She couldn't dislike it enough.

It's just a pity that she herself had no choice and couldn't control what mutation her Spirit would undergo.

However, Xue Qinghe understood that this woman was extremely skilled at disguise.

65: The second time traveler appears

“Then I thank Crown Prince for your kindness.”

Tang Yuehua also returned a smile.

Towards Xue Qinghe, Tang Yuehua maintained a friendly attitude; after all, this person had means, and in the future, it was highly probable that he would be the next Emperor of the Heaven Dou Empire, so naturally, she had to pay some attention.

“Teacher Tang, what do you think of this Tang San?” Xue Qinghe asked about Tang San.

“A tree that stands out in the forest, unaware of the vastness of the world, only wishing for fame, not worth worrying about.”

Tang Yuehua belittled Tang San, but in reality, she did not want Xue Qinghe to shift his attention to Tang San. “Heaven Dou Empire is founded on its people. Crown Prince, you don’t need to pay too much attention to these. Although Spirit Masters are powerful, they cannot decide the outcome of a war. Eighty percent of the Heaven Dou army are ordinary people, but if they are well-trained and form battle formations, they can still render Spirit Masters helpless.”

“Those Spirit Masters only know how to fight individually, at most in small groups of seven. If the numbers are too high, they will fall into disarray.”

“And powerful Titled Douluo, unless the Two Great Empires on the Continent engage in full-scale war, will not easily make a move. They are all pursuing breakthroughs to higher realms.”

Xue Qinghe sighed, “As expected of Teacher Tang. Though a woman, you can see the Continent’s situation so clearly. I still have much to learn from you.”

Tang Yuehua suddenly realized she had said a bit too much, but she did not immediately change her expression. Instead, she smiled charmingly, “Crown Prince, you flatter me. I just have a few small insights. Compared to Crown Prince’s trusted aides, I am far inferior; these are merely a woman’s humble opinions.”

“Teacher Tang is being too modest.”

Xue Qinghe smiled, chatted with Tang Yuehua for a while, practiced music and instruments for a bit, then left the Moon Pavilion and returned to her palace, where she summoned a twelve-year-old boy.

“Wang Chen, do you have any regrets?” Xue Qinghe looked at the handsome young man in front of her and asked this question, “Whale glue can enhance physical strength, and you were the first to discover it. However, you told me it was a secret and could not be publicized. But then someone else discovered it and announced it through Wuhun News, and Spirit Hall gained even greater benefits from it, while your reputation was snatched away by that Tang San.”

The young man named Wang Chen’s face was somewhat gloomy. Finally, he sighed and said, “Young Master, it was my oversight. However, Tang San’s actions allowed everyone to benefit, and also brought advantages to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School and the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan. He will absolutely not be loyal to Spirit Hall.”

“Moreover, he was able to write theories like ‘Spirit Master’s Self-Analysis and Positioning,’ allowing Spirit Masters on the Continent to more accurately analyze their advantages. He must have a quick mind.”

“Such a person will definitely not submit to Spirit Hall, nor will he submit to you, Young Master.”

Xue Qinghe's smile faded, and she asked, "So?"

"So, I suggest killing him directly to prevent future troubles." Wang Chen's eyes revealed a hint of killing intent. After all, Tang San's actions had already exceeded his expectations. Whether due to a butterfly effect or some other reason, to avoid uncertainty, he would not be like those idiotic fan fiction characters who don't kill when they can, just to drag out the plot.

If he could, he would have wanted to kill Tang San while he was still young.

However, calculating the time, when Tang San was born, he was only six years old and had just awakened his Spirit. He couldn't do anything. Although he was discovered by Xue Qinghe and brought into the imperial palace due to his innate full spirit power, he usually couldn't see Xue Qinghe. Instead, he was taught by a Spirit King along with other talented children Xue Qinghe had brought back.

He had also wanted to propose hypothetical suggestions, but was refuted by that Spirit King and reported to Xue Qinghe, saying that he, with his innate full spirit power, was extremely unruly, relying on his talent.

Xue Qinghe did not speak up for him. Instead, she made him change into old commoner clothes, smeared him with dirt, and threw him into Heaven Dou City, telling him: "If you can survive three days in Heaven Dou City with nothing, then I can choose to believe you."

The truth was, with nothing, he couldn't survive three days in Heaven Dou City. Although some people would pity a dirty six-year-old beggar and give him some food, no one would listen to his "nonsense," and his age also prevented him from finding any work.

The city people were all well-dressed and bright, disliking him, a country bumpkin from a small common village, even though he was just a child.

Finally, he didn't even last a day before finding his way back to the outskirts of Xue Qinghe's palace, hoping to gain Xue Qinghe's forgiveness. But Xue Qinghe still left him out for two more days before letting him in.

From then on, he understood that Xue Qinghe (Qian Renxue) and he were not of the same class. Whether in status or talent (the other party was innate level 20), he had no area where he could compare to her.

Innate full spirit power, this talent was indeed top-notch, but Xue Qinghe would not give him preferential treatment because of it. After all, with her innate level 20, she had the right to look down on all Spirit Masters on the Continent.

From then on, Wang Chen no longer acted impulsively. Instead, he accepted the Spirit King's teachings. Relying on his innate full spirit power, he cultivated faster than others. At the age of nine, he broke through to level 20 and "accidentally" discovered the use of whale glue, which he told Xue Qinghe, gradually getting closer to her and becoming useful to her.

However, after learning about the use of whale glue, Xue Qinghe did not transmit it to Spirit Hall. Wang Chen guessed that she probably wanted to prove herself to Bibi Dong after gaining control of the Heaven Dou Empire, and then publicize the use of whale glue.

Therefore, she only collected small amounts. If she collected on a large scale, others would notice. After all, other forces on the Continent were not fools. If Xue Qinghe purchased it three or four times, it could be said that she might have a problem in that area, but if she purchased it more than ten times, and in large quantities each time, anyone would guess whether Xue Qinghe had discovered other uses for whale glue.

At least, Ning Fengzhi, who was ostensibly Xue Qinghe's teacher, would definitely notice this behavior. And on the Douluo Continent, while the relationship between master and disciple was not of the "once a teacher, always a father" type, once one became a disciple, although the disciple could have their own secrets and the teacher would not pry, if the teacher asked, the disciple should answer as much as possible.

"Kill him?"

Xue Qinghe looked at Wang Chen for a while and said faintly, "Your mind is a bit narrow."

Wang Chen's face darkened, but he still insisted, "His actions might disrupt your plans. It's best to eliminate uncertain factors, even sending a Titled Douluo."

He didn't mention that Tang San was the son of Clear Sky Douluo, because Xue Qinghe's mind was actually very meticulous.

He, Wang Chen, had almost never left Heaven Dou City except for the small village where he was born, and had never been to other places. If he revealed Tang San's background, then the question would arise: how did he know?

A genius could have their own secrets, but Xue Qinghe (Qian Renxue)'s personality was actually very domineering, liking to control everything. Even for geniuses from other forces, she would secretly send people to gather their detailed information.

And he, Wang Chen, a genius who grew up under her nose, actually knew a secret she didn't?

Would Qian Renxue still trust him?

After reading the original novel, it was found that Qian Renxue's purpose in coming to Heaven Dou to impersonate the Crown Prince was mainly to prove herself to Bibi Dong; this was her starting point.

From this perspective, it seems understandable why she suddenly gave up after being defeated by Tang San in the original novel. Because in this era with supernatural powers, limited by external concepts and thoughts, and considering her childhood environment, it's not difficult to understand the kind of personality she developed in the original novel.

After all, she lacked love:

Paternal love, she was born without; maternal love, cold violence; grandfather's love for his granddaughter was mostly hoping for her to become a god.

Plus, she herself was an extremely arrogant Spirit Master.

Then she was defeated, and her mentality immediately collapsed.

Furthermore, having impersonated Xue Qinghe since childhood, it would be strange if her mind were normal.

[Readers who have read the original novel “Douluo Continent” should know that, according to the logic within the story, the behavioral logic of most characters in it actually makes sense.]

66: Tang San, you must be mine!

“Is that so?” Xue Qinghe’s tone was slightly mocking. “Are you sure it’s not because he became the first person to discover the use of whale jelly, and you, who discovered it earlier, are simply jealous?”

Over the past six years, Xue Qinghe had come to understand Wang Chen’s temperament. Although he appeared obedient on the surface, he possessed an inexplicable arrogance, as if he looked down on everyone.

A normal commoner child, especially one from a small village, would never be like this. Instead, they would be cautious and meticulous, even if they had innate full spirit power, they wouldn’t be so arrogant.

Moreover, Wang Chen was extremely envious, almost never allowing other children his age to contradict him. If another child excelled in any area, he would resort to any means to surpass them, thereby demonstrating his value in front of her. His motives were very strong.

Just like her disguise as Xue Qinghe.

But this did not allow her to empathize with Wang Chen, and she even maintained a barely perceptible vigilance towards him.

Even bad people prefer to have good people around them.

However—

This was also one of the reasons she allowed Wang Chen to stay by her side. He showed her a hint of a familiar shadow, and at least on the surface, he had been “tamed” by her; he was very obedient and useful.

Even if he had different ideas and expressed them, once she gave an order, he would never offer any further contradiction.

Seeing Wang Chen fall silent, Xue Qinghe said, “You may go. Cultivate well. Your spirit power is already at twenty-seventh rank. Strive to break through to thirtieth rank before you are thirteen. Since the use of whale jelly is now known to everyone, you should aim to withstand a three-thousand-year spirit ring for your third spirit ring. Is that alright?”

“Young Master, could you bestow a ten thousand year whale jelly? I wish to try enduring a ten thousand year spirit ring for my third spirit ring,” Wang Chen respectfully asked.

“The value of whale jelly has been publicized. ten thousand year whale jelly has a slight effect even on Titled Douluo below ninety-fifth rank. You are merely someone with innate full spirit power and have not accomplished anything. What right do you have to enjoy it?” Xue Qinghe asked a question Wang Chen currently could not answer. “Also, didn’t you say that after consuming a thousand-year whale jelly, your second spirit ring could withstand a thousand-year level?”

“But what was the result?”

“You failed to absorb it. If my Angel Spirit wasn’t a divine Spirit, forcefully severing your connection with that thousand-year spirit ring, you would have been annihilated. It’s already fortunate that you can continue cultivating and even find a spirit ring close to nine hundred years.”

Compared to Wang Chen “accidentally” discovering the use of whale jelly, Xue Qinghe trusted Tang San more. After all, his research on whale jelly was thorough. Apart from hundred-year whale jelly, which he couldn't find and thus didn't mention much, he provided an approximate range for the effects of thousand-year whale jelly, ten thousand year whale jelly, and ordinary whale jelly, as well as how much to consume for a certain degree of improvement to the human body.

Unlike Wang Chen, who merely stated that whale jelly could improve physical fitness and then nothing else—how many grams to consume, how much it could improve, whether the effect was the same for people of different ages, and so on.

Wang Chen couldn't explain these things, but Tang San provided approximate results, proving that after discovering the use of whale jelly, he didn't immediately become overly excited. Instead, he diligently researched the effects of different whale jellies, different dosages, and different methods of use on Spirit Masters of different age groups.

Although the final data results were still somewhat abstract and the range not entirely accurate, they could at least help later researchers better judge how much they improved after consuming whale jelly.

This could also provide great help for future research.

Hearing Qian Renxue say this, Wang Chen remained silent, realizing that in Qian Renxue's eyes, he wasn't actually that important. Perhaps in her mind, he, with his innate full spirit power, would at most become a Titled Douluo in the future, and she, backed by Spirit Hall, would have all of Spirit Hall's Titled Douluo at her disposal once she became a god.

For a genius like him, other major powers might try their best to win him over, but for Qian Renxue, a mere Titled Douluo was not worth losing too much face. Spirit Hall had more than ten Titled Douluo, and one more in the future would merely be icing on the cake.

Moreover, he had already caught Qian Renxue's eye, and he couldn't betray her unless absolutely necessary, or he would have to live anonymously.

After Wang Chen left, a middle-aged man appeared behind Xue Qinghe, handing her a letter and saying, "This is news about Tang San from the High Priest of Spirit City. His innate spirit power is only rank six, and his Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, but his first spirit ring was absorbed beyond his rank, a five-hundred-year Thousand Root Banyan. At that time, he should not have consumed whale jelly. As for his second spirit ring, it should be an over-limit spirit ring he absorbed after consuming whale jelly. According to the intelligence from the Branch Master of Nuoding City, it is a thousand-year level. If that Branch Master did not misjudge the depth of the color, then that spirit ring is very likely close to two thousand years.”

Xue Qinghe’s pupils contracted sharply, and she sighed, “Seven years old, a thousand-year second spirit ring, and it’s even close to two thousand years. A mere Blue Silver Grass Spirit is even more dazzling than my Angel Spirit. Truly remarkable. Is there a way to win over such a talent?”

The middle-aged man shook his head. “The Supreme Pontiff did not forcibly order him to be brought into Spirit City. And according to Ma Xiunuo, he said that the child has many ideas and does not want to be constrained by Spirit Hall’s education, thereby becoming ordinary.”

“This situation is a bit like Wang Chen at first.” Xue Qinghe thought of Wang Chen, then shook her head. “Still not the same. If there’s something good, Wang Chen will hide it first. Even if it’s proven effective, he won’t publish it. His magnanimity is not as broad as Tang San’s.”

“Young Master, there’s one more thing,” the middle-aged man continued. “Our spy planted in the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School has news. The child with the detached Spirit from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School had a confrontation with Tang San when helping Ning Rongrong hunt for a spirit ring. He lost, and that Tang San even said a very arrogant remark to Mu Tian.”

“What did he say?” Xue Qinghe became curious.

“Those who lose to me are never considered my opponents. I give you time to catch up, until you can no longer see me in the distance,” the middle-aged man said with a somewhat strange expression.

Xue Qinghe’s eyes lit up upon hearing this. Looking at the portrait of Tang San from the intelligence from Spirit Hall, she imagined a young man full of vigor, saying such words to a defeated opponent, how unrestrained he must be.

On the continent, commoner Spirit Masters who encounter and defeat opponents in the wild usually try their best to eliminate them to avoid future trouble.

But Tang San could actually say such words, which showed his confidence!

She couldn't help but want to meet him.

“Young Master, I think he might just be boasting, or perhaps stalling for time, as there were other Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School members present at the time,” the middle-aged man reminded.

“Brave and resourceful, even better.” When Xue Qinghe had a first impression of Tang San and was prejudiced in his favor, she could find suitable reasons to explain away others' criticisms. Moreover, facing nearly thirty Spirit Masters from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, being able to show no respect to Mu Tian and then say such words afterwards, wasn't that also a kind of humor and arrogance?

In Xue Qinghe's view, after defeating Mu Tian, Tang San could still chat and laugh under the gaze of the other Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School members. Wasn't that even more precious?

Such a talent, only by winning him over would there be a sense of accomplishment!

Tang San!

“You will definitely be mine!”

For extremely talented individuals, Qian Renxue, being a genius herself, would instinctively develop a fondness, especially since someone who lacks love often has an empty heart.

67: Yu Xiaogang's disdain

The Douluo Continent was in turmoil due to Grandmaster Tang San's two papers and the effects of whale jelly.

Shrek Academy.

Yu Xiaogang meticulously examined the two theories published by Tang San, his brows furrowed, and he secretly resented Tang San—

The cases in these two theories all had detailed sources, which everyone could verify in the public libraries open to the Spirit Hall.

Conversely, the theories Yu Xiaogang had previously published were much cruder, especially the source of the optimal spirit ring matching years he had published; Tang San had even pointed out that the maximum spirit ring absorption years for each stage of a Spirit Master, as published by him, were merely the highest years absorbed by certain Spirit Masters in corresponding stages throughout history, and this point was clearly documented in relevant books.

Now, his title of Grandmaster was mocked by even more people.

They said that he had never researched it at all, merely copied the highest absorption years for Spirit Masters at each stage throughout history, without considering whether the Spirit Masters who absorbed these year-limit spirit rings were the same, whether their physical qualities differed, or whether their Spirit attributes matched the spirit rings, and so on.

Although he hadn't considered all these issues, he had at least considered physical strength.

However, he did not connect the author of the theory with that Tang San from Nuoding City.

“Xiaogang, what do you think about whale jelly?” Flender found Yu Xiaogang. “Although we don’t have much money, this can improve the children’s physical qualities. Should we buy some? I have some connections with the pharmacy owner in Soto City; he should be able to save some thousand-year whale jelly.”

“No,” Yu Xiaogang shook his head. “Although medicine can assist Spirit Masters in cultivation, it should only be used in medicinal baths. I do not approve of ingesting it.”

“The children carrying stones and running around Soto City can not only strengthen their physical qualities but also enhance their willpower. Isn’t this much better than just pursuing whale jelly?”

“As for physical issues, I have the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan’s medicinal bath formula, and it is already in use. Haven’t you seen its effects? The children’s bodies have strengthened considerably over the past month.”

“Although the effect is not as immediate as whale jelly, I believe this method is more reliable.”

“More importantly, even if your pharmacy friend saves you some thousand-year whale jelly, it’s not going to be free, is it? Even with a discount, we can’t afford it.”

The last point resonated with Flender.

His Shrek Academy indeed had no money, and Yu Xiaogang spent the academy’s money daily to purchase medicinal bath ingredients. Now, at most, they could afford ten grams of thousand-year whale jelly.

Ten grams, what’s the use of buying that?

“Xiaogang, the academy doesn’t have much money left. We need to find new sources of income. Do you have any good ideas?” Flender asked. “In another year or two, we might not even be able to afford the medicinal baths.”

“Let me think,” Yu Xiaogang said. “Flender, try to recruit more excellent students. As long as we can persist until the children win the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament, Shrek Academy can grow stronger.”

“Xiaogang, I wish I could, but our Shrek doesn’t even have the qualifications to participate,” Flender said with a troubled expression. Running an academy wasn’t just for teaching students, but also for gaining fame, and the best way to gain fame was to participate in the Spirit Master Tournament.

However, the teachers at their academy all had more or less some grievances with the Spirit Hall, and they were accustomed to freedom and didn't want to be involved with any faction. Therefore, they couldn't even apply for formal teaching qualifications.

To be honest, this Shrek Academy, though called an academy, was more like a “high-end” tutoring class in cooperation with nearby villages.

“I will find a way later, just hold on a bit longer,” Yu Xiaogang encouraged Flender, but inwardly, he was thinking about how to make Flender abandon the Shrek name and join other formal academies for a “borrowing a chicken to lay eggs” plan.

With the strength of Flender, Zhao Wuji, and others, joining other academies would surely grant them autonomous teaching rights, and they could also utilize the resources of those formal academies to arrange better cultivation plans for the children...

Whether it was the actions of other forces on the continent or the plans of Shrek and others, all of this currently had nothing to do with Tang San. It was just that when he went to the Nuoding City pharmacy to buy medicine again, the old shopkeeper's face was as unpleasant as if he had eaten excrement.

Who told him to sell such a large piece of ten thousand year whale jelly for so little?

That was absolutely a bargain sale!

Even if there were impurities inside, the peeled-off outer skin, when kneaded together, was still the size of two adult fists.

That was ten thousand year whale jelly!

Now, one gram could sell for ten thousand gold coins, and it was priceless on the market. He had suffered a huge loss.

"Boss, do you have any more whale jelly?" Tang San asked the old shopkeeper.

"No, after Grandmaster Tang San's theory was published, I regretted it immensely," the old shopkeeper said with a bitter face. "Even my ordinary whale jelly has been snatched up. I don't know where to get more in the future. In the past, no one bought this stuff. Who would have thought it would be in such high demand now? No, it should be that the supply has been cut off. If you want whale jelly, you can only go to coastal cities to see if there are any Sea Spirit Masters who are about to go out to hunt whale Spirit Beasts. Otherwise, you won't be able to buy any at all."

"Alright, give me some dried black fungus," Tang San said.

"Okay, there's plenty of this. How much do you want?" the old shopkeeper asked.

"One jin is fine," Tang San said.

"Alright." The old shopkeeper weighed out one jin, put it in a bag, and pushed it in front of Tang San. "Although dried black fungus is abundant, drying it takes time and cost. Five bronze coins per jin."

Tang San gave five bronze coins and returned to the Spirit Hall with the dried black fungus.

It wasn't that Tang San wanted to eat black fungus, but Guang Ling would feel nauseous when taking whale jelly. For the human tongue, its taste was indeed not very good.

And as for whale jelly with added sugar, Xiao Wu thought it was fine, but Guang Ling—

Sugar, Guang Ling liked; whale jelly, Guang Ling could barely accept and swallow; but when the two were combined, he almost threw up... Although he eventually swallowed it, his twisted expression made one think Tang San was bullying a little girl.

Therefore, Tang San decided to try black fungus.

After soaking and washing the black fungus, Tang San softened the whale jelly, wrapped it with black fungus, made it into fingernail-sized pieces, and handed them to Guang Ling: "Try it. At worst, you can swallow it directly. Black fungus is quite smooth."

This method was actually similar to various capsule-type medicines in Tang San's previous life. Some powdered medicines, if a person's taste buds couldn't accept them and they couldn't swallow them, would be wrapped in a starch outer shell that could be decomposed by stomach acid, making it convenient for people to swallow them directly.

Tang San didn't know how to make starch shells, so he could only use other things as substitutes, and black fungus was a good choice.

Guang Ling took it, swallowed the whale jelly wrapped in black fungus directly, and said, "Brother, I feel much better this way, it just doesn't have much taste."

"That's good," Tang San nodded.

After a while, the black fungus was decomposed in Guang Ling's stomach, and the thousand-year whale jelly took effect, causing Guang Ling's entire body to turn red, but it dissipated quickly.

After all, that thousand-year whale jelly was only fingernail-sized, and its medicinal effect was not strong.

Guang Ling was only six years old; one small piece a day was enough, as he was originally bone-thin, not much different from Tang San in the past, and even a bit weaker.

This kind of tonic is not suitable for taking too much at once; it needs to be taken slowly.

68: Xiao Wu's Three-Knife Style Plan

“It seems being wrapped in black fungus also has an effect.”

Tang San pondered, then began to teach Guang Ling to read, so that he could learn common characters before Notting Academy started.

Afterward, he helped Xiao Wu test her physical fitness after obtaining her second spirit ring, discovering that a Ten-thousand year soul beast transforming into human form would still be affected by the spirit ring's enhancement, causing her Soft Bones Rabbit Spirit to change.

This also confirmed a previous conjecture of Tang San's: a Ten-thousand year soul beast that transforms into human form is essentially a human, no longer a Spirit Beast.

From their physical form, transformed Spirit Beasts have a human-like appearance, and even their various organs are no different from a human's.

From the perspective of their Spirit, because they were Spirit Beasts before transforming into humans, their Spirit's compatibility with their human body is naturally one hundred percent (although this cannot be fully confirmed, Tang San felt that based on existing cases, excluding mutant cases, there were no major problems), and although spirit rings can be condensed according to their Ten-thousand year cultivation, and Spirit Abilities can evolve automatically according to their own ideas, the Spirit itself also needs to change to a certain extent due to the enhancement of Spirit Abilities.

The self-condensed spirit ring year limit of a Ten-thousand year transformed Spirit Beast might be the most suitable, but the Spirit Ability is not necessarily so.

What if they lived for so many years?

They spent most of their lives in primeval forests, at most having a corresponding understanding of the various Spirit Beasts in their living environment; besides that, there were no other advantages.

It can be said that a newly transformed Ten-thousand year soul beast is a human with a corresponding understanding of the Spirit Beast types they are familiar with, and with the original Ten-thousand year cultivation.

Setting aside that Ten-thousand year origin, they are just an ordinary human child with a slightly eccentric personality.

“Now that the test is complete, the Listening to the Wind Spirit Ability mainly strengthens my mental force, allowing me to perceive air vibrations, making my five senses more acute, and my control over spirit power more precise.” Xiao Wu explained her advantages, “According to your classification, I am now a close-combat assassination-type agility-attack system Spirit Master, but currently I only have one attack-type Spirit Ability, Waist Bow. If the enemy has strong defense, I can at most only interfere.”

“That's true, so, while practicing control over spirit power, you also need to practice other things.” Tang San said, taking out three short knives from his white jade belt. Two were iron, and the other was wooden, with no handle.

“I'm going to practice with knives?” Xiao Wu picked up the two short knives in surprise, waving them a few times casually. “They feel quite handy, but what's with this wooden knife without a handle?”

“That's right, you're so fast, it would be a pity not to practice skills like short knives or daggers. After all, except for the Spirit Master Tournament where you can't use abilities other than your Spirit, at other times, there aren't so many rules.”

Tang San spoke eloquently, saying, “However, the reason I chose short knives for you instead of daggers is because daggers are too short, while short knives are longer, allowing you to also have a certain degree of close-combat ability.”

“As for this wooden knife without a handle, I hope you can master the Three Swords Style.”

“Three Swords Style?” Xiao Wu was confused. “I don't have three hands.”

“You have a third hand.” Tang San pointed at Xiao Wu's hair. “Don't you not want to cut your hair short? Such long hair, in a formal competition, opponents won't use dirty tricks like grabbing hair, but when you travel the continent and wander the jianghu, when you encounter enemies with ill intentions towards you, there won't be so many rules.”

“But your braid is similar to a whip, and can be utilized.”

“However, just using it as a whip is relatively dangerous, after all, this is hair, connected to your scalp. If someone grabs it, you'll be in trouble, and compared to a normal whip, your hair is too short.”

“Therefore, by tying a knife to the end of your hair and swinging it, you can unleash its power, and if you can find the right technique, you might be able to achieve unexpected results.”

Xiao Wu's eyes lit up. She immediately picked up the wooden knife without a handle, threaded her hair through the hole at the back of the knife, and swung it a few times. The wooden knife hit her head, making her cry out in pain.

“This is also why I chose to use a wooden knife for your hair first.”

Tang San released Blue Silver Grass to help Xiao Wu recover, treating the red mark on her head. “If you used an iron knife, you might have injured yourself at first.”

Xiao Wu took out a mirror from her white jade belt, looked at herself, and seeing that her face was not disfigured, she breathed a sigh of relief and said, “Swinging with hair is really difficult. And these two short knives in my hands, do you know any knife techniques?”

“No, but in the end, it's just three words: fast, ruthless, accurate.”

Tang San spoke his thoughts, “The two knives I made for you have flat blades with no curvature. They are not considered swords only because their tips are beveled, not symmetrical like swords.”

“This design makes them convenient for stabbing. Your speed among Spirit Grandmasters is already fast enough. As long as you find the opponent's weak point and hit it with one strike, you can finish them off.”

“However, you don't seem to have even killed a chicken, so the 'ruthless' part needs practice.”

Xiao Wu nodded repeatedly: “Fast, ruthless, accurate, are these three enough?”

“Not enough. In the future, you should ask Teacher Zhang at Notting Academy for more guidance. Her Spirit is a short knife, and she is very experienced in this. Tang San said, “At that time, if you give her some gifts, she will teach you. Besides that, regarding the use of a knife with your hair, you can ask Teacher Li for advice. His Spirit is a whip, so at least in terms of swinging, he can help you understand the techniques involved.”

“A whip? Got it.” Xiao Wu knew that the whip as a weapon was actually very powerful; a gentle flick could cause immense pain if the tip struck someone.

This is actually the whip effect.

That is, when swinging a whip, the force, or rather the applied energy, moves forward in the form of a solitary wave, appearing as a constantly moving arc on the whip.

When the energy is transmitted to the end of the whip, this arc wave is incomplete, and the mass is reduced.

But because of energy conservation, when swinging the whip, the closer this arc wave gets to the end, the faster it becomes, even reaching the level of a sonic boom.

If Xiao Wu could control her scorpion tail braid well, she could instantly kill a Spirit King with one unexpected strike.

Of course, the so-called instant kill would only happen if the Spirit King foolishly stayed put; otherwise, Xiao Wu, who had just entered the Spirit Grandmaster stage, could only be killed by a Spirit King's punch, with no other possibility.

“And for your third spirit ring in the future, I think you must have thought about where to strengthen your body, right?” Tang San asked with a half-smile, “It can make your scorpion tail braid your advantage in the future, not a disadvantage.”

“I know, strengthen my neck, right?” Xiao Wu said proudly, “After all, swinging my hair requires the strength of my head and neck.”

Tang San was a little helpless and said, “Close, but still a bit foolish.”

69: Xiao Wu's third soul ring plan

“Hmph, then tell me, what should I strengthen for my third spirit ring?”
Xiao Wu huffed, provoking him.

“Naturally, it's your bones, especially your spine.”

Tang San explained the reason, “While muscles are important for the body's power, bones are actually more crucial. They are the key to supporting the entire body's muscles and internal organs.”

“And the Soft Bones Rabbit, named for its soft bones, has extremely strong bone flexibility.”

“But you are only a Spirit with Soft Bones Rabbit, not a true Soft Bones Rabbit. Although you might be affected by your Spirit, making your bones more flexible than an ordinary person's, that's all there is to it. An average person, if they train from a young age, can also achieve the same flexibility as you.”

“In combat, strong body flexibility is a good thing, but if you want to control your Scorpion Tail Braid better, you need even better flexibility. At the same time, your bones also need to be tough and not easily broken.”

Xiao Wu seemed to be deep in thought. After she transformed into human form, her bone flexibility was indeed not as good as when she was a Spirit Beast. Even a hundred-year Soft Bones Rabbit, her flexibility could not compare.

Sure enough, this point once again proved Tang San's conjecture: after a Spirit Beast transforms into human form, it is already a human, just with an additional hundred thousand years of cultivation origin compared to an ordinary human.

“Then, which Spirit Beast should I choose?” Xiao Wu asked.

“There are three Spirit Beasts for you to choose from.”

Tang San extended three fingers and slowly listed the Spirit Beasts suitable for Xiao Wu’s third spirit ring.

“The first one is called the Rouge Soft Tendon Python.”

“This type of python is non-venomous, and its hunting method is to coil around its prey with its body. A hundred-year-level Rouge Soft Tendon Python can coil and crush the bones of a thousand-year-level Unicorn Deer. This alone proves that the Rouge Soft Tendon Python’s bones are extremely tough and its flexibility is extremely strong. In addition, its muscles are also very tight, which can strengthen all the muscles in your body.”

“However, the reason the Rouge Soft Tendon Python has the name ‘Rouge’ is because it has an escape skill. When it finds itself unable to defeat other Spirit Beasts or Spirit Masters, it sheds a layer of skin and leaves it behind, while its main body drills into the ground to escape. The shed skin shatters upon touch, feeling powdery, and is used by many nobles as a cosmetic.”

“Therefore, hunting this type of Spirit Beast will definitely strengthen your bones and muscles with its spirit ring. However, the Spirit Ability will most likely be to create an illusion of yourself using spirit power, a Rouge Illusion. After all, your Soft Bones Rabbit Spirit can hardly inherit its coiling and crushing ability; the difference is a bit too large. But for strengthening bones and muscles, it’s a good choice.”

The first Spirit Beast Tang San suggested was for Xiao Wu to give up the advantage of a Spirit Ability and instead choose to strengthen her bones and muscles, thereby increasing her control over her hair.

It was just that Xiao Wu didn’t like it very much.

Not to mention whether her hundred-thousand-year Soft Bones Rabbit origin could condense a Rouge Soft Tendon Python Spirit Ability, just the effect of this Spirit Ability made Xiao Wu speechless.

What would a Soft Bones Rabbit like her want with a Rouge Illusion?

Also, hadn't Tang San said before that every skill of a spirit ring was very important and needed to be coordinated? She didn't want such a useless skill that didn't match her Waist Bow and Listening to the Wind at all. It felt even less reliable than Teleportation or Paragon Golden Body.

"I don't want the Rouge Soft Tendon Python. I want a rabbit type," Xiao Wu stated her demand. After all, only with a rabbit type could her hundred-thousand-year Soft Bones Rabbit origin trace back to its roots and condense a suitable Spirit Ability for herself.

"Don't worry, the next two are both rabbits," Tang San said, "The second one is the Devil Rabbit."

"Devil Rabbit!"

Xiao Wu naturally knew the Devil Rabbit. It was a rabbit with even softer bones than the Soft Bones Rabbit. Its running speed was also very fast, and it had only one attack method: it could twist its neck 720 degrees, or two full rotations.

If it were just that, the Devil Rabbit would not be given the name "Devil."

Unlike other rabbits, this type of Spirit Beast was not a herbivore but a carnivore. Its teeth were sharp, but its appearance was actually very cute, used for camouflage. Its hunting method was also very simple: it would wait for predators to mistake it as prey, then suddenly twist its head backward, startling the predator, and immediately pounce to bite the predator's neck, completing the transformation from prey to predator.

Although from the structure of the Devil Rabbit's neck, it was indeed very suitable for her, Xiao Wu still felt that this Spirit Beast should not be a rabbit; it just had the appearance of a rabbit.

After all, what rabbit eats meat?

Tang San said, “Besides the enhancements to your spine and body that the Devil Rabbit can bring, there are two Spirit Abilities it can provide. The first is Head Twist Kill, which allows your head to rotate 720 degrees after your Spirit Possession. For other Spirit Masters, this Spirit Ability is almost useless except for scaring people, but for you, with your Scorpion Tail Braid, it’s a perfect match.”

Xiao Wu immediately retorted, “Tell me about the next Spirit Beast. This one is too strange; I don’t want it at all.”

“I haven’t even told you about another possible skill the Devil Rabbit can give you. Its four limbs can rotate 360 degrees without dead angles. When it runs, it can create a blur, like a wheel.”

“No, tell me about the next one.” Xiao Wu swore she would never choose the Devil Rabbit. She had personally expelled this creature from the rabbit family; it was too bizarre, truly deserving of the name “Devil” given to it by humans.

“Alright.”

Tang San was a little disappointed. He still wanted to see what kind of scene it would be when Xiao Wu used the Devil Rabbit’s Spirit Ability after condensing it; that would definitely be interesting. “The last Spirit Beast is called the Dragon Rabbit.”

Xiao Wu frowned and asked, “Dragon Rabbit? What kind of Spirit Beast is that? How come I’ve never heard of it?”

“The soul beast encyclopedia states that this is a rabbit with true dragon bloodline. Its tendons and bones are as strong as a true dragon species, and it is even more outstanding in terms of flexibility. Its speed is comparable to a Spirit Beast known for its speed, like the Needle Tailed Swift, and it can even briefly walk on air.”

Tang San provided information about the Dragon Rabbit, “There’s one thing I really want to complain about: the dragon bloodline is very strange, seemingly able to interbreed with any Spirit Beast to produce offspring with dragon bloodline. Even plant-type Spirit Beasts, when nourished by dragon blood, will exhibit some dragon characteristics... This creature can no longer be described as just strange.”

Tang San actually wanted to research the dragon race quite a bit.

Unfortunately, at present, he couldn't possibly explore those dragon-type Spirit Beasts, nor could he even come into contact with owners of dragon-type Spirits.

“Indeed, the dragon bloodline is very strange.” Xiao Wu nodded, suspecting that Da Ming, whom she had raised, was a hybrid with true dragon bloodline.

After all, what kind of python has a bull’s head?

She hadn’t thought much of it before, but after living among humans for a while and adapting to human lifestyles and thought patterns, she found the image of the Sky Azure Bull Python a bit bizarre.

“Where can I find Dragon Rabbits?” Xiao Wu intended to ask for clarification, but deep down, she didn’t care where this Spirit Beast lived. As long as it was a rabbit type, even with true dragon bloodline, she could use her hundred-thousand-year cultivation origin to trace its roots, find information about the Dragon Rabbit, and condense a Dragon Rabbit spirit ring for herself.

In this book’s setting, powerful bloodlines like dragons, phoenixes, and Qilin have extremely strong erosive properties. Special cases like Wolftaken also work, capable of infiltrating the genetic material of other species.

Other Spirit Beasts without these bloodlines cannot reproduce offspring with each other.

Unless they transform into humans.

【This point of reproductive isolation, even in another World, must exist in most cases. If there were no reproductive isolation, it would be more terrifying than a biochemical crisis!】

70: Another storage wristband

“It’s already extinct,” Tang San said. “The soul beast encyclopedia records it that way, stating that the Dragon Rabbit, a Spirit Beast with true dragon bloodline, was highly sought after by many Spirit Masters with dragon-type Spirits, and it disappeared ten thousand years ago.”

“Then why are you even talking about it?” Xiao Wu, though capable of tracing its origins and condensing a Dragon Rabbit’s spirit ring with her hundred-thousand-year cultivation, couldn’t help but roll her eyes.

“That’s just what the soul beast encyclopedia records. Whether Dragon Rabbits still exist in the World is unknown, after all, the entire Douluo Continent hasn’t been fully explored by humans yet.” Tang San shrugged. “Since your Spirit is Soft Bones Rabbit, and you have innate full spirit power, your family must have information about Dragon Rabbits, right? Go find it yourself.”

Xiao Wu stared at Tang San for a long time, suspecting that he might have already guessed her true identity. Otherwise, given his meticulous nature, he wouldn’t be so nonchalant.

“What Spirit Ability can the Dragon Rabbit give me?” Xiao Wu shook her head, dispelling that thought from her mind, and then asked.

“The most important characteristic of the Dragon Rabbit is the dragon vein on its body, which is actually its spine,” Tang San slowly explained. “The Dragon Rabbit looks no different from an ordinary rabbit, and its spine doesn’t appear different from an ordinary rabbit’s. However, when its bloodline is activated, a peculiar force of vital energy spreads from its spine to its other bones, causing symmetrical golden dragon patterns to appear on its body, and it unleashes a skill called True Spirit Bone.”

“This skill can greatly strengthen and vitalize all of the Dragon Rabbit’s bones, making them as hard as steel when rigid and as flexible as ox tendons when soft. It can be said to be a perfect blend of rigidity and flexibility, as if all its bones have come alive and gained sentience.”

“Therefore, this skill is called True Spirit Bone, and the character ‘True’ signifies that a Spirit Master possessing this Spirit Ability can also comprehensively and without side effects enhance their own strength, just like unleashing their Martial Soul True Body.”

“Of course, it’s only similar, as it only involves the bones.”

“Thus, some people also call the True Spirit Bone skill the Rigid-Flexible Spirit Bone, naming it according to the characteristics of this Spirit Ability.”

True Spirit Bone?

Rigid-Flexible Spirit Bone?

Xiao Wu felt that the former name sounded better and was more concise.

But, Dragon Rabbit?

Spirit Ability: True Spirit Bone, it doesn’t conflict with her Waist Bow and Listening to the Wind, and to a certain extent, True Spirit Bone can even enhance these two skills.

After all, Waist Bow requires the strength of the waist, which naturally involves the spine; Listening to the Wind enhances the perception of the brain and five senses, especially the ears, which is related to the skull.

She was determined to get this spirit ring!

However, she was only level twenty-one now. The time needed to break through to level thirty would be longer than before, as the amount of spirit power required for each level increase for a Spirit Master was more than the previous level.

At the Titled Douluo level, each level's advancement, besides requiring the body and mental force to meet the demands and having unique insights and understandings of one's own Spirit, also required double the spirit power of the previous level.

Xiao Wu estimated it would take about two years, reaching level thirty before she turned nine or nearly ten. Tang San, who started cultivating to level twenty before her, would likely reach level thirty at eight, but probably closer to nine.

No, she had to cultivate even harder and not be outdone by him.

Xiao Wu secretly vowed, returned to her room, lay on her bed, and began meditating to absorb the energy of the World, refining it into spirit power to improve her cultivation.

In a blink of an eye, three months passed quickly.

The storm over whale glue on the Continent had gradually subsided. Most of the whale glue on the market had been completely plundered by various major powers. Whale glue was no longer available in apothecaries, and people from major powers who wanted whale glue mostly had to try their luck at various auction houses.

The remaining few were contemplating how to hunt and kill whale Spirit Beasts in the deep sea.

Although whale glue was enticing, the dangers of the deep sea also deterred a large number of Spirit Masters who wanted to explore. Currently, only Spirit Hall, Heaven Dou Empire, and Star Luo Empire had allocated some manpower and resources to establish ocean exploration teams.

However, perfecting and truly beginning to explore the ocean was not something that could be accomplished overnight.

During these three months, Guang Ling had learned the common characters of the Douluo Continent, and even understood the general classification of Spirits, and her spirit power had also increased by two levels.

Three months, two levels of spirit power increase, sounds quite fast, but if you factor in the amount of whale glue she consumed daily, it was much slower. Her cultivation speed could be said to be only slightly faster than Wang Sheng's.

However, Guang Ling was not without advantages. When she used her Spirit to shoot arrows, she was very accurate. Within seven meters, she could hit whatever she aimed at, but beyond seven meters, her accuracy began to decrease.

Don't think seven meters is too short; for a six-year-old girl, it was already very good.

Moreover, when using a regular bow, Guang Ling's current strength was also enough to draw the bowstring. After all, she had consumed whale glue for three months, and her physique had gradually improved.

As for what system of Spirit Master Guang Ling would become in the future, Tang San hoped she would become a long-range attack system type, as her Spirit had already determined her primary attack method.

However, every archer shouldn't just be powerful at long range; close combat skills were also necessary, at least to protect oneself when others got close.

Just like Zeqi in the second season of Fog Hill of Five Elements, that was truly impressive.

While Tang San had Guang Ling practice Spirit Abilities and archery, he also had her spar with him and Xiao Wu in hand-to-hand combat, even allowing her to use her Spirit Bow as a weapon.

For Guang Ling, with too little spirit power and too weak strength, any advantage she had should naturally be utilized without restriction, otherwise, it would be too unfair to her, even if Tang San and Xiao Wu did not use their Spirits and suppressed their spirit power.

In addition, Su Yuntao, Sisi, Wang Sheng, and other Spirit Hall personnel, when free, would also be called over by Tang San to be sparring partners for the three of them.

And Tang San would not let them be sparring partners for nothing.

If someone needed to hunt a spirit ring, he would guide them on which Spirit Beast was more suitable.

If someone didn't understand how to use a Spirit Ability they had already obtained, he would tell them when to use it and how to better control the amount of spirit power injected when using it.

If they lacked nothing, he would directly hire them with money.

And so on. Tang San would never take advantage of them without offering anything in return, but would repay them with suitable compensation for what each of them needed.

And with the start of Notting Academy, the remuneration Spirit Hall had promised him for his theories on the evolution of ancient and modern spirit rings and the factors affecting a Spirit Master's ability to withstand spirit rings was issued.

It was still one hundred thousand gold coins, plus a storage soul tool.

The spirit tool was still a wristguard, looking like it was part of the same set as the one he wore on his left hand, but Tang San gave it to Guang Ling.

"Thank you, big brother." Guang Ling put the wristguard on her right wrist, injected spirit power, and the storage wristguard shrunk to fit her skin, becoming the right size for Guang Ling. "It's the same style as big brother's left wrist!"

71: Guangling goes to school and whether the plant martial spirit is a weapon martial spirit

Your spirit power is only at level five. Just get familiar with it; don't use it carelessly, or your spirit power will quickly be depleted.

Tang San and Xiao Wu accompanied Guang Ling into Notting Academy and instructed, "When you're at school, make more friends with children your age. Don't think that just because your spirit power is higher and your strength is greater than theirs, you can bully them, unless they provoke you first."

"We are poor people. We don't cause trouble, but we shouldn't be afraid of trouble either. If someone really comes looking for trouble, hit them back."

Poor people?

Xiao Wu Jie, who was beside them, was full of questions. What poor family had over a hundred thousand gold coins?

But Xiao Wu Jie didn't say much and also said, "Don't worry, if you can't win, just tell Xiao Wu Jie, and I will definitely help you hit them back."

"Thank you, Brother, Xiao Wu Jie."

Guang Ling was very touched.

Accompanied by the two, Guang Ling entered the school gate and found that the gatekeeper also greeted Tang San and Xiao Wu, apparently recognizing these two students who had already become Spirit Masters.

However, no one in the school actually knew that Tang San and Xiao Wu had already become Spirit Grandmasters, and that their second spirit ring was even at the thousand-year level.

Wang Sheng?

He had already graduated and was no longer a student at Notting Academy.

After accompanying Guang Ling to watch the opening ceremony, Xiao Wu looked at Tang San, who had a nostalgic expression, and asked speechlessly, "We clearly don't need to come and watch the opening ceremony. It's so boring. Why do you look so interested?"

"That's my lost youth."

Tang San showed a sighing expression, leaving Xiao Wu full of questions, not knowing what kind of madness he was having again—Brother San was good in every way, except that sometimes he would say strange things.

"Guang Ling, from now on, except for weekends, you will live in the academy's work-study student dormitory. Interact more with others. If you only stay with me, Xiao Wu, and Ma Xiunuo, it will give you the illusion that Spirit Masters are all very cute and kind, and your personality won't grow."

Tang San instructed, "Besides cultivating and studying, also write a diary every day to record your daily gains and feelings."

"Who writes a diary if they're a normal person?" Xiao Wu pouted, blurting it out directly.

"See, if you don't write a diary, you'll be like Xiao Wu, speaking without thinking."

Tang San used Xiao Wu as a negative example to educate, "Although what she said sounds a bit reasonable, in reality, it's just an excuse for laziness. When she encounters problems in cultivation, she can only ask me for guidance and doesn't think much for herself; she's a bit笨."

"You're the stupid one!" Xiao Wu roared, "I'm very smart. I have an external brain, so why should I think for myself?"

"Yes, you have me as your external brain. Maybe in the future, if I sell you, you'll even have to help me count the money."

Tang San threatened.

"You wouldn't really sell me, would you?"

"What do you think?"

"Hmph, you wouldn't bear to, and besides, I'll tell Grandpa Jack."

"Oh dear! If you dare to tell on me today, you'll dare to hit people tomorrow, and the day after tomorrow, you'll dare to kick me out of Grandpa's house. It's truly terrifying. I must find a way to sell you!" Tang San said exaggeratedly.

"You're asking for death!"

Xiao Wu punched him, and Tang San dodged, not using Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track, but rather observing Xiao Wu's punching movements and responding in advance.

The Blue Silver Grass's perception of air fluctuations was also very keen.

After experimenting with Xiao Wu's second Spirit Ability, Listening to the Wind, Tang San also gained some understanding, mimicking the principle of this Spirit Ability, hoping to apply it to Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track in the future.

Guang Ling watched Tang San and Xiao Wu play-fighting, with envy in his eyes, but he also knew that his spirit power was currently low, and he was not yet worthy of truly joining in. He secretly vowed in his heart: "Brother, I will definitely become the one who stands by your side."

Tang San noticed Guang Ling's gaze gradually firming, and he also stopped joking with Xiao Wu, saying to her, "Keep it up! I look forward to your performance this semester."

"Mm."

Guang Ling nodded forcefully and, under the gaze of Tang San and Xiao Wu, walked into the teaching building to begin her first class.

"Have you decided what Spirit Beast to choose for Guang Ling's first spirit ring?"

Xiao Wu also became serious at this moment, no longer joking with Tang San. After all, over the past three months, she had seen Guang Ling's efforts and had a considerable fondness for her, and she also liked this cute little sister.

"Compared to your Soft Bones Rabbit and my Blue Silver Grass, which are Beast Spirits, her Spirit is a Tool Spirit, offering more choices. But specifically, I still need to research it. Moreover, I have expectations for her; I hope that after she reaches level ten, she can propose her own ideas for her first spirit ring."

Tang San stroked his chin, his eyes filled with anticipation, "If she can choose the Spirit Beast that suits her, she will truly become a strong person."

"Is your Blue Silver Grass a Beast Spirit?" Xiao Wu's focus was clearly not on the latter half of the sentence.

"Spirit Beasts are divided into animals and plants. Why, when it comes to Spirits, should plants like Blue Silver Grass be categorized as Tool Spirits?"

Tang San retorted, "You can't just consider plants as tools simply because they are held in the hand like sickles, hammers, iron swords, or bows, can you?"

"This judgment is actually not very rigorous. It should be called a plant-type Beast Spirit, rather than simply and crudely categorizing it as a Tool Spirit just because a plant Spirit is held in the hand like a Tool Spirit."

Xiao Wu nodded: "But, plant Spirits, like Tool Spirits, appear in the right hand."

"Which hand do you use to hold chopsticks and eat?" Tang San looked at Xiao Wu as if she were an idiot.

"My right hand? What's wrong?" Xiao Wu could feel the mockery in Tang San's eyes, but she endured it, perhaps because she was used to it. Who told her she wasn't as smart as him?

"Because most people are right-handed, so Tool Spirits also appear in the right hand. A small number of people have them appear in the left hand because they are left-handed and are used to using their left hand."

Tang San explained, "Last time I went with Tao Ge to help awaken Spirits, I saw three left-handers. They were all left-handed, and their Spirits also appeared in their left hand... Humans can sense Spirits, and similarly, Spirits can sense humans, making it convenient for humans to use them."

"So?" Xiao Wu Jie raised an eyebrow.

"Therefore, what you just said has absolutely no causal relationship with whether a plant Spirit is a Tool Spirit."

Tang San said, "If you calculate it that way, then that Mu Tian we saw before, when he released his Spirit, it was also after he made a movement with his right hand that the peculiar detached Spirit jumped out from him. Wouldn't that Earth Fire Lizard also be a Tool Spirit then?"

Xiao Wu suddenly realized: "So that's how it is. So, is this your next Spirit theory worth one hundred thousand gold coins that you're going to publish?"

"No, I'm just telling you a little bit. And if I were to publish it, this one would be worth less, probably only about ten thousand gold coins. After all, categorizing plant Spirits into Beast Spirits doesn't affect other plant-type Spirit Masters on the continent much. At most, they would just know they've been reclassified from Tool Spirit Masters to Beast Spirit Masters, plant-type. It doesn't significantly impact their lives or cultivation, as they mostly only choose plant Spirit Beasts when hunting Spirit Beasts."

72: Tang San's third soul ring pre-selection: Sun Moon Grass

Speaking of hunting Spirit Beasts, have you thought about what kind of Spirit Beast you want to hunt for your Third spirit ring?

Xiao Wu grew curious, holding up two fingers. "Your First Soul Skill is Endless Recovery, capable of drawing power from the earth to fully restore your and your teammates' status; your Second Soul Skill is positive and negative buffs, which can comprehensively strengthen you and your teammates, and also comprehensively weaken the enemy."

"Both of these Soul Skills are incredibly powerful, though they each have their flaws: they can't leave the ground and are easily dispersed by wind. But compared to the effects of these two Soul Skills, these two drawbacks are negligible, as there are relatively few Spirit Masters who can fly."

"Could it be that you hope your Third spirit ring will grant you a flying-type Soul Skill?"

Flying?

The Ten-thousand year Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone already possesses this ability, so why would he need another Soul Skill for flight?

Tang San shook his head, denying Xiao Wu's guess. He said, "Have you forgotten what I told you about spirit ring fusion before? I hope all my Soul Skills can complement each other, and the overlap in the spirit power circulation routes within each spirit ring shouldn't be too high."

"Just like the Soul Skills I chose for you, Listening to the Wind and the True Spirit Bone you'll choose when you reach level 30—their attributes won't conflict, and their Soul Skill effects are different, allowing for a relatively perfect combination."

"It will be of great help when cultivating spirit ring fusion in the future."

In Tang San's view, spirit ring fusion was far more potent than the Clear Sky Sect's Ring Explosion.

Ring Explosion was about detonating a spirit ring to unleash a momentary burst of power—though brilliant, it was fleeting and unsustainable.

But what about spirit ring fusion?

In Tang San's opinion, the technicality of spirit ring fusion was much higher than Ring Explosion. If it could be perfectly executed, it would undoubtedly allow a Spirit Master to unleash even more powerful and stable strength.

If Ring Explosion was likened to nuclear fission, then spirit ring fusion was nuclear fusion, and controllable nuclear fusion at that.

"How exactly does one cultivate spirit ring fusion?" Xiao Wu asked.

"I don't know."

Tang San shook his head. "The books don't explain how to fuse spirit rings, but it's definitely not just about controlling two spirit rings to move closer. It might involve the circulation of spirit power and other factors. I need to try it slowly—but don't mess around yourself. If it explodes, I can't revive you right now; I'd only be able to loot your corpse with tears."

"Don't underestimate me!" Xiao Wu was a little displeased, ignoring what "loot your corpse with tears" meant, and then asked, "Oh, right, you still haven't said what Spirit Beast you're choosing for your Third spirit ring."

"I'm still following the Life path; that won't change."

Tang San said, "My First spirit ring allowed Blue Silver Grass to absorb the power of the earth. My Second spirit ring allowed Blue Silver Grass to bear seeds. So, for my Third spirit ring, I hope my Blue Silver Grass can gain the ability to draw power from the sun."

"Or, to put it more fundamentally, the ability to grow by absorbing light."

"After all, plants inherently possess the characteristic of absorbing light to grow. Adding this to my Blue Silver Grass Spirit might not be impossible, and it could also increase the heat resistance of my Blue Silver Grass."

"With such requirements, a suitable plant-type Spirit Beast for my Third spirit ring would be quite difficult to find, but there are some animal-type Spirit Beasts that are quite suitable."

"For example, the Solar Lion. This Spirit Beast has an organ on its forehead, similar to a ruby, that can draw sunlight and convert it into immense Life force. It can also emit a crimson ray with extremely powerful penetrative force. A thousand-year-level Solar Lion can use this ray to pierce through a Spirit Saint's defenses."

"However, if I were to acquire this spirit ring, besides allowing my Blue Silver Grass to gain the ability to absorb sunlight, the Soul Skill would most likely be attack-oriented."

"I already have enough methods; there's no need to add another offensive one."

"Moreover, the Solar Lion, this type of Spirit Beast, exists in the Green Shade Grassland, located inland and near the sea in the Star Luo Empire. Although Nuoding City is not far from the Star Luo Empire, it is quite a distance from the Green Shade Grassland. Calculating our current speed, even if we were to travel non-stop without food, drink, or rest, it would still take more than half a year to reach there."

Xiao Wu was shocked: "That far?"

"Of course, did you think Douluo Continent was small?"

Tang San retorted, then changed the subject, "However, the unexplored areas are indeed much vaster compared to the parts that humans have already discovered and where cities and villages have been established."

"As for a suitable Spirit Beast for me, there's a plant-type Spirit Beast called Sun Moon Grass in a Desert near the edge of the Sunset Forest."

"Sun Moon Grass?" Xiao Wu had never heard of it. Living in the Star Dou Great Forest for so long, she had no knowledge of this plant-type Spirit Beast, and her face was full of confusion.

"This is a plant-type Spirit Beast that only survives in Desert oases. It absorbs sunlight during the day and moonlight at night, thereby storing the foundation to advance to ten-thousand years."

Tang San slowly revealed the unique qualities of the Sun Moon Grass. "The Sun Moon Grass Spirit Beast has a skill called Energy Storage, which allows it to retain absorbed energy within its body, forming a Sun Moon Pearl."

"The Soul Skill I need is this Sun Moon Pearl that can store energy. Otherwise, every time I'd have to first set up an Endless Grassland to draw power from the earth, which is too troublesome."

"When our spirit power is low, this isn't obvious, but once we become a Spirit Ancestor, the time needed for this preparation will become prominent."

It could be said that Tang San's primary goal in choosing the Sun Moon Grass was precisely for this Energy Storage Soul Skill.

According to the currently available information on Spirit Masters who have absorbed the Sun Moon Grass spirit ring, those Spirit Masters, depending on the names of their respective Spirits, named their skills things like Lion Soul Storage, Lone Wolf Soul Retention, Green Vine Energy Accumulation, and so on. However, the core skill is only one: storing energy.

Tang San believed that after his Blue Silver Grass acquired the Sun Moon Grass spirit ring, the Energy Storage skill it gained would certainly be more effective than those of other Spirits. After all, his Blue Silver Grass was merely the surface; its essence was the Blue Silver Emperor, the monarch among plant-type Spirit Beasts.

"An energy storage skill from Sun Moon Grass?"

Xiao Wu mused, "Indeed, this way, your Spirit can not only draw power from the earth but also from the sun and moon, and store all that energy for future use—speaking of which, do I need an energy storage skill?"

"You? No need." Tang San shook his head. "Haven't you noticed that all the Soul Skills I've provided for you are body-related? Speed still increases automatically with the rise in spirit power. What you need isn't an energy storage Soul Skill, but skills that enhance physical ability. As for the spirit ring's enhancement to your Spirit and physical body, for now, passively accepting it is fine. As long as it aligns with your Spirit, it can achieve maximum reinforcement."

For Xiao Wu, Tang San hoped to cultivate her into an extremely fast close-combat master. After all, those long legs, that scorpion tail whip, and that flexible waist—not utilizing martial arts would be a disservice to her Soft Bones Rabbit talent.

As for the Soft Bones Rabbit's other talents—the Teleportation, Paragon Golden Body, and other abilities demonstrated in the original work—they likely hinted at a slight spatial talent.

But there was no need to occupy one or two Soul Skill slots just for this tiny bit of spatial talent—just as Tang San had told Xiao Wu before, abilities like Teleportation and Paragon Golden Body could only be used for escape or for 'mowing grass.' Against someone stronger than her, Xiao Wu simply couldn't win.

In the original work, at the grand finale, Xiao Wu possessed three Ten-thousand year spirit rings, but she struggled greatly against Titled Douluo of the same realm, unable to achieve an overwhelming victory. She still had to rely on the Peacock Plume to severely injure enemies, and her only truly effective Soul Skills were Soft Bones Lock and (Explosive Kill) Eight-Stage Drop.

Therefore, it would be better to abandon that minuscule spatial talent and specialize in speed and martial arts.

When she later became a Titled Douluo, her speed would undoubtedly be as swift as wind and as fast as lightning. Coupled with a powerful physique, exquisite blade techniques, and precise control over spirit power, she might even be able to tear through space.

Furthermore, if Xiao Wu truly possessed spatial talent, wouldn't it be better for her to condense this talent into a Domain-like innate skill once her spirit power was high enough? Wouldn't that be much more appealing?

Why place it on a spirit ring's Soul Skill?

That would be a terrible waste.

Tang San believed that with the cultivation essence of a Ten-thousand year Spirit Beast, Xiao Wu would most likely awaken a certain Domain during the Spirit Saint stage. If he were to subtly guide her then, she would undoubtedly progress towards condensing a spatial Domain—

73: Blacksmithing, Thousand Forgings, Master Craftsman

Tang San had many plans for the future, but currently, his main direction was cultivating the techniques from the Xuan Tian Treasure Record, training his control over Soul Power, strengthening his physique with the Chaotic Cloak Hammer Technique, striving to grasp the laws of vibration, and researching Martial Soul cultivation theory.

As for the other transmigrators in this World, Tang San no longer cared.

A simple analysis would lead to the following conclusions:

If they transmigrated early but didn't cause trouble, could it be said that they lacked the ability to cause trouble? Or perhaps, they were afraid of disrupting the so-called plot and were timid?

Regardless of the above situations, this type of transmigrator was not to be feared.

Secondly, there were those who transmigrated around the same time as him, such as Mu Tian. If they didn't have too strong a cheat and only relied on their imagination without considering the actual situation, wanting to surpass him, they might as well go to bed early.

"I'm going to train my control over Soul Power. What are your plans later? Going to the blacksmith's to forge?" Xiao Wu asked.

"Yes, physical training is very important." Tang San nodded, "I've researched some deeper principles behind Wang Sheng's Tiger King's Blood Qi Transformation and came up with a better method for circulating blood qi. I want to try combining it with the Chaotic Cloak Hammer Technique to see if it will have a better body refining effect."

"Also, I want to try making Soul Guidance Devices. This thing might be one of the futures of this World..."

Parting ways with Xiao Wu at the entrance of the Spirit Hall, Tang San arrived at the blacksmith shop in Notting City. It was located in the south of Notting City, near the city wall, with a ditch nearby.

The blacksmith shop was set up here because there were fewer people, and the houses weren't built together. If a fire broke out, it wouldn't spread to other houses quickly, and the nearby ditch made it convenient to get Water.

Generally, these private small blacksmith shops were built far from the city center, for no special reason other than for safety.

"Tang San, you're here."

The Boss of the blacksmith shop was a kind middle-aged man, shirtless, with a muscular physique. Although he wasn't a Soul Master, just his strong muscles were very imposing.

In terms of strength, this Boss was even stronger than an ordinary Soul Master, of course, excluding Soul Masters whose Martial Souls were large animals.

"Boss Li, how's business recently?" Tang San asked.

"Just so-so, but the kitchenware and short weapons you forge are very popular among commoners, commoner Soul Masters, and even some nobles and soldiers from the Spirit Hall come to buy swords and the like." Boss Li said with a chuckle, "Speaking of which, Tang San, you are a Soul Master, you won't be forging all the time, right?"

"No." Tang San spoke the truth, laughing, "I forge mainly to train my body. After all, being a Soul Master also requires a strong physique. Haven't thousand-year whale jelly been hyped up to sky-high prices recently?"

Commoner Soul Masters like me can't afford it, so I can only forge to train my body."

"That's true. I heard that the Master who researches Martial Soul cultivation theory is also called Tang San, the same name as you." Boss Li laughed heartily and personally started the fire for Tang San's furnace.

"Just the same name."

Tang San shook his head and laughed, "If it were really me, why would I need to come here to forge? I would have long since taken the Golden Soul Coins issued by the Spirit Hall to buy thousand-year whale jelly to eat."

"Indeed, but I heard that the thousand-year whale jelly in other cities has already been snatched up. You can't buy it even if you have the money." Boss Li laughed heartily, occasionally telling jokes with Tang San and the other blacksmith apprentices to pass the boring time while forging.

During the forging process, Tang San used the Chaotic Cloak Hammer Technique, borrowing strength to strike, and at the same time circulated his blood qi, wanting to combine the two. He found that his consumption was very fast.

What was consumed was not Soul Power, but physical strength.

But after eating his fill, his physical strength did increase slightly, and his strength also increased a little.

Combining blood qi circulation with the Chaotic Cloak Hammer Technique obviously had an effect, but Tang San knew that this was just the initial effect. The true method of blood qi circulation was still far from complete.

Tang San couldn't help but think of the standing meditation he had seen in short videos in his previous life and felt he could imitate it, but the specific methods, the unique breathing techniques used in that standing meditation, and the muscle movements of the whole body while standing, needed to be experimented with one by one by himself.

However, fortunately, Wang Sheng's First Soul Skill was the Tiger King's Blood Qi Transformation. When using this Soul Skill, Wang Sheng's own breathing frequency would also change. Tang San could record this and slowly modify it into the most suitable method for himself.

After perfecting it, Tang San estimated that he could create a cultivation technique that cultivates the physical body by circulating blood qi, which could be passed on to Xiao Wu and Guang Ling.

However, everyone's physique is different, and their Martial Souls are different. Even if they obtained it, they would probably need to modify it according to their own situations to make it more suitable for them.

In Tang San's opinion, a true divine cultivation manual should allow people, after understanding it, to adjust it according to their own situations when cultivating.

After all, everyone's physical condition is different. Even if the locations of the meridians are similar, there are still some differences.

Can you say that the meridians of a six-year-old child are in the exact same location as those of an adult?

Ding ding ding!

In the process of circulating blood qi and training the Chaotic Cloak Hammer Technique, Tang San seemed to find a trace of the law of vibration. His whole body moved, and the forging hammer in his hand struck the iron block. The impurities within were gradually forged out.

Finally, that red-hot iron block, under Tang San's continuous hammering, actually emitted a trace of silver Light.

Boss Li and the other blacksmiths noticed this scene and all showed incredible expressions, looking at the iron block forged by Tang San in shock.

"This is the legendary Thousand Refinements!"

Boss Li opened his mouth wide and muttered, "The Thousand Refinements that, according to legend, only a God-tier blacksmith can achieve!"

The God-tier blacksmiths of this era are far from comparable to the God-tier blacksmiths in dragon king legend. If we were to make a comparison, the God-tier blacksmiths of this era are only equivalent to a Level 4 Forging Master in dragon king legend.

Perhaps the God-tier blacksmiths of this era also have the ability to perform Spirit Forging, Fusion Forging, and other abilities, but before the emergence of Dou Kai, the status of blacksmiths was not high, and they didn't think about further exploring forging techniques. Even Lou Gao, the God-tier blacksmith of Gengxin City, stopped at Thousand Refinements.

However, in the original work, Lou Gao threw himself into the furnace and forged the Pear Blossom Storm Needle. That work should be considered Fusion Forging, or even Soul Forging.

And Tang San himself did not plan to become a blacksmith. As he said, forging was only to find the laws of vibration and train his body.

The extra gain was understanding the various metal materials in this World, so as to research Soul Guidance Devices in the future, reproduce Soul Guidance Devices, and then industrialize and popularize them.

As for forging techniques, this certainly cannot be lost. It can take the high-end route. After all, forging techniques that reach the Heavenly Forging level can create weapons comparable to divine artifacts.

"Whew~"

Tang San stopped, took out food from his storage wristband, and devoured it, but he chewed thoroughly before swallowing, recovering his physical strength.

Thousand Refinements, for him currently, was also quite strenuous.

The shelf testimonial will not be a separate chapter, it will be written here. Anyway, people who don't subscribe won't see it.

It was only on Wednesday that the editor sent a message, but because I've been relatively busy recently, I didn't notice it until yesterday when I noticed the message from the backend asking to discuss the shelving matter with the great editor.

Regarding the update guarantee, I will try to update twice a day, and try to finish the book without a 烂尾 (rànwěi - literally 'rotten tail', meaning a rushed or unsatisfactory ending).

Today is Sunday, I have more free time, I will try to update ten thousand characters. That's it.

74: Do you want it to be so real?

“Tang San, you’re amazing! Thousand Refinements can only be forged by a Divine Craftsman. This metal can already be used to make the legendary armor that can withstand a Spirit Saint’s attack.”

Boss Li couldn’t stop exclaiming, then regretfully added, “It’s just too small, only about half a hand in size.”

“Just good luck.” Tang San, having recovered, smiled and said, “Boss Li, before, I used the discarded scrap iron from the blacksmith shop to make a lot of tools. I guess I took advantage, so I’ll give you this piece of Thousand Refinements iron as payment.”

“How can that be?” Boss Li quickly shook his head. “Those scrap irons were useless anyway. You taking them to make tools is a form of recycling. But this Thousand Refinements iron is a treasure! In Gengxin City, it could sell for at least ten thousand gold coins or more. Besides, the weapons and cleavers you usually forge are more popular with customers, and I’ve earned quite a bit.”

“Boss Li, there’s no need to decline. One thing is one thing; I don’t want to take advantage of you,” Tang San insisted.

“Alright.” Seeing this, Boss Li accepted the piece of Thousand Refinements iron and said to Tang San, “If you ever need anything, just tell me. Although we aren’t Spirit Masters, there are many people in my blacksmith shop, and everyone has a lot of strength. Even if it’s a Spirit Master, if we take our forging hammers and some lime powder, we might not lose.”

Tang San was dumbfounded, but he accepted the good intentions of Boss Li and the others.

After Boss Li obtained this piece of Thousand Refinements iron, he prepared to personally grind it into a dagger, making it his masterpiece for life.

Tang San had gained a lot of insight today and planned to go back early. Boss Li also agreed, as Tang San's forging efficiency was unmatched by others; he could come whenever he wanted.

"Boss, I want to forge a weapon."

Just then, a young man arrived outside the blacksmith shop. He was wearing a white tight-fitting suit, looking extremely neat, but the material was not ordinary cotton and linen used by common people, but silk spun by some kind of silkworm Spirit Beast.

This person was either rich or noble.

Not only Tang San, but Boss Li also noticed him and quickly walked over, a smile plastered on his face: "What weapon does the guest wish to forge?"

"My Spirit is a spear, and I want to forge a long spear exactly like my Spirit." The young man released his Spirit, which was indeed a long spear, entirely silver, with a rather large spearhead, almost like a short sword, and a dragon pattern on it. "This is my Spirit, the Dragon Patterned Spear."

Boss Li's expression suddenly became troubled, and he said, "Guest, we cannot forge it."

"Hmm?"

The young man was stunned. He glanced at Tang San and asked, "Can't he forge it? I saw from afar earlier that you seemed excited because he forged a good piece of iron. Can't you use that iron?"

"It's not a technical reason." Boss Li said with a bitter smile, "If the guest merely wants us to forge a long spear exactly like your Spirit, everyone here can forge it individually. However, we cannot forge it."

“Why?” The young man frowned. “Since it’s not a technical reason, why can’t you forge it?”

“It’s simple. Long weapons like spears are not something we common folk can forge casually.”

Boss Li explained the reason, “Spirit Hall, the Heaven Dou Empire, and even the Star Luo Empire all have regulations for blacksmith shops like ours. Swords and sabers are fine, but long-handled weapons like long spears, halberds, and long sabers, except for staffs, cannot be forged. These are weapons of war. If we forge them privately, we will be considered as plotting rebellion or having connections with rebels.”

“For someone like you, whose Spirit is a spear, inherited from your parents, the Three Great Empires cannot control that. But long spear-type weapons are very strictly controlled.”

“Perhaps you, guest, just came from a large family, so you don’t know about these situations.”

The young man was a little dumbfounded.

His name was Yang Long, and he indeed came from a certain family, specifically the Breaking Clan. His Dragon Patterned Spear Spirit mutated from the Soul Breaking Spear. He had innate spirit power of rank eight, and at fifteen years old, his cultivation had reached rank thirty-five.

In addition, he had another identity: a transmigrator who knew the plot of the Douluo Continent.

Originally, Yang Long wanted to persuade Yang Wudi to join Spirit Hall, and then—he was almost beaten to a pulp by Yang Wudi. The other members of the Breaking Clan, even the younger generation, were quite impatient. Influenced by the older generation, they didn’t even consider Spirit Hall.

Helpless, he could only think of developing the clan in other directions.

Then, he discovered that this World was much larger than he had imagined

Initially, Yang Long planned: to have Yang Wudi lead the clan to Sunset Forest to find the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, seize the Immortal Herbs, and then... there was no “then.”

The first step couldn't even be carried out.

Sunset Forest was much larger than he imagined, with a diameter of at least a thousand kilometers. Even a Titled Douluo could not explore the entire forest region.

The first time he told Yang Wudi that there might be treasures deep within Sunset Forest, Yang Wudi didn't react at all... At first, he thought Yang Wudi might not believe a child's words, but later he understood that everyone knew there were unexplored areas deep within Sunset Forest, possibly containing unknown treasures.

But what good was knowing?

Without Titled Douluo-level strength, venturing into the deeper regions of Sunset Forest was a big problem, and the Soul Breaking Spear of the Breaking Clan, being a long weapon, was not suitable for use in the forest at all.

Although there was a saying that “the longer the weapon, the stronger it is,” Yang Wudi told him:

Read more books. Long weapons are best used on the battlefield. If your weapon is longer than the enemy's, you can stab the enemy first. But in a one-on-one fight, there are many more factors to consider, especially in a forest. A long spear can only use the most basic moves, like thrusting. Other moves like sweeping or parrying are difficult to execute in an environment with many trees.

And destroying trees requires extra spirit power.

In a Spirit Beast forest, a Spirit Master must conserve stamina and spirit power as much as possible, avoiding unnecessary waste.

Afterward, Yang Long suggested befriending Dugu Bo, but Yang Wudi stated that he was accustomed to freedom and did not want to get involved with the Heaven Dou Empire.

Dugu Bo was an honored guest of the Heaven Dou Empire, openly siding with the Heaven Dou Empire. If the Breaking Clan befriended him, would they also have to side with the Heaven Dou Empire?

Anyway, other factions would think so.

And Spirit Hall was just looking for an excuse to deal with and subdue their Breaking Clan!

Later, Yang Long gave up thinking and began to cultivate step by step. Reaching rank thirty-five at fifteen years old was already very fast, not even worse than someone with innate full spirit power.

However, Yang Long was not satisfied and prepared to seek other opportunities.

For example: Tang San's Mysterious Heaven Skill.

Although Tang San did not give Mysterious Heaven Skill to anyone in Douluo Dalu, Yang Long felt that he might not necessarily fail to obtain it, after all, Tang San cared deeply for Xiao Wu.

Therefore, he traveled over mountains and through long journeys, spending more than half a year, and finally found Nuoding City... He swore that anyone who said the Douluo Continent was small again, he would argue with them fiercely.

Along the way, besides purchasing supplies, he also heard about the Wuhun News, which published Spirit Hall's new positioning for Spirit Masters and theoretical knowledge such as the function of whale glue, but he was not in the mood to pay attention to any of it.

After all, traveling was too tiring, and he had no energy to read newspapers.

It wasn't until he arrived in Nuoding City that he felt a bit more energetic and planned to find a blacksmith shop to see if he could meet Tang San, and incidentally pay him to provide a service.

But, long spears couldn't be forged?

This damned feudal society, did it have to be so realistic?

Although this was another World, the number of Spirit Masters was not large, so restricted weapons should exist.

75: Forge a spear? no!

“Are you sure it won’t work?”

Yang Long asked in a deep voice. He wanted to forge a Dragon Patterned Spear similar to his Spirit. It wasn't specifically to have Tang San serve him, but rather he wondered if he could merge his Spirit with a real spear, thereby increasing the quality of his Spirit.

As a transmigrator, he naturally knew about battle armor. Although there wasn't even a shadow of it in this World, he felt that he could use his Spirit to refine a real spear, improve the quality of his Spirit, and then store it within his body.

If Tang San knew of this idea, he would only say it was a pipe dream.

A Spirit is a Spirit, and metal is metal. Battle armor could be stored within the body because the metal used to forge it had to be at least Spirit refined, possessing a negligible spark of sentience, and containing corresponding Spirit guiding patterns that could circulate spirit power and form a connected Spirit guiding pattern.

Alternatively, it could be directly nurtured by divine force to become a semi-divine artifact.

At the very least, it had to be a four-word battle armor.

Forging a spear with ordinary Hundred Refinements or Thousand Refinements metal, without closed Spirit guiding patterns inscribed on it, Yang Long would simply not succeed.

However, this method, of merging a Spirit with a real weapon for use, would likely increase a Spirit Master's understanding of their Spirit and improve their cultivation speed.

After all, this could be considered a type of mimetic cultivation environment, just an extremely special one.

Tang San was currently capable of Thousand Refinements, but Yang Long couldn't afford the price. Thousand Refinements iron was one price, but a spear forged from Thousand Refinements iron was another price entirely.

Not to mention, a spear was also contraband.

“It really won’t work, customer.”

Boss Li looked a bit helpless. “I hear from your accent, customer, that you’re not from around here. You must have seen many Spirit Masters and commoners. Besides those in Spirit Hall, the Heaven Dou Empire, the Star Luo Empire’s knight orders and soldiers, and those whose Spirit is a spear, who else carries a spear?”

“Perhaps there are blacksmith shops that would forge it for you, as long as the price is right... but our blacksmith shop cannot. I have so many apprentices here, and I need to be responsible for them.”

Yang Long was silent for a moment, then asked, “Are there other blacksmith shops here?”

“No, Nuoding City only has mine.”

Boss Li said, “Customer, I suggest you forge weapons like daggers or short knives. They are very effective for hunting Spirit beasts and self-defense. A spear is indeed a bit difficult to wield in the forest.”

“Then forget it.” Yang Long shook his head and looked at Tang San. “This one looks young, but he should be the best blacksmith here, right? What’s your name? Can you privately forge a spear for me?”

“His name is Tang San. He’s a student at Notting Academy, and he’s the best at forging here, not an apprentice. But customer, a spear really cannot be made.” Boss Li introduced Tang San, and also reminded Tang San not to be foolish and forge contraband for money, lest he be arrested by Spirit Hall or the City Lord's Mansion afterwards, which would be difficult to get out of.

Yang Long ignored Boss Li and stared intently at Tang San.

"Another one." Tang San sighed inwardly and said, "I don't take private jobs. This is also a taboo in every industry. It seems, sir, that you don't have much experience in dealing with people. Even if you want me to forge it, you'd have to wait until I leave, and then come to me privately, wouldn't you? Asking me like this, even if I could forge it, I can't now. Otherwise, if you commit a crime, others will be the first to implicate me."

Hearing Tang San say this, Boss Li breathed a sigh of relief, and the other apprentices also brightened up.

Yang Long's mouth twitched. He didn't know what to say, and could only say, "My Spirit is a Dragon Patterned Spear. It shouldn't matter if I hold a real spear, right?"

"It does matter. Maintaining a Spirit requires spirit power, while a real spear can exist indefinitely, and anyone can use it." Tang San shook his head. "Their natures are different. Moreover, if you accidentally lose the spear and someone picks it up, I'll still be implicated in the end."

"No, that won't happen. If you forge it to be heavier, over a hundred jin, others won't be able to use it. My strength is quite considerable." Yang Long had been receiving medicinal baths since childhood, making him quite strong.

"A hundred jin, and even more?" Tang San shook his head. "I have to say, customer, you really have no concept of weight. Even if you have a thousand jin of strength, the most suitable weight for a weapon you can wield for a long time is around ten jin. The weight should even decrease, and at most, it shouldn't exceed twenty jin."

"Otherwise, what's the use if you can only lift it?"

“If it’s for training your lifting ability, dumbbells are better.”

The implication was that this was a real World, not a game. Even if you had a thousand jin of strength, you couldn’t use a thousand jin heavy weapon.

Even the Tang San in the original novel, his Sea God Trident only weighed one hundred and eight jin in his hands, but the power it exerted externally was the effect of a hundred and eight thousand jin of weight.

If a person with a thousand jin of strength could wield a thousand jin heavy weapon with impressive ferocity, then they would have to consider if they were living in a dream woven by others.

“If you insist on me forging a spear, and its weight must be over a hundred jin, then even if the customer has a thousand jin of strength, this spear would not be for combat, but for training. I think the heaviest weight suitable for the customer would be around fifty jin.”

Tang San continued, “After all, a thousand jin of strength can only be in an explosive state, not a normal state, right?”

Yang Long had nothing to say. After all, Tang San’s analysis was indeed logical and well-reasoned. Moreover, his own strength hadn’t reached a thousand jin. Without the enhancement of spirit power, he could only lift objects weighing nearly nine hundred jin, and had not yet reached the true physical strength of a thousand jin.

If he really carried a hundred jin heavy spear, it might indeed become a burden, just as Tang San analyzed.

Although weighted training was effective, if the degree wasn’t managed well, undetectable internal injuries might be left behind, which would be more trouble than it was worth.

Within his clan, with Yang Wudi watching, there were no problems, but outside, he couldn’t control his internal condition and couldn’t detect if any hidden injuries were left behind.

“Alright, I want a fifty-jin spear. Can you forge it?” Yang Long decided to listen to the “protagonist’s” advice.

“No, didn’t I say before? A spear is contraband.” Tang San shook his head.

“Even the kind I use for practice, you can’t forge?” Yang Long felt Tang San was playing with him, and his tone became a bit heavy.

“That kind is acceptable, as we need to consider the commoner children whose Spirit is a spear.” Tang San’s tone shifted. “However, the customer must first register with Spirit Hall, and then go to the Nuoding City Lord’s Mansion to register with the City Lord, obtaining joint permission from both parties, which means getting two stamps on your Spirit certificate.”

Yang Long was dumbfounded: “That troublesome? Can commoner Spirit Masters whose Spirit is a spear get the stamps?”

“The Spirit Hall stamp can be obtained, but the City Lord’s Mansion stamp is not guaranteed. It requires gifts, and for commoner children, they simply cannot meet the City Lord.” Tang San sighed. “However, with the Spirit Hall stamp, commoner children can use wooden spears, which is sufficient for them while they are still attending junior Spirit Master academies. And if they can become Spirit Masters before graduation, then their talent is acceptable, and the City Lord will no longer make things difficult for them.”

Yang Long: “...”

76: Theory published again: Diversification of battlefields

After telling Yang Long all this, Tang San didn't wait for his response. He said goodbye to Boss Li, then turned and left. He didn't have much time to chat with him.

It wasn't until Tang San's figure disappeared down the street that Yang Long reacted and asked Boss Li, "Where is Spirit Hall? And where is the City Lord's Mansion?"

"Guest, Spirit Hall is in the center of Nuoding City, near Notting Academy, and the City Lord's Mansion is near the east of the city, where it's most prosperous," Boss Li said respectfully.

Yang Long left after hearing this.

On the other side, after Tang San returned to Spirit Hall, he walked directly to the backyard and saw Xiao Wu practicing. He said, "An uninvited guest has arrived in Nuoding City. Be careful when you go out."

"An uninvited guest?" Xiao Wu stopped practicing climbing trees and asked curiously, "What does he look like?"

"He's a bit more handsome than average, with short hair, wearing a white close-fitting outfit, but the material is very good, indicating he's from a prominent family," Tang San said. "He might come to Spirit Hall later. I'll take you out to see him."

"Oh~"

Xiao Wu noted down these characteristics.

Xiao Wu had no good feelings towards prominent families. Besides the possibility that powerful individuals might notice her identity, more importantly, through her understanding of the noble students at Notting Academy, Xiao Wu felt that the more prominent the noble family, the more absurd they were.

It was a very simple way of thinking, but in Tang San's view, in this era, having such thoughts was a powerful tool for self-protection, preventing one from being deceived.

When Yang Long arrived at Spirit Hall and saw Tang San and Xiao Wu, he was a little surprised, but he still walked over and said, "Little brother Tang San, you're also at Spirit Hall?"

"Yes, is the guest really here for Spirit Hall's stamp?" Tang San nodded first, then asked, "Given your status, you must be a Spirit Master, right? Why come to this small Nuoding City?"

Yang Long's gaze involuntarily fell on Xiao Wu. Although he immediately looked away, Xiao Wu, who had been warned by Tang San, noticed it, and her eyes immediately narrowed slightly: "That glance just now was definitely not because I'm cute."

"Cough!" Yang Long pretended to cough and said, "Of course, it's to strengthen my power. Traveling the continent and undertaking adventures are the best ways to temper oneself."

Adventure? Travel?

Does he not even know the basic common sense that long weapons like this cannot be forged?

Tang San secretly complained, then smiled and said, "Adventure? That's indeed good. I want to explore overseas in the future."

"Hmm, that's a good idea." Yang Long replied perfunctorily, then asked, "Are you two also Spirit Masters?"

"Yes," Tang San nodded, "We are both Spirit Grandmasters."

Spirit Grandmasters already?

Yang Long was startled, secretly marveling at the power of Mysterious Heaven Skill and the extraordinary talent of a 100,000-year human-form Spirit Beast.

If this weren't Spirit Hall, he would have directly captured Xiao Wu and threatened Tang San to hand over Mysterious Heaven Skill.

As for Tang Hao, Yang Long wasn't worried. According to his understanding, although that guy would watch Tang San, he would at most follow him during Spirit hunting. In daily life, he would definitely not constantly stare; most of his time should be spent guarding that Blue Silver Emperor.

After chatting with Yang Long for a moment or two, Tang San took Xiao Wu and left Spirit Hall.

"That's him? Sure enough, he's a wolf in sheep's clothing." Xiao Wu felt that the other party was not good news because she felt greed in that person's eyes, most likely wanting to abduct her.

"His Spirit is the Dragon Patterned Spear. I'm not sure what his abilities are, but he's definitely a close-combat control-type attack system Spirit Master. Although a spear Spirit can also be thrown, giving it some ranged ability, his spirit power shouldn't be strong, not exceeding Spirit Ancestor, and the throwing distance won't exceed a hundred meters."

Tang San analyzed Yang Long's situation for Xiao Wu, "Moreover, his Spirit Ability must be attack-oriented."

"Why?" Xiao Wu was puzzled.

"For Spirit Masters with spear-type Spirits adding spirit rings, there's only one main purpose: to make their penetration stronger," Tang San said. "So they must all be offensive Spirit Abilities. Also, his Dragon Patterned Spear has a dragon pattern on it. I estimate that when he hunts Spirit Beasts, he will also choose Spirit Beasts with dragon bloodline."

On the continent, there was no special saying about this.

However, for a transmigrator, if their awakened Spirit has a dragon pattern, they would definitely guess whether their Spirit is related to true dragons, and then nine out of ten times, they would choose Spirit Beasts with dragon bloodline.

And the Spirit Abilities provided by dragon-type Spirit Beasts to Spirit Masters, except for Spirits like the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda that can only produce specific Spirit Abilities, for other Spirits absorbing dragon-type Spirit Beasts, the greatest possibility is to obtain an attack-oriented Spirit Ability, followed by enhancement-type. control system and support system Spirit Abilities are generally impossible to produce from Spirit Beasts with dragon bloodline.

Of course, some attack system skills can also achieve control, such as shattering the entire ground with one punch, changing the environment, creating smoke, obstructing the enemy's vision, and hindering the enemy's movement.

This was another classification.

"Between a spear Spirit and my scorpion tail braid, which one is more powerful?" Xiao Wu pulled the braid behind her to the front, swinging the wooden short knife tied to its end.

"Each has its advantages. A weapon like a spear is most suitable for the battlefield, while yours is suitable for one-on-one combat. However, when you have more spirit power later and become more flexible, if the wooden short knife is replaced with a Thousand Refinements short sword that can cut on both sides, it can unleash even greater power," Tang San evaluated objectively.

"It seems that I, Xiao Wu Jie, am invincible in a one-on-one fight." Xiao Wu became smug.

"That's not necessarily true. In a one-on-one fight, others don't necessarily have to fight you in an arena. Outside the arena, others might gang up on you, and all sorts of dirty tricks might be used. You must always be careful," Tang San warned.

"Hmph, anyway, they're no match for me."

Xiao Wu was full of confidence.

In the blink of an eye, half a month passed.

Tang San published another article, mainly by analyzing the confrontations between various academies in past Spirit Master competitions, criticizing how the competition venues limited the power of some Spirit Masters while strengthening the power of others.

Among them, Tang San specifically pointed out the limitations of the Spirit Master competition venue and the Spirit Fighting Arena on agility-attack system Spirit Masters. Such a small venue prevented both reconnaissance-type agility-attack system and assassination-interference-type agility-attack system from fully utilizing their greatest advantages.

Therefore, Tang San suggested to Spirit Hall that for large-scale Spirit Master competitions, multiple competition venues could be created, and then a draw by spinning a wheel or drawing lots could determine which venue the two sides would fight in.

In this way, all types of Spirit Masters could encounter battle venues suitable for their performance, and also have to act in venues unfavorable to their Spirit's combat style.

This would be fairer to all types of Spirit Masters.

Moreover, this would also allow Spirits to gain more combat experience in other environments, so that whether they go hunting Spirits in corresponding natural environments or travel the continent for adventures in the future, they can cultivate some experience in surviving in these extreme environments in advance.

77: You think it's expensive, I still think it's expensive

Spirit City.

The supervisor of the Wuhun News Agency received Tang San's letter, immediately went to the Supreme Pontiff Palace, and handed the letter to Bibi Dong.

Watching Tang San describe the influence of environment on Spirit Master combat power in his theory, Bibi Dong nodded slightly; she knew how much environmental factors could boost a Spirit Master's strength.

Ordinary fighting arenas were paved with bare stones and slabs, and were quite small. Even if they were around a hundred meters long and wide, they still greatly restricted agility-attack system Spirit Masters.

If the competition venues were diversified, creating battlefields like Desert, swamps, forests, grasslands, and rivers, it could increase the entertainment value of the competition to a certain extent.

At the same time, diversified environmental venues could also make it easier for organizers to see if participating Spirit Masters could reasonably apply their abilities.

In the eyes of Bibi Dong and other Titled Douluo, whether a Spirit Ability was powerful or not was actually irrelevant; the competition was about the quantity and quality of spirit power. Out of nine Spirit Abilities, basically only the few powerful ones would be used, while the others would largely be ignored.

However, for non-Titled Douluo, being able to reasonably apply different Spirit Abilities in different environments was crucial.

Bibi Dong had already thought that if the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament were to introduce diverse venues in the future, Spirit Masters would surely focus on training and adapting in multiple environments during their daily practice.

In the future, Spirit Hall would save a lot of training effort when recruiting Spirit Masters.

“Truly remarkable.” Bibi Dong instructed the supervisor of the Wuhun News Agency to print it in tomorrow’s Wuhun News, then called Chrysanthemum Douluo and said, “Tang San has great talent. I want to bring him here, but I’m worried his talent might be wasted by the rigid teaching of Wuhun Academy. Yet, as long as he doesn’t join Spirit Hall, I feel uneasy, always sensing that something unexpected might happen.”

Chrysanthemum Douluo understood, bowed, and said, “Supreme Pontiff, Tang San’s Spirit is a mutated Blue Silver Grass, a plant Spirit. My Spirit is Strange Velvet Sky Chrysanthemum, also a plant Spirit. How about I go and take him as my disciple?”

“Do you think you are capable of teaching him?” Bibi Dong retorted, “With a genius’s arrogance, he will not acknowledge someone whose knowledge is inferior to his, even if you are a Titled Douluo.”

Chrysanthemum Douluo’s breathing hitched, but he did not refute. After all, Tang San’s genius was evident to all. Not to mention his recent theories on the optimal combination and evolution of ancient and modern spirit rings, the multiple factors affecting a Spirit Master’s spirit ring absorption, and the function of whale glue, his earliest published theory on Spirit Master self-analysis and positioning had already quietly changed the lives of a large portion of Spirit Masters on the continent.

In terms of strength, even if Tang San’s second spirit ring was a thousand-year one, he was still just a Spirit Grandmaster.

But in terms of influence on the entire continent's Spirit Masters, even the current Supreme Pontiff couldn't catch up—after all, the Supreme Pontiff basically never leaves Spirit City, and others' perception of her is limited to knowing that such a person exists.

Currently, among the Spirit Master community, the vast majority of people are grateful for Tang San's theories, which have changed their destinies, especially agility-attack system Spirit Masters, who have received unprecedented attention.

In the past, agility-attack system Spirit Masters lacked offensive power and seemed to be just making up the numbers in Spirit battles. In most cases, they only delivered the finishing blow when attack system and control system Spirit Masters were about to defeat the enemy, a rather awkward position.

But now, Tang San has discovered new uses for the agility-attack system: interference, assassination, and reconnaissance. The first two, agility-attack system Spirit Masters also accomplished, but no one had accurately defined them. The latter directly elevated the agility-attack system's position, incidentally raising the status of the Speed Clan on the continent significantly.

It could be said that Tang San has almost become the object of reverence for over ninety percent of the agility-attack system Spirit Masters on the continent, and because Spirit Hall has not released Tang San's information, they even believe that Tang San is also an agility-attack system Spirit Master.

After all, no one would have thought he was a support system, and a support system Spirit Master whose Spirit was Blue Silver Grass at that.

However, there were also people on the continent who opposed Tang San's theories.

For example: Healing System Spirit Masters and food system Spirit Masters. Because Tang San categorized these two into the support system, making them two subcategories of the support system, it made these two types of Spirit Masters very unhappy.

They could originally occupy two distinct categories with prominent reputations, but now, they were all lumped into the support system.

Recalling the recent news about the Spirit Master's world, Chrysanthemum Douluo couldn't help but sigh, thinking, "I truly am not qualified to teach such a disciple."

"My intention is for you to send someone to protect Tang San." Bibi Dong said, "Who do you think is suitable?"

"Ling Yuan."

Chrysanthemum Douluo thought for a moment and spoke a name.

"She is a Level 78 Spirit Saint, her Spirit is Wind Chime Bird, and her speed is second only to the Needle Tailed Swift of the Speed Clan. Moreover, she is only thirty years old now, with a chance to break through to the Titled Douluo level before fifty, though she is a bit reckless and aggressive."

"Sending her to protect Tang San will正好 temper her personality and allow her to cultivate her character for a period."

Bibi Dong pondered for a moment, then nodded and said, "She does have that kind of personality, a bit impetuous. Let her go, it will just make her more patient, and then she can become a qualified reconnaissance-type agility-attack system Spirit Master."

The order was given.

Chrysanthemum Douluo told Ling Yuan about this, and even if Ling Yuan didn't want to go, she couldn't refuse...

...

At the same time.

Nuoding City.

Tang San accepted Yang Long's order and prepared to forge a Dragon Patterned Spear exactly like his Spirit for him.

"Regarding forging techniques, how well can you forge the long spear?" Yang Long didn't understand forging much. Although he had watched "dragon king legend" in his previous life, he had skipped parts and only remembered Hundred Refinements and Thousand Refinements.

"I can perform Thousand Refinements," Tang San thought for a moment and replied truthfully.

"Good, then Thousand Refinements it is."

Yang Long naturally hoped that the Dragon Patterned Spear he had forged would be the best.

"Then the customer needs to pay more." Tang San said very directly, "The five hundred gold coin deposit you paid is not enough."

Yang Long frowned: "How much deposit is needed?"

Tang San was also impolite: "According to the market price for Thousand Refinements weapons, one piece costs at least 120,000 gold coins. What you want is a long spear, which is a long weapon and more expensive, requiring about 220,000 gold coins. The customer needs to pay at least 110,000 gold coins as a deposit."

"Aren't you robbing me?" Yang Long was furious. 110,000 gold coins, and that's just the deposit, with a final price of 220,000. Was he a fool?

The entire Breaking Clan didn't have that much money.

"Customer, don't get agitated. This is the market price for finished Thousand Refinements weapons. Those are divine weapons. This is already a discounted price."

Tang San motioned for the other party to calm down, “If you don’t believe me, just find a blacksmith shop in any city and ask; it’s all this price. Thousand Refinements metal isn’t expensive, but Thousand Refinements weapons are expensive. Those are weapons that only Divine Craftsman from Gengxin City can forge, not to mention that the customer wants the entire Dragon Patterned Spear to be Thousand Refinements.”

“If you think it’s expensive, I think it’s expensive too.”

Yang Long gritted his teeth in anger, really wanting to stab Tang San in the stomach with a watermelon knife. He tried hard to calm down and asked, “What’s the cheapest price?”

“If the customer is willing to provide the metal himself, then it can be cheaper by ten thousand gold coins.”

Tang San revealed a smile like a shrewd merchant.

“After all, you know I need to make money, and the blacksmith shop I work at also needs income. After deducting costs, we need to earn at least about fifty percent. Otherwise, spending so much time and effort to forge such a Thousand Refinements weapon, only to sell it for a price slightly higher than the cost, it would be better to forge more tools like kitchen knives, scissors, and saws, at least those can be sold for three to ten times their cost price.”

78: When you come out to hang out, you need to talk about your power and background.

Yang Long pondered repeatedly, then asked, "I can't afford the Thousand Refinements one; I didn't bring enough money. How much is the Hundred Refinements one?"

"One hundred thousand, and the customer needs to pay fifty thousand gold coins as a deposit," Tang San said without hesitation.

"Are you really not trying to scam me?" Yang Long released his Spirit, the Dragon Patterned Spear, and three spirit rings—two yellow and one purple—appeared. The fluctuation of his spirit power attracted the attention of Boss Li and the apprentices in the blacksmith shop.

People on the street immediately scattered upon seeing this, but many secretly peeked over, and some even ran to find Spirit Hall personnel.

"What's wrong, customer? Did Tang San offend you in some way?"

Boss Li forced a smile, his body trembling slightly.

If the young man in front of him were just a Spirit Master, he wouldn't be afraid; he could gather his apprentices and kick him out.

But the other party was a Spirit Elder and even had a thousand-year spirit ring.

He truly couldn't afford to offend him.

"Hmph! This blacksmith is ripping me off! He said a Thousand Refinements Dragon Patterned Spear costs over two hundred thousand gold coins, and a Hundred Refinements one costs one hundred thousand. Isn't that just robbery?" Yang Long pointed at Tang San's nose and cursed.

"This... Actually, this price is quite fair." Boss Li glanced at Tang San, who shrugged helplessly. He knew that Hundred Refinements and Thousand Refinements indeed commanded those prices, and Tang San wasn't being exorbitant.

Yang Long was enraged and was about to teach this blacksmith shop owner, who was clearly siding with Tang San, a lesson. However, neat footsteps approached from not far away. Spirit Hall patrol knights, dressed in Western-style armor and holding long spears, arrived. There were seventeen of them in total.

Among them, the youngest was only twelve years old—it was Wang Sheng.

And the leader was none other than Su Yuntao.

"Fighting is forbidden in the city! Quickly retract your Spirit and spirit rings, or we will consider you disturbing the order of Nuoding City, and our Spirit Hall has the right to apprehend you!" Su Yuntao shouted.

"Hmph! Spirit Hall!"

Yang Long retracted his spirit rings, snorted coldly, and said, "Someone is extorting money, aren't you going to do anything about it?"

"Our Spirit Hall does not handle civil disputes. You should go find an official under the City Lord," Su Yuntao said sternly. "However, since you are a Spirit Master, we can take a moment to hear your side. Also, the owner of the blacksmith shop, you can also explain the situation."

"It's like this, Master Su..." Boss Li recounted the entire incident, and Tang San and the other apprentices all corroborated his story.

Su Yuntao was also surprised by the price of Thousand Refinements weapons, but he believed Tang San wouldn't scam people in such matters, nor would the blacksmith shop owner. After all, if they truly did that, the blacksmith shop wouldn't be able to stay open. Once the news spread, no one would come there to buy kitchenware, farm tools, or unrestricted weapons anymore.

Moreover, even if Tang San genuinely intended to scam him, he would still firmly stand with Tang San. After all, he wasn't familiar with Yang Long, and Yang Long's attitude was overly arrogant... Could a noble just be unreasonable?

"I understand the situation now. Thousand Refinements weapons are indeed this price. Little San and the blacksmith shop owner did not scam you," Su Yuntao said. "Don't think that just because you're a noble, you can force others to lower their prices."

"I am not a noble," Yang Long retorted.

"Ordinary people can't afford clothes made of such fine fabric, and even if a Spirit mutates, it's unlikely to become that powerful." Although Spirit mutation was indeed possible, Su Yuntao felt he was in the right. And speaking of which, he changed the subject, saying, "I don't care whether you're a noble or not. In any case, you cannot fight on the street within Nuoding City."

Yang Long was fuming internally, but facing the fourteen Spirit Grandmasters and Spirit Masters led by Su Yuntao, he truly didn't dare to make a move.

He believed he wasn't incapable of winning, but he was afraid of offending Spirit Hall.

Tang San said, "Customer, do you still want a long spear? An ordinary all-iron long spear is much cheaper, only one hundred gold coins."

"No, return my deposit." Yang Long had lost his mood and extended his palm towards Boss Li.

Tang San pushed the deposit towards Boss Li, who hastily returned the five hundred gold coins to Yang Long. He absolutely dared not accept such business... He had never seen such an unreasonable Spirit Master.

"Customer," Tang San called out to Yang Long.

"What else?"

Yang Long asked impatiently, "Did I delay your work, and now you want me to compensate you?"

"No, that's not it. I just wanted to give you a kind reminder." Tang San showed a sincere expression. "Traveling on the continent, strength alone is not enough; you also need to make more friends."

However, Yang Long only felt that Tang San (the little scoundrel) was mocking him: You have strength? What good is strength?! When you're out in the world, you need connections and influence. What circles do you run in?

Immediately, anger welled up in him, but he still didn't dare to make a move. He could only say, "A dragon does not dwell with snakes."

"Tao Ge, this guy is so arrogant," Wang Sheng whispered to Su Yuntao, feeling extremely disgusted by Yang Long, even with a hint of aversion.

After all, before Tang San and Xiao Wu joined Notting Academy, he had been terribly bullied by noble children like Xiao Chenyu. He had no good feelings towards guys like Yang Long.

A dragon does not dwell with snakes?

If he had the guts, he wouldn't run; he'd fight them directly.

"Such a person must come from a prominent family; it's best not to provoke them," Su Yuntao shook his head at Wang Sheng. "However, if they truly provoke us, don't be afraid. We have Spirit Hall behind us. As Little San would say, even a mighty dragon can't suppress a local snake, let alone he's at most a land dragon."

Wang Sheng was puzzled: "What's a land dragon?"

Su Yuntao said, "An earthworm."

As Tang San watched the other party's retreating back, he thought to himself, "A dragon does not dwell with snakes? That's why true dragons have become an endangered species on the Douluo Continent, with very few pure bloodlines. Only the hybrids have survived."

"Thanks, Tao Ge, Wang Sheng," Tang San greeted Su Yuntao and Wang Sheng.

"Brother San, just ignore people like that in the future. They rely on their prominent family background to throw their weight around, and even though they're rich, they're still so petty," Wang Sheng spat in the direction Yang Long had left, muttering curses.

"Little San, don't say that. This is our duty," Su Yuntao said with a smile. "Alright, Wang Sheng, let's continue patrolling. Someone has gone missing near the west of the city recently, so we need to pay attention."

"Brother San, talk to you next time."

Wang Sheng bid farewell to Tang San and went with Su Yuntao and the others towards the west of the city.

Boss Li asked, "Tang San, do you know Master Su?"

"Tao Ge was the one who helped me awaken my Spirit back then," Tang San said with a smile. "And Wang Sheng, like me, is also a work-study student at Notting Academy, but he's already applied for early graduation."

"So that's how it is." Boss Li suddenly understood, then smiled and said, "You're absolutely right; it's good to make more friends. When you encounter problems in the future, it will be easier to solve them."

"More friends, more paths. I think that in life, one needs to have many friends and few enemies; that's the best way," Tang San said, expressing his true feelings. "If you have too many enemies, life becomes too tiring."

79: Xiao Wu's first kill battle

After Yang Long left the blacksmith shop, he walked to the vicinity of Nuoding City, cursing Tang San and the people from Spirit Hall for colluding.

“Those guys from Spirit Hall are truly foolish; they actually dare to trust Tang San. In the future, Spirit Hall will be overthrown by him, and you commoners will never have a chance to rise!”

Amidst his curses, Yang Long arrived at Notting Academy and saw Xiao Wu coming out with a little girl. He didn't think much of it, just quietly followed them.

Having stayed in Nuoding City for several days, Yang Long had already figured out the situation here and felt it was time to act. He planned to capture Xiao Wu to threaten Tang San into handing over the Mysterious Heaven Skill.

Even if Tang Hao discovered him in the end, Yang Long felt it didn't matter. After all, he was from the Breaking Clan and could likely negotiate with him.

Xiao Wu was about to take Guang Ling shopping. Not long after they started walking, she sensed someone following them, so she told Guang Ling to go to Spirit Hall first, while she headed alone towards the outskirts of Nuoding City.

Yang Long followed Xiao Wu, circling the streets and alleys of Nuoding City several times. Finally, he realized Xiao Wu was heading out of Nuoding City, and immediately understood he had been discovered. As Xiao Wu entered a small grove, he revealed himself.

“Little sister, do you still remember me?”

Yang Long jumped in front of Xiao Wu, showing a lewd smile like a perverted uncle trying to trick a child. He put his hands on his hips and asked with a chuckle.

“I don’t remember, who are you?” Xiao Wu took a step back, scrutinizing Yang Long. In her heart, she naturally hadn’t forgotten this person Tang San had specifically mentioned to her.

He’s really not a good person!

“My name is Yang Long.” Yang Long introduced himself, “You’d best listen to me; you can avoid some suffering. If we really fight, you’re no match for me.”

“How do you know who will win without fighting?” Xiao Wu made a wary expression, but in reality, she was already prepared to release her Spirit at any moment.

“Your Spirit is Soft Bones Rabbit, your First Soul Skill is Waist Bow, and your Second Soul Ability is Teleportation, right?” Yang Long smiled confidently, “Of course, this is just your superficial information. In reality, I know your deeper secret: you are a Ten-thousand year soul beast that has taken human form, right?”

Xiao Wu’s eyes narrowed, and she tentatively asked, “Are you a Titled Douluo?”

“Of course not, but I have my own way of discerning your identity.” Yang Long was extremely smug, relying on his “information asymmetry.” “Let me tell you, Tang San is not a good person. He looks gentle and refined, but he’s actually very hypocritical. Do you want to follow me?”

“Is that so? How come I didn’t know Tang San was gentle and refined?”

Xiao Wu had spent a long time with Tang San and understood him well. He loved to study Spirit theory and could explain various principles for even ordinary things. He often mocked her, so he was far from gentle, but she knew that was Tang San's way of caring for her.

After calming down and thinking, Xiao Wu came to a conclusion: the person in front of her didn't understand Tang San at all, nor did he understand her. Her Second Soul Ability was not Teleportation at all.

"Also, you're the second person to call Brother San hypocritical."

The second?

Before Yang Long could react, Xiao Wu manifested her Spirit, and two spirit rings, one yellow and one purple, appeared. She instantly shot out, kicking towards Yang Long.

"So fast!"

Yang Long saw her spirit rings, his pupils constricted, and he hastily released his Dragon Patterned Spear, holding it horizontally across his chest to block.

After Xiao Wu's kick struck the shaft of the Dragon Patterned Spear, she whipped her head, and her scorpion braid behind her attacked Yang Long's eyes. Unexpectedly, the wooden short knife pierced Yang Long's right eye.

"Ah!"

In pain, Yang Long suddenly exerted force, swinging the Dragon Patterned Spear. Xiao Wu, using the force of the spear's swing, leaped a distance away from Yang Long, leaning against a tree as thick as a person, staring at Yang Long.

Yang Long's right eye was not blinded by the wooden knife at the end of Xiao Wu's scorpion braid—Xiao Wu had not yet mastered hair-whipping to perfection, so her aim wasn't that accurate. Secondly, the object tied to the end of her hair was a wooden short knife, unsharpened and quite blunt.

But even so, that blow struck Yang Long's right eye, causing it to swell up, and even a trace of blood flowed from the corner of his eye.

If he didn't get treatment quickly, he might really go blind.

"Bastard, bitch, how dare you blind my eye." Yang Long held the Dragon Patterned Spear in one hand and covered his right eye with the other, glaring at Xiao Wu with his remaining left eye, gritting his teeth.

"Heh heh." Xiao Wu sneered, "I don't know how you discovered my identity, but you dared to come and find me without fully investigating me, wanting to control me, and possibly even threaten Brother San with me."

"How are you so smart?" Yang Long held his Dragon Patterned Spear, thrusting it directly at Xiao Wu's head.

Xiao Wu seemed to have sensed it in advance, dodging preemptively. Her figure weaved through the bushes, making Yang Long, who couldn't see with one eye, feel dizzy.

In this grove, his Dragon Patterned Spear Spirit was difficult to utilize. He could only chop vertically, thrust, and sweep within a limited range, hindered by the trees.

What also puzzled him was that every time he thrust at Xiao Wu, she seemed to be able to anticipate his attack direction in advance, thus dodging a step ahead.

He simply couldn't keep up with that speed and flexibility.

"First Soul Skill! Dragon Exits Like a Spear!"

Yang Long roared, holding the spear with both hands. His spirit power condensed on the spearhead, forming a dragon shape made of spirit power. He predicted where Xiao Wu would appear next and thrust out in advance.

Whoosh!

The dragon-shaped energy shot out with Yang Long's thrusting motion, penetrating a large tree and heading straight for Xiao Wu's next landing spot.

It was foreseeable that if Xiao Wu took that step, she would be hit by this attack.

However, Xiao Wu anticipated Yang Long's anticipation, stopping her forward step abruptly. While dodging the attack, she also rushed towards Yang Long, who was still in his thrusting motion.

This happened in an instant.

Xiao Wu had already arrived in front of Yang Long, who hadn't yet recovered from his thrusting motion. She braced herself with both hands on the ground, her First Soul Ring lit up, and Waist Bow activated.

Immediately, Xiao Wu arched her waist, straightened, and fiercely kicked Yang Long in the chest, sending him flying backward to hit a tree.

“Pfft!”

Yang Long spat blood, and his chest had two indented footprints. His ribs were broken and had pierced his internal organs.

Waist Bow is a skill where one uses their body as a bow, clamping the enemy's neck with both legs and flinging them away. However, it's not strictly necessary to clamp the enemy's head or neck; using the force of the body straightening to kick the enemy away is also a method of attack.

“You... ”

Yang Long's eyes bulged. He couldn't understand why Xiao Wu had countered and killed him, especially since he was a Spirit Elder and she was merely a Spirit Grandmaster.

However, Yang Long forgot that Xiao Wu, capable of bearing a thousand-year spirit ring, had physical qualities no worse than, and even superior to, a Spirit Elder.

Secondly, Xiao Wu frequently sparred with Tang San and members of Spirit Hall, gaining an understanding of various Spirits, especially spear Spirits.

Even if Spirit Masters from Spirit Hall didn't have a spear Spirit, they would still use one; it was standard for Spirit Hall personnel.

Furthermore, the battleground was this grove, where the trees were as thick as a person. Even a Spirit Elder would be restricted. Yang Long could break one, two, or three trees with his Dragon Patterned Spear, but he couldn't break the entire grove, and his Spirit Elder-level spirit power didn't support that extent.

In such an environment, Xiao Wu's Soft Bones Rabbit Spirit could achieve its maximum potential.

Of course, the most crucial point was that Yang Long underestimated her from the start. He was injured in his right eye by the wooden short knife at the end of Xiao Wu's scorpion braid, impairing his vision, and his anger also caused him to lose some of his rationality.

80: The fallen are haunted and the time travelers are killed

Yang Long knelt on the ground, his damaged internal organs and broken ribs unable to support him. The Dragon Patterned Spear in his hand gradually dissipated, returning to his body.

With his body severely injured, Yang Long couldn't possibly use spirit power to stop the bleeding.

spirit power carries the nature of the Spirit. His Spirit was the Dragon Patterned Spear, which mutated from the Soul Breaking Spear, and thus had no Healing System attribute. Using spirit power would only worsen his injuries.

“As expected of a beast... you are... you are cruel,” Yang Long gritted his teeth, glaring at Xiao Wu, cursing viciously.

“When it comes to cruelty, I can’t compare to you humans.” Xiao Wu was angry, but she still didn’t deliver a killing blow to Yang Long. “This time, I’ll spare you, and I don’t care how you knew my identity, but if you dare to tell anyone, I will absolutely not hold back next time.”

In reality, Xiao Wu knew that if Yang Long died, her secret would remain safe, but she couldn't bring herself to kill him.

Killing someone, for a little girl who was one hundred thousand years old (though she might not have truly cultivated for one hundred thousand years), was still too cruel...

Yang Long watched Xiao Wu's retreating figure and cursed under his breath, "She spared me? If I don't get timely treatment, I'll definitely die. I must find a Healing System Spirit Master."

After Xiao Wu's figure disappeared, Yang Long took out a white jade bottle from his storage soul tool, poured out a pill, and swallowed it. His complexion gradually improved.

Besides possessing the Soul Breaking Spear Spirit, the Breaking Clan was also exceptional in medicinal research, naturally possessing some healing medicines.

Just as he stood up, a blood-colored short sword pierced through Yang Long's chest.

Strangely, this blood-colored short sword was still absorbing Yang Long's blood, spirit power, and even his soul.

"Ugh... This is... an Evil Soul Master?!"

Yang Long's face was filled with horror. He wanted to resist, but after being pierced by the short sword, his entire body seemed to be fixed in place, only able to tremble slightly, completely unable to exert any force.

"Evil Soul Master?" An aged voice sounded from behind him, revealing a face full of wrinkles. "Hehe, aren't people like us called The Fallen? However, the title Evil Soul Master is indeed good. I'll take it, hehe!"

Accompanied by the eerie and terrifying laughter, Yang Long's flesh withered at a visible speed, and he finally lost his Life with a look of regret.

The desiccated corpse of Yang Long was kicked away by The Fallen behind him. He examined the red short sword in his hand, which was almost as thick as a palm and thirty centimeters long, revealing a satisfied expression: "Humans are indeed the best supplements, especially since this person was even a Spirit Elder. It's an even greater tonic; it actually raised my spirit power from level twenty-eight directly to level thirty... Last time, I was almost discovered by Spirit Hall. I can take revenge for that grudge after I obtain my third spirit ring... No, it's better to be cautious. I'll wait until I become stronger."

The white-haired Fallen took the storage soul tool from Yang Long's body and hung it on his waist: "As expected of a rich young master, he even has such a precious item as a storage soul tool. But now it's mine. Next, I'll go hunt Spirit Beasts and then continue to let my Spirit seize others' cultivation."

Two and a half days later.

Yang Long's desiccated corpse was discovered by villagers from a nearby village in the forest.

The Lord of Noting City and Ma Xiunuo of Spirit Hall immediately sent people to investigate together, and it was ultimately confirmed by Spirit Hall: this was done by The Fallen.

"The Fallen!"

The Lord of Noting City was shocked. Looking at Yang Long's desiccated corpse, he had to admit it, after all, this person had asked him for a seal for a long spear just a few days ago.

Who would have thought he would die like this?

"Judging by the wounds on his body, it should be the criminal currently being pursued by our Spirit Hall, Blood Sword Norman."

Ma Xiunuo's expression was extremely solemn. "He is over sixty years old and a level twenty-eight Spirit Grandmaster. Due to jealousy, he embarked on the path of plundering others' cultivation."

"Such people usually obtain something extremely dangerous, or a secret technique, and cannot restrain their greed, causing them to fall and sink into desire, ultimately leading to twisted thoughts that are almost impossible to change."

“We suspect that the recent disappearances in the west of the city are also related to him.”

The Lord of Noting City said, “If there’s anything you need my help with, you can tell me immediately. Don’t be polite; I will definitely cooperate.”

The Fallen were a very dangerous group of people, known for consuming human blood, plundering spirit power, and even rumored to be able to devour others’ souls, making them extremely bizarre and evil.

In the past, Nuoding City might have contended with Ma Xiunuo for control over this matter, but now, he wanted to avoid it at all costs.

The Fallen were all lunatics; none of them had normal thinking and would not compromise for profit, or rather, would not compromise for the benefits normal people could offer.

Therefore, it was better to let Spirit Hall handle it.

“Lord City Lord, please rest assured. It is our Spirit Hall’s duty to pursue The Fallen. We will definitely find a way to apprehend Blood Sword Norman.”

Ma Xiunuo assured the Lord of Noting City. After escorting him back to the Lord’s Mansion, he immediately summoned Su Yuntao, Sisi, and other Spirit Grandmaster-level members, forming three temporary Spirit Grandmaster-level teams to conduct a search in the vicinity.

Unfortunately, they found nothing.

Being able to evade Spirit Hall’s search, Blood Sword Norman clearly possessed a certain level of anti-tracking ability.

It was a day later when Tang San learned of Yang Long’s death from Su Yuntao, and he was a bit surprised: “Yang Long died, killed by The Fallen?”

Su Yuntao nodded: “That’s right. I was at the scene. His body was completely dry, without a single drop of blood... The Fallen are even more detestable than those corrupt nobles. Nobles are still human; The Fallen aren't even human anymore."

"Has Yang Long's family not come looking for him here?" Tang San asked.

"Not yet." Su Yuntao shook his head. "Spirit Masters born into such large families usually awaken their Spirits within the family. When they travel, at most they just register at any Spirit Hall branch, and their names might not even be their real names. Therefore, it's difficult to contact his specific family."

"If the Spirit has unique characteristics, like those from the Upper Three Sects or Lower Four Sects, it's easier to trace. His Spirit is the Dragon Patterned Spear, which is quite rare, and it could also have mutated from an ordinary long spear. And there are many families on the continent whose Spirits are long-spear types."

Tang San understood. In short, it was four words: untraceable.

However, Tang San guessed that the name "Yang Long" should be his real name, and the surname "Yang" likely came from the Breaking Clan. Unfortunately, the Breaking Clan was in decline now, and they didn't have the energy to secretly protect such a genius, otherwise Yang Long wouldn't have been killed by The Fallen.

This also made Tang San realize that transmigrators were not invincible.

See?

One died.

However, Blood Sword Norman was said to be only level twenty-eight, and Yang Long was at least a Spirit Elder. Even if he was limited by the environment, was there something wrong that he could be ambushed and killed?

Then, after hearing about this, Xiao Wu found Tang San and told him about Yang Long tracking her, being led by her into the small forest, and finally being defeated by her.

During this, Xiao Wu concealed the fact that Yang Long had explicitly identified her as a Ten-thousand year soul beast.

“I wondered why he was so easily ambushed by a Spirit Grandmaster, and a sixty-year-old one at that. So, you had already severely injured him.” Tang San was speechless and also realized that Xiao Wu’s current strength was no longer what it used to be, incomparable to the “protagonist anger trigger” from the original story.

“You won’t blame me, will you?” Xiao Wu blinked her watery eyes, trying to gain Tang San’s sympathy.

“No.” Tang San shook his head. “Just don’t tell anyone about this. Although that guy had ill intentions, if people find out it’s related to you, there will still be a lot of trouble.”

81: "Xiaorou's Fantasy Adventure"

Recently, due to the appearance of The Fallen, Nuoding City became panicked, and Tang San also returned to Saint Spirit Village once, giving Old Jack a few instructions, leaving some protective gear and weapons for self-defense, staying for nearly half a month, and only returning to Nuoding City after confirming that everything was fine.

Blood Sword Norman had not reappeared, seemingly vanishing after killing Yang Long.

In the original work, this Evil Soul Master did not appear at all. Tang San found it difficult to judge, but he estimated that if this World progressed as in the original work, Blood Sword Norman would most likely be arrested by the Spirit Hall in Nuoding City.

But now, Blood Sword Norman has killed a transmigrator and disappeared without a trace, possibly stirring up trouble in the near future.

However, this had nothing to do with Tang San.

When he returned to the Spirit Hall in Nuoding City, Ma Xiunuo called him in because the Spirit Hall Pope feared he would die unexpectedly during his growth, so she dispatched a Spirit Saint to protect him.

Ling Yuan, a Spirit Saint who never appeared in the original work.

However, in the anime, this person seemed to be a quickly-disposed-of minor character, or was she a Titled Douluo?

"Are you Tang San?" Ling Yuan saw Tang San, holding a portrait of Tang San before he absorbed his first spirit ring, comparing it. Her eyebrows raised slightly, her thin lips moved, and there was a hint of curiosity in her eyes.

"It's me," Tang San nodded. "At that time, I was still very thin."

Ling Yuan looked at the figure in the painting, as thin as a bamboo pole, and remained silent for a while before saying, "...Indeed, very thin."

Regarding Ling Yuan's inability to understand his joke, Tang San pursed his lips lightly and said, "It's alright, it's just that my Spirit mutated too much, causing me to become more and more handsome."

Ling Yuan put away Tang San's portrait and said, "The Supreme Pontiff ordered me to protect you, but don't expect me to always be by your side. Except for hunting Spirit Beasts, I won't interfere with anything else."

"Understood." Tang San also didn't want a Spirit Saint constantly following him. After all, he had many secrets, and this woman clearly wouldn't do research for him.

Therefore, a brief introduction was enough.

Seeing that Tang San was easy to talk to, Ling Yuan didn't waste any more words and left the office directly, not even greeting Ma Xiunuo.

The strong always have privileges.

Ma Xiunuo didn't mind. Instead, he said to Tang San, "Xiao Tang, His Holiness the Supreme Pontiff values you greatly. Don't disappoint His Holiness the Supreme Pontiff's expectations."

"I'll try. After all, seeing a Spirit Saint in Nuoding City makes me feel a bit overwhelmed."

After chatting with Ma Xiunuo for a while, Tang San also left Ma Xiunuo's office. He didn't see Ling Yuan in the corridor or the hall outside the door, and he didn't mind.

However, Tang San's perception was good. By concentrating, he could detect the situation within a hundred meters radius centered on himself, and he found that Ling Yuan was standing on top of the Spirit Hall building, as if overlooking the entire Nuoding City.

"Spirit Saint, Spirit Wind Chime Bird, wind attribute, agile figure, indeed not easy to be discovered."

Tang San thought to himself, "However, the Wind Chime Bird Spirit Beast's attack power isn't very strong, so she should be an agility-attack system Spirit Master. According to my classification, she's a reconnaissance-type agility-attack system Spirit Master. But she's already a Spirit Saint, so it's highly probable that, besides Martial Soul True Body, her other six Spirit Abilities are all attack-oriented. It's less probable that one or two have reconnaissance capabilities, but it's unlikely she would specifically choose accelerating Spirit Abilities, and most of her Spirit Abilities should have wind attributes."

Regarding the choice of spirit rings, even for Spirit Hall, Spirit Masters could only rely on past experience to choose types with the same attribute as their Spirit, rather than meticulously selecting them.

Except for the Titled Douluo above ninety-fifth level in the Hall of Offerings, most of Bibi Dong's faction of Titled Douluo cultivated to the Spirit Douluo (ninety-level) or Titled Douluo level themselves before choosing to join Spirit Hall, rather than being recruited and trained by Spirit Hall from a young age.

At least, according to the description in the original work, Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo were like this, choosing to join Spirit Hall for status and honor.

"This is good too. With a Spirit Saint-level bodyguard on the surface, I can be bolder when doing some things. However, I can't be too bold, otherwise, this favor will be difficult to repay."

Tang San pondered the pros and cons, arriving at the backyard of Spirit Hall and beginning his usual cultivation life: cultivating spirit power, practicing control over spirit power, researching Spirit theory, and blacksmithing.

Besides Xiao Wu accompanying him, Guang Ling also came to cultivate and study with him every day after school, doing simple physical exercises and learning various theoretical knowledge from Spirit Hall under Tang San's guidance.

Xiao Wu remained the same, not very interested in Spirit theory, but quite interested in human living habits.

For this, in his free time, Tang San taught her to write novels, recording her past life experiences and publishing them.

Xiao Wu thought about it, found it feasible, and actually wrote a novel: "The Girl Who Walked Out of the Great Forest," which mainly described a little girl born in a small town on the edge of an unknown Spirit Beast forest who awakened a congenital full spirit power Soft Bones Rabbit, then walked out of the backward and poor countryside, step by step into the big city, starting a new adventurous journey.

After reading it, Tang San felt that before the age of six, it was quite good, very real, refreshing, with a kind of primitive wild beauty. But after the age of seven, it was hard to describe, completely imitating the existing romance plots on the market, even the male protagonist was named "Xiao Tang," and the second female lead was named "Xiao Guang"...

What exactly are you implying?

"What do you think?" Xiao Wu's face flushed, but her large pink eyes revealed strong anticipation.

"I think it will flop."

Tang San shook his head, "You might as well set the character in the book as a Spirit Master who understands Spirit Beasts very well. The main plot would be to understand the various Spirit Beasts living in the Star Dou Great Forest, and you would be the Spirit Master who records their living habits, reproduction methods, and even their joys and sorrows."

"However, the Spirit needs to be changed. Set it as a mutated Spirit that can help you understand Spirit Beasts. Just think of anything, it's just a setting, no need to take it seriously."

Xiao Wu pondered, then nodded: "That's a great idea. Then I'll set the protagonist's Spirit as a Soft Bones Rabbit that mutated to understand Spirit Beast speech."

A month later, Xiao Wu's first novel related to Star Dou Great Forest Spirit Beasts, "Xiao Rou's Fantastic Adventure," was completed and released in Nuoding City.

This was naturally for Tang San's safety, to prevent Xiao Wu's identity from being discovered by interested parties in the upper echelons of Spirit Hall. Moreover, Ma Xiunuo also did not want to submit "Xiao Rou's Fantastic Adventure" written by Xiao Wu to the higher-ups.

Because the content of the book looked like a girl's fantasy, and even some descriptions of Spirit Beast habits had significant differences from those recorded in the "soul beast encyclopedia."

In other words, in Ma Xiunuo's opinion, the error rate was relatively high. It could be used as an ordinary children's book, but if reported to the higher-ups, he would probably be laughed at by his colleagues.

Therefore, this book could only be sold in a bookstore in Nuoding City.

However, this book was unexpectedly popular with some children without spirit power, and even most of the students at Notting Academy quite liked this novel.

After all, their talents were limited. Most might graduate without even raising their spirit power to level ten, or might never breakthrough to Spirit Elder in their lifetime. This children's book allowed them to learn about all sorts of magical Spirit Beasts, satisfying their fantasies about magical Spirit Beasts...

82: In a blink of an eye, a semester has passed

"To actually say my novel is children's literature, Ma Xiunuo is really lacking in vision."

Although "Xiao Wu's Fantastic Adventure" sold well, with a three-seven split with Notting Bookstore, Xiao Wu would receive nearly twenty gold coins every month from now on, but she still had quite a bit of criticism for Ma Xiunuo's "lack of vision."

"Don't be angry, haven't you earned money?" Tang San took out the original manuscript Xiao Wu wrote from his storage wristband and carefully flipped through it.

People from Spirit Hall might think that Xiao Wu's descriptions of the Spirit Beast habits in the Star Dou Great Forest differed from recorded accounts and were her own imaginings, but Tang San wouldn't think so.

At the very least, a Soft Bones Rabbit who had lived in the Star Dou Great Forest for a hundred thousand years definitely knew more about Spirit Beasts than anyone else on the Douluo Continent.

"That's true, with about twenty gold coins each month, plus the ten gold coins Spirit Hall will issue every month after becoming a Spirit Grandmaster, I'll have thirty gold coins a month, enough to buy a lot of good things."

Xiao Wu was someone who couldn't hold onto money; every month, the remuneration she received would be spent within half a month, mostly on various beautiful clothes.

Therefore, Tang San never went shopping with Xiao Wu.

And when Xiao Wu was short on money, at most she would eat with Tang San; in other aspects, she wouldn't ask Tang San, because she knew Tang San's research was very expensive.

Especially since Tang San had recently started researching spirit tools, dismantling many daily-use spirit tools, and then using the gold coins obtained from theory to purchase daily-use spirit tools in larger cities.

For Tang San, spirit tools were the future of Spirit Masters.

Or rather, the spirit tool patterns inscribed within spirit tools were the true future of Spirit Masters.

And while Tang San was researching spirit tools, Guang Ling had also sought him out once, telling him not to focus on such daily-use spirit tools. Tang San readily agreed verbally, but in reality, he continued to do as he pleased.

In his opinion, being able to thoroughly research the basic principles of spirit tool patterns was far more important than spirit rings; he even had a conjecture that these spirit tool patterns evolved from the spirit power flow routes within spirit rings, and were the result of the ancient people's research on spirit rings from who knows how many years ago.

Even for daily-use spirit tools that Spirit Masters did not value, the spirit tool patterns within them, in Tang San's eyes, were the great wisdom crystallization of the ancestors on the Douluo Continent, and their value was even more precious than a hundred-thousand-year spirit ring or Spirit Bone.

Furthermore, these spirit tool patterns were highly likely to be close to the extraordinary essence of this World.

If he could research them thoroughly, what would a god even be?

Seeing this, Guang Ling did not try to persuade him further; after all, she was only responsible for protecting Tang San's safety, and what he wanted to research had nothing to do with her, so she didn't need to be too concerned.

In the blink of an eye, another semester passed.

Tang San's spirit power increased to twenty-sixth rank; the speed of spirit power cultivation during the Spirit Grandmaster period was not as fast as during the Spirit Master period, but this speed was still comparable to innate full spirit power.

Xiao Wu's spirit power reached twenty-fifth rank.

After all, she didn't have as many things to do as Tang San; besides going to Notting Academy to show off her authority as the big sister and prevent noble students from bullying work-study students, she would write novels before going to bed every day. The rest of the time, she basically spent cultivating spirit power, practicing climbing trees, learning how to use short knives, and controlling the scorpion braid behind her head.

And what about Tang San?

He also had to research Spirit theory, research blood qi vibration, forge iron at the blacksmith shop, research spirit tools, research the effects of existing medicines on the market, and research some peculiar metals.

To be able to cultivate to twenty-sixth rank in one semester was extremely fast.

In addition to this, Guang Ling's spirit power increase was also extremely impressive; within one semester, she increased from third rank to eighth rank, a speed that didn't seem like someone with only three ranks of innate spirit power.

But if the thousand-year whale jelly she consumed this semester was taken into account, this spirit power increase speed was not surprising.

Although the greatest effect of whale jelly was to improve physical fitness, it also contained a certain amount of energy, which could slightly increase a Spirit Master's spirit power.

Of course, it required consuming a large amount.

However, Guang Ling's increased spirit power cultivation speed should not only be due to this; her own understanding of bows and arrows also increased through continuous practice.

This coincided with Tang San's idea: as long as one's understanding of their Spirit increased, it could strengthen the affinity between the Spirit Master and their Spirit, thereby increasing the Spirit's cultivation speed.

However, this method is not yet very apparent in the current Guang Ling; after all, she has the bonus from the whale jelly, and for a theory to be proven, the factors need to be singular. Guang Ling has a few too many external factors, and for true substantiation in the future, other factors need to be excluded.

Coincidentally, the remaining thousand-year whale jelly in Tang San's hands has almost been consumed over this semester. Next semester, he can observe Guang Ling's cultivation speed to further prove his theory.

Besides spirit power, Tang San also found a slight knack for cultivating blood qi. With Wang Sheng, whose First Soul Skill was Tiger King's Blood Qi Transformation, assisting in experiments, the experiments were naturally extremely convenient.

And this cultivation method for blood qi, after combining with Mysterious Jade Hand, produced a peculiar change, actually causing the bones in his hands to take on a trace of a white jade-like color.

Tang San had used a small knife to cut open the skin on his finger and saw with his own eyes that the color of one of his pinky finger bones was different from his other finger bones, like silver jade.

In the past, Mysterious Jade Hand only involved condensing spirit power onto the hands, making the skin appear like white jade. But now, it actually transformed his fingers into silver jade, and it was a constant state, not requiring the use of Mysterious Jade Hand.

Tang San didn't know if this would affect his physical development, but it was obvious that it had no effect on the circulation of spirit power; in fact, the strength of his right pinky finger was greater than that of his other four fingers.

This made Tang San realize that combining blood qi with spirit power and condensing it onto the bones was beneficial to himself. Therefore, he decided that after all the hand bones in both hands solidified into silver jade, he would try to use the method of cultivating Mysterious Jade Hand to temper all the bones in his body, which might produce unexpected and peculiar effects.

And Wang Sheng also benefited from this process, being taught by Tang San how to cultivate by using spirit power to stimulate blood qi without applying a Spirit Ability.

However, Wang Sheng's perception was limited, and his control over spirit power was also very poor, only able to manifest in an explosive mode. Therefore, Tang San suggested that he try to gather spirit power and blood qi onto his five claws.

Although his Spirit was a tiger, he couldn't use Martial Soul True Body before reaching Spirit Saint. He couldn't possibly really tear at enemies with his mouth, could he?

He could only use his claws.

Moreover, with Wang Sheng's talent, whether he could become a Spirit Saint in the future was still an unknown, as Tang San couldn't always be his babysitter and could only plan his general future development.

In Tang San's view, as long as Wang Sheng could make good use of his First Soul Skill and immerse himself in the path of blood qi for many years, he might not be unable to leave his own legend on the Continent in the future.

83: Mu Tian's tragic experience

While Tang San and Xiao Wu were packing their things, preparing to return to Saint Spirit Village for the New Year, Spirit Hall contacted the high-ranking officials of the Heaven Dou Empire and Star Luo Empire to launch a reform of the venues for the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament.

Tang San's suggestions for the tournament venues were adopted by Bibi Dong and even received recognition from over eighty percent of Soul Masters across the entire Continent.

After all, everyone hoped that in future competitions, they would be able to fight on a suitable venue to enhance their combat power and achieve better results.

The Soul Masters who opposed it were afraid that they might choose an unsuitable battlefield during the competition, which would greatly reduce their combat power.

For example, if a person whose Spirit was a plant chose a Desert venue, then, apart from cold-resistant plants like cacti and Tumbleweed, other plant Soul Masters would certainly find it difficult to display their strength.

However, the major powers thought this was a good idea, as it would allow them to see other advantages of Soul Masters besides their inherent strength.

In reality, for the major powers on the Douluo Continent, the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament was a large-scale talent show, or rather, a job fair.

One learns martial arts and literary skills to serve the imperial family.

This also applied on the Douluo Continent.

Talents from various academies showcased their abilities in the tournament to gain recognition across the Continent, then were recruited by major powers, enjoying status, wealth, honor, and power.

If the major powers were likened to large companies, then the participating individuals were job seekers, and only a very small number of Soul Masters would not consider joining a certain power after the tournament.

And the major powers, who were the recruiters, also needed to assess the abilities of the job seekers.

Previously, they only determined a job seeker's ability by victory or defeat, but now that they thought about it, merely relying on victory or defeat might not select the most outstanding talents, after all, the management of a nation and the development of a Sect were not simply about having the biggest fist.

If the venues for the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament were diversified in the future, it would demonstrate whether the talents cultivated by various academies could flexibly apply their abilities according to different environments.

Even if some Soul Masters would never go into an environment unfavorable to their Spirit in their entire lives, it could still let them understand the vastness of the World, and even be more composed when dealing with opponents whose Spirit Abilities countered their own.

As for the creation of the venues, it was actually simple: Deserts, barren lands, grasslands, swamps, and forests were relatively easy; new final venues could be opened up, and then corresponding materials transported over and adjusted. However, ice and snow, storms, rivers, volcanoes, and so on were a bit difficult, possibly requiring Soul Masters with corresponding attributes to maintain them outside the venue, or using relevant spirit tools.

However, the major powers all thought it was acceptable; a small number held opposing views, but the minority obeyed the majority, rendering their opposing opinions invalid.

Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

After Ning Fengzhi returned from Spirit City, he explained this matter to his disciples and also issued an order to construct corresponding battle environments to train the Soul Masters within the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

Upon learning this news, Mu Tian secretly thought, “Is this a Pokémon battle?”

Now, he suspected that Tang San was not someone who had transmigrated from a martial arts World, but rather, like him, came from modern society, and was also a Pokémon enthusiast.

“Forget it, it has nothing to do with me. Anyway, my Bright Moon will be able to have multiple attributes in the future, adapting to any venue.” Mu Tian didn't think too deeply, found Bone Douluo, and informed him that he had cultivated to level twenty and could go hunt Spirit Beasts.

“Eight years old, level twenty, truly a born full spirit power.” Bone Douluo was quite satisfied with Mu Tian's cultivation speed, “Let's go, I'll take you to Sunset Forest to hunt a Spirit Beast. Have you decided what attribute of Spirit Beast you want?”

“I've decided, I want the light attribute,” Mu Tian said.

“Light? Isn't your Earth Fire Lizard a fire attribute?” Bone Douluo frowned, thinking Mu Tian was being reckless, “Although light and fire are similar, they are not the same. It's better to choose a fire attribute one.”

“My Spirit has multiple attributes. As long as I obtain a spirit ring of the corresponding attribute, I can acquire it; I can feel it,” Mu Tian stated with conviction.

Bone Douluo was somewhat suspicious.

Although a Spirit could indeed inherit attributes it did not originally possess from Spirit Beasts of different attributes, if the Spirit itself inherently possessed a certain attribute, it was still better to enhance that attribute, otherwise it might become broad but not refined.

Moreover, he had never heard of a Soul Master being able to sense the attribute of their Spirit; it was only observed after the Spirit's ability was used.

“Alright, your Spirit is a bit peculiar, so I'll choose to believe you this once. How old of a spirit ring do you want?” Bone Douluo asked, “As for ten thousand year whale jelly, although the Sect found a piece, don't even think about it; that's for the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's little princess. As for a thousand-year one, you've eaten quite a bit, so you should be able to withstand a thousand-year spirit ring, right?”

“Even ten thousand years is fine,” Mu Tian said confidently.

“Two thousand years at most.” Bone Douluo ignored Mu Tian's mysterious confidence.

“Teacher, I really can withstand a ten-thousand-year spirit ring. My Spirit is very powerful.” Mu Tian felt that his Spirit was the God of Heavenly Condemnation, so a mere ten thousand years would definitely be bearable.

Even if a ten-thousand-year spirit ring had the spiritual residue of a Spirit Beast, how could that bit of Spirit compare to Austin Griffin?

There was definitely no problem.

“If you insist, then go hunt a ten-thousand-year Spirit Beast yourself. Otherwise, listen to me, two thousand years at most. In fact, I think with your current physique, you can at most withstand around fifteen hundred years, similar to my situation when I was level thirty.” Bone Douluo would not listen to an eight-year-old child's nonsense.

Ten thousand years?

He wouldn't even know how to write the character for 'death'!

Helpless, Mu Tian could only agree.

Finally, Bone Douluo took Mu Tian to Sunset Forest and found a sixteen-hundred-year-old light-attribute Spirit Beast for Mu Tian to hunt and absorb.

Two thousand years, Bone Douluo still felt it was too dangerous and couldn't take that risk.

Mu Tian had no choice but to hunt this light-attribute Spirit Beast, release Bright Moon, and begin absorbing this spirit ring.

However, as soon as this spirit ring settled into Bright Moon, Mu Tian felt the pain transmitted from Bright Moon's body. His entire body trembled violently, swelling up and constantly bleeding, which was extremely terrifying.

“Mu Tian!”

Bone Douluo could only fret anxiously at this moment; the absorption of a spirit ring could not be interrupted, otherwise, it would result in death or severe injury, and if the Spirit was affected, cultivation for the rest of one's life would be hopeless.

“I shouldn't have listened to him; I should have just found a Spirit Beast that had just entered its thousandth year.”

Amidst Bone Douluo's regret, three days quietly passed, and Mu Tian finally endured it, but his entire body was bleeding profusely, and his muscles were shriveled, as if he could perish at any moment.

Bone Douluo fed him some water and checked his physical condition, sighing, “It's a miracle you're alive. I told you not to take risks, but you insisted on being impulsive, and even ten thousand years? You almost lost your life just absorbing a sixteen-hundred-year spirit ring.”

After bringing Mu Tian back to the Sect for treatment by a healing Soul Master, it took Mu Tian nearly a month to recover halfway.

And his Bright Moon did indeed change from one head to two, but the second head was still fire-attribute. However, when using his second Spirit Ability, he could dye the flames with a layer of white halo, capable of melting even metal and stone into liquid.

Bone Douluo thought this Spirit Ability was pretty good and matched the power of a thousand-year spirit ring, but Mu Tian had a look of disbelief: “It should clearly be a light attribute, why is it still a fire attribute?”

84: Bone Douluo's distrust

Fire attribute is actually quite powerful, Mu Tian knew this, but it shouldn't be fire attribute, it should be light attribute. Could Bright Moon really just be an Earth Fire Lizard?

But clearly, at the moment of Spirit awakening, a voice echoed in his mind: Bright Moon is the God of Heavenly Condemnation: Austin Griffin!

But why isn't it light?

"Calm down, Mu Tian. Bright Moon might be influenced by the Douluo Continent. Don't the Spirit Abilities have light? It must be this way. The God of Heavenly Condemnation's most powerful aspect is its ninth head, representing the true body of destruction. Other attributes shouldn't be important... Yes, it must be this way. The most important is the destruction attribute. In Bright Moon's设定, he has been reborn many times, and the attribute of each head should change according to different encounters."

Mu Tian found a reason for himself, calming down, feeling that he had guessed the truth. "I should be relatively close to fire, so besides the ninth head, Bright Moon's other eight heads will also be fire attribute. And when flames become powerful, they can also destroy the World, like the abnormal flames in Battle Through the Heavens."

"Mu Tian, if you're not satisfied with this Spirit Ability, it doesn't matter. You can just choose to hunt fire attribute Spirit Beasts in the future." Bone Douluo didn't know the brainstorming happening in Mu Tian's mind. He thought it didn't align with his expectations and that Mu Tian disliked it, so he comforted him, "After you become a Titled Douluo, your first three Spirit Abilities will basically not be used. Even at the Spirit Saint stage, after a Spirit Master gains their Martial Soul True Body, their strength greatly increases, and the first three Spirit Abilities won't be frequently used in actual combat."

"Don't worry, Teacher, I know." Mu Tian nodded in agreement. After all, this was a recognized fact on the Douluo Continent—below Spirit Emperor, Spirit Abilities are very important. Each additional Spirit Ability means an extra attack capability. But once a Spirit Saint unleashes their Martial Soul True Body, the skills of Spirit Masters below Spirit Emperor basically cannot cause much damage to a Spirit Saint.

The saying "more Spirits, more bones, a burst of skill power" refers to Spirit Masters at or below the Spirit Emperor level, but it does not apply to powerhouses at or above the Spirit Saint, Spirit Douluo, or Titled Douluo levels.

After releasing their Spirit, they mostly rely on rich combat experience to fight. They only use two or three extremely powerful Spirit Abilities, and the others are basically not used.

However, some special Spirits are exceptions, such as the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda's amplification-type skills. Each skill can improve as the Spirit Master's spirit power level increases, and the spirit ring's age limit seems unable to restrict the Spirit Ability's growth.

It's as if the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda comes with those amplification Spirit Abilities, but it's limited by the Douluo Continent's rule that one needs spirit rings to level up and gain Spirit Abilities, making it difficult to display them without absorbing spirit rings...

...

"Since you know, strengthen your training. If you want to absorb a third spirit ring beyond your level, you can only rely on yourself. thousand-year whale jelly needs to be given priority to the direct disciples of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School to increase their physical fitness and enhance their self-preservation ability. As for ten-thousand-year whale jelly, it's rare on the market and cannot be collected."

Bone Douluo reminded, "Don't blame the Sect for cutting off your supply of thousand-year whale jelly. After all, you were so badly injured after absorbing a sixteen-hundred-year spirit ring that the Sect Master's opinion of you has somewhat decreased... You'd best change that personality too."

"Understood." Mu Tian lowered his head, his eyes gloomy, but Bone Douluo still heard the defiance in his tone and said, "Think about it carefully. Innate full spirit power is excellent, but the Sect cultivates you hoping that you can stand on your own, not that you'll rely on your talent to bully others."

"This World is not a place where you can do whatever you want just because you're strong."

"You'd best learn from Tang San."

Hearing that name, Mu Tian suddenly looked up and said with disgust, "But he's really hypocritical; he's a villain."

"Is he? Someone who changed the lives of Spirit Masters across the continent, allowing them to better analyze their own positions, summarized the best spirit ring evolution from ancient times to the present, analyzed various factors affecting a Spirit Master's ability to withstand spirit ring age limits, and even publicized a method to improve physical strength—would such a person be a villain?" Bone Douluo's eyes became serious. He felt that he might need to pay close attention to Mu Tian's personality.

He's too envious!

Is it so hard to admit someone else's excellence?

"He must have researched better theories but only publicized these. Isn't that selfish?" Mu Tian stubbornly slandered Tang San.

"Let's not even talk about whether he's researched it or not. Even if he has, if he only uses it for himself, what's the problem? Do you expect him to give all his wealth to others?" Bone Douluo now suspected that Mu Tian's intelligence was also a bit problematic, to be able to say such things.

"Also, we understood the circumstances of your and Rongrong's first meeting with Tang San, and we don't think he's hypocritical at all. Born a commoner, to have his ability to read people and situations, and not hide his arrogance, able to bend and stretch—he will certainly achieve great things in the future."

"Born a commoner, his Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, and his innate spirit power is level six, yet he was able to reach Spirit Grandmaster earlier than you, with a thousand-year two-ring. He hunted it himself. Although he claims to be a support system, he was able to defeat you, an attack system."

"Although the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School stipulates that direct disciples within the Sect can only find Battle Spirit Masters as their partners, a child like Tang San, a 'support system' who can even defeat a Battle Spirit Master like you, the Sect is not unable to make an exception."

"Moreover, Rongrong has a very good impression of Tang San. If the Douluo Continent wasn't so vast, and Spirit Hall didn't hide his identity so well, and there were too many people named Tang San, we would have directly invited him to the Sect to honor him."

Mu Tian understood that Bone Douluo was trying to provoke him, but hearing Bone Douluo praise the other party, he couldn't help but feel angry.

He was clearly a hypocritical, double-standard piece of trash, yet in Bone Douluo's mouth, he was so excellent, it was simply having eyes but failing to see.

Even if that Tang San also transmigrated from modern times, how could he compare to himself?

His Spirit was the God of Heavenly Condemnation!

Blue Silver Emperor and Clear Sky Hammer were nothing!

"Work hard on your cultivation. Strive to make the Sect Master change his opinion of you in the time to come." Bone Douluo glanced at Mu Tian's clenched fists and knew he hadn't listened at all. He sighed and said, "Don't think that Sword Douluo and I are usually careless and impulsive. We two are not reckless, otherwise, we wouldn't have been able to cultivate to Titled Douluo."

"The Sect needs strong individuals to hold down the fort, but this strong individual absolutely cannot be a brute. Otherwise, even a Titled Douluo's usefulness wouldn't be as great as a Spirit Douluo's."

"Oh, speaking of Spirit Douluo, the battle Spirit Masters at the Spirit Douluo level in the Sect, after consuming a large amount of whale jelly, their spirit power increase speed has also accelerated a little. It is estimated that within thirty years, the Sect will have two more Titled Douluo."

Mu Tian said, "I can become a Titled Douluo at twenty."

Bone Douluo glanced at him and said, "Be more realistic. I'll set a goal for you: forty-three years old. After all, the youngest known Titled Douluo on the continent is Tang Hao, who achieved the Titled position at forty-four. You have innate full spirit power, which is a bit stronger than him, but you need a lot of time to change your habit of having high aspirations but low abilities."

Mu Tian: "....."

85: Guang Ling's first soul ring pre-selection

Another year passed, and Tang San, now eight years old, bid farewell to Old Jack, bringing Xiao Wu and Guang Ling with him.

Guang Ling had also spent the past year at Old Jack's home, becoming his granddaughter, and Old Jack had even initially given Tang San a thumbs-up.

Upon returning to Nuoding City, Guang Ling asked her teacher for a leave of absence, preparing to go hunting Spirit Beasts with Tang San and Xiao Wu to obtain her First spirit ring.

During the break, Guang Ling had also diligently cultivated, finally reaching level ten spirit power when she was seven years old.

"During these days, you've learned a lot of Spirit cultivation knowledge from me and seen many Spirit Beast profiles. Do you know which Spirit Beast to choose for your First spirit ring and what Spirit Ability to gain?"

Tang San wanted to test Guang Ling's knowledge. If she passed, Tang San was willing to give her a great gift that could accelerate her spirit power cultivation, which would be equivalent to truly becoming a "true disciple."

"Brother San, my Spirit is a bow, a Tool Spirit. If it were anyone else, they would definitely choose a Spirit Ability that grants offensive power for their First spirit ring."

Guang Ling, after a semester of study, had become much more cheerful, and her voice was a bit louder. "But every time a Spirit absorbs a spirit ring, it's a kind of evolution for the Spirit. Beast Spirits are like this, and Tool Spirits should also be like this."

"I hope my Spirit can evolve."

"But Tool Spirits are different from Beast Spirits. Beast Spirits can find corresponding Spirit Beasts to understand, but Tool Spirits cannot. The direction is harder to find. Most people strengthen them based on the characteristics of various tools."

"For example, for knives and swords, they choose in the direction of sharpness."

"But in reality, if you only look for purely offensive Spirit Abilities, it's difficult to greatly strengthen the Spirit... Brother San, you said this is because most people are commoner Spirit Masters, and offensive ability is the priority. But I have you, Brother San, and during my time at Notting Academy, my safety can be guaranteed, so I don't need to immediately choose an offensive Spirit Ability."

Tang San nodded.

Being able to factor in the advantages of having him as a teacher proved that Guang Ling was good at thinking and was a malleable talent.

"So, you want to strengthen your Spirit bow first?"

"That's right."

Guang Ling took out a document from the storage wristguard on her right hand, handed it to Tang San, and slowly said, "My First spirit ring choice: Iron Tooth Fish."

The Iron Tooth Fish, despite having the word "fish" in its name, is not actually a fish. It merely resembles a fish in shape and does not live in rivers or oceans but rather in the Desert.

This Spirit Beast can swim through the sand sea like a fish, hence it is named "fish." It feeds on plant roots and insects in the Desert and also devours metal minerals hidden beneath the sand sea, refining a set of Iron Teeth capable of biting through metal.

Legend has it that the Iron Tooth Fish is a dragon species, but it abandoned its transformation into a dragon, sacrificing a powerful future for the propagation of its species.

The number of Iron Tooth Fish is extremely vast, and the strongest in their group are only at the thousand-year level.

Ten-thousand-year Iron Tooth Fish do not appear because thousand-year-level Iron Tooth Fish become heavy due to their mouths, which have refined countless metal minerals, making them less agile than when they were hundred-year or ten-year old.

Therefore, at the thousand-year level, Iron Tooth Fish no longer forage independently but begin to expend their cultivation to lay eggs.

This is a parthenogenetic Spirit Beast.

Spirit Masters who hunt this type of Spirit Beast, if they have a Beast Spirit, will basically gain a good set of teeth after their Spirit Possession, named: Iron Tooth Bite, capable of biting through metal and stone... Most Beast Spirit Masters would not choose this Spirit Beast because the attack method is too ungraceful, and most of them cannot become Spirit Saints.

Why mention Spirit Saints?

Because Beast Spirit Masters, after breaking through to Spirit Saint, can unleash their Martial Soul True Body. Most Beast Martial Soul True Bodies resemble Spirit Beasts, and their size is directly proportional to the amount and quality of their spirit power.

If the Iron Tooth Bite Spirit Ability is used in the Martial Soul True Body state, its power would be immense.

According to a case in "Martial Soul True Body Combat Records" at the Nuo Ding City Spirit Hall Branch, a Spirit Master whose Spirit was a leopard, when using his Martial Soul True Body, actually broke through the Martial Soul True Body of a Diamond Mammoth Spirit Master who was also a Spirit Saint.

As for Tool Spirit Masters who hunt Iron Tooth Fish, the Spirit Abilities they gain vary widely depending on their respective Tool Spirits, but it is certain that these Spirits will acquire metallic characteristics, becoming harder.

According to Tang San's guess, the essence of this Iron Tooth Fish should be its ability to digest metal minerals and inject them into its Iron Teeth, rather than just the surface Iron Teeth.

If Guang Ling chose the Iron Tooth Fish's spirit ring, there was a chance to acquire this ability, but a Spirit is not a real object, so it's impossible to truly incorporate metal into it.

If Tang San thoroughly understood the patterns within spirit tools, it might be possible, but for now, even if Guang Ling obtained the essential ability of the Iron Tooth Fish, the effect might not be that great.

In other words, the future is promising.

"Have you thought it through? Choosing the Iron Tooth Fish?" Tang San closed the document, handed it back to Guang Ling, and confirmed one last time.

"Mm." Guang Ling nodded vigorously. "The only suitable Spirit Beast I can find that can strengthen my Iron Bow is this Iron Tooth Fish. Other Spirit Beasts with metallic properties are all at the thousand-year or ten-thousand-year level and are very dangerous. Plus, I feel my First spirit ring cannot withstand a thousand-year one. To be safe, a hundred-year one is enough."

"That's good. Thousand-year-level Iron Tooth Fish mostly hide deep underground in the Desert. My Blue Silver Grass might not be effective in the Desert." Tang San stroked his chin, feeling that Guang Ling's analysis was quite good, and her First Soul Skill indeed didn't need to be extremely powerful. She was qualified to become a "true disciple."

The only problem was that this Spirit hunt might take a while, as Iron Tooth Fish only exist in the Infinite Desert, which is far from Nuoding City.

Just the journey itself would take about a month.

However, Tang San decided to go because his choice for his Third spirit ring, Sun Moon Grass, also grows in the oases of the Infinite Desert... Perhaps he could ask Notting Academy and Spirit Hall for a half-year leave. He could also cultivate on the way, striving to reach level thirty.

Anyway, having Ling Yuan, a Spirit Saint, as a bodyguard was a good thing to utilize.

When Ling Yuan learned about this, he immediately objected: "The Desert isn't good for a girl's skin. Can't we go to a regular Hunting Spirit Forest?"

"At worst, the Star Dou Great Forest is fine. The outer perimeter is relatively safe, and there are more types of Spirit Beasts."

Tang San shook his head: "There are many types of Spirit Beasts in the Star Dou Great Forest, but some special Spirit Beasts only live in specific environments. My Third spirit ring also needs to be obtained in the Infinite Desert."

Ling Yuan was startled: "You've broken through to level thirty?"

"No, but during the time I was on vacation back in Saint Spirit Village, I wasn't idle. My spirit power increased by another level, reaching twenty-seven. For the remaining three levels, if I don't do anything else for half a year and focus on cultivating my spirit power, I should be able to break through to level thirty." Tang San calculated his spirit power breakthrough speed as he spoke.

86: infinite desert

Despite her reluctance and unwillingness, Ling Yuan still couldn't change Tang San's mind. She could only follow along with a dark expression, though she mostly remained hidden in the shadows, not joining the trio of Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling.

Going to the Infinite Desert, they naturally couldn't go empty-handed. Tang San took Xiao Wu and Guang Ling to buy a large amount of dry food, water, and changes of clothes.

Among these, water was the most important item; the more, the better.

Xiao Wu asked, "Aren't we buying sun-protective clothing?"

"Nuoding City doesn't have such things. Only towns closer to the Desert sell them," Tang San explained to Xiao Wu as he packed the purchased dry food and water bottles into his storage wristband. "After all, this area around Nuoding City, even in midsummer, isn't too hot. Even the delicate noble girls only carry a parasol."

After packing their luggage, Tang San took the two girls to the inn on the outskirts of Nuoding City, hired a carriage, and set off for the Infinite Desert.

Half a month later.

Tang San and his companions finally arrived at the outer reaches of the Infinite Desert.

This wasn't the true Infinite Desert, but merely its outer wasteland.

The coachman wiped the sweat from his forehead and said, "I can only take you this far. It's too dangerous inside. It's not a place for ordinary people like me."

"Thank you, old sir." Tang San paid the fare, and he, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling disembarked from the carriage, watching the coachman drive away, raising a thick cloud of dust like smoke.

"It's so hot." Xiao Wu immediately took out her water bottle from her white jade belt, took a sip, then looked up, shielding her eyes. "The sun here is so dazzling. I don't like it at all."

"No one likes living here except for the locals who have lived here for years. Even the locals, if they had a choice, probably wouldn't live near here." Tang San saw Guang Ling take out a fan and fan himself, so he released his Blue Silver Grass and wove a sun hat for him.

"I want one too." Xiao Wu, seeing the sun hat woven from Blue Silver Grass, also extended her hand to Tang San.

"Here."

Tang San also made one for Xiao Wu. "However, without its roots connected to the ground, my Blue Silver Grass can only last for about an hour before it dissipates. But the good news is, in this area, my Endless Recovery skill can still be used. The Desert is also part of the earth."

The trio walked and rested, finally arriving at a town by nightfall.

Shashuo Town.

That was the name of this small town.

Compared to the square houses of Nuoding City, the buildings here were lower and most of their roofs were round.

Tang San found a general store and bought three windbreakers and three pairs of goggles.

Next, Tang San bought three sets of cotton quilts, three tents, and an introductory book about the Infinite Desert, then headed towards the Infinite Desert.

"Brother San, why are we buying cotton quilts?" Guang Ling asked curiously. "It's so hot in the Desert, do we still need to cover ourselves with cotton quilts?"

"The temperature difference in the Desert is huge. It's so hot during the day that people sweat profusely, and so cold at night that people shiver," Tang San said, grabbing a handful of sand and letting it fall through his fingers. "The sand is very fine and doesn't stick together at all. Its ability to store heat is not strong, in fact, it's very poor, so it will be quite cold at night."

"Is it really that exaggerated?" Xiao Wu didn't believe him.

"Haven't you noticed that it's much cooler now than it was just a moment ago? If we were in Nuoding City, even in summer, it would be very stuffy at night, but here in the Desert, it's getting cold." Tang San couldn't help but quicken his pace, urging the two to keep up. They had to find a waypoint and set up tents to conserve their energy before night fully fell.

Although his First Soul Skill, Endless Recovery, could also restore physical strength, energy is conserved. The energy converted from the power of the earth cannot entirely replace food.

Finally, as the moon rose, Tang San finally saw the waypoint in the distance. He quickly ran over with Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, took out the tents, and began setting them up.

It was the first time for all three of them to set up a tent, which wasted a lot of time, but they still managed to light a bonfire before night fully fell.

"This waypoint is too simple, isn't it?" Xiao Wu looked at the huge rock, over twenty meters high, behind the tent, unable to believe that this was the so-called stronghold.

She had thought there would be buildings like inns in this place.

"In the Desert, water resources are scarce, so it's impossible to have so many inns." Tang San took out the Infinite Desert introductory book and pointed to the arrow symbol on the large stone. "When going deep into the Desert, remember not to get lost. Even a compass can easily lead you astray. These large stones are landmarks, making it easier for lost people to find their bearings again."

"Achoo~ Which way does this arrow point?" Xiao Wu sneezed, pulling her cotton quilt tighter around her, and asked, "With just one mark like this, how can one tell which is which?"

"It just points in a general direction. As long as you follow the direction of the arrow, you will definitely encounter similar strongholds. It's better than inexperienced people wandering aimlessly in the Desert."

Tang San looked at the introductory book and found that the drawings of these large stones were a bit abstract, but he could roughly distinguish them. "Next, I'll talk about the situation in the Infinite Desert."

"The Infinite Desert is divided into four regions. The first region is the town we passed through earlier, on the outskirts. There are many such towns there, known as the Sand Citizen Zone. This is where humans gather near the Desert. Spirit Hall does not count this area as part of the Infinite Desert, but the locals themselves consider their living area to be part of the Infinite Desert."

"The second region is the Outer Zone, which is the area we just entered. Around the entire Outer Zone, there are thousands of similar large stone markers and strongholds, left by previous Spirit Masters to help later comers determine direction. There are arrows on all sides, but the arrow indicating deeper into the Infinite Desert is the largest one. So, if you want to leave the Infinite Desert, just find one of these strongholds, identify the largest arrow, and walk in the opposite direction."

Xiao Wu wondered, "But there's only one arrow on this stone?"

Tang San was speechless. "A stone isn't a billboard; it's a three-dimensional shape. The marker stones at strongholds in the Outer Zone, although they look rugged to us now, can generally be seen as a cube. Most of these types of markers and strongholds in the Desert are polygonal cubes."

Guang Ling asked, "Then why don't they just build directional signposts?"

"It's simple. Sandstorms often occur in the Desert. Erecting signposts is not as stable as these giant rocks," Tang San explained. "And the second region is the Inner Zone. Ten-thousand year soul beasts often appear there, and they are all quite large. Strongholds like those in the Outer Zone are almost nonexistent. To find your way, you can only remember the direction you entered and pray to the heavens that your compass doesn't break."

"And the last region is the Core Zone. There are many rumors about it: oases, desolate lands, hidden places of Ten-thousand year soul beasts, and so on, but no one has truly entered it."

87: Oasis encounter

"Why has no one ever entered it?" Xiao Wu asked. "Is the Ten-thousand year soul beast inside very strong?"

"There might not even be a Ten-thousand year soul beast; after all, that's just a local guess." Tang San shook his head, looking at the description in the introduction book. "The library at Nuoding City's Spirit Hall Branch has no related records. The introduction book says that outside the core area, there's a layer of violent sandstorms. Even a Titled Douluo who ventures in rashly will be reduced to dust."

"However, it's said that every hundred years, the storm stops. If a Spirit Master is lucky enough to enter it and come out alive, they can gain immense benefits."

"What benefits?" Xiao Wu blinked, very interested.

"Spirit evolution and spirit power enhancement."

Tang San stated these two contents recorded in the introduction book.

"However, it only opens every hundred years, making it highly uncertain. Moreover, only Titled Douluo level existences can enter the core area, so we shouldn't even think about it."

Tang San thought that it should be the inheritance place of a certain Divinity, but it wasn't something they could touch now. After all, gods need faith, and if they were tricked, it would be troublesome.

Just like Sea God Island, in many fan fiction novels, it's a leveling spot. But if those fan fiction protagonists don't have overpowered cheats or can't get an assessment above the red level, even if they complete the assessment and gain benefits, they can never leave that island for the rest of their lives.

Did they really think the benefits of a god were so easy to obtain?

In the original work, Tang San could leave with his companions because he had gained the Sea God's approval and was the Sea God's successor, so he naturally didn't have to follow the rules.

For the next period, Tang San and Xiao Wu took turns on night watch, while Guang Ling only needed to rest.

"Are we really going to stay in this place for about half a year?"

After Guang Ling fell asleep, Xiao Wu woke up the resting Tang San.
"Until we cultivate to level 30 and get a spirit ring?"

"Of course. Iron Tooth Fish are in the inner region, and the Sun Moon Grass I need is also in an oasis in the inner region. I don't want to come to this Desert again later."

Anyone who has been to an environment like the Desert once would not want to come again.

"Also, your spirit power cultivation speed is not slower than mine. For these six months, put some pressure on yourself and strive to reach level 30."

"However, Dragon Rabbit won't appear in a Desert environment, so you'll have to find a way with your family later."

Xiao Wu pouted, wrapped herself in the blanket, and returned to her tent, falling asleep in a short while.

"It's not my turn to stand guard yet." Tang San was a little speechless, suspecting that Xiao Wu just wanted to be lazy, but he had no evidence, so he could only stand guard for the first half of the night...

...

The next day.

The sun rose from the east. The three of them simply washed up and then began to move towards the next outpost, going deeper into the Desert.

"Brother San, look!"

During their journey, Guang Ling saw a group of Spirit Beasts with long necks, covered in yellow fur, and with one or two protrusions on their backs, like mountains.

Their bodies were quite large, over seven meters long, and including their necks, they were six meters tall, looking very peculiar.

"What kind of Spirit Beast is this?" Xiao Wu was greatly surprised. She had never seen such peculiar Spirit Beasts in the Star Dou Great Forest, especially the ones with two protrusions, which looked as if they were meant for riding.

"These are Peak Camel Beasts." Looking at the Spirit Beasts that resembled camels, Tang San introduced, "They are gentle in nature, herbivorous, and are a type of pack Spirit Beast. As long as you don't provoke them, you won't be attacked."

"When a Peak Camel Beast drops a spirit ring and it's absorbed by a Spirit Master, they can only gain two Spirit Abilities. The first is Drought Resistance, which, as the name suggests, allows one to go without water for a long time, but it consumes spirit power. The second Spirit Ability is Water Storage, which is to store water within the body. However, people living in the Desert are already short on water, and this Spirit Ability can only store water within the body and is very difficult to release, as humans do not have organs like camel humps."

"Both Spirit Abilities are very useless. Spirit Masters throughout history have summarized the uselessness of the spirit rings dropped by these Spirit Beasts through their personal experiences."

Xiao Wu asked, "So, no one hunts them?"

"No, some Spirit Masters do hunt them, because the meat in their humps is very good." Tang San shook his head. "Humans pursue delicious food. However, they haven't gone extinct because their reproductive ability is quite good; they can give birth to about three to five offspring per litter. Plus, humans can't enter here on a large scale to hunt, otherwise this Spirit Beast would already be extinct."

After speaking, Tang San tried to approach the Peak Camel Beasts. When they saw Tang San, they ignored him and just walked straight ahead, as if he were a rock.

So, Tang San jumped onto the back of one of the Peak Camel Beasts to see how it would react.

However, this Peak Camel Beast just looked back at Tang San once, then turned its head back and continued to follow its herd.

Tang San said to the surprised Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, "You two come up too. Peak Camel Beasts don't get angry at creatures sitting on them, as long as they don't attack."

"Looking at their direction of travel, they're also heading towards the inner region. It's a good chance to hitch a ride, and it's faster than us traveling on our own."

Xiao Wu pulled Guang Ling and jumped onto the back of a Peak Camel Beast, finding that it indeed only glanced at them before continuing forward, completely ignoring them.

Xiao Wu was speechless: "Are these Spirit Beasts so dull?"

Tang San shook his head: "Not dull, just that their sensitive points haven't been touched yet. Otherwise, they would go berserk."

As the Peak Camel Beasts moved forward, Tang San and the others only took two days to reach the inner region, and the Peak Camel Beasts also found an oasis.

"How strange, how did they find the oasis?" Xiao Wu brought Guang Ling down from the Peak Camel Beast and went with Tang San to collect water by the lake, watching other Peak Camel Beast herds also walk over from the bushes. Even on the backs of those Peak Camel Beasts, there were Spirit Masters dressed similarly to the three of them.

"Every creature has its own abilities. This Desert is very unfamiliar to us, but for the Peak Camel Beasts living here, it might be a home they are most familiar with." Tang San looked at the two strangers walking towards them, quickly explained to Xiao Wu, and then became alert.

Although there aren't that many bad people in the world, it's always good to be careful.

"Young friends, did you also follow the Peak Camel Beasts to this oasis?" Both were women, one older and one younger. They wore windbreakers and goggles. The older one spoke; she looked about fifty years old and had a kind face.

"Yes." Tang San responded. "We are here to hunt Spirit Beasts. May I ask if you two are also here in the Infinite Desert to obtain spirit rings?"

88: Shiranui Mai sister

“That’s right, we are also here to hunt Spirit Beasts to obtain the third spirit ring for my granddaughter.” The middle-aged woman turned to look at the teenage girl beside her, a hint of doting in her eyes. “My granddaughter is fourteen this year, and her spirit power has already reached level twenty-nine.”

The Infinite Desert is vast and boundless. Spirit Masters who come here to search for spirit rings usually arrive early, when they are at level twenty-eight or twenty-nine, hoping to find a suitable Spirit Beast once their spirit power reaches level thirty.

After all, finding a Spirit Beast suitable for one's Spirit in the Desert is not an easy task; the environment here is much harsher than that of the Star Dou Great Forest.

Almost no Spirit Master is willing to stay in such a place for one or two months after reaching the required level just to find a suitable Spirit Beast; they all arrive in advance.

When the middle-aged woman saw Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and the others were still children, yet dared to come to the Desert, she thought they might be commoner children and came over to take a look.

Unexpectedly, the other party was also here to hunt Spirit Beasts.

Most Spirit Masters who come to this Desert to hunt Spirit Beasts possess fire-type Spirits, followed by Spirit Masters with plant-type Spirits. After all, none of the plant-type Spirit Beasts that can survive in the Desert are simple beings; they all possess relatively powerful skills.

These three children are so young, probably around seven or eight years old. They must have already cultivated to level ten, which makes them excellent geniuses. Perhaps they could be recruited into her family.

“This elder sister is so amazing,” Guang Ling praised. “She’s already level twenty-nine.”

“Hmph, I am naturally a genius,” the teenage girl was very pleased, raising her thumb to her nose and saying, “What are your names? My name is Huo Wu, my Spirit is Fire Phoenix. According to the current Spirit Master classification, I am a long-range output attack system Spirit Master.”

Huo Wu?

A student from Blazing Academy.

Tang San’s expression remained unchanged as he introduced himself: “My name is Tang San, my Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, a support system Spirit Master. I can provide simple healing and amplification, and also physically control opponents. My abilities are quite comprehensive.”

Xiao Wu said, “My name is Xiao Wu, my Spirit is Soft Bones Rabbit, an assassination and interference agility-attack system Spirit Master. But my strength is not small, and I can also exert the attack power of a close-combat crowd control attack system Spirit Master.”

Guang Ling said, “My name is Guang Ling, my Spirit is Iron Bow. I haven’t obtained a spirit ring yet, but based on the characteristics of my Spirit, I should be a long-range output attack system in the future. However, I should also be able to use the bow as a close-combat weapon.”

Huo Wu shook her head: “Blue Silver Grass, Soft Bones Rabbit, Iron Bow. From a waste Spirit to a sub-waste Spirit, then to an ordinary Spirit. It seems you have no potential.”

“My granddaughter has been spoiled by me, please don’t mind her.” The middle-aged woman, however, noticed something Huo Wu didn’t: Tang San and Xiao Wu stated their Spirit Master types, proving that both of them had already become Spirit Masters.

Moreover, the name Tang San is the same as that Martial Soul Theory Master who almost changed the Spirit Masters' perception of themselves on the Continent with his Martial Soul Theory.

Although the middle-aged woman didn't believe that Grandmaster Tang San and the one in front of her were the same person, what if?

After all, even a universally recognized waste Spirit like Blue Silver Grass can be cultivated, so perhaps this young Xiao Tang San really is that theory Grandmaster.

Even if not, it's good to befriend him.

Furthermore, the belts and wristguards on the three of them were extraordinary; they should be storage soul tools.

Poor people cannot afford them.

"What Spirit Beasts are the three of you here to hunt? If possible, this old woman can help, as Huo Wu still needs some time to break through to level thirty." The middle-aged woman decided to build a good relationship.

"Thank you for your kindness, but it's not necessary. We might not be going the same way. This time, we are out to obtain spirit rings for me and Guang Ling," Tang San said. "Guang Ling is exactly level ten and needs an Iron Tooth Fish to enhance the strength of her Spirit; as for me, I need to obtain a Sun Moon Grass that is close to seven thousand years old."

"Seven thousand years!" The middle-aged woman was greatly startled, then reacted and asked, "May I ask Mr. Tang's age? Has he contracted dwarfism?"

"Eight years old, spirit power twenty-seventh level, almost twenty-eighth. Taking advantage of bringing Guang Ling to this Infinite Desert this time, I plan to stay here for about half a year to directly obtain my third spirit ring,” Tang San briefly explained his situation. “By the way, the whale glue that can enhance a Spirit Master’s physical constitution was published by me.”

“You are that Grandmaster Tang San!” The middle-aged woman was incredulous, and Huo Wu beside her also opened her mouth wide, unable to believe that the person in front of her was that Tang San.

“It’s me, no fake.” After confirming that the two people in front of him were Huo Wu and Huo Wu’s grandmother, and sensing their goodwill, Tang San felt that revealing his identity was not a problem.

At worst, there was still a Spirit Kite secretly protecting them, ensuring that the three of them would not be harmed.

“Do you have any proof?” the middle-aged woman asked tentatively.

Tang San released his Blue Silver Grass, and two spirit rings, one yellow and one purple, emerged. Xiao Wu also followed suit, with her Soft Bones Rabbit possessing her, and the spirit ring colors encircling her were also one yellow and one purple.

“This is... incredible.”

The middle-aged woman was greatly shocked.

Although the matter of whale glue being able to enhance physical constitution had spread, currently, no one in the Spirit World has been able to achieve a thousand-year second spirit ring.

And now, there were two.

It was confirmed: this eight-year-old Tang San was that Martial Soul Theory Master.

“May I know your name, elder sister?” Tang San asked.

“This old woman is Fire Phoenix,” the middle-aged woman introduced herself. “Grandmaster Tang San truly is a hero from a young age. To have a ten-thousand-year second spirit ring, perhaps there will be many to follow in the future, but you are definitely unprecedented.”

Unprecedented?

Not necessarily.

The current Spirit Hall Pope, Bibi Dong, has a thousand-year second spirit ring. Her Death Spider Emperor’s spirit ring color configuration is yellow, purple, purple, purple, black, black, black, black, red.

However, even Bibi Dong didn’t dare to absorb a ten-thousand-year spirit ring for her fourth spirit ring. The soul shock involved is very difficult for mental force below Spirit King to withstand.

It’s just that Tang San felt he had a chance, after all, he was a transmigrator, his soul was stronger than ordinary people, and he had Purple Demon Eye, a method of eye cultivation that could enhance mental force.

Xiao Wu could also do it, after all, her first seven spirit rings could be condensed by herself, so there was no soul shock to speak of, as long as her body could withstand the pressure of a ten-thousand-year spirit ring.

As for Guang Ling... one could only say there was hope in the future, but the risk was relatively high. It would depend on her own choices at that time.

“Senior Fire Phoenix, you flatter me. I merely stumbled upon a method to improve physical constitution,” Tang San said modestly, then asked about Huo Wu’s spirit ring choices, “I wonder which Spirit Beast Sister Huo Wu plans to choose? Meeting is fate, perhaps I can offer some suggestions.”

Setting for this book:

Huo Wu is six years older than Tang San, fourteen years old. Tang San is currently eight. The Continental Elite Tournament is six years later, at which time Tang San will be around fourteen, and Huo Wu will be exactly twenty, making it a round number.

Another complaint: Douluo fanfictions seem to rarely consider the soul shock issue of ten-thousand-year spirit rings, as if whale glue could directly enhance mental force strength.

To absorb a ten-thousand-year spirit ring, one's own mental force also needs to reach a certain standard. Otherwise, with Bibi Dong's first Spirit's second ring being a thousand-year level, her fourth spirit ring could completely be ten-thousand-year, but her fourth spirit ring is still a thousand-year level.

89: Martial soul fusion skills?

Huo Feng realized that this might be Huo Wu's opportunity and quickly said, "For Huo Wu's third spirit ring, I plan to choose an extremely powerful long-range output Spirit Ability for her: Blazing Sun. Therefore, the Spirit Beast chosen is the Flame Lion, which lives in the inner regions of this Infinite Desert."

"Unlike other lion-type Spirit Beasts living on grasslands, the Flame Lion only exists in extremely hot Deserts. Its mane is constantly burning with flames. In addition to attacking with claws, sharp teeth, and mouths like ordinary lion-type Spirit Beasts, it can also condense a ball of flames and make it explode, which is extremely powerful."

Tang San described the characteristics of the Flame Lion, "And the Blazing Sun Spirit Ability is to condense flames, causing the flame temperature to continuously rise and transform into a fireball similar to the sun."

"Exactly, that's right."

Huo Feng nodded, "Huo Wu's First Soul Skill is Repelling Fire Ring, which is a defensive control Spirit Ability that can repel enemies and inflict burning damage. Her Second Spirit Ability, Flame Ascension, is a comprehensive self-buffing Spirit Ability that can double all of her attributes, but it only lasts for ten minutes. After ten minutes, her spirit power will be exhausted, and her entire body will be weak for a whole day, so Huo Wu doesn't use this Spirit Ability often."

"Based on the above situation, for Huo Wu's third spirit ring, I want to choose a Spirit Ability with stronger attack power."

Defense, enhancement, and then choosing attack for the third spirit ring, and it's a long-range output type? Although she can condense spirit power and convert it into fireballs to shoot out, isn't it a bit bad if she doesn't have a single long-range attack Spirit Ability (☺_☺)?

Tang San thought for a while and said, "Sister Huo Wu, may I ask if you could release your Spirit so I can observe it?"

Tang San had no concept of what this Fire Phoenix Spirit actually looked like. As for the details of the original work, the transmigrated Tang San didn't seem to have any special memories.

After all, who would remember an entire novel?

It's not like memorizing a textbook during elementary and middle school.

Therefore, he needed to see what this thing actually was.

However, Tang San also had some guesses. Most likely, it wasn't pure fire element, otherwise it wouldn't be called Fire Phoenix.

"Okay, but after that, we'll have a match." Huo Wu knew Tang San's strength, but she was proud and still wanted to compete with Tang San, otherwise she wouldn't truly be convinced.

"Alright."

Tang San agreed.

Huo Wu released her Spirit, and a blurry shadow appeared behind Huo Wu, almost humanoid, surrounded by flame-like energy. If one didn't look closely, it was really hard to tell what it was.

"May I ask what your family's inherited Spirit is? Or, to be more direct, what are your parents' Spirits?" Tang San was silent for a moment, then asked this question.

"My father's Spirit is Fire Dragon, and my mother's is Fire Cloud." Huo Wu answered without hesitation, "My brother inherited my father's Fire Dragon Spirit, and mine, I guess, is a variation of Fire Cloud?"

"Has anyone ever had a Spirit like yours before?" Tang San asked again.

"This..." Huo Wu looked at Huo Feng.

"No, the name Fire Phoenix was given because it looks like a human shadow and has fire elements. We named it ourselves." Huo Feng shook her head, a hint of worry in her eyes, "Is there something wrong with this Spirit?"

"Generally speaking, a Spirit can also affect a person's personality. If a Spirit is fire-attributed, a Spirit Master's personality will usually be more irritable, and only when they get older will their temper soften a bit."

Tang San slowly explained what he knew, "But if the Spirit is purely a fire element, meaning the Spirit does not appear in an attached form, it will not have much impact on the Spirit Master's personality."

"Sister Huo Wu's Spirit is Fire Phoenix, and it doesn't appear in an attached form. Logically, her temper should be more peaceful, but from my observation during this short time, it doesn't seem to be the case."

Huo Feng knew that what Tang San said was true. Huo Wu's temper had been irritable since she was young, and it only got better as she grew up and learned some manners... Could there be some special change involved?

Or was there a problem with the Spirit's mutation?

"Is there something wrong with my Spirit? Explain it clearly!" Huo Wu's tone became a little heavy.

"Hmph!"

Guang Ling didn't care if Huo Wu was like this because of her Spirit's influence; anyone who dared to scold her teacher like that was definitely a bad woman.

Tang San patted Guang Ling, signaling her not to get agitated, then said to Huo Wu and Huo Feng, "I once saw a similar case in a book called 'Abnormal Spirits'."

"That was a Spirit Master from three hundred years ago whose Spirit was similar to Sister Huo Wu's, in the form of a shadow, but its attribute was ice. However, that Spirit Master later discovered that the true essence of her Spirit was water."

Water and ice in matter are merely changes of the same substance at different temperatures, but in the classification of extraordinary elements, water and ice have similarities but are classified as two different types.

"So, for her fifth spirit ring, she found a Spirit Beast with an extremely strong water attribute origin. After absorbing the spirit ring, her Spirit revealed its true form."

"That was a Spirit as beautiful as an elf."

Huo Wu frowned and asked, "What do you mean?"

"Your Spirit might not just be Fire Phoenix; it probably hasn't truly displayed its proper form. You need to find the true hidden attribute of your Spirit and find a matching spirit ring to make it present its true form."

Tang San looked at the burning, illusory shadow behind Huo Wu, "In my conception, this type of Spirit is even more powerful than pure elemental Spirits, even comparable to the Angel lineage of Spirit Hall."

"The Angel Spirit is humanoid, equivalent to another self. And this type of humanoid shadow Spirit with elemental energy, isn't it also equivalent to another self?"

"You should truly reveal your other self."

Huo Wu's breathing became rapid.

Her Spirit was comparable to the Angel lineage of Spirit Hall?

Huo Feng also couldn't help but ask, "Then, what is the true attribute of Huo Wu's Spirit?"

"What attribute is related to fire?" Tang San asked.

"Light." Huo Feng immediately thought of an attribute and blurted out, "Could it be that the true attribute of Fire Phoenix is light?"

"This needs to be tested." Tang San released his Blue Silver Grass and said to Huo Wu, "You control your Fire Phoenix Spirit to approach my Blue Silver Grass."

Huo Wu did as told.

When the Fire Phoenix approached the Blue Silver Grass, Tang San felt the pulsation of his Spirit and had a confirmation in his heart.

The Blue Silver Grass is not true Blue Silver Grass, but it also has the plant characteristics of true Blue Silver Grass, which loves light. Therefore, Tang San could feel a sense of joy transmitted to him by his Spirit.

Spirits also possess their own spirituality.

Huo Wu, however, frowned, because her Spirit also gave her a peculiar feeling, as if it had been touched.

"What's wrong, Huo Wu?" Huo Feng saw Huo Wu's expression was a bit strange, even much more peaceful, and asked curiously.

"Grandma, is the connection between the two Spirits a sign of a Martial Soul Fusion Skill?" Huo Wu looked at Tang San strangely, thinking to herself: Could it be that this kid and I are going to get married in the future? Hmm~ he'll definitely be a handsome guy in the future, and he's also a Martial Soul Theory Master, but he must be stronger than me.

"Martial Soul Fusion Skill?!" Huo Feng was overjoyed. Didn't this mean that Tang San and Huo Wu were a match made in heaven? And their ages weren't too far apart, only a six-year difference.

90: Screening soul beasts for Huowu

“I can now confirm that Huo Wu’s Spirit has the light attribute,” Tang San said. “As for the Martial Soul Fusion Skill, there’s only a slight sense of it, after all, my Blue Silver Grass is quite special. However, compared to other people’s Martial Soul Fusion Skills, the fusion between our two Spirits will be easier.”

When it came to Martial Soul Fusion Skill, the two most famous ones Tang San could think of were the Star Luo Empire’s Hell White Tiger and the Spirit Hall’s Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo’s Duality Severance Domain.

The Hell White Tiger cannot be fused by every owner of a White Tiger Spirit and a Hell Civet Spirit; there needs to be a slight sense of connection between them.

As for Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo’s Martial Soul Fusion Skill, it’s more like fusing to create a Domain-type ability, rather than two Spirits fusing into a new Spirit form.

For the former, there needs to be a connection between them. For the latter, Tang San estimated that they need to be in perfect sync, and their attributes must complement each other under a certain balance.

Of course, interference from powers above the god level must also be excluded, otherwise, the Martial Soul Fusion of the male and female protagonists in “peerless tang sect” would make no logical sense whatsoever.

Hammers, butterflies, spiritual eyes, scorpions—what kind of connection is there between these four Spirits?

Their attributes are vastly different; it would be strange if they could complement each other!

If one insisted on a connection, a spiritual eye could be placed on a butterfly's wings, as some butterfly wings have eye-like patterns.

“Since it's confirmed to be light-attributed, let's have a fight and see who's stronger.” Huo Wu was eager to try; she didn't mention the Martial Soul Fusion Skill, only wanting to see who was stronger between her and Tang San.

“Don't be rude!”

Fire Phoenix immediately stopped Huo Wu. She didn't want her potential son-in-law to be taught a lesson by her granddaughter, and this Grandmaster already had two little beauties by his side. If Huo Wu made a move, she might truly lose any chance.

There was a Martial Soul Fusion Skill between the two of them!

Even if they weren't together in the future, if something happened and a seed was left, Huo Wu and the Huo Family would benefit greatly!

Huo Wu absolutely could not be allowed to act recklessly.

Fire Phoenix thought a lot in an instant, then asked, “Then, Grandmaster Tang San, which Spirit Beast would be better for Huo Wu's third spirit ring?”

“Solar Lion,” Tang San said. “This Spirit Beast can absorb the power of the sun to improve its cultivation. It will certainly awaken the true form of Sister Huo Wu's Spirit. Even if not, it can allow the Fire Phoenix to grow by absorbing the power of light. One day, it will completely transform, and at that time, her First Soul Skill and Second Soul Skill will also change with the final awakening of her Spirit.”

“This Spirit Beast exists in the Green Shade Grassland of the Star Luo Empire, which is a bit far.” Fire Phoenix frowned, feeling it would take too much time.

“If you want to hunt a suitable Spirit Beast in this Infinite Desert, there is actually another option.” Tang San paused here, then said, “It just depends on whether you have that good luck.”

Fire Phoenix quickly asked, “What kind of Spirit Beast?”

“A variation of the Flame Lion, the Blazing Sun Lion King.”

Tang San revealed the name of this Spirit Beast: “This Spirit Beast doesn’t evolve simply by a Flame Lion growing to a certain age. Instead, it’s when a female Flame Lion, during pregnancy, consumes a rare mineral called Sunstone, causing the Flame Lion fetus to mutate into a Blazing Sun Lion King. This Spirit Beast is born with the power of the sun and the power of flames. Sister Huo Wu’s Spirit happens to possess both of these elements, making it perfectly suitable. Even the Solar Lion isn’t as suitable as this Blazing Sun Lion King.”

Fire Phoenix had never heard of this Spirit Beast, but she was willing to believe Tang San wouldn’t deceive her about such a matter, and there was indeed a Sunstone mine in this Infinite Desert.

If a pregnant female Flame Lion consumed Sunstone, it might indeed mutate into a Blazing Sun Lion King.

“Does the Blazing Sun Lion King also live among Flame Lion prides?” Fire Phoenix asked.

“Unlike those male Flame Lions that lead large prides of lionesses, the Blazing Sun Lion King is a natural solar ruler. If it grows up, it will certainly become the king of all Flame Lions. A pride can only be led by one male lion, at most three; any more, and conflicts will break out. If a Blazing Sun Lion King grows up, its solitary nature will lead it to kill all male lions and gather all lionesses, leaving only itself.”

Tang San sighed faintly, feeling that this Spirit Beast had a similar uniqueness to the Blue Silver Emperor, where only one exists. He then continued, “Therefore, no male Flame Lion can tolerate a Blazing Sun Lion King appearing in their pride. Once one appears, it will be bitten to death. Only a small number of lucky ones have the chance to escape the pride, live independently, and strive to grow up in the future to become the king of all Flame Lions.”

“According to legend, when a Blazing Sun Lion King reaches the thousand-year mark, it will definitely drop a Spirit Bone, and it’s an external Spirit Bone whose value is second only to a hundred-thousand-year Spirit Bone. It can evolve with the Spirit Master’s spirit power increase, and even after the Spirit Master fully absorbs it, it will not drop even if the Spirit Master is killed, but will perish with the Spirit Master.”

Fire Phoenix’s breathing hitched, and she trembled: “Grandmaster Tang San, is what you’re saying true? A Blazing Sun Lion King of a thousand years or more will definitely drop an external Spirit Bone?”

“At least that’s what’s recorded in the book ‘Where Are the Wonderful Spirit Beasts’ that I read.” Tang San wasn’t sure if a Blazing Sun Lion King of a thousand years or more would definitely drop an external Spirit Bone, but he knew that the book also contained another piece of information: there were once Spirit Masters who captured pregnant female Flame Lions and forcibly fed them Sunstone, hoping the lionesses would give birth to a Blazing Sun Lion King, but in the end, they still gave birth to Flame Lions.

Therefore, Tang San guessed that Sunstone might not be the key to the birth of a Blazing Sun Lion King, but merely a necessary factor. The remaining factors were unknown.

Fire Phoenix was somewhat disappointed, but not overly so. Even if they couldn’t find a Blazing Sun Lion King, they could later go to the Green Shade Grassland in the Star Luo Empire to hunt a Solar Lion, which could still allow Huo Wu’s Spirit to reveal its true form.

Thus, the group temporarily settled down in this oasis.

And Huo Wu still wanted to fight Tang San.

Tang San agreed.

“Huo Wu, Level 29 long-range output attack system Battle Spirit Master, please advise.”

Huo Wu threw off her windbreaker and took off her goggles, tossing her reddish-brown hair to reveal her bronze skin, looking quite valiant.

Tang San released his Blue Silver Grass Spirit and slowly said, “Tang San, Level 28 all-rounder support Spirit Master, please advise.”

The battle was about to begin.

Huo Wu was the first to charge towards Tang San.

Tang San easily dodged, raised his hand to press on the ground, allowing his Blue Silver Grass to take root, and then maneuvered around Huo Wu.

It must be said that Huo Wu easily got carried away in battle.

She claimed to be a long-range output Spirit Master, but she fought like a close-range control type. Her first two Spirit Abilities, Repulsion Fire Ring and Flame Ascent, one used to push enemies away, and the other to enhance her own combat power.

What kind of long-range output was that?

She didn’t have a single long-range offensive ability.

She was a definite control attack system!

Or perhaps, the so-called long-range offensive type was just something said to mislead others?

However, if Huo Wu’s third Spirit Ability were to choose the Solar Lion or Blazing Sun Lion King, it seemed she could gain a powerful output-type Spirit Ability.

Tang San dodged while secretly complaining, and then, once his Blue Silver Grass had fully rooted, he immediately used Endless Grassland. Countless Blue Silver Grass leaves coiled towards Huo Wu.

Huo Wu's flames were indeed incredibly hot, but once the Endless Grassland formed and rooted underground, as long as the roots weren't burned, the Blue Silver Grass would be inexhaustible, and Huo Wu's spirit power would only be depleted....

91: Three categories of martial soul fusion skills

“I lost.”

After emerging from the Blue Silver Grass, Huo Wu’s face was very unsightly. Her flames could easily burn Tang San’s Blue Silver Grass, but the grass grew so fast that she couldn’t burn it all away.

This fighting style was quite shameless.

Tang San smiled and said, “It’s normal. After all, my Blue Silver Grass can take root in the earth. Unless you burn all the roots underground, you can’t completely burn my Blue Silver Grass.”

Wildfires can’t be completely extinguished; they grow again with the spring breeze.

In reality, even if it were completely burned, Tang San could set it up again. After all, Blue Silver Grass consumed very little spirit power, and as long as it took root in the earth, it could draw power from the earth, so his own consumption wasn’t great.

Moreover, he hadn’t even used his Second Soul Skill. Otherwise, with Huo Wu’s full attribute reduced by more than twenty percent, how could she be his opponent?

“As expected of the Grandmaster of Spirit cultivation theory, not only has he changed the positioning of Spirit Masters in the Spirit Master’s world, but he can also make the Blue Silver Grass Spirit display such powerful effects.” Huo Feng watched as Huo Wu’s spirit power was restored by Tang San's First Soul Skill, sighing with emotion. She was increasingly satisfied with this son-in-law and wanted to abduct him home.

"I am merely standing on the shoulders of my predecessors and making deductions. After all, the attributes of some Spirit Beasts are not necessarily what they appear to be." Tang San humbly replied, then proudly cocked his nose and said, "However, I am indeed very powerful myself."

Huo Wu was speechless, but she developed a good impression of Tang San: "I don't know whether to call you humble or arrogant, but you look quite to my liking."

Afterward, the group fetched water, preparing to rest for a while in the oasis before setting off again to find suitable Spirit Beasts.

Although the two sides had become familiar, they did not camp together, maintaining a certain distance.

Xiao Wu walked over, glanced at Huo Wu not far away, and asked, "Why did you tell Huo Wu about the Spirit Beast suitable for her?"

"Our age is a factor here. If that Huo Feng were to forcibly make us join her family, it would be troublesome. It's better to display our identity to create some deterrence and then give them some impractical benefits. As long as they are not too overbearing, there won't be too much conflict between us," Tang San said. "If we can avoid troubling Ling Yuan, we will."

"Also, the Huo Family is not a small family, and there must be Spirit Beast data that is not available on the market within their family. If they really find the Blazing Sun Lion King, and Huo Wu's Spirit reveals its true form, then it will be easier for me to trade some data with them."

"Moreover, their family possesses the secret method of spirit ring fusion. If Huo Wu truly succeeds, I might be able to find a way to trade for it and study it in the future."

Xiao Wu hadn't expected Tang San to have thought so much and her mind spun a bit. She asked, "What about your Martial Soul Fusion Skill with her?”

“Martial Soul Fusion Skill, this kind of thing, in my conception, isn’t actually about fusing simply because there’s a mutual sense. It also requires cultivating tacit understanding, and the latter point is the most crucial.”

Tang San thought for a moment and said indifferently, “However, I have never truly seen a Martial Soul Fusion Skill. Everything can only be speculated based on existing cases in Spirit Hall. Perhaps, theoretically, as long as two people are in sync and their spirit power can initially fuse, then no matter what their Spirits are, they can fuse. But if their personalities are too different, even if there is a sense, fusing will be troublesome.”

“The sense between my Blue Silver Grass and Huo Wu’s Fire Phoenix is actually just the Blue Silver Grass sensing the hidden light attribute on her body, which caused a slight reaction. To fuse, it would probably take more than ten years.”

“I have no interest in wasting my other research for a Martial Soul Fusion Skill.”

Xiao Wu secretly breathed a sigh of relief and said, “Speaking of which, my Soft Bones Rabbit Spirit eats Blue Silver Grass. Can we fuse?”

Tang San gave Xiao Wu a knowing look: “Yes, but it will probably require a very long period of cultivating tacit understanding, and to achieve true Martial Soul Fusion, I might have to master the aspect of Life force to a higher degree. After all, Spirits have their own sentience. No Spirit will refuse the nourishment of Life force. Even a death attribute, when a balance point is found with its opposing Life attribute, can fuse with it.”

Speaking of Martial Soul Fusion Skill, Tang San felt that it could actually be divided into three categories: spirit power fusion, Spirit Ability fusion, and Spirit fusion.

In the original work, the protagonist group’s Seven-in-One Martial Soul Fusion Skill was spirit power fusion, where everyone’s spirit power was concentrated on the protagonist, allowing him to use the Clear Sky Avatar.

To put it plainly, it was about concentrating the spirit power of others onto a powerful Spirit, allowing it to display immense power.

How spirit power fuses is currently unknown.

But Tang San was certain that different Spirits had different spirit power attributes. Just like his Blue Silver Grass, his previous internal energy was neutral and peaceful, without any attributes. After the Blue Silver Grass awakened and gained a spirit ring, it gained the Life attribute.

Therefore, this kind of fusion likely requires a high-quality Spirit that can forcibly erase the attributes in other people's spirit power, otherwise, it would be very difficult to fuse successfully.

The Clear Sky Hammer happened to fit the above situation.

As for Spirit Ability fusion, this was much simpler. If two people had the same Spirit Ability, they could release it together, allowing the attacks to converge and increase their power.

This was the simplest type.

Secondly, there was the fusion of Spirit Abilities with different attributes, which required continuous experimentation. Some attributes counteracted each other, while others complemented each other, varying greatly.

Among them, the most representative should be Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo.

Tang San believed this was a strong example of Spirit Ability fusion, using the attributes of two great Spirits to create a Two Extremes Static Domain.

The key was the word "Domain," proving that this was definitely not a conventional Martial Soul Fusion. It was merely a skill similar to a Domain formed by the fusion of two opposing attributes.

And finally, Spirit fusion, the most representative being the Hell White Tiger of the Star Luo Empire. There was nothing much to say; it was simply the fusion of two different Spirits, giving birth to an entirely new form.

Throughout history, among the three types of fusion, spirit power fusion was the least common, followed by Spirit fusion, with Spirit Ability fusion being the most common.

However, most Spirit Masters on the continent would not include those less powerful fused Spirit Abilities in the category of Martial Soul Fusion Skills... This was actually imprecise. One shouldn't dismiss them as Spirit Ability fusions just because their combined power is weak, should they?

This point should definitely not be judged solely by the power of the fused Spirit Ability.

“Next, I’ll talk about where the Iron Tooth Fish appear. Then we can head to those places.”

Then, Tang San began to elaborate on the specific information for finding the Iron Tooth Fish: “They generally appear in groups, they are gregarious creatures, and they frequent quicksand areas. A hundred-year Iron Tooth Fish will have reddish-brown iron teeth, and two horizontal tusks will grow from its upper jaw, curving outwards. From the front, they are extremely sharp, like it’s holding two daggers...”

92: Guang Ling's first soul skill: Red Gold Breath

Leaving the oasis, Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling advanced towards the quicksand area, facing the rolling hot wind.

The Peak Camel Beasts would not go to the quicksand area, so the few people naturally couldn't hitch a ride anymore and could only walk step by step in the Desert.

Huo Feng and Huo Wu also followed behind.

The Blazing Sun Lion King generally lived alone. To find it, they couldn't go to the territory where Flame Lions lived. Therefore, the two could only follow Tang San and the others, preparing to try their luck.

After all, the Blazing Sun Lion King lived independently outside. To grow, it would inevitably hunt other Spirit Beasts. Iron Tooth Fish appeared in the quicksand area and even often napped beside the quicksand, which was likely one of the easiest foods for the Blazing Sun Lion King to catch.

Climbing onto a sand dune piled up like a hill, Tang San stopped and looked at the flowing "river area" five hundred meters away.

Unlike the yellow sand under their feet, that quicksand was white and reflected light, which was a bit dazzling. It was unknown where it came from or where it went.

This quicksand was different from what he had imagined.

In his impression from his previous life, quicksand looked no different from ordinary yellow sand on the surface, but if a person or animal accidentally stepped in, they would be trapped and unable to get out.

However, the quicksand in front of him was actually flowing, like a river.

However, Tang San did notice many small black dots moving along the edge of the quicksand. They should be Iron Tooth Fish.

Thus, the few people quickened their pace.

When they reached within thirty meters of the quicksand, Tang San could hear the sound of the quicksand flowing, a rustling sound, very faint, so much so that even he, a Spirit Grandmaster, almost couldn't hear it.

Huo Feng said, "This is the River of Quicksand. Legend has it that a very powerful Ten-thousand year soul beast is sleeping deep underground in the Infinite Desert. Every breath it takes causes the quicksand to flow."

"That's possible." Tang San saw that the sand in the River of Quicksand was actually no different from the surrounding sand, except for its white color, which was probably because it had just emerged from deeper underground.

In this peculiar World, it was not impossible for the quicksand to be caused by the breathing of a powerful Ten-thousand year soul beast, with each breath being a cycle.

Then, Tang San began to scan the Iron Tooth Fish basking by the quicksand. Finally, he identified an Iron Tooth Fish about fifty centimeters long, and without a sound, he used Endless Grassland, extending the roots of the Blue Silver Grass beneath it. Then, leaves suddenly grew, Binding the Iron Tooth Fish and sending it to Guang Ling's side.

However, an Iron Tooth Fish of about five hundred years, after leaving the sand, was like a fish out of water. No matter how much it struggled, it was useless.

Tang San said, "Kill it. This is your First spirit ring, five hundred years. Although you've eaten a lot of whale jelly, each piece was only the size of a fingernail, so it's better to be cautious."

"Okay."

Guang Ling took out a dagger from her storage wristguard and stabbed it into the Iron Tooth Fish's eye. With a strong twist, she destroyed the Iron Tooth Fish's already small brain.

Seeing a yellow spirit ring rise, Guang Ling sat down cross-legged and circulated the Mysterious Heaven Skill cultivation method Tang San had taught her, drawing the spirit ring over and attaching it to her Tool Spirit, the Iron Bow.

Compared to the scenes of Sisi and Wang Sheng absorbing spirit rings that Tang San had seen before, Guang Ling only frowned at the beginning, then calmed down and absorbed it quietly.

In less than an hour, Guang Ling finished absorbing it, with a look of surprise.

Releasing her Spirit, the Iron Bow was wrapped in crimson patterns. The grip part of the bow was indented a short distance, and the protrusions at both ends became sharp. The overall appearance was like a strange double-edged blade.

It was clear that Guang Ling's Spirit had been affected by the Iron Tooth Fish's two horizontally growing iron teeth, truly gaining the ability for close combat.

However, this was just a change in the Spirit's form. The actual Spirit Ability was still unclear, but Tang San estimated that it would definitely give the Iron Bow a golden-iron aura.

"Third Brother, look."

Guang Ling drew the bowstring, and a sharp arrow condensed from her Spirit Ability. Unlike before she obtained the spirit ring, a wisp of silver light appeared at the arrowhead, carrying a hint of sharpness.

Tang San had already judged that its penetrative power was definitely stronger than before.

More importantly, this was just Guang Ling condensing it with her spirit power. She hadn't used her First Soul Skill itself.

Then, the First spirit ring flashed, and the blades on the bow body flowed with crimson light, condensing into two energy-shaped curved knives that adhered to the condensed spirit power arrow.

Whoosh!

Guang Ling released the bowstring, and the sharp arrow shot out, flying nearly sixty meters in an instant. Moreover, the two blades on it were extremely sharp, cutting ten man-sized cacti beside the River of Quicksand in half.

"A long-range output type Spirit Ability, and those two energy-shaped blades are very sharp. Although I haven't tested it specifically, it should be able to break through the defense of a Spirit Elder level, as long as that Spirit Elder is not a defense type." Tang San analyzed it simply, then commented, and then asked, "Can this Spirit Ability only be used after you condense the arrow?"

"No."

Guang Ling shook her head and drew the bowstring again, but this time she didn't use spirit power to condense the arrow, but directly used the Spirit Ability.

And this time, the Spirit Ability only condensed two energy-shaped blades. The range was still around sixty meters, but the power was much weaker, only cutting open five cacti with a diameter similar to a human head, nearly half as much, but it was still much stronger than ordinary hundred-year Spirit Abilities.

Tang San didn't care too much about this. He was more concerned about the change in the Iron Bow's form brought by the Iron Tooth Fish's spirit ring, which made it not only usable as a bow but also as a close-combat weapon.

This was the biggest gain.

"What is your First Spirit Ability called?" Tang San asked.

"Crimson Gold Aura."

Guang Ling thought for a while and came up with this name. "This spirit ring has made my Spirit stronger. My spirit power has the sharp characteristic of the Iron Tooth Fish. When I use the Spirit Ability, the two blades are red. More importantly, every time I use the Spirit Ability, the red patterns that appear on my Spirit flow, as if they can absorb some kind of peculiar energy from the air to strengthen it, and it's a permanent strengthening... Although the feedback to me is very, very low, I know it's there."

Tang San smiled.

He knew that Guang Ling's Spirit had inherited the Iron Tooth Fish's ability to absorb metal and evolve. Applied to the Spirit, it was the ability to absorb elements from the World, although the effect was extremely weak, perhaps only able to absorb corresponding metal-based energy, but it already had the possibility for the Spirit to continuously evolve.

"Excellent, Crimson Gold Aura, a Spirit Ability that can benefit you for life and even give you a chance to catch up with those high-quality Tool Spirits." Tang San praised, "In that case, your Spirit should also have a brand new name, called Sun Chasing Bow. I hope the arrows your Spirit shoots can chase the sun and surpass it."

"Sun Chasing Bow?" Guang Ling held her Spirit, her heart couldn't help but firm up, and said, "Okay, I'll listen to Third Brother, it's called Sun Chasing Bow."

93: The Lion King

Just as the three were rejoicing, a beast roar came from afar.

Everyone looked over, only to see a majestic lion appear not far away: a body over four meters long, nearly two meters tall, with reddish-brown fur, but its lion's mane was a brilliant golden color.

It was the color of the sun.

Moreover, the lion's mane was not just around its neck; it also grew on its back, extending all the way to its tail, which was extremely mystical.

"Could this be the Blazing Sun Lion King!"

Huo Feng looked at this lion, which greatly resembled a Flame Lion but had a golden lion's mane, her eyes shining brightly, her aura surging, and she couldn't help but ask Tang San.

"Yes."

Tang San also saw such a majestic lion for the first time, "The books record that the Blazing Sun Lion King has a mane as brilliant as the sun; that is the mark of the Blazing Sun Lion King."

"Good!"

Huo Feng released her spirit rings, two yellow, two purple, and two black. The oppressive feeling brought by her Spirit Emperor-level spirit power caused the Blazing Sun Lion King to turn and run.

But how could the Blazing Sun Lion King's speed compare to a Spirit Emperor's?

Moreover, Huo Feng's Spirit is the Blazing Fire Bird, which is a Phoenix species, and her flying speed was much faster than the Blazing Sun Lion King's running speed.

Seeing that it couldn't outrun her, the Blazing Sun Lion King stopped running, turned to meet the attack, its entire golden mane dancing like flames, its aura suddenly surging, and dozens of energy spheres, like golden suns, appeared around its body.

What was surprising was that these energy spheres were not blasted out, but instead released light rays from different angles, making it impossible for Huo Feng to evade.

Left with no choice, Huo Feng could only use her Fourth Spirit Ability to form a spherical protective shield, blocking the dozens of golden light rays.

However, the penetrating power of those light rays was extremely strong; even a Spirit Emperor-level strength found it difficult to withstand.

Seeing that her grandmother was somewhat disheveled, Huo Wu immediately asked Tang San, "What level Spirit Beast is that Blazing Sun Lion King? My grandmother can't even take it down immediately?"

Tang San said, "Records of the Blazing Sun Lion King in books are actually very scarce, but two points can be made clear: firstly, this Blazing Sun Lion King's cultivation does not exceed two thousand years, because a two-thousand-year-old Blazing Sun Lion King will have sun-like patterns on its forehead, and this one only has slight imprints; secondly, according to existing records, the Blazing Sun Lion King is extremely powerful. A ten-year-old can contend with a thousand-year-old, a hundred-year-old can fight a ten-thousand-year-old, and a thousand-year-old can contend with Spirit Beasts of fifty thousand years or more."

"This is a super Spirit Beast comparable to the Titan Giant Ape."

"Therefore, according to the records, once a Blazing Sun Lion King is discovered, Spirit Masters with corresponding attributes, even a ninety-level quasi-Titled Douluo, will seek its spirit ring, even if the Blazing Sun Lion King is only a thousand-year Spirit Beast."

Huo Wu became worried: "A thousand-year-old can contend with Spirit Beasts of fifty thousand years or more? Then isn't my grandmother in great danger?"

"Although the books record it that way, it's unknown whether a Blazing Sun Lion King that has just reached one thousand years of cultivation can contend with Spirit Beasts of fifty thousand years or more, or if it needs to be nine thousand nine hundred ninety-nine years of cultivation to contend with Spirit Beasts of fifty thousand years or more. It's an unknown. A single description cannot precisely define it."

Tang San shook his head, "It's difficult for a Spirit Douluo to hunt a fifty-thousand-year-old Spirit Beast, and your grandmother is a Spirit Emperor, yet she can contend with this thousand-year-level Blazing Sun Lion King, even gaining the upper hand. This indicates that the latter scenario is more likely; the Blazing Sun Lion King's cultivation might need to reach five thousand years before it can fight Spirit Beasts of fifty thousand years or more."

Indeed, as time passed, the Blazing Sun Lion King's aura gradually became unstable, and it was finally beaten by Huo Feng, its four limbs broken, and dragged before Huo Wu.

"It truly lives up to its name as the Blazing Sun Lion King; it's even harder to deal with than an ordinary twenty-thousand-year Spirit Beast."

Huo Feng panted heavily, and as soon as she finished speaking, she told Huo Wu to kill this Blazing Sun Lion King.

Huo Wu took out a dagger and plunged it into the Blazing Sun Lion King's throat. After its final struggles ceased, a purple spirit ring emerged from its body.

Xiao Wu turned her head away, not daring to look.

When Guang Ling hunted the Iron Tooth Fish, she didn't react much, as that thing was a bit ugly, but this Blazing Sun Lion King looked much prettier.

Although a rabbit cannot empathize with a lion, she still felt a bit of sympathy, but it was merely the sadness of a fox seeing a rabbit die.

Huo Wu released her Spirit and began to absorb the spirit ring.

In the past few days, her cultivation had also reached level thirty, allowing her to absorb a spirit ring.

Roar!

The moment the purple spirit ring enveloped her, Huo Wu's Spirit began to burn, the crimson flames gradually turning golden, even completely engulfing Huo Wu herself, forming a giant golden fireball.

"What's going on?" Huo Feng worried about Huo Wu's safety, "No one has ever experienced such a situation when absorbing a spirit ring."

"Don't worry, Senior Huo Feng, this should be the process of the Spirit's evolution," Tang San comforted her, "Although the Blazing Sun Lion King is a super Spirit Beast, it is ultimately only a little over a thousand years old, and its attribute matches Sister Huo Wu's Fire Shadow, making absorption easier. Besides, I imagine Sister Huo Wu must have also consumed thousand-year-level Whale Gel, right?"

"That's true."

Huo Feng also felt a little relieved. After the usage and value of Whale Gel were publicized, the Huo Family naturally began to collect it vigorously, but unfortunately, it was already too late.

She estimated that there wouldn't be as many people with thousand-year second rings in the future, as Whale Gel was originally scarce on the market, and most of it had already been acquired by Spirit Hall.

As for hunting whales in the deep sea... even a Titled Douluo wouldn't dare to claim a hundred percent guarantee.

In a flash, four hours passed.

It was already dark, and Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Huo Feng, and the others could only set up tents nearby, preparing to spend the night.

As for Guang Ling's specific test, since Huo Feng was present at the moment, it was not convenient to proceed immediately. They could only wait until he broke through to level thirty and obtained the Sun Moon Grass's spirit ring, then return to conduct more precise measurements.

The next day, nine in the morning.

Huo Wu had just finished absorbing the spirit ring. The golden fireball dissipated, revealing the girl's perfect naked body.

At this moment, Huo Wu's entire body was as smooth as jade, all her clothes had been burned away in the flames, and her reddish-brown hair had completely turned crimson, flowing down to cover her private parts.

"Where are my clothes? No, where is my storage soul tool?" Huo Wu stood up, immediately felt a chill all over her body, and quickly squatted down, covering her vital areas.

Huo Feng immediately took out clothes from her storage soul tool and handed them to Huo Wu to put on, then looked back at Tang San, who had turned away, and said, "Don't be shy; he's only eight years old, a child."

"Grandma, do you even believe what you're saying?" Huo Wu quickly put on her pants and long-sleeved shirt, looking at her grandmother speechlessly, and then said to Tang San, "Alright, I'm dressed."

Tang San looked at Huo Wu, who seemed to have undergone a complete transformation, and asked, "How is it? Has your Spirit undergone an evolution?"

Huo Wu was also curious about her Spirit, so she released it—

A figure appeared, looking almost identical to Huo Wu's face, with a body that was also a spitting image, but with a unique sun-like pattern on her chest, emitting crimson flames that covered her perfect delicate body.

More importantly, her reddish-gold hair danced like flames, as if she were a goddess controlling the sun...

For the specific image, refer to the manga version of Huo Wu's Spirit image.

94: Fire Dance Spirit: Sun Goddess

“Is this the true form of my Spirit?”

Looking at the other “self” with closed eyes and a serene face, Huo Wu was utterly shocked. “I’m actually this beautiful.”

Tang San: “.....”

Xiao Wu: “So narcissistic.”

Guang Ling was silent, just like Tang San, but in his heart, he was wondering if he could also evolve his Spirit by obtaining a similar spirit ring.

“Huo Wu, what’s your Third Soul Skill? Is it Blazing Sun Lion King’s ability to fire multiple long-range light attacks?” Huo Feng knew Huo Wu had gained a great benefit, but she was still more concerned about the Spirit Ability’s effect.

“My Third Soul Skill indeed inherited that skill, and I’ll still name it Fire Dance Bright Sun.” As Huo Wu spoke, her purple spirit ring lit up, and the Spirit appeared behind Huo Wu. With Huo Wu, it raised both hands, and a golden halo enveloped the Spirit’s outstretched hands. A golden energy, accompanied by flames, condensed in its palms, with a diameter of one meter.

In an instant, this beam of light shot out, traversed a thousand meters, and struck a sand dune, immediately tearing open a hole in it.

After one strike, Huo Wu also retracted her Spirit, her face slightly pale: “This attack of mine has a very long range and great power. I estimate that even a Spirit King wouldn’t be able to withstand it head-on, but it consumes a lot of spirit power, almost 50% of my spirit power. However, I can also control the power of the light to be lower, or even fire multiple beams, but I don't have such strong mental force for precise control."

"Also, without releasing my Spirit, I should still be able to use this move, but the power will be weaker."

After speaking, Huo Wu raised her hand again without releasing her Spirit. This time, the halo was much smaller, and the condensed light ball was also smaller, only the size of a human head. The range was only five hundred meters, and the power was also much weaker.

However, compared to ordinary Spirit Elder and Spirit Ancestor, it was still extremely powerful.

Furthermore, Huo Wu discovered that after her Spirit revealed its true form, her First Soul Skill and Second Soul Skill also significantly strengthened, and even underwent some slight changes.

The First Soul Skill was originally Repelling Fire Ring, which formed a fire ring around the waist that then expanded outwards, pushing away enemies close to her.

The current effect is similar, but when used, the red flames turn golden and flow at an extremely fast speed, carrying extremely high temperature and cutting ability.

Huo Feng experimented, and this First Soul Skill could at least break through the defense of a Spirit Master below Level 48.

More importantly, as long as Huo Wu had enough spirit power, this skill could be maintained indefinitely, though it would consume more spirit power when expanding.

It would be difficult to get close to Huo Wu for melee combat in the future.

Therefore, Huo Wu also renamed this First Soul Skill to Sun Star Ring.

The Second Soul Skill, Flame Ascent, was a Spirit Ability that boosted one's own strength but had strong side effects. Its effect remained unchanged, but the side effects were reduced, only requiring spirit power consumption to use.

This Spirit Ability was renamed Sun Ascent by Huo Wu.

“Indeed, apart from special Spirits like the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda, other Spirits can transform their spirit rings into the form most suitable for themselves.” Tang San mused thoughtfully, then prepared to bid farewell to Huo Wu, Huo Feng, and the others. After all, he hadn't cultivated to Level 30 yet and still needed to stay in this Desert for about half a year.

However, Huo Feng didn't want to take Huo Wu away just like that and said, “Grandmaster Tang San, if it weren't for you, my Huo Wu's talent wouldn't have been truly unleashed. She might have become ordinary in the future. We naturally must repay you.”

“Senior Huo Feng, you jest. We didn't exert any effort in hunting the Spirit Beast.”

“But if you hadn't reminded me, this old woman wouldn't have known about the Blazing Sun Lion King. Even if I had encountered this Blazing Sun Lion King, I would have thought it was a ten-thousand-year Spirit Beast due to its powerful combat strength, thus making Huo Wu miss out.” Huo Feng was determined to stay, wanting Huo Wu to interact more with Tang San.

Huo Wu also said, “Tang San, I'm not a woman who doesn't repay kindness. I'll help you hunt Spirit Beasts before returning... Also, I feel that after my Spirit revealed its true form, my sensing of you seems even clearer.”

Seeing this, Tang San didn't say anything more, tacitly accepting their presence.

During this period, Huo Feng also had many exchanges with Tang San, assuring him that in the future, she would provide him with various Spirit Beast data and Spirit Master biographies collected by her family for his research.

“Senior Huo Feng, I heard that the Huo Family has a spirit ring fusion secret technique. Is that true?” Tang San asked.

Huo Feng nodded: “It is indeed true. If Mr. Tang San wants it, I can give it to you right now.”

“Uh... isn’t that a bit too casual?” Tang San was a bit incredulous. He had expected to exchange some items, but he didn’t expect the other party to just give it away.

Was it to repay him for choosing the best spirit ring for Huo Wu?

Huo Feng smiled and explained the reason: “The spirit ring fusion secret technique was not created by my Huo Family ancestors. It was created three thousand years ago by an astonishingly talented Spirit Master. He made the secret technique public, and at that time, almost every Spirit Master had a copy.”

“However, very few Spirit Masters succeeded in cultivating it, and many even suffered qi deviation during the cultivation process.”

“This once made the Spirit Masters of that time suspect whether the Spirit Master who spread the secret method wanted to destroy the entire Spirit Master community... but then some people did succeed in cultivating it.”

“One of those families is the Huo Family, where Huo Wu and I belong.”

“The spirit ring fusion secret technique, in the current Douluo Continent, is actually possessed by Spirit Hall, the Two Great Empires, the Upper Three Sects, the Lower Four Sects, and various academies qualified to participate in the Spirit Master Grand Competition. It’s just that commoner Spirit Masters don’t have access to it. And this secret method is very difficult to cultivate, wasting one's cultivation time. Most Spirit Masters won't waste time cultivating this thankless ability."

Now Tang San understood.

The spirit ring fusion secret technique was possessed by all major Sects, families, and other forces that were well-known, but it was not highly valued because it was too difficult to cultivate, had too high a failure rate, and wasted time that could be used for cultivating spirit power.

For most Spirit Masters with insufficient talent, the cost-effectiveness was too low.

Therefore, no one was willing to spend time specifically researching the further possibilities of spirit ring fusion.

Huo Wu suddenly said, "I am cultivating spirit ring fusion. I can achieve a brief close-range contact between my First Soul Ring and Second Soul Ring. I might succeed in cultivating it in the future. I just don't know if I can continue cultivating this spirit ring fusion skill after my Spirit changed."

Huo Feng said reproachfully, "That spirit ring fusion skill is so dangerous. If you can't continue cultivating it, I think it's better for your future. You can just spend most of your time on spirit power cultivation and honing your combat experience."

Huo Feng was actually very opposed to Huo Wu cultivating spirit ring fusion. Although the power of this skill after successful cultivation was great, it wasted too much time. It was not as practical and cost-effective as cultivating spirit power to raise one's level and participating in soul duels to gain combat experience.

Huo Wu dared not retort, but she would not easily give up on something she had decided on.

spirit ring fusion, she must cultivate it!

Update time · Revised: 20:31 / 32

Found it better to send two chapters together.

95: The practice method of ring fusion

After obtaining the spirit ring fusion secret technique from Huo Wu, Tang San immediately flipped through it and found that the method recorded in the secret technique was very simple, even crude. It involved condensing spirit power within the spirit rings, sensing the flow of energy between the various spirit rings, controlling the spirit rings to overlap, and connecting the energy between them.

Then, it instructs to increase the input of spirit power, allowing the spirit power energy between the spirit rings to merge, thereby achieving the fusion effect between the spirit rings.

When Tang San saw the introduction, he was utterly bewildered—

No wonder the failure rate and death rate for cultivating spirit ring fusion were so high.

The first few steps were fine, but what was up with directly increasing the input of spirit power after connecting the energy and spirit power between different spirit rings?

Are they really not afraid of conflicts between the spirit power circulation routes?

If the spirit power circulation channels within a spirit ring are compared to an electrical circuit, then spirit ring fusion is like integrating multiple circuits into one. If that's the case, how could it be so simple to just connect the spirit power circulation routes between them?

Moreover, the spirit power circulation patterns within a spirit ring are not simple series and parallel circuits like in a basic light bulb experiment; they are more akin to the complex series connections on a chip.

Spirit Masters don't even understand basic circuit theory. To put it more subtly, they don't even know how many meridians are in their own bodies or how their own spirit power circulates, yet they dare to challenge the fusion of spirit power circulation routes within a spirit ring...

Tang San could only say that their courage was commendable and worthy of respect.

But he dared not imitate it—

In such a situation, to dare to practice without understanding anything, it would be strange if it didn't 'short-circuit'.

Even if someone succeeded, it was accidental, and they couldn't summarize any more useful experience. It didn't involve the spirit power circulation within the spirit ring at all, only stating that the spirit rings' inherent attributes should be similar and the Spirit Abilities should not be the same.

There are many Spirit Masters in such situations.

But how many successfully cultivate it?

Without summarizing more useful experience, even if they didn't want to spread it to other families, they wouldn't be able to allow their own people to cultivate effectively, right?

Returning the spirit ring fusion secret technique to Huo Wu, Tang San fell into deep thought.

Huo Wu asked, "Don't you want this secret technique anymore?"

"Thank you, Senior. I've already memorized it. Moreover, this spirit ring fusion secret technique only confirmed my previous conjectures about the spirit ring fusion secret technique; it's not even as profound as my own imaginings."

Tang San sighed, "Before, I didn't understand why spirit ring fusion was so rare. Now that I've seen this secret technique, I finally understand. The Spirit Masters who succeeded in cultivating spirit ring fusion in the past succeeded purely by luck. They themselves didn't know how they succeeded. Otherwise, there would be a family that could systematically fuse their own spirit rings, instead of only having one Spirit Master succeed every few decades."

Huo Wu blinked and asked, "Can you make people successfully cultivate spirit ring fusion?"

"Yes, but mental force needs to reach a certain level, capable of finely perceiving the circulation routes of spirit power within the spirit ring. This is just the basic requirement."

Tang San pondered for a moment, then nodded.

"Most Spirit Masters don't bother to perceive the spirit power circulation routes inside the spirit ring; they just inject spirit power and let the spirit ring do the rest, not caring about anything else."

"Once they get used to convenience, their thinking becomes rigid..."

"Cough, off-topic. Back to the main point: regarding mental force, currently, the Spirit Master's world doesn't have a specialized measurement method. In fact, most Spirit Masters don't even have this concept. Only powerhouses above Spirit Douluo begin to pay attention to it."

"The execution of spirit ring fusion requires too many prerequisites, but few Spirit Masters on the continent can meet these prerequisites."

"Therefore, when I say 'can', it merely means it's possible for me to help myself in the future, as well as Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, who have been influenced by me, achieve spirit ring fusion. As for others, they will only be able to try it themselves after I thoroughly research the fundamentals of spirit ring fusion and publish related theories."

"Most likely, it won't work, because they don't have a brain like mine, nor do they possess extraordinary mental force."

Huo Wu chuckled, finding Tang San quite humorous and a bit narcissistic, yet not in an annoying way.

Tang San, however, stated that he was speaking the truth, and also, was Huo Wu's sense of humor a bit too low?

During their journey, Tang San and the others encountered a group of peak camel beasts again, so they hitched a ride and arrived at another oasis.

This oasis was much larger than the one they had stayed in before, looking like a primeval jungle. However, there were still traces of human passage among the shrubs.

"This oasis is called Hope Oasis."

Huo Wu had clearly been here before, and she slowly said, "Deep within the oasis, there is a ruin. It is said that five thousand years ago, there was a small kingdom here that ignored external disputes, and people could live peacefully here."

"Later, the people here met Spirit Masters who came from the outside to explore. They heard about the wonders of the outside world and followed the Spirit Masters out. Over time, the population here dwindled, and it became desolate."

"Legend has it that the towns on the outskirts of the Infinite Desert were built by people who came from here, and the people there are descendants of those who left Hope Oasis."

At this point, Huo Wu pondered for a moment and said, "This oasis has been visited by many Spirit Masters. Nowadays, the Spirit Hunting teams living in the Infinite Desert travel and reside among these oases, acting as guides for those who come here to hunt Spirit Beasts."

"If there happens to be a local Spirit Hunting team staying here, we can ask them to be our guides. They are the ones most familiar with this part of the Infinite Desert."

Xiao Wu asked, puzzled, "Are the Spirit Hunting teams in the Infinite Desert all very strong? This is the inner zone; there should be many ten-thousand-year Spirit Beasts, right?"

Huo Wu shook her head, "Not strong. Their strength levels range from Spirit Elder to Spirit King. As for ten-thousand-year Spirit Beasts, although there are many in the inner zone of the Infinite Desert, most are active at night. During the day, the most common Spirit Beasts you'll see are these peak camel beasts. After that, there are some plant Spirit Beasts: spiky cacti, firefly cacti, and the like."

"The reason Spirit Hunting teams can operate here is because the greatest challenge in this Desert is not ten-thousand-year Spirit Beasts, but the heat. In reality, as long as one is experienced, can remember the map of the entire Desert, and can find their way back after getting lost, avoiding areas where dangerous Spirit Beasts frequent, theoretically, an ordinary person could also traverse the entire Infinite Desert."

"But that's only theoretically. In reality, even a Titled Douluo might not be able to traverse the entire Desert."

Xiao Wu sighed, "This place is really different from the Star Dou Great Forest."

"Of course, it's different. The Star Dou Great Forest is where the most types of Spirit Beasts are found. On land, to determine if a place has many Spirit Beasts, you can generally judge by the variety and quantity of plant species."

Tang San followed Huo Wu into the oasis, gesturing to Xiao Wu and Guang Ling behind him, signaling for them to catch up. "The more plants there are, the more Spirit Beasts there are. The more types of plants there are, the more types of Spirit Beasts there are."

"This is a natural law."

Explaining biodiversity would be a bit troublesome, but summarizing it into an observable and understandable rule for Xiao Wu and Guang Ling to remember was enough.

After all, although these two were influenced by him, explaining the content of "man and nature" was a big project, so it was enough for them to just have a slight concept.

96: Sister, but not close

After going about three hundred meters into Hope Oasis, Tang San and the others, along with Fire Phoenix and Huo Wu, arrived at the edge of a ruin.

The ancient buildings were all made of stacked stones, covered in various vines, but seven or eight rooms were relatively clean. Upon inspection, some clothes and quilts could still be seen inside.

Presumably, these were left behind by the Spirit Hunting Teams living in the Infinite Desert. They migrated and roamed between various oases, serving as guides for Spirit Masters who came to hunt Spirit Beasts in this Desert, in exchange for living supplies.

However, Tang San and the others arrived at an inopportune time; no Spirit Hunting Teams were staying here during this period.

But Tang San was not disappointed; after all, his spirit power had not yet reached level thirty, so he could stay here for a while. Secondly, Spirit Beasts like Sun Moon Grass only grew in oases with significant day-night temperature differences, so he could search slowly. If he didn't find any, he would then look for the next oasis.

So, the group found a few abandoned stone houses covered in vines, tidied them up, and prepared to settle down for a few days.

Surviving in the wilderness was not an easy task for Spirit Masters, but it was a different story if they had a house, brought living spirit tools, and cleared out an open space for activities.

With Tang San's help, all five of them cleared out a small stone house. After cleaning it, they found it to be quite cool inside.

Huo Wu held the spirit tool fan that Tang San lent to her and her grandmother and asked, "You even bring these things when you go out hunting Spirit Beasts?"

Most people who go out to hunt Spirit Beasts basically just want to find a suitable Spirit Beast quickly and then return.

But Tang San, on the other hand, brought living spirit tools directly. One might even think he was moving here to live.

However, this oasis was much cooler than the Desert outside. Aside from being sparsely populated, it was a good place for reclusive living... as long as one could endure the loneliness.

"I'm still two levels away from level thirty, and I'll definitely be staying in this Desert for some time, so naturally, I need to make my life a bit better."

Tang San said as a matter of course, "Moreover, I'm also researching spirit tools. The methods for making these living spirit tools haven't been lost, but there are only a few types, and no one has delved into researching their spirit tool patterns. I think if I can analyze their principles, it might truly change the Douluo Continent."

"You're really amazing," Huo Wu didn't know what to say.

"Don't you think the spirit tool patterns within spirit tools are quite similar to the spirit power circulation paths in spirit rings? They're just greatly simplified."

Tang San asked with a smile, "I have a premonition that as long as I can thoroughly research the spirit tool patterns, it will be greatly beneficial for practicing spirit ring fusion, and perhaps even other lost spirit tool crafting methods can be re-deduced."

Huo Wu had practiced spirit ring fusion, so she naturally noticed the spirit power circulation routes inside the spirit ring and knew that what Tang San said was true. But how much time would it take to thoroughly research spirit tool patterns?

It was even more troublesome than cultivating spirit ring fusion. Wasn't Tang San afraid of delaying his cultivation time?

"Someone always needs to research it," Tang San smiled. "Besides, my cultivation speed isn't slow."

With Mysterious Heaven Skill, how could his cultivation speed be slow?

"Alright, well, you're knowledgeable, so you're right," Huo Wu felt that she couldn't compare to Tang San in terms of intelligence, but perhaps not in terms of combat power. "After you obtain your third spirit ring, shall we have another fight?"

"Sure."

Tang San agreed. Although Huo Wu's temperament had softened somewhat after her Spirit revealed its true form, she still carried a bit of belligerence.

If he didn't agree, she would probably pester him until he did.

However, if they were to fight, they could actually do so now. Even though Huo Wu's Spirit had evolved from Fire Shadow to Sun Goddess, she still couldn't burn through the ground and couldn't destroy the roots of the Endless Grassland.

At that time, by controlling her limbs and hindering the use of her Spirit Ability, he could naturally win easily.

And in battle, Tang San only needed to focus on dodging her attacks.

It's just that if they competed now, Huo Wu might lose confidence due to repeated failures. It was better to wait until he obtained his third spirit ring.

"By the way, Blazing Sun Lion King will definitely drop a Spirit Bone, and it's an external Spirit Bone. What kind of Spirit Bone is it? What are its uses?" Tang San brought up this matter. He was extremely curious about external Spirit Bones that could evolve with the Spirit Master and wanted to get to the bottom of it.

Huo Wu did not conceal it. She activated her spirit power, and a golden lion's mane appeared around her neck, and her back was also covered in a golden lion's mane, burning like flames, as if she was wearing a peculiar cloak.

"A fur-type external Spirit Bone? I'm learning something new," Tang San looked amazed. He originally thought external Spirit Bones like Eight Spider Lances, palm (claw) bones, and eyes were already very peculiar, but he didn't expect there to be fur-type ones.

"I call it the Blazing Sun Feather Robe. I'm not entirely clear about its offensive abilities, but when I use it, I feel twice as strong as before. It should be that all my attributes have increased," Huo Wu said proudly. "Moreover, it can absorb the sun's light, increasing the speed of my spirit power cultivation."

"Can it absorb moonlight?" Tang San asked.

"It doesn't seem like it, it can only absorb sunlight... Speaking of which, it's called Blazing Sun Lion King, so it must only absorb sunlight, right? Why would you think it can absorb moonlight?" Xiao Wu was puzzled. Tang San, as a Martial Soul Theory Master, shouldn't ask such a low-quality question, should he?

"Actually, the moon doesn't emit light; that's reflected sunlight, just like light shining on a mirror and being reflected," Tang San explained. "However, based on the effect of your external Spirit Bone now, the sunlight reflected by the moon is not only much weaker, but it also seems to have lost some kind of peculiar energy... But some plants can absorb moonlight, perhaps some things are missing, and at the same time, some things are added."

Huo Wu didn't understand, only assuming that Tang San had thought of something her mind couldn't comprehend. She then asked about other things: "Your relationship with those two little girls isn't just simple friendship, is it?"

"Indeed, it's not," Tang San saw Huo Wu looking a bit nervous and nodded in admission. "Guang Ling is my disciple; her innate spirit power is only level three."

"Level three? I asked her, she's only seven years old, and she's improved seven levels in one year?" Huo Wu's mouth formed an "O" shape.

"There are no useless Spirits, only useless Spirit Masters," Tang San said. "Although I wasn't the first to say this, I am the most qualified to say it."

"Indeed, you with Blue Silver Grass, and she with an ordinary Iron Bow, have both reached heights that are difficult for ordinary people to achieve," Huo Wu nodded in strong agreement.

"Ahem, just a heads-up, Guang Ling's Spirit is truly ordinary. My Blue Silver Grass and Xiao Wu's Soft Bones Rabbit are special cases," Tang San corrected. "They cannot be considered truly useless Spirits."

"Mutation?" Huo Wu was curious.

Tang San didn't answer, but in Huo Wu's eyes, that was an implicit admission. Only a Spirit mutation could allow Blue Silver Grass and Soft Bones Rabbit to cultivate so quickly.

However, Tang San truly had great insights into Martial Soul Theory, as Guang Ling was the best evidence.

"By the way, you still haven't said what Xiao Wu's relationship with you is?" Huo Wu realized that Tang San might be changing the subject and quickly corrected him.

"Sister."

"Whew~"

"But not by blood."

"Eh~ Eh?"

97: Cactus, Fairy Hairpin, Sun and Moon Pearl

"What did Huo Wu just tell you?"

Xiao Wu Jie saw Huo Wu walk out of Tang San's stone house and immediately ran in, asking with some anxiety, "She didn't ask you to be her boyfriend, did she?"

"What are you thinking?" Tang San was speechless. "I'm only eight years old. Even if I had the heart, I don't have the strength."

Xiao Wu put her hands on her hips, pouting, "Hmph! Men!"

"Please call me a boy, or a male student. I haven't lost my innocence yet, so I can't be considered a man." Tang San understood that Xiao Wu's jealousy had subsided, but he still put on a serious face, as if it were a very serious matter.

"Come on, I found a patch of cacti with delicious fruits on them to the north of this oasis. Let's go pick them together." Xiao Wu ignored Tang San's antics, took his hand, ran out of the stone house, and, bringing Guang Ling with them, ran towards the north of Hope Oasis.

Huo Wu saw that scene and snorted, "They didn't even bring me along? By the way, where are they going?"

"Huo Wu, come inside. Grandma will check your body and see how much stronger you've become." Fire Phoenix walked out of the tidied stone house and waved to Huo Wu.

"Okay, Grandma."

Huo Wu entered the stone house, allowing Fire Phoenix Grandma to check (touch) and examine (explore) her body without shyness. After all, such situations had occurred many times before and were not worth mentioning...

...

Tang San arrived at the outskirts of the cactus patch, looking at the dense cacti, some of which were Spirit Beasts. He showed a suspicious look in his small eyes and asked, "You're not afraid of getting pricked, so you want me to pick the cactus fruit, are you?"

The cactus fruit also has thorns on its exterior. Ripe fruits are yellow or red, and the pulp inside is purplish-red.

In terms of taste, Tang San thought it was not as good as dragon fruit.

Xiao Wu's face flushed, and she said, "I wasn't talking about cactus fruit, but another kind of fruit. It's not here. Follow me."

After speaking, Xiao Wu led the way, with Tang San and Guang Ling following. It took them nearly five minutes, passing through bushes, to arrive in front of a thirty-meter-tall cactus.

This cactus was cylindrical, equally wide from top to bottom, with two branching stems growing from its middle, looking like a person raising their arms.

And the fruit Xiao Wu spoke of grew at a height of ten meters from the top of this cactus, a dense patch of white, like peeled grapes, yet crystal clear.

At the bottom of the fruit, there was also a round black spot, just like... human eyeballs.

"This cactus is a plant Spirit Beast. Although it grows tall, it actually only has thirty years of cultivation. It cannot move at all. If it reaches a hundred years, it can launch the thorns on its body as weapons." Tang San stroked his smooth chin. "And those fruits on top should not be produced by this cactus. They are a parasitic plant called Immortal Hairpin."

Immortal Hairpin was not introduced in the Spirit Great Encyclopedia because it is not a Spirit Beast, but an ordinary plant, only possessing the ability to Parasite.

Tang San knew about it because he had seen it on CCTV-1 in his previous Life.

This plant, through bird droppings, is left on the cactus, then red roots emerge, piercing into the cactus to absorb its nutrients and grow. Once mature and fruiting, it attracts birds to eat it, but the birds' digestive systems cannot digest the seeds.

Thus, it cycles endlessly, Life perpetuating Life.

Unexpectedly, this plant also exists on Douluo Continent, and it even Parasite on a cactus Spirit Beast, absorbing its nutrients.

I wonder if this Immortal Hairpin will mutate into a plant Spirit Beast because it has absorbed the nutrients of the cactus Spirit Beast?

Most likely not.

After all, the growth cycle of parasitic plants like Immortal Hairpin is extremely short. Their purpose is to flower and bear fruit; this is how they perpetuate their Life.

Xiao Wu tilted her head: "Immortal Hairpin? Why is it called that? Never mind, I don't care. I feel that fruit is delicious. Can you help pick some?"

Tang San nodded, released his Blue Grass, and it wound its way up the cactus, pulling down all the Immortal Hairpin fruits at the top.

The three of them picked them up from the ground and found that most of them had already been gnawed on by birds, bees, and other insects. Only a small portion was intact; upon counting, there were only thirty-nine.

Tang San picked one up and put it in his mouth. After tasting it carefully, he found the taste sweet. He spit out the seeds and swallowed the pulp, realizing a surge of energy flowed into his mind, making his mental force slightly clearer.

"It can even enhance mental force! But only a little bit." Tang San handed the remaining thirty-eight fruits to Xiao Wu and Guang Ling. "The taste is decent, good as a snack."

Xiao Wu ate one and felt the taste was indeed very good, the pulp was quite refreshing. She put fifteen into her white jade belt, and let Guang Ling keep the rest to eat slowly.

"Thank you, Third Brother, Xiao Wu Jie." Guang Ling thanked them, knowing he needed to improve his mental force to hone his eyesight.

Afterward, the three of them strolled around the vicinity and arrived at a lake. Behind a nearby stone, a green plant, seven meters tall, grew, with seven transparent, emerald-like leaves. At its center was a peculiar round bead, like glazed glass, shimmering with golden and silver light.

"Third Brother, is that the Sun Moon Grass?" Xiao Wu pointed at the peculiar large grass and asked.

"That's right, it's the Sun Moon Grass."

Tang San didn't expect to see Sun Moon Grass here and became excited. "Sun Moon Grass grows one leaf every thousand years. This one has seven leaves, proving it has seven thousand years of cultivation. And the fruit on top is the Sun Moon Pearl, the fruit of this plant Spirit Beast that absorbs the power of Sun Moon radiance. It is speculated that consuming it can enhance mental force."

"But unfortunately, it only works if consumed while the Sun Moon Grass is alive. Once the Sun Moon Grass dies, or this bead is picked prematurely, the Sun Moon radiance within it will dissipate in an instant."

"Therefore, no one has ever consumed this Sun Moon Pearl."

Xiao Wu was curious: "Since no one has ever consumed it, how do they know it can enhance mental force?"

Tang San said: "Because plant Spirit Masters who absorbed the Sun Moon Grass spirit ring in the past would all experience a certain increase in mental force. Coupled with the fact that this bead is the fruit of the Sun Moon Grass, and after the Sun Moon radiance within it dissipates, the fruit can be eaten, many Spirit Masters speculate that if someone could consume it before the Sun Moon Grass dies, it could enhance mental force."

"But no one has ever managed to do it. After all, plant Spirit Beasts are different from animal Spirit Beasts; their Life force is tenacious. Below ten thousand years, it's impossible to accurately judge how much vitality they have left after being attacked, and thus impossible to bring them to a Spirit Master who needs to absorb a spirit ring while they are on their last breath, like animal Spirit Beasts."

"Therefore, when Spirit Masters hunt plant-type Spirit Beasts, it's usually other Spirit Masters who think the plant looks like it's about to die, and then they let the person who needs to absorb that spirit ring use a Spirit Ability attack or hack at it with a machete. Otherwise, it's very likely that this spirit ring will be wasted, because a Spirit Master cannot absorb a spirit ring unless they personally kill the Spirit Beast."

Regarding mental force—

Every normal Spirit Master possesses it.

Based on the situation in the Douluo I era, a Spirit Master had to at least reach Spirit King to have some slight perception, using it to resist soul shock when absorbing the fifth spirit ring... It was only at the Spirit Douluo level that Spirit Masters paid attention to it, but they couldn't apply it flexibly. Or rather, in the Douluo I era, unless a Spirit Master had a Spirit Ability that specifically used mental force, they basically only used it to enhance their mental will, or to cooperate with the use of Spirit Abilities—to release Spirit Abilities more perfectly, with precise control, similar to that.

At least in the original Douluo I novel, apart from the protagonist Tang San, no Spirit Douluo showed single mental force application. (Note: Bibi Dong has mental-type skills, but those are Spirit Abilities, not like Purple Demon Eye, which is a method that can be used for cultivation; it's most likely a mode of converting spirit power into mental force)

In addition, some owners of mental-type Spirits, such as Shi Nian's Fading Dream and Huo Yuhao's Spiritual Eye, could access specific applications of mental force earlier.

Aside: [The comment section is a mess, I don't even dare to look at it anymore, my mindset is a bit broken, should I open up commenting permissions?]

98: Jade Bones: Jade Hands and Jade Feet

Looking at the Sun Moon Grass in front of him, Tang San did not act rashly, but noted down the location, waiting until his spirit power level reached Spirit Elder before coming back to hunt it... or rather, to cut it down.

After returning to the ruins, Tang San told Huo Feng and Huo Wu that he had found a suitable Sun Moon Grass, and that they didn't need to bother anymore and could go back first.

However, Huo Feng insisted on staying, hoping that Huo Wu could learn more from Tang San, and also stated that other Spirit Masters might come to this Hope Oasis to hunt Sun Moon Grass, and if a conflict arose, she could help.

Seeing this, Tang San did not try to dissuade her, as having a Spirit Emperor bodyguard openly and a Spirit Saint level guardian secretly was indeed more secure.

In a flash, two months passed.

During this period, Tang San focused on cultivating spirit power and constantly improving his Qi and blood cultivation method, combining it with Mysterious Jade Hand to temper the bones in his hands.

The effect was also obvious: the bones in his hands had already turned a silvery-jade color, and even without using Mysterious Jade Hand, their defense was astonishingly high. Once Mysterious Jade Hand was activated, his hands would not only turn a white jade color but also emit a bloody aura, greatly increasing their power.

Mysterious Jade Hand is a Tang Sect unique skill. Tang San, not being his previous self, was ultimately not born into the Tang Sect and was unclear what this hand-training method was actually used for. However, for a sect that specialized in poisons and Hidden Weapons, the primary purpose of such a hand-training method was probably only one: to prevent inner disciples from getting injured while practicing poisons or making Hidden Weapons.

It had defensive capabilities, but its main function should still be to prevent toxins from entering the hands.

But now, after the bones in his hands had all transformed into Jade Bone, Tang San felt his physical strength greatly increased, even able to use a bit of Qi and blood force. Moreover, Jade Bone could strengthen as his spirit power cultivation improved, and in the future, it might even develop divine force.

“Next, I need to transform all the bones in my body into Jade Bone. Perhaps I can gain great benefits,” Tang San mused to himself. “Speaking of which, does this count as self-condensed Spirit Bone?”

Thinking of this, Tang San felt that after he experimented with it himself and found no problems, he would let Xiao Wu try this cultivation method to see what she would say.

After all, as a Ten-thousand year soul beast, even if she didn't know how Spirit Bone formed, she should understand some things.

“Tang San, my spirit power has reached level twenty-eight. What level are you?” Xiao Wu came over and asked.

“Level twenty-nine,” Tang San replied. “I found that after successfully cultivating the self-created Spirit Ability in my hands, my absorption rate of natural energy has accelerated.”

This was the benefit brought by Jade Bone, which could accelerate his absorption and conversion efficiency of natural energy.

In addition, his control over spirit power was also greatly enhanced.

At least, the current Tang San could already walk vertically on walls and trees with his feet.

“Cultivating so fast? Are you innately full spirit power, or am I innately full spirit power?” Xiao Wu was a bit unsettled. She had cultivated so hard, yet she still couldn't compare to Brother San. Was her talent as a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form fake?

“Don't say that. If it weren't for my unique spirit power cultivation method, I couldn't catch up to a genius like you,” Tang San praised Xiao Wu briefly, then said, “I'm about to break through to level thirty. For the next month, let's move to the vicinity of that Sun Moon Grass and set up tents, just in case.”

“No problem.”

Xiao Wu immediately took Guang Ling and began to pack their luggage. Huo Feng and Huo Wu also followed, guarding the Sun Moon Grass.

Tang San discovered that cultivating next to the Sun Moon Grass significantly increased his spirit power cultivation speed, and even the speed of cultivating Jade Bone accelerated.

“Is it because the Sun Moon Grass can absorb the light of the sun and moon?”

Tang San speculated, but without knowing the specific reason, he dared not jump to conclusions. However, this was indeed an opportunity, and perhaps he could use it to condense the bones in his feet into Jade Bone as well.

Why choose the feet?

Firstly, the feet stand on the ground and are as important as the hands, and it can also increase his control over his feet.

Secondly, the feet are most similar to the hands, so changing Mysterious Jade Hand to Mysterious Jade Foot would be easier. For other parts of the skeleton, he would need to be more careful, as some important meridian details would require him to slowly adjust, change, and experiment in the future.

In a blink of an eye, another two months passed. With the help of the sun and moon light attracted by the Sun Moon Grass, Tang San's foot bones also formed Jade Bone, and his spirit power also increased to level thirty.

Xiao Wu's spirit power reached level twenty-nine, and she was even about to break through to level thirty. Compared to Tang San, she spent most of her time on spirit power cultivation and did not need to condense Jade Bone, so her cultivation speed was naturally a bit faster than Tang San's.

“Tang San, you’ve reached level thirty, right? Hurry and pull out this Sun Moon Grass!” Huo Wu said eagerly. “After you absorb it, let’s have a fight and see who’s stronger. In these four months, my spirit power has also increased by one level, reaching level thirty-two.”

Once the spirit power level reaches the Spirit Elder rank, the promotion speed slows down because the amount of spirit power required for each level accumulation is more than before. For example, Huo Wu, who possesses a powerful Spirit like the Sun Goddess, only increased her spirit power by one level in four months.

Of course, this was also because she had been training her hand and foot skills under Huo Feng's guidance during these days and had not put all her energy into spirit power cultivation.

“Okay.”

Tang San agreed, casting Endless Grassland to control all the leaves of the Sun Moon Grass, consuming its spirit power.

The Sun Moon Grass has offensive capabilities. The Sun Moon Orb at its top can emit the light of the sun and moon, confusing the Spirit Master's eyes and disturbing their mental force, thereby creating an illusion, producing what the Spirit Master most wants to see, attracting the Spirit Master to approach, and then using its leaves to cut the Spirit Master.

Although the leaves of the Sun Moon Grass look relatively broad and beautiful, their edges are actually very sharp, even capable of cutting through rock.

However, Spirit Masters who hunt this type of Spirit Beast will not obtain the cutting Spirit Ability or illusion Spirit Ability from the Sun Moon Grass; they only get one: energy storage.

This is the fundamental ability of the Sun Moon Grass!

Just as Tang San was about to pluck the Sun Moon Orb from the top of the Sun Moon Grass, a group of people burst out from the nearby bushes and shouted at Tang San, “Stop!”

Tang San stopped his hand and looked at those people.

There were seven people in total, male and female, old and young, but their identities could not be judged from their clothing, as everyone who came to this Infinite Desert would change into clothes suitable for blocking sandstorms and wear goggles.

Moreover, even Spirit Masters, if they stayed in the Infinite Desert for a period of time, their originally smooth and delicate skin would become dark and rough, making it impossible to tell their previous specific identities.

Therefore, in this Infinite Desert, the probability of conflict between Spirit Masters is smaller than in the Star Dou Great Forest.

Besides the harsh environment here requiring energy conservation, more importantly, everyone wore similar clothes, making it impossible to judge each other's approximate identities.

“Young man, could you please give us this Sun Moon Grass?” The leading elder stepped forward, glanced at Tang San, and then his gaze fell on Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Huo Wu, and Huo Feng before he spoke.

Although it was a question, his tone was a statement, revealing an undeniable authority.

“Is this the true Spirit Master's world?”

A classic Spirit Beast snatching plot replayed, but slightly different...

99: I'm eight years old, one year older than you

“Is this the true Spirit Master's world?”

It was Tang San's first time personally encountering a conflict between Spirit Masters vying for the same Spirit Beast, and he was even the protagonist. Should he say he truly lived up to being the “protagonist”?

“Your Excellency, we discovered this place first and have been waiting for four months. Is it really appropriate to just give way?” Huo Feng, accompanied by Huo Wu, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling, stepped forward, releasing two yellow, two purple, and two black spirit rings. The aura of a Spirit Emperor pressed down on the other party.

“Hmph!”

That elder also released his spirit rings, six of them, revealing that he was also a Spirit Emperor.

However, his first spirit ring was white, his fifth was purple, and only his sixth was black.

While the color of spirit rings doesn't entirely represent strength, true victory depends on various factors such as environment, Spirit, and fighting will. But at least on the surface, Huo Feng's aura had the upper hand.

“Although you discovered this place first, my Star Crown Sect disciples also need this Sun Moon Grass spirit ring. Please make way,” the elder said in a deep voice.

As for his confidence?

It was because they were from the Star Crown Sect.

The other six also released their spirit rings: two Spirit Ancestors, three Spirit Elders, and one Spirit Master.

Among them, one Spirit Elder's spirit power fluctuation reached level forty, likely the one who needed to acquire a spirit ring, while the one-ring Spirit Master looked to be only six to eight years old, but his gaze lingered on Xiao Wu for quite some time.

“Hmph!”

Huo Wu released her Spirit, and the Sun Goddess appeared. The peculiar humanoid Spirit surprised the elder and his group.

Xiao Wu also released her Spirit and spirit rings, and her two spirit rings, one yellow and one purple, moved them even more.

Although Guang Ling's spirit power was low, she still released her Sun Chasing Bow, drawing the bowstring and condensing a spirit power arrow, aiming it at the elder, but her gaze was fixed on the one-ring child.

Tang San had told her that merely aiming at an opponent makes it easy for them to predict who you're attacking and the trajectory of your arrow, so it's important to be unpredictable.

Therefore, her true target was actually the one-ring Spirit Master whose Spirit was Star Crown, the six or seven-year-old child, not the six-ring Spirit Emperor.

As the atmosphere grew tense, Tang San also released his Spirit and spirit rings. His one yellow and one purple spirit rings greatly shocked the Star Crown Sect elder.

That was Blue Silver Grass?!

Could this Spirit also cultivate to the Spirit Grandmaster level, and even be on the verge of acquiring a third spirit ring?

“Senior, may I ask your name? I am Tang San,” Tang San introduced himself.

“Tang San? You are that Martial Soul Theory Master?” the elder asked tentatively.

“It is I,” Tang San nodded in affirmation. “I have now reached level thirty and need a spirit ring. Furthermore, we discovered this Sun Moon Grass first. Could Senior please find another one?”

The elder pondered for a moment, then shook his head, saying, “No, Sun Moon Grass is rare. My nephew here is currently level forty, and having consumed thousand-year whale jelly, his physique has been strengthened, allowing him to withstand a spirit ring with over seven thousand years of cultivation. Searching again, I don't know how much time we would waste in this Infinite Desert.”

“Therefore, I ask Grandmaster Tang San to yield and find another one elsewhere. My Star Crown Sect is willing to offer three thousand gold coins as compensation.”

Three thousand?

Was he trying to brush them off like beggars?

Although Sun Moon Grass provides only a single skill to a Spirit Master, this type of plant Spirit Beast is relatively rare. A seven-thousand-year-old Sun Moon Grass is worth at least thirty thousand gold coins!

After all, this grass itself also has a certain enhancing effect on mental force.

Tang San's eyes grew slightly cold as he said, “There should always be a first-come, first-served order, shouldn't there?”

“I called you Grandmaster, but don't actually think too highly of yourself.”

The elder also became impolite. Although Tang San's theories had indeed benefited many Spirit Masters on the continent, for the great Sects on the continent, especially the Lower Four Sects, they didn't take it too seriously. This was because by the time they started collecting the whale jelly that could directly strengthen their Sects, there was already very little left on the market.

Moreover, the theories Tang San had currently published were not very important to Sects with family inheritances like theirs, as these things couldn't change their family's circumstances in a short time.

Therefore, those who admired Tang San were basically commoner Spirit Masters, followed by insightful individuals within large families, such as Huo Feng.

And an elder like this one from the Star Crown Sect, for instance, held Tang San in disdain.

Aside from being older and having more difficulty changing their views, more importantly, they felt that Tang San was just lucky and had fortuitously discovered the correct use of whale jelly.

“I am not thinking too highly of myself; I am simply speaking reason. We did indeed discover this Sun Moon Grass first, and I have the right not to yield it to you,” Tang San also said impolitely. “Furthermore, you Sect disciples should be very clear about the importance Spirit Hall, which recruits commoner Spirit Masters as its foundation, places on me. As long as I join Spirit Hall, a large number of commoner Spirit Masters might no longer hesitate. Then, if I propose to the Supreme Pontiff to destroy the Star Crown Sect, do you think the Supreme Pontiff would agree?”

The elder's aura pressed down on Tang San, and he shouted, “Are you threatening us?!”

Huo Feng's aura met his, blocking the elder, and she scoffed, “Attacking an eight-year-old child, is this the magnanimity of the Lower Four Sects? No wonder after so many years, your Star Crown Sect has never produced a Titled Douluo.”

“I am worth that much.” Towards those with a volatile temper, who are unreasonable, and only want to overpower others with force, Tang San also wouldn't waste words. He threatened them nakedly, “A mere Lower Four Sect, exchanged for me, who can make eighty, even ninety percent or more of the commoner Spirit Masters on the continent loyal to Spirit Hall—that's a very cost-effective price.”

Killing intent flashed in the elder's eyes; he wished he could just kill Tang San, but Huo Feng's presence made him wary. After all, although he could hold her off, he might not be able to defeat her, because he was older. Once he lost, this woman would definitely take out her anger on the six people he brought.

“Star Elder, don't be angry.” The young man from the Star Crown Sect stepped forward to comfort him, then looked at Tang San and reprimanded him, “Tang San, you don't need to borrow influence. Since you want this spirit ring, then follow the rules of the Spirit Master's world and have a match with my cousin. If you win, this Sun Moon Grass will be yours.”

“What a glib-tongued little brat.”

Huo Feng sneered, “Is this the new generation cultivated by the Lower Four Sects? Not only are they ignorant of right and wrong, but they also want a level thirty quasi-Spirit Elder to compete with a level forty quasi-Spirit Ancestor. How absurd.”

“You have no right to issue a challenge!”

“We also have every reason to refuse the challenge!”

The child, however, showed neither humility nor arrogance: “The Spirit Master's world has always respected strength, hasn't it? I don't think this senior is Tang San's elder, are they?”

“Indeed not,” Tang San spoke first. “We merely met them during a Spirit hunt and are traveling together. This matter has nothing to do with them.”

“Tang San, what do you mean, 'nothing to do'?” Huo Wu was displeased.
“When I become powerful later, and become a Titled Douluo, I will definitely destroy the Star Crown Sect to avenge you.”

“I appreciate the sentiment, but I hope Sister Huo Wu won't be so reckless with her words in the future. Haven't you seen the elder's face opposite turn red with anger? It's like a monkey's backside.” Tang San made a small joke, then asked the child who looked about his age, “How old are you this year?”

“Seven,” the child replied.

“I'm eight, one year older than you.”

“.....”

100: Infinite Desert Core Area: Golden Ancient Tree

“I’m eight years old, one year older than you.”

“...”

The child was a bit speechless. He suddenly felt that the Tang San in front of him was different from the one in his impression, and his thoughts were a bit scattered.

Moreover, he was also curious why Tang San came to the Infinite Desert, became a Martial Soul Theory Master, and even reached level 30 at the age of eight.

When he turns twelve, will he become a Spirit Ancestor?

Also, among Tang San’s Blue Silver Grass spirit rings, besides the second spirit ring from the Ghost Vine, the others aren’t from plant-type Spirit Beasts, are they?

Could it be that this Tang San, for some reason, didn’t apprentice under Yu Xiaogang, so he started researching Martial Soul theory on his own and grew wildly?

Or—

Is he the same kind as me?

“What’s your name?”

Tang San didn't care what the other party was thinking and continued to ask.

"Xu Xing."

The child spoke, "Actually, I also understand some Martial Soul theory."

"Oh?" Tang San showed an interested expression. "Then tell me, what kind of Spirit Beast's spirit ring is suitable for my Blue Silver Grass's third spirit ring? If you can tell me, this Sun Moon Grass isn't impossible to give to you, as long as you can offer a price that satisfies me."

Xu Xing coughed a few times, putting on a mature demeanor, thought for a moment, and prepared to test him, saying, "It's well known that Blue Silver Grass cannot possess innate full spirit power. Therefore, your Spirit is definitely not ordinary Blue Silver Grass."

"That's not right." Tang San also confirmed his guess: this guy in front of him was the same kind of person as the deceased Yang Long. "I want to ask, how do you know that my Blue Silver Grass has innate full spirit power?"

"It's simple, ordinary Blue Silver Grass couldn't cultivate that quickly." Xu Xing said confidently, "So, your Spirit is definitely not ordinary Blue Silver Grass."

"You guessed wrong. I don't have innate full spirit power, only level six. As for the Blue Silver Grass Spirit not being ordinary, I think anyone can see that." Tang San showed disappointment. "I thought you had some brilliant insight."

Seeing Tang San look down on him, Xu Xing felt an inexplicable anger rise within him and said, "For your third spirit ring, you should choose a thousand-year-level Heavenly Star Vine."

"Tell me why." Tang San motioned for him to continue.

“If your Blue Silver Grass wants to have offensive capabilities, it must be a control system, right? Don’t deny it, you’re currently using Blue Silver Grass to bind this Sun Moon Grass.”

Xu Xing became confident. “And the Heavenly Star Vine is a plant-type Spirit Beast. Its attack methods are also Binding and strangulation, and it’s extremely tough. It can definitely enhance the strength of your Blue Silver Grass. Not to mention, the Heavenly Star Vine can absorb the power of the stars and has tenacious Life, making it perfectly suited for your Blue Silver Grass.”

In reality, Xu Xing didn’t want to suggest the Heavenly Star Vine, but this Tang San in front of him hadn’t joined Yu Xiaogang and was even researching Martial Soul theory, and might even be... Before he could fully confirm the other party’s true identity, if he spoke carelessly, it might backfire.

“Then do you know what the Heavenly Star Vine’s so-called absorption of star power specifically refers to?” Tang San asked indifferently.

“This...”

Xu Xing was dumbfounded. How would he know?

He hadn't even read the "soul beast encyclopedia"; he only knew the names of Spirit Beasts from novels he read in his previous Life and from listening to the hunting stories told by people in the Sect.

“The Heavenly Star Vine cannot absorb the power of the stars. The silvery-white spots on its body, like stars, are merely the Heavenly Star Vine’s luminous organs, used to attract insects at night, then capture, devour, and digest them.”

Tang San explained, “Even for Spirit Beasts, every organ on their body has a corresponding function. The starlight on the Heavenly Star Vine is used to capture insects, and even some Spirit Beasts.”

“As for why it’s called Heavenly Star, it’s naturally because those light spots look like stars in the sky.”

“If the Heavenly Star Vine could truly absorb the power of the stars, then it would be the king of the plant World, similar to a lion king in a pride, capable of fighting above its rank, a thousand-year challenging a ten-thousand-year.”

“However, according to existing records, although the Heavenly Star Vine, a plant Spirit Beast, has strong Binding ability, even at the thousand-year level, it can be defeated by three or more Spirit Grandmasters working together. This type of plant Spirit Beast can only absorb a slight amount of starlight.”

Xu Xing's face was flushed, not knowing what to say.

Tang San continued, “Of course, I might be wrong, and past records might also be wrong. Perhaps you can choose the Heavenly Star Vine for your second spirit ring. After all, your Spirit is Star Crown, capable of cultivating with the help of star power. Who knows, perhaps the ‘theory’ you’ve summarized is correct.”

The elder saw Xu Xing unable to speak and shouted at Tang San, “You, a Martial Soul Grandmaster, why are you arguing with a child?”

“I’m only one year older than him.” Tang San once again reminded everyone present of his age. “I thought I met a kindred Spirit who was also interested in theoretical research, a genius prodigy in theory like myself. I didn’t expect him to be no different from others, perhaps having heard some rumors and daring to give others advice directly, truly not fearing to harm others and be retaliated against... Oh, right, as one of the Lower Four Sects, you certainly aren’t afraid of others retaliating.”

Listening to Tang San’s mockery, the elder’s expression turned grim. How could someone from their Lower Four Sects ever suffer such indignity?

“If you want to kill me, you can do it now. But I can’t guarantee that the Star Crown Sect won’t be erased from the World.” Tang San smiled and spread his arms as if to calmly accept death, but his gaze towards Xu Xing was filled with a deep meaning.

The elder was a bit uncertain and surprised, not knowing what confidence Tang San truly had.

But Xu Xing knew.

Even if this Tang San's destiny was different from the original novel he had read in his previous Life, Tang Hao, that fellow, must still be hiding in the dark. If Star Elder dared to make a move, that madman would definitely appear and wipe them all out.

That guy, besides Tang San, had almost no scruples.

Although Xu Xing was mistaken, there was indeed a strong individual hidden in the shadows, though only a Spirit Saint. However, with Fire Phoenix's cooperation, she had the ability to kill a Spirit Emperor.

The remaining six people, two Spirit Ancestors, three Spirit Elders, and finally Xu Xing, a Spirit Master, were not to be feared by Tang San. The Endless Grassland and the positive and negative buffs could greatly control and weaken them.

As for how to quickly kill them?

There was a Nine-Section Emerald coiled behind his head.

If he had an advantage, he naturally had to use it.

Therefore, Tang San was not afraid of the Star Crown Sect members in front of him, because even if Fire Phoenix didn't intervene, he was confident in cooperating with the hidden Ling Yan to wipe out all seven of them.

"Star Elder, forget it. Why don't we just give him this Sun Moon Grass?" Xu Xing was a little scared. He also realized at this point that Tang San was so fearless, most likely because he knew Tang Hao's identity. If he thought about it further, this Tang San was definitely not the original Tang San who jumped off the cliff from the Tang Sect. There was a 99.999% chance that he was the same as himself.

The same kind.

He really was the same kind.

Facing such a kindred Spirit, it was best not to interact with him before he fully developed.

“Please mind your words. What do you mean by ‘give’?” Tang San sneered, “Your attitude should be more sincere, like this: [Sorry for disturbing you, we will leave immediately, we were wrong just now]. Could it be that the dignified Lower Four Sects don’t even have basic manners?”

To be honest, Tang San felt that this person was quite outrageous... But on second thought, if Japan could implement such an anti-human, anti-Earth outrageous plan as dumping nuclear contaminated water into the ocean, then compared to that, Xu Xing’s words were just slightly shameless.

Xu Xing was speechless.

Although they were in the wrong first, his heart was also ignited with anger by Tang San’s pushing his luck, but at this moment, he could only swallow his pride.

Star Elder cursed loudly, “What kind of damn Martial Soul Theory Master? I’m taking this Sun Moon Grass!”

The atmosphere became tense again.

“I can’t pretend I didn’t hear that. My Huo Family won’t agree.” Fire Phoenix stepped forward.

“So it’s the family behind Blazing Academy.” The elder now understood Fire Phoenix’s identity, and his expression immediately darkened, but he refused to show weakness.

The Heaven Dou Empire and the Star Luo Empire were already rival nations. The Star Crown Sect was in Star Luo, and Blazing Academy was in Heaven Dou, so they were naturally in an adversarial relationship.

It's just that in recent years, Spirit Hall has developed too quickly, and the Two Great Empires have been suppressed to the point of being breathless, focusing their energy on Spirit Hall, so the conflicts between the two sides have decreased, but there are still clashes.

Xu Xing felt that the plot was completely out of control. Tang San was actually involved with Blazing Academy, and there were also many girls around Tang San. Was he going to follow a harem route?

Tang San said, "Is that really necessary?"

The elder's eyes were sharp: "At least, we have more people. Also, old woman of the Huo Family, can you guarantee that you are definitely my match? Our number of Spirit Masters and their ranks are higher than yours."

Fire Phoenix stared intently at the elder of the Star Crown Sect, not saying a word, but her aura grew increasingly heavy.

Just as Tang San was about to call Ling Yan out, the ground suddenly trembled, and the nearby lake water began to churn, finally forming a vortex that continuously descended, creating a whirlpool.

"What's happening?" Fire Phoenix stabilized herself and pulled Tang San and the others behind her.

The Star Crown Sect and the others also became vigilant.

After a while, the tremor stopped, and the lake water disappeared, leaving behind a pit about sixty meters deep. At its bottom was a huge cave entrance, leading to an unknown place.

"This is!"

The elder of the Star Crown Sect seemed to have thought of something and immediately said to the others, "Let's go in!"

With that, the elder picked up Xu Xing and, along with the other five, jumped into the pit and entered the cave entrance, disappearing in the blink of an eye.

"Senior Fire Phoenix, do you know where that cave leads?" Tang San asked curiously.

"I've heard a rumor."

Fire Phoenix frowned and explained to everyone, "In the core region of the Infinite Desert, there is a great treasure. However, the outer area is blocked by thick sandstorms, making it difficult even for a Titled Douluo to pass through. It only dissipates once every hundred years. As long as one can come out alive from inside, they can gain great benefits."

"Counting the time, it's almost a hundred years. Perhaps it's today?"

Huo Wu was a little excited: "Could this cave be the passage to the core region?"

"It's rumored that in the Infinite Desert, there are indeed some places that can directly lead to the core region, but no one knows their exact location." Fire Phoenix looked at the cave entrance at the bottom of the large pit, lost in thought. "Perhaps the Star Crown Sect knows more. After all, they are one of the Lower Four Sects, and their Spirit has the ability to sense treasures."

"So, this cave might really lead to the core region of the Infinite Desert, but the core region shouldn't be too dangerous, right?" Xiao Wu asked tentatively, "After all, that old man brought a child."

"Perhaps." Fire Phoenix also wanted to investigate, but she was unsure whether to go.

“Senior, after the core region opens every hundred years, how long does it last?” Tang San asked.

“According to my Huo Family’s records, the core region of the Infinite Desert has opened five times. The duration is uncertain, ranging from a month at longest to half a day at shortest.” Fire Phoenix said, “But the passage to the core region is very difficult to find because it opens in a different place each time. And if one goes directly from the surface of the Infinite Desert to the core region, even if the outer sandstorms and tornadoes disappear, there are countless Spirit Beasts of ten thousand years and above outside, making it very difficult even for a Titled Douluo to break through.”

“According to my Huo Family’s records, three hundred years ago, Spirit Hall once organized twenty Titled Douluo, over a hundred Spirit Douluo, and over a thousand Spirit Saint and Spirit Emperor level Spirit Masters to go to the core region, wanting to kill all the ten-thousand-year Spirit Beasts there and control the core region.”

“But they failed.”

The specific reason is unknown, but records show that only three Titled Douluo escaped, while everyone else was completely wiped out. Since then, Spirit Hall has never again sent large-scale forces to forcibly enter the core area. When the core area opens, they only send people to the outer and inner zones to look for possible passages leading to the core area.”

“All of us here speculate that forcibly breaking in from the outside might not only encounter dangers from Spirit Beasts, but also from things within the core area of the Infinite Desert.”

After understanding the general situation, Tang San decided to explore, but he still needed to absorb the spirit ring from the Sun Moon Grass first.

Walking up to the Sun Moon Grass, he plucked the Sun Moon Pearl. The entire Sun Moon Grass withered, and a deep purple spirit ring emerged from it. Guided by Tang San, it slowly settled onto his Blue Silver Grass.

As the spirit ring was absorbed, Tang San's face became even more refined, and his hair grew longer, with more blue-silver parts.

The Nine-Section Emerald, which served as a hair tie, also absorbed the Life aura emanating from Tang San and the sun and moon light from the Sun Moon Grass's halo. Golden and silver patterns appeared on its emerald-like scales, forming a golden sun and a silver crescent moon. On the nine scales, the golden sun and silver moon were arranged alternately, and there was even a tendency for a tenth scale to grow.

"There's a small snake on Tang San's head!" Huo Wu exclaimed.

"That's Tang San's pet," Xiao Wu never called him Brother San in front of him, still being quite tsundere at the moment. "It's called Nine-Section Emerald. It possesses potent venom. It's said that if a Titled Douluo is bitten, they will turn into pus within an hour and a quarter."

Huo Wu didn't believe it: "That's fake, right? Such a small snake, that powerful?"

"Huo Wu, there are indeed some poisons in the World that even Titled Douluo cannot cure," Fire Phoenix said. "Therefore, when we travel outside, we must always be careful."

In fact, Fire Phoenix was also glad that she was on good terms with Tang San, unlike those arrogant people from the Star Crown Sect.

Presumably, if this Nine-Section Emerald could truly poison a Titled Douluo to death, then poisoning a Spirit Emperor would be effortless. The seven people from the Star Crown Sect would probably have truly died by Tang San's hand.

No wonder he dared to come to this Infinite Desert at such a young age; it turns out he had such confidence.

Half an hour later, Tang San finished absorbing the spirit ring. The Nine-Section Emerald ultimately did not fully grow its tenth scale and once again served as a hair tie, Binding Tang San's hair.

“Brother San, was the spirit ring absorption smooth?” Guang Ling was incredibly excited, as if Tang San’s successful spirit ring absorption made her happier than her own spirit power breakthrough.

“Very smooth. My spirit power reached level thirty-two. The seven-thousand-year spirit ring brought me a lot of spirit power.” Tang San now also perceived how much spirit power was required for each level of Spirit Elder, and he thought to himself: No wonder in the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament, breaking through to the Spirit Ancestor level before twenty-five is considered a genius.

And being able to reach the Spirit King level before twenty-five is a genius among geniuses.

Tang San estimated that at his current spirit power increase rate, he would only be able to reach level forty around the age of twelve.

“Tang San, should we go down and investigate?” Huo Wu had already discussed it with Fire Phoenix and decided to go down and take a look together. After all, the core area of the Infinite Desert had opened; not going in to see it would be a disservice to their trip to the Infinite Desert.

Spirit Masters, after all, are always full of adventurous Spirit.

“I had the same intention.”

Tang San nodded slightly, looking at Xiao Wu and Guang Ling.

Xiao Wu: “I definitely want to go in.”

Guang Ling: “Me too.”

Tang San agreed, releasing his Blue Silver Grass to bind around the waists of Fire Phoenix, Huo Wu, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling. He said, “My Blue Silver Grass is extremely tough. If everyone is tied together and we encounter danger or get lost, we can follow the grass leaves to find each other again.”

Subsequently, the five people jumped into the large pit and arrived at the cave entrance.

Tang San took out a glowing spirit tool, which looked similar to a flashlight, but the inside was profoundly dark, with no bottom visible. However, at a depth of ten meters, some thick waterweeds grew, showing signs of being grasped. It was estimated that the seven people from the Star Crown Sect relied on these waterweeds to climb down.

Fire Phoenix's Spirit was a Blazing Bird, capable of flight, and she could carry Guang Ling and Xiao Wu, one in each hand; Huo Wu's Spirit, after transforming into the Sun Goddess, had been suspended, allowing her to descend. Tang San, meanwhile, climbed down by gripping the waterweeds.

Although he possessed a hundred-thousand-year Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone with flight abilities, he had no desire to use a hundred-thousand-year Spirit Bone to test a Spirit Emperor.

Even if this Spirit Emperor held his published theories in high regard.

After descending nearly a hundred meters, the three finally reached the bottom.

Ahead was a semi-circular passage about twenty meters high, showing strong signs of artificial construction. The ground was paved with smooth stone slabs, but it was very damp, with some white waterweeds growing in the crevices, and many small fish and shrimp hopping around.

Embedded in the walls and ceiling of the passage were some glowing crystals, similar to glowing spirit tools.

Tang San turned off his glowing spirit tool, released his Spirit, and rooted it to investigate for mechanisms inside the passage.

After absorbing his third spirit ring, the rooting range of Tang San's Blue Silver Grass reached two hundred meters in length, width, and depth. If he only controlled the roots to grow in one direction, with the roots spreading only on the surface, the length could reach nearly two thousand meters.

“The length of this passage exceeds two kilometers.” Tang San retracted his Spirit and reported the situation. “There are no mechanisms, at least not on the path itself. The walls on both sides are uncertain.”

“Good, let’s go forward then.” Fire Phoenix, carrying Guang Ling, ran quickly. Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Huo Wu followed closely behind.

After running two thousand meters, Tang San detected again. Proceeding in this manner, the group ran for nearly fifty kilometers until they reached the end, where there was no path ahead.

Looking up, the area above was pitch black, but nearby there was a ladder leading upwards, made of a very hard, dark silver material.

“Could this be Deep Sea Sinking Silver?”

Tang San secretly speculated. Although he worked in a blacksmith shop in Nuoding City, the small Nuoding City could not access rare metals like Sinking Silver, so he could not be certain.

However, Tang San did not speculate too much and began to climb upwards.

After climbing nearly a hundred meters, they finally reached the top.

There was light above, but it was shimmering.

It turned out that above them was a suspended lake, with many fish swimming within it. The light was shining through the lake water, illuminating the bottom.

“We’re under the lake!” Huo Wu reached out to touch it and found she could pass through. It was indeed water, but how was this water suspended above their heads?

“It seems we have to pass through this lake.” Tang San released his Blue Silver Grass Spirit, forming a giant Blue Silver ball. He had Xiao Wu, Huo Wu, Guang Ling, and Fire Phoenix enter it, then at the last moment, he pushed, sending the Blue Silver ball into the water.

Immediately, a huge buoyancy carried the Blue Silver ball upwards.

Tang San told the four to stay close to the edge of the Blue Silver ball and not move, to avoid losing balance.

Huo Wu exclaimed in admiration: “Blue Silver Grass can be used like this! But the bottom is clearly empty, why isn’t the water coming in?”

“Because there’s air inside the Blue Silver ball,” Tang San said concisely. “Air is also a substance. Because I bound the Blue Silver Grass so tightly that it’s airtight, water cannot enter.”

“Then why not seal the bottom as well?” Huo Wu asked curiously.

“To make it easier to maintain balance,” Tang San replied. “If the bottom were also sealed, it would truly just be a sphere, and we wouldn’t be able to control its balance. We’d likely tumble during the ascent.”

Five minutes later, propelled by buoyancy, the Blue Silver ball finally reached the surface of the lake.

At Tang San’s signal, everyone tilted to one side, causing the Blue Silver ball to flip over and become a Blue Silver boat.

Tang San also used his spirit power to control the Blue Silver Grass to weave again, and in a short while, the Blue Silver ball truly became a small boat.

This was the effect of enhanced control!

Looking around, behind them was an oasis forest, and ahead, three thousand meters across the lake, was a small island. On it grew a towering tree, almost reaching the sky, clearly visible even from their distance of three thousand meters.

“What a huge tree!” Xiao Wu couldn’t help but exclaim.

“I can feel a rich Life force.” Tang San’s Blue Silver Grass primarily cultivated Life force, so his perception of Life force was naturally extremely sensitive. “This should be the legendary Tree of Life: the Golden Ancient Tree.”

Fire Phoenix did not recognize the Golden Ancient Tree, but she could feel her spirit power becoming active here, greatly increasing her spirit power cultivation speed: “Does this tree have any special significance?”

“This tree is said to be a representation of the Douluo Continent’s planar consciousness. Its primary function is only one: to gather Heaven and Earth energy and purify it.”

Tang San described the Golden Ancient Tree’s power, “It can be said that this one tree can provide the optimal cultivation environment for over ninety percent of the different types of Spirits on the Continent.”

“Furthermore, even ordinary people with zero innate spirit power in their Spirit, if they live under this Golden Ancient Tree for extended periods, can acquire spirit power and begin cultivating.”

Fire Phoenix’s mouth hung open, a little at a loss.

Huo Wu blurted out: “Doesn’t that mean that as long as one obtains this Golden Ancient Tree, any family can become the strongest family in the World?”

“If they are content with the status quo, and the Spirit Master’s World doesn’t develop, and a certain family obtains this tree and remains undiscovered, then yes, it’s possible.” Tang San acknowledged Huo Wu’s statement, but listed a bunch of preconditions, then continued, “However, Senior Fire Phoenix once said that Spirit Hall sent twenty Titled Douluo in the past, and they all returned defeated. Clearly, there’s some taboo.”

Subsequently, the group began to row, preparing to go and take a look at that small island.

The five intended to row to shore.

Although Fire Phoenix could fly, the core area of the Infinite Desert was open, and perhaps other people had come to this Desert, so they needed to conserve spirit power.

Upon reaching the shore, everyone disembarked from the Blue Silver boat and stepped onto the soft, golden sand.

Looking up, they could see the vast canopy, almost covering the entire small island, and the tree trunk itself was over a hundred meters in diameter, golden throughout, as if cast from gold, yet without the dazzling brilliance of gold.

Beneath the tree canopy, there was a continuous expanse of ruins, most of them dilapidated, but everyone could feel an ancient aura.

Through the moss- and vine-covered broken walls and crumbling ruins, Tang San could perceive the former glory of this place.

“It’s truly too shocking; there’s actually such a ruin here!” Huo Wu murmured, then waved her fists. “Tang San, do you think there are any ancient treasures left behind in these buildings?”

“Doesn’t this place open once every hundred years? Even if there were, they’ve probably already been taken by someone.” Tang San didn’t hold out much hope for finding ancient treasures, but he did have some expectations for rare treasures of Heaven and Earth that might have been born relying on this Golden Ancient Tree.

Perhaps he wouldn’t recognize them, but as long as they looked flamboyant, he would pick them, and then he could slowly study them after returning.

Fire Phoenix led the way, Tang San brought up the rear, Xiao Wu and Huo Wu guarded the sides, and Guang Ling walked in the middle. The group proceeded towards the Golden Ancient Tree.

As they got closer to the Golden Ancient Tree, the richer the Life force Tang San felt. Even his Blue Silver Grass Spirit began to actively absorb the dense Life force, starting to reveal golden veins.

Xiao Wu and the others also felt very comfortable, feeling that cultivating in this place yielded twice the results with half the effort.

When they arrived two hundred meters in front of the Golden Ancient Tree, everyone discovered that there was actually a door on the Golden Ancient Tree, and on the trunk, there were also stairs, windows, and balconies.

This was actually a treehouse!

A treehouse with a diameter of over a hundred meters and a height of nearly a thousand meters!

“It’s truly incredible. In ancient times, could humans here build rooms on such a large tree? And still keep this tree alive?”

Xiao Wu murmured, unsure if it was shock, or fear, or perhaps seeing hope.

Fire Phoenix came back to her senses and sighed, “Just this one tree, if people lived in it, it could accommodate the population of a small city, couldn’t it?”

Just then, a figure sped towards the Golden Ancient Tree, attempting to enter through a window on its trunk.

But before he could get close, a crimson light shot out from below, piercing through his chest and striking him down.

The flying Spirit Master was a Spirit Saint, yet he was instantly killed!

Fire Phoenix quickly looked down.

Around the Golden Ancient Tree, there was a circle of monsters, each averaging about twenty meters in height, with bodies cast from gray-brown steel, yet capable of movement.

The attack just now was launched from the eyes of one of them.

Tang San also noticed them, but his heart was the most surprised among the five people present, because these monsters were like Gundams, or rather, giant mechs.

It seemed there was also an intelligent AI or something similar.

"If this Golden Ancient Tree is the one from peerless tang sect, then the original Tang San, after becoming a god, should have discovered this place, destroyed all these mechs, forced his way in, and transplanted this Golden Ancient Tree to Shrek Academy."

Tang San saw some people standing beneath the mechs, and the mechs did not attack them, so he mused, "These mechs might be guardians, and for those who enter, they might pose some tests. But if one tries to force their way into the Golden Ancient Tree, they will be mercilessly eliminated by the mechs."

"If what Fire Phoenix said about Spirit Hall conquering this place is true, then the strength of these mechs cannot be underestimated; they can crush Titled Douluo."

Fire Phoenix was somewhat terrified and asked Tang San, "Should we approach?"

"Let's approach, Senior Fire Phoenix. As long as we don't force our way in, we shouldn't be attacked," Tang San said, pointing to the people standing beneath the mechs.

Upon hearing this, Fire Phoenix also calmed down and decided to lead Tang San and the others forward to take a look.

Upon reaching the mechs, Tang San truly realized how massive they were; standing before such a giant humanoid existence, he felt like an ant.

"You really came too," the old man from the Star Crown Sect snorted upon seeing Fire Phoenix and the others approach, then looked at Tang San, "Has that Sun Moon Grass been absorbed by you?"

"Seven thousand years, but it was a piece of cake," Tang San smiled faintly, "It's just that when you all leave later, you'll need to find another Sun Moon Grass."

"Hmph!"

The old man snorted, then said, "How about we cooperate?"

"I'd like to hear the details," Tang San looked at the old man.

"Inside this ancient tree, there are a large number of storage soul tools, and even offensive spirit tools, but entering it is not simple; it requires passing trials," the old man revealed some of the information he knew, pointing to a mech, "That is, defeating monsters similar to this one."

"That's absolutely impossible!" Fire Phoenix frowned tightly, "These monsters can instantly kill a Spirit Saint; their strength is at least Titled Douluo level. How could we possibly defeat them?"

How could monsters with Titled Douluo level strength be defeated by them even if they teamed up?

Dream on!

Moreover, there wasn't just one of these monsters here, but enough to encircle the entire Golden Ancient Tree.

"Don't get agitated, I'm not looking for scapegoats," the old man said, "There are two ways to pass the trials to enter. The first is what I mentioned: defeating monsters similar to this one. Once a challenge is initiated, these monsters will transform into beings identical to us, based on our respective strengths. As long as we win, we can enter and take one spirit tool. Afterward, we can even attempt higher-level challenges; if successful, we can take an additional one."

"That's good," Fire Phoenix relaxed slightly.

"Is the challenge one-on-one?" Tang San asked.

"Yes," the old man nodded.

"Then, what is the premise of our cooperation?" Tang San narrowed his eyes.

Fire Phoenix also realized the problem—since the battle was one-on-one, how could they cooperate? Were these people just trying to make them test the waters?

"Although it's one-on-one, these monsters are very powerful, and we can hardly defeat them. But once we surrender, they will immediately stop attacking. Then, if we challenge them again before they are replaced, they will restart, and then we will have a chance to win," the old man said.

"Relay battle."

Tang San understood.

These mechs likely had devices for scanning a Spirit Master's physical attributes and detecting spirit power, spirit rings, and Spirit Bones. Once a challenge was initiated, they would release a robot-like entity with strength almost identical to the Spirit Master's own.

Because the robot's calculations were extremely precise, every movement was more standard than a Spirit Master's, and every skill could be used to perfection, making it very difficult for Spirit Masters to win.

However, a robot's energy was limited. If a Spirit Master fought halfway, depleted its spirit power, then surrendered, letting the next person go, then before this robot was recalled, it would continue to be depleted, thus leading to victory... This should be a program bug, or perhaps, merely to conserve energy?

"As expected of a Martial Soul Theory Master, so intelligent."

The old man smiled, "We also have three more Spirit Hunting Teams here, from the Defense Clan, the Sacred Dragon Sect, and a group of rogue Spirit Masters led by a Spirit Ancestor."

Tang San nodded, saying nothing more. Even if the Defense Clan was once one of the Clear Sky Sect's four affiliated clans, it had nothing to do with him now, didn't it?

There were three people from the Defense Clan, led by a middle-aged man.

The Sacred Dragon Sect's leader was an old man, who looked quite imposing, and he brought four people.

As for the remaining rogue Spirit Master team, their Spirit Ancestor leader was completely covered, making his face impossible to discern. Tang San could sense a strong murderous aura, and his five teammates also exuded killing intent; they certainly didn't look like ordinary rogue Spirit Masters.

However, altogether, only twenty-six people had arrived here.

"Then, what's the second way to enter?" Tang San wanted to understand the second method of entry.

"The second method is to answer the questionnaire given by this monster. If you answer one question correctly, you can go in and take one item. But I advise you not to choose this method, because the questions they give are simply not something a Spirit Master can answer, even if you are a Martial Soul Theory Master. Once you answer incorrectly, you must accept punishment," the old man said sternly, "There is only one punishment: fighting a monster of equivalent strength, but you cannot surrender, otherwise you will be instantly killed by these powerful monsters."

"Understood."

Tang San looked at the mechs and noticed the number "15" on their chests. He asked, "What does that mean?"

"That's the opening time of this place. 15 means there are fifteen days of opening time," the old man said, "Once the time reaches zero, everyone must leave here, otherwise these monsters will attack us indiscriminately."

Having explained everything that needed to be explained, the old man from the Star Crown Sect said, "How about it? Grandmaster Tang San, Fire Phoenix, do you want to cooperate?"

Fire Phoenix looked at Tang San. Tang San thought for a moment and said, "Alright."

"That's good," a smile appeared on the old man's face, "Having a Martial Soul Theory Master like you to arrange our tactics will be more reasonable, won't it?"

"Let me observe the situation first," Tang San did not refute, but he also did not agree. After all, he still needed to confirm the specific format of a one-on-one battle.

"Grandmaster Tang San is now a Spirit Elder. You go first. If you can't win, just surrender," the old man shook his head, "We have the most Spirit Elders here, so we can take turns."

"We had a grudge before, and I can't confirm if the information you're providing is true or false. If it's false, and a monster that can instantly kill a Spirit Saint appears... I only have one Life," Tang San stared directly at the old man. Seeing that his expression didn't change, he continued, "Otherwise, let Xu Xing go first. Isn't he just a Spirit Master? After he surrenders, I'll let Guang Ling go."

The old man was silent for a while, then shook his head, "No, Xu Xing is too weak. He's just a Spirit Master; he can't fight at all."

"In that case..." Tang San took out a small transparent glass bottle from his storage soul tool, which contained a emerald-green liquid. He shook it a few times in front of everyone and said, "This is a poison I formulated. Only I can cure it in this World. Senior, drink it as a guarantee, how about it?"

The old man's expression changed, and he immediately refused.

Poisons were something even Titled Douluo dreaded, let alone him?

"Then, Senior, how can we trust your words?" Tang San put away the Nine-Section Emerald's poison and chuckled. He had no good feelings for someone who wanted to snatch his spirit ring and harbored killing intent towards him, "After all, you tried to snatch the Spirit Beast we guarded for four months as soon as you arrived."

"I actually don't trust the Star Crown Sect much either," the leader of the Defense Clan spoke, siding with Tang San. After all, the "analysis of the self-positioning of soul masters" had also benefited their Defense Clan somewhat. Many Spirit Master teams would seek out the younger generation of their Defense Clan to form groups when hunting Spirit Beasts or engaging in Spirit Duels, making their lives a bit better.

"Niu Gang, you!" Star Elder's expression changed.

"I feel the same way. Since you, Old Star, proposed it, then naturally you should experiment first," Bai Luo, the leader of the Sacred Dragon Sect, also spoke fairly.

Among the rogue Spirit Master team with the heavy murderous aura, no one spoke; they just watched silently.

"Alright, then we'll go first," Star Elder snorted, and said to the Spirit Elder, "Xu Lin, you go first."

"Yes, Star Elder."

Xu Lin, whose spirit power had just reached level thirty, released his Star Crown Spirit, with two yellow spirit rings circling his body. Then he shouted at the twenty-meter-tall mech in front of him, "I want to challenge the trial!"

【Challenge initiated!】

A mechanical voice emanated from the mech, then the mech raised its hand and pressed it to the ground. A hundred-meter-long and wide arena rose from the ground, about fifty centimeters high.

【Now announcing challenge rules:】

【One, any means can be used during the challenge.】

【Two, surrender, or falling out of the arena, will be considered a challenge failure.】

【Three, as long as one remains on the arena, whether conscious or unconscious, the challenge is not over.】

【Four, spectators are not allowed to give vocal hints, otherwise both the challenger and the hint-giver will be annihilated. (Note: To prevent malicious use of this rule to perish with the challenger, the challenger can apply for a higher-level challenge; if successful, they survive.)】

【Now, please state your name, challenger!】

Xu Lin took a deep breath and said, "Xu Lin, direct disciple of the Star Crown Sect, Spirit: Star Crown, Level 30 long-range elemental control system Spirit Master."

As Xu Lin's words fell, the twenty-meter-tall mech's eyes projected a beam of light that scanned over Xu Lin's body. Then, its knee opened, and a mass composed of countless metal cubes fell out, splitting and reassembling on the arena to form a figure identical to Xu Lin, even the face, only with a silvery-white metallic sheen all over its body.

Tang San examined this peculiar robot and thought to himself, "The spirit power fluctuations it emits are almost identical to Xu Lin's. It should be some extremely advanced spirit tool... an ancient relic, quite high in technological content."

A shocking event happened today: Japan released nuclear-contaminated water into the ocean.

The Japanese government is simply anti-human!

101: You can only fight a war of attrition, but I

Chapter 101: You can only fight wars of attrition, but I...

Xu Lin, seeing the ‘person’ opposite him who looked almost identical to him but shimmered with a metallic luster, was a bit nervous but still made the first move, releasing his First Soul Skill.

A yellow spirit ring flickered, and from within the Star Crown, a chain seemingly formed of starlight appeared, coiling towards the humanoid spirit tool mecha.

But unexpectedly, the humanoid spirit tool mecha directly jumped to the side, dodging the Binding of the starlight chain, then quickly ran towards Xu Lin, clenching its fist, aiming only for Xu Lin’s face.

Born in the Star Crown Sect, Xu Lin naturally wouldn't foolishly stand still and immediately jumped away.

But then, something astonishing happened—

From the humanoid spirit tool mecha’s hands, a starlight chain also emerged, looking exactly like the one Xu Lin released, only without a Spirit.

Tang San’s Purple Demon Eye clearly saw countless patterns outlined on the opponent’s hands before the starlight chains emerged.

“This is the ability of these metal people; they can mimic all our Spirit Abilities,” Star Elder, referring to these humanoid spirit tool mechas as metal people, sighed, “I’m also seeing this for the first time; it’s truly an eye-opener.”

On the arena, Xu Lin was directly bound by the humanoid spirit tool mecha, unable to move, watching as the opponent ran towards him, one hand clenched into a fist, its metallic luster glinting in the sunlight; if it struck, it would surely smash his head!

This scared him so much that he hurriedly shouted, “I surrender!”

As soon as his voice fell, the humanoid spirit tool mecha stopped moving, as if it had frozen.

Xu Lin quickly ran off the arena.

Then, another Spirit Elder from the Star Crown Sect entered the arena and shouted at the humanoid spirit tool mecha, which was turning into countless blocks and about to return into the giant spirit tool mecha, “I want to challenge.”

Sure enough, the humanoid spirit tool mecha that was about to return reformed, but this time it transformed into the appearance of the Spirit Elder who had just entered.

“How is it? Wasn’t what I said true?” Star Elder also secretly breathed a sigh of relief, as this generation of theirs was also the first to come to this place.

Past records within the Sect might not be useful, so they wanted Tang San and others to test it first, but in the end, it still had to be done by their own Star Crown Sect.

Tang San didn’t answer, just quietly watched the Spirit Elder fight the humanoid spirit tool mecha.

The Spirit Elder was basically dodging, preventing himself from clashing head-on with the humanoid spirit tool mecha, fighting a war of attrition, with the goal of depleting the opponent’s internal energy.

And the humanoid spirit tool mecha should have heavy firepower weapons, but probably because it was a challenge, all its abilities were related to the challenger; if the challenger didn't have heavy firepower output capabilities, the humanoid spirit tool mecha wouldn't use such abilities.

After all, this was a challenge, not a slaughter, otherwise, there would be no fairness to speak of.

Finally, this Spirit Elder still surrendered, but the humanoid spirit tool mecha's energy should have been largely depleted as well.

The people of the Star Crown Sect took turns, fighting five times, before finally depleting the energy of this first humanoid spirit tool mecha, winning the first battle.

And after the humanoid spirit tool mecha was defeated, it turned into a pile of blocks and was reabsorbed into the giant spirit tool mecha.

“Winner, Xu Lin, may enter the First Soul Tool Storage Room in the trunk of the Golden Ancient Tree to select a Tier 1 spirit tool, or enter the Star Cultivation Space among the one hundred and eight cultivation spaces beneath the roots of the Golden Ancient Tree to cultivate for one hour. Please make your choice.”

“There's also a cultivation space inside?” Xu Lin was deeply shocked and looked at the elder, “Star Elder, how should I choose?”

“Take the spirit tool. According to the records within the Sect, although the cultivation space can speed up cultivation, you haven't even obtained your Third spirit ring yet, so cultivating isn't very meaningful now,” Star Elder immediately made the choice for Xu Lin, “And spirit tools are different; their value is extraordinary, and some even include offensive spirit tools.”

Xu Lin nodded and said to the giant spirit tool mecha, “I choose a Tier 1 spirit tool.”

The giant spirit tool mecha raised its hand, opened its palm, and dropped a bracelet, which automatically fastened onto Xu Lin's hand, and gave a prompt: “Pass has been issued! Please, the winner, enter the relevant storage room on the first level inside the trunk of the Golden Ancient Tree for selection! Selection time must not exceed half an hour! Only one item may be selected! If there is any violation, the self-destruct patterns within the pass will activate!”

Everyone heard the prompt, and a chill ran down their spines; Xu Lin was even trembling with fear, but he still seized the time and ran towards the opened gate on the Golden Ancient Tree.

As soon as Xu Lin’s figure disappeared, the leading Spirit Ancestor of the Free Spirit Master Group suddenly spoke, “I want to challenge.”

“No challenge may be initiated before the winner has selected and emerged with their reward.”

“This is too much of a waste of time,” the Spirit Ancestor was impatient, but the giant spirit tool mecha completely ignored him.

“It seems that in fifteen days, even with our continuous challenges, we might not be able to retrieve more than ten spirit tools from inside,” Niu Gang of the Defense Clan frowned.

Forcing their way in was not an option; they would be instantly killed.

And waiting wasted too much time.

Moreover, their Spirit Masters would also consume spirit power, and it wasn’t easy to recover.

More importantly, compared to the steel bodies of those humanoid spirit tool mechas, their Spirit Masters were ultimately made of flesh and blood, making it difficult to clash head-on.

Bai Luo of the Sacred Dragon Sect also nodded in agreement, “Indeed, it’s too time-consuming.”

Star Elder ignored them and looked at Tang San: “Grandmaster Tang San, what did you discern from the battle just now?”

Tang San said, “These giant spirit tool mechas and humanoid spirit tool mechas are all spirit tools. The ancient civilization that created them had extremely high research in spirit tools, even capable of mimicking Spirit Ability effects with spirit tool patterns.”

“In this situation, with challenges still being one-on-one, I don’t think there’s an issue with these spirit tool mechas, but rather a program setting caused by insufficient energy, or perhaps, a compromise.”

“Perhaps within the program settings of these spirit tool mechas, there is a simple logical thinking ability, an auxiliary AI.”

The people of the Star Crown Sect: “???”

The four people of the Defense Clan: “...”

The five people of the Sacred Dragon Sect: “...”

Fire Phoenix also couldn’t understand what Tang San was saying.

She could understand every word individually, but when they were strung together into a sentence, why couldn’t she understand?

Also, what was AI?

Xu Xing was now certain, one hundred percent!

This Tang San was definitely not the one from the original novel; at least he was from the same era as himself... Besides his decent innate spirit power, how was he supposed to fight without any other cheats?

“What do you mean?” Star Elder frowned, hoping Tang San could explain more clearly.

“It means that most people can only fight wars of attrition, as you said before,” Tang San’s gaze was calm, “However, I want to try their questionnaire exam.”

Regarding spirit tools, when Tang San was in Nuoding City, he had disassembled many daily-use spirit tools and had some research into their spirit tool patterns.

Although he didn't know the specific functions and principles, he had simply summarized some uses for the common spirit tool patterns within those daily-use spirit tools.

To put it plainly, he didn't know the specific principles, but he could make do with them.

According to the giant spirit tool mecha's prompt, the language was no different from the common language of the current Douluo Continent, so the written language difference shouldn't be too great either.

Therefore, he might be able to learn something through the questionnaire.

All the saved drafts were sent yesterday...

102: Get the first question right

Twenty minutes later, Xu Lin emerged from the Golden Ancient Tree, holding a circular disc about thirty centimeters in diameter. It was adorned with ancient patterns and sprinkled with silver starlight.

"Star Elder, I've chosen this spirit tool, the Star Compass," Xu Lin said excitedly. "According to the introduction, this is a supportive spirit tool. As long as it's placed on the ground and spirit power is injected, it can draw starlight to assist Spirit Masters who are sensitive to the stars in their cultivation. It even has some auxiliary effects for Spirit Kings, within a radius of twenty meters centered on the Star Compass."

"Mm, not bad."

Star Elder took the Star Compass and put it into his storage soul tool, a satisfied expression on his face.

Compared to offensive spirit tools, this kind of supportive effect was much better.

This item was equivalent to a mobile simulated environment, a treasure that could increase the cultivation speed of the younger generation in the Sect.

Seeing that the Star Crown Sect had gained an advantage, the others also couldn't sit still and began to challenge. The final spoils of war would be distributed based on the contribution of the four forces.

However, the humanoid spirit tool mechs were indeed difficult to defeat. In the past five days, apart from the Star Crown Sect's initial fortunate experiment, where they defeated a humanoid spirit tool mech in five attempts, over the subsequent ten days, the four teams working together only managed to acquire five spirit tools in total. Four of them were storage soul tools, one for each of the four teams, with storage spaces all exceeding ten cubic meters.

For most Spirit Masters, they trusted their Spirit and Spirit Abilities more. Offensive spirit tools were far less practical for them than storage soul tools.

Only the elder from the Star Crown Sect seemed to care more about them.

During these ten days, Tang San did not participate in any one-on-one challenges. Instead, he constantly observed the different spirit tool patterns constructed on the humanoid spirit tool mechs' bodies when they fought different Spirit Masters, summarizing the principles behind their Spirit Ability releases.

Although the fundamental reasons remained unclear, their external performance was actually similar, even identical, to the operation of daily-use spirit tools, just incredibly more complex.

Tang San had indeed summarized some of the effects that different constructions of spirit tool patterns would create over these ten days.

But it was only some, just enough to be taken out individually. How to combine them was a huge problem, and Tang San felt his brain was almost insufficient.

"It seems I'll need to recruit more people interested in spirit tool research in the future," Tang San said, rubbing his temples, deeply realizing the meaning of 'one person's wisdom is limited.'

However, Tang San discovered that Guang Ling was very interested in the spirit tool pattern compositions he had summarized, even more so than in Spirit research.

"As expected of my disciple."

Tang San thought with a touch of narcissism, then began his first challenge.

As he stepped onto the arena, everyone else paid attention, wanting to see just how powerful this Martial Soul Theory Master truly was.

But Tang San's actions were beyond their expectations.

"I want to undertake a questionnaire challenge."

As soon as he spoke, golden light emanated from the eyes of the giant spirit tool mech, constructing a virtual, high-tech, sci-fi-like image in front of Tang San.

[Questionnaire Challenge Activated!]

[Rules are as follows:]

[1. During the process of answering questions, you may seek help from outside personnel, but there are only three opportunities.]

[2. Answer one question correctly, and you may take one Level 1 spirit tool, or cultivate in the cultivation space for one hour; answer incorrectly, and you must accept a one-on-one challenge, with no surrender allowed.]

[3. There are a total of one hundred questions. The answerer may stop immediately after answering correctly to claim their reward, but if they choose to continue the challenge and answer incorrectly, all rewards will be forfeited, and they will still need to accept the punishment.]

[4. Ten Level 1 spirit tools can be exchanged for one Level 2 spirit tool. spirit tools have a total of nine levels, and so on.]

[5. If all one hundred questions are answered correctly, the answerer will become the successor of the Golden Civilization, and all spirit tool mechs will obey the successor's commands.]

Everyone saw the rules for answering, especially the fifth one, which made everyone's breathing quicken.

Become the successor of the Golden Civilization? Command all the spirit tool mechs here?

Wouldn't that make them invincible?

The specific combat power of these mechs was unknown, but previously a Spirit Saint tried to force his way in and was instantly killed. And the giant mech only slightly raised its head, its eyes emitting rays of light.

At least Titled Douluo level!

And there were thousands of these giant spirit tool mechs here!

[Please answer the first question!]

After the rules were announced, twelve naturally formed spirit tool patterns appeared on the screen in front of Tang San. They were connected head to tail, resembling Mobius strips of different shapes.

This left everyone else bewildered, not knowing what these things were.

[spirit tool patterns have twelve basic spirit tool composition patterns. All spirit tools can operate by relying on the mutual combination of these twelve spirit tool patterns. Please state what elemental attribute each of these twelve basic spirit tool patterns represents.]

Niu Gang blurted out, "Who could possibly know that?"

Star Elder sneered, "That's why I said no one can answer correctly. Even if this Tang San is a Martial Soul Theory Master, he definitely doesn't know what those spirit tool patterns represent."

Bai Luo of the Sacred Dragon Sect clasped his hands to his chest, shaking his head and sighing, "If these twelve spirit tool patterns had colors, one could make a guess, as different attribute spirit power has different colors. But these twelve spirit tool patterns are all gray, which makes it difficult to guess."

Tang San recalled the patterns of daily-use spirit tools he had disassembled and examined, identifying seven of them: light, wind, lightning, water, earth, fire, and ice.

Among daily-use spirit tools, there were luminous spirit tool lamps, spirit tool fans for blowing air, spirit tool lighters for ignition, spirit tool freezers, etc., so Tang San could naturally find the corresponding attributes.

For the remaining five, Tang San could only rely on his own observation to judge and guess.

For example, light and dark are opposite elements. The spirit tool pattern for light has already been found, so the spirit tool pattern corresponding to the dark element should be similar in shape to the light element's spirit tool pattern, but opposite.

He wasn't sure if this was truly the case, but Tang San could only make such a judgment at the moment.

Then, based on his previous conjecture that spirit tool patterns have a certain connection with the spirit power circulation channels inside spirit rings, he found the next similar pattern according to his Blue Silver Grass Spirit's spirit rings, labeling it with the Life attribute. Then, based on its pattern's appearance, he found the corresponding death attribute.

As for the last two spirit tool patterns, one was the purest Mobius strip, without any superfluous shapes, which Tang San labeled as 'space.'

The last remaining one was also a Mobius strip, but it was vertical and looked somewhat more ethereal than the other eleven spirit tool patterns.

Tang San hesitated for a moment, but ultimately chose "time" as the answer.

After all, if space existed, then time must also exist, and time only has meaning when attached to space. It was even debatable whether time truly existed in reality.

[Congratulations, answerer! Correct answer!]

"He actually got it right!"

"How is this possible?"

"He must be cheating!"

Star Elder, Niu Gang, Bai Luo, and others were incredulous. Fire Phoenix, however, asked Xiao Wu, "Has Tang San ever researched spirit tools?"

"Yes, he bought quite a few daily-use spirit tools." Xiao Wu first glanced at the Star Crown Sect, Defense Clan, Sacred Dragon Sect, and that commoner Spirit hunting team, confirming that they weren't paying attention, before quietly revealing some unimportant information.

103: Control the Golden Ancient Tree

“Do you wish to continue the challenge?”

Facing the question from the giant spirit tool mecha, Tang San refused.

For the first question, he had mostly guessed, and his ability to answer correctly was due to his past summaries and deductions, with the rest being pure luck.

For the second question, who knew how difficult it would be? It was better to know his limits.

The giant spirit tool mecha raised its hand, its palm opening to reveal a silver bracelet that landed on Tang San's wrist.

Tang San fiddled with the pass for a moment, finding it extremely tough. He decided not to research it immediately and instead quickly ran into the Golden Ancient Tree's main entrance.

Inside the ancient tree, the first floor was quite spacious, opening into a vast hall that was not dim but rather bright, yet not dazzling.

However, the light source did not come from the outside sun; it seemed to be some kind of elemental power.

“What a peculiar Life.”

Tang San didn't have time to marvel at the ancient tree's wonders. Following the bracelet's prompt, he entered the left passage and arrived at the room containing storage soul tools.

Across from the room, there was a staircase leading to the next floor. However, the staircase entrance was equipped with a gate-like detection device, which should be able to sense the pass. If one didn't have permission, it would likely explode.

“Logically, if I carve a hole and bypass it, I can avoid detection. But the Golden Ancient Tree is too hard. Within half an hour, whether I can even carve a small hole in its wall is a big problem.” Tang San gave up on his impractical idea and entered the room storing spirit tools.

He looked at the rows of shelves, filled with various strange spirit tools, and above the shelves hung clear classifications: Spatial, Attack, Auxiliary, and Defense.

There were only these four main categories.

However, when Tang San walked into the Attack category, he found that Attack was further divided into Physical and Energy forms, and Energy attacks were further divided into Melee and Ranged.

Each category could be subdivided.

“The Golden Civilization must have been built around this Golden Ancient Tree. It seems to have developed very powerfully, but why did it disappear?”

Tang San thought of gods who needed the power of faith, musing over it, but quickly dismissed the idea.

Without truly investigating, idle speculation would only waste time, and gods were too far removed from his current self.

Subsequently, Tang San left the Attack category and went to the Auxiliary category, hoping to find a spirit tool that could assist his research.

The cultivation of Jade Bone, the improvement of spirit power, the spirit power circulation patterns within the spirit ring, the formation of Spirit Bone, and the research of spirit tools all required more detailed observation.

For Tang San, a Tier 1 spirit tool, whether for defense or attack, was not very useful. But Auxiliary spirit tools were different; if they could help him observe more meticulously, his future research could progress more smoothly.

Twenty minutes later, Tang San found the Auxiliary spirit tool he wanted: a detection pair of glasses.

This pair of glasses could assist a Spirit Master in observing the spirit power circulation routes and vital energy strength within the human body.

That's right, in addition to spirit power, these glasses could also observe a Spirit Master's vital energy strength, thereby judging the strength of internal organs.

According to the description, this spirit tool could be considered a Tier 3 spirit tool, but because its observation method had issues and its practicality was poor, causing the user's attention to become unfocused, it was rated as a Tier 1 spirit tool.

Tang San took it off, put it on, and injected spirit power, finding that it indeed made one's attention unfocused.

Although the observation effect was very good, without the assistance of intelligent AI, an ordinary Spirit Master's brain simply couldn't process the information.

Imagine a Spirit Master using these detection glasses to see other Spirit Masters' spirit power circulation routes and heat maps; the first thing they would feel is dizziness.

In a Life-or-death battle, this could be a fatal situation.

However, for Tang San, who possessed the Purple Demon Eye, these detection glasses could perfectly assist him in his research.

“There are ten minutes left. Should I give it a try?”

Tang San's thoughts stirred, and he released his Blue Silver Grass Spirit. The aura of Life resonated with the Golden Ancient Tree, and countless Life energy converged towards his Blue Silver Grass.

For Tang San's Blue Silver Grass, even without going to the cultivation space at the tree's roots, it could cultivate quickly.

While time hadn't run out, Tang San pressed his Blue Silver Grass to the ground, controlling it to take root. He found that rooting within the Golden Ancient Tree was much easier than outside. In fact, the Blue Silver Grass's roots, without Tang San's control, directly spread throughout the entire trunk and roots of the Golden Ancient Tree, perfectly integrating with it.

Is this Parasite?

As soon as this thought arose, Tang San found that his mental force seemed to be amplified, allowing him to perceive everything within this Golden Ancient Tree. The Blue Silver Grass's roots were not absorbing the Golden Ancient Tree's energy, but rather merging with it, forming another type of Life energy cycle.

During this process, all the veins on the Blue Silver Grass turned golden, and Tang San also gained immense benefits. His Blue Silver Emperor bloodline fully awakened, and his hair turned silver-blue.

In the original work, Tang San's hair color was dark blue, but perhaps because he had initially allowed his Blue Silver Grass to absorb powerful plant spirit rings, coupled with the Golden Ancient Tree not being the Blue Silver Emperor, Tang San's Blue Silver Grass showed a slight abnormality in its external hair color after awakening.

In addition, Tang San's spirit power also increased by two levels, reaching Tier 33.

However, for Tang San, the greatest gain was not his Spirit transforming into the Blue Silver Emperor, nor the increase in spirit power, but rather, by relying on the Blue Silver Emperor's control, he touched the core inside the Golden Ancient Tree—a golden, masterless combination of consciousness and energy.

“Can I refine it?”

Tang San wanted to refine it. If he did, this Golden Ancient Tree would truly belong to him.

The ancient Golden Civilization likely never controlled this Golden Ancient Tree, only building various floors and opening various spaces within its body.

Only powerful plant emperors like the Blue Silver Emperor could truly communicate with the Golden Ancient Tree.

But how should he refine it?

Just as Tang San was pondering this question, the core seemed to sense his thoughts and directly followed the Blue Silver Grass’s roots into Tang San’s mental sea.

In an instant, Tang San fainted. When he opened his eyes again, he found himself in a chaotic space, as if in the starry sky, with no sense of up, down, left, right, front, or back, yet without a feeling of weightlessness, which was very peculiar.

“This should be my mental space.” Tang San guessed, then discovered a golden spherical core floating before him, immediately realizing it was the Golden Ancient Tree’s core.

He raised his hand to touch it, and the core smoothly entered his soul body, circulating throughout his body, finally emerging from his glabella.

“What is going on?”

Tang San was bewildered, but when he extended his hand, the Golden Ancient Tree’s core landed in his palm, seemingly controllable at will. Looking closely, within this core, there was a phantom of a Golden Ancient Tree, and a human figure almost identical to himself sat cross-legged beneath the tree, able to resonate with him.

“Was it refined by me?”

Tang San was a little dumbfounded.

He had thought refining it would be difficult, but unexpectedly, it had voluntarily entered his body, willing to be controlled by him.

“Well, that saves trouble.” Tang San woke up, and the Golden Ancient Tree’s core, which he had refined in his mind, also returned to the Golden Ancient Tree.

At this moment, Tang San felt as if he had merged with the Golden Ancient Tree. Even if he left this place, he could still enjoy the purest natural energy that the Golden Ancient Tree transmitted to him.

Moreover, these natural energies also contained the Golden Ancient Tree’s Life force, which could strengthen his vital energy.

This was equivalent to having an extra cultivation cheat!

Tang San was ecstatic, but now was not the time to be happy, as time was almost up. If he left too late, the bracelet might explode.

When Tang San walked out of the Golden Ancient Tree, Fire Phoenix and the others were startled, because Tang San’s appearance had changed a bit again, and his hair had turned silver-blue.

“Tang San?” Huo Wu was dumbfounded, unable to understand why Tang San had become even more handsome after just one trip inside?

“It’s me.”

Tang San nodded to Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and the others, pushed up the glasses on his nose, and smiled, “The Golden Ancient Tree has powerful Life force. My Blue Silver Grass underwent a transformation, or rather, an evolution, which also caused some slight changes to my appearance.”

Xiao Wu shook her hair and snorted, "Your Blue Silver Grass is really strange. Every time you get a spirit ring, it makes you more handsome. Everyone else must be dying of envy."

"It's natural," Tang San shrugged. "It's genetically determined; it just changed from recessive to dominant under the stimulation of Life force."

"You're speaking in riddles again," Xiao Wu pouted.

But Xu Xing from the Star Crown Sect once again confirmed his guess about Tang San's identity, and his heart couldn't help but waver, doubting whether he could defeat such an enhanced version of Tang San in the future...

"What spirit tool did you get?" Xiao Wu asked about the spirit tool, her gaze falling on the glasses Tang San was wearing, which only had a black-gold frame on the lower half. "It couldn't be just these glasses you're wearing, could it?"

"That's right," Tang San nodded. "Compared to those spatial, attack, or defense spirit tools, I prefer auxiliary spirit tools, as they can help me with my research better."

"What are its specific uses?" Xiao Wu pressed.

"Here, try it," Tang San took off the detection glasses and handed them to Xiao Wu.

Xiao Wu put them on and injected spirit power, and she saw countless spirit power flowing through Tang San's body, as well as a large area of red, while the bones in his hands and feet were the color of silver jade.

In less than three minutes, Xiao Wu took them off, returned the detection glasses to Tang San, and rubbed her temples, saying, "It really isn't something we ordinary Spirit Masters can use. It makes my eyes a bit dizzy."

Tang San took the detection glasses. Seeing Guang Ling, Huo Wu, and Fire Phoenix curious, he also let them try them. Except for Fire Phoenix, a Spirit Emperor, who could barely adapt to the large number of dense color blocks on the lenses, Huo Wu and Guang Ling found it difficult to adapt. Guang Ling even felt like vomiting.

The Spirit Masters from the Star Crown Sect, Sacred Dragon Sect, Defense Clan, and the commoner Spirit hunting group also generally determined that the storage soul tool Tang San took out had no attack or defense capabilities, only storage functionality.

"What's our plan next?" Xiao Wu asked.

"There are only five days left, and we must leave one day in advance, so that leaves only four days," Tang San said without hesitation. "Therefore, for the remaining time, we don't need to challenge for spirit tools. We should use it for cultivation and to improve our combat experience."

"Cultivating under the Golden Ancient Tree, with the blessing of rich Life force and purified world energy, one day of cultivation here is equivalent to ten days outside. We must make good use of it."

Fire Phoenix also felt the same. She had already obtained a storage soul tool with a storage space of twenty cubic meters, making her trip worthwhile. There was no need to take further risks.

Thus, Fire Phoenix led Tang San, Huo Wu, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and Star Elder to end their cooperation and went to another giant spirit tool mecha to begin cultivating and challenging.

Star Elder did not stop them. He continued to cooperate with the Defense Clan, Sacred Dragon Sect, and the commoner Spirit hunting group, striving to obtain a few more storage soul tools with larger storage spaces before the time limit expired.

In a blink of an eye, four days passed quickly. Tang San's spirit power was still at level thirty-three, but he had already accumulated enough spirit power for this level and could break through to level thirty-four at any time.

Xiao Wu's spirit power had also reached level thirty, but she couldn't condense a spirit ring here due to too many people, yet she continued to cultivate.

Huo Wu's spirit power reached level thirty-two, and she was close to level thirty-three.

Fire Phoenix's progress wasn't much, as she was already a Spirit Emperor, and the spirit power required for each level increase was incomparable to a Spirit Elder's one-level increase.

The greatest progress was made by Guang Ling. With the blessing of Mysterious Heaven Skill, and given that she was just a Spirit Master, her spirit power increase speed was astonishing—in fourteen days, her spirit power reached level sixteen.

Fire Phoenix saw everyone's progress and her gaze towards the Golden Ancient Tree was filled with greed, but she ultimately could only sigh helplessly: "The value of this Golden Ancient Tree is immeasurable. If I could stay here long-term, I might have a chance to break through to Titled Douluo before I turn seventy."

"Unfortunately, this place only opens once every hundred years, and the open period is so short. If we stay, we will be annihilated by these giant spirit tool mechas."

"It's such a pity."

Huo Wu woke up from her cultivation, stretched, and said, "Grandma, you should be content. Others don't have such an opportunity as us, and I feel that under the nourishment of the Golden Ancient Tree's Life energy, my physique has also strengthened a little. Maybe in the future, I can fight above my level."

At this point, Huo Wu stared intently at Tang San and said, "Before we leave, let's have a fight."

"Okay."

Tang San agreed.

Fire Phoenix acted as the referee.

After both sides released their Spirit and spirit rings, neither used a Spirit Ability first, but instead engaged in a head-on clash with their fist and foot techniques.

Huo Wu's fists were enveloped in fiery light, full of power.

Tang San's hands turned into cold jade, emitting wisps of cold air, seemingly opposite to Huo Wu's attribute. The spirit power fluctuations caused by their collision created crackling sounds in the air.

"What Spirit Ability is this?" Huo Wu retreated seven or eight steps, shaking her palm. "So hard."

"A self-created Spirit Ability, but only a part of it is my own creation," Tang San explained with a smile.

"That's really impressive, to be able to create your own Spirit Ability," Huo Wu conceded, then used her Spirit Ability, and the Sun rose, boosting her combat power.

Meanwhile, during his previous clash with Huo Wu, Tang San had already rooted his Blue Silver Emperor underground. In an instant, he created the Endless Grassland. Under Tang San's control, countless Blue Silver Grass continuously wrapped around Huo Wu.

Even though Huo Wu's flames were extremely hot, under the Blue Silver Emperor's Binding, she still found it difficult to break free. Coupled with Tang San's second Spirit Ability's positive and negative buffs, which directly reduced Huo Wu's all-attributes by thirty-three percent, Huo Wu had no power to resist whatsoever.

The ability to draw power from the earth to fight was simply too unfair.

After learning the specific effects of Tang San's First Soul Skill, Huo Wu cried foul, saying he cheated.

"You can't blame me. The Blue Silver Grass absorbs on its own; I can't control it. To turn it off, I can only retract the Blue Silver Grass. You can't possibly ask me not to use my Spirit and First Soul Skill, can you?" Tang San shook his head and said with a chuckle.

"Alright, I lost," Huo Wu said somewhat dejectedly and faintly. "Previously, I could burn your Blue Silver Grass, but now that your Blue Silver Grass's veins have turned golden, its resistance to flames is higher, and it's also tougher. Although it's not impossible to tear or burn, it requires more strength and higher temperatures. Even a Spirit King would probably find it difficult to tear."

"Just good luck. My Blue Silver Grass can absorb more Life energy," Tang San didn't overly discourage Huo Wu. "I also consumed a lot of spirit power myself."

"Tch, no need to comfort me. I, Huo Wu, am not a sore loser," Huo Wu put one hand on her hip, then looked at Xiao Wu and said, "Xiao Wu, how about we have a fight?"

"No problem." Xiao Wu had long been eager to fight Huo Wu and see how formidable this "Sun Goddess" truly was.

Neither used a Spirit Ability. Xiao Wu was faster and had more fluid control over her spirit power, which put Huo Wu at a disadvantage. Especially since Xiao Wu had learned the trick of whipping her braid, even though the short sword at the end of the braid was removed, reducing its lethality, she could still catch Huo Wu off guard and make her lose balance.

The two fought for nearly thirty minutes, with no clear winner.

Although Huo Wu had more spirit power than Xiao Wu, Xiao Wu was fast and skilled at dodging, seemingly knowing where Huo Wu's every attack would land, allowing her to anticipate in advance.

This was the enhancement Xiao Wu gained after obtaining her second spirit ring. Even without using a Spirit Ability, she could still perceive Huo Wu's attack patterns.

It could be said that, aside from lacking a super-strong offensive method, Xiao Wu was currently a perfectly qualified assassination and interference-type agility-attack system Spirit Master. Moreover, Xiao Wu's strength was considerable, allowing her to do some things that only certain close-combat crowd control-type Spirit Masters could achieve.

However, her primary method was still to harass enemies with speed, thereby finding opportunities for a fatal blow.

Xiao Wu originally didn't like being an agility-attack system, but as she delved deeper, Xiao Wu actually grew to like this combat style—hitting and running, making enemies furious and unable to catch up. It was simply too exciting.

104: It seems that I am no longer a soul beast!

Chapter 104: I Don't Seem to Be a Spirit Beast Anymore... Yay!

Xiao Wu and Huo Wu's battle ultimately ended in Huo Wu's victory.

The reason was simple: Huo Wu had more spirit power.

In fact, for a Spirit Master like Huo Wu to only be able to defeat Xiao Wu by relying on a slight advantage in spirit power already proved the strength of an interference and assassination-type Spirit Master like Xiao Wu.

It also proved one point: no matter how powerful an attack, if it can't hit the target, it's useless.

Of course, that excludes attacks with area-of-effect coverage, or those capable of exploding a star in a single strike.

"agility-attack system Spirit Masters are truly annoying, especially after your theories were published," Huo Wu grumbled. Although she won, she wasn't in a good mood at all.

She, a Spirit Elder, fighting a level 30 Spirit Elder, actually had to rely on having slightly more spirit power to win. There was no sense of accomplishment whatsoever.

"You can't blame me for that," Tang San shook his head. "There's always a mutual restraint between Spirit Masters of different systems. Xiao Wu has been trained by me. For you, a Spirit Elder, to achieve this result is already very good."

Xiao Wu, having been trained by Tang San, was no longer the "explosion trigger" from the original work. She possessed extraordinary combat abilities, coupled with quick reaction speed. Even without a prominent offensive Spirit Ability, she could still rely on her own advantages to contend with, and even compete against, most Spirit Ancestors on the Douluo Continent.

For Huo Wu to achieve victory with her Sun Goddess Spirit and level 32 spirit power was already very impressive.

Afterward, the five packed their luggage and headed out of the small island, preparing to leave the core area of the Infinite Desert.

Tang San used Blue Silver Emperor to build a Blue Silver boat and brought everyone to the center of the circular lake. After confirming the location of the underwater cave entrance, he wrapped the Blue Silver boat into a giant Blue Silver sphere, but with two layers. He then filled the outer layer with water and began to submerge.

Splash!

After breaking through the cave entrance, the space below became empty. Tang San immediately retracted his Blue Silver Emperor, while Fire Phoenix manifested her Spirit, bringing Tang San and the others safely to the ground.

Huo Wu looked around and said, "This doesn't seem to be the passage we came from."

"There are multiple passages leading to the core area of the Infinite Desert, so it's not surprising," Fire Phoenix said. "As long as we confirm that the direction we came from didn't have a major issue when we leave, then leaving through another passage won't lead us astray in the general direction."

The five ran forward, and after about a day of running, they still hadn't exited the passage.

Rumble!

Sensing the roar from behind him, Tang San realized that the time for the core area to be open had ended. The water was descending again, and if they didn't get out quickly, everyone would likely be crushed into pulp.

"It seems we can't just run out. Our speed definitely can't match the speed of the water flow," Tang San immediately released his Blue Silver Emperor, weaving a large sphere that could envelop all five of them. Then, he secured himself and the other four inside the Blue Silver sphere, saying, "With this Blue Silver sphere, we can withstand the impact of the water flow and even be carried out by the water. It might just be a bit bumpy..."

Before the word "bumpy" could be uttered, the Blue Silver sphere was shaken by the water flow, tumbling continuously. Even Fire Phoenix, a Spirit Emperor, felt her internal organs being churned.

Guang Ling, Xiao Wu, and Huo Wu all fainted directly.

Ten minutes later, Tang San and Fire Phoenix, the only two conscious people, sensed that the Blue Silver sphere's area had stabilized. Tang San immediately controlled the Blue Silver Emperor to open.

Ugh~

Stimulated by the fresh air, Xiao Wu and the others woke up, but their faces were pale. They leaned over the edge of the boat Tang San was weaving and began to vomit.

After a while, everyone recovered some color.

Xiao Wu said, "It was exciting, but I definitely don't want to experience it again."

Huo Wu nodded frantically: "I think so too. I hate water and ice the most."

Everyone rested for a while, regained some energy, and began to paddle towards the shore of the lake.

"This isn't Hope Oasis," Fire Phoenix observed the green plants by the lake and the yellowish-black rock formations, slowly saying, "We've arrived at the outer area of the Infinite Desert. I didn't expect the outer area to also have a passage leading to the core area. No wonder we ran for nearly a day and still didn't reach the end."

While everyone sighed, they also felt a wave of lingering fear.

If not for the protection of the Blue Silver Grass created by Tang San, they would have been utterly annihilated by the impact of the undercurrent.

"Grandma, how will those people from the Star Crown Sect leave?" Huo Wu asked, full of curiosity.

"I don't know how the Defense Clan, the Sacred Dragon Sect, or that commoner Spirit hunting group will leave, but the Star Crown Sect has more information about the core area than we do, so they must have some preparations," Fire Phoenix shook her head, then said, "No need to worry about them. The Star Crown Sect and our Huo Family are not on the same path to begin with. If they die, all the better."

After landing ashore, seeing that night had fallen, everyone decided to rest for the night.

The next day.

Tang San and the others, along with Fire Phoenix and Huo Wu, found a town in the outer area and confirmed their location, all breathing a sigh of relief.

"Tang San, are you really not coming with us to Blazing Academy?" Huo Wu seemed a little reluctant. "Although Blazing Academy only recruits fire-attribute Spirit Masters, geniuses like you aren't entirely without exception."

"No, I have my own plans. This experience has given me a lot of insights, and I need time to digest them," Tang San smiled and refused.

In the future, he definitely had to join a high-level Spirit Master academy. After all, there would be more books and information there.

The three most suitable options were Heaven Dou Royal Academy, Star Luo Royal Academy, and Spirit Hall Academy.

Star Luo Royal Academy was out of the question; it was too far, and the local customs were too fierce, definitely not suitable for his research.

Spirit Hall Academy, without a doubt, held the most books and information on the entire continent, but considering his identity, and his own strength not yet reaching the level where he could crush Clear Sky Douluo, he couldn't choose it.

That left only Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

Although it was an aristocratic academy, with students who were all imperial relatives and grand nobles, it also had special admissions for commoners. As long as one had excellent talent and gained the recognition of the Three Education Committee, they could enter and study there.

Of course, Heaven Dou Royal Academy was only a backup option. If his strength could rival Tang Hao, going directly to Wuhun Academy wasn't impossible, especially since Tang Hao had severed their father-son relationship, hadn't he?

"Then, after you graduate from the junior academy, you must come to Heaven Dou City. I'll show you around and introduce you to some high-level Spirit Master academies that suit you," Huo Wu was a bit disappointed, but her personality was straightforward, so she didn't dwell on sadness and quickly cheered up.

After leaving the town in the outer area of the Infinite Desert, the two groups parted ways.

In the carriage, Xiao Wu asked, "Tang San, what ability did your third spirit ring bring to your Spirit? And what Spirit Ability did it grant you?"

"As I expected, the Sun Moon Grass granted my Spirit the ability to absorb the light of the sun and moon, and also—"

Mid-sentence, Tang San opened his right hand, and a Blue Silver Emperor emerged from it. Nine long, golden-veined leaves unfurled, revealing a bead resembling the Sun Moon Grass. Within it, the sun and moon seemed to rotate, appearing incredibly mystical.

"Is that the bead that can store energy?" Xiao Wu asked.

"Exactly. My Blue Silver Grass inherited the Sun Moon Grass's ability to store energy, giving birth to this bead. I call it the Bright Pearl. It can store the essence of the sun and moon, and also the power of the earth," Tang San explained. "More importantly, this ability has a bonus effect on my second Spirit Ability, allowing me to use both positive and negative buff seeds simultaneously."

Saying this, Tang San activated his second Spirit Ability.

As the purple spirit ring shimmered, a trace of sun and moon light emerged from the Bright Pearl within the Blue Silver Emperor. Combined with the dust-like tiny seeds of the Blue Silver Grass, they condensed into two peculiar rings.

One was golden, with ten light-stream-like patterns around it; the other was silver, wide on one side and narrow on the other, like a crescent moon with its ends connected.

"The golden one is the positive buff circle, and the silver one is the negative buff circle. Once used on a Spirit Master I've marked, they will remain active until the enhancement or weakening stops," Tang San said. "This way, the wind can't blow them away, because they contain the light of the sun and moon. How can wind blow away light?"

"Of course, after the Endless Grassland is formed, the seeds created by this positive and negative buff Spirit Ability will still float freely and won't all concentrate into these two rings."

"In short, these two rings essentially provide a more accurate marker when I use the positive and negative buff Spirit Ability, and allow me to weaken the enemy while simultaneously enhancing our side."

Xiao Wu was amazed and then asked, "What about the Spirit Ability? Is it just energy storage?"

Tang San's third spirit ring lit up, and the surrounding light seemed to gather, condensing above the Blue Silver Emperor, forming a golden and silver interwoven ring.

The golden and silver colors flowed upon it, as if containing some kind of profound charm. Staring at it for too long would cause one to become entranced.

Xiao Wu came back to her senses and asked, "Is this ring your third Spirit Ability?"

"That's right." Tang San nodded, "When I use my third Spirit Ability, my Spirit will condense a Sun Moon Ring, drawing on the power of light to continuously strengthen my Spirit, and even passively strengthen my body along with it."

"Although the efficiency isn't high, it definitely exists."

"I call it Photosynthetic Respiration."

"This is an auxiliary cultivation Spirit Ability that can be used by myself or applied to others. Based on spirit power consumption, if used on others, it only lasts for about an hour, but the duration should increase as my cultivation improves."

Xiao Wu's mouth dropped open: "It can even be used on others? That's too outrageous!"

It was indeed outrageous.

But considering that Blue Silver Grass had evolved into Blue Silver Emperor, and with the help of the Golden Ancient Tree, this ability was not outrageous at all.

Furthermore, if Endless Grassland was set up before activating the third Spirit Ability, the duration could be even longer.

Next, Xiao Wu and Guang Ling began to test the effects of Photosynthetic Respiration, discovering that during cultivation, the speed of spirit power improvement indeed increased significantly, with an efficiency of 1.3 times the usual.

However, Tang San judged that the cultivation speed of Spirits with different attributes might vary under the effect of his Photosynthetic Respiration, but the difference could largely be ignored.

If the Spirit attribute was dark, Tang San estimated that his Photosynthetic Respiration would not only fail to increase cultivation speed but might also lead to a decrease in cultivation speed.

“However, this skill requires the light of the sun and moon; it cannot be used just because there is enough spirit power.” Tang San stated the drawback of this Spirit Ability, “With the accumulated sun and moon light now, combined with external sun and moon light, I can only create about twelve Photosynthetic Respiration Rings per day.”

“That’s enough.” Xiao Wu rolled her eyes, “Don’t you know that spirit power cultivation cannot be done all day? Most people cultivate for two hours, and their bodies can’t take it anymore.”

spirit power cultivation was actually a tedious task, and cultivating for too long could harm the body.

Tang San understood that this was because most Spirit Masters’ bodies were too weak, their meridians fragile, and meditation required concentrating most of their mental force, which was very tiring.

In a way, this also tested a Spirit Master’s self-control.

If one couldn't endure boredom and loneliness, how could one gain true power and become a truly strong-willed Spirit Master?

In the blink of an eye, half a month quietly passed.

Upon returning to Nuoding City, Xiao Wu immediately requested a leave of absence from Tang San and the teachers of Notting Academy, preparing to obtain her third spirit ring...

...

Star Dou Great Forest, core area.

By the clear lake.

Xiao Wu, led by Da Ming and Er Ming, returned here again and met Di Tian.

"Did you not bring him back?"

Di Tian's tone was deep, showing no discernible emotion, but it carried a strong sense of oppression that made Xiao Wu a little breathless.

"He and I went to the Infinite Desert. His third spirit ring could only be found there. There was no way I could force him to come." Xiao Wu gave her reason, but in her heart, she cursed Di Tian a hundred times, thinking that once she became strong, she would teach this dark and foolish dragon a good lesson and make him understand who was the big sister of the Star Dou Great Forest!

"His third spirit ring came from that Spirit Beast?" Di Tian continued to ask.

"Sun Moon Grass."

"That indeed only grows in Desert environments." Di Tian nodded, then asked, "Your physique seems to have strengthened a bit, and it carries a peculiar Life aura... Where in the Infinite Desert did you and that person go?"

“The core area.” Xiao Wu knew that the matter of the Infinite Desert’s core area might not be hidden from Di Tian and the others, so she told the truth, “We saw the Golden Ancient Tree.”

“Golden Ancient Tree!”

Di Tian was surprised, then frowned deeply, saying, “The Golden Ancient Tree is the most precious plant; it is not a plant Spirit Beast, but it can purify the energy of heaven and earth, and can even be said to be the embodiment of the plane’s will. For you and him to see it, you clearly have great luck, but you actually didn’t die?”

Bi Ji asked in confusion: “Why do you say that?”

“I once traveled the entire World, and I went to the Infinite Desert. Its core area is covered by an extremely powerful layer of storms and dust. Even I found it difficult to break through.”

Di Tian recounted his early travels across the Douluo Continent, “One hundred thousand years ago, I once tried to forcibly enter, but after barely breaking through, what awaited me were thousands of steel monsters. They had no Life aura, but they were extremely powerful, capable of unleashing attacks comparable to ultimate elements, with extremely strong penetrative power.”

“Under that barrage of thousands of attacks, I nearly died and then slept for ten thousand years before recovering.”

Bi Ji also thought of something and realized: “No wonder you fell into a deep sleep as soon as you returned one hundred thousand years ago. Zi Ji and I all thought you had encountered some terrible enemy.”

Xiao Wu was startled, thinking: Are those giant soul-guided mechs that powerful?

“Tell me, how did you and he get in safely?” Di Tian asked, “And how did you withstand the attacks of those terrifying steel monsters?”

“It happened like this...” Xiao Wu explained how the Infinite Desert’s core area dissipated once every hundred years, feeling even more disdain for these fierce beasts in her heart.

What if their cultivation was nearly nine hundred thousand years?

After being beaten once, didn’t they just run back into the forest and never think of going out again?

But humans had summarized the pattern that the sandstorm dissipated every hundred years!

[Third Brother put it more politely... Spirit Beasts are just that stupid. Fortunately, I’ve already taken human form, so I’m not that stupid anymore.]

Xiao Wu felt a little smug, then said: “Lord Beast God, I’ve returned this time to condense my spirit ring.”

“Go.”

“Alrighty.”

Xiao Wu skipped to Da Ming’s shoulder and was carried by him to the center of the lake, where she began to condense her third spirit ring.

“Di Tian, the core area of the Infinite Desert actually has a Golden Ancient Tree. That’s a Tree of Life. Why don’t we go there, bring it back, and plant it next to the Life Lake? Perhaps our Lord can recover faster.” Xiong Jun rubbed his fists, stating his opinion.

“We can’t get in, and even if we did, it would be difficult to resist those steel monsters. Let’s wait until the next hundred years to see.” Di Tian had suffered a severe injury once and was still traumatized by it.

“That’s true, it’s only a hundred years.” Xiong Jun was not brainless; he knew that a monster that could severely injure Di Tian one hundred thousand years ago would definitely not be easy for him either, and he might even be killed.

At this time, Xiao Wu also used her hundred-thousand-year cultivation essence to search for information on the Dragon Rabbit, condensing her third spirit ring, a spirit ring of nearly six thousand years.

“Hmm?”

Di Tian suddenly sensed a dragon bloodline aura appearing on Xiao Wu, and he frowned slightly: “Which type of rabbit Spirit Beast did you use to condense your third spirit ring?”

“An extinct type of rabbit Spirit Beast, the Dragon Rabbit. It suits me very well and gave me a skill called True Spirit Bone.” Xiao Wu answered truthfully.

“True Spirit Bone, Dragon Rabbit...” Di Tian’s gaze softened considerably, “That was a peculiar Spirit Beast. It didn’t aim to become a dragon, but rather wanted to condense all of its dragon bloodline onto its spine, aiming to rival dragons as a rabbit, and thus surpass dragons. And it succeeded, but unfortunately, they also went extinct.”

Xiao Wu was speechless.

Then, Di Tian continued: “However, the Soft Bones Rabbit clan is one of the descendant branches left by the Dragon Rabbit. When the Soft Bones Rabbit reaches a certain cultivation age, it can use abilities like Golden Body, which are evolutions of the Dragon Rabbit’s True Spirit Bone ability. You actually traced back the origin and made True Spirit Bone reappear.”

“According to legend, the last one of the Dragon Rabbit clan, after reaching a hundred thousand years of cultivation, relied on its True Spirit Bone to withstand the heavenly tribulation, directly dispersing the heavenly tribulation that targeted our fierce beasts.”

“But in his True Spirit Bone state, his aura greatly increased, almost directly reaching three hundred thousand years. After dispersing the heavenly tribulation, he directly attracted the next heavenly tribulation, and then he was destroyed by the heavenly tribulation, with not even a Spirit Bone left.”

Xiao Wu: "..."

What a terrifying horror story!

However, I don't seem to be a Spirit Beast anymore...

Yay!

"Oh, right, I'll teach you a method to hide the aura of a hundred-thousand-year Spirit Beast." Di Tian was silent for a moment, then said, "It will be safer in the human World as well."

"Is it difficult?"

"Not difficult. In fact, you've already touched upon it yourself. It's about using human aura..."

105: Golden Ancient Tree Dagger

Infinite Desert.

Outskirts.

Ling Yuan landed in a town in a sorry state to rest, muttering, “That Tang San, he actually left me behind. Although I was only hiding in the dark, there was no need to treat me as if I didn’t exist, right? It forced me to fly all the way from the core area to here... Damn it, don’t let me get a chance.”

The more Ling Yuan thought about it, the angrier she got, but she eventually calmed down. She found the local Spirit Hall, wrote a letter, reported the recent events, and had the local Spirit Hall Branch Master send it to Spirit City. She then headed towards Nuoding City...

...

Nuoding City.

Spirit Hall's backyard.

Tang San returned and rested for three days, only to be sought out by Ling Yuan. Without a word, she directly pulled down his pants and gave him a good beating.

Tang San's face was flushed crimson as he shouted, “What are you doing?! Is this how you protect me? Also, men and women should not touch each other intimately. What part of me did you pinch?!”

Ling Yuan had her fill, feeling refreshed and with all her aggression dissipated. She said contentedly, “Naturally, it’s for your protection, to confirm your resistance to beatings.”

Tang San was speechless. He could only glare fiercely at Ling Yuan, then slowly and deliberately pulled up his pants. Guang Ling, who had been covering his eyes with his fingers spread wide, finally lowered his hands, his face flushed crimson.

“I’m leaving, no need to see me off.” Ling Yuan put her hands on her hips and swaggered out of the courtyard.

“Who wants to see you off?”

Tang San was speechless. Why were all the women he met so overly familiar?

“Third Brother, shall we continue our test?” Guang Ling brought up the serious matter.

“Continue.” The redness on Tang San’s face faded as he began testing Guang Ling’s First Soul Skill.

How far can the arrows shot by the Sun Chasing Bow travel without any obstructions?

What is the penetration ability against different obstacles?

How much does the Crimson Gold Aura enhance the Sun Chasing Bow?

All these data needed to be roughly tested to allow Guang Ling’s Spirit to be utilized to its fullest potential in the future.

And the data for the Sun Chasing Bow also changed after obtaining the First Soul Ring:

Strength: 2. A sharp blade appeared on the bow body, allowing it to be used as a weapon.

Defense: 2. It became tougher, but could not be used as a purely defensive weapon.

Speed: 4. Attack speed increased.

Stamina: 3. Drawing the string consumed physical strength and spirit power.

Energy: 3. Capable of condensing and releasing arrow energy.

Special: 2. It gained a sharp special property.

Total Score: 16.

Overall, all aspects were relatively balanced, with attack speed, energy, and stamina being more prominent. These could be further strengthened in the future. As for the special aspect, the “sharp” special property could be further increased, or spirit rings with fire attributes could be added later to further temper the Sun Chasing Bow.

However, the most valuable thing to study on the Sun Chasing Bow was the crimson pattern left on the bow body after absorbing the Iron Tooth Fish spirit ring.

When Guang Ling used his Spirit Ability, this crimson pattern would glow, and Tang San could sense energy pouring into it from the void. If thoroughly researched, it might be one of the precursors to spirit tool patterns.

And after checking Guang Ling's specific data, Xiao Wu pushed the door open and said, “I’m back!”

“You’re back, you’re back, but why push the door so hard?” Tang San was startled, his gaze a little resentful.

“I was just excited.”

Xiao Wu bounced over to Tang San and said, “My Third Soul Ring is the Dragon Rabbit you mentioned. It’s six thousand years old, and the Spirit Ability is True Spirit Bone.”

“After using this Spirit Ability, all my bones feel alive, just as you said, combining rigidity and flexibility. And my speed is incredibly fast. When running at full speed, I can even step nine times consecutively in the air.”

“Moreover, my defense has also increased.”

Tang San’s eyes lit up. He called Xiao Wu over and began to test her.

“Good, very good.” After finishing Xiao Wu’s test, Tang San said with a smile, “The True Spirit Bone skill is truly very suitable for you. It can even greatly increase your defense when used, and it’s not the kind where you stand still. It should be able to withstand at least a full-power attack from a Spirit King level.”

“Hahaha, Xiao Wu Jie is just that amazing!” Xiao Wu proudly lifted her head and laughed heartily.

“Don’t get cocky, you’re still far from invincible,” Tang San retorted, “If you encounter a control system enemy stronger than you, who can manipulate multiple Blue Silver Grass like me, you might still be defeated in a solo fight.”

“Hmph, you’re not a control system.” Xiao Wu’s words just slipped out, and she immediately realized Tang San wasn’t a control system. Her face instantly flushed crimson, and she said, “Hmph, Xiao Wu Jie is still very powerful, and besides, aren’t I practicing how to use short knives and whips?”

“Just reminding you not to be arrogant.” Tang San laughed, “However, speaking of which, your family is truly impressive. They can even find a Spirit Beast like the Dragon Rabbit, which is recorded as extinct in the soul beast encyclopedia. That’s truly amazing.”

Xiao Wu gave an awkward smile and said, “Good luck, I found one in the Star Dou Great Forest.”

“Tsk, this is an extinct species, you know. Finding one and not thinking of capturing it for breeding, but instead directly killing it, what a waste.”

Tang San sighed, making Xiao Wu puff out her cheeks and huff, “It’s dead anyway.”

“Alright, I won’t tease you anymore.”

Tang San took out a short sword, golden throughout, with no hilt, but a round hole at the end.

“What is this?” Xiao Wu felt this wooden short sword looked somewhat familiar.

“After entering the Golden Ancient Tree, besides taking the detection glasses, I also took a small piece of wood made from the Golden Ancient Tree from those shelves.”

Tang San smiled and said, “The Golden Civilization relics stipulated that only one spirit tool could be taken, but it didn’t say that wooden boards couldn’t be taken. So I took a piece from the shelf and carved it into the shape of a short sword.”

“The material of the Golden Ancient Tree is very special; it can conduct spirit power. This short sword actually possesses vitality. If nurtured with spirit power for many years, it has the potential to become a divine artifact.”

However, to nurture it into a divine artifact, the number before the unit of 'years' would probably be in the tens of thousands or hundreds of thousands.

Xiao Wu took it, tied it to the end of her scorpion braid, and swung it. She found that after using spirit power, she could control it much more freely. She said, “It’s very good. By the way, how did you know it could be nurtured into a divine artifact?”

“I guessed.” Tang San spread his hands and said bluntly, “After all, I can feel the vitality within it, and it can resonate with a Spirit Master’s spirit power. I figured that after carving it into a weapon, if you wear it constantly, you should be able to imbue it with spirit power and let it slowly grow.”

Xiao Wu pouted, “You’re so blunt, saying you just guessed. A dog’s mouth can’t spit out ivory.”

“Then give it back to me?”

“No way.” Xiao Wu jumped back, “A gift given is like water poured out, how can it be taken back?”

Tang San sighed, “The idioms and sentences you learned from me are certainly being used vividly.”

106: Two years have passed by in a hurry

In the blink of an eye, two years had passed.

Tang San was now ten years old, and his spirit power had reached level thirty-seven.

However, compared to his cultivation, what was more striking was Tang San's height; he had already reached 1.7 meters, close to 1.8 meters, far exceeding what a ten-year-old should be.

Coupled with his silver-blue hair and the black-gold half-rimmed glasses he wore, he could already be considered a handsome young man.

Over the past two years, Tang San had continuously published papers, mainly focusing on a more detailed analysis of the Spirit Master's positioning, and secondly, reclassifying Spirits.

Originally, the Douluo Continent's Spirits only included Tool Spirit and Beast Spirit. Tang San re-organized them, adding Element Spirit, Food Spirit, and Physical Martial Soul on top of the original categories.

Element Spirit, as the name suggests, meant the Spirit was simply water, fire, and the like. These were ultimate Spirits and could not be simply categorized as Tool Spirit or Beast Spirit.

Secondly, there was Food Spirit, but this did not include edible plants. Instead, it referred to foods that could be made in reality, such as Sausage and steamed buns.

Lastly, there was Physical Martial Soul, meaning the Spirit was a part of one's own body.

This type of Spirit actually existed in this era. Over the past two years, Tang San often helped awaken Spirits with Su Yuntao and saw a child whose Spirit was hair.

Afterward, Tang San leveraged his connection with Fire Phoenix and the Huo Family to request some information about Physical Martial Soul from them.

The Huo Family had also seen Physical Martial Soul, though rarely. The last one was a hundred years ago, and the Spirit was the left hand.

Therefore, Tang San's research progress on this type of Spirit was relatively small.

However, after this theory was published, it caused quite a stir on the continent. It wasn't because Element Spirit, Food Spirit, and Physical Martial Soul were added beyond Tool Spirit and Beast Spirit.

Although these types of Spirits were rare, they weren't non-existent. Many adventurous Spirit Masters had seen strange and bizarre Spirits during their travels across the continent, so it was not surprising.

What surprised them was that plant Spirits within Tool Spirit were actually categorized into Beast Spirit.

Furthermore, Tang San even stated that plant-type Spirits could not be entirely used as tools because plant Spirits were inherently more fragile than various tools and were not meant to be used as weapons.

Vines could be used as whips, but at the same level, they could never compare to a real whip manufactured by humans.

Similarly, Spirit Masters with plant Spirits, when acquiring spirit rings, should maximize the unique characteristics of their plant Spirit while maintaining attack power, rather than blindly increasing its offensive capabilities, which could lead to irreversible mutations.

Initially, most Spirit Masters with plant Spirits did not accept this, but gradually, some families with plant Spirits came forward to affirm it, leading to the theory's recognition.

“Students, today, I will explain the environmental conditions of different Spirit Beast forests. You must remember that when you go to the corresponding Hunting Spirit Forest in the future, you must prepare all kinds of tools and medicines in advance.”

In a spacious classroom, a young man with silver-blue hair stood on the podium, explaining the different Spirit Beast gathering places on the continent to all the students of Notting Academy.

That's right, this person was Tang San.

Although he himself was still a student and had not graduated from Notting Academy, the Dean of Notting Academy, Su Director, and others knew that he was the renowned Martial Soul Theory Master on the continent, and at only ten years old, he had already broken through to Spirit Elder, making it only a matter of time before he became a Titled Douluo.

Therefore, when Tang San said he wanted to teach the students, the Dean of Notting Academy immediately agreed.

And this teaching lasted for over a year.

Although Tang San did not explain knowledge about spirit power cultivation to the students, he provided unique and essential explanations for each Spirit, enabling students to recognize their strengths and weaknesses, and pointing out that they should leverage their Spirit's advantages and compensate for its disadvantages.

How to compensate?

He also gave two methods.

The first was to rely on teammates, forming deep friendships with each other and progressing together.

The second was to find a spirit ring that could compensate for the Spirit's shortcomings. After absorbing it, one could gradually make up for it, but Tang San himself did not highly recommend this.

After all, if the compatibility between the spirit ring and the Spirit was too poor, even if the Spirit's shortcomings were compensated, the obtained Spirit Ability would be rather useless.

Besides these two, there were other methods, such as self-created Spirit Ability, Immortal Herb, and so on.

However, these things were beyond the reach of the work-study students and minor noble children in Nuoding City, so Tang San did not mention them, lest they start unrealistic fantasies.

After a public lecture, amidst the students' applause, Tang San was surrounded by a group of twelve-year-old girls, and it took him a while to break free.

Then, he was surrounded by three or five female teachers from the academy. Tang San, after much persuasion, finally broke free and found Su Director and Mo Hen.

“Teacher Tang, you are really popular with girls,” Su Director said enviously.

“Please, Su Director, don't call me Teacher Tang. I'm still a ten-year-old child,” Tang San said with a helpless smile.

“Let's go, let's eat together.”

Mo Hen invited Tang San.

“Okay.”

Tang San nodded in agreement, and the three went to the second floor of the cafeteria together.

During the meal, Su Director asked, “Tang San, what level has your spirit power cultivation reached?”

“Thirty-seven.”

“Hiss~ Higher than mine.” Su Director sighed, “I really envy you. You might become a Titled Douluo in the future.”

“Su Director, you are now level thirty-five, and you will also be able to break through to Spirit Saint in the future,” Tang San said with a smile.

“Spirit Saint? I don’t even dare to dream of Spirit King.” Su Director shook his head, “I am already middle-aged, my physical strength is declining, and breaking through each level is very difficult.”

“Me too, pretty much,” Mo Hen echoed, “In the future, if my son can be a bit more promising than me, I’ll be content.”

“Speaking of which, Mo Hen, your son was just born last year, right?”

“Yes, Su Director’s daughter is three years old. How about we arrange a child marriage?”

“As the saying goes, ‘a woman three years older brings golden bricks.’ I agree to this marriage,” Su Director readily agreed, a genuine smile on his face. “By the way, where did that saying come from?”

Tang San lowered his head and ate his meal, deeply understanding the principle of “no talking during meals.”

After the meal.

Tang San bid farewell to Su Director and Mo Hen and headed towards Spirit Hall.

At the entrance of the hall, Tang San greeted the two guards and walked inside, finding that Ma Xiunuo was not there. So he went to the backyard and found Xiao Wu practicing her whip-lashing.

Two years had passed, and Xiao Wu had also grown, her height approaching Tang San's at 1.7 meters.

Unfortunately, Tang San could no longer see her long legs, because Xiao Wu was wearing a pair of loose bell-bottom pants.

“You're back? Were you tangled up by those little girls from the academy?” Xiao Wu said casually, “Your clothes are all messy.”

Tang San ㄗ()ㄗ: “No choice, I’m too handsome.”

“Vain.”

Xiao Wu was speechless, then got to the point, saying, “My spirit power has reached level thirty-six, and I can control my spirit power well enough to walk on walls as if on flat ground.”

“What about hanging on the ceiling?” Tang San asked.

“Not yet.”

Xiao Wu shook her head, “That’s too difficult. Being vertical to the wall and vertical to the ceiling don’t consume the same amount of spirit power. At least, I can’t do it before reaching Spirit Ancestor level spirit power.”

spirit power was, after all, not chakra; it couldn't be truly manipulated freely.

Tang San had long anticipated this. Even he himself would need to expend a lot of spirit power to walk upside down on the ceiling.

“Then forget it, let’s start practicing walking on water,” Tang San decided to begin the next stage of spirit power control. “Tree climbing can no longer train our spirit power control.”

“Are we really going to walk on water?” Xiao Wu said anxiously, “Last time I tried, I fell completely into the water and became a drowned chicken—no, a drowned rabbit.”

Actually, Xiao Wu could stand on the water's surface.

Using her third Spirit Ability, True Spirit Bone, Xiao Wu's strength was comprehensively boosted. Her speed was so fast that she could continuously take nine steps in the air, so she could naturally run on the water's surface.

But that situation was not the same as standing on the water's surface.

That was with a speed bonus!

“We can take it slow.” Tang San took out some wooden planks, some thick and some thin, from his white jade belt and placed them in the small pond in the backyard.

“Taking it slow” meant first standing on such wooden planks to stabilize oneself, then continuously changing the thickness of the planks to gradually strengthen one's control, eventually being able to stand on the water's surface.

Xiao Wu found it interesting and gave it a try.

Then—

Splash!

Xiao Wu became a drowned chicken.

Looking at the soaked Xiao Wu, Tang San tilted his head and asked somewhat speechlessly, “By the way, why didn't you change your clothes first? Didn't I prepare a swimsuit for you?”

“Bastard, pervert! How could I possibly wear clothes like that?” Xiao Wu thought of the clothes that only covered her chest and lower body, spat, and looked at Tang San with eyes that saw him as scum.

“Relax, without an invitation, Tao Ge and the others won't come in here,” Tang San motioned for Xiao Wu not to be so agitated.

By the way, would a Ten-thousand year soul beast that had taken human form still care about being naked?

Before taking human form, weren't they all without clothes?

Or, having come to human society and being influenced by him, had she also developed a sense of shame?

“Also, only I can see you here, you don't need to be so nervous.”

“Go away, you have no sense of boundaries at all.”

Xiao Wu was utterly speechless, but in the end, she still went to her room to change into a swimsuit and began practicing walking on water. However, seeing Tang San staring at her, her face flushed, and she roared, “What are you looking at? Haven't you seen such a white rabbit before?”

“I really haven't.”

Tang San said without thinking, then realized something. Before Xiao Wu could get angry, he returned to his study and began organizing other theories he intended to publish.

“Tang San, just you wait, Xiao Wu Jie will definitely make you regret this in the future!”

Xiao Wu snorted coldly, stepping onto the thick wooden board laid on the water, and then—

Splash!

She fell into the water again.

And Tang San, hearing the splashing sound outside the window, couldn't help but shake his head and say, “It's not easy to truly walk on water, but watching a well-figured woman dive is also a kind of enjoyment.”

“Go away!”

107: Guang Ling's second soul ring: Golden Yang Breath

At night.

Guang Ling returned from hunting Spirit Beasts.

At nine years old, she had broken through to rank twenty. In order to safely absorb a thousand-year-level spirit ring as her second spirit ring, she did not immediately hunt Spirit Beasts after reaching rank twenty. Instead, she spent over half a year training her body.

“Third Brother.”

Guang Ling immediately sought out Tang San to share her joy, but found Xiao Wu putting on clothes in the courtyard. She instantly became confused: “Xiao Wu, what are you doing?”

“Practicing treading water to further control my spirit power,” Xiao Wu explained. “It’s a method Tang San came up with, similar to climbing trees, but much more difficult.”

“So that’s it.” Guang Ling suddenly understood. She was also practicing spirit power control, but she was still in the tree-climbing stage, far from the rapid progress of Tang San and Xiao Wu.

“What Spirit Beast did you hunt for your second spirit ring?” Xiao Wu finished dressing, tying her golden tree short sword to her hair, and asked about Guang Ling’s spirit ring. “When you left, you kept it a secret from Tang San and me. Can you tell us now?”

“Of course.”

Guang Ling summoned her Sun Chasing Bow. Its appearance, compared to when she applied her First Soul Skill, hadn't changed much; it was just slightly larger. The patterns on the bowstring were more numerous, and the blades on both sides were more exaggerated, even having golden-red feather-like patterns along the edges.

“My second spirit ring came from a Golden Sun Eagle, over one thousand one hundred years old. This is a bird-type Spirit Beast that lives in the Green Shade Grassland. It has extremely strong vision, capable of seeing things one kilometer away.”

Xiao Wu asked: “So, you gained the Golden Sun Eagle’s vision?”

“No.”

Guang Ling shook her head. “Although my vision has indeed increased, it’s still very far from the Golden Sun Eagle’s vision. This proves that for Tool Spirits, after acquiring a spirit ring, more of the energy is inherited by the Spirit itself and not reflected in the physical body. This is also why, under normal circumstances, Beast Spirit Spirit Masters have stronger physical bodies.”

Xiao Wu said in disbelief: “You’re experimenting with your own future?”

“Of course not.” Guang Ling shook her head again. “The Golden Sun Eagle is a Spirit Beast that can gnaw on iron and stone, proving its ability to digest them. Therefore, it can strengthen my Spirit.”

“Also, the Golden Sun Eagle possesses the rare light attribute.”

“Third Brother once said that light’s temperature is hotter than fire’s. So, I chose the Golden Sun Eagle as my second spirit ring precisely to give my Spirit the light attribute.”

“Furthermore, light is extremely fast. If the arrows I shoot could reach the speed of light, then even a Titled Douluo, once targeted by me, wouldn’t be able to dodge, because their reaction would absolutely, absolutely not exceed light.”

Xiao Wu was deeply shocked and quickly asked: “So, after you use your Second Soul Skill, the arrows you shoot can already reach the speed of light?”

“No.”

Guang Ling shook her head. “Still too far off, but the speed has increased significantly. Even a Spirit Saint would have difficulty reacting.”

Why Spirit Saint?

Because the person who accompanied Guang Ling to hunt Spirit Beasts was Ling Yuan, who was invited by Tang San to repay the favor of him spanking him in the past.

“The Spirit Ability’s effect can cause damage to a Spirit Saint?” Xiao Wu exclaimed.

“Uh... how should I put this? If a Spirit Saint doesn’t use spirit power for defense, stands still, and I aim for their eyes, yes.” Guang Ling listed a whole bunch of preconditions.

“According to you, even a Titled Douluo could be killed by you.” Xiao Wu was a bit speechless. “After all, no matter how strong a Titled Douluo is, their eyes can’t be as hard as iron, and their brain is even more fragile.”

“That’s true, but with the light attribute, my attack power has increased quite a bit.” Guang Ling continued, “The Spirit Ability brought to me by my second spirit ring, which I named Golden Sun Aura, has an effect similar to Crimson Gold Aura. Each time I use the Spirit Ability, it can slightly enhance my Sun Chasing Bow. The attack effect is to condense a light arrow, shoot it out, and then, under the control of my spirit power, it explodes, transforming into countless light feather arrows. It’s a long-range output skill with a large area.”

This was an area-of-effect group attack skill, not suitable for testing in the courtyard. Xiao Wu also hesitated to see its effect, only saying: “That being said, it’s a pretty good skill. In the future, when we encounter enemies, I’ll be responsible for holding them back, Tang San will seize the opportunity to control them with Endless Grassland, and then you'll finish them off in one wave. Perfect."

At this moment, Tang San came out of the study. Seeing Guang Ling, he asked: "You're back? What kind of changes did your second spirit ring bring to your Spirit? What's the Spirit Ability?"

Guang Ling repeated what she had told Xiao Wu earlier, and then asked: "Third Brother, what do you think of my Second Soul Skill?"

"Very good. It's a long-range area-of-effect output skill, and it imbues your spirit power with the light attribute. This is excellent." Tang San hadn't expected Guang Ling to choose the Golden Sun Eagle. According to his thoughts, Guang Ling should have chosen a fire bird to add the fire attribute to her Spirit, thereby tempering her Spirit... According to his research, Spirit and spirit power influence each other. As long as Guang Ling persevered, she would certainly be able to advance her Spirit.

As for the Golden Sun Eagle...

It wasn't that Tang San hadn't thought of it, but rather that this Spirit Beast lived in the Green Shade Grassland, within the Star Luo Empire's territory. Because the journey was too far, Tang San had initially ruled it out, overlooking the factor of Ling Yuan's full-speed flight.

However, inheriting the Golden Sun Eagle's light attribute was also a good choice. Light is stronger than fire and has a better tempering effect on the Spirit. Moreover, like the Iron Tooth Fish, the Golden Sun Eagle also has the ability to digest metal, which could make the Sun Chasing Bow even more powerful.

"We'll talk about the Spirit inspection tomorrow. Let's go eat." Tang San told Guang Ling to put away her Spirit, preparing to conduct a more detailed test on Guang Ling's Spirit tomorrow...

...

After dinner.

The three returned to the Spirit Hall backyard. Tang San also returned to his room, pondering whether he should buy a new house.

As their spirit power increased, their strength also grew. For him and Xiao Wu, it was fine, but for someone like Guang Ling, a long-range output attack system Spirit Master, her First Soul Skill already had great offensive capabilities, and her Second Soul Skill was an area-of-effect group attack. This small courtyard was simply not enough for her to mess around in.

“That’s it. I’ll buy a house near the edge of Nuoding City. Outside, there are plenty of woods and open spaces, enough for Guang Ling to practice, and there’s also a small river, which my and Xiao Wu can use to practice treading water,” Tang San thought. “More importantly, it’s very close to the blacksmith shop where I work as a blacksmith.”

“For the remaining two years, besides diligently improving my spirit power, I’ll focus on researching those twelve soul guide patterns: Water, Fire, Earth, Ice, Wind, Thunder, Light, Dark, Life, death, Time, Space.”

“These twelve basic soul guide patterns will be my true foundation for establishing myself in this World!”

Early the next morning.

After cultivating his Purple Demon Eye, Tang San found Ma Xiunuo and said: “Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, thank you for your trouble these past few years. I’m planning to buy a house in Nuoding City soon and move out of here.”

“What’s wrong?” Ma Xiunuo was startled and quickly asked: “Did anyone say anything bad about you?”

“No, it’s just that I feel it’s not good to continue living here... The main reason is that as our spirit power levels increase, the backyard is a bit small. Therefore, I want to buy a house near the outskirts of Nuoding City to make it convenient to test outside the city.” Tang San scratched his head and finally explained the reason.

“I see.”

Ma Xiunuo suddenly understood. He was also aware of the speed at which Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling’s spirit power was increasing. If they continued to live here, testing their Spirits and experimenting with Spirit Abilities would indeed be inconvenient.

“It’s alright, striving to improve yourself is the most important thing.”

Seeing Ma Xiunuo’s reluctance, Tang San smiled and said: “Don’t worry, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, for the next two years, I’ll still come here often to visit you. After all, I’ll need to come and look for some information, won’t I?”

“Haha, you little rascal.” Ma Xiunuo stroked his beard and smiled, saying: “Since you want to buy a house in Nuoding City, why don’t you buy mine?”

Tang San was puzzled: “Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, if you sell your house to me, where will you live? Will you just live in this Spirit Hall? Your family wouldn’t agree, would they?”

“This is thanks to you.” Ma Xiunuo beamed.

Tang San: “???”

“Because I discovered a genius like you, and your Spirit theoretical research has indeed brought about changes on the Continent, His Holiness the Supreme Pontiff is preparing to transfer me to the Spirit Hall in Heaven Dou City.” Ma Xiunuo recounted the whole story.

“To be the Branch Master of the Heaven Dou City Branch?” Tang San asked jokingly.

“How is that possible?” Ma Xiunuo was a bit helpless. “How could I, a Spirit Ancestor, be a Branch Master? I’m just going to be a letter manager at the Spirit Hall in Heaven Dou City.”

“That’s a good position, with nine thousand gold coins a month. In a few days, I’m going to take my family to Heaven Dou City... It’s just that I might not see you anymore.”

Tang San smiled and said: “That’s not necessarily true, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo. Maybe I’ll go to Heaven Dou City too... Speaking of which, if you leave, who will be the next Branch Master of the Nuo Ding City Spirit Hall Branch?”

“Su Yuntao.”

Ma Xiunuo answered without hesitation and explained to Tang San the procedures for selecting the next Branch Master in a small city like Nuoding City’s Spirit Hall.

“His qualifications are already sufficient. For a Branch Master in a small city like Nuoding City, the previous Branch Master can select based on the qualifications of the personnel under him. After the new Branch Master takes office, I’ll draft a document, and he and I will sign and put our handprints on it, then send it to the higher-level Spirit Hall, and that’s it.”

Tang San was also happy for Su Yuntao, saying: “Tao Ge has been ‘coveting’ your position for a long time. In a few days, he’ll get his wish.”

“Hmph! It’s only because he’s been diligent all these years, and because of you, he’s gained many benefits. His Second Soul Skill is very strong, and he’s also eaten a lot of whale glue, so his overall strength can rival a high-level Spirit Elder. Otherwise, how would it be his turn?” Ma Xiunuo snorted, “However, once he takes office and I hand over all the affairs to him, he’ll understand the weight of a Branch Master’s responsibility.”

108: Matthew Nuo was promoted, and Tang San developed the Jade Bone

Three days later.

After Ma Xiunuo passed on the position of branch master of Nuoding City to Su Yuntao, he bid farewell to everyone and, accompanied by his son, daughter-in-law, and grandson, boarded a carriage bound for Heaven Dou City.

"Goodbye, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo!"

Tang San, with Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, stood outside Nuoding City, waving at the departing carriage. Only after it disappeared from view did he turn to Su Yuntao and ask, "Tao Ge, you've finally gotten what you wished for. Are you happy?"

"Happy, of course I'm happy."

Su Yuntao puffed out his chest, "I never thought I, Su Yuntao, would have a day when I became a Spirit Hall branch master. This is all thanks to you, Little San."

"I merely offered an opinion on your second spirit ring choice, it's nothing significant." Tang San didn't take credit; instead, he inquired about another matter, "Was that The Fallen, Blood Sword Norman, caught?"

"No."

At the mention of Blood Sword Norman, Su Yuntao's expression turned serious. "Recently, there haven't been any more missing persons in Nuoding City, including the surrounding area. I estimate he's fled to another city or a remote town."

The Fallen are Spirit Masters who have lost their humanity, using the flesh and spirit power of others as their primary means of increasing their cultivation. Their thoughts are abnormal and extremely depraved.

Although their thought process is different from ordinary people, that doesn't mean The Fallen are stupid. They usually don't stay in one place for too long to avoid being caught by Spirit Hall.

"Is that so?"

As Tang San breathed a sigh of relief, a hint of solemnity also appeared in his eyes.

The relief was because he didn't have to worry about Blood Sword Norman targeting Old Jack; the solemnity was because there existed a place in this World where a large number of The Fallen gathered—Slaughter City.

That place was a paradise for The Fallen.

Spirit Hall would imprison a large number of The Fallen there, creating the illusion that it was a paradise for them, thereby attracting The Fallen from the outside World.

One could say it was an unsupervised, peculiar prison.

However—

An unsupervised prison, was it still a prison?

Tang San felt that when spirit tool technology developed on this continent in the future, they must find a way to manage Slaughter City and implement professional oversight.

But, Slaughter City was the inheritance ground of the Asura God. Would this act offend the Asura God of the God Realm?

Although the God Realm was not allowed to descend to the lower World, those rules were set by the members of the God Realm Committee themselves, not some World rule. The Asura God, as an enforcer of the God Realm and one of the Five Great God-Kings, if he wanted to descend, he had plenty of reasons to persuade the other four God-Kings and two enforcers.

After all, the Asura God's strength was evident. For the stability of the God Realm, the other four God-Kings and two enforcers would not be too difficult, at most saying, "This shall not be a precedent."

Therefore, to manage Slaughter City, the future Asura God was unavoidable.

Thinking this far, Tang San shook his head, secretly mocking himself: "Seriously, I'm only a Spirit Elder now, why am I thinking about gods and such?"

With that in mind, Tang San bid farewell to Su Yuntao and headed to the house Ma Xiunuo had sold him.

Ma Xiunuo's home in Nuoding City could be considered a small manor, covering over two hundred square meters. Besides a three-story European-style villa, it also had a garden and a training ground.

Tang San spent fifty thousand gold coin to buy it.

"Are we going to live here from now on?" Xiao Wu looked at the three-story villa, her eyes sparkling like stars. "It's so beautiful."

"Indeed."

Tang San was filled with emotion. In his previous Life, he had to exhaust himself and work tirelessly every day for a house and a car, but in this World, he actually had his own small manor.

Fate plays tricks on people.

It was exactly like this.

Subsequently, Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling began to move their luggage inside. The three of them each chose a room and began to tidy and organize it.

It wasn't until noon that the three of them finished cleaning up.

After eating, Tang San began to conduct a detailed test for Guang Ling. After obtaining a thousand-year spirit ring, Guang Ling's data was as follows:

Strength: 4. Enhanced by the thousand-year Golden Sun Eagle, it became stronger.

Defense: 3. The bow body became harder, but it was not suitable for defense.

Speed: 5. Attack speed remained unchanged, but with light attribute, shooting speed was faster.

Energy: 4. The energy for shooting arrows was much more sufficient.

Endurance: 4. Increased due to increased spirit power.

Special: 4. The arrows condensed by Spirit Ability carried the light attribute and had armor-piercing properties.

Total score: 24.

"From the current situation, Guang Ling, after adding two spirit rings to your Spirit, all your attributes are tending towards balance, but the path of a long-range attack system remains unchanged. This is where the advantage of your two Spirit Ability lies. However, the Sun Chasing Bow's bow body has sharp blades on both sides, which can also be used as a peculiar close-combat weapon. Its sharpness is excellent, and you can also pursue a close-combat control attack system path."

Tang San customized Guang Ling's future plan: "Mainly long-range output, supplemented by close-combat control, and even armor penetration. This is the path you will take from now on."

"I understand, Third Brother, but can I research spirit tools?" Guang Ling thought for a moment, then asked what was on his mind, "I feel I can research spirit tools through the patterns on my bow body."

"spirit tools? Are you interested in spirit tools?" Tang San rubbed his chin, thought for a while, then nodded in agreement, saying, "Alright, no problem. I will teach you all the knowledge about spirit tools I've researched so far within the next two years, but you mustn't slack off in your cultivation either."

"Don't worry, Third Brother, I won't." Guang Ling nodded vigorously, "After all, our research into spirit tools is only in its preliminary stages. Our own strength is the foundation."

"It's good that you know."

Tang San pushed up his glasses and said to Guang Ling and Xiao Wu, "In the past two years, I've come up with another self-created Spirit Ability that can strengthen the toughness and flexibility of all your bones."

With that, Tang San handed the improved Jade Bone Technique to Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, and personally used his spirit power to help them circulate it three to five times, allowing them to remember how to use spirit power to drive the body's qi and blood, thereby refining all the bones.

"How does this method feel a bit familiar?" Xiao Wu frowned slightly, thinking of something, and asked in surprise, "You combined the spirit power circulation method of my True Spirit Bone Spirit Ability?"

"Exactly."

Tang San nodded, "I originally had a method for practice. By a strange coincidence, combining it with qi and blood, I refined the bones of my hands into jade, and found that they could strengthen as my spirit power increased. So, I thought about cultivating all the bones in my body into Jade Bone, but I didn't know how to deal with so many bones in the human body... Fortunately, your True Spirit Bone gave me inspiration: cultivate the spine, after all, human blood is produced from there, it can be said to be the source of the body's qi and blood power."

"Starting with the spinal column as the center, begin cultivation, then continuously flush all the bones in the body, including the skull."

"After two years of continuous attempts, I finally refined this perfect Jade Bone cultivation method."

Speaking of this, Tang San recalled his adventurous actions over the past two years, and a cold sweat couldn't help but seep from his forehead: "Honestly, if it weren't for my Blue Silver Grass providing me with an endless supply of Life force, I really wouldn't dare to try."

Xiao Wu was shocked.

This Jade Bone Technique, which allowed people to cultivate Jade Bone that could strengthen with the increase of spirit power, wasn't it the same as the legendary external Spirit Bone?

Except for not having Spirit Ability, it was a unique method that allowed a Spirit Master to condense a set of hundred-thousand-year Spirit Bone himself!

And it was two hundred and six pieces! It was the most suitable "Spirit Bone" for human Spirit Masters themselves!

"You succeeded in cultivating it?" Xiao Wu asked incredulously.

"Of course, otherwise how could I let you practice?" Tang San retorted, then changed the subject, "However, I haven't refined all two hundred and six bones into Jade Bone. That requires a large amount of qi, blood, and spirit power. According to the current cultivation speed, if there are no other opportunities, it's estimated that I'd need to reach the Spirit Saint level to fully complete the cultivation."

"As for you, because this is your first time encountering this cultivation method, it might take longer. I estimate you might need to reach the Spirit Douluo level."

"However, cultivating all the bones into Jade Bone has great benefits. The first point is to enhance physical fitness and increase the age limit for us to absorb spirit ring."

"Second, it allows us to come into contact with mental force earlier."

"Controlling spirit power to circulate qi and blood and temper the bones keeps our minds constantly focused. Doing so for a long time during cultivation can greatly enhance our mental force."

"The third point is my premonition: if we can transform all our bones into Jade Bone, our Life will undergo a qualitative change."

"Of course, I'm not sure what exactly will happen, but I'm certain it will be entirely beneficial."

"Furthermore, after the Jade Bone cultivation is complete, I have other ideas: to temper our internal organs and brain using similar methods, and then, from the inside out, strengthen our muscles and skin."

Generally speaking, body refining methods are from the outside in, but this is a real World. If one practices external skills first, it will definitely make the outer skin and muscles rough, and only the muscles and meridians will become strong, while the internal organs and bones will remain as fragile as before, making the entire body unable to bear the burden.

Therefore, according to Tang San's research, true superior body refining methods are from the inside out.

The skeleton is the foundation for a person to stand upright, so it naturally needs to be trained first, followed by the internal organs, then the brain, and finally, the muscles, fat, skin, and so on.

Overall, it's starting with the difficult and then the easy.

After all, when refining Jade Bone, spirit power and qi and blood will also circulate through the internal organs, brain, muscles, and skin, causing these organs to be passively strengthened.

However, if only muscles are tempered, then even if the muscles become stronger, the bones remain brittle. It's possible that with a slight exertion of force, the bones might shatter before others are even defeated.

"How do we increase our qi and blood? Is gold coin enough?" Xiao Wu knew that refining qi and blood power required a large amount of food, eating nutritious food.

Although Tang San was not short of money now, good tonics were hard to buy. ten thousand year whale jelly was no longer available on the market, and even if it was, it would be snatched up immediately, never reaching them.

Xiao Wu even thought that the next time she needed to obtain her fourth spirit ring, she would go back and ask Di Tian to help prepare some edible Spirit Beast meat. Di Tian and the other fierce beasts must also have some Spirit Beast they disliked, right?

"Follow me."

Tang San turned around, waved his hand behind him, and led the two girls to the bathroom.

Tang San took out a translucent, deep blue pearl the size of a human head from his white jade belt, placed it in the bathtub, poured in hot water, and then infused spirit power.

Immediately, the pearl in the bathtub began to spin, emitting a peculiar clear fragrance, and the hot water in the bathtub turned from white to red.

This shade of red was not like the red of blood, but rather as clear as a ruby.

"This is a whale pearl from a ten thousand year whale Spirit Beast, bought along with the ten thousand year whale jelly," Tang San explained. "At that time, ten thousand year whale jelly was as cheap as cabbage... Ahem, I'm getting off track. At that time, I didn't know how to use this thing. Finally, while taking a bath, I took it out and injected spirit power from Mysterious Jade Hand. It actually drew out the internal blood qi energy, and this energy could be refined and absorbed by Spirit Masters."

"However, most of the blood qi energy in this pearl has already been absorbed by me. The remaining bit is a drop in the bucket for me, so I'll let you two use it."

After speaking, Tang San took out another bathtub, filled it with hot water, put in a whale pearl, and activated it with Mysterious Jade Hand, turning the water red.

"Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, give it a try. The effect should be good."

After Tang San finished speaking, he scooped out the whale pearl and walked out.

Xiao Wu and Guang Ling exchanged glances, unafraid, took off their clothes, and climbed into the bathtubs.

The first sensation was heat.

The second sensation was exhilaration.

Then, the two looked at each other and, following the Jade Bone Technique cultivation method that Tang San had previously taught them, circulated their respective spirit power, drew the qi and blood within their bodies, absorbed the blood qi energy from the bathwater, and began to strengthen their spinal columns...

An hour later.

Xiao Wu was the first to emerge. Because her third Spirit Ability was True Spirit Bone, her absorption was very fast, and the effect was extremely strong. Xiao Wu felt her spinal column become even tougher, surpassing its previous state.

While Guang Ling was still absorbing, Xiao Wu found Tang San, saw him studying the whale pearl, and asked, "Are you still researching its other uses?"

"Exactly. whale pearl, a pearl from a ten thousand year whale Spirit Beast. Spirit Beast can condense them, and humans should also be able to condense corresponding qi and blood cores, spirit power cores, or even mental force cores."

Tang San expressed his thoughts, "Although such cores probably won't directly increase cultivation, they can most likely accelerate the recovery speed of spirit power, mental force, qi and blood, and so on."

Xiao Wu thought for a moment and said, "Actually, my mother told me how to condense a core with spirit power, and that core also has a corresponding name, called a Spirit Core. It just has requirements for the quality of spirit power. I wouldn't have considered it before..."

"Spirit Core?"

Tang San seemed lost in thought.

"Yes, Spirit Core." Xiao Wu secretly glanced at the pondering Tang San, carefully chose her words, and slowly said, "It is said to be an ancient method that has been lost in the Spirit Master's world."

Lost?

It was never lost, alright!

Tang San secretly complained, after all, according to the original timeline, the Spirit Core would only be discovered and condensed ten thousand years later, and gradually mastered by Spirit Masters.

But Tang San didn't expose her and instead asked, "So, you have it?"

"Of course!"

Spirit Beast have inner cores, whale pearls, elixir pearls, and other energy cores. This might be the original source of the Spirit Core.

As for the Ten headed Fierce Yang Serpent, the original novel seemed to set it as a demonic beast, but in this World of Douluo, as long as it's a non-human extraordinary creature, it seems to drop a spirit ring after death. The reason it didn't drop one in the original novel, or there was no related manifestation, might be because it was in Slaughter City, where spirit ring could not manifest.

In short, in this book's setting, Xiao Wu knows about the Spirit Core.

And, to put it plainly, the Spirit Core does not increase cultivation; it only has two basic functions: first, to increase the quality of spirit power, and second, to improve the recovery effect, meaning it lasts longer; however, this book wants to try something new.

109: Tang San's views on time travelers and Haotian Sect

After obtaining the method to condense a Spirit Core from Xiao Wu, Tang San began to research it and found that he was currently unable to do so, because this thing required at least Titled Douluo-level spirit power to condense.

However, Tang San did not give up; even if his spirit power was insufficient, he could still imitate and familiarize himself with the specific spirit power routes.

In Tang San's opinion, the Spirit Core was an essential item for Spirit Master cultivation.

In the three eras of Douluo, in the first Douluo era, there was no such thing as a Spirit Core, and very few broke through to Titled Douluo; even if they were lucky enough to break through, most Titled Douluo found it difficult to break through to level ninety-five.

Currently, most of the Titled Douluo above level ninety-five on the Douluo Continent are related to Divinity: the Angel God of Spirit Hall, the Sea God of Sea God Island, and the Asura God of Slaughter City.

Of course, there were also exceptionally talented individuals, such as Tang Chen of the Clear Sky Sect, who was an existence who broke through to level ninety-nine without relying on divine "grace."

Unfortunately, he is currently lost in Slaughter City, so we won't discuss him for now.

By the time of peerless tang sect, the Spirit Core appeared; condensing the first Spirit Core allowed one to break through to Titled Douluo, and condensing the second Spirit Core, as long as one didn't die or encounter any mishaps, would inevitably lead to a breakthrough to Limit Douluo, which is reaching level ninety-nine spirit power.

By the time of dragon king legend, Spirit Masters could even begin to condense Spirit Cores at the Spirit Saint level.

Although Tang San only knew these settings, he had largely forgotten the specific plot, and had not even read dragon king legend, only heard some things... but considering his current situation in this World, his above conjectures were most likely not too far-fetched.

In the first Douluo era, the number of Titled Douluo was not large; in addition to talent issues, it was more because Spirit Masters had not deeply researched spirit power and mental force, and did not understand the condensation of Spirit Cores, leading to many talented individuals wasting a lot of time.

However, through the comparison of the quantity and quality of Spirit Masters in the three eras, combined with some research on the specific method of Spirit Core condensation, Tang San sighed with emotion:

In this era where the Spirit Core had not yet been discovered, how exceptionally talented were those who could become Titled Douluo, or even break through to level ninety-five and above, without relying on divine trials or similar blessings.

"One must not underestimate any Spirit Master of this Douluo Continent."

Tang San felt respect in his heart and continued to research the Spirit Core condensation method—even if he couldn't use it, if he met Dugu Bo in the future, he might be able to trade with him for the Immortal Herb from the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, provided that it hadn't been discovered by other transmigrators yet.

Thinking of transmigrators, Tang San currently had four confirmed individuals.

The first was the person who stole the Blue Silver Emperor; this was a guess based on Tang Hao's expression at the time, not fully confirmed.

The second was Mu Tian of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, whose Spirit was Bright Moon, but Austin Griffin had already taken residence within his Clear Sky Hammer; if his nature remained unchanged in the future, he would not be a threat.

The third was Yang Long, from the Breaking Clan, who had ideas about Xiao Wu and also about him, the "protagonist," but he didn't expect Xiao Wu to be strengthened by him, got severely beaten, was ambushed by The Fallen Blood Sword Norman, and became the first transmigrator to die.

The fourth was Xu Xing, from the Star Luo Empire, a direct disciple of the Star Crown Sect, who most likely also had innate full spirit power, without any system-like cheats.

"I wonder how many other transmigrators are hidden on this Douluo Continent; it seems anyone can transmigrate."

Tang San secretly complained, "But you without a golden finger, who don't bother to research the existing information of this World, only want to attack me, this unconventional 'protagonist,' relying on innate full spirit power and the brain-holes from novels you've read in your previous life— isn't that a bit too presumptuous?"

When fellow countrymen meet, tears well up in their eyes.

This situation would naturally be excellent, and Tang San also hoped that these transmigrators could become his helpers, but unfortunately, the ones he had encountered so far were far more excessive than the "Tang San" in the original work, even actively seeking trouble, making normal communication impossible.

Therefore, Tang San gave up that idea and decided to cultivate his own talents.

As for other transmigrators, Tang San's attitude was only one: you cross your single-plank bridge, I walk my broad road; if you dare to inexplicably cause trouble for me, or slander me with unfounded accusations, then don't blame him for ending their journey of transmigration to another World.

Of course, to kill them, he didn't necessarily have to do it himself.

Like that Yang Long, a dignified transmigrator, dying at the hands of a Fallen—is it tragic?

Tragic.

But also deserved.

Since they transmigrated, this is a real World, and the people here are not fools; when fighting in an irregular setting, they won't talk about martial ethics—winning is the way.

After considering his countermeasures against other transmigrators, Tang San took out paper and pen and began to write a new Spirit theory, mainly describing the necessity of diverse Spirit Master competition venues.

As for Spirit cultivation.

Tang San needed to maintain his persona.

In Nuoding City, he couldn't access more information; although the theories he had thought of had been realized on himself, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling, the sample size was too small to publish them irresponsibly.

Otherwise, the major forces on the Douluo Continent would definitely intensify their search for him.

Publishing theories related to the All-Continent Advanced Academy Elite Competition, allowing Spirit Masters to more clearly understand their positioning and more reasonably form teams, made the major forces sigh with admiration for such a talent.

Publishing the evolution of optimal spirit ring matching and the factors affecting the Spirit Master's tolerance for spirit ring years could only be said to show his skill in discovery and summarization; the same was true for the new Spirit classification theory he later published.

But if he published his Spirit cultivation theory—

Oh-ho!

Spirit Hall would directly try to snatch him!

Tang Hao, that irresponsible cheap father, was a Sect slave; in the original work, he had a strong sense of belonging to the Clear Sky Sect and would definitely try everything possible to make him a direct descendant of the Clear Sky Sect.

Although the Clear Sky Sect was in decline, a lean camel is still bigger than a horse, and it could withstand Tang San's extravagance, but Tang San would not go to the Clear Sky Sect, nor would he acknowledge any ancestors or return to any Sect.

He was a modern transmigrator, without so many formalities.

Moreover, in Tang San's opinion, the people of the Clear Sky Sect were all insane; although he hadn't been there yet and had no right to speak, with his vivid memory of the Douluo First era plot, he truly had no good impression of the Clear Sky Sect's ridiculous "pride."

Although he was also proud, he was also easygoing; if he made a mistake, he wouldn't refuse to admit it, but the Clear Sky Sect's "pride" had only one meaning: I am right!

Tang San truly couldn't appreciate it.

According to Tang San's previous conjecture, the theory that [innate spirit power represents the affinity between the Spirit and the person], the Clear Sky Sect's actions were most likely to enhance the affinity between the Spirit and the person.

However, the Nuo Ding City Spirit Hall Branch's records stated that the Clear Sky Hammer of the Clear Sky Sect was originally a forging hammer, and the members of the Clear Sky Sect were only a forging family a thousand years ago; it was only later that the forging hammer evolved into a war hammer.

Too much pride is arrogance.

Therefore, Tang San would not acknowledge the Clear Sky Sect...

...

"Knock, knock, knock!"

Outside the study, an urgent knocking sound rang out.

"Come in."

Xiao Wu walked in and said, "There's a woman outside looking for you; she says she's your aunt. She's veiled and dressed simply, but her skin, how do you say it in your words? Oh, right, skin like congealed jade. She clearly isn't an ordinary commoner."

"Aunt?"

110: Tang Yuehua's visit

“Aunt?”

Tang San was surprised. In his current identity, he only had one aunt: Tang Yuehua, the Tang Xuanzhu of Moon Pavilion in Heaven Dou City.

How did she find her way to Nuoding City?

Could it be based on the name “Tang San”?

That’s not right!

After the Supreme Pontiff war, Tang Hao took him to Saint Spirit Village. Tang Yuehua shouldn't know that he is Tang Hao's son.

Then, there are only two possibilities.

First, Tang Hao sought out Tang Yuehua during this period, told her some of his circumstances, and Tang Yuehua followed the clues to find him here.

Second, Tang Yuehua had never met Tang Hao, but realizing he was a talented individual, she began searching for information about him. Eventually, Tang Hao discovered her and reluctantly informed her of the relevant situation.

The two possibilities differ only in whether “Tang Hao was proactive.”

Tang San rose and left the study with Xiao Wu, heading to the living room on the first floor. He saw the woman who claimed to be his aunt. As Xiao Wu had said, she was dressed simply, but she had fair skin, a beautiful face, and an elegant posture while serving tea. She didn't look like a commoner at all.

“You claim to be my aunt?”

Tang San wasn't particularly fond of uninvited guests, even if the other party was truly Tang Yuehua, a blood relative.

“My arrival might seem abrupt to you.” The woman stood up, looking at Tang San's face. She noticed his features closely resembled his second brother's wife, and a hint of nostalgia flickered in her eyes. She then introduced herself, “My name is Tang Yuehua. I am Tang Hao's younger sister, and indeed, I am your aunt.”

Tang San had already expected this, so he wasn't surprised. Instead, he waved his hand, signaling Xiao Wu to take Guang Ling to the courtyard for training. Then, he personally poured tea for Tang Yuehua and asked, “Do you have any proof?”

“Uh...”

Tang Yuehua was a bit flustered, then smiled and said, “These years, you must have suffered a lot and been deceived by many people, right? I can't provide proof, and besides, other than my name, I can't tell you my identity. Otherwise, you might be in danger.”

“If you hadn't come, I would be safer, Tang Xuanzhu, the Tang Xuanzhu of Moon Pavilion in Heaven Dou City.” Tang San stopped playing coy and revealed Tang Yuehua's true identity. “Clear Sky Douluo Tang Hao's younger sister. My father, who disowned me, is also named Tang Hao and is a tall, burly man. Isn't that a coincidence?”

Tang Yuehua opened her mouth, asking with surprise and uncertainty, “You know Father's identity?”

“You must have read my theories, right?” Tang San asked.

“Yes.”

Tang Yuehua nodded, unsure why Tang San was asking this.

“Then you should know that I’m good at analysis.” Tang San poured himself a cup of tea and slowly savored it. “Is it difficult to deduce that Tang Hao is Clear Sky Douluo? Regardless of Spirit, among commoners, even blacksmiths, it’s impossible to be that tall and strong.”

“You’re so smart, Little San, but don’t blame your father. He was also considering your safety.” Tang Yuehua looked bitter. “This is all Spirit Hall’s fault.”

“Is that so? I actually think Spirit Hall is quite good, much better than those Sects and the Two Great Empires. They even provide subsidies to commoner Spirit Masters,” Tang San said indifferently.

“The money Spirit Hall distributes comes from the Two Great Empires; Spirit Hall itself doesn’t engage in production.” Tang Yuehua frowned, speaking ill of Spirit Hall.

“How should I put it? If there were no Spirit Hall, the Two Great Empires wouldn’t give money to commoner Spirit Masters. Although the money from the Two Great Empires comes from exploiting commoners born without spirit power, Spirit Hall is an indirect exploiter, but at least it’s used for the people.”

Tang San saw things more clearly. “But the Two Great Empires... I haven’t been to Star Luo, so I’m not clear on the specifics, but within the Heaven Dou Empire, there are multiple kingdoms and duchies. And the city lords within these countries have autonomy; they can enact their own customized laws... You’ve probably heard of the absurd things many nobles have done, right?”

“Do you think they would willingly distribute money to commoner Spirit Masters?”

Before Tang Yuehua could speak, Tang San answered first.

“Yes, but they would make commoner Spirit Masters toil like cattle and become their tools.”

“And Spirit Hall?”

At this point, Tang San paused, picked up his teacup, and took another sip, saying, “At least it gives commoner Spirit Masters a sense of dignity. It’s a subsidy, not charity.”

Tang Yuehua was speechless, but she still didn't want Tang San to have a good impression of Spirit Hall, so she decided to bring up his mother's matter: “Don’t you want to know how your mother died?”

“How she died?” Tang San’s gaze was calm.

“Spirit Hall.”

Tang Yuehua was a little afraid of Tang San’s calm reaction, but she still trembled as she uttered those three words.

“Who in Spirit Hall?”

“The former Supreme Pontiff.”

“Is the former Supreme Pontiff dead?”

“Dead.”

“Then why are you bringing this up?”

Tang Yuehua lost her composure and couldn't help but ask, “Don’t you care about your mother’s death at all? Spirit Hall is your enemy!”

“Please don’t exaggerate the situation, Tang Xuanzhu.” Tang San’s expression was indifferent. “First, I’ve never even met my mother. Regardless of the reason, she didn’t raise me; that’s a fact. I have no feelings for her beyond the grace of birth, so don’t use this to criticize me.”

“Secondly, Spirit Hall’s former Supreme Pontiff, Qian Xunji, is already dead. The direct enemy is gone, so there’s no need to continue this vendetta. Even if we pursue it further, at most we’d only settle scores with those who followed Qian Xunji to cause trouble at the time.”

“Spirit Hall, to a commoner like me, is not an object of hatred, nor am I qualified to hate it. I hope you won’t impose the grievances of the Clear Sky Sect’s generation onto me.”

Tang Yuehua looked shocked, not understanding how Tang San could say such things: “Even if you haven’t awakened the Clear Sky Hammer Spirit, half of your body carries the Clear Sky Sect’s bloodline!”

“I certainly don’t deny that, but if I was born and not raised, what direct connection do I have with the Clear Sky Sect?” Tang San retorted, “As far as I know, the Clear Sky Sect kicked out the Four Single-Attribute Clans back then. Without the Clear Sky Hammer Spirit, they wouldn’t consider me a direct disciple either.”

“Just like you—”

“Rumor has it that your Spirit is the Ruyi Ring, a variation of the Clear Sky Hammer, and you possess a natural Domain named ‘Noble,’ but you can never break through rank nine... So, you went out into the world, became the Tang Xuanzhu of Moon Pavilion, delivering intelligence, supplies, and money to the Clear Sky Sect. Did they ever say ‘thank you’?”

“They probably think it’s your rightful contribution to the Clear Sky Sect.”

“It’s only because you’re the Clear Sky Sect Master’s sister that they show you some respect. If you had a different identity, you’d see how those people within the Sect would treat you.”

Tang Yuehua was stunned.

What shocked her wasn’t Tang San’s speculation about the Hao Tian Disciples’ attitude towards her, but that he knew she was secretly sending supplies and intelligence to the Clear Sky Sect.

“Is it strange?”

Tang San raised an eyebrow. “Your identity, aside from those who don’t know what the Upper Three Sects are, is well known among the high-ranking officials of various major powers, if not to everyone. I even suspect they know the routes you use to send supplies to the Clear Sky Sect, and they just haven't interfered. You wouldn't think they're all brain-dead, would you?"

"Or perhaps you've spent too much time with the Heaven Dou nobles, and your mind has become rigid?"

Tang Yuehua froze.

"Spirit Hall also knows, after all, throughout the entire continent, wherever there are villages under the jurisdiction of the Two Great Empires, excluding those villages and towns built near major Sects, there are branch halls established."

Tang San continued, whether his analysis was true or false, it was striking at Tang Yuehua's confidence. "If Spirit Hall wants information, can you hide it? Not to mention your Moon Pavilion is built in a prosperous metropolis like Heaven Dou City; anyone could be a spy."

"Since Spirit Hall knows, why don't they interfere?" Tang Yuehua asked. "Doesn't Spirit Hall want to destroy the Clear Sky Sect?"

"It's simple, they're afraid of a lose-lose situation." Tang San said, "Spirit Hall has the ability to destroy the Clear Sky Sect, but they need to consider other powers on the continent. Moreover, not all of Spirit Hall's Titled Douluo can be deployed."

In the original work, Sea God Island's High Priest Bo Saixi and the seven Guardian Douluo only guarded the Divinity inheritance grounds. Normally, they were not allowed to leave, not even to leave Sea God Island.

The Hall of Offerings, which guards the Angel God's inheritance grounds, was likely the same.

After all, based on their performance in the original work, the Guardian Douluo of the Hall of Offerings only appeared during the final battle at the end of the story. At other times, they never left.

And Qian Daoliu, the High Priest of the Angel God, in the original work, besides a battle with Tang Chen and Bo Saixi before he truly became the High Priest, and perhaps traveling the continent together, never left the Hall of Offerings until his sacrifice, which initiated the final Angel God inheritance.

With these Elders of the Hall of Offerings not deployed, it would not be easy for Bibi Dong to take down the Clear Sky Sect.

“Indeed, Spirit Hall’s Titled Douluo cannot all be deployed, otherwise the rear would be vulnerable.” Tang Yuehua calmed down, and her gaze towards Tang San grew brighter. “Little San, why don’t you come with me to Moon Pavilion? I can teach you noble etiquette.”

“No.”

Tang San flatly refused. “Nobles, what makes them noble? Etiquette? I’m already hypocritical and double-standard enough; there’s no need to gloss over anything else.”

Tang Yuehua: “...You child, how can you speak of yourself like that?”

“If you’ve come to persuade me, then please leave. I have no connection to the Clear Sky Sect, nor to Tang Hao; he has already severed our father-son relationship.” Tang San didn’t want to say anything more, merely emphasizing again that he was now alone in terms of blood ties. “So, you are not my aunt either, and I am merely a commoner with a bit of research into Martial Soul Theory, whose talent is not worth mentioning.”

“Little San, I...”

“If you’re worried about my life, then there’s no need to trouble yourself. I’ve already used my own abilities to buy a small estate here in Nuoding City. Although a kind grandfather sold it to me at a cheap price, I’m not short on money.”

Tang San watched Tang Yuehua take out a Spirit card from her storage soul tool at her waist, but he refused her kind offer. “If you’re visiting me as a Martial Soul Theory Master, I welcome you. But if you intend to pressure me with your seniority, then please think twice, because I am not a good person.”

“.....”

Speaking of which, Spirit Hall faces significant problems in unifying the continent. Its economy relies on the Two Great Empires. Once it declares independence, the Two Great Empires will surely cut off its funding. The smaller nations won't be able to supply it, and its collapse would only be a matter of time. Spirit Hall's own economic foundation is far from sufficient to support its establishment as a nation, cut off from the Two Great Empires' supply.

Spirit Hall certainly has many Spirit Masters, but correspondingly, it consumes even more resources.

In short, if Spirit Hall's grassroots economic foundation is not strengthened, it cannot conquer the world. Even if it does, it will inevitably be unable to manage it well after a hundred years, and may even fall apart.

Why emphasize a hundred years?

Because after becoming a Divinity, one can only stay in the lower realm for about a hundred years (original setting), otherwise they must remain hidden, like Lie Yan in 'God of Wine', or Tang Hao and the Blue Silver Emperor in the original 'Douluo Continent'. Furthermore, the author likely assumes that after becoming a Divinity, one cannot extensively interfere with human affairs, otherwise the playful Divinities in the God Realm would be looking for excuses to come down and fool around.

As for Tang San in 'Douluo Dalu II' and subsequent series, it can only be said that he has already become one of the rule-makers.

111: Analyze Ruyihuan for Tang Yuehua

Tang Yuehua took a deep breath, slowly exhaled, and asked, "Alright then, I want to ask, do I have any hope of breaking through to level ten?"

As a Clear Sky Sect disciple, Tang Yuehua's heart was also incomparably proud, but the mutation of her Clear Sky Hammer Spirit, which prevented her from ever breaking through level nine, had always been a source of heartache.

All Clear Sky children have the heart of a Battle Spirit Master!

However, Tang Yuehua also knew that talent was innate and she couldn't change it. Saying this now was just to spend more time with Little San and get closer to him.

"Can you release your Spirit for me to see?" Tang San was a little curious about the Ruyi Ring, which had mutated from the Clear Sky Hammer and came with an innate Domain, as it didn't look like a waste Spirit at all.

Tang Yuehua nodded, raised her right hand, and released a ring with peculiar patterns on it. In the center was a clear, diamond-like jewel, which looked very strange.

"This is my Spirit, the Ruyi Ring, which comes with an innate Domain, the Noble Domain, capable of making one's mind stable."

Tang San asked Tang Yuehua to activate the Domain.

Tang Yuehua complied.

A white light emanated from the crystal gem in the center of the Ruyi Ring, spreading out like ripples, covering a radius of nearly ten meters.

Tang San looked around and didn't notice any change in the surrounding environment, but his heart calmed down, as if all worries and restlessness had disappeared.

"It is indeed an innate Domain that can keep one's mind peaceful. Thinking within this Domain leads to an explosion of inspiration."

Noble Domain?

No!

This is the Mind Domain!

Its purpose is not to make nobles appear more elegant and dignified, but to keep one's mind peaceful, in the most harmonious state.

In this state, learning anything is very fast.

Tang Yuehua actually treated it as an ability to help noble disciples train and maintain their graceful demeanor, which was simply a waste of a precious resource!

"My Noble Domain is my only commendable aspect." A hint of pride flickered across Tang Yuehua's brows, followed by a touch of anticipation, "Do you have a way to help me break through to level ten?"

"Domain-type Spirit Abilities are very rare, and I haven't studied them, but based on the information I currently have, even a Titled Douluo might not possess a Domain-type Spirit Ability."

Tang San adjusted his detection glasses and said indifferently, "Your Ruyi Ring Spirit comes with an innate Domain, so its quality must be extremely high. It's definitely not a malignant mutation."

"Not a malignant mutation?"

Tang Yuehua didn't believe it. If it wasn't a malignant mutation, how could her spirit power not break through to level ten?

But what Tang San said also made sense. An innate awakened Spirit with a Domain, even if the Domain was pitifully weak, was definitely not comparable to those low-quality Spirits.

But—

Why couldn't she break through to level ten?

"Yes, it's not." Tang San nodded. "Ruyi Ring, did you name it yourself?"

"Yes, because when I first awakened my Spirit, I found that I could control the crystal gem in the center to transform into various shapes, completely in line with my thoughts, but it had no offensive capabilities, and could only change up to the size of a fist, which was useless." Tang Yuehua said, "Is there a problem?"

"The central gem can freely transform according to your thoughts, and the Domain's ability can calm one's mind." A glint flashed in Tang San's eyes. "Confirmed, your Spirit is related to the mind... It's hard to imagine that the Clear Sky Hammer could mutate into such a powerful Spirit. Did one of your parents have a Spirit like crystal, with innate mental Spirit Abilities?"

"Yes." Tang Yuehua was surprised. She was not born of the same mother as Tang Hao and Tang Xiao. "How did you know?"

"Spirit inheritance generally favors the stronger side, and there are many situations for mutation, including external environmental factors and internal Spirit factors. When the quality of two Spirits is similar, twin spirits may appear, or the two Spirits may fuse."

Tang San explained the Spirit mutation situations he had researched in recent years. "You are the latter. It should be that two Spirits merged into one, otherwise a hammer could never mutate into a ring."

"Secondly, according to my theory, the amount of innate spirit power awakened is related to the quality of the Spirit, and also to the compatibility between the Spirit and the awakener's own personality."

"If the personality matches the Spirit, and the mind is connected to the Spirit, then the probability of having innate spirit power will be very high. Conversely, if the awakener's own compatibility with the Spirit is low, then the probability of awakening innate spirit power is slim."

"Spirits have their own spirituality. They exist within our bodies and are controlled by us, but if we dislike them, or even reject them, then they will also reject us. This is a mutual process. Those who can break through to Titled Douluo basically have a deep understanding of their own Spirit."

"Tang Xuanzhu, have you truly understood your own Spirit?"

Tang Yuehua's heart trembled, recalling the past—

Before awakening her Spirit, she, like other disciples in the Sect, received the Clear Sky Sect's education, cultivating a sense of pride. The Elders in the Sect said that the more proud one was, the higher the probability of innate spirit power after awakening the Clear Sky Hammer.

Therefore, the disciples in the Sect were all extremely proud.

After she awakened the Ruyi Ring Spirit, she instinctively disliked this Spirit. It wasn't until she was twelve that she gradually recovered. With the Sect's resources, she opened a noble etiquette training center in Heaven Dou City, using the Ruyi Ring's innate Domain to attract a group of nobles who came to learn etiquette.

But that wasn't accepting the Spirit; it was her desire to prove to the Clear Sky Sect that even if she awakened a waste Spirit, she could still contribute to the Sect.

That pride in her heart had never been put down!

But now, according to her nephew, the biggest reason she couldn't break through to level ten was that she was incompatible with the Ruyi Ring?

"Tang Xuanzhu is a smart person; I imagine she already understands."

Tang San said, "Although my theory is far from complete and hasn't been published yet, based on my years of investigation into Spirit Masters of Spirit Hall and commoners, whether the awakener's personality and Spirit have a tacit understanding indeed affects the level of innate spirit power awakened."

"It's not very apparent with low-quality Spirits, but with high-quality Spirits, like the Clear Sky Hammer, Tang Xuanzhu also knows that every direct disciple of the Clear Sky Sect awakens the Clear Sky Hammer, but even twins don't necessarily have the same innate spirit power. This cannot simply be attributed to the quality of the Spirit."

"Otherwise, if they are clearly twins with the same bloodline, but their innate spirit power is different... it can only be related to personality, or more fundamentally, the mind."

Tang Yuehua trembled all over, looking at the Ruyi Ring in her hand, unable to believe it.

"Your Ruyi Ring comes with a Domain. In my opinion, it is comparable to Spirit Hall's Seraphim Spirit; it is a super Spirit." Tang San continued, "However, its main purpose is not for attack. The 'pride' you were taught about the Clear Sky Sect in your youth, that pride in your heart, goes against its spirituality."

Tang Yuehua's eyes trembled as she said, "No, I have already let go of the Clear Sky Sect's pride. I opened the Moon Pavilion, in my own way..."

"You haven't."

Tang San interrupted Tang Yuehua, who was eager to explain, "You just wanted to prove to the Clear Sky Sect that you are not useless and can help the Clear Sky Sect in other ways, that's all."

"Who are the guests of the Moon Pavilion?"

"Princes and nobles, or powerful Spirit Masters, but not a single commoner."

"If I'm not mistaken, with you being a woman, teaching those nobles and Spirit Masters, even powerful Spirit Masters have to bow to you and show respect when they see you. You must feel very satisfied inside, right?"

"How can this be considered letting go of pride?"

Tang Yuehua trembled, at a loss.

According to Tang San, was she the one dragging down her awakened super Spirit?

"Actually, there's another corroborating example on the Douluo Continent, another Martial Soul Theory Master besides me, Yu Xiaogang." Tang San, seeing Tang Yuehua's uncertainty, cited an example.

"Yu Xiaogang? What kind of Martial Soul Theory Master is he? The correct parts of his published theories are common sense that no one had summarized before; the rest are his own conjectures, with no evidence to prove his theories work." Tang Yuehua dismissed Yu Xiaogang, seeing him as nothing more than a clown.

"Putting aside Yu Xiaogang himself, his Spirit is an external Beast Spirit called Luo San Pao, which possesses its own spirituality. This can be simply proven: Spirits have their own simple thoughts."

Tang San didn't belittle Yu Xiaogang. Although he looked down on him, he kept it to himself. There was no direct conflict of interest with him, so there was no need to verbally belittle others to show off himself; that was too low.

"And Yu Xiaogang was once one of the Golden Triangle, Tang Xuanzhu should know, right?"

Tang Yuehua nodded slightly: "I heard that Yu Xiaogang, Liu Erlong, and Flender have a Martial Soul Fusion Skill, the Golden Sacred Dragon, which is extremely powerful. I collected information; that trinity Martial Soul Fusion Skill uses Luo San Pao as the main body, Liu Erlong provides spirit power, and Flender provides flight..."

At this point, Tang Yuehua froze.

The main body was Luo San Pao, not the powerful Liu Erlong, nor Flender.

"It seems Tang Xuanzhu has understood. Yu Xiaogang's Spirit, in its true form, is the Golden Sacred Dragon. The so-called Trinity Martial Soul Fusion Skill is merely Liu Erlong's spirit power and Flender's flight power allowing Luo San Pao to temporarily revert to its original form."

Tang San clarified the relationship, then asked, "Then, why did the mighty Golden Sacred Dragon, even when freshly awakened, only have half a level of innate spirit power?"

"Was it dragged down by Yu Xiaogang's talent?" Tang Yuehua asked tentatively.

"Talent? On this Douluo Continent, isn't so-called talent just referring to the strength of one's Spirit?" Tang San scoffed, as if extremely disdainful of such a judgment. "A mighty Golden Sacred Dragon, even if it were a pig, could take it flying. But the fact is, the Golden Sacred Dragon degenerated into Luo San Pao."

"I don't know what Yu Xiaogang's personality was like before he awakened his Spirit, but at that time, as the Sect Master's son of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon, he lacked no resources, and his physique was stronger than that of ordinary young disciples from small families. You say he lacked talent?"

"It can only be that his own compatibility with the Golden Sacred Dragon was low, even close to zero."

Tang San's remarks made Tang Yuehua's expression change erratically.

Originally, she only intended to get closer to Tang San and ask about her Spirit. She didn't expect Tang San to actually provide a solution, and what's more, there was already a precedent before her.

"Then what should I do?" Tang Yuehua pressed, she would rather give up the operation of the Moon Pavilion if it meant becoming a Spirit Master.

"Truly let go of that arrogance."

"How to let go?"

"Give up the operation of the Moon Pavilion, be an ordinary person for a period of time, don't live for the honor of the Clear Sky Sect, and ask yourself what you truly want." Tang San offered his advice, "You have to give to gain. However, I observe that Tang Xuanzhu probably won't be able to abandon years of operation to test a theory of mine that hasn't been proven yet."

Tang San had given her the choice.

What Tang Yuehua would do in the future had nothing to do with him, but he hoped that Tang Yuehua could change and live her own life, instead of living for the Clear Sky Sect.

However, given Tang Yuehua's age, could she change?

"I need some time to consider."

After a long while, Tang Yuehua finally came back to her senses.

"I'll see you out."

Facing Tang San's polite gesture of seeing her off, Tang Yuehua sighed and left the manor with Tang San, walking until they reached the inn outside Nuoding City, where Tang San turned back.

"Second Brother, why did you cut ties with Little San? Alas—" Watching Tang San's back disappear around the corner, Tang Yuehua sighed mournfully, unable to help but blame Tang Hao, who had disappeared to who knows where, finally turning into a long sigh...

..."The Ruyi Ring, if I had that Spirit, it would save me a lot of research time."

Tang San, back at the manor, thought to himself, "Tang Yuehua most likely won't give up everything she has now. She doesn't have the courage to start over, but—"

"Do I?"

Tang San asked himself, if he gave up everything he had now, could he rise again?

"Tang San, what are you spacing out for?" Xiao Wu walked over. "Is that woman really your aunt?"

"Genetically speaking, yes, but my father cut off our father-son relationship, so she can't really be called my aunt." Tang San thought for a moment and told her truthfully, after all, there was nothing to hide, and these two would inevitably find out later.

"I see. Why did your father abandon you?" Xiao Wu asked sympathetically.

"Who knows? Maybe because his brain doesn't work very well." Tang San's tone was a bit nonchalant, then he immediately changed the subject, "Two years is enough time for our cultivation to reach level forty. Have you thought about what you want for your fourth spirit ring?"

"I'm an agility-attack system, focusing on speed, but my first three Spirit Abilities are all body-enhancing: Waist Bow, strengthening the waist; Listening to the Wind, strengthening the brain and five senses; True Spirit Bone, mainly strengthening the spine, assisting the limbs."

Xiao Wu hadn't just been cultivating these days; she had also made significant progress in understanding the matching of Spirits and spirit rings. "And my fourth Spirit Ability should mainly strengthen my legs, or my arms, right?"

112: see with eyes

“Not bad, you’ve learned a lot these past few days,” Tang San praised Xiao Wu Jie. “My suggestion is to strengthen your legs. After all, your arms already have things to practice with, which are the two short knives, plus the short sword made of golden wood at the end of your scorpion braid. That’s enough for you to train and strengthen yourself, or you can choose a Spirit Ability that can strengthen your arms for your fifth spirit ring.”

“Indeed, almost all of my current Spirit Abilities have nothing to do with speed. For my fourth spirit ring, I really need to find a spirit ring that can strengthen my legs, increase my speed, and also enhance my kicking skills. It can perfectly complement my First Soul Skill, Waist Bow, and my third Spirit Ability, True Spirit Bone.”

Xiao Wu listened to Tang San’s simple analysis and agreed wholeheartedly, but what kind of spirit ring should she choose?

“For your fourth spirit ring, you can choose a Dragon Rabbit with scales,” Tang San offered his suggestion.

“Dragon Rabbit with scales?” Xiao Wu’s eyebrows raised slightly. “It sounds like another type of rabbit with dragon bloodline?”

“That’s right. It’s rumored that this Spirit Beast indeed has a dragon bloodline. I’ve also said that the Dragon race, as a Spirit Beast species, is very strange; they can almost bear offspring with any other species.”

Tang San was also somewhat helpless about the strangeness of the dragon bloodline. He didn’t know whether to say that the dragon bloodline was strongly aggressive or extremely unstable, capable of mutating into all sorts of bizarre things.

Setting aside these distracting thoughts, Tang San continued, “The Dragon Rabbit with scales, like the Dragon Rabbit, is also a Spirit Beast rumored to be extinct, and it’s a branch within the Dragon Rabbit family. According to legend, they concentrated the dragon bloodline in their two large thighs, causing four golden scales, shaped like dragon scales, to grow on their knees and ankles, which grant them extreme speed.”

“And extreme speed also means needing powerful mental force to control. The Dragon Rabbit with scales also possesses considerable mental force, but in records, it seems no one has obtained Spirit Abilities related to mental force; they are all about increasing speed.”

“But you are different.”

“The Dragon Rabbit with scales and the Dragon Rabbit are close relatives. Perhaps it can slightly enhance your mental force and strengthen your control ability... Your third spirit ring is a Dragon Rabbit, so obtaining a Dragon Rabbit with scales spirit ring might allow your Spirit to undergo an evolution, becoming even more powerful.”

Can a Ten-thousand year soul beast that has taken human form evolve its Spirit further?

Based on the current strengthening of Xiao Wu’s Spirit, Tang San could definitively say, yes, it can.

Tang San speculated that perhaps for a Ten-thousand year soul beast that has taken human form, after their body transforms into a human body and their original form becomes the Spirit, the first few spirit rings can be condensed by themselves. They might even be able to find corresponding spirit rings from their own kind through their ten-thousand year cultivation origin, allowing their own Spirit to undergo an evolution beyond its original form.

This was the true method of evolution for a Ten-thousand year soul beast that has taken human form.

But unfortunately, Ten-thousand year soul beasts that have taken human form are influenced by their past lives; when condensing spirit rings and choosing Spirit Abilities, they only choose skills they once possessed.

Such Spirit Abilities might be most suitable for their original form's survival method, but when a Ten-thousand year soul beast takes human form and enters human society, this so-called "most suitable" needs to be questioned.

This is a result of habitual thinking caused by years of influence from their living environment.

However, under Tang San's suggestions, Xiao Wu changed step by step, becoming stronger.

Tang San was actually quite proud of this.

"I understand." Xiao Wu decided that her fourth spirit ring would be a ten-thousand year level Dragon Rabbit with scales.

For ten-thousand year spirit rings, even if other humans' bodies could withstand it, insufficient mental force would still lead to absorption failure. But Xiao Wu Jie was different; her spirit rings were condensed by tracing back to her ten-thousand year cultivation origin. She didn't have to worry about mental shock or soul impact during spirit ring absorption at all.

At least, she didn't have to worry about her own first seven spirit rings.

"Oh, right, my seventh spirit ring can only be a Soft Bones Rabbit," Xiao Wu Jie suddenly said to Tang San, having thought of something. "So, how should I choose my fifth and sixth spirit rings in the future?"

"Is that so?" Tang San didn't ask Xiao Wu why her seventh spirit ring could only be a Soft Bones Rabbit. Instead, he pondered for a moment and said, "That's fine, after all, the seventh spirit ring generally only provides one Spirit Ability: Martial Soul True Body."

“That’s true.” Xiao Wu gave a dry laugh, not daring to say that her seventh spirit ring would definitely be a ten-thousand year spirit ring with two Spirit Abilities, as it wasn’t the right time yet.

As for her identity as a Ten-thousand year soul beast that had taken human form, Xiao Wu felt that Tang San knew, and she even felt that Tang San also felt that she felt he knew.

He had obtained a method to conceal Spirit Beast aura from Di Tian, which could deceive others and even other Titled Douluo, but it absolutely couldn’t deceive this Martial Soul Theory Master in front of her.

He didn’t speak, and she didn’t dare to speak.

Although this was fine, she always felt there was some estrangement between them.

“Um, actually, I have a secret.” Xiao Wu thought for a moment and decided it was better to be clear beforehand.

“Hmm, I do too,” Tang San responded. “If you have a secret, you don’t have to tell me. Everyone has privacy.”

“No, I must say.” Xiao Wu took a deep breath and pulled Tang San into the study, leaving Guang Ling alone to imagine: Is Xiao Wu Jie going to confess to Brother San?

Bang!

Inside the study, Xiao Wu closed the door, taking deep breaths, her modestly sized chest rising and falling slightly. Then she looked at Tang San and said, word by word, “Actually, I’m not human.”

“You are human,” Tang San said.

“No, I am a Ten-thousand year soul beast that has taken human form.” Xiao Wu shook her head, stating her true identity, staring directly at Tang San.

“So—” Tang San stroked his chin, drawing out the sound, “You’re ten thousand years old?”

Xiao Wu’s face flushed, and she suddenly felt that Tang San was becoming unreliable: “No, a Ten-thousand year soul beast simply means my cultivation has reached ten thousand years; it doesn’t necessarily mean I’ve actually lived for ten thousand years. In some unique environments, Spirit Beasts’ cultivation speed can accelerate. Before, I lived in the core area of the Star Dou Great Forest, and cultivating there, my cultivation level increased very quickly. In terms of age, I’m only about sixty thousand years old.”

“Oh~ Still very old. Should I call you Great-Grandma?” Tang San blinked, asking with a serious expression.

“I’m not joking!” Xiao Wu’s eyes were serious. “Will you expose me?”

“You’re already considered my grandfather’s granddaughter, how could I expose you?” Tang San shrugged slightly, smiling faintly. “Actually, I had already suspected it. After all, even Spirit Hall couldn’t guarantee finding a Dragon Rabbit, yet you found one... So there’s only one possibility: the Dragon Rabbit’s spirit ring was condensed by yourself, and also the method of condensing a soul core. I estimate even Spirit Hall doesn’t have that kind of thing.”

Xiao Wu felt a bit dejected: “Was I that obvious?”

“I can only say that your personality isn’t what a commoner should have. Others would probably think you’re a runaway young lady from a wealthy family or something,” Tang San nodded slightly. “Initially, that’s what I thought, but later I found that you completely lacked the etiquette a young lady from a prominent family should have. Even a spoiled princess would have a superficial demeanor (like Ning Rongrong), but you don’t. You’re completely like an untamed tomboy.”

Xiao Wu’s face flushed with embarrassment, and she spat, “Who describes people like that?”

“Sorry, my mistake.” Tang San’s apology was very insincere, but Xiao Wu wasn’t angry, because in her opinion, this was how siblings interacted; there was no need for such formality.

“So, now that I’ve revealed my identity, what do you think of my Spirit Beast human-form identity?”

113: The confession between Tang San and Xiao Wu

“With my eyes, of course.”

Tang San replied.

“I’m not kidding!” Xiao Wu emphasized again, feeling like she might have been overthinking things, and that her Third Brother hadn’t noticed she was a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form, and had just been playing along.

“I’m not kidding either.” Tang San’s eyes were filled with seriousness. “You have a human body. Besides being more delicate and beautiful than ordinary people, and having better innate talent, you are no different from a human, whether it’s your external skin or internal organs.”

“If there is a difference, it might be that you possess the Ten-thousand year cultivation origin, allowing you to automatically condense a spirit ring.”

“To be honest, regarding self-condensing spirit rings, I’d really like to try it, but I don’t know the method, nor do I have that vast Ten-thousand year cultivation origin as an energy source.”

Xiao Wu snorted, “So you only think about research?”

“It’s just a habit.” Tang San coughed and said, “You can just tell me about it in the future. After all, if I research a method that allows Spirit Masters to condense their own spirit rings, Spirit Masters won’t need to rely too much on Spirit Beasts to obtain spirit rings.”

“Is that what you think?” Xiao Wu was surprised, feeling that she hadn’t misjudged him. She had thought he would say something about her becoming his backup spirit ring or something similar.

“Yes, I feel that relying too much on Spirit Beasts is not a good thing for Spirit Masters.” Tang San looked at Xiao Wu. “Also, a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form like you is almost indistinguishable from a human... In fact, for you, I even have a guess: that in a more ancient period, humans might have also been a type of Spirit Beast.”

“After all, the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, the White Tiger Clan, and other inheritors of ancestral Beast Spirits also speak of Dragon Clan bloodline, White Tiger bloodline, and so on... I feel that their earliest ancestors might have also been Ten-thousand year soul beasts in human form. Otherwise, it’s impossible to explain why they have so-called bloodline power. This shouldn’t be something humans possess; if they do, it should only be human bloodline.”

Xiao Wu was shocked, “Is that so?”

“It’s just a guess, and there’s no substantial evidence yet. After all, I can’t get in touch with members of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, can I?” Tang San said helplessly. “Wang Sheng’s Spirit is a tiger, and his First Soul Skill is also good, but I didn’t detect any bloodline power. Perhaps it’s because he’s a bit weak and cannot serve as a reference.”

“But my guess shouldn’t be too far off, after all, some people’s Spirit is a part of their body.”

“I have a premonition that those with Physical Martial Souls are the true, unique Spirits belonging to humans themselves. Others, whether Beast Spirits or Tool Spirits, should have been bestowed upon humans in the beginning, either actively or passively.”

“However, for this guess to be confirmed, a large amount of data, on-site surveys, and even archaeological work are needed. I wouldn’t dare to casually publish it now; that would only invite ridicule.”

Despite his words, Xiao Wu believed Tang San; this guess was likely close to the truth.

Leaving aside Tool Spirits for now, Spirit Masters with Beast Spirits, more or less, emphasize bloodline power. This absolutely cannot be explained by a simple phenomenon, not even a theory, like “gaining bloodline power while obtaining a spirit ring by hunting a Spirit Beast of the same kind as one’s Spirit.”

“Alright, let’s stop talking about Spirit Beasts for now. Next, I’ll talk about my own identity.”

Tang San was also ready to confess. “Although I come from Saint Spirit Village, I also have a corresponding identity. My father, who has severed ties with me, is named Tang Hao, and he is Clear Sky Douluo.”

“A Titled Douluo.” Xiao Wu was a little shocked, but she didn’t care, as he was already able to conceal his Spirit Beast aura.

“Although he’s a Titled Douluo, he’s already decadent, and I’ve never enjoyed a single day of noble treatment. Therefore, I’ve never considered myself a noble.” Tang San continued, “So, don’t think that a Titled Douluo will protect you. He has already voluntarily severed ties with me, and I even feel like he’s on the verge of going crazy, capable of erupting at any moment. In the future, we might even clash.”

“Father and son killing each other?” Xiao Wu shivered, recalling a little story she had heard.

“It’s not that serious.”

Tang San shook his head, “It’s just that our paths are different, so we can’t work together.”

“Is human society that complicated?” Xiao Wu’s little brain was having trouble processing it.

“Because humans have no enemies, they can only fight among themselves. But Spirit Beasts... Don’t tell me you used to have sympathy for all Spirit Beasts.” Tang San stared intently at Xiao Wu.

“No, I have a better impression of Spirit Beasts that look docile. For other Spirit Beasts, if those with lower cultivation years were killed by Spirit Masters, I would feel a sense of sorrow like the death of a rabbit and the sadness of a fox. But for those that are ugly and murderous, I have absolutely no good feelings.” Xiao Wu shook her head like a rattle-drum.

“See, don’t you also have subjective likes and dislikes?” Tang San smiled. “Spirit Beasts and humans are no different; it’s just that living in their respective environments for so long has made their thoughts a bit simpler.”

“Hmph, I’m very smart now!” Xiao Wu had learned a lot during her years with Tang San and knew that the “simple” Tang San spoke of actually had another meaning: “stupid.”

Before leaving the Star Dou Great Forest, she could be said to be stupid, but now, she was immeasurably smarter than those fierce beasts in the Star Dou Great Forest.

Seeing Xiao Wu’s proud expression, Tang San couldn’t help but smile and ask, “I will definitely participate in the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament. That is the best opportunity to become famous in this era, and it is the cornerstone for me to truly enter the public eye and have a greater influence on the entire continent.”

“Your Ten-thousand year cultivation origin can be seen through by a Titled Douluo, and even a Spirit Douluo, by concentrating, can perceive it. So, my suggestion is that you return to Star Dou first...”

“No.” Xiao Wu interrupted Tang San directly. “I won’t be discovered now. I have a way to hide my aura. Even a super Douluo won’t be able to find me.”

She had a way to hide her aura?

Tang San sized up Xiao Wu, recalling peerless tang sect, dragon king legend, and Ultimate Douluo. He hadn't finished the first one, and hadn't even read the latter two, but he knew some of their content. The Three-Eyed Golden Lion and Devil Spirit Great White Shark, both Spirit Beasts in human form, couldn't be detected by Titled Douluo.

Not to mention that Shrek Academy in peerless tang sect, out of consideration for Sea God's wife being a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form, turned a blind eye to such transformed Spirit Beasts.

In Shrek of peerless tang sect, there was even a Spirit Master whose seventh spirit ring reached Ten-thousand years!

And that wasn't the protagonist, Huo Yuhao!

So, how did that person, with a cultivation of level seventy, a quasi-Spirit Saint, hunt a Ten-thousand year soul beast? Most likely, they killed a wild Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form that wasn't of the Di Tian lineage.

So—

Had Xiao Wu already come into contact with Di Tian?

Had he come out at this time?

Wasn't he with the other fierce beasts, either absorbing or guarding the Heaven Dream Iceworm, which had nearly a million years of cultivation?

114: Someone from the broken clan comes

“You don’t believe me, do you?” Xiao Wu saw Tang San in a daze, thinking about something, and was a little unhappy. “I can really hide my aura and identity in front of a Titled Douluo now.”

“I believe you.”

Tang San said with a smile, “How could I not believe my lovely Xiao Wu.”

“Hmph, your tone clearly agrees with me, but I like it.” Xiao Wu raised her head, turned, and left the study. “Then I’m going to train.”

“Given Xiao Wu’s situation, has Di Tian already appeared? Is it because of me, or is there a Transmigrator causing trouble?” Tang San pondered silently, unable to figure it out. He finally decided to proceed with his plan, slowly develop, and then participate in the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament to gain fame, further expand his influence, and then slowly change the entire Douluo Continent!

If he were to state a reason, besides becoming stronger, it was that he deeply missed the various convenient technological products of the modern era.

Movies, mobile phones, computers...

Only after losing them did he learn to cherish them.

Therefore, he hoped to transform this World into what he desired through his own efforts, nothing more...

...

Practicing the techniques from the Mysterious Heaven Treasure Record, practicing spirit power control, forging iron at the blacksmith shop, cultivating the Jade Bone Technique, writing and publishing theories, researching the basics of spirit tools, teaching Guang Ling theoretical knowledge about spirit tools and Spirits, checking Xiao Wu and Guang Ling's training progress, and working as a temporary teacher in Nuoding City, teaching theoretical knowledge to work-study students and noble children.

For the past half year, Tang San's life had been filled with these activities, with every day fully scheduled.

However, on this day, people from the Breaking Clan came looking for Yang Long's information from Su Yuntao, the current Hall Master of the Noding Spirit Hall Branch, and learned that Yang Long had been killed by Blood Sword Norman.

"What? You said Yang Long was killed by The Fallen?"

The person from the Breaking Clan, a Spirit King with spirit power reaching level fifty-two, was furious upon hearing that Yang Long had been killed. With his Spirit King-level Spirit pressure, he made Su Yuntao, whose cultivation had recently reached the Spirit Elder level, unable to resist.

"Your Excellency, please do not be presumptuous in the Spirit Hall. We are also looking for Blood Sword Norman and have contacted the Spirit Hall Branches in nearby cities."

Su Yuntao realized that he could not defeat the opponent physically, so he spoke in a conciliatory tone instead of resorting to force.

Although this was a Spirit Hall Branch, it could not withstand the destruction of a Spirit King.

The Spirit King of the Breaking Clan also did not dare to truly attack. After all, their Breaking Clan had refused the Spirit Hall's invitation two years ago. If they were to cause trouble again now, the Spirit Hall would dare to directly exterminate them under the guise of “revenge.”

“What is the Spirit Hall doing? How could they let Yang Long be killed by The Fallen!”

But the Spirit King remained relentless.

Yang Long’s cultivation speed was comparable to innate full spirit power, and if he didn’t die, he would definitely break through to Titled Douluo in the future.

He couldn’t swallow this anger!

The Spirit Hall must provide some compensation!

“Your Excellency, please do not insult the Spirit Hall.” Su Yuntao’s face was as cold as frost. Previously, he could have attributed the Spirit King’s anger to his grief over the loss of his family’s genius and his Spirit King strength, so he had apologized and felt that being scolded a few times was acceptable.

But now, this person was directly insulting the Spirit Hall, and he could no longer act like a coward.

Moreover, their Spirit Hall was not Yang Long’s nanny, so why should they protect him?

It was simply unreasonable!

“What? You dare to make a move?” The Spirit King sneered, mocking Su Yuntao, who was only a Spirit Elder. He secretly wished that Su Yuntao would make a move.

He also understood that he was being unreasonable now, but he held hatred towards the Spirit Hall, and as long as Su Yuntao attacked first, he would have a reason to “retaliate.”

If the matter escalated, the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon and the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School would never stand idly by.

At the very least, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School would help.

After all, the Speed Clan, which had an excellent relationship with their Breaking Clan, had joined the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. The Speed Clan had already escaped poverty and would definitely help their Breaking Clan.

It was just that the Strength Clan was a little “concerned” about the Speed Clan’s actions...

“You!”

Su Yuntao was indignant, but he truly didn’t dare to strike. Because he was only a Spirit Elder, if he were beaten to death, the Spirit Hall’s higher-ups might avenge him out of consideration for Little San, but he didn’t want to die.

Although he knew that Tang San was secretly protected by a Spirit Saint, who was also a high-ranking member of the Spirit Hall, that Guang Ling was not always here and was often nowhere to be seen.

In fact, at this time, Guang Ling also happened not to be at the Noding Spirit Hall Branch.

“What ‘you’? You dog of the Spirit Hall!” The Spirit King’s words were very offensive.

“This gentleman, please do not speak nonsense.”

Tang San walked in from the hall entrance and said to the Spirit King, “If you have a grudge against the Spirit Hall, you can go directly to your corresponding enemy. There’s no need to show off your might here, as that only shows your weakness and incompetence.”

“Who are you?”

The Spirit King turned around and saw Tang San, who was already over 1.7 meters tall. He frowned, feeling that the other party was not very old.

“A student and teacher of Notting Academy, Tang San.” Tang San introduced himself, “May I know your name, Your Excellency?”

“Tang San? Heh, the same name as that Martial Soul Theory Master.” The Spirit King sneered, “I am a Spirit Master of the Breaking Clan, named Yang Wei, a level fifty-two close-combat armor-breaking attack system Spirit Master. My Spirit is the Soul Breaking Spear!”

“Kid, what instructions do you have?”

Tang San’s eyes narrowed slightly: “Breaking Clan? I don’t have any instructions, I just hope you admit your mistake, and apologize to the Hall Master of this Branch.”

Yang Long had been dead for so long, and the Breaking Clan only just came looking. It seems the Four Single-Attribute Clans have truly declined.

Indeed, among these four clans, the one that best preserved its vitality was the Strength Clan, but it only had one Spirit Douluo, Tai Tan, and then the next strongest was his son, Tai Nuo, a Spirit King. There were no Spirit Emperors or Spirit Saints, indicating two generational gaps in the family members’ strength.

The Breaking Clan was probably similar, or even worse off than the Strength Clan. This Spirit King might be the second strongest person in the clan besides Yang Wudi.

“Why should I?”

Yang Wei sneered, clearly also treating Tang San as a dog of the Spirit Hall. “I haven’t even accused you of colluding with The Fallen and killing Yang Long yet.”

“Please do not slander others with groundless accusations.”

At once, Tang San had no good feelings for Yang Wei, and even developed a slight grievance against the Breaking Clan as a whole.

In the original work, Yang Wudi's strength was not bad, and his character was straightforward, so Tang San naturally had some good feelings for him. But now, seeing a member of the Breaking Clan, their attitude was truly terrible.

This wasn't straightforwardness, but a complete lack of emotional intelligence!

No wonder they lived so miserably in the original work!

"I had forgotten, the protagonist in the original work was able to gain Yang Wudi's recognition based on his strength, not because Yang Wudi was easy to talk to. As for that 'Fragrant Qiluo Immortal Product' at the end, from a personal subjective perspective, it might indeed have been desired by Yang Wudi, but it was probably also to give himself a way out. After all, a dignified Spirit Douluo being defeated by a Spirit Emperor always needs some face..."

Tang San realized the key in his heart: "The Clear Sky Sect's former four single-attribute affiliated families all possessed a 'pride' similar to that of the Clear Sky Sect. Only the Speed Clan was slightly better, because their Needle Tailed Swift hadn't developed offensive capabilities, making them a head shorter than the other three clans..."

Yang Wei saw that Tang San didn't answer and said, "If you want me to apologize, you can. Defeat me. The Spirit Master's World has always respected strength, not mere words."

"Good!"

Tang San also didn't intend to waste any more words and readily agreed, "Dare you come with me to the central square of Nuoding City? Spirit Masters are allowed to settle personal grievances there."

"Why wouldn't I dare?"

Yang Wei strode out of the Spirit Hall and headed towards the central square of Nuoding City. “If you don’t come, I’ll spread the word that the Spirit Hall of this small city is afraid of me! Hahahaha!”

Su Yuntao’s face was bitter and indignant, but it ultimately turned into a sigh. He said, “Little San, he’s a Spirit King, and you’re only a Spirit Elder. Even if your spirit power is close to the Spirit Ancestor level, it’s impossible to defeat him.”

“Don’t worry, Tao Ge, I can handle a mere Spirit King.” Tang San’s eyes gleamed with fighting Spirit, burning like flames. “The strong challenge the stronger!”

115: Tang San VS Yang Wei

Su Yuntao was no longer tending to his duties at this time; he personally led a team of people to the central plaza of Nuoding City.

This action naturally attracted the attention of the city's nobles and common folk, who gathered around, ready to watch the excitement.

"What happened?"

"It seems like a Spirit Master is going to settle a personal grudge."

"It even alarmed the Director."

"I saw that middle-aged Spirit Master seemingly come out of Spirit Hall; perhaps there was some conflict."

On the field.

Yang Wei looked at the young Tang San and said, "Do you want me to let you use one hand, little brat?"

"No need, you'd best go all out, otherwise, you'll lose miserably." Tang San refused Yang Wei's "kindness."

"It's Tang San!"

Among the crowd, a student from Notting Academy cried out in surprise.

"Did Grandmaster Tang San and that ugly-looking Spirit Master have a grudge?"

"Go, Grandmaster Tang San!"

Hearing these voices, Yang Wei snorted and said, "You really are a student from this small city's academy. You're at most a Spirit Grandmaster, right? How dare you challenge me? Who gave you the courage?"

"I just want to see where the gap between me and a Spirit King lies. Also, if I win, you need to apologize to the current Director of Spirit Hall." Tang San stared into Yang Wei's eyes, his words clear and forceful.

"Good!"

Yang Wei's expression turned serious, and he released his Spirit. A long spear appeared in his hand, followed by five spirit rings: two yellow, two purple, and one black, which was the optimal combination!

"Yang Wei, Breaking Clan, Spirit Soul Breaking Spear, a level fifty-two close-combat armor-breaking attack system Spirit Master!"

Tang San released his Blue Silver Grass, and three spirit rings appeared: one yellow and two purple: "Tang San, a commoner Spirit Master, Spirit Blue Silver Grass, a level thirty-eight all-around support system Spirit Master."

"The second spirit ring is actually a thousand-year level!"

"Grandmaster Tang San actually has two thousand-year spirit rings! That's truly amazing!"

"I heard Su Director from Notting Academy say that Grandmaster Tang San is the Grandmaster Tang San who published the "analysis of the self-positioning of soul masters" and changed how Spirit Masters on the continent viewed their own positioning."

"Yes! It's him! He even bought a large piece of ten thousand year whale jelly from my pharmacy!"

Yang Wei stared intently at Tang San and asked, "Are you really that Martial Soul Theory Master?"

"The benevolent see benevolence, and the wise see wisdom." Tang San said faintly.

The implication was that whether others believed it or not had nothing to do with him.

"Good!"

Yang Wei laughed loudly, "Let me see what level you've brought the Blue Silver Grass to."

Su Yuntao voluntarily acted as the referee and said, "Battle start!"

As soon as he finished speaking, Yang Wei took the initiative. Holding the Soul Breaking Spear, he crossed a distance of over fifty meters in barely two blinks of an eye, arriving in front of Tang San.

The long spear in his hand thrust out, like a python spitting its tongue, aiming directly at Tang San's abdomen, intending to kill him.

Yang Wei had already determined that this young Tang San was definitely that Martial Soul Theory Master Tang San, and from the current situation, he also had a good impression of Spirit Hall.

Therefore, he absolutely could not let him live!

This was a place to settle grudges. If he struck to kill, the Spirit Hall personnel in this small place would have no valid reason to trouble him afterward!

Although he didn't use a Spirit Ability for this attack, he used about seventy percent of his strength, plus spirit power enhancement. An ordinary Spirit Ancestor wouldn't be able to react.

And the facts were exactly as Yang Wei expected. His Soul Breaking Spear pierced through Tang San, but before he could rejoice, he became puzzled

Why did he not feel the resistance of the spearhead piercing into a human body?

Upon closer inspection, the Tang San in front of him had already dissipated like Gui Mei.

"Afterimage?!"

Yang Wei was startled. He couldn't imagine how a Blue Silver Grass Spirit could provide Tang San with such speed, but there was no time to think now. He could only immediately turn around to prevent Tang San from ambushing him from behind.

However, at this moment, Tang San had already set up the Endless Grassland. Countless Blue Silver Grass grew from the ground and, under his control, wrapped and bound themselves around Yang Wei.

"Damn it!"

Yang Wei's limbs, neck, and the Soul Breaking Spear in his hand were all entangled by the Blue Silver Grass. Although Yang Wudi struggled free from many, the Blue Silver Grass was inexhaustible and constantly bound him.

The current Blue Silver Grass had already upgraded to Blue Silver Emperor, and its leaves were strengthened by Thousand Root Banyan, Wood Spirit Demon Mushroom, and Sun Moon Grass, especially the Sun Moon Grass. Its leaves were as sharp as precious swords, which also made the sides of his Blue Silver Emperor leaves incredibly sharp.

The more Yang Wei struggled, the more wounds appeared on his body, and protecting himself with spirit power would also consume a large amount of spirit power.

"Second Spirit Ability: Positive and Negative Buff."

The purple thousand-year spirit ring lit up. Under Tang San's control, two peculiar rings, one gold and one silver, appeared. The golden one was like the sun, and the silver one resembled a crescent moon.

The golden sun ring, a positive buff, floated behind Tang San's head, increasing all his attributes by thirty-eight percent; while the silver moon ring was thrown towards Yang Wei.

Yang Wei naturally didn't want to be affected by the silver negative buff and tried to dodge.

But Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor was incredibly tough, greatly restricting the movements of him, a Spirit King. Secondly, the most important part of the negative buff ring was the negative buff seeds within it, not the silver ring's appearance. That was merely a means of attraction and restraint for the positive and negative buff seeds after Tang San obtained his third spirit ring.

"Damn it! I absolutely cannot be trapped!" Yang Wei suddenly exerted force with both arms, breaking free from the Blue Silver Emperor leaves, and swept towards the silver negative buff ring.

However, the Soul Breaking Spear did not break apart the negative buff ring; it still moved towards his head.

"What? It can't be broken?"

Yang Wei was greatly alarmed. He tried to resist in other ways but found that after being trapped by the negative buff, all his attributes had decreased by about thirty-eight percent.

"This is a move to lower the enemy's attributes!"

Yang Wei was somewhat terrified. Watching Tang San's aura strengthen, he immediately realized that the purpose of these two rings was to boost his own side's full attributes and lower the enemy's full attributes. Moreover, looking at the opponent's spirit power level and combining it with the effect of his own attributes being lowered, the magnitude of this skill's enhancement and reduction would increase as his own spirit power level increased.

"What a terrifying support system Spirit Ability!"

Yang Wei's heart trembled, "Just this second Spirit Ability alone is enough to rival the first six Spirit Abilities of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda... He truly lives up to his name as a Martial Soul Theory Master. Although he's a support system, he can achieve the effects of a control system, even making it difficult for me, a Spirit King, to break free."

However, one thing puzzled Yang Wei: where did Tang San get so much spirit power?

Setting up such a large area of Blue Silver Grass would consume a lot of spirit power, right?

At this moment, Tang San's next round of attacks began.

He performed Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track, using the Endless Grassland to conceal his figure and approach Yang Wei.

Although Yang Wei could determine Tang San's position by the trembling of the grass, this Endless Grassland was created by Tang San, who could completely control all the Blue Silver Grass to sway, causing Yang Wei to lose his judgment.

"Hmph!"

Yang Wei grunted, a trace of blood overflowing from his mouth. He suddenly swept the Soul Breaking Spear backward, but it hit nothing. Moreover, the Blue Silver Emperor leaves entangled the Soul Breaking Spear, making it difficult to retract.

"Damn it, fight me head-on if you dare!"

"Why would I use my weakness to attack your strength?" Tang San's voice came from all directions, making it impossible for Yang Wei to distinguish where Tang San was. What followed were punches from Tang San hitting various parts of his body, leaving him quite bruised.

"Bastard, why is this kid's strength so great? Is whale jelly really that powerful?" Yang Wei cursed inwardly, but the next moment, a white fist appeared before his eyes, hitting his throat...

116: Notting graduate

When the Endless Grassland dissipated, some real tender Blue Silver Grass grew on the ground, and Yang Wei lay on the ground, his head covered in bumps and his body full of injuries, looking extremely miserable.

Su Yuntao immediately stepped forward to check Yang Wei's injuries: "If he died, it would be troublesome..."

However, after Su Yuntao's examination, he found that Yang Wei had only superficial injuries, at most a few broken ribs, which was not serious for a Spirit King's physique.

With the help of two Spirit Hall healing Spirit Masters in their teens, Yang Wei woke up, refused the help of the Spirit Hall Spirit Masters, and said to Tang San, "I lost."

"Apologize to Tao Ge... cough! Apologize to Su Yuntao, the Hall Master of the Nuo Ding City Spirit Hall Branch." Tang San coughed, changed his words, and made his phrasing a bit more formal.

Yang Wei's expression was uncertain, and combined with his swollen, bruised face, a hint of absurdity was revealed in his ferocity, making him look extremely bizarre.

Finally, he still said to Su Yuntao, "I'm sorry, I was a bit too agitated before, because I care too much about Yang Long; he is a genius of our Clan..."

"Let's just drop this matter."

Su Yuntao was inwardly ecstatic; an apology from a Spirit King was something he had never dared to imagine before, but he couldn't show schadenfreude on the surface. His tone was calm, "Alright, if we have any news of Blood Sword Norman, we will definitely pass it on to your Breaking Clan."

Yang Wei nodded, scanned the surrounding crowd of onlookers, and felt too ashamed to stay any longer. He quickly left the center of Nuoding Plaza and headed out of Nuoding City.

It seemed he would never come to Nuoding City again in this lifetime.

"Little San, thanks to you." Su Yuntao put his arm around Tang San's shoulder. "Let's go, we're going to eat."

"Then should I call Xiao Wu and Guang Ling to come along? Otherwise, I'll have to cook for them when I get back." Tang San discussed.

"Who are you and I? Just call the two younger siblings to come along." Su Yuntao laughed heartily, not caring.

Tang San almost choked on his saliva: "What younger siblings?"

"Haha, no, no, I misspoke." Su Yuntao blinked, looking somewhat lewd, as if saying: You young people sure know how to have fun, with both a younger sister and a disciple.

Tang San was helpless and could only shrug. ...

After dinner, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and Tang San left Su Yuntao's home together and went to Notting Academy.

Tang San had a public lecture, while Xiao Wu and Guang Ling were auditors.

"Brother San, did you really defeat a Spirit King?" After Xiao Wu was open and honest with Tang San, she directly called him Brother San in front of him. "Was it Yang Long's relative?"

"Yes, but my victory was mainly due to the advantage of my Spirit and Spirit Abilities. If I were to defeat a Spirit King without using my Spirit, it would take quite some time." Tang San said objectively, "This is also because my skills countered him, preventing him from even using his Spirit Abilities."

"If you have an advantage, you should naturally use it, it's no big deal." Xiao Wu, however, was nonchalant. "Speaking of which, since you hit him, won't he tell his family when he goes back, and then an even stronger person will come?"

"Hitting the younger and then the older coming is indeed very common." Tang San thought of the protagonist's conflict with Tai Long in the original work, and then Tai Long's father Tai Nuo, and Tai Nuo's father Tai Tan arriving in sequence. He felt that it was not impossible for Yang Wudi to come to this Nuoding City after learning about this matter.

However, Nuoding City is quite far from the Breaking Clan's territory, unlike Blue Tyrant Academy and the Strength Clan's territory, which are both in Heaven Dou City. Even if Yang Wudi really wanted to rush over, it would take one or two months.

If he didn't come within these one or two months, it would prove that Yang Wei kept this defeat to himself and didn't tell Yang Wudi, as it would be very embarrassing for a Spirit King to lose to a Spirit Elder.

This possibility is quite high.

After all, the Breaking Clan's Spirit is the Soul Breaking Spear, and their pride is not much different from that of the Clear Sky Sect, stronger than the other three Clans. Yang Wei losing to a Spirit Elder would certainly not be publicized within the Clan, otherwise, those clansmen would probably mock him in secret.

For the strong, face is very important.

Of course, if Yang Wudi really came, Tang San also had a way to deal with it. After all, he now had some reputation. If he made an agreement similar to a three-year or five-year pact with such a proud person, the other party would most likely abide by it. At least, as long as he didn't go into those out-of-the-way "alleys," they wouldn't be able to secretly harm him.

If Yang Wudi was unreasonable, then he would tell Tao Ge, take Xiao Wu to graduate early, and go to a big city. Anyway, Yang Wudi wouldn't dare to truly attack the Spirit Hall here...

In a blink of an eye, two more months passed.

No one from the Breaking Clan came again, and Tang San knew that Yang Wei had concealed the fact of his defeat. He couldn't help but shake his head: "It seems my influence as a Spirit Grandmaster is still not enough."

"However, this also corroborates one point: for those large families and Sects, the theories I currently publish do not have much effect on them. Only those commoner Spirit Masters respect me more... However, commoner Spirit Masters account for over seventy percent of the total number of Spirit Masters on the entire continent, and their support is enough for me."

As time passed, Tang San and Xiao Wu were both twelve years old. Having graduated from Notting Academy, the two were preparing to leave Nuoding City and go to a larger city.

Guang Ling also graduated a year early to follow Tang San, as her cultivation had reached Spirit Elder, which would allow her to graduate directly from some less famous advanced academies.

The Dean of Notting Academy held a farewell ceremony for the three, and Tang San also left a large amount of elementary teaching policies and materials at Notting Academy, as a repayment for the care he received from the Notting Dean, Su Director, Mohen Teacher, and others over the years.

"Wang Sheng, twenty levels, not bad." Tang San found Wang Sheng and advised him on the selection of his second and third spirit rings.

"Brother San, thank you."

Wang Sheng was deeply moved. He knew his own talent; if it weren't for Tang San helping him choose his first spirit ring, he wouldn't have cultivated so quickly.

For commoner Spirit Masters, being able to break through to level twenty by the age of eighteen was already considered a genius.

"No need to thank me. You usually helped me a lot too, which greatly accelerated my research on blood and qi." Tang San patted Wang Sheng's shoulder and passed on the cultivation method simplified from the Jade Bone Technique to Wang Sheng, instructing him, "This is a simplified cultivation method I researched based on my own body tempering cultivation, called: Blood and Bone Tempering. It can make your bones stronger."

"Don't blame me for not passing on my body tempering method to you. The cultivation of this method requires a certain degree of control over spirit power, and if it were exposed, you wouldn't be able to keep it safe."

Wang Sheng laughed: "Brother San, don't worry, I know my own capabilities. In fact, I don't even want this Blood and Bone Tempering."

How could a commoner Spirit Master like him dare to want such a self-created Spirit Ability that could strengthen physical fitness?

That would be a disaster!

"Take it, it's fine. You've joined Spirit Hall now, so you can handle this much. I've also prepared a copy for Tao Ge and Sisi sister."

After Tang San handed the Blood and Bone Tempering method to Wang Sheng, he left Spirit Hall and returned to Saint Spirit Village with Xiao Wu and Guang Ling.

After all, they would be leaving here soon, and perhaps wouldn't visit often, so they needed to say goodbye to Old Jack.

Actually, Tang San had hoped that Old Jack would move to Nuoding City, but unfortunately, Old Jack disagreed. He had an attachment to Saint Spirit Village and did not want to live in Nuoding City.

Finally, Tang San compromised a bit, suggesting that Old Jack live in a small manor in Nuoding City during the winter, as it would be warmer there than in the village.

Only then did Old Jack agree...

117: Tumbleweed nine-death resurrection grass death Gobi.

This is a Spirit Beast gathering place located outside the Storm Grand Canyon. The environment is similar to a Desert, but there are more rocks, and sand is relatively rare.

Tang San and Xiao Wu had already reached level 40 for some time, using it to temper their bodies, hoping to be able to withstand a higher year spirit ring.

During this period, Xiao Wu returned to the Star Dou Great Forest once and obtained a Ten-thousand year fourth spirit ring, which strengthened her legs. After Spirit possession, a layer of white hair, like dragon scales, appeared on her legs, which felt very soft to the touch.

Her fourth Spirit Ability was a kicking ability. By circulating spirit power to the white scales, she could greatly strengthen her legs and unleash Electric Light, whose power could penetrate ten centimeters of thick steel.

Moreover, it carried a hint of electric arc, which had stronger destructive power on biological cells. It could both paralyze enemies in battle and stimulate her own thighs with the electric arc to increase cell activity, killing two birds with one stone.

Xiao Wu named this Spirit Ability: Electric Light Flash.

As the name suggests, it was a flash of electric light, so fast that the human eye could not even notice it. By the time it was noticed, she had already struck.

After obtaining her fourth Spirit Ability, Xiao Wu sparred with Tang San. When Tang San did not use the Endless Grassland, Xiao Wu could already gain some advantages.

As for Guang Ling's third spirit ring, it came from a five-thousand-year-old Lightning Spider, a spider-type Spirit Beast with lightning attributes that could consume magnetic gold and iron minerals.

This Spirit Beast gave her a Spirit Ability that, after shooting an arrow, could split and connect with each other using the power of lightning, forming an electric net.

Similar to Crimson Gold Aura and Golden Sun Aura, Guang Ling named her third Spirit Ability Lightning Aura. Each time it was used, the power of lightning would temper her Spirit.

Now, Guang Ling's Sun Chasing Bow already has two attributes: light and lightning, and one characteristic: upgrade, meaning that each time a Spirit Ability is used, the Sun Chasing Bow will be passively tempered, continuously improving its quality.

If the Crimson Gold Aura brought by the first spirit ring is included, it also has the "gold" attribute.

"Third Brother, do you have to find your fourth spirit ring in this barren place?"

Although the death Gobi was not as hot as the Infinite Desert, it was still relatively dry, and Xiao Wu couldn't stand it. "Are there no plant Spirit Beasts you need in the Star Dou Great Forest, or the Sunset Forest, those Hunting Spirit Forests with lush vegetation?"

"Yes, but because the vegetation is too lush, it's harder to find." Tang San shook his head. "Especially the Sunset Forest, there's a treasure land there, and some plants inside are more suitable for my spirit ring, but now is not the time to approach it, and I don't know if there will be a chance to approach it again in the future."

"There's a treasure land in the Sunset Forest?" Xiao Wu's eyes lit up. "How about after you find a suitable plant Spirit Beast, we go to the Sunset Forest to search for treasure before the major advanced academies start recruiting? Don't worry, with me here, I guarantee your safety."

As a Ten-thousand year Spirit Beast in human form, Xiao Wu possessed the original power of a Ten-thousand year cultivation. She could release the aura of a Ten-thousand year Spirit Beast, and Spirit Beasts of the Ten-thousand year and Thousand-year levels would definitely be scared away after sensing it.

This was Xiao Wu's confidence.

However, Tang San stated that not all Ten-thousand year Spirit Beasts would be scared away. Some unusual Spirit Beasts, such as the Man Faced Demon Spider, would not be scared away and would instead take risks.

"Forget it, there's a Titled Douluo in that place, it's not suitable for us to have a conflict." Tang San shook his head, leading Xiao Wu and Guang Ling to a Gobi beach.

Looking around, there were many round grass clumps in front. When the wind blew, they rolled around, appearing very light.

"What kind of grass is this?" Xiao Wu curiously picked up a clump, examined it for a moment, and asked Tang San beside her.

"Tumbleweed. As the name suggests, it rolls when the wind blows."

Tang San took the dry Tumbleweed from Xiao Wu's hand and threw it on the ground, letting it roll with the wind. "Don't think this grass looks dead; it's actually still alive. As long as there's water, it will take root, regain vitality, then blossom and bear fruit, spreading seeds. When it gets dry, the green branches and leaves will wither and shrink into a ball."

"This kind of grass is only suitable for growing in such Gobi and semi-arid grasslands. In other environments, there is no space for them to grow, because this grass can be eaten, equivalent to a wild vegetable. If it grew in Saint Spirit Village, it would probably be dug up by our villagers there."

"And the plant Spirit Beast I'm looking for is this Tumbleweed."

Xiao Wu pondered and asked, "So, this Tumbleweed has very tenacious Life, which is good for your Blue Silver Grass's Life cultivation."

"That's the idea." Tang San said, "Moreover, Tumbleweed has another name, called Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb. As long as it's not completely burned to ashes, it won't truly die. According to legend, a Ten-thousand year level Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb, also known as Saint Spirit Grass, can manifest the soul."

"That powerful?" Xiao Wu exclaimed.

"So, it's a legend." Tang San shook his head. "The soul beast encyclopedia doesn't record detailed information either. If my luck is bad, finding the Ten-thousand year level Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb I'm looking for this time will take a considerable amount of time."

The three entered the Gobi beach and began searching for a Ten-thousand year level Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb.

"Can we handle a Ten-thousand year plant Spirit Beast?" Xiao Wu worried about this question.

"Yes."

Tang San said, "A Ten-thousand year level Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb has no attack power. Its only powerful aspect is its concealment ability. Perhaps among these ordinary Tumbleweeds, there is a Ten-thousand year level Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb. This is considered a relatively 'friendly' plant Spirit Beast to humans."

Looking at the Tumbleweeds all around, Tang San used his Purple Demon Eye to investigate the anomalies among these Tumbleweeds, and at the same time, he explained to Xiao Wu and Guang Ling: "The reason I chose the Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb as my fourth spirit ring is to enhance my mental control ability. Nine Deaths Revival represents both the Tumbleweed's vitality and its immense mental force."

"I hope that after my Blue Silver Emperor absorbs this Spirit Beast's spirit ring, it can be controlled better, thereby strengthening the Endless Grassland."

"As for the Spirit Ability, the Nuo Ding City Spirit Hall Branch's records only mention one Spirit Master who obtained a Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb's spirit ring and gained a Spirit Ability named 'Feigned death,' which allowed him to enter a deep sleep, with almost imperceptible breathing, even evading the perception of a Titled Douluo."

"And that Spirit Master's Spirit was not a plant, it was a white wolf... I think you've guessed it, that was a commoner Spirit Master who didn't understand any Spirit theory at all."

A white wolf, a Beast Spirit, hunting a plant Spirit Beast, and an unrelated Tumbleweed at that.

Could they understand Spirit cultivation theory?

However, even so, the Hundred-year level Tumbleweed gave that Spirit Master a skill that could be said to be Life-saving.

And Tang San's Spirit is the Blue Silver Emperor, which, like the Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb, is a plant and both possess strong Life. Coupled with his research on the Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb and his understanding of its essence, he believed he had a chance to obtain a Spirit Ability that touched a trace of the essence of Life through this opportunity.

118: Enter Tiandou City

After searching for a long time, Tang San still hadn't found a ten-thousand-year-old Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb, so he stopped, thought for a moment, released his Blue Silver Emperor, and cast Endless Grassland.

In the original work, a ten-thousand-year-old Blue Silver King could communicate with the protagonist and possessed wisdom no less than that of a Ten-thousand year soul beast. Does this mean that plant Spirit Beasts, even if they haven't reached ten thousand years and can't move, can possess wisdom usually only gained by ordinary Spirit Beasts after reaching one hundred thousand years?

If Blue Silver Grass is like that, then Tumbleweed might be too.

Under the spread of the Blue Silver Emperor, Tang San's mental force connected with the Blue Silver Emperor, sensing all the Tumbleweeds present, and finally discovered a dry Tumbleweed with its Life force deeply restrained.

That was the ten-thousand-year-old Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb!

Tang San opened his eyes, pulled it over with his Blue Silver Grass, and infused it with Life force.

Immediately, the dry Tumbleweed began to grow again, its stiff, curled branches and leaves stretched out, becoming soft, revealing leaves like green jade, and at its center, there was a white fruit that was very soft to the touch.

“Greetings, esteemed Plant Emperor.”

When Tang San touched it, a girl-like voice echoed in his mind, clearly the ten-thousand-year-old Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb greeting him.

“San Ge, what’s wrong?” Xiao Wu Jie asked curiously when she saw Tang San愣.

“It’s nothing, I just confirmed a guess, which is that plant Spirit Beasts gain the wisdom of a Ten-thousand year soul beast when they reach ten thousand years of cultivation, they just can’t speak human language,” Tang San explained with a smile. “However, you can’t understand what this Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb is saying. I can only clearly understand what she wants to convey because of my Blue Silver Emperor.”

“It has human-like wisdom at ten thousand years?” Xiao Wu Jie was stunned and started to ponder something, but she herself didn't feel any pity for plant Spirit Beasts, as plant Spirit Beasts were once her food.

“Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb, I need your spirit ring, I’m sorry.” Tang San conveyed his thoughts; it wasn’t about right or wrong, just that he needed it to break through his current realm, nothing more.

“It is my honor to be sacrificed to the Blue Silver Emperor, but in the future, can you plant my seeds?” The Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb proposed its condition, “I don’t want to live in this environment anymore; I hope to grow in fertile soil.”

“Okay, I promise,” Tang San conveyed this message.

Immediately, the Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb floated up, its emerald green branches and leaves began to wither, and all its Life force condensed into a black seed and a spirit ring as black as ink.

“Is this a sacrifice?!”

Xiao Wu Jie was shocked and couldn’t imagine that a ten-thousand-year-old plant Spirit Beast could sacrifice itself... Compared to animal Spirit Beasts, plant Spirit Beasts cannot move before ten thousand years, but they possess an advantage that animal Spirit Beasts do not: at ten thousand years, they possess wisdom comparable to humans and can master the method of sacrifice.

This is truly extraordinary!

Tang San sat down cross-legged and absorbed the Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb's spirit ring, finishing in just ten minutes.

Without the mental will interference of the Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb, with his own strong physique, and the extremely high compatibility of the spirit ring with his Blue Silver Emperor, it would be difficult for Tang San to fail the absorption.

"San Ge, what Spirit Ability did you get?" Xiao Wu Jie asked impatiently.

"Nine Deaths Revival," Tang San named his Fourth Soul Skill. "A Spirit Ability that allows me to be reborn. Once activated, it can allow me to be reborn after death, but my spirit power will need to be cultivated anew, as this is equivalent to a new Life."

Xiao Wu Jie asked anxiously, "Does it only work on yourself?"

"No, it can work on others too, but for others, that person needs to have died first," Tang San said. "The pearl at the center of my Blue Silver Emperor can now store the souls of others. Even for those who have already died, as long as their soul information still exists and they still have flesh and bones, I can use my First Soul Skill, Endless Recovery, to provide a massive amount of energy and perfectly revive them. However, the higher their strength in Life, the longer it will take."

"If it's a Titled Douluo, I would need to maintain the Spirit Ability for about three years without eating or drinking."

"Like the First Soul Skill and the Third Soul Skill, it's still a matter of efficiency."

This Spirit Ability is incredibly powerful!

But it's not something Tang San can use yet; he still can't achieve inedia, and the power of the earth and the light of the sun and moon cannot directly become the energy source for his personal Life activities.

But a hint of excited tears still welled up in Xiao Wu Jie's eyes.

Efficiency?

When San Ge's spirit power increases in the future, the efficiency will improve.

The hope of Mother's revival...

It's there.

All that's left is for San Ge's cultivation to improve, and for him to find her Mother's soul and Spirit Bone, and it will be possible.

"Xiao Wu Jie, why are you crying?"

Guang Ling noticed Xiao Wu Jie's expression. Not knowing that Xiao Wu Jie was a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form, he handed her a handkerchief, "Did something sad come to mind?"

"Thank you." Xiao Wu Jie didn't explain, she just took the handkerchief and wiped her tears.

Seeing this, Guang Ling didn't ask further, knowing that Xiao Wu Jie might be hoping for San Ge to help revive some relative in the future.

Honestly, she wanted to too.

However, her father's bones have probably long since rotted away, so there's no chance of him being revived...

...

One month later.

One man and two women arrived at Heaven Dou City.

Before even entering Heaven Dou City, the three discovered that the road leading to Heaven Dou City had become extremely wide. The thick bluestones, in Tang San's mental force perception, were buried at least one meter deep underground.

Looking at the city walls of Heaven Dou City, their height was about one hundred meters, far more magnificent than Nuoding City.

"Is this Heaven Dou City? It's so big!"

When Guang Ling followed Tang San and Xiao Wu Jie on their soul hunting trip, she had seen cities along the way, but she had never seen such majestic city walls.

The three large characters above the city gate, "Heaven Dou City," seemed to be cast in gold, truly luxurious.

The three entered the city, and what met their eyes was a wide street, lined on both sides with stalls selling various goods. To the left and right, there were also passages, extending in all directions.

Tang San could already imagine the prosperity of this city.

"San Ge, look, there are so many spirit tools for daily Life here." Guang Ling's attention was on the various daily spirit tools. The words on the shop signs were a form of advertisement, emitting a soft glow to attract attention.

"This is Heaven Dou City, the capital of the Heaven Dou Empire, one of the most prosperous cities on the entire continent, so naturally there are many Life-related spirit tools." Tang San was also slightly awed by the prosperity here, truly understanding how vast the gap between rich and poor could be, but he still pretended to be composed, trying to keep his tone calm.

"Long time no see, Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling."

Just then, a familiar voice came. Huo Wu, tall and with long legs no less than Xiao Wu Jie's, waved to the three and jogged over, "I received your letter, calculated the time, and have been loitering... oh no, waiting around the east gate of Heaven Dou recently. Sure enough, I met you.”

“Come on, I’ll take you on a tour of Heaven Dou City.”

Tang San smiled, “Then I’ll trouble you, Miss Huo Wu.”

“No need to be so polite, just call me Xiao Wu... never mind, that’s the same name as your sworn sister. Just call me Huo Wu, or Sister Huo Wu.” Huo Wu thought for a moment and changed her words, “It’s just a name, it’s no big deal.”

“Okay, Huo Wu,” Tang San said.

“Oh my, you’re not even calling me ‘Sister’ anymore, you’ve really grown up, Big Sister is very sad, you know,” Huo Wu put on a self-pitying expression, her face long, and said mournfully.

Tang San: “...”

119: Don't you want to introduce it?

Huo Wu didn't take Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and the others to Blazing Academy; instead, she went to the Huo Family's manor.

Compared to the manor Tang San bought from Ma Xiunuo in Nuoding City, this place was much larger, equivalent to seven or eight football fields.

“It’s really wealthy,” Xiao Wu scanned the buildings within the manor, unable to help but exclaim.

“Not that wealthy.”

Huo Wu proudly lifted her head, “Guess how much a manor like this costs?”

Xiao Wu said, “Brother San’s small manor in Nuoding City cost 50,000 gold coins from Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, and that was a discounted price. This place is... more than ten times larger, so it probably costs a million, right?”

Huo Wu shook her head and said, “Guess again.”

Guang Ling said, “Two million?”

“Guess again.”

“Ten million?” Tang San spoke up.

“That’s right.”

Huo Wu nodded, “When my Huo Family bought this manor in Heaven Dou City, it cost 11.2 million. If you want to buy a manor like this in Heaven Dou City, your family assets need to be at least over 50 million. Otherwise, if you buy such a large place, you can’t possibly manage it yourselves, can you?”

Tang San sighed, “Indeed, if you buy such a large manor, renovations would also cost a lot of money, not to mention hiring people to clean and maintain it, which would incur significant expenses.”

“That’s well said, but you don’t need to hire people. You can just buy slaves and servants once. The large and small auction houses in Heaven Dou City have various slave auctions, and there’s even a street specifically for buying and selling slaves.” Huo Wu corrected Tang San’s “mistake.”

“Slaves...”

Tang San pondered, thinking to himself, “I almost forgot, in this Douluo Continent, there is slave trading. Employers control the lives and deaths of slaves; slaves and servants have no human rights.”

Then, Huo Wu took Tang San and the others on a tour of the entire manor and called for the butler to help arrange a small courtyard for them to rest.

“You all can stay here; don’t be polite.” Huo Wu patted the snowy white skin exposed on her chest and said boldly.

“Then we’ll trouble you.”

Tang San agreed, “Once we find a suitable academy, we’ll move into the dormitory.”

“Do you have to be so serious?” Huo Wu wrapped her arm around Tang San’s neck, “Is there something I, your elder sister, haven’t done well in hosting?”

“No, it’s just a bit uncomfortable staying at someone else’s home.” Tang San felt the softness, a bit distracted, but still held his ground.

“Hmph, she’s only a little older than me.” Xiao Wu pulled Tang San out of Huo Wu’s embrace, a little displeased.

“Heh!”

Huo Wu chuckled and waved goodbye, “It’s getting dark; you all should rest first. Servants will bring up the food and drinks. Tomorrow, I’ll take you to visit the advanced academies in Heaven Dou City that I approve of.”

After the three entered the small courtyard, they found that this house was more luxurious than the manor house in Nuoding City. The floors inside reflected light, there were crystal chandeliers overhead, and all sorts of furniture and decorations were spotless.

In the living room, there were also more than a dozen maids, smiling, who, under the guidance of the butler, bowed to Tang San, calling out, “Young Master, Young Miss.”

This kind of formality made Tang San extremely uncomfortable.

Xiao Wu and Guang Ling were also a bit unable to accept it.

Especially during meals, those maids stood by, always ready to step forward and help, even intending to help with feeding.

When they woke up the next day, the maids even tried to help them get dressed, but Tang San refused, sighing, “Is this the life of a noble? If people receive long-term service from servants, their thoughts might also degenerate; it truly tests one’s heart.”

After the three had breakfast, Huo Wu came over and asked, “How was your rest yesterday?”

“It was alright, but I’m a bit unaccustomed to such meticulous care—no, extremely unaccustomed.” Tang San sighed, “I’m afraid I can’t get used to the noble life.”

Huo Wu laughed and said, “I knew someone like you, who likes to do everything themselves, would be unaccustomed. But you have to learn to get used to it; this is fundamental to becoming a noble. Manors in Heaven Dou City also require nobles to be eligible to purchase them. If you're not a noble, who knows how many connections you'd need to pull."

Tang San shook his head, not wanting to dwell on the topic, and instead asked, "Can you take us to see the academies in Heaven Dou City? By the way, have you spread word of my arrival?"

"Of course not. I just wanted to say, my family wouldn't allow it anyway!" Huo Wu pouted, "As for today's arrangements, I'll take you to visit Blazing Academy, Tianshui Academy, Thunder Academy, Shenfeng Academy, Blue Tyrant Academy, and Heaven Dou Royal Academy separately."

"Doesn't Tianshui Academy only accept females? And only those with ice and water attributes?" Tang San was a bit puzzled, "Can males also enter?"

"Didn't I say? It's just to look around."

Huo Wu said with a chuckle, "Although Tianshui Academy only recruits female students, it doesn't exclude other talented males from visiting. After all, those young women from Tianshui are quite flirtatious."

Tang San (☹_☹): "Uh..."

Huo Wu continued, "Don't think that just because Tianshui is an all-girls academy, all the girls are pure. As far as I know, the leading figures of this generation at Tianshui Academy, Shui Bing'er and Shui Yue'er, have had quite a few boyfriends, and then dumped them for various reasons."

Tang San: "... " It seems that on the Douluo Continent, people are quite open about matters between men and women, as long as it's not forced.

Xiao Wu snorted, "Corrupt and decadent nobles!"

Huo Wu's mouth twitched, and she said, "Little Sister Xiao Wu, don't include me in that scolding; I'm different."

“That’s true, your temper is so fiery, no one would like you.” Xiao Wu displayed her sharp tongue, momentarily leaving Huo Wu speechless.

“Let’s go, let’s go for a stroll.” Tang San, seeing Huo Wu about to erupt, immediately changed the subject, “Huo Wu, don’t bother with Xiao Wu; sometimes she’s just a bit pure.”

“Don’t worry, I’m very tolerant of Little Sister Xiao Wu.” Huo Wu glanced at Xiao Wu, who looked angry as if her candy had been snatched away, and suddenly found her quite adorable, then hooked her arm around Tang San’s left shoulder.

“Hateful!”

Xiao Wu’s face tightened (" > 卐 <), then she ran to Tang San’s right side, grabbed his right arm, and made a face at Huo Wu.

“So cute, Little Sister Xiao Wu.” Huo Wu blinked, unfazed.

Guang Ling: “...”

“Huo Wu!”

Just then, two figures approached from not far away. They both looked like young men. One of them had reddish-brown hair, almost the same color as Huo Wu’s before her Spirit transformation.

“Brother, and Feng Xiaotian, why are you here?”

The other person was none other than Feng Xiaotian from Shenfeng Academy. At this moment, he was like a statue, the flirtatious smile on his lips frozen in place.

Huo Wushuang said, “It was Feng Xiaotian who insisted on coming, and I had no choice but to bring him in. I also wanted to see the friends you brought back yesterday. Aren’t you going to introduce us?”

120: Feng Xiaotian's challenge

“This is Tang San, a friend I met when I was hunting for my third spirit ring.” Huo Wu released her hand from Tang San’s left shoulder and introduced him to the others, “This is Tang Wu, Tang San’s god-sister, and this is Guang Ling, Tang San’s little follower.”

Xiao Wu: “What do you mean god-sister?”

Guang Ling: “What do you mean little follower?”

Huo Wu chuckled, ignoring their complaints, and then introduced to Tang San, “This strong man is my older brother, my biological brother. His Spirit is Fire Dragon, and he’s already level thirty-nine. He’ll probably break through to level forty and become a Spirit Ancestor next year.”

“And this one, his name is Feng Xiaotian. His Spirit is Twin-Headed Gale Demon Wolf. He’s already a Spirit Ancestor, but his spirit power is only level forty-two. He’s recently started researching a self-created Spirit Ability, preparing to show off his might in the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament two years from now.”

Self-created Spirit Ability?

That’s a waste of time.

However, once one’s cultivation reaches Spirit Ancestor, the speed of spirit power improvement slows down. Feng Xiaotian can’t reach Spirit King level within two years, so researching a powerful self-created Spirit Ability within these two years, striving for a good result, or even winning the championship in the tournament two years later, the prize obtained would be far better than using these two years to improve spirit power.

Moreover, Feng Xiaotian had innate full spirit power, and his cultivation speed was very fast, catching up to the Shrek Seven Devils in the original work.

Honestly, if the Shrek Seven Devils in the original work hadn't been given a boost by Tang San with Immortal Herbs, besides Tang San himself and Xiao Wu, who was a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form, the other five couldn't compare.

No wonder he wasted cultivation time to create his own Spirit Ability in the original work.

His talent was there.

Willful.

“You are Tang San?” Feng Xiaotian had naturally heard of the Martial Soul Theory Master’s reputation over the past six years, but he couldn’t believe the person in front of him was him. “How old are you this year?”

“Twelve,” Tang San said.

“Phew~ It seems like it’s just a namesake then.” Feng Xiaotian breathed a sigh of relief, then became serious. “Kid, let me tell you, stay away from Huo Wu, otherwise—”

Slap!

Before he could finish speaking, Feng Xiaotian was kicked seven or eight meters away by Huo Wu.

“Feng Xiaotian, what are you doing? Tang San and the others are my friends, and besides, I don’t like people weaker than me.”

Huo Wu released her Spirit, and the Sun Goddess appeared. Two yellow and two purple spirit rings emerged, showing she had already become a Spirit Ancestor. Moreover, the purple of her fourth spirit ring was extremely deep, revealing a hint of black, clearly indicating that the Spirit Beast that contributed this spirit ring was close to the ten thousand year level.

“My goodness, Huo Wu, you’ve gotten stronger again.” Feng Xiaotian got up, patting the dust off his body, and his mouth twitched. “Your spirit power must have reached level forty-four, right?”

“Of course. By the time the next Spirit Master Tournament starts in two years, if I cultivate diligently, I might become a Spirit King.” Ever since Huo Wu’s Spirit revealed the brilliance of the Sun Goddess, her cultivation speed had increased linearly, even faster than Feng Xiaotian, who had innate full spirit power. “You can only look up to me!”

Feng Xiaotian gave a bitter smile. Understanding Huo Wu’s temper, he knew that if he couldn’t defeat her, she would never give him a chance. But what was going on with that Tang San?

Could it be because he was handsome?

His own looks weren’t bad either.

Or did Huo Wu like those soft-skinned guys?

Huo Wushuang coughed, interrupting the two, and asked, “Sister, where are you taking this Tang San and these two young girls?”

“They are exceptionally talented and want to join an Advanced Spirit Master Academy. I’m taking them to visit academies in Heaven Dou City,” Huo Wu explained. “They are all geniuses.”

“Geniuses?”

Feng Xiaotian’s eyes lit up. He ran to Tang San’s side and asked, “Little brother, at twelve years old, for Huo Wu to call you a genius, your spirit power must have reached level twenty-five or above, right? Do you want to consider my Shenfeng Academy? Even if your Spirit doesn’t have wind attribute, it doesn’t matter. We are not as strict as Tianshui... cough cough, Thunder Academy.”

Huo Wu narrowed her eyes: “Feng Xiaotian, don’t try to abduct people. They have their own right to choose.”

Feng Xiaotian laughed awkwardly and said, “I’m just recruiting students... By the way, little brother, what are your Spirits, and what specific levels? When you reach level thirty, I can apply to the dean and personally take you to the Star Dou Great Forest to hunt Spirit Beasts, after all, I have some connection with him.”

Some connection?

My dean father, right?

A strange thought popped into Tang San’s mind, and he replied, “There’s no need for help hunting Spirit Beasts. My fifth spirit ring must be at least fifty thousand years old.”

“Fifty thousand years?” Feng Xiaotian was startled, then reacted, “Wait, fifth spirit ring?”

“Uh-huh.”

Xiao Wu’s Spirit possessed her, displaying one yellow, two purple, and one black spirit ring. Especially the last ten thousand year spirit ring, it made Feng Xiaotian and Huo Wushuang’s mouths drop open. “My Third Brother and I are Spirit Ancestors! Guang Ling has also reached Spirit Elder level! Spirit Grandmaster? Aren’t you looking down on us too much?”

Twelve years old, Spirit Ancestor!

This!

What kind of monster is this?!

Feng Xiaotian and Huo Wushuang looked at each other, disbelieving, but Xiao Wu’s four spirit rings forced them to believe.

Tang San also didn’t stop Xiao Wu. After all, their strength levels and spirit ring configurations would be exposed sooner or later. In such a big city, they couldn’t hide for long.

However, Tang San had already thought of a reason: he had accidentally bought a human-head-sized ten thousand year whale jelly, and there was evidence. The pharmacy owner at Nuoding Pharmacy in Nuoding City was the best witness.

“May I ask, little brother Tang San, what is your Spirit?” Feng Xiaotian asked.

“Blue Silver Grass.”

Tang San released his Spirit, and a Blue Silver Emperor emerged from his hand, with twelve long, strip-like leaves and a crystal-clear bead at its center.

To Feng Xiaotian and Huo Wushuang, this was clearly a mutated variety.

However, what moved them even more was the spirit ring combination of one yellow, two purple, and one black, consistent with Xiao Wu’s, which was simply indescribable.

“It really is Blue Silver Grass, it just looks a bit mutated. I’m afraid only a mutated Blue Silver Grass could cultivate this quickly.” Huo Wushuang gave his assessment.

“No, if it were merely mutated, it couldn’t cultivate this quickly.”

Feng Xiaotian reined in his smile, his expression somewhat serious, and even a hint of solemnity appeared in his eyes. “You are that Martial Soul Theory Master, Tang San, who changed the status of most commoner Spirit Masters on the continent!”

Tang San smiled: “Can you not tell anyone?”

Feng Xiaotian laughed: “I didn’t expect that the rumored Martial Soul Theory Master would actually be just a twelve-year-old boy. It’s truly astonishing. However, to seal our mouths, just saying it won’t do.”

“How about a fight with me?”

Listening to Feng Xiaotian's suggestion, Tang San felt helpless: "Why do people in the Spirit Master's world all like to fight and kill... Alright, if I win, unless I agree, you are not allowed to reveal my identity, okay?"

"Please rest assured, 'little' Grandmaster Tang San, who am I, Feng Xiaotian? In Heaven Dou City, who doesn't know I'm the most trustworthy?"

Feng Xiaotian laughed heartily, his Spirit possessed him, and his appearance became similar to Su Yuntao's Spirit possession state, only his build was more imposing, and the wolf fur on his body was blue-gray.

"Feng Xiaotian, Spirit, Twin-Headed Gale Demon Wolf, level forty-two, primarily a close-combat crowd control attack system, can also be a armor-breaking system, and a secondary long-range output attack system."

121: Feng Xiaotian VS Tang San

(Part 1)

“Feng Xiaotian, what are you doing?”

Huo Wu spoke first, “This isn’t the place for a fight.”

“My apologies, Huo Wu, I was being rash. I just wanted to test the abilities of this Martial Soul Theory Master,” Feng Xiaotian immediately put on a smiling face, trying to appease Huo Wu, afraid of displeasing her.

“Third Brother, this Feng Xiaotian looks a bit like Tao Ge,” Xiao Wu whispered into Tang San’s ear, “Is it true that all Spirit Masters whose Spirits are wolves have such personalities?”

“Spirits do indeed affect a person’s personality. Wolves are close relatives of dogs; in fact, dogs were domesticated from wolves,” Tang San replied in a low voice.

Feng Xiaotian’s ears were sharp, and he naturally heard the whispers between Tang San and Xiao Wu. He was a bit angry but didn’t know what to say. After all, Tang San hadn’t explicitly mentioned him, and his voice wasn’t loud. Huo Wu, Huo Wushuang, and the others hadn’t heard it. Moreover, what Tang San said seemed to be true. In front of Huo Wu, his mother, and other girls, his personality really wasn’t like a wolf’s, unable to be assertive. Instead, it was more like a dog, quite willing to obey their reasonable commands.

However, he was certain that this was absolutely not because his Twin-Headed Gale Demon Wolf Spirit was a close relative of dogs, but because of his respect for women!

“Since you want to battle, then come to my place,” Huo Wu lectured Feng Xiaotian, also wanting to see what progress Tang San had made over the years.

“No problem, whatever Xiao Wu says, goes,” Feng Xiaotian was beaming, thinking that Huo Wu might just be treating Tang San as a younger brother, and in reality, she was still considering his—Feng Xiaotian’s—face and feelings. He felt delighted.

Subsequently, Tang San and the others followed Huo Wu and her group for nearly three minutes before arriving at Huo Wu’s residence.

This was a more luxurious courtyard than where Tang San and the others were staying. The main house had five stories, and there were four or five smaller buildings, two or three stories high, beside it. According to Huo Wu herself, those were the residences of the servants who usually attended to her diet and daily life.

“Wow~ Huo Wu, you’re really rich,” Even though she was at odds with Huo Wu, Xiao Wu couldn’t help but marvel at the Huo Family’s wealth at this moment.

“It’s alright, just barely enough to establish ourselves in Heaven Dou City,” Huo Wu tilted her chin up thirty degrees, her lips curled into a smile, as happy as if she had eaten honey. Her words were quite Versailles-like.

Arriving at the backyard of the house, an open space nearly a hundred meters long and wide came into everyone’s view.

“Let’s do it here. My brother and I used to practice here often,” Huo Wu pointed to the open space ahead, speaking indifferently.

“Yes, Huo Wu, those times, they really make me nostalgic,” Huo Wushuang sighed, as if childhood memories were welling up in his eyes.

“That’s right, Brother, you were always being beaten by me.”

Huo Wu unceremoniously exposed her older brother's shortcomings in front of Tang San and the others.

Huo Wushuang's face flushed. Catching Feng Xiaotian's playful gaze, he snorted coldly and said, "I was letting my younger sister..."

Seeing Huo Wu turn her head and flex her wrists, he immediately changed his tune, "...Of course, the current me is no longer a match for you, my younger sister. Who told your Spirit to change from Fiery Shadow to the Sun Goddess?"

"Tsk, you say that as if you could have beaten me before my Spirit revealed its true form," Huo Wu scoffed, deciding not to bother with this silly older brother. She turned to Tang San and said, "Tang San, let me see what progress you've made over the years. And Feng Xiaotian, if you win, I can give you a chance to pursue me."

Feng Xiaotian's eyes lit up, while Tang San immediately raised his hand and said, "Can I surrender? After all, I'm a good person. As long as you don't annoy me, I prefer to help others achieve their goals."

"My benefactor!"

Feng Xiaotian grabbed Tang San's shoulders, giving him a big bear hug, tears streaming down his face, "As expected of the Martial Soul Theory Master! My admiration for you is like the Heaven Dou Star River, endless and surging..."

"Slap!"

Feng Xiaotian was kicked away by Huo Wu, who said, "Stop messing around. You're already an adult, yet still so childish."

Immediately after, Huo Wu stared at Tang San and said coldly, "If you dare to surrender, then pay for last night's room."

"I still have some family assets, I can afford..."

"One hundred thousand gold coins."

“Although my family assets are quite substantial, I cannot waste them like that. I still need to take care of Xiao Wu and Guang Ling’s food and daily necessities,” Tang San immediately changed his tune, his earnest and serious demeanor completely different from his previous composure and leisure.

Huo Wu: “...” Speaking of which, Tang San is so poor, can I support him?

Feng Xiaotian walked to the center of the arena and introduced himself again: “Feng Xiaotian, Spirit: Twin-Headed Gale Demon Wolf, forty-second rank, close-combat control-type attack system, can also serve as armor-piercing, and can also be used for long-range output.”

Tang San said: “Tang San, Spirit Blue Silver Grass, forty-first rank, all-around support system Spirit Master. My Spirit can amplify, can heal, and if you don’t mind the taste, you can also eat it. However, this ‘all-around’ has another meaning, which is to say, I know a little bit of everything.”

Huo Wu shouted: “As the referee, with both sides’ Spirits released, I now announce, the battle begins!”

As the clear words fell, Feng Xiaotian let out a long howl, like a Demon Wolf, rapidly pouncing on Tang San, his sharp claws aiming for Tang San’s face.

Before even touching, Tang San already sensed the sharpness of these wolf claws, and they also carried a slight friction sound.

That was wind element!

When attacking, Feng Xiaotian didn’t just simply use spirit power; he also transformed spirit power into wind element, condensing it at his claws.

“One truly cannot underestimate the geniuses of this World.”

Tang San thought to himself, his figure flickered, leaving a phantom in his original spot, while his true body circled behind Feng Xiaotian.

“Afterimage?”

Feng Xiaotian froze, sensing the wind behind him, he leaped upwards, instantly dodging Tang San's punch from behind, then performed a three-hundred-and-sixty-degree flip in the air, kicking towards Tang San's back.

But Tang San seemed to have eyes on his back, twisting his body to face Feng Xiaotian head-on, and also raised his leg to kick.

Bang!

Their Right Legs collided, their respective spirit power clashing, producing a gust of wind that spread in all directions, which even Huo Wu and the others, over fifty meters away, could feel.

“What magnificent spirit power!” Huo Wushuang's eyes narrowed, “I thought that if Blue Silver Grass could cultivate so quickly, the quality of its spirit power wouldn't be high, but I didn't expect it to be so profound.”

“Hmph hmph, if the quality of his spirit power wasn't high, how could he bear a ten-thousand-year spirit ring?” Xiao Wu said proudly.

“Third Brother is the best,” Guang Ling echoed.

On the field, Feng Xiaotian was kicked back seven or eight meters, and after landing, he retreated another two or three steps before stabilizing himself, while Tang San only retreated two steps.

Different Spirits cultivate spirit power with different properties.

For example, Tang San, currently primarily cultivating Blue Silver Emperor, follows the Life path. The spirit power he cultivates contains Life aura; its destructive power cannot be compared to the spirit power cultivated by other Spirits.

Conversely, Feng Xiaotian, whose Spirit is the Twin-Headed Gale Demon Wolf, also possesses wind attributes, making his destructive power astonishing.

But why did Feng Xiaotian come out on the losing end just now?

Mainly because Tang San's spirit power was more profound. Mysterious Heaven Skill is a divine skill secret manual that no meditation method in this World can compare to.

Secondly, Tang San possessed the Jade Bone Technique, and had absorbed a hundred-thousand-year Blue Silver Right Leg Bone, making his physical body far beyond what Feng Xiaotian could match.

Just now, Tang San hadn't even used sixty percent of his strength.

“Holy cow! Your foot is so hard?!”

After Feng Xiaotian stabilized himself, he felt a slight numbness in his Right Leg Bone, as if he had just kicked a solid iron block, “You didn't put an iron plate or something in your shoe, did you?”

122: Feng Xiaotian VS Tang San

(Part 2)

“I didn’t,” Tang San shook his head slightly, “Besides, you’ll soon find that it’s not just my feet that are hard; other parts aren’t soft either.”

“Hmm, I’m pretty much the same,” Feng Xiaotian stubbornly replied as his first yellow spirit ring lit up.

Instantly, Feng Xiaotian’s body expanded by a circle, and his overall strength increased by nearly fifty percent.

Huo Wu introduced to Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, “That’s Feng Xiaotian’s First Soul Skill, Demonic Wolf Berserk, a self-buffing skill that can increase all attributes by fifty percent.

However, the amplification percentage cannot increase with the improvement of spirit power; it’s a fixed amplification skill.”

Immediately after, Feng Xiaotian’s second spirit ring lit up.

An invisible wind surrounded his body, making him look like a Demon God of Wind, and his shoulder-length hair floated up.

“This is Feng Xiaotian’s Second Soul Skill, Gale Shield, which converts spirit power into wind attribute and rapidly rotates it around his body for all-around protection,” Huo Wu continued to explain.

“He told me that the self-created Spirit Ability he wants to create is based on the inspiration from the wind element rotation of this Second Soul Skill.”

At this moment, Feng Xiaotian, with two layers of buffs—enhancement and defense—had a change in his demeanor.

His gentle eyes were gone, replaced by an extremely sharp gaze as he looked at Tang San: “Tang San, why don’t you concede? Right now, all my attributes are comprehensively enhanced, and my defense is invincible.”

Tang San: “.....Don’t speak too soon.”

“Hmph!” Feng Xiaotian snorted, and in the blink of an eye, he attacked Tang San again.

But Tang San still didn’t use a Spirit Ability; instead, his hands turned to Jade, constantly clashing with Feng Xiaotian in physical combat, even subtly gaining the upper hand.

“This is impossible!” After being pushed back more than ten meters by Tang San’s palm print on his chest, Feng Xiaotian felt a tightness in his chest and looked at Tang San in shock: “Why is your body so powerful?”

“How should I put it? The correct way to consume ten thousand year whale jelly seems to have been published by me, right?” Tang San smiled slightly, revealing one of the reasons for his powerful physique.

Tang San hadn’t consumed much ten thousand year whale jelly; most of it was given to Xiao Wu and Guang Ling.

His own powerful physique was obtained by researching the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method, the power of vibration, blood circulation, True Spirit Bone, and other elements, leading to the Creation of the Jade Bone Technique and subsequent cultivation.

“So that’s it!” Feng Xiaotian truly believed him, because before the effects of the whale jelly were published, who would have thought that after softening it with spirit power in a specific way, it could be a treasure medicine that enhances a Spirit Master’s physique?

Now, whale jelly is priceless; even if you want to buy it, you don't know where to purchase it.

Feng Xiaotian believed it, but Huo Wu didn't believe that Tang San was suppressing Feng Xiaotian solely by virtue of his powerful physique.

If it were merely a powerful physique, it wouldn't be so effortless and comfortable.

The movement techniques and hand techniques Tang San used were rare self-created Spirit Abilities, extremely exquisite.

She firmly believed that they were Tang San's own Creation.

The reason? With Tang San's wisdom, was it difficult to create self-created Spirit Abilities?

"Next, I'm going to use my self-created Spirit Ability.

The power of this move is very strong, and I haven't fully mastered it yet," Feng Xiaotian's eyes became serious, "It's several times more powerful than my third and fourth offensive Spirit Abilities."

"Come on," Tang San gestured for Feng Xiaotian to prepare, indicating he wouldn't interfere, as this was a sparring match, not a fight to the death.

"You're not even using a Spirit Ability?" Feng Xiaotian felt that Tang San was looking down on him.

"Well, I'm a support system, and my Spirit Abilities are all support-type," Tang San "spoke truthfully," showing his Jade-like palm to Feng Xiaotian, "As for being versatile, when I fight you, I currently rely mainly on self-created Spirit Abilities.

I can fight, endure, and run; it's just that my long-range output methods are a bit lacking, but I'm also trying to compensate with spirit power."

This was true, as Tang San, while at Notting Academy, also practiced using spirit power to condense moves similar to the Rasengan, but he lacked wind attributes, preventing the spirit power Rasengan from being thrown too far, making it more suitable for close combat.

However, Tang San felt that once his spirit power increased, his mental force strengthened, and his control improved, he could unleash the Endless Grassland and have those Blue Silver Emperor leaves condense into numerous Rasengans.

That visual style!

It was too beautiful; he couldn't even imagine it!

"I see." Feng Xiaotian believed him again, and his whole body began to rotate, with countless wind blades condensing around him, almost forming a tornado dozens of meters high.

Tang San narrowed his eyes, using his Purple Demon Eye to observe Feng Xiaotian rotating within the tornado, as well as the eighteen almost transparent wind blades revolving around him, each nearly two meters long and half a meter wide.

It was imaginable what terrifying consequences such an attack would have if it landed on flesh and blood.

The only drawback might be the somewhat long preparation time.

According to Tang San's judgment, Feng Xiaotian used the power of wind element rotation for this move.

Those eighteen wind blades could be attached to his arms for close combat, or they could be used as long-range attacks, shot out, and because they rotated, each one would be stronger and faster than the last.

However, Tang San clearly saw the pain on Feng Xiaotian's face, indicating that he still couldn't control this move, so he most likely wouldn't dare to engage in close combat with him, opting for long-range output instead.

Whoosh!

Instantly, a wind blade shot towards Tang San, but it missed, hitting the wall a hundred meters away, piercing through it for a distance before dissipating.

“Very strong, but if it can’t hit, it’s useless,” Tang San raised his hands, adopting a posture similar to Tai Chi, both arms turning to Jade.

“Twin-Headed Gale Demon Wolf Eighteen Consecutive Slashes!” Feng Xiaotian shouted, continuing to spin, launching the remaining seventeen wind blades at Tang San one by one.

Purple light flickered in Tang San’s eyes as he clearly saw the trajectory of each wind blade.

His Jade arms constantly moved left and right, colliding, blocking each wind blade aside.

Using strength to counter strength, four ounces to move a thousand pounds.

This was Controlling Crane Catching Dragon.

Just like that, Tang San, amidst the wind blades, was like a divine being, his arms moving continuously, pushing away the wind blades.

After even blocking the sixth wind blade, Tang San began to try to “grab” the wind blades, his hands rapidly circling in front of his chest.

A spirit power energy ball the size of a human head condensed, and the wind blades shot by Feng Xiaotian were almost absorbed by it.

This was the spirit power Rasengan!

Tang San used the wind blades shot by Feng Xiaotian, in a rotating manner, to gather and condense the remaining twelve wind blades into the Rasengan.

“Wind Attribute · spirit power Rasengan Shuriken!” Tang San threw the Rasengan towards Feng Xiaotian and shouted, “Get down!”

Feng Xiaotian watched the spirit power Rasengan Shuriken rapidly flying towards him, his pupils shrinking.

Upon hearing Tang San's warning, he instantly dropped to the ground.

Whoosh— The spirit power Rasengan Shuriken flew over Feng Xiaotian's head, the intense friction sound it created with the air made his scalp tingle, and he was shocked: "This is also a self-created Spirit Ability?

And it can even utilize others' attacks? However, I also saw Tang San's movements just now; that way of drawing circles and rotating his hands is truly exquisite."

Boom!

At this moment, Feng Xiaotian sensed a huge vibration and a gust of wind from behind him.

When he looked back, his entire person was stunned.....

Regarding typos, the previous VIP chapters were locked and couldn't be modified, requiring contact with the editor... it's very troublesome.

In the future, I will try to check two or three times before publishing.

By the way, why doesn't the backend of Qidian have a program that actively reminds me of typos during the writing process?

123: Visiting major colleges in Tiandou (Part 1)

The person's head-sized Rasengan suddenly expanded a hundred meters behind him, rotating at high speed, reaching a diameter of over fifty meters.

"What is that?"

Feng Xiaotian stared blankly at the expanding spiral sphere, utterly horrified, "Wind attribute spirit power can be used like that?"

Wind attribute spirit power was clearly his specialty, yet he had never imagined its power could be so immense, affecting such a wide range.

That high-speed rotating energy sphere, even a Spirit King, no, a Spirit Emperor—even a Spirit Emperor would likely suffer severe damage, or even death.

This was truly a self-created Spirit Ability!

"Your self-created Spirit Ability, I think it's very good, utilizing the power of rotation, but my suggestion is, it's best not to let your entire body rotate."

After the wind attribute spirit power spiral shuriken dissipated, leaving a large pit about a dozen meters deep, Tang San offered his advice, "Although a Spirit Master's physique is different from ordinary people, rotating so many times will always make one a bit dizzy, and it will reduce the hit rate. Actually, I actively caught more than half of the wind blades you attacked me with."

"So that's how it is." Feng Xiaotian was a bit dejected, but immediately got up, laughed heartily, "However, this is only because I met a genius like you."

If it were anyone else, they definitely wouldn't be able to block this move of mine."

Despite saying so, Feng Xiaotian had actually taken Tang San's advice to heart, even pondering how to learn Tang San's method of utilizing "rotation."

"Feng Xiaotian, I gave you a chance, but you're useless," Huo Wu said with a chuckle.

"Huo Wu..." The smile on Feng Xiaotian's face abruptly froze, as if it had solidified.

"Brother, I understand you."

Huo Wushuang walked up to Feng Xiaotian, patted his shoulder, and comforted him, "Don't be sad. Come on, brother, I'll take you to Tiandou Bar to relax."

After the dazed Feng Xiaotian was led away by Huo Wushuang, Huo Wu pouted and said to Tang San, "Let's go, I'll take you to visit the six major academies in Heaven Dou City."

Tang San glanced at Feng Xiaotian, who was leaving with Huo Wushuang. His back looked a bit lonely, but he shouldn't be the kind of person to sink into depression from this.

Self-created Spirit Ability, utilizing the power of rotation, controlling wind elements.

This was the future of the Twin-Headed Gale Demon Wolf.

Just now, he had already made it clear that a genius like Feng Xiaotian would surely comprehend something, and thus become stronger in two years.

As for the reason for doing so?

Besides maintaining the persona of a Martial Soul Theory Master, more importantly, Tang San felt that if he were the only one to dominate the competition two years later, it would be too boring.

Combat always needs challenges.

Moreover, ideas need to collide to spark other inspirations.

Blazing Academy.

This was Huo Wu's second home, so it naturally became the first choice for Huo Wu to lead Tang San and the others to visit.

The buildings here were basically red or gold, and a hint of dryness permeated the air. Ordinary people coming here would inevitably find it hard to adapt.

However, for Spirit Masters with fire-attribute Spirits, such an environment could accelerate the cultivation of spirit power and improve their mood.

From this, Tang San could also see that for advanced Spirit Master academies, simulated cultivation environments had already been integrated into daily campus life.

However, one thing made Tang San quite curious: the new students at this academy didn't seem very familiar with Huo Wu; only a portion of the older students were enthusiastic towards Huo Wu.

"You don't study at the academy run by your own family?" Tang San asked tentatively.

"You can't hide anything from me." Huo Wu flicked her fiery red ponytail and smiled sweetly, "But where I study, I'll keep it a secret for now."

"I probably already guessed." Tang San nodded, "Heaven Dou Royal Academy, right?"

"How did you know?" Huo Wu was curious.

"It's simple. You, a Spirit Master with fire and light attribute Spirits, wouldn't go to the other three major Four Element Academies. Blue Tyrant Academy, from its name, you know it has some connection with the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, perhaps a branch academy of Thunder Academy or something."

Tang San analyzed based on what he knew, "But Heaven Dou Royal Academy is different. It's willing to accept any genius student from the Four Element Academies. Perhaps there are political factors involved, but your talent is indeed enough to enter it."

"Although the analysis isn't entirely correct, it's not far off." Huo Wu sighed, "Blue Tyrant Academy is indeed related to the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, but it's not a branch of Thunder Academy. I'm not very clear on the specifics, I just heard that the dean of Blue Tyrant Academy is the illegitimate daughter of a prominent figure in the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan."

Yu Luomian's illegitimate daughter.

Tang San knew this, but others likely didn't, as family scandals shouldn't be publicized. Otherwise, the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan wouldn't be able to silence all of Heaven Dou City.

After visiting Blazing Academy, Huo Wu then took Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling to Tianshui Academy.

It must be said that the quantity and quality of beauties at Tianshui Academy were indeed good. Many girls, seeing a handsome young man like Tang San, came over to tease him, being very bold.

Xiao Wu had a lot of opinions about this, feeling that the girls here were too bold, even "presumptuous." Even she hadn't pinched Brother San's cheek yet!

"I told you, the girls here are all very flirtatious," Huo Wu said, raising her head and scoffing.

"I've seen it." Tang San wasn't very comfortable here and asked Huo Wu to quickly take them to the next one.

The next one was Thunder Academy.

Unfortunately, Thunder Academy was an academy founded by the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, and the guards were also Spirit Masters, who wouldn't let them in. Huo Wu was a bit embarrassed: "Last time, a friend of mine seemed to have taken me in."

Next, it was Shenfeng Academy, and Feng Xiaotian personally came to greet them: "Unexpected? Surprised?"

"As expected." Tang San extended his hand and formally shook hands with Feng Xiaotian.

Under Feng Xiaotian's guidance, the group toured the entire Shenfeng Academy. Except for certain restricted areas, Feng Xiaotian introduced all other areas in great detail, even explaining the types of flowers, plants, and trees in the roadside flowerbeds, and when they were planted, and so on.

It must be said that in terms of "meticulousness," Feng Xiaotian was also a comedic talent.

Unfortunately, Tang San did not plan to stay here.

After all, to obtain the most Spirit and Spirit Beast data, Heaven Dou Royal Academy was the best choice.

Although that academy ostensibly only recruited nobles, it would also specially recruit commoner Spirit Masters with extremely outstanding talent.

"Are you really not staying at Shenfeng Academy?" Feng Xiaotian tried to persuade Tang San to stay.

"No, talking with Brother Feng is enjoyable, but if we meet too often, I'm afraid I'll get impatient," Tang San politely refused.

"That's truly heartbreaking. Am I that annoying?" Feng Xiaotian was speechless. Wasn't he just a bit talkative? Was he really that unwelcome?

However, in Tang San's eyes, was Feng Xiaotian just a bit talkative?

He was simply inexhaustible!

If Feng Xiaotian wasn't born with full spirit power, and likely had a kinship with the higher-ups of Shenfeng Academy, plus his strength was also great, just from walking this path, Tang San could probably tell from the expressions of the academy students along the way that they really wanted to beat Feng Xiaotian up and then shut his mouth.

Storm Devil Wolf?

Could it be a close relative of a husky?!

And with two heads!

124: Visiting major colleges in Tiandou (Part 2)

After leaving Shenfeng Academy, Huo Wu took them to Blue Tyrant Academy, the only academy in Heaven Dou City that vigorously recruited civilian Spirit Masters.

Although it recruited civilian students, it did not exclude noble students; after all, located in a place like Heaven Dou City where every inch of land is precious, maintaining the academy's livelihood required a large amount of money.

The relationship between the dean of Blue Tyrant Academy and the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan seemed not very good, so naturally, it couldn't get funding from the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan on the surface, and could only find ways to increase its income.

The gatekeeper of Blue Tyrant Academy recognized Huo Wu, chatted with her for a few sentences, and then let them in.

Seeing this scene, Tang San secretly sighed, "Indeed, no matter where you are, connections need to be handled well; it can save a lot of trouble."

Blue Tyrant Academy was quite large, similar to the Four Elemental Academies, but its style wasn't very distinct, and its general environment was similar to Notting Academy.

Tang San could understand this; after all, Liu Erlong was currently in a period of decline and didn't have much energy to manage the entire academy, so most of the time, other teachers in the academy were probably managing it.

And Liu Erlong?

In most cases, she was probably just a "high-level thug"; if someone came to challenge or cause trouble for the academy, she would take action and beat them up.

Honestly, it's only because this World has extraordinary power, and it can barely be said that strength is respected; otherwise, with Liu Erlong's personality and methods, could she be a dean?

However, Liu Erlong also paid attention to the academy's talented students, and for the Spirit Master Grand Competition, she kept several students whose strength had already reached graduation standards, such as Jing Ling, Huang Yuan, Jiang Zhu, and Tai Long.

After all, the Spirit Master Grand Competition was a "job-seeking reality show"; regardless of whether the students in the academy could win the championship, as long as they performed well, they could be selected by various major forces on the continent, then become nobles, and then promote the academy, expand its reputation, recruit more students, allowing the academy to continuously grow and give back to the academy.

In addition, Tang San had previously put forward a theory, or rather, a suggestion: to diversify the Spirit Fighting Arena to reflect the different values of different Spirit Masters, which led to many previously underestimated Spirit Masters being given important positions.

This also made many Spirit Masters revere Tang San even more.

"The students of Blue Tyrant Academy are much weaker than those of other academies."

Tang San's perception was keen; feeling the spirit power fluctuations emanating from the students he met along the way, he shook his head, "Although if I reveal my identity, I can establish myself in this academy where over eighty percent of the students are commoners, and even be sought after by the students, Liu Erlong is a love-struck fool, and dealing with her is very troublesome."

"Secondly, Yu Xiaogang might also come to this place, and with Liu Erlong's almost pathological love for Yu Xiaogang, she definitely won't side with me. I don't want to be bound by him."

"More importantly, the Spirit data preserved in such an academy must be far less than that in Heaven Dou Royal Academy."

After following Huo Wu and generally touring Blue Tyrant Academy, Tang San and the others went to their last stop: Heaven Dou Royal Academy!

At this time, Heaven Dou Royal Academy had not yet begun a new round of recruitment, but Huo Wu was a student of Heaven Dou Royal Academy, so she could naturally enter, and directly brought Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling into the inner courtyard.

Heaven Dou Royal Academy was built within a mountain forest, but unlike wild mountain forests, the trees in this mountain forest had been trimmed, and there were no weeds on the ground, making it extremely flat.

"As expected of a Royal Academy, they are truly wealthy, directly renovating a mountain forest," Tang San looked at the surrounding environment and couldn't help but sigh.

"That's natural; otherwise, how could it be called 'Royal'?"

Huo Wu walked and introduced Tang San to the various cultivation environments of Heaven Dou Royal Academy, "There are various simulated cultivation environments here, suitable for most Spirit Masters on the continent, but—"

At this point, Huo Wu paused, looking at the three to five groups of nobles not far away, a hint of disgust appearing in her eyes, "Most of the students here are children of princes and nobles; although their Spirits are not bad and their cultivation talent is also good due to their ancestors, the comfortable environment makes them not work very hard, and most of them are dissolute youths."

Tang San found this understandable.

After all, cultivating spirit power is an extremely boring process; these children are born into noble families, possess countless resources, and can enjoy the best treatment from a young age, without having to work hard like civilian Spirit Masters.

Perhaps in the eyes of this type of dissolute youth, the purpose of civilian Spirit Masters working hard to cultivate is nothing more than to gain wealth, status, and beauty, and those born into nobility already possess these things, so why bother cultivating hard? Their only goal in cultivating might only be to gain spiritual satisfaction, that is: to perform well in the Spirit Master Grand Competition and be adored by thousands.

When material conditions are met, then spiritual satisfaction needs to be enjoyed; it's human nature.

Only—

This World is not peaceful.

Power must exist; truth can only be truth within the scope that power can reach, otherwise, it will only be rough paper, too hard even to wipe one's butt.

Ten minutes later, Huo Wu led Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling up a hillside, where there was a church-like building.

According to Huo Wu, that was the office of the Heaven Dou Royal Academy's Three Education Committee.

"Heaven Dou Royal Academy has Three Education Committee, all of whom are Spirit Douluo level: Meng Shenji, Spirit Black Demon, level eighty-five, a mental control system Spirit Master, who can also serve as a long-range output attack system Spirit Master; Zhi Lin, Spirit Sky Green Vine, level eighty-three, physical control system; Bai Baoshan, Spirit Sky Star Furnace, a physical and energy dual-defense type Spirit Master."

Listening to Huo Wu's introduction, Tang San was more interested in the name "Meng Shenji" and asked, "What kind of Spirit is a Black Demon?"

"Uh... it's just a humanoid black shadow, it feels similar to my previous Fire Shadow, but Education Committee Meng Shenji's Spirit attribute is mental, with a bit of dark attribute," Huo Wu recounted what she knew, "You said, Education Committee Meng Shenji's Spirit, couldn't it be the same situation as mine?"

"Possibly, but he is already a Spirit Douluo, so it's estimated that the Black Demon Spirit has already taken shape and cannot be changed by spirit rings, unless he reaches level ninety in the future and absorbs a ten-thousand year spirit ring of the dark attribute," Tang San stated his guess, "Or, he obtains some heavenly treasures, and after consuming them, allows his Spirit to reveal its true form."

"Ten-thousand year soul beast? And it needs to be of the dark attribute? It seems Education Committee Meng Shenji has no chance."

At this moment, Huo Wu had already arrived at the main door and went forward to knock.

Thump thump thump!

"Come in."

An old voice came from inside the door.

"Education Committee, it's me."

Huo Wu opened the door and smiled at the three old men who were sitting in the hall organizing documents.

"It's Xiao Wu."

Meng Shenji's face showed a smile. For a genius like Huo Wu, Meng Shenji was very fond; not to mention that the Huo Family sending her here represented a closer cooperation between the Huo Family and Heaven Dou, the girl in front of him was an absolute genius!

Huo Wu could also be referred to as Xiao Wu by acquaintances, but for distinction, it's better to write her as Huo Wu from now on.

125: Enrolled in Tiandou Royal Academy

“Is there anything, Xiao Wu?” Meng Shenji asked curiously.

“Dream Commissioner, I’ve brought three friends to enroll,” Huo Wu said straightforwardly, “I mentioned it to the Commissioners before.”

Initially, when Huo Wu joined the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team, Meng Shenji and the other Commissioners were a hundred percent in agreement, but when they heard she was going to bring in three commoner Spirit Masters in the future, they were a bit hesitant.

No matter what, Heaven Dou Royal Academy was a noble academy. Although it did specially recruit talented commoner students, in their eyes, the three commoner Spirit Masters Huo Wu was bringing were clearly not geniuses.

Otherwise, there would be no need to use back channels.

The Three Education Committee knew the situation within the academy, but they couldn't interfere too much. After all, those were noble scions, backed by duchies, kingdoms, and even Tiandou Royal descendants. If the three of them interfered too much, they might offend those people.

It was not a good thing for ordinary commoner students to come here; if they were bullied, they could only endure it. Could Huo Wu really help them for a lifetime?

“Huo Wu, are your three friends waiting outside now? Let them come in; we’ll examine them,” Meng Shenji decided to give Huo Wu some face. If their talent was outstanding, it wasn't impossible to let them stay, but if their strength was poor, then they shouldn't blame him for being heartless.

“Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, come in,” Huo Wu called out to the door.

“Tang San?”

Meng Shenji was startled and exchanged glances with Zhi Lin and Bai Baoshan, their expressions subtly changing.

“It should be a namesake.”

“It couldn't be that Grandmaster with unique insights.”

At this moment, Tang San, accompanied by Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, entered the hall.

“These three don't look like ordinary commoners; it's just that their clothes are a bit simple...” Meng Shenji exchanged glances with the two others, suspecting whether the three in front of them were scions of some prominent family, intentionally disguised as commoners for experience.

But most families on the Continent wouldn't do that. After all, Spirit is inherited through bloodlines; whether you are a commoner or not, once your Spirit is released, it can be immediately known.

Unless the Spirit mutated, or inherited a Spirit not from a prominent family's ancestry, only then might others not recognize it.

“Hello, Three Education Committee.” On the way, Tang San learned the etiquette for meeting the Commissioners from Huo Wu. He placed his right hand across his chest and bowed slightly, showing respect to Spirit Douluo-level powerhouses.

Xiao Wu and Guang Ling stood on either side of Tang San, mimicking his actions.

Meng Shenji nodded slightly and asked, “State your names, ages, Spirits, and ranks.”

“Tang San, twelve years old, Spirit Blue Silver Grass, forty-first rank all-around support system.”

“Tang Wu, twelve years old, Spirit Soft Bones Rabbit, forty-first rank, primarily an assassination-type agility-attack system, can assist in reconnaissance, and can also serve as a close-combat crowd control type attack system.”

“Guang Ling, eleven years old, Spirit Sun Chasing Bow, thirty-second rank, primarily long-range output, an attack system, can also engage in close-combat crowd control, or armor-piercing.”

Listening to the three report their ages and ranks, Meng Shenji and the other two were shocked: “You are only eleven or twelve years old?”

“Absolutely genuine.” Tang San nodded, releasing his Blue Silver Emperor. The yellow, purple, purple, and black spirit rings made the Three Education Committee exclaim: “The second spirit ring is a thousand years old!” “The fourth ring is ten thousand years old!” “Truly a Spirit Ancestor!”

Xiao Wu and Guang Ling also released their Spirits and spirit rings, all with thousand-year second spirit rings, and Xiao Wu’s fourth spirit ring was also ten thousand years old.

“This, this... It’s incredible!” Meng Shenji was somewhat incoherent, but his heart was overjoyed. If such geniuses joined Heaven Dou Royal Academy, wouldn’t the championship of the next All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament be in their grasp?

Even if it didn't work out next time, it would definitely work out the time after that!

Given the ages of these children, they could perfectly participate in the next next tournament. Perhaps by then, they would be Spirit King or Spirit Emperor!

Heaven Dou Royal Academy, known as the Heaven Dou Empire’s top academy, actually relied on the successive Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team to reach the finals in the competitions.

In terms of the average quality of students, it might even be inferior to the Blue Tyrant Academy within Heaven Dou City.

Therefore, the Three Education Committee had always hoped that Heaven Dou Royal Academy could win a championship in the competition, thereby rectifying the name of Heaven Dou Royal Academy—if they couldn't manage those noble students, then they could only approach it from another angle, which was to pursue an elite path.

However, Meng Shenji still needed to confirm whether Tang San and the others were indeed twelve years old.

“Come here, I’ll feel your bones.” Meng Shenji’s attitude became amiable.

Tang San stepped forward, lifted his clothes, and said, “Dream Commissioner, I’ve practiced a self-created Spirit Ability, so my hands and feet aren’t suitable. Please feel my sternum.”

“Alright.” Meng Shenji was puzzled but still placed his hand on Tang San’s ribs, nodded, and said, “His bone age is indeed only twelve, but it is extremely tough, comparable to a Spirit Saint.”

After saying this, Meng Shenji himself was startled, and the two Spirit Douluo beside him couldn't help but feel Tang San all over, exclaiming in admiration.

“What a strong physique!”

“Ample vital energy!”

“The bones in his hands, legs, spine, and other places indeed cannot reveal his bone age. Did he really practice a special self-created Spirit Ability?”

After the examination, the Three Education Committee became even more enthusiastic towards Tang San, as they had some guesses about this Tang San’s identity: “You are that Martial Soul Theory Master, aren’t you?”

“I dare not conceal it, student indeed is.” Tang San admitted, then pleaded, “However, I hope the Commissioners will not publicize it.”

“Naturally, naturally.” Meng Shenji laughed heartily and presented a golden token with the characters “Heaven Dou” engraved on it. “From now on, you can freely enter and exit the Heaven Dou Royal Library.”

“Thank you, Three Education Committee.”

Tang San happily accepted the token, which meant he had gained the approval of the Three Education Committee. Then, he added, “Xiao Wu and Guang Ling have also practiced self-created Spirit Ability.”

“Is that so?” Meng Shenji was momentarily stunned. He looked at the already somewhat developed Xiao Wu and Guang Ling. It was indeed inconvenient to examine them, so he decided not to check the bone age of the two girls. He trusted Tang San’s character.

“Dream Commissioner, I...”

Just then, a clear voice came from the side. A handsome, golden-haired man walked from a nearby passage, about to ask Meng Shenji something, when he suddenly noticed Tang San, and his words abruptly stopped.

“This is His Royal Highness, the Crown Prince of the Heaven Dou Empire, Xue Qinghe.” Meng Shenji, Zhi Lin, and Bai Baoshan stood up and walked to Xue Qinghe, introducing his identity to Tang San and the others. Then he introduced them to Xue Qinghe, “Your Royal Highness, these three are newly joined students of the academy. They are only twelve years old, but they have already become Spirit Elder and Spirit Ancestor. Moreover, the fourth spirit ring of Tang San and Xiao Wu is even ten thousand years old.”

“Ten thousand years?” Xue Qinghe showed a surprised expression, pondered for a moment, as if he had thought of something, and asked, “Could it be that you are that Martial Soul Theory Master, Tang San?”

“Precisely, Your Royal Highness.” Tang San did not wish to interact with Xue Qinghe at this moment, but since they had already met, he could only respond. Otherwise, it would make others think he was arrogant due to his talent.

126: Conversation with Xue Qinghe

The Crown Prince of the Heaven Dou Empire, Xue Qinghe, is no longer the original Xue Qinghe.

At this point, Tang San could confirm it.

The reason was simple: the moment he met this Crown Prince, his Spirit, Blue Silver Emperor, felt a warmth, as if it had come alive.

That was an induction similar to Martial Soul Fusion.

Blue Silver Emperor is of the Life attribute, and Seraphim is a divine Spirit with the Light attribute; they can complement each other.

This induction was much stronger than the one between him and Huo Wu.

This was also why Tang San was certain that the original Xue Qinghe had been replaced.

So, how should he deal with this next?

If he, with Blue Silver Emperor, could sense that sacred light, then Qian Renxue, with Seraphim, could absolutely sense her Spirit vibrating.

“I originally thought Grandmaster Tang San was an old man dedicated to Spirit research, but I never expected him to still be a child,” Xue Qinghe smiled slightly, then corrected himself, “No, I should say, a brilliant young talent.”

“Crown Prince, you flatter me. I am merely good at observation and summarization,” Tang San replied, a smile also on his face, showing both respect and an unyielding demeanor.

That vigorous Life aura made Xue Qinghe忍不住 want to get closer, and a few good feelings arose in her heart: “Dream Commissioner, you haven’t arranged accommodation for them yet, have you?”

“Yes, I was just about to arrange it.” Dream Commissioner slapped her head, remembering something, and said to Xue Qinghe, “Crown Prince, we still have important matters to attend to. May I ask you to arrange accommodation for these three?”

This was naturally to create an opportunity for Xue Qinghe to gather talents.

The Three Education Committee of Heaven Dou Royal Academy were all close to the gentle and refined Xue Qinghe, and hoped she would become the next Emperor of the Heaven Dou Empire. Now that Tang San had arrived, and the Crown Prince also happened to be here and intended to win over Tang San, the three of them naturally created an opportunity for the future Tian Dou Emperor.

“The three of you, and Miss Huo Wu, please follow me,” Xue Qinghe’s attitude was gentle, without the profligate air of other nobles in the Academy, making people feel good about her.

Tang San also had to sigh; the Xue Qinghe played by Qian Renxue was indeed approachable. Any normal person would not feel any ill will towards her like this.

In fact, Tang San and she really had no direct conflict.

“Here are the student dormitories of Heaven Dou Royal Academy.”

Xue Qinghe pointed to the three independent small buildings in front of them. Their scale was larger than what Tang San and the others had been arranged at the Huo Family yesterday, and there were training grounds in front and back of each house.

“Of course, not all students can enjoy such accommodation. Only geniuses have this privilege.”

“Other students in the Academy, such as those noble children, generally share a house with two or three people, but most of them have houses outside Heaven Dou City and do not live in the Academy.”

This also avoided too much conflict between the main combat team members of the Tian Dou Emperor and those noble children who did not work hard on cultivation.

After all, most of the students in this Academy were nobles, and being young and reckless, their intelligence was mostly below normal people, extremely arrogant, and relying on their family background, they dared to provoke anyone.

After arranging accommodation for Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling, Xue Qinghe pulled Tang San aside alone and said, “Grandmaster Tang San, did you sense it before?”

“I sensed it,” Tang San understood that Xue Qinghe was testing him. “Does the Crown Prince’s Spirit have the Light attribute? My Blue Silver Grass is mutated and is more sensitive to the Light attribute.”

“Our Xue Family’s Spirits are all swans, and my swan does indeed have a bit of the Light attribute,” Xue Qinghe described her Spirit’s situation.

A swan Spirit with a trace of the Light attribute?

This was probably one of the reasons why Qian Renxue chose to impersonate Xue Qinghe.

“The Light attribute is an excellent talent,” Tang San thought about other things in his mind, but praised Xue Qinghe with his mouth, “The Crown Prince must also be a very powerful Spirit Master.”

“No,” Xue Qinghe sighed, “Being a member of the Royal Family, there isn’t much time for cultivation. Heaven Dou is different from Star Luo; for ambitious nobles, many things require personal effort. I am twenty years old now, and I am only a Spirit Elder.”

Pretend!

Keep pretending!

Tang San thought this in his heart, but on the surface, he remained calm and said, “Crown Prince, to be able to find time to cultivate amidst your busy schedule and reach the Spirit Elder level, you are absolutely gifted.”

“There’s no need to be so polite, Grandmaster Tang San,” Xue Qinghe smiled. “Calling me Crown Prince feels a bit distant. I am a few years older than you, and we hit it off immediately. How about you call me Big Brother?”

“Okay, Big Brother, no problem, Big Brother,” Tang San immediately changed his address.

“Uh...”

Xue Qinghe found Tang San’s quick change of address a bit hard to accept for a moment. She thought Tang San would be polite for a few sentences, but she didn’t expect him to agree directly and even start calling her Big Brother.

“Since I call the Crown Prince Big Brother, then Big Brother also doesn’t need to call me Grandmaster; it’s too formal. Just call me Tang San,” Tang San continued.

Silence.

Still silence.

“Does Big Brother think your little brother is a bit of a sycophant?” Tang San asked.

“Uh...” Xue Qinghe felt that Tang San had said everything she wanted to say and didn’t know what to say.

“I was born a commoner and was afraid of poverty. If there’s an opportunity, I naturally have to seize it. Only by doing so can I continuously use stepping stones to climb upwards,” Tang San smiled. “Since the Crown Prince gives me such an opportunity, how can I not seize it? Even if it’s just a superficial brotherhood, it’s enough to be praised when spoken of.”

“Brother Tang, you truly are a wonderful person,” a glint flashed in Xue Qinghe’s eyes, and she suddenly realized that her personality seemed to be perfectly grasped by him.

From just now until now, Tang San seemed to have figured out her personality, knowing that she wouldn’t get angry because of this, and also knowing that she knew that he knew that she wouldn’t get angry because of this.

That’s right, she wasn’t angry; on the contrary, she had an even better impression of Tang San.

It wasn’t just because of the induction between their Spirits; more importantly, Tang San didn’t hide from her and showed her what kind of person he was.

Just this point alone greatly increased Xue Qinghe’s good impression of Tang San.

“I wouldn’t dare to be called a wonderful person; I’m just speaking the truth,” Tang San smiled, changing back his address. “Isn’t the Crown Prince also a wonderful person?”

This was a double entendre.

However, Xue Qinghe obviously didn’t hear the meaning in Tang San’s words and thought Tang San found her interesting as well, so she said, “As a Crown Prince, sometimes a little humor is indeed needed to relieve stress.”

“No, I wasn’t talking about that, but about you, Crown Prince. After all, beautiful appearances are a dime a dozen, but interesting souls are one in ten thousand,” Tang San smiled. “Crown Prince, you are truly unique.”

“Consider it a compliment,” Xue Qinghe was delighted in her heart and thought, “Interesting souls are one in ten thousand? Truly worthy of being Tang San, to be able to say such words.”

Although the superficial etiquette was a bit lacking, it wasn’t important. If Tang San were constrained by superficial noble etiquette, she would look down on him.

Now—

This person, Tang San, she, Xue Qinghe, was determined to have him!

127: Wang Chen's challenge

After talking with Xue Qinghe for about an hour, an uninvited guest arrived, interrupting their discussion on “humor” and “fun.”

“Your Royal Highness, Crown Prince.”

A young man, roughly eighteen years old, walked up to them, glanced at Tang San, and carried a hint of hostility.

This person was Wang Chen.

With his innate full spirit power, he was naturally arranged by Xue Qinghe into Heaven Dou Royal Academy, and even joined the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team, becoming the captain of those noble team members.

After all, he was Xue Qinghe's person, part of the Crown Prince's faction, so even if he wanted to join the Heaven Dou Royal First Team, he couldn't.

This was because the members of the Heaven Dou Royal First Team, Yu Tianheng, Dugu Yan, Ye Lingling, Shi Mo, Shi Mo, Yu Feng, Oslo, and others, all came from prominent families, especially Yu Tianheng, who was a member of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan.

Although the forces behind them were close to the Heaven Dou Empire, they ultimately did not fully obey the Heaven Dou Empire, unlike the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team, which was completely tied to the Heaven Dou Empire.

“Is there something you need?” Xue Qinghe looked at Wang Chen, her tone slightly cold towards this fellow who had interrupted her interest, but considering Tang San was beside her, her attitude was still gentle.

“Your Royal Highness, Crown Prince, as your guard, I naturally need to protect your safety and prevent unscrupulous people from deceiving your trust.” Wang Chen’s gaze fell on Tang San.

“Presumptuous!” Xue Qinghe shouted, “How could there be unscrupulous people in this Heaven Dou Royal Academy?”

“Your Royal Highness, Crown Prince, I...”

“Hmm?” Xue Qinghe’s voice deepened, suddenly feeling that this Wang Chen was a bit like an untamed wolf cub.

“My apologies, I was too aggressive.” Wang Chen immediately realized that the current Qian Renxue was Xue Qinghe, the Crown Prince of the Heaven Dou Empire, and he, as a guard, could not offer suggestions as freely as he could when facing Qian Renxue.

If word of this got out, his identity as a “guard” would be criticized by others, and Xue Qinghe herself would be found an opportunity to be attacked by Prince Xue Xing and others for not strictly disciplining her subordinates.

“Since that’s the case, then you may leave.” Xue Qinghe planned to “educate” Wang Chen properly later.

“Your Royal Highness, Crown Prince, your subordinate wishes to request something from you.” Wang Chen bowed deeply, showing full respect, but he did not want to leave just yet. Instead, he looked at Tang San and said, “I wish to have a battle with this young talent to see if he is worthy of becoming your friend, Your Royal Highness, Crown Prince.”

“Wang Chen, I told you, retreat.” Xue Qinghe’s tone became heavier, feeling that perhaps she had been too lenient with Wang Chen recently, which was why this fellow dared to push his luck.

“Your Royal Highness, Crown Prince, it seems this one has a strong opinion of me.” Tang San calmly changed his address back to “Your Royal Highness, Crown Prince,” his sharp eyes scrutinizing Wang Chen. He had some guesses about the other party's identity and couldn't help but chuckle, "Perhaps, for this senior, guarding by your side is an honor, and he doesn't wish for anyone else to get close to you."

Tang San could understand such a mentality. After all, most transmigrators who came to the Douluo Continent were brainlessly trying to whitewash Qian Renxue, Bibi Dong, and the like, treating them as their personal property and not allowing other male characters to approach.

However, reality was not a novel; things would not develop as these transmigrators imagined. Everyone in this World had flesh and blood, and their own thoughts.

If you have the ability, just go after it. Why compete with him?

"He's just a guard, insignificant." Xue Qinghe paid no mind to Tang San's praise of Wang Chen, even thinking that this Wang Chen fellow was very disobedient.

Hearing Xue Qinghe's evaluation of him, Wang Chen lowered his head and blamed everything on Tang San, thinking it was the protagonist's halo at work, causing Xue Qinghe to "lose her intelligence."

Therefore, he had to defeat Tang San to make Xue Qinghe look at him with new eyes.

"Brother Tang, please don't be offended. I haven't disciplined him well. His name is Wang Chen, and he has innate full spirit power. I picked him up and raised him in the palace since he was young. He doesn't have much strength, but he's developed a bad temper." Xue Qinghe said.

"It's fine. As the guard of His Royal Highness, Crown Prince, protecting the Crown Prince's safety is his responsibility. Being wary of a stranger like me is a very normal thing." Tang San's gaze was calm and clear as water, yet it revealed a faint sadness, as if lamenting that he was, after all, just a commoner, and calling His Royal Highness, Crown Prince, a brother was merely a luxury.

“Brother Tang, you...”

Seeing Tang San’s expression, Xue Qinghe felt her heart suddenly clench, extremely uncomfortable. She wanted to comfort him but didn’t know what to say. All the noble etiquette she had learned seemed so pale and powerless at this moment.

They had been talking so happily just now, but everything changed after Wang Chen arrived!

It was all this scoundrel’s fault!

For a moment, Xue Qinghe blamed everything on Wang Chen!

If things had continued according to her plan, her relationship with Tang San would surely have grown closer, and in the future, Tang San would become her helper. But now, it had all been ruined by this idiot Wang Chen!

Your Royal Highness, Crown Prince?

How solemn that address was, how... jarring!

“It’s fine, Your Royal Highness, Crown Prince. Perhaps, I’m a bit tired from my long journey here.” Tang San intended to take his leave.

“Tang San, are you going to avoid the battle?” Wang Chen gritted his teeth, deciding to be even more presumptuous. Anyway, Qian Renxue probably wouldn’t kill him for this, but if he missed this opportunity, he wouldn’t know how to find an excuse to defeat Tang San in front of Qian Renxue.

Only by defeating Tang San in front of Qian Renxue could he lower Tang San’s value in her eyes and raise his own status in her eyes.

“Wang Chen, I told you, retreat!” Xue Qinghe’s tone became heavier again, even wanting to directly kill this jealous Wang Chen.

She didn’t care about a mere innate full spirit power!

But there was only one Tang San in this World; it was unknown how long it would take for the next “Tang San” to appear.

“Your Royal Highness, Crown Prince, I just want to test whether this legendary theory Grandmaster is as formidable as the legends say.” Wang Chen insisted, “This is how Spirit Masters recognize each other.”

“In the Spirit Master’s World, strength is indeed respected.” Tang San nodded, “However, I am a support system Spirit Master. Although, according to my classification, I am an all-round support system, my main specialty is not combat, but helping others with recovery and healing.”

“However, if Senior Wang Chen truly wishes to instruct me, then I, your junior, will listen attentively.”

With these words, Tang San first showed weakness, saying he was a support system, thus, even if the opponent won, there would be no glory in it. Secondly, he was subtly poisoning Xue Qinghe’s mind—he had already said he was a support system, yet this Wang Chen still insisted on challenging him; even if he won, Xue Qinghe wouldn’t care too much about him.

As for other transmigrators, Tang San always adhered to the principle of “I don’t offend others unless they offend me.” But if they came looking for trouble for no reason, then they shouldn’t blame him for using every available resource, including people, to deal with those brainless fools who had nothing better to do.

Since they had transmigrated to this World with extraordinary power, instead of focusing on cultivation, they considered how to stir up trouble, and they didn’t even have a powerful golden finger. In that case, they shouldn’t blame him for turning the journey of these transmigrators into a disaster.

This World does not revolve around you!

Unable to achieve great things in the peaceful real World, they transmigrated, didn’t cherish the chance to live again, and still wanted to cause trouble, thinking the World revolved around them?

Dream on!

128: Wang Chen was defeated and punished

Seeing Tang San accept Wang Chen's challenge, Xue Qinghe sighed, then stared coldly at Wang Chen and said, "If you lose, your related cultivation resources will be reduced by two-thirds."

Upon hearing this, Wang Chen's heart sank.

Halving cultivation resources meant that he would not receive any whale glue for his subsequent cultivation, and even some medicines for physical training would be reduced.

"Also, if you win, your cultivation resources will still be reduced by half, simply because you disobeyed my orders and offended Grandmaster Tang San," Xue Qinghe continued.

This made Wang Chen's expression even more unsightly.

So, whether he lost or won, he would offend Qian Renxue and have to accept the corresponding punishment?

What's so great about this kid?

Isn't he just a little handsome?

Just a pretty boy!

"I am willing to accept the punishment." Wang Chen tried his best to calm his emotions and said in a deep voice, then looked at Tang San, "Tang San, as your senior, I need to teach you something: without strength, don't casually cling to nobles. You don't have that ability!"

What if the other party wasn't the original one?

Who told him to transmigrate as Tang San?

He deserved it!

"I am Wang Chen, the personal guard of the Crown Prince. I am a Level 39 close-combat control-type attack system Spirit Master. My Spirit is death Scythe, specifically for cutting weeds."

Upon hearing the words "weeds," a cold sneer appeared on Tang San's lips.

Mockery?

Are you even qualified?

Also—

A scythe cannot cut roots buried deep underground.

"My name is Tang San. Thanks to the people of the continent, I have the title 'Grandmaster'. My Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, Level 41, an all-around support system Spirit Master." Tang San released his Blue Silver Emperor. The crystal-clear Blue Silver Emperor emerged from his hand, like a naturally carved work of art. At its core, a pearl-like fruit grew, with golden and silver colors flowing within, extremely peculiar.

As soon as the Blue Silver Emperor appeared, the surrounding plants immediately trembled slightly, as if welcoming their plant emperor, especially the Blue Silver Grass, which grew rapidly.

"Crown Prince, may I ask you to be the referee?" Tang San looked at Xue Qinghe.

"No problem." Xue Qinghe returned a smile, "You can start now."

As soon as the words fell, Wang Chen, holding a scythe imbued with the aura of death, slashed towards Tang San. At the same time, Wang Chen's third spirit ring lit up.

In an instant, black aura emanated from the scythe, adhering to the blade and rubbing against the air, producing a hissing sound.

This Third Soul Skill carried poison!

It could even corrode the air!

However, Tang San neither dodged nor avoided. He used the Blue Silver Emperor to bind his left hand and steadily grasped the handle of the scythe.

At this moment, the blade of the death Scythe was only one centimeter away from Tang San's head, but no matter how much Wang Chen exerted force or spirit power, he could not advance another inch.

"This is impossible! Even if you are a Spirit Ancestor, you didn't use a Spirit Ability, so your strength shouldn't be so much higher than mine!" Wang Chen was shocked, his tone filled with disbelief.

"So, do you think my title of Martial Soul Theory Master was self-proclaimed?" Tang San clenched his right fist, stepped forward, transferred power to his waist, then to his shoulder and arm, and then slammed it into Wang Chen's abdomen.

Bang!

The vital energy force penetrated Wang Chen's back, tearing through his clothes and even sending Wang Chen flying over twenty meters before he finally stopped.

However, at this moment, Wang Chen only felt his spirit power completely 紊乱, and his internal organs churned.

"Pfft—"

A sweetness rose in his throat, and Wang Chen could no longer hold it in, spitting out a mouthful of fresh blood. He knelt on the ground, unable to get up again.

One move!

With just one move, Tang San defeated Wang Chen, and he didn't even use a Spirit Ability!

Xue Qinghe knew Wang Chen's strength very well, but now, he couldn't even withstand one punch from Tang San, which truly shocked him. One must know that although Wang Chen was only Level 39, he could contend with high-level Spirit Ancestors!

However, he lost to Tang San, and was even instantly defeated with one move.

"Brother Tang, you must have suffered a lot to gain such strength, right?" Xue Qinghe stepped forward to show concern for Tang San, completely ignoring Wang Chen, who was spitting blood and couldn't even crawl.

"Just lucky." Tang San shook his head, walked to Wang Chen's side, and the Blue Silver Grass appeared in his hand. He activated his First Soul Skill, Endless Recovery, to heal Wang Chen's injuries.

This gave Xue Qinghe an impression: kind and generous.

Wang Chen had been provoking him just now, but after defeating him, he could put aside past grievances and help him recover. Wasn't that magnanimous?

However, Tang San didn't fully heal Wang Chen. He only stopped releasing his Spirit Ability when he saw that Wang Chen could stand up, and then said to Xue Qinghe, "Crown Prince, please just call me Tang San from now on. Let's just treat what I said before as a joke. After all, I am just a commoner, a weed on the ground, unable to approach the brilliance of a Crown Prince."

"Brother Tang, I'm not..."

"Crown Prince, this student is a bit tired, so I will withdraw first." Tang San sighed slightly, then turned around, leaving Xue Qinghe with only a desolate back.

Tang... Xue Qinghe wanted to follow, but didn't know how to explain. Should he say that Wang Chen was looking for trouble on his own, and it had nothing to do with her as the Crown Prince? That she, as the Crown Prince, didn't intend to test him?

Moreover, as the Crown Prince, she needed to consider her status and couldn't chase after him.

The more Xue Qinghe thought about it, the angrier she became. She couldn't help but clench her fists, her spirit power surging. She slammed a palm towards Wang Chen, who was bowing to her.

"Cough!"

This angry strike, Xue Qinghe held nothing back. The spirit power, far exceeding the Spirit Elder level, directly nullified Tang San's treatment of him, and even worsened his injuries. If he wasn't treated promptly, it might even affect his cultivation talent.

"Who allowed you to act on your own and challenge Tang San?" Xue Qinghe's face was as cold as frost. If there hadn't been anyone nearby, others would have seen the Heaven Dou Crown Prince in a fit of rage.

"Crown Prince, I just..."

"Slap!"

Xue Qinghe slapped the other party's face through the air, even breaking three of his teeth, and said, "As a guard, how dare you talk back?"

Looking at the enraged Xue Qinghe, Wang Chen was scared, worried that the other party might accidentally kill him in a fit of rage. He immediately forced himself to get up, knelt on the ground, and dared not look up.

Seeing this, Xue Qinghe's anger subsided a little, and she said, "From now on, your cultivation resources will be reduced by four-fifths. As long as my relationship with Tang San doesn't improve, your treatment will not be restored. Also, if you dare to trouble Tang San again, I don't mind crippling you."

"But I have Innate Full spirit power." Wang Chen suddenly looked up, extremely unwilling.

"And then? Besides Innate Full spirit power, what else do you have?" Xue Qinghe questioned, "Spirit Hall has no shortage of talented individuals. Among the current Golden Generation, which one can you compare to?"

"Put away your petty thoughts. Don't think that just because you have some talent, you can be arrogant."

"Also, don't harbor any fantasies about me. You are not worthy."

After speaking, Xue Qinghe left the place on her own, pondering how to mend her relationship with Tang San...

Nuoding City.

A figure in a black robe arrived at the entrance of Notting Academy, inquiring about Tang San...

129: Tang Hao's surprise

“Tang San has already left Nuoding City?” Tang Hao returned, calculating the time, intending to kill Xiao Wu, take her Spirit Bone, and then secretly give it to Tang San, considering it his last bit of fatherly affection.

However, he didn't expect the gate guard to say that Tang San had already left?

And he was with Xiao Wu and another girl named Guang Ling... playing so wild? A threesome?

“That’s right, Tang San is the pride of Notting Academy. I heard he went to hunt for his fourth spirit ring, and after that, he’s going to report to a senior academy.” The gate guard sighed, then looked at the tall, bearded man in front of him, “Who are you?”

“Fourth spirit ring?” Tang Hao was startled and questioned, “Are you telling the truth?”

“Why wouldn’t I be?” The gate guard said loudly, “All the teachers in the school know. If you go ask in the city, people will also know. Tang San was already at level forty when he left the school.”

“Level forty, twelve years old.” Tang Hao couldn’t understand why Tang San’s cultivation speed was so fast. Did his research on Spirit truly have extremely unique insights?

If his cultivation continued at this speed, he might even surpass him and become the youngest Titled Douluo on the continent.

It’s just, why is his Spirit Blue Silver Grass?

How great would it be if he had inherited the Clear Sky Hammer!

“Which senior academy is he going to?” Tang Hao continued to ask.

“How would I know that?” The gate guard scratched his head, “The teachers in the school don’t know either, only that he’s taking two little girlfriends to Heaven Dou City. That’s the Imperial City, a place I’ll never be able to go in my life... By the way, who exactly are you? Why are you asking so many questions?”

Tang Hao said nothing, turned his head, and left.

“What a strange person.” The gate guard’s expression was peculiar, but he didn’t think much of it, simply continued to lie on the reclining chair, beginning a new day of slacking off...

...

Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

Ling Yuan, sent by Bibi Dong, found Tang San and said, “My protection mission can almost be considered complete. With your current strength, there’s no need to worry about anyone coming to cause you trouble, especially since this is Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

My spirit power has also reached level eighty. I need to hunt a Spirit Beast. For a period after that, I will be staying at the Spirit Hall branch in Heaven Dou City. If you have anything, just come find me there.”

“Thank you for your care during this time, Sister Ling Yuan.” Tang San took out a piece of data from his storage wristband and handed it over.

“This is?” Ling Yuan took it, opened it, and found information on three types of Spirit Beasts.

“References for Sister Ling Yuan’s eighth spirit ring, all Spirit Beasts over fifty thousand years old, a total of three.” Tang San said, “The first type, Wind God Wyvern, lives in the Storm Grand Canyon. While enhancing the essence of your Wind Chime Bird, it can also give you an extremely powerful offensive Spirit Ability, Wind God Transformation. Based on my estimation, with this Spirit Ability, you will have the chance to contend with a Titled Douluo.”

“The second type, named Sky Wind Eagle, is commonly found in the Green Shade Grassland within the Star Luo Empire. It can also enhance the wind attribute essence of your Spirit, and most likely provide you with a single-target penetrating wind attribute Spirit Ability. This can give you a long-range output Spirit Ability. With your Spirit Douluo level spirit power, non-defense type Titled Douluo below level ninety-five would find it difficult to withstand.”

“The third type is the Bell Sound Wind Bat. This type of Spirit Beast lives in cave-like environments in the Star Dou Great Forest, and there are also some in the Sunset Forest area.”

“The reason for choosing this is because Sister Ling Yuan’s speed is indeed very fast, but her mental reaction seems a bit slow. With the enhancement of the Bell Sound Wind Bat, it can improve your control over yourself and your perception of wind. The effect is similar to the second Spirit Ability I chose for Xiao Wu: Listening to the Wind.”

“However, how you specifically choose is still up to you, Sister Ling Yuan.”

Looking at the information on the three Spirit Beasts in her hand, Ling Yuan was a bit conflicted: “I want all of them, what do you think I should do?”

“Don’t be too greedy. After all, you can’t hunt a Ten-thousand year soul beast that suits you.” Tang San spread his hands, indicating that he had no other way, “Moreover, just finding a Ten-thousand year soul beast might take you several years. When you get old later and your spirit power cultivation speed decreases, the chance of reaching the Titled Douluo realm will become slim.”

In spirit power cultivation, the higher the level, the slower the progression.

If the body ages first, it becomes even more difficult to improve.

Therefore, for most Spirit Masters, there aren't many choices. Once their cultivation reaches a bottleneck, they must immediately go hunt a spirit ring.

The higher the level, the less time they can afford to waste.

“Understood.” Ling Yuan put away the information and asked, “By the way, my Spirit is the Wind Chime Bird. Isn’t the Wind Chime Bird Spirit Beast more suitable for me?”

“It is indeed suitable, but according to the information I found in the 'soul beast encyclopedia', the Wind Chime Bird Spirit Beast is already on the verge of extinction. The last time one was discovered was about a hundred years ago, and its age was only nine thousand years.” Tang San said, “Although that nine-thousand-year-old Wind Chime Bird wasn’t explicitly stated to have been hunted, even if it’s still alive and exceptionally talented, it could only accumulate a thousand years of cultivation in a hundred years, reaching ten thousand years. It would only be newly entered into the ten-thousand-year realm. Does Sister Ling Yuan hope her eighth spirit ring is just a newly entered ten-thousand-year spirit ring?”

“Perhaps there are other Wind Chime Birds in places unexplored by humans.”

Newly entered ten thousand years?

That would be too ridiculous.

Ling Yuan thought about her eighth spirit ring being newly entered ten thousand years and knew she would definitely be ridiculed by other Spirit Douluo.

And unexplored areas were not places she, a Spirit Douluo, could seek out.

It’s just, among the Wind God Wyvern, Sky Wind Eagle, and Bell Sound Wind Bat, which one should she choose to be her eighth spirit ring? Every single one of them was very suitable for her...

...

After Ling Yuan left, Huo Wu finally asked, “Was that someone from Spirit Hall?”

“Yes, after all, with me being such a Martial Soul Theory Master, it’s quite normal for Spirit Hall to fear my premature demise and send someone to protect me in secret, isn’t it?” Tang San said with a smile.

Protection?

It’s surveillance, right?

Huo Wu, who was thinking with the greatest malice, reminded Tang San, “My grandmother told me to be careful of Spirit Hall. They don’t have good intentions; they are trying to win over all Spirit Masters on the continent.”

“Isn’t every major power doing this?” Tang San retorted, “It’s just that Spirit Hall does it the biggest, best, and most effectively, so you all are just jealous.”

“Can you even talk properly?” Huo Wu was speechless. “Forget it, anyway, those are political issues for the big figures, and they don’t have much to do with people like us. Come on, I’ll take you to meet the Heaven Dou Royal First Team. That’s a powerful team, and the Vice Captain is from the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan.”

“You three also need to join them.”

Tang San was surprised: “A member of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan is only the Vice Captain? The Captain wouldn’t be you, would it?”

Huo Wu proudly curled her lips and said, “That’s right! Don’t you see who I am? I am Huo Wu, and I’ve already become a Spirit Ancestor.”

“The Vice Captain isn’t a Spirit Ancestor yet?”

“He is, but he’s not as powerful as me. My Spirit, in terms of quality, has already surpassed that so-called Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon!”

130: Bibi Dong's views on the Star Luo Empire

Spirit Hall.

Bibi Dong, seated on the Supreme Pontiff's chair, received news from Ling Yuan about Tang San joining Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

She frowned slightly, thinking, "Heaven Dou Royal Academy, huh? That's fine, she's there..."

"Your Holiness, should we bring Tang San back? Letting him stay at Heaven Dou Royal Academy might lead to unforeseen complications."

Chrysanthemum Douluo had also learned that Tang San had reached Spirit Ancestor.

As a fellow owner of a Plant Spirit, and with Tang San proving the worth of Plant Spirits by reclassifying them from Tool Spirits into the Beast Spirit – Plant Spirit subcategory, Chrysanthemum Douluo felt a strong affinity for Tang San, whom he had never truly met.

Therefore, allowing him to remain at Heaven Dou Royal Academy might cause his heart to lean towards Heaven Dou.

"No matter, Heaven Dou Royal Academy is her territory.

The three Spirit Douluo instructors there also lean towards the Heaven Dou Crown Prince... Since she wants to prove herself to me, let's see what she can do."

Bibi Dong put down the report in her hand and brought up another matter: “Regarding the diversification of Spirit Arena facilities, it has already been implemented, adding Desert, forest, river, grassland, and other terrains.

For this Spirit Master Tournament, can we persuade the Two Great Empires' competition zones to also add some new arena types?”

“It should be possible.

This also benefits the high-ranking officials of the Two Great Empires, and after the theories were published, the academies in both empires have been trying to make changes.”

Chrysanthemum Douluo pondered for a moment and gave a positive response.

Diversifying the tournament venues was indeed troublesome at first, but after implementation, it better showcased the Spirit Masters' ability to adapt, and the feedback received has been positive.

Although the Two Great Empires took the opportunity to recruit a group of talents, the biggest beneficiary was still Spirit Hall; after the last tournament, quite a few Spirit Masters chose to join Spirit Hall.

Arena diversification was initially proposed and published by Tang San in his theories, but Spirit Hall also put in a lot of effort to implement it.

This effort was visible to all Spirit Masters across the continent.

“Then go ahead and do it.

Also, our main venue in Spirit City needs to be expanded.

We can try to integrate Desert, grassland, forest, river, ice and snow, and volcanoes into one venue.”

Bibi Dong's idea was somewhat fantastical.

“This... integrating all terrains into one venue, the final arena would probably need to be over five hundred meters in length and width.

Isn't the scope a bit too large?”

Chrysanthemum Douluo and Ghost Douluo exchanged glances, a little surprised by Bibi Dong's wild idea.

“This scope would almost occupy the entire Spirit Arena in Spirit City.”

“Then expand it.

Aren't there plenty of empty spaces in front of the Supreme Pontiff Palace?”

Bibi Dong summoned a Spirit Douluo and gave him the instructions.

“I hope to see a perfect competition venue in two years!”

“Yes, Your Esteemed Holiness.”

The Spirit Douluo bowed and accepted Bibi Dong's command, then went to implement it.

Afterward, Bibi Dong inquired about another matter: “Ghost Douluo, how is the royal competition in Star Luo Empire progressing?”

“Dai Weisi and Zhu Zhuyun are firmly in the lead, while Dai Mubai, after fleeing Star Luo Empire in his youth, has been staying in a Spirit Master academy in Soto City that lacks proper advanced academy certification, indulging in women and alcohol.”

Ghost Douluo reported the collected information, speaking slowly, “However, Zhu Family's second daughter, Zhu Zhuqing, seems unable to bear her elder sister's oppression and has run away.

It appears she is going to find Dai Mubai.

Zhu Zhuyun has not obstructed this much, or rather, she publicly sent people to assassinate her but secretly protected her entry into Heaven Dou

Empire.”

“The two sisters still have a good relationship, but the Zhu Family's second daughter values power quite a lot.”

Bibi Dong sneered, “As a direct descendant of the Zhu Family, if she didn't go to find that useless Prince Dai Mubai, she would still have a way out.

Now that she has gone to find him and intends to contend with the other branch of the family, it truly is a dead end.”

The Zhu Family was a vassal of the Dai Family.

The Dai Family's royal succession was brutal, and any failed prince was destined for death, but the failed prince's fiancée might not necessarily die.

The royal family was not monogamous, so if Zhu Zhuyun harbored old affections, she might give her younger sister a chance.

But now, Zhu Zhuqing had run off to find that useless prince, hoping to contend for the position of empress, so Zhu Zhuyun, who equally valued power, would absolutely not spare her.

Why was Bibi Dong so certain that Zhu Zhuqing pursued power?

The reason was simple.

If she didn't pursue power, she could have stayed home and cultivated peacefully; the family would not have lacked cultivation resources for her.

Once she displayed her cultivation talent and her strength improved, after the Zhu Family and Dai Family saw her strength, she might not have been unable to dissolve her engagement with Dai Mubai and become the new head of the Zhu Family.

At that time, would her elder sister Zhu Zhuyun still make things difficult for her younger sister?

One becoming empress, the other becoming the new head of the Zhu Family, what conflict of interest would there be?

However, Zhu Zhuqing chose the worst path—going to find Dai Mubai, preparing to fight to the death with Dai Weisi and her elder sister.

One could only say it was utterly foolish.

At least, that's how Bibi Dong viewed Zhu Zhuqing.

However, Bibi Dong also understood that born into such a fiercely competitive, even cruel, environment, any individual would more or less have an extremely strong pursuit of power; otherwise, they wouldn't be a “normal person” of Star Luo Empire.

“Your Holiness, in that Spirit Master academy where Dai Mubai is staying, which lacks proper procedures, there are Spirit Masters who have offended Spirit Hall hiding there as teachers.

Should we issue an order to apprehend them?”

Chrysanthemum Douluo brought up the matter of Shrek Academy.

“Spirit Masters of what realm?”

“Spirit Saint, Spirit Emperor.”

“No wonder Dai Mubai would go there.

It seems he also has the idea of recruiting high-level Spirit Masters to become his own aid...”

Bibi Dong pondered for a moment, then said, “No need to bother.

Let's see what kind of waves that useless prince can stir up.

His main targets are Dai Weisi and the others, so it's good to let them fight amongst themselves.”

“Yes.”

Ghost Douluo took out another document and said, “This autumn, the Two Great Empires have once again experienced large-scale drought victims... Within Heaven Dou Empire, there are many duchies and kingdoms, all with autonomous power, and they did not report to the Heaven Dou Royal Family.

Instead, they prevented the disaster victims from entering the cities, blocking them outside.

In Star Luo Empire, it is even more ruthless; if disaster victims dare to approach, they are directly shot to prevent them from clashing with nobles.”

“Is that so?

It seems the Two Great Empires are becoming increasingly corrupt.”

Bibi Dong's tone was cool, showing no emotion, and she continued, “Inform the current emperors of the Two Great Empires about this matter and let them handle it.

If they cannot solve it, then let them pay, and our Spirit Hall will solve it.”

To rule the continent, one needed not only military might but also the hearts of the people.

Informing the emperors of the Two Great Empires was giving them face, lest they later speak ill of Spirit Hall.

“Oh, and this matter, publish it in the Wuhun News, and write it in detail.”

“Understood.”

The theories published by Tang San in recent years were highly sought after by common Spirit Masters, making Bibi Dong realize the undeniable importance of public opinion.

Even if the Two Great Empires wanted to slander Spirit Hall then, it wouldn't be so easy to succeed, as Spirit Hall's actions were evident to the entire continent.

131: The youngest soul emperor on the mainland

In the original work, Yu Tianheng at this time should have been only around level thirty-nine, but unexpectedly, he has now become a Spirit Ancestor.

Tang San guessed that it was because he had provided the correct method for consuming Whale Glue.

Whale Glue's primary effect is to enhance physical constitution, and it does have a slight, though negligible, effect on spirit power improvement.

However, with a stronger body, the speed of absorbing natural energy also increases, and the speed of cultivating spirit power naturally follows suit, so it is not surprising that Yu Tianheng reached Spirit Ancestor.

However, Tang San could already imagine that when the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament begins two years later, Spirit Kings will no longer be rare, and even the three from Spirit Hall will likely be extremely close to Spirit Emperors, or even have reached Spirit Emperor.

Nevertheless, only then will it be challenging!

Swan Lake.

This is an artificial lake within Heaven Dou Royal Academy, with clear water, and many noble students are boating on the lake in swan-shaped vessels.

By the lakeside, there is an open space where many diligent students are cultivating, exercising, or sparring in martial arts, forming a stark contrast with those students boating on the lake.

"Captain!" A black-haired young man, upon seeing Huo Wu, immediately approached with some people, a smile on his face.

"Looking at your spirit power fluctuations just now, you're almost at level forty-two, aren't you?" Huo Wu looked the young man up and down, teasing, "Not bad, you're about to catch up to me."

"I can't compare to you, Captain." The young man laughed heartily and looked at the one male and two females beside Huo Wu, asking curiously, "Are these three from your family, Captain? Or are they new friends you've made? Or new classmates from the academy? The academy shouldn't be recruiting yet, should it?"

"Why so many questions?" Huo Wu waved her hand somewhat impatiently, "These three are my friends and new students at the academy; I went to the teaching committee to get them in through the back door."

"However, don't underestimate them because of that."

Saying that, Huo Wu pointed at Tang San and Xiao Wu: "These two are only twelve years old, from commoner backgrounds, but their strength has already reached Spirit Ancestor."

"This—"

Then, Huo Wu moved her finger to Guang Ling, "Eleven years old, already a level thirty-three Spirit Elder."

"An eleven-year-old Spirit Elder! A twelve-year-old Spirit Ancestor!" Yu Tianheng was greatly astonished, and his teammates beside him were also dumbfounded, not quite believing it.

"Captain, you're not joking, are you?"

"A twelve-year-old Spirit Ancestor, how is that possible?"

"We're seventeen or eighteen, and we're only Spirit Elders."

"Cough cough!" Huo Wu coughed twice and shouted, "Silence! I'm not lying to you; they will be official members of our Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team in the future."

A Spirit Master team, under normal circumstances, consists of seven people, but among the seven main members, substitutes are also needed, and ideally, each member should have a substitute.

Therefore, a truly complete battle team needs at least fourteen people.

Currently, the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team's first squad does not have enough substitutes.

However, with the talent of Tang San and the others, they naturally wouldn't be substitutes, and among Yu Tianheng and the others, no one wanted to be a substitute either.

Therefore, Yu Tianheng and the others' gazes towards Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling became somewhat unfriendly.

"What kind of look is that?" Huo Wu chuckled, "It looks exactly like the expression you had before I beat you into submission. Also, there isn't much difference between substitutes and official members; everyone will have a chance to shine in the tournament."

"The Captain is right." Yu Tianheng was the first to agree, realizing, "Ever since Grandmaster Tang San's theory was published, the last Spirit Master tournament not only introduced new types of venues, but the cooperation between Spirit Masters also became more diverse. The Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team of the previous tournament was able to reach the finals precisely because they studied the roles and combinations of different Spirit Masters."

"On behalf of everyone else, I welcome your joining."

"May I ask your names?"

Tang San smiled faintly: "Hello, Vice Captain, my name is Tang San."

"Tang San?" Yu Tianheng was startled, then laughed, "That name isn't good; that's the name of the Spirit Grandmaster, and also my idol. My uncle is also a theoretical Grandmaster... Never mind him, I suggest you change your name, or your title. Many small family Spirit Masters in Heaven Dou City worship Grandmaster Tang San; if you use that name, others might beat you up."

The name Tang San, though not a household name, was well-known; anyone in a large city with a gathering of Spirit Masters would have heard of it.

Therefore, the appearance of this name would indeed cause some commotion.

But Tang San didn't care.

"I'm quite resilient."

Listening to Tang San's serious remark, Yu Tianheng was speechless, feeling that the seemingly serious young man in front of him sometimes showed a hint of humor.

"Pfft!" Huo Wu covered her mouth, "Alright, now that you've all met each other, I'll take you to meet our leader."

Speak of the devil, and he shall appear.

"Huo Wu, who are you bringing to see me?"

The person hadn't arrived, but his voice was already heard.

In the distance, a handsome man slowly approached, smiling, examining Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling, with a hint of amusement on his face.

This person was Qin Ming, the youngest Spirit Emperor in the history of the continent, whose Spirit was Blazing Fire Wolf.

When Huo Wu first joined the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team, Qin Ming learned that Huo Wu wanted to bring three people into the Heaven Dou

Royal Battle Team.

He asked Huo Wu who those three were and what their Spirits were.

Huo Wu did not say, only uttering the word "secret."

Now, with these three standing before him, he found them somewhat inscrutable.

Although the three were well-developed and their height was already at an adult level, Qin Ming could guess from their faces that they were not old, probably only eleven or twelve. Students of this age would usually attend intermediate Spirit Master academies, not advanced academies.

Yet now, they had come to Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

Clearly, these people were all geniuses, perhaps even having reached level twenty-five or higher.

"Teacher Qin Ming, let me introduce you. These three are my friends, Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling. They are all geniuses among geniuses; the weakest among them is also a Spirit Elder." Huo Wu introduced them again, greatly astonishing Qin Ming.

Even the weakest is a Spirit Elder?

Could it be that among these three, there's a Spirit Ancestor?!

A twelve-year-old Spirit Ancestor!

Wait a minute?

Tang San!

With sharp eyes, Qin Ming's gaze fell on the only male among the three, and he said, "You are Tang San?"

Tang San nodded: "My name is Tang San."

Qin Ming was slightly stunned. Same name? No! A Spirit Master capable of joining Heaven Dou Royal Academy, with talent and diligent cultivation, wouldn't be one of those noble scions who couldn't understand what he was asking.

Therefore, he did not deny being that Grandmaster.

132: Three VS Eight (1)

“Come with me.”

To confirm whether he was really Grandmaster Tang San, a Spirit Battle would reveal the truth.

So, Qin Ming said, “Welcome, all three of you, to Heaven Dou Royal Academy. My name is Qin Ming, and I am the leader of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team’s first squad, and also their teacher.”

“Huo Wu wants to bring you into the first squad, but without strength, it won't work. How about a practice match with my students?”

Even if this Tang San was not that Tang San, this Spirit Battle would reveal his true strength.

In his opinion, among the three people in front of him, the Spirit Ancestor could only be this Tang San.

“No problem, Teacher Qin Ming.” Tang San understood that this was the Spirit Master's world's way of greeting. Whether it was a mule or a horse, take it out for a walk, have a fight, and all problems could be solved, at least in most cases, more than half could be resolved.

“Good, then come with me.” Qin Ming was a pragmatic person, leading everyone present to Heaven Dou Royal Academy’s professional training ground.

The area was two hundred meters long and wide, a relatively common sports field.

“Let’s have a match right here.” Qin Ming asked Tang San, “One-on-one, or two-on-two?”

“Three-on-seven.” Tang San’s words were astonishing.

“What? This is not a joke.” Qin Ming was startled, then rejected Tang San’s idea.

“Indeed, it might not be fair, so how about three-on-eight? Huo Wu can join in too.” Tang San pondered for a moment, suggesting that Huo Wu also participate.

“You... ” Qin Ming didn’t know what to say.

It’s good for young people to be confident, but three-on-eight, even if all three of you are Spirit Ancestors, it’s impossible to defeat the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team he brought out.

Not to mention, Huo Wu’s strength is already comparable to a high-level Spirit King. Even he, a Spirit Emperor, would need a lot of time to defeat Huo Wu alone.

“Teacher Qin Ming, I think Tang San’s suggestion is fine. I also want to see what level Tang San’s strength has reached over these years.” Huo Wu spoke up, stepping onto the stage, and said to Yu Tianheng and the others, “Why are you still standing there? Get onto the field. Tang San isn’t that easy to deal with. The first time I met him, I lost to him.”

Hearing Huo Wu say this, Yu Tianheng and the others also became interested and immediately entered the arena.

Qin Ming, on the other hand, looked at Tang San and the others with a thoughtful expression, stroking his chin, and secretly thought, “Huo Wu takes this Tang San so seriously; it seems very likely that he really is that Tang San. But can three people really defeat eight?”

Thinking of this, Qin Ming suddenly felt a little anticipation and said to Tang San, “Since you insist, then I will grant your wish. However, if the situation is not right, I will stop it immediately.”

“Then I’ll trouble Teacher Qin Ming to be the referee.”

Tang San led Xiao Wu and Guang Ling onto the field.

“Tang San, let me see how much you’ve improved over the past few years.”
Huo Wu’s lips curved upwards. The Sun Goddess instantly appeared behind her, with two yellow and two purple spirit rings encircling the Sun Goddess like a Sun Star Ring. Her face was serene and elegant, and a sacred, scorching radiance emanated from her body.

Her radiant appearance was as if she were the center of the World.

Huo Wu and Yu Tianheng, both attack system, stood at the very front of the team; Dugu Yan and Yu Feng stood on either side of the team; Ye Lingling stood towards the back of the team, with Shi Mo and Shi Mo responsible for protecting her; the remaining Oslo stood in front of Ye Lingling.

As for Tang San’s side, since there were only three people, their formation was much simpler—Tang San stood at the back, with Xiao Wu and Guang Ling on either side, in front of Tang San.

At this moment, both sides had already released their Spirit or Spirit possession, and their spirit rings were also displayed.

Tang San and Xiao Wu’s four spirit rings were extremely dazzling, especially the thousand-year second spirit ring and the ten-thousand-year fourth spirit ring, which shocked Yu Tianheng, Qin Ming, and the others.

“A thousand-year second spirit ring!”

“A ten-thousand-year fourth spirit ring!”

The effect of Whale Glue was already known throughout the continent.

Yet, even so, Spirit Masters with a thousand-year second ring were still extremely rare, almost as rare as phoenix feathers and qilin horns, only appearing in the next generation of Spirit Masters.

And a ten-thousand-year fourth ring...

This was simply a miracle.

Their family elders had told them that even if their bodies could withstand a ten-thousand-year spirit ring, they should not take that risk with the fourth spirit ring. As they were not yet mature, they would find it difficult to cope with the pain of their brains feeling as if they were about to explode.

People from great families would never let their talented family disciples take unnecessary risks. They were not commoner Spirit Masters; there was no need to gamble the lives of their talented disciples on a possibility with a success rate of less than fifty percent.

The family's heritage and resources were enough for them to benefit for Life.

However, Tang San and Xiao Wu in front of them had actually successfully absorbed a ten-thousand-year spirit ring!

This was incredible!

"The battle begins!" Qin Ming saw that both sides had taken their positions, especially looking at Tang San and Xiao Wu's ten-thousand-year fourth ring, he secretly nodded, feeling a slight confirmation of his previous guess.

As Qin Ming's words fell, Tang San immediately cast Endless Grassland. In an instant, the entire field was covered with dense Blue Silver Emperor.

"Our vision is blocked!" Yu Tianheng was startled, not expecting Tang San's Spirit to have such an effect, covering the entire field and obscuring their vision.

"He can cast it instantly. It seems Tang San has grown a lot." Huo Wu, however, became excited. Her first spirit ring lit up, and the Sun Star Ring expanded forward.

In just an instant, all the Blue Silver Emperor within eighty meters was cut down.

However, the Blue Silver Emperor could not be ignited.

“His Blue Silver Grass is even tougher now. If I want to ignite it, I need to raise the temperature, but I can’t do that.” Huo Wu knew that Tang San’s Blue Silver Grass had extremely strong Life force and could not be completely burned. Moreover, once it really started burning, among their eight people, except for herself and Yu Feng, everyone else would be trapped in a sea of fire.

The Sun Goddess was not afraid of fire, and Yu Feng’s Spirit was a Wind Chime Bird, which could fly.

As for the others, including Yu Tianheng, facing a burning sea of fire, they could only envelop themselves with spirit power to resist it.

Therefore, Huo Wu could absolutely not release flames over a large area; that would only put herself and her team in a passive position.

So, what to do?

“Yu Feng, fly up and take a look.” Yu Tianheng shouted to Yu Feng.

“No problem.”

“Wait!”

However, Huo Wu, who was still thinking of a countermeasure, was a step too slow. Yu Feng had already flown into the air.

Whoosh!

Immediately, a spirit power condensed arrow instantly brushed past Yu Feng, cutting open his chest.

In that instant, if Yu Feng’s eyes hadn’t noticed the spirit power arrow and he hadn’t abruptly adjusted his body, he would have been hit by that arrow.

Realizing the seriousness of the problem, Yu Feng, after noting the direction from which the arrow came, immediately descended, asking Ye Lingling for healing, and said, “I saw the direction the arrow came from. It’s to our front left, hiss~”

Saying that, Yu Feng clutched his chest and said, “That arrow just now shouldn’t have been a Spirit Ability; it was just condensed spirit power. That Spirit Elder named Guang Ling, his spirit power should have light and lightning attributes. Its penetration and destructive power are pretty good. At least, it’s very difficult for me, a Spirit Elder, to defend against it. If I encounter her arrows again, I can only dodge.”

“Or get close, otherwise it’ll be very troublesome.”

133: Three VS Eight (2)

“Not bad, although a bit reckless, you still managed to get some information,” Huo Wu said, constantly vigilant of the increasingly lush Blue Silver Emperor around her, encouraging Yu Feng. She then continued, “However, from what I know of Tang San, in such a situation, Guang Ling would never stay in one place. This kind of terrain he created is most suitable for their movement.”

“That’s right, with this kind of terrain, we can only be passive; we can’t even see where their true bodies are,” Yu Tianheng said in a deep voice. “It’s a pity none of us have a detection ability.”

Dugu Yan’s Spirit is Bi Lin Snake, which is highly poisonous, but it’s ineffective against a plant as tenacious as the Blue Silver Emperor. Moreover, Dugu Yan didn't dare to use it.

After all, if the poison spread, Yu Tianheng and the others would also be affected.

Such a competition doesn't allow for antidotes.

Although Ye Lingling, who possesses the Nine Hearted Sea 棠 Spirit, can heal any injury, she cannot cure poison. While a strong Life force can resist poison, the experience is truly unpleasant.

This is also a disadvantage for their Heaven Dou Royal First Team.

Meanwhile, Tang San, relying on his perception of the Blue Silver Emperor, had already detected the precise positions of Huo Wu and the others.

Although Tang San’s mental force could not yet be projected outwards to sense Huo Wu and the others, by leveraging the Blue Silver Emperor’s oneness with him, the Blue Silver Emperor's leaves and roots burrowed beneath could transmit their subtle vibrations to him, revealing exactly where Huo Wu and the others stood and how they moved.

So, how did Tang San transmit information to Xiao Wu and Guang Ling?

Naturally, he created a set of secret signals.

Within the Endless Grassland, Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor leaves would bend in a certain direction, guiding Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, allowing them to pinpoint the location of Huo Wu and the others.

As for why they didn't use spoken language to transmit information?

Creating the Endless Grassland was precisely to block the enemy's vision, wasn't it? If they shouted loudly, wouldn't that just let the enemy pinpoint their location?

In a formal Spirit competition, it wouldn't matter, as there would be a massive audience and the noise would already be very chaotic.

But now, there was only one spectator: Qin Ming, and as a referee, he had to be fair and impartial, making it impossible for him to give warnings to Huo Wu or Yu Tianheng.

At this moment, Guang Ling was moving in the direction indicated by the bending Blue Silver Emperor. With the Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track steps, her speed was extremely fast. After running for a distance, the surrounding Blue Silver Emperor suddenly bound her waist, preventing her from moving further.

This meant she couldn't advance further, or she would be discovered.

Then, three Blue Silver Emperor leaves straightened towards the sky at a sixty-five-degree angle, meaning Guang Ling needed to use a Spirit Ability in that direction, specifically her Third Soul Skill.

Guang Ling aimed the Sun Chasing Bow at the sixty-five-degree sky, drawing the bowstring like a full moon. Her third spirit ring lit up, condensing an arrow shimmering with lightning.

Sizzle!

As the lightning arrow was shot, it split into more than a dozen arrows in the air, connected by lightning power, forming an electric spider web with a diameter exceeding thirty meters, falling towards the location of Huo Wu and the others.

“Attack!” As a member of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, Yu Tianheng was extremely sensitive to lightning power and instantly detected the lightning arrow web about to fall on them.

And the alerted group immediately scattered.

But Ye Lingling’s speed was slower, and Shi Mo and Shi Mo were suddenly bound by the Blue Silver Emperor, making it difficult to break free.

Twelve lightning arrows instantly covered Ye Lingling, Shi Mo, and Shi Mo. The blue lightning power instantly invaded their bodies, making their hair stand on end.

“Ah~”

“Ah!”

“Ah——”

The three cried out, startling Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and the others who had scattered. But when they tried to rescue them, the surrounding Blue Silver Emperor moved, coiling around them.

Oslo, an agility-attack system Spirit Master, and Dugu Yan, a control system Spirit Master, were bound first, finding it difficult to break free from the Blue Silver Emperor’s Binding.

Yu Feng flew up, observing the entire arena and constantly vigilant for hidden arrows, but he found nothing.

The Blue Silver Emperor also obscured the figures of Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling.

As long as they didn't move, Yu Feng would have difficulty detecting them. Moreover, Tang San could also control the Blue Silver Emperor leaves of the Endless Grassland to perform irregular movements, confusing Yu Feng's vision.

"Damn it!"

"Wrath of Thunder!"

Accompanied by blue lightning, Yu Tianheng unleashed his Third Soul Skill, Wrath of Thunder, which increased his attack by one hundred percent and his spirit power by fifty percent.

This was an amplification type skill, but its amplification ability was fixed and could not increase its amplification percentage with the improvement of spirit power level, unlike the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda and Blue Silver Emperor's amplification Spirit Abilities.

"First Soul Skill, Thunder Dragon Claw!"

After boosting his own attack and spirit power, Yu Tianheng used his First Soul Skill. His hands transformed into dragon claws, cutting through the surrounding Blue Silver Emperor as easily as slicing melons and vegetables.

However, the Blue Silver Emperor's Life force is extremely powerful, and it can draw power from the earth. Yu Tianheng's chopping speed was not as fast as the Blue Silver Emperor's growth.

Nevertheless, the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Spirit truly lives up to its reputation as a top-tier Beast Spirit, being able to easily tear apart even the Blue Silver Emperor.

Unfortunately, the Blue Silver Emperor's Life force is extremely tenacious.

“Don’t waste spirit power casually!” Huo Wu’s voice came from afar, startling Yu Tianheng, who thought, “No, why is Captain’s voice so faint? How far apart have we really been separated? Was that last attack just to separate us, so they could defeat us one by one?”

It must be said that Yu Tianheng’s reaction was very quick.

However, at this moment, they had already been separated. Yu Tianheng didn’t even know which way to go now; the Blue Silver Emperor had shaped this area into a maze.

At this time, Xiao Wu quickly moved through the Blue Silver Emperor bushes, throwing Ye Lingling, who was trembling all over from the electric shock, out of the arena.

As for Shi Mo and Shi Mo, they specialized in physical defense, and their bodies were relatively tough, enduring the lightning power of Guang Ling’s thunderous aura. However, their entire bodies were numb, preventing them from exerting powerful combat strength.

With the Binding and assistance of the Blue Silver Emperor, Xiao Wu used Waist Bow to kick them out of the arena, disqualifying them from the competition.

Qin Ming helped the three of them up and used his spirit power to soothe the lightning power within Ye Lingling, saying, “Recover yourself and Shi Mo and Shi Mo.”

“Yes.” Ye Lingling’s hair was still standing on end, but she had no time to tidy it up. She could only use her Spirit Ability to heal herself and the Shi Mo brothers.

And during this time, Oslo and Dugu Yan were also taken out of the arena by Xiao Wu.

In just a few minutes, only Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and Yu Feng remained from the Heaven Dou Royal First Team.

“Is that Tang San really a support system Spirit Master?” Oslo was incredibly shocked. “Blue Silver Grass covering the entire arena? Is that the spirit power a Spirit Ancestor should have?”

“Also, those Blue Silver Grass are extremely tough; I had a hard time tearing them apart.”

“Is this really not a control system?”

Dugu Yan thought for a moment, then asked Qin Ming, “Teacher Qin Ming, is Tang San that Martial Soul Theory Master?”

134: Three VS Eight (3)

What? Tang San is that Martial Soul Theory Master? Oslo was shocked, and the others also looked at Qin Ming, hoping he could give them a definitive answer.

"I can't be certain, but it should be. Although the Spirit Hall hasn't revealed the true appearance of that Theory Master, various major forces have actually found some clues. It's said that his theories were sent from a small city to Spirit City, and then published," Qin Ming recounted some of the inside information he knew. "Therefore, I speculate that the Theory Master is likely a commoner devoted to Spirit research."

"When I met Tang San and learned he was a Spirit Ancestor, I already had some suspicions. This Spirit battle was also to test whether he truly was."

"And apparently, he is!"

As he spoke, Qin Ming's eyes glowed with a hint of admiration and disbelief: "It's hard to imagine that a twelve-year-old child, whose Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, could grow to such a level. He truly lives up to being the Martial Soul Theory Master!"

Ye Lingling, Oslo, and the others exchanged glances, their faces also filled with disbelief.

Is this Tang San the same as that Tang San?

What a god their captain brought back!

At this moment, above the arena.

Yufeng, due to continuous flight and having to dodge the spirit power arrows shot by Guang Ling, needed to concentrate intensely, consuming a lot of spirit power. He was finally shot through the abdomen by Guang Ling's arrow and fell out of the arena.

Ye Lingling quickly went over to heal him.

"Damn it!"

At this point, Huo Wu also realized that only she and Yu Tianheng were left in the arena, so she no longer held back and unleashed her Sun Star Ring at maximum power!

The golden flames, constantly rotating and cutting, spread across the entire arena, instantly severing all the Blue Silver Emperor.

Yu Tianheng was startled and quickly ducked, dodging this indiscriminate attack. A cold sweat seeped from his forehead: "The captain has gone berserk."

On the other side, Guang Ling and Xiao Wu, either crouching or jumping, also dodged the attack.

Only Tang San, whose hands had turned jade-like, used the Controlling Crane Catching Dragon method to twist off the section of the Sun Star Ring energy flow closest to him, confirming its power.

And after a section of the Sun Star Ring broke, the remaining circle also seemed to be affected, exploding entirely, raising rolling heat waves that ignited the recently regrown Blue Silver Emperor nearby.

"I see you." Huo Wu saw Tang San, her lips curving into a smile. Her second Spirit Ability, Sun Ascension, activated, enhancing all her attributes. Then, her fourth spirit ring lit up.

Roar!

In an instant, a golden flame rose from Huo Wu's feet, enveloping her and the Sun Goddess. The scorching temperature even melted the nearby ground.

"Fourth Spirit Ability: Fire Sun Armor!"

Amidst the somewhat chuunibyou shout, within the golden fire mass, the Sun Goddess slowly merged into Huo Wu's body, becoming one, presenting the typical Beast Spirit possession state.

Whoosh!

A scorching storm swept across the arena, instantly igniting the growing Blue Silver Emperor.

Tang San frowned slightly, actively condensing Blue Silver Emperor to pull Xiao Wu and Guang Ling to safety. He watched Huo Wu at this moment—her golden-red hair, like the sun, floated freely. She wore a golden-red battle skirt, black gloves on her hands, and two crimson-gold gems on her back.

At this moment, Huo Wu seemed no longer mortal, but a true god, the Sun Goddess.

"The captain actually used that kind of power!" Oslo was shocked. "In that state, the captain can even make a Spirit King back down."

Ye Lingling said: "The captain actually prefers to fight alone. In team battles, she still has to consider whether we will be affected by her."

"Good power." Tang San praised. "Even a Spirit Emperor probably wouldn't dare to clash head-on with you in this state. However, your opponent is not me."

"Your opponent is me!" Xiao Wu stood in front of Tang San, her third Spirit Ability, True Spirit Bone, activated. In her Spirit possession state, golden patterns appeared on her body, and white spiritual flames emanated from her, actually matching Huo Wu's aura for a moment.

Zzzzt!

In an instant, Xiao Wu's fourth Spirit Ability, Electric Light Flash, activated. She moved like lightning, arriving in front of Huo Wu. Her Waist Bow skill instantly activated, using her body as a bow, she exerted force and kicked towards Huo Wu's chest!

Huo Wu had no time to dodge. She immediately crossed her arms in front of her chest, blocking the kick.

Bang!

However, the speed and power were beyond expectation.

Xiao Wu's speed under the enhancement of her fourth Spirit Ability was extremely fast, and the accumulated inertial force was not comparable to spatial traversal Spirit Ability like Teleportation. Moreover, she had used Waist Bow, making her power even stronger.

This kick actually sent Huo Wu flying nearly thirty meters away.

"What powerful strength!" Huo Wu felt her hands go numb. The look in her eyes as she gazed at Xiao Wu became more serious.

When they last met, Xiao Wu was just an assassination-type agility-attack system. But now, not only is her speed extremely fast, her strength is also terrifyingly powerful.

The moment their sides touched, Huo Wu had already sensed that Xiao Wu's physical strength was stronger than hers, about four or five times stronger. If she didn't use fire element attacks and only relied on martial arts, she probably wouldn't win.

And Tang San was not doing nothing at this moment. He slightly raised his hand, and his second spirit ring lit up. A golden sun-shaped halo condensed and was thrown behind Xiao Wu's head.

Instantly, Xiao Wu's all-attribute increase by forty-one percent, and her aura even showed a tendency to overwhelm Huo Wu.

"Tang San really is a support system!" Oslo's eyes widened. "Adding a ring like the sun to the captain, and her aura can increase so much?"

Qin Ming, being a Spirit Emperor, saw more and said: "It's not just aura; this buff should be an all-attribute buff."

"All-attribute? Doesn't that mean Tang San's single skill is comparable to the first six Spirit Abilities of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School?" Dugu Yan immediately thought of one of the Upper Three Sects, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, which was as famous as her boyfriend's family.

"There should still be some difference." Qin Ming watched for a while and shook his head. "Perhaps, Tang San's Spirit Ability is a bit troublesome to use, requiring him to condense a ring first, unlike the convenience of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda."

Little did they know, Tang San's second Spirit Ability didn't require condensing such a ring at all. This sun-shaped ring was merely a more precise marking he made for his second Spirit Ability after obtaining his third spirit ring.

The essence of the positive and negative buffs was still the invisible, dust-like seeds produced by the Blue Silver Emperor.

Under the enhancement of the positive buff ring, Xiao Wu felt her overall strength greatly improved, and she engaged in a head-on contest with Huo Wu.

Huo Wu condensed fire and light elements in her hands, while Xiao Wu's hands were also covered with a layer of Blue Silver Emperor leaves, forming gloves that fit her palms. She even had Blue Silver Emperor wrapped around her body to prevent it from being scorched by Huo Wu's flames.

With this protection, Xiao Wu attacked with greater ease. Coupled with her faster speed than Huo Wu and Listening to the Wind helping her predict Huo Wu's attacks, Xiao Wu could attack Huo Wu, but Huo Wu couldn't even touch Xiao Wu's body.

On the other side.

Yu Tianheng sought out Tang San, wanting to deal with this support system.

However—

Slap!

Jade-like hands interlocked with dragon claws, blocking the blue lightning power, preventing it from causing any damage to Tang San.

"What?!"

A support system clashing head-on with him, an attack system?

"Although I am a support system, I am an all-rounder. In terms of combat power, even without a Spirit, I can defeat a Spirit Ancestor." Tang San wrestled with Yu Tianheng, using his powerful physique to press Yu Tianheng firmly to the ground. He then flipped him over, held down his neck, and asked, "You've lost. Do you surrender?"

Unwilling!

But he couldn't resist that power. Continuing would only make him more pathetic, so he could only admit defeat and then left the arena.

135: Three VS Eight (Four)

"Captain, why did you concede?" Shi Mo asked curiously after Yu Tianheng left the stage. "You weren't completely without the power to resist, were you?"

"I had the power to resist, but this is just a spar. There's no need to fight to the death." Yu Tianheng's expression shifted slightly. "Tang San must have a trump card. He is definitely not an ordinary Spirit Master. I suspect he is that Martial Soul Theory Master."

At these words, Yu Tianheng didn't hear his companions' exclamations. He asked, "What's wrong with you all? Don't you believe our judgment?"

"No, we had already guessed it. Teacher Qin Ming was the first to guess," Dugu Yan said.

"Is that so? It seems we lost fairly!" Yu Tianheng sighed, looking at Huo Wu, the only one remaining on the field. "If it were a one-on-one challenge, the captain might win, but one against three, it's completely impossible, not to mention that the girl with the long scorpion braid could even go head-to-head with the captain."

To be honest, the few people present, including Qin Ming, found it hard to imagine why a Soft Bones Rabbit Spirit would have such strong offensive power.

However, Tang San is a Grandmaster of Spirit, capable of cultivating his Blue Silver Grass to such strength, so he naturally could also transform a Soft Bones Rabbit into a battle Spirit Master excelling in both agility and brute force.

"I'm not fighting anymore!"

At this moment, the battle on the field stopped. Huo Wu voluntarily ceased fighting and withdrew her Spirit. "Even a rabbit like you can beat me so badly. Tang San must be even more formidable. It seems I still need to work harder."

Clap, clap, clap!

Applause erupted.

Qin Ming walked over with Yu Tianheng and the others, saying, "Welcome to our team, Grandmaster Tang San."

"You don't need to call me Grandmaster, just call me Tang San, Teacher Qin Ming." Tang San waved his hand casually. "After all, I don't want to be famous, nor do I want to be forced to join any particular force."

Once his identity was exposed, the major powers would surely compete for him, and he would inevitably lose his freedom.

Although quite a few people knew his identity now, those present were all young talents, currently bound by family 'interests' and 'management,' and he still trusted them for the time being.

As for two years later, when the competition began and his wings were fully grown, he would no longer need to worry about those petty individuals.

"Naturally, we won't spread it outside," Qin Ming guaranteed, and Yu Tianheng and the others also swore not to reveal Tang San's true identity to outsiders.

After a Spirit battle, the relationship between both sides became much closer.

Especially Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, who struck up conversations with Dugu Yan and Ye Lingling, as if girls had endless topics to talk about.

However, Yu Feng was quite afraid of Guang Ling, as he had been shot through the stomach with an arrow before. Although he received treatment from Ye Lingling, Ye Lingling had been paralyzed earlier and her spirit power hadn't recovered, so his stomach still hurt.

Seeing his condition, Tang San used his First Soul Skill, wrapping a Blue Silver Emperor around Yu Feng to help him recover from his injuries and spirit power.

"Are you really a support system?" Yu Feng sensed his wound healing rapidly and his stamina and spirit power recovering. He couldn't help but look at Tang San. "Is this the effect of your First Soul Skill?"

"That's right, this is the effect of my First Soul Skill, Endless Recovery. It can restore injuries, stamina, and spirit power, but it cannot detoxify. However, it can transmit Life force, which has a certain effect on alleviating toxins. Its recovery efficiency will increase as my spirit power level increases," Tang San explained the effect of his First Soul Skill, leaving the others amazed.

"Does your Blue Silver Grass primarily cultivate Life force?" Ye Lingling had actually noticed a slight connection between her Nine Hearted Sea棠 Spirit and Tang San's Blue Silver Grass the first time she saw him. That surging Life force was something her Nine Hearted Sea棠 lacked.

"That's right." Tang San nodded. "My Blue Silver Grass primarily cultivates Life. The reason it can perform control system abilities is most likely because my Blue Silver Grass is a mutated species, coupled with absorbing multiple spirit rings across ranks, making it extremely tough and controllable by me. Naturally, it can do things that only a control system can do."

"As for your Nine Hearted Sea棠 Spirit, I've also heard that no matter what type of spirit ring is added, it will only produce one Spirit Ability: healing. This is comparable to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. The first six Spirit Abilities of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda Spirit are also fixed, only their order changes depending on the type of spirit ring added."

"If there were more Nine Hearted Sea棠 Spirits, it might become a great Sect comparable to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School."

In Tang San's view, owners of the Nine Hearted Sea棠 Spirit were not suited to be battle Spirit Masters, but rather doctors.

If there were more of them, it could indeed become a great Sect comparable to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

Moreover, there wasn't much competition between the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda and the Nine Hearted Sea棠, as the Nine Hearted Sea棠 only had one Spirit Ability: healing.

Unfortunately, the Nine Hearted Sea棠 Spirit is very peculiar; only two can exist at the same time. Only when one dies will the next Nine Hearted Sea棠 Spirit owner appear.

Tang San actually hoped to explore the essence of this strange phenomenon to see what was going on, but now was definitely not the time.

"Alas, who knew my family's Nine Hearted Sea棠 Spirit was so strange, only two can exist at the same time?" Ye Lingling was also a bit puzzled by this point. She asked her family, but they didn't know either. "Tang San, do you know the reason?"

"I haven't researched it, so I don't know. If I have the chance in the future, I can help you research it." Tang San smiled. "I don't have that ability right now."

Ye Lingling did not show a disappointed expression. After all, over the years, she hadn't explored why her family's ancestral Spirit could only appear as two at a time.

Her question just now was subconscious, and she didn't expect Tang San to immediately state the reason.

It would be strange if Tang San could say it.

Seeing Tang San and the others so naturally integrate into the Heaven Dou Royal First Team, a smile appeared on Qin Ming's face. He said, "Let's go, I'll take you all to the Heaven Dou Great Hotel for a meal to celebrate the addition of three new members to our team."

"Long live Teacher Qin Ming!" Shi Mo and Shi Mo, the two brothers, cheered.

Heaven Dou Great Hotel.

That was a hotel specifically for nobles. A meal, even the cheapest kind, would cost nearly three thousand gold coins.

The members of the Heaven Dou Royal First Team, excluding Tang San and the others who had just joined, could all be said to come from prominent families. But even so, they couldn't possibly eat at the Heaven Dou Great Hotel every day. They didn't have that much pocket money, nor could they ask their families for pocket money just for a meal; they wouldn't want to lose face.

"Alright, don't be so excited. I still have something to tell you all." Qin Ming calmed everyone down. "Tomorrow, two new students will be coming to the academy. Emperor Xue Ye and Prince Xue Xing will both be present, and you all must attend as well."

Regarding Ning Fengzhi's saying: He who gains the Grandmaster gains the world.

A more reasonable explanation is that in the original work, Ning Fengzhi valued Tang San and understood his character quite thoroughly: blindly loyal, holding a grudge against Spirit Hall, but not wanting to be bound by the imperial family. Therefore, he offered advice to Emperor Xue Ye, suggesting he start with Yu Xiaogang, after all—

Who "Yu Xiaogang" was wasn't important; what was important was Tang San.

136: The arrival of Ning Rongrong

“Another gathering?”

“I really don’t want to go.”

For Huo Wu and the others, attending noble banquets was actually quite troublesome; they simply couldn’t stand the rules.

But as students of Heaven Dou Royal Academy, and excellent ones at that, they had to attend, otherwise people would think they were arrogant.

Although this World also valued strength, their strength had clearly not reached the point where they could refuse invitations, not to mention that Emperor Xue Ye and Prince Xue Xing would be present, so the new students joining Heaven Dou Royal Academy tomorrow would surely have extremely noble statuses.

“Alright, don’t say such things. Interacting with those noble children is also a form of training for your social skills,” Qin Ming said with a smile, “If you build good relationships with those nobles, you will gain great convenience when traveling in other parts of the Heaven Dou Empire in the future.”

The martial World isn't just about fighting and killing; it's also about human relationships and social etiquette.

Involuntarily, Tang San thought of that phrase, and it applied equally well to this Douluo Continent...

...

The next afternoon.

The entire Heaven Dou Royal Academy became lively.

All the noble children in the Academy were dressed appropriately and went to the open square filled with tables and flowers. At such times, the nobles also restrained themselves a bit.

Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling also changed into formal attire and followed Huo Wu and the others to this place.

“It’s really lively here.” Xiao Wu looked at the students and nobles chatting with each other, picked up a pastry from a nearby table, and started munching on it directly.

Her actions completely lacked the demeanor a noble should have.

When the nearby noble students saw this, they secretly chuckled and then moved away from Xiao Wu and the others.

“Hmph~” Xiao Wu didn't care, continuing to eat her pastry, ignoring the stares of those people. Instead, she glared back fiercely, quite unruly.

Tang San smiled and didn't stop her. As long as Xiao Wu didn't curse or snatch other people's things indiscriminately, it wasn't a big deal.

To be honest, Tang San himself didn't know how to talk to the nobles here. After all, they didn't have common topics. If he initiated a conversation, others might not be interested in Spirit cultivation at all.

So, Tang San also joined Xiao Wu and Guang Ling in the ranks of eating pastries and drinking beverages. And it must be said, as expected of Royal specialities, the taste was truly excellent.

“Why do you only know how to eat pastries?” Huo Wu perfunctorily dismissed Xue Beng, who was trying to flirt with her, and walked up to Tang San, holding a transparent glass cup with a purplish-red liquid inside.

After sniffing it, Tang San concluded it was a type of wine.

“No common topics, better not to talk.” Tang San swallowed the cake-like dessert in his mouth, scanned the surroundings, and couldn't help but shake his head, “As a Martial Soul Theory Master, being a bit reclusive, you should be able to understand.”

“Those people all have lecherous eyes; I don't like them.” Xiao Wu's reason was very simple.

“They're too noisy.” Guang Ling also gave her excuse. Having received Tang San's true teachings, she also preferred to study quietly and had no interest at all in the small talk and discussions of the upper class. She felt that she and they were people from two completely different Worlds and could not discuss anything together.

In fact, she felt that holding such a grand banquet just to welcome two new students was a waste of both time and money.

Wouldn't it be better if the expenses here were used in various impoverished villages to help them build larger settlements, or even cities?

What was the point of such a welcoming ceremony?

Half an hour later, the main guests finally arrived.

A middle-aged man wearing splendid robes and a crown appeared, accompanied by another middle-aged man with a rather gloomy gaze, and then, a familiar face: Xue Qinghe.

Following that, Xue Beng, who had been chatting with Huo Wu earlier, was also called over and followed beside the gloomy-eyed middle-aged man.

Emperor Xue Ye, Prince Xue Xing, Xue Qinghe, Xue Beng.

Tang San had recognized all of them, then looked at the four people walking towards them.

One had an elegant and gentle demeanor; the other was over thirty but energetic, with sharp eyes, like a treasured Sword piercing the sky, its sharpness fully revealed.

Based on the two girls accompanying them, one was playful and cute, and Tang San felt she looked somewhat familiar, so he guessed who she was:

The little princess of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, Ning Rongrong.

As for the two men, the one with the elegant demeanor must be Ning Fengzhi, and the other was Sword Douluo.

No wonder Emperor Xue Ye and Prince Xue Xing came in person; it turned out Ning Rongrong was joining Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

Ning Rongrong, who was very likely to become the next Sect Master of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, deserved such solemn treatment!

However, Tang San was a little surprised that Ning Rongrong hadn't run off to Shrek Academy due to her mischievousness.

Also, who was the other little girl?

Where did Mu Tian, with his overbearing temper, go?

This doubt didn't last long, because after Ning Fengzhi and Emperor Xue Ye exchanged pleasantries, he began to introduce the two who were joining Heaven Dou Royal Academy to everyone.

The first, naturally, was Ning Rongrong.

The second, surprisingly, was Bai Chenxiang!

“Speed Clan...” Tang San narrowed his eyes, stroking his chin, and thought to himself, “Why would Bai Chenxiang be with people from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School? Wait, is it because of the theories I published that the major powers on the Continent have started vying for the four single-attribute clans that were once affiliated with the Clear Sky Sect?”

“It seems I’ve caused quite a change.”

“However, none of this matters. Minor changes in power won’t have any serious impact on the Continent’s overall structure. By then, no matter which power unifies the Continent, it will be beneficial to me.”

At this moment, Tang San had already realized the changes he, as a transmigrator, had caused, but he himself didn’t care, because he understood that as his wings gradually matured, the number of people who could threaten him would become fewer and fewer.

Other transmigrators?

Hmph!

A bunch of petty individuals hiding in the dark, not even daring to greatly disrupt the “plot,” fearing that unpredictable things might happen. How could such timid people be worthy of being his enemies?

After Ning Fengzhi finished introducing Ning Rongrong and Bai Chenxiang, he let them go make friends, while Emperor Xue Ye walked to a high platform and began lecturing everyone about the future of the Empire, the future of Spirit Masters, and the future of nobles...

...

Many people listened attentively on the surface, but in reality, they were whispering and didn't take Emperor Xue Ye's impassioned declaration to heart.

“Tang San?” Ning Rongrong immediately noticed Xiao Wu's scorpion braid; this feature was very distinct. So, the boy next to Xiao Wu was naturally the humorous Tang San from back then.

Ning Rongrong's actions also attracted the attention of other students and nobles.

“Long time no see, Your Royal Highness, the little princess of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.” Tang San bowed slightly.

“It really is you. Compared to back then, you’re even more handsome.” Ning Rongrong circled Tang San, blinked her eyes, and said with a playful smile, “I didn’t expect you to actually come to Heaven Dou Royal Academy.”

“Oh? Your Royal Highness knew I was coming?” Tang San’s tone revealed a hint of curiosity.

“Of course...”

137: The quirky Ning Rongrong

Chapter 137: The Witty Ning Rongrong

"Of course, my father, Grandpa Sword, and Grandpa Bone analyzed it together and said that if you want to obtain more historical records and information from predecessors, the most likely place to come is Heaven Dou Royal Academy," Ning Rongrong whispered.

Tang San also understood why Ning Rongrong came to Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

It turned out she didn't just not want to sneak out; rather, her father had given her a strict order.

"What about Mu Tian?" Tang San asked, "With his talent, is he not coming to Heaven Dou Royal Academy?"

Tang San still remembered Mu Tian; he had reported his situation to Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, so Spirit Hall's people should have noticed him, right? Did they not secretly cause trouble?

That's right, if Spirit Hall had caused trouble, the Speed Clan wouldn't have been able to join the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

It seems that the current Bibi Dong isn't crazy enough to drag the entire continent down with her; it's estimated that rationality still holds the upper hand.

"Him?" Ning Rongrong snorted, "He's always been so arrogant. He almost died absorbing his second spirit ring, which was a thousand-year one... He heard you might be at Heaven Dou Royal Academy, so he didn't come.

Instead, he went to Soto City, to Shrek Academy, saying he wanted to recruit some talents for the Sect."

Talents?

It's probably Oscar and Ma Hongjun. Dai Mubai and Zhu Zhuqing are from the Star Luo Empire, so it's impossible for them to join the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School... Or maybe not. In the original work, Dai Mubai and Zhu Zhuqing followed the protagonist group to Heaven Dou Royal Academy and didn't raise any objections. It's not impossible that they intended to use the Heaven Dou Empire's power against Dai Weisi and Zhu Zhuyun.

Thinking of this, Tang San immediately cut off this thought. How those few people from Shrek fared had nothing to do with him. Without the Immortal Herb cheat, apart from Oscar, who was a genius with innate full spirit power and had a chance to cultivate to Titled Douluo, the others were not worth fearing, especially Ma Hongjun. If that evil fire wasn't handled well, at most he'd reach Spirit Saint, then be "consumed by desire," unable to achieve Nirvana and rebirth, only turning to ashes.

"By the way, I'm already level 31, and both my second and third spirit rings are thousand-year level, you know." Ning Rongrong reported her strength level. "What level are you? You should have reached Spirit Elder, right?"

"Spirit Ancestor, level 41," Tang San said, "My fourth spirit ring is ten-thousand-year."

"Ten-thou..."

Bai Chenxiang, who was beside them, was about to exclaim but was covered by Ning Rongrong's hand, who said, "Xiangxiang, quiet down."

"Sorry, Sister Rongrong." Bai Chenxiang realized her lapse in composure and immediately apologized. Moreover, her temper was not as willful as in the original work; instead, it was somewhat gentle.

It was probably because she followed the Speed Clan in joining the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School and was treated with courtesy by Ning Fengzhi, who hoped she could manage Ning Rongrong's spoiled princess temper.

However, Bai Chenxiang's age in the original work should have been a bit younger than the protagonist group, but now she was already twelve years old. It seemed the original series could truly only be used as a reference.

"Tang San, you can withstand a ten-thousand-year level at your fourth spirit ring?" Ning Rongrong asked quietly, "My father said that a ten-thousand-year spirit ring is different from a thousand-year one. It's not just about having a strong enough body and suitable spirit ring and Spirit attributes. When absorbing it, the brain will vibrate, and the chance of failure is very high."

"I know, that's mental vibration, also soul vibration. When Spirit Beasts reach the ten-thousand-year level, their wisdom gradually approaches that of humans. When Spirit Masters kill them, their spiritual resentment will remain in the spirit ring. Generally speaking, before Spirit King, one cannot withstand it," Tang San said, speaking of his area of expertise. "However, as long as one's mental force is strong, a ten-thousand-year spirit ring is not impossible to withstand before the first four rings."

"You are that special case with strong mental force." Ning Rongrong suddenly understood. "But how can your mental force be so strong?"

"It's a secret." Tang San smiled slightly.

"You can't tell me?" Ning Rongrong wanted to get to the bottom of it.

"Just like your Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School has the Heart Separation Control method, which is not passed on externally," Tang San gave an example.

"Oh~" Ning Rongrong drew out the sound, "Secrets are for exchange, but the Heart Separation Control method cannot be exchanged. My father wouldn't agree."

Tang San was a bit curious about the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's Heart Separation Control method, but it didn't matter much if he couldn't get it. After all, during his time at Notting Academy, he also practiced multi-tasking; otherwise, he wouldn't have been able to control the Blue Silver Emperor in the Endless Grassland.

Moreover, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's Heart Separation Control method, in terms of its demonstrated effect, was only to allow the direct disciples of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School to use multiple Spirit Abilities simultaneously.

Tang San could also achieve this by practicing climbing trees, walking on water, and other exercises to strengthen his spirit power control, thereby learning how to use multiple spirit ring skills simultaneously.

Tang San even felt that the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's Heart Separation Control method might not be as profound as his own self-developed "multi-tasking."

"Let me introduce you, this is my disciple, Guang Ling." Tang San pulled Guang Ling in front of him.

"Hello, Guang Ling." Ning Rongrong greeted Guang Ling and pinched her round cheek. "So cute."

Guang Ling's face reddened. She had never encountered such a situation before.

At this moment, Emperor Xue Ye finally stopped his speech. Seeing Xue Beng yawning and bored beside him, he sighed inwardly, then coughed twice and said to Xue Qinghe, "Qinghe, let's go, accompany me to stroll outside the Academy. My body is getting worse and worse. When you succeed me, there are some things you need to pay attention to."

"Yes, Imperial Father." Xue Qinghe respectfully supported Emperor Xue Ye's arm and accompanied him out of the lively venue...

...

"My senior brother is truly filial, just a bit boring." Ning Rongrong noticed that scene and pouted. "But he's much better than that guy Xue Beng. They're both Uncle Xue Ye's sons, how can there be such a big difference?"

Tang San didn't offer any opinions, only thought to himself.

Qian Renxue's plan of replacing the Crown Prince was, to be honest, not particularly clever. In his previous life's history, there were similar records, and compared to them, Xue Qinghe was still too naive.

For these ruling classes, their methods couldn't be honorable. Tang San also didn't want to stand on moral high ground to criticize anything. However, if he had to choose, he wouldn't take sides, only focus on research, cultivation, and spirit tools.

Therefore, Tang San didn't care who unified the entire continent.

Whichever force could make the continent more stable, he would support that one.

From the current perspective, Spirit Hall was better.

And currently, Spirit Hall had not openly displayed its ambition to unify the continent, so the Two Great Empires were only instinctively wary of Spirit Hall.

After the banquet, Xue Qinghe found Tang San and apologized for the previous events, giving Tang San a token, saying it was the Crown Prince's token. In Heaven Dou City, all who saw it were to treat it as if they saw the Crown Prince himself.

Thus, Tang San and Xue Qinghe's relationship became closer again, which made Wang Chen's expression beside him extremely ugly, but he couldn't say anything.

"My senior brother's bodyguard seems to have an opinion of you." After Xue Qinghe left, Ning Rongrong watched his retreating figure for a while, then her eyes darted around, and she giggled, "Does he think you're too close to the Crown Prince and he doesn't like it? I heard that some people in the royal family have bad conduct."

Tang San: "... You truly don't act like a young lady who has received a "noble education."

138: Ning Fengzhi's views on Tang San

Rongrong, it seems you've made a good friend.

At this moment, a magnetic voice rang out as Ning Fengzhi approached with Sword Douluo, looking at Tang San, "May I ask, young brother, what is your name and where are you from?"

For a young man who could instantly engage his precious daughter in conversation, Ning Fengzhi naturally wanted to understand clearly, so as not to be deceived.

"School Master Ning, hello, my name is Tang San."

"Tang San?"

Ning Fengzhi was startled, and seeing Ning Rongrong wink at him, he immediately realized he had hit the jackpot.

Ever since Tang San's theories emerged, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School had been searching for traces of "Tang San," even arranging many people to investigate in the Spirit fighting arenas of major cities.

Unfortunately, many people named "Tang San" were found, but they were either of low strength or completely ignorant of Spirit theory.

Therefore, Ning Fengzhi placed the greatest possibility of "Tang San" on the Tang San whom Ning Rongrong had met, and arranged for Ning Rongrong to come to Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

Even if he was wrong, Ning Rongrong staying at Heaven Dou Royal Academy for a period would help her temper her personality, as there were many imperial relatives, young ladies, and young masters here.

With Rongrong's character, she wouldn't go astray.

"A young talent, truly extraordinary." Ning Fengzhi sized up Tang San, seeing that his appearance was proper and he showed no timidity facing him, a Sect Master, and couldn't help but praise him.

"School Master Ning, you flatter me. I am just an ordinary Spirit Master, only better at observation and summarization," Tang San said humbly.

"Haha, I was too abrupt." Ning Fengzhi realized that Tang San's identity as a "Martial Soul Theory Master" had not been fully exposed under the Heaven Dou Imperial family's nose; otherwise, he wouldn't be talking to him here, but meeting him in the Heaven Dou Imperial Palace.

However, now that he had met Tang San, there would be plenty of opportunities to interact in the future, so there was no need to rush.

Thinking of this, Ning Fengzhi let Ning Rongrong stay and chat with Tang San and the others for a while longer, while he and Sword Douluo left first...

...

"Uncle Sword, what do you think of that Tang San?" On the way back to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, Ning Fengzhi asked Sword Douluo for his opinion on Tang San.

"From what appears on the surface, he's not very accustomed to interactions among nobles. He seems like someone deeply engrossed in research. However, Ning Rongrong chatted very happily with him earlier, so he probably has his own little humor, or perhaps he possesses a quality that makes people feel close to him, full of vitality, making people unable to help but want to approach him." Sword Douluo thought for a moment and gave his opinion, "Moreover, his spirit power is extremely restrained; even I find it difficult to detect."

Ning Fengzhi had actually noticed the points Sword Douluo mentioned, and then asked, "Uncle Sword, what strength do you think he has reached?"

"Close to a Spirit Ancestor, or even possibly a Spirit Ancestor," Sword Douluo said, "The possibility of him being a Spirit Ancestor is greater."

"Oh? Why?"

"I can see that he inwardly desires freedom and doesn't want to be restrained, but due to reality, he has to make certain compromises. However, such a person is arrogant at heart, so they must reach a certain level of strength. A Spirit Ancestor is already a mid-level Spirit Master." The more Sword Douluo analyzed, the more certain he became of his conjecture, and the more shocked his eyes became, "A twelve-year-old Spirit Ancestor, truly worthy of being a Martial Soul Theory Master! Starting research at six or seven years old, he's simply a prodigy!"

"Who was the last Martial Soul Theory Master again?"

"The Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan produced a huge joke."

Regarding Yu Xiaogang, Ning Fengzhi did not directly mock him like Sword Douluo, even though it was just the two of them at the moment.

After all, he possessed high moral cultivation; even if it was just on the surface, as long as he maintained it for life, no one could fault him.

Secondly, although Yu Xiaogang was unremarkable, he did have some capabilities. His unclear connections with the current Supreme Pontiff, and almost marrying his own cousin... in a sense, he was quite an oddity.

More importantly, Yu Xiaogang recorded most of the Spirit Beast data within Spirit Hall. Just based on this point, he himself could be called a living "soul beast encyclopedia."

Of course, that was all.

This was Ning Fengzhi's view of Yu Xiaogang, and what Ning Fengzhi said in the original work about 'he who gains the Grandmaster gains the world' actually meant 'he who gains Tang San gains the world.'

In the original work, Ning Fengzhi most likely saw that Tang San himself was accustomed to freedom but was relatively foolishly loyal and highly trusted Yu Xiaogang. Therefore, to help the Heaven Dou Empire win over Tang San, he chose to start with Yu Xiaogang. Later, in the original work, after that Tang San was conferred the title of Blue Hao King, he also developed some thoughts about power...

This is not to be mentioned for now.

For those in power, as long as it benefits them, even a waste can be promoted as a heaven-sent genius who is simply unappreciated.

Everything is for profit!

And now, Ning Fengzhi was contemplating how to win over Tang San.

"Uncle Sword, do you think Rongrong will fall for Tang San if she spends more time with him?" Ning Fengzhi asked.

"There's a very high possibility." Sword Douluo was silent for a moment, then sighed, "When she was in the Sect, Rongrong collected every issue of Wuhun News and memorized all of Tang San's theories by heart. Although it might have been to tease Mu Tian, this is enough to prove that Tang San left a very good impression on Rongrong during their past experience."

"It's just... isn't this a bit unfair to Mu Tian?"

"Rongrong and he can be considered childhood sweethearts, right?"

Childhood sweethearts?

One can only say they grew up in the same place.

"Not really. Rongrong doesn't like Mu Tian at all. Besides, how have we, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, ever wronged Mu Tian? All sorts of cultivation resources, living supplies... one could say that even if he went to Spirit Hall, he wouldn't receive so much. And we even gave him whale glue to consume; we treated him well."

Ning Fengzhi said in a deep voice, "If he feels we have mistreated him, or even betrayed the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, just because Rongrong doesn't like him and we don't try to get them together, then we simply misjudged him."

"He's too self-important, thinking that just because he has innate full spirit power, we should spoil him."

"When absorbing his second spirit ring, he even told Uncle Bone he wanted a ten-thousand-year one directly, but he almost failed to absorb even a sixteen-hundred-year spirit ring."

"Also, I gave him a chance to come to Heaven Dou Royal Academy with Rongrong this time, but he refused and insisted on going to Shrek Academy."

Ning Fengzhi also knew about Shrek Academy, a "country academy" without formal teaching qualifications. Its only commendable aspects were those few Spirit Saints and Spirit Emperors.

As for Shrek Academy's teaching methods, Ning Fengzhi hadn't specifically investigated and was unclear, but over the years, only one Qin Ming was worth mentioning. As for the other students, he didn't know if they had graduated or gone elsewhere; in any case, they had completely disappeared.

"Shrek Academy, that academy doesn't even have proper dormitories, but that Flender has some ability and a small connection with the local Spirit Hall's Hall Master. Every year, he can trick a large number of students into going there. Maybe Mu Tian can really find some talented commoner children there." Sword Douluo, however, had a thoughtful expression.

Flender himself should have some connection with the local Spirit Hall in Soto City; otherwise, with such publicity, it's impossible that no one would intervene.

As for why the local Spirit Hall didn't report it?

Aside from Bibi Dong knowing and not caring, or perhaps to cause internal strife in Star Luo, everything else could be summed up in one sentence: The emperor is far away, and there are countless instances of subordinates feigning compliance.

139: Rebirth of the Blue Silver Emperor

Within Balak Kingdom.

Soto City.

Mu Tian arrived here and found the spirit tool shop run by Flender. He spent three thousand gold coins to buy a piece of yellow crystal with impurities.

"That crystal slab, the protagonist's fortuitous encounter, is mine now." Mu Tian was very excited. Although he paid a bit more money, he was thrilled because after this crystal slab was broken, it contained natural Hidden Weapons called Dragon Beard Needle. Normally, they were small round balls, but when spirit power was injected, they would transform into needles as fine as hair.

However, when he smashed open the crystal slab, he found the small golden beads scattered, moving so fast that some even flew out the window, or fell into cracks... He couldn't stop them in time. When he finally collected them, he counted and found only fifteen.

Immediately, Mu Tian's face darkened.

Although the Dragon Beard Needle was a natural Hidden Weapons, collecting it was extremely difficult, and Mu Tian realized that he didn't know how to throw the hair-thin Dragon Beard Needle at all.

Hidden Weapons looked cool, but if one didn't have the corresponding techniques, even if spirit power was injected into them, they could only be thrown with brute force, resulting in a terrifyingly low hit rate.

Realizing that the Dragon Beard Needle was not a particularly useful weapon for him, Mu Tian felt a bit disappointed, but he still put the fifteen small beads into his storage soul tool. Then, he went to the hotel counter to check out, preparing to go to Rose Hotel to befriend Dai Mubai.

"Now, I am walking Tang San's path," Mu Tian muttered to himself. "Tang San is also a transmigrator, and looking at the current situation, he doesn't seem to be taking the path of Shrek Academy. So, I will take his place, walk his path, befriend Dai Mubai, subdue Oscar and Ma Hongjun, and then win over Zhu Zhuqing."

Mentioning Zhu Zhuqing, Mu Tian recalled the comic and anime images of Zhu Zhuqing he had seen in his previous life, and secretly cursed himself for being foolish.

Why pursue the little demoness Ning Rongrong?

Could his small body endure that princess's temper?

Wouldn't pursuing Zhu Zhuqing be better?

She was the true loli with big breasts, a cute girl with a large chest! Plus, that aloof personality, it's like ice and fire, isn't it?

When he arrived at the outskirts of Shrek Academy, he already saw a group of people queuing, some even accompanied by their parents.

Ahead of him was a blue-haired girl, petite and exquisite, like a fairy in the forest, exuding a natural aura.

A faint fragrance wafted into Mu Tian's nostrils, making him feel refreshed. He couldn't help but proactively greet the girl in front: "Hello, are you also here to participate in the Shrek Academy assessment?"

The blue-haired girl with hair draped over her shoulders turned around, her beautiful face almost making Mu Tian愣: "That's right. I heard that only monsters are recruited here. I think, with my twelve years old and thirty-first level strength, I should be able to enroll."

"Thirty-first level? That's amazing, I'm also thirty-first level. Wait!" Mu Tian suddenly realized that at this time, Shrek Academy shouldn't have anyone who was Spirit Elder level right upon enrollment. Could the person in front of him be a transmigrator?

"Odd changes, even doesn't?" Mu Tian prepared to test her.

"Huh?"

"You don't know? Then, Heavenly King covers Earth Tiger?"

"Is this some new slang, or a secret code?" The blue-haired girl was a little curious.

"No, no, just pretend I'm crazy..." Mu Tian gave an awkward laugh, then changed the subject, "What's your name? My name is Mu Tian."

"My name is Lan Yinzi."

The blue-haired girl spoke her name.

"Lan Yinzi, what a beautiful name."

"Hehe." Lan Yinzi could feel Mu Tian's awkwardness and chuckled twice, turning away and no longer talking to him. But the smiling face, however, darkened, and she thought to herself: A transmigrator?

Lan Yinzi had her own secret: she was not human, but a Ten-thousand year soul beast that had taken human form, and it was her second time doing so, though this second time was somewhat peculiar.

Her true form was the Blue Silver Emperor, who had once taken human form as Ah Yin, married Tang Hao, and bore a son. However, she was later forced to sacrifice herself to her husband, her essence condensing into a seed.

Her despondent husband planted her in a misty cave. Later, someone uprooted her, who had regrown, and swallowed her.

However, she was a Ten-thousand year soul beast reborn after all. Even though her ten-thousand year cultivation was gone, a trace of her mental force still existed.

If the person who pulled her out had directly burned her body, then she would have died. No matter how strong the mental force, without a vessel, it would be useless and could only dissipate.

But who told that person to swallow her?

Thus, relying on that trace of her Ten-thousand year soul beast mental force, she gradually took over the Spirit of the person who swallowed her body. It was also fortunate that the person's Spirit was Blue Silver Grass, otherwise it would have been truly difficult to succeed.

As the Blue Silver Emperor, she had a connection to all Blue Silver Grass, including Spirits.

Therefore, after taking over that person's Blue Silver Grass Spirit, she began to constantly erode the other party's mind, and then spent six years to complete the final possession.

When she regained consciousness, she realized that the body she had taken was surprisingly just a little girl's body, but this girl's mental force was not bad, and she also had many novel knowledge that she didn't know.

Among them was the Douluo Series.

After organizing those memories, the Blue Silver Emperor gave herself a new name, Lan Yinzi, to conceal her identity.

She had read the Douluo Series. As for her son, Tang San, she didn't know how to treat him. From a soul perspective, he might not be her biological son, but physically, by blood, he was indeed her son.

Moreover, in the five Douluo Series, Tang San treated her very well, resurrecting her and reuniting her with Tang Hao. Even after becoming a Sea God in the future, he helped her achieve the will of the Douluo Continent, and even the majestic Silver Dragon King, one of the split bodies of the Dragon God, would have to call her grandmother in the distant future.

Besides the five Douluo Series, Lan Yinzi also saw many fanfiction contents of Douluo from the transmigrator she possessed. The protagonists in them basically all climbed to power by stepping on her son, verbally denigrating how hypocritical Tang San was, but in reality, what they did was an exaggeration, to say the least.

Even if Tang San was a transmigrator, he at least took responsibility for his physical parents, but what about those transmigrators?

They were basically there for chasing girls. Having a harem was one thing; a strong person could have multiple women, which was normal, but their values were more outrageous than the last.

There's no need to compare who's worse, right?

Tang San is a transmigrator, and you transmigrators are just awakening your past life memories, reincarnating, right?

She would rather believe that Tang San also awakened his past life memories!

Her own self in these fanfics was also described as an idiot, with no ability to think for herself. Some even had "herself" being deluded by transmigrators and wanting to kill Tang San to avenge her biological son.

That's even more idiotic.

She was a Ten-thousand year soul beast that had taken human form!

She herself did not have human morals. For offspring, as long as the bloodline was consistent, the state of the soul and Spirit actually didn't matter much.

And there were also claims that Tang Hao deliberately did that back then, revealing her identity to Spirit Hall, with the purpose of forcing her to sacrifice... Although that was indeed a huge coincidence, how could Tang Hao, with his brain, think of so much?

He was a brute!

A guy who swung his hammer at the slightest disagreement, could he come up with such a plan?

She would rather believe it was Tang Hao's father who came up with it!

It was precisely because of this that she fell in love with him back then, and not the more stable-minded Tang Xiao.

However, Lan Yinzi understood that after she took over this transmigrator's body, she was also affected by his memories, and developed a bit of "rejection" towards Tang San...

The Blue Silver Emperor possessed someone, but the conditions for possession were quite strict: the quality of one's mental force could not be poor (according to the original work's description, the resurrected Blue Silver Emperor possessed all memories from before her sacrifice and after sprouting, so it's highly likely that the quality of her mental force was not weak; it's just that before being transplanted to the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, her cultivation was insufficient, leading to a small quantity of mental force, making it difficult to utilize, or perhaps she simply didn't know more ways to use mental force, only relying on instinct to sense her kind...

Looking at Heaven Dream Iceworm, who is also a Spirit attribute Spirit Beast, with such strong mental force yet doing so poorly, the Blue Silver Emperor certainly wouldn't be much better), and the Spirit of the possessed person must be the same as the original body, at least of the same type.

Ordinary Ten-thousand year soul beasts cannot replicate this.

Perhaps fierce beasts could—

For example, the Deep Sea Demon Whale King, nearly a million years old, intended to possess Tang San during his final Sea God trial, but it was done under the nose of the former Sea God Poseidon, so it failed.

140: Lan Yinzi's decision

Because of the influence of the transmigrator's memories, Lan Yinzi's feelings for Tang Hao were slightly diluted, and at the same time, she didn't know how to face Tang San.

But she had to face it eventually. As for whether to start a new Life with a new identity, Lan Yinzi stated that she couldn't possibly forget those past memories; she couldn't do it.

Reality wasn't the wishful thinking found in those fanfiction novels; she was a living Life, with her own wisdom and emotions, her own joys, angers, sorrows, and delights.

How could she be like those "selves" in fanfiction, believing a transmigrator's bluffs so easily?

Even if she believed it, the memory would still be there. She wasn't one of those fallen noblewomen who could completely let go and find a new reliance just because her husband died or cheated on her.

If she truly had such a personality, what normal man would dare to truly marry her?

Being played with, abandoned, and finally meeting a tragic end was the basic fate of such heartless, unfeeling women who could easily shift their affections.

However, at this moment, she still harbored some resentment towards Tang Hao. After all, even if Tang San was truly a soul possessor and displayed a maturity unlike children his age, he was still their flesh and blood in terms of lineage. How could he be treated that way?

Therefore, Lan Yinzi didn't immediately go to him. Instead, she chose to come to Soto City, found Shrek Academy, and prepared to meet Tang San as a fellow student to see if this "son" was truly the original.

After this soul possession, Lan Yinzi's mental force had grown considerably. She couldn't do anything about other Spirits, but as a fellow Blue Silver Emperor, she could definitely check the state of his soul through his Spirit.

If the soul matched the appearance, then he was her biological son, just that there truly was reincarnation in this world, and her son was merely fortunate enough to awaken his past Life memories.

If the soul didn't match the appearance, then it was soul possession.

If it was the second situation, the kind Lan Yinzi felt she had no right to blame the other party for anything, as the other party probably didn't know either, and hadn't she also undergone soul possession?

At most, she wouldn't seek out Tang Hao, who harbored thoughts of revenge. She would simply find a place to live in seclusion, far from the conflicts of the continent.

As for searching for the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well in Sunset Forest... Lan Yinzi held no hope, as there was a Titled Douluo guarding it, and she had no way.

In most fanfictions, transmigrators often blamed Tang San for stealing Dugu Bo's Immortal Herb, but if Tang San was truly her son, Lan Yinzi felt Tang San hadn't done anything wrong.

A mother always stands by her son, regardless of right or wrong.

Were those Immortal Herbs planted by Dugu Bo?

No!

They grew naturally!

It was just that Dugu Bo discovered them first, and he had no idea what those Immortal Herbs were for. Afterwards, when Dugu Bo found the Immortal Herbs gone, he didn't dwell on the matter with Tang San much.

Moreover, seeds were left behind.

Furthermore, that scoundrel Dugu Bo initially wanted to kill Tang San to silence him. Afterwards, Tang San didn't scheme to kill him and even helped him detoxify, even though it wasn't a permanent cure. But Lan Yinzi felt Tang San was already quite kind.

If it were her, Dugu Bo would definitely not survive!

Having cultivated for so many years before transforming, and not being the type like Xiao Wu who was well-protected by Da Ming and Er Ming, she wasn't so naive.

Moreover, in those fanfictions, Tang San's companions, upon learning that the Immortal Herbs were stolen by Tang San, all accused Tang San of being inhumane... Regarding this point, Lan Yinzi stated that if Tang San truly became so hypocritical, it would definitely be learned from these "companions."

Each and every one of them, after their Spirits evolved, their physiques strengthened, their flaws disappeared, and their cultivation speed increased, gained benefits. Then, when it was exposed that the Immortal Herbs Tang San gave them were taken from Dugu Bo, they immediately turned their backs and denied him?

If they're so capable, spit out the Immortal Herbs they ate!

Or just abolish the cultivation they gained and the Spirits that evolved!

Dai Mubai, Zhu Zhuqing, and Ning Rongrong have powerful backing and are not to be trifled with, but who is behind Ma Hongjun and Oscar? How dare those two turn against Tang San?

In terms of hypocrisy, Tang San's "good companions" are his true teachers!

Thinking of this, Lan Yinzi took a deep breath, shook off the strange thoughts in her mind, and secretly thought, "The transmigrator's memories are affecting me a bit too much. It must be that those fanfictions have influenced me too deeply. Most of them are for the sake of forced blackening, and this predecessor even specifically liked to read that kind... Damn it! It completely disregards normal behavioral logic!"

Finally, it was her turn to step forward for the test.

"Extend your right hand." Li Yusong examined Lan Yinzi's bone age and nodded, "Twelve years old, just right. Release your Spirit and spirit ring."

As soon as he finished speaking, an exquisite Blue Silver Grass appeared in Lan Yinzi's hand, and three spirit rings, two yellow and one purple, emerged on her hand.

"Spirit Elder!" Li Yusong's eyes lit up, and his attitude became enthusiastic. He said, "Please wait aside for a moment. Once the seniors inside come out, I'll arrange for you to go in."

After Lan Yinzi came Mu Tian, whose detached variant Beast Spirit, the Three-Headed Hellfire Lizard, surprised Li Yusong even more. More importantly, Mu Tian's second spirit ring was at the thousand-year level.

"Which family are you from? Tell me truthfully, or you won't be allowed in." Li Yusong's face showed no sign of pleasant surprise; instead, it was extremely serious.

Shrek Academy was small and couldn't withstand the troubles caused by disciples of large families.

Someone like Dai Mubai was fine; Star Luo's influence couldn't reach Heaven Dou. But if this person in front of him was a disciple of a large family, and something happened, Shrek would have a hard time explaining it to the power behind him.

"I'm from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, here for experience." Mu Tian thought for a moment before revealing his identity.

"An outer disciple of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School?" Li Yusong finally breathed a sigh of relief and said, "Wait aside."

Mu Tian walked over to Lan Yinzi and asked curiously, "Is your Spirit Blue Silver Grass?"

"Yes." Lan Yinzi smiled slightly, "Are you surprised that my Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, that I can cultivate, and that I've even reached the Spirit Elder level?"

"No, I know another guy whose Spirit is also Blue Silver Grass, and he's very powerful." Mu Tian now had some guesses about Lan Yinzi's identity. He thought she might also be a transmigrator, but not a modern one like herself, probably similar to Tang San... the Tang San from the original work, from ancient society or something.

"Oh? Who is it?" Lan Yinzi was puzzled. The only person whose Blue Silver Grass Spirit could achieve something remarkable was someone with the Blue Silver Emperor bloodline. Others had no such possibility.

"Tang San, the Martial Soul Theory Master." Mu Tian's tone revealed a hint of hatred.

"You know Tang San?" Lan Yinzi asked.

"Of course, he's most likely at Heaven Dou Royal Academy now. I don't like him, so I prepared to come here." Mu Tian briefly explained his situation.

Heaven Dou Royal Academy?

Could it be that Tang San isn't coming to Shrek Academy?

Is it because of the butterfly effect, or is it the work of other transmigrators?

After Lan Yinzi successfully possessed the body after six years, she didn't inquire about outside news. She rushed directly to Soto City just to confirm Tang San's identity.

Now someone tells her that Tang San isn't at Shrek?

Then—

Lan Yinzi walked over to Li Yusong and asked, "Is there a student named Tang San in the academy?"

"Tang San? That Martial Soul Theory Master? We don't have him in the academy." Li Yusong finished checking someone's bone age and shook his head, "But we do have a Martial Soul Theory Master in our academy, a friend of the dean's."

At this point, Li Yusong's expression was a little strange, as if he wasn't too fond of the Grandmaster in the academy.

"Then I won't join your academy." With that, Lan Yinzi turned and left—if Tang San wasn't there, why would she join this academy that misled its students?

She'd go straight to Heaven Dou City!

141: Arrival of Lan Yinzi

Half a month later, Heaven Dou Royal Academy began its official enrollment, and Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Ning Rongrong, and Bai Chenxiang were all considered early admissions.

During this time, besides basic cultivation, Tang San spent his time immersed in the Heaven Dou Royal library, absorbing a vast amount of information to enrich himself.

Besides his diligent research, Guang Ling was also conducting research; her enthusiasm for spirit tools even surpassed Tang San's.

Of course, Xiao Wu primarily focused on cultivation, and in her free time, she would write children's books, preparing to become a great author.

At the Heaven Dou Royal Academy's opening ceremony, Tang San noticed a blue-haired girl and was a little surprised to sense the aura of the Blue Silver Emperor from her.

Honestly, ever since he awakened the Blue Silver Emperor in the Golden Ancient Tree, Tang San had gained the ability to sense other Blue Silver Emperors. By concentrating, he could vaguely perceive the general direction of a Blue Silver Emperor.

However, he didn't go looking for one.

After all, he had finally gained freedom, so there was no need to find himself a mother.

If that “mother” was also misled by other transmigrators and instinctively hostile towards him, then it wouldn't be impossible for a scene of “filial son, benevolent mother” to play out. After all, she hadn't raised him for a single day, so he felt nothing.

Moreover, he was inherently a more easygoing utilitarian.

However, while he could sense the Blue Silver Emperor, the Blue Silver Emperor could not sense him. After all, his Blue Silver Emperor Spirit had the aura of the Golden Ancient Tree, and with his deliberate concealment, an ordinary Blue Silver Emperor could not perceive the existence of his Spirit.

It's just, shouldn't the Blue Silver Emperor be unique?

Wait.

The uniqueness of the Blue Silver Emperor only applies within the Blue Silver Grass plant species. Can a Spirit truly be counted among the Blue Silver Grass ethnic group?

Also, in the original work, there were two owners of the Blue Silver Emperor Spirit: the protagonist and his mother. Both could exist simultaneously.

From this, it can be seen that the Blue Silver Emperor Spirit, which relies on bloodline inheritance, should not be unique.

Furthermore, the so-called uniqueness of the Blue Silver Emperor only applies to the Douluo Continent. Can the Blue Silver Emperor sense Blue Silver Grass on the Sun Moon Continent?

Certainly not.

If it could, how would the Blue Silver Emperor appear on the Sun Moon Continent?

The so-called uniqueness, in Tang San's view, is similar to a pride having a lion king or an ant colony having a queen—a unique leader born within a group form. It's not that mysterious; it's just that the Blue Silver Emperor's scope is larger, encompassing the entire Douluo Continent.

But the Blue Silver Emperor of the Douluo Continent should not be able to sense the Blue Silver Grass on the Sun Moon Continent, as it doesn't possess such strong mental force or such a mysterious bloodline sense.

Tang San himself could attest to this: his Blue Silver Emperor awakened under the vitality of the Golden Ancient Tree, yet he couldn't even sense where the Sun Moon Continent was.

Therefore, as long as it's outside the Blue Silver Emperor's sensory range, a Blue Silver Emperor can still be born in areas outside that range.

This was the only situation Tang San could guess; otherwise, the uniqueness of the Blue Silver Emperor would be too extraordinary, even more so than the Life God of the God Realm.

"Third Brother, why are you looking at that blue-haired girl?" Xiao Wu noticed Tang San's gaze and asked with a hint of jealousy, "After coming to Heaven Dou Royal Academy, the number of beautiful girls has increased sharply. Are you enchanted?"

"No, it's just..." Tang San pondered for a moment and asked, "Did you figure out that girl's identity?"

"What? Isn't she just a Spirit Elder?" Xiao Wu was confused, not understanding why Tang San asked this. Did that girl have some hidden identity?

Tang San narrowed his eyes slightly.

Couldn't she tell that the other party was a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form?

Could it be that the Blue Silver Emperor also had a method to conceal a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form?

No, even if they did, Ten-thousand year soul beasts in human form should be able to sense each other and understand each other's Ten-thousand year cultivation origin better, right?

Wait!

It's not yet confirmed whether that girl is Ah Yin, or if, after Ah Yin's death, another Blue Silver King advanced to become the Blue Silver Emperor.

At this thought, Tang San cut off the ideas in his mind, thinking to himself: As long as the other party doesn't conflict with him, there's no need for him to dig for answers.

At least, the other party couldn't sense his Blue Silver Emperor!

"Later, after the opening ceremony, I need to go to Spirit Hall in Heaven Dou City to see Grandfather Ma Xiunuo. Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, do you want to come along?" Tang San glanced at the three head instructors who were still speaking endlessly at the front and quietly asked the two girls.

"Of course," Xiao Wu immediately agreed. "Perfect, classes don't officially start until tomorrow, so we can go sightseeing in Heaven Dou City today."

"Won't one day be enough to see everything?" Guang Ling also wanted to see Ma Xiunuo, whom she hadn't seen in a while, but she wasn't keen on Xiao Wu's idea of exploring all of Heaven Dou City in one day.

Just the Heaven Dou Royal Academy itself felt larger than the entire Nuoding City.

"What's the big deal? We can just visit food shops and clothing stores." Besides writing children's books, Xiao Wu was only interested in delicious food and beautiful clothes.

And speaking of clothing, Tang San suddenly thought of cheongsams with their oriental characteristics. This type of clothing didn't exist on the Douluo Continent. If he opened a cheongsam shop, he should be able to earn a lot from noblewomen.

However, he shouldn't do this himself; it would be too time-consuming. Perhaps he could cooperate with someone.

Coincidentally, Ning Rongrong had a good impression of him, and Ning Fengzhi also intended to befriend him. When the time came, he would explain it, and they could all make money together. With the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's promotional methods, he would provide the designs and receive a portion of the profits afterward. This should be enough to cover most of his daily expenses, and even the financial costs of cultivation and research.

Ning Fengzhi would surely give him, a Martial Soul Theory Master, face, right?

After the opening ceremony, Tang San and the others were called over by Huo Wu to the Tiandou Royal First Team.

In the class, Yu Tianheng and the others were already waiting. The blue-haired girl was also there, secretly observing him.

Tang San didn't pay attention to this. He simply brought Xiao Wu and Guang Ling to greet Yu Tianheng and the others, then found three seats side-by-side.

"Hello everyone, I am Qin Ming, a sixty-second-level attack system Spirit Master. My main focus is close-range crowd control, supplemented by long-range output. I can also act as an assassination-type agility-attack system. I'm relatively versatile, but my primary role is close-range crowd control." Qin Ming walked from outside the classroom to the podium, first introducing himself, then began to discuss the course arrangements.

"Our Royal First Team is different from other classes in the academy because you are all geniuses. You don't need to attend those teachers' courses. Most of your time can be arranged freely, as long as you meet the standards in the monthly assessments and perfectly complete the training I arrange, that will be enough."

"Also, don't think that just because you've joined the Royal First Team, you can rest easy. If you perform poorly or slack off in the training I arrange, you will be kicked out of the Royal First Team."

"Finally, one more thing: you can often read Grandmaster Tang San's theories; they are beneficial for tactical arrangements."

At this point, Qin Ming even glanced at Tang San and said, "Of course, our class also has a new student named Tang San. Please do not confuse that Grandmaster with our new classmate."

As soon as he said this, most of the students in the class rolled their eyes, as this Tang San was that Tang San. Who was he trying to fool?

Oh, right, the new blue-haired girl didn't seem to know.

"Although I know most of the classmates in this class, to accommodate the four new students, everyone, please introduce yourselves." Qin Ming looked at Huo Wu, signaling the leader of the Tiandou Royal First Team to introduce herself...

142: member of royal class

Hello everyone, my name is Huo Wu, my Spirit is Sun Goddess, I am a long-range output attack system Spirit Master, and I can also perform close-range crowd control.” Huo Wu stood up and introduced herself generously.

“My name is Yu Tianheng, born into the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, my Spirit is the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon, a close-range crowd control and armor-breaking attack system.”

“My name is Dugu Yan, my Spirit is Bi Lin Snake, I am an elemental control system Spirit Master, my main control method is poison, and I can also act as an assassination-type agility-attack system.”

“My name is Yu Feng, my Spirit is Wind Chime Bird…….”

“…….”

“Hello everyone, my name is Tang San, I am an all-around support system Spirit Master, and I hope we can all get along well in the future.” Tang San introduced himself, which caught Lan Yinzi’s attention, “Also, I hope to become the Captain of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team, and I will provide some help with everyone’s training arrangements in the future.”

Qin Ming’s eyes lit up at Tang San’s sharp display, and the others also had their own thoughts, but ultimately no one objected. After all, in the Spirit battle three days ago, Tang San had led Xiao Wu and Guang Ling to defeat all eight members of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team.

Moreover, Yu Tianheng and the others all knew Tang San’s true identity and had no objections.

“I object!” Ning Rongrong raised her hand to speak, “I want to be the Captain too, and in the future, you all have to be my little...呜呜~”

Before she could finish speaking, Ning Rongrong’s mouth was covered by Bai Chenxiang, who stood beside her. Bai Chenxiang apologized, saying, “Everyone, please don’t mind, Rongrong is a bit excited.”

The Sect Master’s daughter of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School?

A bit difficult to handle.

Qin Ming felt that he might, probably, perhaps need to put in some effort in the future.

After Tang San finished his self-introduction, it was Xiao Wu’s and Guang Ling’s turn, followed by Lan Yinzi: “Hello everyone, my name is Lan Yinzi, I was born a commoner, my Spirit is the same as Tang San’s, also Blue Silver Grass. I am a close-range crowd control and armor-breaking attack system, supplemented by a physical control system.”

On the way to Heaven Dou City, Lan Yinzi also learned about the theories Tang San had published and had a more accurate analysis of her own situation.

But one thing made Lan Yinzi curious—

Why would her son study Spirit theory?

attack system?

Tang San’s surprised expression changed, but he immediately returned to calm, thinking to himself: “In the original work, Tang San’s fifth spirit ring was condensed with the help of the Blue Silver King, and the Spirit Ability he obtained was Blue Silver Overlord Spear. This should be inherited from the previous Blue Silver Emperor, and Blue Silver Overlord Spear is a single-target penetrating attack system Spirit Ability……”

“If this Lan Yinzi is the reincarnation of Ah Yin, then it’s no wonder she fell in love with Tang Hao. It turns out that the transformed Blue Silver Emperor has the heart of an attack system!”

“Moreover, thinking carefully, it’s not surprising that the Blue Silver Emperor doesn’t focus on Life. Perhaps for the transformed Ah Yin, her Spirit is still the Blue Silver Emperor, a top-tier Spirit, and her vitality is already strong enough that she doesn’t need to increase it further. Or perhaps, she didn’t think about continuing to increase her vitality. After all, the Blue Silver Emperor is the pinnacle, so it’s better to add some offensive Spirit Abilities for herself, especially since the first seven spirit rings are condensed from her own Ten-thousand year soul beast cultivation origin and will not cause any conflicts.”

Blue Silver Grass, another Blue Silver Grass!

And Lan Yinzi’s situation was somewhat incredible to others. They never expected that this girl’s Spirit would be the same as Tang San’s, also Blue Silver Grass, and that she would actually be an attack system.

Can a Spirit like Blue Silver Grass really be an attack system?

“Third Brother, her Spirit is also Blue Silver Grass, and she’s even an attack system.” Xiao Wu suddenly understood why Tang San had noticed her at the opening ceremony. It turned out their Spirits were the same.

“No, ordinary Blue Silver Grass absolutely cannot be an attack system, it’s too inefficient. Her Spirit should be like mine, mutated.” Tang San shook his head and replied softly, “I can even feel that her Blue Silver Grass is not ordinary; it’s the King of Blue Silver Grass.”

“What is that? Blue Silver King, or Blue Silver Emperor?” Xiao Wu had lived in the Star Dou Great Forest for many years and didn’t recognize the Blue Silver Emperor, nor could she believe that a common plant like Blue Silver Grass, which wasn’t even a plant Spirit Beast, could produce a so-called King or Emperor.

“Perhaps so. My Blue Silver Grass, under the continuous effect of four spirit rings, might just be the Blue Silver Emperor. I can change its name.” Tang San smiled.

“Hmph, you’re just showing off.” Xiao Wu snorted lightly.

At this point, all the students had finished their introductions. Qin Ming left directly, saying he was going to arrange training, and that they should decide on the Captain position among themselves and report it to him later.

“You want to take my Captain position as soon as you arrive?” Huo Wu immediately walked up to Tang San, questioning him, but she was smiling broadly, not at all angry.

“There’s no choice. It’s impossible for you to be the Captain and then have other members listen to me, a regular member, right?” Tang San spread his hands and said with a smile, “If you don’t mind, then I don’t care.”

“I really can’t do anything with you...” Huo Wu laughed, “Alright, from today onwards, you’ll be our Captain, and I’ll be the Vice Captain. Yu Tianheng, you’ll also remain a Vice Captain, one Captain and two Vice Captains.”

The others had no objections. Even if Ning Rongrong did, she was stopped by Bai Chenxiang, who didn’t want this little devil to cause any trouble later.

The Sect Master of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School had arranged for her to study with Ning Rongrong, not only because he cared about their Speed Clan but also because he hoped she would keep an eye on Ning Rongrong in the academy to prevent her from going too far.

Among the people here, only Lan Yinzi had no background, but being able to get into Heaven Dou Royal Academy based on talent was certainly extraordinary.

“Since everyone agrees, it’s settled then.” Tang San smiled, then asked, “How are Teacher Qin Ming’s class schedules usually planned?”

“Generally, he takes us to the various Great Spirit Arenas in Heaven Dou City for training, and sometimes we even go to the Star Luo Empire for exchanges.” Yu Tianheng said without hesitation, “After all, we ‘old timers’ are from large families and great Sects, and we all have our own most suitable cultivation methods, so Teacher Qin Ming can’t interfere too much.”

“Therefore, besides cultivating on our own, we usually follow Teacher Qin Ming for practical combat. This is also the best way to improve combat experience.”

“Practical combat?”

Tang San nodded slightly. This indeed could train students’ practical combat abilities and mental fortitude. After all, some people were extremely unsuited to grand spectacles with thousands of eyes on them. Participating in more Spirit battles could cultivate a calm mindset in times of crisis, and most Great Spirit Arenas were different from formal Spirit Master competitions; various methods could be used, and weapons were also allowed.

Some Spirit battle teams, in order to win, would even secretly attack parts of the body that were forbidden by the Great Spirit Arena rules, truly going to any lengths.

And most people who emerged victorious from the Great Spirit Arena, it’s hard to say if they are truly strong, but their hearts must be ruthless and tough, accustomed to Life and death.

“In that case, I won’t make too many arrangements in this regard. However, three days from now, let’s gather on the Heaven Dou Royal Academy’s training ground to practice and get used to each other.”

143: Lan Yinzi's confirmation

Regarding Tang San's arrangements, Huo Wu and the others had no objections. After all, they also wanted to see what kind of training this legendary Martial Soul Theory Master could bring them.

Afterward, Tang San planned to take Xiao Wu and Guang Ling to the Spirit Hall in Heaven Dou City to visit Ma Xiunuo, and prepared to write a letter to send back to Notting City to Old Jack, to let him know they were safe.

Only—

"Little... Captain Tang San, can I take a look at your martial soul, the Blue Silver Grass?" Lan Yinzi stopped Tang San, releasing her Blue Silver Grass martial soul, its leaf veins were golden, it was the Blue Silver Emperor.

Seeing this, Tang San also released his Blue Silver Emperor. Compared with Lan Yinzi's Blue Silver Emperor, Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor had twelve leaves, crystal clear, like a beautiful work of art, and there was a round bead in the center, which was extraordinary.

Lan Yinzi's Blue Silver Emperor only had nine leaves, and it was not as dazzling as Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor.

The moment she saw Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor, Lan Yinzi felt the aura of blood and controlled her Blue Silver Emperor to come into contact with Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor.

As the Blue Silver Emperor, she could obtain corresponding information from her own kind, so as to observe everything the other party had experienced.

In the same way, other Blue Silver Emperors also have this ability, but Lan Yinzi is sure that Tang San doesn't know how to do it, so only she can observe the experience of this Tang San in front of her.

In an instant, Lan Yinzi's spiritual power "saw" Tang San's experience—
Precocious in childhood, learning to cook and wash clothes.

Lan Yinzi didn't care about this. Most children from poor families are like this. Tang San's performance is normal.

Until the age of five, Lan Yinzi didn't see Tang San cultivating the Mystic Heaven Skill as described in Douluo Continent. He looked like an ordinary precocious child.

Then, at the age of five, a trace of confusion appeared on Tang San's face, and he began to cultivate the Mystic Heaven Skill. Tang Hao didn't care, thinking that Tang San was cultivating the meditation method he had obtained from Su Yuntao.

Seeing this, Lan Yinzi was sure that Tang San was really her son, not a body possession, but a reincarnation, but he only awakened the memory of his previous Life.

But it seems that he has not fully awakened, only the memory of cultivating the skill.

"Fortunately, Tang San is really my son, but he has the skill of his previous Life, that is my son's opportunity." Lan Yinzi continued to look down—

At the age of six, martial soul awakening, Blue Silver Grass, but his left hand was tightly clenched, with innate soul power of level six.

"Twin martial souls? Innate level six?" Lan Yinzi's face changed, and she blamed Tang Hao a little, "If it weren't for malnutrition, how could it only be innate level six?"

After that, Tang Hao gave Tang San the Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone she left behind to absorb, and then severed the father-son relationship with Tang San.

Lan Yinzi felt heartache and resentment for this.

At least, one point in those fanfictions is correct, Tang Hao is too loyal to the Sect, not a responsible father.

Then, Tang San went to Notting Academy, met Xiao Wu, studied theory, rejected Yu Xiaogang, and planned the path of Life for his Blue Silver Grass martial soul...

...

The picture suddenly stopped.

Because Tang San took back the Blue Silver Emperor.

"What's wrong with you? You look a little... sad?" Tang San didn't know how to describe the expression Lan Yinzi showed. Sadness, anger, relief, and love appeared in turn, making her look a little... weird.

"It's nothing, it's just that I have a feeling for your martial soul, it seems like there is a Martial Soul Fusion Skill." Lan Yinzi made an excuse, showing a sincere smile, but a strange look appeared in her eyes.

"Is that so? Are you here for this?" Tang San didn't know what Lan Yinzi's purpose was, but he still rejected the idea of Martial Soul Fusion, "Martial Soul Fusion Skill, I have studied it, under normal circumstances, it is divided into three categories: soul power fusion, soul skill fusion, and Martial Soul Fusion. Especially Martial Soul Fusion, after the two are fused, some emotions will arise."

"Before I have thoroughly researched it, I will not try it with anyone. I don't want my emotions to be affected by the martial soul. Although the martial soul is a part of us, what I want to do is to understand the martial soul, control the martial soul, instead of being affected by the martial soul and controlled by the martial soul."

"After all, besides you, Huo Wu and Crown Prince Snow Clear River also have feelings for my martial soul."

Listening to Tang San's analysis, Lan Yinzi also realized that Martial Soul Fusion would indeed lead to emotional connections between the two. If she really performed Martial Soul Fusion with Tang San, what would happen?

Although she is now a reborn body possession, in terms of body, she is not Tang San's mother, but in terms of soul, she is. If she falls in love with her son, what would that be?

Thinking of this, Lan Yinzi had another idea: What's wrong with a mother loving her son?

Besides, among soul beasts, many clan kings marry their offspring, without any human ethical constraints. She is not a human...

...

Pa!

Lan Yinzi suddenly slapped herself, woke up, and thought to herself: "It must be the memory of this body that is affecting me. This guy has too many little yellow books in his head."

"? ? ?"

Tang San was full of question marks at Lan Yinzi's sudden slap.

No, he didn't agree, so she hurt herself?

Could this guy have something wrong with him?

"Are you okay?" Xiao Wu and Guang Ling were also taken aback and asked with concern.

"It's okay, there was a mosquito just now." Lan Yinzi made a clumsy excuse, and then left in a hurry.

"Third Brother, what's wrong with her?" Guang Ling pointed to his head, "Could there be something wrong here?"

"I don't know, but it may have something to do with me." Before, Tang San also sensed Lan Yinzi's exploration, so he instantly took back the Blue Silver Emperor. The other party may have confirmed something through his Blue Silver Emperor.

So, she is really the Blue Silver Emperor?

But why does Xiao Wu think she is a human?

Also, if it is true, when did she transform back into human form? Why did the person who took her away let her out?

Taking a deep breath, Tang San dispelled distracting thoughts and thought to himself: "No matter what the purpose is, if you dare to threaten me, then don't blame me for being ruthless."

Afterwards, Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling walked out of Heaven Dou Royal Academy, asked passers-by for directions to the Spirit Hall, and strolled all the way there.

During this period, Xiao Wu bought a lot of delicious snacks and beautiful clothes, Guang Ling bought several kinds of soul guidance device for daily Life, and Tang San purchased a lot of books.

"Is this the Spirit Hall of Heaven Dou City? It's so big!" Xiao Wu couldn't help but exclaim, looking at the Spirit Hall building, which was about fifty meters high.

"Let's go, let's go in and have a look."

Tang San walked to the door and was stopped by the guards: "No idlers are allowed to enter the Spirit Hall!"

"This is our martial soul certificate. We are looking for Ma Xiunuo. I heard that he is in charge of letters here." Tang San handed over his martial soul certificate.

"Ma Xiunuo?" One of the guards took the certificate, checked it, returned it to Tang San, and routinely asked the reason, "What are you looking for him for?"

"A visit. We come from the same small town as him," Tang San said.

"Go in, the letter office is on the fifth floor."

"Thank you."

144: First Battle with Titled Douluo (Part 1)

The Spirit Hall in Heaven Dou City was much more spacious inside than the Spirit Hall in Nuoding City. Tang San and the others searched for a long time before finding the stairs leading to the next floor.

After finding Ma Xiunuo's office, Tang San raised his hand and knocked on the door.

"Knock, knock, knock!"

"Come in!"

A familiar voice sounded from inside the door.

Twisting the doorknob, the door opened, and Tang San saw the familiar figure: "Long time no see, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo."

"Tang San!"

Ma Xiunuo immediately stood up, put down the papers in his hand, pulled Tang San to the tea table nearby, and poured tea for the three of them.

"You've come to Heaven Dou City? Which academy did you choose?"

"Heaven Dou Royal Academy."

"This is the Heaven Dou Empire's top academy. With your talent, you can naturally get in, but the students inside are nobles. They look down on you, don't they?"

Ma Xiunuo was clear about the teaching environment of Heaven Dou Royal Academy; it was second only to Wuhun Academy, but the students inside were not so good, mostly纨绔子弟.

It could be said that Heaven Dou Royal Academy was able to become the Heaven Dou Empire's top academy, besides being founded by the imperial family, having a good cultivation environment, and abundant resources, it was also due to the contributions of the Tiandou Royal Battle Team throughout the generations.

Commoner geniuses did not have an easy time there; those noble children were not easy to get along with.

Of course, if one could thrive there, even if they didn't join any faction after graduation, they could still do well on the continent.

It could be said that for commoner Spirit Masters who joined Heaven Dou Royal Academy, it was also an opportunity to build various connections, but it might be very difficult at first.

“Not really. After all, I joined the Tiandou Royal Battle Team, so I don't need to have too much contact with those noble children,” Tang San explained his situation.

“Tiandou Royal Battle Team? That's very good then. They are all genius Spirit Masters, and their tempers are much better than other noble students. They are more respectful of genius commoner Spirit Masters like you,” Ma Xiunuo, who still didn't know that Tang San had become the captain of the Heaven Dou Royal First Team, sighed, “I imagine you will definitely participate in the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament in two years, right?”

“At that time, you must achieve a good result.”

Xiao Wu asked curiously, “Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, didn't you always hope we would join Wuhun Academy?”

“I did hope so, but these days, I’ve also considered that Wuhun Academy truly isn’t suitable for you,” Ma Xiunuo sighed. “Since the tournament began, except for the first five champions who were rotated among the Three Great Empires, all subsequent tournament champions have been monopolized by Spirit Hall.”

“And I understand Xiao Tang. If you want to make a name for yourself, you cannot join Wuhun Academy. Otherwise, even if you win the championship, others will only attribute it to Spirit Hall’s efforts.”

All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament.

It was well-known that since the fifth tournament, the championship had been monopolized by Spirit Hall.

It could be said that winning the championship by joining Wuhun Academy was two different things from winning the championship by joining another academy.

For the former, the world would not only consider you exceptionally talented but, more importantly, credit Spirit Hall’s efforts, believing that with Spirit Hall’s training and analysis, you were able to defeat other academies. For the latter, if you were not trained by Spirit Hall but still defeated Spirit Hall’s battle team, it would further showcase your talent and ingenuity, earning you attention across the continent.

“Grandpa Ma Xiunuo understands me best,” Tang San chuckled.

“Haha, I also only recently came to Heaven Dou City and learned about the situation here, so I analyzed some insignificant things,” Ma Xiunuo took a sip of tea and asked Tang San about his fourth spirit ring. “I heard from Su Yuntao’s letter that after you graduated from Notting Academy, you had already reached forty levels. Have you obtained a spirit ring?”

“I have, in the death Gobi,” Tang San nodded. “The Spirit Ability effect is not in combat support, nor is it healing amplification, but rather related to the essence of Life... The specific effect is inconvenient to disclose, otherwise, I would be targeted by many people.”

The Spirit Ability of Nine Deaths Revival could resurrect the dead.

If this news got out, he would never have peace again.

“Then I won’t ask. After all, a Spirit Ability is a personal secret. If others thoroughly research it, it becomes easier to target,” Ma Xiunuo didn’t mind.

Over the next hour, Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling chatted with Ma Xiunuo about some everyday things, then prepared to take their leave.

However, as soon as they left Spirit Hall, Tang San suddenly noticed a mental force fall upon him. He told Xiao Wu and Guang Ling to go back first, while he pursued that mental force...

...

Ten kilometers outside Heaven Dou City.

Two figures stopped, one in front of the other.

“Senior, you led me out. May I ask why?” Tang San looked at the tall figure cloaked in black, instantly recognizing that it was Tang Hao, but still pretended not to know him.

“I heard that Heaven Dou Royal Academy produced a genius whose Spirit is Blue Silver Grass, so I wanted to test your abilities,” Tang Hao deliberately lowered his voice and turned his head, but his face was covered by a black mask, revealing only two eyeholes.

Testing?

It seemed his rapid increase in spirit power had caught Tang Hao’s attention.

“Isn’t Senior being a bit too overbearing?” Tang San said in a deep voice.

“If you say so, then it is,” Tang Hao released his Clear Sky Hammer, and nine spirit rings—two yellow, two purple, four black, and one red—appeared. The powerful aura caused Tang San’s heart to sink slightly.

For real!?

Seeing Tang Hao's utterly unyielding attitude, determined to bully the younger, Tang San could only grit his teeth and release his Spirit. The colors of his four spirit rings—one yellow, two purple, one black—clearly caused Tang Hao's eyes to subtly shift.

“Two thousand-year rings, and a ten-thousand-year fourth ring. Truly extraordinary,” Tang Hao laughed heartily, a hint of frankness in his voice. “Make your move. I won't use Spirit Ability.”

Tang San took a deep breath, controlling his four spirit rings to undergo spirit ring fusion.

To contend with a Titled Douluo, even if the opponent didn't use Spirit Ability, he had to go all out, otherwise, he would lose very badly.

Moreover, Tang San also wanted to test how big the gap was between himself and a Titled Douluo now.

“spirit ring fusion?”

Watching Tang San's movements, a hint of disdain appeared in Tang Hao's eyes, feeling that this method was far inferior to the Clear Sky Sect's Ring Explosion, but he did not stop him, merely watching Tang San prepare.

Under Tang San's control, the four spirit rings moved closer to each other, and peculiar patterns appeared on their surfaces—the trajectories of the Spirit Ability's operation.

Boom!

The first spirit ring and the second spirit ring aligned and rotated, with a portion of their internal patterns interlocking.

From the outside, it looked like the first yellow spirit ring was embedded within the inner circle of the second purple spirit ring, with plant-like patterns appearing on it and rotating in opposite directions.

“It doesn’t seem to be ordinary spirit ring fusion. Has Little San improved it? And what are those patterns on the spirit rings?” Tang Hao was a bit confused but didn’t speak to ask, because at this moment, Tang San’s spirit power fluctuation had already reached level fifty!

145: First Battle with Titled Douluo (Part 2)

Chapter 145: First Battle Against a Titled Douluo (Part 2)

Tang San had naturally been researching the spirit ring fusion method during his time at Notting Academy, but this was his first time using it in actual combat.

Tang San was quite surprised that his strength could be comparable to a Spirit King by fusing two spirit rings, but now was not the time to research this. He had to embed and fuse the remaining two spirit rings to achieve his strongest form.

When patterns appeared on the third spirit ring and connected to the periphery of the second spirit ring, Tang San's spirit power fluctuation reached level sixty. His Blue Silver Emperor Spirit also coiled around Tang San's limbs, becoming crystal clear, like knee and arm guards of an armor.

And when the fourth ten-thousand-year spirit ring embedded with the periphery of the third spirit ring, Tang San's entire body emitted a blue-gold light, and a faint, illusory battle armor appeared on his body. His powerful spirit power even reached level eighty, directly catching up to a Spirit Douluo!

The four embedded and fused spirit rings rotated in alternating clockwise and counter-clockwise directions, condensing the energy of heaven and earth, continuously transmitting it into Tang San's body.

“Chirp!”

The unique spirit ring, formed by the embedding and fusion of four spirit rings, floated behind Tang San, emitting a peculiar clear sound. Six blue-gold energy-like Blue Silver Emperor leaves extended from both sides, swaying freely, appearing sacred and grand.

At this moment, Tang Hao's gaze was extremely solemn—

To what extent had this kid improved that trash method of spirit ring fusion?!

From Spirit Ancestor to Spirit Douluo?

It was simply like a joke!

“Senior, this is my ultimate move, spirit ring fusion, but I've slightly improved it and researched the essence of spirit ring fusion,” Tang San explained his current state. “And my Blue Silver Grass, after successful spirit ring fusion, attaches to my body in the form of armor. I call it the Martial Soul True Body Armor.”

The Martial Soul True Body Armor, this ability, did not exist in the original Douluo novel but was a setting in the comic plot. However, under Tang San's research, this interlocking spirit ring fusion method could use the Blue Silver Emperor as a medium to condense massive amounts of energy and achieve armor transformation.

This was Tang San's true confidence!

Although this was the first true experiment and took a bit more preparation time, it would certainly be possible to reduce the preparation time with continuous practice in the future, even achieving instant activation.

In the state of Martial Soul True Body Armor, Tang San's strength had already reached the Spirit Douluo level. He could use his four Spirit Abilities with ease and combine them freely, utilizing them as he wished.

“Hahahaha!”

Tang Hao looked up and laughed, pointing the hammerhead of his Clear Sky Hammer at Tang San, saying, “Truly remarkable! To be able to possess Spirit Douluo-level strength with only a four-ring Spirit Ancestor cultivation. If you were to obtain a fifth spirit ring and then use this spirit ring fusion, wouldn't you be able to reach the Titled Douluo level?”

“Possibly.” Tang San did not act humble, as he felt that his improved spirit ring fusion method had already touched upon the essence of spirit power and spirit rings.

After all, before gunpowder was improved, no one could have imagined it would have such powerful destructive force.

“You're truly not humble at all. However, aren't you afraid that I'm just stalling for time? This state of yours can't last long, can it?” Tang Hao's tone revealed a hint of coldness. “Do you think I'm easy to talk to and won't kill you?”

This son was a bit naive. He needed a good education.

“No need for Senior to worry. I seem to be able to maintain this state for quite some time.” Tang San was not exaggerating; it was indeed true.

In the state of Martial Soul True Body Armor, he could directly draw the power of the earth from the ground and the essence of the sun and moon from light. As long as he wasn't severely injured, this state could continue until his physical strength was exhausted.

In his current state, it could probably last for about four hours.

“Hmph!”

Tang Hao snorted coldly, throwing a punch. The condensed spirit power vibrated the air, heading straight for Tang San's face.

However, Tang San did not dodge, merely releasing a spirit power fluctuation to construct a layer of spirit power defense around himself, which blocked Tang Hao's punch.

“Not bad.” Tang Hao was a little surprised. That punch just now had condensed spirit power equivalent to a Spirit King. An ordinary Spirit Douluo taking it head-on would have to retreat a few steps.

But Tang San actually blocked it with spirit power, and judging by his nonchalant expression, it seemed to have cost him little effort.

Incredible!

Even if Tang San's Spirit was only Blue Silver Grass, and the destructive power of the spirit power he cultivated was not strong, with such profound spirit power augmentation, learning some powerful self-created Spirit Abilities could still make him a powerful Battle Spirit Master.

“It's impolite not to reciprocate!”

“Senior, this junior is about to make a move!”

As soon as his voice fell, Tang Hao found that Tang San's figure seemed to have disappeared.

“So fast!”

Upon closer inspection, he discovered eight figures of Tang San, like clones.

However, Tang Hao knew that these were definitely not clone-type Spirit Abilities, but rather Tang San's incredible speed combined with his unique footwork, which caused eight illusory figures to appear before him.

There was only one true body.

Realizing this, Tang Hao did not intend to search for the true body, as he was not skilled in mental force abilities, and—

Bang!

Tang Hao held the Clear Sky Hammer and swung it forcefully towards the ground. An invisible ripple spread for a thousand meters around, with him at the center. The ground cracked in layers like a spiderweb, blasting out countless碎石.

After sensing the ground tremor, Tang San immediately stopped his Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track steps, leaped up, and came behind Tang Hao, striking a punch towards his back neck.

Bang!

However, Tang Hao swung the Clear Sky Hammer backward, immediately blocking the punch.

But after this blow, Tang Hao stumbled forward seven or eight steps before stopping himself, a little surprised and somewhat relieved: “What powerful fist strength! Possessing such fist strength proves that your physical body is also very strong. It seems you pay great attention to training your physique.”

It seemed that Little San hadn't neglected his Rampaging Wind Technique training over the past six years.

“Rise!”

However, Tang San did not listen to Tang Hao's nonsense. He raised his hand and waved, and countless Blue Silver Emperor emerged from beneath Tang Hao's feet, tightly Binding him. Before he could break free, the second Spirit Ability, positive and negative buff, was unleashed, adding a Golden Sun Ring positive buff to himself and imposing a Silver Moon Ring negative buff on Tang Hao.

When Tang Hao unleashed his spirit power and tore apart the Blue Silver Emperor that enveloped him, he found a silver ring around his neck. All of his attributes had been reduced by eighty percent, leaving him greatly shocked: “Amplification-type Spirit Ability? No, it's a reduction-type Spirit Ability, a negative weakening?”

Even with all of a Titled Douluo's attributes reduced by eighty percent, he was still at the Titled Douluo level of strength.

After all, the higher the spirit power level, the more spirit power is required for each level. It's impossible for a Titled Douluo's spirit power to drop to a mere dozen levels after all attributes are reduced by eighty percent.

In other words, if Tang Hao's spirit power was originally level ninety-five, after being reduced by eighty percent, it would only be level ninety-three or ninety-four. If his internal injuries were still unhealed, it would only be level ninety-one or ninety-two.

However, after Titled Douluo, each level of spirit power is vastly different. Tang Hao, whose spirit power had been reduced by one or two levels, now frowned deeply, as his internal injuries showed signs of being difficult to suppress...

146: Completely sever ties

After Tang San weakened Tang Hao, a circle of blue-silver light erupted from his entire body, and a vast aura of Life burst forth, covering an area of thousands of meters. Countless Blue Silver Grass began to sprout from the ground.

"A Domain-like skill!" Tang Hao's eyes flashed with brilliance as he exclaimed in shock, "It's extremely similar to Ah Yin's Blue Silver Domain, but it's different. It possesses an extremely strong aura of Life. Even I, staying here, feel as if the hidden injuries within my body are slowly recovering."

Swish swish swish!

In an instant, countless Blue Silver Emperor blades, as thin as sword edges, shot out from the ground towards Tang Hao.

After Tang San's Blue Silver Grass obtained the Sun Moon Grass's Third Soul Ring, it gained the same sharpness as the Sun Moon Grass's leaves. Now, under the enhancement of his eighty-level spirit power and Domain, it formed an endless sword array.

Facing the continuous, endless Blue Silver Emperor sword leaves, Tang Hao roared, using the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method to constantly block the Blue Silver Emperor sword leaves stabbing at him. At the same time, he was accumulating power, preparing to use his strongest force to directly shatter this pseudo-Domain environment.

Because within this Domain, he could no longer see Tang San, which put him in a very passive position. He had to take necessary action.

Tang San was naturally familiar with the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method and dared not let Tang Hao complete his power accumulation. He immediately stopped attacking Tang Hao and instead gathered all his strength into his fist.

"Hmm?"

Tang Hao, who was accumulating power for the Rampaging Wind Technique and also wanted to teach his son the true Rampaging Wind Technique, noticed the extreme destructive aura emanating from Tang San's left fist and couldn't help but be stunned.

Destructive aura?

Could the Blue Silver Emperor also walk the path of destruction?

This was naturally not the Blue Silver Emperor's ability, but the power of Austin Griffin, who was residing within the Clear Sky Hammer.

As Tang San's spirit power, blood energy, and mental force increased, he gradually became able to utilize the destructive aura emitted by Austin Griffin.

However, at this moment, he needed to find an excuse for himself: "The extreme of Life is death, and death is decay! Senior, my Blue Silver Grass is ultimately not good at attack, so I created this Spirit Ability, which evolves Life into Creation, and the prerequisite for Creation is destruction and death!"

"Its name is:"

"World Creation and Destruction!"

As soon as his voice fell, Tang San's fist had already struck out. The entire Domain shattered. Tang Hao seemed to be stunned, then bit the tip of his tongue hard. His Clear Sky Hammer collided, and the Seventh Soul Skill, Clear Sky Avatar, was activated, transforming the Clear Sky Hammer into a small mountain-sized object, which smashed towards the energy bursting from Tang San's fist.

He had already lost; he had used his Seventh Soul Skill, Clear Sky Avatar.

But if he didn't use it, Tang Hao felt he would die. His body could not withstand this blow. The power in that destructive fist light seemed truly capable of collapsing the entire World!

Boom!

The two collided, creating an invisible shockwave. Centered on the two of them, the ground within a thousand meters collapsed and cracked, and the range continued to extend outwards.

"Cough!" A trace of fresh blood overflowed from the corner of Tang Hao's mouth. He looked in disbelief as the destructive fist light pushed his Clear Sky Avatar away, even causing a subtle crack to appear on the Clear Sky Hammer.

Could it be that the reason Tang San's Spirit was Blue Silver Grass was because Ah Yin's Blue Silver Emperor was of higher quality than the Clear Sky Hammer?

"spirit ring!"

"Shatter!"

He couldn't understand it, but Tang Hao didn't dare to think about such chaotic things at this moment. He directly shattered the first two spirit rings of the Clear Sky Hammer, injecting the immense energy from the instant explosion of the spirit rings into the Clear Sky Hammer.

But even so, it was only on par with Tang San's World Creation and Destruction.

Boom!

Tang Hao gritted his teeth again and shattered the third spirit ring, finally breaking Tang San's attack.

After Tang San used this move, the Martial Soul True Body Armor on his body also directly shattered and dispersed. His Spirit Douluo-level spirit power fluctuation directly dropped to Spirit Ancestor, or even lower, and he knelt on the ground.

However, Tang San did not lose consciousness. He still had a trace of spirit power left in his body and immediately activated his First Soul Skill: Endless Recovery. The Blue Silver Emperor continuously drew the power of the earth from the ground, recovering Tang San's external injuries, internal injuries, spirit power, and even mental force.

Seeing this, Tang Hao didn't make another move. Instead, he put away his Clear Sky Hammer and slowly walked towards Tang San, saying, "Not bad, worthy of being the son of I, Clear Sky Douluo."

"I'm not your son, Senior Tang Hao." Tang San stopped panting and slowly looked at the other party.

"You recognized me from the start?" Tang Hao took off the mask from his face, frowned slightly, and asked in confusion, "Why didn't you say so earlier?"

"Didn't you already cut ties with me?" Tang San's tone was calm, without a trace of emotion. "Since I was old enough to understand, I never knew what paternal love was. Old Jack was my true family."

"And you came to find me, probably because you learned of my fast cultivation speed and wanted to rekindle our father-son affection, right?"

Hearing Tang San's heartless words, a surge of nameless anger rose in Tang Hao's heart. But remembering that he had indeed not taken much care of his son in the past, and that Old Jack had helped him care for his son in most cases, a sense of sorrow inexplicably arose in his heart.

However, he was unwilling. He had finally seen hope for revenge against Spirit Hall, so how could he let it slip away?

"Do you know? There was a reason for my past 颓废. With your intelligence, you should have guessed it, right? It's related to Spirit Hall." Tang Hao's eyes held hatred. "Your mother was killed by people from Spirit Hall!"

"I know, no need to say more. Tang Yuehua from Moon Pavilion in Heaven Dou City once came to Nuoding City to find me." Tang San was very rational. "The former Supreme Pontiff is already dead. Personal grievances don't need to be elevated to the entire force. You received education from the Clear Sky Sect and have grievances with Spirit Hall, but please don't impose these grievances on me."

"I haven't eaten a grain of rice from the Clear Sky Sect, nor have I drunk a drop of water from the Clear Sky Sect."

"How could you? How dare you?" Tang Hao cared deeply about the Clear Sky Sect. Hearing Tang San's "treasonous" words, his eyes were bloodshot, as if he would explode at any moment!

"Believe it or not, I'll kill Old Jack?"

Facing Tang San, who was impervious to reason, Tang Hao was enraged to the extreme and used this as a threat.

"As you wish. However, if anything happens to Old Jack, please kill me as well. Otherwise, I will exterminate the entire Clear Sky Sect family."

Nameless anger also rose in Tang San's heart and burned fiercely, but he knew that he absolutely could not show any flaw in front of Tang Hao at this moment, otherwise, if he were controlled, he would truly find it difficult to be free. "I mean what I say, and I do what I say!"

"You!" Tang Hao burst out with a powerful aura, causing Tang San's bones to crackle, but Tang San did not lower his head, staring at Tang Hao with sharp eyes. "Perhaps, I am somewhat like you. When our closest people are threatened, we all think of exterminating the other party's entire family. Therefore, please don't make me as cowardly as you are."

Tang Hao's heart trembled. For a moment, he didn't know how to refute.

Cowardly?

Yes, he was a cowardly wimp, always hiding, not daring to return to the Sect to confess his sins, not daring to actively challenge the high-ranking officials of Spirit Hall.

"Endless Recovery."

Taking advantage of Tang Hao's distraction, Tang San used his First Soul Skill on Tang Hao, recovering his hidden injuries, and said, "The most severe part of your injuries, I will help you recover. After that, you can recuperate yourself. If you truly still have that ridiculous pride, then don't place your expectations on me."

"From the day you severed our father-son relationship, I no longer acknowledge you."

"As for that hundred-thousand-year Spirit Bone, it should have been left to me by my mother, and it has little to do with you. If you want it back, I will find something of corresponding value to return to you in the future."

147: Accept Austin Griffin

Having said that, Tang San stopped healing Tang Hao, and walked past him without looking back, heading towards Heaven Dou City.

Watching Tang San's departing figure, Tang Hao wanted to grab him, but only stretched out his hand, not daring to actually catch up.

"Was I wrong?"

After receiving Tang San's Endless Recovery treatment just now, Tang Hao felt that most of the hidden injuries in his body had healed. Although he had not fully recovered, he could recuperate from the remaining injuries for a period of time.

While surprised that Tang San's First Soul Skill could heal him, he was also annoyed by his attitude.

As Haotian Douluo, he was sorry to the Sect and was a coward; as a husband, he was unable to save his wife, and now the Blue Silver Emperor sapling left behind by his wife was still missing, making him a useless person; as a father, he had never taken care of his son, nor did he know what his son was thinking, making him an even bigger bastard.

For a time, Tang Hao thought a lot, but in the end, he still didn't catch up with his son, but he also walked in the direction of Heaven Dou City.

At least, he needed to heal his injuries, and without money, he could only rely on his sister first.

On the other side.

After Tang San returned to Heaven Dou City, he covered his chest, coughed twice, and cursed inwardly: "What a bastard, he actually used the Ring Burst, he really doesn't worry that I will die."

The power of the Soul Ring Explosion at that moment was indeed extremely astonishing, and Tang San was not feeling well either. If it weren't for the powerful Destruction power of Austin Griffin, who resided in his Haotian Hammer, he might have been beaten to ashes.

"Fortunately, my First Soul Skill is Endless Recovery, otherwise, this injury would have required at least ten days to half a month of lying down." Exhaling a mouthful of turbid air, Tang San walked while running the Mystic Heaven Skill, trying to recover the injuries in his body, heading towards Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

"Third Brother, what's wrong?" When Xiao Wu saw Tang San return, she immediately noticed something was wrong with him, and hurriedly ran forward to ask with concern, "You're injured."

Tang San's strength was obvious to all, who could hurt him?

Soul King?

Impossible, even a Strong attack system Soul King would find it difficult to cause such embarrassing injuries to Tang San.

"Third Brother, who is it?" Guang Ling's eyes were sharp. He would never forgive anyone who dared to hurt her teacher.

"Don't worry, I'm fine. It's just that my clothes were damaged in the battle." Tang San signaled the two girls not to be nervous. "The guy who lured me out before was a Title Douluo who wanted to test my strength."

Title Douluo!

Xiao Wu was shocked, but then calmed down, because she already had a way to conceal the aura of a Soul Beast, and the other party could not possibly discover her.

However, this Heaven Dou City was truly a place of hidden dragons and crouching tigers, actually harboring a Title Douluo.

If she hadn't asked Di Tian for a method to hide her aura, and if she didn't already have a lot of "human aura" on her body, she might have been discovered as soon as she came to a big city like Heaven Dou City.

Involuntarily, Xiao Wu also rejoiced that she had gone to a small city at the beginning. If she had come directly to a big city like Heaven Dou City, she probably wouldn't have survived the second day.

"Third Brother, don't worry, when we become Title Douluo in the future, we will go back and regain face." Guang Ling comforted.

"It doesn't matter." Tang San shook his head, "I have a blood relationship with that Title Douluo, this is what I owe him."

"Could it be your dad?" Xiao Wu knew that Tang San's father was Haotian Douluo, after all, the two had already told each other their secrets and were the closest.

"Yes, but we broke off our father-son relationship a long time ago. Now, he's coming to find me, probably because he has seen my talent." Tang San said in a deep voice.

"How can there be such a father?" Xiao Wu felt injustice for Tang San.

"That's right, he doesn't look like a father at all." Guang Ling echoed.

"At least, he raised this body for a few years."

Tang San shook his head and changed the subject, saying: "Don't worry about me, in the future, we will build our own home."

"Our own home?" Xiao Wu and Guang Ling looked at each other, their faces turning red.

"Don't overthink it."

Realizing that the two girls were thinking too much, Tang San reminded them, "Now, improving our strength is the key. Only by becoming Soul Douluo and Title Douluo can we truly have a say."

"Yes!" X2

Back in the dormitory, Tang San entered the bathroom, ready to take a shower.

Under the rinsing of hot water, Tang San felt refreshed all over, then raised his left hand, released the Haotian Hammer Martial Soul, and on the face of its hammer head, the pattern of Austin Griffin had grown four heads, possessing four attributes: Fire, Light, Wind, and Water.

Obviously, as Tang San's Soul Power increased, it was also evolving.

Looking at the pattern of Austin Griffin on the Haotian Hammer, Tang San injected Soul Power into the Haotian Hammer.

Buzz——

Suddenly, the Haotian Hammer trembled, detached from Tang San's hand, and deformed, turning into a four-headed Chimera with a length of over six meters.

Different from Mu Tian's Earth Fire Lizard, this one was covered in metal-like armor, with patterns like the Haotian Hammer on it.

In the past, Tang San had always been afraid to truly touch Austin Griffin, but now, he realized that he must have more trump cards.

Since Austin Griffin resided in his Haotian Hammer, then it must be used by him!

Why fear one's own power?

"As expected of the legendary God of Heavenly Condemnation, it has stained my Haotian Hammer and used it as a carrier, transforming from a weapon into a beast." Tang San raised his hand, and the four heads took the initiative to come over, rubbing against Tang San's body, as if they liked him very much.

"The head that truly represents Destruction has not yet been born, then, I will give you a name, Nine Haos, what do you think?"

"Woo!"

The four heads were very happy and liked the name very much.

"Then, I will give each of your heads a name. According to your respective attributes, they will be called Heavenly Fire, Heavenly Light, Heavenly Wind, and Heavenly Water. After all, you were reborn with my Haotian Hammer as a carrier. Overall, I will take the word 'Hao', and for individual heads, I will take the word 'Heaven', and then combine it with your respective attributes, simple and clear." Tang San touched the four heads respectively, and gave each of the Nine Haos' heads a name.

Nine Haos was very happy, and with a wail, it lay on Tang San's body, and its huge body began to melt, turning into a set of violet-black battle armor, attached to Tang San's body surface.

This set of armor was generally black, but it had purple patterns on it, and there seemed to be endless energy flowing inside.

Feeling the blessing brought by this set of armor, Tang San was a little unbelievable: "It actually directly made me reach the Soul Douluo level!"

However, Tang San also noticed that his Soul Power was flowing extremely fast. In this state, he could only last for about twenty minutes at most.

"It seems that this state cannot last long."

"Give this set of armor a name, it will be called violet-gold jiu hao battle armor!"

Nine Haos also seemed to be excited about this name, causing the violet-gold jiu hao battle armor to tremble slightly.

148: Tang San's teachings

Chapter 148 Tang San's Teachings

The violet-gold jiu hao battle armor transformed back into the Clear Sky Hammer and was put into Tang San's left hand.

"With this power, at least until Austin Griffin truly awakens, I fear no opponent of the Spirit Douluo level, even a Titled Douluo..."

Mentioning Titled Douluo, Tang San raised his hand and touched the "hair tie" behind his head, "...With Nine-Section Emerald, as long as the Titled Douluo hasn't studied poison, I can kill them."

At this moment, Tang San was incredibly confident.

After washing up, Tang San went to the study to begin his research on spirit tools, and Guang Ling followed along, while Xiao Wu diligently cultivated to enhance her strength and also wrote novels.

In a blink of an eye, three days passed swiftly.

On the training ground in the southern part of Heaven Dou Royal Academy, Tang San began to instruct Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and others on spirit power control.

"spirit power control?" Yu Feng was puzzled, "What's the use of learning this?"

"Of course, it's useful."

Tang San condensed a bit of spirit power on his index finger and poked it at a stone on the ground.

Crack!

Tang San's finger sank inch by inch into the stone, and when he pulled his finger out, there was a finger-sized hole in the stone.

"Can you do it?"

"Let me try."

Shi Mo was the first to step forward, imitating Tang San, condensing spirit power on his index finger, and thrusting it fiercely at the stone.

Bang!

The stone cracked!

"My power is greater than yours."

Shi Mo was a little proud.

"No, your force was dispersed."

Yu Tianheng compared the two stones and had already realized the importance of spirit power control that Tang San spoke of. "Shi Mo, although it looks like the destructive effect you caused is stronger, in reality, if you and Tang San use the same spirit power condensed on your index finger to attack someone, you might severely injure them, while Tang San could directly cause death."

"Why?" Shi Mo was puzzled.

"It's a simple principle. Your power is too dispersed; when it hits a person, it will be borne by other organs of the human body. Tang San's attack, however, can focus on a single point, directly shattering the attacked location, thereby collapsing the entire human body."

Yu Tianheng, who was born into the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, immediately recognized the importance of spirit power control.

When he was in the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, Yu Tianheng was also taught to train his control over spirit power, but it was mainly used for injecting spirit power into Spirit Abilities, to achieve the maximum effect of a Spirit Ability with the least amount of spirit power.

But now, Tang San had shown them another use of extreme spirit power control—that one finger strike could already be considered a self-created Spirit Ability!

Yu Tianheng couldn't even imagine if Shi Mo and Shi Mo's defenses could withstand it if Tang San condensed even more spirit power on his index finger.

"How do we train spirit power control? By poking stones?"

Yu Feng was eager to try. As an agility-attack system reconnaissance and assassination type, if he could learn this move in the future, with his flying speed, he estimated he could even break the defense of a Spirit King.

"No, it's climbing trees."

Tang San decided to teach them the tree-climbing method, of course, Controlling Crane Catching Dragon would not be taught, after all, this large group of people did not have a close enough relationship with him to be taught his ultimate techniques.

"Climbing trees? What kind of training is that?" Huo Wu asked in confusion, "You're not trying to fool us, are you?"

"The tree climbing I'm talking about isn't using hands and feet, or directly jumping around on branches."

Tang San smiled and said to Xiao Wu, "Xiao Wu, demonstrate it for them."

"No problem."

Xiao Wu walked to a tree as tall as a person, placed her feet on the tree, and actually walked up it perpendicular to the trunk, even hanging upside down from a branch.

That wasn't hooking her instep onto the branch, but actually stepping solidly on the underside of the branch.

"How amazing!"

"How did she do that?"

"Is this spirit power control?"

Everyone looked at Tang San.

"This is tree climbing."

Tang San said, "By condensing spirit power at the soles of your feet and adhering to objects, you can walk on anything. This greatly exercises one's control over spirit power. Theoretically speaking, if one's control over spirit power reaches a masterful realm, then one can imitate and learn all Spirit Abilities in the World."

"After all, Spirit Abilities are merely spirit power released through spirit rings and specific spirit power circulation routes within the body. As long as one's control over spirit power reaches its peak and one can observe the spirit power's circulation routes, then naturally, one can imitate all Spirit Abilities in the World. It's just that the effectiveness of the imitated Spirit Abilities will vary due to differences in spirit power attributes caused by individual Spirits."

Huo Wu's face was full of disbelief: "So, if someone has very strong control over spirit power, they can theoretically learn all Spirit Abilities, as long as they know the spirit power circulation method when the Spirit Ability is released?"

"That's the idea."

Tang San nodded, "Among them, body technique Spirit Abilities are the easiest to imitate, as the human body's structure is largely similar. Other Spirit Abilities, those that require specific Spirits to be cast, are the most difficult to imitate, so it's only theoretical."

"However, imitating Spirit Abilities and such is too far off for you and for me. The main focus is still on strengthening your spirit power control. As long as you can reach Xiao Wu's level, then one part of spirit power can be used as ten, reducing unnecessary waste during combat."

"If you can walk on trees like this, then you can also move freely on various walls and ceilings."

At this moment, Xiao Wu jumped down from the tree and landed steadily.

Tree climbing was a piece of cake for Xiao Wu now; she still couldn't walk on water and needed to place wooden planks on the water surface.

Of course, Tang San couldn't truly walk on water at this time either, but his control over spirit power was stronger than Xiao Wu's, so he could run on the water surface without the aid of tools.

"After climbing trees, there's also walking on water?"

Huo Wu's eyes widened as she listened to Xiao Wu's explanation, "Walking on the water surface? Isn't that too exaggerated?"

"Not at all exaggerated. Water is also a substance, and it's a flowing substance. If one day we can walk freely on the water surface, then that truly counts as exquisite control over spirit power."

Tang San took out a few wooden planks from his storage wristband, walked to the lakeside, threw the planks into the water, and then leaped onto the planks.

The planks sank a short distance, causing Tang San's soles to touch the lake water, making it look as if his entire body was standing on the water surface.

"Currently, I need to rely on wooden planks to walk on water. There's still some distance to go before I can truly walk on the water surface, let alone on surfaces like rivers and oceans."

Tang San explained his situation to them.

"Let me try."

Yu Feng eyed a wooden plank, jumped onto it, and then—

Splash!

He became a drenched bird.

"For you, it's better to learn tree climbing first."

Looking at the completely soaked Yu Feng, Tang San was a bit speechless,
"You have to eat your food one bite at a time, don't you?"

149: Training, refuting Qin Ming

When Yu Feng, who had changed his clothes, rushed back, Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and others were already practicing climbing trees.

"The Vice Captains are really working hard," Yu Feng sighed, joining the practice.

Meanwhile, Tang San was sparring with Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, training their combat skills and honing his own physical techniques.

"Climbing trees is really tiring."

Ning Rongrong stopped and asked Bai Chenxiang, who was beside her, "Xiangxiang, let's take a break."

"Alright, Rongrong." As Ning Rongrong's follower, Bai Chenxiang naturally didn't want to appear less capable than Ning Rongrong. She could only stop and watch Tang San spar with Xiao Wu, saying, "Tang San and Xiao Wu are truly amazing; their speed is incredibly fast."

At this moment, Tang San and Xiao Wu were clashing, their speeds so fast that they could create afterimages.

All-around support system...

Attack, defense, speed, support, control—Tang San lacked none of them. Bai Chenxiang finally understood the meaning of the word "all-around."

"They are indeed very powerful. As expected of the people this young lady values," Ning Rongrong said, her eyes gleaming with admiration, even though she couldn't clearly see Tang San and Xiao Wu's movements.

As the little princess of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, her character was forged in an environment where "the strong are revered." However, being Ning Fengzhi's daughter and greatly pampered, she had a bit more willfulness and capriciousness.

In the original work, even after experiencing Shrek's "domestication," her true demonic nature never truly disappeared; it was merely hidden deep within her heart, ready to emerge given the opportunity.

After all, in the peerless tang sect, in the Qiankun Asking Love Valley, she was quite willful.

"You say, how can I make Tang San my subordinate?" Ning Rongrong asked.

"Um... Although we've only known Tang San for a few days, I can tell that he won't yield to power or authority. His respectful address to you, Rongrong, feels more like superficial politeness," Bai Chenxiang thought for a moment and said truthfully, "Making him a subordinate is probably impossible, but perhaps he could become the son-in-law of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School."

"What nonsense are you talking about? You want me to seduce him?" Ning Rongrong stood up, hands on her hips, her face flushed with anger, "Am I that kind of person?"

"Sorry..."

"However, that's actually a good idea."

Bai Chenxiang: "..."

She truly is a little devil; she acts on whatever thought comes to mind.

"Let's continue training for now," Bai Chenxiang suggested. "Tang San is currently sparring with Xiao Wu, so he won't have time to pay attention to you."

"You're right. Although this method of climbing trees is simple, it's very beneficial for spirit power control. Compared to our Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's Heart Separation Control, each has its strengths." Ning Rongrong nodded, considering whether she should find time to go home and talk to her father about teaching Heart Separation Control to Tang San. After all, taking someone else's training method for free didn't seem right.

Although Ning Rongrong was willful and capricious, she could distinguish right from wrong on major issues.

The others also had similar thoughts, feeling they could offer some family resources to Tang San as a form of repayment.

When Qin Ming found them, he witnessed a comical scene: Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling were undergoing normal training, while Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and others were repeatedly charging and stepping against walls or trees, leaving many footprints on the trunks and walls.

"What are you doing?" Qin Ming couldn't help but ask. After all, the behavior of Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and the others was somewhat... incomprehensible to him.

"Teacher Qin Ming." Huo Wu was the first to stop and explain the spirit power control training method Tang San had taught them. "This method is very effective."

Climbing trees?

Stepping on water?

As expected of Grandmaster Tang San, to be able to devise such a method for training spirit power control is truly remarkable.

Such a method might even be effective for a Spirit Emperor like him.

"Everyone, stop for a moment." Qin Ming called a halt to the training, asking them to come over as he had something to say. "I've arranged the next training plan. I will take you to various Great Spirit Arenas for practical combat training, which will be key to improving your combat abilities."

Qin Ming, having graduated from Shrek, highly advocated Shrek Academy's teaching model, believing that practical combat was the most crucial aspect for improving combat power.

This was indeed true.

But that was for ordinary civilian Spirit Masters. For people from prominent families and large Sects like Huo Wu and Yu Tianheng, did they lack practical combat experience?

They definitely didn't!

When elders in their families sparred with them, even if they held back, the improvement in combat experience was surely greater than what they'd gain from participating in the Great Spirit Arena?

Going to Great Spirit Arenas in various places, the only purpose would probably be to broaden their horizons, understand the environment of other cities, and learn about the survival methods of other Spirit Masters struggling on the "subsistence line."

Honestly, for teenagers, exposing them too early to the darkness of the Great Spirit Arena was not a good thing.

Moreover, Tang San didn't want to waste too much time on fighting. That would be a complete waste of Life, far less valuable than running with Guang Ling in the Tiandou Royal Library Academy to study Spirit cultivation and spirit tools.

Therefore—

"Teacher Qin Ming, I think there's no need to waste too much time on Spirit combat," Tang San was the first to object. "Just like the tree-climbing method I taught Huo Wu and the others earlier, strengthening their control over spirit power, its effect on improving strength is far greater than Spirit combat."

"If we really need to participate in Spirit combat to gain practical experience, doing so six months before the start of the All-Continent Advanced Academy Elite Tournament will suffice."

Regarding Tang San's rebuttal, Qin Ming's expression darkened slightly. Although he, having come from Shrek, held the philosophy of "those who dare not cause trouble are mediocre," if someone provoked him, he wouldn't be so gentle.

It seemed they were only meant to provoke others!

Even if the person in front of him was the Martial Soul Theory Master.

Perhaps Tang San said this only to gain more time to read books in the library and research theories, but Qin Ming felt that he also had something to teach Tang San—practical combat was the best way to put theory into practice!

"Um, I think what Tang San said makes sense." Huo Wu was the first to speak, siding with Tang San. Although Teacher Qin Ming treated them well, she was still more willing to trust Tang San.

For no other reason than Tang San could discern the true form of her Spirit and, using a single spirit ring, transformed her Fire Shadow into the Sun Goddess, truly giving her the qualifications to contend with those top-tier Spirits.

Qin Ming, on the other hand, didn't know much about Spirits, and his previous training methods, whether weighted running or participating in Spirit combat, were quite monotonous.

"I also think strengthening our spirit power control is most important." Yu Tianheng also expressed his opinion. Practical combat training could be done anytime; he could even ask people from his family to help, and that effect would be much more efficient than participating in Spirit combat.

In the past, he wouldn't have dared to say it, as a student needed to maintain respect for their teacher. But now, with a better training method available, he naturally couldn't waste time on other things.

150: Qin Ming's plan and the relationship with the Qibao Glazed Sect

"It seems I was overthinking it. You, as the captain, have already won over the others."

Qin Ming sighed.

Coming from Shrek Academy, he believed that practical combat was the most important, but after spending some time at Tiandou Royal Academy, he had also learned to read people.

With all the members of the Heaven Dou Royal First Team convinced by Tang San, Qin Ming naturally had nothing to say, but he still wanted to insist: "However, practical combat is indeed very important.

We can skip other soul battle arenas, but there are two places we absolutely must go."

"May I ask which two?" Tang San asked.

"The first is Star Luo Royal Academy," Qin Ming said.

"That is the royal noble academy of the Star Luo Empire, and they have a Star Luo Team.

As the Heaven Dou Royal Team, we must meet them.

This is also necessary exchange."

Tang San had no objection to this.

Under the influence of the Spirit Hall, although the conflicts between the Two Great Empires had not decreased and friction rarely occurred, they still maintained a stance of opposition.

Therefore, every year, the Star Luo Royal Team and the Heaven Dou Royal Team would hold a friendly match.

Either the Star Luo Royal Team would come to Tiandou Royal Academy, or the Heaven Dou Royal Team would go to Star Luo Royal Academy.

"And the second place is Soto City within the Barak Kingdom," Qin Ming said, a hint of nostalgia in his eyes as he mentioned it.

"That's where my teacher graduated.

You guys have to give my teacher some face, right?"

"Naturally," Tang San agreed.

Soto City, where Shrek Academy was located.

Qin Ming, who graduated from Shrek Academy, had a different kind of nostalgia and emotion for Shrek Academy, and was even extremely loyal to it.

In the original work, he could give up his teacher position at Tiandou Royal Academy and leave with Shrek Academy...

Tang San suspected whether Shrek Academy's education was some kind of pyramid scheme-like brainwashing.

After all, how could a normal person have such deep feelings for an academy many years after graduating?

It would be good enough if a normal person could go back to visit their alma mater and teachers when they had free time.

Just like Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and others, although they were students of Tiandou Royal Academy, Tang San was sure that after graduation, they would definitely not have much affection for this academy.

At most, they would have a little teacher-student relationship with Qin Ming and the Three Education Committee.

Academies like Heavenly Water Academy, God Wind, Blazing Fire, and Thunder were fine.

Most of the students there would join the forces behind the Four Elemental Academies after graduation, becoming affiliates.

But what did Shrek Academy have?

Perhaps all it had was pyramid scheme-like brainwashing education, or rather, domestication.

Otherwise, in the original work, how could Qin Ming give up his future and leave with Shrek Academy?

Even if you have feelings for Flander, Zhao Wuji, and others, it doesn't prevent you from working at Tiandou Royal Academy, right?

Why did you have to resign and wander with Shrek Academy and the others?

If they hadn't been lucky enough to find Blue Tyrant Academy, the entire Shrek Academy in the original work would have fallen apart, or been directly taken in by the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

If Qin Ming hadn't left, he could have still taken the salary from Tiandou Royal Academy and provided financial support to Shrek Academy.

Why did he have to leave directly?

Was the honor of Shrek Academy that important?

It was somewhat unreasonable.

Such an academy should be abolished!

"Then, let's get ready.

We will depart the day after tomorrow."

Qin Ming smiled.

"We'll go to Soto City first, and then to the Star Luo Empire.

I need to write a letter of visit today and have someone send it to Star Luo Royal Academy."

Visiting Star Luo Royal Academy was not just a matter of going directly.

A letter of exchange needed to be written and submitted first, otherwise it would be considered a provocation, and it would be bad if it caused conflict between the two countries.

After Qin Ming left, Tang San stopped everyone's practice and instead told everyone to go back and prepare their luggage for the long journey.

"Rongrong, wait a moment.

I have something to discuss with you."

Tang San called out to Ning Rongrong, and Bai Chenxiang, who was beside her, also stopped.

"What is it?

Did you fall in love with me?

I can give you a chance to pursue me."

Ning Rongrong giggled, blinking her watery big eyes, her expression ambiguous.

Hearing Ning Rongrong say this, Xiao Wu snorted:

"You're not as beautiful as I am."

"What did you say?" Ning Rongrong narrowed her eyes.

"How am I not beautiful?"

"Your legs aren't as long as mine, and your chest isn't as big as mine," Xiao Wu said very bluntly.

"What's not as big as yours?"

"I'm just wearing looser clothes!" Ning Rongrong was not having it and retorted.

The two girls stared at each other, then snorted coldly and turned their heads away.

"..." Tang San was silent for a while, then said, "I'm talking about business, not romance."

Ning Rongrong, I wonder if your Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School does clothing business?"

Reaching the Soul Elder level required more cultivation resources, and research also required a lot of money.

More importantly, studying at Tiandou Royal Academy required tuition, which was ten thousand golden soul coins per semester.

For three people, that was thirty thousand.

Spending money like water naturally required increasing income.

Cutting expenses?

Impossible.

That would only slow down the cultivation and research progress of the three of them.

"So you want to cooperate with our Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School," Ning Rongrong was speechless, even wondering if she was not attractive enough.

"Clothing business, our Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School naturally does it.

Do you have any clothing designs?"

"Yes."

Tang San took out a finished qipao from his white jade belt.

The fabric was red, with golden patterns on the edges, and the skirt hem at the bottom was longer, covering the knees.

Ning Rongrong's eyes lit up as she took the qipao.

She put it on and found that it fit snugly on the upper body, was loose on the lower body, and had slits at the thighs, allowing for unrestricted movement.

The sharp Ning Rongrong immediately realized that if the slits at the thighs were closed, it would restrict movement, but to others, the woman wearing this female attire would appear dignified.

If the white skirt on the lower body was shorter, and the side slits were pulled up a bit, wouldn't it be... suggestive clothing?

Suddenly, Ning Rongrong felt that Tang San was not so serious anymore.

"This dress is good," Ning Rongrong took off the qipao.

"How do you want to cooperate?"

"I will provide the design drafts, and everything else will be done by your Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

We will sign a contract at that time, and all profits will be divided three-seven."

Tang San stated his cooperation method.

"I get thirty percent, and your Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School gets seventy percent."

"Contract?" A novel term.

Ning Rongrong heard of such a cooperation method for the first time.

In the past, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School would either purchase a large quantity of an item or directly buy the production method, never resorting to so-called profit sharing.

Tang San was the first to dare to cooperate with the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School in this way.

Moreover, just by providing a drawing, he wanted the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School to give him thirty percent of the profits from selling the qipao.

Wasn't that a bit of a lion's roar?

"Ideas are very important.

You know, if I didn't provide this idea, you wouldn't even think of making this money.

I have the idea, and you have the economic foundation.

It's a win-win cooperation."

Tang San began to persuade.

"Also, we can establish copyright and design logos to prevent others from counterfeiting and pirating."

"Copyright?" "Logos?"

Ning Rongrong heard two new terms again, but being as intelligent as she was, she immediately guessed the general meaning.

"That is to say, only our Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School can produce it, and if others, or forces, dare to imitate it, we can go find trouble with them?"

"Of course, intellectual property is very important.

If everyone only knows how to imitate, no one will think about innovating.

Of course, there are always loopholes that people can exploit in this."

Tang San said with a smile.

"After all, I have also exploited quite a few loopholes, cough cough, but that's off-topic..."

"I need to go back and discuss this with my father."

This matter was somewhat beyond Ning Rongrong's thinking range.

She couldn't make a decision on her own and needed to ask Ning Fengzhi for help.

"Naturally so.

Moreover, you can also talk to Sect Master Ning about establishing a chamber of commerce, clarifying copyrights, and so on..."

If Ning Rongrong had agreed immediately, Tang San would have had concerns.

Now that she took the initiative to go back and discuss it with Ning Fengzhi, it was even better.

He believed that with Ning Fengzhi's magnanimity, he wouldn't do something as shady as keeping the qipao design copyright...

...

Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

The moment Ning Fengzhi saw the red qipao placed on the table, he knew that this type of clothing would definitely be popular among noble women.

With a little packaging, it could generate considerable profits.

"Rongrong, did Tang San design this qipao?"

Sword Douluo was the first to speak, his expression a little strange.

"If the material is a bit thinner and the bottom is a bit shorter, it won't be very proper."

"Look at what you're saying," Bone Douluo snorted with a laugh.

"What's wrong with a shorter or thinner dress?"

It's all about interest.

I actually think this dress is quite good."

"Cough cough, both of you, Rongrong is still here."

Ning Fengzhi coughed twice, signaling the two Title Douluo to be careful with their words.

Even though Rongrong was already aware of the matters between men and women, as elders, they still needed to maintain the necessary dignity.

Picking up the qipao, Ning Fengzhi carefully examined it and said:
"Rongrong, how does Tang San want to cooperate?"

Is he responsible for production, acting as the manufacturer and producer, while we are responsible for selling it?"

"No, he has taken out the design drawings."

Ning Rongrong shook her head and took out a qipao production manual from her storage soul tool, handing it to Ning Fengzhi.

"It seems our Master is very short on money," Ning Fengzhi had also recently investigated Tang San's identity and found that he came from Holy Soul Village, the grandson of the local village chief, and his family was not wealthy.

And martial soul cultivation and research both required a lot of money.

Ning Fengzhi was not surprised that Tang San would do this, after all, a genius like Tang San couldn't waste time on making clothes.

"It's not what Dad thought.

Tang San said that he would give us the drawings, and he wants to take thirty percent of the profits we get from selling the qipao, calling it profit sharing."

Before Ning Fengzhi could be surprised, Ning Rongrong continued: "Also, he said that we can establish a chamber of commerce and set up copyrights to prevent others from counterfeiting."

Listening to Ning Rongrong's narration, Ning Fengzhi pondered for a moment and said: "He really is a talent.

Copyrights, why didn't I think of that?

Others who counterfeit will have to pay a certain price."

"Even--"

We can prey on the weak!

Small vendors and peddlers don't matter, there's no profit, but for large businesses and firms, if we accuse them of counterfeiting, we can definitely gain a lot of money.

Moreover, this wouldn't be blamed on their Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

Firstly, their Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School is one of the Upper Three Sects and has the strength, so others naturally can't afford to provoke them.

Secondly, counterfeiting the products of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School is inherently wrong for the counterfeiters.

Their Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School is just seeking justice.

Wonderful!

Tang San is truly a great talent!

Cough, no, Tang San's idea shouldn't be these, but as the Sect Master of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School and a businessman who has studied the way of business for many years, he would unconsciously think deeply in this direction.

"Rongrong, I agree to the thirty percent Tang San mentioned."

Ning Fengzhi took out paper and pen and began to write the cooperation and profit sharing contract, signing his name.

"After you return to school, give it to Tang San.

If he agrees, just sign his name."

"No problem."

Ning Rongrong took the contract with a smile, put it into her storage soul tool, and skipped to her room to pack her luggage.

"Fengzhi, is thirty percent a bit too much?" Sword Douluo asked.

"Let alone thirty percent, if possible, I would be willing to give seventy percent," Ning Fengzhi said lightly, looking at the qipao on the table.

"If Tang San were to do business, he could definitely become as rich as a nation, but his ambition is not here, and he knows that without strength, he cannot keep the money he earns.

Cooperating with our Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School is likely because he values our reputation."

"If it were others, giving one percent would be too much, but for Tang San, giving seventy percent would still be too little, let alone just thirty percent?"

"The wisdom in his mind cannot be taken away by anyone.

It's better to do him a favor and make friends with him.

Why not?"

Was he valuing the thirty percent profit?

No!

He was valuing Tang San as a person!

"I can't figure out this kind of thing," Bone Douluo was not interested in these matters and asked about another thing.

"Rongrong said that Qin Ming wants to take them to Soto City for soul battles and to Star Luo Royal Academy for exchange."

"Star Luo Royal Academy is no big deal.

Although they are competitive there, they have a sense of propriety, so Rongrong should be fine."

"But Soto City's soul battles are not necessarily safe."

Under the suppression of the Spirit Hall, the Two Great Empires had not had large-scale wars for a long time.

The Fallen on the continent had also almost disappeared from the surface.

Even though their Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School did not get along well with the Spirit Hall, they had to admit the Spirit Hall's achievements in this regard.

However, this did not mean that the continent was at peace.

There were still fallen on the continent, but they rarely walked on the surface.

There were also some soul masters who liked to kill, which was also an unstable factor, especially in the soul battle arenas.

Some soul master teams participating in soul battles had only one goal, and that was to kill.

It should be known that accidental deaths in the soul battle arenas were common.

How could he, as a grandfather, feel at ease with Rongrong participating in soul battles?

"Without experiencing wind and rain, how can you see the rainbow?" Ning Fengzhi said.

"This is also a valuable experience for Rongrong.

Moreover, Rongrong is an amplifying support system soul master, and will definitely not participate in one-on-one battles... However, just in case, it is better to send two Soul Saints to protect her in secret."

When outstanding direct disciples of the Upper Three Sects and Lower Four Sects went out, there would naturally be corresponding Sect members protecting them in secret.

As for other forces, they didn't have the capital to do so even if they wanted to.

For example, the Po Zhi Clan - Yang Long had innate full soul power, but his clan had declined.

When he went out, there were no strong individuals protecting him in secret.

When something happened, it took a long time before a Soul King came looking for him.

At the same time, at Tiandou Royal Academy, Xue Beng brought a group of noble younger brothers and found Tang San...

151: I have something else to do, so I won't bother you.

As a tyrant of Heaven Dou Royal Academy, Xue Beng's纨绔 (profligacy) was well-known.

Generally speaking, he wouldn't provoke people he couldn't afford to offend, such as Yu Tianheng and Huo Wu; the former was from the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family, and the latter had a fiery temper and would immediately resort to action, without considering his identity.

纨绔 was merely his disguise; he couldn't possibly be a true idiot.

Therefore, upon meeting these two, Xue Beng would only lower his head or fawn over them to greet them.

However, the four commoner soul masters who had newly joined the Heaven Dou Royal First Team were relatively easier to bully.

Commoner soul masters were always cautious and timid, and as long as he kept being deliberately annoying, he would surely be able to exclude them from Heaven Dou Royal Academy, hoping to vex his good elder brother.

The competition within the imperial family was extremely fierce; in recent years, the princes of the Heaven Dou imperial family had successively died in accidents, and it was only with the help of Prince Xue Xing that Xue Beng, by feigning profligacy, managed to keep his life.

But in Tang San's view, it wasn't that Qian Renxue didn't know about this point, she just had other considerations.

To put it most plainly, if all of Emperor Xue Ye's sons died, leaving only Xue Qinghe, anyone would find it suspicious, and even without substantive evidence, they would make wild guesses.

And once one looks for the process based on the result, clues become relatively easier to discover.

Besides this, Prince Xue Xing had befriended a Title Douluo who could currently protect him and Xue Beng, preventing Xue Qinghe from taking action.

Poison Douluo was quite skilled in the study of poisons; although he didn't recognize the Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) in the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, he was well-versed in common pharmacology.

He could sense toxins.

This was also the reason Prince Xue Xing was still alive today; otherwise, the first person Xue Qinghe would eliminate would be this prince.

After all, Heaven Dou Empire was different from Star Luo Empire; after the Emperor died, the Emperor's siblings also had a chance to ascend to the throne.

If possible, why wouldn't Xue Qinghe want to eliminate him?

However, for Xue Qinghe, or rather Qian Renxue, between seizing power in Heaven Dou and proving her worth to Bibi Dong, the latter was the priority.

Therefore, Qian Renxue felt that she needed to minimize seeking help in terms of strength from Spirit Hall as much as possible, only then could she prove herself to Bibi Dong.

From this perspective, Qian Renxue was merely a woman who grew up in an environment of cold violence from her mother and yearned for maternal love.

It must be said, environment shapes people.

"Are you spacing out?"

Seeing that Tang San seemed to be thinking about other things, his eyes unfocused, completely ignoring his words, Xue Beng's face sank.

Although his profligate nature was a disguise, he was still a prince; a mere commoner actually ignored his words, letting them go in one ear and out the other, quite bold!

"Sorry, I was thinking about some other things just now."

Tang San's attention returned to Xue Beng in front of him, "May I ask why Prince Xue Beng has come here?"

"Hmph!"

Xue Beng's mood worsened, because Tang San asking this meant he hadn't heard a single word he said earlier, "I heard a few commoner soul masters have joined the Heaven Dou Royal First Team, so I came to take a look and see what abilities you have?"

Facing Xue Beng's arrogant attitude, Tang San didn't get angry, but instead said, "Please wait a moment."

After speaking, he led Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, who wanted to beat Xue Beng up, to the courtyard where Dugu Yan was.

"Tang San, is there something?"

Dugu Yan opened the door and was a bit confused to see it was Tang San.

"I want to confirm two things; your Grandpa is Poison Douluo, right?"

"Right."

"Poison Douluo is Prince Xue Xing's honored guest or something, right?"

"That's correct."

Dugu Yan didn't understand why Tang San was asking these two questions, "What's wrong?"

"Xue Beng came to trouble me, so, I hope you can help me, your Captain.

Although we could fight back, Xue Beng's identity is there, and as commoners, if we really fought back, it would be very troublesome."

In short, he hoped Dugu Yan would step forward.

In Tang San's view, constantly thinking of solving problems with fists would only make one's mind duller and duller, and before achieving power, this would attract countless troubles.

"That Xue Beng who doesn't have an ounce of princely bearing?"

Dugu Yan sneered, "To dare provoke the Captain, truly lacking in foresight.

Let's go! See how I teach him a lesson!"

When Xue Beng saw Tang San and the others return with Dugu Yan, he immediately realized that his trip might be in vain.

After all, the reason he could be so arrogant, besides his "纨绔" disguise, was partly due to Prince Xue Xing's honored guest, Poison Douluo.

But now, Dugu Yan had actually come!

Then Poison Douluo wouldn't intervene.

These new commoner soul masters joining the Heaven Dou Royal First Team must be exceptionally gifted, and the Three Education Committee would surely care about them greatly.

And without Poison Douluo supporting him, his uncle would be unable to argue with the Three Education Committee.

If this matter reached his father, his father's impression of him would become even lower.

For him, the person Dugu Yan was far more effective than the Crown Prince token Xue Qinghe gave Tang San.

But, was he just going to watch Xue Qinghe gather all the excellent geniuses?

He was truly unwilling!

Also, this Tang San, who shared the same name as that Martial Soul Theory Master, actually used his brain instead of immediately resorting to action at the slightest disagreement, and even found Dugu Yan...

This proved that he had researched him, Prince Xue Xing, and Poison Douluo, and even understood that his ability to be so "arrogant" was entirely due to Poison Douluo's strength.

And Poison Douluo was extremely doting on his granddaughter.

Therefore, he directly sought out Dugu Yan.

Was such meticulous thinking something a commoner soul master should possess?

If such a talent were recruited by his good brother, would he still have a chance to seize the throne?

Furthermore, having offended him this time, he might very well borrow Xue Qinghe's power to retaliate against him afterward!

In an instant, Xue Beng thought of many things, and cold sweat couldn't help but appear on his forehead.

He gave a forced smile to Dugu Yan, "Sister Dugu, it's been a while, how have you been recently?"

"Quite well.

What, I heard from my Captain that you wanted to trouble him?"

Dugu Yan's attitude was still polite; even if she disliked Xue Beng, Prince Xue Xing had saved her Grandpa's life, so she still needed to put on a superficial act.

"Captain?"

Xue Beng was startled, not expecting that this Tang San would replace Huo Wu and become the Captain as soon as he arrived.

Could he be even stronger than Huo Wu?

He clearly heard his Martial Soul was just Blue Silver Grass, and he was a support system...

Wait!

Could it be that this Tang San was that Martial Soul Theory Master?

A Blue Silver Grass Martial Soul, able to replace Huo Wu as Captain, his own strength must have reached at least the Soul Elder level, and the other party was only twelve years old...

It couldn't be wrong!

Absolutely couldn't be wrong!

Although Spirit Hall had hidden the identity of that Martial Soul Theory Master extremely well, without revealing any information, this one was definitely that Martial Soul Theory Master.

Damn it, he actually offended him!

"I still have things to do, so I won't bother you anymore.

I'll be leaving first."

Xue Beng's face was awkward.

After saying this, he hurriedly left with his subordinates, deeply afraid that Dugu Yan would trouble him.

152: Suggestions for Dugu Yan: Pearl Snake Grass

“嘁~ Is this a Prince? He's too funny, right?”

Looking at Xue Beng's somewhat dishevelled figure, Xiao Wu showed disdain.

A Prince?

Just this?

He's far worse than that Xue Qinghe.

"I heard my Grandpa say that his current appearance is actually a disguise," Dugu Yan said honestly, "However, I can't tell at all."

"The struggle within the Imperial Family is full of deception, but if you pretend to be a pig to eat a tiger for too long, you might really turn into a pig." Tang San wasn't very impressed with Xue Beng's disguise.

After all, the premise of pretending to be a pig to eat a tiger is that you must have the ability or power to "eat the tiger" yourself, otherwise, it's purely brain damage.

In the original work, if Qian Renxue hadn't exposed herself, Xue Beng would have had no chance of taking the throne.

However, in Tang San's opinion, even if Qian Renxue exposed herself, she could have continued her disguise. After all, with the Heaven Dou Empire's previous Emperor critically ill, a Prince capable of great responsibility was needed to inherit.

It is well known that Xue Beng is a dissolute person. Even if it's a disguise, not many people know he's pretending. If he suddenly claimed to be brilliant, the first reaction of others would definitely be disbelief.

Secondly, even if Qian Renxue was exposed in front of the main characters and others in the original work, she didn't actually need to give up. Even if the Tang Sect announced she was fake, how many people would believe it?

Anyway, the common people at the bottom wouldn't care who became Emperor. As long as Qian Renxue implemented some beneficial policies after taking the throne, she could win the people's hearts.

Although this is a Soul Master's World, the number of Soul Masters compared to the vast number of non-Soul Master citizens is less than a drop in the ocean.

But why did Qian Renxue give up directly?

In Tang San's opinion, Qian Renxue was simply too arrogant. With innate twenty-level Soul Power, she actually lost to someone younger than her. Her mentality was a bit unbalanced, and she wanted to save face, so she gave up all her previous efforts and prepared to achieve the Angel God position to win back fairly and squarely.

Considering that Soul Masters and Martial Souls influence each other, Tang San estimated that the Angel Martial Soul, to some extent, also made Qian Renxue develop a "stubborn pride" similar to that of the Clear Sky Sect.

"The Imperial Family's struggle is indeed cruel. My Grandpa told me not to get too deeply involved with people from the Imperial Family." Dugu Yan agreed deeply with Tang San's assessment, "So, I found a member of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family to be my boyfriend."

"You and Yu Tianheng are boyfriend and girlfriend?" Xiao Wu asked in surprise.

"Of course. Didn't you see how close Tianheng and I were during training?" Dugu Yan said matter-of-factly.

"But, I heard Third Brother say that the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family has very high requirements for female spouses. The Martial Soul needs to have a direct or indirect connection with the Dragon Clan," Xiao Wu couldn't help but say.

"Female spouses or whatever..." Dugu Yan looked at Tang San speechlessly, feeling that such vocabulary could only come from someone like him who focuses on Martial Soul research, "Although my Martial Soul is Bi Lin Snake, it also has a chance to evolve into a dragon."

"Oh~" Xiao Wu stopped talking.

"Thank you for your help," Tang San thanked her, "I wonder if you're close to reaching level forty? I can give you some advice on your fourth Soul Ring."

"I'm currently level thirty-five. I might reach level forty in about two years," Dugu Yan considered her cultivation progress and gave an approximate time, "Can I absorb a ten-thousand-year level for my fourth Soul Ring? My Grandpa finds some Whale Jelly for me to consume every so often. Over the years, my physical quality should be able to withstand it, right?"

"Based on your current physical quality, I estimate you can only withstand around eight thousand years. Even in two years, it will likely be difficult to withstand ten thousand years. More importantly, absorbing a ten-thousand-year Soul Ring requires a certain level of Spiritual Power. If you have a head Soul Bone, perhaps you could succeed, but if not, there's basically no possibility of successful absorption," Tang San had Dugu Yan raise her hand, squeezed her palm, confirmed her physical condition, and told her the truth.

"So, you and Xiao Wu both have a head Soul Bone?" Dugu Yan asked in shock, "Such good luck? Hunting a Soul Beast drops a Soul Bone?"

"No, the key I mentioned is Spiritual Power, not a head Soul Bone that can strengthen Spiritual Power," Tang San chuckled, "How to strengthen Spiritual Power? It's very simple: read more books, record the knowledge from the books, apply it flexibly, and constantly think, keeping your brain active. As long as you can do these things, your Spiritual Power will naturally strengthen."

Tang San offered a method to enhance Spiritual Power, but unfortunately—

"Forget it, I can't read those books."

As soon as she heard she needed to read, Dugu Yan felt a headache coming on, "What kind of Soul Beast does the fourth Soul Ring suitable for me come from?"

"Zhu She Grass," Tang San named a plant Martial Soul.

"A plant Soul Beast?" Dugu Yan frowned tightly. Her Martial Soul was Bi Lin Snake, a poisonous snake. It was one thing not to choose a snake-type Soul Beast for her, but to choose a plant Soul Beast?

Although the name included the word "snake," indicating it was likely related to snakes, it was still a plant Soul Beast.

However, this Zhu She Grass might have some unexpected effect, and coupled with the fact that Tang San was a Martial Soul Theory Master, Dugu Yan calmed down and asked, "Can Zhu She Grass give me any powerful attack ability?"

"Not attack."

"Defense?"

"Not defense."

"Control?"

"Not control."

"Then what is it?" Dugu Yan became curious, "Can you stop being so mysterious, Captain?"

"An auxiliary cultivation-type Soul Skill that will very likely save your life."

Tang San revealed the effect that Zhu She Grass could bring to Dugu Yan, "Zhu She Grass is a parasitic plant. Its seeds emit an aura that attracts snake-type Soul Beasts to swallow them, and then the seeds take root on the snake's inner gallbladder, starting to spread roots throughout the entire snake body, lignifying it."

"This plant Soul Beast can condense snake venom into a pearl-like fruit, thereby attracting other poisonous snake-type Soul Beasts and then killing them to absorb their toxins."

Dugu Yan pondered, "Can it condense various types of snake venom? That sounds good, but I don't seem to need this Soul Skill. My Bi Lin Snake Martial Soul itself carries toxins, and this toxin can command other snake venoms."

"No, you are actually already affected by your Martial Soul's toxin," Tang San shook his head, "There is a limit to the Martial Soul's capacity for toxins. The autobiography 'The King of Poisons' is an example. You haven't been affected yet only because your current Soul Power level is not high and it's not visible. Once your Soul Power is high, I estimate that problems will start to show when you reach level fifty."

"Because I am not a doctor and haven't seen real cases of poisoning, I'm not sure about the specific poisoning symptoms, but I think even if you can suppress the toxicity with Soul Power, certain parts of your body will feel uncomfortable."

"And the ability of Zhu She Grass should be able to help you grow a poison pearl condensed from Soul Power within your body, helping you consolidate all the Martial Soul's toxins into it, thereby preventing the toxins from affecting your body anymore."

153: Dugubo's attention

The toxin inherent in the martial soul affects the physical body?

If my soul power is high, I'll be poisoned?

After returning to the dorm, Dugu Yan thought long and hard. She felt Tang San's theory was somewhat fantastical, but he had explained it so logically that for a moment, she wasn't so sure.

Thus, Dugu Yan returned to the manor that Poison Douluo had bought in Heaven Dou City and told Dugu Bo, who happened to be back in Heaven Dou City, about the martial soul poison and the Zhu She Grass that Tang San had informed her about.

"Tang San? That Martial Soul Theory Master? He's in your class? Only twelve years old?" After listening, Dugu Bo's expression was extremely surprised. He hadn't expected that Tang San would understand the martial soul poison.

Although Yan Yan said that Tang San didn't understand poison and had only determined the harm of the martial soul poison to soul masters based on a book called 'Legend of the Poison King,' Dugu Bo knew that the martial soul poison truly existed. He himself was poisoned, and if he hadn't found a treasure land that could suppress the poison, he wouldn't have been able to become a Title Douluo, let alone break through to Soul Douluo.

But now, someone was telling him through Yan Yan that by wasting one soul ring slot and finding a soul skill that could condense a poison bead, he could solve the ancestral martial soul poison of his family.

Isn't this too ridiculous?

Doesn't this mean that generations of his ancestors have been walking in the wrong direction?

However, if that Tang San is truly a Martial Soul Theory Master, could what he said be true?

Uncertain, Dugu Bo began to look through materials, searching for detailed information on the plant soul beast called Zhu She Grass. He didn't find any cases of snake-type soul masters absorbing its soul ring, but this soul beast indeed possessed a bead fruit that could absorb and condense snake venom. If this ability could truly be inherited by Dugu Yan, perhaps it could really prevent his granddaughter from dying prematurely in the future due to the martial soul poison.

"Grandpa, do you think there's a problem?" Dugu Yan asked somewhat nervously.

"Theoretically speaking, there's no problem." Dugu Bo thought for a while and decided to tell her the flaw of the Bi Lin Snake. "Grandpa truly is poisoned. If it weren't for the Soul Power of the Title Douluo level suppressing it, I might have already perished. Your father couldn't suppress the poison and thus died, and your mother was affected by your father's poison."

Upon learning the truth of her parents' deaths, Dugu Yan was extremely shocked: "The Bi Lin Snake's poison will harm itself? Then Grandpa, you won't..."

"Don't worry." Dugu Bo was somewhat relieved. "I am already a Title Douluo, and the poison no longer affects me."

This statement contradicted what he had said before, clearly a lie Dugu Bo told to comfort Dugu Yan, but Dugu Yan believed it and asked: "So, should my fourth soul ring absorb the soul ring produced by this Zhu She Grass?"

"Not so fast." Dugu Bo shook his head. "You still need one or two years to cultivate to level forty. I need to go talk to Tang San... However, aren't you leaving for the Star Luo Empire for the exchange tomorrow? Let's talk about it after you return from the exchange."

"Alright, Grandpa."

Under Dugu Bo's persuasion, Dugu Yan calmed down, but she trusted Tang San even more. After all, he had seen the harm of the Bi Lin Snake's venom at a glance, and the solution he provided, even her grandpa said was theoretically possible.

Perhaps this theory that Tang San spoke of hadn't been proven, but Dugu Yan felt she could give it a try.

Life is always more important than a soul skill.

The next day.

Outside Heaven Dou Royal Academy, the Three Education Committee members were cautioning Teacher Qin Ming to be careful on the road.

"Please rest assured, Three Education Committee members. This trip will definitely not tarnish the reputation of Heaven Dou Royal Academy." Qin Ming placed one hand across his chest, bowed to the Three Education Committee members, and then led the members of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team onto the carriage.

Royal carriages were different from ordinary carriages; they were extremely stable. Even when traveling on uneven roads, no vibration could be felt inside the carriage.

"The royal carriages are custom-made by the Li Zhi Clan. Their forging craftsmanship is excellent, second only to Lou Gao in Gengxin City of the Star Luo Empire. Their clan leader, Titan, is also a Divine Craftsman." Qin Ming introduced the manufacturer of the Heaven Dou Royal carriages and the situation of Titan himself to Tang San and the others.

The journey was relatively boring, so Qin Ming was also finding topics to make the trip less tedious.

"Speaking of Titan, that guy was once beaten up by my Bone Grandpa." Ning Rongrong's first words killed the conversation, and Qin Ming didn't know how to continue.

"Why did he beat him up?" Xiao Wu, however, became interested. "I heard Third Brother say that the Li Zhi Clan and the Min Zhi Clan are hereditary friends. The Min Zhi Clan has now joined the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. The relationship between the Li Zhi Clan and the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School shouldn't be that bad, right?"

At this moment, Bai Chenxiang, a member of the Min Zhi Clan inside the carriage, looked slightly embarrassed and said: "Well, actually, our four clans were originally affiliated with the Clear Sky Sect, but after the Clear Sky Sect closed its doors, it abandoned our four clans, and we had a miserable time... Until that Master's theory was published, our Min Zhi Clan received attention from various major forces on the continent."

"Originally, my grandpa, who is the clan leader of the Min Zhi Clan, hoped that the Clear Sky Sect could reaccept them, at least send someone over, but unfortunately, there wasn't even a ghost's shadow."

"Therefore, my grandpa chose to join the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School... Who knew that the clan leader of the Li Zhi Clan was extremely foolishly loyal to that Clear Sky Douluo of the Clear Sky Sect? He went to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School to question my grandpa, even cursing him, and was finally taught a lesson by Senior Bone Douluo."

Huo Wu said: "The Li Zhi Clan, my Huo Family has also heard of them. Their disciples are not interested in the Clear Sky Sect; it's just Titan who is relatively foolishly loyal."

Any force likes loyal people, but it's very uncomfortable when this loyal person is loyal to someone else.

"Cough!" Qin Ming coughed, reminding them, "Titan is a Soul Douluo after all. Let's not comment on him. We should maintain due respect for the strong."

Immediately, the voices inside the carriage quieted down.

Tang San closed his eyes to rest and cultivate his Soul Power. Xiao Wu and Guang Ling also sat cross-legged, cultivating Soul Power.

Seeing this, Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and the others also began to close their eyes and meditate.

In a blink of an eye, seven days passed quickly, and the carriage arrived at Soto City.

Because the horses pulling the carriage were excellent Dragon Scale Horses, one of the very few hundred-year Soul Beasts that could be tamed by humans, the traveling speed was much faster than when Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and the others had traveled to Heaven Dou City.

"This is Soto City. Teacher graduated from an obscure academy in this small place." Qin Ming showed a nostalgic expression, his tone revealing a great deal of emotion. "I wonder how Dean Flander has been doing recently. I hope he is still healthy."

"Teacher Qin Ming, why don't we go take a look at that Shrek Academy?"

Along the way, Qin Ming had talked a lot about Shrek, and the members of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team had developed some interest in this academy they had never even heard of.

An academy that only accepts monsters, how could they not be interested?

After all, they were geniuses among geniuses. Could there be students in Shrek Academy who were more monstrous than them?

It was worth going to see.

154: Shrek Academy

"No rush," Qin Ming said with a smile. "Our main purpose for coming out this time is training, specifically to participate in a few Spirit fights at the Soto City Great Spirit Arena. As for Shrek Academy, I do want to take you there, but that academy's scale and environment can't compare to Heaven Dou Royal Academy, and it doesn't have many students. If I were to take you all there, Dean Flender might think I've grown arrogant and am bringing you to cause trouble."

"However, when you participate in Spirit fights at the Great Spirit Arena, you might just run into students from Shrek."

Hearing Qin Ming say this, among the group, everyone except Tang San and Lan Yinzi, including Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, developed a strong interest in Shrek.

Arriving at the Great Spirit Arena in Soto City, from the outside, it looked like a building similar to a Roman coliseum, oval-shaped.

Stepping inside, the interior was quite spacious, with Spirit-guided lights overhead emitting soft light, illuminating the entire hall.

As the leader of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team, Qin Ming naturally didn't need to register like others. Instead, he directly found the manager of this Great Spirit Arena, chatted for a bit, and then processed the participation certificates for Tang San and the others, allowing them to freely form two-person teams to participate in the double-team Spirit fights.

As for the seven-person group competition, Qin Ming looked at the teams here at the Great Spirit Arena and found that they were basically Spirit Elder teams. The teams with Spirit Ancestors happened to be absent, reportedly having gone to the Star Dou Great Forest to hunt Spirits.

This is troublesome.

The other teams here in Soto City aren't strong enough to put pressure on the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team.

As for waiting for that team with multiple Spirit Ancestors to return...

There isn't time for that.

The main purpose of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team's trip this time is to have an exchange with Star Luo Royal Academy. Coming to Soto City was due to his personal reasons, plus it was on the way.

But he can distinguish between public and private matters. If this Great Spirit Arena cannot provide pressure for the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team, then coming here to participate in the seven-person group Spirit fight is a waste of time.

Therefore, Qin Ming plans to have Tang San and the others participate in a few double matches, letting those who haven't become Spirit Ancestors form teams to strengthen their coordination, and then, after he visits Flender, he will set off directly for Star Luo Royal Academy.

"Alright everyone, I've already registered you. You can go participate in the matches now." Qin Ming held the participation badges and handed them to everyone.

After receiving the badges, Tang San asked, "Spirit Ancestors are rare here. Isn't it a bit like bullying for us Spirit Ancestors to participate?"

It wasn't just Tang San; Xiao Wu, Huo Wu, and Yu Tianheng also felt that participating in this kind of Spirit fight wasn't very interesting.

"Don't underestimate the Spirit Elders here. Participating here allows the use of any weapon, medicine, or even poison. This place isn't a regular Great Spirit Arena; deaths are common occurrences." Qin Ming's expression was extremely serious. "Don't treat Spirit fights lightly."

Tang San didn't argue further. Instead, he was the first to enter, participating in the double match with Xiao Wu.

Their opponents were also a man and a woman.

The man's Spirit was a spider, with spirit power level thirty-nine.

The woman's Spirit was a centipede, with spirit power level thirty-eight.

Both of their strengths were extremely close to Spirit Ancestor level.

But for Tang San, opponents like these could be defeated without even using his Spirit.

Therefore, Tang San and Xiao Wu won this match very easily. The moment the fight began, the two Spirit Elders, who were close to the Spirit Ancestor level, were kicked out of the arena by Xiao Wu.

"Very weak."

After returning to the lounge, Xiao Wu said to the others, "I didn't even use my Spirit, and they couldn't react."

"Spirit Masters from small places can't compare to us at all." Yu Feng forgot that Tang San and the others were from a small place and laughed heartily.

"Ahem, those two were actually quite strong, it's just that Xiao Wu is too powerful." Yu Tianheng coughed, signaling Yu Feng to restrain himself a bit, and began to evaluate objectively, "Centipedes and spiders are both poisonous insects. Coupled with their strength close to the Spirit Ancestor level, even I couldn't instantly kill them easily. It would take at least seven or eight moves."

This wasn't Yu Tianheng being humble.

Although his Spirit is the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon, capable of suppressing other Beast Spirits, his spirit power is only level forty-one, not significantly different from those two.

Therefore, if he were to spar with them, it would probably also take a few moves.

It can only be said that Xiao Wu is too strong.

However, Xiao Wu being able to instantly kill those two also had the element of catching them off guard. After all, the opponents were already adults, while Tang San and Xiao Wu were at most fast-developing teenagers.

"Tianheng is right. If I were to deal with those two guys, I might not necessarily win." Dugu Yan supported her boyfriend's statement.

Moreover, her words weren't belittling herself. The power of her Spirit, the Bi Lin Snake, lies in poison. The opponents' Spirits also had poison, so their resistance to poison would definitely not be bad.

Next, the brothers Shi Mo and Shi Mo went up.

Their opponents were also a pair of twins, but their Spirits were hammers.

The two also won easily.

However, after Lan Yinzi and Ye Lingling teamed up and went on stage, their opponents had some strength.

Both of them wore masks, covering the upper half of their faces, but their aura was very powerful.

"That person is Mu Tian!"

Ning Rongrong recognized Mu Tian at a glance, mainly because the three-headed Earth Fire Lizard was truly eye-catching; it was impossible not to recognize it.

"That guy with his nose in the air?" Xiao Wu recalled a past Spirit hunting experience. "I didn't expect him to come to Soto City. I was wondering why he wasn't with you when I was at Heaven Dou Royal Academy."

"Don't associate me with him." Ning Rongrong immediately retorted. "He just joined the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School; we don't have any close relationship."

"Why would someone from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School be in Soto City?" Huo Wu asked strangely. "Rongrong, could he be your secret guardian?"

For a large Sect like the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, having someone secretly guarding isn't strange, is it?

"Have you ever seen a guardian who could be found so easily by someone being guarded like me?" Ning Rongrong said, somewhat speechless. "He didn't want to come to Heaven Dou Royal Academy and then wanted to join Shrek... Teacher Qin Ming, that's probably the Shrek Academy you mentioned."

Hearing this, Qin Ming's eyes lit up, and he asked, "Oh? It seems this young man from your Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School has excellent judgment."

For Qin Ming, Shrek was a belief, and if someone recognized Shrek, it would certainly earn his favor.

"Then let's take a good look at how Shrek students fight."

"I believe those two students from Shrek can definitely bring you a lot of insights and allow you to learn quite a bit."

Learn quite a bit?

Not necessarily.

Tang San looked at Mu Tian and thought to himself, "Without Austin Griffin, what kind of realm can you reach?"

155: One-day tour of Shrek Academy (Part 1)

“You are Lan Yinzi?”

Mu Tian, wearing a mask that covered the upper half of his face, saw a familiar face and tentatively asked.

“Who are you?” Lan Yinzi raised her willow-like eyebrows, completely not recognizing Mu Tian.

“Uh...” Mu Tian felt a bit awkward. They had clearly met and chatted a few times before the Shrek Academy entrance. It must be because of the mask that she didn't recognize him. “I'm Mu Tian, we met at the Shrek Academy admissions office.”

This time, Lan Yinzi finally had some recollection: “So it's you...”

This transmigrator.

Lan Yinzi didn't say the second half of the sentence out loud.

“You know him?” The tall man beside Mu Tian was curious.

“Yes, Dai Mubai, that blue-haired woman also participated in the Shrek Academy admissions before, but then she suddenly left, saying she needed to find Tang San...” At this point, Mu Tian also calmed down and stopped abruptly.

Dai Mubai, however, didn't notice Mu Tian's voice getting quieter. Instead, he waved at Lan Yinzi and Ye Lingling: “Two beauties, after the fight, how about we go for a drink together?”

During the admissions process, after Lan Yinzi left, Zhu Zhuqing came and joined Shrek Academy, becoming the only female student in the academy.

However, without Xiao Wu and Ning Rongrong accompanying her, Zhu Zhuqing's tolerance for Dai Mubai was extremely low.

It's not that in the original novel Zhu Zhuqing chose to forgive Dai Mubai because of Xiao Wu and Ning Rongrong's company. In the current situation where she was the only female student in the academy, she had no friends of the same sex to communicate with and felt overly lonely.

In the Zhu family, she could chat with maids and the like, but at Shrek, she could only talk to the village aunties... there was simply nothing to talk about.

People who are aloof and reclusive don't necessarily like being alone.

For the first few days, Dai Mubai would still go to greet her, but Zhu Zhuqing had a frosty face and completely ignored him.

So, Dai Mubai argued with her a few times, saying things like “I'm not even looking for other women, what more do you want?” and “Can't you forgive me?”

Thus, their relationship worsened.

Oscar and Ma Hongjun in the academy dared not interfere.

Mu Tian, on the other hand, wanted to take advantage of the situation, and then—

Dai Mubai beat Mu Tian up, and at that time, perhaps to anger Dai Mubai, Zhu Zhuqing handed Mu Tian a cup of water.

So, Dai Mubai, having had enough, didn't bother Zhu Zhuqing much anymore and continued his pursuit of women. After all, facing a block of ice was nowhere near as wonderful as facing a flock of beauties.

However, Dai Mubai also knew that Zhu Zhuqing wouldn't really give up on him; she just felt he was not living up to expectations, otherwise, she wouldn't have come to this remote and desolate place like Shrek.

But what could he do?

Davis was older than him, and he couldn't defeat him at all. Otherwise, why would he run to this poor and remote ghost place?

It's just that he still held a glimmer of hope and absolutely didn't want to die until he reached the point of despair.

He needed Zhu Zhuqing's Martial Soul Fusion in the future to have a slight chance of defeating his good elder brother Davis. Therefore, when he went out, he would basically avoid Zhu Zhuqing, and when he returned to Shrek, he would also make sure to clean himself up.

The superficial actions still had to be done well...

This time, in the two-person soul battle, Zhu Zhuqing was not present, so Dai Mubai's dissolute nature was revealed again.

“Busy.” Lan Yinzi frowned tightly, realizing that Dai Mubai was indeed as described in the novel, very lustful. Although he had the potential to turn over a new leaf, it was difficult to develop a good impression of him.

Fortunately, her child didn't go to Shrek, and she didn't stay at Shrek either.

To say that the son in the original novel was not influenced by Shrek, Lan Yinzi didn't believe it at all. She even felt that her son becoming so outrageous was definitely Shrek's fault.

Anyway, it wouldn't be her son who was wrong.

It could be said that the domineering Blue Silver Emperor would never side with someone else's child!

“Haha, quite the temper, I like it.” Dai Mubai didn't mind, having been rejected many times and gotten used to it. But as long as he displayed his hard power, the other party would definitely throw themselves into his arms.

Conquering female soul masters was actually very simple: just defeat them.

In this World, the vast majority of female soul masters have a psychology of admiring the strong.

On the stands.

Tang San explained to the others what Lan Yinzi, Dai Mubai, and Mu Tian were talking about, and said to Qin Ming: “Teacher, are they really students of Shrek? Why do I feel like they're more like thugs or something.”

“Cough, in any academy, there are always some poor students.” Qin Ming was a bit embarrassed, but immediately labeled Dai Mubai as a “poor student.” “He doesn't represent the entire Shrek.”

Yu Tianheng nodded, feeling that it made sense, and then asked: “Tang San, how do you know what they are saying? There are so many spectators here, the sound is noisy, and even two or three meters away, you can't hear what each other is saying.”

“I learned a bit of lip-reading. By observing their lip movements, I can roughly understand the content of the conversation,” Tang San said. “After the match ends, we can confirm with Lan Yinzi and Ye Lingling.”

[Battle begins!]

At this moment, the referee shouted loudly.

“First Soul Skill, Lan Yin Seed!”

Lan Yinzi let out a soft cry, raised her hands and pressed them onto the ground. Countless Lan Yin Seeds emerged from her hands.

Looking down from above, it was as if a pool of blue liquid emerged from her hands, looking extremely bizarre.

However, Tang San noticed that both of Lan Yinzi's hands were wrapped in Blue Silver Grass, or rather, Blue Silver Emperor. The seeds were produced from the leaves.

“White Tiger Body Protection Shield!”

Dai Mubai's first soul ring lit up, and a layer of white light appeared on his body, which could increase his attack and also provide him with a certain degree of defense.

This blue “liquid” was truly a bit strange, so it was better to be careful.

Mu Tian, on the other hand, had his Three-Headed Hellfire Lizard spray flames, clearing out a vacuum zone for himself, but the flames also burned Dai Mubai not far away.

“Bastard, get away from me!” Dai Mubai had no good feelings for Mu Tian, who dared to flirt with his fiancée. If it weren't for this match requiring two soul grandmasters to team up and not needing registration, he wouldn't have bothered to team up with Mu Tian.

After cursing, Dai Mubai rushed towards Lan Yinzi, using the defense of the White Tiger Body Protection Shield to block the Lan Yin Seeds.

However, quite a few seeds still adhered to the surface of the White Tiger Body Protection Shield.

“These ghost things are absorbing my soul power!” Dai Mubai noticed that the light of the White Tiger Body Protection Shield dimmed, and his heart hardened, deciding to finish the fight quickly.

The purple soul ring flickered, and the third soul skill, White Tiger Vajra Transformation, was unleashed.

Instantly, the aura on Dai Mubai's body doubled. His muscles swelled, black tiger patterns appeared on his skin, and his red and blue heterochromatic eyes were even more dazzling.

White Tiger Vajra Transformation was a self-buffing soul skill that Dai Mubai obtained after getting the Vajra Tiger's soul ring. In this state, Dai Mubai's attack, defense, and strength could all increase by one hundred percent, which was double his original stats, lasting for half an hour.

This buffing soul skill could not be improved with the increase in soul power level; it could only increase his three attributes by one hundred percent.

“Take this!”

With his strength, defense, and attack all doubled, Dai Mubai endured the absorption of his soul power by the Lan Yin Seeds and continued to charge towards Lan Yinzi.

For the first time, he felt that the competition arena was a bit too big.

Facing a strong attack system soul master, Lan Yinzi naturally wouldn't resist head-on, but instead dodged.

Ye Lingling, on the other hand, stood at the edge of the competition arena.

This was Lan Yinzi's reasoning—the two opponents were both beast martial soul masters, and their abilities were basically close-range. Although they might have some long-range attack soul skills, they were only soul grandmasters, so they shouldn't have skills that could lock onto a person.

Therefore, standing at the edge of the arena would give her more reaction time against the opponent's long-range attacks, making it easier to dodge.

If someone wanted to attack her at close range, even if she couldn't defeat them, she would have a chance to take the opponent down with her, or even create an opportunity for Lan Yinzi.

As a healing support system soul master, Ye Lingling's martial soul had no offensive capabilities, and this was not a seven-person team match, so there were no extra people to protect her.

Therefore, she could only act as bait.

Dai Mubai and Mu Tian also saw Ye Lingling's idea, so neither of them attacked proactively. After all, in a soul battle, approaching the edge of the arena also required immense courage.

However, Ye Lingling didn't just stand at the edge of the arena waiting at ease. Instead, she took out wine and a tinderbox from her soul guidance device.

The Soul Fighting Arena was different from the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament; it allowed the use of other methods besides martial soul abilities, as long as one didn't attack the opponent's weaker parts...

...

“Little girl, if you have the guts, don't run!”

Lan Yinzi's movement technique was extremely nimble, like a gust of wind, always one step faster than Dai Mubai's claws, which made him a bit impatient.

“Third Brother, that movement, it's quite similar to my Listening to the Wind,” Xiao Wu walked to Tang San's side and whispered, “It's like she's predicting the White Tiger's swing motion in advance.”

“It does look a bit similar, but it's not, although it is somewhat related to wind.”

In Tang San's opinion, this should be Lan Yinzi's instinct as the Blue Silver Emperor.

The Blue Silver Emperor, when the wind blows, can sway freely and sense the airflow. Dai Mubai's movements were so large that the air movement caused by them must be considerable.

Although it couldn't be seen with the naked eye, Lan Yinzi should be extremely sensitive to this.

This ability could be learned and then used to improve the Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track.

Just at this moment, the second hundred-year soul ring on Lan Yinzi's body flickered, and the second soul skill was activated.

Instantly, those Lan Yin Seeds began to sprout and connect with each other, forming an impenetrable large net that restricted Dai Mubai's movement capabilities.

And that Mu Tian had his Earth Fire Lizard continuously spray fire, the blazing flames burning the Blue Silver Emperor leaves covering towards him and Hao Yue.

“This is my second soul skill: Blue Silver Net.” Lan Yinzi retreated to Ye Lingling's side and said to the struggling Dai Mubai and the fire-setting Mu Tian, “I won't use my third soul skill, you would die, but seeing how you are, you don't seem to want to surrender, so—”

Receiving a look from Lan Yinzi, Ye Lingling sprinkled the wine towards Mu Tian and Dai Mubai.

“Is this wine?” Dai Mubai reacted immediately, his eyes trembling as he looked at Mu Tian.

“Roar!”

In an instant, Mu Tian's flames ignited the wine, causing more than half of the arena to burn.

“Ah!” Mu Tian himself was scalded by the flames and screamed miserably.

Although his Three-Headed Hellfire Lizard could spray fire, he himself was not fireproof, and the flames produced by the wine burning due to high temperature were not the kind of fire element converted from soul power. The two could not be entirely confused.

Therefore, Mu Tian himself could not be immune to this kind of flame.

“We surrender!” Dai Mubai saw the flames spreading towards him and immediately shouted his surrender, and in the spectator stands, a middle-aged man wearing glasses immediately went down and, with powerful soul power, raised a strong wind, extinguishing the flames.

That person was none other than the Four-Eyed Cat Eye Flander.

After rescuing the two students, he found that Dai Mubai only had some skin burns and was not in serious danger; Mu Tian, however, was slightly more serious, with some hair burned off, but also not in serious danger, it was just that the parts that were burned by fire might not grow hair in the future.

“Where are you students from? Your attacks are so vicious?” Flander questioned Lan Yinzi and Ye Lingling, and a soul saint level soul pressure went towards the two girls.

Taking action against two girls would be losing face, but Flander felt he was seeking justice for his two students, so there was nothing wrong.

Shrek Academy was simply protective of its own.

Of course, he didn't actually intend to fight; he just wanted to scare the two girls. After all, his own academy's students were bullied terribly, almost disfigured. If he, as the Dean, didn't show anything, wouldn't he lose a lot of face?

These two girls were so powerful, they must have someone behind them. As long as they revealed who, he, Flander, would have a way to back down.

"Dean Flander!"

Qin Ming jumped down from the spectator stand, walked calmly in front of the two girls, and smiled at Flander, saying, "Long time no see, how have you been lately?"

"You are Qin Ming!" Flander saw Qin Ming, instantly found a way out, and beamed with joy, "Good kid, I was wondering whose students these two girls were. I didn't expect them to be taught by you, truly inheriting the essence of our Shrek, brave and strategic, with boundless futures."

Dai Mubai: "....." Dean, where are your morals?

When Mu Tian saw Qin Ming, he thought of something and immediately scanned the audience seats, spotting a girl with a scorpion tail braid, and standing beside her, Tang San, who waved his hand at him from a distance.

"Let's go down and catch up, Dean Flander, it's crowded here." Qin Ming suggested.

"That's true, it's not good to be a spectacle." Flander laughed heartily, slung his arm around Qin Ming's shoulder, and walked off the field, "Come to my place. Although it's small and poor, there are few people, it's quiet, and the environment has a natural fragrance and simplicity."

"Perfect, the other students I lead also want to see Shrek Academy." The nostalgia in Qin Ming's eyes deepened, "I also haven't been back to Shrek Academy to visit for quite some time."

"What else can it be? Just like that? In recent years, funding has decreased even more." Flander sighed, "To ensure the students have good health, I've even lost my retirement money. Currently, there are only five students in the academy, possibly the last batch of students at Shrek Academy. In the future, Shrek Academy might cease to exist, and I and the other teachers can only find teaching jobs at an advanced academy... I'm truly unwilling."

"Dean, would you like to come to Heaven Dou Royal Academy? I am a teacher there and the leader of the Heaven Dou Royal First Team. If I introduce you to the Three Education Committee, they will definitely welcome you." Qin Ming extended an invitation, "Furthermore, I have brought a group of extremely outstanding students, including two monsters among monsters. At twelve years old, they have already reached the Soul Elder realm."

"Those are truly monsters!" Flander's eyes widened, "Could you introduce them?"

"Their specific identities are difficult for me to disclose. I've been given a death order by the Three Education Committee. If I dare to reveal it, even if I join Spirit Hall, those Three Education Committee won't let me go." Qin Ming didn't explicitly say, "However, they are also in the delegation going to Star Luo Empire this time. By their appearance, you will be able to recognize them, one male and one female."

"Heh, still playing coy with me. But I also understand your difficulties. Working under others always involves some lack of freedom." Flander didn't press for details. After all, he only liked freedom and not being restrained; it wasn't that he didn't understand social etiquette. He wouldn't ask about secrets he shouldn't ask about, lest he invite trouble.

Although Shrek wasn't afraid of causing trouble, some people and powers were truly not to be provoked.

However, regarding a twelve-year-old Soul Elder, Flander genuinely felt that the World was changing too fast, even to the point of being incomprehensible.

You couldn't even call this a monster anymore!

It was a prodigy!

"I'll head back to Shrek first. Have the teachers and students at the academy prepare a welcome ceremony. You can just bring the people from Heaven Dou Royal Academy over." After Flander finished speaking, without waiting for Qin Ming to refuse, he took Dai Mubai and Mu Tian and left first.

"Dean Flander is still so carefree. But, being carefree can't feed you."

Qin Ming truly wanted to help the teachers and students of Shrek Academy, but Dean Flander had strong pride and wouldn't join other academies. He really didn't know what to do...

...

"Dai, Mu Tian, call Hongjun and the others over. I'll go find Xiao Gang, Lu Qibin, and the others." After Flander brought Dai Mubai and Mu Tian back to Shrek Academy, he instructed the two, "An outstanding disciple who graduated from the academy has made something of himself and can even lead the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team. Now that he's bringing his students over to visit, we can't lose face."

"Dean, we're quite run-down here. Wouldn't it be embarrassing if those royal descendants saw it?" Mu Tian didn't want Tang San and the others to come and retorted.

"I believe the students Qin Ming teaches aren't those kind of pampered scions," Flander said, "Could it be that you were defeated and so are afraid to face their excellence?"

"My doing this is also to motivate you, to let you know that there's always someone better out there."

"Otherwise, do you think I, as the Dean, would be willing for a successful student to bring the students he taught to see the decline of our Shrek?"

Left with no choice, Mu Tian could only go call Ma Hongjun and Oscar, while Dai Mubai went to call Zhu Zhuqing...

"Flander, what is it?" Yu Xiaogang was interrupted from his research and was a little impatient, "Oscar has already reached level thirty. I'm currently planning his third soul ring."

"Relax, Xiao Gang. An outstanding student who graduated from the academy is returning, bringing students from Heaven Dou Royal Academy. I hope our children can interact with them." Flander stated his purpose, "The children's talents are all good. After they graduate and go their separate ways, having contact with those people and leaving an impression will open up more opportunities in the future."

"Shrek still has a student working at Heaven Dou Royal Academy?" A glint of light flickered in Yu Xiaogang's eyes, as if he had grasped hope, "Can we ask him to sponsor us? No, perhaps, we can merge into Heaven Dou Royal Academy."

"Do we really have to do that?" Over the past few years, Yu Xiaogang had done a lot of ideological counseling for Flander, so hearing Yu Xiaogang say this, Flander wasn't particularly agitated.

In fact, he had also considered it.

Although Shrek Academy was his life's work, the conditions were too poor, the food wasn't good, and there was no simulated training environment. Even his personal disciple, Ma Hongjun, whose martial soul had flaws, could only rely on places like brothels to resolve them.

"This is necessary. Our conditions are too poor to allow the children to grow effectively, not to mention that our academy has gained two more talented students." Yu Xiaogang's expression was serious, "Also, you wouldn't not know the identities of Dai Mubai and Zhu Zhuqing, would you? White Tiger, Nether Cat, those are descendants of the Star Luo Empire's imperial family!"

"Why you recruited Dai Mubai back then, I don't care, but now that Zhu Zhuqing has come over to the Heaven Dou Empire's side, if they want to survive, they can only rely on Heaven Dou Royal Academy."

"After all, we took them in. There's a high probability that the other pair of White Tiger and Nether Cat from the Dai Family and Zhu Family will consider us supporters of Dai Mubai and Zhu Zhuqing."

These words were somewhat alarmist, but Flander also had to consider whether the new Emperor of Star Luo Empire would hold Shrek accountable if Dai Mubai and Zhu Zhuqing failed in the final competition.

Could the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family protect them?

Perhaps Xiao Gang would be fine. After all, no matter how much he was at odds with his family or how bad their relationship was, he was still Yu Yuanzhen's son. But he, Flander, and the other students and teachers in the academy might not be so lucky.

This was also the reason Yu Xiaogang often used to persuade Flander in recent years.

"Sigh~"

Flander sighed deeply.

If he truly had no intention of joining an advanced academy, he wouldn't have actively invited Qin Ming to visit Shrek...

...

When the teachers and students of Shrek, Lu Qibin, Li Yusong, Zhao Wuji, Yu Xiaogang, as well as Dai Mubai, Oscar, Ma Hongjun, Mu Tian, and Zhu Zhuqing, had all gathered, Flander announced that Qin Ming was bringing the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team to visit: "This exchange is both a visit from outstanding students who graduated from our Shrek Academy and an opportunity for you to see the gap between yourselves and the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team. I hope you little brats can cherish this opportunity well."

Of the original Shrek Seven Devils, Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Ning Rongrong were missing, and Mu Tian was added. Among them, Oscar was taken in as a disciple by Yu Xiaogang, who also gave him extra private tutoring. He had now broken through to level thirty and possessed a body of considerable muscle, with strength even greater than Ma Hongjun's.

Furthermore, Oscar's second soul ring was chosen with the help of Yu Xiaogang, and he already possessed considerable combat power.

"Flander, when are Qin Ming and the others coming?" Yu Xiaogang was even more eager than Flander.

"They're walking here, they should be arriving soon. We'll go out and meet them now." Flander sighed slightly, forced himself to cheer up, and said.

"Dean, I've broken through to level thirty and need to hunt for a soul ring." Zhu Zhuqing suddenly spoke. Her soul power increase speed was also quite a bit faster than in the original work.

After all, when she hadn't left her family, even if her sister mocked and ridiculed her openly, the family elders wouldn't reduce her cultivation resources. Furthermore, after the effects of Whale Jelly were publicized, she was also able to eat some thousand-year whale jelly.

Therefore, the age limit of her second soul ring reached over eight hundred years.

The higher the age limit of the soul ring, the more energy it contained, and the stronger the evolutionary effect on the martial soul. Zhu Zhuqing's cultivation speed was naturally faster than in the original work.

"Level thirty? You cultivate quite fast. However, there's no rush to acquire a soul ring. Polishing your physical body more will be beneficial to you," Flander said indifferently.

"Can the academy provide Whale Jelly?" Zhu Zhuqing had taken Whale Jelly before and knew its effects, "I can buy it with money. That stuff is much more effective than carrying rocks."

"Zhu Qing, it's not like you don't know, our school is very poor. Now Whale Jelly has a price but no market; we can't afford it. Medicinal baths are also quite effective," Oscar was a little unhappy. After all, carrying rocks while running was a training method proposed by his Teacher, and his Teacher often gave him extra tutoring, more nutritious food, and even small pieces of thousand-year whale jelly, which he had eaten once or twice.

As a disciple, both emotionally and logically, he had to defend him.

Although Douluo Continent didn't have the saying "A teacher for a day is a father for life," once one became a disciple, the Teacher was the closest person besides one's parents. Oscar himself was an orphan. Becoming Yu Xiaogang's disciple was equivalent to gaining a family member. Moreover,

Yu Xiaogang had come to take him as a disciple when he was only seven years old, so calling him his adoptive father wouldn't be an exaggeration.

How could others question him?

Zhu Zhuqing responded with silence, ignoring him.

Seeing this, Yu Xiaogang was quite satisfied with Oscar, but he didn't particularly like Zhu Zhuqing, this girl who dared to question his training methods. However, he didn't say anything, after all, for a team, unity was the most important thing; there couldn't be internal conflict.

156: One-day tour of Shrek Academy (Part 2)

“Is this Shrek Academy? It looks like a rather backward village.”

The Heaven Dou Royal Academy group arrived at the outskirts of Shrek Academy, looking at the green wheat fields nearby and the dirt path leading to the village entrance not far away. Most of them wondered if Qin Ming had not returned for many years and had gotten lost.

But—

“Shrek Academy is in that small village ahead.” Qin Ming’s certainty made Huo Wu and the others incredulous.

Is this really Shrek Academy, capable of teaching someone with such excellent talent as Teacher Qin Ming?

It’s too fantastical, isn’t it?

Could it be that there are reclusive masters in Shrek Academy?

“Third Brother, this place isn’t even as good as Saint Spirit Village,” Xiao Wu whispered.

“Naturally, it can’t compare. Although Soto City is much larger than Nuoding City, its geographical location is not as good as Nuoding City. It’s not at the border of the Two Great Empires, and there aren’t many fertile lands... However, Soto City doesn’t rely on farming for a living. It’s closer to the Star Dou Great Forest, so Spirit Masters are more common here,” Tang San explained the reason. “It can be said that current human civilization is built upon Spirit Beast forests.”

In a normal, non-magical World, towns and villages like Nuoding City and Saint Spirit Village, which have large areas of fertile land suitable for growing grain, would be the most important for a civilization's development.

But in this Douluo World, with the existence of magical Spirit Beasts, their resources are abundant enough to support all the Spirit Masters on the continent, as well as the ordinary people who serve the Spirit Masters.

At least, for the next twenty to thirty thousand years, Spirit Beast resources will not be exhausted, but precautions must be taken for the future.

At this moment, Tang San and the others had already reached the village entrance. Flender led the Shrek group forward to greet them.

“Haha, Qin Ming, long time no see. You’ve grown stronger and stronger,” Zhao Wuji hugged Qin Ming and patted his back, praising him, “You’re already a Spirit Emperor. In a few years, you’ll probably surpass me, your teacher.”

“It’s all thanks to Teacher Zhao’s good teaching,” Qin Ming responded with a smile, greeting Lu Qibin and Li Yusong.

“Are these the geniuses from Heaven Dou Royal Academy? They all look very good,” Li Yusong looked at Tang San and the others, praising them, “Our academy’s Little freaks really can’t compare.”

This was true. In the original work, if the Shrek group hadn’t had Tang San bring back Immortal Herbs, they wouldn’t have achieved such good results in the Spirit Master Tournament.

“Uncle.”

From the moment he saw the Shrek group, Yu Tianheng had been staring at Yu Xiaogang, finally calling out.

Although Yu Xiaogang was a joke in the Spirit Master's world, when he was young, Yu Xiaogang treated him quite well. Therefore, Yu Tianheng still respected this uncle.

“Uncle?”

Except for Yu Xiaogang, Yu Tianheng, and Tang San who knew the situation, everyone else was stunned.

“That unkempt man is actually Yu Tianheng’s uncle?” Yu Feng said in shock, “Is he a biological uncle? Is he also from the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan?”

Dugu Yan was also surprised: “This is the first time I’ve known Tianheng has such an uncle... Tang San, do you know?”

“Do you take me for a know-it-all? I’ve never been to the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan,” Tang San said speechlessly. He was a Martial Soul Theory Master, not an intelligence master. “However, I do know this person. He is also a Martial Soul Theory Master, and he became famous more than ten years before me.”

After Tang San’s reminder, Huo Wu and the others immediately thought of who Yu Tianheng’s uncle was, and their expressions became strange.

“If it’s really that person, then he is indeed Tianheng’s uncle.”

“Vice Captain doesn’t mind?”

“After all, they are family.”

“However, this Grandmaster’s theories don’t seem very reliable, with no corresponding evidence.”

Yu Feng and the others whispered among themselves, while Huo Wu looked at the calm Tang San and asked, “Have you met this Yu... Grandmaster before?”

“I have. At the junior academy, he was friends with the dean of the academy I attended...” Tang San briefly described his story with Yu Xiaogang. “How should I put it, he and I should have some minor conflicts. After all, after my theories were published, he was often compared to me, so he must feel bad.”

Huo Wu didn't care, thinking Yu Xiaogang deserved it. Who told him his theories were all taken out of context and just empty talk?

However, this was not suitable to say now.

After all, Yu Tianheng was present, and Yu Xiaogang himself was still a member of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, and the son of Yu Yuanzhen. There was no need to mock him directly, as that would only show one's low emotional and intellectual intelligence, and merely anger Yu Xiaogang, nothing more.

Without conflicts of interest or grudges, there was no need to stir up trouble.

After Yu Xiaogang and Yu Tianheng finished reminiscing, their gaze fell on the other members of Heaven Dou Royal Academy. Seeing Xiao Wu with a scorpion braid, the memory of him actively trying to take her as a disciple five or six years ago, and being rejected, resurfaced in his mind.

The twelve-year-old Tang San and Xiao Wu had both matured. If Yu Xiaogang only looked at their appearance, he would only find them somewhat familiar and wouldn't recognize them, but who could forget Xiao Wu's distinctive long braid?

No one would forget it.

Therefore, Yu Xiaogang instantly recognized Xiao Wu, and Tang San.

However, Yu Xiaogang did not greet them, but pretended not to know them and chatted with Qin Ming.

After all, Tang San and Xiao Wu had rejected him before. Going up to them now would only lead to being rejected again, which was unnecessary.

Furthermore, in Yu Xiaogang's eyes, Shrek Academy was about to be merged into Heaven Dou Royal Academy. At that time, he, this “Grandmaster,” would naturally teach the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team. Shouldn’t Tang San and Xiao Wu, these two geniuses, call him teacher?

Why should he jeopardize his own future?

Entering Shrek Academy.

The people from Heaven Dou Royal Academy truly gained insight.

Just now, some people still thought the village had a “hidden wonder,” but now, those with that thought felt ashamed.

What kind of academy was this?

It was clearly a village. The only commendable thing might be that it allowed these scions from large families to experience what a “farm stay” was like.

Although poor, Flender still spent money to buy some chickens and sheep from the village, asking Shao Xin to cook them to entertain the Heaven Dou Royal Academy group.

For Huo Wu and the others, occasionally changing their diet was actually not bad.

However, for Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling, such meals were actually quite good. After all, the second floor of Nuoding Academy’s cafeteria might not even be as abundant as this.

Therefore, these three ate the most naturally.

Next was Lan Yinzi.

After the meal.

The teachers of Shrek and Qin Ming went to talk nearby, while the students of Shrek stayed to accompany the students of Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

“Yu Tianheng, a member of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan, you must be the Captain of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team, right?” Dai Mubai extended his hand to Yu Tianheng. “My name is Dai Mubai.”

As the Star Luo Crown Prince, although he was not as good as Dai Weisi, he was also astute. He realized that Shrek Academy might be merged into Heaven Dou Royal Academy, and these Heaven Dou Battle Team students might become their classmates in the future.

For this, he had to befriend them.

As a younger brother, he always felt that he was too young to defeat Dai Weisi, so he escaped. But he still harbored some hope for the throne.

If Shrek were to be merged into Heaven Dou Royal Academy, then he might be able to use the power of the Heaven Dou Battle Team to defeat Dai Weisi in the Spirit Master Tournament, and even inflict injuries that would be difficult to heal.

Although he was the Star Luo Crown Prince, using the royal power of the Heaven Dou Empire might be ethically questionable, but there was no rule saying he couldn't do so.

Moreover, Dai Mubai had also learned about the Heaven Dou Battle Team. The members of the First Team were not hereditary nobles of the Heaven Dou Imperial family, but rather disciples of families and Sects that supported Heaven Dou, and were not entirely on the same boat as the Heaven Dou Empire.

“Hello.” Yu Tianheng clinked his cup with him. “However, I'm only the Vice Captain. The true Captain is him.”

Following Yu Tianheng's arm, Dai Mubai saw Tang San, who was sitting cross-legged on a stool, seemingly meditating and cultivating.

His first impression of this person was two words: young.

But to be so young and become a Captain, he must possess extraordinary strength.

“Who is this?” Dai Mubai asked.

“Tang San, our new Captain. His Spirit is the same as the Blue Silver Grass woman who defeated you in the Spirit Arena, also Blue Silver Grass. However, he himself is a support system Spirit Master, but he’s an all-rounder.”

From Dai Mubai’s demeanor, Yu Tianheng confirmed that he was not a commoner Spirit Master and intended to befriend them, so he introduced Tang San’s basic situation.

“Tang San? That Martial Soul Theory Master?” Dai Mubai blurted out, then laughed at himself, “Haha, it must be the same name.”

Although Shrek also had a Martial Soul Grandmaster, Dai Mubai, born into the Star Luo Imperial family, knew that Tang San was the true Grandmaster. Yu Xiaogang’s only genuine material might be that he had recorded all the types and abilities of currently discovered Spirit Beasts on the continent, as well as methods for judging their cultivation years.

“As expected of the Captain of Heaven Dou Royal Academy, he cultivates every second. He just looks younger than you. How old is he? What rank has he reached?” Dai Mubai asked curiously.

For someone who could endure arduous cultivation, Dai Mubai, while disdaining their inability to enjoy pleasure, actually admired them in his heart. Therefore, he wanted to befriend him, perhaps he could become his helper in the future.

“Twelve years old.” Yu Tianheng felt this was no secret, and they were members of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team, so no one dared to offend the Heaven Dou Imperial family. “But his strength has already reached the Spirit Ancestor level. The long-braided girl next to him, who is also meditating with her eyes closed, has the same age and spirit power level as him.”

“Oh my goodness, twelve years old, Spirit Ancestor, those two are the real monsters,” Ma Hongjun, whose body was already like a ball, opened his mouth wide.

“A twelve-year-old Spirit Ancestor? Tang San?” Zhu Zhuqing was also shocked, wondering if this Tang San was that Tang San. She suddenly asked, “How could Blue Silver Grass cultivate so fast?”

Yu Tianheng naturally wouldn’t say that Tang San was that Martial Soul Theory Master. He said, “His Blue Silver Grass mutated, so he cultivates faster, I guess. We don’t know either, after all, he and the two girls next to him only joined Heaven Dou Royal Academy recently, and they are also from commoner backgrounds.”

Blue Silver Grass Spirit, commoner, twelve years old, Spirit Ancestor...

This information made Zhu Zhuqing believe that the Tang San in front of her might indeed be that Martial Soul Theory Master.

Ma Hongjun and Oscar, on the other hand, were simpler. They didn't understand what kind of speculation these pieces of information could lead to, only marveling at the opponent's strong cultivation talent.

Mu Tian recalled Tang San's mockery after defeating him, gritting his teeth even more—Spirit Ancestor, why did Tang San cultivate so fast?

Could it be that he really couldn't catch up?

Is Mysterious Heaven Skill really that powerful?

But his Spirit is Bright Moon, the God of Destruction from the god seal throne, Austin Griffin, could it be that this thing is not even as good as a blade of grass?

“Yo, Mu Tian, haven't seen you in a few days. Seeing me, this Young Miss, you don't even greet me?” Ning Rongrong saw Mu Tian staring at Tang San, her eyes rolled, and a plan came to mind. “Or, are you still holding a grudge because Tang San defeated you?”

“Rongrong.” Mu Tian reacted and immediately put on a smile, “I was just thinking why Tang San is so powerful. My Spirit clearly has fire attributes and should counter Blue Silver Grass, but I couldn't burn Tang San's Blue Silver Grass clean.”

“You competed with Tang San?” Ma Hongjun was shocked. He didn't expect Mu Tian to know Ning Rongrong, and even less did he expect Mu Tian to have fought Tang San.

“Oh, him, my little follower. When hunting for Spirits before, in a forest in Barak, he met Tang San and Xiao Wu who were also hunting for Spirits. He mocked Tang San for being from a commoner background and initiated a challenge, then he was beaten so badly his Spirit dissipated.” Ning Rongrong didn't care about Mu Tian's expression at all, and cheerfully told everyone about Mu Tian's situation.

Although this behavior lacked emotional intelligence, Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and others were all on Tang San's side, and since Ning Rongrong said that Mu Tian was the one who initiated the mockery and trouble, they just listened quietly.

“Holy cow, awesome, Mu Tian, daring to mock and challenge a Spirit Ancestor!” The muscular man Oscar gave Mu Tian a thumbs up, unsure if it was mockery or praise, but this behavior made Huo Wu and others feel a bit annoyed.

“At that time, Tang San was only a Spirit Grandmaster...” Mu Tian's expression was a bit ugly, feeling that Oscar had no discerning eye at all.

At this moment, Tang San opened his eyes and thought to himself, “My spirit power has increased by one level, reaching forty-two. However, after becoming a Spirit Ancestor, each level requires more spirit power. But within two years, I should be able to reach the Spirit King level, and Xiao Wu probably can too.”

“Hello, I am Dai Mubai.” Dai Mubai introduced himself to Tang San.

“My name is Tang San.”

Tang San didn't particularly care for Dai Mubai's goodwill, but he couldn't hit a smiling face, so he still responded, though his tone was flat.

This made Dai Mubai a little unhappy, but he didn't act out. After all, he had already preconceived Tang San as someone focused on cultivation.

Spirit Masters who are obsessed with cultivation basically all have this kind of temper.

But Xiao Wu and Guang Ling, who were familiar with Tang San, understood that this was because Tang San didn't like the other party... Although they didn't know the specific reason, if Tang San didn't like him, then they didn't like him either.

Just as Dai Mubai was about to say something more, Flender and the others returned. Qin Ming's face was full of smiles as he said, "Everyone, I have an announcement. From now on, the teachers and students of Shrek will join Heaven Dou Royal Academy."

Immediately, Yu Feng, Dugu Yan, and others began to discuss amongst themselves.

"This isn't good, Teacher Qin Ming." Yu Feng had a different suggestion, glancing at Dai Mubai, "It's not that easy to join Heaven Dou Royal Academy. Their strength hasn't even been confirmed yet."

"You think I'm not good enough?" Dai Mubai narrowed his eyes. Although he wanted to befriend the members of the Heaven Dou Battle Team, he himself was a Crown Prince and had his own arrogance.

"You're not even as good as the girls in our team." Although Yu Feng admitted he wasn't Dai Mubai's match in a head-on confrontation, Dai Mubai and Mu Tian losing to Lan Yinzi and Ye Lingling was a fact.

Moreover, Dai Mubai's Spirit is White Tiger, which can contend with Yu Tianheng's Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon, and both are close-combat control-type attack system. If they join the team later, won't they compete with Yu Tianheng for the Vice Captain position?

He strongly supported Yu Tianheng.

Besides that, that Mu Tian was also a troublemaker, having conflicts with Captain Tang San, and had been staring at Captain Tang San just now. If he joined in the future, he definitely wouldn't cooperate.

He also strongly supported Tang San.

Mu Tian?

Not familiar.

Moreover, even Ning Rongrong, who was also from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, didn't care for this guy, so he was clearly not an easy person to get along with.

Their battle team, including substitutes, was already quite large. There was really no need to add more people, otherwise their Heaven Dou Royal First Team could directly be divided into two teams.

“What did you say?” Dai Mubai sneered, staring intently at Yu Feng, the aura of the Tiger King making him take a step back.

“What are you doing?” Although they had already settled things with Qin Ming, Shrek was ultimately Flender's brainchild, and now that it was gone, he wasn't feeling so good. “Mubai, quiet down, the other party is a guest!”

“Hmph!” Dai Mubai snorted coldly, but still glared fiercely at Yu Feng, thinking about how to teach this kid a lesson later.

“I know everyone is a bit surprised, but Dean Flender has already told me that these students from Shrek are all geniuses among commoners, and their talent is comparable to most of you,” Qin Ming said.

“That's right, we are all geniuses, just with fewer resources,” Ma Hongjun said rudely. “Senior Qin Ming graduated from our Shrek, and to put it bluntly, you call Senior Qin Ming ‘Teacher,’ but you should call us ‘Martial Uncles.’”

As soon as these words came out, the members of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team were all shocked and angry.

“Heh heh!” Huo Wu sneered, staring at Ma Hongjun, and said, “You're not qualified to be our Martial Uncle! And—”

Qin Ming was just the leader of the Heaven Dou Royal First Team; their calling him “Teacher” was just a respectful address, not an acknowledgment of him as their master.

Where did the title of Martial Uncle come from?

However, Huo Wu couldn't say these words in front of Qin Ming. She only said, “Teacher Qin Ming, if these people want to join Heaven Dou Royal Academy, their strength must be decent, right? Let me see what their true abilities are like?”

Qin Ming was a bit worried: “This...”

“No problem.” Yu Xiaogang, however, said, “You are all proud children of heaven, and it's normal to have arrogance, but I believe that the children of our academy are not bad either.”

“But Huo Wu is a Spirit Ancestor.” Qin Ming felt that even if they were to compete, it shouldn't be a Spirit Ancestor.

“It's fine.” Yu Xiaogang shook his head and looked at Huo Wu, “However, Qin Ming is right, you are a Spirit Ancestor. Because of resource issues, the strongest in our academy is only a Spirit Elder, so it's not good for a one-on-one...”

“If one-on-one isn't possible, then it's one-on-five.” Huo Wu interrupted Yu Xiaogang, “Me against five of them. If they can defeat me, I will acknowledge the strength of their entire team.”

Yu Xiaogang frowned.

One against five?

This was no joke.

He had originally only wanted a two-on-one, letting Dai Mubai and his disciple Oscar go up. A Spirit Elder and a Spirit Grandmaster should be comparable to a Spirit Ancestor, or even slightly surpass one.

And Oscar was a food-type support system, generally not considered to have combat power, but rather a hindrance.

Yu Xiaogang wanted him to participate for the sake of apparent fairness.

Why apparent?

Because Oscar, after his training, was not weak in combat power, and Oscar's second spirit ring was chosen with his help, giving him unexpected offensive abilities.

In Yu Xiaogang's mind, Dai Mubai and Oscar were enough to deal with a Spirit Ancestor who had just entered the Spirit Ancestor realm and whose spirit power was below level forty-five.

However, he didn't expect Huo Wu to be so arrogant, wanting to take on five people.

“Isn't this unfair to you?” Yu Xiaogang asked.

“There isn't that much fairness in the World.” Huo Wu walked to an open space nearby and said to Ma Hongjun and the others, “Come on, let me see how well you five cooperate. If you don't get my approval, even if you join Heaven Dou Royal Academy with Teacher Qin Ming's help, don't even think about entering our Heaven Dou Royal First Team.”

“Little girl, today I'll let you know that there's always someone better.” Ma Hongjun had a bad temper and had long been unable to tolerate Huo Wu's arrogance. He said to Dai Mubai, “Boss Dai, Oscar, Mu Tian, Zhuqing, let's go.”

However, only Dai Mubai and Oscar followed Ma Hongjun. Mu Tian and Zhu Zhuqing stood rooted to the spot, as if their feet were stuck, unmoving.

“What? Do you still have conflicts among yourselves?” Huo Wu showed a mocking expression, “Just three people are not my match.”

“Zhuqing, now is not the time to be temperamental.” Dai Mubai turned around and said to Zhu Zhuqing, “This concerns our future!”

At Dai Mubai's reminder, Zhu Zhuqing pursed her lips, not very willing, but still walked over.

After all, the gazes of Flender, Yu Xiaogang, and others were on her.

Finally, Mu Tian also walked up. After all, he was now a member of Shrek. If he didn't take a side, he probably wouldn't leave a good impression in the eyes of Flender and the others.

“Huo Wu, Spirit: Sun Goddess, level forty-three long-range output battle Spirit Master, also skilled in close-combat control.” Huo Wu shouted, raising a finger and waving it. The Sun Goddess, with its nearly burning golden-red hair, appeared, its arms crossed, dressed in a black and gold patterned battle skirt, like another Huo Wu.

“What a peculiar Spirit.” Yu Xiaogang's eyes lit up, feeling that the power of this Spirit could already rival the Angel Spirit of Spirit Hall.

“Dai Mubai, Spirit: White Tiger, level thirty-nine close-combat control-type attack system Spirit Master, supplemented by long-range output.”

“Ma Hongjun, Spirit: Evil Fire Phoenix, level twenty-nine long-range output-type attack system Spirit Master.”

“Oscar, Spirit: Sausage, level thirty food-type support system Spirit Master.”

“Mu Tian, Spirit: Bright Moon, level thirty-one attack system Spirit Master, capable of both close-range and long-range combat, relatively balanced.”

“Zhu Zhuqing, Spirit: Hell Civet, level thirty assassination-type agility-attack system Spirit Master.”

I wanted to try updating ten thousand characters, but in a flurry, I sent chapter 154 incorrectly. It has now been corrected—

Tomorrow, I'll still maintain four thousand characters...

157: Fire Dance VS Shrek Five

Seeing that both sides had already released their martial souls and soul rings, Flander and Teacher Qin Ming knew that a battle was inevitable. Moreover, Flander also wanted to see how strong Huo Wu was, so he said, "Since that's the case, let's begin. Let's make it clear beforehand that the focus should be on exchanging pointers. Furthermore, you can only use the abilities of your martial souls."

"First Soul Skill, Phoenix Fire Line!"

Ma Hongjun spat out a stream of red flames, extremely condensed.

However, Huo Wu didn't dodge at all, nor did she use the Sun Goddess martial soul to defend. She simply condensed a ball of flame in her hand and then slapped it forward.

Pa!

The Phoenix Fire Line dissipated, leaving behind sparks in front of Huo Wu.

Huo Wu's lips curled up, and she became a little interested as she looked at the traces of black in the sparks. "This flame is a bit interesting. It has extremely strong adhesion and corrosiveness. It's difficult to extinguish without severing the soul power, but—"

"Playing with fire in front of me is too naive."

Although Ma Hongjun's evil fire was extremely difficult to extinguish and had extremely strong adhesion, he was ultimately just a level twenty-nine Grand Soul Master with insufficient soul power, and the power of his flames was far inferior to Huo Wu's flames.

The light and fire of the Sun Goddess were not something that the Fire Phoenix's flames could compare to.

However, this was just a feint by Ma Hongjun. The real attackers were Dai Mubai, Mu Tian, and Zhu Zhuqing.

Taking advantage of the moment when Ma Hongjun released the Phoenix Fire Line, Dai Mubai had already completed the White Tiger Barrier and White Tiger Vajra Transformation, advancing to a position about three meters away from Huo Wu. A ball of white energy was condensed in his mouth, which was his Second Soul Skill: White Tiger Light Wave.

This move was a single-target, straight-line, long-range attack with considerable penetration and great destructive power.

If she were to withstand it head-on, Huo Wu would also be injured.

The common ailment of soul masters: high attack, low defense.

In addition to Dai Mubai, Mu Tian's Bright Moon had also run to the other side of Huo Wu, forming a left-right pincer attack with Dai Mubai. All three heads were condensing the power of fire.

Mu Tian himself was standing next to Oscar. After all, his detached beast martial soul determined that he could not engage in close combat like Dai Mubai.

Although he had practiced martial arts, the power he exerted was far inferior to those soul masters whose beast martial souls appeared in the form of possession. It was better to stay with the support system.

Zhu Zhuqing was constantly circling around Huo Wu, running around her at a distance of a dozen meters.

Dai Mubai and Bright Moon jointly launched a strong attack. Zhu Zhuqing naturally did not dare to get close, otherwise she would be injured herself. Her responsibility was to take advantage of the moment when Huo Wu was hit and injured, or when she dodged the two attacks, to deliver the finishing blow, ambush, and assassinate.

Finally, Oscar, the remaining one, used his First Soul Skill to create ten recovery Sausages in advance, ready to throw them to his teammates at any time to help them recover their soul power.

In fact, among the five of Shrek, Tang San's attention was mostly focused on Oscar.

Thinking that Yu Xiaogang might have come to Shrek very early, coupled with Oscar's muscles that resembled Dwayne Johnson, Tang San was certain that Oscar had been accepted as a disciple by Yu Xiaogang.

Ma Hongjun was Flander's disciple, and Yu Xiaogang would not "seize what others love." Dai Mubai was a member of the Star Luo royal family and had a lot of trouble, so Yu Xiaogang would not accept him. Then, only Oscar was left.

Sausages, food system, in a sense, can also be called a useless martial soul.

But it was an innate full soul power.

It very much met Yu Xiaogang's requirements.

I just don't know if Oscar's Second Soul Skill now can be a detoxifying small Sausage.

However, looking at Oscar's physique, the Second Soul Skill is unlikely to have a detoxifying effect. After all, with Yu Xiaogang's personality, he would definitely not want his disciple to be just a support system, and he would definitely need to have attack abilities.

At this moment, Huo Wu, facing the left and right flanking attacks, used her First Soul Skill, Sun Star Ring, for the first time.

The high-speed rotating golden-red light and flame ring spread out from the Sun Goddess, one circle after another, blocking the White Tiger Light Wave and pushing Dai Mubai away at the same time.

The Three-Headed Hellfire Lizard, Bright Moon, was a little more miserable. A huge wound was cut out of its abdomen, and its huge body rolled out. In its three pairs of red eyes, there was full of fear, and it ran back to Mu Tian's side, shivering.

The self-spirituality of the martial soul is too strong, and it is not a good thing in battle.

"Swoosh!"

Zhu Zhuqing flashed behind Huo Wu, wanting to sneak attack, but Huo Wu didn't want to play with these little brats at the moment. The Second Soul Skill, Sun Ascension, was activated, and all attributes were improved. She instantly turned around and punched Zhu Zhuqing in the abdomen, causing her to spit out bitter water and fly out more than ten meters, losing her combat ability.

"Damn it!" Dai Mubai shouted angrily and ran towards Huo Wu, but the Sun Goddess martial soul could move freely and stood in front of him. A ring of fire resistance emerged from her body, continuing to cut Dai Mubai.

Helplessly, Dai Mubai could only raise his hand to resist first.

The existence of the Sun Goddess martial soul made Huo Wu like two people. Both of them could use the same soul skills. Therefore, Huo Wu herself was quite relaxed.

"What? Is this your way of fighting?" Huo Wu mocked, "That girl who was beaten by me and lost her combat ability just now was not bad. She knew how to seize the opportunity, but the gap between her and me is too big. After all, I am not an ordinary Soul Elder. Even Teacher Qin Ming would need to spend a lot of time to take me down."

Yu Xiaogang hurriedly asked Qin Ming for confirmation: "Is what she said true?"

"Huo Wu is indeed a genius among geniuses, and her strength is extremely strong. If I want to defeat her quickly, I must use the Sixth Soul Skill, otherwise I can only fight a war of attrition. After all, her Sun Star Ring is too dangerous." Qin Ming sighed, acknowledging this point, "With her talent, she will definitely be able to become a Soul King in two years, and she is also one of the trump cards of Heaven Dou Royal Academy in the next championship."

Hearing Qin Ming's confirmation, Yu Xiaogang stared at Huo Wu with burning eyes, thinking to himself: "How wonderful would it be if such a genius became my disciple?"

"However, even if she is not my disciple, Shrek will be incorporated into Heaven Dou Royal Academy in the future. There will be opportunities for communication. I can communicate more to see how she cultivates to be so strong. At that time, I can let Oscar learn from her."

The Sun Goddess martial soul showed a crushing advantage against Dai Mubai, and after Huo Wu finished mocking, she went towards Ma Hongjun, Mu Tian, and Oscar.

The primary target was Ma Hongjun.

Although the support system is usually attacked first in a team battle, Ma Hongjun's mouth was cheap, so he naturally received Huo Wu's "special attention."

Although Ma Hongjun's martial soul was the Evil Fire Phoenix, it had not completely transformed, and for bird-type soul masters, if they wanted to fly, unless their soul power was deep, or they had a soul skill that could give them flight.

At this time, Ma Hongjun did not meet either of the above two conditions, so he could not fly at all. In addition, with his round body, he could only be a walking chicken.

As a result, he was caught by Huo Wu for the first time and was beaten up severely, becoming the second to lose his combat ability.

"Next, it's you two."

After kicking Ma Hongjun, who was bruised, swollen, crying, and calling for his grandmother, Huo Wu's gaze fell on Mu Tian and Oscar……

Bird-type soul masters want to fly—

Either they have strong soul power, or they have a soul ring responsible for providing flight soul skills.

The original Ma Hongjun had a Phoenix Wings Soaring skill, the main function of which was flight……

158: Oscar's external soul bone: Eight Spider Spears

"Bright Moon, charge!" Mu Tian commanded, and his Spirit, Bright Moon, which was the Three-Headed Hellfire Lizard, shook its three heads, baring its fangs and claws as it lunged at Huo Wu.

"What a unique Beast Spirit," Huo Wu commented, not wanting to entangle herself with a Beast Spirit that looked so much like a Spirit Beast. Instead, she attacked Mu Tian.

Without her Sun Goddess Spirit by her side, Huo Wu's Spirit Ability power would be somewhat weakened.

Although it was more than enough to deal with a Spirit Elder, Huo Wu would not waste her spirit power carelessly.

To catch the bandits, first catch their leader.

Huo Wu's target was Mu Tian himself.

"Bang!"

After one punch, Huo Wu immediately retreated, her brows furrowed as she mused, "Absolute defense? Or is it that I can't harm Mu Tian himself until I defeat this Three-Headed Hellfire Lizard?"

In reality, Mu Tian, having taken Huo Wu's punch, was also sweating profusely.

After Austin Griffin abandoned Mu Tian and chose to reside in Tang San's Clear Sky Hammer, Mu Tian's Bright Moon still provided him with almost invincible defense. However, defending against others' spirit power attacks also consumed his own spirit power.

That last strike, Huo Wu had used nearly seventy percent of her strength, and Mu Tian's spirit power had been depleted by almost half. If he took two more attacks, his defense would break.

Noticing Mu Tian's expression and the somewhat ethereal appearance of the Three-Headed Hellfire Lizard, Huo Wu understood that the defense was not invincible; it required the consumption of spirit power to offset her attacks.

If she attacked with her full strength, she could certainly break through, but she wasn't sure if Mu Tian could withstand it.

Most likely not.

Her full-strength attack would be difficult for even a Spirit Saint to resist easily.

Oscar, at this moment, had used his second Spirit Ability, chanting the Spirit Incantation: "I have a Vajra Sausage!"

As spirit power surged between his hands, a Sausage over a meter long, as thick as a bowl, and gleaming with a metallic luster emerged from his hand.

It was more like a stick than a Sausage.

To give the Sausage Spirit offensive capabilities, Yu Xiaogang had racked his brains—

Sausage was food, edible, but Yu Xiaogang felt that this food could also be a Spirit, after all, some dried Sausages were very hard, comparable to iron and stone, and even swords could hardly cut them.

For this reason, the first thing Yu Xiaogang thought of was to enhance the hardness of Oscar's Sausage Spirit.

Secondly, hardness alone was not enough; there also needed to be a factor that could cause effective damage to enemies: poison.

That's right, Yu Xiaogang still thought of poison and couldn't forget about it.

Based on the two points above, Yu Xiaogang planned the Man Faced Demon Spider Spirit Beast for Oscar's second spirit ring.

The Man Faced Demon Spider could spin silk, but the most terrifying aspects of this Spirit Beast were its hard exoskeleton and its deadly venom.

In Yu Xiaogang's consideration, if Oscar's Sausage Spirit absorbed the spirit ring of a Man Faced Demon Spider, its hardness would surely be enhanced to a terrifying degree.

Moreover, Sausage, being a food that is hard on the outside and soft on the inside, isn't it perfectly complementary to insect-type Spirit Beasts with exoskeletons?

Oscar's Sausage Spirit was definitely a perfect match for the Man Faced Demon Spider.

After Oscar obtained the Man Faced Demon Spider's spirit ring, the Sausage produced by his second Spirit Ability became extremely hard, reaching over a meter in length, like an iron rod.

It also carried the Man Faced Demon Spider's venom, which Oscar himself was immune to, but if it struck someone's skin, the Man Faced Demon Spider's venom would penetrate their body, thereby paralyzing them.

Although it couldn't instantly poison the enemy to death, the paralyzing effect was also very good.

More importantly, Li Yusong's Spirit happened to be a staff, and with him teaching Oscar staff techniques, coupled with Oscar's robust physique, becoming a close-combat control-type attack system Spirit Master was no problem at all.

However, absorbing the Man Faced Demon Spider's spirit ring did more than just add a weapon to Oscar...

Boom!

Kicking Bright Moon away, Huo Wu looked at Oscar, who was thrusting a staff at her, and raised her hand for a punch.

The flaming fist collided with one end of the Sausage-staff, creating a resounding impact.

Oscar, after all, only had thirty levels of spirit power, inferior to Huo Wu, and was pushed back by her. However, Huo Wu felt a slight numbness in her hand, as if some of her fingers had lost sensation.

"Poisonous?"

"You, a food system, added a poisonous spirit ring to your Spirit?"

"Isn't your food Spirit meant to be eaten?"

Huo Wu was a bit confused; what kind of food system was this?

After Oscar stabilized himself, he chuckled, "Who says food can only be eaten? I have the heart of a battle Spirit Master. My Sausage Spirit's second Spirit Ability was chosen by my teacher, allowing its length and hardness to break through their limits. Plus, with Teacher Li Yusong teaching me staff techniques, my strength is even superior to Fatty's."

"Using Sausage as a weapon?" Qin Ming, watching the battle, exclaimed, gaining a new perspective on Yu Xiaogang. "As expected of the former Martial Soul Theory Master, he truly has ideas."

"It's nothing worth mentioning," Yu Xiaogang's face showed a slight smile, but he was a bit bothered by the word "former" in Qin Ming's mouth.

"Third Brother, I feel like this Oscar is a bit... creepy. But can Sausage really be used as a weapon?" Xiao Wu asked.

"It can be used as a weapon, but food, after all, is meant to be eaten. Using it as a weapon is a step down," Tang San narrowed his eyes. "And it's even poisonous. The Sausage Spirit's tolerance for poison isn't higher than other Spirits. If there's no solution, it's just digging one's own grave."

Rip!

Just as Tang San finished his evaluation, Oscar's clothes ripped, and eight pitch-black lances, like spider legs, emerged from his back. Coupled with Oscar's muscular physique, it looked quite ferocious.

"Is that a Spirit Bone?!" Qin Ming was stunned, looking at Yu Xiaogang in disbelief. "Grandmaster, your disciple actually possesses a Spirit Bone! But, is it alright to expose it like that?"

"It's not a big deal, because this is an external Spirit Bone, second in value only to a hundred-thousand-year Spirit Bone," Yu Xiaogang's face showed a hint of a smile. "Oscar's second spirit ring came from a Man Faced Demon Spider that was nearly eight hundred years old. Oscar spent a lot of effort to stab the dagger into the Man Faced Demon Spider's head... According to my theory, the more painful a Spirit Beast's death, the greater the chance of producing a Spirit Bone. Oscar was lucky enough to obtain this Man Faced Demon Spider's external Spirit Bone."

"And this type of external Spirit Bone can evolve with one's cultivation, but its drawback is that once fully absorbed, others cannot take it away. Even if Oscar dies, this external Spirit Bone will not drop; instead, it will shatter with his demise."

"Oscar spent three years perfectly absorbing this Spirit Bone. Therefore, compared to others who possess Spirit Bones and can only hide them, Oscar can use this external Spirit Bone quite boldly."

"Of course, when participating in Spirit battles at the Great Spirit Arena, I will not allow Oscar to use the abilities of his external Spirit Bone."

Everyone envied Oscar's good fortune, but only Xiao Wu's expression was displeased.

Although the Man Faced Demon Spider Spirit Beast was quite detestable and she didn't like it, there was no need to torture it before killing it, right?

Was it really that hard to tell Oscar in advance how to stab the Man Faced Demon Spider's weak point?

159: The identities of Dai Mubai and Zhu Zhuqing

"An external Spirit Bone?" Huo Wu narrowed her eyes, looking at the eight dark and shiny spider lances, and smiled, "Interesting."

At this moment, Dai Mubai had been defeated by the Sun Goddess Spirit and lost his combat ability. Only Oscar, Mu Tian, and Mu Tian's Spirit, Bright Moon, remained among the five Shrek members.

The Sun Goddess was controlled by Huo Wu to deal with Bright Moon, while Huo Wu herself enveloped her arms in light and fire, launching a miniature Fire Dance Bright Sun towards Oscar.

Facing the golden light pillar, Oscar's brain had already reacted, but his body couldn't move immediately. Even with the Eight Spider Lances assisting him, he was still hit, and the Eight Spider Lances blocking him were even shattered.

Crack!

This sound not only shocked Oscar but also made the smug look on Yu Xiaogang's face disappear.

The external Spirit Bone was actually shattered by one of Huo Wu's Spirit Abilities!

"Is this external Spirit Bone really second only to a hundred-thousand-year Spirit Bone? Why is it so fragile?" Yu Feng was puzzled, looking at Tang San with a questioning expression.

"The advantage of an external Spirit Bone is that it can improve with the Spirit Master's spirit power, capable of growing to the hundred-thousand-year level, or even higher," Tang San pushed up the detection glasses on his nose bridge and said indifferently, "Oscar's, I estimate, is only comparable to about eight hundred years, so it's naturally difficult to withstand Huo Wu's third Spirit Ability."

"Fire Dance Bright Sun, this Spirit Master obtained it from a Blazing Sun Lion King's spirit ring. It possesses the divine force of the sun. Even if its power is controlled to the minimum, an eight-hundred-year-old Spirit Bone cannot withstand it."

Yu Feng suddenly understood, then asked, "So, if the Spirit Bone breaks, is it useless?"

"Other Spirit Bones, even if incomplete, can still be absorbed by Spirit Masters. As for external Spirit Bones, once fully absorbed, external fragmentation is actually negligible. As long as the person doesn't die, the Spirit can be used, and spirit power can continue to cultivate, then the spider lances can regrow under the nourishment of spirit power."

"In short, compared to other Spirit Bones, external Spirit Bones have three advantages: they are evolvable, self-repairing, and cannot be taken away by ordinary means after complete absorption."

Yu Tianheng and others also heard Tang San's explanation to Yu Feng and asked, "So, with extraordinary means, an external Spirit Bone can actually be taken away?"

"Yes, before it's completely absorbed, there's a chance it can be seized by other Spirit Masters. And if it's already fully absorbed, it's not impossible to strip it away."

In the original work, before Tang San became a Divinity, his external Spirit Bone was stripped by divine force, transforming it into one of the Sea God's divine armaments—the Sea God's Eight Wings.

divine force can strip any Spirit Bone.

If divine force can do it, Tang San guessed that spirit power should also be able to do it, as long as someone can control the essence of spirit power and perform micro-manipulation... like himself. After cultivating the Jade Bone Technique, his own bones subtly repelled this hundred-thousand-year Right Leg Bone.

If he were to strip this Spirit Bone with spirit power, he probably could, but this process would likely be more painful than the Spirit Bone stripping he would experience during the Divinity inheritance trial.

Inheriting a Divinity's position requires stripping Spirit Bones and transforming them into divine armor...

Does this mean that to break through level 100, Spirit Bones must be separated from the body and exist in other ways, thereby keeping the physical body pure?

As for why spirit rings are not repelled, perhaps it's because the influence exerted by spirit rings primarily affects the Spirit, which is something between matter and energy, rather than the physical body...

...

Huo Wu ultimately won.

The five Shrek members had to admit that Huo Wu had the right to criticize them. After all, they were simply not as skilled.

After being healed by Shao Xin's candies, Zhu Zhuqing walked up to Huo Wu and said, "After I obtain my third spirit ring, can we fight again?"

"A strong girl." Huo Wu put one hand on her hip and the other on Zhu Zhuqing's shoulder. "You're very good. Among the Shrek students, you're the one I'm most optimistic about."

"However, if you want to challenge me one-on-one, wait until you also reach Spirit Ancestor. The gap between us is not small."

Her Spirit Ancestor level allowed her to even contend with a Spirit Emperor.

And Zhu Zhuqing's Hell Civet?

Although her speed was fast, she couldn't get close to Huo Wu. Even if she reached the Spirit Ancestor level, she would find it difficult to affect Huo Wu, though she might be able to last a few more rounds.

At this moment, Qin Ming said to Tang San and the others, "What do you think of the Shrek students? Although they were not Huo Wu's opponents, their performances were commendable. If they join Heaven Dou Royal Academy and receive specific training, they will certainly be able to catch up with most of you at the same level."

Yu Tianheng agreed with this, as the talents of these individuals were no less than Dugu Yan or Lan Yinzi. With the resources of Tiandou Royal, they would most likely catch up to them.

"As for the others, I have nothing to say, but how will the identity issue of Dai Mubai and Zhu Zhuqing be resolved?"

Tang San brought up the crucial point, "White Tiger and Hell Civet. Besides the cruel imperial succession struggle in Star Luo Empire, I can't think of any other situation that would bring these two to Heaven Dou territory. Perhaps they believed they couldn't win the struggle, so they fled to Heaven Dou Empire, hoping to survive this way. But this won't make the other pair of White Tiger and Hell Civet from Star Luo Empire let them go."

"Perhaps Teacher Qin Ming will think I'm exaggerating, but if both of them join Heaven Dou Royal Academy, it's inevitable that the high-ranking officials of Star Luo Empire will overthink it, believing that Heaven Dou Empire wants to participate in their imperial selection. If things escalate, and the Two Great Empires erupt into war, it won't be as simple as two noble students from Star Luo Empire joining Heaven Dou Royal Academy."

The imperial succession competition in Star Luo Empire was extremely brutal, and Qin Ming knew this, but he hadn't realized that Dai Mubai was a prince and Zhu Zhuqing was Dai Mubai's fiancée.

And after Tang San revealed their identities, Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and the others looked at Dai Mubai with changed expressions.

Although Star Luo Empire hadn't had conflicts with Heaven Dou Empire for a long time, it was still a hostile nation and couldn't be trusted too much.

"Mubai is a disciple of the White Tiger Sect." Yu Xiaogang frowned, telling a lie.

"If Zhu Zhuqing weren't here, I might believe it." Tang San pointed at Zhu Zhuqing and said, "Grandmaster Yu, we had a brief exchange at Notting Academy. Don't tell me that Zhu Zhuqing is infatuated with Dai Mubai, so she ran away from the Zhu family... They don't look like a couple at all; instead, they seem to dislike each other but have to stay together."

Yu Xiaogang's expression turned somewhat grim.

Qin Ming also realized the seriousness of the problem at this point. He genuinely hoped that all the Shrek teachers and students would join Heaven Dou Royal Academy, but he certainly didn't want Heaven Dou Royal Academy to get involved in Star Luo Empire's imperial succession competition.

Otherwise, when the Grand Competition begins two years later, wouldn't the contest between Heaven Dou Royal Academy and Star Luo Royal Academy become a competition for Star Luo Empire to choose its next emperor?

If Heaven Dou Royal Academy became one of Star Luo Empire's pawns, what honor would Heaven Dou Empire have left?

160: Dai Mubai is confused and confused

“That’s right, what Tang San said is true. I am the Prince of the Star Luo Empire, Dai Mubai.”

Dai Mubai stepped forward and admitted his identity, “And Zhu Zhuqing is my fiancée...”

Ma Hongjun was shocked: “Boss Dai, are you really a Prince?”

Oscar also found it incredible: “No wonder you’re so rich, always able to find different sets of twins.”

Mu Tian did not speak, simply staying inconspicuous and quietly observing.

Zhu Zhuqing’s expression darkened as she said, “I have never acknowledged him as my future husband. From childhood to adulthood, I’ve barely seen him a few times. It’s only because my Hell Civet and his White Tiger have a connection, enabling them to use a Martial Soul Fusion Skill, that I was designated as his fiancée.”

For Zhu Zhuqing, there was no affection between her and Dai Mubai, only shared interests.

In the original work, Zhu Zhuqing’s attitude towards Dai Mubai changed after their Martial Soul Fusion.

A Martial Soul Fusion Skill can make two people appreciate each other. Unless they are biological siblings born of the same parents, or of the same gender, there’s a high probability that a man and a woman will end up together.

This is also why Tang San and Huo Wu had a Spirit connection but never thought of testing it—he didn't want his own will to be influenced by the so-called “Martial Soul Fusion.”

However, Martial Soul Fusion Skills are indeed very rare. Even the fusion between a White Tiger and a Hell Civet isn't guaranteed for every White Tiger Spirit with every Hell Civet Spirit.

Otherwise, the Dai Family and Zhu Family of the Star Luo Empire would only need to vigorously procreate. At that point, both men and women could use Martial Soul Fusion Skills, and Spirit Hall would have to admit defeat.

“Zhu Zhuqing, no matter what, I am still your fiancé.” Dai Mubai’s tone deepened, unimpressed by Zhu Zhuqing’s rebuttal, “Do you think I don’t want to defeat my elder brother?”

“Before I came to find you, did you even try to cultivate diligently?” Zhu Zhuqing said coldly, “Whoring around is what you always do.”

“What’s wrong with a man having three wives and four concubines?” Dai Mubai also grew angry. They hadn't yet performed a Martial Soul Fusion, and while there was a connection between them, it wasn't deep. Therefore, Dai Mubai's patience with her was very limited.

“Nothing is wrong, but your self-degradation makes me see no hope.” Zhu Zhuqing gave no quarter in her words.

“Alright, if you want to argue, go outside and argue. Don’t make a spectacle of yourselves in front of others.” Flender stopped the two, his eyes filled with helplessness—Shrek only accepts monsters, not trash. If there’s a chance to establish it again in the future, children with problematic backgrounds shouldn’t be admitted, or there will be endless troubles.

“My apologies, Dean Flender, I see it’s getting late. I plan to take the children and depart for the Star Luo Empire.”

Qin Ming very much hoped that the teachers and students of Shrek would join Heaven Dou Royal Academy, and with just a word from Flender, he would even withdraw from Heaven Dou Royal Academy for it. But he was currently the leader taking the Heaven Dou Team to visit Star Luo Royal Academy and was responsible for Heaven Dou Royal Academy. “Dean, I can ask the members of the Star Luo Royal Team on behalf of Dai Mubai and Zhu Zhuqing to see what their thoughts are.”

“I have another idea,” Tang San suggested. “We could let Dai Mubai and Zhu Zhuqing come with us to the Star Luo Empire to take a look.”

“What? I’m not going back!” Dai Mubai immediately refused. He had finally managed to escape, and if he went back, his good elder brother would definitely watch him even more closely, and then there would truly be no hope of survival.

If he stayed here, even if he failed the competition in the end, he would still have a chance to find a remote town in a deep mountain... a secluded town, live anonymously, and survive.

The Douluo Continent is so vast; as long as he didn’t return to the Star Luo Empire, the Star Luo Imperial Family couldn’t be too presumptuous within Heaven Dou territory. If he encountered people coming to hunt him down, he would also have a chance to fight back and kill them.

“How should I put this? Perhaps when it comes to the selection of the Crown Prince and Emperor of the Star Luo Empire, I might know more than you, the Prince.”

Tang San pushed up the detection glasses on his nose, “If your good elder brother truly wanted to kill you, it would be a miracle that you managed to escape from the Star Luo Empire.”

“At the very least, when you go back, your elder brother will at most mock you; he won’t cripple you, and your cultivation resources won’t be reduced.”

“Continuing to stay here, the gap between you and your elder brother will only keep widening... The feeling you give me now is that you don’t even have the courage to face your elder brother. With you like this, even if you rely on the power of Heaven Dou Royal Academy, and rely on our power, what achievements can you make in the future?”

Tang San’s words convinced Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng agreed, and even Qin Ming thought they made sense.

If Dai Mubai didn’t even have the courage to face Dai Weisi, what was there to talk about competition? He should just find a place to live in seclusion sooner. He was not suitable to become a Spirit Master who could stand on his own, let alone become a ruler of a nation.

On Shrek Academy’s side, Flender also hadn’t expected Dai Mubai to be so afraid of his elder brother that he didn’t even dare to go back for a visit.

He had heard about the competition for the Star Luo Empire’s throne before. Although it was cruel, it was definitely not about torturing the weak... Dai Mubai’s current performance was like a scared, sick cat, completely lacking the courage to confront Dai Weisi head-on.

“I can go with you to the Star Luo Empire, but you must guarantee that my sister won’t kill me.” Zhu Zhuqing, however, had made up her mind and was prepared to return to the Star Luo Empire with Tang San and the others.

At least, she had the courage to face her sister.

“Why would you think your sister wants to kill you? Did she dislike you from a young age?” Tang San asked.

“No, before I was six, my sister was very good to me. It was only after I awakened my Spirit and had a Spirit connection with Dai Mubai that my sister’s attitude towards me worsened. For five or six years, her attitude got progressively worse. I didn’t understand why until I was nine—she was afraid I would snatch her future position as Empress.”

Zhu Zhuqing gritted her teeth, “Dai Mubai is unreliable. I can only rely on myself now.”

Dai Mubai’s expression was grim, but at this moment, he found it difficult to refute anything.

And seeing Dai Mubai remain silent, Zhu Zhuqing’s face showed a hint of despair... She had said those things just now only to provoke him, but his current attitude, like a dead pig unafraid of boiling water, truly disappointed her.

He would never win against Dai Weisi!

She couldn't continue to waste time with Dai Mubai; she had to think of another solution...

...

Ultimately, only Zhu Zhuqing accompanied the Heaven Dou Royal First Team to the Star Luo Empire. Dai Mubai, in the end, lacked the decisiveness and courage to get on the carriage, merely standing outside Nuoding City, watching the royal carriage led by Qin Ming depart.

“Mubai, you really need to think carefully about why you cultivate,” Flender said sternly to Dai Mubai. “I only realized today that you’re a bit muddled.”

“I’ll pay attention in the future, Dean,” Dai Mubai said in a deep voice.

“Alas~”

Flender sighed inwardly, knowing that Dai Mubai hadn’t taken his words to heart and would likely still be half-hearted during his cultivation in the future.

“Teacher, you don’t have to be so sad, do you? Look on the bright side, we don’t have to go to the Star Dou Great Forest to help Zhu Zhuqing hunt Spirit Beasts anymore.” Ma Hongjun spoke without thinking.

“How in the world did I take you as my disciple?” Flender, enraged, picked up Ma Hongjun and headed towards Shrek Academy, preparing to give the chubby boy a good lesson.

“Dean, I was wrong! I won’t be gay!”

“I won’t either!”

It’s not a problem for a man to have three wives and four concubines...

These words were actually spoken by Zhu Zhuqing in the original work. Being born into royalty, she must have been accustomed to such matters and wouldn’t mind how many wives or concubines a man had; she just hated Dai Mubai for not living up to expectations. Changing it slightly here to have Dai Mubai say it doesn’t really pose a big problem.

By the way, regarding Oscar, some people say he was a virgin like Tang San in the original work, but in reality, the original description of him was also that of a promiscuous guy. He only reined it in after falling for Ning Rongrong. For details, please refer to the original work: Chapter 579, Oscar’s lewd Seventh Spirit Ability, where he and Dai Mubai exposed each other’s secrets and played around no less than Dai Mubai did.

Note—

The character roster has been updated. In the author’s eyes, Old Jack, Su Yuntao, Ma Xiunuo, and others are also protagonists in their respective lives, so the “Male Protagonist” tag has been added.

161: Thousand-year-level dark demon evil tiger

In the carriage, Zhu Zhuqing's body trembled slightly, almost imperceptibly. She was extremely apprehensive about returning to the Star Luo Empire. It was a mix of confusion about the unknown and fear of death.

Having escaped from the Star Luo Empire, she was actually very afraid of her sister. But now, she had to go back... Honestly, Zhu Zhuqing was already starting to regret it.

Noticing her trembling, Huo Wu asked with concern, "Very nervous?"

"Mm," Zhu Zhuqing nodded, a little uneasy. "I don't even know if I'll be directly imprisoned by my sister when I go back, to completely eliminate the possibility of Dai Mubai competing with Davis."

"That's impossible," Tang San shook his head and stated his opinion. "The royal struggle in the Star Luo Empire hopes to cultivate a powerful Youming White Tiger, not just an ordinary tiger king who wins by crushing opponents."

"Do you have any proof?" Zhu Zhuqing suddenly looked up, staring at Tang San, hoping he could give her a definite answer.

"Before you came to the Heaven Dou Empire to find Dai Mubai, how was your sister towards you?" Tang San spoke slowly, building suspense, which instinctively relaxed Zhu Zhuqing a little.

"Very bad, she almost wished I was dead." Zhu Zhuqing recalled her time in the family. Whenever Zhu Zhuyun had free time, she would almost always come to mock and taunt her, as if it was her pleasure.

Moreover, their parents at home didn't care, seeming to be happy to see it.

Sometimes, Zhu Zhuqing felt that she was not as free and happy as ordinary people, at least ordinary people were happy as long as they had three meals a day.

"Then, besides your sister's thought that she almost wished you were dead, were there any actual means of oppression? Besides the heavy blows during sparring sessions with your sister, did she poison you, or not give you food, or prevent you from obtaining cultivation resources?" Tang San asked.

...No."

She had to admit, besides striking hard when fighting her, Zhu Zhuyun would only mock and taunt her during normal times. In terms of resources, she had never lacked them.

And the so-called heavy blows were injuries that could heal in a day. Although painful, they were not serious injuries that damaged muscles or bones.

Perhaps Zhu Zhuyun still remembered their sisterly affection from the past, or maybe, just as Tang San said, the Star Luo Empire needed to cultivate a "Youming White Tiger" to make the Star Luo Empire stronger, not just an ordinary tiger king.

But even so, Dai Mubai still wouldn't survive. As Dai Mubai's fiancée... if Zhu Zhuyun still had some old affection, she might be able to live and become one of Davis's future consorts—although the Martial Soul Fusion between male and female parties would make them extremely in love, as a prince (future emperor), Davis would definitely have three palaces and six courtyards to produce more offspring, preparing for the next generation's competition.

If Zhu Zhuyun didn't remember their past sisterly affection, then she could only be buried with Dai Mubai.

"Do you want to live? Or do you hope to compete for the position of future empress?" Tang San continued to ask.

"Do you think I'm the kind of woman who craves power?" Zhu Zhuqing asked with a cold look.

"Sorry, I didn't mean it that way, I just wanted to see what your thoughts are..." Tang San apologized for what he had just said, then continued, "If you just want to live, it's actually very simple, just break off the engagement with Dai Mubai."

"Breaking off the engagement is indeed a good idea, but it's not something I can decide." Zhu Zhuqing shook her head. "My martial soul has a connection with his, and we naturally possess a Martial Soul Fusion Skill."

"Regarding Martial Soul Fusion Skills, I actually have some research, although it's only theoretical—"

Tang San stated his view, "I've seen your Nether Cat martial soul before. Its speed is indeed very fast, but I think the core ability of your martial soul is not speed, but the darkness attribute. The words 'Nether' already hint at this."

"The White Tiger carries a bit of light attribute, and the Nether Cat carries a bit of darkness attribute. The reason they can perform Martial Soul Fusion, besides both being felines, is most likely the balance between the light and darkness attributes, allowing them to attract each other."

"Just like magnets, like poles repel, and opposite poles attract."

"The elements of light and darkness are also like this, but there's still a slight difference. As long as this balance is broken, the martial soul connection between you and Dai Mubai will likely disappear."

The White Tiger martial soul carries a bit of light element, which can be seen from its second soul skill: White Tiger Fierce Light Wave, but the light attribute is definitely not too strong.

As for the Nether Cat martial soul, the word 'Nether' already indicates the characteristics of the Nether Cat. In terms of attributes, the Nether Cat's darkness attribute is even stronger than the White Tiger's light attribute, or rather, its characteristics are more prominent. Otherwise, this martial soul should have been directly named "Spirit Cat" instead of Nether Cat.

In Tang San's opinion, as long as Zhu Zhuqing fully utilizes the darkness attribute of her martial soul, causing the light and darkness connection between her and the White Tiger martial soul to become unbalanced, the Martial Soul Fusion Skill will naturally disappear.

In this way, Dai Mubai would directly lose his competitive ability.

The "one mountain cannot tolerate two tigers" competition in the Star Luo Empire is not about hoping for the strong to crush the weak, but hoping for the two tigers to fight and produce the strongest one.

And Dai Mubai, having lost Zhu Zhuqing as a fusion accessory, would directly lose his competitive ability.

After all, it's impossible for every generation of the Star Luo Empire to be so lucky as to produce two pairs of "White Tigers" and "Nether Cats" that can fuse.

Dai Mubai, without competitive ability, as long as he doesn't covet the throne, with Davis's personality, he probably wouldn't completely eliminate him. After all, the Star Luo Empire still has the White Tiger Sect, and the martial souls of its members are all White Tigers. Tang San doesn't believe that none of them are imperial relatives.

And Zhu Zhuqing, having lost the opportunity to perform Martial Soul Fusion with Dai Mubai, would also lose the opportunity to compete for the position of empress. Zhu Zhuyun's attitude towards her would likely change significantly.

Secondly, if Zhu Zhuqing maximizes her darkness attribute, her Nether Cat martial soul might not be inferior to the White Tiger. At that time, she might be cultivated by the family elders to become the next clan head of the Zhu family.

If Zhu Zhuqing is indeed cultivated as the next clan head of the Zhu family, then Zhu Zhuyun will definitely try to strengthen her relationship with Zhu Zhuqing again.

One a future empress, one a future Zhu family clan head. They are biological sisters, related by blood, and have no conflict of interest with each other.

As long as Zhu Zhuyun is mentally sound, she will not further intensify the contradictions and conflicts between them.

As for the engagement between Zhu Zhuqing and Dai Mubai...

If Martial Soul Fusion cannot be achieved, there's no need to talk about the engagement. Moreover, historically, many women of the Zhu family have been empresses and consorts of the Dai Family. Although they are subordinate to the Dai Family, over the years, they have definitely established connections with many large and small families in the Star Luo Empire and hold significant influence.

As long as Zhu Zhuqing demonstrates her talent, breaking off the engagement is not impossible.

After all, it was Dai Mubai who first fled from the Star Luo Empire.

Zhu Zhuqing was stunned after hearing Tang San's analysis. She had never thought it could be like this.

If she lost the Martial Soul Fusion connection with Dai Mubai, she might really be able to survive. Dai Mubai, having lost his competitive ability, also has a greater chance of survival.

It could be said that she actually saved Dai Mubai's life.

As long as he doesn't seek death in the future by trying to regain the throne.

"Then, for my third soul ring, which kind of soul beast should I choose?" Zhu Zhuqing wanted to give it a try. Even if Tang San's guess was wrong, if her martial soul could unleash its darkness attribute, she would have a greater chance of survival.

At least, Dai Mubai was definitely unreliable. Following him would only lead to death. But if she showed another talent of the Nether Cat, there was a high probability that her family would no longer pressure her.

"Any soul beast based on the darkness attribute will do," Tang San said. "Of course, for beast martial souls, it's best to absorb the soul ring of a soul beast of the same attribute as the martial soul, as beast martial souls also emphasize bloodline power."

"For example, Yu Tianheng here, he is a member of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family. Every one of his soul rings has the lightning attribute, but if possible, he would definitely choose a dragon-type soul beast with the lightning attribute. It's just that dragon-types are rare, and even sub-dragons are uncommon."

Yu Tianheng laughed, "That's right. Our family's soul ring choices all need to have the lightning attribute. Secondly, they should be dragon-types... Originally, the dragon-type requirement should be the primary one, but the problem is that soul beasts with dragon bloodline on the continent are hard to find, and even sub-dragon types are not easy to find."

"But even so, Tianheng is still very strong." Tang San nodded at Yu Tianheng, then continued to Zhu Zhuqing, "If you don't consider the bloodline power of the Spirit cat, then choose soul beasts with the darkness attribute for every soul ring in the future, and you will definitely be able to display the true form of the Nether Cat."

Zhu Zhuqing pondered, "Can you give me a few options?"

"Shadow Crow. This soul beast has extremely rich dark elements and can move and sneak in the darkness. The soul beast encyclopedia records that a thousand-year-level Shadow Crow can make a Soul Saint who is not skilled in spiritual power unable to detect its presence."

Tang San mentioned the first type of soul beast, "If you obtain its soul ring, in addition to awakening the darkness attribute of your Nether Cat, you can also conceal your figure. Combined with your first and second soul skills, you can kill people invisibly, greatly increasing your assassination ability. And since others will find it difficult to detect you, your reconnaissance ability will also be greatly improved."

"At the same time, the Shadow Crow's speed is also extremely fast. Although it flies with wings, this speed will passively be added to your Nether Cat."

Zhu Zhuqing thought for a moment and felt it was feasible.

Darkness awakening, concealment that even a Soul Saint finds hard to detect, and speed enhancement.

Regardless of which ability she gains, it will make her stronger.

Especially the power of darkness and strong concealment ability, which can make her a killer in the darkness.

"The second type is the death Dark Lizard. This soul beast is also based on darkness but carries the wind attribute. Absorbing its soul ring can also bring you a wind attribute enhancement, making you faster."

Tang San continued, "The third type is the Dark Night Star Spirit, a soul beast similar to a firefly. Although ostensibly, this soul beast cannot provide any offensive soul skills, according to my speculation, the darkness origin of this soul beast is very rich and easy to control. If you absorb the soul ring of a Dark Night Star Spirit, not only can your darkness ability awaken, but you can also gain an auxiliary cultivation skill that helps absorb the power of darkness."

"This can accelerate your control over dark elements. Subtly, it might allow your Nether Cat to evolve and also increase your soul power cultivation speed."

"Choosing the Dark Night Star Spirit means giving up an offensive skill in exchange for increased cultivation speed and martial soul evolution."

"I estimate that if you choose this soul ring, you might become a Soul King before the age of twenty."

Martial soul evolution and increased cultivation speed?

A sharp glint flashed in Zhu Zhuqing's eyes.

Also, she could become a Soul King before the age of twenty?

As long as she becomes a Soul King, shows her cultivation talent, and has no conflict of interest with her sister, wouldn't her chance of survival be even greater?

"A Soul King at twenty?" Yu Feng said exaggeratedly, "That's too terrifying, right?"

"What's there to be so surprised about? I can also become a Soul King around twenty," Huo Wu said, putting her hands on her hips, quite confidently.

"That's right, I can become a Soul King before I'm fifteen," Xiao Wu also chimed in.

Yu Feng: "....."

Everyone around him was a monster. He felt like he couldn't keep up. Would he be kicked out of the Heaven Dou Royal First Team in the future?

"Thank you," Zhu Zhuqing thanked Tang San. She wasn't the indecisive type; once she made up her mind, she would act. Since Dai Mubai was unreliable, making herself stronger was the only option.

Afterward, Guang Ling and Tang San discussed the Creation of soul guidance devices.

At this point, the others didn't quite understand.

Things like how combining wind attribute soul guidance patterns and fire attribute soul guidance patterns could produce a greater effect...

Things like shape design, mechanical structure design...

They felt their brains were too dull and they couldn't understand any of it.

Xiao Wu knew a little, but she wasn't interested in researching soul guidance devices. In the future, if Third Brother and Guang Ling created novel soul guidance devices, she could just use them.

Huo Wu also had some impression of this, knowing that Tang San and Guang Ling were discussing the twelve basic soul guidance patterns obtained from deep within the Infinite Desert.

It's just that she didn't understand either.

However, she believed that with Tang San's wisdom, it was possible he could reproduce the method for creating non-living soul guidance devices in the world.

In the blink of an eye, seven days passed quietly.

Everyone had already entered the Star Luo Empire territory and stopped in a Hunting Spirit Forest called the 'Dark Shadow Forest'.

Besides Zhu Zhuqing, Dugu Yan had also cultivated to level 40 within these seven days and needed a soul ring. Moreover, the Zhu She Grass that Tang San mentioned preferred shade, and perhaps it could also be found in this Dark Shadow Forest.

So, Qin Ming decided to help Dugu Yan and Zhu Zhuqing obtain the soul rings they needed.

“Why is the town outside this Dark Shadow Forest so far from the forest?” Yu Feng asked in confusion.

“This, I'm not sure either,” Qin Ming said, indicating that this was his first time leading a team here. The last time he led the previous graduating class, they came by the main road and he wasn't very familiar with the situation here.

“Zhu Qing, what do you say?” Xiao Wu asked. In the past seven days, being the most lively among them, she had chatted a lot with Zhu Zhuqing, and their relationship had become much closer.

Zhu Zhuqing had also become much more cheerful, which proved that as long as it wasn't influenced from a young age, most girls weren't suited to stay in places with only boys. They needed the company of friends of the same sex to become more cheerful.

“The Dark Shadow Forest is a wild soul beast forest that hasn't been fully controlled by humans. Although its area is far less than the Star Dou Great Forest, there are also ten-thousand year level soul beasts inside.”

As a Star Luo citizen, Zhu Zhuqing, even if not fully understanding the soul beast forests within the Star Luo Empire, had memorized most of the relevant information.

“There are Ten-thousand year soul beasts?” Qin Ming was a little wary. After all, some Ten-thousand year soul beasts were difficult for even title douluo to handle, such as ten-thousand year Titan Giant Ape and the like.

“As far as I know, there aren't many Ten-thousand year soul beasts inside, only about five,” Zhu Zhuqing said. “Once these five Ten-thousand year soul beasts are hunted or die for other reasons, this Dark Shadow Forest will gradually approach the type of Hunting Spirit Forest jointly controlled by the Empire and the Spirit Hall.”

This was the origin of those controlled Hunting Spirit Forests on the continent!

Wild soul beast forest → Explored by humans → Due to hunting by human soul masters, Ten-thousand year soul beasts gradually die or migrate → Trees are cut down, settlements are built → Forest scale shrinks → Only thousand-year and hundred-year soul beasts remain → Finally controlled by humans.

“Only five? That's not too bad, we just need to avoid the central area,” Qin Ming relaxed a little. He led everyone to the town first, bought maps and a manual for entering the Dark Shadow Forest, as well as some local insect repellent, just in case.

After entering the Dark Shadow Forest, the ground was full of dead branches and rotten leaves, looking very damp.

The tree canopy overhead was very lush, allowing little sunlight to penetrate, making the environment inside the forest very dark.

The name 'Dark Shadow' came from this.

According to the map, Qin Ming and the others spent half a day finding the location of the Zhu She Grass.

The Zhu She Grass looked no different from a snake, except its whole body was stiff and woody, and there was a bead contained within its 'snake head', which was very peculiar.

“The bead inside this Zhu She Grass's fruit has eight dark green patterns, indicating that it has reached eight thousand years,” Tang San judged the age of this Zhu She Grass.

“This is Zhu She Grass? It's my first time seeing it. If you hadn't mentioned it beforehand, I would have thought it was a real snake,” Dugu Yan held a dagger and walked behind the Zhu She Grass, carefully cutting its root.

“However, I can withstand an eight-thousand year Zhu She Grass. My grandpa gave me three thousand-year level whale jelly the size of a baby's fist, so my physique should have been strengthened quite a bit.”

Before reaching ten thousand years, plant soul beasts cannot move, and Zhu She Grass was the same.

And Zhu She Grass is a parasitic plant that parasitizes snake soul beasts. The moment it was cut off, the whole plant broke apart, revealing dense roots inside.

A purple soul ring emerged from the Zhu She Grass's fruit and floated in front of Dugu Yan.

After adjusting her state, Dugu Yan used her soul power to guide the soul ring and began absorbing it.

An hour later, Dugu Yan woke up. Her light green hair had turned black again, and she looked very refreshed and energetic.

“My fourth soul skill is indeed a support system soul skill for cultivation. It can condense the martial soul's toxins into a pill bead, stored about three inches below the navel, and construct a soul power circulation route similar to how Zhu She Grass parasitizes snakes. When meditating and cultivating, it can greatly increase the speed at which I refine world energy.”

However, what surprised Dugu Yan even more was that the soul ring from this Zhu She Grass actually solved her family's martial soul toxin problem and even turned the martial soul toxin into her aid.

It's a shame about Grandpa...

Perhaps Tang San also had a way to cure her grandpa, after all, Tang San had extensive research on martial souls.

“Yanyan, congratulations.”

Yu Tianheng didn't know about Dugu Yan's family's inherited toxin, but learning that his girlfriend's cultivation speed had increased because of this soul ring also made him happy.

For a proud son of heaven from a large family like him, one or two attack soul skills didn't mean much. The strengthening of the martial soul's inherent attributes and rapid breakthroughs to higher realms were the true path.

“I'm also level 41 now, and with my cultivation speed increasing, maybe I'll reach soul king before you in the future,” Dugu Yan found that the pill bead created by her fourth soul skill, with the martial soul toxin combined with soul power, also had a strengthening effect on her martial soul. Accumulating over time, her Bi Lin Snake might evolve into a Bi Lin Snake emperor.

“I won't concede,” Yu Tianheng laughed heartily, but inwardly he planned to cultivate even harder. Otherwise, if his girlfriend surpassed him, others might say he was a moocher in the future.

Next, it was time to help Zhu Zhuqing find a suitable soul beast for her.

Half an hour later, they found traces of a Dark Night Starlight Spirit.

“Good luck, this is a Dark Night Starlight Spirit of about four thousand years... Zhu Qing, can you withstand it?” Tang San judged the age of the Dark Night Starlight Spirit, which looked like a firefly, and asked Zhu Zhuqing.

“Yes, I've taken whale jelly. My second soul ring was about nine hundred years, and I estimate I can withstand five thousand years for my third soul ring,” Zhu Zhuqing was a little disappointed that this Dark Night Starlight Spirit was young, but she didn't intend to be picky.

Four thousand years was also good.

However, just as Qin Ming was about to make a move to capture the Dark Night Starlight Spirit with the black glowing organ underneath, a three-meter-long black giant tiger pounced on the Dark Night Starlight Spirit, bit it into pieces, and devoured it in large gulps, as if it didn't care about Qin Ming, a soul emperor, at all.

A black body, purple patterns, a pair of black wings on its back, and a tail that looked like a scorpion's tail.

This is—

“Dark Demon Evil God Tiger!”

Tang San exclaimed, attracting the attention of the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger that was gnawing on the Dark Night Starlight Spirit. But the other party didn't move immediately, still leisurely eating its prey, only a hint of mockery appeared in its eyes as it looked at Tang San and the others.

“Dark Demon Evil God Tiger? What kind of soul beast is that? Is it also a darkness attribute soul beast?” Zhu Zhuqing's focus was different. “It's a tiger type, wouldn't it be more suitable for my nether cat?”

“Indeed, in terms of suitability, this Dark Demon Evil God Tiger is more suitable than the soul beasts I mentioned before,” Tang San's eyes flickered. “However, we might not be able to hunt it.”

Qin Ming didn't understand, “Why can't we hunt it? This tiger looks to be only about three thousand years old, right?”

“Yes, looking at its size, it's probably only three thousand years of cultivation, but I suspect its age might be less than three years,” Tang San explained to everyone, “The Dark Demon Evil God Tiger, according to legend, is a soul beast descended upon by an Evil God. It possesses evil, darkness, lightning, wind, space, and even time attributes. It is a super soul beast.”

“There are very few records about it, but one thing is certain, this kind of soul beast is even stronger than the Titan Giant Ape.”

“A hundred-year level Titan Giant Ape can contend with ordinary Ten-thousand year soul beasts, while a hundred-year level Dark Demon Evil God Tiger can crush a hundred-year Titan Giant Ape!”

“Not to mention, this one has three thousand years of cultivation. I estimate it can even escape from the pursuit of a Ten-thousand year soul beast.”

A hundred years can contend with ten thousand years, a thousand years can escape from under a Ten-thousand year soul beast.

What kind of super soul beast is this?

Now, Qin Ming realized the seriousness of the problem, cold sweat seeping from his forehead, “No wonder it dared to eat prey in front of us, it turns out it doesn't care about me, a soul emperor, at all.”

“Let's retreat,” Tang San said.

However, as soon as everyone retreated, the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger stopped eating, emitted a powerful aura, and let out a roar, as if it had targeted them as prey.

“It seems it has already taken us as prey,” Tang San released his martial soul and soul rings. The soul rings, one yellow, two purple, and one black, shocked Zhu Zhuqing, who was seeing Tang San's soul ring combination for the first time, but this was not the time to lament how outstanding the other party was.

If they didn't deal with the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger in front of them, they would all die.

“Does this kind of soul beast have a weakness?” Qin Ming asked.

“It has the same weaknesses that tigers have,” Tang San was extremely nervous, “However, I suggest, if possible, cut off its tail, that scorpion tail.”

Although he didn't know if a three-thousand year level Dark Demon Evil God Tiger possessed the ability to open a life-and-death arena, caution was the mother of safety. If there was a chance, they must destroy the key to opening its life-and-death arena.

“Tail?”

Qin Ming nodded and rushed forward first, wanting to test just how strong this Dark Demon Evil God Tiger was.

Tang San immediately unleashed Endless Grassland. Countless Blue Silver Emperor vines emerged, providing cover for everyone present while also entangling towards the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger.

Then, he used his second soul skill, positive and negative buff, applying a golden sun positive buff ring to all his teammates and a silver moon negative buff ring to the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger.

Sensing that all their attributes had been boosted by more than forty percent, everyone was shocked and also understood why Tang San called himself a support system.

Judging by the effect of his soul skills, Tang San really was a support system!

Lan Yinzi also released her Blue Silver Emperor, cooperating with Tang San's Endless Grassland, and used her First Soul Skill: Lan Yin Seed, and her second soul skill: blue silver net.

The entanglement ability of the blue silver net was stronger than Tang San directly controlling the Blue Silver Emperor to entangle. With the combined enhancement of the two, the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger, being careless, was actually unable to break free for a moment.

“Fifth Soul Skill: Howling Sky Blazing Break!”

Qin Ming, who was possessed by the Blazing Sky Wolf, used his fifth soul skill and had already arrived in front of the temporarily restrained Dark Demon Evil God Tiger. His right paw was wrapped in black flames and struck towards its head.

Boom!

Instantly, a huge shock erupted, the Blue Silver Emperor vines at the explosion point snapped one after another, and Qin Ming's figure flew backward, his right hand trembling slightly, looking at the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger in disbelief.

His fifth soul skill had only scratched five shallow wounds on the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger's face?

You should know, an ordinary Ten-thousand year soul beast, taking such a blow from him, would either die or be severely injured, unable to get up again.

But this Dark Demon Evil God Tiger before him only suffered superficial wounds?

"Roar!"

The Dark Demon Evil God Tiger roared and lunged at Qin Ming. Its speed was so fast that even he, a Soul Emperor, almost couldn't react in time.

"Lan Yin Cutting Array!"

Lan Yinzi immediately used her third soul skill. Countless Blue Silver Emperor grew out, like sharp swords, continuously stabbing towards the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger.

Tang San raised his hand and waved. The damaged Blue Silver Emperor grew again, pulling the hind legs of the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger.
"Attack its backdoor."

"No problem!" Lan Yinzi's eyes lit up. She controlled the Lan Yin Cutting Array to stab towards the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger's anus and reproductive organs.

"Roar~"

A tragic roar sounded.

Even though this was a super soul beast, certain parts were not indestructible.

However, that tail, the Evil God Hook, was indeed extremely tough. Lan Yinzi's third soul skill, Lan Yin Cutting Array, couldn't cut it off at all.

"Huo Wu!" Tang San seized the opportunity and shouted at Huo Wu.

"Already prepared!" Huo Wu, in her Fire Sun Armor, had already merged with the Sun Goddess. In her hand, she condensed her third soul skill: Fire Dance Bright Sun.

From that golden-red halo, a ball of flames shot out towards the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger. The powerful destructive force caused the Blue Silver Emperor along the way to be directly extinguished.

Facing this attack, the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger's pupils contracted.

It felt threatened.

So, it raised its Evil God Tail Hook. A ball of black lightning condensed on it, striking towards the beam of light unleashed by Huo Wu.

Boom!

Instantly, light and darkness collided, flames and lightning surged. The massive energy formed an energy ball with a diameter of over twenty meters, continuously destroying everything around it.

"Disperse!" Tang San roared. He used the Blue Silver Emperor to pull everyone's bodies, including Huo Wu who had just released her third soul skill, and quickly retreated outwards.

Buzz—

The two colliding energy masses finally exploded, destroying the forest area within a fifty-meter radius. A huge mushroom cloud rose into the sky, showcasing the power of the explosion just now.

If they had stayed in the center, none of them would have survived.

"That Dark Demon Evil God Tiger should be dead, right?" Yu Tianheng shouted at Tang San. "I've never seen such an outrageous soul beast. Just a thousand years old and it can unleash such a powerful energy attack."

"This is my first time seeing it too," Tang San replied.

"Roar!"

Suddenly, a strong wind blew, and the mushroom cloud, about twenty meters high, dispersed. The figure of the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger reappeared in everyone's sight.

Compared to before, the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger was much more miserable this time. Except for its wings and the Evil God Tail Hook, its fur was almost completely scorched, emitting wisps of heat.

However, everyone present dared not underestimate this battered tiger.

Zzzzt!

Black lightning flashed around the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger, striking towards Tang San and the others.

"Defense!"

Tang San raised both hands, and countless Blue Silver Emperor rose, forming shields to protect everyone. Lan Yinzi also used her second soul skill, forming a Blue Silver Net to cover Tang San's shields, resisting the power of the black lightning together.

However, the lightning seemed to be just for show. It only caused some scorching when it hit the Blue Silver Emperor.

"Could it be that this Dark Demon Evil God Tiger is out of strength?" Huo Wu guessed.

"Something feels wrong..." Just as Tang San finished speaking, he suddenly felt a huge suction force. His body involuntarily broke through the Blue Silver Emperor's blockade and was drawn towards a black void.

"What is that?" Qin Ming looked at the black hole that appeared in the sky, a chill running down his spine.

Life and death Arena!

Tang San's heart sank. His gaze noticed the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger's Evil God Hook flashing with gray light, and its body was covered with a layer of gray light film.

In the original work, the protagonist and the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger entered the Life and death Arena together and both reverted to their childhood state. However, that was because the layer of gray halo on the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger's body was shattered by the Purple Extreme Divine Light.

Otherwise, the protagonist would have had to face a ten-thousand year level Dark Demon Evil God Tiger in a six-year-old body!

That arena was inherently unfair!

And now, Tang San didn't have any Purple Extreme Divine Light. Even if everyone entered together this time, they would all revert to having only six-year-old strength, strength without soul rings. How could that strength be a match for this three-thousand year old Dark Demon Evil God Tiger?

Even if this Dark Demon Evil God Tiger was already severely injured.

Just as Tang San was thinking of a countermeasure, the suction force of the black hole in the sky suddenly intensified, tearing off the Blue Silver Emperor that was pulling everyone, and they were sucked in. And the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger also actively leaped in...

...

[Life and death Arena Activated!]

A layered and empty voice sounded. Everyone woke up, but found their whole bodies unable to move, controlled by an indescribable force.

"What is this place?"

"Wait, little kid? Who are you?"

"Who are you?"

"Huo Wu?"

.....

After their shock, everyone immediately realized that their bodies had shrunk, becoming about six years old.

Tang San said, "It seems the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger has brought us into a peculiar space. We've all reverted to our state at six years old."

Life and death Arena!

This place was definitely not created by the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger. At most, the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger controlled the key to opening this place and brought them in.

Otherwise, the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger would be a divine beast, not a soul beast.

"That's the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger!" Six-year-old Qin Ming saw the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger. It was right in front of them. Compared to before, the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger's injuries seemed to have recovered. At least the scorched fur had grown back, and its body size was still three meters long.

A three-thousand year level soul beast!

And it was a super soul beast that could contend with or even surpass ordinary Ten-thousand year soul beasts!

Even if there were many of them, their physical quality and soul power had regressed to the level of a six-year-old. They could still release their martial souls, but they didn't have a single soul ring or a single soul skill.

How could they fight?

[Welcome everyone to the Life and death Arena!]

[The competing parties are the soul beast: Dark Demon Evil God Tiger, and the humans: Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Huo Wu, Zhu Zhuqing, Yu Tianheng, Dugu Yan, Ye Lingling, Ning Rongrong, Bai Chenxiang, Yu Feng, Shi Mo, Shi Mo, Oslo, Lan Yinzi, Qin Ming!]

[Due to the excessive number of human participants, for fairness, you must form groups of two!]

[The human side please make the first group selection. Time: ten seconds. If not decided within ten seconds, it will be automatically assigned. Countdown begins now.]

[Ten]

[Nine]

"Isn't this just asking us to die?" Ning Rongrong burst out cursing, "Who the hell are you? Hurry up and let us out, otherwise my Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School won't spare you."

This place clearly wasn't created by the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger. It was probably created by someone. Therefore, Ning Rongrong wanted to threaten them, but the countdown continued.

[Eight]

[Seven]

"Don't waste your breath. To be able to make us revert to a six-year-old state, this is not something a human can do. Do you remember what I said before, that the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger was a soul beast descended upon by an Evil God?" Tang San stopped Ning Rongrong from shouting. "This place must be a forbidden space created by an existence that surpasses soul masters."

"The existence of this place perhaps proves that the legend of becoming a god at level hundred is indeed true."

Qin Ming sighed, "Indeed, this place is definitely not something humans can create, and it can even make us revert to when we were six years old. We should think about who will be in which group now?"

Connecting to the current situation, everyone fell silent.

Forming groups of two meant certain death!

How could they fight?

[Six]

"The guy who created this place, even if he's really a god, is definitely not a good god," Ning Rongrong grumbled.

"He's called an Evil God, how could he be a good god?"

Tang San made a small joke, then looked at Zhu Zhuqing, "Zhu Qing, you'll be in a group with me and go first."

Zhu Zhuqing was shocked, "Are you confident?"

"Yes, but—"

Tang San looked at the others, "You need to keep it a secret for now. Just keep it a secret for two years. After two years, it won't matter if my secret is known."

Qin Ming swore, "I swear on my martial soul, if I reveal your secret without your permission, my martial soul will shatter!"

The others followed suit.

After everyone finished swearing, the countdown in the Life and death Arena suddenly paused for a moment and a voice sounded: [Swearing in the land of divine inheritance, witnessed by the god, the oath is established! If violated, you will be punished!]

At this point, Qin Ming and the others were certain that this Life and death Arena was a place created by a god, and it was also some kind of inheritance land.

[Five]

[Four]

[Three]

"I'll be in a group with Tang San to fight the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger," Zhu Zhuqing shouted.

Instantly, the figures of Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and others disappeared from the arena and appeared in the surrounding audience seats. Only Tang San and Zhu Zhuqing remained on the field.

The Dark Demon Evil God Tiger also regained its ability to move at this time, looking at Tang San and Zhu Zhuqing playfully, its eyes full of mockery.

Clearly, the three-thousand year level Dark Demon Evil God Tiger already possessed intelligence no less than that of humans.

[Battle begins!]

[The winner will gain everything from the opponent!]

"What should I do?" Zhu Zhuqing's martial soul possessed her. Feeling the weak soul power of only level seven within her body, she couldn't help but feel nervous.

"Stand at the edge of the arena and just be responsible for dodging," Tang San instructed. "I will personally deal with this Dark Demon Evil God Tiger. The trump card I need you to swear to hide is no weaker than this Dark Demon Evil God Tiger."

After speaking, Tang San raised his left hand. A Clear Sky Hammer with purple patterns emerged. The Nine Haos pattern on the hammerhead still had four heads.

At least, this Life and death Arena could not restrain Nine Haos.

However, the only problem was that his current soul power was only level ten, but the ability of his soul bone could be used, and his soul power should be able to support the use of the Clear Sky Hammer.

"Is that the Clear Sky Hammer?" Qin Ming was shocked. "Tang San is actually a twin martial soul... Could he be a Clear Sky disciple who is living outside?"

"Third Brother isn't. He grew up in the small village of Holy Soul Village," Xiao Wu shook her head. "Moreover, Third Brother doesn't have any good feelings towards the Clear Sky Sect."

"Is that so?" Qin Ming realized that Tang San might be the illegitimate son of a certain Clear Sky disciple who passed through Holy Soul Village and had a romantic night. He grew up in a small village, so he wasn't as arrogant as the Clear Sky disciples and was more easygoing.

Wait, now is not the time to think about this!

Even if Tang San had the Clear Sky Hammer, without any soul rings, it would be impossible for him to defeat a thousand-year soul beast! Not to mention this soul beast was a super soul beast that was comparable to or even surpassed ordinary Ten-thousand year soul beasts!

Where did Tang San's confidence come from?

It wasn't said that there was only one Dark Demon Evil God Tiger.

Even if it was set that there was only one, then this three-thousand year old one could be the future ten-thousand year old one, after all, being descended upon by an Evil God, its ability to devour is extremely strong.

Chapter fifty-eight of this book also mentioned that the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger was only about a thousand years old at this time...

162: The god of fun, the god of gangsters and the god of part-time work in the divine world

Watching the dark demon Evil God tiger pounce over, Tang San jumped to the side, using the Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track, his agile movements allowing him to dodge the pounce.

Taking advantage of this opportunity, Tang San threw the haotian hammer in his hand, hitting the dark demon Evil God tiger's nose.

"Roar!"

Although it was a three-thousand-year-old dark demon Evil God tiger with astonishing defense, organs like the nose were still relatively fragile, and being struck by the haotian hammer naturally caused discomfort.

This strike was also Tang San's way of attracting attention, shifting the dark demon Evil God tiger's focus to him and abandoning its attack on Zhu Zhuqing.

As expected, after being hit, the dark demon Evil God tiger stared intently at Tang San, not even glancing at Zhu Zhuqing who stood at the edge of the arena.

"Intelligent, but not as good as humans." Tang San used the controlling crane capturing dragon technique to retrieve the haotian hammer that the dark demon Evil God tiger had knocked away, staring fixedly at the dark demon Evil God tiger.

Swish!

His Purple Demon Eyes clearly saw the dark demon Evil God tiger still in front, but Tang San sensed the wind and instinctively leaped to the side, then swung the haotian hammer behind him.

Thump!

A muffled collision sound rang out.

The dark demon Evil God tiger had already arrived at Tang San's original position, and Tang San's haotian hammer heavily struck the Evil God hook it had swung over.

But six-year-old Tang San, even with the enhancement of a hundred-thousand-year Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone, had no soul ring and only ten levels of soul power. His strength was no match for the three-thousand-year-old dark demon Evil God tiger, and his body was lighter, causing him to be sent flying backward instantly.

However, although his body and soul power had reverted to his six-year-old state, his control over soul power had not been lost. Tang San quickly adjusted his state, once again dodging the dark demon Evil God tiger's pounce, then delivered another hammer blow, and then was sent flying again.

It was just that as the number of times he was sent flying increased, Tang San's footwork became more and more stable. Each time he landed, he would rotate a full or half circle, accumulating strength and condensing it on the haotian hammer.

This was the chaotic cloak hammer technique that Tang San had improved upon during his six years as a blacksmith, relying on the principle of vibration!

"So powerful!" Yu Tianheng exclaimed, "Is this the power of the haotian hammer? To be able to contend with the dark demon Evil God tiger, it truly lives up to its reputation as a top-tier martial soul on par with the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon."

"No."

Huo Wu had a different opinion, "It's not the haotian hammer that's powerful, it's Tang San. Honestly, if your martial soul was the haotian hammer, would you have such agile footwork and the ability to borrow force to strike?"

Yu Tianheng said, "Is that the chaotic cloak hammer technique?"

"Not quite," Qin Ming shook his head, "Before I joined Heaven Dou Royal Academy, I went to Gengxin City. The Divine Craftsman Lou Gao there once demonstrated the movements of the chaotic cloak hammer technique for me. Although Tang San's technique also borrows force to strike, it's different from his."

"This is the hammer technique Third Brother himself improved upon after six years of blacksmithing. It doesn't just borrow force to strike; it mainly relies on vibration," Xiao Wu gave a simple explanation for everyone, "Every swing, besides borrowing and accumulating force, also utilizes the rebound force to temper the body..."

The Jade Bone Technique also drew inspiration from the method of vibration.

"As expected of the legendary Master, to be able to create such a self-created soul skill." Qin Ming didn't know about the Jade Bone Technique, but the hammer technique Tang San was using, which utilized vibration, was already eye-opening for him.

But.

This was far from enough.

Although the dark demon Evil God tiger couldn't catch Tang San, Tang San also found it difficult to inflict damage on the dark demon Evil God tiger.

The haotian hammer's attacks were completely ineffective!

Indeed!

The dark demon Evil God tiger realized how annoying Tang San was and condensed a layer of black lightning around its body.

Tang San's eyes narrowed. The moment his haotian hammer struck the dark demon Evil God tiger again, he instantly let go, preventing the lightning force with dark aura from entering his body through the haotian hammer.

His six-year-old body couldn't withstand the invasion of darkness and lightning.

However, the martial soul was still a part of his body. Even though Tang San let go of the haotian hammer, a trace of dark lightning force still invaded Tang San's body, stimulating all his hair to stand on end.

Immediately, his whole body was paralyzed, making it difficult to move.

"Tang San, are you okay?" Zhu Zhuqing ran up to Tang San, her eyes filled with worry.

"I'm fine, but I was a bit overconfident." Tang San looked at the dark demon Evil God tiger and saw a black lightning ball condensed at its tail, instantly shooting towards Tang San and Zhu Zhuqing, who were unable to dodge.

"But, I don't want to die yet!"

Tang San bit the tip of his tongue hard, using the painful sensation to forcibly clear his mind and regain control of his body. He pushed Zhu Zhuqing aside and raised his hand to block in front of him with the haotian hammer.

Sizzle!

The haotian hammer actually blocked the human-head-sized lightning ball energy, but Tang San was pushed to the edge of the arena.

The edge was an invisible wall, and Tang San couldn't fall off, so he could only endure it head-on.

Life and Death Arena, it's either Life or death!

"Third Brother!"

"Tang San!"

Amidst the exclamations of Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, Qin Ming, and others, the energy ball of lightning exploded, and a vast amount of energy swept across the entire arena. Tang San was completely engulfed by the energy, and Zhu Zhuqing was also knocked flying, her scalp splitting and red blood flowing out.

When the white light dissipated, Tang San was still standing in place, but his clothes and pants were all torn, his body was covered in cracks, and black lightning sparks were shooting out. His whole person looked as if he was about to explode at any moment.

At this moment, Tang San's mind was no longer clear.

Just as the dark demon Evil God tiger was about to pounce, the haotian hammer in Tang San's hand automatically moved his arm, and a strike slammed into the dark demon Evil God tiger's chin, sending it flying.

"Does Tang San still have that kind of strength?" Qin Ming exclaimed!

"Third Brother."

Xiao Wu and Guang Ling stared intently at Tang San, their eyes involuntarily becoming moist.

Zhu Zhuqing in the arena got up again, looking incredulously at the dark demon Evil God tiger that Tang San had sent flying.

At this time, Tang San also slowly stood up, holding the haotian hammer high in his hand. It emitted a purple light and made cracking sounds, actually splitting open.

No!

Not splitting!

It was transforming!

In the shocked eyes of everyone, the haotian hammer continuously enlarged and transformed, forming a giant metal dragon with four heads, covered in steel-like scales with haotian hammer-like patterns on them, its four limbs on the ground.

"What is this?" Ning Rongrong felt that the giant dragon transformed from Tang San's haotian hammer was a bit similar to Mu Tian's Three-Headed Hellfire Lizard, but it was more majestic and handsome. "Martial soul? Or beast martial soul?"

At this time, Qin Ming and the others couldn't explain it.

Yu Tianheng, however, said, "Some martial souls have both the characteristics of martial souls and beast martial souls. Perhaps Tang San's haotian hammer is also like this."

Guang Ling, as Tang San's disciple, also had some research on martial souls and speculated, "Maybe, martial souls evolved from beast martial souls, and those martial souls with characteristics of both are in the transitional stage of evolution."

"But, Third Brother, can he still hold on?"

At this moment, she wished she could go up and endure that pain for Tang San!

At this time, two of Nine Haos' four heads stretched out, picking up the half-conscious Tang San and Zhu Zhuqing, placing them on its back, and then its eight eyes emitted purple light. An extremely majestic voice resonated in the dark demon Evil God tiger's mind: "Who allowed you to touch my things?"

Thump!

Fear appeared in the dark demon Evil God tiger's eyes for the first time, and its massive body seemed to be suppressed by an invisible force, collapsing to the ground.

Then--

Crack! Crack!

The dark demon Evil God tiger's body continuously made sounds of bones breaking. It was already beyond help, on the verge of death.

At this time, Tang San also recovered under the effect of the Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone, and the purple light in Nine Haos' eyes instantly faded.

"Good opportunity!" Tang San noticed Nine Haos turning back and affectionately rubbing his cheek, then looked at the dying dark demon Evil God tiger, and instantly understood something—he had been saved by Austin Griffin.

But now was not the time to think about these things.

"Zhu Qing, the dark demon Evil God tiger's bones are all broken, and its Spirit has also been impacted. Hurry and kill it."

"Okay."

Zhu Zhuqing immediately took out a long sword from her storage soul tool, ran up to the dark demon Evil God tiger, stabbed the sword into the dark demon Evil God tiger's eye socket, and fiercely stirred its brain.

[Life and Death Arena ends, Zhu Zhuqing wins!]

[Life and Death Arena closes!]

As the ethereal voice sounded again, everything around them began to dissipate, and a white light appeared before everyone's eyes.

When everyone opened their eyes again, they were already back outside, and their shrunken bodies had returned to normal.

Tang San's injuries and torn clothes also reappeared, as if the previous Life and Death Arena was just a dream.

Feeling the vast soul power within his body, Tang San only felt it was so unreal—could a god arbitrarily strip away the soul power that human soul masters had painstakingly cultivated?

Was the Evil God one of the God Kings of the God Realm—the Evil God?

"That was truly thrilling!" Yu Feng patted his chest, "I never thought we would survive. It's all thanks to Tang San."

At this moment, everyone's eyes looked at Tang San, only to find that he was already embraced by Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling also hugged him... It could be said that he was enjoying the blessings of having multiple wives.

"Alright, no need to worry so much, aren't I fine?" Tang San patted their backs, signaling them to let go, then looked at Zhu Zhuqing, "Zhu Qing, go absorb the dark demon Evil God tiger's soul ring. There is probably no other soul beast's soul ring in this World that is more suitable than this dark demon Evil God tiger's."

"Okay, thank you." Zhu Zhuqing came back to her senses, the blush on her cheeks fleeting instantly. She began to adjust her state, and then started to draw the three-thousand-year soul ring of the dark demon Evil God tiger.

The moment the soul ring was attached to Zhu Zhuqing, who had her martial soul possessed, Zhu Zhuqing felt unprecedented pressure, as if this was not a three-thousand-year soul ring, but a ten-thousand-year soul ring.

However, this was ultimately just a thousand-year soul ring. Even though the dark demon Evil God tiger was exceptionally talented and could possess extremely strong spiritual power at a thousand years, in the Life and Death Arena, the dark demon Evil God tiger was scared witless by Nine Hao, and its Spirit had long since shattered.

Therefore, Zhu Zhuqing did not need to endure the tempering of soul shock.

But even so, absorbing this soul ring took Zhu Zhuqing nearly a day and a night, until the next morning, when Zhu Zhuqing completely absorbed the soul ring.

Compared to before, Zhu Zhuqing's appearance didn't change much, but her figure became more enchanting, her curves more prominent, and her eyes turned silver-gray, making her look even more captivating.

Rip!

Zhu Zhuqing's body trembled, her clothes on her back tore, and a pair of black wings and a tiger tail similar to the dark demon Evil God tiger's grew out from behind her waist, a total of nine sections, like crystal.

"External soul bone?" Huo Wu herself also had an external soul bone: Blazing Sun Feather Robe. She was extremely sensitive to external soul bones and realized that Zhu Zhuqing had obtained the greatest benefit from the dark demon Evil God tiger, "And two pieces!"

"No, only one piece. This should be an external spinal soul bone. The wings and tiger tail are integrated," Tang San corrected, "Perhaps, it can be called, Dark Demon Bone Armor."

Why such a name?

Because when this external soul bone was used, armor-like decorations similar to tiger bones spread from her back to her front, covering Zhu Zhuqing's vital areas.

"Can we talk about this later? How do I retract this external soul bone into my body? Also, do my clothes have to tear every time I use it?" Although Zhu Zhuqing was happy to have obtained an external soul bone, if she had to tear her clothes every time she used it, it would be too... embarrassing.

"Sorry, occupational habit... Retracting the external soul bone shouldn't be difficult. This is your body organ." Tang San stared intently at the Dark Demon Bone Armor, explaining to Zhu Zhuqing how to retract the external soul bone.

Zhu Zhuqing should not have fully refined this soul bone yet, but given the compatibility between the Nether Cat and the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger, it is estimated that it will take less than half a year to fully refine it and truly make it a part of her body.

After Zhu Zhuqing put away the Dark Demon Bone Armor, she immediately put on a white dress, and the blush on her face also faded. As for the others, the boys consciously turned away and did not peek.

"Did your third soul ring truly awaken your martial soul?" Tang San asked about the changes in Zhu Zhuqing's martial soul.

"Yes." Zhu Zhuqing raised her hand, and a black soul power vortex appeared in her palm, accompanied by cyan whirlwinds and blue lightning. "The dark attribute of the Nether Cat has truly awakened. Perhaps because I absorbed the soul ring of the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger, my martial soul now carries wind and lightning elements. As for space and time, I only have a very vague sense of them, or perhaps not at all. Maybe it's because I am too weak right now."

"My third soul skill is named Dark Demon Nether Transformation. After using it, I can increase my strength by over two hundred and thirty percent, with an increase in all attributes."

"Moreover, I feel that this soul skill can also improve as my soul power increases."

After learning about the effect of Zhu Zhuqing's third soul skill, Tang San couldn't help but marvel at the power of the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger and how perfectly it matched Zhu Zhuqing's Nether Cat.

In the original work, the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger was a complete waste on the protagonist, only increasing his soul power slightly.

"How about trying it out?" Xiao Wu wanted to see what Zhu Zhuqing would look like after using the Dark Demon Nether Transformation.

"Let's do it another time if there's a chance. I didn't bring too many clothes with me, and I can't afford to mess them up." Zhu Zhuqing felt that if she used the Dark Demon Nether Transformation, her external soul bone would also come out, and her clothes would be torn again—she wasn't an exhibitionist.

"All right, let's leave this Dark Shadow Forest. Everyone, please don't talk about what happened here in the future." Qin Ming clapped his hands, attracting everyone's attention.

The experience in the Dark Shadow Forest was probably the most memorable experience of their lives.

The Dark Demon Evil God Tiger, the Life-and-death arena.

Wasn't it thrilling?

Of course, even if they told others, unless Zhu Zhuqing proved it to the World, not many people would choose to believe it...

...

God Realm.

In the vast, dark-toned divine palace, the Evil God sensed that the tiger who had obtained a wisp of his aura had opened the Life-and-death arena and had even been defeated by someone.

If it was just entering, the Evil God wouldn't care, after all, the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger was not even considered a pet to him, but this time, it seemed that more people had entered.

So, the bored Evil God became a little interested and recreated the scene from that time, preparing to watch and see what exactly was going on.

"Interesting, at such a young age, to have such strength, and that hammer, the aura of destruction, could it be the successor of that guy Destruction?"

Austin Griffin represented Destruction, but he was too weak at this time and had means to hide his aura, so the Evil God couldn't see it for the time being and could only guess that Tang San himself was a successor of the God of Destruction or something similar.

But—

"That guy Destruction and Life are a couple. Life wouldn't look for a successor, and neither would Destruction. Moreover, that guy Destruction is quite responsible towards the God Realm, unlike Shura, who always thinks about giving up his divine position to explore the vaster universe... Wait, why does this Tang San also have such a strong Life aura about him?"

Sensing the Life aura on Tang San, Evil even felt that Tang San might be the illegitimate child of Destruction and Life, who had simply been abandoned on Douluo Star.

"Good, ah, daring to descend to the mortal realm at will, and both of them are law enforcers, knowingly breaking the law!" The Evil God chuckled, preparing to find some fun.

As a God King, he naturally saw that Tang San had no blood relation to Destruction and Life, but wasn't it a coincidence that the power of Destruction and the power of Life coexisted in this child?

Furthermore, the God Realm was too boring...

So, the God Realm Committee held a meeting.

Goodness, Shura, Life, and Destruction were called over by Evil.

In front of the four God Kings, Evil showed the scene after Tang San and the others encountered the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger and said, "Destruction, Life, do you have anything to say?"

Destruction: "The power of Destruction?"

Life: "The power of Life?"

The two exchanged glances, feigning confusion.

The five people present could all see that this child had nothing to do with the two of them, but the Life in the God Realm was indeed a bit boring, so they should cooperate with the performance.

However, Destruction and Life were indeed curious about Tang San, wondering how he managed to make the powers of Destruction and Life coexist harmoniously.

One should know that they, as husband and wife, had always wanted a child, but because the powers of Destruction and Life were incompatible, they had been unable to give birth to offspring.

But now, on a mortal star in the lower realm, such a child who could make the two powers of Destruction and Life coexist was born, which was truly incredible.

Could it be that this was the will of the Creator God in the unseen, who had noticed their wish as a couple and thus caused him to be born on a mortal star?

Unconsciously, both Destruction and Life developed a fondness for the twelve-year-old Tang San.

"You two, he wouldn't be your child, would he?" The Evil God questioned, as if Tang San was truly their son.

The speechless Destruction was about to retort, but was held back by Life. She only heard her say, "Two God King adults, may I ask, if he is truly the son of me and Destruction, how will you punish us?"

Now it was Evil's turn to be speechless, thinking to himself: It was just a joke, do you have to be so serious?

However, he also understood that Destruction and Life had taken a liking to Tang San and had the idea of choosing him as their successor.

"Ahem, don't be so nervous, we are colleagues." Evil decided to do them a favor, "How about you two go find Tang San and see if he is willing to inherit your divine positions?"

"We want to see if one person can bear two divine positions."

"Anyway, you two are more attached to home than Shura, and you won't leave the God Realm directly just because you passed on your divine positions."

Shura: "???"

No, what does this have to do with him?

Is his desire to leave the God Realm that obvious?

Also, do you really think he wants to retire? If it weren't for you two supreme God Kings not doing your jobs and thinking about gambling and having fun all day, would he be so tired?

"That's fine too." The Goddess of Life and the God of Destruction exchanged glances and agreed with the two God Kings' words. They also wanted to see if one person could bear two divine positions.

If Tang San could do it in the future, then they could ask Tang San for advice on how to make the two powers of Destruction and Life compatible.

At that time, they would also be able to give birth to their own offspring...

...

In a hazy dream, Tang San's consciousness suddenly became clear. Looking at the man and woman in front of him, he was so frightened that he backed away, almost thinking he had encountered some non-mainstream Black and White Impermanence.

"I told you, you should change your clothes, you've scared him." The Goddess of Life showed a playful expression, then revealed a gentle smile to Tang San and said, "Don't be afraid, child, I am the Goddess of Life, and this one next to me is the God of Destruction. We are husband and wife and are God Kings of the God Realm. I wonder if you are willing to accept our joint inheritance?"

"I'm not willing."

After realizing who these two were, Tang San refused immediately.

Becoming a god?

Although he had planned this at first, and even thought about going to Sea God Island, along the way, he preferred to study martial souls rather than accept an inheritance and reach the sky in one step.

At least, the things he researched himself, no matter how immature, belonged to him, while what others gave, no matter how powerful, belonged to others. Especially the experience in the Life-and-death arena made him understand that he needed to thoroughly understand the essence of power, otherwise the final authority would always be in someone else's hands... So, he wanted to take it step by step.

Moreover, two gods suddenly came to him and both wanted to pass on their divine positions. It looked like a trap no matter how he looked at it.

"Why?" Destruction asked, "Don't you know the power of a god?"

"I am just a twelve-year-old child. Should I know the power of a god?" Tang San retorted.

Destruction: "...Is that so? Why do I feel like you are not a twelve-year-old child?"

Tang San looked regretful: "I have to thank my father, who severed our father-son relationship. It is precisely because of his irresponsibility that I was able to be independent."

"Humorous and pitiful child." The Goddess of Life looked with pity and asked, "Are you really unwilling to accept our inheritance? That is the goal of all cultivators."

"I prefer equivalent exchange. Since you are gods, why do you want to pass on your positions to me?" Tang San retorted, "Isn't enjoying eternal Life good? Or is eternal Life a kind of pain for you?"

"Why do you think our eternal Life is painful?" The Goddess of Life was puzzled.

"It's a matter of needs. Just like mortals, they are divided into different classes. The poor only seek warmth and sustenance, and to have descendants, and hopefully the next generation can live a better Life. They mostly pursue material satisfaction. The wealthy, on the other hand, hope to enjoy other aspects, power, desires, being respected and praised. In short, they lean towards the spiritual aspect."

Tang San said lightly, "As for gods, judging by the way you are talking to me now, you probably don't lack in material aspects, but in spiritual aspects, you seem to be extremely backward."

"You and humans look no different, except that mortals are fleeting, only a hundred years, and a lifetime passes by, while you gods have eternal Life, having seen everything in the human World, you are probably already tired of it, so you feel bored."

Goddess of Life: "... " What is he saying? How come I don't understand a single word?

God of Destruction: "... " I understand some of it. He is very smart, but he overestimates us, because we basically don't pay attention to the changes in the mortal World, and there is a time difference between the God Realm and the mortal World.

"Alright, since you are unwilling, we won't force you, but with your talent, you will become a god sooner or later in the future, and we will meet again at that time." After saying this, Destruction disappeared.

"Sorry to disturb your rest." The Goddess of Life was much more polite, apologizing to Tang San before her figure slowly dissipated...

...

"He didn't agree?" Evil asked.

"He didn't agree." The God of Destruction nodded.

"That's strange. With your personality, aren't you going to punish him?"

Destruction's personality was quite irritable. Shouldn't he be furious when someone he favored refused?

Destruction's face darkened and he said, "As a God King and law enforcer, how can I bother with a mortal?"

Life also echoed: "That would be against the rules."

"Alright then, the meeting is adjourned." As the Evil God finished speaking, his whole being turned into a black light and left the God Realm Committee.

It was truly:

A moment of interest,

And a moment of disinterest.

The other God Kings also left one after another.

"Shura."

Destruction called out to the Asura God.

"What is it?" Shura frowned. His relationship with Destruction was not good, and they usually didn't interact. Why was he suddenly calling out to him now?

"Do you really want to leave the God Realm?" Destruction asked.

"That's right, I just want to leave the God Realm and go on adventures in the vaster universe." The Asura God also made his intentions clear, "This God Realm is too boring. I've been doing this for so many years, and I'm also bored. And those two supreme God Kings, they don't do anything serious all day, gambling and having fun. Aren't you tired?"

After speaking, without waiting for Destruction to answer, Shura left, because a divine power had appeared on a certain mortal planet, and he needed to arrange for the God of Slaughter to go and investigate.

Which God of Slaughter should he choose?

Hypnos, that kid is the most obedient. I'll have him fly there and not use the space channel.

This way, I can also take a few more days off for myself...

Opening his eyes, Tang San awoke from his nap, recalling the memory of meeting Life and Destruction, and thought to himself, "Have the gods of the God Realm noticed my actions?"

Destruction and Life, two great God Kings, both want to choose me?

Is there something about me that attracts them?

Blue Silver Emperor, Life...

Haotian Hammer, host to Austin Griffin, Destruction...

He hadn't noticed it before, but now that he thought about it, Tang San felt that it would be a problem if he wasn't noticed.

"No wonder... However, I refused, so those two shouldn't be that petty, right?"

After being anxious for a while, Tang San finally calmed down and decided not to think about it.

If soldiers come, block them; if water comes, cover it with earth.

If those two dared to scheme against him, once he grew up, he would definitely get his face back.

In the blink of an eye, a month and a half passed.

Under Qin Ming's leadership, Tang San and the others finally arrived at Star Luo City.

Compared to Heaven Dou City, the city walls here were also over a hundred meters high, and the three words "Star Luo City" were even made of platinum, extremely luxurious.

The architectural style in Star Luo City was quite different from Heaven Dou City; there were no small stalls on the roadside, and if you wanted to buy something, you had to enter the shops on both sides.

The customs of Star Luo were rough and wild, and people often fought over small matters. To reduce disputes, the officials of the Star Luo Empire stipulated that vendors in large cities must place their goods inside shops and not arbitrarily display them on the sides of the street.

In short, it was for easier management.

However, this was only the case in large cities like Star Luo City; in other small cities and towns, ordinary commoners still set up stalls by the roadside.

"Welcome, distinguished students of Heaven Dou Royal Academy, to visit! Please follow me!"

After entering the city gate for a distance, the Three Education Committee members and over fifty students from Star Luo Royal Academy arrived before the carriage, smiling and holding flowers: "Please follow us!"

"Then we'll trouble you."

Qin Ming continued to drive the carriage, while Tang San and the others in the carriage pulled back the curtains and looked outside.

The students of Star Luo Royal Academy wore white school uniforms, and there was an armband on their shoulders with the character "王" (King) embroidered on it.

Qin Ming introduced, "This character '王' is not something that all students who join Star Luo Royal Academy can have; you must reach Soul Grandmaster and above to possess it. It represents the face of Star Luo Royal Academy."

"ε=(o ` *))) Alas!"

Speaking of this, Qin Ming sighed and said, "Compared to Heaven Dou Royal Academy relying on people like you to maintain appearances, Star Luo Royal Academy is truly formidable. The average strength of the students inside is good. These fifty students are not old, not exceeding twenty years old, and they are all geniuses."

Tang San understood that what Qin Ming said was true.

Excluding those with exceptionally talented cultivation, such as their group, who were qualified to participate in the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament, for others to become a Soul Grandmaster around the age of twenty was already very outstanding.

Half an hour later, the carriage finally arrived at the Royal Academy of the Star Luo Empire.

Compared to Heaven Dou Royal Academy, which was built against a mountain, Star Luo Royal Academy was built by a wide river, and there was a waterfall over fifty meters high not far away.

According to the teachers of Star Luo Royal Academy, this waterfall emerged from an underground river, forming a river outside, flowing through Star Luo Royal Academy, enclosing most of the imperial palace, and then flowing out of Star Luo City to merge into the rivers outside.

Such a design was truly magnificent, but also overly rough and wild.

However, this was the style of the Star Luo Empire—

"Unconventional."

However, from a geographical perspective, the Star Luo Empire side did not have the distinct four-season climate of the Heaven Dou side, only the dry and rainy seasons.

Star Luo City being built relying on such a large waterfall and river was also a related consideration.

Water could be drawn during the dry season, and water could be stored during the rainy season.

At this time, many students from the Star Luo Empire were only wearing underwear and underpants, playing in the river, or playing a game similar to volleyball on the beach by the riverbank.

"Are the students of the New Luo Empire all so... wild and open?"

Huo Wu was also visiting here for the first time. Seeing the men and women of the Star Luo Empire playing on the beach wearing only underwear truly felt a bit spicy.

She thought she was already open enough wearing short sleeves and a short skirt.

But compared to the people here, it was like wearing a cotton-padded jacket!

"This is the fierce and uninhibited nature of Star Luo's customs," Qin Ming introduced. "They don't bother with trivial matters. If a man and woman have feelings for each other, they can get close. If they feel it's not suitable, they break up... Currently, the atmosphere in the Heaven Dou Empire is actually similar to here, but most people are still relatively conservative and more sincere in their relationships. If a man and woman break up and meet again, they will basically feel awkward, but most people on the Star Luo Empire side will not, and may even get back together."

Zhu Zhuqing corrected, "I am different."

Qin Ming nodded, "Indeed, large families are more strict. After all, martial souls are inherited through bloodlines and cannot be too chaotic, and contraception measures need to be taken, otherwise the martial soul will be lost."

At this time, the Three Education Committee members of Star Luo Royal Academy came forward, personally received Qin Ming and the members of the Heaven Dou Royal First Team, and took them to visit the dormitories.

Coming here for exchange, it was impossible to just fight and leave; Tang San and the others would live here for at least nearly half a year.

However, on the first day, Tang San and the others met the Star Luo Royal Team.

Captain Dai Davis, Martial Soul: White Tiger, Level 43.

Vice Captain Zhu Zhuyun, Martial Soul: Nether Cat, Level 41.

Ying Wei, Martial Soul: Water Buffalo, Level 37.

Tang Hongning, Martial Soul: Thunder Leopard, Level 36.

Li Yang, Martial Soul: Mirror of Reflection, Level 36.

Dong Hui, Martial Soul: Water, Level 35.

Yang Mingxin, Martial Soul: Water, Level 35.

It could be anticipated that in two years, these members of the Star Luo Royal Team would at least reach Soul Elder and above, especially Dai Davis and Zhu Zhuyun, who would likely become Soul Kings.

In the original work, Dai Davis appeared at Level 49, just one step away from becoming a Soul King. If Dai Mubai hadn't taken the Strange Velvet Sky Chrysanthemum, strengthening his physique and increasing his soul power, he would not have been able to compete with him at all.

"Everyone from Heaven Dou Royal Academy, please follow me. I will take you to dinner together. Your leader, Mr. Qin Ming, will be with the education committee members."

Dai Davis looked seven parts similar to Dai Mubai, but his mental state was completely different from Dai Mubai.

If Dai Mubai was a playboy with some nouveau riche aura, then Dai Davis was a true noble young master. Although he naturally carried an air of kingly arrogance, it was not repulsive.

It could be foreseen that after Dai Davis succeeded to the throne, the Star Luo Empire would surely have hope of unifying the continent after the Spirit Hall collapsed.

Unfortunately, in the original work, his experiences were somewhat capricious...

Arriving at the large private room already prepared in the Royal Academy's dining hall, Dai Davis arranged for Tang San and the others to be seated and had people serve the dishes.

However, Dai Davis noticed that the person sitting in the captain's seat was not Yu Tianheng of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon family, but the very young-looking Tang San, and was a little curious: "May I ask if this gentleman is the captain of the Heaven Dou Royal Team?"

"Hello, my name is Tang San," Tang San introduced himself. "I was elected captain due to the favor of the people in the team."

"Tang San? That name is quite famous."

Dai Davis was first stunned, then burst into laughter and shook hands with Tang San, but in his heart, he was guessing whether this Tang San was that Tang San.

After the two were seated, Zhu Zhuyun glanced at her younger sister mixed in with the Heaven Dou Royal Team and spoke, "Zhu Qing, my dear sister, seeing your sister, aren't you going to say hello?"

"Sister."

Zhu Zhuqing called out, and then stopped talking. After all, regarding this sister, she didn't know what attitude to use.

"Heh, everyone from Heaven Dou Royal Academy, please excuse us. My sister ran off a few days ago. I thought she went to find her fiancé, but I didn't expect her to be with you. Thank you very much for taking care of her."

Compared to the aloof Zhu Zhuqing, Zhu Zhuyun spoke much more charmingly and could be described as poised and graceful.

At least, with Zhu Zhuqing's personality, she was definitely not suitable to be empress.

Dai Davis also asked about Zhu Zhuqing, with his unique humorous tone, saying, "Has my little sister-in-law joined Heaven Dou Royal Academy?"

"No," Tang San said. "We met her on the way here. It happened that one of our team members also needed a soul ring, so we hunted a soul beast together... She is very strong-willed and talented, so we brought her along."

Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and Huo Wu and others also tacitly did not mention Shrek Academy.

After all, Zhu Zhuqing had stayed with them for a month and a half, and they had become familiar with each other. They understood that this girl was very strong-willed and had a good personality, she just didn't talk much... only when Tang San asked questions would she say a few more sentences.

Understanding the cruel internal competition of the Star Luo Empire, they naturally hoped that Zhu Zhuqing could break free from Dai Mubai's influence.

"Sister, can we go out and talk for a while?"

Zhu Zhuqing took a deep breath at this time, staring at Zhu Zhuyun, her tone calm and clear.

"Of course, after all, I am your good sister."

Zhu Zhuyun nodded to Dai Davis, got up, and walked to the balcony of the private room.

Zhu Zhuqing followed closely and closed the door, isolating the sound.

"Is there something?"

The smile on Zhu Zhuyun's face instantly disappeared, and her tone revealed indifference.

"Your attitude now is completely different from before."

Zhu Zhuqing felt somewhat fortunate that she had figured things out—she absolutely did not want to become a woman with two faces like her sister.

Zhu Zhuyun was surprised, feeling that her sister's personality had changed a bit. Earlier at the dinner table, her gaze had shifted to Tang San many times. Could it be that this was Zhu Zhuqing's resistance?

Not being with Dai Mubai?

That did make her look at her with new eyes...

"The martial soul resonance between me and Dai Mubai has disappeared. Can the engagement with him be dissolved?" Zhu Zhuqing got down to business.

"Disappeared? Why?"

Zhu Zhuyun would not completely believe it.

"My third soul ring comes from a soul beast called the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger. It has the darkness attribute, which awakened the power of darkness in my Nether Cat."

Zhu Zhuqing's martial soul attached, a pair of cat ears grew on her head, claws appeared on her hands, and a nine-section cat tail like black crystal appeared behind her, but without the Evil God hook from the Dark Demon Bone Armor state.

Looking at Zhu Zhuqing at this time, Zhu Zhuyun's body couldn't help but tremble slightly.

That was the pressure of a higher-level martial soul!

Zhu Zhuqing's martial soul had awakened the power of darkness, and her bloodline power had also surpassed that of ordinary Nether Cats. Even the White Tiger martial soul did not have such pressure.

"Now I believe it."

Zhu Zhuyun told Zhu Zhuqing to put away her martial soul, and a sincere smile appeared on her face, "Since you and that useless Dai Mubai no longer have martial soul resonance, dissolving the engagement is not impossible..."

The rules of the God Realm were made by the God Kings, not like World rules. Therefore, if they wanted to descend to the mortal realm, they just needed to find a suitable reason. As long as their strength was strong, the other gods would turn a blind eye.

163: Water rocking volleyball training method

“Did the martial soul induction between Zhu Zhuqing and Dai Mubai disappear?” After Dai Legao, the current Emperor of Star Luo Empire, learned of this, he sent people to confirm Zhu Zhuqing's situation and discovered that her Nether Cat had indeed awakened the power of darkness. She could truly be called "Nether," and the degree of pressure was even no less than their Dai Family's White Tiger.

However, just obtaining the third soul ring could cause such a big change. What kind of existence is that soul beast called "Dark Demon Evil God Tiger"?

“Father, now that Zhu Zhuqing can no longer produce a martial soul induction with Dai Mubai, can the marriage contract be dissolved?” Davis asked, “After all, Dai Mubai is no longer qualified to compete with me.”

“Then dissolve it.” Dai Legao said indifferently, “In the beginning, that kid ran away first. Now that he has disappointed Zhu Zhuqing, he can't blame others.”

In addition to the Dai Family's indifferent family ties, what is more important is that the marriage contract between the two is not widely known, which can save the Dai Family's face.

Secondly, Zhu Zhuqing's strength has been qualitatively improved, and she is very likely to inherit the position of the Zhu Family's head in the future. In order to maintain a good relationship with the Zhu Family for generations, dissolving the marriage contract between the two is far more beneficial than forcibly marrying Zhu Zhuqing to Dai Mubai.

“Write a letter to that promising kid, Dai Mubai, and tell him that his marriage contract with Zhu Zhuqing has been dissolved. If he still has some promise, come back, go to White Tiger Sect, and strive to become the next Sect Master. You two brothers can be considered to be doing your respective duties.”

Dai Legao instructed, “If he doesn't come back, tell him to cultivate hard and not cause trouble, but also let him be disciplined. If he dares to leave the White Tiger Clan's bloodline outside, then cripple him.”

Martial souls rely on bloodline inheritance. Since Dai Mubai has lost the ability to compete with Davis, then in Dai Legao's view, going to White Tiger Sect is his best choice.

If he is unwilling to come back, but dares to leave offspring in Heaven Dou, then don't blame him for not showing any affection.

A tiger does not eat its cubs, but he, Dai Legao, only has a White Tiger martial soul.

The imperial family has no real affection.

“Yes, Father.” Davis nodded in agreement, and then asked about the visit to Heaven Dou Royal Academy, asking: “The students of this batch of Heaven Dou Royal Academy are very strong. Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and the new Captain Tang San are all not to be underestimated. During the half-year exchange visit, should we keep testing them?”

“Do you think they will show everything?” Dai Legao asked rhetorically, “Don't do things that shouldn't be done. Finding a way to defeat the Spirit Hall Team in the subsequent Continental Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament is what you should do. Spirit Hall has suppressed the Two Great Empires for many years. Defeating their team is the true strength.”

“Yes.”

Mentioning Spirit Hall Team, Davis's expression also sank.

He also participated in the previous competition, but because his soul power was still low at that time, he was not the captain, but just a substitute player.

The feeling Spirit Hall Team gave him was that they were strong and well-coordinated.

Especially after Grandmaster Tang San's theory was published, the cooperation between Spirit Hall Teams became more tacit. In the previous competition, none of the seven members of Spirit Hall Team were Soul Kings, but relying on cooperation and martial soul restraint, they defeated Star Luo Team, which had a level 52 Soul King.

This made the world realize the importance of soul masters' self-positioning and cooperation with teammates.

Moreover, with the diversification of venues, the requirements for soul masters' personal adaptability while cooperating are becoming more and more important. Some soul masters who were once buried can also play a corresponding role, and sometimes rely on specific venue environments, those soul masters can fight beyond their level, and even lead the entire team to reverse the situation.

Therefore, Two Great Empires and major academies have begun to study the combination of teams.

It can be said that in the past few years, the strength and cooperation of soul masters throughout the continent have improved by more than one level, especially in the next competition. Among the three popular teams for winning the championship, there may be Soul King powerhouses.

Especially Spirit Hall, it is rumored that they have cultivated the so-called Golden Generation, and there may even be Soul Emperor-level soul masters.

Wanting to defeat Spirit Hall Team, how easy is it...

...

At this moment, Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling are familiarizing themselves with the environment of Star Luo Royal Academy.

Being in a foreign country and facing an unfamiliar environment, Tang San naturally had to figure out the distribution of various buildings here and set up the best departure route in his mind, just in case, so that he could immediately take people to escape if something happened.

Caution and care can make a ten-thousand-year ship.

Later, Tang San also plans to take a look at Star Luo City and set up an escape route plan.

“Third Brother, have you been here before?” Xiao Wu asked suspiciously, “Otherwise, why are the swimsuits you designed for me and Guang Ling similar to what people here wear?”

On the beach along the river that runs through Star Luo Royal Academy, the swimsuits worn by those men and women are similar to the swimsuits Tang San designed for Xiao Wu and Guang Ling to step on the water (to prevent their clothes from getting wet), and are even more revealing.

“I haven’t been here before, but aren’t swimsuits just those styles?” Tang San said without changing his expression, “With such a river, it will be convenient for you to practice treading water in the future.”

As he said that, Tang San went upstream along the river and found the waterfall that was more than fifty meters high.

Rumble!

The waterfall, like a galaxy, flowed down from the top of the mountain, and the roar was constant and deafening.

Therefore, no one was playing here.

Just like in his previous life, those scenic spots are only crowded with outsiders taking photos and enjoying themselves, while the locals have become accustomed to it, and even find the sound of the waterfall very noisy.

However, even though this waterfall is magnificent, not many foreign tourists dare to come to see it, because this is Star Luo Royal Academy, and ordinary people cannot enter.

“What a magnificent waterfall.” Guang Ling exclaimed.

“For the next half year, we will live and cultivate here. We will build our own houses.” Tang San suggested, “However, we can also listen to the courses at Star Luo Royal Academy, but I estimate that they are probably similar to those in Heaven Dou. There is not much time for classes, and more time is left for students to arrange freely.”

After determining the plan for the half year, Tang San found Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and others.

When they came to the waterfall, they were also amazed by its magnificence.

“We are going to live here for half a year?” Ning Rongrong said, “Magnificent is magnificent, but with such a loud noise, we won’t be able to sleep at night, right?”

“Living near here is my own request. If you can’t sleep, you can go back to the dormitory arranged for us by Star Luo Royal Academy, as long as you come over on time every day to receive the training I arrange.” Tang San did not force everyone to be with him, after all, cultivation is a boring process, unlike the “comfortable cultivation” in novels.

Otherwise, soul masters would spend as much time as possible cultivating, rather than finding other entertainment.

However, Tang San was confident that he could make cultivation more interesting.

“That’s good, otherwise the sound of the water might keep me awake.” Ning Rongrong breathed a sigh of relief, feeling that Tang San was still very considerate of the feelings of others in the team.

“Then how are we going to train? Are we still practicing climbing trees?” Yu Tianheng had already found a little clue to accurately control soul power, but surprisingly, his control over soul power was not as good as Dugu Yan's.

“Accurate control of soul power does require practice, but we also need to practice corresponding body balance.” As Tang San spoke, he released Endless Grassland, which took root on the opposite bank of the river and at the bottom of the river, and then grew a bridge made of Blue Silver Grass, which was thirty meters long.

This is a suspension bridge, close to the water surface and very close to the waterfall, swaying with the river water.

Tang San jumped up, grabbed the Blue Silver Emperor bridge deck firmly with his soul power, shook it, and said to Yu Tianheng: “Do you want to come up and try?”

Yu Tianheng took the first step.

However, as soon as he stepped on it, he felt unsteady under his feet, as if he would be thrown out at any time. He had to work hard to stabilize his body, and even condense soul power under his feet to try to grab the Blue Silver Emperor under his feet.

“Felt it?” Tang San smiled slightly, walked to the Blue Silver Emperor suspension bridge closer to the other side, and exerted force left and right, making the bridge sway even more violently, “The suspension bridge made of my martial soul is already swaying under the impact of the river water. With our efforts, it sways very violently. This can not only exercise our body balance ability, but also exercise our control over soul power.”

“Moreover, we can fight against each other in this way to see who throws the other off first.”

“If you fall into the river, even if you can’t swim, you don’t need to worry, because my Blue Silver Grass is below, and it can send you back to the river bank.”

Yu Tianheng, having grasped some balancing skills, found it interesting and said, "Interesting, Captain, how about we compete to see who falls off first?"

"No problem."

Tang San laughed heartily, increasing the force of the swaying, while Yu Tianheng also tried his best to maintain his balance while applying force, making the Blue Silver Emperor bridge sway even more violently.

In the eyes of Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and others, Tang San and Yu Tianheng swayed left and right on the Blue Silver Emperor bridge, looking quite dangerous, but they were still smiling, not knowing what was so happy about it.

In the end, Tang San was the more skilled, flinging Yu Tianheng into the river, and then he was brought to the shore by the Blue Silver Emperor, his clothes completely soaked.

Tang San's clothes were also partially wet, after all, being close to the waterfall, it was impossible to avoid all the splashes.

After Tang San's explanation, Xiao Wu and the others found it interesting and also tried it out.

However, Xiao Wu and Guang Ling changed into swimsuits, making Yu Tianheng, Yu Feng, Oslo, and others blush, while Huo Wu, Ning Rongrong, Ye Lingling, and Dugu Yan were also dumbfounded.

Lan Yinzi, being a traditional woman, was even more so.

"Tang San, are your sister and your disciple so open?" Ning Rongrong couldn't help but ask, "They've accepted the customs of the Star Luo Empire so quickly."

"When in Rome, do as the Romans do, just stick to the bottom line." Tang San felt that as long as they didn't cross the bottom line, women didn't need to pay too much attention to the various behavioral norms for women in the Heaven Dou Empire.

The so-called nobility's dignity and elegance, isn't that just a kind of shackle on women's personality? It's just to cater to others! It's better to be natural and easygoing.

After all, they are not some high-ranking officials or nobles.

However, Star Luo is a bit too open.

They can't learn everything.

Afterward, Tang San also introduced other ways to play on the Blue Silver Emperor bridge, such as one person against many, or many people against many, and even because of the power of the soul masters, multiple Blue Silver Emperor bridges could be built, and then a net could be pulled to compete in a volleyball match.

Hearing Tang San's idea, Huo Wu asked Tang San to set up the competition venue so they could have a match.

So, Tang San built four Blue Silver Emperor bridges over the river, each only two meters wide, with a five-meter gap between them.

Then, in the center of the river, he pulled out a Blue Silver Emperor net similar to a fishing net.

Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and Ning Rongrong formed one team, while Huo Wu, Dugu Yan, Yu Tianheng, and Ye Lingling formed the other team, and the rest acted as referees and spectators.

Competition rules:

First, the ball cannot fall into the river or out of the range of the Blue Silver Emperor, otherwise, a point will be deducted.

Second, when hitting the ball, either one hand or two hands can be used, but the body below the waist cannot touch the ball if the balance is unstable.

Third, soul power can be used, but destroying the ball will result in a point deduction.

Fourth, when hitting the ball, the opposing team can obstruct by shaking the Blue Silver Emperor bridge, but soul skills cannot be used, otherwise, a point will be deducted.

Fifth, the team that scores thirty points first wins.

Listening to these four rules, Huo Wu thoughtfully said, "Good idea, the first, second, and fifth rules limit the game's scope and general rules, the third rule trains one's own control of soul power, and the fourth rule trains the body's balancing ability and lower body, but it's not the kind of rigid stance, because you need to hit the ball, so it also trains flexibility."

"During this process, both sides need to pay attention to the ball and the opposing team members, training eyesight, reaction ability, and adaptability."

"If these were taken out separately for training, it would definitely be very boring, but now, the way of hitting the ball adds a lot of fun... You really are something."

"So, best two out of three, let's have a match?" Tang San took out a volleyball the size of a head from his storage soul tool, tossed it up, shook the Blue Silver Emperor bridge under his feet, affecting Huo Wu's movements, and when the ball fell, he slapped it over.

The ball fell in the direction of Yu Tianheng.

Just as Yu Tianheng was watching the ball, his body suddenly swayed, almost losing his balance.

It turned out that Xiao Wu was stepping left and right with her legs, causing the bridge to sway violently.

"Hiss~ This ball is not easy to hit." A trace of cold sweat appeared on Yu Tianheng's forehead, trying to follow the movements of the Blue Silver Emperor under his feet, he jumped up and hit the ball back.

However, at the moment of jumping, Yu Tianheng was ultimately affected by Xiao Wu, and when he hit the ball, the force was not applied to the exact center of the ball, causing the ball to be hit askew.

However, it still passed the net and fell towards Ning Rongrong's side.

Thump!

Ning Rongrong was just about to catch the ball, but Dugu Yan on the other side shook the Blue Silver Emperor bridge.

One person and one ball both fell into the water.

Tang San could actually use Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track to jump over and save the situation, but considering that this was training, and it wasn't necessary to use Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track just for the sake of winning or losing, it would be a bit like bullying.

"Yay!"

Dugu Yan jumped up happily, "I have to say, this is really fun."

"Damn it!"

Ning Rongrong was brought back to the bridge by Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor, with an angry look on her face, and she also took off her dress and put it into her storage soul tool.

"Wait and see, next, I'll let you see how powerful I, Ning Rongrong, am!"

As the game continued, Tang San's team eventually won.

Although Ning Rongrong was relatively weak, Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling all knew Controlling Crane Capturing Dragon, and their control over soul power and balance was far superior to Huo Wu and the others.

It would be strange if they lost.

However, the commotion here also attracted other students from Star Luo Royal Academy, including Davis and others.

Seeing the venue created by Tang San and others, Davis and Zhu Zhuyun asked about the rules of the game, found it interesting, and joined in, preparing to have a seven-on-seven volleyball match against Tang San and others.

As the representative of Heaven Dou, they naturally couldn't be afraid of Star Luo's challenge.

Two teams, a total of fourteen people, all wearing swimsuits and trunks, engaged in a water-shaking volleyball match.

Basically, all the Star Luo Royal Academy students who were free came here, cheering and shouting for both sides, as if they were very interested in this form of competition.

"Xiao Wu, and Tang San?"

In the Star Luo Royal Academy, a twelve-year-old boy noticed Xiao Wu with her long braid and immediately recognized her, but his gaze was always on Tang San.

"Why is he at Star Luo Royal Academy, could it be that he joined Star Luo Royal Academy?"

Xu Xing frowned, a little confused about the development of the plot.

"This Tang San really knows how to make trouble!"

"What is he doing now? Is he going to promote modern sports on Douluo Continent and then hold the Olympics?"

Two hours later.

The water-shaking volleyball match between Heaven Dou VS Star Luo ended, and the six members of Heaven Dou Royal Academy, led by Tang San, "narrowly won" against Star Luo.

Without a doubt, this was intentionally hiding their strength and letting the other side win.

"Haha, a good game, much more interesting than ordinary volleyball." Although he lost, Davis laughed happily, because playing such a difficult game was really fun.

Moreover, he also noticed that this kind of competition can train soul masters in all aspects—body balance, soul power control, eyesight, reaction speed, etc.

Heaven Dou Empire is truly full of talent.

"You're always welcome to come and compete with us from Star Luo Royal." Tang San said with a smile.

"You can be sure we will."

For a time, Davis and Tang San had a feeling of mutual appreciation.

After Davis left, Huo Wu asked, "Why did you throw the game?"

"We're on other people's territory, we're here to exchange ideas, not to challenge the gym, so give them some face." Tang San explained the principles of being a person, and they just won't throw the game in the official Soul Master Competition in the future.

Subsequently, many teams from Star Luo Royal Academy challenged the people from Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

After a day, Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and others were quite exhausted, after all, they had to use soul power to grab the Blue Silver Emperor bridge, and they also had to keep their bodies balanced, and then when hitting the ball, there were also moments of controlling soul power, which required concentration.

It can be said that after these games, what was consumed was not only soul power, but also physical strength and spiritual power.

Therefore, at night, everyone didn't have the energy to participate in any other activities, and after eating and washing up, they went straight to bed.

As a result, the speed of everyone's soul power improvement was also much faster than ordinary meditation training...

Personally, I think that training in sports and letting the trainees enjoy the fun of exercise is the best way, so that the enthusiasm for training is high.

164: Convex lens imaging: photographic box

After water polo appeared, it quickly became popular in Star Luo Royal Academy, and some students even built similar venues in other river sections.

Apparently, Dai Weisi and others were not the only ones who discovered the benefits of this training method.

Tang San didn't mind this.

This was hardly a secret; anyone could imitate it, no big deal.

However, Tang San himself didn't often participate in this kind of training every day. Besides cultivating the secret manuals in the Mysterious Heaven Treasure Record, researching Spirit theory, and discussing the production of spirit tools with Guang Ling, he would form a Blue Silver Emperor rope under the waterfall, stand on it, endure the impact of the fifty-meter-high waterfall to temper his physique, while also practicing his footwork and improving Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track.

In the first half a month, Tang San often fell, but after half a month, he gradually mastered the relevant tricks and became more and more proficient.

His footwork also became more agile and ethereal.

The previous Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track had strange footwork, like a ghost, quite terrifying, but now, Tang San's footwork was like a fairy treading on waves, light and agile.

Therefore, Tang San named it Carefree Wind Riding.

He hoped that one day, with this footwork, he could ride the wind and roam freely between heaven and earth.

In addition, after Xiao Wu obtained her third spirit ring, her speed increased, allowing her to step out nine steps in mid-air. Tang San also added a specialized travel method to Carefree Wind Riding.

Ghost Shadow Perplexing Track was a movement technique, good at skirmishing, and the improved Carefree Wind Riding was also like this. However, it now had a method focused on speed: Nine Steps to Heaven.

Therefore, Carefree Wind Riding had two uses: one was a skirmishing and grappling movement technique, and the other was a traveler's running movement technique.

A traveler runs, nine steps to heaven.

According to Tang San's plan, one step could cover a hundred meters, and by using the borrowing force method of Rampaging Wind Technique, the second step could cover two hundred meters, doubling with each subsequent step. By the ninth step, he could cover twenty-five thousand six hundred meters, which is 20.56 kilometers.

This speed was beyond the reach of even Titled Douluo who were not good at speed.

However, Tang San could only perform the fourth step now, leaping eight hundred meters in one go, and consuming nearly half of his spirit power.

Fortunately, his Blue Silver Emperor recovered spirit power extremely quickly.

However, to use the ninth step, he would need to reach at least the Spirit Saint level.

Moreover, his physical body would need to reach a certain strength, otherwise, it would collapse due to the excessive speed.

After Tang San completed his training today, Xu Xing, who had met Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and Huo Wu a few times, came to visit him at Star Luo Royal Academy.

However, except for Tang San, the other three girls had no impression of him at all.

"Hello, Tang San, do you still remember me?" Xu Xing stood by the shore, waiting, examining his well-proportioned and taut muscles, his eyes filled with envy.

Coming from the Star Crown Sect, even if he could eat thousand-year-old whale glue, he couldn't possess a physical body as powerful as Tang San's.

When Tang San was training, he had thought about imitating his footwork, but he didn't have Purple Demon Eye and couldn't see Tang San's movements in the waterfall. Secondly, performing the corresponding footwork would inevitably require combining it with the corresponding spirit power circulation method; merely imitating the external form would be counterproductive, and could even harm himself.

Therefore, Xu Xing gave up.

"I remember, Xu Xing of the Star Crown Sect. I wonder if you have recognized the true situation of this World over the years?" Tang San's words implied something, making Xu Xing a little uncomfortable.

However, he was now completely and 100% certain again that Tang San, like him, was a transmigrator from modern society, not that Tang San from the Tang Sect.

"I've recognized it. This World is vast. I once wanted to get to know Zhu Zhuqing, but I couldn't at all. The people in my family wouldn't give me any chance to contact her..."

Xu Xing sighed with a bitter smile.

He had originally thought that after transmigrating and living another life, and in the Douluo World he knew, even without a system or similar golden finger, he would surely be able to dominate, wielding power in the World and lying drunk on a beauty's lap.

Then, he discovered that he wasn't in a typical protagonist's story.

Innate full spirit power, that was indeed good. His cultivation speed was also impressive, which destined that the elders in his Sect would not let him take too great a risk.

For a Sect, inheritance was most important, not invincible strength at the same rank.

Moreover, in the eyes of the elders, the Star Crown Spirit could only be a support system or control system. While other systems were possible, they would only lead to mediocrity.

Tang San's published "Self-Analysis and Positioning of a Spirit Master" also indirectly showed that Spirit Masters needed to find the advantages of their own Spirit and not lose sight of the bigger picture.

If you don't have the protagonist's luck, don't follow the protagonist's path.

That would only bury your own talent.

Therefore, at the second spirit ring, even though he felt he could absorb a thousand-year-level spirit ring after taking whale glue, the elders in the Sect, after examining his body, did not let him do so, but instead chose a spirit ring over nine hundred years old.

Also, he wanted to go near the Zhu Family to see if he could coincidentally meet Zhu Zhuqing.

Then, he was directly taken away by the guardians arranged by the elders in the Sect. Even if he threatened them, the other party ignored him and instead lectured him: "Zhu Zhuqing is Dai Mubai's fiancée from the Dai Family. You can contact other Zhu Family girls, it's fine, but not her, unless you can subdue the Emperor and Empress of Star Luo."

This made Xu Xing understand that the real Douluo Continent was different from fanfiction. The identity of a prince's fiancée was there, and it was not something a Sect disciple like him could contact alone.

Although the Star Crown Sect supported Star Luo, the Star Crown Family was even a subject of the Dai Family.

However, precisely because they were subjects, they needed to stay in their place.

If he were to contact Zhu Zhuqing, would the current Emperor of the Dai Family think that the Star Crown Sect wanted to use him to get involved in the competition between the two "Hell White Tiger"?

It was fine for him to join Star Luo Royal Academy and talk with Zhu Zhuyun, because she had already performed Martial Soul Fusion with Dai Weisi. There was an intimate bond between them, and he would have no chance.

But Zhu Zhuqing was different...

However, now, Zhu Zhuqing had returned to the Star Luo Empire, and had broken off her engagement with Dai Mubai, and the Spirit connection between her and Dai Mubai had disappeared.

But he still had no chance.

It was clear that Zhu Zhuqing seemed to have a good impression of Tang San.

He himself wasn't bad-looking!

"If you've figured it out, then first enrich yourself; don't think about unnecessary things." Tang San didn't know what Xu Xing had gone through these years, but since he had recognized reality, he probably wouldn't deliberately target him in the future.

"If I call you Big Brother, can you take me to fly?" Xu Xing showed an expectant look. If he couldn't beat him, he'd join him. Anyway, this Tang San wasn't from the Tang Sect, and like him, came from modern society, so he should be easier to talk to.

"I am a refined egoist. Mere lip service won't get you any benefits."

With Xu Xing's talent, he might become the Sect Master of the Star Crown Sect in the future, a potential stock, but Tang San felt there was no need to become sworn brothers with Xu Xing or anything like that.

Once he gained power, what was there to fear from the Lower Four Sects like the Star Crown Sect?

There was no need to deliberately befriend him.

It wasn't that he feared Xu Xing, the transmigrator, secretly backstabbing him, but rather that the current situation of the Star Luo Empire was unstable, and arbitrary investment could lead to total loss.

The Star Crown Spirit of the Star Crown Sect, whose style resembled a crown, was tolerated by Dai Legao, but it might not be the case after Dai Weisi takes office in the future.

In the original work, ten thousand years later, the Star Crown lineage actually became the Imperial Family of the Star Luo Empire, and the White Tiger lineage became the princes...

Dai Mubai currently had no chance of ascending, and Dai Weisi was more suitable to be Emperor than Dai Mubai. To stabilize the throne, although he might not necessarily act against the Star Crown Sect, he would definitely adopt corresponding policies to restrain them, thus making the Star Crown Sect truly submit to the Imperial Family.

Although Dai Weisi currently gave the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team members the impression of a kind and generous prince, Tang San could see his pride and domineering nature from that kindness.

In this regard, Xu Xing definitely couldn't compare.

"Equivalent exchange?" Xu Xing cursed him inwardly as an old fox, knowing that the plan of getting something for nothing wouldn't work, he could only say, "What do you want? And what will you exchange?"

"Various ancient books, collections, and Spirit information of the Star Crown Sect," Tang San said without hesitation, "and the bargaining chip for exchange will be to plan the most suitable Spirit Beast spirit ring matching options for your Star Crown Sect's Spirit."

"Farewell." Xu Xing cupped his hands and turned to leave.

Exchange the various ancient books and information of the Star Crown Sect for the spirit ring selection of the Star Crown Spirit?

He wasn't that foolish!

The spirit ring selection for the Star Crown Spirit already had a system; there was no need to follow Tang San's. Moreover, he suspected Tang San might be trying to trick him, just like when he himself mentioned "Heavenly Star Vine" previously.

More importantly, Tang San showed very little sincerity.

At least offer some less important Tang Sect cultivation methods, right?

Just a set of spirit ring selections, who are you trying to fool?

"It seems this guy still doesn't understand the importance of a spirit ring to a Spirit. Is it because he comes from a large Sect that he has no concept of it?" Tang San understood that for these transmigrators without cheat codes, the most coveted things, besides Immortal Herbs, were Mysterious Heaven Skill.

But if he were to transmit Mysterious Heaven Skill just for being called "Brother," wouldn't this cultivation method, which allows one to absorb natural energy without relying on a Spirit, be too cheap?

Currently, the only people who know Mysterious Heaven Skill, besides him, are Guang Ling and Xiao Wu.

That's right, Xiao Wu was also taught Mysterious Heaven Skill by Tang San.

"Third Brother, who was that guy just now? What did he talk to you about?" Xiao Wu walked over at this moment, asking curiously.

"Xu Xing. We met him when we were hunting Spirits in the Infinite Desert. He's from the Star Crown Sect," Tang San said. "He wanted to trade with me, but he couldn't offer anything I wanted."

"The little brat who analyzed that your third spirit ring should be Heavenly Star Vine?" Recalling Tang San's words, Xiao Wu remembered. "What did that guy want to trade with you?"

"Although he didn't say it explicitly, I know he wanted my spirit power circulation method."

"He must be dreaming."

Tang San's meditation method, Mysterious Heaven Skill, is extremely advanced; looking across the entire World, it is absolutely one of the top cultivation methods.

Xiao Wu could confirm this; its cultivation speed is so fast that perhaps only those evil cultivation methods involving吞噬 could compare.

"The gap between him and us will only grow wider; there's no need to pay too much attention," Tang San understood that if a person cannot change the World, they can only actively adapt to the World.

Even modern transmigrators can only be assimilated by the environment.

Now, Tang San was glad he wasn't born and raised in the Clear Sky Sect, otherwise, his personality might have unknowingly changed...

...

In a blink of an eye, three months passed quickly.

In two more months, Tang San and the others would return to Heaven Dou.

Guang Ling found Tang San and presented her newly invented spirit tool capable of recording videos: the Photography Box.

This Photography Box combined three basic spirit tool patterns—light, dark, and space. Its internal structure resembled a camera, and by injecting spirit power, it could record images.

The recorded images could also be projected onto a white cloth and played back.

However, as it was still the initial version, the focusing mechanism had not yet been designed, and no spirit power storage device was installed internally. Therefore, to play the footage, one had to hold the Photography Box manually, stand in the appropriate position, and continuously inject spirit power.

“Excellent, your talent in spirit tool research is truly remarkable. However, we need more people.” Tang San hadn’t expected that after merely explaining the principle of pinhole imaging to Guang Ling, she would actually create something similar, capable of recording and playing back colored footage, albeit without sound.

This was the correct usage of a spirit tool.

However, with just the two of them researching, their energy was ultimately limited, and they needed others to join in.

“It’s not that excellent, really.” Guang Ling was very pleased with Tang San’s praise.

“Let’s go record Yu Tianheng and the others playing water volleyball against the Star Luo Royal Academy, then call them over to watch together.”

Tang San wanted to see how convenient this Photography Box was. If it worked well, perhaps real-time broadcasts could be made across the entire Douluo Continent when the Advanced Spirit Master Academy Elite Tournament began.

Cough!

Perhaps there wouldn't be enough time, but recording the footage and projecting it onto a white screen was not impossible.

In terms of influence, how could newspapers compare to video advertisements?

When Xiao Wu, Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and the others arrived at the small wooden house Tang San had temporarily built by the waterfall, Tang San closed the windows and covered them with an opaque cloth, plunging the room into darkness.

“Captain, what are you doing? Playing hide-and-seek?” Yu Feng couldn't help but ask.

“You’ll know in a moment,” Tang San said, then turned to Guang Ling, “Show everyone your work.”

Click-clack!

A faint turning sound echoed, and a light appeared in the room. As Guang Ling injected spirit power into the Photography Box, light rays emitted from its transparent black lens at the front, illuminating the white screen ahead.

Instantly, the screen displayed a scene of Yu Tianheng, Huo Wu, Oslo, Ye Lingling, Shi Mo, Shi Mo, and Yu Feng, a total of seven people, playing volleyball against Dai Weisi and others from the Star Luo Royal Academy.

Although there was no sound, the clarity of the image made them feel as if they themselves were sealed within it.

It was truly astonishing.

“Captain, how is this done?” Yu Feng’s gaze shifted from the screen to the Photography Box in Guang Ling’s hand, and he couldn’t help but ask Tang San for an answer.

“This is a Photography Box. I provided the simple imaging principle, and Guang Ling was responsible for the research and production. As you’ve seen, its function is to record images and then play them back.” Tang San gestured for Guang Ling to stop inputting spirit power, took the Photography Box from her hand, and explained.

Ye Lingling asked, “What’s the principle behind being able to record images?”

“Light and shadow.” Tang San said, then cut a small circular hole in the window curtain. The external light shone in, perfectly landing on the white screen where the image was previously displayed.

At this moment, the image on the screen was of the waterfall outside, with people walking by the rocky bank.

However, unlike the image Guang Ling played with the Photography Box earlier, the scene was very blurry, as if covered by a layer of gauze, hazy and also inverted.

Tang San demonstrated the pinhole imaging experiment for the first time in front of Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and the others.

“This is the basic principle by which the Photography Box can image,” Tang San said. “Essentially, it’s just the inversion of light, presenting the image. To give you an example you can understand, it’s like a person’s reflection in water, but this method projects the external environment onto the room’s wall.”

“This method can even be done by ordinary people without spirit power.”

“It just can’t be recorded.”

Ning Rongrong asked, “What’s the use of ordinary people being able to do it? The image is still inverted and so blurry; it makes one dizzy.”

Tang San took out a convex lens and placed it over the small hole.

Instantly, the image on the wall became incredibly clear, indistinguishable in clarity from the image Guang Ling had played with the Photography Box earlier.

The only difference was that Tang San had placed a convex lens over the small hole.

Ning Rongrong leaned closer to examine it, realizing that the object in Tang San’s hand was indeed a lens, thin at the edges and thick in the middle, not some other spirit tool. She was astonished: “Just a piece of glass can make the image so clear? Is this some kind of Spirit Ability?”

“It’s just a phenomenon. Light has speed and direction, and when light passes through a lens, it refracts.” Tang San removed the convex lens, pulled open the curtain on the window, and handed the convex lens to Ning Rongrong. “I imagine many elders in the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School must wear glasses to read clearly, right? Those lenses are convex lenses.”

Ning Rongrong placed the convex lens over a book, and through the lens, the text on it was magnified.

Subsequently, Tang San drew a simple diagram of convex lens imaging on paper, explaining that light has direction. After passing through a convex lens, light rays converge at a point before diverging. At that focal point, light is concentrated to a single point, making it extremely hot.

Conversely, after light passes through a concave lens, it disperses, weakening the heat.

Ning Rongrong seemed to understand the principle of the Photography Box’s imaging, with just an added step of recording the image. Then, thinking of something, she suddenly asked, “So, are our human eyes also a type of convex lens?”

“You could say that. The human brain is like us, previously confined in darkness. The pupil is like the small hole I made in the window curtain, and the convex lens is like the clear, transparent, soft, adjustable convex lens in our pupils.”

Seeing that Ning Rongrong could draw inferences, Tang San was naturally willing to explain more. “As for why the presented image is inverted, it’s because the room earlier wasn’t a real human brain and couldn’t process it. Our brains are extremely complex and can actively adjust and correct the image.”

“As for why the image played by the Photography Box is upright, it’s actually very simple: because the recorded image is also inverted inside the Photography Box, when played back, the light also passes through the convex lens and the small hole, naturally transforming the inverted image into an upright one.”

The environment greatly influences a person’s personality, even for adults whose values are already established.

To give an extreme example, a person living a comfortable life with a gentle personality, if suddenly placed in a resource-scarce environment, will inevitably become cunning after “surviving” for a period.

165: Return to Tiandou Royal Academy

The appearance of the photography box greatly interested Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and others, who keenly realized that this thing might change the way information is recorded.

From the perspective of the Spirit Master Tournament, this photography equipment could record every match, allowing for more comprehensive analysis afterward.

If reconnaissance personnel used this photography box, it would greatly aid in recording intelligence and information, truly like adding wings to a tiger.

"This spirit tool is very suitable for reconnaissance in war," Yu Feng said.

"War? No, the original purpose of creating this thing was just to record images, spread messages, or to show movies." Tang San shook his head, handed the photography box back to Guang Ling, and explained with a smile.

Its fundamental purpose was mainly to expand the influence of the Spirit Master Tournament.

"What is a movie?" Huo Wu asked.

"You've probably seen operas, right?" Tang San used the existing operas on the Douluo Continent as an example. "A movie is a story similar to an opera, but you don't have to go to an opera house to watch it. As long as there's a projection screen and a spirit tool that can record, you can find actors, record, and then play it back, bringing spiritual enjoyment to people."

"So that's what a movie is."

Huo Wu and the others naturally knew what operas were.

But—

"Why isn't it called 'Light Image' or 'Spirit Image'?" Huo Wu wondered.

"After all, it uses spirit power as energy, and it uses light and shadows. Why 'electricity'?"

"Because electricity as an energy source is much simpler than spirit power; after all, the number of Spirit Masters on the Continent is extremely small... Besides, 'movie' sounds smoother when read aloud." This was Tang San's habit from his previous Life; since the naming rights were in his hands, he didn't need to care about others' opinions.

Huo Wu and the others didn't press the matter, as they preferred to train their bodies and improve their spirit power rather than focus on spirit tools.

It was fortunate that what Guang Ling first created was not an offensive spirit tool; otherwise, these people might not have accepted it.

Everything needs to be done slowly.

After the photography box was created, Guang Ling spent every day, apart from cultivating, improving the photography box, and she improved two types of photography boxes.

One could only be used for taking photos; it had a special long slot where a stiff piece of paper could be inserted. By inputting spirit power and pressing the shutter, it could record an instant image.

The other was for recording video, but it incorporated the basic spirit tool runes for wind and lightning, combined with light and darkness. With Tang San's help, they conducted numerous experiments and finally improved it into a spirit tool photography box capable of recording sound.

Thus, in the following time, Guang Ling used the spirit tool camera and spirit tool photography box to record the daily Life scenes of everyone in the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team at the Star Luo Royal Academy.

Huo Wu and the others saw their own images in the photographs; apart from not moving, they were exactly like their real selves, and their expressions at the time were lifelike.

"This thing will make many painters lose their jobs."

Huo Wu put away the photo and grumbled, "What about the cost? It shouldn't be very expensive, right?"

"Currently, it's handmade, and the parts are crafted by Third Brother, so it's a bit more expensive. But once these things can be mass-produced like the spirit tools for daily Life on the market, the price will be low, similar to spirit tool lamps and spirit tool fans," Guang Ling said. "After all, the materials themselves aren't expensive."

As for whether this thing would make painters on the Continent lose their jobs?

Guang Ling indicated that it had nothing to do with her.

A spirit tool camera only records images; its essence is to record information, not to paint. In terms of artistry, it cannot compare to the unbridled imagination of a painter.

However, if the right angle and environment are found, the human images captured by this spirit tool camera might well rival the aesthetic art created by painters.

Perhaps, these two things will give rise to new art forms.

"That's true."

Huo Wu bought a spirit tool camera and a spirit tool video camera from Guang Ling, and others did the same. After all, these were extremely novel items, and they were also purely handmade by Tang San and Guang Ling, giving them collection value.

The students of the Star Luo Royal Academy noticed the camera spirit tool and video spirit tool in the hands of the Heaven Dou Royal Academy members and wanted to buy them, but Huo Wu and the others managed to trick them.

Although the spirit tool camera and spirit tool photography box's main function was to record images, their reconnaissance value in war was not small, so they naturally could not be revealed to the Star Luo Empire.

Xu Xing understood what those things were, but he couldn't make them. He also knew the principle of pinhole imaging, but without specific blueprints, he couldn't manufacture a camera.

Although the Star Crown Sect was a large and wealthy Sect, it wouldn't allow a genius disciple to waste his talent on researching cameras. Moreover, he himself didn't know the specific manufacturing methods and working principles of the spirit tool camera.

He had seen and memorized the twelve basic runes for spirit tool Creation at the time, but researching them was too mentally taxing, and the people of the Star Crown Sect wouldn't allow him to waste his precious cultivation time researching those incomprehensible spirit tool patterns.

The spirit tool mechs at the Golden Ancient Tree were indeed powerful, but the Elders of the Star Crown Sect believed that they were not something Spirit Masters could create, and spending time researching them would likely yield nothing.

This was a matter of perception.

And although Xu Xing was a transmigrator with extraordinary talent, his background in a major Sect destined him to adapt to the environment within the Sect and not have too many free-thinking ideas.

In short, it was still the same saying: the most important thing for a major Sect is the continuation of its legacy, not taking risks.

Xu Xing, with your innate full spirit power, why aren't you diligently cultivating to quickly become a Titled Douluo, inheriting and glorifying the Star Crown Sect? Instead, you're researching spirit tools and the like. Isn't that a complete waste of your excellent cultivation talent?

The older generation in the Sect basically shared this view, and the younger generation, influenced by their Elders, had similar ideas through long exposure.

Even if Xu Xing wanted to research, he couldn't truly do it.

After all, the Elders and Sect Master of the Star Crown Sect all hoped he could bear great responsibilities; how could they allow him to neglect his duties for trivial pursuits?

"Times are changing. Is this Tang San going to completely mess up the plot?" Xu Xing sighed helplessly, finally giving up the idea of researching spirit tools and preparing to diligently cultivate.

Strength is the foundation.

He had to quickly reach Titled Douluo to cope with the already unpredictable future...

...

In a flash, the exchange period between the Heaven Dou Royal Academy Battle Team and the Star Luo Royal Academy ended.

In the past half-year, Tang San mainly researched and perfected Carefree Wind Riding, passing it on to Xiao Wu and Guang Ling. His own Jade Bone Technique, under the training of the waterfall, had completely jadeified the bones in his limbs and shoulders, leaving only the trunk bones, spine, and skull to be completed. His spirit power also reached forty-four ranks.

Xiao Wu, with the Jade Bone Technique, had already jade-ified her two thigh bones, followed by the metacarpals of her hands, and her spirit power also reached forty-four ranks.

Guang Ling, with the Jade Bone Technique, had completely cultivated the metacarpals of both hands and feet. Like Tang San, she was relatively balanced, and her spirit power reached thirty-five ranks.

She spent part of her time researching spirit tools, which delayed some of her cultivation time, but with Tang San's auxiliary training, she was still no worse than other Spirit Elders and was expected to become a Spirit Ancestor before the age of fourteen.

Huo Wu's spirit power reached forty-six ranks.

Yu Tianheng's spirit power reached forty-three ranks.

Dugu Yan's spirit power reached forty-two ranks.

Ning Rongrong's spirit power reached thirty-six ranks.

Bai Chenxiang's spirit power reached thirty-four ranks.

Oslo's spirit power reached thirty-seven ranks.

Ye Lingling's spirit power reached thirty-nine ranks.

Lan Yinzi's spirit power reached thirty-six ranks.

Yu Feng's spirit power reached thirty-seven ranks.

Shi Mo's spirit power reached thirty-eight ranks.

Shi Mo's spirit power reached thirty-eight ranks.

Over the past half-year, everyone's progress has been very significant. When the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament begins, everyone will definitely be a Spirit Ancestor, and even Huo Wu and Yu Tianheng might become Spirit Kings.

Bai Chenxiang's spirit power rank was a bit lower, but in terms of control over spirit power, her progress was even faster than Huo Wu's, second only to Guang Ling.

This was because her Spirit was the Needle Tailed Swift, known for its speed, and her reaction ability was also top-notch. Her control over spirit power was already the strongest among them, besides Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling.

After all, with such high speed, if she didn't control it well, she'd crash and get badly injured.

Qin Ming saw that under Tang San's leadership, everyone made remarkable progress, especially Oslo, Ye Lingling, Yu Feng, Shi Mo, and Shi Mo. Their spirit power all approached forty ranks, and they were expected to become Spirit Ancestors within this year. As long as these five didn't slack off before the tournament began, their spirit power would at worst reach forty-three ranks.

This generation's Heaven Dou Royal Main Battle Team consisted entirely of heaven's chosen ones!

"Tang San, I won't lose to you in the tournament."

Within half a year, Dai Weisi had also challenged Tang San, but Tang San was unable to use his Spirit, only relying on his spirit power to contend with him.

This made Dai Weisi develop a strong sense of rivalry towards Tang San.

Although he was a Prince, he was also a Spirit Master, and coupled with the fierce customs of the Star Luo Empire, he could genuinely respect the strong.

"I look forward to it." Tang San shook hands with Dai Weisi, feeling that this person was more open-minded than Dai Mubai.

"I won't let you be disappointed." Dai Weisi laughed, then said to Yu Tianheng, "Yu Tianheng, when the time comes, let's have a match too, how about it?"

"No problem." Yu Tianheng was also looking forward to it. In the past six months, he and Dai Weisi had also competed, with wins and losses. His White Tiger's kingly aura was no less domineering than his Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon's.

"Oh, by the way, there's something I need to ask of you." Dai Weisi and the members of the Star Luo Battle Team moved aside, allowing Zhu Zhuqing, with her youthful face and ample bosom, to step forward.

"This person, you all know her, Zhu Zhuqing. Because her Hell Civet Spirit has awakened its true dark power, the name Hell is well-deserved."

"Now that she has lost her Spirit connection with Dai Mubai, her engagement with him has also been dissolved..."

"Now, for the sake of the alliance between Star Luo and Heaven Dou, our Star Luo Royal Academy has decided to have her study at Heaven Dou Royal Academy. I wonder what Mr. Qin Ming and the esteemed members of Heaven Dou Royal Academy think?"

Qin Ming immediately said, "This is naturally our honor. However, has your academy sent relevant letters to Heaven Dou Royal Academy?"

"Naturally." Dai Weisi smiled and said, "Two months ago, a letter personally stamped by my Imperial Father and the Three Education Committee within the Academy has already been sent out."

Zhu Zhuyun walked up to Zhu Zhuqing and smiled, "Little sister, you must cherish this opportunity. After all, you fought for this yourself."

"Mm."

Zhu Zhuqing remained aloof, but in the past six months, Zhu Zhuyun's attitude towards her had improved significantly, and the deep sisterly bond they had before the age of six had been rekindled.

Although six years of estrangement could not be resolved in half a year, at least there was no longer any conflict of interest between them, and mutual closeness was also inevitable.

"Mr. Qin Ming, if you see my good-for-nothing younger brother, you can tell him that he can come back. He has already lost the qualification to compete. Imperial Father is preparing to arrange for him to enter the White Tiger Sect."

Dai Weisi leaned close to Qin Ming's ear and whispered, "Although the competition within our Star Luo Imperial family is cruel, we will not completely eliminate descendants who lack the ability to compete. After all, it's not possible for us to produce two 'Hell White Tiger' in every generation, is it? The members of the White Tiger Sect are mostly composed of royal descendants who are unable to compete, which can also be considered a precautionary measure."

Qin Ming understood and nodded, feeling much more relaxed internally.

The biggest problem for Shrek to join Heaven Dou Royal Academy was Dai Mubai and Zhu Zhuqing.

Now, due to fate, Zhu Zhuqing's Spirit had truly awakened its dark power, and she had lost the possibility of Martial Soul Fusion with Dai Mubai, thus losing her ability to compete.

Zhu Zhuqing could go to Heaven Dou Royal Academy for exchange, and Dai Mubai could return to Star Luo and join the White Tiger Sect. The problem was solved, which could be said to be the best of both worlds.

"Please rest assured, Prince, I will definitely inform Dai Mubai." Qin Ming promised.

"Haha, Mr. Qin Ming, don't be so serious."

Dai Weisi chuckled, "That younger brother of mine is quite a handful."

The Heaven Dou Royal Academy's carriage set off.

A month and a half later.

Under the swift travel of the royal carriage, they arrived at Soto City again and went to Shrek Academy.

Upon learning that Zhu Zhuqing had dissolved their engagement and that he had lost his ability to compete, Dai Mubai was furious: "This must be fake, right?"

"Zhuqing, how could you dissolve our engagement?"

Although not having to compete with Dai Weisi meant Dai Mubai could live, he still harbored hopes for the throne compared to joining the White Tiger Sect.

More importantly, Zhu Zhuqing was his fiancée!

Now their engagement was dissolved, and it was even decided by his Imperial Father himself... Where would he put his face?

How would Oscar, Ma Hongjun, and Mu Tian look at him?

Perhaps with the threat to his Life gone, Dai Mubai's self-esteem took over his mind, and he stared intently at Zhu Zhuqing: "Do you not have any feelings for me at all?"

"No." Zhu Zhuqing said coldly, "You ran away when you were eight, and I've only met you once or twice. What feelings are there to speak of? Moreover, after I came to Shrek Academy, although you pretended for a while in front of me, you still indulged yourself, lingering among flowers, with no intention of changing. I couldn't even develop a good impression of you."

"Now, my Spirit has awakened its dark power because it absorbed the spirit ring of the Dark Demonic Evil God Tiger, and it no longer has a Spirit connection with your White Tiger. That paper engagement naturally becomes void."

"This is also a good thing for you. At least, your Elder brother won't target you anymore, and you can live. If you work hard, you can even strive for the position of Sect Master of the White Tiger Sect."

Dai Mubai gritted his teeth: "Then where do I put my face?"

"As long as you are strong enough, no one will dare to speak ill of you. Moreover, the matter of the engagement, apart from the great families, commoners know nothing about it. And people from great families wouldn't make fun of the Imperial family." After Zhu Zhuqing finished speaking, she no longer paid attention to Dai Mubai, but instead said to Flender, "Dean Flender, thank you for your care during my days at Shrek. I have been requested by the Star Luo Empire and Star Luo Royal Academy to serve as a bridge of alliance between the Two Great Empires and join Heaven Dou Royal Academy. I am no longer a Shrek student, and I hope you will understand."

ε=(o ` *))) Alas

Flender sighed deeply, then smiled: "It's alright. Anyway, you weren't at Shrek for many days."

Yu Xiaogang, however, was deep in thought.

His focus was not on Zhu Zhuqing's identity, but on the Dark Demonic Evil God Tiger. He had only seen such a Spirit Beast in ancient texts stored in Spirit Hall, and had thought it was just a legend. He never expected it to actually exist.

Moreover, a single spirit ring could actually allow the Hell Civet to awaken its dark power.

Could its corpse be studied?

So, he asked.

"Sorry, Grandmaster Yu." Although she knew Yu Xiaogang's abilities were weak, Zhu Zhuqing still showed him respect, "The Dark Demonic Evil God Tiger's corpse turned directly into dust and dispersed with the wind after I finished absorbing its spirit ring."

At that time, everyone who witnessed that scene was astonished.

Tang San was better, but he was also surprised that the Dark Demonic Evil God Tiger did not produce the pearl from the original work... Perhaps it was because the Dark Demonic Evil God Tiger was only three thousand years old and had not condensed an inner core or similar object.

"That's truly a pity." Yu Xiaogang sighed, but in his heart, he suspected that Zhu Zhuqing did not want to hand over the Dark Demonic Evil God Tiger's corpse, after all, the legendary super Spirit Beast must be extremely precious.

Immediately after, Qin Ming brought up the matter of Shrek joining Heaven Dou Royal Academy. As long as Dai Mubai returned to the Star Luo Empire and joined the White Tiger Sect, the identity issues of Shrek and the others could be resolved.

"I'm not going back!" Although Dai Mubai believed that Zhu Zhuqing would not lie about such a matter, returning to the Star Luo Empire meant facing Dai Weisi.

That older brother had left him with a considerable psychological shadow.

Even if he didn't have to compete with him, Dai Mubai didn't dare to face him, let alone that the White Tiger Sect also needed to obey the Star Luo Imperial family. Even if he became the Sect Master, what good would it do? He would still be suppressed by Dai Weisi.

Better to be the head of a chicken than the tail of a phoenix.

Here in Heaven Dou, he was at least free.

At this point, everyone in the Heaven Dou Royal First Team had clearly seen Dai Mubai's true character: cowardly and timid.

Before, he felt he couldn't compete and was afraid of death. Although they secretly despised him, they also felt it was human nature; but now, with the threat to his Life gone, he was still afraid to go back, which was simply a waste of the "White Tiger," a beast king-level Spirit.

"Mubai, what kind of behavior is this?" Flender shouted. The Spirit Saint's aura made Dai Mubai regain his composure, and then he said to Qin Ming, "Qin Ming, you all go back first. We'll consider it again."

"This... Alright."

Helplessly, Qin Ming could only take Tang San and the others back to the Royal Academy first, but he harbored a bit of resentment towards Dai Mubai in his heart—if it weren't for him, the other teachers and students of Shrek Academy could have joined Heaven Dou Royal Academy!

166: The controversy over protection fees

When Qin Ming drove the royal carriage back to Heaven Dou Royal Academy, the entrance was already filled with teachers and students from the Heaven Dou Royal Academy. Emperor Xue Ye, Prince Xue Xing, Xue Qinghe, Xue Beng, and the Three Education Committee were also present.

Evidently, this was to welcome Zhu Zhuqing from the Star Luo Empire.

"Welcome Miss Zhu Zhuqing to join Heaven Dou Royal Academy, to forge friendship between the two nations, and promote cooperation between both sides..." Emperor Xue Ye began his long speech again.

Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and the others from Heaven Dou Royal Academy couldn't stand the atmosphere and left early.

After the half-year exchange concluded, for the remaining half year, Qin Ming didn't make many arrangements, allowing Tang San and the others to cultivate or research on their own.

A shaking water volleyball court was also built on the lake within Heaven Dou Royal Academy. This novel competitive sport attracted many noble disciples to try it.

However, their strength was too poor, and they often fell into the water, which diminished their gaming experience.

Thus, some noble disciples pondered for a while and moved the court from the lake to land, removing the shaking suspension bridge and changing it to flat ground.

True volleyball was born!

Only then did the noble students truly enjoy the fun.

But for Yu Tianheng and the others, this simplified game had no difficulty and provided little training effect, making it insignificant. Water shaking volleyball was better for training body balance and soul power control.

Meanwhile, Tang San himself, accompanied by Guang Ling, bought a relatively large workshop in Heaven Dou City that manufactured life soul guidance devices. He purchased raw materials, set up assembly lines, and began producing soul guidance cameras and soul guidance photography boxes.

Then, Tang San found the Heaven Dou Newspaper office and, using his status as a Heaven Dou Royal Academy student, paid a small fee to widely spread the news of the soul guidance camera and soul guidance photography box.

Following this, Tang San had Guang Ling, in the capacity of his disciple, write a manufacturing theory for the soul guidance camera and soul guidance photography box, and marked it with the concept of "patent."

That is to say, the soul guidance patterns of the soul guidance camera and soul guidance photography box were exclusive to Tang San and Guang Ling. Without their permission, if others dared to imitate them, they could demand compensation and even request the Spirit Hall to enforce the law to protect their intellectual property.

Furthermore, Tang San emphasized the importance of protecting intellectual property: encouraging innovation, sparking inspiration, promoting the development of soul guidance technology, and so on.

Of course, these were all superficial.

To get the Spirit Hall to help protect, a certain fee had to be paid.

Everyone has a long-term vision, but people need to eat, and they still need to focus on tangible benefits, otherwise, everything is superficial.

Therefore.

After Guang Ling finished writing all the content, Tang San did not immediately have her hand it over to Ma Xiunuo. Instead, he found Ning Rongrong again and asked her to contact Ning Fengzhi, expressing his willingness to authorize the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, reaching a cooperation similar to the previous qipaos.

The moment Ning Fengzhi obtained the soul guidance camera and soul guidance photography box, he realized the strategic importance of these items and did not want Tang San to sell them.

But this is why Tang San first bought a workshop.

These two soul guidance devices indeed had strategic significance, but if everyone had them, their strategic significance in reconnaissance and information recording would decrease.

And by the time Ning Fengzhi found Tang San, the soul guidance camera and soul guidance photography box were already circulating on the market, and he couldn't forcefully buy Tang San and Guang Ling's soul guidance workshop, or suppress them... After all, Rongrong was somewhat leaning towards Tang San's side.

Helpless, Ning Fengzhi could only make arrangements.

With the soul guidance camera and soul guidance photography box, Tang San invited Ning Rongrong, Xiao Wu, Huo Wu, Ye Lingling, Zhu Zhuqing, and others to wear qipaos and recorded videos and took photos of them.

This not only promoted the soul guidance camera and soul guidance photography box but also promoted the qipao.

For a time, the entire Heaven Dou City knew about qipaos and soul guidance cameras and soul guidance photography boxes.

The Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's half-year promotion of qipaos was not as effective as those exquisite and vibrant photos.

In just one month, the sales of qipaos, soul guidance photography boxes, and soul guidance cameras reached twenty million. After deducting the share to be given to Tang San, the net income of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School in this month exceeded forty million golden soul coins, surpassing their usual annual net income.

"Forty million golden soul coins, in one month!" When Sword Douluo learned of this, he felt like he was dreaming. "That Tang San is truly a talent."

"I also didn't expect that the combination of qipao, soul guidance photography box, and soul guidance camera would be so valuable. Moreover, the sales of the life soul guidance devices we originally sold have also greatly increased after being promoted through photography and videography." Ning Fengzhi stroked the soul guidance camera, his face full of disbelief. "This thing actually has such a great use... However, the most important thing is Tang San's mind. This is the real advertisement, convenient for dissemination, and easy to record."

Bone Douluo picked up the soul guidance photography box and took a few photos of the outside of the hall, also sighing, "This is truly widespread advertising!"

Sword Douluo said, "However, there are also problems. That is, the soul guidance patterns inside the soul guidance photography box and soul guidance camera are relatively simple, and the structure is not complicated. People from the Lower Four Sects can easily imitate them."

"This is a problem." Ning Fengzhi understood that he couldn't prevent others from imitating and pirating. Heaven Dou City was manageable, but outside Heaven Dou City, and even in the Star Luo Empire, it was beyond his reach.

And the force that could influence the disputes across the entire continent was the Spirit Hall.

But the Spirit Hall doesn't handle commercial disputes...

"Dad, look, the new issue of Wuhun News!" Ning Rongrong ran into the living room conference room and handed the Wuhun News to Ning Fengzhi.

"Truly a great talent!"

Ning Fengzhi's eyes gleamed.

The Wuhun News introduced that Tang San and his disciple "Chasing the Sun" (pen name) had researched the soul guidance camera and soul guidance photography box, and applied to the Spirit Hall for the concept of intellectual property proposed by Tang San. That is, paying the Spirit Hall ten million golden soul coins annually, and the Spirit Hall would need to protect Tang San and "Chasing the Sun"'s related intellectual rights regarding the soul guidance camera, soul guidance photography box, etc., prohibiting others from arbitrarily imitating or cooperating.

If anyone dared to imitate, Tang San and "Chasing the Sun" could demand compensation from the relevant personnel or forces with vested interests. If the other party was unreasonable, they could ask any Spirit Hall Branch for help in enforcing the law and upholding justice.

This was equivalent to paying money (protection fee) to the Spirit Hall to get the Spirit Hall to do things.

The Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School had to give Tang San a share, which was also equivalent to indirectly giving money to the Spirit Hall. Spirit Hall personnel would also give more convenience to Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School members when they met them in the future.

Brilliant!

Although this form could not prevent small workshops from imitating and copying, Ning Fengzhi also didn't care about the profits of those small workshops.

What he valued was...

Tang San, relying on the so-called intellectual property, formed a chain of interests with the Spirit Hall.

For major powers, only interests are the most tangible. Everything else, whether it is an alliance or an oath, is superficial and unreliable.

But the tangible interests, the golden soul coins measured in tens of millions, were very tempting.

Thus, Ning Fengzhi also ordered people to write intellectual property applications for various life soul guidance devices within the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's industries and provided relevant evidence to show that they were invented by the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

"Dad, isn't this a bit excessive?" Ning Rongrong knew that the soul guidance patterns of those life soul guidance devices were left behind from ancient times and were only collected by the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. Saying that they were invented by the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, wasn't it a bit... thick-skinned?

"Ahem, the interests are too great, so we have to do this." Ning Fengzhi was unwilling for other forces to compete with him for exclusive sales. Furthermore, after this issue of Wuhun News came out, other Sects and families would also apply for intellectual property. If he acted like a gentleman, he wouldn't get any benefits at all.

However, Ning Fengzhi believed that the Spirit Hall would choose their Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

For no other reason, their Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School had the most complete and largest amount of relevant data on life soul guidance devices. One Sect could give the Spirit Hall nearly five hundred million golden soul coins annually, which was much more convenient than cooperating with other small Sects, small forces, or small businesses...

...

Inside Spirit Hall City.

Bibi Dong looked at the large pile of intellectual property application documents after Tang San and Guang Ling, feeling quite a headache—that kid Tang San had significantly increased her workload.

However, these things were indeed profitable. With the confirmation of one life soul guidance device application, the Spirit Hall would have an income of ten million golden soul coins annually. With so many applications, how could it be less than hundreds of billions?

Even after removing a large number of overlapping ones, the annual income would still be close to ten billion.

This was more than five times the golden soul coins circulated from the Two Great Empires annually.

Correspondingly, once intellectual property was confirmed, she also had to make arrangements to inform Spirit Hall personnel across the continent of the specific situation and then carry out enforcement.

Regarding Tang San's explanation of intellectual property protection, Bibi Dong felt it was very reasonable.

Something that someone painstakingly and deeply thought out and designed can be easily imitated by others, while the original creator gains no benefit. This will inevitably greatly reduce creative enthusiasm and slow down the emergence of new things.

However, intellectual property protection fees, paid annually, also need to be adjusted based on the function of the invention.

For things like soul guidance cameras, the annual fee should be at least ten million golden soul coins.

For non-soul guidance devices, the fee ranges from one hundred to one hundred thousand golden soul coins.

After all, some unique weapons also have great utility.

"Teacher, a large number of applications from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School overlap with some application content from other powers. Whose should be removed?" Hu Liena, who was helping Bibi Dong sort things out, held up two documents applying for the intellectual property of soul guidance lamps.

"Remove the ones that are not from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School," Bibi Dong decided. After all, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School had the most applications, and it would be more convenient for the Spirit Hall to collect money in the future without having to go to so many places.

"Understood." Hu Liena nodded, took out the documents from those who applied for the same intellectual property but were not from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, and threw them into the trash can beside her...

...

"Intellectual property? That guy named Tang is really good at stirring up trouble."

Inside the haotian Sect.

The Elders received the Wuhun News delivered to the Sect by Tang Yuehua and sneered coldly.

"They're just some strange and clever techniques!"

"Not worth mentioning."

"Giving money to the Spirit Hall? And ten million? They must be out of their minds!"

"This is the weak, who can only beg the Spirit Hall for protection."

Listening to the teachings of the haotian Sect Elders, the Hao Tian Disciples nodded repeatedly.

Tang Xiao, looking through the Wuhun News, did see something, but having stayed in the Sect for many years, his thinking was somewhat rigid and he couldn't grasp the key points. However, he could confirm one thing: this Tang San was definitely extraordinarily intelligent.

Because Yuehua hadn't told the people in the Sect Tang San's identity, after all, Tang Hao was a sinner of the haotian Sect, and Tang Yuehua didn't want his son to be cursed by the people of the haotian Sect as well.

And within the Moon Pavilion.

Tang Yuehua put down the Wuhun News and said to Tang Hao, who was sitting opposite her, "Xiao San's ability to make money truly amazes me. Ning Fengzhi of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School might even feel ashamed of himself. And just by relying on a mere concept and explanation of intellectual property, he has formed a relationship of interest with the Spirit Hall and is protected by the Spirit Hall."

"It's just a minor skill," Tang Hao said dismissively. He only believed in strength.

"Alas, you are still the same as before, looking down on everything except strength," Tang Yuehua sighed and said, "Second Brother, how are your injuries?"

"Half a year ago, after Xiao San's treatment, and another half a year of recovery, they are almost healed," Tang Hao clenched his fists, feeling the condition of his body, feeling a bit excited.

If he could, he would directly declare war on the Spirit Hall: He, Tang Hao, haotian douluo, is back!

"What do you plan to do next?" Tang Yuehua asked, "You severed your father-son relationship with Xiao San and haven't seen him for six years. It's normal that he doesn't recognize you. Should I..."

"No need," Tang Hao's tone sank, "He already has the power to protect himself. I don't need to watch him from the shadows. That rabbit... forget it."

He had also seen Xiao Wu's current situation. He didn't know what method she used to hide her soul beast aura. With Tang San's intelligence, he must have guessed it and shouldn't take risks.

Therefore, he didn't need to pay too much attention.

However, he couldn't tell Tang Yuehua about this.

Tang Yuehua's expression darkened, understanding that she couldn't gain her second brother's complete trust because her soul power was only level nine, and she couldn't enter the true soul master World.

Involuntarily, she thought of the method to potentially break through to level ten that Tang San had told her—

Did she really have to give up everything she had built in the Moon Pavilion and abandon all the pride taught by the haotian Sect?

"Next, I'm going to the Slaughter City," Tang Hao suddenly said.

"Why go there?" Tang Yuehua was startled, "Haven't you already obtained the god of slaughter domain? What's there to go to in a place full of The Fallen?"

"If the god of slaughter domain wants to evolve, slaughter is the best choice. Those people there, I can kill them without any psychological burden," Tang Hao's words were full of indifference.

In fact, the various spirit hall branches were also good places to vent, but it was not easy to cause trouble at this time. He had to break through his current realm first—

"Only in a place like that can I quickly cultivate to level ninety-nine."

"A Yin was stolen, and I can't find her. So, I can only hope to break through to a higher realm and then go search for her."

After he finished speaking, before Tang Yuehua could react, the Tang Hao in front of her disappeared. His speed was so fast that ordinary people couldn't react at all.

When strength reaches a certain level, speed will naturally not be slow.

The classification of soul masters is mostly effective only for low-level soul masters. At the title douluo level, even a support system soul master's speed, strength, defense, soul power, etc., are far beyond what ordinary people can compare to...

...

Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon family.

Yu Yuanzhen looked at the Spirit Hall's reply and found that the intellectual property applications for daily life soul guidance devices had not been approved. He knew that they must have been taken by the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

"Hmph, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, they really don't leave even a drop of soup. However, is the Spirit Hall so poor that they don't give my Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon family any face?"

Yu Luomian thought for a while and said, "It might be because the main income of our family's industry is not from selling daily life soul guidance devices."

"That's true. The entire Heaven Dou's daily life soul guidance device industry has always been sold by the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School," Yu Yuanzhen nodded, "Losing this much is not a big deal, just consider it giving face to the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School."

"But what else is worth applying for?"

Yu Luomian tentatively asked, "The family's medicinal bath formula?"

"Are you brain-damaged?" Yu Yuanzhen even suspected whether Yu Luomian was too distraught over his daughter and had become stupid, "Can such a top priority of the family be sold?"

The Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon family's medicinal bath formula was the fundamental reason why the disciples within the Sect surpassed other soul masters.

Even if other families wanted to buy it, they could only buy the finished medicinal powder. The corresponding formula with proportions would absolutely not be revealed. That was one of the foundations of a Sect.

"Brother is right, but just because we don't sell it doesn't mean other families won't. We have sold a lot of finished medicinal powder for medicinal baths to other families. There might be many talented people in their families who can analyze some of it. At that time, they might turn around and attack us, and if the Spirit Hall intervenes, we might be in the wrong."

If the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon family had multiple title douluo, they naturally wouldn't be afraid of the Spirit Hall.

However, the power with the most title douluo was the Spirit Hall.

Moreover, in Yu Luomian's opinion, the medicinal formula was not the foundation of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon family's standing.

Didn't they usually sell the finished medicinal powder to others anyway?

That was actually not much different from publicizing the formula.

If they told the Spirit Hall, it would also save others from secretly researching it.

Furthermore, their Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon family's medicinal bath formula had the best effect on those who possessed the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon martial soul.

Besides, they could purchase a large amount of medicinal herbs. Others who wanted to imitate it wouldn't have many opportunities and could only purchase the finished medicinal bath powder from them.

After all, a clever housewife cannot cook without rice.

Just like whale jelly, everyone knew it was a good thing, but after the whale jelly on the market was bought out, how many people dared to go to the unfathomable deep sea?

Even ordinary whales lived in the deep sea area, which was difficult for even a title douluo to catch.

Similarly, they would first buy out the medicinal herbs used to make the medicinal bath on the market, then apply for the patent, and then start the blue lightning tyrant medicinal bath industry, setting a higher price. Wouldn't they be able to recover the costs?

And with more money, they could buy more precious resources that were not available on the market.

For example: ten thousand year whale jelly.

Yu Luomian believed that as long as enough money was offered, someone who had secretly collected ten thousand year whale jelly would take it out.

"I'll consider it." After listening to Yu Luomian's analysis, Yu Yuanzhen was a little hesitant, but he was already tempted. However, he still needed to wait and see first.

Then, the Huo Family applied first.

Huo Wu discussed it with her family and brought out the Huo Family's medicinal bath formula. Under Tang San's introduction, she went to the Spirit Hall in Heaven Dou and applied for a patent.

Platinum Bishop Salas knew that Tang San was that Martial Soul Theory Master, and the pope had even dispatched a soul douluo to protect him personally (Ling Yuan had already returned from hunting soul beasts and officially became a soul douluo), so he naturally didn't dare to neglect him.....

167: Communication with Dugubo

After the Huo Family's medicinal bath formula's intellectual property was reported for application, Spirit City dispatched a reconnaissance-type agility-attack system Spirit Master within three days to provide a response.

The intellectual property of the medicinal bath formula was confirmed, allowing only the Huo Family or those authorized by the Huo Family to produce and sell it. If anyone produced and sold it without authorization, they could report it to the Spirit Hall in various locations, and the local Spirit Hall enforcement personnel would resolve the issue.

Correspondingly, the Huo Family needed to pay Spirit Hall one hundred thousand gold coins annually.

In addition, Spirit Hall also collaborated with the Huo Family, purchasing a ten-year authorization for the formula from them, and publishing it in Wuhun News to demonstrate Spirit Hall's sincerity to the entire Douluo Continent.

Since then, many small families, after purchasing a large quantity of raw materials, successively applied to Spirit Hall for relevant medicinal bath formula certifications.

Correspondingly, the herb gathering and cultivation industries on the Douluo Continent also boomed. Some elders specializing in medicinal formula research even began to take on disciples, guiding them to study the effects of various plants and starting to improve and create entirely new medicinal formulas.

Although the best proportioned formulas were kept secret, thousands of new formulas, even those only disseminated externally, appeared in the past month.

“Indeed, only through the collision of collective wisdom can a beautiful future be achieved.” Tang San purchased a large number of finished medicinal bath formulas of various types and began to analyze their proportions.

Xiao Wu Jie helped a lot with this.

After all, she was a Ten-thousand year soul beast who had taken human form. Although she knew nothing about medicinal formulas, she could instinctively smell what plants the powdered raw materials were, and how much they should be mixed to be most beneficial to the human body.

Therefore, in less than half a month, Tang San, relying on the formulas collected from the market, concocted a completely new medicinal bath formula: the Hundred Herbs Bath.

Tang San first used it according to his own physical condition and found it effective for cultivating vital energy and condensing Jade Bone. He then adjusted the corresponding water and powder mixing ratios according to Xiao Wu and Guang Ling's physical conditions, allowing them to take the medicinal bath.

The two girls' speed of condensing Jade Bone also accelerated, and their spirit power could also slowly increase.

“Third Brother, I even have a talent for compounding medicine.” The successful concoction of the Hundred Herbs Bath gave Xiao Wu confidence in alchemy.

Tang San was happy to see this.

However, in Tang San's opinion, Xiao Wu could not tolerate the medical texts currently available on the Douluo Continent. Whether she could persist for a month with those densely packed characters was still unknown.

“Having interest is a good thing, but don't give up after just a few days.” Tang San provoked her.

“Hehe, when has Xiao Wu Jie ever given up?” Xiao Wu patted her chest, making a guarantee, but then seeing the densely packed tadpole-like characters in the medical book, she immediately deflated, “Is this really a medicinal formula, and not some child's scribble?”

The medicinal formulas on the Douluo Continent, their characters were no different from the prescriptions written by doctors in modern hospitals; the writing was very abstract, and ordinary people could not understand it at all.

“Of course it is. In the future, you'll have a lot to learn.” Tang San handed Xiao Wu a notebook. This was his compilation over the past half-month, comparing the characters written by doctors with normal characters.

Only then could Xiao Wu understand.

Xiao Wu suddenly felt like she was back in Notting Academy learning to read, everything had to start from scratch...

...

While Xiao Wu was diligently studying, Tang San was called out by Dugu Yan.

“What does Dugu Yan want with Third Brother? Has she fallen for him instead?” Xiao Wu noticed Dugu Yan's figure and felt a bit nervous. “Really, one after another, they all cling to Third Brother. Zhuqing, Huo Wu, and now Dugu Yan. By the way, aren't she and Yu Tianheng boyfriend and girlfriend? Did they really break up?”

But Dugu Yan came to find Tang San not for the reason Xiao Wu imagined, but because Dugu Bo wanted to see Tang San.

“Senior Dugu Bo?” Tang San was slightly surprised, but quickly regained his composure. “It seems he also knows about the effect of you absorbing the Zhu She Grass and wants to ask me some questions.”

Dugu Yan smiled helplessly: “You really can't hide anything from you. Also, if others knew my grandfather wanted to see him, they'd probably be scared stiff. Even Tianheng would be nervous. But you, you don't worry at all.”

“Ha, I naturally don't need to worry. After all, I have no grievances with your grandfather. As a Titled Douluo, he wouldn't bully a Spirit Ancestor like me, would he?” Tang San smiled calmly, “Moreover, I think your grandfather might also have something to ask for. After all, his Spirit is the Bi Lin Snake Emperor. He must have been deeply poisoned without knowing about the Zhu She Grass. If there's no medicinal formula, he won't be able to suppress the Spirit's poison at all.”

“You really guessed it right.” Dugu Yan chuckled, “However, my grandfather imitated the spirit power circulation of my Fourth Soul Skill and condensed the Spirit's poison into a poison pill created in his early experiments with poison control methods, which made it much easier. It's just that he is already a Titled Douluo, and the poisoning is quite deep. Moreover, imitation is ultimately just imitation, not as convenient as my Third Soul Skill.”

“Speaking of your Fourth Soul Skill, I still don't know what you named it.” Tang San asked.

“Bi Lin Pill Bead.” Dugu Yan opened her mouth, and a greenish pill bead was spat out, suspended in front of her. It emitted a misty, swirling energy, appearing in red, blue, and purple.

“Red is the poison from my First Soul Skill, which can increase my attack and speed by twenty percent by stimulating nerves and muscles; blue is the poison from my Second Soul Skill, which can paralyze opponents and increase my defense by thirty percent; the poison from my Third Soul Skill is purple, which can stimulate the internal organs, thereby achieving a Spirit Ability enhancement effect of about thirty-five percent.”

Tang San also learned about the effects of Dugu Yan's two Spirit Abilities for the first time, saying: “The increase is a bit small, but the main function is poison, not an amplification type of skill, right?”

“That's right, the main function is poison, not amplification, so the self-enhancement is far less than those Spirit Abilities whose main function is amplification.”

Dugu Yan smiled charmingly as she said this.

“However, what I just said was the effect before adding the Fourth spirit ring. After obtaining the Bi Lin Pill Bead Spirit Ability, the stimulating effects of the poisons from the first three Spirit Abilities on the flesh have greatly increased, reaching fifty percent. Moreover, due to the control of the pill bead, the damage of these poisons to my body is almost negligible. Even if I overdraw my spirit power, I will recover after a night's rest. It's just that overdrawing spirit power might harm cells and reduce lifespan.”

From the current perspective, Dugu Yan's Spirit's poison has been completely resolved.

As for overdrawing spirit power...

That would definitely only be done as a last resort, in very extreme circumstances.

Arriving at Dugu Manor, Tang San found it rather quiet, with no servants.

Dugu Yan explained: “Our family is different from other manors; we don't have servants. The daily cleaning is done by hiring cleaning staff from the city, and some areas are off-limits... You know, those of us who deal with poison always have some things that can't see the light of day.”

“Understood.” Tang San didn't ask further, simply following Dugu Yan into the living room.

“Haha, Grandmaster Tang San, I've long admired you. Seeing you today, you truly are extraordinary.” Dugu Bo rose from the main seat and walked towards Tang San, laughing heartily.

“Greetings, Senior Poison Douluo.” Tang San clasped his fists and bowed, all in one smooth motion.

“Let's skip these formalities, I don't like them.” Dugu Bo personally poured Tang San tea and told Dugu Yan to prepare some refreshments. After she left the living room, he said: “The Spirit's poison of my Dugu Family is unknown to ordinary people, yet I didn't expect it to be resolved by the Grandmaster. I am truly ashamed.”

“It's not exactly resolved.”

Tang San shook his head, “After all, I only have a superficial understanding of poisons. Being able to solve your granddaughter's problem was just luck. After all, Zhu She Grass can only solve Spirit snake poison; it can't solve other toxins.”

“Then I'll get straight to the point. I wonder if the poison in my body can be cured?” Dugu Bo asked, “I imitated the spirit power circulation route of my granddaughter's Fourth Soul Skill and found it had some effect, but my Titled Douluo-level poison is too deep. I can't cure it completely. Do you have any solutions, young friend?”

“If you can cure it, there will be a generous reward!”

Tang San pondered, thinking about Dugu Bo's character—both righteous and evil. In the original work, Dugu Bo, upon learning the protagonist's identity, immediately thought of silencing him.

He was genuinely loyal and righteous, but if he didn't approve of someone, he would directly act.

Moreover, if he were told directly that the poison could be cured, Dugu Bo wouldn't just believe it like in some fan-fiction novels; instead, he would first administer poison to see if the other party could resolve it.

In the original work, after Tang San described Dugu Bo's poisoning symptoms, he still had to pass Dugu Bo's three poison tests and resolve them before Dugu Bo granted him a certain level of trust.

It was impossible for a situation to occur in reality where [the protagonist in fan-fiction states a detoxification method, and Dugu Bo is amazed and chooses to become sworn brothers with the protagonist].

Dugu Bo was arrogant. Even if the symptoms of his poisoning were described, he would still test to see if the other party was just talking nonsense or truly had real ability.

Poisoning was the best test.

As for whether this was the attitude of someone asking for help... As a Titled Douluo, Dugu Bo could be said to be uninhibited; he didn't necessarily care about the world's rules.

Be cautious!

Therefore, Tang San could not reveal the symptoms of Dugu Bo described in the original novel.

Firstly, whether the original novel could be used as a reference was unknown.

Secondly, although he had concocted the Hundred Herbs Bath formula, it was done with the help of various medicinal bath formulas and Xiao Wu's nose.

He himself might not be as proficient in pharmacology as Dugu Bo.

That's right, Dugu Bo might not recognize the Immortal Herbs from the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, but there was also medical knowledge on the Douluo Continent. For a half-baked person like him to discuss medicine with Dugu Bo would be like teaching a fish to swim.

So—

“Sorry, I don't understand medicine,” Tang San said truthfully. “However, since Senior's poison originates from his Spirit and is attached to his spirit power, thereby affecting his body, then from the perspective of Spirit cultivation, I might have a way to solve Senior's problem.”

“What method?” Dugu Bo heard that Tang San didn’t understand medicine, and while he showed no reaction on the surface, he was somewhat disappointed in his heart. However, Tang San then said he could start from the Spirit aspect, which piqued his curiosity.

If Tang San had said there was a medicinal formula to cure it, Dugu Bo would not have believed him. But a Martial Soul Theory Master, presumably with extensive research on Spirits and spirit power, might have some cultivation method that could alleviate the toxins.

After all, his Dugu Yan was an example.

Although it relied on a spirit ring...

But besides spirit rings, there were also Spirit Bones. Perhaps the Spirit Bones of some special Spirit Beasts could also resolve the Spirit poison in his body.

Tang San didn't know that Dugu Bo had guessed a detoxification method. Instead, he said, “Senior’s symptom is an excess of toxins. So, forcing the toxins into a Spirit Bone might alleviate it.”

This...

Dugu Bo thought for a moment—

Indeed!

Spirit Bones are viable!

Dugu Bo was a little excited, then asked, “Which Spirit Beast’s Spirit Bone is suitable?”

“All Spirit Bones are suitable.”

“All?”

Dugu Bo was stunned.

“Yes, all. After all, Spirit Bones are external objects. They can store spirit power and also peculiar energy, so naturally, they can also store Spirit Beast poison. However, Spirit Bones produced by different types and different years of Spirit Beasts have limited capacity for toxins. It’s best to use a Ten-thousand year soul beast’s poisonous Spirit Bone, and it can only be a limb bone, not a head Spirit Bone or torso bone,” Tang San said.

“Why can’t it be a torso bone or head Spirit Bone?” Dugu Bo frowned. After all, he had a head Spirit Bone, and he had already absorbed it, so it was perfect for trying.

But now, Tang San actually said no?

“Spirit Bones also have a limit to their capacity for toxins. Once that limit is reached, and the Spirit Bone is completely corroded, the backlash will be even more severe,” Tang San said. “But limb bones are different. When they are full of toxins, they can be cut off. With Senior’s Titled Douluo level strength, he wouldn’t die, at most, his spirit power would drop by ten levels.”

“I’ve roughly estimated that, at Senior’s age, he probably won’t reach level ninety-five or above in his later years. By the time the Spirit Bone is about to be corroded, your granddaughter will probably be able to become a Spirit Saint, or even a Spirit Douluo. Moreover, she and Yu Tianheng are lovers, and by then, they will probably be married, so you won’t need to worry about her safety.”

“Besides, even if you cut off one hand, you’d still be a Spirit Douluo.”

Dugu Bo’s eye twitched.

This Tang San...

He felt even more sinister than himself.

Cutting off hands and feet?

He really came up with that.

No wonder torso bones and head bones couldn't be used; those two really couldn't be cut off. Cutting them off meant one word: death.

“A ten-level drop in spirit power is hard for me to accept. Any Titled Douluo would find it hard to accept.” Dugu Bo wanted to ask for other solutions.

Tang San released his Blue Silver Emperor, and the rich Life aura made Dugu Bo feel as if all the toxins in his body were suppressed.

He only heard him say, “Look, Senior, my Spirit possesses immense vitality. When I become a Titled Douluo in the future, it might not be impossible to achieve limb regeneration.”

Hmm—

This idea was even more bizarre, but Dugu Bo felt a bit of mutual appreciation with Tang San. If he were younger, or if Tang San were older, he probably would have become sworn brothers with Tang San.

“Are you saying this old man has to protect you until you become a Titled Douluo?” Dugu Bo said bluntly, indicating that he wouldn't be a bodyguard, unless—

“You marry Dugu Yan.”

“Cough! Senior is joking. Dugu Yan and Yu Tianheng are a perfect match. I don't want to steal love, cause hatred from love, fall into depravity from hatred, become a demon from depravity, a demon...”

“Stop!” Dugu Bo stopped Tang San. “Are you playing idiom solitaire here? Is there any other way?”

“There is one more way.” Tang San put away his playful smile, his expression extremely serious.

“What way?”

Dugu Bo's expression also tensed. "Speak. This old man is a Titled Douluo; there's nothing in the world that can stump this old man. If you can cure it, this old man isn't unwilling to protect you before you truly grow up."

"This is an extraordinary path, intolerable to gods and ghosts." Tang San sounded like Bodhi Patriarch had possessed him, his voice heavy.
"Condense a Spirit Core!"

"Spirit Core!"

Dugu Bo cooperatively made an exclamation, then, with a blank face, asked dazedly, "What is that?"

"A cultivation method." Tang San's eyes were serious. "It was given to me by a close friend of mine. Once a Spirit Core is condensed, I estimate that not only can it prevent the Spirit poison from causing further damage to your body, but it can also allow you to control the Spirit poison while having no major bottlenecks before your spirit power reaches level ninety-five."

Dugu Bo raised an eyebrow, feeling that Tang San was joking.

Although Tang San was a Martial Soul Theory Master, he was ultimately just a Spirit Ancestor. He didn't know the depths of a Titled Douluo... Speaking of which, this kid wouldn't be trying to use him to experiment with some "Spirit Core" he created, would he?

Compared to Tang San's claim of getting it from a close friend, he was more willing to believe that it was a theory Tang San himself created, and for a theory to be published, it must first be experimented with.

If it was below Spirit Ancestor, Dugu Bo believed Tang San would experiment himself. But above Spirit Ancestor, he would need to find others, like himself, a Titled Douluo.

Moreover, it wasn't Tang San who sought him out; it was he who had Dugu Yan call Tang San over.

Was this “reaping what you sow”?

“Are you serious?”

“More serious than ever. However, this cultivation method is extremely precious. What can Senior offer?” Tang San asked.

“What do you want?”

Dugu Bo decided to trust him once. If he couldn't be cured, all conditions would naturally be off.

“As for Senior being a guardian on my path of growth, someone like Senior, who is used to freedom, would definitely not be accustomed to it. Nor do I have the powerful strength to make Senior submit. Therefore, I only need something or a place that can suppress Senior’s Spirit poison, in exchange,” Tang San stated his request.

Dugu Bo’s eyes narrowed, and he said, “As expected of a Martial Soul Theory Master; you saw at a glance that for me to have lived to this day and become a Titled Douluo, I must have a method to suppress my Spirit poison... That’s right, I found a treasure land where the unique environment can suppress my Spirit poison and even allowed me to cultivate to the Titled Douluo realm.”

Exposing this secret also meant that Dugu Bo was conveying another meaning to Tang San: if he couldn't cure him, he would die.

“Clever man, you should know what I mean, right?”

“Heh heh, this isn’t the attitude of someone asking for treatment. However, I accept. If Senior’s toxins are not alleviated, I will just have to steal Yu Tianheng’s love.” Tang San said with a chuckle, “I believe even if Sister Dugu Yan resents me, affection will grow over time.”

Dugu Bo: “...This old man...” Is that what he meant? Are kids these days all so humorous?

Dugu Bo, having calmed down, chuckled, “So you don’t lose out, do you? But if you were willing to be this old man’s son-in-law, this old man would really be reluctant to let you go. Not to mention your Martial Soul theory, just your ability to make money and your method of protecting yourself by leveraging the power of Spirit Hall, this old man feels inferior.”

Tang San waved his hand casually, “It’s nothing.”

Dugu Bo’s smile changed, and he said, “Then, when will you give me that method?”

“You need to take me, my younger sister, and my disciple to see your treasure land. After all, the Spirit Core method was given to me by my younger sister. Although I’ve made some improvements, she still needs to confirm it,” Tang San said lightly.

“No problem.”

168: Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Hidden Method

After returning to Heaven Dou Royal Academy, Tang San arranged corresponding training for Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and others for the next six months. This made Huo Wu confused: “Why do I feel like you, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and the others are going to leave Heaven Dou Royal Academy for a while?”

“We are indeed leaving for a while,” Tang San told the truth, “Dugu Yan’s grandpa hopes we can help him with a small favor, which will probably take about half a year.”

“During these six months, your tasks, besides exercising your bodies, will be to control your soul power and compete in the Tian Dou Great Spirit Arena to increase your Spirit combat experience.”

The first two are self-explanatory, aimed at improving hard power.

The latter is to increase practical combat experience.

Honestly, Tang San’s own practical combat experience is not extensive, and he also needs to train in the Tian Dou Great Spirit Arena, but the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well is the top priority, so the time for the Great Spirit Arena can only be pushed back.

He even felt that he might not need to go; after all, as long as his Martial Soul True Body Armor comes out, anyone below the Title Douluo level would be no match and would be finished!

Huo Wu and the others looked at Dugu Yan, who said, “This is true, my grandpa does need Tang San and the others to help.”

Getting confirmation from Dugu Yan, the others nodded slightly.

Everyone at Heaven Dou Royal Academy is smart and can probably guess that Dugu Bo’s situation is likely similar to Dugu Yan’s...

Seeing Tang San bringing Xiao Wu and Guang Ling over, Dugu Bo frowned, thinking Tang San was quite flirtatious, but he didn’t say anything. He just took the three of them and flew towards Sunset Forest.

A Title Douluo’s speed is extremely fast. In just half a day, Dugu Bo brought them to the depths of Sunset Forest, where the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well is located.

Of course, this is also because Sunset Forest is relatively close to Heaven Dou City. Heaven Dou City was built near the Star Dou Great Forest and Sunset Forest.

If it were too far, even a Title Douluo would take ten days to half a month to reach.

Passing through the poisonous miasma, Tang San saw the peculiar lake, one side red and the other blue, surrounded by various wildly growing strange medicinal herbs.

Evidently, Dugu Bo hadn’t deliberately managed this natural herb garden. After all, he himself didn’t know what kind of herbs these were or what specific effects they had.

“There’s a strange energy here that ordinary people find hard to bear. Are you alright?” Dugu Bo asked.

“We’re fine, it feels quite comfortable.”

In the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, there is a peculiar magnetic field, or perhaps energy dispersed from the Ice and Fire Dragon King. Not to mention ordinary people, even soul masters would find it difficult to endure staying here for too long.

However, for Tang San, the environment here was incredibly wonderful. The progress of circulating his vital energy and blood and cultivating the Jade Bone Technique even automatically accelerated.

Xiao Wu is a Ten-thousand year soul beast that has taken human form, possessing the origin of ten thousand years of cultivation within her body. She found the environment here very comfortable, and since she also cultivates the Jade Bone Technique, she felt that the environment here was uniquely advantageous.

Guang Ling's face was a bit flushed, but Tang San checked and found that there was no major issue. It was just that the speed of cultivating the Jade Bone Technique had accelerated, making him a bit nervous for a moment. He just needed to pay attention to his breathing and remain calm.

“Ho, you're really something. You're actually unaffected by the strange energy here. Now I somewhat believe what you said about the so-called Soul Core.” Dugu Bo saw that the three of them were in good condition and laughed heartily, saying, “If you can cure me, giving this place to you is not out of the question.”

“You won't go back on your word? The medicinal herbs here are priceless. Although I don't recognize all of them, just the few I do recognize can cause one's martial soul to evolve, or enhance one's physique, changing one's destiny against the heavens,” Tang San said leisurely, “For example, that plant that looks similar to a tulip can likely cause the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda to evolve into the Nine Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda.”

Dugu Bo's breathing hitched. He hadn't expected this natural herb garden he discovered to contain such treasures. But thinking of what he had already said, he stubbornly said, “Hmph! I'm not familiar with the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, and I don't want to get involved with those major powers. My position as Prince Xue Xing's guest elder is only because he once saved me; it's a form of repaying kindness.”

Seeing Dugu Bo being stubborn, Tang San didn't say much more, only asking, "Then, after you are cured, you won't silence us, will you?"

"I'm not that kind of person," Dugu Bo snorted coldly, feeling that Tang San was insulting his character. Although he was indeed tempted by the idea, he immediately cut it off—

It wouldn't be easy to explain to Yan Yan and the others.

"Do you know what that chrysanthemum does?" Dugu Bo pointed to a golden chrysanthemum, changing the subject. "One of my old rivals has this as his martial soul."

"This should be the Strange Velvet Sky Chrysanthemum. As for its effect, after consuming it, one can forge an indestructible body with its medicinal power," Tang San said, "However, I don't know the specific method of consumption."

In the original work, consuming these Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) involved a certain sequence of steps.

Unfortunately, Tang San didn't remember them completely.

Who told him that the memories he inherited only contained those few cultivation techniques?

However, it should also be possible to swallow these Xian Cao like chewing a peony, at most losing a portion of the medicinal effect.

"An indestructible body? That old chrysanthemum's physique is indeed tougher than that of an ordinary Title Douluo, and his martial soul is also very tough," Dugu Bo mused.

Afterward, Dugu Bo saw Tang San release his martial soul and use the Endless Grassland, causing dense Blue Silver Grass to grow here.

The Blue Silver Emperor is the king of plants, not to mention it carries the aura of the Golden Ancient Tree.

Instantly, all the plants here became close to Tang San.

Although the Xian Cao here had not yet developed intelligence, through contact with the Blue Silver Emperor's leaves, Tang San could sense how the energy here circulated within their veins and channels, and how they themselves resonated with the energy magnetic field here.

Each Xian Cao grew in a place with a specific magnetic field strength. That slight resonance also made Tang San realize that compared to directly consuming these Xian Cao, studying the growth, cultivation, and operational methods of these Xian Cao, and studying the resonance between the Life of the Xian Cao and the magnetic field here, was the real great benefit!

"What are you doing?" Dugu Bo asked.

"Communicating with the strange flowers and herbs here. Although my martial soul is Blue Silver Grass, after evolving, it can be called the Blue Silver Emperor, the king among Blue Silver Grass, and also the king of plants," Tang San honestly told him, "Poison Douluo senior, you truly possess a treasure mountain without knowing it. Every plant here has given me great gains, but it requires time to organize."

Dugu Bo didn't understand, only asking, "So, can you teach me the method of condensing the Soul Core now?"

Tang San looked at Xiao Wu, and seeing her nod, he had Dugu Bo lean in and told him the method of condensing the Soul Core, which he had improved based on a portion of the soul power circulation route of the Mystic Heaven Skill.

"That sounds somewhat reasonable." Dugu Bo also knew the soul power circulation routes within the body, but compared to the portion Tang San told him, his own was much simpler.

Knowing how to circulate it, Dugu Bo wasn't afraid of Tang San and the others being by his side. He immediately sat down and began to cultivate.

“Can he succeed?” Xiao Wu asked.

“Yes, after all, the poison of his martial soul is a manifestation of soul power and can be offset by condensing the Soul Core,” Tang San believed that the martial soul poison born from the martial soul and soul power must also be a part of soul power and can be condensed into a Soul Core.

Moreover, the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well has a peculiar magnetic field, and Dugu Bo has been here for years, so he must be used to it and will receive natural assistance from the environment here, thereby increasing the success rate of condensing the Soul Core.

Twenty minutes later, Dugu Bo opened his eyes, his eyes filled with joy: “Excellent, this Soul Core condensation method is truly amazing. I can truly perfectly control the poison of my martial soul, and my soul power has also increased.”

Over the years, he had already groped around and condensed a poison pill. Now that he had obtained the method of condensing the Soul Core, he used that poison pill as the base and supplemented it.

Indeed, the martial soul poison within his body condensed into it along with his soul power, not only allowing him to control the poison but also making that poison pill increasingly crystal clear.

More importantly, he found that as the Soul Core condensed, the speed of soul power recovery also increased, and the quality of his soul power was also improving.

His current strength was definitely stronger than before.

Although the Soul Core was not completely condensed yet, Dugu Bo realized that if this thing was completely condensed, Tang San’s previous words were not false; before level ninety-five, he would not have any bottlenecks.

“It seems senior believes it now. Then, I can guarantee senior here that if senior can condense a second Soul Core in the future, and it forms a yin-yang fusion with the first Soul Core, the bottleneck between level ninety-five and ninety-nine may also cease to exist, only requiring the accumulation of soul power to reach the corresponding standard," Tang San smiled slightly, "Dare I ask, is this worth your treasure land here?"

"Good, it's worth it," Dugu Bo was very excited, "How do I condense the second Soul Core?"

"At that time, I'll give you some more pointers." Tang San shook his head, needing to keep some things to himself, after all, Dugu Bo couldn't be fully trusted. "However, I can give senior a reminder. Senior's first soul core is based on the poison of your martial soul, so the second soul core is best not to be poison."

"The potential for Yin Yang fusion... it can't be poison, so it should be medicine then? That makes sense." Dugu Bo deduced some possibilities, but seeing Tang San's half-smile, he didn't dare to jump to conclusions and could only curse, "Little fox, am I going to trick you? Forget it, I've gained a lot anyway. This place is yours, and the rare treasures here are also yours."

"Then I thank senior for your generosity." Tang San thanked him, then promised, "Once I thoroughly research the method for condensing the second soul core, I will tell senior."

"So you haven't researched it yet?" Dugu Bo raised an eyebrow, feeling like Tang San had tricked him, but there was no anger in his heart.

"I wouldn't dare deceive senior." Tang San smiled, "However, within ten years, I should be able to create it. Can senior wait for five years?"

"Of course I can wait. Even if you don't give it to me, I still have to thank you, after all, you allowed me to walk out of my illness." Dugu Bo sighed, "From now on, don't call me senior anymore, just call me Old Poison."

"Okay, Old Poison."

"Hey! You really aren't being polite at all... but I like your temper." Dugu Bo laughed heartily, then asked about another matter, "Are you really going to stay here for about half a year?"

"That's right, there are quite a few good things here worth my research." Tang San looked at the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, a smile appearing on his face that was difficult for ordinary people to detect. "This will be a great opportunity for me to be able to compare with a Title Douluo without using my trump cards."

"You're only a Soul Elder, right? And you already want to compare with a Title Douluo?" Dugu Bo admitted Tang San's excellence, but wanting to compare with a Title Douluo as a Soul Elder was no different from a fool's dream.

However, it was indeed very astonishing that Tang San could reach Soul Elder at the age of twelve.

"Just wait and see, Old Poison." Tang San kept him in suspense.

"Since you're so confident, I'll wait and see how you compare with a Title Douluo in half a year. At that time, I can be your opponent." Dugu Bo was also somewhat looking forward to it.

In the following time, Dugu Bo condensed his soul core in the house built beside the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well.

Guang Ling primarily used the environment here to cultivate his soul power and refine his Jade Bone.

Xiao Wu, in addition to cultivating, also learned the medicinal knowledge Dugu Bo had collected and stored in the house.

As for Tang San?

Besides cultivating and understanding some medicinal principles, he relied on the Blue Silver Emperor to conduct a unique "exchange" between plants with the various Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) and rare treasures here. Using the energy absorbed by the Blue Silver Emperor from the power of the earth, the radiance of the Sun And Moon, and the energy transmitted from the Golden Ancient Tree as nutrients for these Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs), he continuously increased the cultivation of the exotic flowers and plants.

Coupled with the unique environment of the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, the cultivation of various Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) rapidly increased. In just three months, a portion of the Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) had already gained sentience.

For example: Scorching Apricot, Octagonal Black Ice Grass, Strange Velvet Sky Chrysanthemum, Qiluo Tulip, Narcissus Jade Muscle Bone, Eight-Petal Immortal Orchid, Earth Dragon Golden Gourd, etc.

These kinds of Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) had been growing here for many years, and their cultivation age was already considerable. Now, after being nurtured by Tang San and with the aura of the Golden Ancient Tree, their sentience naturally awakened.

And after gaining sentience, these exotic flowers and plants could utilize the much denser heaven and earth energy and magnetic field here compared to other places to condense illusory energy forms.

"Dad?"

"Dad!"

"Dad~"

Because they gained sentience under the influence of Tang San's Blue Silver Emperor, these rare treasures recognized Tang San as their father at first sight.

"Cough! I am not your father, but I did contribute to your gaining sentience. You can just call me Valley Master, after all, I am now considered the owner of this valley." Tang San coughed, correcting the Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) whose condensed forms looked like children.

"Such cute little ones." Xiao Wu raised her hand to touch the energy body condensed by the Qiluo Tulip, but found her hand passed through, unable to touch it at all.

"They haven't truly taken human form, they've just used the unique energy field of the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well to condense illusory forms with their spiritual power." Tang San explained, "Compared to animal soul beasts, this point is much more convenient for plant soul beasts."

"There's such a saying?" Xiao Wu was surprised, but then nodded and carefully examined each Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs).

Guang Ling also stopped cultivating and looked at these cute little ones.

And after these Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) condensed sentience, Tang San's communication with them became more convenient, and it was also easier to observe the energy flow channels and patterns on their bodies.

After recording them one by one, Tang San began to correspond them with his own meridians, imitating and depicting the flow patterns of soul power.

In the blink of an eye, another three months passed.

Tang San's entire body's Jade Bone had been completely condensed, and he had integrated the energy flow patterns of all the Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) from the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, creating the second method of Qi and Blood cultivation: Divine Treasure.

Five Zang organs: Liver, Heart, Spleen, Lungs, Kidneys

Five Elements: Metal, Wood, Water, Fire, Earth

Strange Velvet Sky Chrysanthemum corresponds to the Lungs, which are Metal.

Phoenix Cockscomb Sunflowers correspond to the Heart, which is Fire.

Earth Dragon Golden Gourd corresponds to the Spleen, which is Earth.

Nine-Grade Wooden Dragon Ginseng corresponds to the Liver, which is Wood.

Narcissus Jade Muscle Bone corresponds to the Kidneys, which are Water.

Thus, the Five Zang organs and Five Elements were completely condensed.

Next were the Six Fu organs: Gallbladder, Stomach, Small Intestine, Large Intestine, Bladder, Triple Burner.

These six were also corresponded by Tang San with the appropriate Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs), their energy flow patterns recorded and modified. With Mystic Heaven Skill as the foundation, and operating with soul power and qi and blood, they formed the potential of the Six Paths of Samsara.

As for the brain, it corresponded to the Gazing-Through-Autumn Water Dew. By relying on its energy flow circuit, it strengthened the brain and eyes.

After the Jade Bone and Divine Treasure cultivation was completed, the muscles and skin membranes of the entire body also began to actively transform, becoming as hard as metal and stone, yet as soft as cotton, combining rigidity and flexibility.

For this, Tang San named it: Golden Muscle.

This complete method of cultivating the physical body's qi and blood was also named by Tang San: Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method.

This method refines a set of Jade Bone, shapes a Divine Treasure body, and forges a Golden Body.

By utilizing the five qi of the Five Zang organs, the Canopy of Five Emperors can be formed, which can block all attacks that use soul power as energy; by operating the Six Paths of the Six Fu organs, the potential of Samsara can be formed, and when applying fist force, it can annihilate all things.

Of course, these two only had instinctive applications; the specific methods of operation and use needed to be slowly created in the future...

And activating the Golden Body meant becoming indestructible.

Especially in terms of spiritual power, Tang San had already reached the vast level of Purple Demon Eyes, comparable to a Title Douluo.

"My physical body and Spirit have both reached the level of a Title Douluo, and my soul power has also reached level fifty. Now, if I use the Fusing Rings method, even Tang Hao would have to bow his head!" Sensing his current state, Tang San's confidence swelled like never before, but he quickly suppressed his excitement. Before leaving, he increased the cultivation of the Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) in the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, and according to their respective attributes, taught them a portion of the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method - Plant Version that he had summarized.

Plants also have "qi and blood" and can cultivate.

This was naturally to give these little ones some ability to protect themselves.

And after learning that Tang San was leaving, the Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) were very reluctant to part, especially the Octagonal Black Ice Grass and the Scorching Apricot. One was ice and the other fire, and they wanted to leave with Tang San.

"This is your home. The outside World, while exciting, is too dangerous for you. Let's talk about it after you grow to Ten-thousand year soul beast." Tang San rejected their idea of following him, and he also knew why they wanted to follow him — when creating the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method, he didn't use the energy flow patterns of the two of them.

The main reason was that these two, when taken individually, were both highly poisonous. Although they represented ice and fire, compared to the energy patterns of other Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs), they were somewhat overbearing and didn't match well with his own Five Zang and Six Fu organs.

Therefore, they felt that they couldn't help Tang San and were a bit useless.

"Whether it's dangerous or not doesn't really matter, we can jointly sacrifice ourselves to Dad... oh no, Valley Master." The Octagonal Black Ice Grass said.

"That's right, as plant martial souls, we have this ability." The Scorching Apricot also echoed, "Although you only need one soul ring, between me and the Octagonal Black Ice Grass, we can perform a fusion sacrifice under the unique magnetic field of this Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, condensing our cultivation together and injecting our souls into the soul ring together. At that time, we can accompany Valley Master you to the outside World."

"Sacrificing the soul together, I know about that, that's the most overbearing way of sacrifice, but fusion sacrifice is also possible?" Xiao Wu tilted her head, finally understanding the uniqueness of plant soul beasts.

The amplification setting of the Martial Soul True Body Armor doesn't feel unreasonable, right?

Being able to fight Tang Hao is because his soul power quality is high, he has Jade Bone, the Blue Silver Emperor's recovery ability is strong, and he also borrowed the power of Austin Griffin.

The foreshadowing for Fusing Rings was also there before...

Can be seen as similar to a Super Saiyan transformation in Dragon Ball.

169: Sacrifice Strengthening Analysis Hundred Thousand Years Soul Ring Soul Skill

“Other Spirit Beasts can’t do it, but that doesn’t mean we can’t,” Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass said proudly.

Tang San asked, “If you were to sacrifice yourselves to me, your long lives would disappear. Don’t you think that’s a pity?”

And also—

Fusion Sacrifice.

Tang San had also heard of such a concept for the first time.

However, Scorching Apricot and Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass were used together by the protagonist in the original work to forge an invulnerable Golden Body, so it stands to reason that after becoming Spirit Beasts, they would also be quite unique.

Moreover, the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well is the fallen ground of the two great Ice and Fire Dragon Kings, and these two Immortal Herbs, which embody the ultimate ice and fire elements, might have gained the greatest benefits from the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well.

“We are willing to follow the Valley Master.” Scorching Apricot and Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass spoke in unison, and without waiting for Tang San to refuse, they directly initiated the sacrifice.

The two Immortal Herbs automatically broke off, floated up, and converged above the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well. Red and blue energies began to fuse, and their plant stems continuously withered and shattered, ultimately leaving only a single red spirit ring.

Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass and Scorching Apricot had already lived for nearly a thousand years before gaining sentience. After Tang San awakened their sentience and helped them cultivate with his Blue Silver Emperor, their cultivation advanced by leaps and bounds, reaching over fifty thousand years.

Now, the fusion of their ice and fire powers actually made the resulting spirit ring reach the Ten-thousand year level!

Moreover, unlike ordinary spirit rings, this Ten-thousand year spirit ring had peculiar crimson and deep blue runes—those were the ice and fire energy patterns formed after the fusion of Scorching Apricot and Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass.

“It’s actually a Ten-thousand year spirit ring!” Xiao Wu exclaimed in disbelief, “There’s actually such an outrageous way of sacrificing. Plant Spirit Beasts are truly peculiar.”

That Ten-thousand year spirit ring actively enveloped Tang San...

...And the spirit power fluctuation of the Ten-thousand year spirit ring also caught Dugu Bo’s attention, causing him to walk out of a nearby small house.

“My goodness, a Ten-thousand year spirit ring?!” Dugu Bo was greatly astonished, staring in disbelief at the red spirit ring around Tang San, then he saw the energy phantoms of the other Immortal Herbs, dumbfounded: “Why are there so many people here? And they’re all children?”

For the past six months, Dugu Bo had basically been condensing his Spirit core—he had accumulated too much poison, which required a considerable amount of time, so he rarely went out.

Besides, these Immortal Herbs only condensed energy phantoms in front of Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling. Even if Dugu Bo came out, he would only see that the rare and exotic herbs had grown a bit more luxuriantly.

Half an hour later, Tang San opened his eyes. The Blue Silver Emperor emerged from his hand, becoming even more crystalline. Besides the golden veins, red and blue colors flowed, and the one yellow, two purple, one black, and one red spirit rings made Dugu Bo feel like he was dreaming.

A Spirit King possessing a Ten-thousand year spirit ring?

This guy is truly extraordinary!

And with the emergence of the Blue Silver Emperor, two streams of light, one red and one blue, also emerged from the pearl at its center, transforming into two adorable girl dolls, each wearing red and blue pantaloons. Their foreheads each had sun and moon patterns, clearly influenced by the essence of the sun and moon.

“Valley Master!” X2

The two girl dolls could float freely in the air. At this moment, they sat on Tang San’s shoulders, one on the left and one on the right, affectionately calling him Valley Master.

“What in the World is this now?”

Not just Dugu Bo, but even Xiao Wu, a Ten-thousand year Spirit Beast, felt like she was seeing ghosts.

Is there such a peculiar type of sacrifice?

Can it appear in a form similar to a Spirit?

“They sacrificed themselves to me, but because my Spirit, the Blue Silver Emperor, has immense Life force, their souls remained complete and could condense into physical forms. Besides that, it might also be related to the method for strengthening the body that I created over the past six months.”

Tang San noticed that after the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method was cultivated, the body's rejection of external objects reached a peak. Tang San felt that if he wanted to, he could expel the Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone without resorting to cutting off his leg.

And the energy from the sacrifices of Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass and Scorching Apricot, which was supposed to produce a Spirit Bone, under the effect of his Jade Bone Golden Muscle, integrated into the souls of these two.

This was also the reason why the two could manifest their forms by borrowing the Life force of the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul.

Moreover, Tang San had a premonition that these two were like external brains for him, capable of helping him control the Blue Silver Emperor and also using all of the Blue Silver Emperor's Spirit Abilities.

"However, this form can also be considered a preliminary symbiosis between humans and Spirit Beasts. I will call them Soul Spirits. What do you think?" Tang San snatched Huo Yuhao's naming right, "This method, for now, can only be achieved by cultivating the body refining method I created. To popularize it, I will need more research in the future....."

"Very good." Xiao Wu was overjoyed, as this gave her hope for peaceful coexistence between humans and Spirit Beasts—Third Brother truly was the Son of Destiny.

"What a monster." Dugu Bo sighed, surveying the medicine garden, "Leaving this place to me truly is a waste of natural resources."

"Don't say that, Old Poison, this place is still yours. It's just that if you want to take medicine in the future, it's best to bring some fertilizer and exchange with them. In terms of effectiveness, they know much more than you do." Tang San smiled, remembering something, and took out a seed, planting it in front of the Strange Velvet Sky Chrysanthemum and Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass.

"What did you plant?" Dugu Bo asked curiously.

“My Fourth spirit ring, also a Ten-thousand year plant Spirit Beast, sacrificed itself to me. In return, I need to find a fertile place for it.” Tang San finished speaking, unleashed his Blue Silver Emperor, and injected Life force into the Nine Revolution Soul Reviving Herb, causing it to sprout and grow, and then he said to the other plants, “From now on, you must take good care of it.”

“Don’t worry, Valley Master.”

“As fellow plants, we will definitely take care of each other.”

“I wonder if it’s a younger sister or a younger brother?”

“I’m so excited!”

Before leaving, Tang San collected many leaves from the Immortal Herbs, intending to take them back for the people of Heaven Dou Royal Academy to consume.

Although they were just leaves, the medicinal power of Immortal Herbs that had already become Spirit Beasts was incomparable to ordinary Immortal Herbs; the leaves were sufficient.

“Let’s go, Old Poison, take us out.” Tang San said.

“This old man has become a nanny.” Despite his words, Dugu Bo still acted, leading Tang San, Xiao Wu, Guang Ling, and the others back to Heaven Dou City.

“I’ll drop you off here, you can go on your own. I need to go back and cultivate. My Spirit core has already been condensed, and I have a premonition that within a year, my spirit power will reach level ninety-four, or even ninety-five.” After Dugu Bo finished speaking, his figure disappeared.

In the past six months, Tang San had gained a lot, becoming a Spirit King, cultivating the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure, and his mental force had reached the Vast level, and he even had a Ten-thousand year spirit ring.

Xiao Wu's strength also progressed quickly. The Jade Bone of her limbs and torso had been completely cultivated, and her spirit power had reached level forty-eight. Within a year, she would definitely become a Spirit King.

Guang Ling's Jade Bone Technique had already condensed his limbs into Jade Bone, and his spirit power had reached level thirty-nine, just one step away from level forty.

All three had made great progress.

"Third Brother, what abilities has your Ten-thousand year spirit ring brought to you and your Spirit?" On the way back to Heaven Dou Royal Academy, Xiao Wu asked curiously.

"Under the blessing of the Ice and Fire spirit ring, the most obvious point is that my spirit power directly reached level fifty-two, and a portion of the energy strengthened my Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure. It can be said that my overall physical quality is already equivalent to a Ten-thousand year or above Dragon-type Spirit Beast."

Tang San explained his situation after obtaining the Ten-thousand year spirit ring.

"And my Spirit, the Blue Silver Emperor, now possesses both ice and fire elements, and is immune to both of these elements."

"At the same time, the Ten-thousand year spirit ring also granted me two Spirit Abilities."

"Firstly, primarily fire element, it can make my Blue Silver Emperor appear fiery red, carrying an extremely scorching fire poison. If one cannot resist it with spirit power, they will inevitably spontaneously combust and die. I named it: Scorching Yang Poison."

“Secondly, primarily ice element, its effect is the opposite of the previous one, making the Blue Silver Grass appear ice-blue. If a Spirit Master’s spirit power cannot resist, the extreme ice will explode within their body, freezing them into an ice sculpture. I call it: Mysterious Ice Yin Poison.”

“Using these two Spirit Abilities individually is fatal; even a Titled Douluo would find them unbearable.”

“However, using both Spirit Abilities together can leverage the power of ice and fire to form a Yin-Yang posture, helping others strengthen their physique. The Yang Poison tempers the bones, and the Yin Poison refines the internal organs. I call it: Ice and Fire Alchemical Body.”

“In the future, even if you don’t go to the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, you two can also cultivate the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method by utilizing the combined effect of my two Ten-thousand year Spirit Abilities.”

“And for Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and others, it can strengthen their physique, forging an indestructible body. If they continuously undergo my Ice and Fire Refining Body over the years, they also have a chance to develop a body immune to all poisons.”

In summary, Tang San's Fifth Soul Skill, if taken out individually, would be a fatal Soul Skill, but when combined, it becomes a super powerful support-type Soul Skill, equivalent to a mobile, miniature Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well.

This also gave Tang San a luxurious hope: Life is the foundation, and Creation is the true pinnacle his Blue Silver Emperor needs to reach.

“Brother San, in terms of support ability, no one in the World can compare to you, right?” Xiao Wu felt that if things continued to develop this way, Tang San would surely become the strongest support-type Spirit Master in the World, even a Titled Douluo. By then, reviving the dead and healing the injured would certainly be easy, and he might even be able to perfectly revive her mother.

Tang San remained noncommittal.

Although his support ability was indeed top-notch, he was not the only transmigrator on the Douluo Continent, so he needed to be cautious to avoid capsizing in a ditch.

“Speaking of which, you two, one is almost at level forty, and the other is almost at level fifty. Have you decided what Spirit Beast's spirit ring you want to choose?” Tang San intended to see their thoughts.

“For my Fourth spirit ring, I plan to choose an ice-attribute Spirit Beast,” Guang Ling spoke first, stating his plan, “The Crimson Gold Aura has strong cutting power, the Golden Sun Aura's light attribute brings extreme firing speed, and the Electric Light Aura allows my Spirit Ability to split and form a spider web, binding and paralyzing enemies.”

“However, the gold, light, and lightning attributes are not suitable for capturing enemies alive. If I use a bit more spirit power, it might lead to death.”

This was indeed a problem.

As Guang Ling's spirit power grew more profound, the penetrative and cutting power of the gold attribute brought by his First Soul Skill also became stronger. If he didn't control his spirit power, when the major competitions began in the future, it was indeed possible for others to lose limbs or even die.

By adding an ice attribute, Guang Ling's arrows would gain excellent control ability, effectively preventing the opponent's death due to excessive concentrated spirit power.

As his spirit power increased, Guang Ling's path in Spirit cultivation became clear: mastering multiple elements and condensing arrows of different elements to achieve different effects.

“Ice attribute? Yes, extreme ice can freeze everything. It should be a very good group control-type Spirit Ability. Have you decided which Spirit Beast to choose?”

Tang San first affirmed, then asked about Guang Ling's Fourth spirit ring Spirit Beast choice.

“A Ten-thousand year Ice Silkworm,” Guang Ling revealed the name of a Spirit Beast.

“Ice Silkworm? Besides ice attribute, it also has mental attribute... I see, you want to better control the direction of the ice attribute spreading after the arrows are shot, right?” Tang San immediately guessed Guang Ling's thoughts, “Given the insufficient cultivation of Purple Demon Eye, using a spirit ring to enhance mental force is indeed a good choice.”

“However, there's one thing you might have overlooked: Ten-thousand year Ice Silkworms are even rarer than Ten-thousand year Spirit Beasts on land.”

Ice Silkworms, Spirit Beasts that live in the Extreme North Land, although possessing good ice attributes, have almost no offensive means.

Hundred-year and Thousand-year Ice Silkworms can only serve as food for various carnivorous Spirit Beasts.

It can be said that finding an Ice Silkworm over a thousand years old is already difficult, let alone a Ten-thousand year one?

“How about an Ice Jade Scorpion?” Guang Ling offered an alternative.

“That's fine, but it likely won't give you a group control skill,” Tang San shook his head. “If your Spirit were an Ice Jade Scorpion, it might work, but your Spirit is Sun Chasing Bow, and your primary attack method is archery. You would mostly inherit the sharpness of the Ice Jade Scorpion's tail stinger, and your skills would be single-target penetration types.”

“A Bing Luan Bird is more suitable. It not only feeds on ice crystals and can digest ice elements, but its attack method is to spit out a stream of ice crystal energy. When it touches an obstacle, it will explode, forming a field of ice and snow.”

“This Spirit Beast also has good mental force.”

“But the most important thing is its ability to digest ice crystals and absorb ice elements.”

Guang Ling praised, “Brother San is still amazing; you immediately found a suitable Spirit Beast for me.”

“It’s just that you’ve spent too much time researching spirit tools... But that’s fine; everyone has their specialty. In side professions, I mainly research Spirit cultivation, you mainly research spirit tools, and Xiao Wu, well, she researches herb classification, medicine, and writing.”

Over the past six months, Xiao Wu, within the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, has truly begun to grasp medicine and has developed a strong interest in it.

Mortar-pounding Jade Rabbit?

That’s not bad either.

However, Xiao Wu hasn't changed her warlike and competitive personality.

“Xiao Wu, do you have any thoughts on your Fifth spirit ring?” Tang San asked.

“My first four spirit rings, aside from their Spirit Abilities, primarily strengthened my waist, head → brain, spine, and thighs. The Fifth spirit ring will mainly strengthen my arms.” Having spent a long time with Tang San and Guang Ling, Xiao Wu also developed a certain logic for selecting spirit rings. “Unlike Tool Spirits like Guang Ling, Beast Spirits like mine need to match their spirit rings; it’s not just about the Spirit Ability. Also, I’m practicing with short knives, so strengthening my arms is a must.”

“Good, you’re becoming more mature,” Tang San nodded. “So, what kind of Spirit Beast do you think you should choose?”

Through the Spirit Abilities Listening to the Wind, True Spirit Bone, and Electric Light Flash, Tang San had already determined that Xiao Wu could rely on the essence of her Ten-thousand year cultivation to condense the Spirit Abilities she desired.

As long as it was a rabbit type, she should be able to obtain the corresponding essential abilities.

However, it would still be best if it matched the Soft Bones Rabbit.

“What do you think of a Spirit Beast like the Fire Claw Rabbit?” Xiao Wu asked.

“Tell me your reasoning,” Tang San asked for the reason.

“It’s very simple. The Fire Claw Rabbit’s speed is not bad. After obtaining its spirit ring, my speed can instinctively increase. Secondly, the Fire Claw Rabbit’s forelimbs are more developed, with five flexible fingers, which is similar to my situation.”

Xiao Wu elaborated on her reasons for choosing the Fire Claw Rabbit, “Besides that, it carries a fire attribute.”

“My Third spirit ring gave me the Electric Light Flash Spirit Ability, which is a continuous charge-type kicking Spirit Ability, but it carries a slight electric attribute. If my Fourth Spirit Ability can give me a fire attribute, who knows, I might be able to develop a self-created Spirit Ability like ‘Electric Light and Flint’ in the future.”

Tang San first affirmed Xiao Wu's idea of choosing a spirit ring for her Fourth spirit ring that could strengthen her arms and have a fire attribute, and even create a “Electric Light and Flint” skill. “It’s indeed a good idea. The combination of flame and electric light to develop a continuous combo skill has good feasibility. However, the Fire Claw Rabbit won’t work. The fire attribute of this type of rabbit Spirit Beast is not strong; it can only spark a little. Rather than saying this Spirit Beast has a fire attribute, it’s more accurate to say that their claws are as hard as steel, and when they rub against each other, they can create sparks.”

“Then what kind of rabbit should I choose?” Xiao Wu had only seen Fire Claw Rabbits with fire attributes in the Star Dou Great Forest, and she hadn't seen many other fire-attribute Spirit Beasts, as most powerful fire-attribute Spirit Beasts don't live in the Star Dou Great Forest.

“Blazing Flame Rabbit.”

“What kind of rabbit is that?”

“This is a type of rabbit Spirit Beast that lives in the Devil's Grand Canyon. Unlike other rabbits that burrow in plains and flatlands, they live on cliffs, and their forelimbs are much more developed than their hind limbs,” Tang San slowly explained the situation of the Blazing Flame Rabbit. “One could say that this Spirit Beast is equivalent to a monkey on a cliff.”

“They have two circles of golden mane on their wrist joints. When they run on the cliffs, they look like two balls of flame.”

“Furthermore, when their running speed reaches a certain level, those two circles of mane will rub against the air, truly erupting with fire-attribute energy. If struck by their claws, the flame energy will also explode, with considerable power.”

“The ‘soul beast encyclopedia’ records that Ten-thousand year Blazing Flame Rabbits can even use the power of the sun to ignite the golden mane on their wrists, causing it to burn permanently, thereby controlling the Sun's Fire.”

170: Distribute grass jelly leaves and petals

Chapter 170 Distributing Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) · · · Leaves and Petals

Can Blazing Flame Rabbit use the Fire of the Sun?

Among rabbits, there's such a top-tier kind?

I've truly learned something new.

Xiao Wu was greatly shocked, never having imagined that under the subdivision of her own race, there was actually such a type.

"Actually, I think that's not the Fire of the Sun. After all, the sun's temperature is so high. If it were truly the Fire of the Sun, the Blazing Flame Rabbit itself would have to spontaneously combust first," Tang San continued, "However, if you choose the Blazing Flame Rabbit, it will definitely be able to bring you fire-attribute power and strengthen your arms, since it's a rabbit that lives on cliffs."

Xiao Wu nodded, having made up her mind. For her fifth Soul Ring, she would choose the Blazing Flame Rabbit.

After returning to Heaven Dou Royal Academy, Tang San called over Huo Wu and the others.

"Haven't seen you in half a year, what have you been busy with?" Huo Wu naturally knew that Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling were with Dugu Bo. Seeing them again now, she also breathed a sigh of relief and couldn't help but tease, "You weren't on a date with your junior sister and disciple, were you?"

"Cough, I brought gifts for you. If you talk like that, you won't get any," Tang San lowered his voice and became serious.

"Don't! What gifts? Hurry and take them out," Huo Wu immediately changed her playful demeanor, hooked her arm around Tang San's neck, completely in the style of a tomboy.

Taking out the leaves and petals of those Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs), their colorful appearance made Huo Wu and the others' faces fall.

"No way? Just these leaves and petals of flowers and grass?" Yu Feng exclaimed, "Captain, you can't be so poor that you're eating dirt, right? Didn't you establish a commercial cooperation with the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School? Don't you have a lot of money?"

"I do have a lot of money, but these things can't be bought with money right now," Tang San distributed the corresponding leaves and petals to everyone, saying, "These are all rare treasures. After consuming them, they can not only evolve your Martial Soul but also increase your Soul Power, saving you a lot of cultivation time."

"Since they are rare treasures, why is it only a part?" Ning Rongrong looked at the Qiluo Tulip petals in her hand and asked strangely, "You didn't secretly hide the rest, did you?"

"There are whole plants, of course, but they are in the medicinal garden and have already become plant Soul Beasts. Eating them would be too wasteful. However, the effects of a portion of the branches, leaves, and petals are also very effective," Tang San looked at Dugu Yan, "That medicinal garden is currently co-owned by me and Senior Poison Douluo."

A hint of joy appeared in Dugu Yan's eyes: "So, you solved the problem with my Grandpa?"

"Yes, your Grandpa is in very good condition now and has the potential to reach level ninety-five," Tang San nodded, "Otherwise, with your Grandpa's temper, he wouldn't share the medicinal garden with me... However, I've built good relationships with the rare flowers and herbs in the medicinal garden; they like me more."

Dugu Yan: "...What do you mean by 'you've built good relationships with those rare flowers and herbs'?"

"It's just the literal meaning." Tang San didn't elaborate on the specifics, after all, the situation of the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well was not suitable to be spread, otherwise those rare flowers and herbs would be coveted by forces all over the Continent.

As for Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and the others, their Martial Souls were already top-tier. Consuming the leaves and petals of these Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) wouldn't cause much evolution in their Martial Souls, but rather increase some Soul Power and strengthen their foundations.

"Take them," Tang San said, "I will protect you. Otherwise, the medicinal power will be lost."

"How do we take them? Eat them?" Huo Wu looked at the petal in her hand, which resembled a cockscomb flower, and asked Tang San.

"Yes, swallow them into your stomach and refine them with Soul Power."

Consuming the corresponding Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) requires a specific sequence, but since these are just petals and leaves, there aren't so many requirements. Just swallow them directly and refine the medicinal power within using Soul Power.

Huo Wu received a phoenix cockscomb mallow petal, Yu Tianheng received nine Strange Velvet Sky Chrysanthemum petals, Ning Rongrong received a Qiluo Tulip petal, Bai Chenxiang received a snow silkworm leaf, and Ye Lingling received a cinnabar lotus petal.

Yu Feng, the grass leaf of the Phoenix Lotus Grass.

Shi Mo and Shi Mo, two pieces of the root whiskers of the Nine-Grade Earth Dragon Ginseng.

Oslo, a petal of the Eight-Petaled Immortal Orchid.

As for Dugu Yan's Xian Cao (Immortal Herb), it was nine dark green leaves, which was the Xian Cao (Immortal Herb) Tang San found most suitable for the Bi Lin Snake: Nine-Headed Ink Jade Grass.

Nine-Headed Ink Jade Grass, with nine blades of grass resembling snake heads and the texture of ink jade. After Dugu Yan consumes it, it can evolve her Martial Soul into the Nine-Headed Bi Lin Snake Emperor.

Perhaps in Dugu Bo's view, his exchange with Tang San was an equal trade, but Tang San knew that he had gained the larger share, and therefore hoped to give some compensation.

Dugu Bo was already a Title Douluo. Consuming the Nine-Headed Ink Jade Grass wouldn't have much effect unless the Nine-Headed Ink Jade Grass reached the hundred-thousand-year level.

But for Dugu Yan, this was a divine herb that could change her destiny against the heavens.

An hour passed, and Huo Wu and the others woke up one after another.

Huo Wu found that her Soul Power had already increased to level forty-nine, just one step away from level fifty. She couldn't help but hug Tang San: "Does older sister need to offer herself to you?"

"Go away!" Xiao Wu pulled Huo Wu away, her face full of disgust.

At this moment, Yu Tianheng also finished absorbing and opened his eyes. An electric arc appeared out of thin air, his face full of joy: "In the past half year, I've cultivated diligently and my Soul Power increased to level forty-five. After eating those nine chrysanthemum petals, my whole body felt smooth, as if it was tougher than usual, and my Soul Power also increased by two levels, reaching level forty-seven!"

"More importantly—"

Along with the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Martial Soul possession, nine golden stripes condensed on the scales of Yu Tianheng's dragon claws, emitting faint golden lightning.

This proved that Yu Tianheng's Martial Soul was evolving!

The Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon was originally a top-tier Martial Soul, and now that it had advanced further, it would definitely become even stronger!

Although the evolution only appeared on his claws, this was an unprecedented breakthrough for the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon.

It wasn't a variation towards the fire attribute like Liu Erlong's, but an evolution towards a higher level.

"I can feel the sharpness of my dragon claws. Besides the gold attribute, they also carry a trace of the light attribute. My Martial Soul is evolving towards the direction of the Golden Sacred Dragon or the Light Sacred Dragon!"

Yu Tianheng couldn't help but be excited by this.

Whether it was the Golden Sacred Dragon or the Light Sacred Dragon, they were both stronger than the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon!

"Congratulations, Yu Tianheng," Tang San congratulated.

"No, this is all thanks to you," Yu Tianheng hid his excitement, "From now on, whatever information you need that my Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family has, I can give it to you."

Returning the favor, Yu Tianheng even felt that the information in his family's archives was nowhere near as valuable as the hope Tang San had given him!

Afterwards, Ning Rongrong finished absorbing, her Soul Power reached level forty, and her original Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda Martial Soul transformed into the Nine Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda, completing the Martial Soul's evolution.

Although Ning Rongrong didn't consume the entire Qiluo Tulip, the petals of the Qiluo Tulip, which had already become a Soul Beast and could transform into an energy body, had medicinal effects no weaker than the whole plant when it didn't have sentience.

"One, two, three, four, five, six, seven...eight, nine!"

After counting the layers of the glazed tile pagoda, Ning Rongrong's eyes trembled. In her excitement, she directly pounced onto Tang San, hanging onto him completely.

"Smooch!"

Their lips lightly touched for an instant, like a dragonfly skimming the water.

Before Xiao Wu could get jealous, Ning Rongrong immediately jumped off Tang San and explained, "Sorry, I was too excited, because my Martial Soul changed from the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda to the Nine Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda... Being unable to break through to Soul Saint has always been a heartache for our Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. Now, my Martial Soul has become the Nine Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda, and this heartache can finally be removed."

Xiao Wu understood... like hell she did!

She hadn't even kissed Third Brother's mouth!

So angry!

So hateful!

So envious!

Guang Ling was also a little jealous, but as a disciple, she couldn't have improper thoughts.

So—

She endured it.

Afterwards, Yu Feng, Oslo, Ye Lingling, Shi Mo, Shi Mo, and the others finished absorbing, and their Soul Power all increased to level forty.

As for Dugu Yan, who finished absorbing last, her Soul Power reached level forty-six, and her Martial Soul evolved into the Nine-Headed Bi Lin Snake Emperor. In her possession state, besides growing a snake tail behind her and snake scales appearing on her body, she still had one head, but on her head, eight Bi Lin Snake Emperor heads resembling a headband appeared, looking like a peculiar crown, adding three parts of heroic Spirit to her.

"Thanks, Captain," Dugu Yan thanked him. She knew that if it weren't for Tang San, she wouldn't be able to enjoy such benefits. Even if her Grandpa left the medicinal garden to her in the future, she wouldn't recognize those herbs, let alone eat them. Furthermore, even if her cultivation became profound later, she didn't know if eating the leaves of the Nine-Headed Ink Jade Grass would still have any effect.

"Don't mention it," Tang San smiled, "Since you've shown me such favor and made me Captain, naturally I'll give you benefits. Besides, others can thank me, but you can't. After all, the medicinal garden is shared by me and your Grandpa. You only got what you deserved. As for the others, without me, they truly wouldn't be able to eat these."

“O(∩_∩)O Haha~”

Everyone burst into laughter.

“Where are Zhu Zhuqing and Lan Yinzi? Are they not here?”

Scanning the surroundings, Tang San didn't find Zhu Zhuqing, feeling a bit strange, “Could it be that Zhu Zhuqing didn't join the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team in the past six months?”

After Zhu Zhuqing joined Heaven Dou Royal Academy, she didn't immediately join the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team.

Instead, she planned to train for a period first and then challenge the team members.

“Zhu Zhuqing has already joined, but besides daily training, she goes to the Tian Dou Great Spirit Arena for solo and duo matches.

I've never seen anyone crave power like her.”

Recalling how Zhu Zhuqing had single-handedly challenged every member of their Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team over the past six months, Yu Tianheng felt somewhat speechless and also a little startled, “Lan Yinzi is with her.”

Although Zhu Zhuqing was still no match for him and Huo Wu, her darkness power was indeed very advantageous for concealing her figure, causing him and Huo Wu quite a bit of trouble.

More importantly, her Nether Cat seemed to have broken through its limits.

Not only was it fast, but its power and defense were also approaching, and even surpassing, his Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon martial soul before he consumed the Strange Velvet Sky Chrysanthemum petal.

One could only say that the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger was truly worthy of being a super soul beast.

Just a thousand-year level soul ring could strengthen the Nether Cat to such an extent.

Furthermore, when Zhu Zhuqing used her external soul bone, Dark Demon Bone Armor, she was even able to match him.

One must know—

He was a Soul Elder!

And a Soul Elder possessing the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon martial soul, capable of fighting above his rank.

Yet, Zhu Zhuqing, who was only a Soul Grandmaster, was able to fight him to a draw with the enhancement of the Dark Demon Bone Armor.

This could truly be called a fantasy.

“Zhu Zhuqing is indeed a cultivation maniac.

Basically, if she's not cultivating, she's participating in competitions,” Huo Wu also said, “However, her cultivation speed isn't slow.

In the past year, her strength has reached level thirty-seven.

That Dark Demon Evil God Tiger's soul ring must have also changed her cultivation aptitude.”

In Tang San's speculation, the cultivation aptitude of a martial soul was related to one's understanding of the martial soul, similar to the degree of affinity between a person and their martial soul.

The main function of the so-called Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs), besides improving the quality of the martial soul and increasing soul power, was also to strengthen the connection between the martial soul and the person.

During the process of absorbing the medicinal power of the Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs), one relied on soul power to refine the medicinal effect, circulate it throughout the body, and then pass through the martial soul.

In this process, the Soul Master must actively rely on soul power to “communicate” with their martial soul.

Zhu Zhuqing's cultivation speed, increasing by six levels in a year at the Soul Grandmaster stage... Leaving aside the degree of affinity between her and her martial soul for now, as the characteristics of the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger are not a regular situation.

Generally speaking, Tang San would exclude variations caused by martial soul mutation or other external factors, as these situations cannot represent the majority and thus lack universality.

For example, with Zhu Zhuqing, the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger did change the aptitude of the Nether Cat, but whether it increased her aptitude in the theory of “affinity between a person and their martial soul” is still an unknown.

After all, the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger is a soul beast influenced by the Evil God, which can already be considered an “external factor” and cannot be generalized with ordinary aptitude improvement (faster cultivation due to deeper understanding of the martial soul).

“Captain, did you also save leaves or petals of rare flowers and exotic herbs for Zhu Zhuqing?”

Yu Feng asked with a lewd smile, “You really have good luck with women.”

“If you were as handsome as me and had my strength, you would also have good luck with women.”

Tang San shrugged, took out a Xian Cao (Immortal Herbs) from his storage wristband that grew within something like a crystal ball, and it was a whole plant.

“What is this? Is it also a medicinal herb that can increase soul power?”

Yu Feng asked curiously.

“That's right, but ordinary people can't pick it,” Tang San said, “You need to spit a drop of blood from the tip of your tongue on the petals and gain its recognition before you can pick it.

If you don't get recognition, not only can you not pick it, but you will also suffer a backlash of soul power.

However, it's not serious, just a soul power tremor, and you can recover after resting for a while.”

Huo Wu asked, “Can this flower evolve martial souls? Increase soul power?”

“It can't evolve martial souls, but it can increase soul power, and it can directly increase it by ten levels!”

Tang San tempted everyone, “I wouldn't dare say for Soul Douluo and Title Douluo levels, but if a Soul Saint consumes it, I'm certain they can also break through ten bottlenecks and reach the Soul Douluo level directly, without any side effects.”

“This is a top-grade treasure among treasures!”

Everyone's breathing paused for a moment, and they all gasped.

“That powerful? Then why don't you eat it yourself?”

Dugu Yan asked curiously, “You're not trying to trick us, are you?”

“Of course not.

After all, this is also something from your family's medicinal garden, I wouldn't lie to you.”

Tang San handed the flower over and said, “This flower is called Acacia Heartbroken Red.

Even at the hundred-thousand-year level, it won't develop any sentience.

According to a certain ancient text I once read, only those whose love is deeply ingrained in their bones can pick it.

Otherwise, it cannot be picked at all.

Even if you try to chew it directly, this flower is like metal, difficult for a Title Douluo to destroy.”

“In short, it's just one sentence: love is stronger than metal.

If there is no love, this Acacia Heartbroken Red is a nearly indestructible work of art.”

Honestly, Tang San felt that this kind of flower couldn't possibly grow naturally.

It must have been influenced by something, for example:

God!

The legend about the Acacia Heartbroken Red described in the original work can corroborate some of Tang San's guesses.

Coincidentally, the two supreme God Kings of the God Realm, Goodness and Evil, are mischievous gods who love to gamble.

Perhaps this is a “by-product” left behind during the process when the two of them once tested a loving couple on the Douluo Continent.

“Then I'll try.”

Dugu Yan spat a drop of blood on the Acacia Heartbroken Red, thinking of Yu Tianheng in her mind.

She raised her hand to pick it, but found she couldn't pick it off at all.

The moment she touched the Acacia Heartbroken Red, images of Yu Tianheng interacting with other girls appeared in Dugu Yan's mind, and a phantom image of Tang San also appeared in her own mind.

“I can't pick it.

I feel a bit resistant to Yu Tianheng having interacted with other girls in the past,” Dugu Yan returned the Acacia Heartbroken Red to Tang San, looking at Yu Tianheng, “And, I also have a little fondness for Tang San... it's human nature.”

Yu Tianheng felt a little awkward.

He didn't mind Dugu Yan's straightforwardness.

If he were a woman, he would probably also develop a fondness for Tang San, let alone Dugu Yan?

As for female Soul Masters, especially powerful ones, their personalities are mostly proud, and it's unlikely for a situation of multiple women serving one husband to occur.

Unless that male Soul Master is particularly outstanding.

“This flower, probably no normal person can pick it.”

Huo Wu tried it and found she couldn't pick it either.

She couldn't help but shake her head, “Pure love, I doubt anyone among us has it.”

Subsequently, Xiao Wu and Guang Ling tried it.

Their tongue-tip blood was absorbed by the Acacia Heartbroken Red.

The Acacia Heartbroken Red didn't reject them, but they also couldn't pick the flower.

Tang San: “.....” No, what's going on now?

Love is pure, but not deep enough?

Tang San could tell that Xiao Wu had feelings for him.

Although they often bickered, she actually cared about him secretly.

As for Guang Ling...

Sibling complex? Or teacher complex?

He clearly didn't want to refine bronze, nor did he want to be refined into bronze, but looking at the current situation, it seems he fits both?

Damn!

“Can't pick it? Could it be that my love for...”

【...Third Brother is not deep enough?】

Xiao Wu didn't say the second half of the sentence out loud.

Then she found an excuse for herself, “I'm still young and don't understand love,” feeling that when she reached maturity, she would definitely be able to pick the Acacia Heartbroken Red.

And Guang Ling unilaterally believed that his feelings for Tang San were not genuine, carrying the gratitude of repaying kindness, and were not pure, so he secretly hypnotized himself.

How should I put it?

In some aspects, the two of them really weren't normal people.

Tang San put away the Acacia Heartbroken Red and said, “Since no one can pick it, then let's leave this flower here for now.

Let's go find Lan Yinzi and Zhu Zhuqing.

You can also stretch your muscles and bones along the way.

Afterward, any of you who need to hunt soul beasts to obtain soul rings can ask your families for help.

If you need my analysis, you can also come to me.

I will do my best to help you choose the most suitable soul beasts.”

171: The test of Lan Yinzi

Heaven Dou City Great Spirit Arena.

The doubles arena - River Field.

As Tang San's suggestion for diverse fields was recognized by the Spirit Hall, the Great Spirit Arena in the Heaven Dou Empire also kept pace with the times and opened up diverse fields.

Of course, only the Spirit arenas in large cities had such treatment; in smaller cities, it was difficult for the Spirit arenas to achieve diversity.

For example, the Spirit arena in Soto City was still that kind of platform field.

Getting back to the point.

The so-called River Field was a competition field one hundred meters long and one hundred meters wide, with a winding artificial river running through it, with gravel and softer fine sand on both sides, and beyond that, some randomly laid wild grass.

This kind of field was relatively uncomfortable for soul masters who were used to fighting on dry flat ground.

After all—

The grass was quite slippery...

Near the river, the fine sand was relatively soft and also damp...

Not to mention the flowing river water; if one's martial soul was not directly related to water, even if they could swim, they couldn't jump in.

However, compared to extreme fields like ice, snow, or lava, this River Field was already quite good. As long as one was careful, a soul master's strength would not decrease by much.

Moreover, different fields could better reveal a soul master's talent.

"Now, please welcome the doubles teams!"

The referee was a female soul master with the ability to fly, holding a microphone-like amplification soul guidance device, and shouted loudly: "The Phoenix team from Shrek Academy, and the Blue Cat team from Heaven Dou Royal Academy!"

"Pfft~"

When Tang San heard the words "Blue Cat," he had just drunk some water and almost spat it out, "Cough cough!"

"Are you okay?" Xiao Wu asked with concern, "Why are you so excited?"

"It's nothing, I just heard Shrek Academy and was a little curious... Have they also come to Heaven Dou City?" Tang San's ability to change the subject was first-class, and he looked at Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and the others.

Yu Tianheng nodded and said, "Indeed, Shrek Academy has come to Heaven Dou City, and at first, they wanted to join Heaven Dou Royal Academy. Under Teacher Qin Ming's leadership, it was actually quite smooth, but they provoked Xue Beng... Although Xue Beng's mouth is a bit foul, he is after all the son of Emperor Xue Ye. Since they hit him, it was naturally impossible for them to stay for long."

"Although the Three Education Committee tried their best to stop it, Xue Beng found Prince Xue Xing... This matter couldn't be resolved well."

"Originally, Prince Xue Xing even wanted to invite Senior Poison Douluo out, but Poison Douluo seems to be with you... However, even so, Shrek and the others still left in the end, because Xue Beng often brought people to cause them trouble, and even brought members of the Royal First Team. That Crown Prince's guard and follower, Wang Chen, seems to have a particularly strong hostility towards Mu Tian..."

Mu Tian and Wang Chen are both transmigrators, and their personalities are relatively close to the Long Aotian type. The situation of [fellow countryman seeing fellow countryman, tears welling up in both eyes] is impossible to happen.

As for Qin Ming, he did not follow Shrek and leave as he did in the original work.

Because this time, Shrek and the others couldn't stand Xue Beng and the others constantly causing trouble and left on their own, rather than being driven away by Xue Xing with Dugu Bo.

Insulting words about Shrek...

Xue Beng did indeed say them, but he was just a profligate.

Qin Ming could distinguish the severity of the situation—he would not make a big deal out of the mockery of a profligate young master... Shrek Academy was angered and left voluntarily, which is different from being driven away.

Therefore, Qin Ming did not leave with them.

"And then?" Tang San continued to ask, "Shrek is relatively poor, so how did they establish themselves in Heaven Dou City?"

"It can be considered a family scandal." Yu Tianheng scratched his head a little awkwardly, "Isn't Yu Xiaogang my uncle? Although he is currently looked down upon by the entire continent, and most people in the family also look down on him, he has not been removed from the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family... And one of our family's Elders has an illegitimate daughter, who is my aunt, and she opened a Blue Tyrant Academy... Flander, my uncle, and the remaining one, you should have guessed, right?"

"The Golden Iron Triangle is complete." Tang San said calmly, and then asked, "So, how did they separate back then?"

"Perhaps because of Martial Soul Fusion, my uncle and my aunt fell for each other, and they didn't know they were cousins, they almost got married..." Yu Tianheng hesitated repeatedly before telling this matter, and immediately felt much more relaxed, and then said, "You must not tell anyone."

Shi Mo and Shi Mo said in unison: "Our two brothers have the tightest mouths, we will definitely not tell."

Yu Feng said: "Vice Captain, don't worry, I have a relative who works in the Spirit Hall, and I heard that their status is quite high, and the most important thing for the Spirit Hall to be able to establish branches throughout the continent is its credibility."

Tang San glanced at Yu Feng and felt that Yu Feng's relative who worked in the Spirit Hall was Ling Yuan, after all, both of their martial souls were Wind Chime Birds, a continuous line.

In this World where martial souls can be used as paternity tests, the same martial soul is the best proof.

After that, the others also expressed that their mouths were very tight, they could keep secrets, and would definitely not tell.

"After Shrek and the others left, they joined the Blue Tyrant Academy, and then the Blue Tyrant Academy changed its name to Shrek Academy, and during the six months you were away, Shrek Academy also cultivated eight relatively talented students." Yu Tianheng continued to talk about Shrek's situation, "Dai Mubai, Oscar, Ma Hongjun, Mu Tian, Huang Yuan, Jing Ling, Tai Long, and a reserve healing support system named Jiang Zhu."

"These people have all reached the realm of Soul Elder, and Dai Mubai's soul power has already reached level thirty-nine... This guy is indeed very dissolute and often chases girls in Heaven Dou City, so his cultivation progress is relatively slow, but by the time the competition starts, he should be able to reach Soul Grandmaster."

"As for the others, except for that Mu Tian who might become a Soul Grandmaster, the rest of them are probably only able to hover at the Soul Elder level."

Dugu Yan chimed in: "Although their strength is not strong, their cooperation is still tacit, coupled with the restraining relationship between soul masters and the ability to reasonably utilize the field, Shrek's people have a good winning rate in this Heaven Dou Great Spirit Arena, second only to the Four Elements Academy."

Oslo also said: "Even, if the main force of the Four Elements Academy does not make a move, they can pressure the other students of the Four Elements Academy... as long as the Four Elements Academy does not have a field advantage."

Yu Feng said: "The cooperation between the Shrek students is actually still in the state before your theory was published, Captain. Their tactics are not clever, they just have a fierce momentum, like street thugs fighting, the fierce one is more intimidating."

Tang San nodded, this was Shrek's former way of survival.

When they were in Soto City, the academy was only that big, and if the students didn't want to be bullied, they could only show their strength and fierceness, making others feel that they couldn't be provoked.

Even Dai Mubai, who was born into the Star Luo Empire royal family, in an environment like Shrek, also acquired a bit of a thug-like rogue Spirit... A guy who can accept Shrek's philosophy and say something like "the academy's students are the easiest to provoke" is just a little thug, isn't he?

On the River Field, the battle between Lan Yinzi and Zhu Zhuqing VS Mu Tian and Ma Hongjun also began.

Ma Hongjun was the first to use Phoenix Fire Line, a thin flame crossing the river and going straight towards Lan Yinzi.

However, due to the distance, Lan Yinzi easily dodged it.

And when the flame landed on the ground, it exploded, scorching a lot of weeds, but the fire could not burn up.

After all, although Ma Hongjun's flame temperature was high, the grass on the field was not that kind of withered dry grass. To burn up, the water inside had to be dried first.

Unfortunately, this was a River Field, and the most abundant thing underground was water. How could Ma Hongjun's little soul power dry up the water in the entire River Field?

After dodging the attack, Lan Yinzi used Lan Yin Seed and Lan Yin Net. In an environment with abundant water like the River Field, the Blue Silver Emperor could play a greater role.

In just a blink of an eye, the entire field was covered by the Lan Yin Net, and even the river surface was covered with a net woven from Blue Silver Grass.

After Lan Yinzi changed the environment, Zhu Zhuqing quickly flickered her figure, approaching the fat-as-a-ball Ma Hongjun with extreme speed and strength, instantly eliminating the opponent, and then concentrating on dealing with Mu Tian's Three-Headed Hellfire Lizard.

This martial soul was possessed by Austin Griffin. Even though Austin Griffin has left now, having been influenced by him, its own defense, strength, and speed are not bad.

It's just a pity that it was ultimately not as strong as Zhu Zhuqing, who had obtained the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger soul ring and external soul bone.

Zhu Zhuqing exhausted its soul power and knocked it off the platform.

However, Zhu Zhuqing also consumed nearly seventy percent of her soul power for this and was a little out of breath.

"Still too weak. Dealing with a Earth Fire Lizard requires consuming seventy percent of my soul power. I still need to strengthen my training and control the precision of my soul power usage." Zhu Zhuqing secretly warned herself, then turned to Lan Yinzi and nodded, walking off the River Field.

"Winner, Blue Cat Combination!" The host announced the result of the match. Afterwards, more than a dozen staff members entered the arena to clean up the battlefield, clearing the footprints and burnt grass on the ground and replanting.

After the river arena was cleaned up, the nearby ground cracked, the entire river arena descended, and the two sides of the river were sealed off by thick walls, moving to one side, while another arena moved out from the other side—the Desert.

Clearly, under the ground of this Tian Dou Great Spirit Arena, various types of arenas are arranged, and under the action of mechanisms and some soul guidance devices, they can be switched...

...

After the competition ended, many people took soul guidance cameras and took pictures of Lan Yinzi, Zhu Zhuqing, and others.

The two girls didn't mind. They just went to the hall to retrieve their participation certificates: the team badges of the Blue Cat Combination, and then prepared to leave the Great Spirit Arena.

It's just that—

"Two beautiful ladies, the match was very exciting." Tang San and the others came over and stepped forward to congratulate them.

"Captain!" Zhu Zhuqing cried out in surprise, trotted over, and then maintained her aloofness, "You guys also came to the Great Spirit Arena to compete?"

"Just to stretch our muscles and bones." Huo Wu rubbed her wrists and said with a laugh.

"You guys go register. I'll take them back to the academy. If you need to hunt soul beasts, you can just come to the dormitory to find me." Tang San reminded everyone and then left with Lan Yinzi and Zhu Zhuqing.

"Xiao Wu, aren't you going with them? Aren't you afraid that black cat will steal your boyfriend?" Huo Wu teased.

"Tch~ Third Brother isn't that kind of person."

Although Xiao Wu would be a little unhappy when other girls approached Tang San, she knew that Tang San wasn't that kind of casual person...

...

After bringing the two girls back to Heaven Dou Royal Academy, Tang San gave them the bamboo joints and seeds of the two xian cao (immortal herbs).

Zhu Zhuqing received the lotus seeds of the Nether Earth Lotus, while Lan Yinzi received a section of the Ink Jade Divine Bamboo.

The lotus seeds just needed to be swallowed, while the Ink Jade Divine Bamboo required the bamboo tube to be split open and the water inside drunk.

"These two things are treasures I obtained from a medicinal garden. All the members of the Heaven Dou Royal First Team have a share, and they have already refined them." Tang San said, "For you, these two things are good heavenly materials and earthly treasures. While solidifying your foundation and cultivating your origin, they can also help you increase your soul power."

"Thank you." Zhu Zhuqing didn't say another word, directly swallowed the lotus seeds, and began to refine them with her soul power.

"Thank you, Captain." Lan Yinzi understood that these things were obtained from Dugu Bo's Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, but she couldn't possibly refuse treasures that could change her fate against the heavens.

After all, she had been reborn by possessing a transmigrator. Although her martial soul had evolved into the Blue Silver Emperor, her physical body was a human body and did not have the bloodline of the Blue Silver Emperor. Her talent was not as good as the original human form of the Blue Silver Emperor.

The Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul and the Blue Silver Emperor bloodline are not the same thing.

The previous owner of this body wanted to obtain the Blue Silver Emperor's bloodline factors by consuming the Blue Silver Emperor, which was quite a pipe dream.

Modifying the genetic material in every cell was not something she could do at all.

In short, this body only had the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul and not the Blue Silver Emperor bloodline. Even if she gave birth to a child in the future, she would not be able to pass down the Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul. After all, this Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul was born from the evolution of Blue Silver Grass, influenced by the original source of the Blue Silver Emperor's soul.

Lan Yinzi herself had to rely on xian cao (immortal herbs) that could change her fate against the heavens to further strengthen her physical and martial soul aptitude so that she could stay by her son's side.

Half an hour later, the two girls finished absorbing.

Zhu Zhuqing's soul power reached level forty, and she looked surprised. Lan Yinzi's soul power also reached level forty, and two ink-jade colored patterns appeared on the edges of the leaves of her Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul, making the Blue Silver Emperor even more resilient.

"Not bad, you didn't waste a part of the xian cao (immortal herbs) I brought back." Tang San nodded in satisfaction, "Zhu Qing, after level forty, what soul beast do you want to choose for your fourth soul ring?"

"A dark-attribute, fast soul beast." Zhu Zhuqing said without hesitation, "I am still following the path of an assassin-type agility-attack system. Although the awakening of the power of darkness has greatly increased my combat power and strength, and I can also possess the abilities of a close-range control-type strong attack system soul master, I need to utilize the advantage of speed."

"That's not bad, but the Nether Cat type, what it's best at, shouldn't be that kind of accelerated straight-line running. The key is flexibility."

Tang San affirmed Zhu Zhuqing's idea and then mentioned the soul beast suitable for Zhu Zhuqing, "The Dark Demon Wind Tiger is more suitable for you. This soul beast can conceal its body with the help of the power of darkness, and its movements are also very fast, agile, and flexible. Moreover, it also has a wind attribute, which should be able to enhance the wind attribute you gain after obtaining the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger's soul ring."

"As for the age, close to ten thousand years is enough."

Zhu Zhuqing was puzzled: "Why can't it be ten thousand years?"

Lan Yinzi interrupted: "Because Ten-thousand year soul beasts already have some intelligence, and their souls are already relatively strong. After death, their souls will be entangled in the soul ring. When a soul master absorbs it, it will cause a kind of spiritual shock. At worst, the absorption will fail, and at worst, their body will explode and die, or even..."

Have everything taken by the soul beast's soul, and be reborn as a human.

She, Lan Yinzi, was like this.

This is something the Blue Silver Emperor can only confirm now.

Although she was only a ten-year soul beast at the time, she was reborn from a Ten-thousand year soul beast. Her own bloodline was there, and although her spiritual power was weak, it was only limited by her cultivation and could not be released. However, the quality of her spiritual power was ultimately at the level of a Ten-thousand year soul beast and not something a normal human could refine.

"Lan Yinzi is right. Ten-thousand year soul beasts already have considerable intelligence. The few soul fragments left in their soul rings are difficult for those with insufficient spiritual power to absorb." Tang San confirmed Lan Yinzi's statement, "Ten-thousand year soul beasts cannot be absorbed just by having up to standard physical fitness. Spiritual power must also be extraordinary, otherwise the possibility of absorption failure is very high."

"Just like whale jelly, I announced that it can improve physical fitness, but due to the scarcity of whale jelly on the market, and the consideration of the safety of the younger generation by various major forces, for a long time, the situation of a four-ring ten-thousand year will not appear too much."

Zhu Zhuqing thought for a moment and said, "I think I can withstand a ten-thousand year soul ring. The boost that the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger's soul ring gives me is very powerful, and my spiritual power is also stronger than ordinary people."

"Indeed, you, who have absorbed the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger's soul ring, have such qualifications." Tang San affirmed, and then gave another suggestion, "Before hunting for the fourth soul ring, you can settle down more and practice controlling your soul power more. This also requires using spiritual power to control it, and it can also slowly increase your spiritual power."

The cultivation method of Purple Demon Eyes is not for people who are not our own and cannot be completely trusted, and absolutely cannot be given.

"Okay." Zhu Zhuqing nodded vigorously, deciding to diligently practice controlling her body balance and soul power before going to obtain her soul ring.

"Lan Yinzi, have you thought about what soul beast you need for your fourth soul ring? If not, I can give you some suggestions."

Tang San had guessed about Lan Yinzi, that she was the Blue Silver Emperor, but Xiao Wu couldn't tell that she was a Ten-thousand year soul beast in human form, and there were no traces of any so-called aura concealment.

Therefore, Tang San was actually a little curious about her state.

"Captain, I primarily focus on a physical control system, but I also have the heart of a strong attack system. My third soul skill: Blue Silver Cutting Array, after forming the Blue Silver Net, the leaves are extremely sharp, and under my control, they can cut enemies. This is a powerful area-of-effect soul skill that can be used for both close combat and long-range attacks."

"For control, my First Soul Skill: Lan Yin Seed, can absorb the enemy's soul power, providing soul power control; my second soul skill: Blue Silver Net, can bind the enemy's body, providing physical control."

"I think these two control soul skills are enough, so next, I need powerful attack abilities to assist my teammates."

Listening to the Blue Silver Emperor's analysis, Tang San confirmed his previous guess about the Blue Silver Emperor: the Blue Silver Emperor, who could possess an offensive soul skill like the Blue Silver Overlord Spear that could be used for both single-target close combat and long-range attacks, definitely had the heart of a strong attack system.

"So, for my fourth soul ring, I plan to choose the Demon Eye Magic Tree."

"The Demon Eye Magic Tree can provide me with spiritual power enhancement, thereby strengthening my control over my martial soul. At the same time, my martial soul might be able to inherit the spiritual abilities of the Demon Eye Magic Tree, giving birth to a soul skill that combines spiritual control and attack."

Demon Eye Magic Tree?

Can a ten-thousand year soul ring in human form, like the Soft Bone Rabbit, condense plant-related soul rings?

That's unlikely, right?

Xiao Wu, tracing back to her origin as a ten-thousand year cultivation, could only condense soul rings related to rabbit-type soul beasts. Can the Blue Silver Emperor condense all plants?

172: Ning Fengzhi is here

Based on his own Blue Silver Emperor, Tang San found that he could only control Blue Silver Grass. As for other plants, although they would “submit,” it was merely a form of “respect” for the Emperor of Plants. Essentially, the Blue Silver Emperor and other plants were different races and could not form effective “leadership.”

Of course, after Tang San took control of the Golden Ancient Tree, his Blue Silver Emperor Spirit was affected by the corresponding aura, and indeed showed a tendency to become the Emperor of all plants. But Lan Yinzi’s Blue Silver Emperor shouldn’t be able to do that, right?

Why could she condense a Demon Eye Magic Tree’s spirit ring?

Or rather, it wasn’t condensing, but hunting a Demon Eye Magic Tree to obtain its spirit ring?

That’s possible...

Although a Ten-thousand year soul beast that has transformed into human form can condense its first seven spirit rings, there’s no rule that it must condense them; it can hunt other Spirit Beasts to obtain them.

Generally, transformed Spirit Beasts do not choose to hunt other Spirit Beasts. Aside from the sympathy they feel for other Spirit Beasts because they themselves are transformed Spirit Beasts, their own Ten-thousand year cultivation origin is sufficient to condense Spirit Abilities suitable for the Spirit they possess after transformation.

It’s just, why would Lan Yinzi choose to hunt Spirit Beasts?

Could it be that he guessed wrong, and the other party isn't a Ten-thousand year soul beast that has transformed into human form?

"According to your idea, it is indeed possible." Tang San was unclear about Lan Yinzi's specific situation, so he didn't plan to inquire too much.

Whether she was a Blue Silver Emperor transformed into human form or another transmigrator, at least for now, she bore him no ill will.

That alone was enough.

"Um, Captain, have you eaten an Immortal Herb yourself?" Zhu Zhuqing asked with concern.

"No, but I have summarized the various energy flow patterns on the Immortal Herb and created a complete method for cultivating spirit power and vital energy. Once I've confirmed it's fine through experimentation, I'll have the opportunity to pass it on to you all."

Tang San only passed the Jade Bone Golden Muscle Divine Treasure Method to Xiao Wu and Guang Ling. As for others, he currently had no plans to teach them.

However, once he became powerful in the future, this method wouldn't be impossible to spread.

After all, thinking and creating alone always had limited inspiration, far from comparable to the clash of ideas from many people.

Hiding things away would only lead to stagnation.

To continuously progress, one must draw upon the wisdom of all beings and gather the insights of all Spirits.

Of course, it's certainly not possible now. He needs to become powerful first; at the very least, he must be able to crush ninety-nine percent of the Spirit Masters on Douluo Star with a single hand.

Tang San never denied this selfishness...

...

As the New Year approached, the academy went on holiday.

The noble students of Heaven Dou Royal Academy also returned home, and the members of the Heaven Dou First Team bid each other farewell.

Tang San, Xiao Wu, and Guang Ling also returned to Nuoding City, spending the New Year in the manor they had bought from Ma Xiunuo.

Old Jack stayed there during the winter, and the family enjoyed themselves.

After the New Year, the three of them also followed Old Jack back to Saint Spirit Village for a visit. The village was still the same, but with seven or eight more households.

According to Old Jack, it was because a Spirit Master like him had emerged from Saint Spirit Village, making people feel it was safer, so they moved there.

After staying for half a month, Tang San left Old Jack a thousand gold coins and some herbs for strengthening the body and cultivating vitality. He then visited Su Yuntao, Sisi, and Wang Sheng, after which he took Xiao Wu and Guang Ling on their journey again, returning to Heaven Dou City.

After spring began.

Heaven Dou City became lively.

In the streets and alleys, noblewomen could be seen everywhere, wearing thick cheongsams, walking with graceful lotus steps, their figures lithe and charming.

"I guess I've changed the Douluo Continent too," Tang San said with a smile.

"You certainly have changed it, making all those beautiful women show off their long legs," Xiao Wu said with a hint of jealousy, "I don't even know if you're doing it to make money or to feast your own eyes."

“Cough cough, I’m certainly doing it to make money, and besides, I just have a pair of eyes that can appreciate beauty.” Tang San coughed twice, speaking earnestly, “Moreover, everyone has a love for beauty.”

“Tsk~” Xiao Wu showed a look of disdain.

[Tianshui Academy’s dance troupe is holding a concert!]

[Ticket sales: Outside Tianshui Academy’s main gate!]

[Friendly reminder: There’s also a chance to take a photo with the female students of Tianshui Academy!]

At this moment, on a newly built three-sided billboard by the roadside, images of Tianshui Academy’s female singing group appeared, announcing that Tianshui Academy would be holding a concert at the Great Spirit Arena in Heaven Dou City.

The emergence of spirit tool cameras made the dissemination of information convenient.

Tianshui Academy had clearly seized the opportunity, placing advertisements and holding concerts.

Tianshui Academy had done something similar last year, and presumably, finding the results good and having earned a considerable sum of money, they planned to do it several more times this year.

“Speaking of which, the outstanding talented disciples of various academies are also celebrities. If they have countless fans, wouldn’t that count as a method of gathering believers?” Tang San looked at the images of Shui Bing’er, Shui Yue’er, and others on the advertisement screen, rubbing his chin, secretly contemplating the possibilities, “It shouldn’t be that simple. Fans’ adoration for celebrities is just a kind of fanaticism, not a heartfelt faith. Moreover, how to gather the power of faith is also a problem... And also, this thing called faith, I feel it’s best not to touch it... Furthermore, celebrities can also have their reputations ruined.”

“Third Brother, what are you thinking about? You haven’t fallen for those women from Tianshui Academy, have you?” Xiao Wu became vigilant, “Huo Wu said that the girls from Tianshui Academy are all hussies.”

“Cough, Huo Wu’s words are definitely an exaggeration, but those matters between men and women, they’re certainly not virgins.”

According to Tang San’s observations, the general atmosphere regarding matters between men and women on the Douluo Continent was quite open, especially in the Star Luo Empire, even more so.

However, most people, once a man and a woman truly established a boyfriend-girlfriend relationship, treated the other party quite sincerely and would not betray them during that period, unless they broke up.

“You know about matters between men and women?” Xiao Wu’s eyes became strange.

“Cough, self-taught.” Tang San quickly changed the subject, “Let’s go, to Heaven Dou Royal Academy. For the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament a year from now, we need to cultivate even harder, and our side businesses cannot be neglected either.”

“I will focus on Spirit research, supplemented by spirit tool research and medical research; Xiao Wu, you will focus on medical research, supplemented by memorizing Spirit theoretical knowledge and testing spirit tools; Guang Ling, you will be responsible for focusing on spirit tool research, supplemented by Spirit research and identifying medicinal materials for medical knowledge.”

The three of them each had their strengths.

However, among the three side businesses, Tang San had a high level of research in all three, though he was strongest in Spirit theory; as for Xiao Wu, she only researched medicine. For the other two, Tang San felt that if she could remember some common sense about Spirit cultivation and flexibly apply spirit tools, that would be good enough.

And Guang Ling was the youngest, with limited energy. Even if he received Tang San's true teachings, he couldn't thoroughly research all three side businesses. To avoid excessive dispersion of energy, in terms of medicine, he only needed to be able to identify most medicinal materials and their effects.

Indeed, Xiao Wu's attention was diverted, and she said, "That's no problem. I never thought before that ordinary plants, when used together, could have so many different effects."

The wisdom of humans is absolutely incomparable to that of Spirit Beasts. Even a Ten-thousand year soul beast is far inferior.

If Tang San knew Xiao Wu's thoughts, he would definitely say that the wisdom of a Ten-thousand year soul beast is no different from that of humans, it's just that Ten-thousand year soul beasts don't have the opportunity to make mistakes.

Humans reproduce quickly, and countless people will summarize the experiences of their predecessors.

As for Spirit Beasts, generally speaking, only when they cultivate to the Ten-thousand year level can they fully match human intelligence. This intelligence is accumulated over many years and is extremely precious. Coupled with the scarcity of Ten-thousand year soul beasts, it also makes them cherish their lives even more and dare not take risks.

Courage, the greatest ode.

Due to various factors such as environment, population size, and cultivation, Spirit Beasts do not possess it.

Even if they launch a beast tide and resist humans, it is only because their living environment is constantly being encroached upon by humans, leaving them with no other choice but to rage in futility.

Compared to those fierce beasts whose cultivation exceeds two hundred thousand years and who can freely transform between human and beast forms, but mostly stay in their habitats, Tang San felt that the transformed Ten-thousand year soul beasts were more outstanding.

Regardless of what factors led them to transform into human form and come to the human World—revenge? Longing for the human World?

At least this portion of Spirit Beasts was willing to step out of the great forests, grasslands, Deserts, and canyons, possessing the courage to move towards civilization.

Even though most of them met tragic ends, becoming the spirit rings and Spirit Bones of human Spirit Masters, from a personal perspective, Tang San still admired this portion of transformed Spirit Beasts.

At least, Xiao Wu's changes were significant; she was no longer just a leg accessory + protagonist power-up mechanism from the original work, but possessed her own distinct personality and formidable strength.

"I will also work hard, Third Brother," Guang Ling also promised.

"Alright, keep it up. Compared to Xiao Wu, I have more faith in you." Tang San patted Guang Ling's head, encouraging him.

"What do you mean? I'm working very hard too, you know!" Xiao Wu pouted, but she wasn't jealous of Guang Ling. After all, Guang Ling had also been taken in by Old Jack as his granddaughter, making her Xiao Wu's good sister!

"Okay, should I pat your head too?"

Tang San reached out, but Xiao Wu, with a slight blush, dodged him. She said, "Get lost! We're on the street; how embarrassing is that?"

Tang San: O(∩_∩)O Haha~

Guang Ling: ^_^

Amidst their playful banter, the three returned to Heaven Dou Royal Academy.

Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, Zhu Zhuqing, Lan Yinzi, and others also returned to the Academy.

Furthermore, Huo Wu had broken through to Spirit King this year, acquiring a spirit ring of about forty thousand years. Her Spirit Ability: Dual Sun Across the Sky.

This fifth spirit ring originated from a light and fire dual-attribute Blazing Unicorn. It not only further enhanced the Sun Goddess's light and fire dual-attributes but also significantly increased her movement speed.

The Spirit Ability, Dual Sun Across the Sky, involves condensing two small, sun-like white orbs of light around Huo Wu's body. These can be worn on her fists as gauntlets for close combat or shot out as long-range attacks. Their destructive power is immense; the force of their explosion is something even a Spirit Douluo would find hard to withstand head-on.

When used in a formal competition, the amount of spirit power injected needs to be considered, otherwise it could easily wipe out the enemy team. Moreover, this move clearly has the potential to alter the terrain.

Yu Tianheng was still some distance from Spirit King, but he could break through before the competition began. He also brought Tang San a lot of Spirit data collected by the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan.

Yu Feng, Oslo, Shi Mo, Shi Mo, Ye Lingling, and others also brought out various Spirit data, Spirit Beast data, as well as some biographies and anecdotes collected by their families.

Zhu Zhuqing also brought out some information collected by the Zhu family.

Lan Yinzi was a bit flushed, as she was the only one who couldn't produce any data. "It's alright, Lan Yinzi. Tang San is your son. As a mother, it's fine not to give compensation...."

Just as Lan Yinzi was comforting herself, Ning Rongrong walked over from not far away, accompanied by a gentle and refined middle-aged man.

Beside the middle-aged man was an old man with a sword-like aura.

It was Ning Fengzhi and Sword Douluo.

“Greetings, Sect Master Ning, Senior Sword Douluo.” xn

Everyone from Heaven Dou Royal Academy, including Tang San, bowed slightly, showing respect to the Sect Master and Sword Douluo.

“No need for formalities.” Ning Fengzhi smiled gently, his gaze fixed on Tang San. He extended an invitation, “Little friend Tang San, would you be willing to chat aside for a moment?”

“It is my pleasure; I would not refuse.”

After Tang San finished speaking, he walked away with Ning Fengzhi and Sword Douluo. Ning Rongrong remained behind, chatting with the people from Heaven Dou Royal Academy...

...

“Grandmaster Tang San, it’s been a long time. Your strength seems to have advanced another level. Could it be that you’ve already broken through to the Spirit King level?”

Upon arriving by the Heaven Dou Lake, Ning Fengzhi scrutinized Tang San, finding that he could no longer see through him, which surprised him greatly. “This level of spirit power concealment is probably something even a Titled Douluo would feel inferior to.”

“It’s really not something I’m used to, being called Grandmaster by Sect Master Ning.” Tang San laughed heartily, “Just call me Tang San directly.”

“The title of Grandmaster is one you deserve, but since you insist, I will call you Xiao Tang, which is more intimate.” Ning Fengzhi smiled, “After all, through Rongrong, we are quite familiar with each other, and we’ve collaborated twice. I am older than you, so just call me Uncle Ning.”

“Okay, Uncle Ning.” Tang San called out without hesitation.

“Uh...”

Sword Douluo, standing by, was stunned. He said, “Aren’t theoretical Grandmasters like you the most concerned about face? You just called him that?”

“Isn’t it more intimate?” Tang San said with a chuckle, “Besides, I am indeed a bit younger than Uncle Ning.” Counting his previous Life’s age, he was only in his thirties, while Ning Fengzhi was probably in his forties.

Sword Douluo was speechless. Was he talking about age?

Ning Fengzhi, however, laughed: “Xiao Tang is genuine; it’s not surprising. Only by being so can he become a Spirit Grandmaster.”

“It’s all just others’ praise.” Tang San was modest.

“Without true ability, others wouldn’t acknowledge you.”

Ning Fengzhi, however, had different thoughts, and then got to the main point, “I came this time mainly to thank you for helping Rongrong’s Spirit evolve into the Nine Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda, which broke the shackles of our Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda.”

“I also didn’t expect that the Qiluo Tulip I brought back would be so suitable for Ning Rongrong.” Tang San did not take credit.

“I wonder if there are any Qiluo Tulip petals left? I am willing to acquire them at a high price.” Ning Fengzhi stated his main objective, a hint of hope in his eyes.

If there were still Qiluo Tulip petals, then his Spirit might also be able to evolve into the Nine Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda.

“Yes.” Tang San’s words made Ning Fengzhi’s breathing quicken. He had thought that such a heavenly treasure would surely be rare, and had only asked on a whim, never expecting there actually to be some.

But Tang San's next words disappointed Ning Fengzhi: "But, I don't have any on me anymore... Ning Rongrong must have told you that my herbs were brought from a medicinal garden, right?"

"You'll have to find Old Poison. That place is now shared between him and me."

Poison Douluo...

If he could, Ning Fengzhi wanted to seize Poison Douluo's medicinal garden.

But it wouldn't work.

No matter how weak Poison Douluo's strength, he was still a Titled Douluo. If he一心逃跑, Sword Douluo and Bone Douluo in the Sect simply couldn't stop him.

If they threatened his family...

Dugu Yan was Yu Tianheng's girlfriend. The Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan would surely intervene upon learning this. If Dugu Yan eventually married Yu Tianheng, a part of that medicinal garden might even become her dowry.

Therefore, the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan would not sacrifice the greater good for a small gain by directly seizing it.

Moreover, although Poison Douluo's combat power wasn't strong, his threat was the strongest among all Titled Douluo. When his toxins spread, the disciples of large families and Sects simply couldn't withstand the erosion of the toxins. No major power could bear such losses.

This was also one of the main reasons why Spirit Hall did not help Chrysanthemum Douluo deal with Dugu Bo, despite Chrysanthemum Douluo having a grudge with Poison Douluo.

The disadvantages outweighed the benefits; it was not worth it, so they could only let the two of them resolve it themselves.

“Besides that, you also need to gain the Qiluo Tulip’s approval.”

Tang San continued, “That is a plant Spirit Beast. It can condense an energy-based human form using spirit power, and its wisdom is no less than that of a human. Compared to an ordinary Ten-thousand year soul beast, it’s not much different.”

This was not alarmist talk.

After Tang San taught those intelligent Immortal Herbs the corresponding energy circulation methods, with the special magnetic field of the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well, they could even form special formations similar to natural arrays, integrating offense and defense.

Ordinary Spirit Masters, even Titled Douluo, could not enter without the permission of those Immortal Herbs.

“Comparable to a Ten-thousand year soul beast?” Ning Fengzhi did not doubt it. After all, only such an existence could have a part of its body be so effective on a Spirit Master.

“Is there proof?” Sword Douluo, however, was skeptical and asked Tang San for some proof.

“Very well. If I provide proof, our mutual trust can also double.” Tang San nodded, suggesting, “How about we go to my dorm? It’s secluded there.”

Ning Fengzhi was curious, wondering how Tang San intended to prove it, and followed him.

Upon arriving at the dorm, Tang San closed the doors and windows tightly, led the two to the study, and took out the Yearning Heartbroken Red, introducing its origin to them.

Sword Douluo, disbelieving, released his Seven Kill Sword to slash at the Yearning Heartbroken Red, but couldn’t make a single mark. He exclaimed,

“It’s clearly a flower, yet it’s so hard, but it can still be moved by the wind. It’s truly peculiar.”

Ning Fengzhi asked, “Xiao Tang, can this flower truly forcibly increase one’s spirit power by ten levels and have the effect of bringing the dead back to Life and regenerating flesh?”

“Indeed, it can, as long as Uncle Ning can pluck it from that crystal.” Tang San affirmed, “Otherwise, it’s just a craft item that cannot be destroyed by mortals.”

Hearing that he could try, Ning Fengzhi immediately bit his tongue, smeared a drop of blood onto the Yearning Heartbroken Red. However, when he tried to pluck it, he was met with a backlash from the Yearning Heartbroken Red, and his spirit power was shaken.

“It seems I have no chance.”

As a Sect Master, Ning Fengzhi had many considerations; true love would not appear in someone like him.

173: Show some of your chips

Putting away the Yearning Heartbroken Red, Tang San released his Martial Soul; one yellow, two purple, one black, and one red spirit ring appeared.

“He really is a Spirit King!”

“And that red ring—could it be the legendary hundred-thousand-year spirit ring?!”

Ning Fengzhi could sense the power surging within the red ring; it definitely wasn't any disguise skill. In fact, there probably isn't a disguise skill capable of faking a hundred-thousand-year ring. This absolutely has to be the genuine article!

Spirit King!

Hundred-thousand-year spirit ring!

Was he dreaming?

He'd thought twin thousand-year rings and a ten-thousand-year fourth ring were shocking enough, yet the fifth ring had leapt straight to a hundred-thousand-year level—was this the true weight of the Martial Soul Theory Master?

It truly surpassed ordinary imagination!

Then, one red and one blue—Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass and Scorching Apricot—materialized and perched on Tang San's shoulders, sizing up Ning Fengzhi and Sword Douluo.

“Who are these two?” Sword Douluo asked, puzzled.

“They're the two Immortal Herbs that sacrificed themselves to become my fifth spirit ring: Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass and Scorching Apricot. Their presence further proves the authenticity of a hundred-thousand-year Spirit Beast there.”

Tang San spun his tale for Ning Fengzhi and Sword Douluo.

“Valley Master, who are these two?” Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass floated off Tang San's shoulder and hovered in front of Sword Douluo, looking him up and down. “I sense a unique Aura from them—one that matches my true form quite well.”

Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass's true form resembled aloe: serrated, sword-like leaves possessed a natural sword intent, though she couldn't wield it. Meeting Sword Douluo, whose very being was like a sharpened blade, she felt a hint of familiarity.

“They're my friends; consider this an early introduction.” Tang San beckoned Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass back, then returned both her and Scorching Apricot into his Martial Soul.

“Due to certain reasons, after they sacrificed themselves to me they can retain human form and manifest, wielding the same strength they had as spirit beasts—though it consumes my spirit power.” Tang San briefly explained, showing part of his backing: See? I have two hundred-thousand-year-level guardians.

Cooperation, after all, requires a foundation of strength.

A hundred-thousand-year spirit ring, plus two souls able to exert hundred-thousand-year battle power, were the chips Tang San displayed.

Of course, Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass and Scorching Apricot couldn't actually fight at the hundred-thousand-year level—they weren't combat-oriented.

But Ning Fengzhi and Sword Douluo didn't know that!

So they believed it.

Sword Douluo especially could clearly sense the extreme chill from Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass; even he would struggle to withstand direct contact.

“Tang San, you truly know how to surprise people,” Ning Fengzhi exclaimed after a long moment. “The continent will change because of you.”

“I'm just good at research,” Tang San replied with a smile. “If Uncle Ning really wants a Qiluo Tulip petal, once Poison Douluo returns I can speak with him. Just don't pressure him with the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School. After all, the reason I gained Old Poison's friendship—calling him ‘Old Poison’ and sharing his garden—wasn't just because I cured his Spirit poison.”

“When Uncle Ning sees Poison Douluo again, his power will probably give you a shock.”

After condensing his Spirit Core, Dugu Bo's spirit power quality rose and his cultivation speed increased; of course he seized every second to grow stronger.

As for Dugu Yan—being Jade Tianheng's girlfriend—no one dared trouble her and risk offending both Dugu Bo and the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan.

Ning Fengzhi produced a Gold Card containing a hundred million gold coins as thanks for Tang San's evolving Ning Rongrong's Martial Soul, then asked, “Little Tang, would you consider joining the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School?”

“Though I'm tempted, I can't.” Tang San shook his head.

“Why not?”

Ning Fengzhi was puzzled. “If you fear joining would restrict your freedom, as Sect Master I can guarantee you absolute liberty.”

“I believe in your sincerity, Uncle Ning, but conflicts between the continent's major powers persist. If I joined your Sect, I'd logically have to put its interests first. That would limit my thinking. And if I must choose a side, I'll lean toward the force that favors all the common people.”

“Whichever organization The Masses prefer, that's the one I'll join.”

Though by blood he wasn't a true commoner.

In experience, he was born in Saint Spirit Village, grew under the same sky, ate the same grain, drank the same river water as its folk.

He understood exactly where he stood.

Although he now attended Tian Dou Royal Academy, the Heaven Dou Empire had granted him no noble title. And with the Clear Sky Sect striking Tang Hao's name from its rolls, he'd been severed from clan hierarchy.

Until Tang Hao returned to acknowledge his ancestors, he remained merely a somewhat stronger civilian Spirit Master.

Thus Tang San himself was still a civilian Spirit Master.

“With such breadth of mind, I am lacking,” Ning Fengzhi admitted, dropping the invitation but confirming other joint ventures—should Tang San invent any novel spirit tools, the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School would have first consideration. After leaving Tian Dou Royal Academy, Sword Douluo asked, “Why didn't you mention the Marriage Arrangement? We'd agreed to betroth Rongrong to him. She likes him, and those two girls around him seem interested as well, plus that Huo Wu—the kid's quite the charmer.”

“A man with Three Wives and Four Concubines is no issue,” Ning Fengzhi sighed. “I didn't bring it up because from the first glance I knew he's proud—he'd never agree to marry into our Sect.”

“Even without Uxorilocal Marriage, it should be fine. With his skills, apart from Spirit Hall no one can touch him—and even Spirit Hall would struggle now.” Recalling that hundred-thousand-year fifth ring and Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass's chill, Sword Douluo's heart shuddered. Given Tang San's displayed talent, barring mishaps, Titled Douluo was a certainty; rings six, seven, eight, and nine would likely all be hundred-thousand-year level as well.

That would mean five hundred-thousand-year rings!

Not counting Spirit Bones, five such rings would grant him at least ten Spirit abilities.

“It's more than that,” Ning Fengzhi shook his head. “Besides pride, he's also... delicate.”

“Meaning?” Sword Douluo didn't follow.

“He's still a virgin,” Ning Fengzhi stated bluntly. “With beauties like Xiao Wu and Guang Ling around him, he remains unmoved.”

Sword Douluo was speechless. “So? He's only thirteen.”

“For centuries Spirit Hall has suppressed the Two Great Empires, ending wars and increasing contact. Heaven Dou, influenced by Star Luo's more Open Customs, has grown liberal. Many commoners wed and have children between twelve and fifteen; Spirit Masters mature even faster. At thirteen, unless blocked by Family or personal disposition, most already understand romance.”

Ning Fengzhi glanced at Sword Douluo. “Only you, Uncle Sword, focused solely on Swordsmanship, show little interest and know little of such matters.”

Sword Douluo raised an eyebrow. “So Tang San is like me—simply engrossed in research?”

"No, anyone who could create the qipao—a garment designed for women—can't possibly be indifferent to them," Ning Fengzhi murmured, eyes gleaming. "Yet he stops at admiration. Either he's a woman in disguise, or he truly respects women."

"I rather think Tang San might be a girl," Sword Douluo speculated. After all, with his Blue Silver Emperor Bloodline awakened, Tang San's features were delicate; with the right styling, he could probably enchant the whole world.

"Ahem! Uncle Sword, I was only giving an example. Tang San is male—I'm absolutely certain of that," Ning Fengzhi said with a laugh.

"Just joking." Sword Douluo excused his gaffe, then shifted topics. "We've secured that so-called intellectual-property patent from Spirit Hall. It'll bring us fortunes, but will it make Heaven Dou Empire wary of us?"

Heaven Dou Empire, Star Luo Empire, and Spirit Hall—each of the three powers finds the other two an eyesore.

Spirit Hall especially: though it's never declared intent to unify the continent, its branch halls stand in every city, town, and village—its influence spans the entire land.

Thus the royal houses of both Heaven Dou and Star Luo view Spirit Hall with distaste.

And not just Spirit Hall—any organization grown that large would put rulers on guard.

By applying to Spirit Hall for intellectual-property protection, Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School has entered a profit Alliance with them; the exclusive patent ensures stable cooperation.

That will likely make the Heaven Dou royals wary of Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

"Didn't they already watch us?" Ning Fengzhi countered. "No ruler ever fully trusts a vassal. If their trust used to be eighty percent, it's now seventy."

"As long as it stays above sixty, it doesn't matter."

"Besides, Xue Qinghe is my student and I'm his teacher—with that bond, the missing ten percent can quickly be restored."

To Ning Fengzhi, filing for patent protection with Spirit Hall was a win-win cooperation.

For Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School, it meant putting eggs in more than one basket.

More choices, more futures.

Though Xue Qinghe is already Crown Prince and seems destined to become emperor, accidents can still happen.

After all, behind Xue Beng stands Prince Xue Xing, and Dugu Bo is Prince Xue Xing's Guest Elder. Should Xue Beng drop his wastrel act, he could rival Xue Qinghe.

If Xue Beng took the throne, indebted to Prince Xue Xing, Dugu Bo would likely become a true imperial Guest Elder or Elder and back Heaven Dou Empire.

Were Xue Qinghe to ascend, Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School would support Heaven Dou too—but Ning Fengzhi's aim is only better Sect development. Unless forced, he would never commit the entire Sect, nor would its Disciples blindly obey imperial orders.

"Speaking of Xue Qinghe, what sort of person do you think he really is?" Sword Douluo frowned. "He seems gentle, yet his thoughts feel unfathomable."

"Royal strife has always been thus. No need to fuss—if he isn't ruthless, he'll never win the throne. As long as he loves the people and respects his teachers, that suffices," Ning Fengzhi said dismissively. "Our master-Disciple tie prevents him from moving against me; to truly ascend, he still needs our support—it's mutual benefit."

Sword Douluo asked, "Then why didn't you take Xue Beng as Disciple? Rumor claims his wastrel act is camouflage for gathering strength to strike at Xue Qinghe."

"Star Luo believes in supremacy; Heaven Dou values balance," Ning Fengzhi replied. "Whether Xue Beng's decadence is real, to the people of Heaven Dou City he's just a playboy—no one wants a good-for-nothing on the throne unless they wish chaos. Taking him as Disciple would sully the Sect's name."

"True. Even to play pig and eat tiger, one must first be a tiger; Xue Beng's image is too poor," Sword Douluo mused. "Still, I dislike such scheming—better to practice swordplay and be happy."

"Haha, Uncle Sword, you rascal!" Ning Fengzhi laughed. "But speaking of strength—Tang San says we'll be shocked by Dugu Bo's power when we next meet. How could Tang San boost a Titled Douluo?"

"Didn't Tang San say he shares that garden with Dugu Bo? Maybe Dugu Bo also ate leaves or petals of those Heaven And Earth Treasures," Sword Douluo guessed.

"Possible, but unlikely."

Ning Fengzhi had met Tang San only a few times, yet from the rigor of his writings he judged him a meticulous man; unless deliberately silent, he wouldn't leave people hanging.

Since he had, did that mean Tang San could sell Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School a way to raise Titled Douluo as well?

But what price would that demand?

Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School had no "Dugu Bo's garden" to bargain with—"Why are Jade Tianheng and the others cultivating so fast? Could they have taken Immortal Herbs?"

Wang Chen, captain of Heaven Dou Royal Second Team, challenged Jade Tianheng to a bout. When Jade called forth his Spirit, his dragon claws had changed: each bore nine new golden stripes.

And his spirit power was now only a step from Spirit King.

Though the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Spirit is mighty, such speed was absurd.

Nor was it just Jade Tianheng—every member of Heaven Dou Royal First Team had risen a Rank.

Save Immortal Herbs, Wang Chen could imagine no cause.

"Damn it—the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well Opportunity still fell to Tang San!"

Back in the Second Team dorm, Wang Chen's face was gloom itself as he weighed whether to seek Xue Qinghe and, even at the cost of Qian Renxue's trust, reveal the tale of the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well.

After agonizing, Wang Chen clenched his teeth and decided—he would find Xue Qinghe.

"Tang San can't be allowed to keep growing!"

So Wang Chen hurried out of the dorm and headed for the palace in Heaven Dou City.

"Announce me: Wang Chen requests an audience."

Outside the Crown Prince's palace he spoke to the gate knight.

"Wait." The knight knew Wang Chen, but Xue Qinghe's rule was clear: save for Ning Fengzhi, Ning Rongrong, Sword or Bone Douluo, Emperor Xue

Ye, or Prince Xue Xing, even Xue Beng must wait outside.

Moments later the knight returned. "Enter. His Highness grants audience."

Wang Chen strode through the courtyard, along a corridor of ancient wood, meaning to knock at the chamber door—only to see Xue Qinghe feeding fish in the garden.

"Greetings, Your Highness." Wang Chen hastened to the pond and bowed.

"What is it?"

Xue Qinghe set the fish food on a nearby stone, eyes on the ornamental goldfish snapping at flakes, his heart unruffled.

"The Heaven Dou Royal First Team's strength has soared—I suspect they consumed some Heaven And Earth Treasure," Wang Chen said. "Especially Ning Rongrong—her Seven Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda has become the Nine Treasure Glazed Tile Pagoda."

'Spirit evolution?' Xue Qinghe's eyes flickered, yet his tone stayed calm. 'Something that can evolve a Spirit truly deserves the name Heaven And Earth Treasure—have we found out how they obtained it?'

In her heart she muttered: My dear teacher is actually keeping this from me; does he plan to unveil it during the tournament and give everyone a shock?

'It was given by Tang San,' Wang Chen answered in a low voice. 'From what I know, he tricked it out of Dugu Bo. Dugu Bo owns a medicinal garden in Sunset Forest called Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well; the herbs there are mostly Immortal-grade, able to evolve Spirits, raise spirit power, and strengthen foundations. I reckon Dugu Bo didn't recognize their value until he met Tang San, who then discovered them and snatched them away.'

Yet Xue Qinghe's focus was not on Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well but on—

'Tell me, how do you know the details of Dugu Bo's garden?'

'By the timeline, the Heaven Dou Royal First Team members swallowed those so-called Immortal Herbs last year, but they—or the families behind them—hid it so well that neither I nor Spirit Hall could uncover it; how did you find out?'

'Don't tell me Tang San told you.'

Saying it was 'Tang San' who told him wasn't exactly wrong, since Wang Chen was recounting memories of his past-Life novel.

But that fact could never be spoken aloud.

'Your Highness, what matters now is to inform Spirit Hall and secure those Immortal Herbs to strengthen ourselves.' Wang Chen kept silent and shifted the topic.

'Not going to speak?' Xue Qinghe chuckled softly. 'I hate being kept in the dark, and as my subordinate—eating my food, wearing my clothes—you dare to deceive me; don't you think that excessive?'

Sensing the air turn scorching, cold sweat instantly dotted Wang Chen's forehead—he knew Qian Renxue had a strong need for control, but not this strong.

Shouldn't the focus be on the Immortal Herbs?

Still, he had prepared for this and said, 'It was recorded in an ancient book I found; combining the current situation of Heaven Dou Royal First Team and Tang San's whereabouts over the past six months, I made a bold conjecture.'

'Oh? Where is the ancient book?' Xue Qinghe asked with interest.

'It was poorly preserved and—lost—cough!'

Wang Chen was sent flying, coughing blood, his face paling instantly.

'You lost something so important—why didn't you lose your Spirit instead?' Xue Qinghe asked coldly. 'From now on, every time you hide something from me you'll suffer a strike, and each strike will be heavier than the last.'

'This time I used spirit power of Rank 20; next time it will be Rank 30, then Rank 40, and so on.'

'That is your punishment!'

'And if you dare to resist with spirit power, I'll go all out.'

Struggling, Wang Chen half-knelt and said, 'Your subordinate knows his fault.'

After a brief silence Xue Qinghe said, 'Keep this matter secret; if word reaches Spirit Hall, you won't need to keep living.'

'Why?' Wang Chen asked, puzzled.

'As my subordinate, what rules must you obey?' Xue Qinghe demanded.

'Obey orders; don't ask, don't oppose, don't alter without permission—' Wang Chen rattled off the code he had memorized, his heart sinking as he realized he had overstepped.

'Looks like you haven't forgotten.'

Xue Qinghe sneered, 'What I intend to do is not for you to question; obey my orders—no need for your cleverness in front of me.'

As for the Immortal Herbs—first of all,

Dugu Bo, Poison Douluo—this Titled Douluo is no easy target.

Although Porcupinefish Douluo can counter his poison, he can't subdue him; dispatching too many Titled Douluos would draw too much attention, and the other powers wouldn't simply watch Spirit Hall act.

If they failed to capture Dugu Bo and he escaped to retaliate against Spirit Hall, the threat would be hard to guard against.

That man's poison is a mass-killer—

It can wipe out entire cities!

Second, Dugu Yan is Jade Tianheng's girlfriend; with Jade Tianheng benefiting, the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan would certainly feel indebted, and the families behind the Heaven Dou Royal First Team members would likewise support Dugu Bo.

More importantly, Spirit Hall has no suitable pretext to trouble Dugu Bo.

Haven't you noticed that Spirit Hall never interfered in the private grudge between Chrysanthemum Douluo and Dugu Bo?

Furthermore,

Qian Renxue definitely did not want Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well to fall into that woman's hands.

She came to Heaven Dou to impersonate the Crown Prince for two purposes: first, to prove her ability to that irresponsible woman and make her regret the cold violence she had shown; second, to seize power in Heaven Dou.

Of these two, the former took priority; after all, possessing the Aptitude to become a god, she cared little for mortal power.

Her starting line was higher than any Spirit Master on Douluo Star!

Under these circumstances Qian Renxue did not wish Bibi Dong to obtain Immortal Herbs to Cultivate her Golden Generation—unless that Golden Generation pledged loyalty to her.

After she succeeded in seizing power, seeking Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well would not be too late.

Another point: Sunset Forest is vast, and Wang Chen has no idea where exactly Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well lies, not even a general direction.

With Qian Renxue's current status she cannot openly contact Spirit Hall personnel; she has too few usable people and lacks the time or energy to comb through the unknown regions of Sunset Forest.

Besides, Qian Renxue does not place great value on the effects of those Immortal Herbs.

Seraphim is a Divine Rank Spirit.

Those Immortal Herbs might only raise her spirit power by one or two Ranks at most.

Once she becomes a god in the future, exploring will be much easier—

Why rush now?

Besides, even if those geniuses of Heaven Dou Royal First Team consumed Immortal Herbs, they still can't compare with her, who will become a god; in time they will have to submit to her.

However, Huo Wu's Sun Goddess Spirit is rather interesting; in grade it already rivals the Angel line's Angel Spirit, though it still falls short of her Seraphim.

Yet she actually felt a faint resonance with Huo Wu—meaning the two of them could perform a Martial Soul Fusion Skill.

Sun Goddess and Blue Silver Grass—Seraphim actually resonates with both;

That is unusual.

Sunlight and Angel-light can complement each other, while Blue Silver Grass and Angel—one a ground weed, one a celestial being—can actually fuse?

Presumably Tang San's Blue Silver Grass focuses on Life, and most Spirits do not reject such energy; some rarer Spirits even crave vitality.

Examples: Seraphim, Sun Goddess, and other human-shaped Spirits.

A Spirit is part of a Spirit Master's Life and possesses its own spirituality; human-shaped Spirits far surpass others in that regard.

Such Spirits require immense energy to truly manifest in the world, and Life energy is the best source—at this thought Xue Qinghe picked up fish feed again and tossed it into the pond, saying to Wang Chen, 'All right, you may go. Your task is to serve as captain of Heaven Dou Royal Second Team and lead them into the finals.'

'If you dislike Tang San, defeat him fair and square in the tournament; there's no need to insult him in front of me.'

'That he obtained those so-called Immortal Herbs from Dugu Bo is his own ability.'

Wang Chen was unwilling; he couldn't understand why almost everyone favored Tang San. He too was a transmigrator and had Innate full spirit power—why did Qian Renxue look down on him?

Infuriating!

Truly infuriating!

Just what is so good about that guy Tang San?

174: Disadvantages of Wuhun Palace

"Ah~choo!"

Inside the study, Tang San, who had sneezed, rubbed his nose, not paying it any mind, and continued to flip through the materials in his hand, taking out various cases of Martial Soul Fusion to conduct specific analysis.

The libraries of Heaven Dou Royal Academy, the archives of the Heaven Dou City Martial Soul Sub-Hall, and the materials from the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Family, Huo Family, Shi Family, Ye Family, and others, allowed Tang San to gain a considerable understanding of Martial Soul Fusion Skills.

Once, he had speculated that Martial Soul Fusion Skills could be divided into three categories: Soul Power Fusion, Soul Skill Fusion, and Martial Soul Fusion.

Soul Skill Fusion was the most common, followed by Martial Soul Fusion, and lastly Soul Power Fusion.

Why was Soul Power Fusion the most difficult?

Different martial souls resulted in different attributes of the cultivated soul power.

The fusion of different martial souls, on the other hand, was the fusion of two different martial souls together.

In this process, the martial souls could attract each other.

But the fusion of soul power was different; when there wasn't a powerful martial soul to suppress and convert the soul power of other attributes, everyone needed to control every wisp of their own soul power well.

This point, even between twins with the same martial soul, was not something that could be perfectly achieved.

Shi Mo and Shi Mo were examples.

Soul Skill Fusion was the simplest; as long as the soul skills used by different people could combine with each other to achieve an effect greater than $1+1 > 2$, even if it was just 2.01, in Tang San's opinion, it could be called Soul Skill Fusion.

As for the final Martial Soul Fusion, it was when two martial souls could mutually compensate for each other's weaknesses, like two perfectly fitting puzzle pieces that could come together.

Therefore, when writing the theoretical analysis of Martial Soul Fusion, Tang San analyzed the advantages of Martial Soul Fusion based on existing cases—

Firstly, it was the formation of a completely new martial soul from two different martial souls, and this martial soul could potentially be inherited by descendants.

Secondly, the greatest advantage of Martial Soul Fusion was its ability to erupt with powerful strength, enhancing each individual's most prominent strengths, and allowing the strengths of both to merge and be displayed in a stronger form.

Thirdly, it could strengthen the soul power control ability of both parties in the Martial Soul Fusion; after all, two people controlling the newly formed martial soul after fusion required tacit cooperation, and even if one person was dominant, the other person still needed to provide soul power.

Without powerful soul power or spiritual power to manipulate the new martial soul form after fusion, it was just a waste of soul power.

Fourthly, Martial Soul Fusion could increase the soul power cultivation speed of the two soul masters.

Subsequently, Tang San also proposed the influence of Martial Soul Fusion on the emotional connection between the two parties—

Between biological brothers and sisters, if there was Martial Soul Fusion, their relationship would be very good.

If the two parties in a Martial Soul Fusion had no blood relation and were one male and one female, in most cases, as long as the age difference was not too large, they would often become husband and wife.

According to Tang San's judgment, besides the interest relationship of a strong alliance, it was the mutual attraction between the two parties in Martial Soul Fusion under the influence of their respective martial souls.

Regarding this point, Tang San proposed two hypotheses: "Humans Control Martial Souls" and "Martial Souls Influence Humans".

Firstly, Humans Control Martial Souls.

This type of soul master had an extremely strong understanding of their own martial soul and could recognize the primary and secondary relationship between the martial soul and themselves, stepping out of it, no longer being influenced by the martial soul in any way, and becoming the true controller of the martial soul.

This type of soul master could often display the most extreme advantages in the fields they were skilled in.

Secondly, Martial Souls Influence Humans.

Some martial souls would passively influence the soul master's personality, causing the soul master to have certain quirks, such as: being excessively lecherous, fond of alcohol, or making extremely exaggerated movements, etc.

Even those with weak willpower could easily fall, becoming puppets chasing power...

...

After organizing the two theories, "The Three Major Categories of Martial Soul Fusion Skills" and "The Distinction Between Primary and Secondary Relationship Between Humans and Martial Souls," Tang San went to the Spirit Hall and handed them over to Ma Xiunuo.

"Another new theory?" Ma Xiunuo flipped through the two theories Tang San handed over, nodding repeatedly, "Not bad, well-reasoned and convincing. I will report it to Spirit Hall City, it should take about half a month."

The distance between Heaven Dou City and Spirit Hall City was relatively close, so Tang San publishing his theories didn't require waiting several months to see them in the Wuhun News like he did in Notting City.

"Sorry to trouble Grandpa Ma Xiunuo."

Tang San handed over a small jar.

"What is this? Dried Blue Silver Grass?" Ma Xiunuo opened it and found that it was indeed dried Blue Silver Grass inside, but there was very little dried Blue Silver Grass, mostly grayish-brown powder, so he was a bit puzzled.

"A medicinal tea Xiao Wu prepared, it's quite effective for refreshing and replenishing qi and blood."

Tang San smiled, "Xiao Wu has been studying pharmacology recently."

"That girl is actually interested in medicine?"

Thinking of how Xiao Wu was in Notting City with that look of [Heaven is the eldest, Earth is the second, and she is the third], Ma Xiunuo's eyes widened, finding it hard to imagine Xiao Wu quietly sitting in the study, researching medicinal materials and medical skills, "She didn't just mix it randomly, did she? I wouldn't dare drink it!"

"Haha, Grandpa Ma Xiunuo, trust Xiao Wu just this once, I've tasted it, it's really effective."

Tang San smiled, "This is also her kind intention."

"Then I'll give it a try later, it probably won't kill anyone anyway."

Ma Xiunuo joked, and asked about Tang San's experiences in the Star Luo Empire.

Tang San chose what he could tell, concealing the part about hunting the Dark Demon Evil God Tiger...

After reminiscing for a morning, Tang San walked out of Ma Xiunuo's office, only to meet the Platinum Pontiff in the hall, who had a gaunt face covered in wrinkles but bright eyes.

Salas.

"Are you a student from Heaven Dou Royal Academy? Coming out of Ma Xiunuo's place, are you his grandson?"

This was the first time Salas had met Tang San, and he didn't know his identity.

"Not a biological grandson."

Tang San introduced himself calmly, "Esteemed Platinum Pontiff, I am Tang San."

"Tang San? You are that Tang San!?"

Salas looked at the young face in front of him, finding it hard to believe.

As a Platinum Pontiff, he really didn't know what Tang San looked like, but he knew that Tang San and Ma Xiunuo had once stayed in the same city.

The Tang San in front of him walking out of Ma Xiunuo's office, didn't that mean he was that Martial Soul Theory Master?

"I think I am the Tang San you are referring to."

Tang San admitted his identity.

"It really is you."

Salas chuckled, then his face turned frosty, his expression changing faster than a blink, arriving in an instant, "Tell me, why don't you join the Spirit Hall?"

"I presume you've heard from Grandpa Ma Xiunuo that I don't want to be restricted by existing education, and also, as you can see, I have ambitions.

If I were to join the Spirit Hall, then all my achievements would be attributed to the Spirit Hall."

Tang San chuckled, "To gain more importance and power, one must first demonstrate extraordinary value, isn't that right?"

"Haha!

You really are ambitious, could it be that you want to defeat the Spirit Hall Team in the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament a year from now?"

Salas shook his head, his expression somber.

"Young man, having dreams is a good thing.

Although the theories you published have made the soul master structure on the continent a bit 'neater' and team compositions more reasonable, the Spirit Hall has countless talents, and their research on your theories can be even more detailed."

"Strength is the foundation!"

Tang San smiled and said, "Just as the Platinum Pontiff said, strength is the foundation.

I believe I have that strength, and when the finals of the tournament begin, I think I can give everyone a surprise."

"Hmph!"

Salas snorted coldly and flicked his sleeve before leaving.

As a Platinum Pontiff, Salas was not approachable.

If anyone else dared to speak to him like that, he would have slapped them immediately.

Unfortunately, the person in front of him was Tang San.

What he was wary of was naturally not Tang San's identity as a Martial Soul Theory Master, but the orders from Spirit Hall City.

After all, Tang San was being secretly protected by a Soul Douluo dispatched by the Pope.

In terms of status, his Platinum Pontiff position was indeed higher than Ling Yuan's, but Ling Yuan came from Spirit Hall City and was expected to become a Title Douluo before the age of fifty, so he couldn't afford to offend her.

To be honest, this was also a drawback of the Spirit Hall's management.

Although the Spirit Hall had branches throughout the continent, the hall masters and pontiffs in charge of each branch yearned for and respected Spirit Hall City and the Pope, but when Spirit Hall City did not issue orders, each branch had a great degree of independence and autonomy.

Using power for personal gain was hard to avoid.

Not to mention, there was no surveillance in this World yet.

However, after the appearance of soul guidance cameras and soul guidance photography boxes, some busybodies formed civilian search teams, specifically taking photos of secrets and selling them to the Heaven Dou Newspaper to profit from it.

Therefore, some nobles wanted to prevent the manufacturing and sale of soul guidance cameras and soul guidance photography boxes.

Unfortunately, Tang San was cooperating with the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School.

The Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School's status in the Heaven Dou Empire was only below the Heaven Dou Imperial Family, and even when Ning Fengzhi went to the Heaven Dou Imperial Palace, Emperor Xue Ye needed to personally go out to welcome him.

Moreover, the Spirit Hall also protected the intellectual property rights and patents of these two soul guidance devices.

These nobles who wanted to prevent the circulation of soul guidance cameras and soul guidance photography boxes naturally wasted their efforts, and many of their scandals were also reported.

Previously, these nobles wanted to use their status to prevent the Heaven Dou Newspaper from spreading their scandals, but Xue Qinghe intervened, and their status was naturally not as high as Xue Qinghe's.

After these scandals were reported, Xue Qinghe ordered people to investigate these nobles, gaining a wave of praise from Heaven Dou loyal officials and another wave of popular support, playing it smoothly.

Salas's bad attitude towards Tang San actually had a similar reason—when he went to a pleasure house for fun, he was photographed in an indecent scene, and it was delivered to the Heaven Dou Newspaper.

The person in charge of the Heaven Dou Newspaper saw the situation and immediately published it.

After all, this was a great opportunity to strike at the Heaven Dou City Martial Soul Sub-Hall!

Although this incident happened last year, and Salas didn't commit a principled error, people were still discussing it privately even today, which made him quite uncomfortable.

Tang San was unaware of this; he was not interested in the secrets and interesting stories of the powerful.

Even if he knew, he wouldn't care.

After all, the appearance of every new thing simultaneously brought both advantages and disadvantages.

The so-called having the best of both Worlds was actually just a compromise made by both sides in private, resulting in the advantages outweighing the disadvantages.

The drawbacks of the Spirit Hall were very obvious.

The ruling method seen on the surface could be summarized in just one sentence:

[Heaven is high, and the Emperor is far away]

The general situation was almost the same as that of the various large and small kingdoms, duchies, and independent cities within the Heaven Dou Empire, except that the Spirit Hall personnel had a little bit of faith.

Faith in the Angel... Spirit Hall's grassroots personnel most likely didn't care, at most it was just a catchphrase or something.

As for the high-level personnel, based on the original work's depiction, only Qian Daoliu's lineage of Enshriners had the most devout faith in the Angel.

The others were mainly for practical benefits like wealth, status, and beauty, rather than the illusory faith in the Angel.

However, this should barely count as some kind of spiritual cohesion or something?

Also—

Updating ten thousand words in just this bit of time at night, it's really unbearable~

175: Mission: Hunt the Fallen

After returning to Heaven Dou Royal Academy, Tang San continued to immerse himself in the library, studying various materials left by his predecessors.

The training of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team, in addition to relevant spirit power control cultivation, focused on practical combat coordination, jointly planned by Tang San and Qin Ming.

It must be said that although Qin Ming came from Shrek, after spending some time at Heaven Dou Royal Academy, he had somewhat changed Shrek's temper.

At least he wouldn't use the status and identity of Heaven Dou Royal Academy to challenge other major academies in Heaven Dou City.

Of course, it might also be because Qin Ming had some political awareness, knowing that the major academies in Heaven Dou City were all inclined towards the Heaven Dou Empire. If he dared to lead the Heaven Dou Royal Academy team to challenge them, the Three Education Committee would probably suspect him of being a spy sent by the Star Luo Empire or Spirit Hall to stir up trouble between the Heaven Dou Empire and the various major families and forces within its borders.

"Third Brother, we have a mission," Xiao Wu found Tang San, who was reading a book titled "Martial Soul Fusion Outline" in the library, and walked up to him to remind him.

"A mission? Are we going to the Tian Dou Great Spirit Arena to participate in a competition?"

Tang San closed the book, "I don't need to. Although I don't participate much in team competitions, once I join a team, I can enable others to cooperate quite perfectly, given my excellent mental force and control."

Not frequently joining a team was also intentional on Tang San's part.

Besides his strength exceeding the norm, the more important reason was—

Seven people cannot be together forever. They cannot be forcibly bound for the rest of their lives for the sake of an All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament. Team chemistry is important, but each individual's future is more important. Everyone needs to have their own dreams and direction.

"I'm not talking about that," Xiao Wu shook her head. "Near Baiyun Plain, a group of The Fallen has appeared. The local Spirit Hall and City Lord have jointly dispatched troops to block the main exits of Baiyun Plain... Teacher Qin Ming believes this is an excellent practical experience, so he requested the Three Education Committee and visited the elders of various major families, hoping to lead the students to carry out an enforcement mission."

"The elders of the various major families have all agreed."

"The Three Education Committee felt it was a bit unstable, but in the end, they also agreed."

Tang San chuckled, "It seems the strength of that group of The Fallen is not strong. The strongest among them will not exceed a Spirit King."

The members of the Heaven Dou Royal First Team are all favored by heaven.

The Three Education Committee and the various major families agreeing can only mean that the strength of that group of The Fallen is not strong.

However, for safety considerations, there will definitely be hidden guards, after all, apart from him, Xiao Wu Jie, Guang Ling, and Lan Yinzi, the families behind the other members of the first team are quite large, though not comparable to the Upper Three Sects or Lower Four Sects, they are stronger than the single-attribute affiliated four great families of the former Clear Sky Sect.

"You guessed right. It is said that the number of The Fallen is not large, only thirty, and the strongest is a Spirit Ancestor at level forty-nine, whose Spirit is a blood sword with dragon patterns," Xiao Wu recounted the information she knew. "Moreover, it is said that Spirit Hall will send their Golden Generation, and the Star Luo Empire will also send their Star Luo Royal Team. The three parties will meet in White Cloud City near Baiyun Plain and then go together to pursue those The Fallen."

"Is that so?" Tang San mused, "With teams from the three major forces dispatched, and the strongest of The Fallen being only a Spirit Ancestor approaching Spirit King, then the focus has shifted from The Fallen to the competition among the three battle teams."

The Fallen's methods are strange and cruel, capable of being "unbeatable among peers," but for the geniuses of the three battle teams, they are merely a slightly troublesome opponent.

Therefore, the main purpose of this mission is the contest and competition among the three battle teams.

Following Xiao Wu out of the Heaven Dou Royal Academy library, the two went to the dormitory area and found Guang Ling, who was improving the spirit tool photography box.

"Third Brother, Xiao Wu Jie, look, I've improved the spirit tool photography box." Seeing Tang San and Xiao Wu approach, Guang Ling took out two spirit tool photography boxes, one large and one small.

Unlike the previous photography boxes, these two were spherical.

The larger one was the size of a head, with two concave grooves at the bottom and a circular hole in the center for photography, capable of rotating two hundred and seventy degrees; its top had a small spiral device that, when rotated, allowed it to float.

Under the control of spirit power, it could perform full 360-degree photography without blind spots.

The smaller one was only the size of a fist, with a square base at the bottom, and the spherical part was embedded on it, with the circular lens able to rotate.

Guang Ling aimed the lens of the smaller one at the screen and pressed the button behind its base, and a faint light curtain was projected onto the screen, but—

It was blank.

There was no image on the screen.

Just as Xiao Wu was puzzled, Guang Ling opened the larger one and started recording.

Immediately, the scene in the room was displayed one by one on the screen.

Live broadcast!

Tang San thought of this term and gave Guang Ling a thumbs up: "Not bad. This way, the spread of information will be wider, and as long as the information transmission is more accurate, it can change the lives of the entire Douluo Continent."

Although accurate message transmission is not yet possible, and the images recorded by a large spirit tool photography box can be received by all small spirit tool photography boxes, Guang Ling's improved spirit tool photography box provides the foundation for the emergence of spirit tool television.

Tang San was already looking forward to what interesting TV programs would appear on the Douluo Continent.

Subsequently, Tang San told Guang Ling about The Fallen, saying, "Pack up, let's go meet Huo Wu and the others. This time, it's a real fight."

Upon arriving at the Heaven Dou Royal Academy plaza, Tang San noticed that the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team was also there. Wang Chen glanced at him, then shifted his gaze, as if not wanting to interact with him.

Tang San was happy to relax about this.

Towards other transmigrators, Tang San's attitude was simple: if others don't offend him, he won't offend them. If they dare to hold him accountable with groundless accusations, he would make them personally experience the true meaning of "double standards."

When everyone had arrived, Xue Qinghe arrived late, encouraged everyone with a few words, and intended to follow along, but was ultimately stopped by the Three Education Committee and Qin Ming.

After all, he was the Crown Prince of the Heaven Dou Empire and could not take risks.

However, this display indeed won the favor of the Three Education Committee, who felt that with Xue Qinghe inheriting the Heaven Dou Empire in the future, it would surely flourish.

"Why is that Xue Qinghe just like his father, so talkative?"

After leaving Heaven Dou Royal Academy, Xiao Wu's head was still buzzing, and she quietly complained, "He talked for over half an hour, making me sleepy."

"Royal people are all like that," Huo Wu seemed accustomed to it and was very experienced. "In the future, unless it's an occasion where all Heaven Dou officials are present, just ignore such lengthy speeches from royal family members. Once they're done, we can clap, show support, and echo a few words, and that's it."

Tang San nodded, "Huo Wu is right. These kinds of speeches are basically for show. There's no need to listen too seriously; just applaud afterward."

"Cough!"

Qin Ming coughed and said, "Keep your voices down. Don't let the Second Team hear you. If it gets out, it will have a bad influence."

However, the truth was that among the noble members of the Second Team, several were also discussing Xue Qinghe's "啰嗦" (啰嗦 - verbose, long-winded), especially Xue Beng, who openly mocked him.

That's right, Xue Beng was also in the team.

As a prince, he should not have taken such a risk, and he himself did not want to join, but Prince Xue Xing forcibly made him join.

The reason was simple.

This time, the three major forces were acting together to hunt The Fallen, primarily to provide experience for the students and for mutual competition, so there would definitely not be too much danger.

Having Xue Beng join might win some public support.

As long as this hunt was perfectly accomplished, whether Xue Beng participated in the process of hunting The Fallen or hid in the City Lord's Mansion in White Cloud City without contributing anything, Xue Beng would still be considered to have taken on the "responsibility" of the Royal family.

No matter how much of a "profligate son" he was, he at least dared to participate in the hunt for The Fallen, didn't he?

Of course, afterwards, Xue Xing would certainly not deliberately publicize it, but rather record the matter and bring it up later when Xue Beng had a chance to ascend to power, to increase Xue Beng's capital.

"Xue Qinghe's younger brother seems to dislike his older brother very much." Guang Ling spent most of his time researching spirit tools, but he could also sense the estrangement within the Royal family.

"In order to contend for the Heaven Dou throne's succession, kinship between princes is dispensable," Tang San said indifferently. "Of course, true affection is not entirely absent in the Royal family, but such situations are extremely rare."

"It seems I should interact less with the Royal family in the future," Guang Ling murmured.

"There's no need for that. At least, interacting with them can give you a clearer perspective," Tang San pointed out a benefit. "The premise is not to get too deeply involved or to have significant intertwined interests with them. Otherwise, it will be very difficult to break free, unless you possess unparalleled power or charismatic appeal that garners widespread admiration."

Guang Ling pondered for a moment, then nodded.

In the blink of an eye.

Seven days passed quickly.

White Cloud City is not far from Heaven Dou City, only about a hundred miles away, and Tang San and the others had already arrived.

Everyone was a Spirit Master, and this time they were going hunting, so they naturally didn't travel by carriage. Their running speed was naturally not slow.

It was only due to the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team's noble members that Tang San and the others had to accommodate their travel speed; otherwise, they could have reached White Cloud City within a day.

"Everyone from the Heaven Dou Empire, why are you so slow?"

Inside the City Lord's Mansion, Dai Weisi of the Star Luo Royal Team saw Tang San and the others "arriving late." He walked up to them and actively high-fived Tang San and Yu Tianheng as a greeting.

“No choice, we brought a bunch of burdens,” Huo Wu glanced at Xue Beng and the others, who were clamoring to rest at the City Lord’s Mansion, speaking rather impolitely.

“Haha, it’s not too late. Aren’t the Spirit Hall personnel not here yet?” Tang San scanned the area and didn’t find Spirit Hall’s Golden Generation, knowing they hadn’t arrived yet.

After all, Spirit City is quite far from White Cloud City, a thousand miles away, and the roads in between, with many canyons and forests, are not easy to travel. If they were to travel by themselves, even if they were all Spirit Kings, it would take eight or nine days.

“What’s the situation with The Fallen now? Are they still in Baiyun Plain?” Tang San continued to ask.

“They are still there, but according to the scouts from White Cloud City’s City Lord’s Mansion and Spirit Hall’s patrol members, the number of The Fallen is decreasing. That level 49 Fallen is hunting other Fallen, absorbing their blood and spirit power, and has already broken through to the Spirit King level.” Dai Weisi’s eyes slightly narrowed with gravity.

“Spirit King? Now that’s a challenge!” Huo Wu was eager to try, releasing her Sun Goddess Spirit, with five spirit rings shining: two yellow, two purple, and one black.

Among them, the fourth purple ring had a hint of black, clearly indicating it was a spirit ring extremely close to the ten-thousand-year level.

“As expected of Huo Wu, she has already become a Spirit King.”

Dai Weisi praised her, as he was still a bit away from becoming a Spirit King, but he was absolutely confident he could break through to the Spirit King level before the All-Continent Advanced Soul Master Academy Elite Tournament began.

“Tang San, Xiao Wu, Yu Tianheng, have you three also become Spirit Kings?”

Xiao Wu said, “Still a bit short, but I can reach level fifty before the end of this month.”

Yu Tianheng shook his head, “I’m also a bit short, but I can break through within half a year.”

Tang San said, “I have already reached Spirit King, but as for the spirit rings and such, I’ll keep it a secret for now. I’ll reveal them when the tournament begins.”

“Oh? So mysterious?” Dai Weisi was curious.

“Our captain is even keeping it from us!” Yu Feng laughed. “However, Xiao Wu Jie and Guang Ling, these two beauties, should know, but they won’t tell us either.”

“That truly builds up the anticipation.” Dai Weisi was even more curious, but it wasn’t appropriate to ask Tang San to reveal it immediately, as they were all preparing for the tournament.

Who doesn’t have a trump card?

“Haha, what a lively crowd!”

The voice was heard before the person arrived.

Outside the City Lord’s Mansion, three talented young individuals slowly approached.

Two men and one woman, the speaker was the man with exaggerated red hair, a robust physique, exaggerated muscles, and a height exceeding two meters, his face beaming with self-confidence.

The remaining two had somewhat similar features. At first glance, their male and female appearances were not particularly striking, but they weren't the kind that would go unnoticed in a crowd, similar to Tang San's appearance when he first obtained his first spirit ring.

However, the temperament of these two was extremely special, especially the woman, as if she possessed a magical charm that made people involuntarily focus their attention on her.

Without guessing, these three must be Spirit Hall's Golden Generation: Hu Liena, Xie Yue, and Yan.

"Why have only three members of the Spirit Hall Team arrived?" Dai Weisi stepped forward, his gaze meeting Yan's, battle intent flickering in his eyes.

"Naturally, the three of us are enough," Yan stood with his hands on his hips, his attitude quite arrogant, scanning everyone present. "Why are there so many people from Heaven Dou Royal Academy?"

Tang San, as the captain, stepped forward three paces, aligning himself with Dai Weisi, and said, "Our academy has two teams, so naturally, the number of people is a bit more."

"Is that so?" Yan couldn't detect any spirit power fluctuations from Tang San. If it weren't for Yu Tianheng, Huo Wu, and others treating him as their leader, he would have thought this was just a slightly handsome ordinary person.

Hu Liena sized up Tang San, a hint of curiosity appearing in her eyes: "You are the captain of the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team? You look quite young, how old are you, and what is your strength level?"

"I am but a humble fourteen in virtual age, though my birthday has not yet passed, so I can be considered thirteen. I cannot compare to the three of you; I am merely a Spirit King," Tang San said modestly.

Hu Liena: "....."

Xie Yue: "....."

Yan: "....."

Thirteen years old, and merely a Spirit King?

Is that how you talk?

“You are truly impressive. How about a match?” Hu Liena had seen Tang San’s childhood portrait, but now that Tang San had grown up, his appearance had changed. She only found him somewhat familiar but couldn’t recognize him.

“I am a support system,” Tang San politely declined.

“How boring,” Hu Liena immediately lost her fighting Spirit upon hearing that Tang San was a support system.

Although the support system had a new classification, which also included the food system and Healing System, their combat ability was still at the bottom among all Spirit Masters.

The pride of being Spirit Hall’s Golden Generation would not allow her to challenge a support system to a duel.

However, those familiar with Tang San secretly grumbled—

Was Tang San’s support system an ordinary support system?

That was an all-around support system!

Moreover, even without using his Spirit, Tang San could overwhelm the strongest person in the current team (besides himself), Huo Wu, just by relying on his spirit power.

“Since everyone has arrived, let’s depart now.” Norlax, the City Lord of White Cloud City, and the local Spirit Hall Branch Master walked out of the reception hall. He had intended to exchange a few pleasantries, but Hu Liena spoke directly, clearly wanting to resolve The Fallen quickly.

“Since that’s the case, then let us set off.”

Seeing this, Norlax exchanged a look with the local Spirit Hall Branch Master, then with a wave of his hand, accompanied by his guardian knights, he led everyone towards Baiyun Plain.

Baiyun Plain.

This is a habitat for Spirit Beasts, where Spirit Masters can hunt for spirit rings.

The Spirit Beasts living here are mostly herbivores; among the carnivores, lone wolves are common, followed by eagles.

It is worth mentioning that snake-type Spirit Beasts and insect-type Spirit Beasts are also quite numerous, though mostly hidden in the grass.

Therefore, walking in this Baiyun Plain requires wearing a special type of high-top boots. Their material comes from the fur of a creature called the Iron-Eating Deer. After being treated with a specific medicinal liquid, the inside is soft as cotton, and the outside is hard as steel, providing excellent protection for the parts below the knees.

It is very effective in preventing bites from some ten-year-old snake-type and insect-type Spirit Beasts.

Although Spirit Masters are powerful, they are not immune to all poisons. Some poisonous insects and snakes, even if not Spirit Beasts, can still lead to a Spirit Master's death if they bite them, so precautions must be taken.

For this reason, Norlax also prepared many antidotes for everyone.

“This is Baiyun Plain.” Norlax took out a map, pointing to the area marked as a forest, with a river symbol nearby. “My people and Spirit Hall’s people have already surrounded the main exits, and they have also dispatched many teams to patrol and drive The Fallen, trapping them within this White Cloud Forest.”

“Next, I will explain the situation of the White Cloud Forest. There are ten-thousand-year-level Spirit Beasts inside, but not many. After all, the scale of this forest is not large. Currently, only twelve have been discovered, and the highest cultivation level is only twenty thousand years.”

“Moreover, that twenty-thousand-year Spirit Beast is a plant-type Spirit Beast named Cloud Tree. It stands a hundred meters tall, and its canopy is like clouds in the sky, layer upon layer, extremely magnificent.”

“The reason this place is named Baiyun Plain is because of that Cloud Tree in the White Cloud Forest.”

Happy Mid-Autumn Festival!

176: White cloud forest, bloody cloud trees

After introducing the situation in White Cloud Forest, Norlax continued to talk about The Fallen, saying, “According to the information we have investigated so far, one person among The Fallen has already broken through to become a Spirit King. His identity is Blood Sword Norman, who first appeared at Notting Academy in Fasnuo Province...”

“Over the years, that bastard has massacred many remote villages, his actions are extremely heinous and unforgivable.”

Speaking of this, Norlax paused for a moment, glanced at the three people from Spirit Hall, and then saw the Branch Master of the local Spirit Hall shake his head at him. He sighed and continued, “That Blood Sword Norman also has a ten-thousand-year-level Right Leg Bone, which he obtained from a Wolftaken... When he first brought his people near Baiyun Plain, they encountered a group of Wolftaken who had wandered into the vicinity.”

“It was their battle that caught our attention.”

“Originally, Blood Sword Norman’s Fallen team had nearly a hundred people.”

Wolftaken are a species between humans and Spirit Beasts, rumored to be born from human females being violated by wolf-type Spirit Beasts.

Although they have human components, their wolf nature is bloodthirsty, which leads to Wolftaken, despite their intelligence being no weaker than humans, always being dominated by their wolf nature and taking pleasure in slaughter.

Moreover, Wolftaken are only male and cannot reproduce independently; they can only rely on human females to procreate... In this regard, it is somewhat similar to the goblin setting in Western fantasy works that Tang San saw in his previous Life.

“Wolftaken? Ten-thousand-year Spirit Bone? Tsk tsk!” Yan glanced at Norlax and sneered, “It seems you were planning to kill that Fallen yourself and keep the Spirit Bone, but you couldn’t handle it, so you reported it, right?”

Norlax and the Branch Master of the local Spirit Hall looked at each other, smiling bitterly in helplessness.

Clearly, Yan guessed correctly.

However, this also made everyone realize Yan’s arrogance, self-importance, his ability to be both bold and meticulous, and—

Lack of emotional intelligence.

Although as a member of Spirit Hall’s Golden Generation, his strength, identity, and status were there, giving him the qualifications, Norlax was, after all, the City Lord of White Cloud City and belonged to Heaven Dou. Spirit Hall had no right to manage him.

If Yan had only said this to the Branch Master of White Cloud City’s Spirit Hall Branch, it could still be considered reprimanding a subordinate.

But speaking to Norlax like that was somewhat out of line.

Although Norlax was angry, he didn’t say anything. After all, he and the local Spirit Hall Branch Master had concealed the report for personal gain, causing more casualties, which was indeed his fault.

But!

He actually believed that it was only a matter of time before he cleared out Blood Sword Norman and his group, and that Spirit Bone would surely be his. It was just that plans couldn't keep up with changes—

The Spirit Master team hunting in Baiyun Plain encountered Blood Sword Norman and saw him use a Spirit Bone ability...

Once this matter spread, it naturally couldn't be concealed.

It can be said that in addition to the three major forces sending excellent battle team members for training, many Spirit Master teams also came here, hoping to pick up a bargain.

A Spirit Bone is a priceless treasure!

What's more, there was a ten-thousand-year-level Spirit Bone on Blood Sword Norman!

After understanding the situation of Baiyun Plain, White Cloud Forest, and Blood Sword Norman's group, the battle teams of the three major forces, equipped with good gear, tools, and medicine, set off towards White Cloud Forest.

However, the three major forces operated separately.

"I will watch you from afar and not participate in the specific actions, as this is your training," Qin Ming walked a certain distance with the Heaven Dou Royal Battle Team students before stopping and saying to Tang San and the others.

After speaking, he turned his head to look at the members of the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team and said, "As for you, just wander around the outer perimeter of this Baiyun Plain. As long as you don't take off your high boots and don't throw medicine around, there won't be any big problems. This outer perimeter only has hundred-year-level Spirit Beasts."

Honestly, Qin Ming felt that the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team was just there to make up the numbers and add prestige. It would have been better for them to stay honestly in White Cloud City. He didn't expect them to follow along to Baiyun Plain.

This truly made them a burden.

Fortunately, Xue Beng had self-awareness. Relying on his identity as a prince, he stabilized the members of the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team, letting them accompany him to wander around this outer area.

“Teacher Qin Ming, I can temporarily cooperate with the first team members,” Wang Chen gritted his teeth, deciding to join the first team.

The plot of Douluo had already gone wild.

But one thing he could be sure of was that Tang San definitely had great luck.

This time, hunting The Fallen, was probably Tang San's opportunity to obtain that ten-thousand-year Spirit Bone. He couldn't just watch Tang San grow stronger again; he had to compete for it.

Wang Chen didn't know who Blood Sword Norman was, but he had a premonition that the Spirit Bone obtained from the Wolftaken was the one from the original work with the “Bloodthirsty Frenzy” Spirit Ability.

As a transmigrator, he initially felt that he needed to have all ten-thousand-year Spirit Bones on his body, but later he realized that Spirit Bones were truly rare.

Even the Sect Master of the Seven Treasure Glazed Tile School and the Clan Head of the Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Clan did not have Spirit Bones absorbed all over their bodies.

He had no power or influence; wanting a Spirit Bone was akin to a pipe dream.

And now there was such an opportunity.

How could he give up?

“Life is not a game,” Tang San reminded him faintly, as if seeing through Wang Chen’s thoughts.

“Wang Chen, you stay and protect Xue Beng and the others.” Qin Ming didn’t understand Tang San’s implied meaning, but he felt that with Wang Chen around, Xue Beng and the others would be safer.

“Yes,” Wang Chen lowered his head, his eyes flickering, but he couldn’t disobey Qin Ming’s order and could only agree, though he had other thoughts in his heart...

...

Outside White Cloud Forest.

Tang San and the others stopped, gazing at the vast expanse of Cloud Trees, clusters upon clusters, like white clouds overlapping in the sky, truly magnificent.

Huo Wu sighed, “These are truly beautiful trees. Their leaves really resemble the white clouds in the sky.”

Tang San pulled off a branch and squeezed it, thinking, “It’s quite similar to a type of Fringe Tree, but the difference is that these are leaves, not flowers.”

In his previous Life, Tang San had seen Fringe Trees bloom. A pruned Fringe Tree could be described as: “April’s fragrant snow in the human world.”

And the Cloud Trees of Douluo Continent had dense clusters of leaves forming shapes like clouds.

As everyone walked into White Cloud Forest, they could look up and see those “white clouds.” Unlike ordinary forests, these leaves could transmit and scatter light, making the light in the forest very soft.

Moreover, this forest was filled with a peculiar fragrance, without the unpleasant odors of decay and fermentation typically found in ordinary forests, such as dead branches and leaves, insect corpses, or animal droppings.

The ground was also covered with white cloud leaves.

When pulled aside, the ground beneath was black, with a slightly damp earthy smell. Pulling aside the black part revealed earthworms, insects, and the like underneath.

It turned out that these fallen cloud leaves blocked the earthy smell and decaying odors from the ground.

“A very interesting plant Spirit Beast.” Tang San collected some branches, leaves, and sap from the Cloud Tree. After returning, he planned to study it in depth to see if this plant Spirit Beast could be a candidate for his sixth spirit ring in the future.

After all, the description of Cloud Tree in the soul beast encyclopedia was very brief: Cloud Tree has lush branches and leaves, like clouds in the sky. Its cloud-leaf canopy can provide nesting places for bird-type Spirit Beasts (Note: Even Spirit Masters with plant Spirits are not recommended to absorb this type of spirit ring).

From just this sentence, Tang San couldn't determine much.

After all, the leaves of the Cloud Tree were not actual white clouds; they merely resembled them.

Moreover, cases of Spirit Masters obtaining Cloud Tree spirit rings were extremely rare, and because the Spirits were different, the Spirit Abilities also differed—

Firstly, for a Spirit Master whose Spirit was a Dandelion, the Cloud Tree's spirit ring brought a Spirit Ability called “Water Absorption.” It wasn't about root-based water absorption, but rather using the fluff on the Dandelion seeds to collect rainwater and store it.

This should have inherited the Cloud Tree's ability to collect rainwater through its cloud leaves.

Secondly, for a Spirit Master whose Spirit was a Cloud Bird, this Spirit Master felt that the Cloud Tree's leaves were light and should be able to increase the lightness of their own Spirit, so they absorbed the Cloud Tree spirit ring.

This Spirit Master, absorbing a plant Spirit's spirit ring with a Beast Spirit, personally experimented with it, which was three hundred years earlier than Yu Xiaogang's proposal that plant Spirits could absorb animal spirit rings.

According to records, after this Spirit Master absorbed the Cloud Tree spirit ring, it did not enhance the lightness of the Cloud Bird Spirit, but the repulsion between the Cloud Tree spirit ring and the Cloud Bird was also minimal. It was just that the Spirit Ability's power was very useless, named: Falling Feather.

It simply allowed the Cloud Bird's feathers to fall, with no attack power, no defense power, and no support ability.

However, those fallen Cloud Bird feathers were no longer condensed spirit power, but became real Cloud Bird feathers that could be used for weaving and modification.

Tang San, however, saw "turning illusion into reality," which meant truly transforming a part of the Spirit, an extraordinary organ that exists between energy and matter, into a physically existing substance.

In the collections of Heaven Dou Royal Academy and Heaven Dou City Spirit Hall, there were only these two records about Spirit Masters who had absorbed the Cloud Tree spirit ring.

Other unrecorded Spirit Masters might also exist, possibly because their Spirit Abilities were all "useless," so the "unsuitable for absorption" tag was directly marked in the soul beast encyclopedia.

Although there weren't many cases, Tang San felt that if the Cloud Bird Spirit Master's "Falling Feather" Spirit Ability wasn't incorrectly recorded, then the Cloud Tree could bring unexpected benefits to his Blue Silver Emperor.

Of course, currently, Tang San couldn't determine whether the fundamental ability of the Cloud Tree was: turning the illusory into reality.

"Captain, what are you tapping on the Cloud Tree for?" Yu Feng saw Tang San tapping the trunk of the Cloud Tree while advancing, and also collecting branches, leaves, and resin, feeling a bit curious, "Does this Cloud Tree have some use we don't know about?"

"Mainly to collect some samples to see if this plant Spirit Beast can become my sixth spirit ring," Tang San said, "Secondly, tapping the tree, making sounds, and spreading them out might attract The Fallen we are looking for."

Everyone knew nothing about the Cloud Tree, but when it came to attracting The Fallen, they had some ideas.

"The Fallen are mostly bloodthirsty, why don't we pretend to be a weak Spirit Hunting team?" Huo Wu suggested, "The best hunt is to disguise oneself as prey."

"I think, there are too many of us, The Fallen won't flock to fall for it," Yu Tianheng chimed in, "We should spread out a bit."

Are you from a horror movie set?

Tang San looked at Yu Tianheng with a strange expression, muttering to himself, then said, "We are not familiar with this place, splitting up is a big taboo, it's easy to be defeated one by one."

"Next, listen to my arrangements."

Tang San, who temporarily put aside the idea of researching the Cloud Tree, began to arrange the formation:

Yu Feng and Bai Chenxiang, who could fly, would scout from the air; Xiao Wu and Zhu Zhuqing, who were fast, would scout on the left and right; Oslo would be responsible for the rear; Shi Mo and Shi Mo, the two brothers who were physical defense attack system Spirit Masters, would guard Ning Rongrong, the amplification support system, and Ye Lingling, the healing support system; Yu Tianheng would lead the way; Dugu Yan would be behind Yu Tianheng, just in case.

Guang Ling and Huo Wu, two long-range output attack system Spirit Masters, were located behind Ning Rongrong and Ye Lingling, always ready to unleash firepower on the enemy.

And Tang San stood in front of the two support systems, behind Dugu Yan, to use Endless Grassland for underground scouting, preventing The Fallen from setting up traps or similar things on the ground.

Lan Yinzi was on standby, always ready to assist Tang San.

This was also the first time Tang San used Endless Grassland after obtaining his fifth spirit ring, being able to keenly sense every Blue Silver Emperor leaf, and the Blue Silver Grass growing in this forest also seemed to be connected to his Endless Grassland, telling him everything about this place.

“With the Blue Silver Emperor bloodline, my mental force is already able to precisely control every Blue Silver Emperor, and I can also sense the fluctuations transmitted by the Blue Silver Grass, and even, my mental force can be transmitted to those Blue Silver Grass, achieving energy manifestation similar to the Ice and Fire Yin Yang Well.”

After sensing what he could do, Tang San's heart was excited, and he secretly thought: “It's just that it consumes a lot of my mental force, but this ability has a promising future!”

Imagine, if in the future he could manifest through any Blue Silver Grass, then with the vastness of the Douluo Continent, wouldn't he be able to go anywhere?

At that time, every Blue Silver Emperor, every Blue Silver Grass, would be a transmission base station for his own information!

However, for now, Tang San's mental force cannot cover the entire Douluo Continent, and each manifestation consumes a considerable amount of mental force.

“Blue Silver Grass can sense each other. My Spirit is the Blue Silver Emperor, influenced by the Golden Ancient Tree. In the future, by controlling the power of Life, I will definitely be able to command all plants.”

“However, currently, I still need to rely on the Blue Silver Grass as a foundation to transmit mental manifestation...”

“So, can I combine the fluctuations of the Blue Silver Grass that I can sense, forming a network-like structure? As long as the Blue Silver Grass can connect autonomously, perhaps even if my mental force doesn't meet the standard, I can still perform mental manifestation anywhere on the continent where there is Blue Silver Grass, condensing an existence similar to a thought-form.”

“After all, I have the Douluo Continent, or rather, Douluo Star, as an external energy source, providing the power of the earth, so the consumption of spirit power can be ignored.”

“I can try it in the future—”

At this moment, Tang San sensed the fluctuations transmitted by the Blue Silver Grass, and “saw” a Cloud Tree over a hundred meters tall, with a width of over twenty meters. Its cloud-like crowns were stacked one upon another, nine layers in total, forming an irregular pyramid shape. The topmost cloud leaf crown had a diameter of ten meters, while the lowest cloud crown was over eighty meters.

It was quite spectacular.

However, Tang San also “saw” through the fluctuations of the Blue Silver Grass that there were eleven ten-thousand-year-level Spirit Beasts lying in a pool of blood beneath that Cloud Tree, in addition to more than twenty human corpses.

Among them, there was also a white-haired middle-aged man standing in front of the Cloud Tree, with a blood-colored short sword suspended in his hand. There seemed to be a dragon pattern on it, but it was very blurry, as if it was interfering with Tang San's mental force.

“Go northeast!” Tang San said, his eyes narrowing, “Through Endless Grassland, I have already sensed the location of Blood Sword Norman. He has already killed eleven ten-thousand-year Spirit Beasts in this White Cloud Forest and also killed other Fallen. He is currently beside that ten-thousand-year Cloud Tree.”

Everyone dared not delay and quickened their pace.

As they approached the central area of the White Cloud Forest, the number of Spirit Beasts they encountered along the way also increased, but due to their powerful spirit power fluctuations, they dared not approach.

However, Tang San and the others' expressions also became solemn.

Because along the way, they saw many corpses of Spirit Hunters, their bodies shriveled, their blood completely absorbed, not a single drop left, and their faces were all distorted, as if they had seen some terrifying scene.

“The Fallen, they truly deserve to die!” Huo Wu cursed, “These guys who resort to any means for power are no longer human.”

With heavy hearts, Tang San and the others spent twenty minutes crossing most of the forest and arrived at the center of the White Cloud Forest.

The Cloud Tree, towering almost to the ninth heaven, stood before them.

Beneath the Cloud Tree, the bodies of the eleven ten-thousand-year Spirit Beasts were constantly shriveling, their blood and spirit power continuously pouring into the Cloud Tree, causing its white cloud crown to be stained with a blood-red color.

If the Cloud Tree Tang San had seen before, based on the information transmitted by the Blue Silver Grass, was a pure white and sacred natural marvel, then now, this Cloud Tree had an added touch of strangeness.

The fluctuations it emitted were extremely vast, and its cultivation had already reached over ninety thousand years.

“Is this a Cloud Tree? It's completely different from the ones outside, emitting a strong smell of blood.” Yu Tianheng's Blue Lightning Tyrant Dragon Spirit instantly attached to him, as he vigilantly looked at the blood-colored Cloud Tree.

“Be careful, this Cloud Tree is continuously absorbing the blood essence and spirit power of those eleven ten-thousand-year Spirit Beasts, and its cultivation has already approached ninety thousand years.”

Tang San's gaze fell on The Fallen sitting on the ninth cloud crown of the blood-colored Cloud Tree, his expression grave, “Norlax said that this Cloud Tree was only twenty thousand years old. Blood Sword Norman clearly used some method to force this Cloud Tree to devour other Spirit Beasts, causing its age to increase rapidly.”

“A ninety-thousand-year-level plant Spirit Beast is not easy to deal with.” Huo Wu's eyes moved, “When a Spirit Beast's cultivation reaches fifty thousand years or more, it is equivalent to a Spirit Douluo. At ninety thousand years, it already possesses the strength of a Titled Douluo.”

If only based on cultivation, a ninety-thousand-year cultivation of a Spirit Beast is comparable to the spirit power level of a Spirit Douluo, but a Spirit Beast's body is much stronger than a human's. Therefore, an ordinary Spirit Beast with fifty thousand years of cultivation can be equated with a Spirit Douluo in terms of strength. At ninety thousand years, even a Titled Douluo needs to be fully focused—Note: Spirit Masters whose Spirits are naturally powerful or have mutated later are to be excluded from comparison.

If it were a fifty-thousand-year level, Huo Wu would naturally not be afraid.

But a ninety-thousand-year level...

Even if her Spirit, Sun Goddess, possessed light and fire attributes, which countered plants, it would be difficult to completely destroy this blood-colored Cloud Tree even with full firepower.

And setting fire in this forest would be like digging one's own grave!

“There's no need to worry too much. This Cloud Tree didn't react to our arrival, probably because Blood Sword Norman used some method to control its intelligence...”

177: Martial spirit materializes

Rustle!

The Nine Haos canopy of the blood-colored Cloud Tree shook, and countless blood-colored cloud leaves drifted down.

“Be vigilant, don’t let those leaves fall on us.” Tang San enveloped his body with spirit power, pushing away the dense, slender, blood-colored cloud leaves. “These leaves carry an extremely strong corrosive aura. My Spirit's Life aura is repelling this corrosive aura.”

Upon hearing this, everyone immediately covered themselves with a layer of spirit power.

If they hadn't undergone tree-climbing training and made some progress in their control of spirit power, they wouldn't have been able to condense a spirit power outer layer.

“Covering ourselves with spirit power like this will consume a lot of our spirit power,” Huo Wu said.

“No matter, watch me.”

Tang San raised a hand, and the Blue Silver Emperor from the Endless Grassland wrapped around everyone's waists, restoring their spirit power.

Spirit Ability requires a spirit ring to be used.

But Tang San, who had already become a Spirit King, had his Blue Silver Emperor evolve to an incredible degree. Even without using Spirit Ability, its passive recovery ability was comparable to using his First Soul Skill when he was a Spirit Elder.

The hundred-thousand-year spirit ring, condensed from the Octagonal Mysterious Ice Grass and Scorching Apricot, provided a terrifying boost to the Blue Silver Emperor.

Everyone felt the spirit power transmitted from the Blue Silver Emperor and breathed a sigh of relief, no longer needing to worry about spirit power consumption.

Three minutes later, the falling leaves of the blood-colored Cloud Tree stopped. More than twenty red tentacles extended from its trunk, piercing into the back of the necks of the more than twenty dried corpses.

Crack! Crack!

Along with the sound of bones rubbing, the more than twenty dried corpses actually stood up and roared at Tang San and the others.

“How bizarre!” Ning Rongrong exclaimed, “Are they living dead?”

“They should be called corpse puppets,” Tang San saw through the essence at a glance and reassured everyone not to panic. “Humans control body movement through thoughts, relying on information transmission from the brain, spine, and other nervous system parts. Those tentacles control their activities by manipulating their brains, brainstems, and spines.”

“So, we just need to attack their necks?” Huo Wu’s Third Soul Ring flashed, and a small golden ray of light shot from her index finger, instantly piercing through the throat of one of the dried corpses, severing its head.

Thud!

The lower half of the dried corpse fell, leaving only a head connected by a tentacle, suspended in mid-air, its jaws opening and closing toward them, both eerie and comical.

“It looks... very brittle?” Huo Wu was surprised, “My attack just now used less than one-twentieth of my spirit power.”

“It’s simple, after all, they are dried corpses. Their blood and spirit power have been completely absorbed, so their bodies are naturally as brittle as weathered stone.” Tang San waved his hand, and countless Blue Silver Emperor vines wrapped around the dried corpses. With a slight tug, the corpses were decapitated.

In an instant, more than twenty dried corpse heads hung on the blood-colored Cloud Tree, their jaws moving non-stop, looking very comical.

“Turns out they’re just for show, not practical,” Yu Tianheng chuckled.

“The Fallen’s methods aren’t that great either,” Oslo echoed.

Tang San, however, frowned deeply and said, “It shouldn’t be like this. Even if this Cloud Tree’s cultivation was forcibly raised by some means, it has still reached ninety thousand years. It can’t be this weak. Such an attack can’t even compare to some thousand-year-level plant Spirit Beasts...”

“Next, I will use my Spirit to communicate with this Cloud Tree. Shi Mo, Sisi, Xiao Wu, Zhu Zhuqing, and Ning Rongrong, protect me.”

“Guang Ling, Huo Wu, you two have long-range output capabilities. Attack the crown of this Cloud Tree to prevent Blood Sword Norman from continuing his strange actions.”

“As for the others, wait for Guang Ling and Huo Wu to attack once and see if this ninety-thousand-year Cloud Tree retaliates. If it doesn’t, then the Cloud Tree’s soul has probably suffered some impact under Blood Sword Norman’s secret technique, leaving only instinct... Only then can he control this ninety-thousand-year Cloud Tree.”

“If my guess is true, then you all go up the tree and kill Blood Sword Norman.”

“But if this Cloud Tree goes berserk after Guang Ling and Huo Wu’s attack, then we will leave immediately. A ninety-thousand-year plant Spirit Beast with strong vitality is not something we can easily deal with.”

With that, Tang San put away the Endless Grassland, walked to the trunk of the blood-colored Cloud Tree, placed his right hand on it, and then released his Spirit, allowing the Blue Silver Emperor to root itself within the Cloud Tree.

Instantly.

A violent mental force permeated from the Blue Silver Emperor into the Blue Silver Emperor, which Tang San perceived.

This mental force was wild, chaotic, and 杂驳, like an aggregate of countless living beings. Yet, Tang San, by relying on the aura of the Golden Ancient Tree, perceived the full extent of this mental force—

Within the Cloud Tree's mental space, the Spirits, or rather soul fragments, of humans and Spirit Beasts were mixed together, forming a bizarre, Cthulhu-like mental energy mass that constantly impacted a white mental energy light cluster, causing it to continuously dissipate and vanish.

Perhaps it wouldn't be long before that light cluster completely disappeared.

Tang San immediately transmitted a ball of Blue Silver Emperor's Life force to strengthen its mental light cluster, and then, relying on his Purple Demon Eye's vast mental force, he impacted the mixture of various mental energies.

Moreover, after gaining the affinity of that white energy ball, Tang San's mental force was able to condense a corresponding form within the Cloud Tree's mental space.

In his Spirit-manifested state, Tang San discovered that he could use his Blue Silver Emperor and Clear Sky Hammer Spirits. With his mind set, he picked up the Clear Sky Hammer and performed the Rampaging Wind Technique, crushing those chaotic aggregates of soul fragments.

Although each time they were crushed, these soul fragments would reform, a portion of the dissipated mental energy would become extremely pure, as clear as crystal.

These materialized crystals of mental force would actively merge into Tang San and the Cloud Tree's souls, strengthening their minds and souls.

"This is a great opportunity!" Tang San noticed his mental force strengthening and its quality improving, overjoyed. His movements with the Clear Sky Hammer became faster and faster.

"Boom!"

When the Disorder Splitting Wind Hammer Method stacked to eighty-one hammers, the entire mental space of the Cloud Tree vibrated.

The Clear Sky Hammer flew from Tang San's hand, carrying a mental storm, twisting the mental space, and violently striking the aggregate of soul fragments.

The mixed soul fragments exploded, and hundreds of thousands of pure mental force crystals scattered, surging towards Tang San and the Cloud Tree's souls, strengthening their mental and soul powers.

"Roar!"

The Clear Sky Hammer voluntarily transformed into Nine Haos. With five heads already born, he utilized the five elemental powers of fire, light, wind, water, and poison, constructing an extremely marvelous energy pattern that formed a five-pointed star. This pattern gathered the soul fragments into a gray sphere, which he swallowed in one gulp.

Immediately, Tang San also received a message, asking, "death, is the attribute of your next head death?"

Nine Haos affectionately rubbed Tang San's mental manifestation, then transformed back into the Clear Sky Hammer. On the hammerhead, at the edge of the five heads of the Nine Haos pattern, a sixth head vaguely appeared, its eyes a deep gray.

Tang San, having recalled the Clear Sky Hammer, mused, “In the god seal throne, Bright Moon’s second head should have been of the dark attribute, but it only became of the light attribute after Dragon Hao Chen’s blood exchange... This means that Nine Haos’s attributes can change according to external factors, as long as the most essential ninth head’s attribute is destruction.”

“But why is the second head’s attribute light?”

“Could it be that Nine Haos, reborn as a Spirit, can inherit the attribute power of his previous Life?”

Austin Griffin possesses self-will, something Tang San was very certain of. And its arrival on Douluo Continent is probably not as simple as being a “cheat” for a transmigrator.

After all, what kind of “cheat” would slip away from its original owner and choose another host?

Speaking of which, Austin Griffin and the Creator God in the god seal throne are twins. Since Austin Griffin has come to Douluo Continent, will the god seal throne representing Eternal and Creation also descend upon Douluo Continent?

After all, in the storyline of the god seal throne, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne was only temporarily recognized by Dragon Hao Chen as its master. After resolving the issues on Saint Magic Continent, the Eternal and Creation God Seal Throne would, guided by fate, leave Saint Magic Continent, drift through the universe, and descend upon other planes and stars.

Since Austin Griffin and the Creator God are twins, their entanglement will inevitably attract each other. It’s not impossible that the Eternal and Creation Throne will also come to Douluo Star.

The only question is whether it has already arrived and is hidden somewhere, or if it is on its way...

Outside, Tang San opened his eyes, feeling refreshed.

Blood Sword Norman's corpse had already been discarded, and the ten-thousand-year Right Leg Bone was dug out.

When Tang San defeated the chaotic soul fragment collective within the mental space, Blood Sword Norman could no longer effectively control the Cloud Tree.

In fact, after the soul fragments were swallowed by Nine Haos, Blood Sword Norman suffered a direct backlash.

In addition, Tang San transmitted a message to the Cloud Tree not to attack Xiao Wu and the others, allowing Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and others to easily ascend the tree; the Cloud Tree even assisted them.

Although Blood Sword Norman was a Spirit King, he couldn't last more than a few moves against Yu Tianheng, Xiao Wu, and the others, especially since his mental force had already suffered a backlash due to Tang San.

"Captain, this must be your doing, right?" Yu Tianheng handed over the ten-thousand-year Right Leg Bone. "You must have influenced Blood Sword Norman's mental force through this Cloud Tree, allowing us to easily kill him. This ten-thousand-year Spirit Bone is rightfully yours."

"No, this Spirit Bone is not suitable for me." Tang San shook his head. His own hundred-thousand-year Blue Silver Emperor Right Leg Bone, which shared the same origin as the Blue Silver Emperor, was rejected by his own cultivated Jade Bone, let alone this ten-thousand-year Spirit Bone, which came from a wolf-type Spirit Beast?

However, the fact that Yu Tianheng and the others could resist the temptation to absorb a Spirit Bone showed their excellent character.

Tang San continued, "This Spirit Bone comes from a wolf-type Spirit Beast. Among us, the most suitable people to absorb it are Zhu Zhuqing and Oslo. Their Spirits, one being the Hell Civet and the other a Ghost Leopard, are most similar to wolves in physique and habits. Therefore, absorbing it will yield the strongest boost.”

Zhu Zhuqing’s tone was cool: “I don’t want it. After all, I haven’t even been able to perfectly and flexibly use my external Spirit Bone. Absorbing another Spirit Bone, while it might strengthen my physical qualities, doesn’t seem to offer a significant improvement to my own strength. It would just add another Spirit Ability.”

Oslo also refused, stating, “I didn’t contribute much. It doesn’t feel right to take this Spirit Bone and absorb it.”

At this, everyone was speechless.

A Spirit Bone was a rare item, yet one by one, they didn’t want it... They all felt like they might be possessed or were seeing ghosts.

“Since that’s the case, then this Spirit Bone should go to Teacher Qin Ming,” Tang San suggested. “His Spirit is the Blazing Wolf, which perfectly matches this Spirit Bone dropped from a wolf-type Spirit Beast.”

“Furthermore, as our leader, Teacher Qin Ming has put in a lot of effort to bring us to the Star Luo Empire and on this expedition. He needs to communicate with the Star Luo Royal Academy’s committee and the White Cloud City Lord, saving us a lot of trouble.”

“How about this Spirit Bone as a reward?”

The reason for suggesting Qin Ming was that Tang San hoped Qin Ming would give up the idea of returning to Shrek.

A ten-thousand-year Spirit Bone was definitely valuable enough.

Moreover, according to Tang San’s investigation, the age of this Spirit Bone was close to fifty thousand years, which was very good. It was probably the Bloodthirsty Berserk Speed Right Leg Bone from the original work.

“I agree. After all, Teacher Qin Ming does take good care of us.” Yu Tianheng had no objection.

“I also agree.”

“Same here.”

“Seconded.”

“This Spirit Bone is not suitable for me.”

“.....”

Qin Ming, observing from the shadows, was deeply moved.

“Teacher Qin Ming, no need to hide anymore, right? Come out, this is a gift from all of us.” Tang San shouted towards a nearby Cloud Tree.

Swish!

Qin Ming leaped down from the tree and, with a few bounds, arrived in front of Tang San and the others. His gaze lingered on the Spirit Bone for a while before he couldn't help but ask, “Are you really not going to absorb it? From my observation, this Spirit Bone is at least forty thousand years old! Even a Titled Douluo would fight for it!”

“We don't want it.” Tang San looked back at Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and the others, and seeing them shake their heads, he said, “Spirit Bones are different from spirit rings. The Spirit Ability they provide has no connection to the Spirit itself; it's a skill of the Spirit Beast. Therefore, if the type of Spirit is the same as the type of Spirit Beast the Spirit Bone dropped from, the benefits gained after absorption are maximized.”

“Teacher Qin Ming's Spirit is the Blazing Wolf, and this Spirit Bone also dropped from a wolf-type Spirit Beast. It's truly a perfect match—complementary.”

Qin Ming naturally understood this principle and no longer feigned humility. He took the ten-thousand-year Right Leg Bone from Tang San's hand, sat cross-legged on the spot, and began to absorb it.

Twenty minutes later, the Spirit Bone was fully absorbed.

Qin Ming's spirit power did not increase, but his physical qualities were enhanced. Most importantly, he gained a Spirit Ability that could increase his attack, defense, and speed by one hundred percent.

Moreover, unlike Dai Mubai in the original work, who couldn't use other spirit ring abilities while using this Spirit Bone ability, Qin Ming did not have this drawback.

This was because both the Spirit Bone and Qin Ming's Blazing Wolf Spirit were of the wolf genus. Even if they weren't the exact same type of wolf, the compatibility between them was something Dai Mubai's White Tiger Spirit could not compare to.

"Teacher Qin Ming, how do you feel? Was the process of absorbing the Spirit Bone very enjoyable?" Yu Feng asked curiously.

"Uh... The process of absorbing the Spirit Bone actually wasn't painful, but the full-body enhancement it brings after absorption is indeed exhilarating." Qin Ming clenched his fist, and his hands transformed into wolf claws, emitting wisps of fire that burst in the air.

This ten-thousand-year Spirit Bone also strengthened his spirit power control.

"Furthermore, the physical enhancement has also made spirit power flow more smoothly within my body... I have a premonition that within two years, I will reach the Spirit Saint level."

"Congratulations, Teacher Qin Ming." Tang San offered his congratulations.

"This is also thanks to you all, otherwise I wouldn't have gotten such a good Spirit Bone." Qin Ming laughed heartily, then walked over to Blood Sword Norman's side and cut off the corpse's head.

Upon seeing this bloody scene, Xiao Wu felt a bit nauseous, and the others also frowned tightly.

Although they had just killed someone, this act of “beheading” still made them feel a chill and resistance.

Seeing this, Qin Ming wrapped Blood Sword Norman’s head in cloth and comforted everyone, saying, “This is the most convenient method. A head is enough to prove that this is The Fallen. Besides, none of you want to carry a corpse around, do you?”

This was indeed true, and no one present wanted a corpse of The Fallen stored in their storage soul tool.

However, just as Blood Sword Norman’s head was completely severed, his headless corpse suddenly trembled, and then a blood-red short sword emerged from his right hand.

That was his Spirit!

“Bang!”

As a reflex, Qin Ming immediately struck down with his palm, destroying Blood Sword Norman’s corpse. The scorching flames instantly ignited the opponent’s body.

“Woo~”

From the burning corpse, black skull-like smoke figures emerged, like the wailing of ghosts, and also emitted a strong, extremely foul odor.

“What is this?” Qin Ming hurriedly retreated, and the others also became vigilant.

Tang San was also puzzled, but his gaze fell upon the blood-red short sword. As it burned in the flames, its crimson color slowly faded, turning into a silvery-white, transparent like crystal. The golden dragon patterns inside also seemed to come alive, winding and twisting, extremely agile.

Once the flames finished burning, Blood Sword Norman’s corpse had already turned to ashes, leaving only a crystal-clear short sword with dragon patterns swimming up and down within it.

Those dragon patterns were extremely similar to the dragon patterns on Yang Long's Dragon Patterned Spear.

Perhaps Yang Long's transmigration truly brought a cheat, but when he was killed by Blood Sword Norman, his "cheat" was also obtained by Blood Sword Norman.

Tang San stepped forward, picked up the crystal dragon-patterned short sword, and after injecting spirit power, found that it conducted spirit power extremely smoothly and conveyed a sensation to him: that any object could be cut or pierced by it.

"Isn't this short sword Blood Sword Norman's Spirit?" Huo Wu was shocked. "He's dead, but his Spirit can still remain in the world? Has it materialized?"

"There is indeed that possibility."

Tang San did know a way to materialize a Tool Spirit, and that was to become a god, breaking through Level 100.

The Sea God Trident on Sea God Island was a divine artifact formed after Poseidon condensed the Sea God position and materialized his Spirit after becoming a god.

178: Does Qian Renxue have such an IQ?

Spirit actualization.

Aside from those who have become gods and can turn Tool Spirits into divine artifacts, among Spirit Masters, there is actually a portion of Spirit Masters who can achieve this—food system Spirit Masters.

When this type of Spirit Master uses a Spirit Ability, they actualize their food Spirit, making it edible.

However, there is still a slight difference between actualized food Spirits and real Spirits, which is that they still rely on spirit power to condense, presenting a material-like entity.

It takes some time for a person to digest ordinary food, but eating food created by food-type support system Spirit Masters can take effect immediately.

This is because the food created by food-type support system Spirit Masters, upon entering the human body, instantly transforms into spirit power and operates according to the set corresponding spirit power circulation routes, thus being quickly absorbed by the body and producing effects.

But the dragon-patterned short sword in front of me is different. It was originally Blood Sword Norman's Spirit. After he died, it actually actualized, which was truly beyond normal people's expectations.

Injecting spirit power, the dragon patterns within it would flow, giving a feeling that it could cut through anything...

To be honest, the process of using this thing is similar to using a spirit tool.

Speaking of spirit tools, Tang San suddenly remembered that in the original work, the Sea God's Heart, the core of the Sea God Trident, was considered by the Heaven Dou Empire's imperial family to be a type of spirit tool.

But the truth is, the Sea God Trident was Sea God Poseidon's Spirit before he became a god, and the Sea God's Heart is also a part of his Spirit.

From this, Tang San had a guess that actualized Tool Spirits, or divine artifacts, in a sense, are not unlike a peculiar type of spirit tool.

However, a Tool Spirit can actualize and become a divine artifact, but what happens when a Beast Spirit actualizes?

Thinking of how powerful Beast Spirit Masters emphasize bloodline power and how Spirits possess sentience, Tang San believed that the actualization of a Beast Spirit either leads to the resurrection of a divine beast or the transformation of the Spirit Master themselves into a divine beast, controlling the body of a divine beast with a human soul...

In an instant, Tang San thought a lot, finally returning to the present, and said to Qin Ming, "Can I study this short sword? The Fallen's aura seems to have dissipated in the flames. This weapon, actualized from the Blood Sword Spirit, is extremely similar to a spirit tool, and Guang Ling and I both research spirit tools."

"No problem." Qin Ming thought for a while, and not sensing anything unusual on the silver crystal-colored short sword, he nodded in agreement.

In his opinion, although this actualized Spirit short sword was peculiar, its value should not compare to the forty-thousand year level Right Leg Bone he had absorbed.

Giving it to Tang San was no big deal.

"It's a pity we didn't take off the storage soul tool from the corpse just now. It was burned together with the flames." Yu Feng's eyes showed regret. Before, their attention was on the Spirit Bone, and they didn't bother with Norman's storage soul tool, thinking they would take Norman's corpse out later.

Unexpectedly, Qin Ming taught them a lesson: they only needed to take the head out.

"If it's gone, it's gone. What was hidden inside his storage soul tool might have been the secret method to become one of The Fallen. It's rumored that when ordinary people see such things, their minds will gradually twist. Perhaps it's a good thing we didn't see it." Huo Wu was indifferent, feeling that burning such items that harm and twist souls with the flames was the best way.

"Alright, the matter is resolved, let's go out." Qin Ming held the shroud wrapping Norman's head in one hand and took out a flare from the storage soul tool at his waist with the other, lighting the fuse with his Spirit fire.

Whoosh—

The flare shot into the sky and exploded, forming a firework.

This was a signal to the Star Luo Royal Team and the Spirit Hall Team.

To be honest, when Tang San first learned that the Douluo Continent had something similar to gunpowder, he was quite shocked, not understanding why, since gunpowder existed, large-scale weapons of mass destruction couldn't be created.

Then he checked books and only found four words: Harmful to Heaven and Harmony.

Most likely, it was rejected by Spirit Masters.

If ordinary people could cause large-scale damage to Spirit Masters, how could the status of Spirit Masters be noble?

However, Tang San felt that it might also be that no one had thought of how to improve the gunpowder ratio to enhance its power, after all, the gunpowder in this World, like in his previous Life, was also created by accident.

In his previous Life, after gunpowder was accidentally created, it took nearly a thousand years of development before it was truly used in weapons capable of large-scale destructive power.

In this World with extraordinary power, it would probably take even longer for gunpowder to be used in warfare.

Moreover, the power of spirit power is very convenient and comprehensive.

"Wait, Teacher Qin Ming, I want to say goodbye to Cloud Tree."

Tang San's thoughts returned from the exploding firework in the sky to the present. He walked up to Cloud Tree, once again used his Blue Silver Emperor Martial Soul, entered its mental space, soothed Cloud Tree's spiritual soul, and left a trace of the Golden Ancient Tree's aura, allowing it to better condense the energy of heaven and earth for cultivation and purify the 杂驳 spirit power within its trunk.

According to Tang San's estimation, under Blood Sword Norman's forced increase in cultivation, Cloud Tree's cultivation was already extremely close to ninety-thousand years. Now, influenced by him, it is estimated that it will not take ten years to break through and become a Ten-thousand year soul beast.

"Tang San, you can communicate with Cloud Tree?" When Tang San returned to the team, Qin Ming asked curiously.

"Yes, my Blue Silver Grass Spirit has evolved to a very strong level, it can be called Blue Silver Emperor."

Tang San was preparing to officially refer to his Spirit as Blue Silver Emperor to outsiders. "I can use that vast Life energy, guided by mental force, to communicate with intelligent plant Spirit Beasts... Before dealing with Blood Sword Norman, I communicated with this ninety-thousand year level Cloud Tree and helped her clear the 杂驳 soul that had invaded her mental space; just now, I injected the aura possessed by Blue Silver Emperor into her, allowing her to cultivate better."

"She is also preparing to offer herself in sacrifice to me after her cultivation reaches one hundred thousand years."

Using Cloud Tree as the reason, Tang San revealed things he shouldn't have known. "According to her, after a Spirit Beast reaches one hundred thousand years, after a thousand years, there will be a heavenly tribulation targeting Spirit Beasts."

"If a Ten-thousand year soul beast can survive one heavenly tribulation, it can continue to live and accumulate cultivation, reaching the next hundred thousand years, which is two hundred thousand years, and then experience another heavenly tribulation."

"And so on, if a Ten-thousand year soul beast experiences nine heavenly tribulations, it can become a million-year soul beast, transform into a divine beast, which is a god."

Xiao Wu was astonished, turning back to look at the Cloud Tree whose cloud crown was gradually turning from blood-red to white, secretly startled: "This tree actually knows so much?"

The others were also incredulous.

"There are million-year soul beasts among Spirit Beasts?" Huo Wu was shocked. "How strong would that be?"

"I don't know." Tang San shook his head. "Cloud Tree hasn't seen one either... However, most Spirit Beasts cannot survive the heavenly tribulation, which is why Ten-thousand year soul beasts are rare on the Continent; they are struck dead by lightning."

"A small number of Ten-thousand year soul beasts who feel they cannot survive the heavenly tribulation choose to take human form and choose to re-cultivate. Of course, some Ten-thousand year soul beasts may not even know about the existence of the heavenly tribulation, but they vaguely sense the will from the World and feel that after becoming a Ten-thousand year soul beast they can only live for a thousand years, so they choose to take human form to live longer."

Xiao Wu gritted her teeth, feeling that Tang San was implying something about her.

After all, before meeting Di Tian and others, she really didn't know that the reason "Ten-thousand year soul beasts can only live for a thousand years" was because the World was targeting Spirit Beasts.

"What about Cloud Tree wanting to sacrifice herself to you?" Huo Wu didn't understand. "Is there any connection?"

"Because my Blue Silver Emperor possesses vast Life force, after she performs that most overbearing sacrifice method, she can completely preserve her soul and grow with me." Tang San stated the truth. "She feels that my Blue Silver Emperor has a chance to become the emperor of all plants, and it might even break through to the hundred-level."

"Hundred-level becomes a god." Qin Ming spoke of a legend. "It is rumored that when a Spirit Master reaches hundred-level, they are a god... Originally, I didn't believe it, but last year, we encountered the Dark Demonic Evil God Tiger and entered that peculiar Life-and-death arena... This made me have to believe that gods truly exist."

"And with your talent, Tang San, at thirteen years old, a Spirit King, if you continue to advance by leaps and bounds at this pace in the future, breaking through to the hundred-level is not impossible."

God!

A legendary existence, omnipotent!

Does Tang San have a chance to reach that level?

Everyone present asked themselves, remembering Tang San's age and spirit power level, as well as his theoretical knowledge of various Spirit cultivation methods, and had to admit: He, Tang San, truly has hope of advancing into that legendary realm.

"Let's focus on what's in front of us. Gods are too far away from us." Tang San smiled and changed the subject. "After we go back, I'll try to teach each of you how to develop your own original Spirit Abilities based on your individual circumstances, combined with your respective Spirits, spirit power attributes, and the way spirit power circulates within your bodies."

Cultivating original Spirit Abilities would consume time that could be used for spirit power cultivation, but one thing must be admitted: truly powerful Spirit Masters on the Continent all have original Spirit Abilities.

The best example is the Clear Sky Sect, that astonishingly talented Tang Chen, who created Rampaging Wind Technique, Clear Sky Nine Absolutes, Ring Explosion, and so on.

Tang San estimated that when fighting, Tang Chen wouldn't even use Spirit Abilities; by relying on these few original Spirit Abilities, he could rival or even crush most skills from hundred-thousand year spirit rings.

Tang San had spent over a year with Huo Wu, Yu Tianheng, and the others, and he had gained their trust. While not one hundred percent, he could confidently entrust his back to them, provided he remained vigilant.

As for delaying spirit power cultivation...

For those without Mysterious Heaven Skill, the time they could cultivate spirit power each day was limited. They couldn't cultivate all day, as it would damage their bodies.

Furthermore, Tang San had his third Spirit Ability: Photosynthetic Breath, which could assist cultivation. With his current Spirit King level strength, the duration was longer and the efficiency higher, enough to make up for the time spent developing and cultivating his self-created Spirit Abilities.

"Self-created Spirit Abilities?" Huo Wu's eyes lit up. "That's a standard for powerhouses. My grandmother said that Spirit Masters who reach Spirit Douluo and above and have self-created Spirit Abilities are completely different concepts from those who don't."

This statement was actually correct.

Spirit Masters who could research and create their own Spirit Abilities were naturally much more flexible than those who only relied on spirit ring and Spirit Bone skills. Their control over spirit power and understanding of their Spirit were also stronger and deeper.

"Don't expect too much either, after all, you need to develop them yourselves. If you can't do it, you can also strengthen the application of your own Spirit Abilities to make them more flexible." Tang San gave everyone a heads-up, signaling them not to get too excited, lest the results not match their expectations.

Leaving White Cloud Forest and Baiyun Plain, everyone returned to the outskirts of Baiyun Plain. Norlax and the local Spirit Hall Hall Master came forward to greet them.

"Here, this is Blood Sword Norman's head." Qin Ming handed over the shroud wrapped around Normann's head. Norlax opened it and saw that it was indeed Blood Sword Norman.

"As expected of our Heaven Dou Royal Academy's leader, truly impressive!" Norlax re-covered Blood Sword Norman's head and handed it to the local Spirit Hall Hall Master, complimenting Qin Ming.

"No, this is my students' credit." Qin Ming shook his head and turned to look at Tang San and the others. "These children are the ones who truly participated in the battle. I was just protecting them secretly."

"You are all the pride of Heaven Dou!" Norlax's eyes held respect as he bowed to Tang San and the others and invited everyone into the tent to rest.

Half a day later, the Star Luo Royal Team, the Spirit Hall Team, and the members of the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team all returned.

The Star Luo Royal Team and the Spirit Hall Team each brought back one or two heads. According to Norlax and the local Spirit Hall Hall Master's judgment, one was The Fallen, and two were criminals wanted by White Cloud City.

Clearly, the bodies at Cloud Tree were not all of The Fallen. Blood Sword Norman's act of killing his companions must have caused some of The Fallen to leave the group.

On the other side, the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team returned empty-handed, and they were all injured. Even Xue Beng's left hand had two broken fingers: the little finger and the ring finger.

"What happened?" Qin Ming's brows furrowed upon seeing Xue Beng's injuries, and he glared at Wang Chen. "Did you encounter other Fallen?"

"Teacher Qin Ming, I want to report him! Wang Chen didn't listen to your instructions and acted on his own, causing me to break two fingers!" Xue Beng glared fiercely at Wang Chen, his eyes red, wishing he could eat his flesh and drink his blood.

This guy, instead of protecting them properly, actively left to find some Fallen, then provoked three Fallen, all of whom were Spirit Ancestors.

It would have been one thing to provoke them, but he even brought those three Fallen back.

He was practically hoping he would die!

This must be Xue Qinghe's conspiracy!

In reality, Wang Chen did have that thought, after all, Xue Beng was a potential competitor to Xue Qinghe.

But the more important reason was that The Fallen were extremely strong, and he was no match. He couldn't fight three at once, so he could only hope that these members of the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team could buy him time.

Although they were dead weight, at least with more people, they could confuse the three Fallen and create an opportunity for him to kill The Fallen.

However, what Wang Chen didn't expect was that in a Life-and-death crisis, this guy Xue Beng actually used his hidden strength, single-handedly managing to hold off a Spirit Ancestor level Fallen for a short time, instead of being instantly killed...

This guy wasn't just faking his outward personality; he also faked his strength.

Perhaps not as good as the top geniuses, but his strength was also in the second or third tier among those of the same age...

Finally, Wang Chen won and was lucky enough to obtain a thousand-year level Right Leg Bone.

"Wang Chen, why didn't you listen to my orders and act on your own?" Qin Ming questioned Wang Chen, his tone unfriendly.

If Xue Beng had died, he wouldn't have been able to stay at Heaven Dou Royal Academy, after all, he was the one leading this mission, and he couldn't escape responsibility.

Even though Xue Beng wasn't dead now, just having two broken fingers, he would still be punished.

"I sensed the aura of The Fallen..."

"Nonsense!"

Before he finished his reason, Wang Chen was interrupted by Xue Beng, who looked like a rabid dog and cursed, "Within a thousand meters of where we were staying, there was no one at all! You were the one who led those three Fallen here!"

"That's right, Wang Chen led them here!"

"It's all his fault!"

"He must be punished!"

The other members of the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team all pointed at Wang Chen.

They were all arrogant nobles, in cahoots with Xue Beng, and already disliked Wang Chen, who was Xue Qinghe's lackey... This mission was just for them to gain prestige and increase their future political qualifications; sightseeing on the outskirts of Baiyun Plain would have been enough.

But this scoundrel Wang Chen directly attracted The Fallen, causing them all to get injured. How could they not hate him?

Seeing the members of the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team arguing with each other, Qin Ming shouted, "Shut up! You're making a fool of yourselves! We'll talk about this when we get back!"

The nearby Star Luo Royal Team and Spirit Hall Team had already turned their attention over, and Qin Ming couldn't continue questioning him in public...

...After returning to Heaven Dou City.

Qin Ming explained the situation to the Three Education Committee and voluntarily accepted punishment.

The reasonable Three Education Committee didn't blame Qin Ming too much but found Wang Chen: "Why were you so eager for merit and reckless?"

Wang Chen said righteously, "What's wrong with killing The Fallen?"

"The mission Qin Ming gave you was to protect the members of the Heaven Dou Royal Second Team. Why did you leave the team without permission?" Seeing Wang Chen so arrogant, Zhi Lin's opinion of him dropped to freezing point, and he questioned, "As the Crown Prince's guard, don't you know that the most important thing is to obey orders?"

"I know, but I only obey the Crown Prince's orders," Wang Chen replied.

Hiss—

Zhi Lin, Bai Baoshan, and Meng Shenji exchanged glances, their hearts trembling.

Could it be that Wang Chen's actions were ordered by the Crown Prince?

Was the imperial competition really this cruel?

For a moment, the Three Education Committee didn't know what to do, but in the end, they still made Wang Chen hand over that thousand-year Spirit Bone and give it to Xue Beng as compensation...

...

"Why didn't you obey Qin Ming's orders?" Xue Qinghe asked faintly.

"I only obey Your Highness's orders." Wang Chen knelt on one knee, his tone steady. "Removing Xue Beng is beneficial to Your Highness. Moreover, I discovered that Xue Beng is hiding his strength. With level thirty-one strength, he was able to briefly hold off a level forty-one Spirit Ancestor instead of being instantly killed... He is hiding himself and is not as dissolute as he appears on the surface."

"Do you think I don't know about Xue Beng's hidden strength?" Xue Qinghe's voice was very calm, showing no emotion. "If I really wanted to kill him, I have plenty of ways."

"Poison Douluo is difficult to deal with, but he won't risk his Life to protect Xue Beng."

"His trump cards are not as good as mine. No matter how much Xue Beng hides, he's just tucking his tail between his legs in front of me, making me laugh."

"But do you know why I keep him around?"

Wang Chen opened his mouth, then lowered his head and said, "This subordinate does not know."

"All the imperial princes are dead, and only I am left. Anyone would know there's something wrong with me." Xue Qinghe spoke as if looking at a stupid pig. "Behind Xue Beng is Xue Xing, and Xue Xing has a connection with the poison-using Poison Douluo. The imperial princes who have died, besides accidents, were poisoned. Who do you think Emperor Xue Ye suspects the most?"

Wang Chen's pupils contracted, finding it hard to believe—

Does Qian Renxue have this kind of intelligence?

In the original work, the imperial princes of Heaven Dou either died in accidents or were poisoned, and Emperor Xue Ye was also poisoned.

Coincidentally, Xue Beng and Xue Xing had connections with Poison Douluo.

Although in the original work, Poison Douluo was the one who helped Emperor Xue Ye alleviate the poison, Emperor Xue Ye didn't know who administered the poison. Regarding Poison Douluo, before the truth was revealed, he would definitely be secretly vigilant and more inclined to suspect the fake Xue Qinghe.

Qian Renxue leaving Xue Beng alive might also have this layer of consideration.

Perhaps the original author didn't think of this, and it was likely just a coincidence, but a fanfiction author, based on the relevant relationships, reasoned it out and found that it actually made sense and was logically quite reasonable.

Therefore, this book adds a setting: Qian Renxue, disguised as Xue Qinghe, still has political acumen, but her inner self is extremely arrogant.

